If war were not such a terrible thing we would be almost willing to conclude that the present conflict in the Orient has assumed a ridiculous phase. There are operations great and terrible—no doubt about that. It is the matter of news that is playing havoc with the peace and intelligence of the public mind. News there is, but most of it seems to be contradicted the next day. Then some of the news is of such a ridiculous character and couched in such a ridiculous form that public interest is becoming mildewed. When we were awaiting anxiously the news of the outcome of the third attack on Port Arthur by the Japanese, we were treated to a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the effect that a certain prominent woman in St. Petersburg had just learned that her husband at Port Arthur had become deaf from the concussion caused by the firing.

What do you think of this, which in substance appeared in the Associated Press reports last week: "The Czar has just heard from Viceroy Alexieff that the latter has received news from General Blank who said that he had just gotten news of an important naval engagement in which a Japanese cruiser was sunk."

Our readers need not wonder that we have no war news for them this week. We will publish only the news on which the public may rely with reasonable confidence.

Contributions

Easter Tide.

'Tis Easter tide! Young life is working everywhere!
The shriveled seeds we cast on fields, once brown and bare,
Or buried 'neath its soil, are lifting now their head,
Harbinger of a new life, springing from the dead.

'Tis mystery all, that new life should be growing,
From graves where grim Death his fatal seeds was sowing;
But out of the lowly dust—a forbidding bed—
Life comes a King, and Death, by him a captive led.

Life! life! life! Who can solve the mystery of life?
The world, but now so drear and dead, is fully rife,
With the quick'ning thing whose resurrection power,
Eludes our anxious grasp, yet fills us every hour.

The shining suns, with their generous warmth recall,
The life which Nature lost in season of the Fall;
And the Sun of Righteousness on our graves shall shine,
To bring again our sleeping dust in form Divine.

Precious Memories.

REV. R. H. WHITAKER.

I saw a man sitting on the root of a great oak, that stood near a church, at which I was conducting a meeting. He seemed to be in deep thought, and ,as it was not quite time to begin the afternoon service, it occurred to me that I might spend a few moments talking with him. I did not know his condition, for he was a stranger to me; but I thought there was a possibility that good might grow out of a judicious, earnest conversation, in some way; I might help him, or he might help me. So, I turned my steps in his direction, and when he discovered it, I saw him making a movement, as if to give me a seat on a root near him. He knew me of course, and, as I approached him he very politely asked me to take a seat, at the same time giving me his name. I saluted him as "brother," and asked him if he was a son of a very saintly old father in Israel who, years before, had been a member of that church, of whose memory every one spoke in terms of praise.

"I am," he said, and his eyes filled with tears.

"I am so glad to meet you," I said, "for I have heard so much of your father's godly life and triumphant death, I feel that I ought to share, with all the good people around here, in revering his memory; and I am so glad to be privileged to shake the hand of his boys."

In a tremulous voice he told me he was an unworthy son of such a father, as he had not been walking in his footsteps; on the contrary he was a sinner.

"You love your father's memory I am sure, and you want to meet him again?"

"O yes," said he, "not a day goes over my head, that I do not think of him, and wish I were like him."

"What a blessed thing to have a good father; one whose good life is a benediction and whose memory is so dear—so much like a sweet incense," I remarked.

"Nothing in the world that I can think of is like it," he answered. "I think every day of the old home; of father, mother, brothers and sisters; how happy we all were, in each other's love, and the recollections make me so sad, as the home is now broken up,—father and mother are dead, and we children are scattered, never to be a family again."

"In your thoughts of childhood, and of the home, as it was, when you were all so happy, what was it, in that home life, that made the most and best impression upon your heart?" I asked.

"The family altar," said he. "I sometimes stop and stand still for a whole minute, and listen; for as I am walking along, all of a sudden, I think I hear that bell, which used to call us together for family prayers. I suppose its imagination, but I hear that bell every day. And my mind casts its eyes around the room, in the old home, and there they all are: father, with the Testament in his hands, looking over his spectacles to see if all are in; mother with her serious, sweet face, and all we children. Yes, I hear that bell every day, and I can't understand it."

"The Holy Spirit rings that bell," said I, "to call you back from your worldliness and to your duty."

"I don't understand you," he said.

"I mean this," said I, "God wants to save you, and the Holy Spirit is speaking to you every day; and knowing how you loved your father, and what an exalted opinion you retain of the family altar; and how the recollections of those happy days stir your soul, He rings that prayer bell, hoping that, at last, you may be persuaded to have a family altar of your own."

"I wish I could think so."

"Our conversation cannot be prolonged," I said, "for it is time to commence the evening service; but before we go in, I want you to answer me one question, and that is: "Would you not like for your children, after you are dead and gone, to have as pleasant recollections of their childhood home and of their father, as you have of your old home and of your father?"

"Yes. God knows I want my children to be good."

"Well, why not step into your father's shoes, and put your feet into his tracks, so that you can say to your children, these are not only your father's tracks, but also the tracks of your grandfather, as he walked in the foot-steps of Jesus? Don't you know you are putting out your father's tracks, instead of, as you ought to be doing, making them plainer?"

"O, I feel," said he, "I've already done my children great injustice."

"Will you continue to wrong them?" I asked. And not waiting for him to answer. I left him and went into the church. He was converted that evening, and though I have not seen him in several years, I have heard he has a family altar, and his children come in, at the ringing of a bell, as he used to do. And I have faith to believe, that when he is dead and gone, if he should leave a child unconverted, somewhere, sometime, that child will hear the family altar bell ringing; and, as the father was moved to give his heart and life to God, so will that child, though he may have wandered far off, be brought back to the father's and the grandfather's God.

I cannot help thinking that the sins of parents, in neglecting the family altar, are the greatest of all sins. The first few years of a child's life are the most important years. In them the seeds are sown; the twigs are bent. In them impressions are made that will, more or less, control the whole of after life. If children are reared in Godless homes, in which the family altar bell is never rung, they go out upon life's great ocean without chart or compass; and if perchance, driven and tossed by wind and wave, they drift near the childhood shore from which they embarked, there is no light at the old home, to beckon them; no sweet memories to draw them.

Who can read the following and not be moved?

"I had wandered long and far," (said a man who, when a boy, heard his father read and pray, and saw his mother's beautiful Christian life), "and for years I had lived among skeptics, and had almost come to believe there was no God. But, one night, as I lay upon my bed, in an upper room, at a hotel, hundreds of miles from my childhood home, across the street I could see, through the open window of an humble home, a family engaged in evening worship. I sat up in bed and looked. There sat a man, by the table, book in hand who looked just like my father; and beyond the table, gazing intently upon that man, sat a woman who seemed, at that distance, to be the very image of my mother; near her sat a lovely girl whom I would have taken to be that only sister of mine, who died, in her sixteenth year, in the triumphs of the Christian's faith; and there sat a boy, seemingly about twelve years of age—our family exactly, and that boy was ——. I hate to say it; but his careless, indifferent, inattentive look reminded me so much of myself, when my father, mother and sister used to be so devotional, while I was so thoughtless and wayward. I had to admit that boy truly represented me. I crept to the window, and leaning as far out as I could, I listened. It was my father's voice, and so distinct were the words of that old familiar, but almost forgotten, Psalm: "The Lord is my Shepher, I shall not want.' I heard every word, and as he read the last verse: 'Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever," I could not help saying, thank God! And when I saw that woman who looked so much like my mother, turn her face toward that boy, as I had seen my mother turn and look at me, many a time, as she was kneeling, I involuntarily fell upon my knees, and felt as if I were at home, one more time. I heard all the prayer—it was the same old prayer my father prayed; wife, and daughter, and the DEAR BOY were all borne up to God on that prayer, and I felt that I was nearer God that night than I had been for many a year. But the scene which melted me to tears followed the prayer. The daughter went and kissed father and mother and brother good night, and passed out of the room, as I had seen my sweet, sainted sister do so many times. Then I saw the boy rise and start toward the mother; but I could look no longer. I could not bear to see the sight; but fell back on the bed and shut my eyes, and, in imagination, threw my arms about my mother's neck and kissed her, as I used to do, ere sin had stained my soul and estranged me from my God. Thank God, I said to myself, I have been permitted to meet the loved ones around the family altar one more time. I spent that night in earnest prayer; and when the sun arose the following morning there were light and joy in my soul. The next day I made the acquaintance of that family across the street, and telling them the history of my life, I begged to be permitted to join them in the evening prayer, while I might remain in that far off city; which request was graciously granted. * * *

I am far advanced in life now, but I have never ceased to thank God for the providence which brought back so vividly to me the recollections of my old home—especially the family altar."

* * *

To some of my readers this story may be an old one, but it has lost none of its interest. Its moral is plain, and as true as it ever was; that, nothing will more surely bring back the wanderer than the recollections of a Godly home.

Dear Christian parents, remember that you will soon vacate the "old home," and go up to that home Jesus has gone to prepare for you. While you are down here and the children are around you, set up a stone, as Jacob did at Bethel; erect an altar, light a lamp; so that, by and by, when you are gone, the precious memories that linger in their hearts may keep those children steadfast in the faith; walking in your footsteps, and faithfully serving the God whom they learned to love and worship in the home of their childhood.

Elizabeth City District.

REV. J. E. UNDERWOOD.

The first round of appointments has been completed, and notwithstanding the bad weather, all the charges have been visited, except Dare Circuit. We were prevented reaching that charge by "wind and tide." However, we had a good substitute in Elder Parker, who preached and looked after the business at Mann's Harbor, in the absence of the Presiding Elder.

The outlook for a good year has never been so fine since I have been in touch with the district. A missionary institute, of unusual interest, was held in Columbia last week. I have heard no abler discussions of subjects pertaining to the work of missions, than we had at Columbia.

During the two days and two nights, occupied by the institute, there was not a dull hour.

There was only one thing to be regretted, viz.: the absence of so many of the pastors. No doubt the brethren who failed to attend felt that they had good reasons for staying away; but perhaps every preacher who attended could have found excuses equally valid. The "Missionary Institute" is an institution of the church, and it is the duty of every pastor to attend, who is not providentially prevented.

The revival fires have commenced to burn. Bro. Church has held a very successful meeting at Winfall. Bro. Hocutt, of Camden Circuit, assisted by Rev. E. C. Glenn, has held a meeting of great power at South Mills.

Brother North, of City Roads, is now conducting a meeting in his church, with encouraging prospects. Other meetings are being planned, and we are working, and praying for a "revival in every church, and full colections on every charge."

I think your editorial on the net gain in membership, published early in the year, is liable to make a wrong impression on people who are not familiar with the mysterics of statistics, as given in a Conference journal. These statistics show that we had last year 3,202 additions on professions of faith, and 2,165 additions by certificate, and otherwise. Making 5,367 additions. Removals by death, certificate and otherwise, 4,002. This ought to give us a net gain of 1,365.

Religion on the Road

J. V. WILLIAMS.

Four weeks ago, I left Beaufort, N. C., for my spring trip to Texas, and this finds me in Atlanta.

I am traveling with my eyes open, as usual, and will write anything of interest seen, for the Advocate.

My first Sunday out was spent in Charlotte, N. C., where I had the pleasure of hearing evangelist Coman, who was holding a meeting at Tryon Street Methodist Church. He's good.

A regular traveling preacher of the Western North Carolina Conference, appointed to this work at the last Conference by Bishop Smith. There is no law in our church for appointing evangelists, so Bishop Smith appointed him to some nominal Sunday-school work, with the understanding, of course, that he was to be an evangelist.

Rev. Mr. Coman is an able preacher. His preaching is after the old time sort. He does not minify conversion, but believes with Paul, that "Jesus Christ is made to us wisdom, righteousness, sanctification and redemption." All of this or none. Such preaching will tell in the evangelistic field.

The following Lord's Day I spent in Savannah, Ga., that old town where Wesley preached about 150 years ago, when Methodism was not so respectable as the Salvation Army is today.

Again I had the opportunity of hearing an evangelist of note, Rev. Lincoln McConnell, of Atlanta, was holding a meeting in old Trinity Church. He is of the usual sort. Preaches much, and tells stories much, and is a real success. I did not count the penitents at the night service, but the altar was full. McConnell has charge of the most interesting church in Atlanta, and I'll have more to say of him before I'm through.

Next Sunday I spent in Gainesville, Fla., and struck the Chatauqua being run by Rev. Clarence B. Strouse, of Virginia. I heard some fine lectures. One on missionary work in Africa, and one on Japan. On Monday Sam Jones arrived, and lectured at 3 p. m. and 7.30 p. m. About 1,500 people heard him with delight. He don't seem as vigorous in body as when I first heard him, 14 years ago, but he's as bright as ever, and the same "Uncle Jones." God bless him. He hits the liquor traffic as hard as ever, and is doing more harm to the whiskey gang than any hundred men in the world.

He was just from North Carolina, he said, and paid his respects to the Raleigh dispensary. He said it was being run by professing Christians. What about it?

If it is a sin for the whiskey gang to sell the stuff, how in the name of horse sense can a church member engage in the business without guilt?

"Woe unto him that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips."

My fourth Sunday out was spent in Atlanta, where I heard my old friend Dr. C. W. Byrd preach in the morning, and where I "had liberty" again Sunday night to tell these rich saints what I think of salvation.

Byrd has about complted his new church, costing $120,000, and it is the prettiest church that I have ever seen. And notwithstanding the fact of its magnificence they hold an old time class-meeting there every Sunday morning.

They are spiritually minded.

In the afternoon I attended a mass-meeting in the interest of Wesley Female College, presided over by Bishop Candler. There were many short speeches. One from Dr. Len Broughton, the noted Baptist preacher.

They raised for the College $1,600.

This meeting was held in Wesley Memorial Church—a new work in Atlanta, of which I must say a word.

When the First Church moved up town, Bishop Candler decided that we needed a down-town church, and moved at once to build the Wesley Memorial Church. They bought a lot and erected a tabernacle that seats about 2,000 people. It was opened for worship last fall without a member and now has about 250 members. Rev. Lincoln McConnell, an evangelist (whom I heard at Savannah), was appointed preacher in charge. He has the largest Methodist congregation in the city, and will likely have the largest membership within two years.

This looks like business, and is so different from the usual way of starting a very small mission church, and then say to it, "root hog or die."

I think that the great tabernacle of Dr. Len G. Broughton, in Atlanta, is largely responsible for this gigantic Methodist enterprise.

They began a noonday service here today for business men and women, and Bishop Candler preached the opening sermon. The Georgia Bishop was in fine shape, and they "heard him gladly." He's the greatest preacher in the world, and God is using him for His glory.

Personality and Divinity of the Holy Spirit.

BY REV. A M'CULLAN.

He called Saul and Barnabas to the ministry of Jesus.—Acts 13:2-4.

He is the Agent of the Resurrection.—Rom. 8:5-11.

He witnesses to our acceptance with the Father.—Rom. 8:12-17.

He seals us heirs of God.—Eph. 1:13-14; 2 Cor. 1:22.

See Gal. 5:22-23; Eph. 3rd chap.

He speaks.—Hebrews 3:7; Acts 28:25.

He can be vexed.—Isaiah 63:10.

He can be grieved.—Eph. 4:30.

He can be resisted.—Acts 7:51.

He came in bodily form upon Jesus.—Luke 3:22.

He convinces of sin.—John 16:13-14.

He enlightens the mind.—I. Cor. 12:7-12.

He prays for us.—Rom. 8:25-27.

He is the Teacher of Righteousness.—John 14:26.

Author of the Scriptures.—2 Peter 1:15-21; Hebrews 4:12-13.

Everything we know concerning God, Father, Son, Holy Spirit, man, Heaven, Hell, Eeternity, Resurrection, Immortality is from the Holy Spirit.—John 16:7-15; Acts 28:25-26; 1 Cor. 2:1-15.

We are baptized in His name.—Matt. 28:19.

He is the Agent of Regencration.—John 3rd chap.

By Him our Lord Jesus cast out demons.—Mat. 12:28.

Creator of the human body of Jesus.—St. Luke 1:35. Read whole chapter. (Note verse 67.)

Jesus was helpless like other men until the Holy Spirit came upon him at his baptism.—See Luke 3:22, Luke 4:1.

The Holy Spirit is witness to the divinity of Jesus.—John 15:26; Luke 2:25-27; Acts 7:55-56.

Witness to Paul.—Acts 20:23.

He annointed Jesus.—Acts 10:38.

He is the living power of all preaching.—Acts 1 and 2 chapters.

He was present at Creation and took part in the same.—Gen. 1:2-3.

He dwells in man as God.—I. Cor. 3:16-17; I. Cor. 6:19-20.

Peter calls Him God.—Acts 5:3-5.

Paul calls Him Lord.—2 Cor. 3:17-18.

He is united with the Father and Son.—Mat. 28:19; 2 Cor. 13:14.

He is Eternal.—Heb. 9:14.

He is Omnipresent.—1 Cor. 6:19; Rom. 8:14; 139 Psalm, 7-12 verses.

He is Omniscient.—1 Cor. 2:10-14.

He is the Fountain of Life.—John 6:63.

He can be blasphemed.—Mat. 12:31-32; Mark 3:28-30.

He made man.—Job 33:4.

Read Genesis 1:26; Gen. 2:7.

"Elohim," (Plural), Jehovah God.

"Let us make man in our image and after our likeness."

TRINITY OF THE GODHEAD.

The Father a divine personality.
The Son a divine personality.
The Holy Spirit a divine personality.

Jesus the Christ.

C. F. SHERRILL.

The great thing is not to live in Christendom, but to live in Christ. The knowledge that saves is not the historical knowledge of Christianity, but the personal knowledge of the Christ. A Christian, then, is one who knows and lives the Christ.

* * *

Jesus taught great and eternal truths. He exemplified them in the most beautiful life ever lived on earth. But Jesus' moral mission to men was more than this. He came to put a new spirit in man. His spirit led to the transformation of Paul and John. It is in the reach of us all.

* * *

The influence of earthly men perishes with the passing of their personal presence. The Old Guard won no victories after the banishment of Napoleon. The Ironsides fought no battles for a dead Wellington. Jesus' influence is greater now than when He was present. We cannot classify our Lord with men. The passing years only add victories to the Unseen Conqueror.

* * *

The miserly spirit makes a miser. The patriotic spirit makes a patriot. The Christ spirit makes a Christian.

* * *

Jesus made no promise or provision for the passing of His power at death. His was an imperial faith in the enlargement and extension of His Kingdom after the crucifixion. No other fact similar to this is seen in history. Surely, as the centurian said, "This was the Son of God."

* * *

The wail of the disciples at their supposed loss in the death of Jesus is pathetic and painful. It is in contrast to Christ's high hopes for the future of His Kingdom. Jesus never regarded the cross as the ebbing point of His moral power. His crucifixion on the cross has proved to be the coronation of the Christ.

* * *

What fervent hopes and illimitable faith gleamed in Jesus' heart as He neared the end. He knew that the close of His earthly life was the beginning of His true spiritual reign in the hearts of men. Jesus saw the other side as well as this. The cross did not hide the glories of the coronation. Gethsemane did not hide the grandeur of an everlasting kingdom.

* * *

Jesus knew, when He stood under the cruel shadows of the cruel cross, that He would be to all His followers, in all clines and at all times, what He had been to His apostles. And more. No regret about the future comes from Him at death. The upper room was indeed an upper room.

The Field

Rattleboro and Whitaker Circuit.

REV. R. F. TAYLOR.

I was assigned by Bishop Candler, at our last Conference in Goldsboro, to this delightful charge, after serving two years on the Leasburg Circuit with some as true and loyal Methodist people as you will find in the North Carolina Conference, in the Durham District, where Dr. J. T. Gibbs holds the reins and is successfully guiding the grand old Methodist ship to the port of victory. While it was my pleasure to serve under this wise, charming and dignified man of God, I wondered if I would ever love another Presiding Elder as I did him; but under the wise providence of almighty God, my lot has fallen with another whom I had learned to love and admire some years ago while on the Greenville Circuit. I am quite sure that our wise Bishop Candler made no mistake in putting George Smith (as he is familiarly called) on district work. He held my first Quarterly Conference the first Sunday in February, and I tell you he did some fine preachin' too. If those Edenton Street people in Raleigh were fed on the same kind of gospel food he gave us at our Quarterly Conference, they ought to be very high up in spiritual things. He just completely captivated all our people. We all dearly love him now.

I reached my charge the day before Christmas and began making preparations for a vigorous campaign for the Lord on this charge. Though the weather has been very disagreeable every Sunday except one, we have had many things to encourage us; have met all my appointments and received four by certificate; two on profession of faith at my regular appointment. We have had fairly good congregations, and last Sabbath our congregations were very large at both churches. I was told that our congregation at McTyeire was larger than it had been in several years.

We have been given a very cordial reception at all our churches. The stewards very kindly raised the pastor's salary, and the people are continually showing their love and esteem for us in many substantial ways.

Dear Doctor, you just ought to come to see us at this time and enjoy the pounding with us that I received from our good Whitakers' people. They know just how to do the thing right. These people live well and seem to want their preacher to live better. But when such amiable and enthusiastic young ladies as Misses Lena and Indy Taylor start out on a mission like this, they are sure to bring things to pass. You should have seen me packing my buggy. It is wonderful what a Methodist preacher can pack in a buggy.

Pray for me that I may prove to be a blessing to this good people. May God richly repay them for all their kindnesses to your humble servant, for which I feel my unworthiness.

Reply to Brother Williams.

Bro. J. N. Williams' article on the Presiding Elders, which appeared in the Advocate March 9th, needs to be noticed. He says the Presiding Elder has been, for a long time, considered worse than a useless expense, without any returns, on stations and large circuits.

I have been associated with the pastors of the Richmond, Warrenton and Fayetteville Districts for eleven years, and during that time those Districts have been served by nine Presiding Elders, and some as strong and progressive pastors as the North Carolina Conference has, and I have never heard of the Presiding Elder being a burden or a useless expense. They may consider the Presiding Elder that way up North where they have "three hundred appointments." I think I should consider him a "burden and useless expense" if I had to hear one of the three hundred sermons preached in three months.

Again, Brother Williams proceeds on the supposition that the Presiding Elder is simply the business agent of the church. I think this shows an inexcusable ignorance of the duties of a Presiding Elder. Brother Williams ought to know the Presiding Elder is the Bishop's representative and comes in vital touch with every interest of the charge. If Brother Williams don't know these things, he should post himself before he writes on such a subject.

Again: "He says he has not heard of a Presiding Elder being invited to hold a revival meeting in twenty-five years." Well, I am not surprised, when they have three hundred appointments of their own to fill. But if Brother Williams would read the Raleigh Advocate more, he would learn that in North Carolina they do different. One helped in a meeting in Oxford last year, and those present say he did some fine preaching. I have had some of them myself. 'Tis true, they are not evangelists of a certain kind, and I am glad of it; and whenever mine gets to be, I shall not invite him to hold a meeting for me.

Now, I think the inferences patent in Brother Williams' article are unkind and calculated to do harm. I think if the brother was in the pastorate so he would come in real contact with the Presiding Elder and come in contact with the real needs of the church, he would write an article retracting the utterances under review. But Brother Williams is not in the pastorate. I don't know that he ever was. But if he will read Bishop Soule's reasons for contending for the right to appoint the Presiding Elder and refusing to be ordained without this right, I am sure he will not be a party to any more nagging at the necessary office in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

JAS. H. FRIZELLE.

Yanceyville Circuit.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—I haven't written you concerning our work this year. Everything is in good condition, notwithstanding the fact we have had so many cold Sundays. When the weather is not too rough we have a crowded house.

We held our first Quarterly Conference last Saturday. Owing to the weather there were few out, but we planned for great things this year.

The Board of Stewards raised the salary fifty dollars above last year.

Doctor, when you consider that this makes the third time in three years that the stewards have raised on the preacher's salary, it shows a growth of liberality among our people. We are expecting to bring things up in full this year, as we have in the past.

Above everything else, I rejoice that souls have been and are being saved. Our net increase last year was sixty. God pity the church when souls are not being saved. I try to preach a gospel that helps men to be afraid of sin, and that helps them to love righteousness.

A preacher that will not do his best among this good people is not worthy the name of preacher. I feel that there are some of the richest Christian characters in this work that I have ever known. These good people read and enjoy the Advocate. We are all benefited by it.

Success to you in your work

J. H. McCRACKEN.

Elizabeth City District Missionary Institute.

The Missionary Institute for the Elizabeth City District was held in the Methodist Church in Columbia, N. C., March 9th to 11th, inclusive. The following preachers were present: J. E. Underwood, Presiding Elder, D. H. Tuttle, H. M. North, W. E. Hocutt, F. L. Church, M. H. Tuttle, H. M. Jackson, W. P. Constable, W. F. Craven, L. B. Jones and A. J. Parker. The other ten preachers were conspicuous by their absence. The people of Columbia, who had gone to the trouble to prepare for them, were very much disappointed, as well as the Presiding Elder, who had expected that these brethren would be present and take part in the institute.

I do not know why so many were absent. I sincerely hope they had legitimate excuses, for really the Missionary Institute, in my judgment, is the most important meeting to be held during the year. This scribe was elected secretary. The opening sermon was preached Wednesday night, by Rev. M. H. Tuttle, who set a high standard. Those who followed measured up to the mark already set. In fact, with the exception of what this scribe had to say, there was not a dull or dry speech delivered. Enthusiasm ran high and the indications are that the fires kindled in Columbia will continue to burn throughout the district. I predict that the Annual Conference will find every charge with every claim paid in full. Rev. J. E. Underwood is a Presiding Elder of the first water. He directs his work with the hand of a master, and watches developments with a scrutinizing eye. Rev. H. M. North preached a strong sermon on Friday night, and closed with a consecration service. A number of prayers for the baptism of the Holy Ghost on every charge in the district was offered. It was good to be there. Those brethren who were absent cannot know what a treat they missed.

I never saw a meeting of any kind more hospitably entertained in my life. Columbia and her "constable" aredue, and were tendered, our sincere thanks.

Respectfully,

A. J. PARKER, Secretary.

Trinity College Notes.

The Commencement program has been completed, and is to-day given to the public.

The Commencement Sermon will be preached Sunday morning, June 5th, by President William DeWitt Hyde, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. The Baccalaureate Address will be delivered Tuesday morning, at 11 o'clock, by Dr. Frank C. Woodward, Richmond, Va.

Mr. Goodwin Davis Ellsworth, '80, Washington, D. C., will make the Annual Address before the Alumni Association.

Tuesday evening representatives of the Senior Class will speak.

Wednesday, Commencement Exercises will occur and the Commencement Address will be given. The speaker for this hour will be Professor Francis Greenwood Peabody, of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

Wednesday evening a reception will be given in honor of the graduating class.

The Alumni Association will hold its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, and the Executive Committee of the Association has decided to have an Alumni dinner in honor of Col. J. W. Alspaugh, of Winston, a member of the Board of Trustees, and the oldest living graduate of the college.

Chief Marshal Julian Blanchard has appointed as assistant marshals, Henry Gilbert Foard, Wilmington; William H. Pegram, Jr., Durham; Robert R. Roper, Roper; Abner K. Murchison, Mocksville; Thomas M. Stokes, Bamberg, S. C.; Alfred C. Goodman, Durants Neck.

Chief Manager Angier B. Duke has appointed as assistant managers, Paul Webb, Elizabeth City; George B. Cooper, Henderson; Cecil B. Authur, Morehead City; Frank S. Boddie, Durham; John W. Hutchison, Charlotte; Frank A. Ogburn, Monroe.

Rowland Circuit.

Dear Editor:—We love to send subscriptions to our good church paper. This makes twenty-four for Rowland Circuit this year. We interpret this as indicative of growth. We insist upon all our subscribers reading the paper. Very little good to take it and not read it.

Our second quarterly meeting meets with the Centenary Church, next Saturday and Sunday, April 2 and 3. Let all officials come. Dinner on the ground Saturday.

An Easter egg hunt for the Sunday-school at Oake Grove Saturday at 3 o'clock. Everybody invited.

Fraternally, J. W. BRADLEY.

Rowland, N. C., March 28, 1904.

The Family

Easter Flowers.

With gentle home-work doing all for love,
Making some life the better for our own;
Smoothing some pain for other feet to tread,
Cheering some heart that has to work alone.

So shall we live the nearer to our Lord,
So shall we labor through these holy hours;
Till Easter suns shall hail the golden day,
And joyful hands shall wreathe the Easter flowers.

—O. C. W.

An Easter Lily.

Guess what came to us last night
From the angels, all in white!
Such a darling, dainty dot!—
Can't you think what we have got?—
A little Easter Lily!

Cause she came on Easter e'en
It can plain enough be seen
Not another name would do;
And this suits her through and through—
Our little Easter Lily!

For she's, oh, so white and fair,
With such wisps of yellow hair!
And she's sweet as sweet can be!—
Good-bye; I must run and see My little Easter Lily!

—Emma C. Dowd.

In Our Father's Care.

The ships glide in at the harbor's mouth,
And the ships sail out to sea,
And the wind that sweeps from the sunny South,
Is as sweet as sweet can be.
There's a world of toil and a world of pains,
There's a world of trouble and care,
But O, in a world where our Father reigns,
There is gladness everywhere.

The earth is fair in the breezy morn,
And the toilers sow and reap,
And the fulness comes to the tasseled corn,
Whether we wake or sleep.
And far on the hills by feet untrod,
There are blossoms that scent the air,
For O, in this world of our Father, God,
There is beauty everywhere.

The babe lies soft on the mother's breast,
And the tide of joy flows in;
He giveth, he taketh, he knowest best,
The Lord to whose home we win.
And O, when the soul is with trials tossed,
There is help in the lifted prayer,
For never a soul that loves is lost,
And our Father is everywhere.

The ships sail over the harbor bar,
Away and away to sea;
The ships sail in with the evening star
To the port where no tempests be.
The harvest waves on the summer hills,
And the bands go forth to reap,
And all is right, as our Father wills,
Whether we wake or sleep.

—Angelus.

Easter for the Children.

An idea that will please the children of the family, in an Easter party, on the following day. For this the invitations should be written on dainty tinted paper, in the form of an egg, and the rooms should be decorated with jonquils, lilies, or any Easter flowers. One amusement which will interest the children is an egg hunt. For this provide a large number of candy eggs of various colors, and conceal them about the room. Furnish each child with a small bright-colored bag to collect the eggs in, and reward the one who finds the largest number with some pretty trifle for a prize. Another game is a variation of the familiar "Donkey party." Sketch a rabbit upon a sheet, and give each child a pair of rabbit ears. The object is to pin the ears upon the rabbit while blindfolded. To the one who locates the ears most accurately, a small prize may be given. The children will enjoy singing their Easter hymns again, and it may not be amiss to again impress them with the meaning of Easter.

The dining-room should be prettily decorated, and a novel idea for a centerpiece is a large egg of white flowers, resting upon a bed of green, and this in turn upon an oval mirror. Fluffy little chickens, scattered among the green, make a pretty touch.

The refreshments should be simple and suited to youthful digestions, and a good menu consists of chicken sandwiches cut in the form of eggs, ice cream in rabbit-molds, "Easter-egg" fancy cakes, and candies in the same form. The floral egg in the centre of the table should be hollow, and when the refreshments are finished, this should be opened, disclosing a number of fluffy chickens, one to be given to each child as a souvenir.

As has been already said, there is great danger at the present day of our holidays losing their original significance. Thanksgiving, too, often centres about the dinner, Christmas about the gifts, while Easter is inseparably associated with new clothes. It is a wise mother who seeks to impress upon her children the meaning of these days and who brings vividly before the children the wondrous birth of our Lord and His glorious resurrection. So as once more the day of the resurrection comes around, let us make it a joyous occasion for young and old alike, so that each heart may say with gladness, "The Lord is risen, indeed."—Selected.

Too Late.

The old farmer died suddenly; so when Judge Gilory, his only son, received the telegram, he could do nothing but go to the farm for the funeral. It was difficult to do even that, for the Judge was the leading lawyer in X—, and every hour was worth many dollars to him.

As he sat with bent head in the grimy little train which lumbered through the farms, he could not keep the details of his cases out of his mind.

He had never given his father a heartache, and the old man died full of years and virtues, "a shock of corn fully ripe." The phrase pleased him.

"I wish to tell you," said the doctor, gravely, "that your father's thoughts were all of you. He was ill but an hour, but his cry was for 'John! John!' unceasingly."

"If I could have been with him!" said the Judge.

"He was greatly disappointed that you missed your half-yearly visit last spring. Your visits were the events of his life," said the doctor.

"Last spring? Oh, yes; I took my family then to California."

"I urged him to run down and see you on your return, but he would not go."

"No; he never felt at home in the city."

The Judge remembered that he had not asked his father to come down. Ted was ashamed of his grandfather's wide collars, and Jessie, who was a fine musician, scowled when she was asked to sing the "Portuguese hymn" every night. The Judge humored his children and had ceased to ask his father into his house.

The farm-house was in order and scrupulously clean, but its bareness gave a chill to the Judge, whose home was luxurious. The dead old woman who had been his father's servant sat grim and tearless by the side of the coffin.

"Martha was faithful," whispered the doctor, "but she's deaf. His life was very solitary. The neighbors are young. He belonged to another generation."

He reverently uncovered the coffin and then with Martha went out and closed the door. The Judge was alone with his dead.

Strangely enough, his thought was still of the cold bareness of the room. Those hacked wooden chairs were there when he was a boy. It would have been so easy for him to have made the house comfortable—to have hung some pictures on the wall! How his father had delighted in his engravings and pored over them!

Looking now into the kind old face, with the white hair lying motionless on it, he found something in it which he had never taken time to notice—a sagacity, a nature fine and sensitive. He was the friend, the comrade, whom he had needed so often! He had left him with deaf old Martha for his sole companion!

There hung upon the wall the photograph of a young man with an eager, strong face, looking proudly at a chubby boy on his knee. The Judge saw the strength in the face.

"My father should have played a high part in life," he thought. "There is more promise in his face than in mine."

In the desk was a bundle of old account books with the records of years of hard drudgery on the farm; of work in winter and summer, and often late at night, to pay John's school bills and to send him to Harvard. One patch of ground after another was sold while he waited for practice, to give him clothes and luxuries which other young men in town had, until but a meager portion of the farm was left.

John Gilory suddenly closed the book. "And this is the end!" he said. "The boy for whom he lived and worked won fortune and position—and how did he repay him?"

The man knelt on the bare floor and shed bitter tears on the quiet old face. "O father! father!" he cried. But there was no smile on the quiet face. He was too late.—Youth's Companion.

Old People.

I want to say a word to old people. I see you wherever you go. I see you on the street cars. The conductor gives the car an extra rest when you get on or off, out of courtesy to your slow steps. I see you at church. You nod sometimes, but the sermon is not complete without your nod of approval. I see you in the warmest corner of the hearth reading the paper.

You have one great temptation—it is to think that your days of usefulness are over. You are in the way, so you feel, and you'd better be out of the world. It is a great mistake. If the Lord thought that old people were useless, he would devise some way suddenly to get rid of them.

What makes a person useful? Not ability to work. A baby cannot earn a penny, cannot do a stroke of work, yet it is often the most important factor in the household. Baby's coming often makes father "straighten up;" often unites the estranged hearts of husband and wife; often brings sobriety and industry into the home life.

An old man sitting in an arm-chair, feeble and helpless, may be the most useful member of the household. Let me say three things to you:

1. Old people are a blessing, because of their accumulated wisdom. You have made the journey of life. You have the rich experience. That boy is a bright boy who forms the acquaintance of some aged person.

2. Old people supply a necessary conservative force. You make society more stable. You bring reverence to it. The age that is wise rises before the hoary head.

3. Old people link us to heaven. You remind us of the future life. "My old mother knows how to pray," said a merchant, recently, to me. You bind us to the throne of God.

The earth would be positively poor without you. I am not sure but that you are the most useful members of society.—Advance.

The supremely absurd thing about worry is its futility. It accomplishes absolutely nothing. If we are on a delayed train, which will mean missed connections, worry will not make the train run one fraction faster. If we are watching beside a sick bed, worry will not lower the sufferer's temperature any part of a degree, or make the pulse beat a whit less rapidly. If we want it to be fair as the rain begins to fall, worry will not stop one single drop. What is the use of using up energy and embittering life by what is absolutely impotent and vain?

If meat be allowed to stand a little too long before cooking, a slight sprinkle of sugar over it just before taking it from the fire will remove the unpalatable taste.

Our Boys and Girls

Chalk Level, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I go to school every day. My teacher is Miss Ada Norris. I like her very much. I study arithmetic, geography, fourth reader and spelling.

I will close by asking a question: Who was the meckest man?

Your little friend,
MAUD MANN.

Franklinton, N. C., Feb. 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy ten years old. I go to Sunday-school and my teacher is my sister, May Turner. Her class is entering the intermediate quarterly.

Rev. John H. Shore is our pastor. We like him very much.

Will close by answering Earl T. Sells' question: Samson was the strongest man.

NATHAN C. TURNER.

Stem, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eleven years old and I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. My teacher's name is Mrs. W. S. Gooch, and I like her ever so much. I have two sisters and two brothers. I go to every-day school and my teacher is named Miss Mary Kimball. I like her ever so much.

I will close, hoping this will not find the waste basket.

Your friend,
LONNIE BULLOCK.

Chalk Level, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years old. I go to school every day, and my teacher is Mr. Ernest Marks. I like him very much. I study arithmetic, geography, grammar, spelling and history. Our school will soon be out. We are going to have an entertainment.

We have a new pastor, and his name is Mr. Starling. We like him fine.

I will close, with much love to the Orphanage.

Your little friend,
CLARENCE MANN.

Goldsboro, N. C., Feb. 12, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years of age. My pava takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Mr. Elijah Edwards is our superintendent. My teacher is my brother. Mr. F. E. Dixon is our preacher.

I have two sisters and two brothers living, and one brother and three sisters dead. I also have a grandma living. She lives with us.

I will close.

From your unknown friend,
ETTA MITCHELL.

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old, and I enjoy reading the little girls' and boys' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school and every-day school. I study spelling, grammar, arithmetic, geopraphy, history and fifth reader.

My school teacher's name is Miss Sarah Crosswell, and I think a great deal of her. My Sunday-school teacher's name is Miss Bessie Williams and we all love her. I go to Fifth Street Methodist Sunday-school. Our pastor's name is Mr. McCullen and every one likes him.

I will close by asking a question: How old was Jesus when he was crucified?

Your little friend,
MARY H. RISLEY.

Town Creek, N. C., Feb. 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years of age. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My Sunday-school teacher is Mrs. McKoy, and I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. W. R. Royall, and I like him very much also. I go to every-day school. My teacher is Miss Nellie McClees. If this escapes the waste-basket, I will write again.

Your friend,
MABEL CANNAN.

Chocowinity, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I live with my uncle and aunt. My mamma is dead. I have a good home. I go to school every day. My teacher is Miss Myra B. Turner. I like her very much. I study spelling, fourth reader, grammar and arithmetic.

My uncle takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the childrens' letters and I want one in there also.

Mr. Stanfield is our pastor for this year. I hope we will all like him very much.

I will close for this time, hoping to see this in print.

An unknown friend,
RUTH C. NELSON.

Dunn, N. C., Feb. 19, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I live in Dunn, a town with about two thousand inhabitants. We have six churches of different kinds. I go to the Methodist Sunday-school. Mr. G. E. Prince is our superintendent and Miss Florence Holder is my teacher. Mr. Snipes is our pastor, and has service every Sunday except the first.

I read the children's letters in the Advocate and like them.

If I see this in your paper, I may write again.

I will close, with best wishes for the little folks and the Advocate.

BLANCHE GRANTHAM.

Winstead, N. C., Feb. 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years of age. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little boys' and girls' letters. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday, and my papa is my teacher, and I like to go. I have been going to school every day until last week our school house caught on fire and burned down; will start again just as soon as they can build. Miss Addie Lea is my teacher. We all love her very much; she is so sweet and kind to us.. She has the sympathy of the whole community in the loss of her nice new piano that was in the school-house when it burned down. I will answer E. T. Sells' question: Samson was the strongest man.

"A question I will ask of thee,
Come, answer if you please.
Tell in what chapter there's a verse
With three and fifty t's?"

Enclosed you will find ten cents for the Orphanage.

ALMA WINSTEAD.

Hugo, N. C., Feb. 27, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I go to school now and my teacher is Miss Maggie Smith. Our school is just two more weeks longer. We are going to have an entertainment the last day.

We all like Miss Maggie very well.

This is my first letter to the Advocate. Please excuse bad writing, and perhaps I will do better next time. I will close for this time, wishing to see this in print.

Your little friend,
ROSA LEE ROUSE.

New Bern, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl seven years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Mrs. Dr. Rhen; our pastor is Rev. G. T. Adams and I love him very much.

Well, I will answer David A. Broughton's question: It was Zaccheus that climbed the sycamore tree. He climbed it to see Jesus.

I will ask a question: Who was taken out of prison by the angel?

I will close by sending ten cents for the Orphanage.

CORRINNE BLALOCK.

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I go to Sunday-school. My papa takes the Advocate and I like to read the little folks' letters.

I have a pet pig and her name is Polly. I have a little brother named Walter. We love him very much, because he is the only boy in the family.

Our preacher's name is Rev. B. E. Stanfield. We like him very much

I will answer David Bruton's question: It was Zaccheus that climbed the sycamore tree to see Jesus.

I will close, with much love to the Orphanage.

Your friend,
HELEN V. WOOTTON.

Clinton, N. C., Feb. 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I would like to enter your warm circle of boys and girls. This is my first letter. I enjoy reading the letters from the little folks. My papa takes the Advocate. I enjoy reading it very much. I will answer Allen Sells' question: Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died. I will ask some questions: How many generations from Abraham unto Christ? Who took the kingdom after Belshazzar?

I will ask Emma F. Harris to tell her pastor to please write often to the Advocate. He was our pastor for four years. We loved him very much. We watch for a piece from him.

I will close, with best wishes for the Advocate.

Yours truly,
B. O. MERRITT.

Franklinton, N. C., Feb. 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As my last letter did not find its way to the waste basket, I will write again. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Our pastor is Rev. John H. Shore. We like him very much. This is his third year with us, and we regret very much that we can't have him but one more year.

I go to every-day school also. My teacher is Miss May Cheatham.

I will answer Maud Hill's question: John the Baptist baptized Jesus.

Now I will ask one: How many men that started from Egypt ever reached Canaan?

I will close, with best wishes to all the little Advocate friends.

JOSIE TURNER.

Osgood, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I go to school now, and Miss Nannie McPhail is my teacher. I like her very much.

Our school is three days longer.

My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters, so I thought I would write.

I go to Sunday-school every Sunday that I can.

I study geography, history, arithmetic, grammar, spelling and physiology. I like spelling best of my studies.

This is my second letter to the Advocate.

I will close for this time, wishing to see this in print.

Your little friend,
MAY LEE YARBOROUGH.

Rocky Mount, N. C., Feb. 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As my other letter escaped the waste basket, I will write again.

Papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading it very much especially the letters.

I have two brothers and two sisters. My mother and father are both living. I go to the graded school. I am in the fourth grade, and study spelling, reading, English grammar, geography and arithmetic.

I will answer Maud Hill's question: John baptized Jesus.

I will close by asking some questions: How long did it take Noah to build the ark? Where did Jesus go when he was twelve years old? Where did God give the Ten Commandments?

Your friend,
MAMIE HUNLEY.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.

Has world-wide fame for marvellous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for Cuts, Corns, Burns, Boils, Sores, Felons, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions; infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. at all druggists.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N.C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

The officers of our Conference Society, and all delegates who will attend the Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City are requested to send their names at once to Mrs. W. J. Lumsden, Elizabeth City. Those officers and District Secretaries who cannot attend are asked to make the fact known also, to Mrs. Lumsden.

We are requested to publish again the routes to Elizabeth City, as given by the pastor of the church there:

For New Bern and Wilmington Districts, by way of New Bern, taking steamer "Neuse" on Monday, Wednesday or Friday, at 6 p. m., arriving in Elizabeth City next morning early.

For the Washington District, via Plymouth and Edenton, arriving here at 9.30 a. m., or 2.30 p. m.

For all other Districts over either the Atlantic Coast Line, or the S. A. L., via Suffolk, Va. Leaving any point on either of these lines on a morning train you can reach here same afternoon about 6.30 o'clock. On either of these last roads you will change cars at Suffolk, Va., coming over the new Suffolk and Carolina, to Elizabeth City, or persons so desiring may come via Norfolk.

Hoping for a "big turn out" of God's hand-maidens at the meeting, I remain yours truly,

D. H. TUTTLE.

The Young Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Edenton Street Church, at the last regular meeting, elected the following officers: President, Miss Daisy Waitt; First Vice-President, Miss Bessie Brown; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Sam Young; Recording Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Willson; Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Josephine Brown; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Minnie Tucker; Agent for Missionary Advocate, Miss Joe Reese; Delegate to Annual Meeting, Miss Minnie Tucker; Alternate, Miss Mary Pescud.

This Society possesses a high type of young Christian womanhood. With an energy and zeal born of a high ideal of Christian duty and privilege, they reach a goal of success which would seem an impossibility to a Society with less determination.

Read the following from our efficient Conference Treasurer, Mrs. B. B. Adams: "It gives me great pleasure to announce the fact that our sisters have rallied nobly to the bugle call. Our pledge has been met in full. This year's report is the largest that has ever passed through my hands. Truly it is well to attempt great things, and expect great things."

This notice, sent in by our Conference Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Swindell, will be read with interest and pleasure: "Mrs. Mary L. Hargrove, of the Scarritt Bible and Training School, Kansas City, Mo., has kindly consented to make the following itinerary in the North Carolina Conference, soon after her return from Palestine.

She is a fine talker, and a consecrated woman. We hope that all who can, will avail themselves of the rare privilege of hearing her.

Rockingham, Sunday, July 10th, 8 p. m.; Fayetteville, Monday, July 11th, 8 p. m.; Wilmington, July 12th, 8 p. m.; New Bern, July 13th, 8 p. m.; Raleigh, July 14th, 8 p. m.; Durham, July 15th, 8 p. m."

Combined with her personal magnetism, and her long experience of faithful service in her Master's cause, will be the wealth of newly acquired knowledge and inspiration which she will gather in her attendance upon the "World's Fourth Sunday-school Convention" in Jerusalem, April 18-20.

Not only the members of our Missionary Societies, but every one who feels an interest in the extension of Christ's kingdom in the earth, should hear this talented woman.

All hail to our faithful District Secretaries! It would require more space than we can command in our column to give all the good news they are sending us. Our elect sister, Mrs. J. L. Horne, writes of her District:

"Dear Mrs. Dixon:—Your query, 'Where are the eight?' reminds me to say: the Washington District is 'in line' and 'keeping step.' She exceeded the Pldege assessment by $99.-90. I am sure every woman on the District, who reads these figures will wish she had paid ten cents more to that cause last year. Sisters, let it teach us a lesson!

In the total, the District paid $190.33 more than ever before. Every Auxiliary on the District, save one, paid more than the previous year.

I would like to speak of the Adult Auxiliary at Greenville, whose Pledge assessment was $40.00, and who paid $60.00, without diminishing dues or Conference expense fund; and of the Bright Jewel Band of Rocky Mount, whose Pledge assessment was $25.00, and who paid $61.10. The little Society at Ocracoke, organized two years ago, paid an average of $2.50 per member.

They do not get the enthusiasm of the Annual or District Meetings; never come in touch with outside workers, but they have the spirit of Christ and that is the spirit of Missions.

The District has not done all she could—we are going to do better this year. But I am glad to bear testimony to the unward tendency, and to thank the faithful workers of every Auxiliary for the support they have given to the District Secretary in her efforts to advance the work.

Very sincerely,
MRS. J. L. HORNE,
District Secretary.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Important Notice—Read Carefully.

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Home Mission Society will be held in Selma, N. C., April 27th-May 2nd. Rev. R. F. Bumpas will preach the sermon.

Let there be present a representative from every Auxiliary. Especially do we urge the newly organized Auxiliaries to send delegates.

Please send names of delegates and visitors to Mrs. N. E. Edgerton, Corresponding Secretary Selma Auxiliary.

MRS. S. H. SCOTT,
Conference Cor. Sec.

Our Annual Meeting.

My Dear Sisters:—Our annual gathering this year will be with the Auxiliary at Selma, April 27th to May 2nd. It is our earnest hope that every Auxiliary may send a delegate, for this is the only way in which we can successfully advance the interests of the great work that has been committed to us. We need all the inspiration that we can derive from the occasion, as well as the help that a united study of our work will afford us. The cause is developing in answer to our prayers, and we should endeavor to develop with it. It is true that we still have our discouragements, but even these should make us all the more brave and faithful.

Let us all unite our efforts and our prayers to make this the most successful meeting we have ever held, looking in faith to Him who has said: "It is not by might nor by power, but by my spirit."

With loving interest in you all,
MRS. J. E. UNDERWOOD.

Our President's Message.

Her earnest words will be welcomed by all and will find a loving response in every heart. May all hearts and hands unite and faithfully use their best efforts towards the success of our Conference.

Report of Fourth Quarter.

Adult Auxiliaries in Conference Society, 33; Juvenile, 4. Adult members in Auxiliaries, 760; Juvenile, 114. Meetings held during quarter, 64; average attendance, 234. Subscribers to "Our Homes," 204; number taking Home Mission Reading Course, 113. Adult mite boxes in use, 49; baby mite boxes, 199. Names added to Baby Roll, 36. Papers and leaflets distributed, 601. Visits to the sick and to strangers, 589. Visits to corrective and benevolent institutions, 7. Cottage prayer meetings held, 10. Garments in good order distributed, 240. Needy assisted, 110. Auxiliaries contributing to connectional enterprises, 12. Number pledges to tithing, 20. Boxes of supplies sent off and reported to Superintendent of Supply Department, 2.

MRS. S. H. SCOTT,
Conference Cor. Sec.

Confereace Corresponding Secretary.

This report is not complete, but it is the best that our faithful Corresponding Secretary could compile from the ones sent her. She sends special thanks to the Auxiliary Corresponding Secretaries who were punctual.

It represents much loving service for our King and cannot seem dull reading to any one. The number of Auxiliaries remains the same, but there are 75 new adult members, and 12 new Juvenile, and an increase in almost every collection of figures. Let us take courage and work on with joyful and grateful hearts.

Disappointing Facts.

There are two disappointments to which I must call your attention:

1. The average attendance is less than one-third. 2. The subscribers to "Our Homes" number very little more than one-fourth of the members. These are truths to ponder and to pray over. May we be able to discover the way to arouse the indifferent ones to new interest and useful action! And does not the second fact partly explain the first? It is difficult to believe that want of interest in Home Missions among Christian women can come from anything but want of information, for their hearts are true and their desires right. Then let every earnest member put in a word for "Our Homes" whenever she can.

Food for Thought.

Chicago contains more Germans than any city in Germany, except Berlin. New York has more Italians than Florence. Last year 130,000 came to us from Russia, 215,000 from Austria-Hungary, 24,000 from Italy. Some one has said that "Facts are the finger of God." What do these figures mean to the Christians of the United States? Will not our Home Mission writers and brethren of the pulpit answer through this column?

A BOY'S WILD RIDE FOR LIFE.

With family around expecting him to die, and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, W. H. Brown, of Lecsville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma; but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." Like marvelous cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and Grip prove its matchless merit for all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

CHEAP SETTLERS' TICKETS.

On January 19th, February 2nd and 16th, March 1st and 15th, and April 5th and 19th, 1904, the Frisco System (St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad), will sell reduced rate one-way and round-trip tickets from Atlanta, Birmingham and Memphis to points in Arkansas. Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories and Texas. Write S. L. Parrott, District Passenger Agent, Atlanta, Ga.

Editorial

EASTER: A BACKWARD AND A FORWARD LOOK.

Looking Backward. Above the violet sky-line of childhood many shapes arise. The sheen of the Sabbath morning, the music of church bells, the white lilies nodding in an atmosphere pulsing with sacred song, and oh! the dear faces which vanished one by one as the Easter tides came on. We love to gaze on these sweet visions which Memory drapes so tenderly. But like the pearl and gray of sunset, they fade away, and eyes so used to looking at ashes and withered leaves and other vanishing things see that which vanisheth not through all the years—an empty tomb. It tells of conquered death and a conquering living Christ, the "hope of glory." Through the gloom and the gleam of hurrying days that empty tomb is seen. It is ever open to the skies, and from it come the words: "He is not here; He is risen."

Then, among the sad mounds of years, is another grave, empty and solitary. From it, the heart dead in trespasses and in sins, walked out by the Spirits mighty power into the glad free life that is hid with Christ in God. That empty grave tells of sins forgiven, a soul cleansed, and an enthroned Christ. God help us all to keep that grave empty, to tell the thrilling story of a new life swelling into the unending maturity.

Looking Forward. Yes, to the sunrise. For Easter tells of an empty grave, and that empty grave is an index finger pointing forward. Forward, to the time when this world will swing no longer a sin-cursed orb, but glory-covered, even as the earth is water-covered. Forward, to the time when this "vile body shall be changed and made like unto His own glorious body according to the mighty working whereby He is able to subdue all things unto Himself." Forward, to the time when the "loved and lost awhile" will walk with us in Paradise, and all the tears and heart-aches and hill-climbing and temptation-fighting will have passed away forever. Forward, to the time when satisfied with our glorious awakening we shall stand in the beatuy of the eternal morning and look on the face of the King in His beauty.

O, Easter-tides, as you come and go, whether hedged with snow or bound with flowers, bring to Advocate readers and all the full hope and prophecy and inspiration of the Empty Tomb—the bloom of life and the glory of Immortality.

THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH.

At the General Conference in New Orleans the words, "the Church of God," were substituted for the words, "the Holy Catholic Church," in the Apostles' Creed.

The Joint Commission on Form of Worship, appointed by the last General Conference, respectively of the M. E. Church and the M. E. Church, South, restored the words, the "Holy Catholic Church."

Why this was done, we do not know. That the Commission had the right to make this restoration we seriously question. Yet there can be no reasonable objection to the words, "the Holy Catholic Church." "Catholic" simply means "general." The Holy Catholic Church is not the Roman Catholic Church, but the universal church. There is no reason why the papacy should have the exclusive use of the word. To refuse to use it in the Apostles Creed is to acknowledge in a certain sense that the Roman Catholic Church, alone has a right to the use of the term.

DURHAM DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

This Conference met in the town of Graham on Thursday morning, March 24. The introductory sermon was preached on Wednesday evening by Rev. J. H. McCracken. There were present all the preachers-in-charge in the District and forty-six laymen. Dr. Gibbs, the Presiding Elder, among his eminent qualifications for the Presiding Eldership, possesses the gift of securing a large attendance of preachers and delegates.

Perhaps the chief item of interest is the fact that ten out of seventeen charges reported foreign and domestic missions paid in full. The other seven charges have paid fully half.

The preachers of the Durham District looked well-fed, well-dressed, and cheerful. The happiest men we see are Methodist preachers at a District or an Annual Conference. We cannot say as much of them at a Quarterly Conference. The 8th question is often bothersome.

We reached Graham at 11 a. m., on Friday. We were in time to hear an interesting sermon by Rev. W. L. Cuninggim on "The Heroic Spirit of Missionary Effort." Friday afternoon was occupied in the election of delegates to the Annual Conference, and the passage of the character of local preachers. The delegates elect are as follows: A. J. Thompson, W. R. Hamrick, J. S. Carr, and S. S. Lankford. The next District Conference will be held at West Durham. It is a matter of regret that so few of our local preachers attend the District Conference. There are quite a number of local preachers in the Durham District, but very few were at Graham. In calling the churches, it was found that a local preacher doing supply work in Eastern Carolina holds his membership at one of the Durham churches. Quite a discussion arose on the question as to which District Conference has jurisdiction of this local preacher. There were various views expressed, but the Presiding Elder finally ruled that his case was in charge of the District in whose bounds he is at work. It was easy then to emphasize the duty of every local preacher who is doing supply work to move his membership to some church within the bounds of the District in which he resides and does his work.

Rev. W. B. Lee delivered an interesting address on Brazil at night to a large audience. Brother Lee expects to sail for Brazil next July. His heart is in the work there. He has the qualification most needed for his work, and that is a tender love for the people for whom he labors. He is bright, eloquent, and consecrated.

The Conference adjourned at 1 o'clock on Saturday. The day's session was taken up in considering educational interests. Mr. C. H. Ireland, Rev. S. B. Turrentine, and Miss Nannie Lee Smith spoke to the Conference concerning Greensboro Female College. The architect's plans of the proposed building were shown. Miss Smith took up a collection and the result was very gratifying. The plan of campaign for raising the $30,000 which must be secured before the building can be commenced, will be given to the public in a few days. At 11 a. m. Dr. J. C. Kilgo delivered a brilliant and forceful address on certain phases of our great educational problem.

Rev. Zensky Hinohara, a Japanese student at Trinity College, Rev. J.W. Jenkins, and Rev. Mike Bradshaw were visitors at the Conference. The first-named was appointed to speak on Saturday evening in the Methodist Church. He is a bright consecrated Christian. He is expecting daily to be called into the Japanese army.

We were in Graham three years ago, and we were agreeably surprised that so many changes had taken place. There are now about three thousand people in Graham. They believe in public school education, as the handsome building shows. They believe in their churches, as the very handsome edifices show. The Methodist Church is small but comely. Rev. C. M. Lance, the pastor, has the respect and confidence of the people in general. He is a man of high ideals and hard work.

The people of Graham showed warm hospitality to the Conference. Hearts and homes were opened wide. It was our pleasant lot to find with that choice companion, Rev. W. L. Cuninggim, a home with our friends Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kernodle, who, while pillars in the Christian Church in Graham, are broad and kind enough to make no difference in their treatment of their own and Methodist preachers. Brother Kernodle is Clerk of the Court of Alamance County and editor of the Alamance Gleaner. We feel that we can always claim a warm welcome from him and his interesting family.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

Rev. Dr. H. M. Hamill and Mrs. Hamill will conduct a Sunday-school Institute in Edenton Street Church, this city, on Monday and Tuesday, June 28 and 29, the exercises beginning at 4 p. m., Monday. This will be the only Institute held by them in this section of North Carolina.

Dr. Hamill is recognized as one of the foremost Sunday-school men in the world, and we are quite sure that all persons who are interested in Sunday-school work, will avail themselves of the privilege of learning of him.

The program of the Institute will appear in these columns later.

THE CRAVEN PORTRAIT.

Several weeks ago we announced the enterprise of securing an oil portrait of Braxton Craven for the Craven Memorial Hall, Trinity Park, Durham, N. C. The responses, while not numerous, are gratifying on account of the size of the subscription and the spirit of thankful reverence for the one whose portrait is to be painted. Rev. H. W. Norris, of Como, N. C., is a Baptist minister and a former pupil of Dr. Craven. We are glad to publish the following letter which we have just received from him:

Cosma, N. C., March 23, 1904.

Dr. T. N. Ivey, Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir and Brother:—That first page of the Advocate of the 16th presents the face of the man most loved by me of all the men I ever knew except my father. During my college days he was so kind and fatherly to me; and so many times gave me advice and counsel that I feel has so greatly helped me through the years that have followed. I have ever cherished his memory, and am pleased to have the privilege of contributing something towards placing his portrait in the "Craven Memorial Hall," so worthily erected to his memory. I have been blessed with the "heritage of his life's noble influence."

Enclosed I send you $1.00, and if you need another or four more to raise the necessary amount call upon me and you shall have it.

Yours truly,

H. W. NORRIS.

We presume that the part of the program which called for the holding of divine service on Mars Hill, Athens, on last Sunday by the delegates, in transitu, to the World's Sunday School Convention at Jerusalem, was fully carried out. If so, it was an event which is worthy of world-wide interest. Nearly two thousand years ago, Paul faced on Mars Hill an audience whose mental and moral attitude to the Christian principles represented by the Apostle foreboded to the worldly mind a quick and sure death to the religion of the Nazarene. The men and women who then laughed at Paul's preaching have passed into dust; but the truths of that gospel sermon have lived through the long centuries to find a concrete embodiment in a host of Sunday workers who themselves represent a large army which has planted the Master's banner over all the world.

"Jesus shall reign wherer the sun
Does his successive journeys run."

Drs. Burrow and Folk are at it again on the subject of Baptism.

Methodist Mention

Rev. D. H. Comann has closed a very profitable meeting at Tyron Street Church, Charlotte.

Methodism has not been without a resident Bishop in New Orleans for nearly thirty-four years.

Work on the new Columbia (S. C.) Female College building, near Hyatt's Park, will begin in a few weeks.

Mr. D. M. Smith has recently established a book agency with Wilson's International Book Store, Havana.

Rev. John W. Bird, a superannuate preacher of the Western North Carolina Conference, died on February 29.

Be sure to read Rev. A. McCullen's "Personality and Divinity of the Holy Spirit" in this issue. It is a most timely theme.

The preachers of Durham District, whose Conference was held last week at Graham, looked happy and well-fed. Not a single one looked hungry.

We are glad to know that Revs. R. H. Broome and R. W. Bailey, who have been sick recently, have improved sufficiently to take the field once more.

A movement is in progress to purchase the old Williamston Female College building and establish there a school to be the property of the Greenville District.

Many commendations of the Warrenton District Edition of the Advocate are coming in to this office. The Elizabeth City District edition will appear April 13th.

The beautiful poem in this issue entitled, "Easter-Tide," should have been credited to Dr. W. H. Moore. His modesty alone prevented him from appending his name to the copy.

Rev. R. E. Porter, a North Carolina missionary working under the direction of our Board at La Gloria, Cuba, had a very interesting letter in the North Carolina Christian Advocate last week.

Rev. J. Walter Long, preacher in charge of the Rockford Circuit, Western North Carolina Conference, has been made Field Secretary of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association.

Dr. A. C. Dixon, the well-known Baptist preacher, has a sermon on "What the World Owes to Methodism." He preached it recently in Tremont Temple, Boston, to a very large audience.

Rev. G. W. Starling, preacher-in-charge of Cary Circuit, reports that he has prosecuted his work during the inclement part of the winter successfully, and that all interests of his work have a propitious outlook.

It is announced that Davenport College trustees have the plan for an addition to the college which they intend building during the summer, and have it ready for the fall opening of the school.—N. C. Christian Advocate.

Mr. W. C. Noble, of Hillsboro, writes in a very complimentary way of Rev. N. C. Yearby and his labors. Brother Noble thinks that there is too strong a disposition to praise the D. D.'s, and to say little of the circuit riders.

Epworth Church, Rev. J. M. Culbreth pastor, is now a beautiful and well arranged edifice. They have just purchased a new piano. Brother Culbreth is doing some very intelligent and much needed work. His labors are bearing fruit.

The Oxford Ledger speaks thus in its last issue: The Bright Jewel Band of Salem Church has lived through the winter, prospered, and grown under the management of Mrs. Addie C. Hunt. The meetings have been held at her home during the winter, and last Sunday five new members joined, and there were in all twenty members present.

Emory and Henry College has enrolled one hundred and forty-one students this year—the largest in many years. Rev. Frank Siler, a former Holstonian, but now of the Western North Carolina Conference, will deliver the alumni address at the Commencement.

We had the pleasure of receiving a few days ago a visit from Rev. G. F. Johnson, of the Methodist Church of Canada. He is at present traveling through the South. He is a brother of Rev. J. R. Johnson, of Raleigh, who is the General Agent of the Sun Life Insurance Company.

Dr. Jno. R. Brooks returned to Raleigh on last Friday from a trip to Selma, Smithfield, Dunn, and other towns. He preached seven times in two weeks, and sold 134 copies of "Scriptural Sanctification." This shows that he is still able to do hard work—a kind in which he always rejoices.

We have on hand several requests from anonymous correspondents. We would like to publish an answer to these requests in the Advocate, but our rule requiring all correspondents to give us their name prevents us from noticing these requests. Our friends will please let us have their name.

On Monday evening, March 21, Dr. B. F. Dixon delivered a strong and able address before the Epworth League of Central Church, Raleigh. Dr. Dixon is a most attractive and helpful speaker, and is at his best before young people. Our Epworth Leagues would be fortunate in securing his services.

Dr. E. L. Pell's quarterly edition of "Pell's Notes" is enjoying great success. It circulates from Turkey to Hawaii. The Robert Harding Company, Publishers, Richmond, is issuing a cloth edition which is very compact, handy, and durable. The price of the Quarterly is 25 cents; $1.00 a year.

The meeting at Edenton Street Church will continue through the present week. There has been considerable interest, and a number have professed Christ. Rev. J. H. Shore is preaching some very strong sermons. He is a preacher of more than ordinary ability. His sermons are evangelical, showing both spiritual and intellectual strength.

Rev. E. Pope writes: "The outlook on my work was never brighter at this season than now. Large and growing congregations at every point. Look out for new subscribers. I am Superintendent of the Jonesboro schools with 135 pupils, teaching five days in the week, holding church conferences on Saturdays, and preaching every Sunday. How is that for work?"

The series of services that have been in progress at the City Road Methodist Church continue to grow in interest and the attendance each night is very large. Rev. H. M. North is a very impressive speaker and is thoroughly consecrated to the good work he has undertaken. The services are held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7.30 at night. They will continue all during the week. —Elizabeth City Economist.

Rev. R. L. Davis has this to say of his work, and it makes a fine showing: "With a membership of 269, Bertie has 49 subscribers to the Advocate, and we expect to have a few more soon. How is this? If North Carolina Methodism did as well, how would we then compare with the Baptists and Presbyterians? When I came here Bertie had 31 subscribers. Every family in our Ebenezer Church takes the paper. They are a noble little band."

Rev. A. L. Ormond writes that the work on the Kittrells Circuit is progressing finely. Dr. W. H. Moore, P. E., is highly appreciated. He preached three most excellent sermons at the last Quarterly Meeting. On Saturday the parsonage was happily pounded by the people of Trinity Church, who have the sincere thanks of the occupants of the parsonage. Brother Ormond says that his love for God and his brethren grows constantly deeper, and that his desire to be used by God grows constantly stronger.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report for each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since March 23, 1904:

B. C. Glover	14
Rev. N. H. D. Wilson	7
Rev. J. W. Bradley	6
Rev. J. G. Johnson	4
Rev. W. E. Brown	3
Rev. G. B. Perry	3
Rev. A. D. Betts	3
Rev. W. A. Piland	3
Rev. E. R. Welch	3
Rev. W. F. Craven	3
Rev. A. J. Parker	2
Rev. R. L. Davis	2
Rev. W. H. Townsend	2
Rev. K. D. Holmes	2
Rev. C. C. Brothers	1
Rev. N. H. Guyton	1
Rev. W. F. Jones	1
Rev. W. H. Brown	1
Rev. A. McCullen	1
Rev. Y. E. Wright	1
Rev. M. Culbreth	1
Rev. L. L. Nash	1
Rev. W. F. Galloway	1
Rev. M. Bradshaw	1
Rev. D. N. Caviness	1
Rev. L. H. Joyner	1
Rev. J. M. Marlowe	1
Rev. W. T. Usry	1
Rev. W. C. Merritt	1
Direct	1

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Washington District	91—increase	9
Rockingham District	88—increase	17
Raleigh District	83—increase	2
Fayetteville District	77—increase	7
Warrenton District	71—increase	13
Durham District	59—increase	3
New Bern District	49—increase	3
Elizabeth City District	48—increase	11
Wilmington District	45—increase	8

Total to date, 611; total increase for the week, 73.

Washington District still stands first. Rockingham turns Raleigh down and takes second place. Wilmington takes bottom place and Elizabeth City moves up one place. The greatest increase for the week is from the Rockingham District—17. Warrenton is next with 13. We trust that this will be a week of hard work by the preachers for new subscribers, and that many surprises are in store in next week's exhibit. We shall see.

THE PROGRESS OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The campaign for new subscribers is progressing very satisfactorily. The past week was a little "off." There are only four weeks yet left for the Conference to carry out the Resolution adopted to furnish 150 new subscribers for each District. Much work is to be done in the next four weeks. We expect our preachers and laymen to be very active. We must have 1,350 new subscribers by May 1.

The first week in May we will publish an exhibit of the whole Conference by Districts, showing how many renewals and new subscribers have been sent in by each preacher since Conference.

The next edition of the Collegian, the Louisburg College Magazine, is to be an Alumnae number, containing pictures of many of the "girls" who compose its Alumnae dating as far back as 1853. These pictures of its now "snowy-head matrons" will be as they were some thirty, forty and fifty years ago. It will also contain articles from some of her Alumnae and old teachers and other entertaining matter, that will make it an interesting edition. Any one wishing a copy can obtain it by sending twenty-five cents and their address to Mrs. Ivey Allen, Louisburg, N. C. Mrs. J. R. Brooks will edit this edition of the Collegian which will be most interesting and instructive

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE

DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE LITERARY EVANGELICAL

EDITED BY REV. M. B. ANDERSON.

A Missionary for the North Carolina Conference Leagues.

A missionary for the Leagues of North Carolina Conference. How much will it cost us to support a missionary? Only five cents the first month and two cents per month thereafter. What a glorious work this would be for the Leagues in 1904. Let us begin at once to dedicate this small sum each month to the Lord for the support of a "League Missionary" of the North Carolina Conference.

You may send me the name of your League, the number of members, and the amounts collected, until the meeting of the Conference League, when some one will be designated to receive your contributions and forward them to Nashville to the Missionary Treasurer. Think of it! Only five cents the first month and two cents per month afterward. Results: A missionary and his wife in the foreign field. Who can refuse?

St. John Chapter is the first to respond. Who next? Act at once and send me the names of your chapters, and I will publish them in order received. Who will have the honor of being next to the top?

Let each Chapter keep in touch, by correspondence, with other Chapters in the bounds of the Conference. Provoke each other to good works.

And do not forget to send me, for this column, any item of interest that may be helpful to this end.

Let the League column of the Advocate be a bond of union between the Chapters of the Conference.

The Council.

The council composed as it is of pastor, president, vice-president, and secretary, is a very important adjunct of the League. No League is complete without it. It should no more neglect its monthly meetings than should any other interest of the League be neglected. What the council is, easily determines the nature and character of the Chapter. The quality of the head makes the actions of the body more or less important. A thoughtless, frivolous head makes the actions of the body of doubtful significance, aimless, worthless. The same is true with the council. Should one of the vice-presidents be less thoughtful and earnest than another his department suffers in consequence and the League becomes a one-sided affair. The object of the council is to prevent this one-sidedness by inspiring to diligence and activity this careless officer.

The council has in its perview every interest of the League. It carefully considers plans and maps out the work of each department for the month. It guards against giving undue prominence to one department as against another; it prevents conflict and makes the League a harmonious whole.

It is here the departments come together for counsel through their respective heads. It is presumed that each president has previously conferred with his committee and formulated plans for the month that he may have something definite to propose to the meeting. This conference should not be neglected even though the members of his committee give little aid; that they may feel that they are more or less responsible for the conduct of the League.

The council should consider the general interest of the Chapter and not defer to the preferences of a few individuals. In proportion as this is neglected the beauty of the League is marred, its aims defeated, and its usefulness crippled. Indeed that is not a League in its strictest sense, in which all the departments are not given due consideration.

The devotional department should have its warm, fervent prayer-meeting, enthusiastic cottage prayer services, earnest, devout Bible readings, faithful study of doctrine and discipline, its "quiet hours," "morning watches" and missionary study circles.

The Charity and Help Department should feed the hungry, clothe the naked, visit the sick and those in prison, pray with and read the Bible to them and cheer them with flowers and words of encouragement. The stranger and sojourner should be sought out and invited to the social meetings of the church, the League and to the Sunday-school and given a cordial welcome whenever present and introduced to the pastor.

This department should also be in correspondence with like departments in other Chapters of the Conference and join with them in works of charity in the bounds of the Conference; especially the Methodist Orphanage.

The Literary Department, in addition to its regular meetings, should have its reading circles, literary clubs, culture courses, institutes and supplemental reading courses.

In many ways one department may aid another and all this is within the range and scope of the council to shape, direct and further the work. The council should appoint all the committees.

I would suggest that the council have a definite time and place of meeting and that it meet and adjourn on time. This last should be adhered to with something like ironclad rigidity. Under no consideration should its sessions extend beyond an hour.

Each vice-president should have a complete list of members and at each meeting of the council they should divide these among themselves for work in the several departments. This, that each member may have some part in the meetings of the League and no one member be called upon too frequently. It will prevent over-loading the more capable members and give work to weak and mediocre members that they may be led, developed and instructed.

Give place in the meetings for miscellaneous and unfinished business.

The Secretary of the League should be secretary of the council. He should keep a faithful record of the meetings in a book for the purpose.

WHAT IS LIFE?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly readjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

NEW DRESS GOODS FOR SPRING

Thin fabrics have the call this season, such as Nun's Veilings, Albatross, Crepes, Eolinnes, Voiles, Mistrals, Etamines, etc. Write for samples and prices.

NEW SUITS FOR SPRING STRICTLY ALL WOOL.

Venetian Cloth, Eton Jacket.....$12.50
Cheviots, Norfolk Jacket.....$15.00
Cheviot Dress Suits, Eton Jacket.....$25.00
Broadcloths.....$15.00
Cheviots, Collarless Jacket.....$16.50
Covert Cloth.....$18.50

Write us for further particulars.

Freight and express charges paid in Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina on all orders over $5.00 mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

HICKS' CAPUDINE
NEVER FAILS TO CURE
HEADACHES AND COLDS
The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.
At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.
PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentines Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 20 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. The Kind Mother Used to Chew.
Valentino Manufacturing Company, - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

Cheek and Neal's Porto Rico
COFFEE
Leads all package Coffees in Strength, purity and economy. Makes the most and best Coffee. In addition to that, gives you Something for Nothing Redeemable—Signatures go with all one pound packages. Save them and you have your choice of sixty-five fine household articles.
CHEEK & NEAL COFFEE COMPANY, Nashville, Tenn.
65 Valuable Premiums.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them.
Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

Sunday School

Lesson for April 3, 1904.

Jesus Visits Tyre and Sidon.

(Mark 7: 24-37.)

Golden Text: Without faith it is impossible to please him. (Hebrews 11: 6.)

A few weeks after the feeding of the five thousand, Jesus went into the region near Tyre and Sidon. In this way he withdrew for a time from the bitter opposition which was being offered to his teaching and preaching by the scribes and Pharisees, whose sins he had openly denounced.

The Syro-Phœnician Woman.—The coming of Jesus into the country round about Tyre and Sidon must have awakened considerable stir, and the news of his arrival and the fame of his miraculous power soon spread throughout the entire region.

Among those who heard of the Master's presence was a woman, described as "a Canaanite" by Matthew, and as "a Greek, a Syro-Phœnician," by Mark.

This woman came to Jesus in sore distress, for she had a little daughter afflicted with an unclean spirit, and she longed for the healing of her child.

Persistent Pleading. — Matthew tells us that to the first appeal of the Syro-Phœnician woman Jesus answered not a word. But the woman persisted so strongly in her entreaty that the disciples begged the Master to dismiss her from their presence. Then occurred that brief but significant colloquy in which Jesus tests the faith of the supplicant to the extreme limit. He tells her that it is not meet to take the children's bread and give it to the dogs (literally the little dogs, meaning, not the fierce, ravenous creatures which roam the streets of an Oriental city, but rather the little house-dogs, which are the children's pets and which are allowed to take their place under the table when the family are at meals).

The Syro-Phœnician woman quickly assents to the statement of Jesus, and yet in such a way as to claim for herself and her daughter the blessing for which she had asked, for her reply is, "Yea, Lord: even the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs."

The Reward of Faith.—The test imposed by Jesus had fulfilled his purpose. Jesus' seeming reluctance in granting her request had not altered the faith of the suppliant. So without further delay the woman's request was granted, and upon her return to her home she found that her daughter was healed.

Another miracle of healing followed in quick succession upon the incident which has just been related. A man who was deaf and had an impediment in his speech was brought to Jesus. Taking the man aside, the Master quickly spoke the word that was needed, and immediately the man's ears were opened and his tongue released from its infirmity.

The Application to Easter.—Inasmuch as the story of the Ressurrection will come in the regular chronological course of our study of the life of Christ, before the end of the present quarter, the International Lesson Committee have not thought it wise to turn aside from the present section, which comes in orderly sequence to the previous lessons we have been studying. Yet it will be well to study the incidents presented in our lesson with the object of finding an appropriate suggestion for Easter Sunday.

The miracles here recorded resulted in what was practically a new life both for the child afflicted with an unclean spirit and the man who was deaf and dumb. So the Resurrection of Jesus assures to us not only our future resurrection from the grave, but, if we accept him as our Lord and Saviour, it brings to us now a resurrection from spiritual death into a new life, hid with Christ in God.

CANCER CURED BY BLOOD BALM.—ALL SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES CURED.

Mrs. M. L. Adams, Fredonia, Ala., took Botanic Blood Balm which effectually cured an eating cancer of the nose and face. The sores healed up perfectly. Many doctors had given up her case as hopeless. Hundreds of cases of cancer, eating sores, suppurating swellings, etc., have been cured by Blood Balm. Among others, Mrs. B. M. Guerney, Warrior Stand, Ala. Her nose and lip were raw as beef, with offensive discharge from the eating sore. Doctors advised cutting, but it failed. Blood Balm healed the sores, and Mrs. Guerney is as well as ever. Botanic Blood Balm also cures eczema, itching humors, scabs, and scales, bone pains, ulcers, offiensive pimples, blood poison, carbuncles, scrofula, risings and bumps on the skin and all blood troubles. Druggists, $1 per large bottle. Sample of Botanic Blood Balm free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and special medical advice sent in sealed letter. It is certainly worth while investigating such a remarkable remedy, as Blood Balm cures the most awful, worst and most deep-seated blood diseases.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

$3.50 will buy a pair Americus Shoes
In 18 Styles
Men's fine custom-made work.
The Greatest Selling Shoe in America for $3.50
For sale by all up-to-date dealers. Pair "Americus" would be an appropriate present for a friend.
Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

Mme. Rubinstein's WALNUT HAIR DYE
Instantly restores Gray or Faded Hair to its original color, and by its wonderful tonical properties strengthens the hair, stops dandruff, promotes growth, makes it soft and glossy. Where an application of a few minutes daily does not do its natural color, and the gray hairs beautiful, natural shade, the dye forms no sediment, does not stain, and is free from grease. For sale at leading department stores and druggists, or by mail, sealed, upon receipt of price. $1.00 a bottle. Send for free booklet.
Rubinstein Chemical Co., 70 Fifteenth St., Atlanta, Ga.

Raleigh Marble Works

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.
Special attention paid to Finish and Lettering.
ONLY BEST OF STOCK USED.
Write for new Catalogue.
COOPER BROS., Prop's,
RALEIGH, N. C.

NOW DEPOSITED IN THE BANK
$75,000.00
IN CASH GIVEN AWAY.
To arouse interest in, and to advertise the GREAT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR, this enormous sum will be distributed. Full information will be sent you ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address on a postal card and we will send you full particulars.
World's Fair Contest Co.,
108 N. 8th Street,
St. Louis, Mo.

American Blackboard Company, Manfrs. of Endless Band & other BLACKBOARDS
Catalogue and Price-List No. 6 Free.
St. Louis, Mo.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in 60 minutes with head, or no fee. No fasting required. Send 2c stamp for 64-page Book. DR. M. NEY SMITH, Specialist, 809 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, Aug. 30, 1903.

BOU'N ROUND TRAINS.			STATIONS.			BOU. ROUND TRAINS.
Daily, ex. S.						Daily, ex. S.
Second-Class	First-Class					First-Class	Second-Class
101	105					104	102
A. M.	P. M.		Lv.	Ar.		A. M.	P. M.
7 00	4 15		.....Raleigh.....			9 30	5 30
7 15	4 25	S	.....†Caraleigh Mills....			9 20	5 15
7 25	4 30	F	.....*Sylvania.....			9 15	5 07
7 32	4 40	F	.....† Barnes.....			9 08	5 00
7 40	4 45	F	.....Hobby.....			9 00	4 55
7 55	4 50	M	.....McCULLERS....			8 55	4 50
8 00	4 55	F	.....Banks.....			8 45	4 30
8 05	4 57	F	.....Austins.....			8 40	4 26
8 25	5 05	S	.†Willow Spring....			8 35	4 20
8 30	5 15	M	.† JOHNSON MILL			8 30	4 02
8 50	5 20	F	.....† Cardenas.....			8 21	3 57
9 03	5 25	S	...C. F. & N. Junction			8 17	3 53
9 15	5 30	S	..† Fuquay Springs..			8 15	3 50
9 20	5 35	F	.....Buckhorn.....			8 08	3 35
9 25	5 40	F	.....Rawls.....			8 00	3 25
9 40	5 50	S	.....† Chalybeate.....			7 55	3 15
9 50	5 55	S	.....Bradley.....			7 45	3 00
9 55	6 00	F	.....* Smith Mill.....			7 40	2 55
10 00	6 10		.....Lillington.....			7 30	2 45
				Ar.	Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.

C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

'Phones 117.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Secular News

STATE.

The space formerly allotted to Russia at the World's Fair has been taken by Holland.

The underground railway system of New York City will soon be ready to begin operations.

It is officially denied that France and Russia are to act together in regard to the Chinese.

William J. Bryan lectured on "The Prince of Peace" in New Haven to an audience of two thousand.

The Empress Dowager of China has announced her opposition to the proposed alliance between Japan and China.

It is estimated that the property loss in the Western storm of last Thursday night will reach $3,000,000. A number of people were killed in Chicago.

By a decisive majority the Chamber of Deputies of France passed the government bill for the suppression of all forms of teaching by the religious orders.

The impeachment trial of Judge Swayne, Federal Judge for the Northern District of Florida, may prevent the adjournment of Congress at an early date.

A number of women and children were injured in a stampede in a Catholic church in New Haven, Conn., caused by some one in the congregation crying fire.

The women of Maryland feel very much hurt because the women of Virginia have refused them representation on the proposed Jefferson Davis memorial in Richmond.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to postpone until the next session of Congress action on the treaty giving Cuba sovereignty over the Isle of Pines.

There is a big strike of brick layers on in New York City. The trouble arose over the refusal of employers to recognize the brick layers' union. Building operations are suspended.

No important engagement has been reported between the Russians and Japanese. The Japanese continue to hammer at Port Arthur, but seem to be unable to cause her surrender.

The Japanese made another attempt to block Port Arthur harbor by sinking fireships at the entrance, but the plan was frustrated after a fierce engagement in which several men were killed and wounded.

Pension Commissioner Ware recently issued an order granting pensions to veterans who have reached the age of sixty-two years. The amount of the pension increases as the age of the pensioner increases.

Dispatches received in Washington indicated that Germany would declare another blockade of Venezuelan ports unless its claims against the country were paid in accordance with the decision of The Hague tribunal.

The Panama Commissioners recently appointed by President Roosevelt to have charge of the construction of the Panama Canal, will soon leave for Panama to look over the ground and make preparations to begin work on the canal.

Joseph Ralph Burton, senior United States Senator from Kansas, was convicted by a jury in the United States District Court of having accepted compensation to protect the interests of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company of St. Louis before the Postoffice Department.

GENERAL.

The State officers of the North Carolina Retail Merchants' Association were in session Monday in Raleigh.

The Corporation Commissioners went to Charlotte to have a hearing regarding the proposed union depot in that city.

The Raleigh and Pamlico Sound Railroad will be running trains from Raleigh to Wilson by the time the next cotton crop is ready for market.

The Providence Rural Graded School, Randolph County, has secured Hon. Charles B. Aycock to deliver an address at its closing exercises Friday, April 15, 1904.

Wake Forest and Furman University will have a debate in Charlotte on April 4th. A special train will be run over the Seaboard from Wake Forest and Raleigh to Charlotte.

Cases in the Supreme Court this week are being heard from the Ninth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Durham, Guilford, Granville, Alamance, Orange and Person.

The trial of Mr. Finch who was indicted along with Mr. McBee for conspiracy was had before Judge Walter Clark last week. Mr. Finch was bound over to the Superior Court.

The Durham Union Station Company was incorporated Monday in the Secretary of State's office. The incorporators are A. B. Andrews, H. W. Miller, F. H. Busbee and S. B. Patterson. The total authorized capital stock is $25,000, which may be increased to $100,000.

Mrs. Will Poll, a well known resident of Iredell County, and her young baby, were burned to death last Tuesday night. She was sitting in front of the open fireplace holding her baby when she was seized with a fainting spell and fell headforemost into the open fireplace.

Situations. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY. FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost, to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1).

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, SEC. AND TREAS.,
STAUNTON, VA.

Do You Want a Teacher?
The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

King's Business College.
(INCORPORATED.)
Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.
Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.
We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

ACID IRON MINERAL
Registered A-I-M Trade Mark
Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power, mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts. Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.
No equal for diseases peculiar to women. Tones up the entire system. Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents. If your druggist cannot supply you, write to "Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C.
"For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." J. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C. (Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.
ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. HALTIWANGER, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

FERRY'S Seeds
cost more—yield more—save all experimenting—save disappointments. 43 years the Standard Seeds. Sold by all dealers. 1904 Seed Annual postpaid free, to all applicants.
D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

Life Was Not Worth Living, But---
Shelby, N. C., April 30, 1902.
I had been a severe sufferer from nervous prostration for two years, and everything I ate disagreed with me. This made me feel so wretched and bad all the time that life was a burden; and I felt that I had rather die than live. I could not eat meat or any solid food at all, and everything I did eat caused me to suffer. I had terrible nervous spells, when I would become cold and feel almost lifeless—then hot baths would have to be applied. I suffered from gas on the stomach all the time, and so weak I didn't do any work for twelve months. Nothing I tried did me any good.
I was in that condition when Mrs. Joe Person called to see me last July and said everything she could to persuade me to try her Remedy, as she was so confident it would cure me. I bought a half dozen bottles and felt a great deal better by the time I had taken the third. I continued it until I took 18 bottles, which CURED me. My indigestion is well and I can eat anything I want, and it is very seldom I ever have even a touch of nervousness. My health is good and life itself seems like a different thing to me and well worth living. When I commenced the Remedy I weighed 105 pounds, now I weigh 140 pounds, which was my natural weight before I was taken sick.
If any one suffers from indigestion or nervous prostration, they need not hesitate to try the Remedy. I would not take any amount of money for what it did for me.
MRS. J. D. BREVARD.

Dr. Owen's Electric Belt is the grandest achievement of medical science; the most perfect electrical health appliance in the world. It positively and permanently cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Backache, Neuralgia and pains of every description. Indigestion, Constipation, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and all Female Complaints. It builds up the nervous system, strengthens every muscle, and restores the vim and vigor of youth. You simply put it on when you retire, and when you get up you feel like a new person.
It Cures While You Sleep.
Thousands and thousands who thought there was no help for them, have been cured through its use; why should you not be one of them? Write for large free illustrated catalogue, which explains all. Beware of imitations. Dr. Owen Electric Belt Co., 618 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

IMAGINATION, THAT SUBTLE POWER.
Patients frequently die within easy reach of help, allowing their imagination to cling to that fallacious idea that dropsy is incurable.
Dr. S. T. Whitaker, Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Sir:—I would like to testify, for the benefit of any one who may be suffering from Dropsy that my wife was very low with it, being enormously swollen. I don't think any one was ever in such a precarious condition as she, that ever recovered. Every one that knew her believed she would die. Her measure at time you began treatment was five feet and three inches. Your treatment gave instant relief and effected a positive cure. This was in 1889, there has been no sign of it since.
I hope these few lines from us will cause some sufferer with Dropsy to call on you, as I think it wise in anyone who may be suffering with this trouble to place themselves in your hands for treatment.
Yours truly,
(Signed) C. G. BRITT.
Forsyth, Ga.
Give history of case, name and age of patient to Dr. S. T. Whitaker, Dropsy Specialist, 41 E. Irwin St., Atlanta, Ga., and he will send a free treatment with directions for taking. This treatment is guaranteed to give immediate relief.
Send in care of C. C. Dept. for sample of Catarrh Cream, an absolute cure for Catarrh. Enclose four one cent stamps and request a prescription for Hair Tonic.

New Bern Journal: There is more improved farm machinery being sold in New Bern this season than ever before. Farmers are waking up to the advantage of using machinery instead of manual labor. This has been brought about by the great scarcity of labor throughout the country, but the farmer will be benefited in the long run.

WE WILL SEND YOU FREE AND PREPAID
a bottle of Vernal Palmettona (formerly known as Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine). Only one dose a day perfectly cures indigestion, constipation, kidney, bladder and prostate glands. Send at once and be convinced that there is a cure for all stomach troubles, depressed conditions of mucous membrane, including catarrh in the head, stomach, bowels and urinary organs.
Remember, you get it absolutely free by sending a postal to Vernal Remedy Co., 538 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

NOT NEW, BUT TRUE.

Daniel Webster once said about a certain political proposition that "There were many new things about it, and many true things, but the trouble was that the true things were not new, and the new things were not true." a philosophy which shows that Webster's fame and reputation were not unmerited.

The Vitae-Ore advertisement which appears in these columns from month to month is not a new offer. It is the same 30-day-trial-no-pay-unless-benefited offer which the readers of this paper have seen and read for the last three or four years' time, and which many hundreds have accepted, and are not sorry that they did so. It is of the kind that would appeal strongly to Webster, in that it is not new, but all true. Vitae-Ore has been before the public for three decades, and its newness has long since worn off, and its worth been thoroughly established by the experience of the many thousands of sick and ailing people who have sought its aid. It has seen medicines come and go, but has gone right along, growing in popularity from month to month, year to year, always satisfying, always doing as advertised.

The proprietors, the Theo. Noel Company, Vitae-Ore Bldg., Chicago, want you to try it. You don't pay a cent unless you are benefited; two cents postage upon your request for the treatment is all you need to get it. Why should you hesitate?

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25.75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to San Francisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1901. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

A Notre Dame Lady's Appeal.
To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M Summers, Box 233, Notre Dame Ind.

EUREKA.
Eureka Springs, Ark., March 15, 1904.
Dr. J. T. Shuptrine:
Enclosed find 50c. in stamps for a box of Tetterine. I sent for a box over a year ago. It took a place off my face that I feared was Cancer. I send for another box. It is the only remedy I ever had that did any good.
Respectfully, MRS. W. K. PENN.
Unexcelled for all skin diseases. All druggists, or postpaid from the manufacturers at 50c. per box. J. T. SHUPTRINE, Savannah, Ga.

ORDER YOUR CORSET BY MAIL
We Can Fit YOU.
To wear a corset right, you should wear the right kind. It is not every body that knows how to properly wear a corset, or what kind to buy.
The C-B-a LA SPIRITE Corset—is one to be depended upon as being correct from every view-point. It can be fitted, on account of its many shapes, to every woman of normal proportions, and will generally suit her better than one made to order.
It is shown in numerous qualities from the inexpensive to the expensive, and always gives satisfaction. No better corset is made, over which to fit a tailored garment.
NEW SPRING STYLES OF BATISE CORSETS
482—For full, medium and Stout Figures $2.50
489—Low Busts, for Medium and Stout Figures 2.50
385—For Tall, Slender or Medium Figures 2.50
399—For Tall, Medium and Short-waisted Figures 1.50
305—For Tall and Medium Figures.. 1.00
302—Girdle Corsets, Slender and Short 1.00
216—Girdle Corset—Short Figures.. 1.00
338—Tape Girdler for Misses ..... .75
Order by Stock Numbers—give the size wanted, and enclose 18 cents for postage, and your order will receive immediate attention.
Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

A Red Cedar PAIL LASTS A LIFETIME.
Did you ever stop to consider how many buckets you buy during ten years.
A Genuine RED CEDAR Pail
Lasts not only 10 years, but 7 times 10 years. Over 160,000 sold during 1903.
RED CEDAR purifies water and keeps it fresh longer than anything else.
THERE ARE DIFFERENT KINDS of cedar pails. Insist on the RED CEDAR, it is the right kind.
Prewitt-Spurr Manufacturing Co., Sole Manufacturers, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

THE LIBERTY MILLS
PRODUCES DAILY 4,000 BARRELS OF Pure Soft Wheat Flour
AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.
Ask Your Grocer.
LIBERTY MILLS, Nashville, Tenn.

XANTHINE
PROF. HERTZ GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.
Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top?
Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color. Also stops dandruff; promotes growth.
At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle. Charges Prepaid. Highest Testimonials. Write us for booklet. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.
J. E. Underwood, P. E., E City, N C.

FIRST ROUND.

Currituck, at Asbury, March 5, 6
Columbia, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Pasquotank Circuit, Mount Herman, March 19-20
Elizabeth City, First Church, March 20
Hertford Circuit, Anderson's, March 27, 28
Edenton (at night), March 27
Perquimans Circuit, New Hope, April 2, 3
City Roads (Elizabeth City), April 3
North Gates, at Hebron, April 9
Gates, at Zion, April 9, 10
Hatteras, at Cape, April 16, 17
Kennaket, at Clarkes, April 18
Roanoke Island, April 20
Camden, at Trinity, April 23, 24
Moyock, at Moyock, April 24, 25
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Fifth Street, Feb. 28
Market Street, March 6
Bladen Street, March 6
Jacksonville, March 12, 13
Bladen Circuit, Center, March 19, 20
Southport, March 27, 28
W. Ocanaw, Zion, April 11
Wrightsville, Chadbourn, April 2, 3
Spallotte, Sharon, April 9, 10
Town Creek, Zion, April 16, 17
Clinton, Kendall, April 22
Kenansville, Wesley, April 23, 24
Elizabeth, Singletary, April 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow, Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union, May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June 5
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.
F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Carteret, Newport, March 5, 6
Atlantic, Atlantic, March 11, 12
Straits, Summerfield, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Mt. Olive and Faison, Mt. Olive, March 19, 20
Goldsboro Circuit, Dudley, March 26, 27
St. Paul March 27
Jones Circuit, Oak Grove, April 2, 3
Centenary, April 3
Craven Circuit, Tuscarora, April 9, 10
Kinston, April 10, 11
Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, South Creek, April 23, 24

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Fayetteville, St. Andrews, March 12, 13
Hope Mills, Cumberland, March 19, 20
Cokesbury, Salem, March 26, 27
Dunn, Black's Chapel, April 2, 3
Shaw River, Merritt's, April 9, 10
Elise, Tabernacle, April 15
Carthage, High Falls, April 16, 17
Jonesboro, Mount Pisgah Chapel, April 23, 24
Silver City, Hickory Mountain, April 29
Pittsboro, Brown's Chapel, April 30, May 1
Lillington, Spring Hill, May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8.
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.
John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Hamlet, Tabernacle, March 12, 13
Laurel Burg, March 20, 21
St. John and Gibson, Gibson, March 26, 27
Rowland, Centenary, April 2, 3
Red Springs, Solomons, April 9, 10
Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Farmville Circuit, March 5 6
Greenville (night), March 6
Grimesland and Vanceboro, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Wilson Circuit, Black Creek, March 20, 21
Wilson Station, March 21
Spring Hope, Mt. Pleasant, March 26, 27
South Edgecombe, Temperance Hall, April 1
Fremont, Lebanon, April 2, 3
Rosenville, Whitakers, April 9
Washington, April 10, 11
Bath, Pine Town (night) April 10, 11
South Rocky Mount, April 16, 17
Rocky Mount, April 17, 18
Tarboro and Potecasi, April 24, 25
Swan Quarter, Soule, April 27
Matamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Behel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.
J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Hillsboro, McTyeire, Feb. 27, 28
Milton Connersville, March 5, 6
Chapel Hill, March 13, 14
Durham, Trinity Church, March 20, 21
Carr Church and Season, March 20 at night
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, March 26, 27
Burlington Station, March 28, 28
Durham Circuit, Fletcher's Chapel, April 2, 3
Durham, Main street, April 3, at night
Roxboro Circuit, at Lea's Chapel, April 9, 10
West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Kenly, Buckhorn, March 5, 6
Wakefield, March 6
Tar River, Kittrell, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Edenton St., March 19, 20
Selma, Saunders Chapel, March 26, 27
Smithfield, March 27, 28
Franklinton, Wesley, April 2, 3
Central, April 9, 10
Youngsville, April 16th
Louisburg, April 17th
Oxford Circuit, Hermon, April 23, 24
Clayton, Mt. Zion, April 30th, May 1
Millbrook, Oak Grove, May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 26
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

WARRENTON DISTRICT.
G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Roanoke Circuit, Tabor, Feb. 17
Hobgood, Hobgood, Feb. 20, 21
Scotland Neck, Feb. 21, 22
Garysburg, Garysburg, Feb. 27, 28
Head-ron, March 5, 6
Warren, Providence, March 12, 13
Ridgeway, Ridgeway, March 19, 20

SECOND ROUND.

Northampton, Rehoboth, March 26, 27
Conway, Zion, March 27, 28
Rich Square, Lewiston, March 29
Bertie, Castalia, March 31
Harrellsville, Van's Grove, April 2, 3
Murfreesboro, April 3 4
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, April 6
Hobgood Palmyra April 9, 10
Scotland Neck, April 10, 11
Warrenton, Warren Plains, April 16, 17
Littleton, Calvary, April 23, 24
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Roanoke Rapids, Rosemary, May 21, 22

Marriages

HARRIS—COSBY.—At the parsonage in Grifton, N. C., March 2, 1904, Mr. M. D. Harris to Miss Ada Cosby, all of Lenoir County, N. C., P. Greening officiating.

SMITH — HEDGEPETH. — In Nashville, N. C., on the 21st of February, 1904, Mr. Wm. A. Smith to Miss Percie Hedgepeth, Rev. J. M. Benson officiating.

DOZIER—PROCTOR.—By Rev. J. M. Benson, February 24, 1904, at the residence of the bride's father, near Rocky Mount, Mr. J. Ernest Dozier to Miss Lula Proctor.

GORDON — FURGERSON.—At the hotel in Garysburg, N. C., February 24, 1904, Mr. Walter Gordon and Miss Dallas Furgerson, both of Brink, Va., were united in marriage, Rev. J. G. Johnson officiating.

DAVIS—ABBOTT.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lucy Abbott, near Grifton, N. C., February 24, 1904, by Rev. E. H. Davis, Mr. Leinster Davis, of Craven, and Miss Blanche Abbott, of Lenoir.

Obituaries

Obituaries containng not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

BURGESS.—On the night of February 26, the spirit of Miss Betsey Burgess went out from this world. She was a member of the Methodist Church at Scotland Neck. She had grown old and was very feeble, and death seems to have been a relief to her. She left evidence that she was ready to go, having exclaimed just before her last moment, "I am so happy, so happy!"

May it be the lot of us all to die happy. J. E. HOLDEN.

BALLARD.—I see in the Commonwealth of Scotland Neck, N. C., an announcement of the death of Mrs. Frank Ballard, a member of the Methodist Church of this place who, for sometime, has resided at Louisburg, N. C. I was not personally acquainted with Sister Ballard, but from the kind words of those who knew her here, I learn that she was a faithful, refined, Christian lady, and was loved by acquaintances here. I have no doubt about her acceptance with Him whom she loved and served. May the bereaved husband and loved ones find consolation at this sad hour in the Christian's hope.

J. E. HOLDEN.

Scotland Neck, N. C., Mar. 8, 1904.

WILKINS.—Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Wilkins died of paralysis on the 5th day of February, 1904. She professed faith in Christ in the year 1863; she was married to John W. Wilkins on the fourth day of September, 1867, and was at the time of her death sixty-five years, three months and nineteen days.

She had seven children, all of whom preceded her to the spirit land except two, Erna E. and Mala J. Erna is the wife of J. D. Tilley, Esq.

Mrs. Wilkins was a consistent member of Calvary Methodist Church and died as she lived, in the faith. Peace to her ashes and grace to the bereaved.

J. D. PEGRAM.

ALSTON.—Mrs. Allene Alston (nee Miss Wiggins), wife of Mr. Leo Alston, of Littleton, N. C., died February 1, 1904, leaving on this side the river three sisters, a husband and nine children.

Mrs. Alston was a devoted Christian, having been converted in early life, and remaining a faithful member of our church till death.

She possessed a bright, loving disposition, which rendered life peculiarly facinating to her. This happy disposition, coupled with a large store of divine grace, helped her to endure all of life's troubles and privations with sweet resignation. Her perfect adaptability to surroundings, and persistent determination to get all possible good out of life, was a marked characteristic of her nature.

She was faithful to her own spiritual interests and to those of her family; a devoted wife and mother, and as faithful to her church as the cares of a large family would permit.

From the many cares and burdens of life, death set her free. We all believe that she has entered into rest.

H. A. HUMBLE.

Littleton, N. C., March 8, 1904.

P. S.—I am requested by the family to express their thanks to the many good people who were so kind to them in this sad hour.

H. A. H.

GUPTON.—Departed this life, near Arcola, Warren County, N. C., on March 3, at 3 o'clock, a. m., Mrs. Nora M. Gupton, in the twenty-fourth year of her age, being the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Capps, and the wife of J. T. Gupton. Nora was somewhere about twenty-four years old when she entered into the joy of rest from this life. Though tender in years, she was well mature in all that is good, noble and pure. Nora professed faith in Christ and joined the Baptist Church at Harris' Chapel and has ever since been one of its earnest and zealous workers for its welfare. Lovely in person, noble in mind, with tender, sympathetic heart, full of compassion for any that might be in trouble,she was always ready to assist where her services were required. She has gone leaving for those that love her a sweet memory of a useful and unselfish life. The light of this world has merely faded from her for trusting in God as she did. She was not confined to the bed very long, but suffered a great deal, though she did not murmur or complain, but bore her suffering with patience. Though her church loses one of its most useful members, her family one of its brightest jewels, yet what is our loss is her gain. She is survived by a devoted husband, two children, father and mother, four sisters and five brothers, and a host of friends. To the bereaved ones we extend our most heartfelt sympathy, and at the same time point them to her beautiful life as the way we all should live that we may meet her beyond the river where there will be no more sorrow or parting.

"To him that overcometh, God giveth a crown;
He who is our Saviour, our strength will renew;
Look ever to Jesus, He will carry you through."

S. W. GUPTON.

CARRAWAY.—Emma James Carraway (nee Dozier), was born April 3, 1868, and died March 3, 1904, at five o'clock a. m., in the full triumph of a gospel faith.

Sister Carraway joined the M. E. Church, South, under the ministry of Rev. W. H. Puckett, at Adams Creek Church. The date cannot be ascertained from the register.

The subject of this sketch leaves a husband, seven children, a mother and some other relatives, and friends too numerous to mention here to mourn over her departure to ever be with her Lord. Sister Carraway was naturally of a sunny disposition, but always profoundly reverent for God and his cause. She was always a devoted friend of the preachers, and I feel deeply in my heart, that I've lost one of my best friends on this work. Sister Carraway seemed always to enjoy my feeble efforts to preach the gospel, and always tried to be in her place at the regular service. Our dear sister had many friends and admirers for her sweet, gentle, Christian life. We laid her to rest in the old family burying ground on Friday, March 4, 1904, to await the resurrection. Mother, husband, and dear, sweet children, let me exhort one and all to try to meet sister Emma in the glory land. I must say (and I know whereof I speak) that sister Emma Caraway was one of the most devout Christians that I've ever known. I have known some who professed higher, but I have yet to see any that lived higher. She was in touch with God and in sympathy with humanity. God be praised for letting me come in contact with such a good woman!

Yours in Christ,
J. H. M. GILES, P. C.
Newport, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God, in His wise providence has seen fit to remove from our midst little Clara Taylor, and

Whereas, we realize that He who said: "Suffer little children to come unto me," can not err; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That, while we deplore the loss of little Clara, we bow in humble submission to a loving Father's will.

2. That we extend to the bereaved parents and friends our deepest sympathy.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our Sunday-school, that a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication, and that a copy be sent to the bereaved parents.

T. C. ETHRIDGE,
W. T. HALL,
MISS DORA HORNADAY,
MRS. SETH WEST,
Committee.

Whereas, God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to take back to Himself our little friend and former schoolmate, Grady Craven; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That while bowing in humble submission to the Divine will, we are deeply grieved at the loss of our little friend and schoolmate.

2. That we extend to the family our profound and heartfelt sympathy, praying that He who giveth and also taketh away will comfort them in this sad experience.

3. That a copy of this be sent the family and one to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

W. A. CADE,
T. T. LANIER,
RALPH SPENCE,
Committee.

Chalk Level, N. C., Feb. 26, 1904.

Bedridden, alone, and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with Kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

CHEAP TICKETS TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Beginning March 1st, and continuing until April 30th, the Frisco System will sell daily one-way Colonist tickets from Atlanta, Ga., to California points for $39.25, to Portland, Ore., Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., for $48.25, and to intermediate points at relatively low rates.

Write or call on S. L. Parrott, District Passenger Agent, Cor. Decatur and Pryor Streets, Atlanta, Ga., for full information.

JOINTS PAIN YOU THIS MORNING?

First sign of RHEUMATISM. Dangerous to let it run. Easy to cure now. A single bottle of

Rheumacide

Will probably do the work. Bad cases require more. RHEUMACIDE cures by getting rid of the cause, so that no trace of the disease lingers in the system. It purifies the blood, relieves the inflammation of the kidneys, the chronic constipation and the catarrh that follows such a condition of the system.

Though Mrs. Mary E. Welborn, of High Point, N. C., is 80 years old and had suffered from rheumatism for 20 years, she was completely cured by RHEUMACIDE, and declares she feels "years younger" and is anxious for "all who are suffering from any of the forms of this dread disease" to try RHEUMACIDE and be cured.

REV. J. R. WHEELER, a noted Methodist minister, of Reisterstown, Md., writes enthusiastically of RHEUMACIDE, which cured him. He is 75 years old and has been in the ministry 50 years.

SAMPLE BOTTLE FREE FROM

BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., PROPRIETORS, BALTIMORE, MD.

"GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE."

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

WANTED

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE in this county and adjoining territories, to represent and advertise an old established business house of solid financial standing. Salary $21 weekly, with expenses paid each Monday by check direct from headquarters. Expenses advanced; position permanent. We furnish everything.

Address, The Columbia, 630 Monon Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

$200 A MONTH

Active Man or Woman in each county to exhibit, take orders and appoint agents for Eureka Oil Gas Stoves for cooking. New and wonderful inventions. Customers more than delighted with our improved burner. Agents coining our cap. Enormous demand. Rapidly replaces the ewo gas. from kerosene oil.

ing gasoline stoves. Absolutely safe. Cheapest, cleanest fuel. Sells at sight. Catalogue FREE. Write to-day.

Standard Gas Lamp Co., 141-143 Ontario St., Chicago.

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS

Please mention this paper.

A Special Train for You
CALIFORNIA

The Santa Fe will run two special trains to Los Angeles, leaving Chicago April 27 and 28, 1904, and Kansas City day following,

For General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church.

Officially endorsed by several State delegations.

Stops will be made at Albuquerque and Laguna in New Mexico, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, also Redlands and Riverside in California, affording opportunity to see unique Indian pueblos, earth's greatest scenic wonder, and two typical Southern California garden spots. Services Sunday at Grand Canyon.

You will travel on the cleanest railway in the West—oil sprinkled tracks and oil-burning engines in Arizona and California Shortest line, finest scenery, most comforts.

The rate is low; why don't you go?

WRITE TO-DAY FOR METHODIST FOLDER. Tells all about this enjoyable trip. Berth space on these trains is limited; apply early.

J. C. SARTELL, G. F. & P. A. A. T. & S. F. Ry.
12 North Prior St., Atlanta, Ga.

Santa Fe
ALL THE WAY.

FREE MEDICAL BOOKS FOR THE SICK.

[My special method of curing the chronic diseases of men and women has justly won recognition from the medical societies of the world as well as from the public in general. Scattered all over this broad land are tens of thousands whom my skill as a specialist has cured of all diseases, such as Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Nervous Debility, Prematurity, Weak Heart, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble and Stomach and Bowel ailments, Bladder Trouble, Varicocele, Stricture, Female Diseases and Blood Poison.

When it is at all possible I prefer to make a patient's personal acquaintance, but if you live out of the city and cannot call, write me what you suffer from and I will tell you the quickest way to be cured, free, and send you free of charge any one of the following eight medical books explaining my method of cure: 1, Diseases of the Vital Organs; 2, Female Diseases; 3, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs; 4, Nervous Debility; 5, Varicocele; 6, Stricture; 7, Blood Poison; 8, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Call or write to
DR. NEWTON HATHAWAY,
80 Inman Building, Atlanta, Ga.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.
Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by
Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

TENTS NEW AND SECOND-HAND FOR SALE OR RENT.
There are no tents that we cannot build.
Our Specialty is Gospel Tents.
Try one of our Water and Mildew proof tents. They will not rot. We want to quote you prices.
M. D. & H. L. SMITH,
Mention this paper. DALTON, GA

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.
SPRING, 1904.
LACES, EMBROIDEIES
AND
White Goods.
White Vogue will continue, and the new numbers in White Goods are irresistibly tempting. Dainty Organdies, Swisses, Dimities and Batistes, Mousellns de Paris, washable Chiffons, Hand-woven Batistes, Fancy Mercerized Jaquards, Voiles, Saque Francois, &c., &c.
Have you requested samples?
..Dobbin & Ferrall..
Raleigh, N. C.

$24.25 Open
$29.75 With Top

BUY BUGGIES DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURERS.
SAVE THE DEALER'S PROFIT.
Our Catalogue Tells You How.
WRITE FOR IT TO-DAY.
25 Styles of Buggies; 4 Styles of Surries.
Harness $5.35 Up.
Southern Made for Southern Trade.
Quality, Satisfaction and Price Guaranteed.
Southern Vehicle M'f'g Co.,
499 Broad St., AUGUSTA, GA.

BRINGS
SWEET SLEEP.

"I have used your concentrated water and am delighted with it. I have had considerable trouble in getting a good night's rest; frequently I was as tired in the morning as when I first laid down, was troubled much with bad dreams, etc.; but now I sleep soundly, and am greatly refreshed in the mornings, ready for the day's work. It is indeed a good medicine, and I thank you for calling my attention to it."

REV. J. O. BABCOOK,
Richmond, Va.

ECHOL'S
PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED
Iron and Alum Water
cures disease, tones up the whole system, builds muscle, creates appetite, gives sturdy health, brings soothing slumber. 8 oz. bottle, 50c. 18 oz. bottle, $1.00. At all good drug stores.
J. M. ECHOLS CO.,
LYNCHBURG, VA.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

"TO LADIES ONLY."
If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.
Address MRS. J. M. TURNER,
Box 87, Monroe, Ga.

LOW RATES
TO
CALIFORNIA and NORTHWEST
FRISCO SYSTEM
WILL SELL DAILY
Between Sept. 15th and Nov. 30th, 1903,
LOW RATE COLONIST TICKETS to points in . . .
Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.
SHORT LINE, QUICK TIME, NO BUS TRANSFERS, FREE RECLINING CHAIR-CARS...
For rates, schedules, maps and full information, write to
F. H. CLARK, W. T. SAUNDERS,
Trav. Pass. Ag't. Gen. Ag't Pass. Dep't
ATLANTA, GA.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

In effect January 11th, 1904.

This condensed schedule is published as information and is subject to change without notice to the public.

TRAINS LEAVE RALEIGH, N. C.

2.00 a. m. No. 111 daily for Greensboro and local points. Carries Pullman sleeper Raleigh to Greensboro, open for occupancy at 9 p. m., connecting at Greensboro with train No. 35, "Florida Express," for Charlotte, Columbia, Savannah, Jacksonville. No. 37, "Washington and Southwestern Limited," solid Pullman train, drawing-room sleepers, New York to New Orleans and Memphis; connection is also made for Winston-Salem, Wilkesboro, Danville, and local stations.

5.25 a. m. No. 112 daily for Goldsboro and local stations; connecting at Goldsboro with Atlantic Coast Line for Wilmington, N. C., Wilson, N. C., Tarboro, N. C., Norfolk, Va., and intermediate stations; also, at Goldsboro with Atlantic and North Carolina Railway for Kinston, N. C., New Bern, N. C., and intermediate stations.

8:40 a. m. No. 107, daily for Greensboro and local stations; connects at Durham for Oxford, Henderson, Kerrills and Richmond. At University Station for Chapel Hill, daily except Sunday. At Greensboro with train No. 36, "U. S. Fast Mail," for Washington and all points North; Pullman drawing-room sleepers to New York and Richmond. Close connection for Winston-Salem, Mocksville, and local stations, with train No. 7 for High Point, Salisbury, Charlotte and local stations.

10:30 a. m. No. 108, daily for Goldsboro and all local points; connects at Selma for Wilson, Rocky Mount and all Eastern North Carolina points. At Goldsboro for Wilmington, Kinston, New Bern, N. C., and Norfolk, Va., where close connection is made with Chesapeake Line for Baltimore and all other outgoing steamers.

3:35 p. m. No. 125, daily for Greensboro and intermediate stations; connects at Durham for Oxford, Clarksville, Keysville, daily except Sunday. At University Station for Chapel Hill, daily except Sunday. At Greensboro with train No. 29 for Columbia, Augusta, Savannah, Charleston, Jacksonville. Pullman sleeper and first-class coaches Washington to Jacksonville, Fla. Nos. 29, "U. S. Fast Mail," for Atlanta and all points South and Southwest. Pullman drawing-room sleepers to Birmingham and New Orleans; day coaches Washington to New Orleans, also with north-bound trains Nos. 34 and 36 for Washington, and all points North. Pullman drawing-room sleepers and observation car to New York; connection is also made at Greensboro for Winston-Salem and at Salisbury to Memphis.

4:50 p. m. No. 126, daily for Goldsboro and local stations.

C. H. ACKERT,
General Manager.
W. A. TURK,
Asst. Gen'l Manager.
S. H. HARDWICK,
G. P. A., Washington, D. C.
R. L. VERNON,
T. P. A., Charlotte, N. C.
W. H. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Office in Yarborough House Building, Raleigh, N. C.

AS A BEACON LIGHT.—

VITÆ-ORE points the way for storm-tossed sufferers to a haven of Health and Comfort. If you have been drifting in a sea of sickness and disease towards the rocks and shoals of CHRONIC INVALIDISM, Port your helm ere it be too late, take heed of the message ot HOPE and SAFETY which it flashes to you; STOP DRIFTING about in a helpless, undecided manner, first on one course and then another, but begin the proper treatment immediately and reach the goal you are seeking by the route so many have traveled with success. Every person who has used VITÆ-ORE is willing to act as a PILOT for you, each knows the way from having followed it; attend their advice, FOLLOW THE LIGHT and be cured as they have. CAN YOU AFFORD TO DISREGARD IT? Read our SPECIAL OFFER to readers of THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

You Are to Be the Judge

Vitæ-Ore is a natural product—as natural as the sunshine, the air you breathe, the water you drink or the food you eat. It is a God-made remedy, containing iron sulphur and magnesia as made in Nature's laboratory and supplies to the body those elements which are lacking in disease and restores all the bodily organs to a normal healthy condition

You are to be the Judge!

Vitæ-Ore is a natural Mineral Spring in concentrated form. One package is equal in medicinal strength and curative value to 800 gallons of the most powerful efficacious mineral water drank fresh from the springs. It is the most potent and powerful antiseptic constitutional tonic, blood, brain and brain builder, flesh maker and health restorative ever discovered. It gives tone to the system and imparts new life, strength and vitality. It is a germ destroyer, system fortifier and kills the midus of the disease.

YOU ARE TO BE THE JUDGE!

A Certain and Never Failing Cure for Rheumatism.

Bright's Disease and Dropsy.
La Grippe.
Blood Poisoning.
Sores and Ulcers.
Malarial Fever.
Nervous Prostration and Anaemia.
Liver, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
Catarrh of Any Part.
Female Complaints.
Stomach and Bowel Disorders.
General Debility.

Old People—For the aged there is nothing better than VITÆ-ORE. The loss of appetite and general breaking down of the digestive organs is delayed, the blood purified and enriched, the vital organs are strengthened and a peaceful old age may be enjoyed by the use of this great natural remedy without drugs.

Vitæ-Ore strikes the disease at its root entirely eradicates every vestige or trace and the patient is cured to stay cured. As a Blood Purifer it is without a peer. No other remedy can equal it. It supplies nature with the elements to build health into diseased bodies. It is the ideal tonic for Weak and Anaemic Men and Women. Its use makes the watery, impoverished blood become strong and virile, and as it comes through the veins imparts the color of health to the face, a sparkle to the eye and strength and vigor to the system. When Vitæ-Ore has done its work you will feel like a new being.

YOU ABE TO BE THE JUDGE!

Women are you afflicted with any of the numerable diseases which are so common and prevalent among your sex? We cannot mention them in this small space, but let us assure you that VITÆ-ORE is the true "Balm of Gilead" to every sufferer and the many diseased conditions which unfit women for the full enjoyment of life and its duties may be at once alleviated and permanently eradicated by the use of this wonderful remedy.

YOU ARE TO BE THE JUDGE!

Men are you afflicted with any of the diseases peculiar to men?

Above everything else you need VITÆ-ORE. In these conditions it proves to be a powerful tonic, a reviver, a vitalizer, restorer, force builder. It is not a temporary stimulant but builds up from the bottom by putting each organ, tissue, muscle and ligament in a healthy condition.

YOU ARE TO BE THE JUDGE!

YOUR STORY
Will Be Like Hers.

A CURE AND ALWAYS A CURE.

Sarah A. Chappell Wrote for It. Tried It, Judged It and Is Not Sorry. Why Not You?

BAXTER, Mo.—I take pleasure in telling what Vitæ-Ore has accomplished for me. I had sufferd seven years with a severe Stomach Disorder and Indigestion, the trouble dating from the year 1897, and have doctored and used patent medicines all the time. I began a treatment with Vitæ Ore some time ago and have at this time taken in all four packages, and feel almost as well as I ever did in all my life. I do hope that all suffering women can be induced to try this wonderful medicine as I did, and be cured as I have. If it was not for Vitæ Ore I surely would not have lived much longer, as I had about given up all hopes, but now I feel that life is worth living—I am so well and cheerful. I recommend it among my friends finding it a great pleasure to do so, and feeling that it is my duty as a recompense in some measure for the great good it has done for me. I know that Vitæ-Ore is what it is claimed to be, and only wish that all afflicted will give it a trial. SARAH A. CHAPPELL.

GLAD HE ACCEPTED.

REV. T. H. MANSFIELD, THE WELL-KNOWN OHIO PASTOR, TESTIFIES THAT HE AND WIFE ARE BOTH BENEFITED.

DEFIANCE, OHIO.—My wife and myself have been greatly benefited by the Vitæ Ore treatment, and are thankful that we accepted the trial offer made in our church paper. I had been an invalid for three years, taking much doctors' medicines and many patent remedies during that time, and now consider that Vitæ Ore has made a new person of me. No one, unless they have themselves been a sufferer from Kidney Gravel and Liver Trouble can tell of the great pain I endured. I can testify to the fact that Vitæ-Ore is a remarkable as well as reliable remedy, and personally believe that none other can prove to be so great a benefactor to the race. I heartily recommend it to the public. REV. T. H. MANSFIELD, Member of N. W. Ohio Conference.

You Will Say the Same.

Sent on 30 Days Trial
BY MAIL, POSTPAID.
READ THIS OFFER.

We will send to every worthy person who writes us, mentioning The Christian Advocate, a full-sized ONE DOLLAR package of VITÆ-ORE, by mail, postpaid, sufficient for one month's treatment to be paid for within one month's time after receipt, if the receiver can truthfully say that its use has done him or her more good than all the drugs and dopes of quacks or good doctors or patent medicines he or she has ever used. READ this over again carefully, and understand that we ask our pay only when it has done you good and not before. We take all the risk; you have nothing to lose. If it does not benefit you, you pay us nothing. Vitæ-Ore is a natural, hard, adamantine rock-like substance—mineral—ORE—mined from the ground like gold and silver, and requires about twenty years for oxidization. It is a geological discovery, to which there is nothing added to or taken from. It is the marvel of the century for curing disease as thousands testify, and as no cure, answering this, writing for a package, will deny after using

VITÆ-ORE will do the same for you as it has done for hundreds of readers of THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, if you will give it a trial. Send for a $1.00 package at our risk. You have nothing to lose if the medicine does not benefit your. We want no one's money whom VITÆ-ORE cannot benefit. Can anything be more fair? What sensible person, no matter how prejudiced he or she may be, who desires a cure and is willing to pay for it would hesitate to try VITÆ-ORE on this liberal offer? One package is usually sufficient to cure ordinary cases; two or three for chronic obstinate cases. We mean just what we say in this announcement, and will do just as we agree. Write to day for a package at our risk and expense, giving your age and ailments, and mention The Christian Advocate, so that we may know you are entitled to this liberal offer.

NOT A PENNY UNLESS BENEFITED.

☞ This offer will challenge the attention and consideration, and afterward the gratitude of every living person who desires better health or who suffers pains, ills and diseases which have defied the medical world and grown worse with age. We care not for your skepticism, but ask only your investigation, and at our expense regardless of what ills you have, by sending to us for a package. ADDRESS,

THEO. NOEL CO., Dept. S. W., Vitæ-Ore Building, CHICAGO, ILL.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA

Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 10.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 106 W. MARTIN STREET.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.

Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.

Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.

Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

At the Durham District Conference, Rev. D. N. Cavinoss pastor of Front Street, Burlington, reported all Conference collections paid in full. The Treasurer of the Board of Missions says that since his connection with the Board he had never known any one to pay Conference collections in full as early as March 17.

It seems only a short while since the world was startled by the news of the horrible assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga, of Servia. The regicides were retained in power, and as a consequence, some of the Christian Powers severed diplomatic relations with Servia. But Christian civilization is beginning to triumph. Only last week twelve of the army officers who were prominent in the assassination were deposed. Even Servia, though not sensitive directly to Christian conscience, is subject indirectly to Christian civilization.

During the past week, Port Arthur has been taken, and the Japanese were repelled with great loss in their failure to take the heights; the Russian fleet has been both bottled up in Vladivostock harbor and seen on the high seas seeking to swoop down on the Japanese squadron; the Japanese have been defeated most ingloriously in a land battle which was next day proved a defeat for the Russians; the Coreans have become incensed against the Japanese and have proved themselves loyal to the Mikado. No; we have no special war news to give to our readers this week.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, assisted by eight Archdukes, washed the feet of twelve old men in Vienna on March 29. While the ancient ceremony of "foot washing" seems foolish to the great majority of the Christian world, and while the performance of the aged Kaiser was no doubt as perfunctory and mechanical as the parts in a Punch and Judy show, yet the incident is refreshing as it stands out against the background of a scene in which kings and queens are listening to the sound of guns in Eastern waters and eagerly watching for their cue in the bloody drama. Anything, to show that humility and service are demanded in high places as well as low.

Even though Mr. Hearst may not be the standard bearer of the national Democratic party, yet he may get the credit of helping the party at a critical time. Up to a few days ago there was a woful lack of a consensus of opinion as to who should be the best man to nominate for President. There was no focus on any one man and the "eligibles" were as "thick as leaves in Vallombrosa." But a formidable Hearst wave came sweeping along, occasioning a fright which served not to paralyze but to bring about a get-a-move-on-you action which has resulted in almost unifying the Washington and New York party leaders on Judge Parker of New York. Yet Mr. Hearst has developed great strength, and he is yet to be an important factor to be reckoned with.

One of the strangest facts in the history of exploration is suggested by the return of the Antarctic expedition which set out in the ship Discovery, July 31, 1901. The fact referred to is that while so many exploring parties have spent millions of money and sacrificed hundreds of lives in trying to find the North Pole, there has been comparatively little interest in that terra incognita—the Antarctic region. There is comparatively little of Arctic territory that has not been explored and mapped out, while only the fringe of the Antarctic continent has been touched. This region embraces 2,000,000 square miles—all unexplored. The ship Discovery got as far as 77 degrees south latitude. It is a humbling thought that with all our scientific facilities and exploits there is still so much of the globe on which the civilized eye has never rested. Yet we have heard preachers base their prophecy of the early destruction of the earth on the assumption that the gospel has been preached in all parts of the earth.

The death on last Saturday of Mr. I. E. Avery, City Editor of the Charlotte Observer, removes from the State one of its most brilliant writers.

Mr. Avery was the son of Judge A. C. Avery, of Morganton. He graduated at Trinity College and was for a while Vice-Consul at Shanghai, China. Coming back to North Carolina, he entered the newspaper field and in a short while advanced himself into the very front rank of journalists. His "Variety of Idle Comments" which appeared every Monday in the Charlotte Observer won for him a more than State-wide reputation. His was a frank and tender nature which was at the same time energetic and fearless. His writing betrayed the heart-throb in every line. He was at his best in delineating human character, especially in its conflict with sin and bearing the burden of shame or sorrow. It is not strange that every one with whom he came in contact was his close friend.

With hundreds of others we mourn with the stricken relatives. The taking off of Mr. Avery was sudden. God knows best.

The Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad continues to be a storm centre. The agitation holds its grip. Since the last issue of the Advocate Governor Aycock has appointed a committee to assist in investigating the affairs of the road. This committee consists of the following: H. A. Page, R. T. Gray, and W. T. Lee. The character and ability of these gentlemen insure a just and thorough investigation.

On last Saturday the case of McBee and Finch came up before Judge George H. Brown in the Wake Superior Court. The defendants through their counsel made four motions:

1. For a bill of particulars, specifying the means used in each count charging conspiracy;
2. To quash the bill of indictment;
3. To remove the case to a Federal Court;
4. For a continuance.

The motions were argued for a considerable length of time before Judge Brown. The affidavit of defendant McBee was very lengthy, charging a state of affairs in the past management of the A. & N. C. R. R. which the State is compelled to investigate. Judge Brown granted a continuance and on Monday refused to quash the indictment, but ordered the Solicitor to furnish a bill of specifications.

This is a cause celebre, and is destined to play a much larger and more important part in the history of the State than was at first expected.

"Unto Cæsar the Thing's Which are Cæsar's, And Unto God the Things Which are God's.

The trustees of the State Normal and Industrial College of Greensboro met at Raleigh a few weeks ago and quickly perfected arrangements which will result in immediately replacing the main dormitory building of that great institution of learning. Their action will be applauded by every good citizen of the State. The next Legislature will not only approve of their action, but will, doubtless, commend these trustees for their fidelity to the trust committed to them.

Is there not a suggestion here to the Methodist Church in North Carolina? The college of this denomination for the higher education of her women, located in the same town with, and many years the senior of, the State institution, and doing a class of work in every way its equal in importance and necessity, was burned shortly after the destruction by fire of the main dormitory building of the State institution. The respective Boards of Trustees of these noble institutions saw at once the necessity of rebuilding. The State, through its officials, had sufficient faith and confidence in its constituency to cause to be placed at the disposal of the Board of Trustees of its institution the funds necessary for them to do what they said ought to be done.

Will the Methodist Church in North Carolina emulate this noble example? Surely, no one will say that it is not able—a strong denomination with 140,000 members, many of whom are wealthy, a great many prosperous, and a multitude well-to-do. They could do it and never feel the expense of it—from their surplus. No one will dare say that the State loves her citizens better than the church loves her members.

Let the followers of Wesley answer this in the fear of God, and with a desire to maintain the glory of the church. The Master once made use of this expression: "Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock."

JOSEPH SHAWEN BETTS.
Greensboro, N. C., March 5, 1904.

Contributions

A Word About the Future of Greensboro Female College.

BY REV. A. J. PARKER.

This noble old institution, which, for more than a half a century has done a great work, is a second time in ashes.

The history of female education in these United States can never be truthfully written without mentioning her name. I have loved and worked for her for years, and my heart sank within me when I learned of her destruction. I am truly glad the buildings were insured for enough to cover her indebtedness. I suppose all we have left in the way of finances is a valuable piece of ground and a few thousand dollars in subscriptions.

This old institution is dear to us all and she must not remain in the ashes of her misfortune. She must live again, but where, how, and when?

First, where? It would be folly to rebuild anywhere unless we can command the necessary funds to build and equip it in a first-class manner. The buildings will be of necessity, more costly than the one burned. Old plans must be enlarged and made to fit these modern days. The equipment must be the very best that is to be had anywhere. It must compete with State institutions, with their free scholarships and modern outfits. Its standard must be high or it cannot measure arms with the State and the schools of other denominations. Methodism can't afford to be a second-rate anything, anywhere or in any business. For the college to come short of this, means failure in patronage, failure in influence, and failure in finances. To allow ourselves to fall into such a mistake, means to turn our girls over to the State and to let them be educated in an atmosphere that is alien to our church, an atmosphere where the secular life predominates. If such should come to pass, we may look for a lower order of spiritual life than we have to-day. So in building, it seems to me it will be necessary to have something like two hundred thousand dollars to begin again on the old site. For one, I am unwilling to incur a debt that will be a load on the shoulders of the two Conferences for years to come, and then may be to repeat the experience of the past in an auction sale. I believe the best solution to this problem is to rebuild the college in Durham, in connection with Trinity College and be the joint property of the two Conferences as it is at present. Here we have a great library, scientific equipments, a strong faculty, a large endowment and, in a word, the leading institution of learning in the South. To build here, about all we would need would be dormitories and class-rooms. This would give our girls access to the best equipment in the South and an equal opportunity with the boys.

Again, the expenses of a year in college would be lessened, at the same time giving better facilities for a well-rounded education, which is quite a consideration to those who have barely enough money for a year in college.

Second, how? Let those who have the finances in hand for Greensboro Female College take up the matter with Trinity and, both working together, make the necessary arrangements. Sell the property in Greensboro and apply the proceeds to the buildings at Trinity. I feel quite sure that the large-hearted, enterprising citizens of Durham will be glad to contribute liberally. Besides, let the whole of North Carolina lend a helping hand and the work will be done in a short time. There doubtless will be some who will feel like the spot of ashes in Greensboro is too sacred to leave. That is quite natural. I have some of that feeling myself. But if we can do so much better somewhere else, and if we can help more girls by building at another point, and give them greater opportunities, I think we ought to let our better judgment prevail. Our sympathies and sentiments sometimes lead us into entanglements from which it is hard to deliver ourselves. Many an orphan boy has been allowed to go to ruin because a sympathetic, sentimental mother refused to correct him. Her only reason for this course is the poor child's father is dead, and I have not the heart to correct him. Sentiment is a great force and cannot be entirely ignored. At the same time it cannot successfully battle with stern facts. We are face to face with a problem that needs cool heads and good judgment.

Third, when? Let negotiations begin at once. Plans and all the detail work laid out so the buildings can be completed and school open next September.

Manteo, N. C., March 22, 1904.

Religion in Our State Schools.

A. D. BETTS.

The presidents of these schools have given polite answers to my questions. The students in the State Normal at Greensboro meet the faculty in chapel worship every morning. The students have a short prayer-meeting every night. Several teachers have Bible classes in the college. There are fifteen or more Bible classes under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. teachers, and students largely attend the town churches. This school is doing a good work, for which we thank God. But no school can ever take the place of dear old Greensboro Female College. Let the Methodists of North Carolina make haste to reopen it.

As to the A. and M. College at Raleigh, President Winston writes me: "We will have daily worship here at the college for the students and instructors just as soon as we are able to plaster and ceil and heat our auditorium. We have a very active and enthusiastic Y. M. C. A., having probably, at least, a hundred members, and attended regularly by a larger number of instructors and students. Practically all our students are diligent in their attendance upon Sabbath School. * * * The young men are thrown in close contact with the congregations of their various churches, and form social and religious ties that are exceedingly beneficial."

Some of the professors teach in the Sunday-schools of the Raleigh churches.

No daily worship of God for the lack of a heated chapel!

Fifty years ago M. S. Davis, M. C. Thomas, K. P. Battle, R. H. Battle, N. B. Cobb, R. H. Marsh, and many others ran through snow and ice at twilight to answer to roll-call and listen to morning prayer in a cold chapel. They are perhaps as strong as the A. and M. boys will be fifty years hence.

When I saw the dress parade of the A. and M. boys last October, I thought it would be a nice time to form a "hollow square" and listen to evening prayer.

VOICES FOR PEACE.

Shall the United States be Ruled by Militarism?

BY BISHOP E. R. HENDRIX, D. D.

A standing army is a necessary evil like a constabulary, or police force.

A great standing army, especially in a republic, is a menace to the liberlities of the people. More than once in France it has meant the subversion of their liberties, whether civil or religious. Under the best discipline army life is demoralizing whether in times of peace or war. Men withdrawn for a term of years from commercial and industrial pursuits not only cease to be producers but soon forget the very arts which make producers. Retired soldiers from the regular army are usually unfit for anything but unskilled labor, and with such an aversion to that as often to be useless to their employers who may be moved by sentiment to give them work. London can tell the story of the countless discharged soldiers or "Redcoats" whom General Booth encountered as he began his Christian Mission to which he finally gave the name "Salvation Army" in order to appeal to the military instinct in men where every other instinct was long dead. His industrial colonies were undertaken to remove them from the vices so common to men whose idle hours in barracks and camp are usually spent in gambling, or worse.

General Sheridan shocked the sensibilities of many patriots when he declared that an Old Soldiers' Home should not be located near a great fort with its regiments of regulars. He knew too well the habits of even veterans to consent to have his army exposed to the same vices no longer controlled. We breathed easier when our regular army was reduced after the campaign in the Philippines, when we knew what vices were undermining the health and morals of thousands of our young men in another hemisphere. May we expose as few as possible to such evils of army life! Our own land, with its self-reliant manhood quick to respond in time of national peril, can be depended on to furnish an additional armed force besides our moderate sized regular army without invoking all the evils which come of large standing forces such as cursed the assembled troops at Mission Ridge waiting for orders during our war with Spain. The Hague Tribunal is better than a standing army of a million men to such a nation as America, the peace-keeper of the world.

Kansas City, Mo.

For Peace Among All Nations.

BY ALEXANDER M'KENZIE, D. D.

It is somewhat strange, and utterly sad, that at this late day nations should resort to war for the settlement of their differences, and the reconciling of their desires. It is time that the prophecy of the first Christmas was fulfilled. War is ancient and has not changed in principle. The effort is to kill—Cain resorted to this in his anger against his brother. That was not war because there was no resistance, but the underlying thought was warlike. Cain would get the better of his brother by slaying him. Warfare has changed, so that men can be killed at a greater distance, but otherwise the method is little altered. The savage tribes in Africa and on some of the Pacific islands adhere to the old and cruder methods—withe lubs, spears and the like. When they are as civilized as the nations they will have rifles and cannon, armored ships and torpedo boats. The necessary temper they already possess. War in self-defense is not war, strictly speaking. It is conceded that a man or a nation has the right to ward off a murderous attack. Then the effort to conquer is on one side, and on the other the refusal to be conquered.

It is a reproach on what is termed our advance that the extreme savage methods are readily resorted to. It is a reproach upon human nature; upon reason, and conscience, and every worthy quality. We recognize the crime in war when we punish boys and the roughest men for fighting, but we offset our instruction when on a larger scale we justify them. Shall boys obey their teachers, or their rulers?

There is some sign of the ascent of reason and right in the occasional resort to arbitration. There has been enough success in this method to warrant its general use. It is dignified, manly, humane, and secures results. A cause determined by war is not settled, but subdued, and it will come up if the opportunity comes.

No one seems to be asking the question; but with what right does the Czar of Russia, or the Emperor of Japan, send thousands of the men, whom it is their duty to protect, to be slaughtered in a dispute they do not understand.? Human life is sacred, too sacred to be sacrificed to settle a boundary line, or determine a question of etiquette; certainly when there is a better and surer way of doing it. It may be well to remember that kings and cabinets will answer for their use of authority at a tribunal which out-ranks even the "Powers." Yet there is hope. If civilization does advance, as we expect, wars will cease, and peace and good-will enter upon their reign.

Cambridge, Mass.

A Model Sunday School.

BY "X."

"A model Sunday-school" is one that has a great many scholars who are regularly in their places, there in good time, always in good humor, interested in the work of the school, with a welcome smile for their fellow pupils and for their teacher, with lessons well prepared, and ready to ask and answer questions about them; scholars who do not forget the school during the week, who often talk with each other about it and its work, and who are always on the lookout for non-members, that they may secure their attendance—ready for this purpose to visit them during the week, to call for them Sunday morning, and, in every possible way, show their real interest in them; scholars who are ready to visit the sick, to carry them flowers, to read to them, or in any way endeavor to cheer their lonely hours; who are ready to carry bread to the hungry, to clothe the naked, to comfort the sorrowing; whose hearts are big enough and liberal enough to love everybody, but are sufficiently attached to their own school to love its members the best of all, because of the same family; scholars whose sincere love for their school and its members is but an earnest of that higher, stronger, purer love for Him whose they are, who redeemed them with His own precious blood. That will be a "model school" whose scholars attain this standard. Ah! but you say, the standard is a high one and cannot be reached. A high one, certainly—but should our model be other than the highest and the best? Was not He who was given as the great model for all mankind the purest, and truest, and noblest of men—the only perfect one?

But how may we bring the scholars up to this high ideal? That is another story.

As a means to this end I would say secure as teachers, men and women who never fail to be in their places, with a full knowledge of their lesson, and a well defined plan for teaching it, who recognize the value of discipline, and are themselves always ready to conform to the rules and regulations of the school, and to lead their scholars in all its services, whether of song, or responsive reading, or in bowing reverently in prayer; who are intelligent, and are thoroughly consecrated to God and His service; whose lives are pure and holy, and full of good works; whose hearts are full of joy; whose faces are like the morning; whose words are gentle and kind, and whose deeds are gentler and kinder still, and who are daily chasing away sorrow and carrying hope and joy, and peace, and love into homes of sadness and hearts of woe; teachers who know their scholars, and love them, who are familiar with their home surroundings and the loved ones there, who know how and where they spend their week days and nights, who wisely plan religious or benevolent work for them to do, and lead them in its execution, whose own hearts being strangely warmed with the love of God are never at rest until every member of their class becomes a working member of the church.

Given teachers that meet these requirements, and, my word for it, your scholars will be many and ideal, and your school model.

But isn't the standard so high as to be unattainable? A high one—yes; but we have no right to lower it. We are seeking a model. How shall we reach it? There, again, is another story.

As a pre-quisite, I may say a sine-qua non, we must have a model superintendent. He must be a man of godly life, whose daily walk betokens the guiding presence of the Holy Spirit, a man who loves God and loves his fellow-man; who especially loves the children and recognizes that in them is the hope of the church and the hope of the world, remembering that these are they whom the loving Jesus himself took in His arms and blessed, and of whom he said: "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." He should be a man who commands respect, who does not depend on the inspiration of the moment, but recognizing the importance of his trust, studies and plans his work beforehand, and when the hour for school arrives, he is at his desk, and under his guiding hand its machinery starts promptly, and moves on through the hour like clock-work, with never a hitch or a jar. He should be quick to see a point, and quick to act, thoroughly familiar with the daily life of every teacher, with their attainments and capacity for teaching and he should know as well their weak points and when and how to extend needed assistance. His eye should take in at a glance each department of the school—and without any bustle or confusion he should be at every needed point during its session. He should be thoroughly familiar with the lesson, and his tact, his generalship and enthusiasm should be such as to inspire every teacher with the idea that only the best and most enthusiastic work is acceptable in the Sunday-school. Need any assurance be given that such a superintendent would create a model school? But where get such an one? Another story still.

One leading factor in the discovery and inspiration of such a man is a pastor whose heart is in the work and who recognizes it as a vital part of the work of the church. With him as leader, the superintendent as assistant, and the teachers standing, or rather kneeling by their sides in earnest prayers of consecration and asking the guidance of the Holy Spirit, and then following this up with their own personal work, no power on earth can prevent the gathering of scholars, and the making of a model school."

Briefly, then, the first and chief essential to a model school is, with the pastor, a live, enthusiastic, consecrated superintendent, competent to select teachers who can be inspired with a like enthusiasm, and whose love for their work and for the children will win their hearts and enlist their best efforts not only in Bible study, but in deeds of love and mercy.

Back of these should be the parents of the children, requiring them to study their lessons, and to be regular and prompt in their attendance, and with the parents the other members of the church should encourage the management of the school by visiting it themselves, and by active membership when possible, for the Sunday-school should be the church at work with and for the children.

I wish I might point you to a school meeting all these requirements. There are many good schools, well worthy of emulation, but none that have attained to the best work of which they are capable, and become ideal.

There is no royal road to a successful school. The only secret is that of earnest, united personal work on the part of the pastor, superintendent, officers, teachers and scholars, each feeling an interest in the school as a whole, and in each other individually, but not letting this beget a spirit of selfishness, or prevent an active interest in the work of the church outside the school. Often the surest way to help ourselves is to do something for somebody else, and it not infrequently happens that a school or a church does its own work best when it becomes united and enthused in helping some good cause other than its own immediate work.

We can only plant our banner on the highest peak, and lead our forces as near to it as possible. Aim at the stars, and if we fall short of our mark, we will at least have our faces turned in the right direction.

A Hurtful Habit.

C. H. WETHERBE.

It seems to be well-nigh impossible to practically persuade an enthusiastic reader of sensational novels that the habit is a mentally hurtful one, and that it ought to be thrown off at once. It is certainly a means of producing a weak and wobbling mind. Such an one is incapable of any strong and healthy thinking. It is fortunate for some novel readers that, before their minds become sapped of all power, they got rescued from the hurtful habit. A young woman in New York City had an article recently in the Chautauqua Magazine, from which the following sentences are quoted:

"For three years after I left school I nearly ruined my mind by a course of novel reading. When I began the Chautauqua course I had a hard fight all the first year. But I determined with all my might to conquer. I think I have found out how to read, and I bless the Chautauqua course for it. I have now no taste for dissipating literature, and it would be as hard for me to wade through a trashy novel as it was once to read history."

Her hurtful habit was driven out by her thrusting spicy novel matter away, and in its place appropriating wholesome and upbuilding literature. Of course she had to make a series of most determined efforts to break away from the evil spell of novels, and then put her whole mind on a high grade of reading; and it was the pure literature which expelled the poison of bad literature from her mental system. The evil reading had, for the time being, destroyed this woman's love for the noble and life-giving kind; hence it required considerable time, and the use of elevating reading, to newly create a love for solid and worthful literature, but it was a vital turning point in her career.

This example should be an abiding warning to those of my readers who have just begun the habit of reading dashing and dissipating novels. Self-preservation requires that you shall refrain from beginning so perilous a practice. Your duty to yourself and to society is to feed your mind with the best kinds of truth.

Is It Wise?

METHODIST.

There are five charges in the North Carolina Conference, with an average of 530 members each, that are claimants on the Domestic Missionary fund. There are also eight charges, with an average of 457 members each, and ten with an average of 343 members each that are claimants on the said fund. All of these expect to receive a total of $3,300 from the Mission Board this year. Most of these charges are in the best sections of the Conference, and several of them have been nursed by the Mission Board for many years. The most of their people are prosperous, while some of them live in luxury. Surely it cannot be said of them, in the midst of these prosperous times, that they are not able to support their pastors. The truth is, if I were one of those 530 members, I would resent even an offer to be carried longer by the charities of others perhaps more needy than myself. No child can make much progress walking till it learns to stand alone, nor will any young man amount to much while tied to his mother's apron strings. Until the said charges in our Conference wake up to their own possibilities and assert more of the spirit of independence, they will make but little progress in anything spiritual. While there are still many millions in heathen lands who never even heard the gospel, is it wise to continue to carry those who know its benefits and can, if they will, be self-supporting? With love to all—at home and abroad—I raise this question, and hope ere this year shall close many of these charges may be sufficiently strong to at least stand alone. How can they do otherwise, when there are several charges in the foreign field, with less than one-fourth their strength, that are self-supporting. It seems to me that the Mission Board should at least consider the facts herein set forth.

Be calm and steady. Burn your own smoke. The greatest waste in the world to-day is the waste of energy in the consumption of fuel. In smoke and escaping heat the great part of the energy locked up in coal escapes without profitable use. The same thing is true in life. More energy is frittered away or wasted in smoke than is used for useful ends. If we would learn to be still when we can do nothing, we should have more power with which to do what we can do.

The Field

Clinton Circuit.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—As I haven't seen any letters from Clinton Circuit lately, I will write now. We have a new preacher this year—Rev. A. S. Barnes. Brother Barnes is a splendid preacher and is liked by all regardless of denominational lines. We hope to keep him four years. Our Sunday-school at Keener will begin the first Sunday in April. We don't have any Sunday-school during the winter, as we can't get the people to attend. We are having Sunday night prayer-meetings in this community and great good is being accomplished. We are expecting a great awakening and soul-saving throughout the Clinton Circuit this year.

Fraternally yours,

FRED C. PACKER.

Swan Quarter Circuit.

Dear Editor:—I have not written anything this year from the Swan Quarter Circuit, not because I have not been most kindly treated, for like many of my brethren in the Conference, I have received a real pounding; and from these people many acts of kindness are shown from time to time. I desire to express my gratitude to them all for every act of kindness shown to me and mine, and may God so help me to dispense to them the truth that it may be a great blessing to them all.

Our first Quarterly Conference was held February 14th and 15th. Rev. J. D. Bundy, our new Presiding Elder was with us, and made a fine impression both as a presiding officer and preacher. He delighted our people. They will be glad to see him come again.

Yours truly, W. Y. EVERTON.

Prof. O. W. Carr.

A. G. HANKINS.

I think it a happy idea to strew flowers along the pathway of the living rather than wait till our friends are dead and then decorate their graves. A few words of love and commendation from a friend cheers and encourages the disconsolate and helps us bear the increasing burdens of life.

I first knew Prof. O. W. Carr in 1857-58, at Old Trinity, or rather Normal College, as then called, where so many hallowed memories dwell. Kind and gentle in manner, loving and affectionate in disposition, always wearing a pleasant smile, he was father at once and brother to the boys, and gained their confidence and esteem, and drew them to him. By this means he exerted great influence over them for good, and was the instrument in the hands of God of turning the feet of many a wayward boy into the paths of righteousness. Though I have had the pleasure only once of meeting him in all these intervening years, I have carried a pleasing and grateful recollection of him in heart and memory. When the great day of final account shall come, doubtless he will possess much larger spiritual assets than he is aware.

Our Sunday School Work.

To the Sunday-School Superintendents and Pastors of the North Carolina Conference:—Greeting.

My Dear Brethren:—A vigorous winter is just now giving place to the first blush of spring.

The child-life of the land has been largely within doors, and there has been many a vacant seat in the Sunday-school; and in many places no Sunday-school for some months. But the prattle of childish voices is beginning to be heard outside the door, and by the time the spring-tide gives to the world its first bud and blossom, our little ones will be swarming out of the winter-time prison-house.

To you and me, my fellow-workers, a time like this will bring great increase of responsibility. And for a time like this the church, striving to do God's will, has set you and me as watchmen on the wall.

The many thousands of children that come back to the outside world, from the home limitations placed upon them by the rigors of winter, come to meet the inevitable of absorbing much of the life of the away-from-home world.

In thoughtlessness and innocence, unaware of evil, they will turn everywhere, and how easy a prey many of them will be to the silent onslaughts of evil.

They can never be again just what they are to-day. The enemy of souls has already a well-wrought scheme for the destruction of them all. And "the mystery of iniquity doth already work." The devil has an agent at every turn to seduce and solicit them to evil. The prayers that mother taught them in the winter's night will soon be out-grown. Outside frivolities will have a fresher taste. Oh God, forewarn them of the way of woe! Send guardian angels by their side and keep them pure.

But, brethren, God has no way among men, nor to men, save the church of Jesus Christ.

There is not a movement in the wide world to-day to save a soul from death, save what God has done, and is doing, through the church.

Not even a mother can be found that ever did, or ever shall, say, "God bless my child," until through the church of Jesus Christ the mother's heart is caught in the grasp of faith. Every problem that has, or shall arise, as pertaining to the world's salvation, is committed to the church of His Son, by God the Father; nor is God, to-day, anywhere on earth, to be found going before and apart from the church to save the world, or any part of it.

For six thousand years history makes no record of any instance where the light of the gospel, breaking off the shackles of sin and bringing in any knowledge of God, has ever sprung up, in any land, save only where the church of the living God has sent or carried it.

And to-day dark and benighted lands, festering in sin and ignorance, wait, not for God to have pity, but until God can move upon the heart and conscience of His church to go and "help them ere they die."

And now, my brethren, as I look out upon the child-life of our land, I do not see a God, gone up from them, but a God who has committed Himself to His church, as His one agency on earth, moving upon my heart and yours; and through us, in part; and wholly by His church, to them deliverance must come, if at all.

The church has recognized this principle, and in keeping with it, thereby making an effort to do the Father's will, has set us, pastors and Sunday-school superintendents, more than others, and over and above all others, as watchmen on the wall.

Without us, my brethren, the church does not touch, cannot touch, child-life.

In our appointment to the positions we hold, the church has expressed its conviction, as well as its interpretation, of the will of God relative to child-life, and His voice is behind it all, saying, "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

By as much then as it is important to do the will of God, and by as much as it is strategic to train up a child in the way he should go, by so much is there a weight of responsibility upon a pastor and Sunday-school superintendent as upon none else.

Brethren, shall we discharge responsibilities and obligation of such magnitude with a slack hand?

If you take the salvation of a soul at a given value, then you cannot over-estimate the value of the part played by the Sunday-school; for it would be waste of time to stop to show by comparison the increased susceptibility of the Sunday-school scholar to the gospel.

It cannot be possible to ever estimate the influence of the Sunday-school upon character and destiny.

The Sunday-school is nothing more nor less than the church of God resolving itself into that form best adapted to the business and by the most effective methods striving to knead the leaven of eternal life into the dough of human life at its most impressionable period.

Brethren, I submit, that to the end of time, the church can never place more wisely or effectively than when it laid the foundation for the Sunday-school.

And to you and me, my fellow-pastors and brother superintendents, the church has committed the oversight of this tremendously important organization; and we have accepted.

Did you think of the grave responsibility of the position before you accepted, and if so, are we ready to answer for how we have discharged the duties of the office?

The pastor's relation to the Sunday-school is circumscribed by that of the superintendent; and for that reason, Brother Superintendent, I come now to put the greater weight of responsibility on you, as the one man of all men, in whose hand is held the success of failure of an institution of such importance as is not equaled in all the world beside.

I exhort, you, Brother Superintendent, to be mindful of a few facts which are as follows: The past is behind us and the fruit it has borne does not bear testimony that we have magnified our office as we should. The general state of the Sunday-school in our conference is far from what it should be. We put neither the heart nor the zeal into the work that we should; and doubtless we all have been negligent, and if we have, our sin should be ever before us.

But, brethren, do you recognize the fact that in the polity of the church there is no other man quite as responsible as the Sunday-school superintendent for the training of the minds of children in the way of life. We need a great revival of unextinguishable interest in the Sunday-school work of our Conference and I appeal to the men at the helm (the superintendent). The Sunday-School Board of your Conference is deeply concerned in this matter, my brethren; and the chairman of your Board appeals to you.

The eye of God is upon us; and I want to ask every Sunday-school superintendent in the North Carolina Conference to unite with us in making this the best year in the history of our Sunday-school work.

Brethren, we cannot afford to do this work with a slack hand, for we must give an account.

I herein urge every superintendent to see that his school is organized at once for effective work; and I beg that children's day be held in every school, and may God crown your labors with success.

Fraternally, K. D. HOLMES.
Chairman Sunday-School Board North Carolina Conference.

An Injustice to Business.

A gentleman once said to us: "I do not favor prohibiting the sale of liquor; it would be an injustice to the men in business; besides, it would throw thousands out of employment."

We replied: "You do not look at the issue from the right side. You take a contractor's view.

"Just before the war closed, a government contractor said in a car: 'I hope the war will not close under two years. I will lose thousands of dollars; besides, many men will be turned out of employment from the government works.'

"A lady passenger, clad in weeds of mourning, rose to her feet, and with tearful voice, said: 'Sir, I have a brave boy and husband sleeping the sleep of death in a soldier's cemetery. I have only one boy left, and he is in front of the foe. O God, I wish the cruel war would close now!'"

He saw the point. Do you?

It may be your boy that will fall the next victim to the drink "industry."

Would you consider the "trade" worth such a price? Stop the murderous traffic.—The Brotherhood.

Missionary Conference for Young People.

The dates of the Summer Conferences of the Young People's Missionary Movement are officially announced as follows:

The Western Conference at Winona Lake, Indiana, June 17-26; the Southern Conference at Lookout Mountain, Tenn., July 1-10, and the Northern Conference at Silver Bay on Lake George, N. Y., July 22-31.

The Winona gathering will be the first of these Conferences to be held in the West, though this will be the second year for the Southern Conference and the third for the one at Silver Bay.

The purpose of these Conferences is to afford a practical training school for missionary workers in Sunday-schools and Young People's Societies and to combine with such training the facilities for rest and recreation that most Christian workers are obliged to seek in connection with their summer vacations.

The list of speakers for the Conferences of 1904 is not yet completed, but among those who have promised to assist on the programs of one or more of these Conferences, are the following: Rev. John F. Goucher, D. D., Rev. W. R. Lambuth, D. D., Hon. Samuel B. Capen, LL.D., Mr. John R. Mott, Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mr. John Willis Baer, Rev. Charles L. Thompson, D. D., Rev. E. E. Chivers, Rev. A. L. Phillips, D. D., Prof. O. E. Brown, D. D., Rev. A. L. Browne, Rev. E. H. Dutton, Rev. Wm. M. Bell, D. D., Rev. A. W. Halsey, D. D., Rev. Willis R. Hotchkiss, Prof. T. H. P. Sailer, Ph. D., Messrs Harry Wade Hicks, S. Earl Taylor, Harry S. Myers, John W. Wood, Don. O. Shelton, S. H. Hadley, M. E. Trotter, Harry Monroe.

It is expected that the Missionary Secretaries for Young People's Work of the leading Missionary Boards of America will be present. In addition to these, an invitation is extended to leaders and workers in national State district and local Sunday-school and Young People's organizations.

Missionary Secretaries and other leaders who are in closest touch with church activities have come to regard these Summer Conferences as one of the most effective agencies for the better equipment of young people for leadership in missionary work in the local church.

Reduced railroad rates and a combination of other favorable conditions, make it possible to offer the benefits of these Conferences to representatives of Sunday-schools and Young People's Societies for but little more than half of what ordinarily would be the expense of such vacation privileges.

Additional information concerning these Conferences may be had by addressing the Young People's Missionary Movement, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, or Rev. W. R. Lambuth, D. D., 346 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn.

An Orphan.

A well-known professor has a bright boy, who one day at the age of four appeared in his father's study clasping in his hands a forlorn-looking little chicken which had strayed from a neighboring incubator.

"Willie," said his father sternly, "take that chicken to its mother."

"Ain't dot any mudder," answered Willie.

"Well, then, take it back to its father," said the professor, determined to maintain parental authority.

"Ain't dot any fader," said the child. "Ain't dot anythin' but an old lamp!"—New York Times.

Admit Your Error.

There is only one way to rectify a mistake, and that is frankly to admit the error and make amends that may be required. A straightforward confession is good for the soul. It is the tribute which conscience demands of intelligence. The man who will not admit his blunders has neither a conscience to set him right, nor any intelligence to keep him so.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Household Hints.

The smaller a roast the hotter should be the oven at first, that the least possible amount of its delicate juices may escape.

* * *

In making bread, rub a little sweet lard or butter over the top as often as it is kneaded, and it will not only rise more quickly, but have a soft, delicious crust when baked.

* * *

Bread-crums for covering the top of scalloped and other baked dishes should be buttered evenly before they are spread, not put on plain, with bits of butter scattered over.

* * *

Bread should never be covered with a cloth when taken from the oven, but laid on the side and allowed to become perfectly cold; then keep in a closely covered tin box without any wrappings.

* * *

If rice is not disturbed during the process of boiling, the berries will be whole, dry and easily digested. A few drops of lemon juice added to the water will make it whiter and finer flavored.

* * *

While the nutritive value of cabbage is less than almost any other vegetable, its digestibility when eaten raw makes it a valuable addition to the semi-invalid's limited bill-of-fare. Shaved very fine, thrown into cold water until crisped, drained and served with a French dressing of lemon, vinegar, and salt, it can usually be assimilated without unpleasant after results.

* * *

Rice and orange marmalade constitutes a delicious pudding. Simmer a quarter of a pint of rice in a quart of milk till it is very soft and thick. Add a teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little cream, and let all cool together for a few minutes. Pour into pudding-dish and bake till it is set. Spread over the pudding a thick layer of orange marmalade and over that a meringue and return to the oven until the top is lightly browned. It should be served cold.

* * *

Buy a strip of asbestos cloth at the hardware store, and use small squares to interline your iron-holders. Keep a good-sized piece fastened to your cious pudding. Simmer a quarter of a pint of rice ironing-board to save the sheet, and lay a square under the table-pad where the meat platter rests.

SEVEN AGES OF A METHODIST PREACHER.

An Appeal for the Superannuates.

I THE DIVINE SUMMONS.

The awakening voice: "I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" Inward struggles: Men preach not because they want to preach, but because they must. "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." Dawning convictions: "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams." Worldly ambitions laid upon the altar. The sacrifice complete:

"My life, my blood, I here present.
If for thy truth they may be spent:
Fulfill thy sovereign counsel, Lord;
Thy will be done, thy name adored."

II. THE SHARPENING OF THE SWORD

Days of preparation. A long journey over a rough way. Hard work, much of it: Sacrifices for the sake of an adequate equipment daily. Patient effort, long continued: The preacher must get some word from God before he speaks it.

"Clearly he has a task which will need an undivided attention and a complete absorption in its fulfillment. He is to climb Sinai with its ring-fence of death, and on the summit speak face to face with Him whom no one can see and yet live. He is to push through the wilderness, eating angels' meat or nothing, and scale the crags of Horeb, where, in a great hollow, shadowed by a hand, he may, through earthquake, wind, and fire, discern the still small voice. What a venture it is for him! No sphere of human activity is to be compared with the exigencies of this endeavor."—Horton.

Days of waiting, as in the upper room in Jerusalem; desert days, as to John and as to Paul in Arabia; days of want and penury even, but days of heroic ideals and high hopes.

III. ON THE SKIRMISH LINE.

When, at one of the early Conferences of the church, Bishop Asbury called for a volunteer to go to some desert region in the far South, "the region of many diseases and broken constitutions," as he said, Enoch George sprang to his feet and cried, "Here am I; send me." This has ever been the spirit of the Methodist preacher. An apostle "by the will of God," he has gone to Hardscrabble Circuit, or other difficult field, with courage and gladness of heart. Salary small, $400 or $500 perhaps, but he is not of those prophets who, according to Amaziah's scornful judgment, preach in order to earn their bread. Anyhow, many churches seems to believe that ministers ought not to expect to live by bread alone, and furnish a more ethereal diet. So there is a continuation of the story of hardships and sacrifices.

IV. IN THE HEAT OF THE CONFLICT.

Sun at meridian; battle at high tide; the exhilaration of victory felt; all the powers of mind and heart at full play:

"'Tis not a cause of small import
The pastor's care demands;
But what might fill an angel's heart,
And filled a Saviour's hands."

Yet all the while continued sacrifices. Rigid self-denial the rule of the household; children to be educated; an example of benevolence to be shown; appearances to be kept up; a thousand demands on the preacher's income. What of the rainy day? Or old age? But why have anxious thought of the morrow? Has not this preacher the divine promises and the pledge of a great church?

V. THE TURN OF THE TIDE

Scarcely perceptible at first, but the tide is going out now. He is stronger and better equipped than at any time in his life, but fewer churches seem to desire him. Oh, the shame of it! There is a touch of gray in his hair, and church committees turn from him as "too old." He knows how false it is; his soul protests against the injustice of it all; but, but—why kick against the pricks? The tide is at the ebb now.

VI. THE LENGTHENING SHADOWS

The years multiply. Forty of them perhaps have now been given to the church. They have indeed been years of hardship and sacrifice, but glad, happy years of blessed service. Salaries have never been large, but there has been no complaint. He did not enter the ministry to make money—that question was settled in those far-off days when he heard the voice of the Lord. He has preached, not for money, but that he might have the seal of God's favor and the approval of his own conscience. Souls have been his hire. Neither God nor the Methodist Church has yet failed him. Why should he doubt or fear now, when he walks with faltering steps, when work is becoming too heavy a burden for him to carry much longer?

VII. SUPERANNUATION.

The preacher's Gethsemane, too often, alas! The fateful hour, towards which he has sometimes looked with mysterious dread, has come. He is no longer in "active" service. Another has taken his place on the firing line. He watches the conflict from a distance. Oh, the anguish of this, when his heart still beats with courage, and the song of battle is still on his lips! Few realize the agony and bitterness of this experience. But, anyhow, he is comfortable, you say. Is he? Is he comfortable?

What was it Cardinal Wolsey said, in his fall from power? "Had I but served my God with half the zeal I served my king, He would not in mine age have left me naked to mine enemies." This man, this Methodist preacher, has been serving God these many years. He has given to the church all his affection, energy, thought, and devotion. God has been his Master; the church has been the field of his unremitting toil. Now that he has come to old age, will the Lord cast him off? Never. God's promises are sure. But God works through his people. The church must make good the pledges of the Almighty. The church must, in the name of Christ, care for the Methodist preacher who in the journey of life has come to the last inn on the road and, "superannuated," waits the royal summons.

Is the Methodist Church doing its duty by the superannuates? Unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly, No!—Ezra S. Tipple, D. D., in Christian Advocate.

Our Boys and Girls

To Our Boys and Girls.

Many of you have been wondering why your letters have not been published. We have so many letters on hand that it will take us a long time to publish them all. In order to publish them all in reasonable time, we will have to shorten each letter as much as possible. If your letter has not yet appeared, remember that you will see it in good time, even if it comes late.—Editor.

Rose Hill, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years old. I have two brothers and two sisters. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. I have no pets except four little calves.

Well, I will close for fear of the waste-basket. With best wishes for the Advocate.

PAUL FUSSELL.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy eleven years old. I go to school every day. My teacher is Miss Alice Bryan, and I like her very much. We have between forty and fifty scholars. My papa takes the Advocate and I like to read the little girls' and boys' letters.

I will close by asking a question: What is the longest verse in the Bible? LESLIE RAND.

Hillsboro, N. C., March 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. The Advocate is a welcome visitor to our home each week. I go to school every day.

We little folks think our columns are the best in the Advocate.

With love and best wishes to all, I close my letter.

Your little friend,
FANNIE S. JORDAN.

Glenaloon, N. C., March 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am twelve years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little girls' and boys' letters very much. I have seven sisters and one brother. Our pastor is Rev. E. Pope. We all like him very much.

Your friend,
LESSIE HOWARD.

Buxton, Dare County, N. C.,
February 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I go to school every day. Mrs. Sarah Gaskill is my teacher. My grandfather is going to give a nice dress to the little girl that wins the head mark in school this year, and I am working for it.

Who raised the son of the lady of Shunem to life.

EMMA B. MILLER.

Corapeake, N. C., March 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—My father takes the Advocate and I love to read the children's letters. I go to school every day. My teacher is Miss Minnie White, and we all like her.

I also go to Sunday-school. Our superintendent is Mr. D. W. Parker, dna our preacher is Rev. H. H. Parker. He is a fine preacher.

I will answer David A. Bruton's question: It was Zaccheus that climbed the sycamore tree. He climbed it because he was so small that he could not see over the multitude of people.

Your little unknown friend,
CARRIE I. BEAMON.

Camden, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl five years old. I go to Sunday-school when we are all well and it is not raining. My teacher is Miss Nora Doggett, and I like her and I love to go to Sunday-school. I know who was the first man now. Who was the first woman?

Your little friend,
IDA McPHERSON.

Wilmington, N. C., March 10, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My Sunday-school teacher is Mrs. R. H. Beery. Our preacher is Mr. Haltom. I go to every-day school also, and I have a real sweet teacher.

Who wrote the first five books of the Bible.

I will enclose ten cents for the orphans.

MARY LILY BOUSHEE.

Clinton, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. My grandmother takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the boys' and girls' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can, and our pastor is B. B. Holder, and I like him very much. I also go to every-day school, and my teacher is Mr. J. I. Singletary.

Who was cast into a lion's den?

Your little friend,
MATTIE LEE NEWMAN.

Society Hill, S. C.

Dear Advocate:— I am thirteen years of age. My papa takes the Advocate. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher's name is Miss Minnie.

The last time I wrote to the Advocate I lived in North Carolina, but we have moved to South Carolina. I like to live down here.

Now I will close by asking a question: How many times is God's name mentioned in the Bible?

I am your friend,
MAUD SNIPE.

Ellis, N. C., March 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nine years old. I go to every-day school. My teacher is Aunt Mag Edge, and I like her very much.

I will answer Lilla May Thrower's question: Joseph had twelve brothers.

Now I will ask a question: Who is the oldest man mentioned in the Bible?

Yours truly,
ROMNEY OWEN.

Ellis, N. C., March 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I would like to enter your warm circle of boys and girls once more. I have not written in so long a time that I dare say none of the correspondents remember me. I will answer Earl T. Sell's question: Samson was the strongest man.

Now I will ask one: How many times is girl mentioned in the Bible?

Your unknown friend,
MABEL OWEN.

Burlington, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I have wanted so long to write but I was afraid of the waste-basket. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday, and I love to go. Our pastor is Rev. D. N. Caviness. I go to the graded school. I am in the sixth grade.

I enclose five cents for the orphans. Love to all of the children and an extra share for Bettie McGurt, our Sunday-school orphan.

Your sincere friend,
RUTH DAMERON.

Pittsboro, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I was five years old when I wrote before, but now I am seven. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy the childrens' letters and orphanage notes very much. I belong to the orphan class in our Sunday-school, and I like to pay my mite to help a little orphan. My grandpa is eighty-one years old.

Mamma and I expect to go to see grandma soon.

Yours truly,
MABEL ROSE THOMAS.

Cove, N. C., March 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I go to school nearly every day; my teacher is Miss Eslie Holton. I go to Sunday-school and our superintendent is Mr. W. H. Townson, on the Craven Circuit. My papa and mamma are both living. I have two sisters and three brothers.

Enclosed you will find ten cents for the little orphans.

Your little friend,
SUSAN BEATRICE DAVIS.

Ashpole, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eight years old. I go to school every day. Miss Rosa McKaughn is my teacher. One of our Methodist preacher's daughter is a teacher here. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Our superintendent is Mr. Parson Thompson and my teacher is Cousin Mary Thompson. Our pastor is Rev. J. M. Ashby.

Enclosed find ten cents for the orphans.

Your little friend,
HOKE FLOYD.

Cumnock, N. C., Feb. 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I live on a farm. I like the country. We only have a four month's school, and it will be out this month. Miss Ida Bell Wicker is our teacher. Jones Chapel is our nearest church. It is four miles away, so I don't have the pleasure of going to Sunday-school. Rev. J. B. Mosley is our pastor, and we like him very much. I would like to correspond with some of the little girls who write to the Advocate.

I will answer David Bruton's question: Zaccheus climbed the sycamore tree to see Jesus.

I will ask a question: How many times did Jesus appear to the disciples after the resurrection?

Your little friend,
MINNIE JOHNSON.

Efland, N. C., March 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I live on a farm with my uncle. He takes the dear old Advocate. I go to school when the weather will permit. My teacher's name is Miss Fannie Kinin. Our pastor is Rev. M. M. McFarland. My papa and mamma are both living. I have four sisters and one brother living, and one sister dead.

Your little friend,
ANNIE O. BROWNING.

Knap of Reeds, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. My grandma takes the Advocate.

Our superintendent is Mr. J. N. Tilley. My teacher is Uncle Ben Umstead. Our pastor is Rev. J. D. Pegram. We all like him very much. I have one sister and two brothers.

What did Jacob see in his dream? Where was the first home on earth and who lived in it?

I enclose five cents for the Orphanage.

ELLA UMSTEAD HALL.

A LOVE LETTER.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c. at all drug stores.

CHEAP SETTLERS' TICKETS.

On January 19th, February 2nd and 16th, March 1st and 15th, and April 5th and 19th, 1904, the Frisco System (St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad), will sell reduced rate one-way and round-trip tickets from Atlanta, Birmingham and Memphis to points in Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories and Texas. Write S. L. Parrott, District Passenger Agent, Atlanta, Ga.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville,Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to SanFrancisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1904. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

I earnestly urge each Auxiliary, Golden Links and Bright Jewel Band to send delegates to the Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City, April 20-25th.

BLANCH FENTRESS,
Recording Secretary.

Our sisters who have made valuable contributions to our column—will have to bear patiently the postponement of publication. As our space will admit, each article will appear as early as possible.

We are pleased to give below a report from the Bright Jewels of Trinity church, Durham, from Mrs. G. W. Woodward:

We are glad to report a very flourishing Juvenile Society in Trinity church, Durham, under the efficient management of Mrs. Leon Richardson, who is very popular with the young people.

From some cause or other the Society was not kept up regularly last year, and the children really felt the loss of their missionary meetings; and when Mrs. Richardson took charge, they rallied to her help and reorganized the Society.

Thirty-one names were enrolled the first month, and new members were added at each meting until they number sixty-eight. They had quite an interesting party a short time ago, from which they realized over eight dollars. They are so enthusiastic that they do not stay away from the meetings on account of rain, and if the lady manager cannot be present, they conduct the meeting in a very business-like manner. They have raised a creditable amount on each fund, considering they organized in October; and hope to send in a good report to the annual meeting by their delegate.

MRS. G. W. W.

Important Notice: "Reduced rates to the Annual Meeting of the W. F. M. Society at Elizabeth City are secured, if fifty (50) or more persons have paid full tariff fare going, and who hold certificates of the standard form, properly executed and stamped by the agents at the starting points, will be sold tickets for return at one-third the first-class limited fare, plus twenty-five cents, via the routes traveled in going, as specified on the certificates."

They must be signed by Miss Blanche Fentress, Recording Secretary, and also by Mr. W. B. Keys, Agent at Elizabeth City.

I will mail to each District Secretary copies of Form 1—from W. H. Fitzgerald, Commissioner—relating to these important changes and conditions.

BLANCHE FENTRESS,
Recording Secretary.

Hear the report from the beloved Secretary of the Warrenton District:

The Warrenton District has paid on Pledge, $260, which is $40 more than the assessment.

The annual report shows an increase of $148 over last year.

The reports and letters from the Murfreesboro, Warrenton and Henderson workers have been most encouraging and helpful.

It is due the faithful Auxiliary and Bright Jewel Band at Jackson to state that they paid more than double the amount asked for on Pledge. Mrs. G. R. Calvert is one of our most consecrated workers, and she has willing helpers.

We rejoice over the work done by the faithful few; but our heart grows sad when we think of the number of women, bright young girls and children in the bounds of the Warrenton District who take no part in this all-important work.

For them a little heart searching is in order just now. Ask yourselves the question: Did any sacrifice or effort on my part bring about the above result? What am I doing for my Lord?

"The time is short!
If thou would'st work for God it must be now;
If thou would'st win the garland for the brow.
Redeem the time."

May the Spirit of the Lord quicken us to greater zeal.

K. P. BLACK,
District Secretary.

Our own capable Secretary, Mrs. R. H. Whitaker, sends in the following:

I am glad to state that all the Societies, both Adult and Juvenile, have sent in their reports for this quarter; but I am sorry that Apex Bright Jewels have ceased to work. I hope they will soon reorganize, and do more effieient work than they have ever done. It has been a faithful little Band for many years, and I regret very much to have to give it up.

The Raleigh District has raised $343.42 this, the last quarter of our fiscal year.

The Woman's Societies raised, of this amount, $304.96; Golden Links, $4.40; Bright Jewels, $34.06.

I will give you the annual report later.

Yours truly,
MRS. R. H. WHITAKER,
District Secretary.

My Dear Mrs. Dixon:

By request, I write you a few items concerning the work of our Auxiliary at Rocky Mount.

Our meetings are held on Monday after the first Sunday in each month.

We have thirty-three members, twelve of whom take the Woman's Missionary Advocate.

We have never failed to meet every assessment. During the past year we paid the dues, contingent fund, and Pledge in full.

Our Society has two life members.

We have a most efficient President, Mrs. J. L. Horn, and with her as a leader, we hope to do more for the cause of missions than we have done in the past.

Very respectfully,
MRS. J. D. ODOM,
Corresponding Secretary.

We are glad to have reports from the Corresponding Secretaries of the Auxiliaries; and we hope others will follow the above example.

We regret to have no room for the report from the New Bern Auxiliary—it will be good reading for our next week's issue.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to MRS. R. O. BURTON, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Centenary Church, New Berne, Our Banner Auxiliary.

This week I gladly yield our column to our banner Auxiliary, believing that every word of the fine reports will be read with joyful interest and grateful pride. In the name of our entire sisterhood, I salute these consecrated workers, and pray that their glorious efforts may continue to be crowned with success.

OFFICERS OF THE YEAR JUST CLOSED.

Mrs. S. H. Scott, President; Mrs. Edwards, First Vice-President; Mrs. R. F. Bumpas, Second Vice-President; Mrs. V. Harrison, Third Vice-President; Mrs. L. H. Cutler, Treasurer; Mrs. D. Congdon, Recording Secretary; Mrs. J. A. Meadows, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. J. A. Meadows, Agent of "Our Homes"; Mrs. R. T. H. Moore, Superintendent of Local Work.

Report of the Baby Roll for the Year Ending February 29, 1904.

Number on Roll, 107; number added during year, 25; number added during quarter, 15; mite box collections, $13.58; enrollment fees, $6.25; local work $10.24.

MRS. V. HARRISON,
Third Vice-President.

Annual Report of the Home Missionary Society of Centenary Church.

Another year has drawn to its close, and again we have assembled in the annual meeting of our Home Mission Society. As we enter upon the duties of a new year, it is but fitting that we review the work of the year which has just closed. As we look back upon it we see a marked improvement along all lines and tonight we lift our hearts to God in praise and thanksgiving for the wonderful love and mercy He has shown toward us.

Much interest has been manifested by the members of the Society in our monthly meetings. We observed, as is our custom, our Week of Prayer; the meetings were well attended and our Thank Offering was a liberal one.

We have a membership of 116. Five of our members have withdrawn, and five have moved from the city.

Much good has been done by the committee on local work. These ladies have made 179 visits to the sick, in many instances relieving needs of their less favored sisters by furnishing food, clothes, wood, and on many occasions, cash.

As our special work, we have clothed a girl at our Orphanage at Raleigh, have contributed to the fund for the Brevard School, and have pledged $1,000 towards the new church.

More than forty of our members subscribe to "Our Homes," and enjoy it very much. We would be glad for every member of the Society to take this paper, and thus become better acquainted with the cause.

Our Treasurer reports $1,350.98 raised during the year.

And now a new year lies before us. A year of great possibilities, as well as great responsibilities. May we, as a Society, be ready to meet these. Let us resolve that by God's help and guidance we will make the work a glorious advance over that of all past years.

MRS. D. S. CONGDON,
Recording Secretary.

The Anniversary Sermon, by Rev. G. T. Adams.

The fourteenth anniversary of the Home Mission Auxiliary of Centenary Church, New Bern, was celebrated with appropriate exercises the first Sunday night in February. The reports of the officers were read, showing progress in every department of the work. The presence of a large and appreciative audience gave evidence of the general interest in our Auxiliary.

The annual sermon was preached by our pastor, Rev. G. T. Adams, whose theme was: "The true motive for Christian service."

In the introductory remarks he set forth the aims and purposes of the Home Mission Society and briefly reviewed the work that is being done throughout the connection.

"All Christian activity," he said, "should be characterized by personal love for Christ.

1. "This personal love for Christ is born in a personal consciousness of His love for us.

2. "A distinctive mark of this love is its power to create ways and means for doing God's work even in the face of seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

3. "This love is whole-hearted, delights in self-sacrifices, and is liberal to the point of self-denial in its gifts."

The message was full of hope and encouragement and will no doubt stimulate our women to a more zealous service.

MRS. J. A. MEADOWS,
Corresponding Secretary.

Officers Elected for the New Fiscal Year at the February Meeting.

Mrs. S. H. Scott, President; Mrs. K. R. Styron, First Vice-President; Mrs. M. Morris, Second Vice-President; Mrs. V. Harrison, Third Vice-President; Mrs. L. H. Cutler, Treasurer; Mrs. J. Arendell, Recording Secretary; Mrs. J. A. Meadows, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. M. Morris, Agent for "Our Homes"; Mrs. R. T. H. Moore, Superintendent of Local Work.

An Honored Visitor, Mrs. J. E. Chapman, President of the Holston Conference Society.

It gives me pleasure to announce that Mrs. J. E. Chapman expects to be with us at our Annual Meeting. She is a very bright woman, a good talker and a consecrated worker. North Carolina will be glad to welcome her. I trust all delegates and visitors who have not already done so will send their names at once to Mrs. N. E. Edgerton, Selma. The meeting opens on Wednesday night, April 27, and will close on the following Sunday.

Editorial

OUR CHURCH PRESS.

The Conference organ is a prominent question just now. Almost every paper in Southern Methodism is lengthening its mailing list to a very gratifying degree. The mildewed, worm-eaten charge, made periodically for the last half century, that the religious paper is losing ground, would at this present time excite only a smile among Methodists who really know what Southern Methodist papers are, and are doing.

There is not only a lengthening of mailing lists, but a marked improvement in the style, matter, and make-up of the papers themselves. A better quality of paper is used, there is more regard to arrangement of matter, and there is manifested a more professional, intelligent, and seasoned editorial spirit and ability.

Yet we are many leagues from the boasting limit. We have a long road to travel, and we gladly hail the excellent article in last week's Nashville Christian Advocate from the pen of J. W. Moore, Ph. D., who in a brotherly spirit offers a just criticism on the conduct of Southern Methodist papers. We accept our share of this criticism and trust that our brother editors may do the same.

Dr. Moore thinks that there should be at least two pages of editorial matter in each issue; that current events should receive more attention, that longer space should be given to the news of the church; that there should be fewer clippings; and that there should be more articles from our good writers. In each case he is exactly right.

The reading public has not lost its interest in what the editor thinks. It expects the editorial—not a review article, not a few remarks on a clipped paragraph, not a few stale observations on such things as "The Reward of Virtue," "The Significance of Melchisedek," and "Humility," but a real live, plain, practical editorial that the reader needs.

We were very much surprised when a few weeks ago one of our Southern Methodist exchanges contained the editorial statement in effect that a church paper should publish only that which pertains to the church. Of course, such a thing as a discussion of current events is never seen in that paper. We feel sure that if this principle were widely adopted by the church press, there would be in a short while no church press. No brilliant editorial work and employment of brilliant contributors could prevent a brilliant feat of swallowing by the secular press, and the church press would be the "Great Swallowed."

Of course, Dr. Moore is right in saying that much space should be given to church news. It is a matter of gratitude that this fact is becoming more and more appreciated by our editors. While collecting church news from the exchanges is most difficult and laborious, yet it is the most profitable piece of work done for the paper. The religious journal is a newspaper, pure and simple. The church makes news and demands news. There are some Southern Methodist papers which always bring us joy. They contain church news. This news is patently covered with editorial perspiration. Such a thought brings confidence and encouragement. Other church papers are thrown aside because most of what they contain has been seen before.

Dr. Moore's intimation that it is a comparatively easy matter to secure gratis contributions from men who are able to write provokes a skeptical smile in this sanctum. While we have thus been favored to some extent, we must confess that our appeals in the main have brought no response. In some way there has grown up in the North Carolina Conference an idea that the appearance of a preacher in a regular article is an indication of egotism and presumption on the part of the preacher. We have been impressed with the apologies which came with manuscript from preachers who had been deputed by their Presiding Elder to furnish copy for District editions. Quite a number of the writers were careful to state that they had written the articles only at the request of the Presiding Elder. These preachers were simply apologizing for the performance of a duty to themselves, their church paper, and its readers. Some one has said that a Methodist preacher should be ready at all times to do two things: to preach and to die. From the plenitude of an editorial experience which has been hardened by numerous conflicts with the "scissors" temptation, we add another essential: to write an article for his church paper.

But let it be remembered as an encouraging fact that never before has our church press been so healthy and hopeful as now.

PLACE THE RESPONSIBILITY WHERE IT BELONGS.

When the pulses are galloping along at the rate of one hundred and twenty beats to the minute and the steam-gauge of the heart registers 110 degrees, it is folly for the physician to make his immediate and specific object the convalescence of the sick man. His immediate object is to reduce that temperature and regulate that heart. Then convalescence will take care of itself.

These thoughts somehow come into our mind as we read in our church papers the frequent notices of meetings in which special prayers are offered that God may call more men into the ministry.

There is now a shortage in preachers in all evangelical denominations as far as we can learn. It is a serious condition that we face. We are orthodox, it is honed, on the subject of prayer. Yet we must say that we cannot offer with any enthusiasm and faith the prayer that God may call men into the ministry. God always calls men when He has any to call. He is no God to become so indifferent on the question of manning the gospel field as to require a special petition from His followers.

It is God's part to call. It is our part to furnish Him the material. When He does not call we may be certain that we have not furnished the proper material. Let us rather pray that there may be on the part of the church such a waiting upon God, such a concern for souls, such a sweep of spiritual tides over the membership, and such a reaping of spiritual harvests, that, when God wishes to choose his men, there may be no lack of eligible material This is the point on which our prayers should centre. Let us not even indirectly accuse God of being remiss in His legitimate work—a work which He has ever delighted to do since Noah was commanded to build the ark.

And, mind you, we should help to answer our prayers by seeing that the work begins at Jerusalem. "Thou art the man" is a motto which should hang on the walls of every Christian heart. Let us get our own house in order, and we will be better prepared for praying. Let us place the responsibility where it belongs and not fasten it upon God.

THE BEST OF THE GATEWAY SERIES.

One evening, several years ago, after the day's work had been finished, we casually took down from the shelf "Carlyle's Essay on Burns." Carelessly we began reading; for while in former days we had been swept from our feet by Sartor Resartus, French Revolution, and other fire breathing books of the great Carlyle, we had never admired, nor do we admire to this day, the life of the famous Scotch poet. But a thrilling surprise was in store for us. We were held in its thralldom until long after the short hand had passed the zenith of the clock-face circle. We met a new Carlyle. For once he seemed tender and confidential. We could feel the throbbing of his heart as he steeped in an atmosphere of fine intellectual discrimination, ethical prophetic fervor, and plaintive brooding pathos the character of poor Robert Burns. We have read the essay time and time again since that evening. When our pulses need quickening we make that Essay one of our tonics and recommend it to others.

So it was with gladness that we hailed a few days ago that little book of the Gateway Series published by the American Book Company, and styled "Carlyle's Essay on Burns," by Edwin Mims, Ph.D., Professor of English Literature, Trinity College, N. C.

There is first an Introduction written in Dr. Mims' best style and giving a remarkably clear and faithful portraiture of Thomas Carlyle and Robert Burns. Then comes the "Essay" with copious foot notes, and followed by nearly twenty-five pages of general notes. The dainty appearance of the volume, the attractive type, and the skillful arrangement and scholarly elucidation of the text and the two characters, by Dr. Mims, make it a book to be greatly prized and frequently used. We thank Dr. Mims for this valuable contribution to literature.

We make a mistake in supposing that all the highest types of faithfulness in the field of service are found among distinctively religious workers. In the death on last Thursday of Dr. Stephen Truex, one of the most noted surgeons of this country, we find an illustration of fidelity to the highest ideals of service. For the last year he had been trying to take a vacation which a rapidly failing physical system had been calling for. Frequent and urgent calls to individual cases in hospital practice stole away his vacation time. On last Thursday, while almost too sick to be on his feet, he took the principal part in a difficult surgical operation. During the operation he handed the knife to one of his assistants, was taken to an adjoining room, where he diagnosed his own case and pronounced it fatal, and died in fifteen minutes. To one stopping to think, there is something intensely heroic in all this.

With the death of Sir Edwin Arnold is associated the idea of the evanescence of literary fame. Not so long ago the "Light of Asia" was discussed in almost every literary circle. This book ran through one hundred and twenty editions within ten years. Now the book is read by only a few. Only the book with a heart in it can live a century. Progress renders obsolete in a short time every chief work of science and philosophy—and even theology. But the currents of that literature which belongs to the heart keep their freshness through all intellectual drouths and cataclysms of progress. The "Light of Asia" was only the phosphorescence of a heathen ethical philosophy. It was foredoomed to an easy and early extinguishment.

Some believe that the establishment of the principle that our Government has no constitutional right to order that our public schools use the Bible as a textbook or even be opened with a mere reading of Bible passages means dire disaster to our Christian civilization and the church of God. But we do not see it this way. We believe that the establishment of the principle would force on the church such a sense of responsibility that there would be a perfect revolution in the home and Sunday-school in the matter of Bible teaching. The home and Sunday-school will never do their best and fullest Bible teaching until it is realized that the whole responsibilities rest in these places and in Christian schools.

We take the following from the Lumberton Argus: The meeting conducted under the auspices of the Methodists has been a glorious one. Mr. Glenn has preached some magnificent sermons, plain, pointed, practical, and powerful. Great crowds have attended the services. The business houses have been closed during the preaching hour. Hundreds of country people have attended the various services. Scores of Christians have renewed their covenants, while many have professed conversion outright. A number have given in their names for membership in different churches.

Methodist Mention

Elizabeth City District Edition of the Advocate next week.

It seems as if the Districts are going to carry out that resolution. "So mote it be."

Bishop Candler has in press a new book, entitled "Great Revivals and the Great Republic."

The Danville, (Va.), Methodist, which is always full of good things, has been enlarged to an eight-page, six-column paper.

In the storm that swept over Nashville, Tenn., a few days ago, Trinity Church, East Nashville District, was completely demolished.

A vigorous canvass is being made in Shreveport, La., to raise the $110,000 bonus for the removal of Centenary College to that city.

Leland Church, Town Creek Circuit, is out of debt, and will be dedicated at an early date, we are informed by Bro. W. R. Royall, P. C.

We have just received from Rev. A. J. Groves, who has our deepest sympathy, the sad news of the death of his brother, John D. Groves, at St. Lukes Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla.

Rev. William S. Patton, a young minister of Holston Conference, and stationed at Jefferson City, has left our church and gone to the Congregational Church.—Wesleyan Advocate.

Slips containing the new Order of Worship may be had of Smith & Lamar for seventy-five cents the hundred. They are of suitable size for placing in the backs of the hymnals.

On Friday, March 18, the Methodists of New Orleans and their friends gave Bishop and Mrs. Morrison a formal welcome to that city. Dr. W. H. LaPrade was master of ceremonies.

Centenary Sunday-school of our church, Chattanooga, Tenn., has an enrollment of nearly 1,400, with 53 teachers. Two large Bible classes are taught by two lawyers, C. F. Bates and W. G. M. Thomas.

Dr. W. P. Few, Dean of Trinity College, will deliver a series of lectures in Charlotte during the first week in May. The subject of these lectures will be "Southern Progress, and Some Ways to Promote It."

We regret that our Alabama correspondent, Rev. E. A. Wright, has been confined to his room for several weeks with a painful affliction. We are glad that he has so far recovered as to be able to walk about.

Rev. H. F. Chreitzberg, pastor of Centenary Church, Winston-Salem, will preach the commencement sermon at the Salem Female Academy and College, the famous old Moravian school at Winston-Salem.

The second volume of sermons issued by the Methodist Book Concern under the title "The Methodist Pulpit," is prepared by Rev. Frank M. Bristol, D. D., pastor of the Metropolitan Church, Washington, D. C.

Rev. J. D. Bundy, P. E., requests the pastors of Washington District to forward at once to W. B. Cooper, Wilmington, N. C., a complete list of their Sunday-school Superintendents and the post-office address of each.

Rev. L. L. Johnson writes from Afton, Indian Territory: "We have had a most delightful winter. No snow to speak of; but little rain and only one little sleet. The air is balmy. We are ready to let the contract for a $4,000 church.

We acknowledge with appreciation the following invitation: "Mrs. Henry Clay Wall requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Annie Leake, to Mr. Howard Alexander Foushee, on Wednesday evening, the thirteenth of April, nineteen hundred and four, at eight o'clock, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Rockingham, North Carolina."

Last year the Congregationalists in the United States had 1,001 churches without a minister and 2,047 ministers without a church.

The 120th session of the Baltimore Conference convened in the city of Alexandria on last Wednesday. We understand that the Baltimore Conference has withdrawn its support from the Advocate published at Richmond and will have its own paper.

The commencement exercises of the Harry North School, of Morehead City, will be held May 29th to June 1. The sermon will be preached by Rev. N. M. Watson, and the address delivered by Dr. W. I. Cranford. The school is having a most successful year under the management of Prof. B. I. Tart.

Bishop Hoss "has agreed to forward at least 100 new names, with the money," to the Wesleyan Christian Advocate. It has been said that there are some preachers who are too dignified to work for a church paper. Such will no doubt feel that the action and spirit of Bishop Hoss only furnish a case of "Jupiter nodding."

Rev. W. W. Rose thinks that his charge, Weldon Station, holds the banner as to the number of Advocates taken. He has 170 members, and forty Advocates are taken. This is good. Rev. G. W. Starling reports that every family in one of his churches takes the Advocate. Who besides R. L. Davis will enter the lists against Rose and Starling.

Mrs. M. A. Pritchett, through her sons, John E. Pritchett, of San Marcos, and H. C. Pritchett, of Huntsville, has given to Southwestern University one thousand dollars in memory of her late husband, directing that this money be invested in books which are to be kept in a designated alcove of the college library known as the William Ira Pritchett Memorial.

The following account of the labors of Bishop Smith in Elizabeth City comes from Rev. J. E. Underwood: "Bishop Smith was with us yesterday, and preached in First Church in the morning, and at City Road at night. His sermons were of great power, and made a profound impression on the large congregations, who heard them. In the afternoon he lectured to men, in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The hall was crowded with eager listeners, and strong men wept, as he appealed to them to live a better life. His visit has been a great blessing to the town. It was our great pleasure to entertain him, and a more charming guest has never been in our home."

The Commencement Exercises of Littleton Female College, Littleton, N. C., will begin on Sunday, May the 22nd, with a sermon before the Faculty and students of the College, by Rev. G. F. Smith, Presiding Elder of the Warrenton District. On Wednesday, the 25th, Dr. C. W. Byrd, of Atlanta, will preach the Annual Sermon in the College chapel. The Commencement Address will be delivered on Thursday, the 26th, by Rev. R. D. Smart, D. D., of Norfolk, Va. In place of the usual Annual Address on Missions before the Y. W. C. A., there will be, this year, a series of three addresses on Missions. These will be delivered by Bishop A. W. Wilson, of Baltimore, Md., on the evenings of April 12th, 13th, and 14th.

The Orphans Friend thus calls attention to the double honor conferred on the editor of the Advocate: At the recent session of the Grand Lodge in Raleigh, the Grand Chaplain was absent. One of our clerical brethren, Rev. Erskine Pope, was thereupon summoned to the East by Grand Master Clark and requested to open the communication with prayer. The next day a similar duty was performed by Bro. F. A. Bishop, another one of the brethren present who belonged to the clergy. Later the appointment of Grand Chaplain for the ensuing year was conferred upon Bro. T. N. Ivey. As to be Grand Chaplain is, in itself, so great an honor, what must be Brother Ivey's feelings of pride at being also the successor of Popes and Bishops!"

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report for each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since March 30, 1904:

Rev. B. C. Thompson	20
B. C. Glover	19
Rev. W. C. Merritt	18
Rev. G. W. Starling	16
Rev. Z. Paris	15
Rev. W. T. Usry	11
Rev. T. J. Dailey	4
Rev. E. E. Rose	3
Rev. J. G. Johnson	3
Rev. C. C. Brothers	3
Rev. J. M. Lowder	3
Rev. A. J. Groves	3
Rev. S. E. Mercer	3
Rev. P. Greening	2
Rev. H. G. Stamey	2
Rev. A. D. Betts	2
Rev. R. F. Taylor	2
Rev. J. H. M. Giles	2
Rev. C. A. Jones	2
Rev. F. L. Church	2
Rev. D. N. Caviness	1
Rev. D. L. Earnhart	1
Rev. S. T. Moyle	1
Rev. W. E. Brown	1
Rev. W. H. Townsend	1
Rev. G. R. Rood	1
Rev. N. E. Coltrane	1
Rev. G. B. Starling	1
Rev. L. H. Joyner	1
Rev. E. M. Snipes	1
Direct	1

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Warrenton District	122	increase 51
Rockingham District	119	increase 31
Fayetteville District	100	increase 23
Washington District	95	increase 4
Raleigh District	86	increase 3
Elizabeth City District	68	increase 20
Durham District	60	increase 1
New Bern District	55	increase 6
Wilmington District	52	increase 7
Total new subscribers to date	757
Total increase for the week	146

First position, Warrenton District.

Second position, Rockingham District.

Last position, Wilmington District.

Warrenton District has largest increase for the week, with 51 new subscribers. Rockingham comes next with 31. Fayetteville comes next with 23. Elizabeth City comes next with 20. Durham has smallest increase for the week—1. Warrenton District lacks only 28 of supplying her quota. Rockingham District lacks only 31. These may reach the 150 mark by next report. Which will come under the wire first? Perhaps some other District will surprise these two leaders. We shall see what we shall see.

WHAT CAN BE DONE.

We copy the following letter from the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, which illustrates what almost any layman in the North Carolina Conference can do:

"We omit name and postoffice. Dear Wesleyan: Last Saturday, while it was raining, so I could not get out on the farm, I read the Advocate. I enjoyed it so much. I said to my wife 'that people who did not read our Advocate did not know how much they were missing.' I wish every Methodist had the paper and I could get some subscribers and I would go out and try. Eight new subscribers and three renewals are the result of my afternoon work. What I have done many laymen in our church could do. I am proud of my afternoon work for the Advocate. As ever your friend and brother."

We return our thanks to the friends who have sent us missing copies of the Advocate within the last few weeks.

NORTH CAROLINA
EPWORTH LEAGUE
DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE CONFERENCE LITERARY EVANGELICAL
EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

The Prayer-Meeting.

Be enthusiastic about the prayer-meeting. Enthusiasm kindles enthusiasm. Do not follow old beaten tracks; get out of the ruts. Make new tracks, announce the theme in advance. Never wait a moment on circumstances, conditions, or anybody. Begin on the minute and close on the second. Make prayers and exhortations and talks short and to the point. Make it thoughtful. See that many take part and make all feel comfortable, and sing good soul-stirring hymns. Let all the talks be condensed statements of Bible truth. Shut the meeting up in close communion with God and His Word; shut out all miscellaneous and secondary matter.

One Devotional Committee's Method.

Believing that novelty and variety may be successfully employed in the conduct of their meetings, one committee has printed on its list of topics such subjects as "A Telephone Service;" "A Telegraph Meeting." At the telegraph meeting letters were sent out some time in advance to workers in different parts of the country, asking them to send messages of encouragement on telegraph blanks to the officers of the society. These messages were read at the service, and the inter-change of thought proved inspiring to all who listened; and at the same time the faith of some weaker ones was strengthened by the reassuring words of the strong leaders in denominational life and enterprises.

It has been found helpful in some instances to ask a representative of another church, or possibly of another denomination, to lead the meeting occasionally. He brings new thoughts and new methods, and the workers are thus brought into closer fellowship.

In case the meetings are inclined to lag in interest, let the devotional committee secure pledged speakers. Ask a dozen members to testify, each speaking promptly; give others Scripture references to read, and the meetings will soon take on a new interest and enthusiasm. Of course, the committee will lead in the testimonies.—Exchange.

We wish to call the special attention of the readers of these columns, especially the young readers, to the clipping below. "Don't Make Enemies." It is well worth a careful perusal. All of us know those who have in them elements of success who never succeed because they play the "dog in the manger;" always growling and showing their teeth.

DON'T MAKE ENEMIES

Some men there are who leave enemies thick in their wake. They cannot walk around a corner without going out of the way to offend someone. If a stranger asks a civil question they reply rudely. If an acquaintance comes to them for a slight courtesy they deny it or grant it so grudgingly and in so insulting a manner that he goes away hating instead of grateful. They delight in uttering and repeating ugly remarks about friends and strangers, heedless of the fact that such remarks are always carried home. Satire and sarcasm are commonly on their tongues. They practice the charity neither of silence nor of speech. But in the long run they pay heavily for the pleasure of making enemies.

The man who plays the dog in office, whether it be in a public or private office, is a fool. Courtesy is so cheap and rudeness costs so much that none but fools will deliberately and needlessly offend even the weakest and most insignificant person. The manager of a business house, the foreman of a shop, an employe of a public office, any man in place or power, may be secure of his position, may be independent of any man's favor, may have no present use for friends and no fear of enemies, but he knows not and cannot know how soon or in what way he may be obliged to seek favors from the person whom he scorns to-day and treats rudely. Fortune's turning wheel puts men in very strange positions.

Politeness, courtesies, favors, are repaid not infrequently with ingratitude, and one sometimes wonders whether it is worth while to try to please people whom one does not have to please. But it is worth while, for the humblest office boy may one day have his chance to pay back a hundredfold slights and insults which were laid upon him wantonly by a man who did not imagine that the boy would ever be in a position to hurt him.

The prudent politician and the prudent man of affairs are schooled in this wisdom. People may forget the kindness you do them, but they will not forget injuries or insults. They may not be rich in gratitude, but they are very prone to revenge and will go far to even up an injury. Men have received a knock-out blow in business or politics from a hidden enemy of whose very existence they knew nothing. One never knows what connections a stranger, or even a friend, may have, or what influence he may control, either now or in the future.

Politeness may be preached not only on utilitarian, but also on esthetic and economical grounds. It beautifies social intercourse, smoothes the way of life, and to a mind rightly constituted the way of politeness is the way of least resistance. To be rude is generally more trouble than to be courteous. But there is a limit to courtesy, and that limit is the border of complaisancy or weakness. To make friends is noble and honorable only when it may be done with a clear conscience and without loss of self-respect. An honest man must possess the courage to make enemies when that is necessary for right's sake.—Toronto World.

NEW DRESS GOODS FOR SPRING

Thin fabrics have the call this season, such as Nun's Vellings, Albatross, Crepes, Eolinnes, Voiles, Mistrals, Grenadines, etc. Write for samples and prices.

NEW SUITS FOR SPRING STRICTLY ALL WOOL.

Venetian Cloth, Eton Jacket.....$12.50
Broadcloths.....$15.00
Cheviots, Norfolk Jacket.....$15.00
Cheviots, Collarless Jacket.....$16.50
Cheviot Dress Suits, Eton Jacket.....$25.00
Covert Cloth.....$18.50

Write us for further particulars.

Freight and express charges paid in Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina on all orders over $5.00 mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS. RICHMOND, VA.

CAPUDINE

Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE.

10c. 25c. 50c, A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

THE

Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association

Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds

Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : :

Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,

Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.

RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.

PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentinos Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 20 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. For sale by all dealers.

The Kind Mother Used to Chew.

Valentino Manufacturing Company, - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?

IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.

RADIA

WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.

Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

Union Pacific Railroad Co.

—and—

Southern Pacific Company

THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO

California and the Pacific Coast!

Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.

For particulars address

J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.

R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.

..."SUNSET ROUTE."...

Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.

4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.

Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.

OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.

Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.

No trouble to answer questions.

J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent ATLANTA, GA.

R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

Sunday School

Lesson for April 10, 1904.

Peter Confesses the Christ.

(Mark 8:27-38.)

Golden Text: Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. (Matthew 16:16.)

After the miracles of healing recorded in our last lesson Jesus returned again to the vicinity of the Sea of Galilee, and there he fed the four thousand. This was followed by a controversy in which the Pharisees and Sadducees demanded a sign, which Jesus refused to give. The next event recorded is that of the healing of a blind man at Bethsaida, after which came the incident selected for our study, which occurred in the region of Caesarea Philippi.

A Momentous Question.—It was no ordinary question which Jesus propounded to his disciples when he asked them the direct interrogation "Whom say ye that I am?" Varied answers were given by the people at large to the question of Jesus' identity. Some saw in him John the Baptist restored to life, some thought he was Elijah returned from the skies into which he had been carried by a chariot of fire, while still others considered him simply as another of the prophets.

The question which Jesus asked his disciples was a most critical one, for it was intended to show whether or not they understood the mission of their Master.

The Messiahship of Jesus.—Peter's reply to the question of Jesus showed that the Master's teaching had not been in vain, but that, however dimly it might be, the disciples had begun to grasp at the all-significant fact that Jesus was the Messiah, the long-predicted and eagerly awaited Anointed One who should come to redeem his people.

Having elicited from his disciples through Peter as their spokesman the clear statement of their belief that he was the Christ, Jesus now proceeded to open their eyes more fully to the character of his Messiahship. They had pictured the Messiah to themselves as an earthly king in the full pomp of power; but he now declared to them the truth that the Messiah should be a suffering Saviour, who must be rejected of the elders, and the chief priests, and scribes, and be killed, and then after three days rise again.

Peter's Rebuke.—The program of suffering and death foretold of himself by the Master aroused in Peter a spirit of rebellion. He could not bear to contemplate the possibility of such a Messiahship, and began to reproach the Saviour for announcing such an untoward destiny. But Jesus was quick to check the complaints of his impetuous and warm-hearted disciple. "Get thee behind me, Satan," were his words of scorching reproof, "for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things that be of men."

The Conditions of Christian Discipleship.—The Master now turns from his instruction of the circle of his apostles to lay before the people at large the conditions upon which alone they might become his followers.

The program of suffering which the Master has announced for himself must be experienced in part at least by all who would become his disciples. The follower of Jesus must be a cross-bearer, and must seek constantly not to please but to deny himself.

Profit and loss in the spiritual world are reckoned on a different basis from that which is in vogue in the commercial world. It is only he who is willing to lose everything, including even his own life, who can hope to gain what is worth having in the service of Christ. But he who is willing to sacrifice everything for the sake of the gospel shall find an immeasurable reward.

And really—though I would not listen to him—there is more than one grain of truth in what he says!—The Interior.

CURES BLOOD POISON, CANCER, ULCERS, ECZEMA, CARBUNCLES, ETC. MEDICINE FREE.

Robert Ward, Maxey's, Ga., says: "I suffered from blood poison, my head, face and shoulders were one mass of corruption, aches in bones and joints, burning, itching, scaby skin, was all run down and discouraged, but Botanic Blood Balm cured me perfectly, healed all the sores and gave my skin the rich glow of health. Blood Balm put new life into my blood and new ambition into my brain." Geo. A. Williams, Roxbury, face covered with pimples, chronic sore on back of head, suppurating swelling on neck, eating ulcer on leg, bone pains, itching skin cured perfectly by Botanic Blood Balm—sores all healed. Botanic Blood Balm, cures all malignant blood troubles, such as eczema, scabs and scales, pimples, running sores, carbuncles, scrofula, etc. Especially advised for all obstinate cases that have reached the second or third stage. Druggists, $1. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

$2.00 will buy a pair

RoxieWard Women's Shoes

Made by Southern Girls and Boys

The equal of any $2.50 shoe on the market

TAKE NO OTHER

Your dealer should keep the best, and the best is "ROXIE WARD."

GEO. D. WITT SHOE CO.

Manufacturers

LYNCHBURG, VA.

CONFESSIONS OF A PRIEST.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c.

MY FRIEND, THIS IS WORTH READING.

Suppose You Stop and See. Isn't It Wonderful?

Greensboro, N. C., March 29, 1903.

Mrs. Joe Person:—I take pleasure in stating that your Remedy has entirely cured our little girl of a very bad case of eczema, which covered a great part of her body. She had eczema (periodically) from the time she was three weeks old, until she was six years old. She is now perfectly well and I feel that I cannot speak too highly of it. She has not had a symptom of it for six years.

Respectfully,

J. W. COBB.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..

(AT TUCKER'S STORE)

123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

Raleigh, N. C.

SPRING, 1904.

LADIES, EMBROIDERIES AND White Goods.

White Vogue will continue, and the new numbers in White Goods are irresistibly tempting. Dainty Organdies, Swisses, Dimities and Batistes, Mouselins de Paris, washable Chiffons, Hand-woven Batistes, Fancy Mercerized Jaquards, Voiles, Saque Francois, &c., &c.

Have you requested samples?

..Dobbin & Ferrall..

Raleigh, N. C.

Raleigh Marble Works

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.

Special attention paid to Finish and Lettering

ONLY BEST OF STOCK USED.

Write for new Catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Prop's,

RALEIGH, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO, N.C.

For the treatment of THE LIQUOR OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in 90 minutes with head, or no fee. No fasting required. Send 2 stamp for 64-page Book. DR. M. NEY SMITH, Specialist, 809 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, Aug. 30, 1903.

SOU'N BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class 101	First-Class 105	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First Class 104	Second Class 102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. Raleigh Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 00	4 15		9 30	5 30
7 15	4 25	S.....†Caraleigh Mills...	9 20	5 15
7 25	4 30	F.....†Sylvania.....	9 15	5 07
7 35	4 40	F.....† Barnes.....	9 05	5 00
7 40	4 45	F.....Hobby.....	9 00	4 55
7 55	4 50	M.....†McCULLERS...	8 55	4 50
8 00	4 55	F.....Banks.....	8 45	4 30
8 05	4 57	F.....Austins.....	8 40	4 26
8 25	5 05	S...†Willow Spring...	8 35	4 20
8 30	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 30	4 02
8 50	5 20	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 21	3 57
9 03	5 25	S..C. F. & N. Junction	8 17	3 53
9 15	5 30	S...† Fuquay Springs..	8 15	3 50
9 20	5 35	F.....Buckhorn.....	8 05	3 35
9 25	5 40	F.....Rawls.....	8 00	3 25
9 40	5 50	S.....† Chalybeate.....	7 55	3 15
9 50	5 55	S.....Bradley.....	7 45	3 00
9 55	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 40	2 55
10 00	6 10	Ar. Lillington Lv.	7 30	2 45

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD

AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,

Yarborough House Building.

C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

'Phones 117.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Secular News

STATE.

The North Carolina Teachers' Association will meet at Morehead City, June 8th.

Fourteen James City negroes, who engaged in a riot and resisted officers, have been arrested.

Editor J. W. Bailey made a very interesting talk before the Y. M. C. A. of Charlotte last Sunday.

Cases on appeal from the Tenth Judicial District were called for argument in the Supreme Court this week.

Governor Aycock has appointed a commission to investigate the affairs of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad.

Republican State Chairman Rollins has issued a call for conventions to nominate delegates to the Republican State convention.

The Summer School to be held at the A. & M. College next July promises to be the best of its kind that has ever been held in the State.

The association for the betterment of public school houses are giving a most interesting exhibit at the Governor's mansion this week.

Former Congressman W. H. Bower, of Lenoir, announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress for the Eighth District.

E. Spencer Blackburn was nominated for Congress in the Eighth District, April 1st, by acclamation, after one of the fiercest fights ever made against a man for office.

There was a debate in Charlotte Monday night between Wake Forest and Furman Colleges. A game of base ball was played by nines from the two colleges in the afternoon.

Wake Forest College gained a double victory over Furman University in their contests at Charlotte, winning the debate and base ball game both.

Judge Peebles hints that there will be proceedings for contempt, by the action of the Lumberton bar in refusing to make a calendar for the term of court over which he was to preside.

The commencement sermon at Trinity College will be preached June 5th by President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, and the baccalaureate address will be delivered by Dr. Frank C. Woodward, of Richmond, Va.

Representat Gudger has introduced a bill in Congress providing that on and after May, 1, 1904, no rural delivery route shall be refused on account of the condition of the road when a competent carrier can be obtained at the regular compensation prescribed by law.

GENERAL.

On Thursday Senators will listen to eulogies of the late Senator Hanna.

The Swayne impeachment resolution will be a feature in the House this week.

A great crowd of over 100,000 persons took part in the Easter parade at Atlantic City.

Missionaries engaged in non-Catholic mission work are to meet in Washington this week.

General Jiminez at St. Thomas has declared that the revolution in Santo Domingo is not over.

The Senate will devote most of this week to the Postoffice Appropriation and the Panama Canal bills.

The House will devote some time to the conference report on the District of Columbia Appropriation bill.

Friends of Senator Gorman say that he does not regard as impossible his nomination for the Presidency.

Several South Carolina papers are urging Governor Aycock for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket.

Russian authorities have warned anti-Jewish agitators that outbreaks against Jews will be severely punished and suppressed.

Hon. Patrick Henry Winston, brother of President Winston, of the A. & M. College, died at his home in Spokane, Wash., of heart failure, aged 57.

United States Consul Warner, at Leipzig, states that Germany's marvelous growth as a maritime power is due more to private initiative on scientific lines than to Government subsidies.

A hundred thousand men and six thousand horses, besides considerable artillery, have crossed Lake Baikal since the outbreak of the war, according to the Tageblatt military expert.

The Democratic Success League, organized at Omaha, Neb., to defeat the 16 to 1 platform, decided to make Hon. W. J. Bryan a delegate-at-large and a member of the resolutions committee.

Rev. Joseph Stitt, of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, died at the home of his son-in-law, in Hagerstown, Md., April 4. He had been connected with the Methodist Episcopal Conference since 1868.

Countess Cassini, daughter of the Russian ambassador, is going to open a Fair in Washington City to raise funds to "relieve the wounded of friend and foe alike left on the battlefields of the war." between Russia and Japan.

E. H. Harriman and Winslow S. Pierce entered suit at St. Paul to force the Northern Securities Company to return the stock of the Northern Pacific Railroad, as originally held, so that they will have control, as before.

A movement was started in Knoxville, Tenn., April 3, to secure a stricter compliance with the child labor laws in Tennessee. Reports made to Typographical Union No. 111 showed that the law was being openly violated in many cities of the State, and that the great drawback to the enforcement of the statute is the false representations made by parents of children in regard to the ages of their offspring.

Woman's Board of Home Missions.

The Woman's Board of Home Missions of the M. E. Church, South, will hold its sixth annual session April 15-23 in Troost Avenue Church, Kansas City, Missouri. Names of all officers, delegates, and visitors expecting to attend this meeting should be sent at once to Mrs. Z. M. Williams, 3117 Lydia Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

As the place of meeting is west of the Mississippi River there will be required in order to secure reduced railroad rates, an attendance of one hundred holding certificates of standard form purchased from starting point. We can hardly hope for so many, but the delegates are advised to secure certificates so they can be used in case the attendance should warrant the reduction. Correspondence of weeks with railroad authorities has not been able to secure reduction because the required number could not be promised.

MRS. FRANK SILER,
Recording Secretary.

Catalogue of A. & M. College.

The Catalogue of the A. & M. College, just issued, shows 521 students, as follows: Agriculture 140, Civil Engineering 74, Mechanical Engineering 75, Electrical Engineering 77, Chemistry and Mining 22, Textile Industry 42, Mechanic Arts 73, shop, drawing, etc., 18. States represented 7, foreign countries represented 2, Counties in North Carolina represented 85. Tuition $20 a year. Board $8 a month. One hundred and twenty scholarships. Summer School for Teachers July 4 to August 4. Address President Winston, West Raleigh, N. C.

BROKE INTO HIS HOUSE.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested, and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25c. at all druggists.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

WAKE UP! WAKE UP!

Don't You Know a Good Thing When You See it. Read This Advertisement.

We have been running and in this paper for four weeks calling attention to our Hand Screw Button. There are probably 10,000 male readers of this paper, every one of whom need these Buttons. How many have a button off right now? We have not received the patronage from the public that we expected, or that we deserve, considering the article we have to sell. Man, do you love your wife, mother or daughter? Then make their lives easier by using the Hand Screw Button. Once on, always on. Look at the cut. This Button is no catch-penny affair, but an article of merit, placed on the market by a reliable firm, whose reliability is vouched for by the Editor of the Advocate. We want agents in every city and town in the State. Send 10 cents stamps or silver, for a box and agent's special wholesale prices.

HAND SCREW BUTTON
HOLDS LIKE A VISE

Gate City Novelty Co., 323 2-4 South Elm St., Box 237, Greensboro, N. C.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Sound Waves which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.

OTOPHONE CO
1602 Arch Street, ROOM 165 Philadelphia, Pa.

FERRY'S SEEDS MEET ALL NEEDS

Experience has established it as a fact. Sold by all dealers. You sow—they grow. 1904 Seed Annual postpaid free to all applicants.

D. M. FERRY & CO.
DETROIT, MICH.

TEN GALLONS OF THE
..BEST..
Mineral Water
ON EARTH
FOR 50 CENTS.

One 8-ounce bottle of Echols' Piedmont Concentrated Iron and Alum Water contains all the medical properties of 10 gallons of the water as it comes from the spring. Condensed and concentrated by a scientific process, it is the most convenient and effective form in which mineral water can be used.

Echols' Piedmont Concentrated Iron and Alum Water.

Cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all other forms of stomach and liver troubles, kidney and bladder disease and all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood. At all good drug stores.

J. M. ECHOLS CO.,
Lynchburg, Va.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Visitors.

A large number of friends are visiting the Orphanage on Sunday evenings. We are glad to have them do so. But we do wish that those bad boys that come to play and frolic in our new building and to whoop and holler and throw missels at each other would stay away. They are a nuisance. We wish their fathers and mothers would make them stay off these grounds. It is hard to keep one's temper under such circumstances. They need a good spanking. Boys, you disgrace your mothers and fathers.

Big Money.

Several friends have talked about making us large donations. If ever it was needed, it is needed now. If you are ever going to make it, now is the time. The times are flush; cotton is high, tobacco is bringing a fair price, peanuts, "goobers," are selling well. Lumber is very high; wheat is at the top notch. They charge us $4.50 per barrel for Irish potatoes. Tell me what is not up. Money lies scattered all around.

Brother, God is filling your hands with blessings. When it goes well with you, will you not remember us? There is no better place in this round world for the investment of money in gratitude to God for prosperity than in the Methodist Orphanage. It will be doing good when you are dead and gone.

Subscriptions Again.

All the subscriptions made at the Conference in Goldsboro have been due since the first of February. We need the money now. Brother, if it is perfectly convenient, we will be glad of a remittance.

We have enough old subscriptions on hand to finish up a whole story. How it would help us, if they would only remember us in this, our time of need. Would not a clear receipt be beautiful in your eyes, brother, sister? I know it would help your conscience. You would sleep better for it. Do you feel restless at night? Get up and write a check and put it under your head, and see if you don't lie down and sleep like a baby. But be sure to mail the check to me next morning. Think of these things. There ought to be some principles in it, anyhow.

Work on Main Building Resumed.

We are having lively times here. About a dozen and a half of workmen are on the grounds, and more are expected next week. They have moved off to a lively tune. May they sing on to the end! Now for a forward movement all along the line. Let every man, woman and child that intends to help us, help now. I am glad to say that friends are sending in the cash. A brother sends $20 and says take $4 of it to put in a large window, and use the remainder as you may see best. A sister sends $5 to be used in the same way. Others have sent different amounts. They did not want to be called on by the Superintendent.

Don't wait for us, beloved. We can't get all round in a year. Send it along.

Statement and an Appeal.

The statement is this: We are exceedingly anxious to complete our Main building. It is very important that it should be. Hundreds of needy little orphan children are waiting for it. They greatly need it. It will take a snug sum to pay for the material and the work. Our hope is that the work may go on until the last touch is put on. It is far better not to go into that building until it is finished. To fill the lower story with boys and girls and to have the upper stories filled with all sorts of workmen, would not be pleasant, at least. Yea it would be hazardous, I think. There would be danger to life and limb and morals.

The money is not coming in satisfactorily. It is true, the winter has not been favorable to such work. Congregations have generally been small. But when they are not, the collections have not come up to expectations. But one man has given a hundred dollars. But one man fifty, and less than half a dozen twenty-five. Only about a dozen ten. Only two congregations have given over a hundred dollars. It seems that Dr. Ivey's assertion, that flush times are not the best times for benevolent collections is about to be our experience. The friends who have been thinking of making us large donations, put us off. Those who have made us good subscriptions beg for time. The situation is embarrassing. I am greatly burdened.

The Appeal.—Will not the friends of the Methodist Orphanage come to our help? I am not talking to the preachers now. They passed a resolution presented by their own Committee, that they would take a collection in every congregation not later than June. Of course they will do it. Neither am I appealing to the Sunday-schools. A part of these are doing nobly. God bless them! But I am appealing to every one that reads these lines. If you are ever going to help us in cash, help us now. Sit right down and send it before you forget it. If you have it not on hand, look it up. You can get it, or lay it by and send it soon. Delay may greatly hinder the work.

NEW TOURIST SLEEPING CAR LINE TO CALIFORNIA.

Commencing December 9th, the Frisco System will inaugurate through Pullman Tourist Sleeping Car service between Birmingham, Ala., and San Francisco, California. Cars will leave Birmingham at 10.20 p. m., every Tuesday, and will be routed via the Frisco System to Kansas City, Rock Island System to Pueblo, Denver and Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western to Ogden and Southern Pacific to San Francisco.

Requests for reservations should be addressed to

W. T. SAUNDERS,
General Agent.
Passenger Department, corner Pryor and Decatur Streets, Atlanta, Georgia.

"AND THE CAT CAME BACK."

That is the story of tetter cured by other medicines; not so when Tetterine does the work. B. H. Tanner, McDonald Mills, Ga., writes: "Tetterine is the only remedy I ever sold that would cure tetter so it would not return. Sold six dozen boxes in a year and guaranteed every box. I have never had to return the money for a single box. I sold a box to a man who had tetter for 52 years; two boxes cured him sound and well." Fifty cents a box at druggists or from J. T. SHUPTRINE, Mfg., Savannah, Ga.

HAVE YOU LOST
YOUR RELISH FOR LIFE?

ELECTRIC Nervitone Tablets commence at the fountain head, invigorate the nerves which operate, nourish and control the vital organs, imparting to them new life and force; they permanently cure nervous prostration, neuralgia, all nervous trouble and most of the ills the flesh is heir to gradually disappear. For sale by your druggist or Electric Med. Co., 1,708 Clinton Ave., N. Y.

YOUNG LADIES WANTED

to introduce our high art decorations, for homes, schools and passe partouting. Clean, profitable and light, pleasant work. Good salary to the right party. For full particulars and samples address, Jander & Taylor, 19 N. 9th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ GREAT GERMAN
HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.

Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top? Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color. Also stops dandruff; promotes growth. . . . . .

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, express prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for Circular. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Currituck, at Asbury, March 5, 6
Columbia, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Pasquotank Circuit, Mount Herman, March 19-20
Elizabeth City, First Church, March 20
Hertford Circuit, Anderson's, March 27, 28
Edenton (at night), March 27
Perquimans Circuit, New Hope, April 2, 3
City Roads (Elizabeth City), April 3
North Gates, at Hebron April 8
Gates at Zion, April 9, 10
Hatteras, at Cape, April 16, 17
Kennecet, at Clarkes, April 18
Roanoke Island, April 20
Camden, at Trinity, April 23, 24
Moyock, at Moyock, April 24, 25
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Fifth Street, Feb. 28
Market Street, March 6
Bladen Street, March 6
Jacksonville, March 12, 13
Bladen Circuit, Center, March 19, 20
Southport, March 27, 28
Waccamaw, Zion, April 11
Whiteville, Chadbourn, April 2, 3
Shallotte, Sharon, April 9, 10
Town Creek, Zion, April 16, 17
Clinton, Kendall, April 22
Kenansville, Wesley, April 23, 24
Elizabeth, Singleta, April 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union May 28, 29
New River, Sneed's Ferry, June 5
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Carteret, Newport, March 5, 6
Atlantic, Atlantic, March 11, 12
Straits, Summerville, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Mt. Olive and Faison, Mt. Olive, March 19, 20
Goldsboro Circuit, Daniels, March 26, 27
St. Paul March 27
Jones Circuit Oak Grove, April 2, 3
Centenary, April 8
Craven Circuit, Tuscarora, April 9, 10
Kinston, April 10, 11
Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, South Creek, April 23, 24

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Fayetteville, St. Andrews, March 12, 13
Hope Mills, Cumberland, March 19, 20
Cokesbury, Salem, March 26 27
Dunn, Black's Chapel, Ap il 2, 3
Haw River, Merritt's, April 9, 10
Elise, Tabernacle, April 15
Carthage, High Falls, April 16, 17
Jonesboro, Morris Chapel, April 23, 24
Silver City, Hickory Mountain, April 29
Pittsboro, Brown's Chapel, April 30, May 1
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorns, Olive Branch, May 7, 8.
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30]

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Hamlet, Tabernacle, March 12, 13
Laurinburg, March 20, 21
St. John and Gibson, Gibson, March 26, 27
Rowland, Centenary, April 2, 3
Red Springs, Rowmore, April 9, 10
Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Farmville Circuit, March 5 6
Greenville (night), March 6
Grimesland and Vanceboro, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Wilson Circuit, Black Creek, March 20, 21
Wilson Station, March 21
Spring Hope, Mt. Pleasant, March 26, 27
South Edgecombe, Temperance Hall, April 1
Fremont, Lebanon, April 2, 3
Rotersonville, Wharton, April 9
Washington, April 10, 11
Bath, Pine Town (night) April 10, 11
South Rocky Mount, April 16, 17
Rocky Mount, April 17, 18
Currituck and Pasquotank, April 24, 25
Swan Quarter, Soule, April 27
Matti muskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

[SECOND ROUND.

Hillsboro, McTeyire, Feb. 27, 28
Milton Conns ly's, March 5, 6
Chapel Hill, March 13, 14
Durham, Trinity Church, March 20, 21
Carr Church and Branson, March 20 at night
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, March 26, 27
Burlington Station, March 28, 28
Durham Circuit, Fletcher's Chapel, April 2, 3
Durham, Main street, April 3, at night
Roxboro Circuit, at Lea's Chapel, April 9, 10
West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Maugum street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

[FIRST ROUND.

Kenly, Buckhorn, March 5, 6
Wakefield, March 6
Tar River, Kittrell, March 12, 13

SECOND ROUND.

Edenton St., March 19, 20
Selma, Saunders' Chapel, March 26, 27
Smithfield, March 27, 28
Franklinton, Wesley, April 2, 3
Central, April 9, 10
Youngsville, April 16th
Louisburg, April 17th
Oxford Circuit, Hermon' April 23, 24
Clayton, at Zion, April 30th, May 1
Milbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 28
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Roanoke Circuit, Tabor, Feb. 17
Hobgood, Hobgood, Feb. 20, 21
Scotland Neck, Feb. 21, 22
Garysburg, Garysburg, Feb. 27, 28
Henderson, March 6, 7
Warren, Providence, March 12, 13
Ridgeway, Ridgeway, March 19, 20

SECOND ROUND.

Northampton, Rehoboth, March 26, 27
Conway, Zion, March 27, 28
Rich Square, Lewiston, March 29
Bertie, Castle, March 31
Harrellsville, Van's Grove, April 2, 3
Murfreesboro, April 3, 4
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, April 6
Hobgood Palmyra, April 9, 10
Scotland Neck, April 10, 11
Warrenton, Warren Plains, April 16, 17
Littleton, Calvary, April 23, 24
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTeyire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Rhenezer, May 14, 15
Roanoke Rapids, Rosemary, May 21, 22

Marriages

PUGH—PAYNE.—On March 6, 1904, at the home of the bride, Mr. Rupert Pugh and Miss Lizzie Payne, Rev. B. H. Black officiating.

SKIPPER—ELKINS.—At Bladen Street parsonage, February 23, 1904, Mr. Ezekiel Skipper and Miss Luey Elkins, both of Wilmington, N. C., Rev. Geo. B. Webster officiating.

ORMSBY — MEEKS.—By Rev. Geo. B. Webster, at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, February 10, 1904, Mr. George N. Ormsby and Miss Ida L. Meeks, both of Wilmington, N. C.

ALSTON—HARRISON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Bro. John A. Burt, of Franklin County, N. C., Mr. John D. Alston and Mrs. Emily Harrison, March 2, 1904, Rev. B. C. Allred officiating.

SELLARS — O'SULLIVAN.—On the 1st of February, in Wilmington, N. C., Mr. Henry H. Sellars and Miss Sadie J. B. O'Sullivan, both of Wilmington, N. C., Rev. Geo. B. Webster officiating.

WHITE—MOORE.—At the residence of Mr. J. E. Wilkerson, Wilmington, N. C., on February 10, 1904, Mr. Gaston O. White and Miss Irene Moore, both of Pender County, N. C., Rev. G. B. Webster officiating.

Obituaries

Obituaries containg not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

MOORE.—Frances A. Moore was born July 23, 1831, and died March 1, 1904, aged 72 years, 7 months, and 8 days. Miss Fannie, as she was called, joined the church at Mt. Zion in early life, and was devoted to the church and lived a very consistent member.

She was a Methodist of the pure type, gentle, unassuming, kind and affectionate. The last years of her life she was very feeble, but she bore her affliction without a murmur. She lives. I verily believe, in the blessed abode where there is no more pain nor sorrow; and where God is the light, life and love of that home.

M. D. GILES.

LOVE.—Mrs. Julia Love (nee Devone) was born at Brunswick in 1820 and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. Whiting, March 2, 1904. Converted in childhood, her life was a long, steady growth in Christian graces. Her good deeds and inspiring influence will long survive her. She died gloriously as she had lived graciously. Even when her body was racked with the pains of death, her thoughts lingered on the promises of God's Word which had so long been her companion, comfort and guide. With her dying breath she quoted: "For the Lord is good; for His mercy endureth forever."

Three children survive her—Mrs. E. M. Love, Miss Mary T. Love and Mrs. Cornelia Whiting. They are devoted Christians, and the mother died in full assurance of a united family in a land that knows no parting.

Her memory will be cherished long and tenderly by a host of friends and loved ones left behind.

W. T. USRY.

TILLEY.—Marcus Tilley was born February 28, 1832, and died March 2, 1904.

He was married to Miss Mary Ball September 23, 1853. To them eight children were born—five sons and three daughters.

One boy and one girl died in infancy. The other six are yet living.

Sister Ball died June 13, 1879.

It was under the ministry of Rev. J. A. McMannen, about the year 1848, that he was converted to God.

To Brother Tilley the Christian life meant much.

It stood for an upright and exalted citizenship, love for his neighbors, sacrifice for and loyalty to his church, and consecration to God.

Brother Tilley had been a great sufferer.

For many years he had slept only while sitting, but of his affliction he complained very little, and though four miles from his church it was a surprise not to find him at each service.

Truly a good man has gone.

J. B. THOMPSON.

GUTHRIE.—Mrs. Sarah B. Guthrie, daughter of Orin S. and Nancy B. Evans, was born July 27, 1835, and died February 16, 1904.

She was married to Mr. Joseph B. Guthrie, of Chatham County, N. C., October 19, 1854, and converted under the ministry of Rev. H. H. Gibbons, at a meeting held in Hickory Mountain Church in the summer of 1865. Her husband was a steward of the Methodist Church for many years of his useful life, and in their home the faithful pastors of the Pittsboro Circuit were frequent, and always welcomed guests.

Bright in intellect and cheerful in disposition, grace added to the charms of her companionship, and made her a model wife, and mother, and a wise and helpful friend.

Eight children wereb orn to her, seven of whom survive her, and they rise up to call her blessed. One of her surviving children is the Rev. James O. Guthrie, of the North Carolina Conference, and the deceased one, Rev. Thomas T. Guthrie, died while a student in Trinity College, and just before completing his preparations for the life work to which he had committed himself.

Eight children were born to her, circle of friends, as well as by her immediate family, and many hearts have been saddened by the loss they have sustained in her death.

Her mortal remains were interred in the Siler City cemetery, by the side of her loved and faithful husband, who had preceded her to the spirit world, and to await the voice of the Son of God calling her to the reward of those faithful unto death.

W. H. MOORE.

GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE.

BEGINS WORK with the first dose, cleansing the blood of all the poisonous acids that produce RHEUMATISM, driving out all the dangerous germs that infest the body—that is the way cures are effected by

Rheumacide

Other medicines treat symptoms; Rheumacide removes the cause, and, therefore, its

CURES ARE PERMANENT.

Helps the digestion, tones up the system. Sample bottle free on application to BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., Proprietors, 316 West Lombard St., Baltimore, Md.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

Dropsy CURED Gives Quick Relief.
Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer. Write Dr. H. H. [illegible] for Sure.

$200 A MONTH

Active Man or Woman in each county to exhibit, take orders and appoint agents for Eureka Oil Gas Stoves for cooking. New and wonderful inventions. Customers more than delighted with our improved burner. Agents coining our way. Enormous demand. Rapidly replacing kerosene oil. Makes its own gas from kerosene oil. Cheapest, cleanest fuel. Sells at sight. Catalogue FREE. Write to-day. Standard Gas Lamp Co., 141-143 Ontario St., Chicago.

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Please mention this paper.

A Special Train for You
CALIFORNIA

The Santa Fe will run two special trains to Los Angeles, leaving Chicago April 27 and 28, 1904, and Kansas City day following,

For General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church.

Officially endorsed by several State delegations.

Stops will be made at Albuquerque and Laguna in New Mexico, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, also Redlands and Riverside in California, affording opportunity to see unique Indian pueblos, earth's greatest scenic wonder, and two typical Southern California garden spots. Services Sunday at Grand Canyon.

You will travel on the cleanest railway in the West—oil sprinkled tracks and oil-burning engines in Arizona and California. Shortest line, finest scenery, most comforts.

The rate is low; why don't you go?

WRITE TO-DAY FOR METHODIST FOLDER. Tells all about this enjoyable trip. Berth space on these trains is limited; apply early.

J. C. SARTELL, G. F. & P. A. A. T. & S. F. Ry.
12 North Prior St., Atlanta, Ga.

Santa Fe
ALL THE WAY.

LAWRENCE.—Miss Flora, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, was born November 14, 1870, and died September 14, 1903.

She was converted at the age of fourteen and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Concord, which was on the Cape Fear Circuit at that time.

The writer was her pastor four years and had reasons to believe she is now safe in the glory land. She attended services regularly at the church and had profound respect for her preacher and his family. She delighted to visit the parsonage and tender her services when necessary. She was an obedient daughter, affectionate sister, staunch Methodist and best of all, a devoted Christian. She was much afflicted for three years before her death, but endured her continued suffering with fortitude and resignation, which becometh a true child of God.

As she drew near the end and death's shadows were thrown about her and earth began to fade from her vision, she said: "I am ready and want to go."

May her life, her affliction and triumphant death influence the family to follow Christ as closely as she did.

W. F. GALLOWAY.

GARRISS.—Bro. J. Thomas H. Garriss was born April 24, 1830, and died near Margarettsville, N. C., December 7, 1903, and was, therefore, nearly seventy-four years of age. He was a member of Sharon M. E. Church, South, for nearly sixty years, and a steward for about forty years.

Brother Garris belonged to that class of church members who could be sincerely characterized as "faithful." He was one of the most faithful stewards this writer ever knew. Even after he became enfeebled by age and bad health, he offered no excuse. He loved the church and demonstrated his love by a willingness to lay aside personal affairs and attend to the work of the Master's kingdom. His life meant much to Methodism in his community. He was a great reader of Methodist literature, and was, therefore, familiar with our doctrines and polity. He was loyal to Methodism, far removed or close at hand. He was faithful and prompt in attendance upon divine worship, and was one of the best of listeners. His attention to the Word was inspiring to the preacher, and he could be counted on for moral, as well as material, support. He was the pastor's friend, and he was glad to have the pastor in his home.

He reared a large family. Fifteen children were born in his home. Seven of these preceded him to the grave. The widow and the other children are all members of Sharon Church. That they may all meet in our Father's home above, is the prayer of the pastor.

W. C. MERRITT.

CHEATHAM. — Ida J. Shaw, daughter of Malcolm and Charity Shaw, was born at Trinity College, Randolph County, N. C., on the 10th of April, 1865. At an early age she united with the Methodist Church, and on the 24th of January, 1889, was married to Dr. A. Cheatham, then of Henderson, now of Durham, and died in Durham on the evening of February 16, 1904.

This is a short chronicle of a pure and helpful life. She was a faithful and devoted wife, a loving mother, especially concerned for the moral and religious welfare of her children, five of whom were born to her and survive her. She was a good neighbor and a sincere friend. She loved her church and was a loyal and earnest Christian. A true woman was she, quiet, gentle, patient in suffering, very much of which she was called on to endure, loving flowers and all pretty things, cheerful, bright, sympathetic and helpful, kind to the poor, and had a large charity towards all persons.

She was a member of Main Street Methodist Church, from which she was buried on the morning of February 18, Revs. J. T. Gibbs, E. A. Yates, R. C. Beaman and J. C. Kilgo assisting the pastor in the services. Her body lies in Maplewood Cemetery. Her spirit is with God. The church and the community deeply sympathize with and earnestly pray God's sustaining grace to be given to the bereaved husband, the motherless children and her aged father and only sister.

W. L. C.

CAVENAUGH. — We are very much pained to chronicle the death of our beloved brother—Rev. J. D. Cavenaugh, who quietly departed this life on February 26th, after about two months confinement to his bed.

He was almost an invalid for several years—having received a serious wound during the Seven Days Battle around Richmond in the Civil War, after which he preached in the hospitals and continued to spread the gospel truths everywhere he went until seized by the horrid monster called death, which closed his useful career in this world.

He left a devoted wife, one daughter—Mrs. J. W. Anderson, of South Washington, and a son, Mr. Eli Cavenaugh, an energetic merchant of Newberry, S. C., also 13 grandchildren, who were the earthly centers of affection to the faithful grandparent, who has passed over the chilly river of death, and anchored safely on the "Golden Shore."

Some of his best sermons were his dying remarks and noble examples. He praised God and breathed his life sweetly out on the breast of Him who makes dying beds as soft as downy pillows are.

Sleep quietly on, thou slumbering dust,
'Till God shall bid thee rise,
Then from confinement thou shalt burst,
To meet Him in the skies.

B. F. PUCKETT.

South Washington, N. C., March 22, 1904.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well.' Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

$24.25 Open

$29.75 With Top

BUY BUGGIES DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURERS. . . . . .

SAVE THE DEALER'S PROFIT.

Our Catalogue Tells You How.

WRITE FOR IT TO-DAY.

25 Styles of Buggies; 4 Styles of Surries. Harness $5.35 UP.

Southern Made for Southern Trade. Quality, Satisfaction and Price Guaranteed.

Southern Vehicle M'f'g Co.,
499 Broad St., AUGUSTA, GA.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

FREE MEDICAL BOOKS FOR THE SICK.

My special method of curing the chronic diseases of men and women has justly won recognition from the medical societies of the world as well as from the public in general. Scattered all over this broad land are tens of thousands whom my skill as a specialist has cured of all diseases, such as Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Nervous Debility, Prematurity, Weak Heart, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble and Stomach and Bowel ailments, Bladder Trouble, Varicocele, Stricture, Kidney Disease and Blood Poison.

When it is at all possible I prefer to make a patient's personal acquaintance, but if you live out of the city and cannot call, write me what you suffer from and I will tell you the quickest way to be cured, free, and send you free of charge any one of the following eight medical books explaining my method of cure: 1, Diseases of the Vital Organs; 2, Female Diseases; 3, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs; 4, Nervous Debility; 5, Varicocele; 6, Stricture; 7, Blood Poison; 8, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Call or write to
DR. NEWTON HATHAWAY,
30 Inman Building, Atlanta, Ga.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling. Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by
Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

Money saved is money made.
$2.50 BUYS A PAIR OF FAMOUS
Autograph SHOES

THE EQUAL OF ANY $3.00 SHOE ON THE MARKET
TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE
IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.
CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.
LYNCHBURG, VA.

BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED SALT BRICK.
The only GUARANTEED Tonic, Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator and Alder of Digestion for all stock. A SURE HIT ON WORMS AND SURE DEATH TO TICKS. No dosing, no drenching and no waste of feed. Your horse his own doctor. Endorsed by thousands. Free descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc on application. Sold by all dealers at 25c each, or will send direct, one case, two dozen, all charges paid for $5.00. Money refunded if not satisfied
Address
BLACKMAN STOCK REMEDY CO.,
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.
Mention this Paper. Special price to dealers.

"TO LADIES ONLY."
If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.
Address MRS. J. M. TURNER,
Box 27, Monroe, Ga.

LOW RATES
—TO—
CALIFORNIA and NORTHWEST
FRISCO SYSTEM
WILL SELL DAILY
Between Sept. 15th and Nov. 30th, 1903,
LOW RATE COLONIST TICKETS to points in . . .
Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.
SHORT LINE, QUICK TIME, NO BUS TRANSFERS, FREE RECLINING CHAIR-CARS...
For rates, schedules, maps and full information, write to
F. E. CLARK, W. T. SAUNDERS,
Trav. Pass. Ag't. Gen. Ag't Pass. Dep't
ATLANTA, GA.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

In effect January 11th, 1904.

This condensed schedule is published as information and is subject to change without notice to the public.

TRAINS LEAVE RALEIGH, N. C.

2.00 a. m. No. 111 daily for Greensboro and local points. Carries Pullman sleeper Raleigh to Greensboro, open for occupancy at 9 p. m., connecting at Greensboro with train No. 35, "Florida Express," for Charlotte, Columbia, Savannah, Jacksonville. No. 37, "Washington and Southwestern Limited," solid Pullman train, drawing-room sleepers, New York to New Orleans and Memphis; connection is also made for Winston-Salem, Wilkesboro, Danville, and local stations.

5.25 a. m. No. 112 daily for Goldsboro and local stations; connecting at Goldsboro with Atlantic Coast Line for Wilmington, N. C., Wilson, N. C., Tarboro, N. C., Norfolk, Va., and intermediate stations; also, at Goldsboro with Atlantic and North Carolina Railway for Kinston, N. C., New Bern, N. C., and intermediate stations.

8:40 a. m. No. 107, daily for Greensboro and local stations; connects at Durham for Oxford, Henderson, Kayville and Richmond. At University Station for Chapel Hill, daily except Sunday. At Greensboro with train No. 34, "U. S. Fast Mail," for Washington and all points North; Pullman drawing-room sleepers to New York and Richmond. Close connection for Winston-Salem, Mocksville, and local stations, with train No. 7 for High Point, Salisbury, Charlotte and local stations.

10:20 a. m. No. 108, daily for Goldsboro and all local points; connects at Selma for Wilson, Rocky Mount and all Eastern North Carolina points. At Goldsboro for Wilmington, Kinston, New Bern, N. C., and Norfolk, Va., where close connection is made with Chesapeake Line for Baltimore and all other outgoing steamers.

3:25 p. m. No. 135, daily for Greensboro and intermediate stations; connects at Durham for Oxford, Clarksville, Kayville, daily except Sunday. At University Station for Chapel Hill, daily except Sunday. At Greensboro with train No. 29 for Columbia, Augusta, Savannah, Charleston, Jacksonville. Pullman sleeper and first-class coaches Washington to Jacksonville, Fla. No. 36, "U. S. Fast Mail," for Atlanta and all points South and Southwest. Pullman drawing-room sleepers to Birmingham and New Orleans; day coaches Washington to New Orleans, also with north-bound trains Nos. 34 and 36 for Washington, and all points North. Pullman drawing-room sleepers and observation car to New York; connection is also made at Greensboro for Winston-Salem and at Salisbury to Memphis.

4:50 p. m. No. 136, daily for Goldsboro and local stations.

C. H. ACKERT,
General Manager.
W. A. TURK,
Pass. Traf. Manager.
S. H. HARDWICK,
G. P. A., Washington, D. C.
E. L. VERNON,
T. P. A., Charlotte, N. C.
T. B. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Office in Yarborough House Building, Raleigh, N. C.

McClure's for April.

McClure's for April is fairly stunning in its effect. The first of a series of articles on "The Enemies of the Republic," by Lincoln Steffens which will consider the misgovernment of States, takes up Missouri and gives the reader a shock he will not soon forget. It is almost paralyzing in its relentless array of fact and logic concerning corruption as a custom, a system, a revolution in government. It is the bribe-giver, not the bribe-taker, who is really responsible for the bad government, Mr. Steffens points out. The successful business man, the captain of industry is the man to catch, and Mr. Steffens proceeds to catch him. In graphic, fearless words he tells the story of corruption's work and rule in Missouri, of the barter of public interest to the great trusts by the people's servants, of the big business men who buy and the politicians who sell a people's rights, their very government itself. Mr. Steffens' article is more than startling, it is staggering in its frank uncovering of the plain but alarming truth.

Ida M. Tarbell follows close with an account of the alleged "Breaking up of the Trust" in her "History of the Standard Oil Company." She gives the results of legislative investigations and court proceedings against the Company which forced it into publicity and reorganization. John D. Rockefeller's testimony in these cases is described in such a manner as to present clearly his limitations both in ethics and humor. Miss Tarbell simply quotes Mr. Rockefeller. His own words fix and define him. As usual, Miss Tarbell deals only with the facts. They tell their own story and shape their own conclusion.

Thomas Nelson Page goes right to the heart of the Negro Problem and uncovers some of its "Difficulties and Fallacies" in his second paper on that subject. With intimate knowledge and clear insight he shows where both North and South made mistakes in their treatment of the problem. He describes the changed relations between the two races in the South due to these mistakes, born largely of the ignorance of each section of the conditions and temper of the other. Mr. Page sweeps away both the vain theories of the doctrinaire and the narrow prejudices of the provincial with one free, strong stroke.

North Carolina Brotherhood.

List of laymen who have paid up to date in the North Carolina Conference Brotherhood:

W. R. Allen, T. M. Anderson, Col. J. F. Benton, Mrs. Clara Branson, J. G. Brown, Rev. P. M. Briggs, E. B. Borden, J. J. Baxter, Dr. R. S. Baynes, M. J. Best, Edwin Borden, T. H. Best, Gen. J. S. Carr, Mrs. J. S. Carr, W. B. Cooper, C. C. Covington, W. H. Borden, F. A. Daniels, C. Dewey, E. A. Darden, Joseph Daniels, Z. W. Evans, Etta H. Evans, J. B. Egerton, A. B. Ellington, Mrs. Alfred Forbes, Miss Blanch Fentress, C. D. Ford, T. A. Green, J. W. Goodson, T. J. Gill, W. H. Humphrey, Dr. J. I. Hanmaker, L. Harvey, T. R. Hood, E. J. Holt, M. H. Hughes, G. E. Harris, T. W. Horne, A. J. Hester, G. D. Hawks, T. J. Hackney, J. C. Hadley, B. S. Jerman, Mrs. F. G. James, B. F. King, J. A. Long, T. C. and J. W. Leak, W. C. Leak, Mrs. R. W. LeGrand, H. B. Mayo, O. C. Moment, E. B. Moore, Y. T. Ormond, A. H. Page, W. L. Parsons, H. A. Page, J. H. Southgate, L. G. Roper, C. G. Smith, W. F. Steed, W. E. Springer, Mrs. M. Jessie Simpson, Z. E. Smith, J. D. Spiers, T. R. Robinson, Miss Lota Lee Troy, F. Ulrick, J. B. Troy, J. Bedford Thompson, B. G. Thompson, J. B. Walker, J. E. White, G. W. Whitfield, S. L. Whitmore, Mrs. F. L. Wall, C. S. Wallace, R. P. Watson, J. K. Willis.

D. H. TUTTLE,
Treasurer.

Hell is both sides of the tomb.—C. H. Parkhurst.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Anton Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

NOW DEPOSITED IN THE BANK
$75,000.00
IN CASH GIVEN AWAY.

To arouse interest in, and to advertise the GREAT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR, this enormous sum will be distributed. Full information will be sent you ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address on a postal card and we will send you full particulars.

World's Fair Contest Co.,
108 N. 8th Street,
St. Louis, Mo.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

DEAR MADAM: Please Read My Free Offer

Words of Wisdom to Sufferers from a Lady of Notre Dame, Indiana.

I send free of charge to every sufferer this great Woman Remedy, with full instructions, description of my past sufferings and how I permanently cured myself.

You Can Cure Yourself at Home Without the Aid of a Physician.

It costs nothing to try this remedy once, and if you desire to continue its use, it will cost you only twelve cents a week. It does not interfere with your work or occupation. I have nothing to sell. Tell other sufferers of it; that is all I ask. It cures everybody, young or old.

If you feel bearing down pains as from approaching danger, pain in the back and bowels, creeping feeling in the spine, a desire to cry, hot flashes and faintness, or if you are suffering from any so-called female complaint, then write to Mrs. M. Summers, Notre Dame, Ind., for her free treatment and full instructions. Like myself thousands have been cured by it. I send it in a plain envelope.

Mothers and Daughters will learn of a simple family remedy, which quickly and thoroughly cures female complaints of every nature. It saves worry and expense and the unpleasantness of having to reveal your condition to others. Vigor, health and happiness result from its use.

Wherever you live I can refer you to well-known ladies in your neighborhood, who know, and will testify that this family remedy cures all troubles peculiar to their sex, strengthens the whole system and makes healthy and strong women. Write to-day, as this offer may not be made again.

MRS. M. SUMMERS, BOX 233, NOTRE DAME, IND., U. S. A.

King's Business College
(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

STATEMENT
The Phoenix Insurance Company,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$2,000,000.00
Amount ledger assets December 31st previous year	4,753,612.04
Income—from policy-holders, $3,551,867.23; miscellaneous, $254,844.38; total	3,806,711.61
Disbursements—to policy-holders, $1,632,282.24; miscellaneous, $1,591,783.07; total	3,224,065.31
Fire Risks—written or renewed during year, $484,465,649; in force	513,914,648.00

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	351,442.65
Mortgage loans on real estate	102,449.25
Loans on stocks, bonds and other collaterals	81,000.00
Value of bonds and stocks	5,129,697.00
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	419,537.10
Agents' balances, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	320,264.76
Agents' balances, representing business written prior to October 1, 1903	1,473.31
Premiums unpaid	404,551.32
Interest and rents due and accrued	54,579.04
All other assets, detailed in statement	1,907.00
Total	6,866,901.43
Less assets, not admitted	13,240.14
Total admitted assets	6,853,661.29

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$295,798.95
Unearned premiums	2,750,668.49
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	126,177.32
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	3,272,644.76
Capital paid up in cash	2,000,000.00
Surplus	1,581,016.53
Total liabilities	6,853,661.29

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fire risks written, $2,615,667.00; premiums received, $23,043.85.
Losses incurred—fire, $6,936.77; paid, $11,192.76.
Now unpaid, $246.46.

President, D. W. C. Skilton; secretary, Edward Milligan; Home Office, No. 64 Pearl Street, Hartford, Conn.; general agent for service, W. S. Primrose, Raleigh, N. C.; business manager for North Carolina, Maj. J. S. Raine, Atlanta, Ga.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, N. C., March 23, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Phoenix Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., filed with this department, showing the condition of said company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.
JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE

Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

Organ of the North Carolina Conference

Fiftieth Year | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1904. | Number 11.

REV. J. E. UNDERWOOD,
PRESIDING ELDER ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT,
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT EDITION.

CATCHEL & MANNING PRINTERS

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

REV. J. E. UNDERWOOD, P. E.

The district was organized at the session of the North Carolina Conference held in Durham in December 1894, and is composed largely of the territory transferred from the Virginia Conference in May, 1894. The district contains twenty pastoral charges, embraced in the following counties, viz.: Gates, Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, Dare, Tyrrell, Washington, and Beaufort. Substantial progress has been made since the organization of the district, as is evidenced by the following statistics:

In 1895, the district reported $11,366.29 raised for the support of the ministry; in 1903, $13,452.47 was raised for the same purpose. In 1895, $2,014.55 was raised for missions; in 1903, $3,175.47. The value of churches has increased from $87,425, in 1895, to $115,930, as per report of 1903.

In 1895, there were enrolled in the Sunday-schools of the district 4,901, including officers and teachers; in 1903, the enrollment was 6,844.

Three thousand and eighty-four have been received into the church on profession of faith since the district has been organized—a little more than 40 per cent of the present membership.

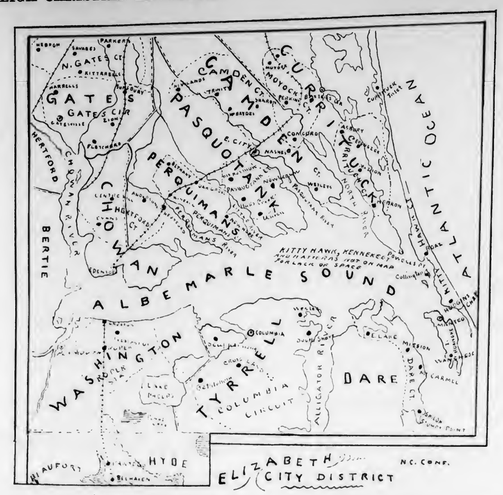
While the above figures indicate progress—progress quite equal to that of any district in the Conference—we are sure that it ought to have been much greater. A few thousand dollars have been contributed to missions. Many thousands have been expended for needless self-indulgences. More than three thousand have been converted; but many times that number have died without a saving knowledge of Christ, and have gone out into an eternity that is rayless and hopeless. That many who have been lost might have been saved if the church had measured up to its responsibility, there can be no doubt.

Let us repent of our past unfaithfulness and seek the baptism of the Holy Spirit, that we may be equipped for our God-given work. We cannot afford to be satisfied with the meagre results of our past efforts. We must reach the people who are perishing for the bread of life. As pastors, we need to come into personal contact with those who do not attend our churches, and the only way to do this is to go into their homes, and, like Paul, "warn every one night and day with tears." (See Acts 20:31.) I know this is difficult work, and much self-sacrifice is involved in it, but it is the work in which the Master delighted, and into which He calls His followers, giving them the promise of His own blessed presence. But the responsibility of this work is not on the preachers alone. There is much work that must be done by the laity. Our Sunday-schools are languishing for the want of consecrated teachers. In almost every Quarterly Conference I hear the cry, "We need teachers." I appeal to the men and women of our church who love the Lord to give themselves to this work and prepare themselves "as workmen who need not to be ashamed."

And then, we have many destitute places where Sunday-schools and prayer-meetings ought to be established. We sing—

"I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord,
Over mountain or plain, or sea;
I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord,
I'll be what you want me to be."

And the Lord is saying: "Whom shall I send." How few of us respond, "Here am I, send me."



Mission Work in Elizabeth City District.

REV. F. L. CHURCH, PERQUIMANS CT.

"Thou art old and stricken in years, and there remaineth yet very much land to be possessed."—Joshua 13:1.

Our very age in this territory should stir us to greater zeal and activity. Joshua had but few years left to take Canaan for the Lord. How much longer shall we expect God to give us to take this field for Him? Will we let this generation pass without having fulfilled our mission?

The Hittite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, etc., are still here in large measure. Shall we sit still and say we have enough; when God says, "Go ye out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come"?

But this is a difficult task you say. So it is. But what did Christ do, and suffer for poor fallen man? If Christ tasted death for every man, should we not bestir ourselves to bring every man to accept this Christ?

How may this be done?

First of all, have a message fresh and full from God's word, and it so filled and enriched by the Holy Ghost that it will attract and hold men. Some will not yield to that, "Go out"—search for them in their homes, fields, shops, stores, anywhere, everywhere. Pray with them, encourage them to come to places of worship.

Let us visit every unsaved home in the District this year, give a pressing invitation to Sunday-school and all the church services; assuring them of a hearty welcome by the church. But we may not be able to reach every family, they are numerous and we are busy. Search for remote or neglected communities, secure a place for a night, or a Sunday afternoon service, at a private house, school house, hall, any place, to call the folks together and have the glorious privilege to break the bread of life to the starving poor.

Organize settlement prayermeetings and Sunday-schools wherever at all possible. And there are not a few places in our District where we ought to push the conquest further and hold regular monthly services in mid week on nights, then a protracted meeting, organize a church and build a house, to the honor of our King and the salvation of the community. Let us search for these places, they are here, many of them, too.

But I am overworked, I hear you say. More of us preachers die of over-eating than over work. Who of us come in even hearing distance of the founder of our branch of the Christian Church, or Asbury, Whitfield or our early pioneer preachers.

They lived as long as we do, in this day.

But is there need of such strenuous work now? Are the people all saved? is our church doing all she can to foster and cultivate her members for high and efficient work? If so your question is answered, otherwise it is not.

But the laity has a large share in this home evangelization, get our members interested in our Lord's Kingdom, its enlargement and enrichment. Lay out work for them to do, old, young, male and female.

The church is God's working force, the world is the field to garner in.

Once engaged in this work our people become happy and energetic, influential and active for the Lord.

All, all God's people are interested in this great work.

Let us hie to the fields already ripe unto the harvest, and gather sheaves.

"And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal."

Monument Erected at Fort Raleigh, Roanoke Island, Birthplace of Virginia Dare, America's First English Child.

How Can We Make Our Sunday Schools a Greater Power for Good?

BY REV. W. F. CRAVEN, ROPER STATION.

I would answer first, by the co-operation of pastors, Superintendents, teachers and parents. The last-named is not the least important.

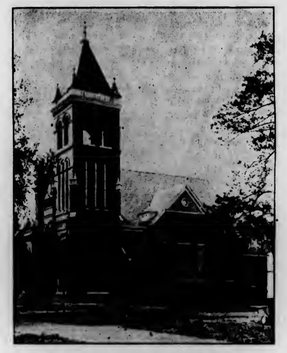
Since the beginning of the modern Sunday-school movement, which has been contemporary with the modern missionary movement, there have been steady gains, until the life and usefulness of a church today is largely measured by what she is doing in the Sunday-schools. A large part of Bible instruction has been turned over to the Sunday-school. The work of the teacher is becoming a life work, and the faithful man or woman in this department is taking stand alongside the ministry of the gospel preacher. The end and aim of each is soul-saving. Yet there is imperative need for much greater improvement. The work of Superintendent and teacher has been largely haphazarded. The schools must have an executive head. The class must have a consecrated, punctual teacher who comes every time with head and heart full. Picked-up teachers are unprepared. The use of the lesson paper in the class is as awkward and inexcusable as manuscript in the pulpit. It is much more so. "Study to show thyself approved, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." Dr. J. H. Vincent, now Bishop, said in 1865: "The teacher needs teaching. The obscure school has its ingenious and successful Superintendent and teacher who devise practical plans. Other schools need their suggestions." The same is still true. Not one of us should fail to keep up with Dr. Atkins and Dr. Hamill in the columns of our Sunday-school Magazine. Look out for Dr. and Mrs. Hamill's appointment at Elizabeth City in June. I venture this will prove an awakening in our District if well attended. "Let no guilty one escape!"

Local unions and circuit conferences have often been stimulating and very helpful. More libraries and other good literature ought to be used generally. Maps and charts and blackboards are an equipment that all our schools should have and use.

I have asked some of our practical Sunday-school men recently: How can our schools increase their power for good?

One of our superintendents says. Let every school organize into a missionary society and every one support or help support an orphan. Surely nothing could be more appropriate or produce better results. This spirit was in the very beginning of the modern Sunday-school movement. Robert Raikes in Gloucester, England, in 1781, and Hannah Ball, a Methodist woman in 1769, were touched with compassion for the neglected street urchins around them, and began to organize and instruct them. In 1785 John Wesley endorsed Mr. Raikes' work, and exhorted his people to adopt it. In 1786 Asbury introduced Sunday-schools into his work in America. It has been a marked feature of Methodism ever since. It is "Christianity in earnest." Let no school neglect it. There are so many around us untaught, perishing in sin. In the nine counties covering the territory of our district there are 14,367 young people, white between the ages of six and twenty-one years. In our Methodist Sunday-schools only 6,100 persons, young and old, were enrolled last year. Of these, more than 2,000 were absent a good part of the time. Making reasonable allowance for all embraced in other schools, it is evident that hundreds and hundreds at our doors are being neglected by us, and God has committed them to our charge.

I asked one of our teachers recently: "How can we increase our power for good?" He very readily answered: "By doing some personal work." This was a wise answer. How seldom is any inquiry made after an absentee! The farmer cares more than this for his hogs! We are guilty of fearful failure here. One of the very best schools I have ever known had a fine system of personal work. Every absent member was seen by the superintendent or a teacher soon as possible after the day of absence. The result was a steady high average of attendance. This plan of personal investigation had heart-searching in it also. The religious and spiritual life of their scholars was made an object of inquiry and of prayer. A few moments of silent prayer for God's blessing on his word and for the conversion of souls was spent in every opening service. To be in that school was to be under the power of God. "And the Lord added to the church continually such as were being saved."



City Road Methodist Church, Elizabeth City, N. C.

How I wish for such a school in every church and community!

As a final word, let me appeal to every father and mother to help in the great work. Yours is the most valuable help. Help in the preparation of the lesson and the study of the Bible. Help in the personal work and the attendance. Help with your prayers.

The Place of Money in the Work of Missions.

REV. H. M. JACKSON, PANTEGO AND BELHAVEN.

The place of money in the evangelization of the world is so prominent that the result cannot be accomplished without it as a prime factor. This finds support in the declaration of the Apostle Paul. Rom. 10:14,15. "And how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach except they be sent?" The divine plan is to place the power and ability in the hands of the few that the few may run with the blessing to the many. He said: "Give ye them to eat." The few were to feed the thousands. Today it is the same; the few believers are commanded to feed with the bread of life the 800,000,000 of souls who know not the Lord of life. Narrow minded men, men who cavil and desire to pose as smart, may wonder that it takes money to bring the Gospel of salvation to the vast outlying millions; but it is even so. What God might have done we are not to be concerned about; but what He has done and what He proposes to do in the light of revelation and providence do concern us vitally.

The tardiness of missions in this day is due, not so much to hostility, not to barred entrances, nor to lack of men and women well equipped and eager to go and spend their lives for the glory of God; but it is due most largely to the inability of the church to lay her hands upon the great wealth that belongs to God, and use it for the extension of His kingdom. There lies the problem. I see no reason why God has placed the wealth of the world in the hands of the Christian nations but that it might be used to evangelize the portions of the world as yet sitting in the region and shadow of death. There are some things we can't do, and there are some things we can do, and for what we can do we are held to strict accountability. We can't redeem the world. That has been done. Christ did that at a fearful cost in blood and agony and death. "Christ redeemed the world and we are commanded to evangelize it." But what are we doing? Look at it. We are told it takes, upon an average, more than seven thousand Southern Methodist saints to support one missionary. I know of a church, not, however, a Methodist Church, in Eastern North Carolina, where they have enrolled six or seven hundred members, that contributed during the year 1903 the sum of ten dollars for Foreign Mission work! I venture the assertion that that same membership spend for tobacco in its various forms more than six thousand dollars during the same period. Some one has calculated that it takes more to support the pet dogs of the country by more than eleven millions of dollars than it does to support the Gospel among us. It is a thing of easy observation that many, very many so-called Christians spend infinitely more for sinful pleasures than they do for the Gospel, and then wonder why the Gospel travels so slowly. Glaring and sinful incongruities and inconsistencies lie all about us. Men talk more foolishly about the work of missions and their consequent relation to their money than they do about anything else. The uplifting of the heathen nations into the glory of Jesus Christ lies not with them, but with us to whom He has given graciously the opportunity, and here in we find our own salvation. Men and nations are saved not by what they have given to them, but by what they do with what has been given to them. He said: "And cast ye the unprofitable servant into utter darkness." Why? Not because he had received only one talent, but because of what he had done with it, or failed to do with it, which is the same thing. All gifts and blessings are given that they may be blessings to others.

"Shall we whose souls are lighted
With wisdom from on high,
Shall we to men benighted,
The lamp of life deny?
Salvation! O, salvation!
The joyful sound proclaim,
'Till earth's remotest nation,
Has learned Messiah's name."

But there is light in the darkness. There are some of God's people who are learning the relation they sustain to their gifts. To these God looks not in vain for co-operation in bringing in His kingdom. Let the faithful hold on to their faith, and take courage afresh: "And the stone that smote the image became a great mountain and filled the whole earth."

Euclid Heights Methodist Church, Elizabeth City, N. C.

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Doth his successive journeys run;
His kingdoms stretch from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more."

To this glorious consumation men are called to have a part. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

Behind every consecrated soul that feels the impulse to go in holy obedience to this command, God means there shall be one to furnish ways and means. How fearful will the call come to some of God's favored ones, when He shall say at last, "Give an account of thy stewardship." Will there be any to receive them into their habitations?

I think some one has said that the Methodist Church is on trial for her life. She has come to be in a short time the greatest religious force in the world. Our fathers labored and we have entered into their labors. May the God of all grace help us, who are the sons of so heroic an ancestry, enter also into their reward, the result of their supreme fidelity.

The Mode of Baptism.

BY REV. M. H. TUTTLE, HERTFORD CIRCUIT.

Water baptism, as a Christian rite instituted by our Saviour, has been, and is now, elevated in the ereeds of many sincere, honest people far above what God ever intended it to be. They confidently expect it to accomplish that which its Author did not design. These deluded ones, while they do not hold directly to the dogma of baptismal regeneration, teach those doctrines that are very closely connected with it. Now, at the very outset, we wish to say that water baptism is not regeneration, nor in any sense essential to it. For a man may be baptized with water, as was Simon Magus, and not be baptized of the Spirit; while, on the other hand, he may be baptized of the Spirit, as was Cornelius, and not be baptized with water. Water baptism is not, therefore, so necessary to salvation but that a man may be saved without it, if his lack of it be due to no fault or wilful neglect of his own. Though this be true, still baptism, as a divinely instituted ordinance, is highly important and essential to Christianity in general, as is everything else that is enjoined upon us by Christ. The obligation rests upon us, therefore, to receive Christian baptism. "It becometh us to fulfil all righteousness." (Matt. 3:15.)

Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Edenton, N. C.

But the point for discussion in this paper is not the obligation, the nature, the results, nor the subjects of baptism. We have to do at this time only with the mode—the manner in which Christ intended water baptism to be administered. Now, as no specific mode of baptism is anywhere indicated or prescribed in the Scriptures, sprinkling, pouring, and immersion, as merely different modes of performing the sacred rite, depend for their support, in the very nature of the case, upon inference and indirect testimony. It is a fact capable of fullest proof that the general command to baptize has no direct reference to mode at all. It is clear that the word to baptize, in its Bible use, does not primarily mean to sprinkle, to pour, or to immerse, but to purify; and the manner by which this is effected is not at all important. The command in the "Great Commission" is not to sprinkle, to pour, or immerse, but to purify with water; and whether this be done by sprinkling, pouring, or immersion, the command of Christ is obeyed. In John 3:25, it is said: "There arose a question between some of John's disciples and the Jews about purifying"—that is, as the context shows, about baptizing. The word designating the ritual effects of baptism is here used to designate baptism itself.

On one side of this subject it is urged that immersion is the only proper mode of baptism, while on the other, sprinkling or pouring is contended for, and believed to be more in harmony with the Scriptures, more convenient and impressive in its administration, and more illustrative of the baptism of the Holy Spirit, which it is evidently intended to represent. We regard immersion as a clumsy, inconvenient mode of administering the sacred rite; but allow its validity, as no specific mode is directly prescribed to the exclusion of all others. We are not so much opposed to baptism by immersion as we are to that spirit of narrowness which says: "You shall receive it in this way or not at all." The question then with us is not whether immersion be baptism, but whether it be the only baptism.

The main point in this investigation is to find out what is the meaning of the word baptize in its Bible use. This will settle the whole matter. We, of course, in an article like this, have no time to consider its classic meaning. This is not at all material or important. Though it may be clearly shown that the word, as used in the best ancient literature, means to sprinkle or pour, as well as to immerse. But its Bible meaning is all that directly concerns us in this discussion.

Now it is a universal rule, that the correct definition of a word will always make good sense when substituted in place of the word defined. All who know anything about the right use of language will accept this as a correct rule. Therefore, if the word baptize always means immerse, then immerse will always make good sense when substituted for baptize. Let us try it and see how this will work. "I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance; but He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire." (Matt. 3:11.) Now change the terms thus: "I indeed immerse you with water; but He shall immerse you with the Holy Ghost, and immerse you with fire." The senselessness of such a construction as this is at once apparent to all. It needs no comment. When we read of people receiving the Holy Ghost, and the fire of God's love, or having them poured out; or sprinkled upon them, we understand the language; but when we read of people being immersed in them, we cannot understand it, neither can immersionists understand such wild figures as these.

Again, in 1 Cor. 10:1, 2, we read: "Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea; and were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea." To say that our fathers were all immersed into Moses would be senseless; but still immersionists say they were all immersed into Moses. If so, then he was more pregnant with Jews than the man was with devils in whom they cried out, "Our name is legion for we are many." On turning to the account of this baptism of our fathers, as recorded by Moses in the 14th chapter of Ex., we find that the Israelites crossed the sea on dry land. "And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the Lord caused the sea to go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. And the children of Israel went into the sea upon the dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left." Hence the notion that the children of Israel were to immerse; for if it did, then it would follow that the Pharisees were immersed before each meal, and that they immersed all their tables, couches, vessels and furniture. This is out of the question. It is folly to suppose that the Pharisees were immersed before each meal, and that they likewise immersed all their furniture. We dismiss such a preposterous idea at once. What, then, did they do? They simply purified or ceremoniously cleansed themselves and all their household furnishings by the ritualistic sprinkling or pouring of water, "after the manner of the Jews purifying." There can be no doubt but that these ceremonial cleansings by the Pharisees of themselves and their furniture, like the "divers washings" mentioned by Saint Paul in Hebrews 9:10, were always performed by sprinkling or pouring. The purifyings or "divers washings" of the Jews were not by immersion, but by sprinkling or affusion. The word baptize, therefore, in this important passage is used in the sense of sprinkling or pouring. There is no possible escape from this conclusion.

(To be Continued.)

Paul as a Missionary.

BY REV. D. H. TUTTLE.

Paul was by both natural and spiritual birth a missionary. By the former birth a zealous missionary of the ceremonial law as given by Moses, and as such a missionary was on his way to Damascus with authority to put to death those who had found him of whom Moses and the prophets had written when he himself had "the revelation of Jesus Christ." (see Gal. 1:12), and being born from above was at once made a missionary of the new and better covenant—the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The same man, with the same natural endowments, and active spirit of movement, but with a new objective vision that filled his entire being with a divine enthusiasm that swept him forward in adoring service till physical strength being spent, we find him taking pleasure in infirmities, and glorying in weakness because weakness became the seat of divine power in perfect action. Then our study shall be of Paul, the first missionary to the heathen. And,

I. God's birth-purpose for Paul was that he should be a missionary: He says: It pleased God who separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by His grace, to reveal His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the heathen. From this Scripture take two thoughts.

Scene at South Mills, N. C. Locks of the Dismal Swamp Canal.

1. Paul fell in line with God's purpose for him, was blessed and became a blessing. Have you done so? Will you be blessed or be a blessing if you do not?

2. We see here God's disposition toward the heathen. He purposes to give them the gospel. What is your purpose? If your purpose is not in line with God's who must change?

II. Place and times of Christ's revelation to Paul. On the way to Damascus. Time, about "noon-day." Acts 9:1-6. Do you know the time and place of Christ's revelation to yourself? Clearness in these things will carry with it clearness as to kind of service God would have you render to Him.

III. Paul's Credentials.

1. As to place of service. "To bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and children of Israel." Acts 9:15,16. Paul seemed to hesitate after these words from God through Ananias, and it came to pass at Jerusalem while Paul prayed and was in a trance the Lord said: "Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem, for they will not receive thy testimony. Depart for I will send thee far hence unto the Gentiles." Acts 22:17 18 and 21. Does this intimate that then and there immersed is worse than absurd. In what way then were they baptized? you may ask. Let the Psalmist, in the 77th Psalm, answer this question. He has left us a plain description of the mode of this baptism. He says that "the clouds poured out water" upon the Israelites as they marched through the sea. This ought to set the matter at rest forever. For the clouds pouring out, or sprinkling water upon the Israelites, is called baptism by Paul. The Israelites were certainly not immersed; but there was a big immersion shortly after this. Pharoah and his hosts were beyond question immersed, but they were not baptized that we ever read of. Here it is clearly shown that the word baptize is not used in the sense of immerse, for this baptism of the Israelites was by pouring.

Again, in Mark 7:4, we read of the Pharisees that "when they come from market, except they wash (baptize), they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing (baptizing) of cups and pots, brazen vessels, and of tables." Here the word in the original, which our translators have correctly translated by the term wash, is baptize. Therefore the Greek word baptize does not here mean

Paul was hesitating? That he loved in home work better than the "far hence" heathen land?

2. As to subject matter of His commission he was to "preach Christ and Him crucified" only. 1 Cor. 2:1,2. He was to "open their eyes"—turn them "from darkness to light." "From power of Satan unto God," that they have pardon, and "inheritance among them are sanctified by faith" in Christ. Acts 26:18. Paul honored his credentials by the high moral, and spiritual standard of his preaching. He lowered nowhere for nobody. 1 Cor. 1:30; Col. 1:28; 1 Thess. 5:23.

Methodist Church, Columbia, N. C.

IV. Paul being chosen of God was sent by the church at Antioch. Acts 13:12.

1. We should be careful to send only those who are thus divinely chosen, for these only can have divine guidance (see Acts 16:6-10), and also be divinely protected. Acts 18:9,10. The fact that God selects, directs, and protects our missionaries should greatly comfort and encourage the church at home.

2. The "other churches" helped to support Paul. 2 Cor. 11:8,9. He says: "I took 'wages' for service as a missionary. Independent or self-supporting missions may do well, but God's plan is for the church at home to send out the missionary and support him, thus holding the church at home and abroad in mutual bonds of love.

V. Paul's commission and personal knowledge of Christ made him a debtor to all men—"to the Greeks and to the Barbarians; to the wise and unwise." See Rom. 1:14. Our religion, like Paul's, must not be limited by racial lines or social conditions. It is to be feared that here in our fair Southland that political prejudices have made many of our people intolerant and uncharitable toward others, for whom Christ died. If God has bestowed more upon our noble Anglo-Saxon race than upon others, and I think that He has, thus He will expect more of us. From us as the stewards of God's best things must blessings divine be shared with all kindreds, tribes and tongues. The law of grace is that the stronger must aid the weaker; the wise must teach the ignorant, until he who made of "one blood all nations" (Acts 17:26), shall bring all nations back through the blood of one common Redeemer to the one everlasting kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. Think as you may, but this I say, God thinks far more of an honest negro, Indian or Chinaman than he does of a dishonest white man.

VI. Paul's devotedness to his work:

He said: "I count not my life dear unto myself." Acts 20: 23,24. Again he said: "I am crucified with Christ," etc. Herein he left an example that thousands of other noble spirits have followed, and are following. In the highest sense of the words, these are they who are "the light of the world," and the "salt of the earth." In the holy ranks of God's militant army the true missionary of the Pauline type holds the highest place, while those who support him have the next highest, and should enjoy the honor. O spirit of our God, breathe upon thy church now as in the olden time, selecting and sending forth missionaries, and begetting within thy people such enthusiasm of abiding self-denial as will yield support for all that have gone, and all that will go at thy call.

"There is nothing," says a more recent writer, "nothing that we do during the day which may not prove a help or hindrance in times of prayer. In reading, working, thinking, we are unconsciously training our minds for prayer."

Gates Circuit.

BY REV. T. J. DAILEY, P. C.

Gates Circuit embraces five churches with 547 members; nine added this year. The majority of our people are intelligent, liberal and spiritual. They love their pastor and thoughtfully look after his comforts.

We commenced a series of meetings at Gatesville on the 17th of March, which lasted for more than a week, and resulted in great good to the church. There were six accessions and several backsliders reclaimed. Rev. F. L. Church was with us five days and did some strong, convincing and uplifting preaching. He knows how to wield the sword of the Spirit with telling effect. He won us all to him, and did a work that will abide.

We have one Epworth League, three W. F. M. Societies, two W. H. M. Societies, a Sunday-school at every church that runs the whole year, and a Missionary Society in each school.

The circuit has improved very much along all lines of church work since transferred to the North Carolina Conference. Indeed, there has been considerable development in all of this transferred territory, and at no time since the transfer has the progress been greater than at present. Our wise and progressive Presiding Elder knows how to bring things to pass. He is a hard worker himself, and has the tact to stimulate others to greater activity. It was predicted by those who opposed the transfer of the territory, that if it were transferred to the North Carolina Conference it would be served by the runts of the Conference, but some of the people say they have been served even better by the North Carolina runts than they were by the Virginia giraffes. All seem to be perfectly satisfied, and the church is moving forward. To God be all the praise.

North Gates Circuit.

BY REV. W. H. BROWN, P. C.

Four nice churches, two of them comparatively new, with all necessary furnishings and a good parsonage likewise well furnished, situated in the centre of the circuit, compose our charge.

The generality of our people are characterized by their deep love for the church. Their fellowman, and for God. They are easy to lead into the ways of the right, and the devil finds his mightiest forces insufficient when he attempts to lead them astray.

The pastor cannot find a better home at his own home than he can find in the homes of his members. He himself is very small but he sometimes almost wishes he could be separated into sections complete in themselves, in order that he might be able to spend a night with all who seem to sincerely desire him to do so.

Our one purpose is to keep the circuit a unit, feed the sheep, and garner in the sheaves. Our prospects are bright and encouraging and by the help of God we will accomplish our purpose. We ask the earnest prayers of the district.

Currituck Circuit.

REV. W. A. PILAND, P. C.

I have not written anything to you about my work in some time; so I will write you a few lines, that it may appear in the Special Edition of the Advocate for Elizabeth City District.

Some material work is being done on this charge. We are trying to lay a foundation that can safely be built upon; and hope to do a better work this year than we did last.

We reported everything paid in full at the last Annual Conference, for the first time in the history of Currituck Circuit. May the Lord help us to do better than this the present year.

Our first quarterly meeting was held March 5th and 6th. Brother Underwood, our Presiding Elder, was with us, and preached with power. The Stewards reported on pastor and Presiding Elder's salary, one hundred and twelve dollars and seventy-five cents; the best report made at first quarterly meeting, since I have been on the charge.

While the Lord is blessing us financially, we pray that the spiritual side will keep pace with financial matters.

By the time this appears in print we will have commenced work upon a new church, to cost about fifteen hundred dollars, which we expect to have paid for when completed. We are purchasing material to repair one of our churches, which will cost about three hundred dollars, and we have part of the lumber bought to build our parsonage; besides these, there are many other little things we expect to accomplish during the year.

I believe that Currituck Circuit, when developed, will make one of the best charges in the Conference.

We are praying for, and expecting large things this year. May the Lord help us to realize our expectations.

I am working for the Advocate.

Dr. C. L. Raper, Associate Professor of History in the University of North Carolina, a graduate of Trinity College, and at one time Professor in Greensboro Female College, has just issued through McMillan & Company, "North Carolina: A Study in English Colonial Government." The book is highly commended. The work will be noticed later in the columns of the Advocate.

My orders are to fight,
Then if I bleed and fail,
Or strongly win, what matters it?
God only doth prevail.
The servant craveth naught,
Except to serve with might;
I was not told to win or lose,
My orders are to fight.

—Ethelwyn Wetherald.

After a Day's Hunt on the Waters of Eastern North Carolina.

The Duty of the Young People to the Church.

BY S. B. UNDERWOOD.

That the young people of the present generation owe a duty to the church, no one will deny. If for a moment this is doubted, let the eye be cast over the array of earnest, active Christian workers and see what a vast majority of them are being bent by time, and how many heads are whitening under the frosts of many winters. Too often we look in vain for young hearts, strong in their youth and eager in their determination to live a life of service. We find them not, and oft the ranks are depleted by death and there is no one to fill the vacany.

Yes, the vast concourse is moving slowly but surely on their march to the final goal, and one by one the leaders are crossing over the unseen line, and those who were in the rear guard yesterday are to-day called to the front of the line. To-morrow they will be gone to their final reward. Must the work cease? Whence must come the leaders to take their places?

The answer to this question is obvious. If the work of the church is to be carried on in the coming years, it must be by those who are yet young in the service—the thousands of young people within our borders who must hear the call to true and faithful service and heed that call. We cannot afford to be negligent in the face of those urgent demands which are being made upon us. A life of ease and pleasure presents certain attractions to certain minds, but the highest enjoyment is in service—service that is "true-hearted, wholesome-hearted, faithful and loyal."

Let no young person think that he or she can escape from this duty which is upon us all. He who would not labor can hope for no reward. There is work for all, and no one can do your work or mine. There is a task for each, and each must do that task faithfully and well. There can be no slipping out to let the burden fall upon the shoulders of some one else. There can be no halting in cooling shades by the babbling brooks of indolence and inaction. We must act: "act in the living present." As the intellect brightens by use, so a man's spiritual nature is stirred and quickened by intelligent service, or atrophied by neglect and disuse. We cannot hope to avoid the conflict, and reap the rewards of labors that we have never performed. "I cannot praise," says Milton, "a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and sees her adversary, but slinks out of the race, where that immortal garland is to be run for, not without dust and heat.' Like all that emanated from this grand old Puritan of the seventeenth century, these words have a world of meaning for us of this present time. If Milton had been speaking directly to us in this year of grace, 1904, he could not have given an opinion of greater worth. In fact, there can be no cloistered virtue. Virtue inactive ceases to be virtue. A spiritual life that knows no service is dead, such a life is a cumberer of the ground.

Some of us cannot do much, our efforts may be circumscribed by conditions over which we have no control, but a small service done in the spirit of love and sacrifice becomes noble in the doing. Let us do our part, however small and unimportant it may seem to us, and be assured that if we have honestly done our best, all is well. There are no small things in the service of God. A simple act of faithfulness and truth becomes large in possibilities. It is a great thing to do any service for God and humanity. A deed small in finite minds is clothed in vast possibilities to the mind of the Infinite. Then let us do what we can gladly and with faithful hearts, and God will care for results.

Let us be satisfied that there is a duty; nay, there are duties devolving upon the young people; and let us not seek to evade them. There is no need to mention any specific duty. The Church of God is a field in which all who honestly seek it can find work to do. There is no reason why the young people should not perform any of the tasks which fall to the lot of the servants of the most high. The energy of youth coupled with the wisdom of old age and actuated by the spirit of God can capture this world and bind it to the very throne of God. If we can once get our eyes open to the fact that there is work to do there will be no trouble in finding work. And there will be no trouble in doing it if we go at it in the right spirit.

The future of the church rests with the coming generations. The past has been triumphant in its history. May the future be even more glorious in its aspirations and achievements.

The Influence of Religion in the Home.

BY REV. W. E. HOCUTT, P. C. CAMDEN CT.

This is a phrase frequently used; a topic much discussed. Yet we are unable to distinguish between religion in the home from religion in the work-shop, on the streets, in business, church or anywhere else. Religion is the same anywhere you find it. It does not fluctuate in value, nor change in its essence as a man goes from home to church, or from church to mingle in the social or business world. Hence, if a man is a Christian in church, he is also a Christian at home, and if his religion is laid aside in the vestibule of the church, as he passes out to his home, it is because the article is not genuine, and the possessor is a spiritual bankrupt. Therefore, the influence of religion in the home, practically the influence of religion in its broadest application to the business, social and spiritual life of man. From this view-point, its importance cannot be over-estimated.

First, the importance of religion in the home is equal to the importance of the salvation of your child, and the value of an immortal soul is a proposition that God himself has never undertaken to solve. He held the world in one hand and the soul in the other, compared their value, and threw the world down as worthless trash compared to the soul.

Do you ask why we compare the importance of religion in the home to the value of your child's soul? The answer is this: Your life, your precepts, your example in the home fixes the destiny of your child. Home religion is infectious as well as sin is, and if parents live godly lives and practice their profession in the home, it is sure to leave an impress upon the children that time cannot efface. But if the parents eat sour grapes the children's teeth will be set on edge. The saddest picture I have ever seen is an infant child in a godless home, rocked in the arms of a godless mother, to have its life and soul cursed and wrecked by the sins of its godless parents. What a blessing the family altar, the family Bible! Who of us can ever forget the soft touch of mother's hand upon the head, her sweet voice as she repeated the words for our baby tongues to lisp: "Now I lay me down to sleep?" How the memory of these Christian homes lingers with us. How such memories have steeled the arm for life's conflicts, none of us are able to tell.

Again, the religious life of the home sets the standard of the religious life of the church. Church life rises no higher than the home life of its membership. The church is a true thermometer of the spiritual atmosphere of the homes of its members. Show me a church whose members pray at home, read their Bibles at home, read their church papers, and live their religion seven days in the week, and I'll show you a church that is invincible in its influence and power for good. Revival fires burn brightly, souls are saved, collections are paid in full, and the church moves forward as a mighty conquering force that nothing can check. But show me a church whose members have no family altar except a brown jug, a Delineator and a pack of cards, and I'll show you a church that is dead. A dead church is a sad index to the homes of its members. It is as important, therefore, to have religion in the home as it is to have a church in the community in which you live. Good preaching, good singing, and a nice church building are all right in their places, but you can't have a church of power without the religion of Christ in the homes of its members.

I believer, however, that there are Christian homes where they do not have family prayers. Some good men are timid, some are neglectful, but where there is neglect of this duty, yea, privilege, there is leanness of spiritual life and power just as leanness follows a lack of food. No better legacy can a man leave his children than the memory of a family altar. Since prayer is essential to spiritual life, it might be made at least once a day with the family kneeling together.

Dare Circuit.

REV. WILLIAM TOWE, P. C.

Dare Circuit is situated in the western part of Dare County, and extends from East Lake, on the Alligator River, to Stumpy Point, on the Pamlico Sound, a distance of about forty-five miles. It embraces a somewhat narrow strip of land along Alligator River, Albemarle, Croatan and Pamlico Sounds. On the west of this is a deep swamp many miles in width.

There are three appointments—East Lake, Croatan, Stumpy Point, separated from each other by several miles of boggy land. Because of that, no roads have been built, therefore the pastor goes to his appointments by boat. Every three weeks he sails about ninety miles, that is, if the wind and the waves permit. At each point there is a good church worth $1,200. The parsonage is at Croatan, about the center of the Circuit, worth $500. All property is free from debt. There are 400 members, which will compare favorably with any in the Conference in their loyalty to the cause of the church.

At each appointment there is a Sunday-school in excellent condition. The attendance exceeds the church membership. It is no unusual sight to see the grand-parents and parents mingling with the children in this great work for Christ. Our people, as long as they are able to get to the house of God, don't get too old to learn about the "meek and lowly Jesus" in the Sunday-schools.

The regular services are usually well attended. The pastor don't have to do all the preaching, singing and praying. Many of the brethren are willing and able to help in the public worship.

The cloud of illiteracy which has hovered over us to a great extent in the past is breaking and drifting away. The beams of light have awakened our people to see their duty. Each district within the bounds of the Circuit has voted extra taxation to increase the terms of public schools. During last year one new school-house was built, and two more will be built at an early date. The attendance is greater than in the past.

We have two rural libraries which are developing our appetite for better food for thought.

Methodism has done much for this section. Each community is intensely Methodistic. Of about 420 members of the churches, 400 are Methodists.

Just a few years ago this Circuit was a part of a mission. Now it is self-supporting. It is a rare thing if it fails to pay all of its assessments in full.

Missionary Facts Gleaned from the District Secretary's Report, Elizabeth City District.

A. J. PARKER, SEC'Y.

Number of members in the District, 7,286; number members from whom contributions were solicited, 6,085; number of members from whom contributions were not solicited, 1,201; number members who contributed or subscribed, 4,464; number members who did not contribute or subscribe, 2,832; amount contributed by 4,464 members, $2,233.32; average per member, 50 cents; out of number approached 71 per cent contributed or subscribed; 71 per cent of 1,201 (number not approached) is, 852; 852 members at 50 cents each (loss). $426.00; number Sunday-schools in District, 71; number Sunday-schools organized into Missionary Societies, 45; number Sunday-schools not organized into Missionary Societies, 26; the 45 schools that were organized paid, $453.92; average per school, $6.55; loss from 26 unorganized schools, $170.30; number E. Leagues in District, 12; Moyock and Roper contributed, $38.46; loss from 10 Leagues who contributed nothing, $60.00; there are about 2,400 families in the District; number missionary periodicals taken, 302; City Road and Camden take 160; seven charges where none are taken.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C.
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Mrs. R. H. Whitaker, Secretary of the Raleigh District, requests us to say that Miss Blanch Fentress has sent her some circulars about the excursion rates to Elizabeth City. If the names of the delegates who expect to attend the Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City, April 20th, be sent to Mrs. Whitaker, she will send them these circulars, which will give them instruction about rates of travel, etc.

Dear Mrs. Dixon:—Just at the close of the fiscal year the Foreign Missionary Society of New Bern may be pardoned if they indulge in a little self-satisfaction, because of the fine showing of the annual report; and we feel it encumbent on us to give expression to our elation in the columns of the Advocate, and show what can be done by a comparatively few women, actuated by a spirit of self-sacrifice and earnest endeavor.

The attendance at the monthly meetings is usually good, and much interest is manifested. Our President has the faculty of stimulating the indifferent ones and prodding the lagging ones, until a fair average of united effort is developed.

A certain standard has been evolved in previous years, and to fall short of it engenders a feeling of inefficiency, tinged with humiliation. We are fortunate in having a good collector, and consequently have few arrears to report.

Last April the Silver Jubilee was celebrated, a doubly auspicious occasion, as it was also the anniversary of the organization of our Auxiliary. Several ladies read papers of much merit, and the annual report was most interesting. The Week of Prayer was observed as usual, services being held each afternoon, and tended to much spiritual upbuilding. The Thank-offering, so appropriate for this Thanksgiving season, was liberal, sixty dollars being raised.

Many practiced self-denial, and abandoned some personal gratification in order to swell the treasury of the Lord.

We do not confine ourselves to dry business details exclusively, but bloom out in a social way annually. Generally at the conclusion of the week of prayer, a reception is held, and each member is allowed the privilege of inviting a friend.

Last month at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Munger, a most enjoyable evening was passed. The rooms were most tastefully decorated, the drawing room in which the President and officers received their guests was gorgeous in the Chinese colors, yellow and red. A canopy of crepe paper was suspended from the center of the sides of the room, and numerous lanterns, flags, fans and parasols added to the general effect.

A program was prepared which included the reading of several papers relative to the work, which were most instructive, an address of welcome by the President, and appropriate music by the choir.

The refreshments were of a high order, and temptingly served. The mite boxes were heavy with the voluntary offerings, and notwithstanding the evening was inclement, over thirty dollars were collected.

Our Society numbers ninety-four, of which twelve are life members; but at our last meeting six ladies pledged themselves to bring a new member next month, which will bring us to the long-coveted one hundred.

The whole amount raised during this year was $233.29. In addition to this our ladies agreed to give $1,000 to the new church now being erected, and in which the most intense interest is centered. We have already paid in $500 of this, making a total of $733.29 raised this year.

We feel that we have just cause for self-congratulation, and we hope that our good showing may prove a stimulus to other zealous co-workers for the Master.

Yours in the work,
MRS. R. P. WILLIAMS,
Corresponding Secretary.

Dear Jewels:—I want you to share with me the pleasure of the very fine report from the Juvenile work for the past year. It is the very best we have had for several years, especially the Pledge, and I do so much appreciate your promptness in responding to my request with regard to it.

Let us all thank God and take courage to go on and do still greater things the coming year.

The Rocky Mount Band has raised the largest amount during the year—$100.00—and will receive the beautiful Chinese banner presented by little Elizabeth Fram a few years ago.

Trinity Church, Durham, has had the largest increase in membership—38—and will receive the Brazilian flag offered by Miss Pescud at the last Annual Meeting.

On Sunday afternoon of our approaching Annual Meeting, Rev. W. B. Lee and Miss Pescud will address the Bright Jewels.

Hoping that many of you may be there to enjoy the rich treat,

Lovingly,

AUNT LIZZIE.

First Methodist Church, Elizabeth City, N. C.

CONFESSIONS OF A PRIEST.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to MRS. R. O. BURTON, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

The W. H. M. S. in the Elizabeth City District.

A large portion of the history of all Christian endeavor is of such a nature as to be properly called unwritten history. The labors and prayers of God's children are often unknown to all but Him. The establishment of any department of church work is always attended with discouragements, more or less. The pioneers in all ages have been compelled to lead what we now term "the strenuous life."

The history of the Woman's Home Missionary Society on the Elizabeth City District has been a record of work and prayer; of success and failure; of faith and hope and love. The first auxiliary established since the reorganization of the Society in our Conference was at Gatesville by our faithful District Secretary Mrs. C. P. Jerome. Shortly afterward the Sunbury Auxiliary was organized. This was near the beginning of the fiscal year 1901.

In the early part of 1902, an adult and a Juvenile Auxiliary were formed at Hertford and an adult at South Mills by another faithful District Secretary, Mrs. S. I. Harrell.

The Auxiliary of the First Church, Elizabeth City, began its history with the fiscal year 1902. City Road (Elizabeth City), Roper and Belhaven were organized in 1903, and Winfall began with the present fiscal year. These Auxiliaries are the result of the labors and prayers of a few faithful women in a few years.

They have not always received that support and co-operation that they had a right to expect for so worthy a cause.

None of them are what we would term large or enthusiastic, but many of them are doing faithful work.

The great need of the District is leaders—consecrated and intelligent leaders—who, like the Macedonians of old, are willing to give themselves to the work of the Master.

We are by no means content with the record we have made. "A society in every church, and every woman a member," should be our hope and aim. We have been fortunate in securing Mrs. C. W. Hollowell as our standard-bearer for the District.

MRS. J. E. UNDERWOOD.

Leading Auxiliaries in the Fourth Quarter.

New Bern sent largest amount to Conference Treasurer, $160.99.

New Bern also added most names to Baby Roll—fifteen.

Wilmington gained most new members—twenty-four.

Fremont, numbering twenty-two members, reported best average attendance—sixteen.

Henderson made her first report—a most excellent one—and Weldon, as usual, made a very fine one.

May the good records continue, each member striving faithfully to give her best services to her heavenly King.

Elizabeth City District, Our Banner District.

"Honor to whom honor is due!" We joyfully accord to Elizabeth City the well-deserved honor of being our Banner District. May her zealous and faithful laborers see her ten Auxiliaries increased to one hundred!

I feel that our gifted President's communication will make many hearts glow with admiration and enthusiasm.

Annual Meeting, April 27 to May 2.

I shall see to it that no one forgets the time of our ingathering of facts and figures and fancies. I trust no Auxiliary will fail to send a representative, and that names of all delegates and visitors have been forwarded to Mrs. N. E. Edgerton, Selma.

Our First New Auxiliary of the Fiscal Year—Main Street Church, Durham, N. C.

This is a delightful announcement, and we extend to the youngest member of our band an affectionate welcome. Especial commendation is due Mrs. S. I. Harrell, our industrious Secretary of the Durham District. This makes the fourth Auxiliary in our sister city and she should be warmly congratulated.

Let me introduce the officers:

President, Mrs. A. E. Angier.

First Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Stagg.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. M. T. Snead.

Third Vice-President, Mrs. C. W. Toms.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Roland.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. S. Christian.

Treasurer, Miss Sallie Brandon.

Agent of "Our Home," Miss Lillie Duke.

Mrs. Harrell writes: "We believe this Auxiliary will be a bright and shining light—it was born of prayer."

The Ministry of Prayer.

How often do we think of and pray for our leaders? Very much depends on them, and they are often almost too wearied to endure it all. Let us continually bear them up on the wings of feeling and fervent prayer. Let all the Auxiliaries unite as one voice in asking God's blessing on the meeting of the Board at Kansas City, April 15-23.

THERE IS A CURE

for every stomach trouble, including all forms of indigestion or dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach and flatulence in stomach and bowels. This remedy has never failed to cure the most distressing and stubborn cases.

This remedy will cure any case of constipation, to stay cured, so that you are free from that trouble in a week.

The name of this remarkable remedy is Vernal Palmettona (formerly known as Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine).

Any reader of the Raleigh Christian Advocate may have a small trial bottle of Vernal Palmettona sent free and prepaid by writing to Vernal Remedy Company, 538 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y. It cures catarrh of the stomach, flatulence, indigestion, constipation of the bowels, congestion of the kidneys, and inflammation of the bladder. One dose a day does the work quickly, thoroughly and permanently.

This remedy for sale by all leading druggists.

Seven hundred and forty-seven patients have been cared for in the Sibley Deaconess Hospital during the past year, about one-third of the work being free. The number exceeds that of last year by 156.

(1) Rev. W. A. Piland; (2) Rev. L. B. Jones; (3) Rev. W. E. Towe; (4) Rev. W. F. Galloway; (5) Rev. M. H. Tuttle; (6) Rev. D. H. Tuttle; (7) Rev. W. E. Hocutt; (8) Rev. J. L. Cuninggim; (9) Rev. W. H. Brown; (10) Rev. H. M. North; (11) Rev. W. F. Jones; (12) Rev. H. M. Jackson; (13) Rev. F. L. Church; (14) Rev. A. J. Parker; (15) Rev. C. L. Read; (16) Rev. W. F. Craven; (17) Rev. T. J. Dailey; (18) Rev. A. W. Price.

Full Collections in Elizabeth City District for 1904.

BY REV. A. J. PARKER, ROANOKE ISLAND.

In 1895 the Elizabeth City District appears in the Conference Journal for the first time. This, the youngest District in the Conference, stands at the head of the list. A place which it gained two years ago. During the nine years of its existence it has made wonderful progress. In 1895 it paid for missions, $2,014.55; in 1903, $3,175.17. Two years ago we paid our missionary assessment in full and made large gains on all the other collections. This is a distinction of which we feel proud, it being the first time so far as I know that any District in the old North Carolina Conference had ever done such a thing. Last year we improved on that record by raising enough money to pay all the collections in full,but by some means the surplus was not distributed as it was expected, so our missionary assessment was overpaid, while the other collections showed a slight deficit.

This year we must make another advance on all previous records. We want a clean sheet from every charge on every thing. We cannot afford to stop short of this mark. To do this means that a great effort must be made to utilize the unused material and latent forces. There are 7,286 members in the District. Of this number last year there were 2,832 who did not contribute or subscribe a penny to these collections. This number must be decreased. A conscience on Christian giving must be developed in this mighty army of Anti-Missionary Methodists. Of course we must preach and make public appeals; but experience has taught us if we would reach these we must search them out, have a face to face talk, and if possible get them on their knees with ourselves, and ask God to direct. In doing this we will strengthen our charges both spiritually and financially.

The 26 Sunday-schools that are not organized into Missionary Societies, as the discipline directs, must be harnessed for action. The Epworth Leagues, which have done almost exclusively local work, must be led into larger fields of usefulness.

The Old Raleigh, the assistant pastor, will be a powerful help if we will only give it a chance. Out of more than fifty subscribers on my charge last year, only three persons from those families who read the paper, failed to contribute something toward raising our collections. "Go Forward," ought to find its way into the 2,500 or more Methodist homes in our District that our people may be kept in close touch with the foreign fields. This, of course, means hard, persistent, systematic, intelligent work on the part of the pastors who are willing to undertake the task.

The pastor who is unwilling to do his best has no right to a place in our itinerancy. One man who is out of harmony and neglects or refuses to co-operate with the plans adopted, works untold damage and incurs a fearful responsibility. Success will be obtained only by united effort on the part of all. Knowing the men of this District as I do, I expect that when we meet in Henderson every charge will report a clean sheet on every thing.

During these nine years of the history of Elizabeth City District there have been raised for all purposes, $240,234.94; of this amount $18,255.55 was spent in missionary and other enterprises outside the District. The remainder, $221,969.39, was spent in the District. During this period we have to show for the labor done, the care of the church, and the reception on profession of faith of 3,284 members, an average cost of $67.65 each. We have made a net gain, according to the minutes, of 554; or to carry the analysis a step farther, it has taken the influence, work and faith of 20 average Methodists to lead one sinner a year to Christ. This part of our record we are ashamed of. May the Lord help us to change it this year.

The largest number of members received during any one year was 637 in 1902. This same year also shows the largest increase in our collections. Which means if we would reach men's pockets for the Master's cause, we must reach their consciences with gospel truth. We have thousands of men among us who have never known what is meant by "Deny thy self take up thy cross and follow me." Our Missionary Institute closed with a prayer for the baptism of the Holy Ghost upon every charge in the District this year. May it come with great power.

Manteo, N. C., March 25, 1904.

Pasquotank Circuit.

BY REV. W. F. JONES, P. C.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—With no little difficulty we have filled our regular preaching appointments with about one exception since Conference. The kindness and promptness of our people to their preacher and to their church has helped much in making the above stated record during such a winter as we have just passed.

Too much could hardly be said in praise of the people of this circuit for their willingness to attend church services and their kindness to their ministering servants—preachers of the gospel. If it snows, rains, freezes or blows the preacher may expect to find some one at the church awaiting the message of truth.

Strong evidences of their kindness to their preacher are being made almost every day by giving such things as are useful to the body in keeping it strong and able to bear up under the demands of the present day work. Their help in the way of sympathy and prayer is as abundant as I have ever found among any people. No one could help serving with all their might so hospitable a people as the people whom it has been our lot to serve the past year and over.

Every claim made by the Conference last year was cheerfully responded to with all collections overpaid and the work this year promises even larger returns.

The stewards met and increased the salary from $525 to $700, giving in addition to the salary the use of a splendid house on Eringhouse Street in Elizabeth City, N. C., which, of course, is the property of the circuit. We feel thankful for their good treatment and bestow our true sympathy and best work, in the name of Christ, as a high privilege upon these kind people.

Quite a number of our people take the Advocate, but there are homes within the bounds of this circuit into which the Advocate does not go. If these homes knew just how much loss it means to them, spiritually and educationally, certainly this state of affairs would not longer exist on the grounds of the "price" of the paper.

I believe that it will pay any Methodist preacher to send the church paper into every Methodist home on his charge if he has to pay the price out of his own salary; and I have about decided to do this. A preacher cannot possibly think up as many good thoughts as come in the paper from so many different thinkers to his people each week. Frequently I hear people say, "Did you see what Mr. So and So said in this week's Advocate?" This I take to be an evidence of the truth of the statements just written above.

Little hope of accomplishing any large amount of lasting good must be the portion of the man or woman, of to-day, who passes the world without acquiring much of such knowledge as may be gained by a careful study of the literature created by the church.

Methodist Mention

Bishop Wilson gives three lectures this week at Littleton Female College.

Our brethren will please remember that we are still behind in the publication of obituaries.

The Eleventh Annual Session of the North Carolina Sunday School Association will be held at Greensboro, April 26-29.

Ten members were received into the City Road Methodist Church (Elizabeth City) as a part of the visible results of the recent revival services held there.

Rev. D. H. Comann, of the Western North Carolina Conference, will assist Rev. R. A. Willis in a meeting at Lumberton, to begin the fifth Sunday in May.

The Raleigh District Conference will be held at Cary, and will embrace the first Sunday in July. The Conference will convene on the preceding Thursday.

Rev. J. M. Culbreth reports a good meeting at Epworth. Quite a number of professions so far. Brother Culbreth is preparing to build a new church, near Raleigh, out of old Tucker's Grove Church.

We appreciate an invitation to attend the Founder's Day Reception to be given at Converse College on April 21 in honor of Governor C. B. Aycock, and Governor D. C. Heywood of South Carolina.

We are indebted to Rev. John C. Wooten for an invitation to attend the exercises of the graduating class of the Pacific Theological Seminary at Berkley, California. Brother Wooten is stationed at Berkley.

Rev. G. W. Fisher, Clayton Circuit, while in the office one day last week, reported that he had already forwarded $90.00 on Foreign and Domestic Missions. He believes in securing his Conference collections early in the year.

Rev. R. F. Bumpas received into Edenton Street Church on last Sunday twenty on profession and by certificate. Things are moving on in a healthy and satisfactory way at Edenton Street under the guidance of its faithful pastor.

We had a pleasant visit last week from Mr. L. B. Bynum and his bright little son, Jeff. Bro. Bynum is one of the Directors of the Asylum for the Insane (colored) at Goldsboro, and was on his way to attend the annual meeting. He reports affairs on Haw River Circuit to be in good condition.

Dr. R. H. Whitaker reports a very successful meeting at Kenly. He was assisted by Rev. W. H. Puckett, who preached nine strong sermons. Five were added to the church. Dr. Whitaker speaks in high praise of the Kenly people who are as faithful a band as can be found anywhere in the Conference.

Miss Blanche Fentress requests us to announce that the Suffolk and Carolina Railway Company will extend to delegates or members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, a rate of one dollar for round trip between Suffolk and Elizabeth City. The train leaving Wilson at 1.16 p. m. reaches Suffolk, Va., at 4.49 p. m. The Suffolk and Carolina train leaves Suffolk at 5.45 p. m., and arrives at Elizabeth City about 7.45 p. m.

The New Bern Journal, in speaking of the Easter services at the various churches in that city says: At the Methodist Church there was quite an unusual scene and one which will long remain in the memories of all who witnessed the services. The pastor waived the usual custom of preaching the sermon and took fifty persons into membership of the church. This number swells the membership of the church to 900. The church was filled with worshippers and the services were solemn and impressive.

Mr. J. W. Bailey, State Chairman, informs us that a recent copy of a letter to Chairmen of County Executive Committees was sent out to quite a number of friends by mistake without explanation. The letter was sent for information. Some of the brethren very reasonably inferred that they had been appointed County Chairmen.

Rev. W. D. Sasser, P. C., writes us as follows: "The Kenansville Circuit is moving along in a better way. Repairing one old church, planning to build another, and planning for a report in full this year. We will hold a Missionary Rally at Warsaw, N. C., the Saturday before and fifth Sunday in May. The people are kind and lovable everywhere here. The 'salt of the earth' is not a little on this charge. We are not fully over a gracious pounding from Warsaw last fall, and everywhere we go kind expressions of appreciations are tendered us."

NOTICE.

To delegates to Annual Meeting of W. F. M. Society at Elizabeth City, April 20 to 25, who live on line of Southern Railway from Burlington to Selma.—If you will come via Selma or Goldsboro on early morning train—leaves Durham 3.30 and Raleigh 5.15 a. m., making connection at Selma with A. C. L.—you will have more time at Suffolk, and be more likely to make connection.

D. H. TUTTLE.

NOTICE.

On the first of May I shall send out a statement showing how much has been received by the Treasurer of the Board of Missions from each charge in the Conference up to that date. Let every preacher send to Brother Walker all that has been collected for missions by that time. We hope that a comparison of this statement with the one sent out last May will show a considerable improvement in the matter of early collections.

R. H. WILLIS,
Conference Secretary of Missions.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Delegates and visitors to the Annual Meeting of the W. F. M. Society at Elizabeth City, who go via the Seaboard Air Line on the 20th inst., will ask for tickets via Suffolk to Elizabeth City, where I am informed a special train will run on that day for our accommodation. Delegates are earnestly requested to be there at the opening exercises on Thursday, 10 a. m.

LUCY A. CUNINGGIM,
President.

THE CRAVEN PORTRAIT.

We publish below the names of those who have subscribed to the Craven portrait; also the amount subscribed by each.

The work will be done in New York. Miss Mattie Dowd who has had art experience in Paris and New York, and whose late oil portrait of Governor Jarvis, presented to the Daughters of the Confederacy, elicited great admiration, will do the work.

Five hundred dollars must be raised by May 15th. We look to the old pupils and friends of Braxton Craven to pay this tribute to his memory. Remember that this amount is to be raised by the few. The dead are easily forgotten, but only by the many. There is always a remnant left to honor those who are no longer with us.

Let those who really hold in memory their lamented preceptor and friend, Braxton Craven, send in their contribution at once. Do not delay.

The following have subscribed already: J. M. Odell, $10.00; W. R. Odell, $8.00; H. M. Barrow, $1.00; J. C. Fink, $1.00; F. D. Swindell, $1.00; H. B. Lane, $1.00; J. B. Troy, $5.00; J. G. Brown, $10.00; J. O. Guthrie, $2.00; Dr. A. Anderson, $5.00; L. L. Little, $5.00; L. S. Overman, $20.00; J. H. Small, $5.00; C. H. Lewis, 75 cents; G. T. Sikes, 50 cents; W. R. Harris, $5.00; G. W. Sparger, $1.00; N. C. English, $3.00; W. T. Lyon, $3.00; H. W. Norris, $1.00; C. B. Townsend, $5.00. E. F. Wakefield, $1.00. Total, $94.25.

The names of those who subscribe and the amounts subscribed will be published each week in the Advocate. There is no time to be lost. Let us hear from you at once.

T. N. IVEY, Committee.

Publisher's Column

ONLY TWO WEEKS MORE.

The campaign for new subscribers up to date very clearly demonstrates that the Conference Resolution can be carried out and that each District can furnish more than 150 new subscribers by May 1. There are only two more weeks. In this time wonders can be performed. If each preacher would give even a day to securing new subscribers the summing up May 1st would be astonishing. Brother, try it. We cannot fail. We must not. We will not. What Warrenton District has done, every District in the Conference can do.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report for each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since April 6, 1904:

Rev. W. C. Merritt	7
B. C. Glover	6
Rev. J. T. Stanford	6
Rev. J. W. Bradley	5
Rev. C. W. Robinson	5
Rev. T. J. Dailey	5
Rev. J. E. Holden	4
Rev. G. W. Starling	4
Rev. H. E. Tripp	4
Rev. J. G. Johnson	4
Rev. B. C. Allred	3
Rev. J. W. Hoyle	3
Rev. R. H. Whitaker	3
Rev. J. O. Guthrie	3
Rev. J. J. Porter	2
Rev. J. H. McCracken	2
Rev. V. A. Royall	1
Rev. J. H. Shore	1
Rev. B. E. Stanfield	1
Rev. L. L. Nash	1
Rev. E. H. Davis	1
Rev. C. C. Brothers	1
Rev. W. P. Constable	1
Rev. W. H. Moore	1
Rev. W. E. Hocutt	1
Rev. A. S. Barnes	1
Direct	2

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Warrenton District	152	increase 30
Rockingham District	124	increase 5
Fayetteville District	107	increase 7
Washington District	96	increase 1
Raleigh District	94	increase 8
Elizabeth City District	77	increase 9
New Bern District	64	increase 9
Durham District	62	increase 2
Wilmington District	59	increase 7
Total increase for week	78
Total to date	835

Position of Districts same as last week with the exception that New Bern goes up and Durham goes down.

Warrenton goes above high-water mark and is first to send in her quota.

Rockingham lacks only 26 of reaching hers.

Fayetteville is very little behind, with 43.

There are several Districts which after reaching their number will be ready help their sisters. But if we know these "sisters" they feel that they are able to do their own work without depending on the generosity of other Districts. You may depend on them.

Watch next week's list.

We are indebted to Mr. W. A. Faucette, Foreman, for the typographical excellence of this issue. Every printer knows that it is a difficult work to manage so many cuts in one paper. We take pleasure in saying that Mr. Faucette adds to his great skill as a printer the merit of taking as conscientious care of the work entrusted to him as if it were his own.

Read carefully advertisement of Sunny Side Nursery. This Nursery is run by Mr. James M. Lamb, so well known throughout our Conference. You may depend on the merit of what he sells.

That Missionary.

We hope the Chapters brought up the matter of supporting a missionary at their regular business meeting for April, and that we will be able to announce favorable results in these columns at an early date. Let us take up this work with the liveliest enthusiasm. The Jews of old said "The Lord hath blessed us therefore we,His servants,will arise and build." It will cost us very little, only five cents the first month and two cents per month thereafter. Surely there is not a League in the Conference that will hesitate a moment to undertake so small a task. Let every chapter fall in line at once. The cost is so small to each individual and yet the result will be glorious. A missionary and wife representing us in the greatest of all works—world-wide evangelism.

A Challenge.

The St. John Chapter, the youngest Chapter in the Conference, challenges the Leagues of the Conference to the support of a missionary in a field to be chosen by the majority of Chapters contributing.

This is a mission church, and the members pay as liberally to all the causes of the church, according to their ability, as any church in the Conference. On the first Sunday in March they contributed ten dollars to the Bible cause, and they have now in sight all the collections ordered by the Conference.

Who will be the first to take up the banter?

Do It Now.

I had thought to send a flower to a sick friend, but decided: "Tomorrow will do as well." Next day the flower was laid on a still, cold form.

Because of busy, happy work, I neglected for a month writing to a dear friend far away. The tardy missive brought answer:

"Dear One: Your letter is a comfort to me. I have waited for it through a month of heavy trial. I know you would have written sooner if you could, or had you known the comfort your words would be."

Two friends misunderstood each other. "Soon," I thought, "I shall speak the little word that will clear their skies." The events of a day separated us all forever, and the little wrong was not made right.

An earnest youth was in need of a helping hand. I longed to extend the help, but self-interest answered: "You cannot; God will take the will for the deed."

Then the spirit within took me to my knees, and I prayed: "O God, shall this poor 'will,' and nothing more, be offered thee? Then thou hast naught. Oh, make it thine, that loving deed may prove the will to serve!"

And in that hour the youth's need was supplied, nor was self the poorer.

Oh, the blessed now, which is all of time I have! God help me to use it for him! And if there is a word to be spoken, a flower to be sent, an alabaster box to be broken, God help me to do it now.—S. M. Ritter.

Church Etiquette.

Please allow me to suggest a few thoughts regarding the above subject:

1. Come in time. It is as easy to be in time as to be late, if you arrange accordingly.

2. Bow reverently in prayer when you enter the house of God. It is one way we can declare our faith in God and hope in his mercy. Pray devoutly for God's help and blessing on yourself and all in that service.

3. Bring your Bible and hymnbook with you, or have them in your pew. It is a sad mistake to be destitute of these when you would join in a religious service.

4. Help to keep God's House clean. A returned missionary tells of an Indian who did spit on the floor of the mission church. One of the officers of the church took that Indian's cap and wiped the floor, and gave him to understand that they were not heathens any more.

5. Give diligent heed to the word preached. It is very discouraging to a speaker to see people not listening. If you were speaking to some one, and they would be evidently not listening, you would feel it a personal insult.

6. Practice the truth in your daily life. Show the effect of the divine teaching, and thus you will get help and scatter sunshine.—Church-Goer. Goer.

Helpful Programme Suggestions.

Rev. A. I. Terryberry, of Port Rowan, sends a copy of their League program, which contains some interesting and helpful features. Among the "Pointers" at the beginning of the booklet we notice "the A. B. C." of a successful meeting.

Ask God to Bless To-Night's Service.

Ask some Friend to come with you.
Be Punctual.
Be Prepared to take Part.
Come in Prayer.
Come Every Night.
The Active Members' Pledge is thus rendered in verse:

My Epworth Leaguer friend, you're pledged,
Wherever you may be.
In meeting, or in business,
Or in society,
To do your Heavenly Father's will,
His Word to know and to obey,
To find some Christian work to do,
Wher'er you go each day.
This Pledge I'm sure that you will find,
If kept as it should be,
Will help prepare for life below,
And for eternity.

—Era.

W. J. Woodley, Elizabeth City, N. C.

NEW DRESS GOODS FOR SPRING

Thin fabrics have the call this season, such as Nun's Veilings, Albatross, Crepes, Eolinnes, Voiles, Mistrals, Foulines, etc. Write for samples and prices.

NEW SUITS FOR SPRING STRICTLY ALL WOOL.

Venetian Cloth, Eton Jacket.....$12.50
Cheviots, Norfolk Jacket.....$15.00
Cheviot Dress Suits, Eton Jacket $25.00
Broadcloths.....$15.00
Cheviots, Collarless Jacket.....$16.50
Covert Cloth.....$18.50

Write us for further particulars
Freight and express charges paid in Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina on all orders over $5.00 mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

HICKS' CAPUDINE
NEVER FAILS TO CURE
HEADACHES AND COLDS
At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.
The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.
PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentines Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 20 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. The Kind Mother Used to Chew.
For sale by all dealers.
Valentino Manufacturing Company, - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

Sunday School

Lesson for April 17, 1904.

Jesus Transfigured.

Mark 9:2-13.

Golden Text: A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him. Mark 9:7.

About a week after the incidents recorded in our last lesson, Jesus was transfigured. There has been much discussion as to the place where the Transfiguration took place, but there is now a consensus of opinion favoring Mt. Hermon as the probable locality.

The Witnesses of the Transfiguration.—Peter, James and John seemed to form an inner circle within the group of the twelve apostles, and these were the ones privileged to see the Transfiguration of our Lord. Doubtless they were chosen, not arbitrarily, but because their clearer view of spiritual truth and their more intense devotion to the Master rendered them more suitable to enter into what may be regarded as the "Holy of Holies" in the earthly life of Jesus.

The Heavenly Visitants.—A most remarkable feature of the Transfiguration scene was the presence on the Mount of Moses and Elijah, the one representing the Law and the other the Prophets. Both the Law and Prophecy found their complete fulfillment in the Gospel of Christ, and therefore the presence of Moses and Elijah at this time had the deepest significance.

It is also very suggestive to notice the subject upon which these heavenly visitants conversed with Jesus, for we are told that they talked about the decease of Jesus which should take place at Jerusalem, and this may serve to teach us that the death of Christ should be central in our thought.

The Voice from Heaven.—Peter was moved with the desire to remain for an indefinite period upon the Mount, but ere an answer had been given to his suggestion to build three tabernacles, a voice came from heaven, declaring the supremacy of Jesus.

"This is my beloved Son: hear him," was the message from God, and when the voice had ceased, and the cloud that had overshadowed them had passed away, the disciples saw no man save Jesus only.

The vision was ended. From the Mount of Transfiguration, the Master and his disciples passed down into the valley, and from thence Jesus went steadily forward in the pathway which he knew must finally end upon Calvary.

An After Conference.—As they came down the mountain side Jesus and his disciples held conference together. Jesus bade the disciples to say nothing of the glories which they had witnessed until after he should have risen from the dead. He knew that they could not properly interpret the Transfiguration at the present time, or even if they could, the people at large were not ready to receive the truths which it conveyed.

On their own part the disciples had some perplexing questions at work within their minds. What did the Master mean by his references to his approaching death and subsequent rising from the dead? Again, what did the scribes mean by saying that Elijah must first come?

Some of their questions Jesus could not fully answer in view of the present limitations of their knowledge, but he explained to them that Elijah had already come in the person of John the Baptist, and suggested that the fate of that prophet was an illustration of the things which he himself must suffer.

Teachings of the Transfiguration.—The Transfiguration teaches the complete divinity of Christ. Upon the Mount he was revealed in all the glory of his divine nature, and this scene alone would be sufficient to accredit the fact that he was the Son of God.

Heavenly visions come to fit us for earthly service. The Transfiguration strengthened Christ to endure Calvary, and the disciples in after years, in the midst of their service for the Master, found a ground of assurance and confidence as they remembered how they had beheld the glory of their Master, when he was transfigured before them.

CURES BLOOD POISON, CANCER, ULCERS, ECZEMA, CARBUNCLES, ETC. MEDICINE FREE.

Robert Ward, Maxey's, Ga., says: "I suffered from blood poison, my head, face and shoulders were one mass of corruption, aches in bones and joints, burning, itching, scaby skin, was all run down and discouraged, but Botanic Blood Balm cured me perfectly, healed all the sores and gave my skin the rich glow of health. Blood Balm put new life into my blood and new ambition into my brain." Geo. A. Williams, Roxbury, face covered with pimples, chronic sore on back of head, suppurating swelling on neck, eating ulcer on leg, bone pains, itching skin cured perfectly by Botanic Blood Balm—sores all healed. Botanic Blood Balm cures all malignant blood troubles, such as eczema, scabs and scales, pimples, running sores, carbuncles, scrofula, etc. Especially advised for all obstinate cases that have reached the second or third stage. Druggists, $1. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

A LOVE LETTER.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c. at all drug stores.

The Valentino's Peerless Sweet Gum advertised in our paper has been manufactured at Nashville steadily for thirty years. A pretty good evidence of its quality. Our representative called on Mr. Valentino and was shown the pure Sweet Gum in large quantities. It is gotten from the forest trees in Tennessee and Mississippi. It is good for your health. Try it.

ABSOLUTELY A CHANGE.

About seven years ago my health began to fail, I was completely "run down," and my blood got in a bad condition. I suffered with severe pains in different parts of my body, so severe that I could not lie in any position long at a time, and in consequence of this, I did not know what it was to get a good night's rest. I had been taking different medicines for the trouble for three years, but got no relief. Then I thought I would try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I had no faith in it, or anything else for my case, but I thought it would be a change. The third night after I started on it I got the first good night's sleep I had had in many months. I became hopeful. The Remedy relieved the terrible pains I had been suffering from so long, and being able to sleep well at night, I soon began to feel like a new man. My appetite began to improve, I began to build up in every respect. I continued its use until I took about three dozen bottles, when I knew I was a well man. I have been cured four years, have never felt those pains since, and am now a perfectly healthy man, nor have I ever needed any of the Remedy since.

W. E. GRIFFIN.
Fort Mill, S. C., Sept. 26, 1903.

Have You Been a Regular Reader of this Paper?

If you have, then you know something of the Dropsy Specialist who stands far in advance of all others. Dr. Whitaker has given you testimonial after testimonial of his wonderful work; he has a book of testimonials he would be pleased to send to any one upon application.

If you, or any of your immediate family do not need treatment along this line, perhaps you have a friend or an acquaintance that does. This question may arise, are we our brother's keeper? If we knew of his home being on fire and he did not know of any means to extinguish the flames, but we did, our duty would be plain; tell him and aid him in securing the means.

Do you know of any case of Dropsy? If you do and do not wish to do more, send Dr. Whitaker the name or names and address that he may send to such an one a pamphlet of testimonials and a question blank.

Give history of case, name and age of patient and forward to Dr. S. T. Whitaker, Dropsy Specialist, 41 E. Irwin Street, Atlanta, Ga.

He will send a free treatment that is guaranteed to give immediate relief.

P. S.—Send in care of C. C. Dept. for sample of an absolute cure for Catarrh, Cold in head and Hay Fever. Enclose four one cent stamps and request a prescription for an excellent Hair Tonic.

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in 30 minutes with head, or no fee. No fasting required. Send 2c stamp for 64-page book. DR. M. REY SMITH, Specialist, 809 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

SOU'N BOUND TRAINS.		STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS.
Daily, ex. S.			Daily, ex. S.
Second-Class	First-Class		First-Class	Second-Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 25
7 35	4 25	S.....†Caraleigh Mills...	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes.....	9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby.....	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M.....McCULLERS...	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins.....	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs...	8 50	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	P.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 08
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 35	5 26	S...† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn.....	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls.....	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley.....	8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington.....	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest. Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.
C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
'Phones 117.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Columbia Circuit.

BY REV. W. P. CONSTABLE, P. C.

The records of the early history of Methodism in this eastern section of North Carolina have unfortunately been lost. If they were available they would furnish much matter of interest and place on record instances of heroism and untiring energy on the part of the pioneer Methodists who wrought in Tyrrell and Washington Counties. So far as I have been able to ascertain, the seeds of Methodism were planted in this section by Whitfield, who preached at points adjacent to this territory. The first organization traceable is what was known as the Scuppernong Circuit, the metes and bounds of which are now not known; this was in 1780, or thereabout. When what is now known as the Columbia Circuit was formed is also a matter of uncertainty, though it must be upwards of an hundred years. One of the oldest churches within its bounds is now about seventy years of age. The circuit was evidently cut out of the old Scuppernong work after the town of Columbia was started, from whence it takes its name, which was about the year 1800. This circuit consisted of a long string of churches from the Alligator River to what is now known as Roper. The appointments were Gum Neck, Wesley Chapel, Columbia, Scuppernong, Pleasant Grove, and Hebron. This string stretched out for forty miles or more. From this work was cut out Pleasant Grove and Hebron, which now comprise Roper Station. The present circuit consists of the following appointments, which take in the whole of Tyrrell County: Columbia, Scuppernong, Bethlehem, Cross-Landing, Wesley Chapel, South Shore, and Gum Neck.

John W. Evans, Manteo, N. C.

The influence of Methodism has been felt along all lines in the past and she was a power for good. We find the church well represented in the list of those who taught school within the bounds of the work. Rev. James E. Mann, afterwards Presiding Elder, taught school in Gum Neck in 1850, and in the 60's we find graduates from old Trinity and also also Randolph Macon among those who instructed the youth in our midst and their influence is alive today. Among those who have served the church on this charge, whose memories still linger with us and whose names are mentioned with love, we note: Moses, Gray, Puckett, Guthrie, Bond, Dosier, Meachum, Wrenn, Clegg, Andrews, Mahoney, Mann, Culbreth, and Hunt, and among the more recent, Keen, Brothers, Lowe, Holder, Cole, White, Giles, Sasser, and Leffers.

For the past decade or more the work had been falling off; and when this scribe came here in December, 1901, everything was at a very low ebb. This was occasioned by the death of the older members and the large number of removals across the Albemarle Sound to Elizabeth City and other points. The records also show a woeful falling off in the various interests of the church. The salaries were not paid in full, and as to missionary and other collections, they seemed never to think of such a thing as paying them, and Methodism was fast losing her power and influence. In fact, the circuit had become to be looked upon as a hopeless case. Such was the condition of things which faced me as I took charge of the work after our Conference in Fayetteville in 1901. By the help of God we have been able to stop the downward tendency and bring about a change. The circuit, which had established a record of never paying up in full, is now among the list of those who pay up everything, and the salary has been increased from $400.00 to $475.00. A few figures will show what has been done along these lines. The report for 1901 shows: P. E., assessed $56.00, paid $32.00; P. C., $400.00, paid $285; Foreign Missions, $60.50, paid $15.00; Domestic Missions, $46.50, paid $12.00; for all purposes, $382.00. In 1902, which was my first year: P. E., $56.00, paid $56.00; P. C., $400.00, paid $419.71; Foreign Missions, $58.00, paid $60.00; Domestic Missions, $42.00, paid $42.00; for all purposes, $911.66. In 1903: P. E., $63.00, paid $63.00; P. C., $450.00, paid $450.00; Foreign Missions, $58, paid $58.00; Domestic Missions, $42, paid $42.00, and all other collections in full; for all purposes, $1,469.49.

There have been good seasons of revival all over the charge during the past two years and large numbers have been gathered into the church. The work is now in fine condition, we are repairing the old churches and building new ones. We have two leagues, Senior and Junior, in operation, and they are doing a good work among the young people and children. The outlook for the future is bright, and with proper care and attention, our church should grow and become a greater power for Godliness than ever before. Our people manifest much love for our church; they are loyal and evidence many good qualities and a deepening spiritual life. Our Sunday-schools are maintained all through the winter despite the bad weather and worse roads. We have good attendance and much interest manifested. In the two years of my ministry among these people I find that all subscriptions taken for any purpose, missionary or otherwise on the charge, have been paid in full. A subscription here does not mean one-half or two-thirds, but you can count on getting the full amount.

This is a fine trucking country, and as this fact becomes better known, it will draw to us those interested in this line, and then with the dividing of our large fertile farms into smaller ones, and these well cultivated, they will respond and afford good livings to their owners. There is now a degree of prosperity among our people greater than at any time since the war. All this will lead to an increase of population, and the time will come, when under the fostering care of Methodism, instead of one circuit drawing help from the Mission Board, we will have two compact and self-sustaining circuits and Methodist influence will, in a large extent, mould the thought and morals of the people.

BROKE INTO HIS HOUSE.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested, and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25c. at all druggists.

WANTED — A man or woman in every town and county through out the South to represent us and help us introduce our goods in every Southern home. This is an opportunity for persons of energy and ambition to earn big salaries; others are doing it, why not you? Ours is an old, established, and reputable firm and the work we offer is pleasant and in which any Christian man or woman can consistently engage. Write to-day for full particulars to L. W. Estes, General Manager, opposite U. S. Treasury, Washington, D. C.

$1.50 will buy a pair Dixie Girl Women's Shoes

Made by Dixie Girls

BEST SHOE ON EARTH FOR PRICE

Hard to find a dealer without them. If so, write us, and we will tell you where to find them.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Makers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Shou'd be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new song-book is called. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3 60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. AND TREAS.
STAUNTON, VA.

THIS IS A RED CEDAR PAIL.. That has seen twenty-two years of Hard Service and having been thoroughly repaired is now ready for 22 more.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
PREWITT-SPURR MFG. COMPANY,
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.
If your supply house does not carry them in stock, write us giving name of your Supply House.

PERFECT HEALTH FOR 3 CENTS A DAY!

ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON and ALUM WATER

Will cure any form of CHRONIC DISEASE you have. This water contains 20 minerals and is concentrated to 160 times its strength. One teaspoonful equals in benefit three days sojourn at the springs. Eminent physicians endorse it heartily for all Chronic Diseases.

8oz. Bottle 50c. 18 oz. Bottle $1.00
AT YOUR DRUGGISTS, OR
J. M. Echols Co., - - Lynchburg, Va.

WAKE UP! WAKE UP!

Don't You Know a Good Thing When You See it. Read This Advertisement.

We have been running an ad in this paper for four weeks selling auto-matton Hand Screw Button. There are probably 10 00 mail order readers of this paper, every one of whom need these Butto s How many have a button off right now? We have not received the patronage from the public that we expected, or that we deserve, considering the article we have to sell. Man, do you love your wife, mother or daughter? Then make their life easier by using the Hand Screw Button. Once on, always on. Look at the cut. This Button is no catch-penny affair, but an article of merit, placed on the market by a reliable firm, whose reliability is vouched for by the Editor of the Advocate. We want agents in every city and town in the State. Send 10 cents stamps or silver, for a box and agent's special wholesale prices.

Gate City Novelty Co., 332 2-4 South Elm St., Box 337, Greensboro, N. C.

JUST ISSUED!
Devotional Songs
EDITED BY THREE FAMOUS COMPOSERS AND COMPILERS
W. H. DOANE, Mus. Doc.
WM. J. KIRKPATRICK, and HUBERT P. MAIN.
It contains a larger variety of songs than any other hymn book of its kind ever published.
One-half new songs that will never grow old.
One-half old songs that will always be new.
256 pages. Full Cloth Bound, 270 hymns.
$25 per 100. 30 cts. per copy, postpaid.
THE BIGLOW & MAIN CO.
137 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK. 216 Clark Street, CHICAGO.

"The Shows."

REV. L. B. JONES, PLYMOUTH STATION.

Among other tempters, this section of the country is frequently visited by the shows. Some of our good brethren go to see them, of course "to take the children." Those who have duly considered its evils would, no doubt, do violence to their consciences by going and become guilty. But many have never been sufficiently informed upon this subject, and go into temptation unconscious of their danger. This state of things seems to call for some attention from us; and the more because some preachers go to animal shows, and if we are not careful to say the contrary, people will take it for granted that we go to all shows; and this liberty will be an occasion of stumbling, if not falling, to many. I will, therefore, offer you a few reasons why I think it's wrong to go to the shows, hoping that it may do good to some who are doubting just here.

E. R. Daniels, Wanchese, N. C.

1. It is wrong, because it is making an improper use of our Lord's money. It is altogether a mistake to suppose, as some seem to do, that the money we have is our own, and that we have a right to dispose of it as we please. We are but stewards, and our Lord has directed us how to use His money. (Luke 12:33, and 16:9.) After our own want, and the reasonable wants of our families are supplied, he has directed us to give the rest of his money to the poor. We have no permission either to waste or destroy it. But when we give it to the "showmen" we give it to them that do not need it, while the poor are by so much scanted. We take the money which the Lord has put in our hands for the use of the poor and give it to the showmen! We do not bury this talent as the miser does, but throw it away! Will our Lord say well done to such conduct? Nay!

2. It is wrong, because it is hiring people to sin, and consequently partaking of their guilt. It is evidently sinful to waste precious time and destroy the nobler faculties of human nature, and to perform such tricks and to sing such songs as the showmen do. It is evident that they do these things for gain; this is, they are hired to do these things, and that, too, by every one that goes to see them. All pay their part. Now this is all one as if those gentlemen and ladies had performed themselves. If one man hire another to steal or kill he is guilty of theft or murder. If gentlemen and ladies were to hire boys and girls to dance in the streets they would be condemned by all, and if they hire grown people to debauh themselves and sing bad songs and do frantic tricks, are they clear? Answer.

3. But the evil does not stop here. To say nothing of the loss of time and neglect of duties it occasions (for who would pray in a show?), it places us in the very atmosphere of temptation, it calls off the mind from all that is good and places it on what is bad; invites mirth and levity; inflames desire and greatly increases vanity. This is enough, it would seem, to keep one who has felt the plague of sin, and who knows the deceitfulness of his own heart forever from such places. But I can bridle my passions and keep under my will and maintain my firmness, says one, while I gratify my curiosity. This is the language of presumption, and not of self-knowledge. It is the very "hobby" that the moderate drinker rides into the jaws of death. "I can drink and not get drunk;" or the youth who goes to the horse race or the gambling house: "I can go and not participate." While the humble and God-fearing Christians pray: "Lead us not into temptation."

May God help us to be in the right places, doing things which leads directly to His kingdom.

A NOTRE DAME LADY.

I will send free, with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure or Leucorhœa, Ulceration, Displacements Falling of the Womb, Scanty or Painful Periods, Tumors or Growths, Hot Flashes, Desire to Cry, Creeping feeling up the Spine, Pain in the Back, and all Female Troubles, to all sending address. To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a Successful Home Treatment. If you decide to continue it will on y cost about 12 cents a week to guarantee a cure. Tell other sufferers of it, this is all I ask. If you are interested, write now and tell your sufferi g friends of it. Address, Mrs. M. Summers, Box 288 Notre Dame, Ind.

For next 90 days we will be giving special attention to the Printing of School Catalogs. Send us your order if you want first class work. . . EDWARDS & BROUGHTON Raleigh, N. C.

It is Time to Get Ready for SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.

FERRY'S SEEDS
Deserve your confidence. They have never failed—won't fail now. Sold by all dealers. 1904 Seed Annual postpaid, free.
D. M. FERRY & CO.
Detroit, Mich.

Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.
FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

A Happy Druggist.

Mr. W. R. Fountain, of North Carolina, says: "I have been selling Tetterine for years, and it comes nearer giving satisfaction than any remedy I have ever sold." Cures all forms of skin diseases.

If your druggist hasn't it, send 50 cents for one box to J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

SUMMER SCHOOL, RALEIGH N. C.

The prospectus of the Summer School shows a faculty of forty-four members, including officers, and an additional lecture list of forty speakers. The lecturers include the leading educators of the State, the Governor, State Superintendent, Chief Justice Clark and other prominent professional men. The teachers will also have an opportunity to hear Hon. John Temple Graves, of Atlanta, on "The Twentieth Century Woman." Mr. Graves is recognized as the South's most eloquent platform speaker. Polk Miller, of Richmond, with his banjo on "Old Times Down South," and Dr. Currell, of Washington and Lee, on "Dante's Divine Comedy." The faculty is composed of specialists educated at the leading universities of this country and abroad.

The course of study is practical and comprehensive. The Raleigh school offers opportunities to teachers never equalled in the State and at such low rates that all can afford to attend.

A copy of the prospectus will be sent to any one upon request. It is handsomely illustrated and is well worth reading.

Sunnyside Floral Nursery
JAMES M. LAMB, Proprietor.
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.
Lock Box 55. : : Telephone 49—B.

We can furnish almost anything in ornamental plants from Royal Palm to a Violet, including Evergreen Trees, Shrubs, Roses, Bulbs and green-house plants

Special Offer of one hundred arborvitas for $1.50—free by mail. Send for catalogue.

XANTHINE! PROF. HERTZ GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.

Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top?

Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color. Also stops dandruff; promotes growth. . . . . .

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for pamphlet. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C.

SECOND ROUND.

Hatteras, at Cape, April 16, 17
Kennekeet, at Clarkes, April 18
Roanoke Island, April 20
Camden, at Trinity, April 23, 24
Moyock, at Moyock, April 24, 25
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Shallotte, Sharon, April 9, 10
Town Creek, Zion, April 16, 17;
Clinton, Kendall, April 22
Kenansville, Wesley, April 23, 24
Elizabeth, Singleta 7, Ap 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June 5
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, Smith Creek, April 23, 24
Mount Olive Circuit, Providence, April 30 to May 1
Dover Dover, May 7-8
Snow Hill, Moun Herman, May 14-15
Straits, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit. May 28-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. S. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Elise, Tabernacle, April 15
Carthage, High Falls, April 16, 17
Jonesboro, Morris Chapel, April 23, 24
Star City, Hickory Mountain, April 29
Pittsboro, Brown's Chapel, April 30, May 1
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, may 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

South Rocky Mount, April 16, 17
Rocky Mount, April 17, 18
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, April 24, 25
Swan Quarter, Soule, April 27
Mattamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night. June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21 22

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Youngsville, April 16th
Louisburg, April 17th
Oxford Circuit, Hermon' April 23, 24
Clayton, Mt. Zion, April 30th, May 1
Milbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Zenly, May 26
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Roanoke Circuit, Tabor, Feb. 17
Hobgood, Hobgood, Feb. 20, 21
Scotland Neck, Feb. 21, 22
Garysburg, Garysburg, Feb. 27, 28
Henderson, March 6, 7
Warren, Providence, March 12, 13
Ridgeway, Ridgeway, March 19, 20

SECOND ROUND.

Northampton, Rehoboth, March 26, 27
Conway, Zion, March 27, 28
Rich Square, Lewiston, March 29
Bertie, Cashie, March 31
Harrellsville, Van's Grove, April 2, 3
Murfreesboro, April 3, 4
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, April 6
Hobgood, Palmyra, April 9, 10
Scotland Neck, April 10, 11
Warrenton, Warren Plains, April 16, 17
Littleton, Calvary, April 23, 24
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

Marriages

TAYLOR—MARTIN.— By Rev. F. D. Swindell, March 16th, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Faison, N. C., Mr. Claud Taylor and Miss Bessie Irene Martin.

LANIER—HARRINGTON.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Harnett County, N. C., March 16, 1904, Mr. W. F. Lanier and Miss Pennie Harrington, G. W. Starling officiating.

HUGHES—HOWELL.—By Rev. F. D. Swindell, in St. Pauls Church, Goldsboro, N. C., April 6th, Mr. C. Miller Hughes, of Raleigh, N. C., and Miss Julia Bailey Howell, of Goldsboro, N. C.

SANDERS—FOSCUE. — At the residence of the bride's parents at Fowle, Jones County, N. C., on March 23, 1904, Mr. Isaac N. Sanders to Miss Mabel E. Foscue, Rev. W. A. Jenkins officiating.

MINCHEW—GARDNER.—At the Methodist parsonage, February 25, 1904, at Scotland Neck, N. C., Mr. Isaac Minchew and Miss Maggie Gardner were united in matrimony, J. E. Holden officiating.

TAYLOR—MARTIN.—By Rev. F. D. Swindell, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Faison, N. C., March 16, Mr. Emmett Claude Taylor, of Carteret County, and Miss Bessie Irene Martin, of Duplin County.

Obituaries

Obituaries containg not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

MASSEY.—Mrs. Louisa Massey died at the home of one of her sons Thursday, March 17, 1904, being about eighty-four years of age.

For the past year Sister Massey had not been able to be away from home much and so did not often get to chruch—the place she loved.

She had long been a member of the church and had lived such a beautiful life that one who knew her well said she had so lived that no one could speak evil of her.

The last conversation she had with any one (I learn) was with me, and in it she said she would be glad when she was released from her sufferings, fully expecting rest at God's right hand.

Last Friday, a beautiful afternoon, attended by her sons and other kindred and many friends, we laid her body in the new tomb in the family burying ground to await the resurrection morn. The Lord help us to meet her in heaven.

J. B. THOMPSON.

STALLINGS.—Archibald Arrington Stallings was born in Randolph County, North Carolina, March 9, 1842, and died in Wilson, N. C., March 4, 1904.

He was possessed naturally of a strong mind, but had little early educational advantages, and physically, he had a brawny frame and a fine constitution.

At the commencement of the Civil War he went into the service with a company formed at Cascade, Va., which was the second to reach Richmond, and was immediately sent to the front, engaging the enemy at Bull Run. This was Company K., Armstead's Brigade, 38th Regiment, Longstreet's corps. He was also in the seven days' fight around Richmond and in the battle of Gettysburg. He received slight wounds in the battle of Bull Run and also in the fight around Richmond, but in the battle of Gettysburg he was seriously shot three times. He was often detailed for dangerous duty, and his bravery was never questioned.

After the war his parents, W. P. and Sarah Stallings, moved to Wilson, to which place he came from the hospital.

On October 23, 1864, he was married to Miss Elizabeth Manning, daughter of Edward and Zelphia Manning, who was a true and helpful wife to him and preceded him to the spirit land some ten years ago. To them were born seven children, viz.: William, Edward, George, Robert, Albert, Wiley and Miss Mary, all of whom still live.

Brother Stallings professed religion in the winter of 1895, under the ministry of Dr. T. N. Ivey, and immediately joined the Methodist Church, in which he lived a faithful life, and died trusting in Christ.

The night that he joined the church he took up the duty of family prayer and he never failed to have family worship any night until at the beginning of his last illness he became too ill. He was a good man and lived a quiet and useful life.

He was ill of pneumonia for six weeks, during which time he suffered very much, and while he desired to live, still all along he said and did many things that indicated he was setting his house in order, and the end to him was not unexpected. Throughout his long suffering he was resigned and trustful, though he desired to live. He rests with the faithful.

It was early in the morning, surrounded by his children and relatives, that he heard the final roll-call and peacefully passed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees.

May our heavenly Father bless, guide and protect the fatherless and motherless children, and bring all of them to the haven of eternal rest!

ANDREW P. TYER.

In Memoriam.

The lamented subject of this imperfect sketch, Mrs. Charlotte N. Dozier, was born in Beaufort County, N. C., May 9, 1823, and died in Greene County, N. C., February 1, 1904, in her 81st year.

As Miss Patrick, she married, in 1853, Rev. Samuel B. Dozier, for thirty years a member of the North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South, and who departed this life in 1882.

Her remains rest beside those of her beloved brother, James C. Patrick, of precious memory, at Institute, Lenoir County, N. C.

In a ministry of fourteen years, spent on a half dozen circuits, and as their pastor for two years, I do truthfully and cheerfully testify that I have never seen anywhere more devout, consecrated, faithful servants of God, or more thoughtful, hospitable friends to the ministry of the church than Sister Dozier and Brother Patrick. They came of sturdy Methodist stock, and never sold their birth-right.

"Aunt Dozier," as I fondly called her, was the last of a family distinguished by piety, intelligence, hospitality and excellence of service. Professing faith in Christ and joining the church while quite young, she led a long life of purity, charity, and usefulness. Surely, "Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all." (Proverbs 31:29.)

Relatives, friends and neighbors—all conspire to say, "And let her works praise her in the gates."

Life has again been nobly lived; death has again been bravely met, and heaven has again been triumphantly won.

R. H. BROOM.

Carthage, N. C., March 23, 1904.

SUFFERED A THOUSAND DEATHS

Five Physicians had done their best to cure James Wilkes, of Dillon, S. C., who had one of the most terrible cases of RHEUMATISM on record. They all failed until one doctor prescribed—

Rheumacide

IT CURED HELPLESS CRIPPLE.

Mr. Wilkes writes in the course of a long letter, dated August 18, 1902: "My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly 12 months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, told me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used 5½ bottles and was completely cured." Dr. J. P. Ewing confirms Mr. Wilkes' statement in every particular.

FREE TRIAL BOTTLE SENT ON APPLICATION TO

BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., PROPRIETORS, BALTIMORE, MD

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,

NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)

234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING

AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,

Leading Clothiers.

TENTS NEW AND SECOND-HAND FOR SALE OR RENT.

There are no tents that we cannot build.

Our Specialty is Gospel Tents.

Try one of our Water and Mildew proof tents. They will not rot. We want to quote you prices.

M. D. & H. L. SMITH,

Mention this paper. DALTON, GA

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE

GREENSBORO, N.C.

For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

Please mention this paper.

A Special Train for You

CALIFORNIA

The Santa Fe will run two special trains to Los Angeles, leaving Chicago April 27 and 28, 1904, and Kansas City day following,

For General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church.

Officially endorsed by several State delegations.

Stops will be made at Albuquerque and Laguna in New Mexico, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, also Redlands and Riverside in California, affording opportunity to see unique Indian pueblos, earth's greatest scenic wonder, and two typical Southern California garden spots. Services Sunday at Grand Canyon.

You will travel on the cleanest railway in the West—oil sprinkled tracks and oil-burning engines in Arizona and California. Shortest line, finest scenery, most comforts.

The rate is low; why don't you go?

WRITE TO-DAY FOR METHODIST FOLDER. Tells all about this enjoyable trip. Berth space on these trains is limited; apply early.

J. C. SARTELL, G. P. & P. A. A. T. & S. F. Ry.

12 North Prior St., Atlanta, Ga.

Santa Fe

ALL THE WAY.

Resolutions on the Death of Mrs. B. F. D. Albritton.

Whereas, it pleased our heavenly Father in His wisdom to remove from our midst our esteemed and beloved sister, Mrs. B. F. D. Albritton; and,

Whereas, the relation held by the deceased to our church and Missionary Society at Hookerton, and to the community at large, render it proper that we should give expression to our appreciation of her worth in the community; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That we deplore the loss of our sister, Mrs. Albritton, with deep feelings of regret, softened only by the confident hope that her spirit is with those who, having fought the good fight here, are enjoying perfect happiness in a better world.

2. That we tender her sorrowing husband and relatives our sincere condolence, and our earnest sympathy in their affliction in the loss of one who was a devoted wife, loving daughter and an upright Christian.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Society, a copy sent the family of the deceased and a copy sent the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

MRS. J. R. PALMER,
MISS SUE HOLLOWELL,
J. M. VANCE,
Committee.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, the all-wise God has deemed it proper to transplant into His heavenly soil the well-developed life of our friend and co-laborer, B. W. Stephens, who has for eighteen months been an important factor in Sunday-school work, and who has labored anxiously for the advancement of every cause of Christ; therefore be it.

Resolved 1. That we, the members of Ormondsville Sunday-school deeply mourn our sad loss, yet bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well.

2. That in his death the Sunday-school has lost a most valuable member, the church a consecrated worker, and the community an uplifting influence.

3. That his gentle and powerful character should inspire all those who knew him to aspire for the higher things of life.

4. That we as a Sunday-school extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved mother and other members of the family and pray that God, who is all love, may comfort them in this trying ordeal.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be placed on the records of the Sunday-school, and a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

ELIZABETH M. CARVER,
J. MARVIN ORMOND,
ROY P. TAYLOR,
Committee.

Jno. B. Pitmer, East Lake, N. C.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well. Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

Asa V. Evans, Manteo, N. C.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25[75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to SanFrancisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1904. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

FREE MEDICAL BOOKS FOR THE SICK.

My special method of curing the chronic diseases of men and women has justly won recognition from the medical societies of the world as well as from the public in general. Scattered all over this broad land are tens of thousands whom my skill as a specialist has cured of all diseases, such as Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Nervous Debility, Prematurity, Weak Heart, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble and Stomach and Bowel ailments, Bladder Trouble, Varicocele, Stricture, Female Diseases and Blood Poison.

When it is at all possible I prefer to make a patient's personal acquaintance, but if you live out of the city and cannot call, write me what you suffer from and I will tell you the quickest way to be cured, free, and send you free of charge any one of the following eight medical books explaining my method of cure: 1, Diseases of the Vital Organs; 2, Female Diseases; 3, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs; 4, Nervous Debility; 5, Varicocele; 6, Stricture; 7, Blood Poison; 8, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Call or write to

DR. NEWTON HATHAWAY,
30 Inman Building, Atlanta, Ga.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS.

ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for

MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by Kloczowski & Co., Washington, D. C.

Price 50cts.

is the greatest achievement of medical science; the most perfect electrical health appliance in the world. It positively and permanently cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Backache, Neuralgia and pains of every description. Indigestion, Constipation, Malaria, Catarrh, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and all Female Complaints. It builds up the nervous system, strengthens every muscle, and restores the vim and vigor of youth. You simply put it on when you retire, and when you get up you feel like a new person.

It Cures While You Sleep.

Thousands and thousands who thought there was no help for them, have been cured through its use; why should you not be one of them? Write for large free illustrated catalogue, which explains all. Beware of imitations. Dr. Owen Electric Belt Co., 618 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

"TO LADIES ONLY."

If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.

Address MRS. J. M. TURNER, Box 57, Monroe, Ga.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM

OPERATES

Double Daily Trains

Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).

Electric Lighted Throughout

BETWEEN

Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City

AND TO ALL POINTS IN

Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories

AND THE

Far West and Northwest.

THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.

ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP

Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to

F. E. CLARK, Trav. Pass'r Agt., ATLANTA, GA.

S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

NOW DEPOSITED IN THE BANK

$75,000.00

IN CASH GIVEN AWAY.

To arouse interest in, and to advertise the GREAT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR, this enormous sum will be distributed. Full information will be sent you ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address on a postal card and we will send you full particulars.

World's Fair Contest Co.,
108 N. 8th Street,
St. Louis, Mo.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Check and Neal's Porto Rico

COFFEE

Leads all package Coffees in Strength, purity and economy. Makes the most and best Coffee. In addition to that, gives you Something for Nothing Redeemable—Signatures go with all one pound packages. Save them and you have your choice of sixty-five fine household articles.

CHECK & NEAL COFFEE COMPANY, Nashville, Tenn.

65 Valuable Premiums.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis

EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,

MAY 9 and 23, 1904.

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

Rate From

Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
W. A. Turk, Pass. Traffic Manager, S. H. Hardwick, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

The Educational Outlook.

BY H. M. NORTH.

There is a spirit of unrest in the educational field that promises good to the rising generation. Our people are coming to look at this question both as a matter of business and of religion. This district will compare very favorably with other portions of the State in the matter of loyalty to our institutions. According to last year's report, there were forty or more of the young people of the various congregations attending school outside of the district, and thirty of these were in our church schools. There are doubtless more this year, but we are unable to give the exact number. Besides this, the Albemarle High School, owned and controlled by the Methodists of Elizabeth City, has an enrolment of about one hundred. This school has been in existence about one year, and will continue in a different form and on a broader basis, an explanation of which will be given below. Our people have waited in vain for a long time to get good town and city schools or private schools worthy of our confidence. So the Methodists of this District have been taking things into their own hands and have a movement on foot to establish a permanent school of which Eastern Carolina may well be proud. This is to be a high-grade preparatory school, owned and operated by Methodists. It will not attempt to do college work, but it will collect bright boys and girls from all of this part of the State and prepare them for entrance into our colleges. It will not be the exclusive property of the church in Elizabeth City as the Albemarle school is. It will be located, however, in this place on account of its affording superior advantages. A site has already been secured, and a building committee appointed. It is thought best to invest eight or ten thousand dollars in a well-equipped plant. A stock company is being formed in order to secure the necessary funds. The shares will be placed as low as twelve dollars and a half so that as many people as possible may buy them. Purchasers of stock may be anywhere in the district or outside of it. If at any time dividends shall accrue, each stockholder will receive his proportionate amount of the profits. The ministers of the district, assembled in their missionary institute in March, gave their hearty endorsement to the plan. They are hereby earnestly requested to keep the matter constantly bfore their congregations, urging them to invest their means and to furnish as large a patronage as they can. This school will probably do more in the coming years to make the eastern section of the State predominantly Methodist and Christian than any other one factor among us. We have not kept pace in the East with our Western brethren in maintaining preparatory schools.

It is doubtful if any church can claim for its college more zealous supporters than Trinity has in the ministers of North Carolina. They love her, pray for her, and fight her battles both in public and in private. And the time is coming when the majority of the best people will see things as the preachers see them.

Universal regret is expressed at the misfortunes of Greensboro Female College. And it is the wish and expectation of the people that new and better buildings be erected as soon as possible.

Louisburg and Littleton are also held in high esteem and receive patronage from this district.

There are already manifestations of a religious awakening in our midst. May our educational interests receive their share of attention along with that which is more purely spiritual.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thumb and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

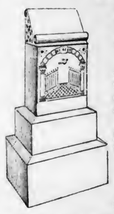
Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

LIBERTY MILLS

PRODUCES DAILY
4,000
BARRELS OF
Pure Soft Wheat Flour
AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.
Ask Your Grocer.
LIBERTY MILLS,
Nashville, Tenn.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

King's Business College.
(INCORPORATED.)
Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.
Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.
We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

ACID IRON MINERAL
Registered A-I-M Trade Mark
Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power, mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.
No equal for diseases peculiar to women Tones up the entire system
Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents
If your druggist cannot supply you, write to
"Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C.
"For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." T. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C. (Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.
ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen. Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. HALTIWANGER, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

STATEMENT
The Phoenix Insurance Company,
OF HARTFORD, CONN.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$2,000,000.00
Amount ledger assets December 31st previous year	4,753,612.04
Income—from policy-holders, $3,551,867.23; miscellaneous, $254,844.38; total	3,806,711.61
Disbursements—to policy-holders, $1,632,282.24; miscellaneous, $1,591,783.07; total	3,224,065.31
Fire Risks—written or renewed during year, $484,465,649; in force	513,914,618.00

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	351,442.65
Mortgage loans on real estate	102,449.25
Loans on stocks, bonds and other collaterals	81,000.00
Value of bonds and stocks	5,129,697.00
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	419,537.10
Agents' balances, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	320,264.76
Agents' balances, representing business written prior to October 1, 1903	1,473.21
Premiums unpaid	404,551.32
Interest and rents due and accrued	54,579.04
All other assets, detailed in statement	1,907.09
Total	6,866,901.43
Less assets, not admitted	13,240.14
Total admitted assets	6,853,661.29

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$395,578.95
Unearned premiums	2,750,668.49
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	126,177.32
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	3,272,644.76
Capital paid up in cash	2,000,000.00
Surplus	1,581,016.53
Total liabilities	6,853,661.29

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fire risks written, $2,615,667.00; premiums received, $23,043.85.
Losses incurred—fire, $6,936.77; paid, $11,192.76.
Now unpaid, $246.46.
President, D. W. C. Skilton; secretary, Edward Milligan; Home Office, No. 64 Pearl Street, Hartford, Conn.; general agent for service, W. S. Primrose, Raleigh, N. C.; business manager for North Carolina, Maj. J. S. Raine, Atlanta, Ga.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, N. C., March 23, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Phoenix Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., filed with this department, showing the condition of said company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.
JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

Do You Want a Teacher?
The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO CAROLINA
Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 12.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.
ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 108 W. MARTIN STREET.
THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.
Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.
Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.
Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

For a body of lawyers to protest against a Judge's sitting on their cases is an action to which North Carolina is not accustomed. But be this as it may be, the action is not without its significance. It makes no difference whether the protesting lawyers are justifiable or not, whether the Judge in question is culpable or blameless, the action shows a moral sensitiveness which is very refreshing and stimulating in these days when so much is said of the callousness of public conscience especially in legal and political circles. The protest must be moral rather than professional, and though the outcry be based on mistaken notions (this question must be settled in its proper arena), yet, we repeat, it must be regarded as a favorable feature in the diagnosis of any moral case of a people.

What we have long been waiting for has at last come in old North Carolina—the laying of the strong hand of the law upon men and women who, in the name of the drama, flaunt their lecherous obscenity in the face of public audiences. It happened in Wilmington when Duncan Clark and his troupe of female minstrels were arrested on the charge of presenting an indecent and immoral play at the Academy of Music. Wilmington has for Mayor a man with a moral backbone, and that man is William E. Springer. He is doing much for the city of Wilmington, we learn, through an official administration which is a terror to evil doers.

But coming back to the specific question, we ask why it is that the action in the case of the female minstrels should be so rare. The words spoken, the songs sung, and the actions presented in many of the plays presented in the towns and cities of North Carolina would not be tolerated in our homes and on our streets. Why should they be tolerated in our public auditoriums? They will not be tolerated by officials who rise to the occasion and do their duty. The "roasting" given by newspapers only advertises. The "roasting" given by city government has a more salutary effect. There is a great demand for the latter kind.

Considering the gravity of the charges brought by the Postoffice Department against so many members of the House of Representatives, it is refreshing to note that the special committee appointed to investigate the charges have brought in a report which exonerates all the accused members of any improper conduct. So what promised to be a fire-bleeching volcano has proved to be nothing but a vapor-wreathed hillock.

As a rule, the people of North Carolina are inclined to self-depreciation. The fact is due to several circumstances which need here no explanation. Virginia exults over the story of Pocahontas and resents any effort to discredit this choice tradition. The strongest efforts to disprove the Mecklenburg Declaration theory have come from North Carolinians. The old State cannot lay upon her shelf of wonders the only original Petrified Man without having the iconoclastic hand of her own children to write "fake" on the label.

But all this is no reason why we should withhold or praise from Dr. Baskerville, of the State University, who has recently discovered two new elements to be added to the seventy odd now known. These two elements have been resolved from thorium. One of them has been called Carolinium. Whether or not these be elements, Dr. Baskerville has performed a praiseworthy scientific feat, which, by all rights, should reflect great credit upon him and the institution which he represents.

A history of the moral warfare which has been waged in every era very clearly shows that great moral triumphs have not been won by political or purely social forces. These triumphs are won by moral forces. Through organization these moral forces reach their highest efficiency. Guerrilla operations have never amounted to much in the great contest of righteousness with evil.

In accordance with these principles, we must commend the advocates of Sabbath observance for their wisdom in preparing for a "Sabbath Rest Congress" to be held next October in connection with the St. Louis Exposition. This will be a notable Congress, and, it is to be hoped, will do much to call attention to the fact that this great civilized country of ours is rushing onward toward the obliteration of a great civil as well as religious institution—the Sabbath. The Congress will discuss the question in its sanitary, social, industrial, political, and religious phases.

The action of the Democratic Convention of the State of New York in instructing the delegation on the basis of the unit rule to vote for the nomination of Judge Alton B. Parker for President, occasioned no surprise to the country at large. It was a foregone conclusion that David B. Hill would absolutely control the Convention, and that he would be in favor of instructing the delegation for Parker. Tammany under the leadership of Murphy and Bourke Cockran worked for an uninstructed delegation. There is much bad feeling between Tammany and the dominant wing of the party. It being the fact that the election of a Democratic President is absolutely dependent on the Democrats carrying New York, that as New York city goes the whole State goes, and that the whole State cannot go Democratic without securing the co-operation of Tammany, the interesting question is now, "How will the breach between Tammany and the dominant wing of the party be healed so as to make victory possible?"

Everything points to the nomination of Judge Parker at the National Convention in July. While the country at large knows very little of him, yet the most earnest advocates of the other aspirants seem unable to find anything against him.

The A. & N. C. R. R. Investigating Committee, from all reports, is hard at work looking into the affairs of the much discussed road. The Committee is working behind closed doors, and consequently the people at large are very much disappointed. We cannot believe, however, under the circumstances that Governor Aycock who will receive the report of the Committee will hesitate to give to the public as early as possible the full report of the investigation, including the slightest details. The people are expecting this. They have a right to expect it, and Governor Aycock is a man whose wisdom we believe may be relied upon in this matter.

A certain prominent preacher in New York City has produced quite a sensation by saying in a public address that the church is becoming effeminate on account of the unwonted activity of the female members in church work. Indeed! Has this preacher just now opened his eyes to the fact that the women are at work? Their Christian activity as compared with that of the men has been unusual ever since those trembling, pale-faced women glided through the gray of early morning to the empty sepulchre of their Lord. The centuries-old effeminating process has resulted in the richest victories the cause of righteousness has ever won, and our prayer is that the process may be perpetual. In other words, to repeat a common question," what would become of the church if it were not for the active devotion of the women?" Let that preacher open his eyes a little wider, and if gray matter is not lacking, he will hush his truly ridiculous ululation.

Russia has suffered a most crushing reverse in the sinking of her best battleship and the death of Vice-Admiral Makaroff. On the night of April 13th, the Japanese torpedo boats laid mines in the outer harbor, and on the next day decoyed the Russian fleet to a point where it was surrounded by the whole Japanese fleet. The Russian ships made their way in flight to the harbor at Port Arthur. During the flight the cruiser Pabcido was badly damaged and the Russian torpedo boat Strashni was sunk. The Patropavlovsk, under the command of Vice-Admiral Makaroff, was just getting ready to enter the inner harbor when a submarine mine was exploded. The ship "turned turtle"—that is turned upside down, and quickly sank with Admiral Makaroff and about nine hundred men.

Since April 14, the Japanese fleet has bombarded Port Arthur, but without inflicting any great damage. There is nothing new in the land operations. The Russian army cannot complete its arrangements for the campaign before early summer. What the Japanese will do before that time is the question.

Contributions

South Carolina Letter.

S. A. WEBER.

The late George W. Ivey, the father of the editor of the Raleigh Advocate, was one of the best examples of self-education in the ministry I have known. I have been a close observer in matters of this kind since my first connection with my Conference, at which time Brother Ivey and I were members of the same body. He was a close student in his early ministry and continued to be so as long as I knew him. His elaborate and well-prepared sermons were in evidence of his habits of study. He comes up vividly before me in connection with an experience I have had today. One of our Conference undergraduates was showing me this morning his examination papers, specimens of the work he is doing under the direction of Prof. Cuninggim, of the Vanderbilt Theological Seminary. I could not but think, as I casually examined these papers, how very superior are the advantages of our youthful theologues now, as compared with that I used to be familiar with whether as an undergraduate student, or, as has been frequently my case, a member of a Committee of Examination. This new departure argues well for our coming young men if they will only appreciate and use their better chance.

We are on the eve of Easter decoration and of Easter services in our little church here in Yorkville. To-night (Good Friday) our pastor is to conduct a service in keeping with this solemn anniversary. Last Sunday we began Passion Week with a celebration of Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem (Palm Sunday). The facts of the resurrection, with its suggested doctrines, will be to the fore in all the worship and service of next Sunday. We make quite a good deal of this occasion in the S. C. Conference. Preaching on the resurrection is quite general among our preachers on this glad day; and dressing our churches in flowers and evergreens is getting to be quite common with our principal congregations. What with our Passion Week observances and our new order of church service, we are surely not only a Methodist Church, but, to be sure, a Methodist Episcopal Church. (I won't say a small-case "m" and a capital "E.") In the matter of literature and the like, we have as much right to copy from the Anglicans as they have to copy from the Romans. They improved on Rome—the Episcopalians did—and we improve on them. And so it goes. Reverting to the new order of services, we here fell into it quite easily and gracefully. And I confess that I like it. Doing things decently and in order is very much to my liking. It is only an unreasoning and an unreasonable prejudice that will allow this new departure in our worship to make it less a means of grace than a simpler service and ceremony.

Bishop Ellison Capers spent last Wednesday in diocesan work in our town. I heard him twice and very much enjoyed hearing him preach. He is a son of our Bishop William Capers, and was at one time an exhorter in our church. He is every whit a Capers—a genial, Christians gentleman of the old school and a refreshing preacher of the gospel of love. I do so love this dear, good man. I have known him a long time. We were at one time pastors in the same town. That was a long time ago. He had more hair on the top of his head then than now, and while I have about as much now as then, it is of a different color. Yes, he is a venerable man both in character and looks, and is a man of very great influence in South Carolina. He was a brave Confederate brigadier, and is a battle-scarred veteran. His ghostly office and his military record give him an entree such as perhaps no other man has to all classes of society in our State.

Our colleges are doing well. Never better—never quite as well. South Carolina gives proof that supply creates or, at least, increases demand in the matter of educational facilities. In the multiplication of our opportunities here there has been a constant increase of patronage. Our church schools—Wofford College at Spartanburg and our female colleges at Columbia and Williamston—are doing a fine work if one may judge from the number of students in attendance and from the style of young men and maidens who emanate from their halls. Our principle need is money—money for the new and improved plants of our two female institutions; one to be removed from Columbia to the suburbs of the city and the other from Williamston to the city of Greenwood, fifty miles away. Yes, and money—and a good deal of it—for the better endowment of Wofford College. An especial effort is being made this year—Wofford's semi-centennial—for its better endowment. We want (in the sense of both "need" and "desire") $100,000 to make our endowment somewhat adequate to our imminent necessities.

You have already made editorial reference to the recent recent death of Dr. Osgood Andrew Darby (1828-1904) and of his excellent wife who preceded him to the grave by just ten days. They both died quite suddenly. They leave an only child, Dr. Frank Darby, the President of the South Carolina Medical Society. Dr. Darby's ministry was given in part (in the early stages of it) to North Carolina. He was a boy pastor in Wadesboro in the early fifties, and some years afterwards served the Pineville, Shelby and Lincolnton Circuits. He came to be one of the very first men amongst us. Served some of our best appointments both in stations and districts. He was for quite a number of years (nine years) President of the Columbia Female College. He represented us in the General Conferences at Atlanta (1878) and Louisville (1882). He was a polished gentleman and a sweet-spirited Christian. He was a cultured, strong and sometimes very eloquent preacher. He was educated in the schools of his native city (Charleston), and after that, at the Cokesbury Institute and the South Carolina Military Academy.

Our Presiding Elders are just beginning their second round. During the first they all held their Missionary Institutes. I am more and more impressed with the wisdom of this new feature of our economy. They prove with us to be very useful occasions, serving the purpose of intellectual and spiritual attrition. The preparation and discussion of papers on different phases of the missionary cause and movement must be of service; first, subjectively to those taking part in these exercises and services, and then, objectively to the church through their influence and spiritual contagion. It is a means and an occasion of seed-sowing. And may it not prove that we who go forth bearing precious seed shall in due time come with rejoicing bringing our sheaves with us.

God bless you!

Yorkville, S. C., April 1, 1904.

The Mode of Baptism.—No. II.

REV. M. H. TUTTLE.

Again, when Christ dined with the Pharisee, it is said that he marveled because Christ did not baptize Himself before eating. "A certain Pharisee brought Him to dine with him; and He went in, and sat down to meat. And when the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed (baptized Himself) before dinner." (Luke 11:38.) Here again, the word in the original, which our translators have correctly translated by the term wash, is the famous Greek word baptize. The word in this passage certainly does not mean to immerse. If it did, then the Pharisee expected Christ to immerse Himself before He ate, and marveled because he failed to do so. The whole truth is the Pharisee expected Him only to wash His hands and His arms from the elbows down, according to the custom of the Jews in purifying. Christ had been mingling with the multitude. It was His need of ceremonial cleansing in the ordinary way, therefore, which the Pharisee had in mind. That cleansing was always by sprinkling or pouring. It was performed with water in motion. "Running" water, or "living" water, was prescribed for these ceremonial purifications. (Lev. 14:5, 6.; Num. 19:17.) The Saviour, therefore, was not expected even to dip so much as His hands in the water; but the "living" water would have been poured or sprinkled upon His hands and arms. The Jew would have been shocked at the idea of dipping his hands into the basin. The basin or vessel used was not for the purpose of dipping the hands into, but for catching the falling or waste water. This, then, in this noted passage, is all that is meant by the word baptize. This, of itself, ought to be sufficient to decide the whole controversy as to the meaning of the word baptize.

Once again, in the Book or Eccleiasticus 34:25, we read this passage: "He that is purified (baptized) from a dead body, and touches it again, what does his cleansing (baptism) profit him?" The manner of cleansing from a dead body is laid down in the nineteenth chapter of Numbers. And the only and entire process required was that the ashes of a burnt heifer should be put into a vessel, running water added thereto, and this water sprinkled upon the unclean with a bunch of hyssop in the hands of a clean person. "Whosoever in the open field toucheth one that is slain with a sword, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days. And for the unclean they shall take of the ashes of the burnt heifer of purification of sin, and running water shall be put thereto in a vessel: And a clean person shall take hyssop, and dip it in the water, and shall sprinkle it upon him that touched the bone, or the slain, or the dead, or the grave: And the clean person shall sprinkle upon the unclean on the third day, and on the seventh day." (Num. 19:16-19.) Thus we see that the entire process of cleansing or purifying (baptizing) from a dead body, to which the author of the Book of Ecclesiasticus refers, was by sprinkling, and yet he calls it baptism. This clear passage alone ought to settle the question of the meaning of the word baptize in every candid mind.

Had we the time and space we could refer you to other similar passages, but the above ought to be sufficient. You will notice in these passages of Scripture which we have examined, that the word baptize, in every case, means to purify; and all these purifications were effected by sprinkling or pouring. Therefore sprinkling and pouring, as valid modes of baptism, might safely rest here; but to make the argument still more complete, we shall now examine a few examples of the administration of baptism recorded in the New Testament.

The first example we notice is the baptism of the apostle Paul, recorded in Acts 9:18; 22:16. The facts in this case are briefly these: He was baptized in the city of Damascus. He was baptized on the street called Straight. He was baptized in the house of Judas. He was baptized not lying down in water, but standing, either on his knees or feet; for Ananias said to him, "Arise, and be baptized." It is not reasonable to suppose that Paul was baptized by immersion, in the city of Damascus, on the street called Straight, in the house of Judas, particularly as it is said, "Standing up he was baptized." Here, then, we have an illustrious example of baptism in the private dwelling house of Judas, and it would be bare-faced presumption to contend that Paul was immersed. To make immersion out of such a case as this, would require a degree of skill in logic to which no one has yet attained.

Our next example is the baptism of the Philippian jailer and his family. He was convicted by the miraculous interposition of God in the deliverance of Paul and Silas, whom he had in his custody as prisoners. At the hour of midnight the earthquake shook the prison to its foundations, the doors flew wide open, the prisoner's bound hands were loosed, and the alarmed jailor running in brought them from the inner prison into the outer apartments and there inquired of the apostles what he must do to be saved. Paul and Silas instructed him. The jailer washed their stripes; and the apostles baptized him and all his family. Now if they had to leave the prison, and grope off at midnight, out of the city, and into the surrounding country, no one can tell where, in search of a river, creek, or pond to baptize this family in, is it not strange that nothing is said on the subject? It is gratuitous to assume that in this heathen prison there was a pool or tank ready prepared for immersion. Hence if there was any immersion in this case, they must have left the prison and gone out in search of some suitable place for it. Now, is it not folly to suppose that the jailer, just recovered from his terrible fright about the supposed escape of his prisoners, could have been induced so soon after, in bold violation of law, to lead these same prisers from the jail, out through the city into the country, in search of a place for the administration of an ordinance of which, till that hour, he had never heard? No one, however credulous, can believe this to be at all probable. When in the morning, the magistrates sent the sergeants, saying, "Let these men go," and Paul was informed of it, he replied, "They have beaten us openly uncondemned, being Romans, and have cast us into prison; and now do they thrust us out privily? Nay, verily; but let them come themselves and fetch us out." And they positively refused to leave the prison till the magistrates came themselves and legally released them. Now we ask, could this conduct of these holy men of God, in the light of the morning, be reconciled with the supposition that they had already, under the dark cover of midnight, not only left the jail, but wandered off, none can tell where, in search of a place for immersion? To entertain such an idea would be almost blasphemous. However men may, in their zeal, convict themselves of absurdity in defense of a false theory, let them beware how they involve the holy apostles in hypocrisy and crime. Here we have a clear case of baptism by sprinkling or pouring. The circumstances of this baptism preclude any other mode. A small portion of the water which the jailer brought into the prison to wash the apostle's stripes with, was sufficient for his baptism and that of his family. How plain and simple is the truth!

(To be Continued.)

The Old-Time Camp-Meeting.

REV. R. H. WHITAKER.

Camp-meetings were very common away back in the forties and fifties, and, as I recollect them, they were not only very enjoyable, as social gatherings, but very great spiritual blessings to those who attended them to be benefited. I think it likely that many young readers of the Advocate never heard of a camp-meeting, and for their benefit I will describe one.

There in a grove, we see a sort of pavilion which covers a stand, or pulpit, and an altar. In front of the stand, under a bush arbor, are several rows of seats made by laying planks across logs. The altar in front of the stand, and also between the seats, are thickly carpeted with wheat straw. The altar and seats referred to are for the white congregation. In the rear of the stand similar arrangements are made for the colored people. Running around the stand, altars and seats, and forming a hollow square, are the tents, twenty or thirty of them. These are log cabins of various sizes, but all of them are floored with straw, and divided into apartments by hanging up quilts or blankets, so that a tent serves for sitting-room, dining-room and sleeping room, and some tents will accommodate, comfortably, fifteen or twenty people at night, besides feeding many others in the day.

The preachers have a tent all to themselves, and are just as comfortable sleeping on feather beds and eating around at the various tents as if they were at home. Five services are held each day. In the first place there is the sunrise prayer service. A man, with a tin trumpet, goes around by the tent doors and blows a long blast, soon after day, which is a notice to sleepers to rise and get ready for prayers. At sunrise he sounds the trumpet again, and the tent doors begin to fly open, and the people come pouring out to the prayer service. A preacher is generally selected for each morning service, but usually they all come out; if not when the service begins, they'll be at the close so as to be invited to breakfast by some tent-holder.

A camp-meeting breakfast is something to be remembered, for the farmers have been fattening pigs and procuring lambs and chickens for the occasion, and their wives know exactly how to prepare things in the very best style to tempt the appetite.

At eight o'clock the man of the trumpet sounds another long blast, which is a signal for eight o'clock preaching. As the country people have not yet come in, the morning congregation is small, so one of the smaller preachers is put for that hour, the heavier gun being held in reserve for the eleven o'clock service. But it frequently happens that the eight o'clock smaller gun does better execution than the bigger one at eleven o'clock. This eight o'clock service is held principally for the purpose of giving the tent-holders a service extra, and in consideration of the trouble and expense they have to incur in providing for the meeting.

When the trumpet announces the eleven o'clock service, the seats are pretty well filled, but still they come—carriages, wagons, carts and scores of people on horse-back. The singers in the altar are making the old hills ring with songs of melody while the new-comers are peering in this direction for eligible seats. Most of the preachers are in the stand, but the one who is to preach has not yet left the preacher's tent, where he is lingering for a few moments of meditation and earnest prayer. But I see him coming now; and his head is bowed as if he felt the weight of an awful responsibility resting upon him.

Late comers are crowding into the altar and finding seats upon the pulpit steps, and the tent-holders have closed their doors and seated themselves, in chairs, on the outskirts of the congregation. When the preacher rises to read his hymn a sea of faces is before him, and as he slowly and solemnly, yet with a smile of joy beaming on his face, reads—

"Amazing grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me!
I once was lost, but now I'm found,
Was blind, but now I see!"

a thrill runs through the vast audience that is perceptible to even the casual observer. And oh, how to the tune of old "Mear," the great congregation is pouring forth, in sweetest melody, thanksgivings as they raptuously sing:

"Through many dangers, toils and snares,
I have already come;
'Tis grace has brought me safe thus far,
And grace will lead me home."

The man who has never heard a thousand good voices singing, "Amazing Grace," to the tune of "Mear," at a camp-meeting, has yet to hear the grandest music that mortals can make. The preacher is lining out the hymn, and what a halo of delight is on his face as he reads the last verse:

"Yea, when this flesh and heart shall fail,
And mortal life shall cease;
I shall possess within the vail,
A life of joy and peace."

O, what a prayer the preacher is praying! He seems to be talking with God, as if He were, indeed, present. How the "Amens" come from every quarter, and what moans I hear, in the altar and in the congregation, from troubled souls! There's a shout! An old mother in Israel is praising her Redeemer for the grace which brought salvation to her, while there are sobbings, as if hearts were breaking all around. The Holy Spirit is present. We all realize His presence, and are praying that He may

"Kindle a flame of sacred love
In all these hearts of ours."

The preacher is having "liberty" today. He seems to be in close touch with God. His soul is on fire; and, standing behind the cross, his cry is: "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world!" And, with the eye of faith, we see that bruised and mangled form, hanging, with bowed head, upon a cruel tree; and, as He is about to give up the ghost, we hear Him say, "It is finished!" The atonement has been made. The debt has been paid: and whosoever will may come and be saved.

The preacher is extending an invitation, and sinners are rushing to the altar. The cries of penitents are as the wailings of the lost. Men, strong men, old and young, are crying for mercy, while women, rich and poor, are kneeling side by side, and sobbing, as if their hearts were breaking. The old-fashioned songs, so full of melody, and true gospel inspiration, are being sung with the spirit and with the understanding. Some of the saints are shouting and praising God; and, going out into the congregation, I see them leading friends and neighbors, who come weeping, to the altar of prayer. One after another, in quick succession, men, women and children, are converted, and, ever and anon, waves of glory seem to be rolling over the vast audience, sweeping everything before them. For an hour, yea, two hours, the scene is indescribably awful, yet glorious.

At 3 o'clock and, again at night, we witness similar scenes; and so, for a week the gospel fires burn, and scores and even hundreds are converted; the saints are strengthened with might by His Spirit in the inner man, backsliders are brought back to the shepherd and bishop of their souls; and sinners, who were in the galul of bitterness and in the bonds of iniquity, are made to rejoice in a saving knowledge of Christ.

That's an old-time campmeeting.

Some fifteen years ago I was invited to make a Sunday-school address at old Buckhorn, in Chatham County. During the intermission I went up the hill, from the church, to the site of the old camp-ground. How changed! Nevertheless, I could locate everything. There stood the pavilion, and there was the altar, and there were the arbor and the seats; and looking to the front, as well as to the right and left, memory brought back the scenes of long ago. In imagination I saw the tent doors all open and the men and women I used to know so well, standing or sitting about those doors: the Avents', the Crosses, the Raglands, the Rollins', the Pegrams, the Mims', the Partridges, the Booths, the Dennis's, the Prince's, the Burts, who were always regular attendants there, and whose faces, to memory, looked so natural.

I went to the spot, as nearly as I could, where I was kneeling, 58 years ago, when I believed in Christ as my Savior; and, all alone, I sat and thought of that day, and that hour, and that moment, when the new life began. What a glorious day to the many of us who believed! Yes, I sat and thought it all over; and while, with all my soul, I praised the Lord for keeping me safely, and bringing me back, once more, to that sacred spot, yet the stillness and the loneliness of feeling, as I remembered that hundreds of those who had worshipped there, whom I had known and loved, were gone to the spirit land, sent a thrill of sadness through my soul.

Oh, how changed! Pavilion, altar, arbor, seats, tents, all gone; and, in their places, large trees had grown up; and, instead of the songs, and the prayers, and the praise of the long ago, a painful silence told me how ruthless had been the ravages of time.

Campmeetings had their day, and thousands of souls in glory will forever be thankful for them. If I had to choose between going to the finest cathedral in the world and listening to the grandest music, or going to an old-time campmeeting, I think I should go to the campmeeting.

Campmeetings are still kept up in some places; but they are not as they were in the early days of Methodism, when our church was yet in the wilderness, and the Canaan of her success was still ahead. Then we dwelt in tents and worshipped in tabernacles; and talked of the days to come, when we should reach the Mount Zion of our hopes and expectations, and build thereon a temple, commemorative of the trials and struggles through which we had come, and typical of Methodism's glorious future.

Our church worships no longer in tabernacles, but in temples. The tents have all been torn down and folded away, as things of the past; and this favored generation knows but little of the early struggles of a church that had its birth in the coal mines of England, and, for a hundred years preached and prayed and sung and shouted its way, through a wilderness of opposition and difficulty, equal to that through which Israel went from Kadish-Barnea to the crossing of the Jordan. What a glorious thing for Methodism was the old time campmeeting!

The Field

A Wise Suggestion.

Editor Advocate:—The season for Sunday-school excursions and picnics is here. Let all the schools that possibly can go on an excursion to Raleigh and picnic on the Orphanage grounds. Let the schools take along enough dinner and refreshments for themselves, the children, teachers and superintendent of the Orphanage. Let the children (and large people too) of the Sunday-schools of the State mix and become acquainted with the orphans and sunny-spirited superintendent, and I venture the prediction that the collections from the schools for the Orphanage will increase one hundred per cent.

As a member of Smithfield Lodge, N. 84, A. F. and A. M., I entertained, for two days, two of a class sent out from Oxford. Since then my children have been intensely interested in orphans.

Yours truly, H. COLE.

Smithfield, N. C., April 5, 1904.

A Word About the Future of Greensboro Female College.

L. L. SMITH.

Under this caption, Rev. A. J. Parker, of Manteo, writes an article in last week's Advocate, the conclusion of which, at this late day, surprises me very much.

He proposes to sell out at Greensboro and to build at Durham.

Such a proposition is now too late and out of the question. I have no objection to the building of a Female College at Durham in connection with Trinity College, or anywhere else, but I do not consider the selling out at Greensboro and using the proceeds to build elsewhere an open question at this time.

For soon after the fire, which destroyed the college, the trustees, appointed by the two Conferences, were called together at Greensboro, and they carefully considered the whole matter, and after due deliberation, decided to rebuild on the old site, and accepted a plan and appointed a building committee to begin the work as soon as $35,000 shall have been subscribed.

Now since that action has been taken and announced by the trustees, it is too late to reopen the question and to begin the agitation of selling out at Greensboro and building elsewhere, and to do so is but throwing obstacles in the way of this great and important enterprise of the Methodist Church in North Carolina.

In fact, the selling out at Greensboro and using the money to build elsewhere, in my opinion, has never been a practical question. When the college was closed last summer the Alumnae Association, with unsurpassed devotion, zeal and enthusiasm, came to the rescue, and in thirty days raised $25,000 and purchased the stock, and afterwards transferred a good title to the property to a board of trustees appointed by the two North Carolina Conferences.

Now since the insurance money has practically paid the bonded debt, the Methodist Church of North Carolina owns the property clear of incumbrance.

But when the appeal was made for contributions to purchase the stock, not only liberal responses came from different sections of the State, but also the greater part thereof came from Greensboro, and not only the Methodists of Greensboro, but the people generally in that splendid city manifested a most commendable liberality in behalf of their time-honored institution. Of course they all were assisting in the preservation of Greensboro Female College; and now as soon as the title is secured to the church, the proposition is made to sell the beautiful site, with its hallowed associations and brick walls standing erect, and to take the proceeds and build a college somewhere else.

It would not be right, and it would be acting in bad faith towards the good people of Greensboro; and for one, I shall not be a party to it.

I have no feeling whatever against any proposition to build a college elsewhere, but instead of throwing obstacles in the way, let all loyal Methodists all over the State send in their contributions, and that the good work begin at once. It is too important to be neglected or forgotten.

Speaking for the trustees, and especially for the Alumnae Association, I wish to announce—Greensboro Female College will be rebuilt on the old site, with modern improvements, conveniences and equipment, and the "two Conferences" will not be called upon "to assume a debt of $200,000," or any other sum.

Let us have faith, and good works: and building, equipment, and endowment will follow.

Down by the Seashore.

A trip to Morehead City and Beaufort will make you feel better for going. They are, and have been in the past, the leading summer resorts of North Carolina, and continue to grow in popularity.

Morehead City is beautifully situated, bound on the south and east by Bogue Sound; in fact, almost surrounded by water, which makes it a most delightful place for recreation and pleasure. Once going to this place you will want to go again, especially after meeting such good and congenial people as the writer finds in these places. These people have the manhood and womanhood enough to stamp out the curse and corruption of these towns, and by this means they have now prohibition, and the writer is informed that business is better, and these places are growing rapidly in both population and Christianity. Go forward, Christians, and continue to work for the good of the Lord and you will be rewarded.

The waves on the sea are beautiful. As I stood and gazed upon them, they reminded me of a passage in the Bible, that a man in his sins is restless and cannot be at ease.

God is the key to life. Life is a miracle. The budding of a rose and the birth of a soul are alike beyond our comprehension, and could we trace vitality to its source,ordinary events would be as impressive as extraordinary. To Drummond the natural was as miraculous as the supernatural. No scientist has ever discovered life, or defended it. It is the touch of God on a dead world. A flower blooms, a bird sings, a brain thinks, a soul loves, when the mystery, which we call life, is present. The moment it is gone the blossom fades, the song ceases, the brains dissolves into dust and the spirit escapes. He who holds the key to life holds the secret of the universe. I hope that I will have the pleasure of again visiting this beautiful place and these God-fearing people.

Very respectfully, B. C. GLOVER,
Travelling Representative Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Easter Celebration.

Mr. Editor:—My apology for sending you this squib for publication in the Advocate is, that the propriety of giving some public notice to our Bethel Sunday-school Easter celebration, upon the ground that it is expected of me, has been represented to me by a member of my church. The occasion was one of very considerable interest. The weather was favorable, and the entire seating capacity of the church was appropriated. The pulpit and chancel were tastefully decorated, measuring up to the ideal of educated esthetic taste.

The program was thoughtfully arranged, and the exercises throughout were very impressive and in harmony with the character of the event which they were designed to commemorate.

Much credit is due Miss Mann and Miss Creef, two of the popular teachers in our growing graded school.

In concluding the exercises, the pastor delivered a short address, which was accepted as a substitute for a sermon on the resurrection of our Lord. W. H. KIRTON.

Bethel, N. C.

Carver's Creek Circuit.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—If you will give me just a little space I will write a few words from Carver's Creek Circuit. The Bishop saw fit to appoint me to this work for the third year, and the people received us very kindly and pleasantly, and we have received many acts of kindness and many words of cheer and encouragement have been spoken to us by our people. We have been the recipients of two nice poundings—one by the good people of Wayman, and the other by kind people of Shiloh, and aside from these, we have received many presents—articles varying in size from a package of coffee to a ham with side and shoulder attached.

We very much appreciate such kindness. It is substantial help in our home, and the kind feeling and spirit that prompts such acts cheer and encourage the pastor. May God bless the dear people, and help us to go in and out among them and serve them as an humble servant of God. I have found some of God's elect on every charge that it has been my privilege to serve. There is quite a number of them on my present charge. Many of them will hear the welcome plaudit, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord."

I am glad to say the outlook on the work is encouraging. We are building one new church; have most of the material to finish another, and have another in process of being painted. We have organized one Missionary Society since Conference that has started off well.

Truly, we have great cause to thank God and take courage.

You are giving us a good paper. I am glad whenever I can secure a new subscriber for it.

Yours in Christ,

J. J. PORTER.

Notes From Grimesland and Vanceboro Circuit.

My first quarterly meeting has just passed. Brother Bundy came and made himself very useful in that he preached on Saturday and then three times on Sunday. If I am to judge from what I heard of him and his preaching, he made a very favorable impression. I think he is a worthy Presiding Elder.

This circuit has a plenty of work for me to do; but I trust that if the mosquitoes will be peaceful in the summer that I can attend to it.

There are a number of good people on this charge who are a help to the pastor. There are others who are careless and indifferent. If I was not so modest, I could mention some names at two of my churches at least who have been helpful to us both materially and spiritually. They have rendered us a much needed service in giving many things, such as hams, butter, lard, potatoes, etc. Doctor, is this what some of the preachers call pounding? If so, I have been pounded!

It is my great desire and prayer to bring up the collections in full and to increase the missionary spirit on this work, because both are very much needed, and especially the latter.

I have taken a collection in three of my congregations for the American Bible Society, and raised about $7.00, and want to take it in all. Last year only one dollar was raised for this worthy cause.

Every one that takes the Advocate speaks in highest praise of it. It has been but very little trouble to get subscribers, but the field has been canvassed and do not think that I can do much more now.

With best wishes. B. E. STANFIELD.

A Good Word for the Advocate.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—I have been a subscriber to your paper many, many years. It is a great comfort to me in my lonely declining years. I ask you and all the readers to pray for me that I may be enabled, by His grace, to say "thy will, not mine, be done."

"I am waiting, only waiting, till this weary life is o'er."

Your sister in Christ,

MRS. M. E. DAILEY.

Yanceyville, N. C., March 13, 1904.

"Is It Wise" Considered.

Dear Advocate:—Under the caption, "Is it wise," purposter to have been written by "Methodist" in the Advocate of April 6th, we find some amazing things suggested.

The writer argues that while some who live in mission fields have luxurics that the whole field should be self-sustaining. From the same standpoint our free schools should not be tolerated because there are those all over the State who are able to pay tuition for their children. He forgets that the best material, perhaps, is to be quarried from the cabin home where there is squalor more often than luxury.

Our mission circuits, especially, are not to be put on trial balance as to financial profit—though in most cases they will even stand that test—but for the higher benefit we get from the often meagre assistance we render them.

If "Methodist" will read the "Gospel among the Slaves," by the sainted Harrison, he will discover that Methodism owes much to missions.

Before we established missions the pastors' salaries were at a minimum, scant enough for "Methodist," who observed the closest manner of living. Out only the "wear and tare" of equipment, for they lodged among the membership and received $60 per year.

After the missionary was sent out among the rich planters to minister to master and slave, the wonderful change took place among the slaves: they became religious. Their hearts getting right made them of more value to their owners, which resulted in saving, as well as making, much wealth to the rich planter who was honest enough to see and acknowledge it. And he said: "Sir, I must pay you some of this increased wealth which your gosnel has brought to us." Consequently, the first man to get a respectable salary was our missionary.

The mission appointment stood at the top. Just where it ought to stand. Pay the missionary enough so he can do his work without being cramped.

The bishop said: "We sent out missionaries because we believed the Bible. We now believe the Bible because we are sending them."

If we would destroy our faith, take "Methodist's" advice and withdraw support from our mission fields at home. Here is where we find the very men who are to take charge of the affairs of the church in the future day.

Don't get weary of well doing, brother. If you are in the ministry, ask for one of these places and learn its worth; and when you write about such an important matter, sign your name.

Fraternally, H. G. STAMEY.

Troy, N. C., April 12, 1904.

Letter From a "Transfer."

Dear Dr. Ivey:—This is my first letter to the Advocate since I transferred to this Conference, and I simply wish to say, that I have gotten back home and gone to work. Fourteen year's hard work in the Western North Carolina Conference have wrought some change in me, and the same have wrought quite a change in the old Conference to which I return. I was more than pleased with the warm welcome I received at Goldsboro, and with the work to which I was assigned. I did not expect the best charge in the Conference; but I have no doubt I got it. A kinder and more congenial people I never served. They fixed my salary at $800.00, but they have already given me over $100 not included in the salary.

We have undertaken the erection of a new church at Lumberton, one at Barkers, and another at Regans. So, you see, there is work ahead, besides four protracted meetings to be held in the summer. This 250-pounder will likely blow a few times before he gets through with all this work.

But, I feel that God is with me, and I was never happier in my life. God has wonderfully blessed our labors here.

Brother Glenn has just closed a most glorious meeting at Lumberton. Over one hundred conversions or professions of faith; the churches of the town quickened, and forty-three accessions to the Methodist Church, twenty-nine to the Baptist, thirteen to the Presbyterian, and eight to the Tabernacle. I need not say that Brother Glenn is a strong preacher; but I will, he is a growing preacher. He is the only evangelist or revivalist I know of who is improving as a preacher.

It was a treat to have him and his wife stop at the parsonage while here.

I have added sixty-six members to Lumberton Church alone since Conference.

The District Conference convenes here the fifth Sunday in May; or, rather, embraces that Sunday. We shall expect you, Mr. Editor, to stop at the parsonage with your Conference classmate, whose wife is also an old pupil of yours from Gaston County.

Brother Cole, our new Presiding Elder, is in high favor with his people. He looks after every interest of the church. To know him is to love him. We are always glad to have him at Lumberton.

Come to see us.

Your friend and brother, Z. PARIS.

Lumberton, N. C., April 8, 1904.

Beaufort Station.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—For sometime I have been thinking of writing something from Beaufort, but have put it off from time to time until now. One third of the Conference year is now behind us. How time flies! It seems only a few weeks since I bade the good people of Greenville good-bye; and here I am feeling very much at home with a people, that four months ago, were strangers. But no Methodist preachers can be among strangers very long in Beaufort. These people have made the preacher and his family feel perfectly at home with them.

Our Quarterly Conference embraced the fourth Sunday in February. At that time we began a series of meetings which continued about three and a half weeks. Dr. Swindell was with us the first week, and a part of the second and third weeks and did valuable service. He preached nine strong and impressive sermons. The results, so far as the visible part of it is concerned, were ten conversions, several reclaimed, four accessions to the church, and the church, generally, revived. While the results were not all that we desired and hoped for, yet we feel that we are in better shape for work in all the departments of the church than we were before.

Last Thursday night these good people gave us a surprise in the shape of a "pounding." A goodly number came to the parsonage and brought tokens of love and appreciation and deposited them in the dining-room. Of course we appreciated the pounding, but we appreciate the spirit which prompted it more.

Last Sunday—Easter—we raised on the Conference collections, $228.77. We hope to raise the entire amount before District Conference.

H. M. EURE.

Smithfield Station.

Mr. Editor:—I will send you a few notes from Smithfield station. You know this is our first year as a station. I came from Conference, received a most cordial greeting by the brethren, and all the work of the station began most auspiciously. The congregations were large during all the inclement weather of the long winter. We began with one hundred and fifty-two members; have had twenty-one additions, and only five removals. We have paid off the debt of over two hundred dollars on the parsonage and replaced with superior furniture, that which went to Selma, let by the division, at a cost of about one hundred dollars, and paid in full, up to date, the salaries of pastor and Presiding Elder.

Bro. T. R. Hood, with his corps of efficient and faithful officers and teachers, is making a fine Sunday-school. It is growing in interest and numbers. We have organized an Epworth League with fifty-two members, which promises much for our young people.

This excellent people have shown marked kindness to their pastor. The tokens of their appreciation of his services have been many; and on last Monday evening they collected a company and formed a procession of young and old, and led by Bro. W. S. Stevens, surrounded by a bevy of beautiful young girls, entered the parsonage, took possession of the dining-room and deposited there their numerous packages and bundles of the most choice groceries on the market. When the bright faces of the happy band were gone, and the sound of merry, cheerful voices had died away, the occupants of the parsonage entered the dining-room to take an inventory of the good things, and I thought of Paul's words to the Philippians.—4: 18-20. N. E. COLTRANE.

Atlantic.

Dear Advocate:—We reached this charge the 24th of December with family. Had preceded family two weeks, coming here the second Sunday after Conference. We were safely brought and well received and all housed and set up by night after arriving at 12 m. 24th.

Brethren and friends met us before we hardly stopped; they then saw us in the (rented) parsonage O. K.

At our first service we raised our Home Missions in full. Expect to pay all in full this year. Have raised money, bought and paid for new seats for church here, and they are in the church. Going to buy a bell for another—making up money for that now. Have doubled our appointments. The congregations and interest are good at the new points. Organized one new Sunday-school. Sunday-schools now at all points at which we preach. Are speaking of moving one church, and painting and otherwise improving two.

Hope we may have a good year. Some of our people take the Advocate—wish all did.

Yours in the field,

THOMAS W. MANSFIELD.

Clinton Circuit.

Dear Advocate:—We appreciated last week's paper very much. We enjoyed reading the letters from the different preachers, and especially did we enjoy a letter and a picture from our beloved former pastor, Bro. J. G. Johnson. We want him to write often, for Christ said, "Feed my sheep." We desire the sincere milk of the Word that we may grow thereby. If the preachers would all write regularly to the Advocate they could break the bread of life to the people they have served in time past, and thereby feed our hungry souls and perfect that which is lacking in our faith; for one word from those whom we have learned to love will do more good than a dozen from one we have never met.

I will close, with best wishes to the Advocate and its noble editor.

Yours in Christ,

MRS. J. B. R. MERRITT.

Notice to Pastors of Washington District.

Pastors please notify me by card a few days before Conference at Aurora how many of their delegates are coming. Also those that are coming by private conveyance will please inform me at once.

Fraternally, J. M. LOWDER,
Aurora, N. C.

We are glad to learn that Mr. F. P. Brown, one of the Advocate stockholders, and agent for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, has won one of the prizes offered to the agent writing the largest number of policies during the year. He gets a trip to the Exposition, all expenses paid. Brother Brown deserves it.

That part of your life which you still withhold from God is the very part you must surrender before God can be all in all to you. You must first be all for Him before He can be all in you.

Habit never dies of old age.

Our Boys and Girls

Clinton, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. My grandma takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little childrens' page.

I go to every-day school. My teacher is Prof. John I. Singletary.

I will answer David A. Bruton's question: It was Zaccheus, and he climbed it to see Jesus pass by.

Who took Mark and sailed unto Cyprus?

Yours truly,
SALLIE NEWMAN.

Camden, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am eleven years old. I go to Sunday-school. Papa is our Superintendent. Rev. W. E. Hocutt is our preacher, and we like him very much.

I have three brothers and two sisters.

Who knows the Golden Rule?

Enclosed you will find five cents for the Orphanage.

Your unknown friend,
HARRIET McPHERSON.

Keener, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years old. My mama and Papa are both living, and are Christians. Papa takes the Holiness Advocate, and I would like for him to take the Christian Advocate, for I would like to read the children's letters. We have a glorious prayer-meeting every Sunday night. I will close.

Yours truly,
LULA MAY GAUTIER.

Oxford, N. C., March 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I go to every day school. I have five sisters and three brothers.

Our school is just three weeks longer, and we are going to have an entertainment the last day.

We have preaching at our school-house every third Sunday.

I am a little twelve-year-old girl.

An unknown friend,
JESSIE MANGUM.

New Bern, N. C., Feb. 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher is Miss Ada Lane. Our Superintendent is Mr. Daniel Lane. He was Superintendent of the same school when mama was a girl, and is still at his post.

Papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. My mother and father are both living, and one of my grandmas.

I have five sisters and two brothers living. I enclose ten cents for the Orphaunge.

I will close by asking a question: How long was Noah in building the ark?

Your unknown friend,
EUNICE DIXON.

Glenaloon, N. C., March 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the letters from the little folks. I have seven sisters and one brother. We are all members of the M. E. Church, South,—all except the three small ones.

Your little unknown friend,
SHEPPIE HOWARD.

Keener, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy of fifteen. My papa and mama are both living. I have been going to school. My teacher's name was Mrs. A. M. Barbrey. She was a nice teacher. My school is out now, and I am helping my papa on his farm. You must excuse bad writing. My father does not take the Raleigh Christian Advocate, but I wish he would, for I love to read the childrens' letters. Well I must close, for I am sleepy. Good-night.

Yours truly,
NORMAN T. GAUTIER.

Oxford, N. C., March 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I go to school every day I can. My teacher's name is Mr. W. T. Allen, and I like him very much. I have five sisters and three brother.

Papa takes the Advocate, and I like to read the little boys' and girls' letters.

We do not have Sunday-school in the winter, we only have it in the summer. Our pastor is Rev. W. H. Puckett. We also have preaching at our school-house.

I will close before the waste basket catches me.

BESSIE MANGUM.

Hemp, N. C., March 2, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am twelve years old. I am going to school now. My teacher is Mr. J. E. Deaton.

I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher is Mrs. Hoyle. I think she is a fine teacher.

Papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters.

I will answer David Bruton's question: Zaccheus climbed the sycamore tree to see Jesus as he passed by.

How many people died at one time for murmuring against Moses and Aaron?

Your unknown friend,
MAGGIE M. BROWN.

Wanchese, N. C., Feb. 19, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I go to school, and my teacher is Miss Hattie Taylor, and I like her very well. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss Aldean Meekins, and I like her very well, and most everybody likes her.

I have two brothers and one sister living, and there are nine dead. My oldest sister has just died.

Well, I must close for this time.

CARLIE L. CAHOON.

Aberdeen, N. C., Feb. 28, 1903.

Dear Advocate:—Our Sunday-school has increased in interest and in number. I will tell you about it: Our Superintendent has got a banner to increase the Sunday-school. The way to increase is to have each class on a roll book, and the class that has the best attendance will get the banner. Class No. 2 got it the first two months. I hope our class will get it next time. Our class is No. 4. Rev. Mr. Oglesby is our pastor. Mr. H. A. Page is our Superintendent, and Mrs. Ellis is my teacher.

BROOKS SHARP.

Kenansville, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the letters from the little boys and girls. Our Sunday-school is not going on now.

I will answer David A. Burton's question: It was Zaccheus that climbed the sycamore tree, and he climbed it to see Jesus.

Inclosed find five cents for the Orphanage.

Yours truly,
BENNIE F. PEARSALL.

Meredith, Fla., Feb. 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—This is Sunday night, and my mama and I have just been reading the little folks' letters in the Advocate. I will answer Erl Sell's question: Solomon was the wisest man.

We have been down here all winter, and I have not seen any snow yet. I have seen the Gulf of Mexico and the St. Johns River, and alligators, and we have lots of oranges.

Sometimes I get home sick for our North Carolina home.

I will be seven years old in May, on Independence Day.

Your little friend,
ANGUS DEEMS PHILLIPS.

Smithfield, N. C., March 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I go to Sunday-school, and Miss Candice Sanders is my teacher. I like her very much. I go to every-day school, and my teacher is Miss Fannie Freeman, and I like her very much, too.

My mamma takes the Advocate, and I like to read the little boys' and girls' letters.

I inclose 10 cents for the Orphanage.

I will close, hoping to see my letter in print.

Your friend,
HELEN TOMLINSON.

Elease, N. C., March 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I have wanted to write to you a long time, but I have never been to school much, and cannot write well with pen and ink. I hoped to learn many things this winter, but have had whooping cough, and could not go to school all the time, especially in bad weather. All of my brothers and sisters(they are six) have whooping cough.

My grandma and one of my uncles take the Advocate, and I enjoy the children's column.

When our Presiding Elder, Mr. Hurley, came to see us last year he told us about the orphans in Raleigh, and I have been trying to earn a little money to send them. Enclosed find 20 cents—ten cents is sent by my little sister, Elizabeth. With best wishes for all the orphans, I am

Your friend,
ELLA C. COGDELL.

Oxford, N. C., March 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am nearly nine years old. I send three dollars to the Orphanage in memory of sister Hester, who went to Heaven two years ago last Christmas. She was in her ninth year. Not long before she left us Mrs. Ned Roberts, of Roberts Chapel, Granville Circuit, gave her and myself each a hen. We kept sister's ever since as a missionary hen, till we left Stem. We then gave the hen back to Mrs. Roberts's little boy Vasser, who still keeps her as a missionary hen. She did not always do well, but we received from the sale of her chickens four dollars and forty cents, which we divided equally between Foreign Missions and the Orphanage. To the last-named portion I have added thirty cents from my mite box. The remaining 50 cents of the $3.00 was sister Hester's money. It was given her when she was sick, and it has been in her little pocketbook ever since. Her love for children was beautiful, and she was so fond of our organ, that we know she would be glad for all of the little sum I send to help buy an organ for the little children at the Orphanage. If they have already bought it, then we would like it to be used for the Sunday-school library. We are so glad the Orphanage children have such a lovely, sweet lady as Mrs. Jenkins to care for them. We knew her as Miss Mattie Atwater. Please excuse this long letter.

With love to the Orphanage and Dr. Ivey, I will close.

Your little friend,
VIRGINIA R. PUCKETT.

Comic and Curious.

"This is certainly having words over nothing," mused the wireless telegraph operator as he sent a message.

* * *

"Why, Frankie, what are you reading in that book about bringing up children?"

"I'm just looking to see whether I'm being properly brought up."

* * *

Scribbler: "I'm writing a book called 'How to Live on Five Hundred Dollars a Year.'"

Scrawler: "What's your object?"

Scribbler: "To get the $500."

* * *

His Worship (to prisoner who has been up every month for years): "Ebenezer Noakes, aren't you ashamed to be seen here so often?"

"Bless yer worship, this place is respectable ter some places where I'm seen."

* * *

"Willie, you may finish this piece of pie if you want it," said mother. "It isn't enough to save."

"Mother," said Willie when he had finished it, "a boy in the family comes in very handy when there is a little bit of pie over, doesn't he?"

* * *

Mrs. Crawford: "So you haven't found the course of lectures on cooking you attended to be of much practical use?"

Mrs. Crabshaw: "No, my dear. They either told you how to prepare terrapin and canvasback, or else how to live on fifteen cents a day."

* * *

The printer who interpreted "s. c. hams" as South Carolina hams was surprised when the proofreader corrected the proof to "sugar-cured hams." Abbreviations are perilous things; as witness the expressman who had a package addressed to "Mr. Fish, c. o. d.," and who inquired at the address given for "Mr. Codfish."

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

As our readers have seen for several weeks past, Dr. Ivey kindly allowed us to have two columns of the Advocate for our missionary news and notes. But the demands upon his space for advertising purposes are such that he can, in the future, allow us but one column.

Send on your contributions, my dear sisters, as you have been doing—very much valuable missionary reading can be placed in that one column.

We appeal again to the Lady Managers of Bright Jewel Bands for communications in the Juvenile department.

There are a few District Secretaries yet to hear from. After the business of the Annual Meeting is over we know these Secretaries too, will gladly commend the work of their auxiliaries in our column.

Mrs. B. N. Mann, the faithful Secretary of the Fayetteville District, has moved to West Durham. There will be regret over her leaving that District where she has done good earnest work; but West Durham will rejoice to have her valuable assistance in the missionary work there.

The following article on the condition of affairs in her District will be read with interest:

"Dear Mrs. Dixon:—The 'bugle call' has been heard—the District Secretaries have awakened.

It gave me much pleasure to read Mesdames Gibbons and Horne's reports. They are fine, and bespeak well of the work done by those elect ladies in their respective Districts.

"As you inquired for the silent Districts, I take pleasure in answering the call for 'Old Fayetteville.' She is alive and progressive. The leaven has been at work. Her auxiliaries are in a flourishing condition. From each auxiliary comes the news: 'We have no delinquents, our dues have been collected.'

We made an effort this year to have the treasurers of the different auxiliaries collect all back dues. Thus we have to the credit of Fayetteville District, a larger amount of dues collected than in any previous year. We shall meet our Pledge.

Miss Mary Pescud, our consecrated missionary, visited many of the auxiliaries, rallying them, and giving them an insight into the grand work carried on in Brazil.

They raised between forty and fifty dollars, which were cheerfully given to Miss Mary to aid her in her work in the field.

"During the fiscal year, auxiliaries have been organized at Lillington, Goldston, Newton Grove; Golden Links at Carthage; Bright Jewels at Steadman.

Our membership shows a decided increase. Taking circumstances into consideration, I can truthfully say Fayetteville has done well. We have only one strong church within our borders—Hay Street, Fayetteville. The others are circuits—some mission churches, aided by the Board. With these facts before us, Fayetteville District, if she fall in line with the stronger, merits praise.

"In conclusion, I must say that I am proud of the work done. Our women—some in the face of adverse circumstances—have labored well, and we can say that God has indeed blessed our work, and that our women are awakening to their responsibility and trying to fulfill the commission of Christ given to Mary Magadalene, 'Go tell my brethren.'

"MRS. B. N. MANN,
"District Secretary."

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Annual Meeting April 27 to May 2, Selma.

You will be glad to hear that Rev. E. R. Welch will speak at our meeting on Friday evening, 8 p. m.—subject: "The Factory Problem in Our Conference."

During the session Dr. J. W. Jenkins will talk of our Orphanage.

Our President, as you see, is arranging a most interesting program, which I earnestly trust many will enjoy.

Notice.—The A. and N. C. R. R. will grant reduced rates to the Annual Meeting at Selma.

Amity Auxiliary, Lake Landing.

As requested, we write to tell you what our auxiliary of Amity Church is doing. At our last meeting, held March 9th, one-half the members were present; a baby roll was started with three names; a Florine Brigade with eight, and one new member joined us.

By members present dues in full were paid. The enrolment fees of children and new members were paid, except a few cents, which can be readily collected.

The Bulletin for the month was read, and some points carefully studied, especially "A Country Auxiliary," "What Might Have Been," and "Brigade Results." Our Brigade, we are proud to say, is made up of bright, active little girls and boys, that are awake to the usefulness of mite box work, and we feel sure they will find pleasure in giving to the Lord the mites collected by their own willing hands.

We have reason to believe the parents of these children will encourage and help them in many ways. It afforded us much pleasure to visit their homes and invite them to help us work for the dear Savior, who, while on earth, took little children in His arms and blessed them.

Literature sent by our Conference Corresponding Secretary was received too late to be distributed at the meeting, but will be sent out soon.

MRS. M. M. FISHER,
Corresponding Secretary.

New Deaconesses.

Mrsr. L. P. Lansby, Miss Maria Elliott, and Miss Mamie Olsen, will be consecrated as Deaconesses this spring. These make 9 to answer the call for 100! Who can sound the trumpet notes with which to arouse our women who are "at ease in Zion"? City missions are daily asking for workers, and on all sides there is pressing need for women to "join in solid phalanx of attack upon the power of darkness at our very doors."

Applied Christianity.

The Home Mission Society has been called "Applied Christianity." It should develop in our workers (mark the word—those who do not work cannot expect full development) every virtue taught by our Lord. The gamut of service extends from willing help for the most degraded, to the sweet self-sacrifice for those who love best, and the tender, personal interest in all around us. Can every Home Mission woman testify to a knowledge of these experiences?

Mission Notes.

There are now 6,838 preaching stations in Africa, and there are 3,051 missionaries laboring in the Dark Continent.

* * *

The German Christian Endeavor Union has offered to support one or two German missionaries in the Caroline Islands under the care of the American Board, thus filling the places of the English speaking missionaries whom the German government removed.

* * *

In Turkey, India and Ceylon, China, Africa and Japan, the American Board has a total of forty-two dispensaries and twenty-eight hospitals. The Missionary Herald states that 253,800 patients were treated in these hospitals last year, under the superintendence of forty American physicians, twelve of whom were women.

* * *

Bishop Graves writes from China that whereas the Chinese Government has to pay a salary to students to get them to attend the Government institutions for Confucian learning, the schools and colleges of the missionaries are crowded with young Chinese who are willing to pay liberally for their education out of their own pockets.

* * *

The Interdenominational Conference of representatives of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions in the United States and Canada will be held in the future once in two years. At the recent one, held in New York, a proposition that a summer school be held for the training of workers in women's boards received consideration and was referred to a committee to be composed of representatives of the various boards.

* * *

A new hospital has lately been opened at Tsang Chow, China, by the London Missionary Society. A big tablet was presented by the gentry, which states that the location is hereafter to be known by the name of Lo Shan Yuan, which means, "The place of those who delight in doing good." Nearly a thousand people were entertained on the day of opening, and many ornamental tablets and silk or satin scrolls and banners, with complimentary inscriptions, were received.

* * *

The past fifteen years have seen a marvelous growth, numerically, of Korean Christians. In the Methodist communion there are 10,000 enrolled Christians; in the Presbyterian 20,000 more, making 30,000 in all in evangelical Christianity. There are 55,000 Roman Christians, evangelical and Roman Christianity have, in addition, over 100,000 adherents, making a total Christian population of about 200,000 either in the church or favorable to it. This is about 2 per cent of the entire population.

* * *

The interesting work carried on among the deep sea fishermen of Great Britain by Dr. W. T. Grenfell was in its initiative due to the influence of two men, Mr. J. E. K. Studd and Mr. Moody. Dr. Grenfell had been a professing Christian before he met them, and it was not until near the time of his death that Mr. Moody knew what had been the effect of his words. The mission was in existence, but only in its infancy, when in 1889 Dr. Grenfell, just through his studies at the London Hospital, was appointed to superintend the work. In addition to mission ships, which visit the fishing fleet, there are numerous homes for sailors on shore. In recent years, Dr. Grenfell's energies have been directed to helping the fishermen of Newfoundland and Labrador, and his name is now known almost as well amongst the toilers of the deep on this side of the Atlantic as on the other.

Perfect Torment.

Any reader of this paper who suffers from any form of skin diseases, and is tormented with burning, itching, cutaneous affections of any kind, can secure immediate relief and cure by using Tetterine. Infallable for all skin diseases.

Your druggist or by mail, postpaid, 50 cents.

J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

For next 90 days we will be giving special attention to the Printing of School Catalogs. Send us your order if you want first class work. . . EDWARDS & BROUGHTON Raleigh, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Shou'd be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N. C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS OVERTONE, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR PRICE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
The Blymyer Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Please mention this paper.

Editorial

THE "UNREST" IDEA.

"The Gospel for an Age of Unrest" is the title of B. Fay Mills' summary of his new gospel.

B. Fay Mills has had a checkered career. For a number of years he did valuable work as a Presbyterian evangelist. Over a decade ago, he became an ardent disciple of George D. Herron, who made such a ship-wreck of his faith on the shoals of sensuality. Mr. Mills then went to Boston where, for two years, he preached to large congregations as a Unitarian pastor. The next thing we hear of him, he is pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Oakland, California.

When Mr. Mills found himself in California, he found himself in the great western hod-bed of religious fads and freaks. He succumbed to the feeundating influence of the peculiar soil and climate, and lo! the erstwhile Presbyterian evangelist has bloomed into the founder of a new religion. The flower was strangely parti-colored, wearing the hues of quasi-Christianity, Hebraism, Theosophy, and Freethinkerism. It is not strange that such an efflorescence should be as the mist of the morning. Mr. Mills, the Dugald Dalgetty of modern ecclesiastical life is now disporting himself in the radiance of Southern California sunshine as the author of "The Gospel for an Age of Unrest."

And such a gospel as it is! It proclaims no special "glad tidings," but only three religions: the Religion of Learners, the Religion of Laborers, the Religion of Lovers. Mr. Mills got the last, we presume, from Herron. The only vertebrated vital part of the new gospel is the declaration that "unselfishness is the solution of every individual and social problem." The remainder is a jellified ethical mass embodying the doctrine that the "unselfishness" can be put on and off with the ease that a man doffs or dons an old coat, and that the great demand of the age is for a more ready willingness for disturbed men and women to be "unselfish."

Mr. Mills' case is a sad one—sad enough to make all men sad. He is drawing nearer and nearer to the rim of that mental and spiritual darkness in whose depths a man must either call out like Jacob at Jabbok to the God of his boyhood days or in despair plunge into the eternal gloom.

Really, Mr. Mills is not such a column or factor in the religious life of this country as to justify us in giving him special prominence in our discussion of religious forces. There are two thoughts, however, which we wish to draw from the career of Mr. Mills.

(1) When a messenger of God loses sight of the fact that the thing which we call sin is the one supreme evil of this world, and begins to gild it and beautify it by labelling it "unrest;" when he loses sight of the fact that the only true gospel is that of Jesus Christ which means "glad tidings" for men and women fast held in the toils of sin;—in other words, when he looks upon the gospel as ministering only to "unrest," he might as well cast away his divine credentials, if these credentials he has, for all the good he may do in relieving the world of its real burden. A cancer specialist can do little for cancer when he treats it as eczema. A messenger to sinners can bring relief only when he brings relief for sin. God save us from the day when our evangelical ministry shall cease to believe and teach the doctrine of the universal prevalence and virulence of sin, and that Jesus Christ is the only cure! That word "unrest" is the key word in the sad tale of B. Fay Mills' spiritual decadence. When the idea got into his mind that "unrest" is humanity's great disease, the idea naturally and logically followed, that such a disease can be cured by the little emollients of social culture.

(2) Mr. Mills lost sight of the fact that the real germ of the true social theory is in the individual heart, and that it can be warmed into life only by the supernatural force of the Holy Spirit sent by the ascended and enthroned Friend of Sinners. Thus losing sight of this fact, he posited what we call salvation in mental and ethical culture. He changed a treatment which Christ designed to be special and individual into a "milk-and-water" panacea for mere social ills. It is no wonder that he lost his grip on God and his hold on sin-cursed humanity.

THE RIGHT KIND OF DIVIDEND.

Every missionary appropriation is made with the expectation that the money expended will bear interest, not in mere dollars and cents, but in spiritual life or that which promotes spirituality. We are sorry that the expectation has lacked fulfillment in so many cases that it is a complaint that the ordinary appropriation for a home mission point is fruitless. There is certainly no reason why it should be.

This has been forcibly illustrated in the recent history of Epworth Church, Raleigh, and in making this statement we are not implying that the same is not true at other points.

For years, the little church known as Epworth, seemed to stand in bashful shrinking timidity in North Raleigh. The passer-by could easily imagine the church as saying in the language of persistent Lot: "Is it not a little one?"

But some time ago, the progressive and faithful young pastor, Rev. J. M. Culbreth, took it into his head that great things could be done for Epworth. He made plans, at which of course, wise heads were shaken. When was it ever otherwise. Culbreth though is a man of large faith, and has a military temperament like unto that of Dewey and Togo, which dashes in among the mines.

Now there is an imposing building with handsome auditorium and Sunday-school room, supplied with opera chairs and a fine piano. The green yard in front is a landscape picture. The members are enthusiastic and energetic. What is better, the pastor has just concluded revival services which resulted in about twenty-five conversions. Fourteen were received into the church on last Sunday.

This is what we call a case of good dividend paying. May it be repeated at every mission point. By the way, Culbreth believes that the Epworth League Union of Raleigh can support a city missionary. It would be well to watch him as he manipulates this idea.

THREE PRIZES.

One of the new and unique features of the Handbook for 1905 will be a photographic display of the exterior ornamentation of Methodist parsonages in North Carolina.

There is nothing in a material way that is of more importance to Methodist life than the development of an interest in the beautifying of the preachers' home.

In order to stimulate and develop this interest, the North Carolina Methodist Handbook will offer:

(1) Twelve and one-half dollars to the preacher's wife or daughter who will send us by October 1, 1904, a photograph of the most tasty living floral decoration of the parsonage front which may include doorway, windows, piazza and space immediately in front.

(2) Seven and one-half dollars to the sender of the photograph second, in artistic taste.

(3) Five dollars for the one-third in artistic taste.

A committee from one Conference will pass on the parsonages of the other.

You can see that a simple cottage has as good a chance to win the prize as a larger and costlier house. A parsonage with only a window and doorway has an equal chance with a parsonage with balconies, etc. Simple artistic effect is what is aimed at. Flowers, shrubs, and vines to be used.

Those who enter the contest must send us their names by July 15. The photographs must be in our hands by October 1, 1904.

Truly,

T. N. IVEY,
Raleigh, N. C.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28-July 31.

The dates of the other District Conferences will be published as they are announced by the Presiding Elders.

ANOTHER NORTH CAROLINA BOOK.

Dr. Charles Lee Raper, Associate Professor of Economics and Associate Professor of History, in the University of North Carolina, has lately brought out a most valuable historical work which has been favorably received in England and Germany. It is entitled, "North Carolina: A Study in English Colonial Government." Dr. Raper has in a scholarly, accurate, and luminous way drawn from the original records those facts which are necessary in giving to the reader a history of provincial government in North Carolina. He has spared no time in making the most careful investigations, and his work will prove one of the most valuable books brought out by any North Carolinian.

THE CRAVEN PORTRAIT.

Scattered throughout North Carolina and many other States of the Union are thousands of the friends and pupils of Braxton Craven whose impress for good on humanity was strong and has proved lasting.

The letters which we are receiving from those who are contributing to the fund to be used in the execution of an oil portrait which is necessary to complete the noble monument in the shape of the Memorial Hall on Trinity Park are surcharged with an affectionate and admiring devotion which is wonderful.

We have just received a letter from Bro. J. A. Edwards, of Snow Hill, N. C., the oldest living graduate of Trinity, who received his diploma just fifty years ago next June. He speaks in warmest terms of his old preceptor and wants to know how much he is expected to give, as he feels that the opportunity of contributing to this portrait fund is a high and rare privilege.

Mrs. A. G. Headen, of Pittsboro, N. C., sends a dollar in memory of her dear brother James A. Williamson, deceased, who was a pupil of Dr. Craven.

We trust to hear within the next few days (for the time is short) from hundreds with a material contribution.

We have received the following since our report last week:

W. M. Russ, Raleigh, N. C.	$5.00
G. W. Holmes, Kittrell, N. C.	2.00
Rev. J. Ed. Thompson, Charlotte, N. C.	3.00
Mrs. A. G. Headen, Pittsboro, N. C.	1.00
Thos. Taylor, Townesville, N. C.	1.00
Amount previously reported	94.25
Total to date	106.25
Total amount needed	500.00

We trust that this amount will be greatly increased by next week. Send in your contribution at once to T. N. Ivey, Committee, Raleigh, N. C.

The Charlotte Observer, in a very forcible way, calls attention to the singular fact that Vasili Verestchagin, the noted Russian artist who went down on the ill-fated Petropavlovsk last week and who had consecrated his life to the great work of making war hideous through his genius, himself became a victim of war.

Yet, after all, such a case is not uncommon. How often the savior becomes a victim of the thing he fights! Christ came to save men from sin, yet he became a victim of sin. Verestchagin only illustrates the old story told serially through the centuries that righteousness becomes established by laying some bleeding sacrifice on an altar which evil builds.

Never give the tongue its full liberty, but always keep it under control.

Methodist Mention

In Tokio, Japan, three of the eight daily papers have Christian editors.

Rev. E. C. Glenn will begin a meeting in Burlington on next Sunday.

The Emory boys won this time in the intercollegiate debate, but watch out for Trinity next time.

The South Carolina Conference has 79,082 members, an increase of about 1,200 over the year before.

The Wilmington District Conference will meet at Southport July 28, and will embrace the fifth Sunday.

Prof. E. C. Brooks, of Raleigh, will deliver the address at the commencement of Readland Academy.

The sum of $625.00 was subscribed for Greensboro Female College at the Mount Airy District Conference.

We are glad to learn that Dr. Jonathan Sanford is himself again and preached to his congregation on last Sunday.

Prof. Borden P. Bowne, of Boston University, has been acquitted of the charge of heresy on every specification.

Thirty-three young men have lately received diplomas from the Medical Department of Vanderbilt University.

Revs. Sam Jones and George Stuart are announced to begin a series of meeting in Greensboro the first of May.

It is claimed by one of our editors that the New Order of Worship is more acceptable to the laity than to the preachers.

The total contributions for debts and endowments under the Metropolitan Thank Offering Fund amounts to more than $1,030,000.

Rev. J. O. Guthrie says that the contract for a new church at Princeton has been let and that work on the building will begin May 1st.

Rev. D. H. Comann, of the Western North Carolina Conference, assisted Pastor W. W. Rose in a good meeting at Weldon last week.

The New Orleans Preachers' Meeting passed a resolution requesting our Bishops to withhold their approval of the new "Order of Service."

Dr. S. A. Steel has been tendered the presidency of the Methodist University at Oklahoma City—the joint property of the M. E. Chruch and the M. E. Church, South.

Do not forget that Dr. H. M. Hamill and Mrs. Hamill will conduct a Sunday-school Institute in Edenton Street Church, Raleigh, Monday and Tuesday, June 28, 29.

Rev. R. F. Bumpas is to preach the annual sermon before the Woman's Home Mission Society of the North Carolina Conference at the session in Selma, April 27 to May 2.

The sad news comes to us that Rev. I. N. Mann, of Siler City, is critically ill. The church will lose in his death one of its worthiest and most faithful local preachers.

In Alabama last year 8,433 persons were received into the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on profession of faith. This was an average of twenty-two persons for each charge.

A Boston jury has rendered a verdict against the editor and publishers of Zion's Herald, giving Dr. E. A. Schell, formerly Epworth League Secretary of the M. E. Church, damages to the extent of $24,000.

Rev. J. C. Humble, P. C., requests us to say that the new church, Asbury, on the Goldston Circuit, will be dedicated on the third Sunday in May. Rev. J. B. Hurley, P. E., will preach the dedicatory sermon. All former pastors are cordially invited to be present.

The commencement sermon at Vanderbilt University will be preached June 12 by Bishop Candler. Judge Dickinson, of Chicago, will deliver the literary address, and Mr. Charles N. Burch, the alumni oration.

How vain is all the talk about the decline of religious journalism! For the last year and a half the New York Chritsian Advocate has been receiving on an average one thousand new subscribers per month.

A series of lectures by eminent men has been arranged during the General Conference of the M. E. Church at Los Angeles. Among the lecturers will be Bishops Warren, Fowler, Vincent, Drs. Buckley, Quayle, Mason, and Palmer.

Sixteen Conference organs of the M. E. Church, South, have Epworth League Departments ably edited. Rev. H. B. Anderson deserves great credit for the interesting way in which he edits the Epworth League column for the Raleigh Advocate.

The Eleventh Annual Convention of the North Carolina Sunday School Association will be held in Greensboro, April 26-29; and I feel sure you will be glad to help in making it a success. Present indications point to the largest and best Convention the Association has ever held.

The Summer School at Raleigh for this year promises to be an occasion of unusual significance and importance. It promises to be greater in every particular than the one last year. A large and expert faculty has been secured, and it is probable the attendance will be among the thousands. Secretary C. J. Parker is showing great skill and executive ability in promoting this valuable enterprise. Drs. Kilgo and Mims of Trinity College are on the program.

Lewis Cole, eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Cole, of Rockingham, N. C., died on last Thursday night. He was just blooming into manhood. He was only nineteen years old. He was a bright, manly youth. About one year ago he had a serious spell of typhoid fever, from which he never recovered. His death on last Thursday night resulted from that sickness. Lewis was ready for death. He has left behind him a name which should be an inspiration to every young man. His remains were carried to Durham on last Friday and buried the same afternoon in the presence of many sympathizing friends. We mourn with the stricken father and mother and brothers and sisters.

A party connected with the Florida Seminary, consisting of President and Mrs. Walker, Miss McRea, Miss Slaughter, Miss O'Conner, Miss Newton, and O. D. Bourland, left Sutherland on the morning of April 4 for a pleasure sail to Anclote. As they were returning in the afternoon, the boat capsized in a gale, and Mrs. Walker, Miss McRea, Miss O'Conner, Miss Slaughter, and O. D. Bourland were drowned. President Walker and Miss Newton were rescued in the morning, after clinging to the upturned boat all night. They are in a precarious condition, but hopes are entertained for their recovery. Mrs. Walker leaves six little children. Miss McRae and Miss Slaughter were teachers in the Seminary.—Florida Christian Advocate.

"Isaac Insight," in the Biblical Recorder, undertakes in his regulative capacity, to deal over the left shoulder of ritualistic Baptists a stinging blow on the body of ritualistic Methodists. But the blow strangely lands on the Bishops who are rebuked for having in effect tyrannically ordered, formed, and enforced the New Order of Worship. Now the truth is, the Bishops were actually ordered by the General Conference, one-half of whose membership is composed of laymen, to appoint a Committee to formulate the "New Order of Worship." Really the Bishop had less to do with it than the humblest lay member of the General Conference. We would suggest to "Isaac" that the safest and most appropriate place for him to establish a reputation for accuracy, and incidentally to illustrate a certain old adage which contains a wise exhortation on the subject of "attention to business," is the discussion of ritualism, etc., in his own church.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report of each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since April 13, 1904:

B. C. Glover	18
Rev. B. C. Thompson	10
Rev. J. T. Stanford	6
Rev. S. E. Mercer	4
Rev. W. E. Hocutt	4
Rev. Chas. A. Jones	4
Rev. J. W. Bradley	3
Rev. L. M. Chaffin	2
Rev. L. H. Joyner	2
Rev. N. H. Guyton	2
Rev. R. L. Davis	2
Rev. W. C. Merritt	2
Rev. A. J. Parker	2
Rev. M. D. Giles	1
Rev. A. L. Ormond	1
Rev. L. L. Nash	1
Rev. E. R. Welch	1
Rev. C. L. Read	1
Rev. C. O. Durant	1
Rev. W. E. Brown	1
Rev. L. E. Sawyer	1
Rev. H. B. Anderson	1
Rev. F. E. Dixon	1
Rev. C. C. Brothers	1
Rev. N. C. Yearby	1
Direct	3

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Warrenton District	176	increase for week 24
Rockingham District	131	increase for week 7
Fayetteville District	115	increase for week 8
Washington District	98	increase for week 2
Raleigh District	96	increase for week 2
Elizabeth City District	84	increase for week 7
Wilmington District	75	increase for week 16
New Bern District	72	increase for week 8
Durham District	64	increase for week 2
Total increase for week	76
Total to date	911

The position of the Districts is the same as last week with this exception: Wilmington moves from the lowest position to the seventh. This throws Durham to the bottom again, while New Bern is next to the last.

Warrenton has 26 over her quota. Rockingham lacks only 19; Fayetteville, 35.

ONLY ONE WEEK MORE.

Our preachers and laymen accepted in dead earnest the Conference Resolution pledging 150 new subscribers for each of the nine Districts in the North Carolina Conference.

The tables which we have now been publishing for more than two months show a commendable loyalty to the Advocate on the part of preachers and laymen. It makes us feel proud that we represent in an editorial capacity such people. Some of the preachers have made phenomenal records in securing new subscriptions. Others have not sent in so many, but this does not mean that in sending in the small number they have sent in, they did not manifest the same energy and devotion manifested by those who sent in a larger number. To one and all, we extend our thanks.

There is only one more week. We lack only a little over 400 new subscribers to have the number aimed at. A majority of the preachers have already responded. Some have not been heard from. We do not assume that these latter brethren lack interest in the Advocate. No, not by any means.

Now what we want is a grand rally during this last week of the Campaign. Let those from whom we have not heard rejoice us by helping to raise the full number. Let those who have been sending in send in more. Let our laymen strive during this the last week to send in each at least one new subscriber. Let it be remembered that our highest motive is not to work for the highest District record, but for the cause of Christ. The District, the charge, which during this year will have the largest percentage of Advocate readers, will have an advantage which cannot be properly estimated. Methodism advances when Methodists read their church paper.

And now to the work! Let us publish a phenomenal record next week in publishing the total record by Districts showing how much each preacher has done.

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE
DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE CONFERENCE LITERARY EVANGELICAL
EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

The April number of the Canadian Era is a floral number. The cuts are all beautiful and some very suggestive, and it is filled with very interesting reading.

Have you a member of your chapter who has given up all work and is on the point of resigning her membership? Are you going to say she is not worthy and has no character, no stability? No! No! Let the Leaguers visit her, send her flowers, invite her to their homes to spend an evening. She may be won back, and made the most enthusiastic worker you have.

A little plant was given to a sick girl. In trying to take care of it the family made changes in their way of living. First, they cleaned the window, that more light might come to its leaves; then when not too cold, they would open the window, that fresh air might help the plant to grow; next the clean window made the rest of the room look so untidy that they used to wash the floor and walls and arrange the furniture more neatly. This led the father of the family to mend a broken chair or two, which kept him at home; and then as home grew attractive, the whole family loved it better, and grew healthier and happier with their flowers. Thus the little plant brought a real blessing.—Exchange.

Conference Resolutions.

Are they of any value? They may be of some ethical value as they are a tacit recognition, by the body, of the utility of the thing resolved; but they are of little practical value; since they are seldom ever realized among the actualities of church life. If the committee or board that secured the passage of it should insist on the execution of a Conference resolution we regard the effort as an officious intrusion, and resent it by casting all such communications, unread, into the proverbial "waste basket." We have not, or seem not to have, any time to make a courteous reply to communications concerning matters of Conference business.

Even those of us to whom issues are committed seem to be indifferent to every other interest. We make so great a cathrough about matters we have in hand that we are deafened to all other calls.

Two brethren after repeated calls through the Advocate to the several interests committed to them were complaining at the members of the Conference for neglect of a plain duty when one received a personal appeal from the other and both realized that they were guilty of the same thing of which they were complaining of in others. The lesson is clear. The great need of co-operation is clearly manifest. There is the Orphanage, the Sunday-schools, the Epworth League, missions, the Women's Home and Foreign Missions, each in itself a worthy cause, and connectional in its interests, that should share the intelligent concern of all, and specially of all ministers. And yet there seems to be a tendency among us to stand aloof, with "hands off" everything that does not officially concern us. A warm brotherly interest of all these varied enterprises of the church would set them forward to a glorious success.

Without a dissenting voice the following was passed at the Goldsboro Conference:

"Looking to the enlarged usefulness of future Methodism, as well as the present organization and development of the young life of our connstituency, now going astray or drifting into other churches, we recommend that in every district there be appointed by the Presiding Elder, an organizer whose duty it shall be to promote the organization of League Chapters wherever feasible, who shall also, with the assistance of the Presiding Elder, hold a District League Conference, either separate or in conjunction with the Sunday-school Conference."

Has there been a single organizer appointed? If not, why not? Is there not a single available man in either of the districts or is the resolution impracticable? It cannot be correctly said that the League is impracticable.

To Make the Tramp a Man.

General Booth, it seems, has been studying the tramp question, and has issued a pamphlet on the subject, in which he expresses the conviction—a conviction shared by others who have made it a matter of study—that there is no remedy for the tramp evil but compulsory labor, not in prisons, but in labor colonies. He proposes giving magistrates power to commit vagrants to colonies or settlements, for not more than three years; these colonies to be established by poor law or municipal authorities, or by charitable societies, the public funds being applied to assist in defraying the expenses. The tramp has to have the idleness habit broken, and the work habit formed, and time and training and oversight are needed for that. Given such training and oversight, for sufficient time, particularly under religious influences, and the tramp might become a useful and industrious member of society. It would certainly be worth trying, for the tramp is a waste product of our modern civilization—at once a nuisance and a menace.—Exchange.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well.' Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

CAPUDINE
Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE.
10c. 25c. 50c. A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : : :
Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A., ATLANTA, GA.

Sunnyside Floral Nursery
JAMES M. LAMB,
Proprietor.
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.
Lock Box 55. : : Telephone 49-B
We can furnish almost anything in ornamental plants from Royal Palm to a Violet, including Evergreen Trees, Shrubs, Roses, Bulbs and green-house plants
Special Offer of one hundred arborvitas for $1 50—free by mail. Send for catalogue.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ' GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.
Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top?
Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color. Also stops dandruff; promotes growth . . . . . .
At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not put it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle. Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for circulars. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Sunday School

Lesson for April 24, 1904.

The Mission of the Seventy.

Luke 10: 1-16.

Golden Text. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth laborers into his harvest. Luke 10:2.

Soon after his Transfiguration Jesus completed his great Galilean ministry. After a brief visit to Jerusalem at the Feast of Tabernacles, he returned to Galilee for a few weeks, and then entered into Perea.

The Seventy Sent Forth.—An important feature of the Perean ministry was the sending forth of seventy disciples to prepare the cities and villages for the coming of Jesus.

Nothing is known positively concerning the identity of these seventy men who were sent forth, but Eusebius mentions an interesting tradition that among them were Barnabas, the companion of Paul, Matthias, who was chosen in place of Judas, Joseph Barabbas (Acts 1:23), and Sosthenes (1 Cor. 1:1).

The seventy were sent forth, two by two, just as had been done previously in the case of the twelve apostles. This was the wisest method, for thus each could supplement the work of the other.

The Instructions of the Master.—The body of our lesson is taken up with the instruction given by Christ to the seventy as they went on their mission. Some of these instructions were adapted simply to the particular circumstances under which the seventy went forth, while there are some of the Master's directions which will always apply to missionary work everywhere.

The mission of the seventy was to be a brief one, and therefore they were not to go prepared as if for a long journey. They were to depend, for their entertainment, not on arrangements made beforehand, but on the generous hospitality of those to whom they were sent.

Like the Master, their mission was to be one of teaching preaching and healing. They were to proclaim the coming of the kingdom of God, and to demonstrate the validity of their claim as disciples of the Lord by the miracles which they performed.

A close study of our lesson throws many side-lights upon Oriental customs. For example, the injunction to salute no man by the way suggests the formal and elaborate method of salutation in the East, which would have greatly embarrassed and delayed the disciples, if they had attempted to salute all those whom they met in their journeying. The direction to enter into houses, unbidden, and to remain in the same house as long as they stayed in any one place, reflects the Oriental custom which prevails where there are no inns, and which requires that for a limited period, due hospitality be shown to any stranger who presents himself. Even the wiping off the dust as a sign against any city that refused to receive them mirrors the Oriental custom, which often expresses in action what in our more reserved manner we indicate simply by word of mouth.

Words of Warning.—The closing portion of our lesson includes the Master's sad prediction of woe upon the cities and towns that persistently rejected himself and his disciples. We must always remember that destruction came upon Chorazin, Bethsaida, Capernaum and Jerusalem, not because Christ predicted their fate, but because of their own wickedness and folly. Christ foresaw their continued rejection of himself and of his message, and this explains the severity of his utterance.

CURES BLOOD POISON, CANCER, ULCERS, ECZEMA, CARBUNCLES, ETC. MEDICINE FREE.

Robert Ward, Maxey's, Ga., says: "I suffered from blood poison, my head, face and shoulders were one mass of corruption, aches in bones and joints, burning, itching, scaby skin, was all run down and discouraged, but Botanic Blood Balm cured me perfectly, healed all the sores and gave my skin the rich glow of health. Blood Balm put new life into my blood and new ambition into my brain." Geo. A. Williams, Roxbury, face covered with pimples, chronic sore on back of head, suppurating swelling on neck, eating ulcer on leg, bone pains, itching skin cured perfectly by Botanic Blood Balm—sores all healed. Botanic Blood Balm, cures all malignant blood troubles, such as eczema, scabs and scales, pimples, running sores, carbuncles, scrofula, etc. Especially advised for all obstinate cases that have reached the second or third stage. Druggists, $1. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

A LOVE LETTER.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c. at all drug stores.

Eczema! Eczema! Eczema!

A Wonderful Cure Made in Greensboro.

I am deeply grateful, Mrs. Person, for what your Remedy has done for my little boy. About four years ago, after an attack of measles, he broke out with eczema and suffered terribly for two long years, as he was sore from head to foot. The only parts of his body that were free from the trouble were the palms of his hands and the bottom of his feet. At the end of the second year he began to get better, and the third year he got almost entirely well, until he took malarial fever. Then the eczema broke out on him worse than it had ever been. He again became sore from head to foot, and he could not walk at all, but crept around on his hands and feet. He was in such agony he would pray to die. I was worried to death, for he had been doctored by the best of doctors, and no one could do him any good, and I never expected anything to cure him. One whole summer the only way he could get out at all was for me to put a pillow slip over his head (with holes cut for his eyes, nose and mouth), as a protection from the flies and gnats, and his clothes would have to be changed two and three times a day. He often said he wished he could die and get out of his suffering. If I had seen him in his coffin I couldn't have suffered for him any more than I did, and I have shed many tears for my little boy. The itching was almost unendurable and at night he would itch and scratch until I didn't know what to do for him. We tried everything we could hear of, but to no avail.

When we heard of Mrs. Joe Person's wonderful Remedy, we did not care to try it, as we did not have much faith in anything; but a friend insisted on our just giving it a trial. We bought a bottle and tried it, kept on until we used five bottles with such good results that we continued it until we gave him 25 or 30 bottles, and today our child is entirely well. In using the Wash, it appeared to be harsh and dry to that raw surface, so after washing him with it I applied mutton suet, to soften the skin. In a short while he got better and better, until he is now perfectly well, without a scar, and as healthy a child as you will find anywhere. I used a package of the Wash each day. I will always say that Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and Wash is the best medicine in the world. We used the Remedy and Wash regularly on our boy for six months, and although he is entirely well, we are still giving it to him, as we feel it is safer to do so, and will continue it for some time yet. Respectfully,

MRS. ROSE STOUFFS,
605 McGee St., Greensboro, N. C.
June 23, 1903.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Sound Waves which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.
OTOPHONE CO
1602 Arch Street, ROOM 105 Philadelphia, Pa.

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in 30 minutes with head, or no fee. No fasting required. Send 2c stamp for 64-page Book. DR. M. HEY & SMITH, Specialist, 509 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.
Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class	First-Class	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class	Second-Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 25	S.....†Caraleigh Mills...	9 30	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes.....	9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby.....	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M.....†McCULLERS....	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins.....	8 55	7 36
8 50	5 07	S.....†Willow springs....	8 40	5 30
9 05	5 15	M.....† JOHNSON MILL....	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 21	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 25	5 26	S.....† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn.....	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls.....	8 7	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley.....	8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00	F.....*Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 15	6 10	.....Lillington.....	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.
C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
'Phones 117.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Secular News

STATE.

Ex-Mayor Wm. H. Dodd, of Raleigh, died on last Sunday morning.

Charlotte is making great preparation for her 20th of May celebration.

The total amount of pension warrants issued this year in this State was $202,000.

Judge Ewart's friends claim that he will without doubt receive the Republican nomination for Congress in the Tenth District.

It is reported that capacity of the railroad shops at Spencer, N. C., will be doubled. Seventy-five thousand dollars a month are now paid in wages at that place.

Train No. 35, the through passenger train on the Atlantic Coast Line was wrecked last Monday night, by dashing into an open switch. Several people were injured.

The State Association of Elks is to meet in Winston-Salem, May 11th and 12th, at which time the handsome and costly home and auditorium will be formally dedicated.

The Commission appointed by Governor Aycock to inquire into the affairs of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad are now taking testimony. The hearings are secret.

Mr. James M. Norwood, Chief Clerk in the Raleigh Dispensary, has resigned; giving as his reason that he had conscientious scruples about selling whiskey. He is a member of Raleigh Tabernacle Church.

Judge Peebles is holding Columbus Superior Court this week. It is not known whether he will bring contempt proceedings against the Robeson County attorneys who refused to make a calendar for the term of court over which he was to preside, or not.

A number of prominent North Carolina cotton mill men are to take part in the program of the eighth annual convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association which will be in session in Arlington Hotel, Washington, D. C., May 11th to 12th.

Northwest wind and clouds Saturday night and Sunday saved the fruit and vegetable crops of Eastern Carolina. The farmers feared that great damage would be done, but the temperature kept well above freezing and there was no trace of frost throughout the district.

State Auditor B. F. Dixon says that there will be probably $4,000 in pension warrants returned by the registers of deeds on account of the death of pensioners. Quite a number of counties, probably half, have already returned the unclaimed pension warrants amounting probably to $2,000.

The Democratic Convention of the Third Congressional District has been called to meet at Goldsboro, N. C., on Tuesday, June 21, 1904, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Congress, a Democratic presidential elector, and the transaction of such other business as may come before the Convention.

The Southern Student Conference of Young Men's Christian Associations will be held in Waynesville, N. C., on July 10 to 19. This conference has been held annually since 1892 for the purpose of promoting organized Christian work among Southern college and preparatory school students, and of training the student leaders of this work.

GENERAL.

A Sicilian tribunal sentenced a noted forger to imprisonment for 189 years.

The Seven Star Inn at Manchester, England, boasts of having been licensed for 550 years.

Corean commerce amounts to about $15,000,000 per annum, the imports being double the exports.

John T. Stetson, director of pomology at the World's Fair, says that apples are a cure for bad habits.

The cost of taking the first census was a little over 1 cent per head; that of the last census 17 cents.

The State Convention of New York Monday to elect delegates to the National Democratic Convention instructed for Judge Parker for President.

A drinking cup, pronounced by the British Museum to be 3,000 years old, has been found in a field at Stoneington, Essex. It is now in the Chelmsford Museum.

Only 6,550 death from cholera in the Turkish empire were reported for the year ending February 22 last, but experts believe the real number was three times as large.

The second graphite deposit of any extent in the United States was discovered recently near Cameron, Col., the vein measuring from 15 to 40 feet in width. Thorough tests show it to be worth $250 a ton.

Patent medicines are never sold in apothecary shops in Sweden. The government limits the number of these shops and there are only 350 in the whole country, Stockholm, with a population of 300,000, having only 22.

Final arrangements have just been concluded between the Hungarian government and the Cunard line establishing a fortnightly service between Fiume and New York. Three steamers are detailed on the line.

It is stated that over 2,700,000 tons of dust ejected from the Soufriere volcano in St. Vincent have fallen on the Island of Barbadoes. The dust, contrary to expectations, has been found to have no fertilizing value.

Russia bought from the United States in 1903 nearly $20,000,000 worth of goods, which is double the average of previous years, and sold the United States nearly 11,000,000 worth, which is an increase of 50 per cent over previous years.

The wine output for California for 1902 was 43,000,000 gallons, and for 1903 was 35,700,000 gallons, made up as follows: Dry wines, 22,000,000 gallons; sweet wines, according to internal revenue returns, 13,000,000 gallons; commercial brandy, 700,000 gallons.

New Orleans reports the best building prospects ever known in that city. Plans are definitely adopted for structures which will cost more than $6,000,000, the largest single undertaking being a hotel which will represent the investment of about a million dollars.

Fruit growers in California complain loudly of delays in getting their products to the Eastern markets and blame the railroads for an insufficient supply of cars. Oranges have been so cheap in the principal cities of the East that there is some question whether a more rapid movement of citrus fruits to the Atlantic seaboard and the Mississippi valley would have better conditions for the California growers.

BROKE INTO HIS HOUSE.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested, and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25c. at all druggists.

THE KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS — SSS

No remedy ever yet discovered has met with such popular favor as S. S. S. The people everywhere indorse it, and there are few homes where S. S. S. for the blood is not known and used. It is superior in many ways to the ordinary blood medicines. In the first place S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable compound, made exclusively of medicinal roots selected for their wonderful purifying and tonic properties that act upon the blood, purging it of impurities and restoring it to a healthy, natural condition. At the same time, under its tonic effects the general system improves, the sluggish organs are toned up, and renewed strength and vigor and better health is the result. No bad after-effects follow the use of S. S. S., as so often happens with blood medicines containing strong minerals, which derange the stomach and digestion and in other ways damage the system. For diseases of the blood, such as Chronic Sores, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Boils and Pimples, Eczema, Tetter, Blood Poisons, and other troubles due to impure or bad condition of the blood, no remedy acts so promptly and thoroughly as S. S. S. It reaches deep-seated, long-standing cases, upon which the ordinary potash and sarsaparilla compounds have no effect. Even where there is an hereditary predisposition to disease, S. S. S will search out and remove from the blood the fixed poison and build up the health; it enriches and purifies weak, thin blood and stimulates the circulation. Pure blood is essential to health. You can exist without good blood, but can never be robust and strong; for every organ, tissue and nerve in the body looks to the blood for nourishment, and unless this vital fluid is kept in a pure, healthy state, the rest of the body suffers and the system soon breaks down. Nature has provided in S. S. S. a remedy for diseases of the blood which long experience and a thorough test have proven superior to all others, and the acknowledged "King of Blood Purifiers."

ALWAYS KEEPS S. S. S. ON HAND.

Monticello, Ark., May 21, 1903.

Gentlemen:—For about twelve years I have been using your S. S. S. as a household remedy. I have taken it as a tonic and appetizer, and believe there is none better. I have used it for my children at various times for little skin eruptions, boils and poisons caused by playing with weeds. S. S. S. is my standard, never mind what is the matter. If I use a bottle of S. S. S. it tones up the system, cleanses the blood and makes me well again. As an all-round family medicine I consider S. S. S. the best remedy of the kind that have I ever used, and generally keep it on hand as a family remedy. MRS. V. C. WHITTINGTON.

OUR MEDICAL DEPARTMENT, in charge of graduated physicians, is an important part of our business, maintained for the benefit of those who need advice or special information in regard to their case. Write us, and our physicians will advise you without charge.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

WASH GOODS IN WHITE AND COLORS.

It is hard to decide which are the prettiest, the pure white or those in colors, as all of our patterns in both kinds are entrancingly beautiful.

Sans Souci Swiss, solid colors and fancy mixtures with embroidered dots, 12½c. yard
Imported Tissues, in stripes, dots and figures ..... 19c.
Pois De Lins—French mercerized goods in fancy colorings ..... 25c.
Fine White India Lawns, 40 inches wide..12½c.
White Persian Lawn, 43 inches wide..... 25c.
White Organdies, 40 inches wide..... 40c.
French Batiste, 40 inches wide ..... 17c.
India Linens, 32 inches wide..... 8½c.
Damask Waiting in figures and dots. 25c.
Long Cloth, 12 yards to a piece, $1 19 per piece.

Write us for further particulars and samples

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS. RICHMOND, VA.

It is Time to Get Ready for SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual. White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.

THE COUNTRY IS RINGING WITH THE PRAISES OF THE "Southland Belle" Shoes

FAMOUS BECAUSE MERITORIOUS. THE BEST IN AMERICA FOR $1.50 TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM, A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.

CRADDOCK-TERRY CO. LEADING SHOE MANUFACTURERS OF THE SOUTH. LYNCHBURG---------VA.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

☞Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Receipts Up to April.

City Road, on subs., $16.00; little Miss Lizzie Lee, 50c.; little Miss Ida Richardson Bunch, 50c.; Plymouth, $11.15; Littleton Sunday-school, $4.50; Graham District Conference, $11.30; Garysburg Bright Jewels (thank-offering), $3.42; Clement Maud Gladys Johnson, remainder on window, 75c.; Pittsboro Sunday-school for February and March, $4.55; Grifton Sunday-school, $6.18; Lenoir Circuit, W. N. C. Conference, $13.67.

Graham.

When Burlington becomes the western suburb of Graham and Haw River its eastern annex, it will be a big town. As it is, it is larger than we expected to see. There seemed to be no trouble as to the entertainment of the Durham District Conference. We were able to get in a ten minutes' talk to the Conference on Friday morning, and to take a small collection Friday night. The elegant home of Capt. E. S. Parker furnished this way-worn traveller a sweet resting place during his stay in the capital of Alamance.

A Proposition.

It may be that our friends have not prayed enough for the success of our work. Will not every man, woman and child that reads this, offer up each day a prayer, if not but one sentence—God bless the Orphanage; God help us to complete our Main building? The orphan's father and God will hear. The going on of the work will be the answer. The "Faith" building at the Thorwill Orphanage at Clinton, S. C., was commenced without a dollar. The work never ceased a single day. They paid up weekly. When finished, there was not a dollar's debt upon it. Will not all who respond to this proposition drop me a card to that effect.

Running Comment.

Our turnips are blossoming.

Our spring salad is up—collards, mustard and lettuce.

Salad onions are growing nicely. They will soon be shedding a sweet perfume from the kitchen.

Our silver skins are coming up. So are our English peas, and radishes.

The wild violets are blooming nicely; and the blushing hyacinth with its aroma. Soon the flaming honeysuckle will be inviting our boys and girls to the woods.

We planted early corn and snap beans today, March 30. Did not wait for good Friday.

Our bees arrived yesterday and are at work beautifully. They worked not so beautifully on me in bringing them. One put his dagger into the back of my neck, and several got an inning on Bob—the horse. They made things lively for a little while. Thanks to Brother George Mitchiner for them.

Work Going On.

I found twenty hands at work on our building on my return from Plymouth and Greenville County, Tuesday, 22nd inst. That makes things look lively. We hope it will be still more lively next week. We are expecting a full corps of carpenters soon. The heaving hammer, shaking saw, pushing plane, mauling mallet, and chipping chisel will ring through this grove. Let them ring, it will be music to our ears. We would rather hear that now than Orpheus' lyre. If our friends will send along the sine qua non, it will be kept humming until the katydids scratch their hind legs in great glee, and make the trees tremble and the very stars quiver in gladness. Send it on, beloved. There are more than fifty windows waiting to be taken—$2 and $4 a piece—cheap. The proposition will not always stand open. Don't be too late. But better late than never.

Plymouth.

Plymouth—not Plymouth Rock—but down on the classic Roanoke—is very dear to my heart. It was my first pastoral charge. Some said that the congregation there was the most intelligent in the North Carolina Conference. Joseph Ramsey, General Hizzie Spruill, William Bagley, Charles Latham, H. B. Short, Asa Gaylord and Dr. Bell, the many-sided preacher, lawyer, doctor, constituted an official board in 1860, that could not well be beaten. They have all gone. But a goodly set are there still. They have not lost the spirit of hospitality either. If you believe it has, step in and sit down at the table of Norman and let his wife and cultured daughter prepare you a meal. Somehow the brethren give me the best homes in the towns where I go. They are so kind to this old man. Plymouth is still dear to my heart, though my friends of the long ago, have all gone.

Items.

Our gardening goes on apace. Cabbages planted.

Thanks to Mrs. Elias Jenkins and Mrs. W. H. P. Jenkins and Miss Sallie Jenkins, for various kinds of seeds for our truck patch. We expect to raise "some pumpkins" this year.

Speaking of doctors—we do not think that the Raleigh doctors can be beaten. Then they are so kind. We are under special obligations to Drs. McGhee, father and son; Dr. McNider, and Dr. R. H. Lewis. So also to Drs. Flemming and Whitaker, dentists. These friends charge our orphans nothing for their services. The orphans bless them in their Father's name.

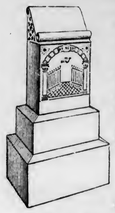
We are indebted to Mr. Wharton, photographer, for reduced rates on our childrens pictures, and to Mr. Fred Watson for pictures of the children free of cost. Also for photos of the Superintendent and the Matron free. May their shadows never grow less!

We have planted a half dozen pecan trees. Thanks to Captain and Mrs. B. P. Williamson. If our grand children have to be cared for here, they will get the benefit of them.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of nine difficulties. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 238, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors, RALEIGH, N. C.

EVERY FORM OF CHRONIC DISEASE

Yields Promptly and Lastingly to

ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON AND ALUM WATER.

It is a highly concentrated natural mineral water, containing the identical mineral properties found by analysis in healthy human bodies. Cures the most stubborn cases. One teaspoonful a dose.

8 oz. bottle, 50c.
16 oz. " $1.00.

At all Druggists, or

J. M. Echols Co.
Lynchburg, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C.

SECOND ROUND.

Hatteras, at Cape, April 16, 17
Kennekeet, at Clarkes, April 18
Roanoke Island, April 20
Camden, at Trinity, April 23, 24
Moyock, at Moyock, April 24, 25
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Colli-gion, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Shallotte, Sharon, April 9, 10
Town Creek, Zion, April 16, 17
Clinton, Kendall, April 22
Kenansville, Wesley, April 23, 24
Elizabeth, Singleta-y, Ap il 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June 4
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, Smith Creek, April 23, 24
Mount Olive Circuit, Providence, April 30 to May 1
Dover, Dover, May 7-8
Snow Hill, Mount Herman, May 14-15
Sarah's, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit. May 23-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. S. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Elise, Tabernacle, April 15
Carthage, High Falls, April 16, 17
Jonesboro, Morris Chapel, April 23, 24
Sher City, Hickory Mountain, April 29
Pittsboro, Brown's Chapel, April 30, May 1
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8.
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, may 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

South Rocky Mount, April 16, 17
Rocky Mount, April 17, 18
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, April 24, 25
Swan Quarter, Soule, April 27
Matttamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, Zion, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Youngsville, April 16th
Louisburg, April 17th
Oxford Circuit, Hermon' April 23, 24
Clayton, Mt. Zion, April 30th, May 1
Millbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 28
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Roanoke Circuit, Tabor, Feb. 17
Hobgood, Hobgood, Feb. 20, 21
Scotland Neck, Feb. 21, 22
Garysburg, Garysburg, Feb. 27, 28
Henderson, March 6, 7
Warren, Providence, March 12, 13
Ridgeway, Ridgeway, March 15, 20

SECOND ROUND.

Northampton, Rehoboth, March 26, 27
Conway, Zion, March 27, 28
Rich Square, Lewiston, March 29
Bertie, Cashie, March 31
Harrellsville, Van's Grove, April 2, 3
Murfreesboro, April 3, 4
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, April 6
Hobgood, Palmyra, April 9, 10
Scotland Neck, April 10, 11
Warrenton, Warren Plains, April 16, 17
Littleton, Calvary, April 23, 24
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Gerysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbury, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

Marriages

KNOWLES—SMITHWICK— By Rev. G. F. Smith, P. E., in Cashie M. E. Church, South, on March 31, 1904, Mr. John P. Knowles and Miss Carrie W. Smithwick, both of Bertie County, N. C.

WALKER — MILLER. — At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Tempy Miller, near Warsaw, N. C., Mr. Robert Walker to Miss Addie Miller, March 2, 1904. Their home is at Burgaw, N. C. Rev. W. D. Sasser officiated.

CAHOON—HARRISON.—On the 30th of March, 1904, Mr. Clyde Cahoon was united in matrimony to Miss Minnie Harrison, in the M. E. Church of Plymouth, N. C. J. H. Buffaloe officiating.

BRADLEY—CARROWAY.— At Park Place, Va., Mr. Elmer N. Bradley, of Riverton, to Miss Nellie Carraway, sister of Rev. J. M. Carraway, of North Carolina Conference, of Norfolk, formerly of New Bern, N. C., Rev. George Wesley Jones officiating.

BURWELL—WATSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. L. N. Watson, near Axtell, in Warren County, N. C., Wednesday afternoon, April 6, 1904, at 5 o'clock, Mr. W. A. Burwell, Mayor of Warrenton, N. C., and Miss Mary L. Watson, Rev. L. M. Chaffin officiating.

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

GALLOP.—Bro. Paren G. Gallop, the subject of this sketch, was born June 1, 1860, and died December 11, 1903. Bro. Gallop had been a member of Mount Zion M. E. Church, South, for a number of years. He will be missed by his church. The community in which he lived will miss him. But more than these, will his family miss him.

Bro. Gallop leaves three children (girls) who now have no mother or father to love and care for them. May heaven guide them through this bitter, sinful world.

We laid the remains of Bro. Gallop to rest on December 13th in the family burying ground, near Powell's Point, N. C., with the service of our church, the honors of the Masonic fraternity and Odd Fellows, to await the resurrection morn. We implore heaven's richest blessigs upon the sorrowing relatives.

W. A. PILAND, P. C.

SPARROW.—The little sons of Brother and sister R. D. Sparrow were killed on the afternoon of March 22, 1904, by the rolling of some heavy logs upon them near the mill of J. B. Whitehurst & Co., at Aurora, N. C. The boys, Willie H. and Ellison, were playing on the logs, when the logs commenced to roll down a steep grade. Willie, 12 years old, was out of danger, but he bravely jumped to the rescue of his little five-year-old brother. Both were horribly mangled, the younger dying in less than an hour, the older that night at one o'clock. Willie was a brave boy. He said: "It was all for Ellison"—i. e. his hurt. He expressed himself as willing to die. They were both good boys. We buried them in the same grave in the family burying ground at Core Point on the banks of the majestic Pamlico River, to await the resurrection morn. Weeping parents, look to Jesus for consolation.

J. M. LOWDER, Pastor.

WHITEHURST.—Simon Whitehurst was born near Aurora, Beaufort County, N. C., January 26, 1826, died March 18, 1904. He lived to a ripe old age, a few days over seventy-eight years. He married Miss Mary Hudnell August 26, 1845. Eleven children were the fruit of this union —five sons and six daughters. Three of the sons and two daughters are now living. The same year Brother Whitehurst was married he joined our church. He lived a consecrated life to the end. He was a kind neighbor, a true friend, and zealous for God's cause, always true to his convictions. His first wife having died years ago, he married the widow Litchworth about five years since. With both he lived a happy life. His end was peace, for he lived an upright life.

J. M. LOWDER, Pastor.

GIBSON.—Again, for the third time, death has entered the home of John L. Gibson at Grimesland, and carried another precious baby jewel away. Although there was more than a year's difference in the death of each one, yet they were all about the same age. The last one, little Johnnie, died March 30, 1904, aged 10 months. He was a great sufferer for more than six weeks, and his disease seems to have baffled the skill of the best physicians and patient care of its mother. I do not think that I ever saw a more devoted, attentive, and loving mother than sister Gibson.

Thus another has gone unto Him who said: "Suffer the little ones to come unto me."

Another promising bud opened on earth, but has been transplanted to that beautiful Eden above, to blossom throughout all eternity. There, in that sinless summer land, the little darlings are waiting to welcome papa and mama. May they each one be patient and faithful, and meet them "over there."

B. E. STANFIELD, P. C.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, it has pleased our kind Heavenly Father in His wisdom, to take from us our former steward, Nathan Gilbert, we, as the Quarterly Conference of Jones Circuit, desire to express our appreciation of his faithful service, and our admiration of the beautiful example of Christian patient endurance as shown forth in his daily life among us; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That the Quarterly Conference and the church to which he belonged, have lost one of their most faithful members, and the community at large one of its best Christian characters.

2. That we submit humbly to the will of Him who is too wise to err and too good to be unkind.

3. That we extend to the bereaved widow and fatherless children our love and sympathy.

4. That copies of these resolutions be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate and to the family of the deceased, and that a copy be spread upon our minutes.

J. W. WOOTEN,
W. DAIL,
D. C. GEDDIE,
Committee.

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove by death our friend and brother, John Vaughan, therefore be it

Resolved 1. That we, members of the Jonesboro Sunday-school M. E. Church, South, do deeply deplore the loss of one of our good and faithful members.

2. That we give this public expression of our sorrow, and while we cannot understand the mysterious workings of our Heavenly Father, yet we know that "He doeth all things well."

3. That we extend to the family in this dark hour of bereavement our heartfelt sympathy, and hope that they may be comforted by Him who is infinitely mereiful and who does not willingly afflict any.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Sunday-school, a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate, and one to the bereaved family.

HUGHES B. HOYLE,
GEO. B. CADDELL,
G. W. AVENT,
Committee.

Whereas, our heavenly Father has called from labor to reward our beloved sister, Annie Blanche Walker, who, for a number of years, was a faithful member of Central M. E. Sunday-school; therefore be it Resolved 1. That while yielding with deep humility to the hand of an all-wise providence, we can but lament the death of one who, by her kindness and loyalty, had impressed us as a true follower of Christ.

2. That in her death the Sunday-school has lost a most faithful teacher, loyal member, and a devout Christian.

3. That her life should inspire us to a more effective service and greater sacrifice in our efforts to further Christ's kingdom on this earth.

4. That we extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family, and pray that they may be resigned to the will of our heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, also recorded in the minutes of our Sunday-school and a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

CENTRAL M. E. S. S.,
L. M. JOHNSON,
R. E. PRINCE,
BETTIE McG. RUTH,
Committee.

Raleigh, N. C., March 18, 1904.

Whereas, God in His wise providence has removed our brother and co-laborer, Mr. John Henry Clifton, from the Sunday-school militant to that unending Sunday-school triumphant; and,

Whereas, he has been so faithful to that department of church work; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That we bow to Him who doeth all things well.

2. That we have lost a faithful member and feel keenly our loss.

3. That we offer condolence to the bereaved family in their great bereavement and may his God be their God, and lead them to the land that is fairer than day.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Sunday-school record and that a copy be sent to the Raleigh Chritsian Advocate for publication.

W. J. ABRAMS,
N. TYSON,
J. S. RIDDLE,
Committee.

Resolutions from Hangum M. E. Sunday School.

Whereas, our heavenly Father has seen fit to take from among us one of our beloved pupils, Luther D. Veazey; therefore be it Resolved 1. That as a Sunday-school we bow in humble submission to this all-wise providence, feeling that He doeth all things well.

2. That with a feeling of regret we bid farewell to the familiar face, realizing that a seat is vacant which can never be filled: yet hoping that in the sweet bye and bye we may meet where accidents never happen and partings never come.

3. That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of great sorrow, trusting that a kind Father will comfort and sustain them.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the stricken family and also to the Morning Herald and Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

E. M. HOYLE,
J. F. McGHEE,
D. B. CAMERON,
Committee.

IT MAY TOUCH THE HEART

Rheumatism Is Treacherous and Delay May Prove Fatal.

GET IT OUT OF YOUR SYSTEM NOW.

Rheumacide

Will do the work quickly, effectively and without any injury to the digestive organs. In fact, it will leave you in much better condition every way, for it cleanses the blood of poisonous lactic and uric acids that cause rheumatism, kidney troubles, indigestion, boils, chronic constipation and catarrh, and the germs that leave one an easy prey to malaria and contagious blood poison. It is not only the greatest blood purifier, but hundreds of relieved sufferers testify that it does one thing that no other remedy does—

CURES RHEUMATISM.

"GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE."

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

A Special Train for You
CALIFORNIA

The Santa Fe will run two special trains to Los Angeles, leaving Chicago April 27 and 28, 1904, and Kansas City day following,

For General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church.

Officially endorsed by several State delegations.

Stops will be made at Albuquerque and Laguna in New Mexico, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, also Redlands and Riverside in California, affording opportunity to see unique Indian pueblos, earth's greatest scenic wonder, and two typical Southern California garden spots. Services Sunday at Grand Canyon.

You will travel on the cleanest railway in the West—oil sprinkled tracks and oil-burning engines in Arizona and California. Shortest line, finest scenery, most comforts.

The rate is low; why don't you go?

WRITE TO-DAY FOR METHODIST FOLDER. Tells all about this enjoyable trip. Berth space on these trains is limited; apply early.

J. C. SARTELL, G. F. & P. A. A. T. & S. F. Ry.
12 North Prior St., Atlanta, Ga.

Santa Fe
ALL THE WAY.

CONFESSIONS OF A PRIEST.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to SanFrancisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1904. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS

ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for

MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSINE. Prepared by

Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.

NO CHARGE.

(Established 1891.)

Dropsy Gives Quick Relief.

Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer. Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

FREE MEDICAL BOOKS FOR THE SICK.

My special method of curing the chronic diseases of men and women has justly won recognition from the medical societies of the world as well as from the public in general. Scattered all over this broad land are tens of thousands whom my skill as a specialist has cured of all diseases, such as Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Nervous Debility, Prematurity, Weak Heart, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble and Stomach and Bowel ailments, Bladder Trouble, Varicocele, Stricture, Female Diseases and Blood Poison.

When it is at all possible I prefer to make a patient's personal acquaintance, but if you live out of the city and cannot call, write me what you suffer from and I will tell you the quickest way to be cured, free, and send you free of charge any one of the following eight medical books explaining my method of cure: 1, Diseases of the Vital Organs; 2, Female Diseases; 3, Diseases of the Throat and Lungs; 4, Nervous Debility; 5, Varicocele; 6, Stricture; 7, Blood Poison; 8, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Call or write to

DR. NEWTON HATHAWAY,
30 Inman Building, Atlanta, Ga.

FERRY'S Seeds

cost more—yield more—save all experimenting—save disappointments. 43 years the Standard Seeds. Sold by all dealers. 1904 Seed Annual postpaid free, to all applicants.

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

$3.50 will buy a pair Americus Shoes In 18 Styles

Men's fine custom-made work.

The Greatest Selling Shoe in America for $3.50

For sale by all up-to-date dealers. Pair "Americus" would be an appropriate present for a friend.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

"TO LADIES ONLY."

If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.

Address MRS. J. M. TURNER,
Box 27, Monroe, Ga.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to

F. E. CLARK, Trav. Pass'r Agt., ATLANTA, GA.

S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED SALT BRICK.

The only GUARANTEED Tonic, Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator and Aider of Digestion for all stock. A SURE HIT ON WORMS AND SURE DEATH TO TICKS. No dosing, no drenching and no waste of feed. Your horse his own doctor. Endorsed by thousands. Free descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc., on application. Sold by all dealers at 25c each, or will send direct, one case, two dozen, all charges paid for $5 00. Money refunded if not satisfied.

Address,
BLACKMAN STOCK REMEDY CO.,
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.
Mention this Paper. Special prize to dealers.

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23, 1904.

On above-mentioned dates the Southern ... announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
W. A. Turk, Pass. Traffic Manager, S. H. Hardwick, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

Statement of the Fourth Quarter W. F. M. S. Dec-Mar., 1904.

Dues—Auxiliaries, $696.16; Bright Jewels, $224.29. Total, $920.45.

Pledge. — Auxiliaries, $626.41; Thank Offerings, $56.82; Life Members, $120.00; Mite Boxes, $25.75; Buds and Blossoms, $3.00; Bright Jewels, $213.38. Total, $1,045.36.

Student's Loan Fund (Scarritt Bible and Training School), $41.90; Isabella Hendrix Home and School (Brazil), $126.40; Lucy Cuninggim Home and School (Korea), $63.17. Total, $1,276.83.

Scholarships, $100.70.

Hiroshima Girls (Japan), $25.00.

Total Dues, Pledges, etc., $2,322.98.

Remitted Bishop Galloway, $25.00; remitted Miss Billingsley, $41.90; remitted Mrs. McTyeire, $2,256.08. Total, $2,322.98.

Missionary Candidate Fund.—Balance forward, $23.21.

Conference Expense Fund.—Balance forward, $12.60; Current Quarter, $127.39. Total, $139.99.

Expense account for quarter, $19.05.

Balance on hand, $120.84.

Balance in bank, $144.05.

MRS. B. B. ADAMS,
Treasurer.

Four Oaks, N. C., Mar. 20, 1904.

Latest North Carolina Crop Bulletin in Farming Progress.

During March, for the first time in six months, a slight excess in monthly mean temperature was recorded in North Carolina. The temperature conditions were therefore favorable, but the frequency of rains, though light in character, kept the soil too wet to plow, so that in many portions of the State plowing was a week or two behind the average. The rainfall was very necessary, however, in view of the preceding months of dry weather, giving the soil a store of moisture for the use of coming crops and placing it generally in good condition for plowing on the advent of dry weather. Winter wheat improved somewhat, began to show above ground and though small. was green and vigorous; in some sections stands appeared better than expected. Winter oats remained very poor. Some spring oats were sown and came up nicely. Preparations for truck crops were commenced very late; some potatoes and peas were planted; towards the close of the month shipments of lettuce began. Strawberries appeared to be in good condition, though late.

Preparations for a large cotton crop are now well under way and large amounts of fertilizer are being distributed. Planting corn is progressing over most of the eastern and southern portions of the State. Tobacco plants in beds are small and late, but look well. Winter wheat has made marked improvement during the week; also oats where not killed. Rye, clover and grass are growing rapidly. Spring oats are being seeded, and many have come up nicely. Considerable advance has been made in the progress of planting and growth of truck crops; large quantities of Irish potatoes have been planted; lettuce is heading and shipments going North; May peas will probably recover from the damage by frost, and yield fairly well. Strawberries are coming into bloom. Planting gardens is progressing well.

Coldest Weather on Record.

The winter of 1903-1904 was in reality the coldest on record since meteorogical observations began to be systematically taken, namely in 1872.

The mean temperature for the three winter months is 36.9 degrees which is the lowest on record; the previous nearest approach to such a low winter mean occurred in 1892-93 with 37.8 degrees. Yet the absolute minimum temperatures recorded this year were not noteworthy, having often been surpassed on previous occasions, the low temperatures were rather the result of the complete absence of the usual periods of a few warm days that generally occur during our winters. It is remarkable that the cold weather was not accompanied by much precipitation, though the average snowfall (unmelted) for the winter, 8 inches, was somewhat larger than usual. The deficiency in rainfall for the four months was over 5 inches. The effect of the dry weather during the fall was greatly to delay the seeding of winter wheat and oats, while the early cold prevented germination and gave the cereal a very late start.—Weather Bureau Report.

YOUNG LADIES WANTED

to introduce our high art decorations, for homes, schools and passe partouting. Clean, profitable and light, pleasant work. Good salary to the right party. For full particulars and samples address, Iander & Taylor, 19 N. 9th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return account Annual Meeting Southern Baptist Convention and Auxiliary Societies. Tickets on sale May 10, 11, 12, 1904. Final return limit 10 days from date of sale. By depositing ticket with Mr. Jos. Richardson, Special Agent, and paying fee of fifty cents, final limit may be extended, but in no case to reach original starting point later than June 6, 1904.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..

Lisle and Silk IN ALL THE NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete. . . . . .

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Luelle" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.

203 and 205 Fayetteville Street, RALEIGH, N. C.

Mention this paper.

King's Business College

(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.

PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentines Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 20 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. The Kind Mother Used to Chew. For sale by all dealers.

Valentine Manufacturing Company, - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

STATEMENT

Atlanta Birmingham Fire Insurance Company

OF ALABAMA.

Condition December 31st, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$162,294.00
Amount paid in by shareholders as a surplus fund	162,294.00
Income—from policy-holders, $160,337.97; miscellaneous, $15,317.27; total	175,655.24
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $14,336.00; miscellaneous, $74,254.48; total,	88,590.48
Fire risks—Written or renewed during year, $14,062,864.22; in force	9,380,278.14

ASSETS.

Mortgage loans on real esate	$16,740.90
Loans on stocks, bonds and other collaterals	9,944.50
Value of bonds and stocks	250,460.00
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	75,277.13
Agents' balances, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	36,308.03
Interest and rents due and accrued,	1,881.95
All other assets, detailed in statement	27,397.41
Total	418,009.92
Less assets, not admitted	27,397.41
Total admitted assets	390,612.51

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$4,611.00
Unearned premiums	84,610.50
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	89,221.50
Capital paid up in cash	162,294.00
Surplus	139,097.01
Total liabilities	390,612.51

No business in North Carolina in 1903. Entered the State January, 1904.

President, J. T. Dargan; Secretary, L. C. Fletcher.

Head Office, Empire Building, Atlanta, Ga.

Business Manager for North Carolina—Managed from Atlanta office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, February 12, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Atlanta Birmingham Fire Insurance Company, of Alabama, filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....

World's Fair Scenic Route

TO

St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50 Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

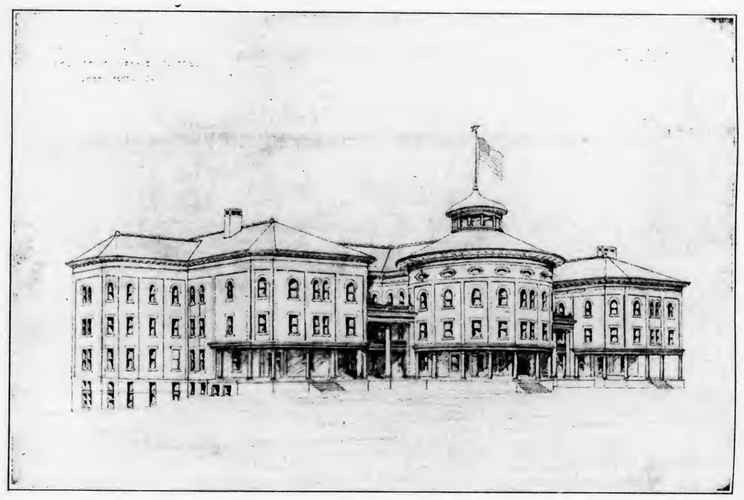
LIBRARY OF THE [illegible] NO. CAROLINA

Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

Organ of the North Carolina Conference

Fiftieth Year | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1904. | Number 13.



GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE

RACHEL F MANNING WILL

Contributions

Greensboro Female College.

I have been hoping to hear that the movement to rebuild this noble institution was being vigorously pushed. I believe that it ought to be rebuilt, and the sooner the better. Below I give the reasons for this position:

1. Because the Methodist Church in North Carolina cannot afford to be without an institution of real high grade for the education of our girls. I am not reflecting upon such female colleges as are in the State which are run under the auspices, or in the interest, of the Methodist Church. They are doing a good work in the field of Christian education; but there is imperative need for a female college in the State, which shall be run in the interest of the Methodist Church, of far higher grade than any of these can claim to be. We are suffering at this point, and many of our brightest girls are going elsewhere because they cannot get what they want in our schools. It is also true that we have the fact to face that they are getting their mental training in institutions that are not in sympathy with our church—a fact, too, that is full of danger to the future church.

2. At Greensboro we have a good foundation for such an institution. A more beautiful site could not be found in North Carolina. The altitude is sufficiently high; the campus is large, and covers a beautifully rounded eminence; the student body there during the years of its history has been remarkably free from sickness; and, though the building is burned, it is still a very valuable property, and is now practically free from debt.

3. The history of this institution is too valuable to lose. It is the oldest institution save one in the South for the higher education of women. Her alumnae are found from the mountains to the seashore, and they are devoted to their alma mater. I believe that they will show their faith by their works, if we will only give them an opportunity under wise leadership. Such co-operation is essential to the rebuilding of the institution. This sentiment, treasured up in the hearts of these godly women and of the men whom they have captured, must somehow be transformed into money that is current with the merchant. Those years of toil and struggle which have enriched the history of this noble institution have been wrought into the character of these women, and into the character of the homes which they have made. Such history is invaluable, and we may say essential to a great educational institution. It is something that cannot be built in a day, but is attained through a process of growth. Greensboro has this advantage over any new institution that we might build.

4. All this emphasizes the importance of rebuilding upon the old site. We might move the name and faculty to a new city, but most of the sentiment referred to above is not transferable. Any attempt to move the college to another point would certainly develop enough opposition to create factions, and for one, I think that we have had enough of them in our educational work. And then for the whole State, Greensboro is very centrally located, and well adapted to the purpose. To move it would be unwise in my judgment, unless by so doing enough money is secured to build and equip the college, and put it upon a sound financial basis.

A SUGGESTION.

Now let me make a suggestion. In rebuilding this old college, let us make it the head of our Methodist institutions in the State for the education of women. I do not mean simply that it shall do a higher class of work than any other. I suppose that has been recognized all the while; but why cannot there be a recognized correlation between it and the others? It seems to me that there ought to be. The Methodism of North Carolina ought to give it the equipment and furnishing, and then require of it the standard of scholarship, that the Educational Board of our church requires of the collegiate institutions. We have only one such female institution in Southern Methodism, but this is no reason that we should not have such a one at Greensboro. It is rather the greater reason we should have it. Then let the other female institutions of the State which are run in the interest of the Methodist Church be correlated with this. Let Littleton and Louisburg and Davenport and the rest do as high grade work as they are doing, and, if possible, even higher; but let it be understood that the graduates of these institutions are only prepared to enter Greensboro, or at best, no higher than the sophomore class. This would give us as a church some system in our female education in the State, and we might hope to accomplish something worthy a great church. Our efforts have been too helter skelter, too much energy has been wasted, there has been lack of unity. Hitherto we have been in the wilderness in this work; and with the disjointed methods hitherto employed, we are likely to stay there. L. S. MASSEY.

A Few Reasons Why Greensboro Female College Should be Rebuilt

1. A failure to rebuild would mean that the Methodists of the State have decided to take a great backward step in educational work in behalf of her women, which of course should not be thought of for a moment.

2. The place for it is Greensboro, N. C., because it has an old and historic site, and an association that it would take nearly a century to build in any other locality.

3. A failure to utilize the present site would mean the throwing away of from $40,000 to $50,000 worth of as valuable property as any college ever had, and which could not be utilized in any other place.

4. It is an ideal situation because it is in the centre of the State, in one of the most up-to-date and progressive cities of the State where an educational atmosphere pervades the whole community, making a congenial clime in which to thrive.

5. It will have an equalizing effect. Being in the Western Conference, just on the line, the prestige will be in favor of neither Conference in particular, but will equalize both, and will appeal to the patronage of both and thus unite the forces of Methodism which is all that has ever been needed to make our educational work a grand success.

6. Our ability calls for expenditure on a scale that will place us in the front rank in an educational way, with any denominations in the State. The trustees evidently had this in view when they selected the plan and laid out an enterprise commensurate with the Woman's College at Lynchburg, thus removing such a thing as competition between any of our other schools and Greensboro Female College.

7. The time for it is now. Possessing as we do a student body, which insures us a patronage equal with that of any other denominational institution in the State, more than anxious to return, we can start off with a senior class, which we could not hope to do if we delayed even for a year.

8. The record of the past is a pledge for the character of the future work to be done by the institution, and surely no people have had greater cause to respect, venerate and revere an institution than have the Methodists of this State to so regard Greensboro Female College.

Finally, brethren, let us be one. We can never hope to attain anything as long as every man has a different idea. Can't we centre our forces and act as a unit? We some times talk about what other denominations are doing, and it is wholly due to the fact that their forces act as a unit. Let Methodism unite for one year on Trinity College, as do the Baptists on Wake Forest, and we would have to double its capacity to hold the students. Let Methodism unite on Greensboro Female College as do the Methodists of Virginia on the Woman's College, and we will have an institution that will be second to none in the United States. The trustees of this institution have but one single desire, and that is for the upbuilding and uniting of the forces of Methodism for the education of her daughters. We have laid out plans which, if carried out by our people, mean success. I plead for the burial of the little differences which are not of the greatest importance, and frequently are imaginary the unifying of our forces in co-operation in this work, and a reasonable degree of liberality. With this the work will be secured. Shall we do it?

C. H. IRELAND.

A Daughter From Mississippi Writes.

"905—22 Avenue,
"Meridian, Miss., March 10, 1904.

"Miss Nannie Lee Smith, Greensboro, N. C.

"My Dear Miss Smith:—I am glad the college is to be rebuilt. I should like to be able to help liberally. When you are ready, I hope to be of some small service in the way of contribution. Every member of the church interested in education should feel it a duty to help in the rebuilding. I enclose a money order for ten dollars for the college. Never let it get in debt again, for debt will choke the life out of anything. With best wishes for the abundant success of the college, I am,

"Yours cordially,

"AMY J. STEVENS.

The Need of North Carolina Methodism for a First Class College for Women.

That Methodism in North Carolina should make provision for the education of her daughters, does not admit of dispute. That such provision has been made will hardly be affirmed.

It is true that to the North Carolina Conference is due the distinguished honor of inaugurating the first chartered insttitution in the South for female education, and Greensboro Female College is a monument of the wisdom and foresight of our fathers.

The value of this institution cannot be easily expressed. Much of the culture and progress and influence of Methodism in our midst is due to the noble and devout women who received their mental and moral training under its fostering care. But Greensboro College has never done the best possible work from lack of financial resources. Instead of ample and suitable buildings and needed apparatus and teaching force, the college has had to drag along the best it could with its own created resources, and a part of the time under the competition of other institutions subsidized by the State, that could offer equal advantages at less expense. We as a church owe it to ourselves to have a college for women equal to the best in intellectual requirements and other advantages.

We have easily sufficient means for this. The useless expenditures of the Methodists in North Carolina would be ample to found and endow such a college, apart from the gifts that self-denial should prompt, to aid in so worthy and valuable a cause. We are not doing our duty to our girls. We have our colleges for males, and we have taxed our people regularly for their support, and emphasized the duty of loyalty to them. Our leading college is well endowed, and well equipped, and we rejoice in the great work Trinity is doing, and in the prestige she has gained.

But where are our colleges for the education of our girls? We own none that are distinctly such.

All we have for that purpose are individual enterprises, and in the nature of things incapable from want of resources to do what they wish toward higher education. It seems to me more important to educate our girls than our boys. The world is to a very large extent what women make it. Whatever the type she impresses on it, is the type it will bear. The history of the human race is largely the history of her influence over man. Where her influence has been least, man's degradation has been greatest, and where her influence has been greatest have been developed the highest civilizations, and the purest religions. She is the home-maker, and the home is the bulwark of society, of the State, and of the church. Make of the home-makers cultured, refined women, and the effects will be visible on all phases of life.

The educated father may have ignorant children, but the educated mother never. Her own trained intellect will impart, by assiduous efforts, its own attainments to them.

As the strength of a monument depends upon its base, so the mental and moral welfare of the world finds its strong foundation in the home where woman occupies the central throne of power and holds the key of the soul, and stamps the coin of character on those entrusted to her reign.

Our first duty is to help by all available resources, to make our women what they can be, that they may help make the world what it ought to be.

We owe it to our girls to provide a great Christian school for them.

F. D. SWINDELL.

A College That Has Done So Much Should Be Helped.

There is not an alumna of Greensboro Female College who does not feel deeply the loss of her alma mater, and who does not realize the necessity of rebuilding at once. Any delay in the beginning of this important work would endanger its completion in time for the opening session in September.

Let every friend of the college assume a part of the responsibility of a new building and equipment by that time.

We cannot afford to do without a college that has done so much for the womanhood of North Carolina. If those who really have the best interests of the State at heart, and especially the Methodists of the State, upon whom mainly rests the responsibility of rebuilding and maintaining this time-honored institution, fully appreciated its value to the State and the Church, there would be no lack of means to re-establish it, and the re-opening in September, 1904, would be the best in her history.

To that end let us all work and pray.

ELIZA NORFLEET SMITH, '02.

What North Carolina Methodism Can Do for G. F. C.

The church has been in the educational work from the earliest period of the State's history. Dr. Charles L. Raper, who has made a serious study of this subject, says in his book, The Church and Private Schools of North Carolina: "The majority of men and all the women until 1892 have received their education from church and private enterprises, and these have failed to reach hundreds and thousands." At present, there is an educational awakening and more are going to school than ever before, and more eager to make sacrifices in order to get an education. At such a time as this, it would be strange to think of Methodism relinquishing her hold upon the future by neglecting the development of her women. And still more strange would it be to see our denomination contented with an educational plant adapted to the needs of our grandmothers.

Woman is becoming more and more conscious of the numerous demands that the present day is making upon her. As she struggles to serve her generation well, she realizes the necessity of thorough training. She needs to know many things well or else, by one fell stroke, the equilibrium of a whole household is upset.

North Carolina Methodism is able to make an investment in a Woman's College thoroughly equipped and heavily endowed. It is no use to expend time and money in providing an institution that is not strictly of the highest order. The demand is for the best, and our women will have it if they must go from home in order to secure this. There is no question of ability on the part of the Methodists of North Carolina; only a definite purpose and a concerted effort is needed. Think for a moment of their annual contributions:

Missions	$46,333
All benevolences	97,386
Support of ministry	226,354
All purposes	556,927

These figures do not include the amount contributed for purposes not reported to the Annual Conferences, neither do they take into account the money raised by the women in their societies. A church that contributes annually more than half a million dollars for all purposes, and nearly a hundred thousand dollars for benevolences, can build a great Woman's College whenever she sets her hand to it. Greensboro Female College can be rebuilt; it must be rebuilt.

EPIE SMITH PLYLER.

G. F. C. Should Be Rebuilt on the Old Site.

As has been said, and truthfully said, may be said again, that the history of Methodism cannot be written without writing the history of her institutions of learning. For the reason they are the highest exponent of the thought and doctrine as well as the deepest source of the influence and power of the church. Take out of North Carolina Methodism the vast contributions Greensboro Female College has made to her life, domestic, social, intellectual and religious, and you eliminate the richest portion of the church's heritage. There is not a Methodist community in the State, and far beyond, that has not been blessed by her gifts and enriched by her cultnre. The Methodist Church in North Carolina never could have been what it is today had it not been for Greensboro Female College. Who could measnre the infinite loss, both to church and State, should she cease to be? What then, rebuild? By all means rebuild. Where? Why, upon the very same campus, where she has been twice burned to ashes. There is no more lovely spot in the State. Beautiful for situation. The joy of the whole church. Thousands of her noblest daughters and sincerest friends turn hither with fondest recollections. Build other than there and you tear the college away from the best constituency the institution has ever had or ever will have.

To rebuild there would best conserve the history, life and work of the institution. Greensboro Female College has had a noble past. Her life is incorporated in the best womanhood of the church. This is her richest endowment, an entailed legacy increasing in interest and influence as the years go by. Remove her to any other community and you dissipate and throw to the winds the accumulations of years, worth more than endowments of gold or legacies of silver.

This is not sentiment, and if so, you cannot ignore sentiment altogether; especially sentiment full of highest purpose, tenderest love and fondest hope. But this is not sentiment, but the fixed and settled judgment of so many of the wisest and best people of the church that it may be taken as the will of the majority. Greensboro is one of the best towns in the State, of easy access, healthy, and centrally enough located, touching both east and west.

By all means then, rebuild in Greensboro on the same old cherished site. When and how let the wise and Godly men and women now at the helm say, and then let every loyal son and daughter respond. J. B. HURLEY.

A School for Methodist Girls.

Methodist parents should have a first-class educational institution for Methodist girls. Such a statement cannot be denied. From every mother's heart that beats with love for her church, the cry should go up: "Let Greensboro Female College be rebuilt."

Let every alumna work for her alma mater.

Thousands of hearts were torn by the terrible havoc wrought by the fire-fiend that laid her in ashes; but let those hearts resolve that it shall be so, and she will rise again, Phoenix-like, from her ashes to bless future generations of girls as she has blessed those of the past.

My mother was a graduate of the first college, burned in 1863. My sister and I were graduates of the one just destroyed, which my daughter has also attended. Such has been the history of many families in North Carolina Methodism, and there are many homes today in North Carolina where a thousand tender memories hover around the beloved spot. Let our noble hearted men and women get to work. Let the Conferences help, and let the College be rebuilt in a style suited to the growing demands of our twentieth century work for our children.

MARGIE CHERRY JAMES.

Greenville, N. C., March 23, 1904.

A Tower of Strength

Greensboro Female College has been through its long life such a tower of strength to North Carolina Methodism, no arguments should be needed to hasten her rebuilding. Unless we have too many educated Methodists the doors of Greensboro Female College should be reopened next fall.

Alumnae need no arguments. They need to measure their love and faith in our college by energetic work and liberal gifts. If our preachers and people need arguments the strongest reasons can be found in the life and work of G. F. C. women among us. Let each pastor remove from his charge mentally if he can the influence of Alumnae and students of Greensboro Female College and the loss to every department of woman's work would be a convincing argument to him. The long career of the College in the past explains its widespread influence; but high standards of education and character held up by the precepts and example of Christian teachers more fully give us the reasons why G. F. C. girls are leaders in good causes. Our church cannot afford to let this influence be lost to her people, and I do not believe that she will be ready to lose it even for a time.

With united efforts money can be raised at once. Do not wait for others, but send the most you can give now, and let us start the work of rebuilding.

REBECCA WILSON LeGRAND.

Rockingham, N. C., March 22, 1904.

An Earnest Letter.

My Dear Mrs. Cunninggim:—I have watched with deepest interest every publication looking to the rebuilding of Greensboro Female College. North Carolina cannot afford to sustain the loss—nor can Greensboro.

What has she not done, and can yet do, for the once small town—and yet for the future prosperity of the present city!

It seems so necessary to do quickly, what can be done, in order to let the school go on before the present organization is scattered. Surely the wealth of Greensboro and of the State will come to the rescue!

If it were possible for the alumnae to raise it again, it would not long be in ruins. I am with you in sympathy and in anything that I can do in my small way. The whole amount to rebuild would be at your disposal if I had it. We can pray that God will direct the means for its success.

Your friend,

LAURA A. PATRICK.

Danville, Va.

As Early As Possible.

Greensboro Female College should be rebuilt as early as possible, or the education of women in our church and State will suffer irreparable loss. It is my earnest wish that this should be done.

Yours in love for our alma mater.

L. M. HENDREN.

New Bern, N. C., March 22, 1904.

The New College.

It is the history of nearly all cities and institutions destroyed by fire that their successors have always been more impressive and noble. Out of death, to use the ressurrection analogue, there has sprung a larger life. May the truth of these statements be reverified in the rebuilding of G. F. College.

In some three respects the college ought to come out of its ruins better and stronger than before:

1. The buildings themselves should be and will be better. The old college, dear as it was to us all, was not adapted to the needs of a twentieth century institution. To any thoughtful friend its limitations in that regard were of recent years most embarrassing.

2. The public generally, and especially the Methodist Church, should have a deeper interest in the school—and they will have. Hitherto it has been too much in the category of the "Forgotten Man." Its rebuilding will make it blossom anew in the minds and hearts of our people.

3. A new epoch will be begun as to the scope of work done. It is a sad fact that in North Carolina there is not a school for the education of women that ranks along with such institutions as the Woman's Randolph-Macon. The curricula of most of them, indeed, are disgracefully low. Greensboro Female College can be, ought to be, the Smith, the Vassar, the Bryn Mawr of the Old North State.

If these points of greatness and strength are possible of attainment, North Carolina Methodism cannot afford to leave the college in ashes. Everything is to be gained by building—and, it may be added, all is lost by not building.

T. A. SMOOT.

Fayetteville, N. C., April 14, 1904.

Three Questions

1. Is it necessary to rebuild Greensboro Female College?

As a Methodist proud of the history of my college, as an alumna believing in its beneficent and lasting influence on my State, and as an individual bearing joyful testimony to the debt of love and gratitude I owe "G. F. C.," I answer most emphatically, yes.

2. When should the new building be erected?

Not one moment later than common sense and business principles make delay necessary.

3. Where is the money to come from?

That is for the Methodists of North Carolina to answer. Last summer a handful of women, most of them working for a living and none of them wealthy, saved the college—how? Seeing their faith, generous friends—many not Methodists—gave them the help they sought.

Never have the affairs of the college been better managed than during this scholastic year, and if once a good modern building stand on the old site, the future of the college will be assured, for our State has a multitude of girls who ought to go to college but who are as yet unreached by all the schools of church and State combined.

A few unaided women can not rebuild and carry on the work of the college. Will the Methodists of North Carolina let the Alumnae Association try and fail, or will they rally to our support and lead us on to victory?

BERTHA MARVIN LEE.

On The Old Site.

Mrs. L. A. Cunninggim, President Alumnae Association:

May Greensboro Female College be rebuilt at once, on the same site, so beautiful for situation, that the number of cultured Christian women, as sent forth, shall increase; and Methodism, the advocate of education, be exalted.

Earnestly,

BLANCHE E. FENTRESS.

Wilson, N. C., March 22, 1904.

An Earnest Exhortation.

My Dear Sister Cunninggim:—I wish to express my hearty sympathy with the movement to rebuild Greensboro Female College. Let it be done at once, and on the old foundation. I shall gladly aid the enterprise in any way in my power.

Wishing you abundant success in your great undertaking, I am,

Yours truly,

JAMES H. WEAVER.

April 14th, 1904.

Without Delay.

We must rebuild, without delay, Greensboro Female College. Methodism in North Carolina cannot afford to let her lie in ashes. We are well able to start her again. A. D. BETTS.

Lillington, N. C.

The Field

Hope Mills.

I have not written anything for the Advocate this year, so I will say a few words now. I was appointed to this charge at last Conference, and received a most cordial reception. Evidences of love have been steadily accumulating from all sources.

Owing to the partition of the old Cumberland Circuit, Camp Ground being placed with Fayetteville Circuit, it became necessary for the preacher to live at Hope Mills, instead of Cumberland. So we rented the parsonage, and are living in a "hired house" at No. 1 village. The elect ladies immediately proceeded to replace the old furniture with new and substantial. All the preachers who preceded me will know what that meant. The residence of the preacher in charge at Number One village is evidently providential. It is the oldest, largest and most important point on the work. Yet Methodism has done nothing for it. We had no semblance of organization of any kind here. It is the only town of 1,500 people in the State that has no Methodist Church. To have had none here all these years is nothing short of a calamity. We have lost ground sadly and baldy. At present there are some sixty Methodists living here. The writer has never seen more anxious ones for a church. Tis true they are all poor people, but they have souls, and true ones at that. The church has no more loyal friends than some who live here. But they must have a church. We have organized a flourishing Sunday-school here, holding it in the old school-house, where we also hold preaching services. Recently we organized a class of membership, and appointed a building committee to devise ways and means for our new church here. The mill company has donated us a very desirable site, and we must build. The membership here are not able to complete the church. But we believe that God will go before us, and He will send us the help from other sources.

We are remodeling, painting, and otherwise beautifying our church at Number Two village. Will paint Marvin Church, are discussing the advisability of building at Parkton.

Have most of my collections in sight, and expect to raise all claims this year. I am in love with my work. Am enjoying the continual presence of the Holy Spirit, and am much encouraged to go forward.

Brethren, pray for us. This is a large and responsible work, and I need your prayers.

Fraternally for the Master.

E. R. WELCH.

Trinity College Notes.

Commencement is fast approaching, June 1-6 commencement days. Work on the home stretch is now being done all along the line. The following commencement officers have been elected by the Societies: E. R. Hines, chief marshal; J. B. Aiken, R. J. Matlock, R. M. Bryant, L. J. Carter, Fred Flowers and L. M. Johnson, assistant marshals; J. B. Sidbury, chief manager; J. C. Wilson, J. E. Matthews, Robert Baker, Gordon Smith, A. F. Goodman, Jarvis Terry and Fred Sigman, assistant managers.

The senior class is composed of about fifty-five members. They have elected the following class day officers: Orator, A. L. Wissburg; historian, W. V. McRae; "phunny man," P. H. Elkins; poetess, Miss Rosa Lee Thomas; statistician, W. H. Saunders.

The base-ball team went to Cary last Saturday and played the Cary High School. The game resulted in a victory for the T. P. S. by a score of 15 to 5.

Thursday was observed as donation day at the school. The classes, individual students and others contributed in various amounts. Below we give a list of the donations:

Mr. J. D. Maultsby, four pecan trees; Mr. Geo. A. Gray, $10.00 on piano; Mr. J. W. Woodard, $5.00 on piano; Mrs. J. W. Allen, $1.50 on piano; Mr. J. C. Wilson, $1.75 on piano; Mr. J. F. Bivins, $5.00 on piano; Mr. F. S. Aldridge, $5.00 on piano; Mr. P. H. Elkins, $1.00 on piano; Mr. W. R. Grant, $1.00 on piano; Mr. G. B. Spivy, $1.00 on piano; Mr. C. L. Hornaday, $2.00 on piano; Mr. G. A. Behlan, $1.00 on piano; Mr. L. C. Sessoms, $1.00 on piano; Mr. J. F. Buckman, $1.00 on piano; Mr. R. O. Baghy, $1.00 on piano; Miss Annie Roney, $25.00 on piano; Mr. C. C. Barbee, $5.00 on piano; Mr. E. R. Hines, $1.00 on piano; Mr. C. C. Council, $1.00 on piano; Mr. A. L. Wissburg, $1.00 on piano; Mr. C. C. Barnhardt, $1.00 on piano; Senior Class, two busts—Homer and Plato, and picture of class; Junior Class, two pictures; J. M. Holland, picture; Fred Flowers, picture; W. H. Saunders, J. B. Aiken, picture; R. J. Matlock, J. B. Sidbury, J. Terry, picture; base-ball team, picture; Intermediate Class, portrait of Wm. E. Gladstone; R. C. Goldstein, picture; W. P. Boyd and Adams Bros., picture Intermediate Class; Calhoun Literary Society, picture of Society; R. C. Nicholson, picture of Grady Society; E. W. Elliott, $1.00 on piano; Chemistry Class, $1.00 each; Claude Flowers, chair for rostrum; Miss Annie Umstead, picture.

D. S. M.

Trinity Park School, Durham, N. C., April 15.

The Old Songs.

BY J. V. WILLIAMS.

I stepped into a city church the other day in Texas and was in time to hear the choir give us some excellent Coney Island music.

I endured. It is written "endure harness as a good soldier," and if that sort of squalling is not "hard," what is it? It is hard for me to stand, but then, you know, I must go to church.

After the "smart set" in the choir cut their capers, the pastor arose and read that old hymn—

"Come humble sinners in whose breast
A thousand thoughts revolve;
Come with your guilt and fear oppressed
And make this last resolve."

I thought those in the choir would fit some Coney Island tune to it, but they didn't, and began to sing the same old tune they used to sing for sinners down in old Hyc County fifty years ago.

That tune carried me away. I first joined in the singing with all my voice, but I found that I had to clinch my teeth and hold fast to the seat to keep from shouting, and it would never do to disturb that church. Soon I was lost in reflections, and not only heard the singing of the good old Hyde County Methodist of other days, but was again looking into their noble Christian faces.

How these old songs carry us away! Are we to let them die and substitute a lot of jigs?

How I would delight to sit down again under the cypress trees in Old Hyde and hear them sing—

"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand,
When I can read my title clear,
Come ye sinners, poor and needy,
Of him who did salvation bring."

And then hear those old choruses again—

"There is a rest remains,
Happy day;
O the storm will soon be over,
We'll cross the river of Jordan.
My home is over Jordan,
"There's balm in Gilead;
O shout we're gaining ground,
My soul is heaven-bound;
Say, brothers, will you meet me,
I'm tired of this world,
Happy Christian over yonder
When we land on that shore."

But I must stop and wait for many a saint to again sing the dear old songs our fathers sang.

Fayetteville.

The writer had the pleasure of visiting Fayetteville, N. C., on his trip, and must say that he fell in love with the good town of Fayetteville and its people. The writer was treated most royally, with all whom he came in contact with, and shall always remember old Fayetteville. We are glad to note the good work and progress that Bro. T. A. Smoot has done in this town for Christianity, and bringing souls to Christ. He has not only been winning souls to Christ, but has also won the highest esteem and confidence of the people as a whole in Fayetteville. Bro. T. A. Smoot's time of serving his people is drawing near to a close, and they are realizing that it will not be long before he will have to leave them. The writer finds these people are already grieving over losing him, and December will bring many a sad heart. We are confident that Brother Smoot will win the love and confidence of his people wherever he may be sent.

Very respectfully,

B. C. GLOVER,
Traveling Representative Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Elise Circuit.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—Elise Circuit is making progress in several ways. More than half the money is already in hand to pay for all the furniture in the parsonage. The parsonage had to be furnished and we expect to see it done this year. There has been as much money raised for the support of the P. C. and P. E. as was raised last year up to June. The "Old Raleigh" is going into five times as many homes as it was at the beginning of the year. Six have joined our church this year. Six Sunday-schools are running and doing good work.

The home of brother, W. T. Garner was saddened by death, claiming his little ten-year-old daughter. She was a sweet little girl. May God bless the bereaved ones and help them to meet her "where the surges cease to roll."

The 15th was the quarterly meeting for Elise Circuit. Notwithstanding it was a very busy time with farmers (and my official board are farmers), two-thirds of the officials were on hand. And my, my, how Brother Hurley did preach! I don't believe he has any better sense than to preach his best all the time. It's a treat to any one to hear him.

J. W. HOYLE.

Mrs. Caroline Davis' Birthday.

Please allow me space within your columns to make a few statements concerning the celebration of Mrs. Caroline Davis's seventy-ninth birthday, which came off the third Sunday in April, being the 17th day, and took place at her old homestead, near the winding stream of Core Creek, and near her old home church, Asbury, in Craven County.

The day was a very pleasant one.

About noon a sumptuous dinner was spread on a long table in the yard, and after thanks had been offered to the Giver of all good, and blessings asked for from the Heavenly Father, by Mr. Brice Ipock, all proceeded to allay their hunger by partaking of the tempting viands before them. They all having taken their places, she stood on her front piazza, by the side of her deceased husband's only living sister, Mrs. Susan Debruhl, of Rhem's, Jones County, and in company with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Emily Daugherty, of Cove, and Mr. H. P. Daugherty and wife, of Dover, N. C.

All the children present with their companions were as follows, viz.: Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Heath, of Cove, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Lamb Fields, of Ft. Barnwell, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. R. Davis, of Cove, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Brice Ipock, of Cove, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Davis, of Cove, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Ipock, of Cove, N. C.; and Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie Davis, of Cove, N. C.

This old mother in Israel has been the mother, grandmother and great-grandmother of one hundred children, eighty-one of whom are living, and nearly all of whom were present to make glad her seventy-ninth birthday.

Mrs. Davis has been a consistent member of Asbury M. E. Church, South, for about sixty years, and has seen all of her children become members of the same; also many of her grandchildren. Has not God blessed her in her old days?

There were a number of friends and visitors present.

A number of presents were given to Mrs. Davis during the day, and it made her heart glad to think she was so kindly remembered by so many.

D.

A Reply to Rev. A. J. Parker.

I read the communication of Brother Parker in regard to Greensboro Female College and there is so much, wholesome reading in it that I dislike even to think of differing with him on a subject which we both hold so dear and sacred. But there are one or two points that I think deserve some attention and, as Brother Parker reasons from a basis that I always like to reason from, namely, plain, every-day, practical wisdom, I am sure that he will not misunderstand my position. And while I must admit a certain amount of sentiment in my make-up, yet, dealing as I do with the practical forces of life daily, I am more in my element when in the realm of stern, practical facts than when moved by sentiment. Brother Parker thus speaks of the college:

"The history of female education in the United States can never be truthfully written without mentioning her name."

You can build a barn, or a house in a week or a year, but it takes generations to make a real college or university. And right here we Methodists have an asset of incalculable value which we seem to overlook in connection with this subject. There is not another denomination in the South that would not be willing to count the fact of its being next to the oldest chartered Female College in the United States as an asset that could not be purchased with any amount of money. This may be sentiment, but it has a lot of the practical in it as long as people are moved and actuated as they are to-day, and I trust they will never change in that particular.

"The old institution is dear to us all and must not remain in the ashes of her misfortune."

Nay, verily! The good Lord never intended it to be otherwise, for He defeated our plan of trying to get along with an old building by allowing it to burn in the parts that should be destroyed, but so tender was He to preserve intact all that could be utilized, that even the ivy on the walls was not scorched and has never ceased to grow, pointing, with finger tips of new life, upwards to Him who has done so much for us as a denomination, and asking us to remember the past, and build grander and broader for the future. The trees which stood in ten feet of the walls have never ceased to put out their new buds, preparing a shade for the young lives which were soon to congregate beneath their boughs. The Board of Trustees and Brother Parker were evidently of the same mind as to the character of the plan wanted for our denomination, and it only needs a glance at the plans adopted to convince any one that great things only are contemplated, and if these plans are carried out it will not only place us abreast of any institution, but ahead of all in the epuipment which looks to the comfort and convenience and improvement of the student body, and of course the educational feature could not be other than the best. The past has demonstrated this for, although laboring under disadvantages, it has always maintained a curriculum second to that of no institution in the State, and with a united constituency back of it, and the needed funds to meet the requirements of an up-to-date college, we can do grander things in the future than we have done in the past. Now what is needed to accomplish this? Only two things—unity and cash. Let us secure the first and the second will follow as logically as the day follows night. And here is the point we want to stress, Mr. Editor. Let us stop hunting around for things outside and foreign to us. You recollect the fable in the reader of the man who had the sons, and who had the bundle of sticks brought to him. He tried to break them all together and could not. One by one they were easily snapped in two. That old lesson is here for us to learn to-day. Methodism united defies the world, the flesh and the devil combined. Divided we are as sheep without a shepherd. When will we learn our lesson? Now according to Brother Parker, the only way to secure the cash is to remove this institution to Durham. Well, in the first place, it would not be Greensboro Female College if moved to Durham. And why Durham rather than Greensboro? Talk about its being a failure at Greensboro—it has never been. I deny it in toto. A college must not be estimated by the number of pupils within its walls, but the characters it sends from its doors. Viewed from this standpoint, it has been one of the grandest successes of any institution in existence. The failure to have more pupils was due, not to the college, but simply to a division of our people who have felt called upon to criticize rather than to pray. Now why should we move this institution to Durham? In my judgment it is simply this: One or two good Methodist laymen have felt that the Lord was entitled to a portion of the goods that He had blessed them with and, actuated by that motive, turned over to His use a certain portion of their stores. With what result? One hundred and forty thousand Methodists have dropped everything and dumped their burden off on these two brethren, while one portion stands off and howls because these brethren have done so much, thus making an excuse for escaping their own duty, the other portion fold their hands and cry, "No need for us to do anything more as Brother Duke pays all of our tithes and all we have to do is to jump on the wagon and let him pull the load." Now is this fair? Is it right? Is it just? Is it religious? Before God, I belive it is a crime. I thank the Lord for every dollar that Mr. Duke has put into Trinity College and my only regret is that other men are not actuated by the same motive and willing to make a like division with the Lord. If we could get the same motive back of the Methodist people of this State that Mr. Duke has, and go to work and do something ourselves, we would see things move in this State in an educational line and every other line. I am not a mind reader, neither have I ever talked over this matter with Mr. Duke, but, with my limited knowledge of him, I feel no hesitancy in saying that I will guarantee no pleasure that could come to him would be comparable to the knowledge that his brethren throughout the State has decided to consecrate a portion of their means to the building, equipping and endowing of an institution of learning for their women, and it would be entirely satisfactory to him if they put it at Greensboro or any other point that suited them. Not only this, but I believe it would encourage him to do even more than he has done for Trinity. There is no conflict on earth between Greensboro and Trinity, and to remove this institution from Greensboro to Durham, simply to tack it on to Trinity College, and thus escape paying what we owe the Lord, and throw away $50,000 or $60,000 which could not be utilized any other way than by using it here, would be, in my judgment, a great blunder. Then beyond all, in the name of humanity, I want to beg 140,000 Methodists to get out of Mr. Duke's lap and go to work and do something themselves. We are able abundantly to do this, and God expects it of us. Let us put $60,000 in this present building on this historic ground, $140,000 to endow the institution, and I can assure Brother Parker and all other Methodists of the State that they will never have any occasion whatever to raise the question as to whether Greensboro Female College will be a success or not. It will be demonstrated the moment unity of action is secured between our people.

CHARLES H. IRELAND.

Greensboro, N. C.

The Golden Opportunity.

The Methodists of North Carolina have joint ownership and control of two great institutions of learning, and have much cause to be grateful for the record which each has made. One is Trinity College for young men, which has an equipment of more than a million dollars. It is open and its halls are filled with young men. The other is Greensboro Female College. It is in ruins, its charred walls are deserted, its faculty and students are scattered abroad, and from its ashes holds out its wounded hands for sympathy and help.

The Methodists outside of Durham have very little invested in Trinity College. The Methodists of this generation had only a few thousand dollars invested in Greensboro Female College at the time it was burned. They feel the fresh inspiration that has recently awakened the State in the cause of education. The misfortunes that have befallen Greensboro Female College in the last few months have aroused their interest and sympathy as never before. They are abundantly able to furnish the means for rebuilding the college. The golden opportunity has now come for our people to show their devotion to Methodism and the cause of Christian education, and most assuredly they will do it. Let them rise and build and give the honored old college a new start on a scale that will compare favorably with our college for young men in Durham.

The prestige which our Female College has won from the past, the expectations of the future, the interest of our daughters and the heroic efforts of the Alumnae Association all demand it. A prompt response will give us a better building, followed by larger patronage, and what seemed to be a great calamity will prove to have been a "blessing in disguise.

J. J. RENN.

Guilford College, N. C.

Some Reasons why Greensboro Female College Should be Rebuilt on the Same Site At Once.

1. We have already the most beautiful campus in all the land; admirably located, on the street-car line, and yet, only a short walk to the churches and to the business portion of the city.

2. To the hundreds of women and girls who claim Greensboro Female College as their alma mater, no other place could have around it the sacred memories and tender associations that have for fifty-eight years been gathering around this dear old college. Over a large part of the United States are to be found the alumnae of Greensboro Female College filling positions of usefulness and honor, and in the "nations beyond," Brazil and Korea. We find them living and teaching the blessed truths of the gospel they were taught in old Greensboro Female College—all of whom feel that to them is committed a sacred trust, not only to perpetuate this noble old institution, but to empower it for grander achievements in the future than ever in the past.

3. It is just and right, and due our noble and heroic fathers, Peter Doub and his co-laborers, not to give up that for which they sacrificed and toiled so assidnously to establish. They, with prophetic vision, saw what it meant to Methodism in North Carolina to have such a college for the Christian education of their daughters. And when disaster befell it forty years ago, there still were found brave, noble hearted Christian men who risked their fortunes and their homes for its resurrection. Yea, the blood of that good man, the lamented Wm. Barringer, crieth from the ground. "Arise and build at once."

4. What has been done can and will be done again. We believe God has not accomplished all He intends through Greensboro Female College, and with His blessings upon our efforts, it will arise gloriously and speedily from its ashes.

5. It is not an impossibility. If 72,000 members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, by their small contributions in one year raised $112,458.78, what could not our great and strong Methodist Church in North Carolina do in building and equipping a college, equal to the best, if with determined, united effort they go to work?

LUCY A. CUNINGGIM.

Of Course.

My Dear Aunt Lucy:

Of course I am in favor of rebuilding the College at once, on the same spot. I wish I could express how strongly I am in favor of doing it.

The things that were accomplished last summer give me the hope that we shall soon see G. F. C. again. Yours most sincerely,

MARY PAGE.

Aberdeen, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Our Boys and Girls

Jarvisburg, N. C., March 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. My mama is my teacher. I will answer Florence Bobbitt's question: Jesus was tempted forty days in the wilderness by Satan.

I will close, hoping to see my letter in print.

Your unknown friend,
PEARL COPELAND SCOTT.

Windsor, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am going to school to Miss Mamie Moore. We do not have Sunday-school now. We have missionary society at Ebenezer Church second Sundays, and I am Secretary. We had not had any meeting, before this morning, since the second Sunday in November.

Who was the strongest man?

Who sold Joseph?

Your friend,
MARY PRUDEN.

Clarkton, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eleven years old. I go to school every day and to Sunday-school every Sunday. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Empie Brown, and I like her very much.

Jesus fasted in the wilderness and was tempted of Satan forty days and forty nights.

How old was Noah when he died?

Your unknown friend,
LESSIE WOOTEN.

Cary, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years of age. My mama and papa are both dead, and I live with my uncle and aunt. And I love them very much. My uncle takes the Advocate, and I like to read the little girls' and boys' letters. Our preacher's name is Mr. Rood.

Who was struck dead for lying?

Your friend,
BERTIE KING.

Rocky Hock, N. C.

We are two tiny little girls. One of us is three and the other four years old. We are too young to go to school so we cannot read and write. We get mama to write for us. We hope when we get old enough to go to school, we will soon learn to read and write for ourselves.

Inclosed is $1.00 for the orphans, with best wishes for them and the Advocate.

Your little friends,
LIZZIE LEE and IDA RICHARDSON BUNCH.

Vass, N. C., March 19, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. My father does not take the Advocate. But I enjoy reading it. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Our Superintendent is Mr. A. Cameron, my uncle. Our pastor is Mr. G. A. Oglesby. We all like him very much.

I like history best of all.

Noah was one hundred and twenty years building the ark.

What did he build the ark of?

Your unknown friend,
BESSIE N. CAMERON.

New Bern, N. C., March 20, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I go to Sunday-school, and every-day school. I am in the fifth grade at school, and my teacher's name is Miss Rosa Dail. My Sunday-school teacher's name is Mrs. Pauline Williams, and we all love her. My pastor's name is Rev. G. T. Adams, and I like him very much. We have a society called the C. L. W. to help along with the new Methodist church. We have raised $50, which will help a great deal.

Now, I will answer Alice Turner's quetsion: Jesus was baptized in the river Jordan.

What one miracle of Jesus is found in all four of the Gospels?

Your friend,
MURIEL E. GROVES.

Littleton, N. C., March 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I live with my uncle. He takes the Advocate. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher's name is Miss Nettie Johnston. Mr. W. E. Spruill is our Sunday-school Superintendent.

I will answer Alston Brooks's question: Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years old when he died.

What king was eaten up by worms?

Your unknown friend,
SUSIE DANIEL.

Aulander, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a litle girl eleven years of age. I am going to school now to Miss Mamie Moore, and I like to go to school to her.

Our pastor is Rev. R. L. Davis, and I like him very much. We have missionary society every second Sunday in the month.

What are the names of the first four books in the Bible?

How long did the flood last?

Who was the strongest man?

Your friend,
CHLOE PRUDEN.

Echo, N. C., March 15, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. Mama takes the Advocate. This is my first letter to the Advocate. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. I also go to every-day school. Our pastor is Rev. J. W. Bradley. We all like him very much.

Who was it at midnight sang praises to God in prison?

Inclosed find fifteen cents for the orphans.

Your little friend,
DAISY WARD.

Capelsie, N. C., March 18, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years of age.

When I was going to school I studied arithmetic, grammar, fourth reader, geography, history and spelling. I like to go to school of all kinds. I am studying music, and I like my teacher.

Our pastor is Rev. H. G. Stamey. We all like him very much.

How many times is the word Mary in the Bible?

I hope to see my letter in print.
ILA BRUTON.

Clay Fork, N. C., March 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I thought I would write to you. I have been writing to the North Carolina Baptist. My grandpa takes that paper and papa takes the Advocate, and I do love to hear the childrens' letters read.

Who baptized Enoch?

Will some one send me the song, "Put My Little Shoes Away"?

I will close.
FENTON M. GARDNER.

Smithfield, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years old. My grandmother takes the Advocate, and I love to read the boys and girls letters. My grandmother is eighty years old, and is very active. My papa and mother are living. I have three brothers. Our preacher is Mr. Guthrie. We all like him.

I will answer Florence Bobbitt's question: Jesus in the wilderness was tempted of Satan forty days.

I will ask a question: How old was Methuselah when he died?

Your unknown friend,
ROBERT P. WHITLEY.

Durham, N. C., March 15, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nine years old. I go to Sunday-school; also to the graded school. Our pastor is Rev. R. C. Beaman. Our Superintendent is Prof. E. G. Green, and my teacher's name is Mrs. Merley.

I will answer Irma Walker's question: The one hundred and thirty-first Psalm is the shortest in the Bible.

I will close by asking a question: How old was Jesus when he was crucified?

Your friend,
EDDIE EDWARDS.

Hertford, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy twelve years old. I enjoy reading the letters. I go to Sunday-school. My teacher is Mrs. J. P. Winslow. My pastor is Rev. M. H. Tuttle, and he is the best I ever saw.

I will answer Otis Moffitt's question: Samson called his wife a heifer.

Now I will ask one: Who ate grass like an ox?

I caught a hare in the yard eating evergreens, and I sold him for ten cents, and I'll send it to the Orphanage.

Your friend,
HINTON CHAPPELL.

Oxford, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old.

We have a new preacher, Rev. J. D. Pegram. I like him very much.

I will answer Etta Butt's question: Methuselah was the oldest man.

I will answer Florence Bobbitt's question: Jesus was forty days and forty nights in the wilderness tempted by Satan.

How old was Noah when he died?

Inclosed find five cents for the Orphanage.

SALLIE FULLER.

Weeksville, N. C., March 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old, and I enjoy reading the childrens' letters very much.

My mother and father are both living.

I go to Sunday-school every Sunday, and my teacher is Miss Bessie Standly. Our Superintendent is Mr. Markham, and our pastor is Rev. W. F. Jones.

I will answer Alston Brooks's question: Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years old when he died.

What is the longest verse in the Bible?

Yours truly,
BIRDIE JENNINGS.

Chadbourn, N. C., Mar. 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years of age. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. My teacher's name is Miss Sarah Chapin. I like her very much.

Our pastor's name is Rev. J. T. Draper. We all like him. I am a member of the M. E. Church at Chadbourn.

I have no pets except my baby sister. Mama takes the Advocate.

Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years old when he died.

What is the shortest verse in the Bible?

Inclosed you will find ten cents for the orphans.

Your little friend,
JESSIE INMAN.

Clay Fork, N. C., March 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I will write to you for the first time. I am a little boy six years old. I am breaking a pair of oxen, but I am afraid they will get to be too much for me after awhile. I hope you will publish this. I am,

Yours truly,
FERBER P. GARDNER.

Carters Mills, N. C., March 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—We are two sisters. Our papa takes the Advocate. We enjoy reading the little folks' letters. We go to Sunday-school most every Sunday. Our teacher is Mrs. Hoyle; our Superintendent is Mr. L. S. Maness. Our pastor is Rev. J. W. Hoyle.

What three men fasted forty days and nights?

Good-by, with best wishes to the Advocate.

EMMA and BLANCHE CARTER.

Raleigh, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy ten years of age. My papa takes the Advocate. I go to school every day. My teacher is Miss Bessie Brown, and I like her very much. I go to Central M. E. Sunday-school. My teacher is Mr. N. B. Bagwell. Our pastor is Rev. F. A. Bishop. He is very fond of children, and children are very fond of him.

Methuselah was the oldest man.

Who buried Jesus?

Your little friend,
EDWIN HURLEY RICHARDSON.

There was no bitterness in her poverty; she met, looked at it, often even laughed at it, for it bound all the family together hand in hand; it taught endurance, self-dependence and, best of all lessons, self-renunciation.—Dinah Maria Mulock.

10,0000 Free Trial Packages of Vernal Palmettona (formerly known as Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine), will be given away this month, and if you ever suffer from constipation, indigestion, stomach trouble, kidney difficulties, catarrh of the bladder, painful urination or enlargement of the prostrate gland, you should see that you are included in this grand free distribution. It will not cost you a cent. Simply send your name and address to the Vernal Remedy Co., 538 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y., and they will mail you at once a free trial bottle which will demonstrate that a sure and perfect cure has been found for these distressing chronic troubles. One dose a day does the work and the action of the medicine is gentle, soothing and healing. Nearly all druggists keep it for sale, but if you want to try it free, sit down now and write to this company for a sample.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN SEABOARD AIR LINE SCHEDULE.

Effective April 17th, the following changes will be made in the Seaboard Air Line Railway Schedule:

Trains arrive and depart from Union Depot as follows:

Northbound.

Train No. 34—Arrive 1.20, leave 1.25 a. m.

Train No. 38—Arrive 10.55 a. m., leave 11 a. m.

Train No. 66—Arrive 11.46 a. m., leave 11.50 a. m.

Southbound.

Train No. 31—Arrive 3.55 a. m., leave 4.00 a. m.

Train No. 41—Arrive 3.50 p. m., leave 4.00 p. m.

Train No. 43—Arrive 7.30 p. m., leave 7.35 p. m.

Train No. 50 has been changed to No. 34, train No. 57 to No. 31 and train No. 27 to No. 43.

Greensboro Female College Day.

A special day to raise a rebuilding fund for Greensboro Female College has been recommended by the Board of Trustees of this institution to be announced later. The two Conferences accepted the proposition of the Alumnae Association in appointing this Joint Board of Trustees, representing the two Conferences and the Alumnae Association, to look after the interests of the College. The Special Commission appointed to investigate the matter of title and to arrange the details of having College property legally transferred to the church, officially met and reported that the interests of the church had been duly perfected and recommended the College to the support of our people. This recommendation of a special day to secure funds for the rebuilding of the College was promptly made by the Trustees soon after the burning of the College, in connection with their decision to rebuild the College. Such a decision on the part of the Board of Trustees was both timely and heroic, was worthy of the high trust committed by the church to them, and also placed the responsibility upon the masses of the people whom such Trustees represented. Can we consistently feel indifferent or opposed to such an appeal for our loyal support made by wise and good men, appointed to represent and lead us? Under such circumstances, at a crisis when a legitimate call has been made for our united action, is it timely to become divided and to jeopardize an important common interest by varied discussions? Has the recent disaster changed any principle of a claim resting upon us when we provided for the adoption of the college? Its location is the same; its friendly relation to every other institution is the same; its mission is the same. If an institution is now needed elsewhere in our State it was needed when we appointed the Joint Board of Trustees to secure and run Greensboro Female College as our own institution. Besides, the saving of Greensboro Female College does not conflict with any other institutions needed among us; for the Methodists are well able to meet all reasonable demands resting upon them. The Journals of our two Conferences report 146,318 members, including 439 ministerial members of our Conferences. One dollar per member would build on the present site a magnificent structure, with enlarged and improved equipments for our educational work for women, and would leave $98,000 (including the $12,000 secured last November and December) on the Endowment Fund. The $35,000 insurance practically clears off the bonded indebtedness. Less than 50 cents per member would rebuild the College, with the property practically free from debt, and having about $12,000 on the Endowment Fund. About 17 cents per member would raise $25,000, which, added to the $35,000 insurance money, would build the proposed edifice. The matter involved then in the burning of the College is only a small amount of money per member. Is it possible that the hosts of Methodists will become dismayed at raising such a sum after all that has been done in the past? The heroic fidelity repeatedly manifested in behalf of this time-honored institution throughout its history has been applauded as worthy of the noble men and women that made the loving sacrifice, as well as worthy of their important cause for which such devotion was rendered. Shall we show ourselves worthy to nobly build on foundations already laid? The call is urgent. Shall we respond? We can if we will.

S. B. TURRENTINE.

Greensboro, N. C., April 20, 1904.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President — Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C

Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.

Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.

Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.

Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

The annual meeting of this society convened in Elizabeth City, Thursday the 21st. A full report of the proceedings will be published in the Advocate.

Raleigh sent a smaller delegation to Elizabeth City than it usually sends to the annual meeting; but Raleigh District will report much activity and greatly increased collections. Mrs. B. F. Dixon represents Edenton Street Society, and the Young Woman's Society of Edenton Street Church is represented by Miss Pescud. The Societies at Central elected delegates, but business engagements prevented their attendance.

Mt. Tirzah, N. C., April 18, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Dixon:—We organized a W. F. M. S. at Mt. Tirzah the third Sunday in December. Our Auxiliary numbers sixteen.

The officers are as follows: President, Mrs. S. S. Moore; Vice-President, Miss Lizzie Stanford; Recording Secretary, Miss Lizzie Moore; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Geo. T. Bowen; Treasurer, Miss Lizzie Powell.

We have on hand $5.80 dues and $3.65 "Thank Offering."

We should have reported sooner, but so few of our members have been able to attend that we could not hold our meetings regularly. We sometimes feel discouraged because our members do not attend, but we do pray that our Auxiliary may yet be a bright and shining light. This is our pastor's (Rev. M. D. Giles) last year, and we do regret so much to give him up.

Yours truly,
MRS. GEO. T. BOWEN,
Corresponding Secretary.

CONFESSIONS OF A PRIEST.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice. I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c.

There is room enough on earth to find graves for the finest abilities and noblest powers. The ground which received one talent will also receive the five. Every man can be his own sexton. You can easily find a spade to dig a grave for your talents and abilities, your money and your time. But understand that in burying your talent you are burying yourself; in burying aught that God has given you, you are burying part of your very life.—Joseph Parker.

Use your gifts faithfully, and they shall be enlarged; practice what you know, and you shall attain to higher knowledge.—Thomas Arnold.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.

First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.

Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.

Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern

Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.

Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.

Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Our Peril.

Bishop Galloway with his discerning judgment and fine opportunities for observation, says our gravest peril is in the congested cities, and our hardest problem the large foreign element among us. Would that all Christians, men and women, could realize this fact, and prepare for the conflict before us—perhaps in the near future! The integrity of our people and their spiritual life will be involved, and there is pressing need for vigilant watching and aggressive planning if we would preserve it.

The Panama Canal.

Legislatures, political and commercial conventions and the daily press are discussing the effect of the Panama Canal on the future of the South. It is probable that Galveston, New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola, Tampa, and possibly other towns will become great marts through which the traffic between the Western and Eastern world will pass, and will therefore become the converging foci of the great streams of immigration flowing into this country.

Homes, lodging houses, schools, churches, will be in such rapid demand in the next two decades, that unless State and municipal laws are enacted that will grapple with the danger in the beginning, the overcrowded, badly built tenement houses of London and New York will be duplicated, with the same fearful results.

All good citizens should see to it that such laws are passed as will preserve sanitary conditions in homes and factories, regulate immigration, so as to prevent the evil of a vicious vagrant foreign population, and secure the abolition of degrading and degenerating vices.—Our Homes.

I have given the above words from Our Homes because so pertinent and so practical. Let them be a bugle call to arouse us to new consecration and new activity.

Next week I desire to tell you what our organ considers the duty of Christian churches in these conditions; also the great opportunities that they will give to the Woman's Home Mission Society.

Every Member Should be a Subscriber.

I wish I could convince our members, and other intelligent women as well, of the wisdom of taking this excellent paper. The clear, strong editorials are of great value, and the news of our work throughout the connection stirring and encouraging, while the spiritual help cannot be easily estimated or expressed.

Annual Meeting April 27 to May 2, Selma.

Our Conference convenes tomorrow morning, and you will look eagerly for news of it. I hope to give it to you in the issue two weeks hence. I also hope to have the pleasure of meeting many of you there.

For next 90 days we will be giving special attention to the Printing of School Catalogs. Send us your order if you want first class work. . . EDWARDS & BROUGHTON Raleigh, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Shou'd be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON AND ALUM WATER.

Is a Spring Water, containing the extreme concentration of those mineral properties most necessary to cure all stubborn and deep seated . . . .

CHRONIC DISEASES

It is no patent medicine, and the best physicians are constantly prescribing it with invariable success. The concentrated product is 160 times stronger than the natural water, and one (1) teaspoonful is a dose. It is rapidly earning a national reputation, and to any physician who has not tested it will be sent an 18 oz. bottle free. Call for it at your druggists.

Price, 8 oz. bot. 50c., (equal to ten gallons of the natural water), 18 OZ. BOT. $1.00.

Write for further information and testimonials.

J. M. ECHOLS CO.
Lynchburg, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

OUR ENTERPRISE FOR THIS YEAR OF GRACE, 1904.

We give much of our space this week to a discussion of that enterprise which should be so dear to the heart of every North Carolina Methodist—the rebuilding of Greensboro Female College. Since one of the prime functions of a church paper is to make public, magnify, and develop the interests of the Church, we feel that in giving so much space this week to Greensboro Female College, the Advocate is exercising one of its highest functions.

What is more vital to the Church than the education of her daughters? We may neglect to educate her sons and yet be able to retrieve some of the consequent loss through the education of her daughters. A great loss would ensue to the church through a failure to educate the boys. A double loss would ensue through a failure to educate the girls.

There is really only one thing to do in connection with Greensboro Female College—and that is to build it. The question of a site, with all deference to those who have contrary views, has long ago been eliminated. The logic of events, the action of the two Conferences, the history of the institution, the possession of one of the most magnificent school sites in the South, with walls already standing worth at least $15,000, the expectation of thousands of friends both East and West, and the wonderful possibilities inherent in the present location—all render it imperatively necessary that the Methodist people of North Carolina rise in their might and rebuild at once this institution.

The question, "Can it be done?" has no place in our consideration of the enterprise. Methodism is unused to the habit of illustrating in her experience the meaning of the word "cannot." It will require only about seventeen cents per member to set the old institution on her feet again. The Baptists of the State once addressed themselves to the enterprise of helping their noble college, Wake Forest, and an endowment fund of $100,000 was the result. Again, they addressed themselves to the enterprise of building an institution for their women. Handsome buildings, free from debt, a magnificent faculty, and a large enrollment of girls from all over the State, are the result. A call is now made to the Methodists of North Carolina to take the walls valued at $15,000 now standing on propery worth $50,000, with no encumbrance of debt, with the prestige of a glorious history behind, and the vision of greater triumphs ahead and rear an institution of which the whole South may be proud. Shall we once think of saying, "It cannot be done."? Shall we forget the obligations of the hour and the genius of Methodism and say, "We will not help?" No! we cannot afford to do so. We will not do so.

So we present to our readers the statements and appeals in this issue, and ask that they be prayerfully considered. A great duty is before us, because a great opportunity is staring us in the face. Look at the cut of the proposed building on the cover page of this paper; study the noble proportions; calculate the sacred possibilities slumbering within the completed walls; behold the inspiring vision of an army of morally and intellectually cultured young women issuing from the portals, year after year, to consecrate the altars of home and strengthen and beautify the pillars of society—and then ask God to make you an effective instrument in materializing the hopes represented in that picture.

OUR ZION.

There is an oft-neglected duty which confronts every intelligent Christian, and that is to keep himself informed of the progress or decadence of the church in general and of his own denomination in particular.

This duty is not to be performed in order that one may answer the quibblings of those who are ever predicating or predicting the decay of the church. Such quibblers are the logical descendants of the one of old who was ever asking the question: "Who can show us any good?" The duty is to be performed because an intelligent grasp of the question of the material and spiritual movement of the church is a condition of the most effective personal service. When the exhibit is favorable, showing progress, there comes a new strength into faith, and a new inspiration into the heart. When the exhibit is unfavorable, the true soul hears a trumpet blast calling to renewed activity and a closer waiting upon God.

The General Minutes of the M. E. Church, South, for 1903, are just from the press. Dr. Tigert the Book Editor, says: "The results indicate a year of uniform and uninterrupted prosperity in every department of church activity."

The increase in membership for the year was 31,635. To those who were depressed by the showing for 1902, this fact comes with refreshment for the spirits. Our total membership is now 1,566,828. The number of infant baptisms was 27,788; of adult baptisms, 59,424. When we compare the net gain and the number of adult baptisms, it is not difficult to see what inroads death and other causes of removal are making into our membership.

It is a sad fact that there was an increase of only 151 travelling preachers for the whole connection. Of course, more than this number were admitted on trial, for death removed many from the ranks. Yet we cannot contemplate with any degree of satisfaction that the net gain is so small.

There was an increase of 4,191 Sunday-school officers and teachers, and of 45,285 scholars. Perhaps the noblest achievements of the Sunday-school, not considering its direct spiritual effects, have been wrought through the Bible Teachers' Study Circle. Dr. James Atkins, the Sunday School Editor, did a great thing when he conceived and executed this idea. He was the pioneer in a very important field. Other denominations are just beginning to appreciate the importance and magnitude of this work. The seed is being sown and the harvest will be rich.

There was an increase of 286 in the number of Epworth Leagues; 6,746 in the number of Epworth League members. It is an encouraging fact that the Epworth Era not only paid expenses but made a small surplus. Considering the equipment and opportunities, Dr. DuBose has done a wonderful thing, and he and the whole church are to be congratulated.

The total amount paid during the year for Bishops, Presiding Elders, and preachers-in-charge was $3,107,689.16, being a gain for the year of $108,237.13. The gain in the amount paid Presiding Elders is nearly the same as that paid the preachers-in-charge, showing that the ratio of increase for the Presiding Elder has been greater than that for the preachers in his District.

The total collection for missions including Church Extension and the American Bible Society, was somewhat surprising. It amounts to over $800,000. The sum of $192,029.31 was raised for superannuated preachers and the widows and orphans of preachers. In this amount are not counted the sums collected on the Superannuates' Endowment Fund.

In the main, the general report for the year is encouraging. Let us all try to make next year's report better.

The weekly papers of the various denominations are nearly 1,100 in number. The Roman Catholics have 160. Protestant journals number over 900. The Methodists have about 140, and the Baptists about the same.

THE NEW GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.

The cut on our first page is a good representation of the proposed new building for Greensboro Female College. A brief review of what already has been done, and what North Carolina Methodists expect to do, may be interesting to our readers. Last summer, the Alumnae Association raised a subscription of $25,000; this was to buy the stock of the Greensboro Female College Association, one-half of this has already been paid, and there are solvent subscriptions with which to meet the other as it falls due.

There is a bonded debt of $40,000, and the insurance money, amounting to $35,000, will be used in liquidating this sum. Many of the bondholders have expressed their willingness to scale their claim so that the insurance money may extinguish the debt. As the College owns a trust fund, invested in these bonds, the interest of which is payable to itself, the insurance money will relieve it of all embarrassment from this debt.

There then remains to the College a lovely campus, only a few blocks from the heart of Greensboro, on West Market Street, worth about $50,000, and the old walls valued at $10,000 to $15,000.

The Trustees propose to erect a new building on the old site, using the old walls, which, when complete, will be worth $75,000. It will be equipped with all needed conveniences, such as water, baths, rooms, etc., etc., and all the sanitary arrangements will be complete. The boiler will be removed to the rear of the building, all wood work, exposed in the least, to any danger of fire will be wrapped in asbestos. Fire escapes with landings on each floor will be provided. There will be a gymnasium, etc., supplied with all the necessary athletic appliances. The building will accommodate 200 girls, two in a room, and will have elegant parlors, library and reading room, art studio, chapel and society halls.

In short, the new College will be an up-to-date, modern school building with every convenience.

Twelve thousand dollars have been contributed to the building fund, and work cannot commence until about $20,000 more is subscribed. Work must begin by June 1st, if the school is to open September 15th, which is of the utmost importance. Send your subscriptions at once to Miss Nannie Lee Smith, Greensboro, N. C.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—Fifth Sunday in July.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Rockingham, Lumberton—May 26-29.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28-July 31.

The dates of the other District Conferences will be published as they are announced by the Presiding Elders.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

The following amounts have been received since last week:

Rev. R. B. Clark, Coleridge, N. C.	$2.60
Rev. R. H. Broome, Carthage, N. C.	1.00
Rev. J. D. Pegram	1.00
Amount previously reported	106.25
	110.85
Total required	$500.00

We regret to announce the death of Rev. I. N. Mann, who died on last Friday afternoon at his home in Siler City. He was buried at Mt. Pleasant Church on last Sunday. Rev. J. H. Frizelle, conducted the funeral service. North Carolina Methodism has lost in Brother Mann's death one of her choicest sons. His life was a benediction to all. He was always deeply interested in this paper, and in every interest pertaining to North Carolina Methodism. His obituary will appear in the Advocate. With hundreds of his former friends and acquaintances we mourn with the bereaved family.

Dr. James H. Carlisle is one of the "grand old men" of Southern Methodism. He is now 79 years old, and still teaches astronomy and ethics in Wofford College.

Methodist Mention

Our church in Cuba gained 235 members last year, and 300 probationers.

Rev. Euclid McWhorter preached to the Odd Fellows at Southport on last Sunday.

A lady in Kentucky has given Bishop Candler $600 for the new mission work in Pinar Del Rio, Cuba.

We learn that the citizens of Lumberton, Miss., have made a gift of a $25,000 residence to Dr. S. A. Steel.

The united contributions from all the Methodist churches last year for missionary purposes was $7,500,000.

The Rockingham District Conference will meet at Lumberton May 26th, and will embrace the fifth Sunday.

We look for great things from the Missionary Conference to be held the first week in May in Waco, Texas.

Rev. A. J. Parker found thirty Advocates on Roanoke Island. There are now seventy-five. Who can beat this record?

Edmund Clarence Stedman has written the hymn which will be used next week at the opening of the St. Louis Epoition.

They have organized in Atlanta, what is known as the Preachers' Wives Circle. There are in this organization vast possibilities for good.

Bishop A. W. Wilson will preach the annual sermon at Randolph-Macon Commencement, and Bishop Galloway will deliver the address.

Mr. J. H. Southgate, of Durham, was so kind as to call one day last week. We are sorry that, on account of our absence from the office, we were unable to see him.

Rev. James Chapman, of England, will deliver the Cole Lectures at Vanderbilt University, April 24-May 1. We acknowledge with thanks an invitation to be present.

The Methodists of New Orleans have just given to Bishop Morrison an elegant espiecopal residence, costing $10,000. The Bishop and his family will soon move into it.

The St. John's congregation of St. Louis have purchased a parsonage for their pastor, Dr. J. W. Lee, at a cost of $12,500. St. Louis Methodism does things on a large scale.

We repeat our exhortation to the brethren to be patient in waiting for the publication of the obituaries sent this office. We are very much crowded with obituaries at present.

Rev. Jno. F. Butt, Charlotte, N. C., after spending some time in Florida, has returned to North Carolina with renewed health, and announces that he can help the brethren in a few meetings.

The Western Christian Advocate comes out in the handsomest edition we have yet seen in the newspaper field, to celebrate its 70th anniversary. The Western is a credit to religious journalism.

The Alabama Christian Advocate is now sending out weekly 9500 papers, and an urgent appeal is being made for 500 more to make the number 10,000. We trust that the requisite number will be forthcoming.

Mr. Joseph G. Brown left on last Monday to attend the National Bankers' Meeting in New York City. He will attend the annual meeting of the Epworth League Board in Waco, Tex, before returning to Raleigh.

Rev. C. L. Read thus writes of a recent visit of Bishop Wilson to Edenton: "The Bishop preached twice and delivered an address on Missions. His reputation as a thinker and preacher was fully sustained. We were charmed by his visit and preaching. Besides our congregation and visiting members of the other Edenton congregations, there were visitors present from Hertford, Roper, Plymouth and other points to hear the Bishop.

A brother speaks in highest praise of the good work that Bro. N. H. D. Wilson is doing on his work. They now have lumber on the ground for the construction of a new church at Barnesville, on Robeson Circuit.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Z. Paris, Bro. W. H. Humphrey, one of our zealous Methodist laymen of Lumberton, conducted religious service at Moss Neck a few Sundays ago. This is our idea of a true layman.

Rev. E. R. Welch was in Raleigh on last Monday. Assisted by Rev. F. A. Bishop, he conducted in the afternoon the funeral service of the little child of Mr. and Mrs. John Marr of Hope Mills, but formerly of Raleigh.

Bro. W. T. Jenkins, of Aurelian Springs, writes: "I want to help the Advocate to help the people and keep the Warrenton District in the front rank." So he sends a check for three new subscribers. May God bless our laymen!

The young ladies of the State Normal College of North Carolina, located in Greensboro, have agreed to educate a young lady from one of our colleges in Brazil, and Greensboro Female College, despite its fire, has agreed to do the same.

Rev. R. F. Bumpas began a series of meetings at Central Church on last Sunday. Rev. N. L. Scabolt has closed his meeting at Brooklyn. It was a most successful meeting. There was quite a number of professions and accessions.

Southern Methodism is alive on the Pacific Coast. Eight thousand dollars for a deaconess home and $7,500 for a Berkeley Church, besides meeting all Conference and connectional demands, is a better record than many numerically stronger sections can show.—Epworth Era.

We congratulate the Epworth League and all Methodists on the fact that the Epworth Era paid all running expenses during the year which has just closed. Now let the Board give Dr. Bu Bose "full swing" in the matter of column space and equipment. We must spend money in order to keep from losing money.

"A Soldier's Story: Prison Life and Other Incidents in the War of 1861-5." This is the title of a most readable and well written pamphlet by Mr. M. O. Sherrill, State Librarian. It is written in that style which both instructs and entertains. The sterner scenes are relieved by that play of humor for which the author is noted.

Mrs. B. F. Dixon has sent the following item from Elizabeth City: Our Annual Meeting has opened in the most promising manner—all the executive officers present and all the District Secretaries except three. At roll-call this morning fifty answered "present." We are anticipating a most enjoyable, successful meeting. Miss Pescud and Rev. W. B. Lee, missionaries to Brazil, are here.

Bishop John H. Vincent's four years' residence in Europe ended with March of this year. He has had espiecopal supervision of the Methodist Episcopal Churches in the old countries which is now conducted in nine Annual Conferences. Reports show 60,000 members and probationers, 80,000 Sunday-school members, with book deposits, and periodicals in Germany, Switzerland, Scandinavia, Italy, and Bulgaria.

President Kilgo will leave the first of next week for Los Angeles, California, and will be absent from college during the month of May. The College of Bishops of the M. E. Church, acting under the orders of the General Conference, selected him as Fraternal Messenger to the General Conference of the M. E. Church. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Kilgo and Prof. R. L. Flowers.

The Advocate office was honored one day last week with a visit from Miss Nannie Lee Smith, who was in Raleigh on a canvassing tour. Her faith and energy are boundless. She has not the slightest idea that the College will fail to open on time. Neither has any one who comes within range of her faith-compelling words. The educational interests of North Carolina Methodism already owe much to Miss Nannie Lee Smith.

Publisher's Column

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

Losing sight of the fact that the month of April expires nearly a week after the last issue of the Advocate in this month, we announced last week that the week just closed would be the last week of the Campaign for New Subscribers. Of course, it is plain that properly speaking the campaign does not close until next week. So our preachers and laymen have one more week in which to work. There are lacking only 293 new new subscribers to make up 150 for each District in the Conference—the great object to which we have been bending our energies. We can secure this number by next Wednesday. We must do it. We cannot afford to fail. The brethren are hard at work. Let us reach the goal next week.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report of each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since April 20, 1904:

B. C. Glover	32
Rev. A. J. Parker	13
Rev. W. C. Merritt	12
Rev. J. W. Hoyle	8
Rev. W. A. Piland	7
Rev. W. E. Hocutt	6
Rev. E. R. Welch	6
Rev. W. F. Craven	5
Rev. G. B. Perry	5
Rev. G. W. Starling	5
Rev. R. H. Broom	5
Rev. J. M. Lowder	4
Rev. J. G. Johnson	3
W. T. Jenkins	3
Rev. B. C. Thompson	3
Rev. L. H. Joyner	2
Rev. G. D. Langston	2
Rev. H. G. Stamey	2
Rev. D. N. Caviness	2
Rev. A. D. Betts	2
Rev. P. D. Woodall	2
Rev. C. O. Durant	1
Rev. E. Pope	1
Rev. C. W. Robinson	1
Rev. T. W. Mansfield	1
Rev. J. C. Humble	1
Rev. J. M. Ashby	1
Rev. W. F. Galloway	1
Rev. J. W. Bradley	1
Rev. J. E. Underwood	1
Rev. B. H. Black	1
Rev. V. A. Royall	1
Rev. R. W. Bailey	1
Rev. Chas. A. Jones	1
C. W. Ezzell	1
Rev. N. H. Guyton	1
Rev. W. F. Sanford	1
Rev. A. McCullen	1

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Warrenton District	202 increase for week	26
Rockingham District	163 increase for week	32
Fayetteville District	158 increase for week	42
Elizabeth City District	117 increase for week	33
Washington District	103 increase for week	5
Raleigh District	96
Wilmington District	78 increase for week	3
New Bern District	73 increase for week	1
Durham District	67 increase for week	3
Total increase for week		146
Total new subscribers to date		1,057

You will see that two more Districts, Rockingham and Fayetteville, have gone above 150 and seem determined to match Warrenton's record. Elizabeth City moves up two places and turns Washington down two places. We believe that every District is determined to reach the mark and above.

Mr. J. L. Ramsay, an experienced newspaper man and a former editor of the Progressive Farmer, has begun in Raleigh the publication of a weekly independent newspaper called the Raleigh Enterprise. The first number has been received at this office, and from the way it has started, we would judge that it will prove a very valuable paper to all its readers—and we trust that it may have many.

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE
CALL FOR CHRIST
DEVOTIONAL. CHARITABLE. LITERARY. EVANGELICAL.
CONFERENCE.
EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

The Leagues of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, have joined forces to build an Epworth Lodge at Seashore Camp Ground, near Biloxi, Miss. Dr. Featherstun is the leading spirit in the movement.

So far as we are concerned Leagues, preachers, and Presiding Elders are as silent as the grave. Is it because there is "nothin' doin'" in League circles and toward the organization of new Leagues?

The issue, April 28, of the Epworth Era will be a special jubilee number celebrating the triumph of the League and the Era. The number will be about double the usual size. We hope the editor will be able soon to give us monthly if not weekly a thirty-two-paged journal.

As will be seen from clippings in these columns the Era and Bro. Gus W. Thomasson, the wide awake League Editor of the Texas Advocate, both indorse our plan of supporting a League missionary. We are pleased to have such indorsements, and shall shout for joy when the plan issues in glorious success.

We will gladly welcome for these columns any plan that you have successfully worked in your chapter. It may be helpful to others. We will at least see that you are alive if you will say we held a successful, pleasant or profitable meeting at Old Bethany church, or somewhere else.

At the late Virginia League Conference it was decided that the Leagues of the Old Dominion would support a missionary. We believe that inside of two years every League Conference will have its own missionary in the field. The North Carolina Conference is in the van. The movement has the hearty indorsement of the League Central Office and of the Mission Rooms.

The North Carolina Leaguers are raising funds to put a missionary in the foreign field. Their plan of assessment is similar to the one formerly used by the Texas Leaguers. In our opinion the Texas Leaguers made a mistake in discontinuing their special missionary effort. North Carolina Leaguers are on the right track. Push your work and may God bless you therein!—League column Texas Advocate.

Rev. H. B. Anderson, Secretary of the North Carolina League and League Editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, is an ardent missionary worker. In his endeavor to have the Conference Leagues take up the work of supporting a missionary, he has the hearty indorsement of the Central Office and of the Mission Rooms. The great Conference at Petersburg did no wiser or better thing than its undertaking to support a missionary. It is possible for each State League, on an average, to support a missionary. What we need is the feeling of specific responsibility, the presence of a specific work in missions to do, and a well-planned movement.—Era.

Fifty Cents.

What for? For the Era from now until January 1, 1905, in clubs of ten Let the agents of the chapters now reap a harvest. The Era widely disseminated and carefully read means a growth of interest in chapter work and an enlarged League membership.

A Timely Invitation.

A business man was on his way to the prayer-meeting. His work had detained him so long that his dinner had been hastily eaten, and yet he was late for service. The sound of music floated down the street, and, as the church came into view, he quickened his steps.

On the pavement he hurriedly passed a stranger, who was gazing curiously up at the open windows. Acting on a sudden impulse, he turned back.

"This is our prayer-meeting evening. Will you go in with me?"

The stranger hesitated a moment. "Why, yes," he answered.

Prayer-meeting ended, the two went out together.

"I was very glad to have your company tonight," said the business man, as he parted from his new acquaintance, after finding out his name and where he lived. "May I call for you next Wednesday?"

The man, without much enthusiasm, replied that he "didn't care" if he did.

He called, and followed it up on succeeding Wednesdays, taking care to introduce the stranger to the other men of the congregation.

That was the starting-point. Prayer-meeting led to church service. The stranger finally, with his family, united with that congregation. He has become an active and efficient church worker.

"Do you know," he said to his first friend, recently, "do you know, I had lived in our city for seven years before I met you? I had not been in the city three days before grocers and dairymen had hunted me up; within three weeks the politicians had learned my political preferences. Yet in all those years you were the first man who ever said, 'Come, let us go into the house of the Lord."—Selected.

SAVES TWO FROM DEATH.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c. and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

HICKS' CAPUDINE
NEVER FAILS TO CURE
HEADACHES AND COLDS
At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.
The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : : :
Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES 50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them.
Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent, Atlanta, Ga.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

Sunnyside Floral Nursery
JAMES M. LAMB,
Proprietor.
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.
Lock Box 55. : : Telephone 49—B
We can furnish almost anything in ornamental plants from Royal Palm to a Violet, including Evergreen Trees, Shrubs, Roses, Bulbs and green-house plants
Special Offer of one hundred arborvitæ for $1 50—free by mail. Send for catalogue.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ'S GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.
Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top?
Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color Also stops dandruff; promotes growth. . . . . .
At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for circulars. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

When writing advertisers pleasemention this paper.

Should G. F. C. be Rebuilt?

The whole country was shocked when the wires spread the news that for the second time Greensboro Female College had been laid in ashes. The first enquiry that came from all parties, the friends of the College, those who were indifferent, and the casual listener, was, will the College be rebuilt? A more important question than that is, Should the College be rebuilt? Mere sentiment should not enter into the answer to this question. Greensboro Female College has done a great work in the past, she has a glorious history. But will past achievements meet future demands, or mark changed conditions? Sometimes what appears to be an unmitigated calamity brings to us opportunities that we would not, and could not have without them. Often the burning of a town gives better facilities for handling a larger business. So may it not be that the burning of G. F. C. is the opportunity for a better equipment, and a larger usefulness? But should G. F. C. be rebuilt? I answer, Yes. The State is full of female colleges. Every denomination of adequate strength has one or more female colleges. The State has also provided well for Female education. Our own church has several colleges, and are these not amply able to meet the demands for this class of work? And is there room for another? There is plenty of room at the top, and I am in favor of putting G. F. C. at the top of our female educational system, as Trinity is at the top of our male educational work.

The insurance money will [illegible] the indebtedness, which I think ought to be done. Then we have in the very heart of one of the most progressive cities of the South a campus of about 30 acres unsurpassed for beauty, and accessible from all parts of the State. It seems to me to be the proper thing to put there an institution that will meet not only the present demands, but we should build for the future. A building should be projected that will cost not less than one hundred thousand dollars, with all modern improvements and conveniences. With such a building not less than one hundred thousand dollars should be secured as a permanent endowment. Randolph-Macon at Lynchburg has $102,000, and G. F. C. must have an ample endowment to do the work expected. The curriculum should be placed in line with the best colleges for women. The very lowest that should be thought of would place a young woman in the senior class in the Woman's College of Baltimore, Vassar, or Wellesley. G. F. C. should not be put in competition with the colleges we now have, but let them send their graduates there for post graduate work. The college should be put in close touch with Trinity, and form a part of our educational system, which ought to be more compact and unified. With such an institution, the zeal that has characterized her faculty in the past, will place her among the very highest grade institutions of this Union. This is what we need, this is what we want, and we should not be satisfied with anything less.

J. ED. THOMPSON.

A LOVE LETTER.

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed Salve for Sores, Burns or Piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best Salve on earth. 25c. at all drug stores.

Japanese influence in China is assuming marked proportions. Chinese students are attending school in Japan, and Japanese professors are being installed over Chinese institutions.

According to the Irish Yearbook for 1904, Methodists in that country now number 62,000, an increase of over eleven per cent during the decade. The Roman Catholics, Protestant Episcopalians and Presbyterians show a decrease for the same period.

CURES BLOOD POISON, CANCER, ULCERS, ECZEMA, CARBUNCLES, ETC. MEDICINE FREE.

Robert Ward, Maxey's, Ga., says: "I suffered from blood poison, my head, face and shoulders were one mass of corruption, aches in bones and joints, burning, itching, scaby skin, was all run down and discouraged, but Botanic Blood Balm cured me perfectly, healed all the sores and gave my skin the rich glow of health. Blood Balm put new life into my blood and new ambition into my brain." Geo. A. Williams, Roxbury, face covered with pimples, chronic sore on back of head, suppurating swelling on neck, eating ulcer on leg, bone pains, itching skin cured perfectly by Botanic Blood Balm—sores all healed. Botanic Blood Balm, cures all malignant blood troubles, such as eczema, scabs and scales, pimples, running sores, carbuncles, scrofula, etc. Especially advised for all obstinate cases that have reached the second or third stage. Druggists, $1. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

JUST ISSUED!
Devotional Songs
EDITED BY THREE FAMOUS COMPOSERS AND COMPILERS
W. H. DOANE, Mus. Doc.
WM. J. KIRKPATRICK AND HUBERT P. MAIN.
It contains a larger variety of songs than any other hymn book of its kind ever published.
One-half new songs that will never grow old.
One-half old songs that will always be new.
256 pages. Full Cloth Bound, 276 hymns.
$25 per 100; 30 cts. per copy, postpaid.
THE BIGLOW & MAIN CO.
137 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK. 216 Clark Street, CHICAGO.

Situations. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY. FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

"TO LADIES ONLY."
If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.
Address MRS. J. M. TURNER, Box 27, Monroe, Ga.

OVER THE SIGNATURE OF A CAPTALIST. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

This will certify that Catherine Sutton, a tenant on my farm, was so badly affected with Dropsy in the early part of 1888, tht she was confined to the house, and every indication was that her recovery was doubtful and the loss of her work as a farm hand was inevitable, but shortly after she was placed under the treatment of Dr. S. T. Whitaker, the threatening symptoms disappeared and full recovery was soon accomplished, which result enabled her to do a great deal of work in that year's crop, and the cure has proven permanent.

I do certify that Catherine Sutton is entirely well.

Respectfully,
(Signed) T. B. REAMS.
Griffin, Ga.

If Dr. S. T. Whitaker, Dropsy Specialist, 41 E. Irwin Street, Atlanta, Ga., is furnished a full history of case, name and age of patient suffering with Dropsy, or any of its complications, he will furnish a free treatment guaranteed to give immediate relief.

P. S.—Send in care of C. C. Dept., for a sample of Catarrh Cream, an absolute cure for Catarrh. Enclose four one cent stamps and request a prescription for Hair Tonic.

It is a Number One Doctor and Handy to Have in the House.

Fort Mill, S. C., June 17, 1902.

My wife was a terrible sufferer from indigestion. She couldn't eat anything without its souring on her stomach, and was forced to live on the lightest kind of diet, sweet milk and crackers, and even that disagreed with her. This brought on many different ailments. She was so weak she couldn't sit up in bed without help. She suffered from constipation all the time, so that she would have to take something daily for it. She was very nervous and could only sleep at night when something was given to make her sleep. It was a general break-down after the birth of her child. Nothing we gave her afforded any permanent relief. As fast as one trouble was relieved another would take its place. I then put her on Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. She felt a little better on the second bottle and on the third the improvement was marked. My wife commenced to build up and to get stronger. She can now eat anything she wants and it agrees with her. It cured her of chills. She took eight bottles. Her general health is now good. I believe my wife would have died had I not put her on Mrs. Person's Remedy. We now use it in our family for everything. No matter what the trouble is, we go on the Remedy. It is a No. 1 doctor and handy to have in the house.

R. P. HARRIS,
Clerk in the Fort Mill Manufacturing Co.'s Store.

TAPE-WORM Expelled alive in 80 minutes with head, or no fee. No fasting required. Send 2c stamp for 64-page Book. DR. M. NETSMITH, Specialist, 800 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.
Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April 5, 1903.

SOU'N BOUND TRAINS.				NOR. BOUND TRAINS.
Daily, ex. S.				Daily, ex. S.
Second Class	First Class	STATIONS.		First Class	Second Class
101	105			104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv.	Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....		9 45	6 25
7 35	4 25	S.....Caraleigh Mills...		9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....		9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes		9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby		9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M.....McCULLERS.....		9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....		8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins.....		8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs ...		8 40	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL		8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	P.....† Cardenas.....		8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction		8 33	5 01
9 35	5 26	S...† Fuquay Springs.		8 20	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Beckhorn		8 20	4 45
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls		8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....		8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley		8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....		7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington		7 45	3 50
A. M.	P. M.	Ar.	Lv.	A. M.	P. M.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY
Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.
Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:
No. 50. NORTHBOUND.
1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.
No. 38.
11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.
No. 66.
11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.
No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.
4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.
No. 41.
4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.
No. 37
7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.
UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.
C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
'Phones 117.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Secular News

STATE.

The Charlotte Evening Chronicle will issue a woman's edition on May 20th.

Judge H. G. Ewart, of Hendersonville, was nominated Wednesday for Congress by the Republicans of the Tenth District.

Lieut. Richmond Pearson Hobson lectured in Charlotte last Monday evening on "America's Mission in the World." He received quite an ovation.

The Masons of Rocky Mount have begun tearing away the remains of the opera house which was recently destroyed by fire, and will promptly begin rebuilding.

The amount of the frauds on the Government at Milton, Caswell County, by two distillers in collusion with internal revenue officers is said to be $100,000.

Heriot Clarkson, Esq., has placed on foot a movement to place a bust of I. E. Avery in the Charlotte Carnegie Library. The movement is meeting with great success.

Judge Peebles has named the 10th of May and the city of Fayetteville as the time and place for hearing the contempt proceedings which he has brought against the bar of Robeson County.

The police of Durham are arresting all persons who refused to be vaccinated. Small pox continues to prevail at several places throughout the State. Several cases are reported at Rockingham, N. C.

The Raleigh Enterprise is the name of a new paper, the first issue of which appeared last week, published by Mr. J. L. Ramsey, who at one time was editor of the Progressive Farmer. It is to be independent in politics.

Lexington, N. C., was visited by a large fire last Sunday night. A furniture factory, electric light plant and several dwellings were burned. Many men were thrown out of employment. The total loss is estimated at $65,000.

GENERAL.

Diamonds have been found recently near Pretoria.

Federal Judge Simonton died in a hospital in Philadelphia on Monday.

Fifteen dead and scores of injured mark the path of a tornado which swept through Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Kansas and Indian Territory Sunday and Monday.

Russia's population in 1903 was 141,000,000, divided as follows: Russians, 66 per cent; Poles, 7 per cent; Finns, 5 per cent; Tuco Tartars, 9 per cent, and Jews, 3 per cent.

There are more than a dozen business women in Chicago enjoying incomes of from $3,000 to $10,000 a year resulting from their own enterprise, promoted and managed by themselves.

British manufacturers appear to be steadily losing ground as regards agricultural machinery in Russia, while America and Germany are continually increasing their output to that district.

Great Britain has in course of construction: Battleships, 8; armored cruisers, 4; scouts, 8; destroyers, 23; submarines, 11; river gunboats, 6. The new battleships, to be known as the Lord Nelson class, will cost $8,000,000 each.

There are 14 different bodies of Lutherans in New York with 125 ministers. There is now a movement toward uniting these churches in practical work.

According to statistics compiled in Havana, Cuba, exported baled leaf tobacco to the value of $12,000,000 and cigars to the same value. America took more than one-half of the tobacco in bales and received less than one-fourth of the cigars.

There is a movement on foot to apply the curfew law to the national capital. About 4,000 cities and towns in the United States, mostly in the West, now have curfew laws to keep children who are unattended off the streets after a stated hour in the evening.

The loss of life from accidents and disasters in the United States last year was: Fires, 1,792; drowning, 2,471; explosions, 736; falling buildings, etc., 474; steam railways, 4,000; electric railways, 573; electricity, 156; mines, 788; cyclones and storms, 187; lightning, 139.

The Virginia cases, involving the validity of the suffrage provision of the new Virginia State Constitution, were dismissed by the United States Supreme Court on the ground that relief was impossible, the acts from which relief was sought having already been committed.

There are afloat 13,381 sea going steam vessels of over 100 tons. Of these Great Britain has 5,929, aggregating about 14,000,000 gross tons, while the United States has 846, aggregating little more than 1,500,000 tons. The merchant fleet of Germany is one-fifth that of Great Britain. The United States ranks third among the nations in amount of steamer tonnage and second in sailing vessels.

New York health statistics show that from January 1 to March 15 last there were more than 10,000 cases of measles in the city, with 323 deaths. Deaths from pneumonia from December 1, 1903, to March 15, numbered 6,144. The Board of Health ascribes as the cause of a large percentage of the cases the habit of spitting in public places, especially on street cars, and during March the arrests for violation of the anti-spitting ordinance averaged 200 weekly.

BROKE INTO HIS HOUSE.

S. Le Quinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of Chronic Constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested, and now he's entirely cured. They're guaranteed to cure. 25c. at all druggists.

University of North Carolina.

James Sprunt Historical Monograph No. 4.—Letters and Documents Relating to the Early History of the Lower Cape Fear, with introduction and notes by Kemp P. Battle, LL.D.

This publication of the University of North Carolina, made by the generosity of Mr. James Sprunt of Wilmington, contains much material of value to historical readers. It consists of extracts from the papers of the deRosset family, members of which have been prominent residents of that city since 1735; extracts from the Journal of the Board of Commissioners of the city prior to the Revolution, with notes by Captain Samuel A. Ashe, of Raleigh, of distinguished Cape Fear stock; Letters of a Loyalist, Mr. James Murray, 1735-1756; Journal of Joshua Potts, in regard to the location of Smithville, now Southport; Letters of Captain Samuel Ashe, son of Governor Samuel Ashe, to Jo Seawell Jones, in regard to men and events of the Revolution; Journal of General Joseph G. Swift, a United States officer, stationed on our coast in 1807 and later, who married Miss Walker, a North Carolina lady, printed for private distribution but very scarce; and lastly, extracts from an oration by Colonel James G. Burr, who was an ardent antiquarian.

We hope that the old families of other sections of the State will enable the University to illuminate the past, growing more dim every day, as brightly as has been done by this publication in regard to the Lower Cape Fear.

The House passed a bill providing for the relief of growers of leaf tobacco. It repeals the internal revenue tax of six cents a pound on leaf tobacco in the "hand" and all special taxes. The bill will not pass the Senate at this session.

BOILS

PYRAMIDS OF PAIN

Boils show the blood is in a riotous, feverish condition, or that it has grown too weak and sluggish to throw off the bodily impurities, which then concentrate at some spot, and a carbuncle or boil is the result. To one already enfeebled by disease, boils seem to come with more frequency, causing the intensest pain and greatest danger to the already weak and debilitated sufferer. All skin eruptions, from the sometimes fatal carbuncle to the spiteful little cat-boil, are caused by bad blood, and the only way to avoid or get permanently rid of them is to purify and build up the deteriorated, polluted blood, and counteract the humors and poisons; and nothing will do this so quickly and thoroughly as S. S. S., which is the acknowledged king of blood purifiers and greatest of all tonics. Where the blood has become impoverished and is poor and thin, no medicine acts so promptly in building up and restoring its richness, purity and strength. The time to cure a boil is before it develops, when it is in a state of incubation or formation in the blood; for boils are, after all, only the impurities and poisons bubbling up through the skin, and this will continue in spite of poulticing and lancing till the blood gets rid of its accumulated poison. The way to stop boils is to attack them in the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. All danger of boils is past when the blood has been thoroughly purified and the system cleansed of all morbid, impure matter. If you are subject to boils, then the same causes that produced them last season will do so this, and the sooner you begin to put your blood and system in good order the better the chance of going through the spring and summer season without boils or other painful and irritating skin eruptions. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, and can be taken with perfect safety by old and young, and without harm to the most delicate constitution. It is mild and pleasant in its action, and unequaled as a cure for boils and kindred eruptions. Write us if you would like medical advice or other information.

Allegheny, Pa., June 11, 1903.

From the age of twenty or thirty I was sorely afflicted with large, awful boils on my face and body. As soon as they would heal up in one place they would break out in another part of the body, and this continued for ten years. I tried everything I could hear of to get relief, but nothing did me any good. I had but little faith in S. S. S. doing me good when I began it, but after taking it for a short while the boils began to disappear. I continued on with the medicine, taking six bottles, and all the boils entirely disappeared. Five years have elapsed since that time, and I have never been bothered since, showing that the cure was permanent. I had some thirty or forty of the most painful boils one ever had, and to be entirely rid of them by your great purifier, S. S. S., puts me under a debt of gratitude to you.

HENRY ZINN.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

ORTO RICO ROAST COFFEE AN EXCELLENT COFFEE.

Aroma purity, and flavor unsurpassed by any popular-priced package coffee on the market. The coffee in this blend is selected with utmost care, and is very superior.

Every Package is Hermetically Sealed.

It settles itself, is delicious, stimulating and satisfying. Save the signatures. We give 65 Valuable Premiums for them. They represent everything useful and ornamental for the household and are articles of merit.

CHEEK & NEAL COFFEE COMPANY, Nashville, Tenn.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.

PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentinos Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 20 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. The Kind Mother Used to Chew.

For sale by all dealers.

Valentino Manufacturing Company, - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

RISE AND FALL OF THE CONFEDERATE GOVERNMENT.

(By President Jefferson Davis.)

The CONFEDERATE VETERAN has purchased the entire edition of Mr. Davis's "Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government." It is of the half morocco binding, marble edges, $14.00 set, two vols.

The VETERAN will supply at half price, plus cost of mailing, $7.65. It is offered for fifteen new subscriptions to the VETERAN. Camps and Chapters can easily secure copies.

Through generations of the future this book will be accepted as the most authentic history of the South in the crisis of the sixties. No other will assume to rival it. In every way it is as noble as is its dedication: "To the Women of the Confederacy."

Send $1.00 for the VETERAN one year. S. A. CUNNINGHAM, Nashville, Tenn.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

The Windows Once More.

I am asked if all the windows are taken. There yet remain a large number of the $2.00 (basement) and $4.00 ones. I wish all who want them would let me know at once. I wish to order the tablets. Almost anyone could take one.

Fish Fish.

Thanks to Swindell Brothers and Bro. E. B. Moore, of Wilmington, N. C., for a nice box of fish each. The finny tribe find hearty welcome here. May their number never grow less. Also a box from Bros. Swindell and Fulford, of Washington.

Our Visitors.

We have had several visitors recently whose visits were highly appreciated. Among them, Miss Emma Page, Bible teacher in Greensboro Female College at the time it met its sad fate, accompanied by Miss Burkhead and Mr. Jos. G. Brown. Also Miss Sarah Ann Davis, of Beaufort, and Mrs. E. C. Duncan and little Miss Duncan and the Duncan boys, of Raleigh. Come again, friends.

Those Rooms.

We offered memorial rooms from $400 to $1,000 to individuals. But one has been taken. We now offer them to churches. There are twelve churches in the North Carolina Conference, either of which can pay $500 for a room to bear its name. That would raise us $6,000, which would put us beyond a peradventure. I could call the roll and anyone could see the ease with which they could raise that amount. What church will respond first?

Greenville.

It is always pleasant to me to spend a day in Greenville. We carried greetings from our Cassie Bright. That Sunday-school supports her, and they love her, though they never saw her, and she loves them, though she never saw them. We have no warmer friends than these. Hornaday is in clover, and he is weeding a wide, clean row there.

Sister Harris and her cultured daughters gave me a delightful home during my brief stay in that hustling town upon the Tar. It was great pleasure to meet that grand veteran, statesman and patriot, Gov. T. J. Jarvis, who has filled almost all the posts of honor in North Carolina, and honored them all.

Lively Times at the Orphanage.

Things are lively at our house now, April 22. The finishing touches are being put on the chapel by the carpenter's tool. The last plastering is being put on the second story, and the flooring is going down rapidly right after the masons. The material for the finishings has arrived, and will be put on first story right away. There will be no let or hindrance in going forward to the end unless it be the giving out of the money. Let the stream flow on. Everybody help. The good Lord is helping. We are greatly encouraged. If some friend would just send us a thousand dollar check now, it would help wonderfully. That two hundred dollar check from "a Methodist" brightened up things mightily.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.

Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.

E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes:

"Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."

For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.

LONGMAN & MARTINEZ,
Manufacturers, New York.

SPECIAL LOW RATES VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY

$38.60—Raleigh to Dallas, Texas, and return on account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Dallas, Tex., May 19-27, 1904. Tickets sold May 15 to 18, inclusive, final limit May 31.

$65.35—Raleigh to San Francisco or Los Angeles, Cal., and return on account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church and National Association of Retail Grocers of the United States, in May, 1904. Tickets sold via various routes and stop-overs permitted. Dates of sale April 22 to 30, inclusive, final limit June 30; however, arrangements can be made for extension of tickets.

$25.50—Raleigh to Chicago, Ill., and return on account General Conference A. M. E. Church, Chicago, Ill., May 2-31, 1904. Tickets sold April 29, 30, May 1 and 2, final limit May 10th. Route via St. Louis and for additional $1.00, stop-over can be arranged for ten days at St. Louis to see the World's Fair.

$17.75 — Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return on account Annual Meeting Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tenn., May 12-18. Tickets sold May 10, 11 and 12, inclusive, final limit ten days from date of sale. Extension of final limit can be secured until June 6th on payment of fee of 50 cents.

$16.50—Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return on account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association, Jacksonville, Fla., May 4-6. Tickets sold May 2 and 3, final limit May 8.

$18.20—Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return on account Monteagle Bible School, Monteagle, Tenn., July 4 to August 4, 1904. Tickets sold June 30 to July 2, inclusive, and July 19 to 22, inclusive, final return limit August 31. Extension of final limit can be secured until October 31 by payment of a small fee.

$18.20—Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return on account Monteagle Sunday School Institute, Monteagle, Tenn., August 15 to 30, 1904. Tickets sold August 5, 6 and 8, final limit August 31. Additional limit can be secured until October 31 by payment of a small fee.

$18.95—Raleigh to Buffalo, N. Y., and return on account International Convention Y. M. C. A., May 11 to 15, 1904. Tickets sold May 8, 9 and 10th, final limit May 23, 1904.

$18.50—Raleigh to St. Louis, Mo., and return on account World's Fair. So-called "Coach Excursion Tickets" not good in parlor or sleeping cars. Tickets sold May 9 and 23, 1904, final limit ten days from date of sale. Good to leave St. Louis on the 10th day.

$24.80 via Richmond and C. and O. Railway.

$26.30 via Atlanta and N. C. and St. L. Railway from Raleigh to St. Louis, Mo., and return on account World's Fair. Tickets sold daily, commencing April 25, and good from fifteen days from date of sale to leave St. Louis.

$29.90 via Richmond and C. and O. Railway.

$32.30 via Atlanta and N. C. and St. L. Railway from Raleigh to St. Louis, Mo., and return on account of World's Fair. Tickets sold daily commencing April 25, final limit sixty days from date of sale.

$35.60 via Richmond and C. and O. Railway.

$38.75 via Atlanta and N. C. and St. L. Railway from Raleigh to St. Louis, Mo., and return on account World's Fair. Tickets sold daily commencing April 25, with final limit December 15, 1904.

$17.75—Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return on account Peabody Normal Summer Schools, Nashville, Tenn., June 8 to August 3, 1904. Tickets sold June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4 and 5, final return limit fifteen days from date of sale. Tickets can be extended until September 30 on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

Tickets will be sold on account of the above occasions from all other principal stations on same basis as from Raleigh.

For detailed information and schedules and general information, write or call on the undersigned.

C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

The Massachusetts Democratic Convention instructed its delegates to St. Louis to support Olney for the Presidential nominee; supporters of Hearst were defeated by an overwhelming majority.

Raleigh Marble Works

Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C

SECOND ROUND.

Hatteras, at Cape, April 16, 17
Kennekeet, at Clarkes, April 18
Roanoke Island, April 20
Camden, at Trinity, April 23, 24
Moyock, at Moyock, April 24, 25
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Shallotte, Sharon, April 9, 10
Town Creek, Zion, April 16, 17;
Clinton, Kendall, April 22
Kenansville, Wesley, April 23, 24
Elizabeth, Singletary, April 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow, Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union, May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C

SECOND ROUND.

Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, Smith Creek, April 83, 24
Mount Olive Circuit, Providence, April 30 to May 1
Dover, Dover, May 7-8
Snow Hill, Mount Herman, May 14-15
Straits, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit, May 23-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. S. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Elise, Tabernacle, April 15
Carthage, High Falls, April 16, 17
Jonesboro, Morris Chapel, April 23, 24
Siler City, Hickory Mountain, April 29
Pittsboro, Brown's Chapel, April 30, May 1
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

South Rocky Mount, April 16, 17
Rocky Mount, April 17, 18
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, April 24, 25
Swan Quarter, Soule, April 27
Mattamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 22, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Youngsville, April 16th
Louisburg, April 17th
Oxford Circuit, Hermon, April 23, 24
Clayton, Mt. Zion, April 30th, May 1
Milbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Keuly, May 26
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

FIRST ROUND.

Roanoke Circuit, Tabor, Feb. 17
Hobgood, Hobgood, Feb. 20, 21
Scotland Neck, Feb. 21, 22
Garysburg, Garysburg, Feb. 27, 28
Henderson, March 6, 7
Warren, Providence, March 12, 13
Ridgeway, Ridgeway, March 19, 20

SECOND ROUND.

Northampton, Rehoboth, March 26, 27
Conway, Zion, March 27, 28
Rich Square, Lewiston, March 29
Bertie, Cashie, March 31
Harrellsville, Van's Grove, April 2, 3
Murfreesboro, April 3, 4
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, April 6
Hobgood, Palmyra, April 9, 10
Scotland Neck, April 10, 11
Warrenton, Warren Plains, April 16, 17
Littleton, Calvary, April 23, 24
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McFyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Oakesbury, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

Marriages

KELLAM— ARCHABELL. — At the Tolar residence in Belhaven, N. C., on the 30th ultimo, Dr. W. D. Kellam and Miss Minnie E. Archabell. H. M. Jackson officiating.

JORDAN—NYE.—At the residence of the bride's parents, in Columbus County, N. C., February 24, 1904, Mr. T. B. Jordan to Miss Laura E. Nye, Rev. J. J. Porter officiating.

GALLOWAY—POTTER.—At the Methodist parsonage, Snow Hill, N. C., April 5, 1904, Mr. Edward C. Galloway and Miss Mamie Potter, both of Snow Hill, Rev. E. C. Sell officiating.

Obituaries

Obituaries containg not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

TINNIN.—Joseph Pierce Tinnin was born March 3, 1855, died February, 3, 1904. Brother Tinnin was converted under the ministry of Rev. W. H. Moore while yet a young man, and joined the Methodist Church in Pittsboro. He lived a consistent Christian, serving his church faithfully in whatever work was assigned to him. He served his county as Treasurer for several years. In this office he showed the same pure, clean spirit. He was married to Miss Clara Haithcock when a young man. His devotion to his wife and his mother was beautiful indeed.

Those who knew him throughout his life said of him, "A more upright, honest man I have not known."

Brother Tinnin was for years bent with rheumatism, and suffered as few are called to suffer. As his pastor, I never heard him complain of his lot. He was always cheerful and bright, considerate of those about him. When the end came he was ready. He fell on sleep as a little child on its mother's arms. We laid his body away in the church-yard beside that of his sainted father, the Rev. John W. Tinnin. He awoke in glory. We shall meet him on the other side.

May God comfort his bereaved wife and mother.

JAS. H. FRIZELLE, Pastor.

GUTHRIE.—To the memory of my friend and relative, Mrs. Sallie Brantly Guthrie, who died at our home February 16, 1904, in her sixty-ninth year. She had been in declining health for some time prior to her death. Last fall she came to Burlington and was visiting us at the time when she grew worse, and continued to get weaker and weaker until the angels came on the morning of February 16th, and bore her spirit home.

Her maiden name was Evans, daughter of Oren and Nancy Brantly Evans. Her husband, J. B. Guthrie, preceded her to the spirit world some three years ago. He was a good husband, a kind father, and a devoted follower of Jesus. A short time before cousin Sallie's death she seemed to see him, talk to him, and she called him by name.

Seven children survive their parents: Rev. J. O. Guthrie, of the M. E. Church, South, Raleigh, N. C.; B. O. Guthrie, Burlington, N. C.; Mrs. J. M. Pugh, Greensboro, N. C.; J. A. Guthrie, Cross Hill, S. C.; Mrs. P. H. Highfill, Winston, N. C.; Mrs. J. H. Stackhouse, Dillon, S. C., and Miss Lillie Guthrie, who was with her mother all the time during her last illness, and ministered very faithfully, tenderly, and lovingly to her at all times. During her sickness and as the end came her children near and at a distance ministered to her, and gathered around her bed. But their love could not detain her in her upward flight, and so she fell asleep in Jesus. "Blessed sleep, from which none ever wake to weep."

It was a source of pleasure to Mr. Hall, my husband, and to me, to have such a godly mother in our home, and to do all in our power for her comfort. I can never forget that when I was left fatherless, that it was her loving voice that helped to soothe my breaking heart, and her tender hand that helped to brush away the blinding tears. I am glad to have been permitted to help minister to her during her last sickness. She asked me to write her obituary when she was gone, and what I have written is in fondest remembrance of her that I loved in life, and love in death, and believe I shall meet in heaven.

She was a member of the M. E. Church, South, faithful and true. She loved all God's people, and to know her was to love her.

The burial was at Siler City. The dear Lord comfort the children in their loss of mother, and all of us who mourn.

EUPHIE BROOKS HALL.

Burlington, N. C.

PIKE.—Mr. George H. Pike, a well-known citizen of Winfall, N. C., departed this life February 21, 1904. He was spared to greet the dawn of his 57th year of age. Was a member in good standing in the M. E. Church. He left to grieve after him wife and three children, over which he was a faithful father and husband. This community as well as the home has lost a good man, over which our mourning is not in vain. "We loved him well, but dear Jesus loved him best." So we bid him sleep on.

Sleeping from all toil and danger,
Resting in his home above,
Where his rest is with his Savior.
Dwelling in His gentle love.

Sleeping where no pain can harm him,
Where no winds or thunders roar,
With a host of angels with him,
Passing through the Heavenly doors.

Sleep on my friend, 'till Jesus calls thee from the silence of the tomb. We will meet you in that morning and will praise the Savior's name.

"Asleep in Jesus blessed sleep,
From which none ever wake to weep."

J. B. PIKE.

Winfall, N. C., Feb. 21, 1904.

JONES.—Ila B. Jones, nee Hunter, departed this life March 24, 1904.

Her death was a sad one to all of us, but we believe from the example she lived that she is at rest.

She was converted at an early age, and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Concord, and lived a faithful Christian life till her death. She was one of the most gentle, lovable and kind-natured ladies I ever met. So much so that she drew a large circle of friends around her.

She lived but a few weeks after she was taken sick, but suffered a great deal, but seemed to be perfectly resigned to God's will. She laid down this life of sorrow, pain and suffering and took up her abode among angels in the sweet by and by.

She reflected the true light of a Christian character in gentleness, piety and love. She was very much devoted to her husband and child; self-sacrificing for the comfort and pleasure of those near and dear to her.

Death had no fear, no dread. She met it bravely, peacefully, and triumphantly.

The memory of this devoted Christian wife and mother will linger in

JOINTS PAIN YOU THIS MORNING?

First sign of RHEUMATISM. Dangerous to let it run. Easy to cure now. A single bottle of

Rheumacide

Will probably do the work. Bad cases require more. RHEUMACIDE cures by getting rid of the cause, so that no trace of the disease lingers in the system. It purifies the blood, relieves the inflammation of the kidneys, the chronic constipation and the catarrh that follows such a condition of the system.

Though Mrs. Mary E. Welborn, of High Point, N. C., is 80 years old and had suffered from rheumatism for 20 years, she was completely cured by RHEUMACIDE, and declares she feels "years younger" and is anxious for "all who are suffering from any of the forms of this dread disease" to try RHEUMACIDE and be cured.

REV. J. R. WHEELER, a noted Methodist minister, of Reisterstown, Md., writes enthusiastically of RHEUMACIDE, which cured him. He is 75 years old and has been in the ministry 50 years.

SAMPLE BOTTLE FREE FROM

BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., PROPRIETORS, BALTIMORE, MD.

"GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE."

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.
SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.
Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application.
SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS
On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.
USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address
W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway, Richmond, Va.

NOW DEPOSITED IN THE BANK
$75,000.00
IN CASH GIVEN AWAY.
To arouse interest in, and to advertise the GREAT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR, this enormous sum will be distributed. Full information will be sent you ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address on a postal card and we will send you full particulars.
World's Fair Contest Co.,
108 N. 8th Street,
St. Louis, Mo.

TENTS NEW AND SECOND-HAND FOR SALE OR RENT.
There are no tents that we cannot build.
Our Specialty is Gospel Tents.
Try one of our Water and Mildew proof tents. They will not rot. We want to quote you prices.
M. D. & H. L. SMITH,
Mention this paper. DALTON, GA

WANTED — A man or woman in every town and county through out the South to represent us and help us introduce our goods in every Southern home. This is an opportunity for persons of energy and ambition to earn big salaries; others are doing it, why not you? Ours is an old, established, and reputable firm and the work we offer is pleasant and in which any Christian man or woman can consistently engage. Write to-day for full particulars to L. W. Estes, General Manager, opposite U. S. Treasury, Washington, D. C.

the lives of loved ones in years to come. She leaves a grief stricken husband and one child, four brothers and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

May the blessing of God in this sad hour rest upon them and bring them all together in the beautiful home of the soul.

J. F. JONES,
Her Superintendent.

BALLARD.—Mrs. Louisa Mabette Ballard, eldest daughter of the late Gen. David Clark and Mrs. Anna M. Clark, and wife of Mr. F. S. Ballard, of Franklin County, died at Rocky Hill, their home, near Louisburg, N. C., on the 17th of February, 1904, in the 53rd year of her age. She had been happily married about 24 years, to a kind, true and faithful husband. They had but one child, Mr. David C. Ballard, now living in Georgia. The summons came very suddenly, but we believe she was ready to answer the call of her Master and enter into His glory.

She had a strong hold on the affections of her friends and relatives, and it was a sad message that flashed over the wires that Mabette Ballard was dead. She was a very quiet, unassuming woman, and one must know her well to appreciate her real worth. The writer can truly say that her gentleness and retiring modesty always marked her as a high type of womanly Christian character.

As her son grew up and was away at school, and her husband busy with the farm, she was left much alone. We believe that the secret of this gentle life may be found in the communion she had with her Lord in her quiet hours, with no one to see and no one to hear but the eye that never sleepeth and the ear that never grows dull. It has been the privilege of the writer to read many of the great number of clippings she made from newspapers and magazines. These clearly indicate the trend of her mind, and the aspirations of her soul. All bear the stamp of a devout and thoughtful mind. There is not a light or trifling one among them. The comments she made on them show clearly that she took a broad, sane view of life, and never once lost sight of the fact that here we stand only upon the threshold of the "House not made with hands—eternal in the heavens." These quiet moments spent alone in reading, prayer and meditation, give the true index to the spirit within.

She was the first to be called of a large family that had reached mature manhood and womanhood. The good Father above only knows when the next summons will come. Farewell for awhile, gentle Mabette—we drop our tears and strew our flowers upon the mound above your sleeping form. Your memory will ever be a precious heritage until by Divine grace we meet you again in the "House of many mansions."

I give one clipping found in her own handwriting—and then her comment:

And will not He who watched the seed
And kept the life within the shell
When those He loves are laid to rest,
Watch o'er their buried dust as well?

Just such a face as greets you now.
Just such as here we bear,
Only more glorious far will rise,
To meet the Savior in the air.

In peace let me resign my breath.
And Thy salvation see;
My sins deserve eternal death;
But Jesus died for me.
—Dr. Valys Confession of Faith.

Then she added:
Death is a glorious event to one going to Jesus.

The flowers of rejoicing bloom on the tree of righteousness.

TETTERINE.

Is a prompt and effective cure for tetter, ring worm, ground itch, eczema, erysipelas, infant sore head, chaps, chafe, sun burn, insect bites and all forms of cutaneous affections. Why suffer from this annoying disease, when a 50 cent box of Tetterine will relieve you?

Ask your druggist for it or mail 50 cents to J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

A NOTRE DAME LADY.

I will send free, with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure of Leucorrhœa, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Scanty or Painful Periods, Tumors or Growths, Hot Flashes, Desire to Cry, Creeping feeling up the Spine, Pain in the Back, and all Female Troubles, to all sending address. To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a Successful Home Treatment. If you decide to continue it will only cost about 12 cents a week to guarantee a cure. Tell other sufferers of it, that is all I ask. If you are interested, write now and tell your suffering friends of it. Address, Mrs. M. Summers, Box 238 Notre Dame, Ind.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure internal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment," but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address
Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

It is Time to Get Ready for SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual White things will be most nsed this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.
Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by
Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

Do You Want a Teacher?
The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

LIBERTY MILLS

PRODUCES DAILY 4,000 BARRELS OF
Pure Soft Wheat Flour
AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.
Ask Your Grocer.
LIBERTY MILLS,
Nashville, Tenn.

A Red Cedar PAIL LASTS A LIFETIME.

Did you ever stop to consider how many buckets you buy during ten years.

A Genuine
RED CEDAR Pail

Lasts not only 10 years, but 7 times 10 years. Over 100,000 sold during 1903.

RED CEDAR purifies water and keeps it fresh longer than anything else.

THERE ARE DIFFERENT KINDS of cedar pails. Insist on the RED CEDAR, It is the right kind.

Prewitt-Spurr Manufacturing Co.,
Sole Manufacturers,
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.

$2.00 will buy a pair
Roxie Ward Women's Shoes

Made by Southern Girls and Boys
The equal of any $2.50 shoe on the market
TAKE NO OTHER
Your dealer should keep the best, and the best is "ROXIE WARD."
GEO. D. WITT SHOE CO.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
Please mention this paper.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.
Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to
F. E. CLARK, Trav. Pass'r Agt., ATLANTA, GA.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

DON'T
ve your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23, 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Ry announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
W. A. Turk, Pass. Traffic Manager, S. H. Hardwick, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

Should We Rebuild?

If one ask himself the question, Should Greensboro College be rebuilt? and seek for reasons to sustain a negative answer, he will not find them; on the other hand, the reasons sustaining an affirmative answer multiply.

1. The traditions of the institution are excellent, and her achievements notable. In the home, in the school, in the church, in the community, her daughters have been a great blessing.

2. Her influence is not the least among the forces by which the Methodist Church has attained her present commanding position in North Carolina. She and her big brother, Trinity, the most likely college lad in all Carolina have done the honors for Methodism so gracefully that everybody, even though a little tardily in some quarters, respects us.

3. The school is needed. It will not conflict with any other institution. No other of our church or State schools can do its work. While others have recently built, for instance, the Presbyterians in Charlotte and the Baptists in Raleigh, shall we surrender the field?

4. God has graciously given a great opportunity here. Campus ample and beautiful, the city of its location beautiful and progressive and cultured; for accessibility to the two Conferences, the most admirable location in the State.

5. God is about to give her a clear field financially. Weaverville expects to be out of debt by June, and Davenport and Rutherford are in good shape. A sound financial policy in the future will keep all our secondary schools out of debt. The expenditures of a preparatory school should always be less than the income derived from pupils, and doubtless will be in these schools hereafter. Brevard is about to be free from debt. On the part of the Trinity debt is only $20,000, and that is not due for some years.

With the foregoing conditions, our Conference ought certainly to be in position to do its part towards Greensboro.

6. We are able. Ours is one of the greatest of Conferences already, and rapidly but healthily growing. Many of our members can give thousands, and many more hundreds. When the cause is wisely and inspiringly presented to them, I have faith that there will be a generous response.

Let us go forward courageously.

E. L. BAIN.

Damage by Frost Last Week.

The heavy frosts that were expected in this immediate section last night did not materialize and the crops and fruit trees suffered but little damage from the cold in addition to the damage of the night before. Further reports from Tuesday night's damage, however, show that many truckers and fruit growers have lost heavily. From the sections heretofore not heard from came the report to-day that at least two-thirds of the entire crop of snap beans had been killed outright and that many farmers had lost their entire crop of beans. The strawberries in the eastern district are at least one-third killed, which means, a grower said to-day, that what few early strawberries are had will be of the "knotty-flop-sided" variety only. The truckers are very blue, as they had been banking upon this being a very full and profitable season for them.

Reports from other sections show that the peach crop has been largely cut off. Apples and pears do not seem to be much hurt in these sections, so far.—Raleigh Times, 22d.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to SanFrancisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1904. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return account Annual Meeting Southern Baptist Convention and Auxiliary Societies. Tickets on sale May 10, 11, 12, 1904. Final return limit 10 days from date of sale. By depositing ticket with Mr. Jos. Richardson, Special Agent, and paying fee of fifty cents, final limit may be extended, but in no case to reach original starting point later than June 6, 1904.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
Nashville, Tenn.

Summer Session: June 8- August 8, 1904. 20 courses especially for Teachers. 10 secondary School Courses. 25 College Courses. Only charge $8.00. Railroad rates. One fare for round trip plus 25 cents. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20; July 8, 4, 5. Write for information.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete. . . . . .

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black.....$1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades.....$1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white.....25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ...50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only.....75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

King's Business College.
(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

WASH GOODS IN WHITE AND COLORS.

It is hard to decide which are the prettiest, the pure white or those in colors, as all of our patterns in both kinds are entrancingly beautiful.

Sans Souci Swiss, solid colors and fancy mixtures with embroidered dots, 12½c. yard
Imported Tissues, in stripes, dots and figures.....10c.
Pois De Liue—French mercerized goods in fancy colorings.....25c.
Fine White India Lawns, 40 inches wide, 12½c.
White Persian Lawn, 43 inches wide.....25c
White Organdies, 40 inches wide, 40, 60, 80c.
French Batiste, 40 inches wide.....25, 39, 50c.
India Linons, 32 inches wide.....12½, 17, 20c.
Damask Waisting in figures and dots, 25c.
Long Cloth, 12 yards to a piece, $1 19 per piece.
Write us for samples.

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

ACID IRON MINERAL

Registered A-I-M Trade Mark

Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.

No equal for diseases peculiar to women. Tones up the entire system
Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents
If your druggist cannot supply you, write to

"Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C.
"For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." J. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C.
(Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.

ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen. Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. Haltiwanger, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

STATEMENT
Atlanta Birmingham Fire Insurance Company
OF ALABAMA.

Condition December 31st, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$162,294.00
Amount paid in by shareholders as a surplus fund	162,294.00
Income—from policy-holders, $160,337.97; miscellaneous, $15,317.27; total	175,655.24
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $14,236.00; miscellaneous, $74,254.48; total.	88,530.48
Fire risks—Written or renewed during year, $14,062,861.22; in force	9,380,278.14

ASSETS.

Mortgage loans on real esate	$16,740.90
Loans on stocks, bonds and other collaterals	9,944.50
Value of bonds and stocks	250,460.00
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	75,277.43
Agents' balances, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	36,308.03
Interest and rents due and accrued	1,881.95
All other assets, detailed in statement	27,397.41
Total	418,009.92
Less assets, not admitted	27,397.41
Total admitted assets	390,612.51

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$4,611.00
Unearned premiums	84,610.50
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	89,221.50
Capital paid up in cash	162,294.00
Surplus	139,097.01
Total liabilities	390,612.51

No business in North Carolina in 1903. Entered the State January, 1904.
President, J. T. Dargan; Secretary, L. C. Fletcher.
Head Office, Empire Building, Atlanta, Ga.
Business Manager for North Carolina—Managed from Atlanta office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, February 12, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Atlanta Birmingham Fire Insurance Company, of Alabama, filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA

Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 14.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.

Published Weekly at No. 106 W. Martin Street.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.

Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.

Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.

Advertising.—The Raleigh Christian Advocate is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

THE OPENING HYMN.

Ode Composed by Edmun Clarence Stedman, Which Was Sung at the Opening Exercises at St. Louis Last Saturday.

(The following hymn, written upon invitation of the Exposition management, by Edmund Clarence Stedman, was sung by a chrous of five hundred voices. The music for the hymn was written, also upon official invitation, by Professor John K. Paine, of Harvard University):

HYMN OF THE WEST.

(World's Fair, St. Louis, 1904.)

O Thou, whose glorious orbs on high
Engird the earth with splendor round,
From out Thy secret place draw nigh
The courts and temples of this ground;
Eternal Light,
Fill with Thy might
These domes that in Thy purpose grew,
And lift a nation's earth anew!

Illumine Thou each pathway here,
To show the marvels God hath wrought
Since first Thy people's chief and seer
Looked up with that prophetic thought,
Bade Time unroll
The fateful scroll,
And empire unto Freedom gave
From cloudland height to tropic wave.

Poured through the gateways of the North
Thy mighty rivers join their tide,
And on the wings of morn sent forth
Their mists the far-off peaks divide.
By Thee unsealed,
The mountains yield
Ores that the wealth of Ophir shame,
And gems enwrought of seven-hued flame.

Lo, through what years the soil hath lain
At Thine own time to give increase—
The greater and the lesser grain,
The ripening boll, the myriad fleece!
Thy creatures graze
Appointed ways;
League after league across the land
The ceaseless herds obey Thy hand.

Thou, whose high archways shine most clear
Above the plenteous Western plain,
Thine ancient tribes from round the sphere
To breathe its quickening air are fain;
And smiles the sun
To see made one
Their brood throughout Earth's greenest space,
Land of the new and lordlier race!

The committee having in charge the Mormon investigation suddenly resumed its sittings last week, but almost as suddenly adjourned temporarily, having been in session three or four days. Nothing new was brought out. The story of Mormon intrigue and tyranny was only carried through another chapter. The testimony of several apostles was expected, but these high official saints made themselves invisible to the extent of hiding their whereabouts from the officers of the law. It is not now known when the investigations will be resumed.

We are not sure that Bishop Galloway, who addressed the Conference for Education in the South in Birmingham last week made such a hit with the learned and philanthropic tourists from the North as with the Southern portion of the audience. The Bishop advanced a theory which is deemed somewhat "non-progressive and narrow" by some would-be leaders of thought even in the South. He actually said that two points had been settled in the South: (1) The negro will never enjoy social equality; (2) they will be educated apart from the whites. Good doctrine and true, but we believe that it was accounted by some of the philanthropists as pure heresy.

The application by Mr. Cuyler of New York, for a Receivership for the A. & N. C. R. R., occasioned no surprise in these parts. Such a thing has been expected for several weeks. Judge Purnell of the Federal Court, has designated June 21 as the day on which the railroad shall show cause why a Receiver should not be appointed. This day was fixed with reference to the time of the completion of the Investigation Committee's report for which the State is now anxiously waiting. It is thought that the report will be in the hands of the public by May 21. It is almost the consensus of opinion that the road should have been leased long ago. When the difficulties of the A. & N. C. R. R. shall have been satisfactorily adjusted, the people of the State will breathe more freely. They are tired of this constant turmoil.

It was "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," we believe, who was made to utter that immortal saying about her placing all her troubles in a box, pushing down the lid and then "settin' on it." It was "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," we believe, who in her own true name, Mrs. Mary Bass, on last Saturday was arraigned in a Louisville court on the charge of emptying the contents of a slop jar on Mrs. Emily Smith, whose only offence, it seems, was in visiting the Cabbage Patch with the news that she had read the book, and in not "gittin'" when she was told to "flit" by the irate Mrs. Wiggs. We can hardly believe the story. Yet it is true. It is with difficulty, though, that we can see in the incensed slop-thrower that unique, witty, patient philosopher, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." What a difference, anyway, there is between fiction and reality. Yet after all, when we consider the circumstances, there was no great incompatibility between the fictional qualities of Mrs. Wiggs and the real qualities of Mrs. Bass. The people worried the latter very much by visiting her, and carrying away mementoes, and the Judge did right when he dismissed the case on general principles.

At 12.15 p. m. on last Saturday, President Roosevelt pressed the button which set in motion the machinery of the great St. Louis Exposition. A large crowd of people, many of them visitors, witnessed the opening ceremonies, which were opened with prayer by Rev. Frank M. Gunsaulus of Chicago. Mr. Taylor, Director of Works, presented to President Francis the keys of the Exposition. Sousa's band played the "Louisiana" march. President Francis delivered the Exposition buildings to Frederick Skiff, the Director of Exhibits. Edmund Clarence Stedman's "Hymn of the West" was sung, several addresses were made, the button in the White House in Washington was touched, and the answering rumble of thousands of wheels, the fluttering of thousands of banners, and the shouting of thousands of spectators announced that the greatest Exposition on the globe had been opened.

It is a matter of pride to North Carolinians that the North Carolina display, on the first day was a centre of interest. No North Carolinian need feel ashamed of the State exhibit.

On Sunday, the gates were closed. They will not be opened on Sunday. The Christian's Sabbath has gained a great victory.

On the heels of the report that the Vladivostock Russian fleet was not hemmed up in the harbor, but had sunk a Japanese transport, came the news that the Japanese army was crossing the Yalu river to attack the Russian defences. This movement began on Tuesday morning, April 26th. By Saturday the Japanese had crossed over from the island on which fortifications had been thrown up. The Japanese army formed a battle line four miles long. On Saturday General Kurako sent this message, "I will attack the Russian defences May 1 at dawn." This promise was carried out, and on last Sunday a great battle was fought. The Russian army 30,000 strong, was driven back, and the strategic key to the military situation in Manchuria was captured. It is reported that the Japanese lost 700 men, and the Russians, 800—a small mortality when we take into consideration the number of combatants

This battle was a crushing blow to Russia. This gives Japan a strategic position which will be quickly used. It seems to be the purpose of the Japanese army to occupy the Liaotung peninsula. This will place the Japanese behind Port Arthur with their warships in front.

This crushing defeat for the Russian arms immediately after the proclamation that Russia would brook no mediating interference by other powers, but would proceed to punish Japan in her own way, is particularly hard.

It is conceded by the majority of military experts that Russia is already whipped. Ex-Viceroy Alexieff is responsible to a large extent for Russia's bad plight. He succeeded in making the Czar believe that Japan would not fight but was only blustering. Russia realizes now that she has on hand one of the most serious wars in which she has ever engaged. In the language of the London Daily Telegraph, "Russia at the hands of the new power in the Far East has suffered the greatest defeat that has befallen her arms upon Asiatic soil since Ermak the Cossack, crossed the Urals."

Contributions

A Morning Prayer.

MARY CHASE CORNELIUS.

"Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ."—2nd Cor. 10:5.

Help me, dear Lord, to do Thy will today.
All imaginations casting down.
Shed Thou the light of truth along the way,
That leads from earth to Heaven and its crown.

Let no high thing exalt itself, I pray,
Against the knowledge of my Sovereign Lord;
But may I learn to walk the heavenly way
That's pointed out within Thy Holy Word.

May every thought of mine be captive brought
To the obedience of Christ, Thy Son,
Let me so live that I can look to Thee,
And ask Thy blessing, when the day is done.

The Importance of Observing The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper.

C. L. READ.

The institution of the Supper of our Lord is recorded in each of the first three Gospels, and by St. Paul in his first Epistle to the Corinthians. No mention of the institution is made in the Fourth Gospel. This omission has been attributed to the fact that this Gospel bears a later date than the journeys and letters of St. Paul in which we find that the observance of the Supper of the Lord had been already established in the practice of the church.

But St. John is not silent concerning this sacrament. That which it serves to commemorate and to perpetuate in the thought and worship of men is closely interwoven in the entire text of his Gospel. So much so that Bishop Ellicott says, "The whole Gospel is sacramental. The direction of Christ concerning this sacrament, "This do in remembrance of me," seems, from the spirit of the occasion and the circumstances attending its institution, to contain the pathos of entreaty and the force of a command, and should appeal with peculiar force to every follower of Christ.

We must have intimate heart-knowledge of Him in order to enter into the true spirit of this act of worship. And there is perhaps no higher source of information concerning Christ and His mission in the world, the purpose of His manifastation, than the Gospel by St. John. The Christ is pre-eminently the theme of this Gospel. The spirit of His vicarious life and passion and death breathes in every chapter.

We have then the writer of each of the first three Gospels, and St. Paul in First Corinthians, recording the institution of this sacrament by Christ and His command for its observance. We find its real significance set forth and its value magnified in the Gospel by St. John. And St. Luke, in the Acts of the Apostles, and St. Paul, in his writings, show that it had been firmly established in the life of the church at the time of their writing. These facts argue its importance.

Further evidence of its importance is found in the nature of the sacrament itself, which is fittingly expressed in the title.

"Sacrament," from the Latin sacramentum. This word, I quote Mr. Watson, "in its largest sense, may signify a sacred ceremony; and is the appellation, also, of the military oath of fidelity taken by the Roman soldiers. For both these reasons, probably, the term sacrament was adopted by the Latin Christians. For the first, because of the peculiar sacredness of the Lord's Supper; and for the second, because of that engagement to be faithful to the commands of Christ, their heavenly Leader, which was implied in this ordinance, and impressed upon them by so sacred a solemnity."

This sacrament has lost none of its sacredness and solemnity, and the obligation to observe it is as binding upon us as it was upon the early Christians. It is as much a means of grace for us as it was for Paul or John and the Christians whom they addressed directly. As often as we partake of it worthily we renew our vows of loyalty to Christ and set a seal to our faith in His mercy to save. And more, we receive thus a visible sign of God's grace to us. "The sacraments are," says the Heidelberg Catechism, "visible signs and seals ordained by God for this end, that He may more fully declare and seal by them the promise of His gospel unto us; to-wit, that not only unto all believers in general, but to each of them in particular, He freely giveth remission of sins and eternal life, upon the account of that only sacrifice of Christ, which He accomplished upon the cross."

It is a duty as well as a most sacred privilege then to observe this means of grace.

Preachers.

BY REV. J. H. M GILES.

There is one subject in the New Testament which cannot be stressed too much at this time, and especially is this true with reference to those who have the authority to elect or appoint men to ecclesiastical offices. We think that the Scripture sets forth the all important fact that none should be elected or appointed who are not able by sound doctrine both to exhort and convince the gainsayers; the necessary powers for this are natural, gracious and acquired. If a man be without good natural abilities, nothing but a miracle of grace from heaven can ever make him a proper preacher of the Gospel of Christ; and to make, or put any man into the sacred office of the ministry, who is unqualified for any function of civil life, is a travesty on the Christian ministry and sacrilege before God. Adam Clarke said: "If the grace of God do not communicate ministerial qualifications, no natural gifts, however splendid, can be of any avail."

To be a successful minister of Christ a preacher must feel the weight of immortal souls in such proportions as God only can press it upon him, in order to spend and be spent in the Master's vineyard. He who has never "passed from death unto life" of the soul in the work of regeneration in his own heart, can never make plain the way of salvation to others, or have a true zeal for conversions.

There was once a preacher from a very important station sent to my charge to preach at a Q. M. instead of my P. E., whose manner of preaching was that of a very good natured man talking in a room where every one except one other was fast asleep and he (the preacher) was too kind to disturb them. So he talked very softly indeed. I like Bishop Candler's style of preaching. It seems that he has a message that is akin to Paul's "woe is me if I preach not the Gospel."

The Bible.

BY FLORA WILLIAMSON.

This book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you.

It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's character. Here paradise is restored, heaven is opened, and the gates of hell disclosed. Christ is its grand spirit, our good its design, and the glory of God its end.

It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully.

It is a mine of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure. It is given you in life, will be opened at the judgment, and be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents.

He Missed the Mark.

BY METHODIST.

In the Advocate of April 20th, Rev. H. G. Stamey, in attempting to answer the question, "Is It Wise?" raised by "Methodist" in a former issue of the said paper, missed the mark. In other words, he failed to even see the point in the mind of the author of the former article. No, Brother Stamey, I am not opposed to the Home Mission work of our church, as you seem to think. Be it far from me to even suggest withholding one cent from any part of our mission work that is in reality dependent, or in any way to cut short the support of the faithful man appointed to minister to those unable to help themselves. More still, if they are able, and know not this blessed gospel, why, then carry it to them whatever the cost.

Nothing short of carrying out our Lord's command (Mark 16, 15), will bring the church blameless to the bar of God. This, however, is different from sending a missionary to preach to 500 church members, here in North Carolina, who know the benefits of the gospel and are able to pay for it if they will. Is it possible to conceive of 500 members, in any charge in the North Carolina Conference, who have professed to renounce the devil and all his works and to support the church to which they belong, who, in reality, cannot support one man to preach the gospel to them. Yes, Brother Stamey, if there is such a place by all means continue that charge on the Mission Board.

Knowing something of most of the territory covered by our Conference, I hardly think such a condition possible. Yet, there are charges with more than 500 members that have been helped by the Mission Board for years. To drop these, and all the 23 referred to in my former article, as to that, does in no way mean to abandon the Home Mission work of the Conference and leave the other 34 mission charges to perish. The truth is, those who are able should help themselves, the real dependent should be helped more, and the church should occupy other fields, yet ungleaned, till all shall be left without excuse to be saved from sin. Now, Brother Stamey, read again from your "Methodist" friend and see if he is still so amazingly out of order, with all law and gospel, as you first seemed to think.

The Pride of Methodism.

C. F. SHERRILL.

Through many honored years Greensboro Female College has been a pride to North Carolina Methodism. The location was wise. The sample grounds were picturesque and beautiful. The alumnae were the choice women of the State. The record was one of imperishable honor.

The hearts of many wept when the old college was in ashes. But the temporary loss is permanent gain. We will have a more modern and commodious building.

Besides, the devotion of the friends of the college to it in its greatest need is as beautiful as Jonathan's friendship for David and far more successful. From the ruins a great college will arise.

Our Church in North Carolina needs Greensboro Female College. It has been to us a crown of glory. When I saw the noble, intelligent, consecrated women at the annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society last year at Shelby, I said in my heart: "I am proud of my church; I do not fear for its future when such are our mothers and daughters." No church can hold the future without an educated womanhood. Methodism is more than an emotion. John Wesley's divine enthusiasm was the Holy Spirit's quickening of a great mind and heart. The most beautiful and effective zeal is that of a cultivated and cultured and intellectual and moral nature.

All honor to the noble women, the alumnae and all women who love Methodism, who have worked so nobly for our college. All honor to the choice men who have come to their rescue. It is a matter of rejoicing to us that the college will open in the fall. Her equipment for work will be superior to what it was before. Her friends have multiplied. Long may Greensboro Female College live to do good.

Bible Training Classes.

BY C. H. WETHERBE.

I have no direct knowledge of the work which is done in what are called Bible training classes, but I have noticed that the editors of some religious papers have presented some criticisms of certain classes of this kind. I suppose that such a thing is to be expected. It may be that some erroneous teaching is done in those classes, yet that does not prove that no great work is accomplished. I am glad to learn that a vast deal of eternal benefit to many people has resulted from such training. Rev. H. W. Pope, of New Haven, Conn., in an article in Union Gospel News, says: "I know of a training class, out of which three young men started for the ministry, two young women went into mission work, and one offered herself for the foreign field. Out of another class of sixteen members, two became ministers, twelve went to the foreign field, one is a traind nurse, and one is the religious reporter on a daily paper. Another class of twenty members sent nearly all of the members into some form of Christian work. The fact is that when people know how to do Christian work well they love to do it. Why not have a training class in your church? These are stirring times, and God needs every available worker." I observe that there are some religious bodies, believing themselves to be Christians after the New Testament pattern, who put all possible emphasis upon the idea that all church work, or all Christian service, should be done only according to such examples as are found in the New Testament. Those people cannot find in the Bible any examples of Bible training classes, unless they do so by inference, and I suppose that they would oppose the kind of training classes which Mr. Pope mentions. But I say that God never designed that the Bible should be a guide, in all the future, for all needed forms and methods of Christian work and worship. It is enough to know that any plan by which young people may be trained for most efficient service is in harmony with the progressive character and spirit of Christianity. And I am confident that God is working through channels, outside of colleges and theological seminaries, to prepare young men and women to preach and teach the gospel most productively. Gospel agencies are multiplying, even though fewer young men are in theological seminaries than there were a few years ago.

The Mode of Baptism.—No III

BY REV. M. H. TUTTLE.

Another example of sprinkling or pouring is the baptism of the three thousand on the day of Pentecost. These were evidently baptized by the mode of sprinkling or pouring. There were no places in Jerusalem suitable for immersion except those under the control of the Jews. These were the pools of Siloam and Bethesda. The Jews held these pools in great sanctity, and were openly and bitterly hostile to the Apostles and the followers of Christ. It is, therefore, absurd to think that they would have allowed the Apostles to immerse such a multitude in these pools which were guarded by them with such extreme ritualistic care. Such a baptism would not only have ritualistically but actually contaminated these fountains of water. The brook Kedron, the only other place where immersion could have been performed, was dry at the time of Pentecost; and when it was not dry it was no suitable place for immersion. Instead of gliding along as a "silver stream," as an immersionist poet has represented it, it pours down its black, dirty waters carrying off the filth and sewerage of the whole northern portion of the city. Thus, there were no places at hand where the Apostles could have immersed this great multitude.

Besides this, it was manifestly impossible for them to have immersed so many in so short a time. The meeting of the disciples was at the third hour of the day, or nine o'clock. After the Holy Ghost fell on them, and they commenced rejoicing, it took some time for the crowd to collect, who looked on some time longer, before Peter commenced his great sermon. This produced a second excitement more general than the first, and not until after this excitement subsided, could they have attended to any regular church business; yet on that day they received and baptized three thousand souls, although it must have been in the after part of the day when they commenced this business. Supposing immersion to have been the mode, what time do you think the Apostles would have gotten through with this baptism? The three thousand on the day of Pentecost could not have been immersed for the simple reason that it would have been a physical impossibility for the Apostles to have immersed such a vast multitude in a few hours; and because there was not sufficient water, to which they could have had access, in the city.

Still another example is the baptism of Cornelius and his friends in the city of Caesarea, recorded in the 10th chapter of Acts. Cornelius had called together his kinsmen and friends, and had, by the direction of the Spirit, sent to Joppa for Peter. Now as Peter was coming in, that is into the house to preach to them, Cornelius met him at the door. Peter preached and the Holy Spirit fell on the people. "Then answered Peter, can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost, as well as we? And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord." Now, though Peter called for objections, and though he administered the ordinance of baptism in the house of Cornelius, yet no objections were made. No one was heard to say, "This sprinkling or pouring will not answer, you must go to some river, creek or pond and immerse them." Oh, Peter, it is well for thee thou didst not live to see thy administration of baptism disproved and made light of by modern apostles! There can be but very little doubt as to the mode of the baptism on this occasion. The idea of immersion is inconsistent with such a history and is utterly out of the question.

Perfect Man and Perfect God.

C. F. SHERRILL.

Born in the provincial Nazareth and brought up in the bosom of an exclusive race, Christ taught a universal kingdom, that would embrace all races and peoples to the end of time. He never breathed this thought in the atmosphere of His time. The Jews of His day had no such conception. It was the Divine thought of the eternal kingdom.

* * *

Caesar's or Alexander's idea of a universal empire was a bauble to that of Christ's. Their dreams of petty kingdoms soon dissolved in thin air. The kingdom of God shall conquer every tongue and make subjects in every land.

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does His successive journeys run."

* * *

Christ's lordly silence at the crucifixion and trial was the divine victim's loudest plea of innocency. Even the callous Roman soldiers said: "Surely this was the Son of God!"

* * *

So near is Christ to man. And yet so far above him. So near that man can take His hand and say, "Brother!" So far above that he can ever look up in adoring love. None but God could be so human and so divine.

* * *

Christ never marshalled an army. Yet He is the World's Conqueror. He never wielded a sword. Yet He has won more victories than all the Ceasars and Alexanders. He never wrote a book. The libraries of the world are creations of His through His inspiration. He never unfolded any of the secrets of nature. Yet all the inventions are sought out where His gospel has gone. He erected no temples or asylums. Yet they rise everywhere in His name and through His power to bless a dark world. In Him is life, and the life is the light of men.

Christ never went but once or twice beyond the narrow confines of little Palestine. He never saw a map of the earth. Yet he has changed the face of the world.

* * *

In the presence of the Roman cross, Christ plans the campaign and announces the victories of universal empire. At the gate of death He institutes the Lord's Supper to be a memorial of Him "until His coming again." Such majestic calmness and imperial faith are not of men. The Son of God saw the other side as clearly as He saw this. His divinity explains His humanity.

* * *

We do not think of classifying the miracles of Jesus with natural phenomena. Nor do we think of Christ as a mere man. His life was a greater miracle than the works of His hands.

* * *

The funeral grief of the world, when the sinless sufferer hung on the cross, attests His divinity. Nature's sun hid his face when God's Son died.

"To shame our sins He blushed in blood;
To show us God He closed His eyes in death."

Rebuild at Once.

By all means rebuild Greensboro Female College at the earliest possible date. This it seems to me should be the united voice of every one who knows the history and work of this noble institution. Beginning in the autumn, 1846, and continuing until a few weeks ago, when her walls were laid in ruins by fire for the second time, she has with the single interim from 1863 to 1875, carried on her work of Christian education until hundreds of consecrated, educated young women have gone out from her classic halls to bless our homes and churches with their hallowed influence. As home-makers, her daughters have no superiors. As teachers in our schools, they are the noblest of the best. As church workers, the pastors know that they are ever the efficient and untiring reliables in every good word and work. Shall this noble institution which has so long been sending her refined, accomplished and consecrated daughters forth into our beloved church be permitted to lie in ashes? Shall this fountain of such sacred and hallowed influences be sealed henceforth? In the name of the purest, noblest and most exalted Christian womanhood, let it not be so. There is every reason why Greensboro Female College should immediately rise again with ampler proportions and with increased beauty and equipment. There is not a single good reason why she should be permitted to remain in ashes. Methodism in North Carolina has abundant means to rebuild and thoroughly equip this college and at the same time give suitable support to every other similar institution within her borders. They are all needed. None of the others can take her place, nor does she seek to take the place of any other. Her situation is central, beautiful, and advantageous. While she has long had noble and generous friends who nourished and carried her upon their hearts; friends who deserved the far more loyal and united support of Methodism than they ever received; still we confidently believe that reposing as she now is in the arms and in the hearts of her affectionate and consecrated daughters, the Alumnae Association, with the united support of the sister Conferences of North Carolina, her outlook is brighter than ever before. Another thing which to the writer makes her prospect brighter is the fact that the bonded debt, that intolerable incubus, has been burned out of the way. This, in my humble judgment, is a benediction from heaven. Verily, this lovely and exalted daughter of Methodism has been purified in the fire.

Now, let every alumna, every husband or friend of an alumna, and every friend of exalted, educated Christian womanhood rally to her support; let everyone build over against his own house, and this time-honored institution will rise from the ashes as quickly as did the walls of the Holy City under the united efforts of the returned captives. Thus rebuilt, and unitedly sustained by our two great conferences, her latter days will be more glorious than the former.

M. A. SMITH.

The Field

South Rocky Mount and Marvin.

Without being in danger of hurting the feelings of any one, I can say that my appointment to South Rocky Mount and Marvin charge is the best and most pleasant one I have received from the Conference. It is my first. I don't know though but that I can as truthfully say the same after I shall have received many more.

I came here December 24th, and met with a warm reception at the hands of these good people, notwithstanding the fact that all were grieving over the loss of Brother Woodall, who had in three years won the hearts of all, saints and sinners. This warmth has not grown less. They are a loyal people, and at once rallied around their new pastor, and have given us willing and hearty support to his undertakings as could be asked. Some new plans have been adopted, and the pastor's salary voluntarily raised $37.50 above last year's assessment. Nearly one-half the Conference collections have been secured, and one-half the Missionary assessment has been paid. The other will be secured soon. The charge expects to pay out this year, and have a surplus for Missions. One Epworth League has been organized, and another will be real soon. Improvements will be made on both churches. The Advocate has not been forgotten either.

And there is more than church loyalty. Everything considered there is more spirituality here than in any charge I know of.

The pastor, assisted by the church, conducted a ten-days' meeting at Marvin church, which closed last Friday night. The Lord was with us, and we enjoyed the feasts. Our Presiding Elder, Brother Bundy, preached three times, with good results. He is always at his best in a revival, and never better than last week. All regretted that his duties called him elsewhere so soon. As a result of this meeting there were about fifteen professions and eight accessions. And the church was graciously revived. Thank the Lord for His goodness.

Brethren, pray for this division of the Lord's vineyard.

Fraternally,

ROBT. E. HUNT, P. C.

Work of Board of Church Extension.

What a grand name! Church Extension! What does it mean? Why, it means just what it says—extend church: build them where none are. It's work fulfills this prophecy of Isaiah: "'Enlarge the place of thy tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of thy habitations: spare not, lengthen thy cords, and strengthen thy stakes. For thou shalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy seed shall inherit the gentiles, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited."

On this prophetic foundation let Methodism spread herself for God. Her high commission is: "Go ye into all the world," etc. The Motto given her by Wesley is, "The world is my parish." Then let us go on till commission and motto touch eternity at all points of earth's, and time's circumferences. Read some Church Extension cullings:

1. Cultivate a Church Extension conscience. Support it as an institution of the church. Pay back money borrowed of the Board. A debt due to the Board is as clearly a moral and legal obligation as if it was due to a bank. "The failure of the first payment due from the Church to the Board is the fatal step. If the first payment lapses, how much more difficult it is to meet two payments."

2. "We rejoice in the increased contributions of our people to the cause of Missions and the contributions for Missions should be vastly increased, but let it be remembered that the work of the missionary in a new community can be made permanent and lasting only where a church building is erected, and to assist in erecting such church buildings the Board of Church Extension exists and it asks of our people for such purpose, one-fourth the amount that is asked for Missions."

3. "It should be remembered that the Board of Church Extension is a benevolent institution, and our people should, wherever possible, study to use it as a means by which they can help others, rather than as a means by which they can secure help from others. "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

4. "Ordinarily the making of church debts amounts almost to a crime. Two dollars can be raised to complete a church where it would be difficult to raise one to pay a debt. Let the church remain unfinished until at least nearly all the money is secured."

5. "While the care of church property does not legally devolve upon the pastor, but upon the trustees, a faithful, thoughtful pastor will give heed to what busy men who are official members, may overlook and he is morally responsible for the care of the property and its general oversight. He should see that the building is kept in repair, kept neat and clean, and see that it is adequately insured."

6. We are glad to notice that Church Extension is growing in favor everywhere among our ministers and people, and this will continue as our literature is circulated and read. Brother Pastor! place an Advocate in every home as far as possible. Sell or give a Discipline to each family. Distribute the Annual Conference Minutes. In every way do your best to increase the intelligence of Methodists concerning our great Church and her work."

7. Pray, Pay, and Prosperity will come to Church Extension.

D. H. TUTTLE.

Trinity College Notes.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., April 29, 1904.

Trinity College Library has recently received a large shipment of new books from home publishers and abroad. The addition to the collection in French literature and philology is most noteworthy. It includes handsomely bound sets of the "Romania," of the "Revue des deux Mondes," of the "Works of Victor Hugo," and of other poets, novelists and critics.

On Tuesday night, April 26, Dr. Edwin Mims delivered the opening address of the State Sunday School Convention at Greensboro. His subject was "The Study of the Bible."

On Monday night, May 2, a debate on the tariff question will be held in Craven Memorial Hall between representatives of Trinity College and of Randolph-Macon College. Trinity will be represented by Messrs. G. H. Smith and B. S. Womble.

During the week beginning May 2, Dr. W. P. Few, Dean of the College, will deliver three lectures at Charlotte under the auspices of the Trinity College Association of that city. His general subject will be "Southern Progress and Some of the Ways to Advance It." The subject of the first lecture will be "Educational Progress," of the second "Southern Public Opinion." The Trinity College Association will tender Dr. Few a reception on Thursday evening, May 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brem, Dilworth.

The new edition of the Trinity College catalogue has come from the press and is being sent out to applicants.

On Wednesday afternoon last the Trinity Park School base ball team won an interesting game from the Trinity High School team, of Trinity, Randolph County. The home team scored four runs to one for the visitors.

Before he left to take his place on the Memphis baseball team, Mr. O. H. Stocksdale, coach of the Trinity nine, received a handsome token of appreciation from friends in the Athletic Association of Trinity College. It was in the form of a finely engraved gold watch. It was an evidence of general regard for Mr. Stocksdale's services in training Trinity's strong team.

Notice.

The preachers and delegates attending the Washington District Conference at Aurora, N. C., May 11, will find it to their interest to notice the schedules of the boats, viz.: The Hatteras leaves Washington Wednesday and Friday at 6 o'clock a. m.; returning leaves Aurora Thursday, Saturday and Tuesday at 9 o'clock a. m. Those arriving in Washington too late to board the Hatteras can take the Albemarle at 4 o'clock p. m., via Belhaven, change boats at Belhaven and arrive at Aurora at 9 o'clock a. m. next morning. (This can be done only on Wednesday and Friday.)

N. B.—There is no extra charge in the fare in taking this route.

Returning via Belhaven, leave Aurora at about 12 o'clock m., board the Albemarle at Belhaven that night, and arrive at Washington next morning at 4 o'clock a. m. (This can be done only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.)

Yours fraternally, J. M. LOWDER.

Scattered Flowers.

Some time since I noticed one or two letters in the Advocate the purpose of which was to scatter flowers along the pathway of some of our beloved pastors while they yet live rather than reserve these things to be made into wreaths to be placed on their graves. This is a course to be heartily approved. Dr. A. D. Betts and others have been referred to. I would like to mention in this connection the name of Rev. J. E. Thompson, for the past two years pastor of St. Johns Church, Goldsboro, N. C. Brother Thompson's life among us here will ever remain a precious memory as that of a Godly man, a faithful pastor, a sympathetic friend and wise counselor, a leader of men to Christ. The thought of his life and work, daily walk and conversation, among us awakens a train of pleasant memories. Burdened with the weight of many years of faithful service, this old veteran retired at our last Annual Conference to await the summons of the Master to enter into reward. I but voice the sentiment of many others when I express the hope and confidence that the gospel which he has so faithfully and sweetly proclaimed to others will prove the solace of his declining years.

J. F. TYSON.

Goldsboro, N. C., April 28th.

Weldon.

We closed, last Sunday night, our meeting which had been in progress more than two weeks.

The Lord most wonderfully blessed us, and I praise His name for what He did for my people. The church was greatly revived and edified, backsliders were reclaimed and scores of sinners were brought to Christ.

Our people say that it was the most extensive revival enjoyed by our church since the great meeting conducted by Rev. C. M. Cook, of blessed memory, in 1876.

There were about 40 professions of faith, besides the reclamations. Most of them will join the church. The preaching was done by Rev. D. H. Comann, of the Western North Carolina Conference.

Brother Comann is a preacher of great spiritual power. His insight into the meaning of God's Word and his grasp of spiritual truth is indeed wonderful. I have heard no man who could use the Word so effectively as he. (And I make this statement thoughtfully.) He exalts the Word as the sword of the Spirit and Christ as the sinner's only hope, and as the "wisdom and righteousness and sanctification and redemption" of the child of God.

His work here was not only a blessing to my congregation, but to the whole town.

Large congregations waited on his ministry, service after service. An account of these meetings would not be complete without reference to the active and efficient co-operation of Rev. J. W. Morgan, of the Baptist church, and his people.

Brother Morgan is indeed a beloved brother, a valuable addition to the forces of righteousness in North Carolina from Virginia.

Our church in Weldon is going forward, and has a bright future before it.

May the great Head of the Church help us to be equal to our splendid opportunity.

W. W. ROSE.

The Family

"SHARPER THAN A TWO-EDGED SWORD"

A Pastor's Message Which Carried Conviction to the Heart of a Train Conductor.

BY C. W. STEPHENSON.

'Twas early Monday morning. The door bell rang, and when responded to, there stood a lady, evidently greatly excited and troubled. It took little time to read that face, for it was well-known, having been seen at church often.

"Come right in Mrs. P. Glad to see you. You seem troubled?"

She was given a chair in the study, and a gentle inquiry made as to the nature of her early call. In a broken, sobbing voice she began:

"You see it is this way. I have tried and tried to get John (that is my husband) to attend church. For weeks and weeks I have coaxed him and urged him, but he would only laugh at me and say, 'No!' I was sure it would do him good. He is a conductor on the road, and his business is so hazardous I tremble for him every time he leaves home. He has always been kind and affectionate; but he is not a Christian. I thought that if I could get him to hear the plain and simple Gospel he would yield and our home would be a Christian home. Then I had felt so anxious about our daughter.

"Last night, to my great joy and surprise, he consented to go to church with me. All the way there my heart was throbbing with gladness and anticipation. I prayed earnestly that he might be led to see his condition, his need of a Savior, and accept Him. To me the sermon was all I could wish, and I kept thinking he too must feel it. You cannot tell how my feelings were hurt as soon as we left the church. He scolded me all the way home, and declared that I had caught him in a trap. He knew that I had told you all about him, and that you had preached to him alone, and everyone in the house could see it. He declared he would never go again, and he thus held up to the gaze and attention of a church full of people. I tried to explain that I had told you nothing, that you did not know him, or that he was there; but he would listen to nothing, he doubted my word."

It was indeed hard to repress a smile, as she graphically told of the one to whose heart the arrow of conviction had gone. She did not understand the good omens. The wounded bird was fluttering desperately.

"Is your husband at home, Mrs. P.?"

"Yes, sir."

"Will he be at home this afternoon?"

"His train does not go out till eight o'clock, and he is usually at home until six."

"Very well, you may tell him that I will call this afternoon at 2.30."

At 2.30 there was a ring at 420 Sixth Street, and Mr. P. himself answered it. His was anything but a cordial greeting. It was cold and stiff.

"This is the pastor of the church, I believe? Have a seat."

"I understand that you were at church last night, Mr. P.?"

"Yes, sir, I was there; but it will be some time before you see me again!"

"Have you been in the habit of attending church?"

"No, sir; this is the first time in ten years."

"I hear that you think I was preaching to you and for your special benefit last night."

"No, sir, I do not think anything about it. I know it, and if you had just pointed your finger at me and said, 'I mean you!' it wouldn't have been any plainer!" This he said with great earnestness.

"Mr. P., listen to me a moment. I quite agree with you. But I wish to tell you that I did not know you were present; had never met you; would have preached the same sermon word for word had you been five hundred miles distant. And yet I am sure the sermon was for you just the same.

"No one has told me a word about you. But there is One who knows you very well indeed, the Great Searcher of hearts!" Mr. P. winced and we went on:

"Now, see here, Mr. P., let us look at things just as they are. I wish you would answer a few questions, will you?"

"Yes, if I can, and they are reasonable."

"You are very sure the sermon was for you, are you?"

"Yes, sir, I am."

"Then all the service in connection with the sermon was for you, was it?"

"It certainly was."

"Mr. P., do you not think that is considerable pains to take for one man, a stranger to nearly all of us? If so much effort were spent for me, I certainly think it would impress me greatly. I would take it as God's voice speaking to me in unmistakable language. What are you going to do about it?" He was now looking straight in my face. All his hardness had gone. He was pale and troubled, and replied softly, "I don't know what to do about it. What you say is very strange, and I must confess there is truth in your words. It was all for me!"

"Mr. P., your life is a life of imminent dangers; you have much for which to be thankful; you have not been accustomed to hear the message of salvation, but now you have heard the voice that says, 'I mean you. Son, give me thine heart'."

He was much moved, and as the claims of the Master were pressed home, he was like a child struggling with some new problem. Finally, the most that could be done, was to secure a promise from him to come to the church again. The wife was called in, a word of prayer offered, and the first chapter was ended.

He kept his promise so well that the next Sunday night found him again in the church with his wife and daughter. Not long after, he knelt at the altar, and penitently surrendered to the voice that said, "I mean you!"

The following spring, one night just after midnight, there came a sharp, quick ring at the same bell where that troubled wife had been on the early Monday morning. A voice said, "Come, come quickly!" It took but a few minutes to reach the pleasant little home. There the husband threw his arms about my neck and sobbed, "My darling wife has gone. I came in on the late train. She prepared my supper, and I retired immediately. The last word I heard her utter was in prayer for me as she knelt by the bed after I had retired." She had died of heart disease, and she had heard the voice, "I mean you, come up higher," and she had responded. "O, not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord." That word is the Searcher of hearts, where worldly wisdom and worldly eloquence are as nothing.—Rams Horn.

The War Against Mosquitoes.—An Appeal to Physicians.

We are promised by Mr. McCarthy, our Biologist, for our next issue an illustrated article treating fully the malaria-mosquito question to date, but as the breeding of mosquitoes will begin before that can be laid before our readers, we feel it to be wise to issue the call to arms now. The science or art of war, according to the great General Forrest, is to "Get there first with the most men." That is just what we want to do in this campaign against those enemies which shoot us not with bullets but with plasmodia malariae. The number of mosquitoes which succeed in coming through the winter alive is always small, and after such a severe winter as we have just had it is reasonable to hope that the number this year will be smaller than for many years past. The outlook, therefore, is the more encouraging.

Owing to the short time required for the complete development of the mosquito from the egg to maturity, there is time in our long summer for the production of several generations. As each female lays a great many eggs, it is easy to understand how millions could come in August and September from hundreds at the beginning of the season. So the proper thing to do is to force the fighting "from the jump" and practically exterminate them before myriads of reinforcements come in.

As is already well known, mosquitoes breed only in still waters—preferably small stagnant pools protected by grass and undergrowth from the wind, and free from fish, which prey upon the larvae. It is now also pretty generally known that a thin film of oil upon the surface of such waters will prevent the laying of the eggs there, and effectually destroy any larvae that may have hatched therein. The problem, therefore, is a very simple one theoretically, and in most instances practically also. It is summed up in this one sentence: Drain, fill up or oil (every ten days or two weeks) every body of stagnant water, no matter how small. Empty all old discarded fruit cans, buckets and barrels about the premises, and put them under shelter or turn them upside down; drain, if possible (if not, fill up or oil), all natural pools; open the ditches and small wet-weather streams, to permit the running off and prevent the re-formation of the pools so often found along their courses. Larger ponds stocked with fish are not so favorable as breeding places, for reasons given above, provided no shallows protected by grass, bullrushes, cat-tails, etc., are permitted on their borders. The banks of such ponds should be made as clean and abrupt as possible, so as to expose the entire pond to the wind and fish. But some man will say: Why take this trouble when there is a swamp within a mile or half a mile of my house? For the reason that fortunately mosquitoes rarely ever fly a mile or even half a mile. If instead of laying the mosquitoes on the distant swamp the householder would make a careful inspection of his immediate environment, he would nearly always find the source of supply to be within a radius of two or three hundred yards of his house—as is pointed out in Dr. Howard's book on mosquitoes.

While the transmission of malarial fevers by mosquitoes is thoroughly established, and the destruction of the mosquitoes is therefore the self-evident method of prevention of this class of disease, a large number of our people are ignorant of these facts, and a still larger number, probably, are indifferent to their practical application. And right here the doctor comes in. Naturally and properly no one has such influence with people on all question relating to disease as the trusted and beloved family physician. On these questions his word is generally law. It is impossible for us to reach even a small portion of the people directly, but we do reach through The Bulletin practically all the physicians in the State, and we therefore appeal to them to come to our aid. It is not only because it is only through them that all the people can be reached, but because a word from them to their own clientele would have so much more weight than ours, or that of anybody else, that we make this earnest appeal to them. With their active co-operation we could accomplish great things—without it very little. So we hope that every medical man who reads this article residing in malarious localities will explain to those with whom he comes in contact how it is that mosquitoes spread malaria, and urge upon them the necessity for immediate and persistent efforts to destroy them or better, prevent their development. Impress upon everybody the fact that every pool of stagnant water in summer is a pest-hole which must be abated.

Dr. S. Parks Cadman has raised from his congregation at Central Church, Brooklyn, a fund of $50,000, part of which will be used to build a new house of worship for the Albany Avenue Church. Central Church has had seven hundred additions to its membership in the last three years.

Our Boys and Girls

Weldon, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I love to go to school, and enjoy reading.

I will answer Alston's Brook's question: Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years old when he died.

Now I will ask one: In what part of the Bible is the Lord's Prayer found?

Your fond friend,
ANNIE BELL DICKENS.

Gibson, N. C., March 25, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nine years old, and as I have never written to the Advocate, I thought I would write. I have two sisters younger than myself. One is three years old and the other six. I go to Sunday-school and to day school. My teacher's name is Miss Annie McLean, and I like her splendidly.

I will close with ten cents for the Orphanage.

Your little friend,
BOYD WHITE.

Cameron, N. C., March 25, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. Mr. A. Cameron is our superintendent and Miss Josie Keith is my teacher. I like them both very much. Our pastor is Rev. G. A. Oglesby. We love him dearly. Our school will be out Friday. Miss Flora Dickens is the teacher.

Enclosed you will find five cents for the Orphanage.

FRED B. THOMPSON.

West Durham, N. C., March 22, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I go to school every day and my teacher is Miss Maggie Holloway. I like her very much. I go to Sunday-school also, and my teacher is Mr. W. P. Phillips. Our pastor is Rev. C. P. Jerome and our superintendent is Mr. Steward.

I will close by asking a question: Who were God's ancient people?

Your unknown friend,
LERA WADE.

Hertford, N. C., April 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. My superintendent is Mr. Miller and my Sunday-school teacher is Miss Mattie White. I like her very much. I go to private school to Miss Virginia Newbold. I study arithmetic, grammar, dictionary, geography, history and fifth reader.

I will close by asking a question: Who was the strongest man?

Your friend,
SALLIE M. MILLER.

Gordonton, N. C., March 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years of age. My papa takes your paper. I have one sister and seven brothers. My two youngest brothers are twins. They are the sweetest little things I have ever seen. One of my brothers is named for Dr. Ivey.

We have a new pastor this year. His name is Rev. R. Bradley. I like him just fine.

Please find twenty-five cents for the Orphanage.

Your friend,
EFFIE B. BAYNES.

Seaboard, N. C., March 18, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I am going to school every day. Mr. Woodroof is my teacher. I like him very well. Mr. J. J. Johnson is my pastor. I like him very well.

I have three sisters and four brothers. I have never written to the Advocate before.

My oldest brother is married, and he married Miss Minnie Drewette. I got a letter last night from my little Cousin Ila.

MOLLIE BROWN.

Seaboard, N. C., March 18, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years of age. I am going to school every day. Mr. J. E. Woodroof is my teacher. I like him very well.

I am going to Gates County next summer with my sister.

My father and mother are both living. I have one grandmother living. She is eighty-nine years old.

I will ask a question: How old was Moses when he died? I remain,

Yours truly,
GRACE H. DREWETTE.

Cedar Grove, N. C., March 19, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years of age. My mother and father are both living, and my father takes your paper.

I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. My superintendent is my father and my teacher is my sister. Our pastor is Rev. F. L. Church, and I like him fine.

I will answer Alice Turner's question: It was Jesus that was baptized in the river of Jordan.

Now I will ask one: Where was it that iron floated in the water?

With best wishes to the Advocate.
ESTHER MILLER.

Chalk Level, N. C., Feb. 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. Our Sunday-school has adjourned for the first quarter and will open the first Sunday in April. My papa is superintendent. Our pastor is Mr. Starling. We think we will like him right much. We live near Cokesbury church.

I will answer Mamie Hunley's question: Elijah went to heaven without dying.

I will ask a question: Were all ten of the virgins prepared to go into the wedding feast at any time?

Your little friend,
JESSIE CADE.

Seaboard, N. C., March 25, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I wrote once before. I have two sisters and four brothers. Two of my brothers are married. My sisters are both teaching. My mother and father are both living.

Our Sunday-school class has just finished learning the Ten Commandments and the books in the New Testament.

My Sunday-school teacher is Mrs. T. J. Stephenson. I like her very much.

I will answer Lucy Herring's question: Joseph was one hundred and ten years old when he died, and was buried in the cave of Machpelah.

Now I will ask one: Who was Onesimus?

Your unknown friend,
EMMA TAYLOR.

Gibson, N. C., March 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eleven years old. I go to school. I am in the fourth reader; also spelling, grammar, geography and arithmetic. Miss Annie McLean is my teacher. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss G. B. Perry.

I will close by asking a question: Who was the strongest man?

I want this printed in the Advocate so I can surprise mamma and papa.

Your friend,
TOMMIE PATE.

Rich Square, N. C., March 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Mrs. Ada Buxton. Our superintendent is Mr. John Bangban. Our pastor is Rev. J. T. Stanford. We like him very much.

I am making a worsted quilt for the Orphanage at Raleigh.

I will answer Lucy Herring's question: Joseph was one hundred and ten years old when he died.

Now I will ask one: How old was Joseph when his brothers sold him?

Your little friend,
HELEN WEAVER.

Tuckahoe, N. C., March 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—Brother, sister and I go to Sunday-school every Sunday evening. We like to go very much.

I will answer David Burton's question: It was Zaccheus who climbed the sycamore tree. He climbed it to see Jesus.

I will ask a question: Who was the giant that David killed and how tall was he?

With love and best wishes for the Advocate.

Brother, sister and I enclose fifteen cents for the Orphanage.

Your friend,
EUNICE HARGETT.

Aaron, N. C., March 23, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I like to read the little boys' and girls' letters.

I have two brothers and four sisters living and two brothers and one sister dead.

I go to church every Sunday I can. Our pastor is Mr. J. E. Saunders, and we all like him very much. Our pastor last year was Mr. H. B. Anderson.

I will answer Etta Butt's question: Mathuselah was the oldest man.

If this escapes the waste-basket I will write again.

I will close by asking a question: Who buried Jacob?

Your unknown friend,
MAMIE SMITH.

Durant's Neck, March 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I have never written to your paper before and I thought I would write now. I am a little girl twelve years old. Papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the childrens' page.

I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. Our pastor is Rev. F. L. Church. I go to every-day school also. My teacher is Miss Surlie Newburn. We all like her fine.

I will ask a question: What is the shortest verse in the Bible?

I will close, with best wishes to the Advocate.

Your unknown friend,
MAUD HASKETT.

Seaboard, N. C., March 18, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years of age. I have four brothers and three sisters. My mother and father are living. I love to go to church and Sunday-school.

I am going to Gates County next summer.

My pastor is J. G. Johnson this year. One of my little sisters is off going to school. I love to go to school as well as any where.

I will close in fear of the waste-basket.

How old was Jesus when he began to preach? I remain,

Yours truly,
MADELINE BROWN.

Garysburg, N. C., March 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—We are two little sisters nine and twelve years of age. This is our first letter to the Advocate. We enjoy reading the little boys' and girls' letters.

We go to Sunday-school whenever we can. We live five miles from our church. Mr. W. H. Hart is our superintendent. Mr. E. E. Rose is our pastor. We like him very much.

Our every-day school has just closed. Miss Mamie Tennille was our teacher.

We have just completed us a nice school building.

Enclosed find twenty cents for the orphans.

Your little unknown friends,
EULA and INA STEPHENSON.

NOT A SICK DAY SINCE.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses, I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

The great prizes of the soul are won by effort, prayer, faith and self-surrender.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President — Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juvnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the North Carolina Conference convened at the appointed time, Thursday morning, April 21st.

The devotional services were conducted by Rev. J. E. Underwood.

All the officers, and a large delegation, were present, our beloved President, Mrs. L. A. Cuninggim, occupying the chair.

Miss Mary Pescud was elected assistant Recording Secretary.

During the morning session, the following were introduced to the Conference: Revs. Swindell, Underwood, North, Brown, Tuttle, our missionaries to Brazil, Rev. W. B. Lee and Miss Pescud, and Mrs. J. E. Underwood, the President of the W. H. M. S. of the North Carolina Conference.

At the noon hour Rev. D. H. Tuttle held a consecration service, in which there were the manifest presence and power of the Holy Spirit, filling each waiting heart with the zeal and strength necessary to harmonious, successful work.

The afternoon session on Thursday was given to appointing committees, and hearing reports by the delegates, of the work in their auxiliaries.

In the evening came the addresses of welcome, delivered by Rev. D. H. Tuttle, the pastor, and Mrs. C. W. Hollowell. The delegate from Edenton Street, Raleigh, responded to these addresses. The generous hospitality accorded to the delegates, from the moment of their arrival, by the good people of Elizabeth City, found its culmination in the elegantly appointed entertainment which was held in honor of the delegates and visitors in the Sunday-school room of the church, after the addresses had been concluded. Sweet music rendered by the gifted organist of the church, Mrs. Ward, a profusion of beautiful, fragrant flowers, the abundance of delicious, daintily served refreshments, the good cheer and sweet communion of friend with friend, made the occasion one of rare pleasure. From that time, the delegates and visitors were no longer strangers, but friends, ready and anxious to enter heartily into co-operative service.

Many of the sessions of the regular routine work, from day to day, were spiced up with the introduction of sisters from kindred organizations of other churches, and ministers who honored the meeting with their presence—all giving some word of greeting and encouragement.

There was a feeling of peculiar pride and gratification in the fact that Miss Lizzie Lamb, of Fayetteville, gave herself to our Conference Society as a missionary. She was accepted, and will go immediately to Kansas City for a term of training in the Scarritt School.

Six of our sisters have passed to the "life more abundant" during the past year, and an appropriate memorial meeting was held, in which there were fitting tributes made to the memory of each one.

Three of our District Secretaries were absent—two of them on account of illness: Miss Emma Page and Mrs. T. C. Blanchard, the latter being at the bed-side of a brother whose recovery is despaired of. Suitable messages of sympathy were sent to these afflicted sisters.

While there is not space to give prominence to all the important features of the meeting, nor to the many acts of kindness and liberality of the citizens of Elizabeth City, mention must be made of the fine sermon of Rev. W. B. Lee on Sunday morning; the interesting talks and faithful service of Miss Mary Pescud; the Sunday afternoon exercises held by the children, the music of which was led by Miss Augusta Kramer; the organization of a Bright Jewel Band by Mrs. L. M. Hendren; the Sunday evening's Silver Jubilee, with its ingathering of a liberal silver offering for our new missionary; and the success and harmony which characterized the whole meeting.

"Last, but not least," is the mention of the financial status of the Society: our Treasurer's report showed a decided increase over all the past years of its life, and there have been raised during the fiscal year, five thousand eight hundred and seven dollars and eight cents.

To God be all the praise!

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions of respect adopted by Main Street Sunday-school, March 27, 1904, on the death of Miss Sallie Dillard Larkins, who died March 20, 1904:

Inasmuch as our heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom has selected one of our sweetest voices, Miss Sallie Dillard Larkin, to swell the choir invisible, we, the members of Main Street Sunday-school, wish to express in some manner our hearty appreciation of the life and character of one who was faithful, loyal and true. Though the bright face is seen no more and though her voice is no longer heard here, we know that she has left an influence for good that time cannot change. We bow in humble submission to the will of the Father who has but taken one of his obedient children unto himself. We feel that loss which cannot be repaired, yet this loss adds to the luster of the other world and gives us an inspiration for a purer, higher and better life.

Her life seemed touched with an infinite calm, the harmonious echo of our discordant life, linking it unto a perfect peace. And while she has left a vacant place here, we know that she fills a place in God's own home and we trust that when the time comes for us to go, we may say, with her, "I am not afraid to die."

C. L. HORNADAY.
ANNIE B. BURTON,
EDNA KILGO,
Committee.

HEALTH IS YOUR HERITAGE.

If you feel sick, depressed and irritated, if your food disagrees with you, if you are constipated, if you suffer from catarrh or kidney and bladder trouble, you are not getting what you are entitled to out of life. There is no reason why you should not be restored to a life of perfect health and usefulness. There is a cure for you and it won't cost you a cent to try it. The Vernal Remedy Company have so much confidence in their superb remedy, Vernal Palmettona (formerly known as Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine), that they are willing to send, free and prepaid, to any reader of the Raleigh Christian Advocate that writes for it, a trial bottle. You can try and test absolutely free of all charge. We advise every reader to take advantage of this generous offer and write today to The Vernal Remedy Co., 538 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Speight, Fremont.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

What Will the Church of God Do to Meet the Conditions Resulting from the Opening of the Panama Canal?

With all this rush and swirl, that will be called growth and prosperity, the problems of godlessness will be intensified beyond anything we have yet seen in our Southern cities. Drunkenness, debauchery, gambling, sin, sorrow, poverty, ignorance, disease, shame! It would be weakness and folly to wait until the forces of the enemy have come in power and possessed themselves of the land before we rally the forces of God to meet them. The part of wisdom is to begin in advance so as to be able to cope with the evils and hold them firmly in check, ever increasing the power as the need requires.

All Protestant churches should join hands and forces in making strongholds for Christ of these strategic points. The church members need to be educated to see the need of effort and feel their responsibility in meeting it financially and spiritually; workers need to be trained in sufficient numbers to man the enterprises; and money must be accumulated for building and maintaining them. The form of these enterprises may be of great variety along all the lines of preventive and rescue work, educational and evangelistic—the "down-town" church, the institutional church, the great mission hall, the Christian settlement, Bethel missions, rescue homes, hospitals.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, bears a grave responsibility in this approaching crisis and should establish such mission enterprises in these cities and put in charge of them strong, godly men who know how to build and plan for the future. The action of General Conference, the Annual Conferences, the Boards of Missions and Church Extension should all be directed to this end.—Our Homes.

Our Home Mission Organ.

I must reserve the remainder of this admirable article for another time—it is too good to cut short, and must be given in installments. Again, I would urge our members to subscribe to "Our Homes"—through it we may best learn our responsibilities and our privileges.

Two Wise Wide-awake Working Christians.

At our Edenton Street election of officers, when there were several places to fill, and (I grieve to say) it was hard to find willing women for them, one of our busiest volunteered to be agent for "Our Homes." She knows the difficulty of the position, but she, also, knows the importance, and does not shrink from the undertaking. The entire Auxiliary commended and thanked her.

I know of another case similar to this, and the efforts of the agent have been greatly blessed. I feel that our agents will be, also, indeed, a blessing to us.

MORPHINE
OPIUM, WHISKEY AND ALL DRUG HABITS
CURED WITHOUT PAIN AT YOUR HOME.

We Have a Private Sanatorium for Complicated Cases.

If you are addicted to these habits you think you will quit it, but you won't, you can't unaided, but you can be cured and restored to your former health and vigor without pain or the loss of an hour from your business at a moderate cost. The medicine builds up your health, restores your nervous system to its normal condition; you feel like a different person from the beginning of treatment, LEAVING OFF OPIATES AFTER THE FIRST DOSE. You will soon be convinced and fully satisfied in your own mind that you will be cured.

Mr. T. M. Brown, of DeQueen, Ark., says: "Over seven years ago I was cured of the opium habit by your medicine, and have continued in the very best of health since."

Dr. W. M. Tunstall, of Lovington, Va., says: "I am glad to say that I firmly believe that I am entirely and permanently cured of the Drink Habit, as I have never even so much as wanted a drink in any form since I took your eradicator, now eighteen months ago. It was the best dollars I ever invested."

Mrs. Virginia Townsend, of Shreveport, La., writes: "No more opium. I have taken no other remedy than yours, and I make no mistake when I say that my health is better now than it ever was in my life, and I owe it to you and your remedy. It has been twelve years since I was cured by your treatment."

For full particulars address Dr. B. M. Woolley, 209 Lowndes Building, Atlanta, Ga.

For next 90 days we will be giving special attention to the Printing of School Catalogs. Send us your order if you want first class work. . . EDWARDS & BROUGHTON Raleigh, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Please mention this paper.

Editorial

THE EPWORTH ERA.

It must be a matter of rejoicing to all our Southern Methodists who sincerely believe in the Epworth League that the Epworth Era has had such continued success as not only to pay all the expenses of the paper during the last year, but to have a surplus.

In celebration of this success, the management has issued a Jubilee number of the Era, which is beautiful in typographical form and filled with the brightest and most interesting matter.

We only regret that the Era cannot issue such a number every week. If it should, it would in a few months enjoy a vastly larger circulation. We feel that a great mistake has been made in not giving the Era that equipment which is necessary to making it what the Church expects and deserves. We must spend money to make money, and making money in the publication of the Era is only developing to the glory of God one of the most important interests we have in Southern Methodism.

We do not know what provision will be made at Waco this week for the strengthening of the Era, but we do know this, that if adequate moral and financial support be given, Dr. Du Bose and his worthy assistant will make the Era a source of pride to Southern Methodism.

We congratulate Dr. Du Bose and Brother Parker on what they have already done, and we trust that their greatest success is in the future.

The Epworth Era is bringing forth fruit. This is a solid fact. We cannot do better than to quote from Dr. Du Bose:

"The League is not a 'spent,' but a growing, 'force' in the Church. It is stronger to-day than ever before. Its yea is yea and its nay is nay; it pursues an enduring ideal. Its voice of prayer is heard; its protests of faith are felt; its record is known and read of all men. It has had fourteen years of service in the Church. During that time it has maintained a score of missionaries on the foreign field; there are more than thirty young men and young women in our foreign missionary ranks to-day who graduated from its departments; it has given its name to a score of handsome church buildings in the connection; it has fed thousands of the Church's poor, closed in comfort and hope eternal the eyes of its dying children; it has opened the mouths of babes to pray and confess, and has given to the Church at home an army of quite fifty thousand young men and young women of exceptional consecration, who stand ready to do their pastors' biddings to any work of charity, ministry, or teaching."

THIRD NOTICE

The following which we clip from an exchange is so natural, and dove-tails so nicely with certain bits of experience in the life of every editor, that we feel that it deserves publication in a prominent place: "Third notice." Every editor has received them. The postmaster sends them to the editor. The editor is not to blame. For instance, there is a man by the name of—well, say Tim Short—who sent us three notices to stop his paper. He did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating our subscription book we found that Tim was short $5.70. He had never paid a cent and yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy to us. A few evenings ago we stepped into church, and Tim's melodious voice rang out loud and clear in the old soul-stirring song, "Jesus paid it all." We might have been mistaken, but his earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord.

We will not say that the mailing-list has no "Tims," but we must say that the number is exceedingly small. The Advocate has the best subscription consituency on the face of the earth.

LET THE CHALLENGE BE ACCEPTED.

We have just learned that Mr. B. N. Duke has made a proposition to donate $10,000 to Greensboro Female College, provided the college is rebuilt, and $90,000 more be raised for an endowment fund.

We are not surprised to know that Mr. Duke, who has done so much for the education of boys, is willing to contribute also to the education of girls.

We are not surprised that he has made this gift with a provision. Mr. Duke is a practical level-headed business man who knows well that it is good to help only those people who help themselves. Mr. Duke is right in expecting the Methodist people of North Carolina to show their faith by their works and gifts, before he will be expected to give as generously as he has given in the past.

This offer of Mr. Duke should be accepted gratefully and at once. If each Methodist should closely estimate what the Methodist people of North Carolina have done in the way of financial gifts to their educational institutions, the sum total would be a surprise and a reproach. Now let every Methodist in the State express in terms of dollars and cents his loyalty to the institution for women that we are trying to establish, and the whole church will breathe more freely and spiritual prosperity will come to our Zion.

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them, and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.00.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
Rockingham, Lumberton—May 26-29.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—Fifth Sunday in July.

The dates of the other District Conferences will be published as they are announced by the Presiding Elders.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

Rev. L. L. Johnson, Afton, I. T.	$1.00
Mrs. M. T. Hambrick, Leasburg, N. C., for her deceased brother, James H. Paylor	1.00
W. G. Nelson, Fort Landing, N. C.	1.00
Dr. W. P. Ivey, Lenoir, N. C.	1.00
Gen. J. S. Carr, Durham, N. C.	5.00
Amount previously reported	110.85
Total to date	119.85
Amount required	500.00

A memorial school for girls has been erected and dedicated at Nan Chang, the capital of Kiang Su Province, China, in honor of Stephen L. Baldwin, late Recording Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society.

General Notes

Sam Jones and George Stuart began a great meeting in Greensboro last Sunday.

Rev. W. C. Merritt found 25 subscribers to the Raleigh Christian Advocate on Conway Circuit. There are now 119. Some of the brethren will have to work hard to match this record.

We clip the following from the Florida Christian Advocate: "The editor is enjoying snap beans, lettuce, Irish potatoes, radishes, nut grass, etc., from his new kitchen garden." Now why does Brother Ley thus tantalize his more Northern confreres of the tripod who for the last month have been toying with razor-edged east winds?

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which meets in Los Angeles this week, is composed of 742 delegates. Of the 742 delegates, 562 are new men. For the first time the women will take part in the legislative work of the church. There will be forty-two delegates from foreign lands. Our "brother in black" will be there—represented by eighty-two delegates.

We have received the following invitation: "Dr. John F. Miller requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of his daughter Bessie to Mr. William Bethel Hill, on Wednesday evening, May the 11th, 1904, at eight o'clock, St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, Goldsboro, North Carolina." Enclosed are cards reading: "At home after June the first, Danville, Virginia."

That faithful layman, W. T. Jenkins, thus writes: "We are getting on very nicely on the 'Old Roanoke.' We have a very 'Humble' preacher, but he is a hustler. We expect the best report at the next Conference we have had for many years. Childrens' Day will be observed at Tabor on the fifth Sunday in May." The editor regrets that he cannot accept the very kind invitation to be present.

The Board of Directors who had the matter of deciding upon a location for the Methodist School, have completed their labors and have decided upon a lot in the rear of the First Baptist Church facing on Cedar Street 310 feet long by 150 feet on Harney and the same on Cobb Streets. The Methodist School has only been running one session, but has had an average attendance of about one hundred all the time.—Elizabeth City Economist.

Presiding Elder G. F. Smith and family ate breakfast at home, in the district parsonage, for the first time a few days ago. The Methodist people of the district are to be congratulated that the mortgage given to secure the balance due on the building has been cancelled, and the house furnished since the coming of the present occupant. Mr. Smith impresses those who see him with being an earnest, energetic worker and becomes more popular as his acquaintance broadens.—Littleton News-Reporter.

"Sunday afternoon the Edenton St. Methodist Church of Raleigh went through the new order of service. It is almost identical with the Episcopal service. We predict that very soon there will be suggestions that these flocks unite in one fold. Already every one is saying that John Wesley never meant that there should be division."—Biblical Recorder. Wrong again, Brother Bailey, in every count. First, the Edenton Street Methodist Church of Raleigh did not go through the new order of service, as every one who is acquainted with the new order of service knows. Second, the service gone through with on that Sunday afternoon bore little similarity to the Episcopal service, as every Episcopalian knows. Third, "every one" is not saying that John Wesley never meant that there should be division. Better turn your guns, Brother Bailey, on Dr. McArthur and other Baptist preachers who actually don the Episcopal surplice in their pulpit ministrations.

Methodist Mention

The Jubilee number of the Epworth Era is a beauty.

Bids will soon be asked for a new $60,000 building for Emory and Henry College.

Dr. Sam Steel has declined the offer of the presidency of Oklahoma University.

We are glad to know that so many of the brethren are holding good revival meetings.

Rev. D. H. Comann is assisting Rev. W. F. Craven in a meeting at Tarboro this week.

The Southern Student Conference will be held this year at Waynesville, N. C., June 10-19.

The Alabama Christian Advocate's Sunday-school edition last week was most excellent.

The Fayetteville District Conference will meet in Jonesboro, embracing fourth Sunday in July.

The Elizabeth City District Conference will convene at Sunbury, July 13th. Bishop Smith is to preside.

Rev. T. A. Smoot, pastor of Hay Street Church, Fayetteville, delivered a lecture on Odd Fellowship in Sanford last week.

The World's Sunday-School Convention opened in Jerusalem in a large tent outside of the walls, near Herod gate, on Monday, 18th inst.

One hundred members of the South Carolina Conference have sent in their names to the Methodist Benevolent Association—others will follow.

Rev. Harold Turner, of the Western North Carolina Conference, will preach the annual sermon at the commencement of Arcadia High School, May 15th.

Dr. F. D. Swindell passed through Raleigh one day last week on his way to Waco, Texas, to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Missions.

Rev. C. C. Thompson, who for the last two years has been serving Lenoir Station, Western North Carolina Conference, has been transferred to Sacramento, California.

The small-pox in Durham has interfered seriously with church work in that enterprising city. We are glad to know that the scourage has spent its force and is gradually dying out.

The Southwestern University, Texas, has received a gift of $25,000 from J. L. Campbell and his mother, Mrs. J. I. Campbell. The gift is to endow a chair of history in the university.

Bishop Duncan, who is known as one of the very best friends of the Conference paper, represented the Southern Christian Advocate at a District Conference in South Carolina last week.

Dr. W. A. McCarty, aged 86 years, and for over fifty years a member of the Alabama Conference, died at Anniston, Ala., last week. Dr. McCarty was a strong preacher and an author of several books.

We had a call this week from Rev. Dr. Williams, of North Carolina. The brethren up in the mountain regions speak very highly of him as a man and a preacher.—Texas Christian Advocate. This is our "J. V."

The time limit will be one of the burning questions at the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Los Angeles. Zion's Herald, of Boston, says there are eight instances of ministers remaining beyond the fifth year.

The Holston Epworth League Conference promises to be a great event. By the way, how does the Epworth League of the North Carolina Conference manage to get along without a Conference?

Prof. Plato Durham of Trinity College was an appreciated visitor to the office one day last week. He will preach the annual sermon at the commencement of the A. and M. College on the last Sunday in this month.

One good brother calls the new Order of Worship "a problem in permutations and combinations to count up the items in the 'Order' and compute in how many different ways they may be arranged by the preachers."

At the recent session of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, Bishop Foss surprised several strong churches by not sending them the distinguished preachers who had been "called." Good for Bishop Foss. Good for Methodism.

We learn from the Roanoke-Chowan Times that Rev. J. T. Draper, P. C. Whiteville Circuit, spent a week lately with his parents at Lasker, and on Sunday morning preached at New Hope Church a sermon of great force and depth of thought.

The meeting conducted by Rev. F. A. Bishop, the pastor in Central Methodist Church, this city, is still continued, and has been productive of great good. The congregations have been large and the interest is great. Brother Bishop preached some remarkably strong sermons.

Charlie Sing Lee, the oldest member of the Chinese colony in Wilmington, and one of the most faithful members of Grace M. E. Sunday-school, died on April 26th. He was an impressive monument to the power of the grace of God and the Advocate drops a tear on his grave.

The venerable Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler made an address before a Methodist Conference in which he said: "Bear this in mind, that no presidential chair, no emperor's throne, was ever yet built high enough to be within ten leagues of the pulpit in which the fearless preacher stands winning immortal souls to Jesus Christ."

Rev. B. C. Thompson, with his little girl, made a stop of a few hours in Raleigh one day last week, as they were on their way to Ahoskie from a visit to relatives in Alamance and Moore. Bro. Thompson has made a great record in the campaign for new subscribers. He has 320 members, and eighty copies of the Advocate are taken.

Rev. J. H. Frizelle writes: "Pittsboro Circuit Sunday-school and Epworth League Conference will be held at Moncure May 7-8. Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth will preach the Conference sermon. We are moving on nicely and all interests of the charge are in good condition. A good field will be open at Conference for some good man."

There was a joint meeting of the Southern and Northern Methodist ministers of St. Louis last Monday to consult in regard to the work of the Church during the Fair. They accepted an invitation from the Epworth Hotel Auditorium Company to use their auditorium and roof garden, which seats 3,000 people, for evangelistic services during the Fair.

Bishop Charles H. Fowler declined to administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the opening session of the New Hampshire Methodist Episcopal Conference because individual communion cups had been furnished. So says an exchange. If this be true, the Committee on Episcopacy at Los Angeles might have a serious question to consider this month.

The Sanders Chapel correspondent of the Smithfield Herald thus speaks in his own language of Rev. J. O. Guthrie: "Rev. J. O. Guthrie, Methodist pastor of Selma, Smith's and Sander's Chapel, who lives in Raleigh, came into this ranch last Friday, inspecting the grazing grounds and folds of his flocks. He failed to tell us about the 'Chatham pork.' We like him and want him to come and stay longer. We like a good live man."

In the death of Dr. Jno. M. Stancill last week, the Methodist Church at Rockingham and all Richmond County sustained a great loss. He was a faithful experienced Christian physician who made himself the friend of all. He was the "Doctor McLure" of Richmond County. We mourn with the stricken relatives. He was buried on last Wednesday evening in the presence of an immense throng, Rev. Jno. H. Hall, assisted by several preachers, conducting the funeral service.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS

The Conference has requested each District to furnish 150 new subscribers by May 1, 1904. The report of each District will be made weekly in this column. The District reporting the largest number of new subscribers by May 1, 1904, will receive a present not costing less than $25.00, to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

The following new subscribers have been received since April 27, 1904:

Rev. W. C. Merritt	18
B. C. Glover	15
Rev. R. H. Broom	10
Rev. N. H. D. Wilson	6
Rev. J. M. Lowder	4
Rev. D. L. Earnhardt	3
Rev. W. E. Hoeutt	2
Rev. A. J. Parker	2
Rev. L. B. Jones	2
Rev. J. T. Stanford	2
Rev. R. H. Willis	1
Rev. A. J. Groves	1
Rev. J. M. Ashby	1
Rev. D. B. Parker	1
Rev. Z. Paris	1
Rev. Wm. Towe	1
Rev. W. L. Cuninggim	1
Rev. R. F. Taylor	1
Rev. B. C. Allred	1
Rev. T. W. Mansfield	1
Rev. W. O. Davis	1
Direct	2

The following shows how many new subscribers have been received from each District since Conference:

Warrenton District	225	increase for week 23
Rockingham District	186	increase for week 23
Fayetteville District	168	increase for week 10
Elizabeth City District	125	increase for week 8
Washington District	110	increase for week 7
Raleigh District	97	increase for week 1
Wilmington District	79	increase for week 1
New Bern District	75	increase for week 2
Durham District	69	increase for week 2
Total increase for week	77
Total new subscribers to date	1,134

THE CAMPAIGN.

According to the wording of the Conference Resolution pledging 150 new subscribers to the Raleigh Christian Advocate before May 1, and according to the wording of the offer made to the District securing the largest number by May 1, it is our duty to declare the Campaign closed as far as the awarding of the prize is concerned.

Warrenton District has swept the field, sending in just 50 per cent more than the number called for in the Conference resolution. Warrenton District, therefore, is entitled to the prize of $25. The same will be forwarded to the Secretary of the District Conference to be applied as the Conference thinks best.

Rockingham District goes nearly 25 per cent over her quota; Fayetteville District 12 per cent over her quota. Elizabeth City District lacks only 25 subscribers of reaching hers. Durham is the only District which did not secure half of the 150.

To the brethren of all the Districts we return our thanks, congratulating them on the impetus that will be given to Methodism through the increased number of Advocates taken.

It is to be regretted that the 1,350 new subscribers were not secured. Only 216 are lacking. It can be seen from the report which will be published next week that if all the brethren had taken the interest in the campaign which was taken by those who have reported that we would have reached 2,000. But we are not chiding these brethren who did not report. They know the conditions and circumstances on their work better than we, and we have no inclination to depreciate their interest in the Advocate.

The Advocate next week will contain a complete report, showing how many new subscribers each preacher sent in during the Campaign.

Taken all in all, we have done well. For the first time we are sending out 7,000 copies of the Advocate weekly. This means much to the Advocate. It means much to North Carolina Methodism. We are thankful.

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE

DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE CONFERENCE LITERARY EVANGELICAL

EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

To the First Vice President.

Your department is first not only in order, but in importance. Have you so regarded it and made its influence felt in the community and church, as well as in the chapter?

Have you tried to help some soul to Christ?

Have you lifted some down-hearted soul up to the mount of joy?

Have you strengthened the feeble knees and held up the hands that hung down?

Have you refrained from saying an unkind word of one who may have faltered or fallen?

Have you sought to help others attain the highest New Testament standard of experience and life? It is presumed that you have sought and found this experience and life for yourself.

Have you made real in life Jas. 2:14-26 and Phil. 3:7-15?

Do you read your Bible and pray each day?

Do not fail to make your department the mighty drive wheel of religious progress in your chapter and church.

Gold Dust.

A friend of mine, a few days ago, handed me a little book translated into English from the French by E. L. F. B., and published in London under the title of Gold Dust.

The author, in his introduction, speaks of the children and poor people in Southern France whose custom was to gather gold dust from the beds of dried-up rivers, to earn a livelihood, and then says: "What is done by these poor people, and little children for the gold dust God has sown in those obscure rivers, we would do with those counsels and teachings which God has sown almost everywhere, which sparkle, enlighten and inspire, for a moment, then disappear, leaving but regret that the thought did not occur to collect and treasure them.

Who is there that has not experienced at some time in his life those teachings so soft and gentle, yet so forcible, which make the heart thrill, and reveal to it suddenly a word of peace, joy and devotion?

The object of the little book is to gather and treasure up some of the gold dust of thought that may be found all about us.

In it is to be found this prayer. We give it in part:

From the desire to be mourned,
From the desire of praise,
From the desire of preference,
From the desire of influence,
From the desire of approval,
From the desire of authority,
From the fear of humiliation,
From the fear of being despised,
From the fear of repulse,
From the fear of calumny,
From the fear of oblivion,
From the fear of ridicule,
From the fear of injury,
From the fear of suspicion,
Deliver me Jesus.

That others may be loved more than myself, Jesus grant this desire.

That others may be more highly esteemed.

That others may grow and increase in honor, and I decrease, Jesus, grant me to desire it.

That others may be employed, and I set aside, Jesus, grant me to desire this.

That others may attract the praise, any myself be forgotten.

That others may be preferred in all.

Grant me the utmost holiness of which I am capable, then let others be holier than myself. Jesus, grant me to desire this."

This prayer is in harmony with New Testament religion. How many of us can pray it?

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.
Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.
E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes:
"Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."
For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.
LONGMAN & MARTINEZ,
Manufacturers, New York.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Sound Waves which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.
OTOPHONE CO
1602 Arch Street, ROOM 105 Philadelphia, Pa.

Dropsy CURED Gives Quick Relief.
Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer. Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box G Atlanta, Ga.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113 RALEIGH, N. C.

CAPUDINE
Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE.
10c. 25c. 50c, A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION, Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

Sunnyside Floral Nursery
JAMES M. LAMB,
Proprietor.
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.
Lock Box 55. : : Telephone 49—B.
We can furnish almost anything in ornamental plants from Royal Palm to a Violet, including Evergreen Trees, Shrubs, Roses, Bulbs and Green-house plants
Special Offer of one hundred arborvitas for $1 50—free by mail. Send for catalogue.

XANTHINE
PROF. HERTZ' GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
LOOK BEAUTIFUL ONCE AGAIN.
Why the withered gray hair like a tree dying at the top?
Xanthine is not a dye, but it brings back to original natural color, by giving New Life to the hair. The same for hair of any color. Also stops dandruff; promotes growth.
At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for Circulars. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Sunday School

Lesson for May 8, 1904.

Watchfulness.

Luke 12:35-48.

Golden Text. Blessed are those servants whom the Lord, when He cometh, shall find watching. Luke 12:37.

The Scripture portion selected for our lesson includes part of a discourse delivered by our Lord during His Perean ministry, in which He strongly enforces the duty of watchfulness. It would be well in this connection to study, by means of a Concordance, all that He taught on this important subject. Note especially what is recorded in Mark 13:33-37 and Luke 21:34-36. The teaching of our Lord in the present lesson is conveyed by means of three striking parables.

The Watchful Servants.—The first picture presented to our minds is that of a group of faithful servants, who await the return of their lord who has gone to a marriage feast.

A blessing is in store for these faithful servants, who neither slumber nor sleep, even though their lord's coming be delayed till the second or the third watch, that is, until midnight or early morning hour, for the lord shall gird himself, and shall make his servants sit down to meat and shall come forth and serve them.

The Careless Householder.—In the East every man is his own policeman, and must protect his own house from the intrusion of robbers. Under these circumstances it is incumbent upon every householder to be watchful. The picture presented in our Lord's second parable is that of a careless householder, who has neglected the proper precautions, and has allowed his house to be broken into (literally dug through, for many of the Oriental houses are made of mud) simply for lack of due watchfulness.

The Two Stewards.—The third parable is spoken by our Lord in answer to Peter's question, "Lord, speakest thou this parable unto us, or even unto all?" It presents two pictures, one of a faithful and the other of an unfaithful steward.

The faithful and wise steward, in his lord's absence diligently administers his trust, and cares for the affairs of the household, as if his master were actually present.

The unfaithful steward, on the contrary, when he finds that his lord delayeth his coming, takes advantage of his absence by abusing the servants under him, and indulging in drunken revelry.

The Reward of Watchfulness.—Promotion is the reward of watchfulness, for the servant whom his lord finds faithful will be advanced to the highest possible position.

The fate of the faithless steward, on the other hand, is degradation and stripes, and the measure of his punishment is the degree of his unfaithfulness.

Application of the Lesson.—Among the many suggestions which spring out of this lesson, the most important is the warning which it presents against intemperance. There is need of constant watchfulness in fighting against the evils which flow from indulgence in strong drink. Let us be watchful against giving the least ground for reproach either in our own personal attitude on the question of temperance or in the way in which we exert our influence upon others in regard to this most vital and pressing problem.

CURES ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES AND CARBUNCLES.—COST NOTHING TO TRY.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is now recognized as a certain and sure cure for eczema, itching skin, humors, scabs, scales, watery blisters, pimples, aching bones or joints, boils, carbuncles, prickling pain in the skin, old, eating sores, ulcers, etc. Botanic Blood Balm taken internally, cures the worst and most deep-seated cases by enriching, purifying and vitalizing the blood, thereby giving a healthy blood supply to the skin. Botanic Blood Balm is the only cure, to stay cured, for these awful, annoying skin troubles. Heals every sore and gives the rich glow of health to the skin. Builds up the broken down body and makes the blood red and nourishing. Especially advised for chronic, old cases that doctors, patent medicines and hot springs fail to cure. Druggists, $1.00. To prove B. B. B. cures, sample sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble, and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N. C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

DOESN'T RESPECT OLD AGE.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

Money saved is money made
$2.50 BUYS A PAIR OF
Autograph SHOES
THE EQUAL OF ANY $3.00 SHOE

IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.
CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.
LYNCHBURG, VA.

Do You Want a Teacher?
The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

"TO LADIES ONLY."
If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.
Address MRS. J. M. TURNER, Box 37, Monroe, Ga.

Chronic Diarrhoea of Nine Years' Standing Cured by Use of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

For nine long years I suffered from chronic diarrhoea, which weakened me down greatly. My weight went from 162 pounds to 87. I got so I could not do any work, but could sit up a little. For twelve months I lived on sweet milk and bread. If I ate anything else it would start the bowels to troubling me, from four to ten times a day. My doctor said I would never get well. I might get better, but my bowels would always be my weak point that would cause me trouble when I would take cold. Seeing Mrs. Person's advertisement on the South Boston bridge, I wrote to her and stated my case. She said she did not think there was any doubt of her Remedy's curing me. I commenced it and soon I could eat and drink anything I wanted, except buttermilk. I took 22 bottles, which made a perfect cure of me, and I gradually regained my weight until I again weighed 168 pounds. It has been seven years since I was cured, and am now perfectly well. I had a baby that was born with a bowel trouble which nothing would reach. He was born in May and in July he had a bad boil which he suffered from for six months. I didn't know Mrs. Person's Remedy could be used on so young a baby, so I wrote to her. She advised its use. Before he had taken a bottle the bowel trouble was cured and also the boil, which the doctor said threatened to be a serious trouble as it was so obstinate and lasted so long. MRS. W. N. WARREN.
South Boston, Va., Sept. 3, 1901.

DON'T
give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.
Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April 5, 1903.

SOU'N BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class	SOU'N BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 25	S.....†Caraleigh Mills...	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes	9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M.....†McCULLERS....	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins.....	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs...	8 40	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	P.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 25	5 26	S...† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 60
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley	8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington	7 45	3 50
Ar.	Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.
C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
'Phones 117.

The May McClure's.

McClure's Magazine for May makes the most casual reader stop and think. As usual it covers a wide range of human interest but the impressive effect of the number is produced by another appalling picture of the results of our industrial warfare. It is found in Ray Stannard Baker's article on the great labor conflict in Colorado between the striking miners and mine operators under the fitting title, "The Reign of Lawlessness." It is a story of industrial, economic, social and civil crime of absorbing interest and deep significance. Here Mr. Baker finds the fruits of law-breaking by both capital and labor in riot and bloodshed, destruction of life and property, anarchy and military despotism. The people of Colorado have broken the law and are being punished for it. How, Mr. Baker vividly describes.

The inside narrative of the Hayes-Tilden election contest, written from new sources of information and hitherto unpublished facts by Joseph M. Rogers in an entirely non-partisan manner tells how this crisis in American political history was met and civil war averted.

Thomas Nelson Page concludes his series of papers on the Negro Problem in a discussion of present conditions, giving many alarming facts and figures concerning its real proportions by reason of what Mr. Page believes to be the growing degeneracy of the negro in the increase of ignorance, crime, and immorality, all productive of social, civic and industrial inefficiency.

The University Summer School.

We take pleasure in calling to the attention of teachers, superintendents, and other school officers the advertisement of the University Summer School, to be found in another column of this paper. The cost of board and lodging for the term of four weeks is only ten dollars, and the only other cost is an incidental fee of five dollars. The railroads give low rates. Fully 4,000 teachers have attended this school in the past and this year, still greater advantages are offered for learning the best methods of teaching, for broadening one's scholarship and for special work in all branches from the kindergarten to the high school.

There are sixteen instructors who represent the best educational thought, method and practice of prominent county and city superintendents, and College and University professors, in fact, each member of the faculty is an acknowledged expert in his department. The advantages offered are equal to those to be had in the leading Summer Schools of the North.

A RUNAWAY BICYCLE

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, of Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

The great prizes of the soul are won by effort, prayer, faith and self-surrender.

THE SKIN LIKE A SPONGE

Some of the most stubborn diseases enter into the system through the pores of the skin. Like a sponge, it absorbs poisons of various kinds, which are taken up by the little blood-vessels beneath the surface of the body, and emptied into the great current of the blood. The juices of poison oak and other noxious wild plants percolate through the skin like water through a sponge, are taken into the circulation, breaking out afresh each season, and lingering on for years unless antidoted and driven out of the system.

Dye Poisoning among the employes of dye houses, and from wearing colored under-clothing and hosiery, is of frequent occurrence and dangerous to health, causing boils and sores and other eruptions.

Workers in lead, brass and other metals are often poisoned by the chemicals and acids used in polishing, and the dust and filings settling upon the skin, and which find their way through the pores into the blood, followed by inflammation, swelling and the most obstinate sores.

Blood Poison, the vilest of all human diseases, is often contracted through shaking the hand or handling the clothing or other articles used by one infected with this dangerous poison. The deadly virus finding its way through the pores of the skin, contaminates the blood and produces fearful ulcers, eruptions and blotches.

SSS The diseases that enter the system by absorption or through the pores are as deep-seated and dangerous as any brought on by internal causes, and cannot be reached by washes, salves, soaps or other external remedies. The blood must be purified and a healthy circulation established before getting permanently rid of the disease. S. S. S. acts upon the blood, ridding it of the original poison and restoring it to a healthy, normal condition.

S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely vegetable, an unrivaled blood purifier and the best of all tonics. With all impurities removed from the blood, the sores and eruptions disappear from the skin. Write us should you desire medical advice or any information about your case: this will cost you nothing.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

POISON OAK AND ITS EFFECTS.

Over fifteen years ago I was poisoned with Poison Oak. I tried remedy after remedy without getting relief. Sores broke out over my body and on my tongue, affecting the lining of my mouth. Finally, about a year ago my doctor told me to try S. S. S., which I did. After taking three bottles all the sores disappeared, and I have not been bothered since, and I feel much indebted to your valuable medicine for so prompt and complete a cure. I am certain that S. S. S. will do all that is claimed for it in blood diseases.

Danville, Ky. CON. O'BRYAN.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

$1.50 will buy a pair Dixie Girl Women's Shoes

Made by Dixie Girls

BEST SHOE ON EARTH FOR PRICE

Hard to find a dealer without them. If so, write us, and we will tell you where to find them.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Makers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thumb and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black..... $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring..... 50c.

"Lucile" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Summer School
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Monday, June 13th—Saturday, July 9th, 1904.

Unexcelled advantages for methods of teaching, broadening of scholarship, and special study in all branches from kindergarten to advanced course. 26 instructors. Board and lodging $10.00 for the term of four weeks. Incidental fee $5.00. Reduced railroad rates. Write for catalogue.

FRANCIS P. VENABLE,
President.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

BRINGS
SWEET SLEEP.

"I have used your concentrated water and am delighted with it. I have had considerable trouble in getting a good night's rest; frequently I was as tired in the morning as when I first laid down, was troubled much with bad dreams, etc.; but now I sleep soundly, and am greatly refreshed in the mornings, ready for the day's work. It is indeed a good medicine, and I thank you for calling my attention to it."

REV. J. O. BABCOCK,
Richmond, Va.

ECHOL'S
PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED
Iron and Alum Water

cures disease, tones up the whole system, builds muscle, creates appetite, gives sturdy health, brings soothing slumber. 8 oz. bottle, 50c. 18 oz. bottle, $1.00. At all good drug stores.

J. M. ECHOLS CO.,
LYNCHBURG, VA.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.
Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to
F. E. CLARK, TRAV. PASS'R AGT., ATLANTA, GA.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:
REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Our Visitors Again.

Bro. B. N. Duke called during our absence. We were sorry to miss him.

Rev. E. R. Welch and Bro. Marr, of Hope Mills, took us in on our trip to the city.

A large number of our city friends were out last Sunday, I learned, to see the new building and to gather a few violets. This is "Violet Hill."

Col. F. A. Olds and his troop of children were out. They are always welcome. The Colonel, like our doctors, loves us.

When we clean off the grounds, this will be a beautiful place.

That Cow.

Anyone having a good cow to let for her victuals and clothes would do well to confer with the authorities at the Methodist Orphanage. An orphan cow may find a good home and congenial company here while the grass grows, especially if she will give three gallons of good, rich milk a day and make a pound of butter.

The dry weather is retarding the growth of our garden truck. Our snaps have a hard time coming up.

We have commenced feeding our rye. Boob, and Effie, and Daisy, are glad.

We have plenty of old bottles and tin cans and pine bark for Sir William yet. What a great animal a goat is!

In the Straits.

A note received from the Treasurer on our return from Chatham, just before he left for New York, brings the startling intelligence that our treasury is running low. That the work will soon have to stop, if the money does not come in faster. That would be an untold calamity. I am doing my very best. Going every Sunday. Talking from two to five times a day. Writing letters. Visiting and talking privately with parties that have means. Trying to stir up the churches and the Sunday-schools. Begging the preachers to lend a helping hand. I wish I knew how to write and how to speak so as to move men to give to this cause. Will some one suggest to me how to get the means to continue this work? I am praying that it may go on.

Signs Encouraging.

The friends are sending in their subscriptions. People are praying more earnestly for us. More people are visiting us. Friends are more profuse in their expressions of admiration of our new building. Some say that our tower is the prettiest they have ever seen. That the half had not been told of the beauty and grandeur of our main building. I wish every Methodist in North Carolina could see it. The church is getting more anxious to have it completed.

The carpenters are rapidly finishing up the first story. The hard finish is on all the rooms of the second story, and it will soon be on the halls. The flooring is on eight rooms on this story and is being put down rapidly on the others. Two coats of plaster are on four rooms on the third and last story. Nearly all the laths are on this story. The doors, window sash, and all the finishing material is in the house.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

Is a necessity for ladies and desirable for men. If troubled with disfigurements in the form of inflamed itching patches, ugly pimples or any other cutaneous trouble, beautify your complexion with Tetterine. One box will do the work. Fragrant, harmless, effective. 50 cents per box at Druggists or by mail from J. T. Shuptrine M'f'r., Savannah, Ga.

AN EXTINCT MINERAL SPRING.

For many centuries mineral springs have been utilized for their curative, healing power. The ancients knew of them and had their favorite springs and baths, to which they resorted when weak of body or feeble of health. We read in the Testament of the Pool of Bethesda, whose waters were troubled twice a year and at these times possessed healing powers of a remarkable nature, which caused them to be sought by thousands, who tramped many miles to drink of and bathe in the waters, receiving therefrom new life, health and strength.

The mineral properties which give to the waters of the world's mineral springs their curative virtues come from the rock or mineral ore, through which the water is filtered on its way to its outlet, only a small proportion of the medicinal power in the ore being thus assimilated with or absorbed by the liquid stream. The rock contains that which furnishes the medicinal and healing power, the water serving only as a conveyance to carry but a small part of its properties to the outer world.

Our readers have seen and noticed the announcements of Vitae-Ore, a peculiar mineral formation, and have wondered at the origin of this remarkable product and the source from which it derives its known and established healing powers. This Vitae-Ore is no more or less than a mine of this mineral rock, originally discovered by Theo. Noel, a Geologist, while prospecting in the Southwest. It was the belief at the time, which has since been confirmed by leading scientists in America and Europe, that the surface on which this magnetic ore was discovered was at some ancient time the location of a powerful mineral spring, compared to which the springs of the present day are but pygmies, which spouted its healing waters, impregnated with the wonderful mineral found at its base, for centuries before the foot of man trod the Western Continent. Some years after its discovery it was decided to give to the world the benefit of this great boon for the world's health, and it is this magnetic mineral ore which has since astounded the people by its marvelous cures, and won everlasting fame and an enduring reputation under the name of Vitae-Ore. Many of the remarkable cures wrought are among the readers of this paper and people well known to our subscribers. Read the announcement in this issue, the Special Thirty-Day Trial Offer by the Theo. Noel Company, Chicago, proprietors.

King's Business College
(INCORPORATED.)
Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.
Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.
We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

WASH GOODS IN WHITE AND COLORS.
It is hard to decide which are the prettiest, the pure white or those in colors, as all of our patterns in both kinds are entrancingly beautiful.
Sans Souci Swiss, solid colors and fancy mixtures with embroidered dots, 12½c. yard.
Imported Tissues, in stripes, dots and figures..... 19c.
Pois De Line—French mercerized goods in fancy colorings..... 25c.
Fine White India Lawns, 40 inches wide, 12½c.
White Persian Lawn, 48 inches wide..... 25c.
White Organdies, 46 inches wide, 40, 50, 60c.
French Batiste, 40 inches wide..... 25, 30, 50c.
India Linons, 32 inches wide..... 12½, 17, 20c.
Damask Waisting in figures and dots, 25c.
Long Cloth, 12 yards to a piece, $1.19 per piece.
Write us for samples.
Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.
MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,
"From The Uncivil War to Date."
The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death.
Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2.
Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.
HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
Nashville, Tenn.
Summer Session: June 8-August 3, 1904. 20 courses especially for Teachers. 10 secondary School Courses. 25 College Courses. Only charge $5.00. Railroad rates, One fare for round trip plus 25 cents. Tickets on sale June 6, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20; July 3, 4, 5. Write for information.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS.
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.
Will Cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by Kloczowski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C

SECOND ROUND.

Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Elizabeth, Singletary, April 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McFeytre, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, Smith Creek, April 23, 24
Mount Olive Circuit, Providence, April 30 to May 1
Dover, Dover, May 7-8
Snow Hill, Mount Herman, May 14-15
Straits, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit, May 23-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8.
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Dunn, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 22, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Mattamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York Chapel, May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22

THIRD ROUND.

Roxboro Ct., Oak Grove, May 27
Durham Ct., Orange Factory, May 28, 29
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Clayton, Mt. Zion, April 30th, May 1
Milbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 26
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29

THIRD ROUND.

Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Benirai, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Kenly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 8
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

Marriages

RESPASS—COX.—At the residence of the bride's mother, April 6, 1904, Mr. Charlie Respass and Miss Alice Cox, Rev. B. H. Black officiating.

GIBBS — COX.—At Nebraska Church, April 6, 1904, Mr. Charles T. Gibbs and Miss Dora T. Cox, Rev. B. H. Black officiating.

ROUSE — DANFORD.—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Danford, March 30, 1904, Mr. A. J. Rouse to Miss Annie Danford, Rev. W. R. Royall officiating.

YEARGAN — BUFFALOE.—Mr. Leonidas Yeargan and Miss Agnes Buffaloe were united in matrimony at the home of the bride, April 6, 1904, J. H. Buffaloe officiating.

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

DICKENS.—James Madison Dickens was born April 26, 1818, and after disease had preyed on his mortal body for several years, he departed this life March 31, 1904, and was buried near his home in Halifax County.

He was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, under the ministry of Uncle Charley Cook about the year 1879, and remained a consistent member until about fifteen years ago when he joined the Baptist church, in which he died.

He leaves four boys and three girls to mourn their loss. May the God of peace comfort and keep them.

W. B. HUMBLE.

WELLS.—Thomas E. Wells, child of Jas. H. and Hattie Wells, was born December 13, 1902, and died September 4, 1903.

Only a little while was this sweet flower allowed to bloom in its earthly home, then God transplanted it to that land of eternal beauty and happiness where it will bloom forever.

May God, who doeth all things well, comfort and sustain the parents and may they remember that, though the child cannot come to them, yet they can, after life's toils and cares are over, join it in a land where parting is unknown.

J. J. PORTER.

EGERTON.—Joseph J. Egerton was born July 27th, 1824, and died January 24th, 1904. He was first married to Miss Eliza Baker, who only lived a few years, dying in 1860, leaving him with three small children. In the year 1865, he married Miss Virginia Landis, of Oxford, N. C., who, with seven children, twenty-five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and many friends and loved ones mourn his departure.

Brother Egerton joined the M. E. Church, South, nearly sixty years ago, and lived a faithful member till two o'clock last Sunday morning, when God sent for him. He loved the church and all of her interests, and never forgot the vows made at her altar more than fifty years ago. He attended every protracted meeting at Shady Grove for over half a century except the years that he was from home in the Civil War. He was in many battles of that war, and saw his comrades fall all around him, but did not receive a scar.

Brother Egerton had been a remarkably healthy man up to last summer his health began to fail and he had not seen a well day since. The last few days of his life, his sufferings were very great, but he bore them with great patience and Christian fortitude. He felt the assurance of his readiness to meet his God in peace. We feel sure that for him to die was gain.

He was a kind neighbor, devoted husband and loving father. May God whom he loved and served so long, deal tenderly with his loved ones and bring them all to a happy reunion in the beautiful home of the good. His funeral was conducted by the writer at the home of his son, and then all that was mortal of Joseph J. Egerton was laid to rest in the family cemetery near the sacred spot where once stood the dear old home!

B. C. ALLRED.

ROGERS.—Leecia Rogers, a tender girl of but seventeen summers, died March 21, 1904. Cecil, as she was familiarly called, was a good Christian girl; no one knew her but to love her. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, at Ebenezer, August, 1900, under the ministry of R. L. Davis. She was a girl of ill health before her last sickness, having had pneumonia before, and at this time it did its fatal work in a few days. The magnificent flowers that covered the grave from head to foot showed how she was loved. She leaves a mother to mourn the loss of her youngest child and brothers and a sister to mourn the loss a dear sister. May the God of peace comfort and bind up the broken hearts.

W. B. HUMBLE, P. C.

BODDIE.—J. B. H. Boddie, of Nash County, N. C., age 37 years, died suddenly about noon Saturday, March 26, 1904, of heart failure.

Brother Boddie professed faith in Christ when seventeen years of age and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Bethlehem, under the ministry of Rev. C. M. Cook. He served the church faithfully in the capacity of steward, Sunday-school superintendent, and was for several years, and at the time of his death, recording steward. He was a consistent Christian, a good citizen and a useful man. Death came to him without any warning, but found him ready. Modest and unassuming, his was a beautiful life; undemonstrative, yet he ever exemplified in his life the beautiful graces of a Christian character. To know him was to love him; to be with him was to be impressed that he was a man of solid piety, true to his convictions of right, faithful in all the relations of life, a kind and loving husband, fond and affectionate father and a faithful servant of his Lord.

He leaves a wife and three small children, an aged mother, a brother and five sisters to mourn their loss; but they sorrow not as those without hope. He will be sadly missed in his home, in his community, in his church, but we feel that our loss is his eternal gain. May the God of all grace bless the bereaved ones and bring them to a reunion in heaven where they will never more say goodby.

J. M. BENSON.

MOORE.—Nellie L., wife of C. A. Moore, of Durham, N. C., daughter of George G. and Bettie A. Moore, of Person County, N. C., was born October 20, 1868, and died February 26, 1904, age thirty-five years, four months and six days.

In early life Mrs. Moore joined the Methodist Church at Mount Tirzah, N. C., having given her heart to God in the days of her youth. On October 23, 1895, she was happily married to C. A. Moore, of Durham. After her marriage she moved her membership to Trinity Church, Durham, of which she was a faithful and devoted member at the time of her lamented death. She lived a consistent Christian life, and died the death of the good. As one has beautifully said of her: "Like a rose she blushed and bloomed, refreshing other lives with the fragrance of her own; but unlike the rose whose fragrance dies with its falling petals, the beauty and power of her life will never perish from the earth, being perpetuated in the lives of others who have been inspired and helped by contact with one so pure and good."

It was the writer's privilege to visit her during her last illness. She anticipated death, but felt no fear. Her faith in Christ was the faith of a little child. Calmly, restfully she awaited the summons, and when death beckoned her she recognized him as God's visored angel, put her hand in his, and with a smile stepped into the valley of the shadow.

We do not know why God took her thus early, making desolate a happy home, depriving little children of the shaping influences of her gracious motherhood. Such a death is always a profound mystery. But we do know that her life was "hid with Christ in God," and when he who was, and is, her life shall appear, then shall she also appear with him in glory.

Besides her husband, she leaves three sons—Victor, Robert and Bailey—a father, mother, two brothers, four sisters, and a large circle of relatives and friends to "sigh for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

Child of God, thy Father hath called thee, and so till the morning breaks and the shadows of earth are lifted, good night. R. C. B.

LARKIN.—On the evening of March 15, 1904, from the home of her aunt, Mrs. H. J. Bass, in Durham, N. C., the spirit of Sallie Dillard Larkin took its flight from its earthly tenement and returned to the God and Father who gave it. For some days a great conflict between life and death had been waging in the room in which she lay, yet there was a gracious calmness in the midst of that conflict for His spirit was there and "around her restlessness His rest." Her mother and others were standing about the bed. "What is the matter with you all, what makes you do so strangely?" the sufferer asked, and turning her head to her mother, said: "Mother, am I going to die?" The mother replied: "Why, do you feel very badly, darling?" She then asked for the doctor. When he came she repeated the question: "Doctor, am I going to die?" "That is a hard question, Miss Sallie; why do you wish to know?" "I wish to prepare myself." "Are you not prepared?" And her mother said: "You have always been a good child." She replied: "I have always tried to do what was right, but I have not always done exactly what I ought to have done." "Darling, no one is perfect," "Yes, mamma, no one is perfect," and then she prayed: "O God, forgive me for all that I have done that is wrong. Grant that I may meet Thee; grant that I may see my Maker face to face, for Jesus' sake. I had rather live; I want to live for my precious mamma."

The spirit, of quietness and composure, of being unafraid, of wanting to live for others' sake, of completest trust in and surrender to the love and will of God, revealed in this conversation was the one in which her life had been lived. It was the spirit in which she moved and through which she expressed herself in the home of her parents, William W. and Sallie D. Larkin, into which she, as a gift of God, had come on October 18, 1883; and the same spirit was manifested in the home of her aunt, for one in that home, after nearly two years of careful observation, said of her: "We have never seen her the least bit ruffled under any circumstances." In this spirit she had mingled with her teachers and companions and had done her work (and it was done in all fidelity) in the High School in Lynchburg and in the Southern Conservatory of Music in Durham. She joined the Methodist Church at eleven years of age and she entered heartily into and engaged earnestly in all its activities, in the Sunday-school, the Epworth League, and in all other branches of its work open to her, in the same beautiful Christlike spirit.

She died away from home, yet wherever she was, was home. For a spirit like hers, so bright and cheerful, so full of sunshine, so diffusive of blessing and helpfulness, so thoroughly Christian, so rapidly made friends for her in the school, in the home, in the church, everywhere, that any place soon became home to her. Her parents, her brothers and sisters, her school-mates, her aunt and uncle, and their children, her co-workers in the kingdom of God, loved her, and they call her "blessed"—"blessed" in the good she did, and "blessed" in the rewards that are hers.

She was laid to rest in Lynchburg, young ladies, her companions, bearing the numerous floral offerings which friends had sent as tokens of their appreciation of her beautiful life. She loved flowers and music and all beautiful and charming things, and her own life was full of beauty, fragrance, melody and sweetness, and we believe her character is adding to the joy and charm, and her voice is helping to swell the harmonies of heaven.

"For in her life the rhythmic fall of days
Love-turned, the cadenced years of ministry
Wrought out before the Lord, a chant of praise,
Which now his choirs are singing by that sea
Where many mansions be."

In the loss they have been called upon to bear, her mother and other loved ones have the sincerest sympathy of all who have known and felt the touch of her life.

W. L. CUNINGGIM.

Durham, N. C., April 5, 1904.

GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE.

BEGINS WORK with the first dose, cleansing the blood of all the poisonous acids that produce RHEUMATISM, driving out all the dangerous germs that infest the body—that is the way cures are effected by

Rheumacide

Other medicines treat symptoms; Rheumacide removes the cause, and, therefore, its

CURES ARE PERMANENT.

Helps the digestion, tones up the system. Sample bottle free on application to BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., Proprietors, 316 West Lombard St., Baltimore, Md.

LOOK! $1.00 FOR 60 CENTS.

PURE SWEET GUM. To all who send this advertisement and 60 cents we will send a regular $1.00 box of Valentines Old-Fashioned Sweet Gum containing 30 5c. packages. This sweet gum is unlike any other chewing gum. It is pure, aids digestion and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers. For sale by all dealers. The Kind Mother Used to Chew.

Valentino Manufacturing Company, NASHVILLE, TENN.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application.

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C. & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

RISE AND FALL OF THE CONFEDERATE GOVERNMENT.

(By President Jefferson Davis.)

The CONFEDERATE VETERAN has purchased the entire edition of Mr. Davis's "Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government." It is of the half morocco binding, marble edges, $14.00 set, two vols.

The VETERAN will supply at half price, plus cost of mailing, $7.65. It is offered for fifteen new subscriptions to the VETERAN. Camps and Chapters can easily secure copies.

Through generations of the future this book will be accepted as the most authentic history of the South in the crisis of the sixties. No other will assume to rival it. In every way it is as noble as is its dedication: "To the Women of the Confederacy."

Send $1.00 for the VETERAN one year. S. A. CUNNINGHAM, Nashville, Tenn.

DEAR MADAM: Please Read My Free Offer

Words of Wisdom to Sufferers from a Lady of Notre Dame, Indiana.

I send free of charge to every sufferer this great Woman Remedy, with full instructions, description of my past sufferings and how I permanently cured myself.

You Can Cure Yourself at Home Without the Aid of a Physician.

It costs nothing to try this remedy once, and if you desire to continue its use, it will cost you only twelve cents a week. It does not interfere with your work or occupation. I have nothing to sell. Tell other sufferers of it; that is all I ask. It cures everybody, young or old.

If you feel bearing down pains as from approaching danger, pain in the back and bowels, creeping feeling in the spine, a desire to cry, hot flashes and faintness, or if you are suffering from any so-called female complaint, then write to Mrs. M. Summers, Notre Dame, Ind., for her free treatment and full instructions. Like myself thousands have been cured by it. I send it in a plain envelope.

Mothers and Daughters will learn of a simple family remedy, which quickly and thoroughly cures female complaints of every nature. It saves worry and expense and the unpleasantness of having to reveal your condition to others. Vigor, health and happiness result from its use.

Wherever you live I can refer you to well-known ladies in your neighborhood, who know, and will testify that this family remedy cures all troubles peculiar to their sex, strengthens the whole system and makes healthy and strong women. Write to-day, as this offer may not be made again.

MRS. M. SUMMERS, BOX 233, NOTRE DAME, IND., U. S. A.

It is Time to Get Ready for SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual. White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

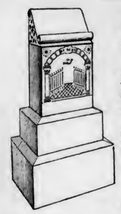
..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.

BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED SALT BRICK.

The only GUARANTEED Tonic, Blood Purifier, Kidney and Liver Regulator and Aider of Digestion for all stock. A SURE HIT ON WORMS AND SURE DEATH TO TICKS. No dosing, no drenching and no waste of feed. Your horse his own doctor. Endorsed by thousands. Free descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc. on application. Sold by all dealers at 25c each, or will send direct, one case, two dozen, all charges paid for $5.00. Money refunded if not satisfied.

Address,
BLACKMAN STOCK REMEDY CO.,
CHATTANOOGA, TENN.
Mention this Paper. Special prices in dozens.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

NOW DEPOSITED IN THE BANK
$75,000.00
IN CASH GIVEN AWAY.

To arouse interest in, and to advertise the GREAT ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR, this enormous sum will be distributed. Full information will be sent you ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address on a postal card and we will send you full particulars.

World's Fair Contest Co.,
108 N. 8th Street,
St. Louis, Mo.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure internal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment;" but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23, 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
W. A. Turk, Pass. Traffic Manager, S. H. Hardwick, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

ARE YOU HUNTING

for health? Have you been BEATING ABOUT THE BUSH, first trying one course and then another, following the lead of others no wiser than you, only to find that the game will not come within your range.

THE PLACE to HUNT FOR rabbits is where rabbits are known to exist, the place to HUNT for health is where HEALTH HAS BEEN KNOWN TO BE FOUND!

It is beating up the woods where NO QUARRY LURKS to hunt for health in a bottle of alcohol and sarsaparilla or a package of senna and straw; it is only following the track and trail of hundreds of disappointed, tried and footsore hunters, many of whom have fallen by the wayside.

Let their experience, AS WELL AS THE EXPERIENCE OF SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS GUIDE YOU! Those who have hunted for health AND FOUND IT, are competent to tell WHERE IT CAN BE FOUND. Thousands of satisfied hunters say the ROAD LEADS TO VITÆ-ORE, that the hunter for health, searching amid its subtle curative, healing and restorative properties, will not be disappointed.

If you have been using other treatments without the results that were promised and that you anticipated, THROW THEM AWAY and begin with this natural medicinal ORE! It will not fail you!

....YOU ARE TO BE THE JUDGE!....

Sent on 30 Days Trial

BY MAIL, POSTPAID.

READ THIS SPECIAL OFFER!

WE WILL SEND to every sick and ailing person who writes us, mentioning The Raleigh Christian Advocate, a full sized $1.00 package of Vitæ-Ore, by mail, postpaid, sufficient for one month's treatment, to be paid for within one month's time after receipt, if the receiver can truthfully say that its use has done him or her more good than all the drugs or dopes of quacks or good doctors or patent medicines he or she has ever used. Read this over again carefully, and understand we ask our pay only when it has done you good and not before. We take all the risk; you have nothing to lose. If it does not benefit you, you pay us nothing. Vitæ-Ore is a natural hard adamantine, rock-like substance—mineral—Ore—mined from the ground like gold and silver, and requires about twenty years for oxidization. It contains free iron, free sulphur and magnesium, and one package will equal in medicinal strength and curative value 800 gallons of the most powerful, efficacious mineral water drunk fresh at the springs. It is a geological discovery, to which there is nothing added or taken from. It is the marvel of the century for curing such diseases as Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Blood Poisoning, Heart Trouble, Dropsy, Catarrh and Throat Affections, Liver and Kidney and Bladder Ailments, Stomach and Female Disorders, LaGrippe, Malarial Fever, Nervous Prostration and General Debility, as thousands testify, and as no one, answering this, writing for a package, will deny after using. Vitæ-Ore has cured more chronic, obstinate, pronounced incurable cases than any other known medicine, and will reach such cases with a more rapid and powerful and curative action that any medicine, combination of medicines, or doctor's prescription which it is possible to procure

VITÆ-ORE will do the same for you as it has done for hundreds of readers of THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE if you will give it a trial. Send for a $1.00 package at our risk. You have nothing to lose if the medicine does not benefit you. We want no one's money whom VITÆ-ORE cannot benefit. Can anything be more fair? What sensible person, no matter how prejudiced he or she may be, who desires a cure and is willing to pay for it, would hesitate to try VITÆ-ORE on this liberal offer? One package is usually sufficient to cure ordinary cases; two or three for chronic obstinate cases. We mean just what we say in this announcement, and will do just as we agree. Write to-day for a package at our risk and expense, giving your age and ailments, and mention THE RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE so that we may know you are entitled to this liberal offer.

Feels Fifteen Years Younger!

All Suffering and Pain Things of the Past.

I had Neuralgia of the Heart and Systemic Catarrh for years, and Kidney Trouble, Soreness of the Breast and Lungs and constant soreness in the stomach for fifteen years. I was afflicted with a cough on lying down at night and suffered pain occasionally throughout my entire system. I also had spells of Paralysis and numbness of the limbs, dizziness and Female Trouble. Since using Vitæ-Ore I can walk as far as any woman, can do as much work without fatigue as I did years ago, and can truthfully say I feel fifteen years younger, as all pain and suffering is a thing of the past. I was treated by doctors and two scientists, but only received temporary relief from them. Vitæ-Ore has accomplished all these wonders for me.

MRS. SALLIE E. HUDSON,
Dresden, Tenn.

WRITE FOR IT.

This announcement won't cure you! The reading of it won't ease your aches and pains. The medicine advertised WILL, but if you NEED it, if you WANT it, you MUST WRITE FOR IT.

We have it and are willing to send it to you on trial, AT OUR RISK. YOU TO BE THE JUDGE, but we cannot know that you need it, that you want it, unless you write to us and tell us to send it to you.

How many times have you seen OUR TRIAL OFFER in this paper? How many times have you THOUGHT you would answer it and send for a package on trial, AT OUR RISK? Now suit the ACTION to the THOUGHT, and write for it to-day. THOUSANDS have done what we ask you to do and are not sorry for having done it. You do it NOW! YOU ARE TO BE THE JUDGE!

A NORTH CAROLINA MAN TESTIFIES.

MEDOC, N. C.

I have been using Vitæ-Ore for several months and have found it greatly to my benefit. When I commenced taking it I was really a physical wreck could eat nothing without great pain and suffered when I did not eat with cramps and the pain in the kidneys known as "Kidney Colic." At different times I was treated by six different doctors and they could not help me. My weight before beginning the V.-O. treatment was only 126 pounds; now I weigh 168 pounds. I could not walk any distance, but can now walk anywhere and I can work every day, chopping and grubbing.—J. A. HARRIS.

Impure Blood.—Almost every one in this latitude is a sufferer from diseases caused by Impure Blood, the cornerstone of more ills than all other causes combined, and only here and there one recognizes that in his blood lurk the seeds of disease, ready to take root and manifest themselves at the first opportunity in some of the innumerable hideous ways so dreaded by everybody. Every neighborhood has its afflicted, many seemingly incurable, with complaints that have gradually and almost imperceptibly made their appearance, growing a little worse with each change of the season until Chronic Ailments are well seated and developed in the system, such as Stomach, Liver and Bowel Trouble. Each takes one or more forms peculiar to such diseases, but all are due to Impure Blood, to the absence from the blood of some necessary vital force, or the presence of some foreign element, which impairs its powers to faithfully perform its duties to the system, causing a long list of complaints which yearly drag thousands to the grave.

To purify the blood, eradicate disease, build up the system, Vitæ-Ore is without a peer among remedial agents. No other remedy extant can equal it as a powerful constitutional tonic, a blood vitalizer, renovator and regenerator. It contains, as its constitutional parts, elements needed by the blood, which are absorbed by the thousands of minute blood corpuscles, and taking their proper place in the circulation, expel all foreign secretions which have been undermining the health. It supplies the wants of nature, is her able assistant and one that can be depended upon to do its work under all conditions.

NOT A PENNY UNLESS BENEFITED.

☞ This offer will challenge the attention and consideration, and afterward the gratitude of every living person who desires better health or who suffers pains, ills and diseases which have defied the medical world and grown worse with age. We care not for your skepticism, but ask only your investigation and at our expense, regardless of what ills you have, by sending to us for a package. ADDRESS,

THEO. NOEL CO., S. W. Dept., Vitæ-Ore Building, CHICAGO, ILL.

LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 15.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE

North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 108 W. MARTIN STREET.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.

Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.

Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.

Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

Last Wednesday, the 4th inst., should be considered a "red-letter" day in the calendar of important American events. Mr. Renaudin, of the former Panama Canal Company, handed over the keys to Maj. Brooke, the American flag was hoisted over the offices, a paper written in English, French, and Spanish was signed by Renaudin and Brooke, and the Panama Canal business passed into the hands of the United States government—one of the most significant events that have happened on this continent since Cuban freedom became a reality.

Much was said in the secular press a few week's ago about the deliverance of Canon Henson, of London, on the subject of the place of the Bible in the religious life of the world. It appeared from the newspaper reports that Canon Henson had attacked the Bible, and that therefore Christianity had received another staggering blow. Another staggering blow! Why, Christianity has developed her strength through the centuries under a rain of "staggering blows." No new attack has been made on the Bible in fifty years or in three hundred. You may consider it certain that any deliverance against the Bible is only the newly dressed thought of ancient skeptics.

But it is interesting to know that what Canon Henson said is not subject to the interpretation placed upon it. We have read it carefully and we have failed to see the theological "raw head and bloody bones."

Late happenings in the political circles of the State of Missouri have strengthened the contentions of those who stand for reformation within a party and not outside. It is known that there are many who believe that when a political party becomes corrupt the only saving salt is the formation of a new party.

But Mr. Folk's experience has proved the contrary. The good people of Missouri desired to have him run for the Governorship. They felt that they needed a man who fears neither man nor devil, and would beard the very "boodle and graft" devil in his den. Mr. Folk is no aspirant for political honors. He consented, however, to run for Governor on strict party lines. Many of his friends really desired him to run on an independent ticket. He ran for the nomination on the straight ticket against seemingly overwhelming odds, with the result that all his competitors finally left the field, leaving him in undisputed possession. It is to be hoped that we may be able to speak of "Governor" Folk.

Recent impressive events in the Orient have lent considerable interest to the late Congressional discussion of the practical utility of the modern battleship. Senator Hale spoke seemingly in a telling way on the subject when he said: "The great and salient events of the war [Russo-Japanese] show how incomplete as an engine of war one of these enormous high-turreted battleships is. If she is struck below the water-line, and the centre of gravity is disturbed, she turns over like a turtle, and everybody on board is drowned." Yes, Mr. Hale had in mind the turtle-turning Petropavlovsk, which now lies on the bottom of Port Arthur harbor. But what of those big battle ships of the Japanese? The Russians, doubtless, believe that these were too successful. Mr. Hale evidently failed to see both sides of the question.

We take it that the report that the Foreign Mission Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church refused the $80,000 left as a bequest by Willis Cooper because he lost his life in a theatre fire is incorrect. We hope so. For it to be true would be a reflection upon the common judgment and Christian charity of the Board, and the name of religion itself. Willis Cooper lived a white life filled with devotion to Christ and good deeds to humanity. Let us suppose that his judgment was warped into believing that he was innocent in attending that play in the ill-fated Iroquios Theatre. He has gone to stand before his Maker. As he looks at things past and present in that searching light which never was on land or sea, he must view with strange emotions the refusal of the church for which he labored to accept the gift which he made perhaps on his knees. "Alas, for the rarity, etc." But there is comfort in knowing that the ascended and enthroned "Man of Sorrows" who has most to forgive is most forgiving and condones mistakes which men magnify into depravity. May God deliver us all from hypertrophied consciences!

Since the Japanese crossed the Yalu and drove the Russians before them, two important events have taken place: first, the blocking the channel into the inner harbor of Port Arthur; second, the landing of the Japanese at two opposite points on the Liao-tung peninsula.

The blocking of the channel took place on May 3, and was the most dramatic and tragic event in the whole history of ancient and modern warfare. Four Japanese ships, blown up by mines, or by their own crews, were sunk in the channel so as to deny egress or ingress only to small boats. Many lives were lost—lives of brave Japanese cadets, who, as they neared the channel, knew that they would never again see the light of day. They left no last messages, but their memories will be green as long as salt water washes the islands of Japan. How can Russia or any other nation conquer such a race of people?

The blockading of the channel and the landing of Japanese on the peninsula in the rear means that Port Arthur is doomed. The line of railroad between Port Arthur and Harbin has been cut. Supplies and re-enforcements cannot now reach the garrison. Surrender or destruction to the besieged Russians is inevitable.

General Kuropatkin, the Russian General, is supposed to be massing his forces as quickly as possible, and another battle is daily expected. It is the opinion that Russia has less than 75,000 men in Manchuria. If this be the case, it is only another illustration of the general unpreparedness of Russia for war. It is becoming more and more evident that Russia either believed that Japan would not fight or thought so little of Japanese prowess as to make no special preparation for the conflict. Russia has learned by this time that she has made a sad mistake.

The political and semi-political atmosphere in North Carolina has been surcharged with electricity for some time. Storms have been rumbling and there are to be more to come. Our people have almost learned to awake in the morning with the expectation of hearing a new clap of thunder or a new phase of the storm. The sensation hunter can certainly find a rich field in North Carolina at present. The morning newspapers, however, have put off the heavy armor, and the public rejoices. We trust that no newspaper will fail to see that after having used such heavy artillery it cannot afford to hide on the other side of the fence and make faces and throw rocks. This is unworthy of any brave belligerent.

The disposition of the A. and N. C. R. R. matter is yet to come. What events it will draw in its wake, we do not know. We are afraid to conjecture. The report of the Investigating Committee is expected within the next few days. The Receivership matter will be considered on the 21st of this month. It is the regret of many that this matter was not postponed until after the rendering of the report of the Investigating Committee. Such a course would have been more fair to Governor Aycock.

The political campaign will not begin, we suppose, until mid-summer. In the meantime, there is much going on. Mr. Parker seems to be the choice of the North Carolina Democrats for President. Mr. Hearst, though, is not a corpse by any means. It is remembered that his "funeral orgies," as Scotty Briggs would say, were published a few weeks ago by many of the newspapers. But Mr. Hearst is sufficiently alive to give Judge Parker a good deal of trouble.

In view of what has happened, and what is to come, we admonish our readers to keep cool, to eschew the love for the sensational, and to keep the moral liver in good condition.

So long as we love we serve; so long as we are loved by others I would almost say that we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Contributions

Dedicatory Hymn.

BY EX-GOV. W. W. HOLDEN.

Delivered at the dedication of Edenton Street M. E. Church, Raleigh, N. C.

Holy, loving, righteous Father,
Thou did'st plant this living vine;
Prune each branch in love and mercy,
Bless it, make it wholly Thine.

Faith, its root and Hope, its branches,
Nurtured long with anxious care.
Now the touch of Heaven produces,
Fruit abundant, sweet and fair.

Now the corn upon the mountain,
Shakes like Lebanon on high,
Now the life-bestowing fountain,
Streams upon us from the sky.

Lord we thank Thee for Thy presence,
Lord we bless Thee for Thy love;
Make us all that Thou would'st have us,
All Thy children fully prove.

Guard this house from sinful error,
Hearts and hands and tongue employ,
Dwell within it Lord forever;
Fill it with Thy songs of joy.

When the harvest scene is over—
When Thou comest on Thy throne,
O! receive us to Thy glory.
Own and crown us as Thine own.

Mods of Baptism—No. 3.

BY REV. M. H. TUTTLE.

We shall now attend to some arguments more directly in favor of sprinkling and pouring as valid modes of baptism. The Prophet says of Christ: "So shall he sprinkle many nations." (Isaiah 52:15). This is a prophetic declaration. Now, what is the fulfillment of this prophecy? If we understand it literally, referring directly to water baptism, then it settles the question as to mode; but if we understand it in a spiritual sense, then it fixes the mode of spiritual baptism, and consequently establishes the mode of water baptism with equal certainty, as water baptism is but a symbol of the baptism of the Spirit, and, of course, should be administered in the same way. If it were written, "So shall He (Christ) immerse many nations," I should take it as being conclusive in favor of baptism by immersion; but as it is written, "So shall He sprinkle many nations," I take it as being conclusive in favor of baptism by sprinkling.

Again we read, "For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and I will bring you into your own land. Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean; from all your filthiness, and from all your idols will cleanse you." (Ezekiel 36:24,25.) The allusion here, in all probability, is to the water of purification prepared by mixing "running water with the ashes of a red heifer." (Num. 19:17-19.) In the account given in the Book of Numbers of this rite of purification the verb for sprinkle is the same as that used by Ezekiel in the passage here quoted. Or, according to other authorities, the reference here may be to the lustrations of the law in general; and perhaps this best explains the prophet's language, since the element sprinkled is not "blood" or "water mixed with ashes," but "clean water," the best known means of ritualistic cleansing. It is clear that the prophet here refers to both legal and moral cleansing. His gaze is directed beyond the present or immediate future. The Israel of Ezekiel's time had not yet been scattered among the nations and could not have been gathered from all countries; but in the years that have passed since then Ezekiel's language as to Israel's dispersion has been literally fulfilled. Wherefore the inference is reasonable that the reassembling to which Ezekiel refers is an event that has not yet occurred, and will only be realized completely and fully when the scattered members of the house of Israel shall be received by baptism into the Christian church, as St. Paul declares will be the final result. (Rom. 11:25,26.) It would be hard to overestimate the strength of this argument. It is almost certain that Ezekiel in this famous passage refers to the scattered members of the house of Israel receiving Christian baptism and being gathered into the fold of Christ. "Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean." Immersionists may say that sprinkling will not do, but God says it will. The quantity of water or the mode of its application has nothing to do with the symbolical cleansing of the rite of baptism. "Baptism is not the putting away of the filth of the flesh (requiring a great quantity of water), but the answer of a good conscience toward God." (I. Peter, 3:21.) The above quotation from Ezekiel we regard as being a conclusive statement of sprinkling "clean water" as a valid mode of baptism.

Furthermore, in Heb. 9:10, with reference to the ceremonial dispensation—the sacrifices, purifyings and cleansings of the Jews, Paul says: "They stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings" (baptisms). The obvious scope of this entire chapter is the ceremonial purifyings of the Old Testament Dispensation contrasted with the spiritual cleansing wrought through the blood of Christ under the New. Our translation has the word "washings" where it is "baptisms" in the Greek. It is clear from the passage that the writer has in mind the "purifyings" of the Jews that were by sprinkling—that word being used no less than four times within nine verses. In his "Letters on Baptism," Dr. Fairfield says: "I have not succeeded in finding one instance in which anybody was required to dip or immerse himself, or to be dipped or immersed by another, from the beginning of Genesis to the end of Malachi. And yet the Epistle to the Hebrews speaks of this Old Testament Dispensation as embracing divers baptisms." "Divers baptisms" by sprinkling—not one by immersion, is the way the case stands. To this conclusive testimony may be added the evidence from the context, which plainly shows that the reference is to the "purifyings" by sprinkling under the law, and not to immersions, even had there been any; for the writer goes on to say: "If the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of a heifer, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh, how much more shall the blood of Christ, who, through the Eternal Spirit, offered Himself without spot to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God." (Heb. 9:13,14.) Dr. Fairfield again says: "I do not speak too strongly when I say that 'divers immersions' is an utterly impossible version of the words which are so rendered by the Baptist Union." The inspired writer to the Hebrews does not speak of "divers immersions," but of "divers baptisms" by sprinkling. Nothing can be plainer than that the Apostle Paul here calls the ceremonial sprinklings of the Old Economy baptisms. Then, according to St. Paul, sprinkling is baptism. This conclusion is unavoidable.

The word sprinkle is found about forty-two times in the Bible, while the word immersion is not found at all. Surely if immersion were so important or so essential to salvation it would somewhere be found in the Bible. There is enough in the Bible to guide us aright; we need not go outside. The all-sufficient rule of faith is before us. We may not add to nor subtract from it.

(To be continued.)

Donations for G. F. C.

REV. J. H. M. GILES.

I've just been reading some of the many valuable articles in the Advocate telling the need of rebuilding G. F. C., how to do it, when to do it, etc. Many of those who have written so wisely are my acquaintances, yes, my friends, so I wish to exhort some by giving a practical suggestion for G. F. C. Let all of the preachers in the North Carolina Conference give 2½ per cent of their salaries to rebuild G. F. C. at once. Let us lead and I believe the laymen will follow. Now I'm sure some one is ready to say: "I can't," but if he can't, let those who are able "bear the infirmities of the weak," and not be selfish. Now, let us open up a column in the Raleigh Christian Advocate and the North Carolina Christian Advocate, let every one who will respond to the above proposition write you or Brother Blair, and then let the Presiding Elder of every District in each Conference be a committee to collect the 2½ per cent and send to the building committee at Greensboro, N. C.

Now, I wish to say that I stand ready to pay $15 out of a salary of $600, and we are six in family, too. Let us come to the help of our noble women in giving to our girls a college that shall be second to none in the State. Within the last eight or ten years I've repeatedly heard our Methodist girls put G. F. C. at a great disadvantage before crowds of our young folks, by speaking disparagingly of the standard of scholarship at G. F. C. as compared with the N. & I. College. Of course they were Methodist girls who had been to N. & I. College. Those girls who speak of G. F. C.—all of them—have told me of just one girl who left G. F. C. and went over to N. & I. College and had to enter a lower class in the N. & I. College than she was at G. F. C.

Why Not the Same Apostles Creed for the Sunday School as for the Church Services?

REV. W. P. CONSTABLE.

Just a few lines with reference to a difference I note in regard to our creed. There has just been given to the church a New Order of Service by the Joint Commission, the object of which is uniformity of worship in all our Methodist churches. I have no objection to offer to this, and I like the New Order, and am using it. It gives solemnity to our service and brings our people in closer touch with the worship. If uniformity of service and the people taking a larger part in the worship be the object of this new order, in my humble judgment the use of the old form of the creed in the Sunday-school and the new in the church service does not help the matter, but rather adds confusion.

I note that in our Sunday-school literature they still retain the old form of the creed which differs very materially in phraseology from that of the new order as can be readily seen by comparison. The members of the Sunday-school are taught to say "his only begotten Son;" "he rose again the third day;" "from thence he shall' "come again at the end of the world," etc.; "I believe in the Holy Ghost, the church of God;" "and everlasting life after death." When they come into church all this is changed, in the new order, they say the "only son," "the third day he rose from the dead," "shall come to judge the quick and the dead," "the holy catholic church," "and the life everlasting."

While I submit there is no change or difference in the real meaning, yet this change of phraseology is such that it is hard to keep up with it unless you have an order of service before your eyes. I would not attempt to go into the pulpit and try to repeat it without having it before me. There is not, therefore, that hearty response that there should be. Many of our people do not participate in this portion of the service. I have asked numbers of my people why they do not join in and repeat the creed in the church service? and they reply "I get lost, something is the matter, the creed you use in church is different from that we use in Sunday-school, and I cannot keep up." The result of the use of the two forms of the creed is that instead of a good compact volume of sound as though it were one voice, we get a weak, scattering response which gradually grows weaker and weaker, until toward the close only a few voices are heard.

Again, I submit that if uniformity and the getting of our people to take a larger part in the public worship be the object in view, then the use of the two forms of the creed, one in Sunday-school and the other in the church service, is not conducive to this end. It rather leads to confusion, and defeats the object in view by keeping a large number from taking part in the service. Let us use the same form of the creed both in Sunday-school and in church, so that all may become familiar with it, and then they will take part and we will have a more hearty response in this declaration of our faith by the people in the public assembly to worship God.

The Gospel of the Cross.

C. H. WETHERBE.

That is a dead gospel which leaves out the cross of Christ, and all that it signifies. A great many people are accepting a crossless gospel, and it is to their own destruction. They are talking very favorably of the "good news" that Christ came to reveal a God who loves all mankind; and they say that if God loves all people He will surely save all. But this is not the gospel of the cross, for it demands a personal acceptance of Christ as an atoning Savior, and hence a direct surrender of one's self to him in faith and duty. Dr. Maclaren of England, has preached a sermon from his text: "God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." He says: "Now, there are a great many people who would like to put the middle part of this great text of ours into a parenthesis. They say that we can put the first words and the last words of this text together, and never mind all that is between. People that do not like the doctrine of the cross would say, 'God so loved the world that he gave . . . . everlasting life,' and there an end. 'If there is a God, and if he loves the world, why cannot he save the world without more ado? There is no need for these interposed clauses.' 'God so loved the world that everybody will go to heaven,'—that is the gospel of a great many of you; and it is the gospel of a great many wise and learned people. But it is not John's gospel, and it is not Christ's gospel." Of course it is not. When the cross is left out of the gospel, its very heart is left out. The vitality of the true gospel is the cross of Christ. Had not Christ died for the sins of mankind, not one soul would have been saved from death. The Bible declares that the redeemed ones have been "purchased" by the blood of Christ. It was because all people were dead in sin that Christ had to die for sin. The great Rescuer of sinners must die in order to effect the rescue of any of them. And each one, for himself alone, must reach out his hand, as it were, and clasp the hand of a crucified Lord, that he might be raised up from the pit into which sin had put him. It is whosoever that practically believes on Christ, the slain Lamb of God, that is the receiver of eternal life. The dead sinner will forever remain dead in sin unless he practically accept the crucified Savior. God loves the sinner, but not any more than he loves the truth of the cross and the terms upon which sinners are to be saved.

Why I Go to Church on Rainy Sundays.

Frances Ridley Havergal's admirers, whose name is legion, will read with interest the following lines from her pen:

I attend church on rainy Sundays because—

1. God has blessed the Lord's Day and hallowed it, making no exceptions for rainy Sundays.

2. I expect my minister to be there. I should be surprised if he were to stay at home for the weather.

3. If his hand fail through weakness, I shall have great reason to blame myself unless I sustain him by my prayer and presence.

4. By staying away I may lose the prayers which may bring God's blessing, and the sermon which would have done me great good.

5. My presence is more needful on Sundays when there are few than on those days when the church is crowded.

6. Whatever station I hold in the church, my example must influence others. If I stay away, why may not they?

7. On any important business, rainy weather does not keep me at home, and church attendance is, in God's sight, very important.

8. Among the crowds of pleasure-seekers, I see that no weather keeps the delicate female from the ball, the party or the concert.

9. Among other blessings, such weather will show me on what foundations my faith is built. It will prove how much I love Christ. True love rarely fails to meet an appointment.

10. Those who stay from church because it is too warm, or too cold, or too rainy, frequently absent themselves on fair Sundays.

11. Though my excuses satisfy myself, they still must undergo God's scrutiny, and they must be well grounded to bear that.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSION SOCIETY OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE—SELMA FRIENDS.

When the Selma Auxiliary invited us to hold our Conference with them, the invitation was gladly accepted. We thought we knew what to expect, but "the half had not been told," nor can it ever be in this age of limited time and space. There were no limitations, however, to the thoughtfulness and kindness of these fine Christians. The reputation for lavish Southern hospitality characteristic of Johnson County was fully sustained—could more be said? Her sons and daughters of all ages and all denominations united in dispensing it, and their ease and elegance so vividly brought back the beautiful old days, we might have thought ourselves dreaming had not their wide-awake, up-to-date progress and prosperity proved otherwise. I regret that I cannot introduce these choice friends, but their name is legion and cannot be mentioned. On the part of the entire Home Mission Society, I again make to them grateful acknowledgement, with the earnest prayer that heaven's best blessings may ever be theirs.

Our Annual Meeting.

The sessions were held in the attractive Methodist Church, made still more so with growing plants and a profusion of cut flowers and evergreens, while the warmth of welcome and our intensity of purpose were expressed in the mottoes of red letters artistically arranged on either side of the pulpit: "Welcome to the W. H. M. S." and "Our Land for Christ."

The attendance was the largest in our history—an excellent omen. The District Secretaries were present, with few exceptions, and brought encouraging accounts. Most of the Auxiliaries sent representatives, many of whom had good reports. There has been gratifying increase in every line of work, the average being about 30 per cent. On every hand there was shown a marked desire to learn best methods and pursue them effectively. The delegates attended the sessions well, and many gained greater information and stronger desire to press forward.

Addresses.

Rev. J. O. Guthrie, Selma's Methodist minister, made the address of welcome, which was a royal one, and our Secretary of Durham District, Mrs. S. I. Harrell, responded in chaste and beautiful language.

Mrs. J. E. Underwood, our President, opened exercises with a clarion call to duty and a cheering and encouraging survey of the work.

Our Conference Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. S. H. Scott, gave a delightful account of the Board Meeting in Kansas City, and her enthusiasm and consecration were a blessing to us all.

Sermons and Speeches.

Rev. R. F. Bumpas preached the Annual Sermon, a very able one, which will remain with us to strengthen and comfort and guide. Rev. J. O. Guthrie also preached a good sermon on Sunday night; as Conference pastor, he was very attentive and helpful and his many kindnesses were greatly appreciated.

Dr. J. W. Jenkins gave a very interesting account of our Orphanage; may he and his faithful helpers continue in health and happiness, and may they be abundantly blessed in their noble work—the best loved in our Home Mission Society. Rev. E. R. Welch gave a practical presentation of the factory problem, which was enlightening and uplifting. This brother has occupied a parsonage, helped by the W. H. M. S., and is in hearty sympathy with the cause. We requested him to tell the others.

Papers Read.

There were several, and they were heard with close attention and highly complimented. Mrs. J. T. Wilkins' subject was, "Our Parsonages;" Mrs. B. F. Dixon's, "The District Secretary;" Mrs. B. B. Adams', "The Relation Between the Foreign and Home Work;" Mrs. F. L. Church's (read by Miss Flossie Abell), "A Foreign School in Florida;" Mrs. James Fearing's, "Tithing;" Mrs. R. O. Burton's, "Our Literature and Press Work.'

The variety of subjects and their wide range showed the careful and comprehensive planning of our President, to whom special praise is here accorded for the success of our Conference. It was a glad sign, too, to see the members willing to give service.

Entertainments.

I can only mention in passing the beautiful music by the choir, the charming glimpses of home life, the daily invitations to dinner and to tea, the social calls of the townspeople, and the neighbors from Smithfield.

But I must tell of the two special entertainments. The delightful one given by the children was under the supervision of Mrs. J. A. Spiers, and finely illustrated her ready resource and diversified talent. She is our Third Vice-President, with which honor goes to the management of the Baby Roll and the Florine McEachern Brigade. Our little ones are blessed in their gifted leader, and our Society is to be congratulated.

The other was the elegant reception tendered by Mrs. A. E. Edgerton, Corresponding Secretary of the Selma Auxiliary. The tasteful decorations, the dainty refreshments, the sprightly amusement features all were in keeping with the genial grace of the cultured hostess, and a fitting crown to the social success of the Conference.

Souvenirs.

These are our badges—real works of art—pure white silk, on which are the initials of our Society, intertwined with lovely blue forget-me-nots, all hand-painted—planned and executed by Miss Margaret Etheridge (one of our fine young lady workers) and Mrs. Spiers. Also, the envelopes for the puzzles at Mrs. Edgerton's reception, each decorated with a little cherub, bearing a scarf with Baby Roll, dates, etc., inscribed, to remind every mother to enroll her little one—a happy conceit and gentle suggestion.

MRS. R. O. BURTON.

Resolutions, and Extracts From Resolutions, Adopted by the Missionary Institute Held in Columbia, N. C., March 9-11.

The same blank that was used last year was adopted, with a few changes in the same reports to be made to the Secretary on May 1st, July 1st, September 1st, October 1st, and November 1st. The November report to answer items 3 and 4.

Resolved, That this Institute indorse the plans and work of the Albemarle High School in Elizabeth City, and we heartily recommend it to our people, and pledge ourselves to its support.

Resolved, That we, the pastors of the Elizabeth City District, will make earnest and systematic effort to raise in full our assessment for Domestic and Foreign Missions within the next thirty days, forwarding the same at once to our Conference Treasurer.

Resolved, That we make equally earnest and systematic effort to raise all the other collections by the 15th day of October.

Resolution of thanks to the people of Columbia.

Resolved, That the preachers in this District use only unfermented wine in communions.

Mr. William Halls, Jr., who subscribed $500,000 for the completion of the Brooklyn Hospital, on conditon that a similar sum should be raised, now announces that he will commence work as soon as $300,000 are in hand, but that the remaining $200,000 must be secured also to meet the terms of the gift. There is great rejoicing over his generosity and magnanimity.

Dr. George F. Pentecost, formerly pastor of a Presbyterian Church in Boston, has preached for several months in Westminster Congregational Chapel, London and has now entered upon a six months' ministry at Clarendon Street Baptist Church, Boston.

The Field

To the Sunday School Superintendents of North Carolina.

My Dear Brothers:—In the furtherance of my duty as chairman of our Sunday School Board, I am about to appeal to you in the interest of a very important feature of our Sunday-school work.

Childrens' Day is by no means a day of small things. In those Conferences where it has been generally observed the result has been a great impetus to the work.

Strange to say, the Sunday-school official is the only man who ever seems lacking in zeal in this matter. The children are always ready. The public always manifest a real interest.

There is no service held in a Methodist Church that draws a crowd so large; nor any more thoroughly enjoyed. There is no one service held in our church that creates quite as much interest in the work as Children's Day. And yet, notwithstanding all this, a very large number of our superintendents ignore this important service and still call themselves faithful.

Brother Superintendent, if you will just say we'll have Children's Day, the children will do the rest. Will you not do it? It is an important matter; and the Discipline makes it one of the duties of a Sunday-school superintendent.

The Sunday-School Board of your Conference is exceedingly anxious to get our superintendents in this good habit; and in order that every obstacle may be removed, and to help in the good work all we can, the Secretary of the Board has sent out to every Sunday-school in our Conference, free of charge, thirty programs for Childrens' Day observance.

And now, my brethren, will you not help us in this matter? Can it be that some of us are indifferent to the great importance of our work? We cannot think so; but it is doubtless true that we have not been as zealous as we should.

But, brethren, let's make this a great year in our work. We can do it; and if we can, we ought to.

True, you may be a shiftless school in a little country church, and there may be some obstacles in the way of success; but, brethren, that school can be made to thrive.

I had that very school on my work once. It was so hopeless a case that it took three months to find a man who would as much as consider the matter of taking the superintendent's place.

Finally, I found a man, uneducated, diffident; and who had never prayed a public prayer, nor led a service of any sort, except to lead a brigade of field hands in a crusade on grass. That man took charge of as unpromising a prospect as I have seen anywhere. Time and again he came to me ready to surrender. Not that he was not willing to work on, but the prospect was so slow to improve; that often, I as well as he, was heartless.

But we did not surrender, and within less than two years we had a flourishing school; and actually observed Childrens' Day during the second year of our effort, and had our hearts filled with gladness to see a constantly increasing attendance.

Brother, you can do that; and if you will, you may not again, in all your life, be permitted, under Providence, to render to God's cause a service of so great value.

Brethren, will you not help us in this great work? We have sent you the programs; and if we can be of any further service, just let us know.

'Tis a great cause—this Sunday-school work. These bright, happy, glad-hearted children, that fill our homes with prattle and laughter, appeal to us by every growing faculty for goodness and greatness, that we fling wide before them every door of opportunity for training and development: and God help us if we fail them to the extent that they be not brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

Children's Day is a strong and taking feature of our Sunday-school work; and wherever observed, increases the attendance and the interest in the work generally.

Do not fail to observe it, brethren. Use the programs sent you and carry it out from start to finish.

If you cannot get ready by the third Sunday in May, get ready as soon as you can. In any case, keep at it until the day has been observed and until you have a flourishing Sunday-school in your community; and may God give you rich reward for your faithfulness.

Fraternally, K. D. HOLMES.

Roxboro, N. C., May 4, 1904.

Trinity College Notes.

Preparations for commencement are just now commanding a great deal of attention. The Executive Committee of the Alumni Association has arranged for the annual alumni dinner, which will be held in the banquet hall of the new dormitory building at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, June 8. The catering will be in charge of Dughi of Raleigh.

A nine from the faculty is to meet the seniors in a game of base-ball on the afternoon of May 10. During the absence of the college team on its Southern trip, the faculty players are showing surprising skill in daily practice on the athletic field. There is great interest in the coming struggle. The college nine has this week been playing in South Carolina with Wofford, Furman and Clemson.

Last Monday night Randolph-Macon debated with Trinity in the Craven Memorial Hall on the question: "Resolved, That the United States should abandon its present protective policy and levy a tariff for revenue only." F. L. Kibler and W. H. Ellison, of Randolph-Macon maintained the affirmative side, and G. H. Smith and B. S. Womble, of Trinity, supported the negative. The contest was very close, the judges deciding in favor of Randolph-Macon by a vote of two to one. Hon. Frank Fuller, of Durham, presided. The committee of judges consisted of Hon. J. Y. Joyner and C. H. Poe, of Raleigh, and Rev. C. J. Thompson, of Durham. After the debate, the Randolph-Macon representatives and the officials of the debate were entertained at a smoker.

A pleasing feature of the debate with Randolph-Macon occurred while the judges were consulting as to their decision. Messrs. L. P. Howard and J. P. Frizzelle, who have represented Trinity with marked ability in several debates, were called to the platform and presented with engrossed resolutions of appreciation of their services which had been unanimously adopted by the Debate Council. Messrs. Howard and Frizzelle have this year and last ranked as Trinity's best debaters.

Scribners now have in press a volume of "Selections from the Writings of Henry Van Dyke," edited by Dr. Edwin Mims. This volume appears in the same series with similar volumes of selections from the writings of Stevenson, Field and Cable.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., May 6, 1904.

Do All the Seniors Smoke?

Many boys have ruined themselves. Many parents grieve to see teachers and preachers show their sons how to smoke. The money spent for cigars would soon send the gospel to all the heathen.

I lately read of a "Senior Banquet" where "cigars were handed around." As the law of our Church forbids "needless self-indulgence," and the law of the State forbids the sale of cigarettes to boys, I do not see how a Methodist can encourage boys to smoke.

A. D. BETTS.

Lillington, N. C.

Scott's Hill Circuit.

Mr. Editor:—We have held three meetings. The first was held at Union Church, beginning the third Sunday in March, and continuing one week. The visible results were very gratifying. We were assisted by Rev. J. M. Marlowe, of New River. His help in the pulpit, choir and at the altar was faithful and efficient, and contributed much to the success of the meeting. We had several bright conversions, and the church was greatly revived.

Our second series of meetings was held at Bethany, beginning Friday night before the second Sunday in April, and lasted one week. The music, with the gifted singer, Rev. J. M. Marlowe as musical director, was very fine. In the preaching we were ably assisted by Rev. A. McCullen, of Fifth Street, Wilmington. Brother McCullen is a preacher of unusual power and ability. His sermons were strong, logical, eloquent and full of gospel truth. He greatly endeared himself to our people. The meeting resulted in several conversions, reclamations and one accession to the church. The spirit of God was present with us throughout the meeting.

At Scott's Hill, on Thursday night before the fourth Sunday in April, we began our third meeting for this year. We were assisted by Rev. S. E. Mercer, of Red Springs Circuit, and he preached some very forceful, eloquent, logical gospel sermons. He is a preacher of more than ordinary ability—a brilliant future is before him.

My people say that it is the best meeting they have had in many years. Twelve conversions and four valuable accessions to the Methodist Church. The church is wonderfully revived. For all of the good that has been accomplished for God, we give all of the praise. We are glad to be able to report that we are making substantial progress along all lines of church work. We have a loyal, royal, faithful people to serve.

Yours in His name,

Y. E. WRIGHT.

May 7, 1904.

Rockingham District Conference.

The Rockingham District Conference is changed in the place of its meeting from Lumberton to Gibson.

It will convene in the Methodist Church at Gibson, Thursday morning, July 21.

The members of the Conference will please notice the change in time and place.

JOHN N. COLE, P. E.

Rockingham, N. C., May 6, 1904.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

Amount previously reported	$119.85
Dr. E. G. Moore, Elm City, N. C.	5.00
Mrs. Geo. G. Dailey, Vanceyville, N. C., for her deceased brother, Henry L. Cobb.	1.00
Mr. H. B. Lane, Wilson, N. C.	4.00
Dr. S. B. Turrentine, Greensboro, N. C.	1.00
Dr. W. W. Staley, Suffolk, Va.	2.00
Mr. Vitruvius Royster, Raleigh, N. C.	1.00
Hon. S. G. Ryan, Raleigh, N. C.	1.00
Rev. J. M. Rhodes, Littleton, N. C.	5.00
Prof. E. C. Brooks, Raleigh, N. C.	2.00
Prof. J. D. Hodges, Mocksville, N. C.	1.00
Total to date	$142.85
Total amount needed	$500.00

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.
Warrenton District, Rich Square—July 28-August 1.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—Fifth Sunday in July.
Rockhingham District, Gibson—July 21-24.

God reads our character in our prayers. What we love best, what we covet most, that gives the key to our hearts.—T. L. Cuyler.

The Family

A Cure for Spiritual Depression.

Many Christians suffer from depression, and are unnecessarily full of fear and of doubt. Looking too much at themselves, and thinking too much about themselves, and forgetting to look to Jesus Christ and to remember His words and the words of His Father and their Father, such misadjusted souls lose the strength and comfort that are for them hidden in Christ. Ill-health may induce mental depression, and allowing one's mind to linger too long over blunders and sins and sundry misconceptions of truth will account for a great deal of the spiritual depression one meets in pastoral experience. There lies before me now a manuscript recalling a most mournful case of morbidness, gloom, and despair. I cannot perhaps do better than to repeat the substance of my reply to this despondent soul, who had forgotten to "let the dead past bury its dead," and to commit every present burden and responsibility and all future possibilities to His care who careth for us. The response to this letter of sorrow and despair runs in substance as follows:

Do not dwell too much on what you were, or on what you did. What are you now? The question is not, "How do you feel?" Mere feelings are determined very often by present physical conditions or by the immediate environment and atmosphere. Feelings no more indicate the quality of character and the real tendencies of the soul, than do the ripples on the surface of a stream show which way the current moves. What are you? is the important quetsion. Are you a selfish, proud and self-satisfied soul that has no favor to ask of Christ? Do you really rather dislike Him? If the front gate were to open, and you, glancing through the window, were to see Him coming to your door, possibly to spend an hour with you, would you through loathing or apathy or fear run away to hide yourself, and to avoid an encounter? Or would you hurry to meet Him and with brimming eyes and a face full of joy say to Him: "How glad I am to see you!" And I can hear Him reply, "No more glad, my child, than I am to come and to comfort and to strengthen you."

Your letter makes me think of a little flower that is afraid in the early morning that the sun will not shine upon it and send his rays down into the heart of it. "The sun is too great and so far away and I am so little and insignificant," says the flower, "and I can never be of the slightest use to the sun." And you know how the sun sought and penetrated and glorified the little blossom when he came over the hills. Do you not know that no human imagination has yet sounded the depths or measured the resources of God's love for a human soul? Do you not know that Jesus would rather save a human heart frm sin, selfishness and peril than to create a worse?

When I was a boy I once went "forward to the altar" in a church for five consecutive days, for one or two days three times each day. It may have done me some good, I do not know. To thousands of people such a service has been of untold benefit. Perhaps I thought too much of the altar or the act of going. Now simply going to the "altar" or to an "inquiry meeting," or to any other place or thing never saved a soul. It is allowing Christ to come to us and to have His way with us that saves us.

And Christ loves to save. Robertson, of Brighton, once wrote to his brother: "For many years I have been seeking God. But I have just been awakened to the fact that all these years God has been seeking me." That is a precious hymn that begins, "There's a wideness in God's mercy like the wideness of the sea." But God's mercy is wider than the sea. It is the wideness of the universe. And it is Christ who comes to express it. Therefore accept Christ. Read about Him. Think about Him. Rest in Him. Leave everything that concerns yourself with Him. Do not look any longer at yourself. Look at Christ. Let yourself alone. Let your "feelings" and your fears go. Do not trouble yourself about yourself. Spend the rest of your days in submitting to Christ, and you will soon be able to tell people, for their great good, what Christ can do for a soul that rests in Him.

Your letter indicates that you are morbid, or that you have allowed certain doubts about yourself or about the Bible to obscure your vision of Christ. How do you feel toward the timid, trembling, wounded bird that has fallen into your hands? It does me good to think of you as cherishing and soothing the frightened thing! So God feels towards you. Can you imagine a mother going to the beside of a sick and discouraged child, reminding it of all its naughtiness a year ago? See how she comforts it, gently stroking its forehead and kissing its cheek and promising all sorts of sweet and encouraging things! So God feels towards you.

Some things in the Bible trouble you. It is a very mysterious old book—that Holy Bible of ours! Some things in it are figurative. Some things in it relate to the Jews and other peoples and do not immediately apply to us. Some things in it are often misinterpreted. But let all such matters go and look for Christ in the Bible. Do not bother about "difficulties." There are spots on the sun. And there are scars on the face of the moon. But how good and glorious the sun is for light and heat and power! And how beautiful the new moon is, and how glorious the full moon! Let doubts go! Let the critics go. Find Christ—and you have everything! And better than all, be ready and eager to have Him find you!—Bishop John H. Vincent, Zurich, Switzerland.

Breaking the Thrall of the Devil

It is amazing, and quite incomprehensible as we reflect, by what little things the devil can trip and hinder us. He makes small things to appear great, and obstacles, really insignificant in themselves, hard, if not impossible, to overcome.

In the matter of decision for Christ, how trifling, in itself, may be that which thwarts us! We smile and wonder afterwards, but at the time the salvation of our soul, hung in the balance because of it.

During a series of special religious services at C——, a young man of excellent general appearance, came to our services. He gave close attention to the things that were done and said. He came and went, evidently convicted, but, for some reason, did not yield to the Spirit's call. But the time came when he made full surrender.

When all was right with the pardoning Saviour, he gained courage and confidence to tell us this story: On a certain evening he felt that he must and would decide for Christ. Reason was convinced, and the will was ready to yield. When the invitation was given, to express, by rising, or by the uplifted hand, the desire for salvation, he had planned and expected, to at least raise his hand, and thus signify his submission to God. But when he attempted to raise his hand, he could not lift a finger, he seemed powerless to stir hand or foot. He seemed to be paralyzed. And there he sat, listening to the urgent invitation, longing to respond, but unable to do so, and the time and opportunity was rapidly passing. What could he do?

Just then, he said, a fly lit on his face. Without thought, mechanically, he lifted his hand to brush it away, when, lo! that simple movement broke the spell! He discovered that he could move; and so finding the "thrall" broken, he quickly lifted his hand, found his way to the altar of prayer, and went home, rejoicing in divine deliverance. The devil had put his spell upon him, and God sent a fly (less than a "hornet") to deliver His beleaguered son. God can make a worm to thrash a mountain, and cause thousands to flee before a mere sound.

In one of our revival meetings in C——, a converted politician gave his personal experience in escaping the thraldom of sin and Satan. He had attended special services until thoroughly awakened. Though bound by a score of political associations, and by a greater number of political associates, he felt that the opportunity of his life, to seek Christ, had come, and, possibly, his last opportunity to do so. He said, describing the supreme effort to break away from the powers of evil: "For seven evenings I sat with my hands on the seat in front, ready and waiting to pull myself on to my feet, when the invitation to sinners was given. For six nights I failed to do it. When the time came to do so, I could not rise. But on the seventh evening, by a powerful effort, I succeeded in standing on my feet, and when once up, all the rest was easy."

In closing his thrilling rehearsal, he added: "Brethren, I have found the devil's 'last ditch;' it is the hollow of a man's knees!"

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them, and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.00.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following have sent in since May 4:

Rev. R. A. Bruton	1
Rev. F. S. Breeton	1
Rev. J. Y. Old	1
Rev. W. F. Jones	4
Rev. J. M. Lowder	7
B. C. Glover	25
T. W. Mansfield	9
D. B. Parker	3
Direct	2
R. H. Broom	2
Rev. C. W. Robinson	1
Rev. Z. Paris	5

The following represents the number sent in by Districts since May 4:

Fayetteville District	28
New Bern District	10
Washington District	7
Elizabeth City District	5
Warrenton District	4
Durham District	1
Raleigh District	1
Rockingham District	5

Total number sent in since December 1, 1903, 1,198.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH
ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure
THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

Our Boys and Girls

Gibson, N. C., March 26, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old, and go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My Sunday-school teacher is my mama. I love to go to school, and I play base ball and tap. I have two pets, one is a cat and one is a bird. Well, I must close. LIZZIE GIBSON.

Gibson, N. C., March 27, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am going to school. I like to go to school very much. My teacher is Miss Annie McLean. I like her very much. I study geography, grammar, arithmetic, spelling and reading. School will last about two months longer.

Yours truly,
FLETCHER PATE.

Gibson, N. C., March 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. Papa takes the Advocate. I go to Sunday-school. My teacher is Mrs. G. L. Gibson. I go to every-day school to Miss Annie McLean. We all love her dearly. I will ask a question: Who killed his brother?

Your friend,
WILLIE HARGROVE GIBSON.

Gibson, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years old. I go to school every day I can. My teacher is Miss Annie McLean. I study spelling, grammar, geography, history and arithmetic. Our pastor is Mr. G. B. Perry.

I will ask a question: Who was Enoch's wife?

I will close.

Your unknown friend,
JIM PATE.

Mebane, N. C., April 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—This is my first letter to you. I am seven years old, and have been reading the Advocate for some time. I like to read the little folks' letters. My papa is pastor of the Alamance Circuit.

I enjoy going with him to his churches. I have been to all of them but one, and hope to go to that one in May.

I will answer Rommey Owen's question: Methuselah was the oldest man.

WILBUR G. McFARLAND.

Tulls, N. C., March 23, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. My father takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' page evry much. I go to Sunday-school every time I can. I also go to every-day school. My teacher's name is Miss Belle Wimbish. I like her very much. Now, I will close, with best wishes for the orphans.

Your unknown friend,
NELLIE BAXTER.

Gibson, N. C., March 25, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I go to school and have a nice time. I study arithmetic, grammar, spelling and reading. Miss Annie McLean is my teacher. I like her fine. She is a very sweet lady.

I have one sister and one brother. I have for my pets a large yellow cat and some pretty little chicks.

I hope my letter will not reach the waste basket. I will have to close now.

Your little friend,
MILDRED BURNETT GIBSON.

Gibson, N. C., March 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I write you a few lines today. I am going to school, and I study five books. I know my lessons well sometimes. My desk-mate is Tommie Pate, and my teacher is Miss Annie McLean. She makes me stay in when I don't know my lessons well, and she is very strict sometimes. I want this printed in the Advocate so that I can surprise my mama and papa. I will close for this time.

Your friend,
JOEL C. BULLIARD.

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am eight years of age. I have a papa, a mama, and four sisters. I have little twin sisters 15 months old. They are sweet little darlings. I have a dear grandmother, and I love her, but she lives a long distance. I go to school every day. My teacher's name is Miss Embra Morton. We love her because she is very kind to us.

I will close by asking a question. Why was God displeased with Adam and Eve?

If this misses the waste basket I will write again.

Your unknown friend,
JOSEPHINE HILL.

Mebane, N. C., April 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—It has been nearly five years since I wrote to the Advocate, and I am now thirteen years old. I enjoy reading the Advocate very much.

The answer to Alma Winstead's question is found in the 8th chapter, 9th verse of Esther—it has "53 t's" in it.

Leslie Rand asks: "Which is the longest verse in the Bible?" I think it is the 8th chap., and 9th verse of Esther.

What book in the Bible does not mention God's name?

Your friend,
ALICE McFARLAND.

Topsy, N. C., March 29, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy fourteen years old. Papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the childrens' page. I do not go to Sunday-school. It has not begun. It will begin first Sunday in April. I will answer May Belle and Helen S. Jenkins' questions: It was Sampson that carried away the iron gate. Now I will ask one: Who was it that saw four-footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air?

Your unknown friend,
OSCAR N. HAYES.

Mackeys Ferry, N. C., April 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday that I can. Our pastor is Rev. W. F. Craven, and we like him very much. Our Superintendent is Mr. W. S. Davenport. Now I will answer Etta Butt's question. Methuselah was the oldest man. Now I will ask a question: Who was put in a fiery furnace by a wicked king?

I will close by saying I will write again if this escapes the waste basket.

Your unknown friend,
MOLLIE E. HARRIS.

Stedman, N. C., April 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. My mother takes the Advocate. I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. My Superintendent is my father, and my Sunday-school teacher's name is Miss Anna Sessoms. I like her very much. I also go to every-day school. Our pastor is Rev. L. H. Joyner. We were all glad to get him back again. I will close by asking a question: Who was Joseph's father? If this escapes the waste-basket I will write again. With best wishes to the Advocate,

Your little friend,
ANNIE E. MAXWELL.

Gibson, N. C., March 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I live in the little town of Gibson. I am a Sunday-school scholar, and a members of the Bright Jewels. My Sunday-school teacher's name is Mrs. Z. L. Gibson, and we all love her so much. I am going to school at the Gibson school. My school teacher is Miss Annie McLean. She is a sweet young lady, and a good teacher. I study spelling, fourth reader, grammar and arithmetic. I hope you will put my letter in the Advocate. I wish to surprise mama and papa.

Your little friend,
BERNICE WRIGHT.

Chalk Level, N. C., April 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl 13 years old.

Our Sunday-school started today. Papa is our Superintendent. Our pastor is Mr. Starling. We like him fine.

I also go to every-day school.

I have two sisters and three brothers. I have one sister dead.

I will close by asking and answering a question.

I will answer Corrine Blalock's question: Peter was brought out of prison by the angels.

I will ask a question: What relation was Christ's mother and John the Baptist's mother? What relation was Christ and John the Baptist?

Your friend,
MADGIE CADE.

Shiloh, N. C., April 1, 1904.

I am a little girl thirteen years of age. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I go to every-day school. My teacher is Miss Mary A. Forbes, and we all like her very much. I also go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss Alice Barco. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. W. E. Hocutt. This is his fourth year with us. We regret that this is his last year with us. I will answer one of Mamie Hunley's questions: Jesus went to the temple to a feast at Jerusalem. I will ask one: How old was Jesus when he began to preach.

I will close for this time, wishing to see this in print.

Your little friend,
MARY E. FORBES.

R. F. D. No. 1, Milton, N. C.
March 30, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am twelve years of age. Our school has closed. It was conducted by our much-esteemed Miss Martha Taylor. We all enjoy the weekly visits of the Advocate very much. We have no Sabbath-school near enough to attend, which I regret to say. Our pastor, Rev. J. A. Dailey, is much esteemed and loved by us all. I will answer Iryma Waskey's question: the shortest chapter in the Bible is the 117 Psalm. I will ask a question: Which is the longest chapter in the Bible. I inclose five cents for the orphans, with best wishes for you and the orphans, I am

Your little friend,
MAGGIE S. JONES.

Jarvisburg, N. C., March 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I love to read the Advocate and letters of the little girls and boys. My mother and father are both dead. I haven't any brothers, but two sisters, one younger and one older than myself. The oldest is fourteen and the youngest is seven years old. I go to every-day school. My teacher's name is Miss Rosa Gray. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. W. A. Piland. I like him also. I will answer Alston Brooks's and Mamie Hunley's questions: Methuselah was nine hundred and sixty-nine years old, and Elijah went to heaven without dying. I will ask a question: Where was the Bible written? I must close now in fear of the waste-basket. I am

An unknown friend,
MARY W. GALLOP.

Lumberton, N. C., April 2, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. I go to Sunday-school when I can. Our pastor is Rev. Z. Paris. We like him very much.

I have been going to every-day school, but it is out now. My brother takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading it very much. I have three brothers and two sisters living, and a brother and sister dead. My papa and mama are both living. I will answer Mamie Hunley's question: Noah built the ark in a hundred and forty years. Jesus went to Jerusalem when he was twelve years old. God gave the ten commandments on Mt. Sinai. This is my first letter to your paper, and if it escapes the waste-basket I will write again. I will close, wishing to see this in print.

Your little friend,
SUE BELLE POWERS.

A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

Is a necessity for ladies and desirable for men. If troubled with disfigurements in the form of inflamed itching patches, ugly pimples or any other cutaneous trouble, beautify your complexion with Tetterine. One box will do the work. Fragrant, harmless, effective. 50 cents per box at Druggists or by mail from J. T. Shuptrine M'f'r., Savannah, Ga.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to San Francisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1904. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return account Annual Meeting Southern Baptist Convention and Auxiliary Societies. Tickets on sale May 10, 11, 12, 1904. Final return limit 10 days from date of sale. By depositing ticket with Mr. Jos. Richardson, Special Agent, and paying fee of fifty cents, final limit may be extended, but in no case to reach original starting point later than June 6, 1904.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C.
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Mrs. W. B. Lee, who is a faithful helpmeet to her husband in missionary service in Brazil, organized a band of Juveniles, twenty-one in number, four years ago. Now that Society numbers one thousand, and last year it raised seven hundred dollars for the support of a preacher.

We hope this item will attract the attention of our Lady Managers, and will not fail "to provoke to love and to good works."

The matter of using mite boxes for the collection of local expense fund, was discussed and settled at our annual meeting.

The Auxiliaries must construct their own boxes, or any other suitable repository, for the collection of local funds.

The money ingathered by our regular society mite-boxes must be used only for the general missionary fund of the Auxiliary.

When an Auxiliary wants to make one or more life members, and raises the money necessary, the names of the life members must be sent to our Conference Treasurer with the money; then she sends the names to the Conference Corresponding Secretary, with the information that the necessary amount of funds is in hand. The names are sent to "headquarters" by the Conference Corresponding Secretary, through whom the certificates are then forwarded.

There has been some confusion in this matter some times, on account of the "modus operandi" not being fully understood.

With assurances of kindly interest and co-operation from the sisters of the different auxiliaries of our Conference Society, we cheerfully submit to their behest, and undertake another year's oversight of the W. F. M. S. column in the Raleigh Advocate.

To make it an acceptable medium through which our work will be "known and read of all men," our sisters must not forget their duty in sending in their items of news from every department.

We appeal again to our Lady Managers—let us have some notes from our Bright Jewel work at your earliest opportunity.

Those of our Auxiliaries who have not taken up the suggested reading course are depriving themselves of much pleasure and intelligence, and consequently of the interest and progressive work which broad information always achieves.

In our Missionary Advocate attention is called to the "History of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society" by Mrs. F. A. Butler; the "Life and Letters of Laura Askew Haygood," by Mrs. A. E. Brown; and the missionary "Handbook"—all these, with the books forming the regular reading course, if properly read and studied, will bring us the intelligence we so much need in our great work.

As we all know, the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions will hold its twenty-sixth annual session in Jacksonville, Fla.., May 18th. Every member of the auxiliaries of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society, all over our Southland, is requested to pray daily for God's blessing to rest upon each member of the Board and upon every session of its meeting. Have you remembered this request, dear reader? Do you realize your duty—your privilege—in being instrumental in crowning with success this most important occasion? "The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, President of the Conference Society of the Western North Carolina Conference, also President of Greensboro Female College, attended our annual meeting at Elizabeth City, to the great pleasure of her friends, whom she numbers by the score wherever she is known. Her address on the last day of our meeting was replete with interest and with an eloquence born of an earnest, intelligent presentation of her subject: the past, the present and the future of Greensboro Female College. She had attentive auditors, for the majority of the women of our annual meeting were not only friends of Greensboro Female College, but many of them belonged to her Alumnae.

"G. F. C."

Every one knows what these letters stand for; what memories they awaken! What histories they bring before us! How they link the past with the present, of the living and the dead, and how they bind together the affections of the people. And now that the institution is burned, she seems dearer than ever.

No G. F. C. is not; true she has been burned down, but she is not burned to death; she is not dead; she still lives; she lives in the life of all her former pupils; in the affections of the people, and in the great heart of the Methodism of North Carolina.

The Methodists of North Carolina are not going to stand by and let her suffer and die: they will come to her relief and rebuild; they are coming to her help, and when rebuilt she will stand out more beautiful than before; she will enter upon a larger mission, and be more deeply entrenched in the affections of the State.

No, there is nothing else to do but rebuild. We cannot afford not to rebuild; we cannot afford to lose that magnificent property; we cannot afford to lose the tremendous intellectual and moral influence that has ever gone out from this institution.

We cannot compute the loss that would come to us if we fail to rebuild; Methodism and the whole State would feel the loss for scores of years.

The loss would simply be appalling. True, we have other schools, Davenport and Littleton, and they are doing fine work, but we need and must have Greensboro Female College; we cannot get along without her.

She has always stood and stands today for the higher education of our girls and young women; for splendid moral and intellectual culture; for the training of a noble and beautiful womanhood.

We have always needed her, and we need her more than ever to-day. Let Methodism arouse herself and come to the help of this grand old institution.

What we need now is not talk, nor sentiment, nor criticism, nor doubt, but substantial sympathy and help. Those that have gone before us, left us a rich legacy in G. F. C.; let us hand it down to those that are to follow us.

J. R. SCROGGS.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to MRS. R. O. BURTON, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Our Annual Metting.

This column could not contain a full account of our meeting, but you will find it on another page, which Dr. Ivey kindly placed at my disposal. His interest and sympathy make me particularly glad that I called attention to his excellent paper on the Conference floor, and distributed many copies. As you will read, it was a season of refreshing, and much was gained from the encouraging reports of advancement in the work, and the sweet spiritual communion with our earnest, consecrated sisters.

Mrs. E. L. Prince, Our New Conference Treasurer; Mrs. W. H. Speight, Our Retiring One.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Prince, already well known to us, and bespeak fine service from her. We cannot make a better wish than that she may equal in zeal and faithfulness Mrs. Speight, who loves the Home Mission work as much as ever, and will continue it in her Auxiliary; on account of other exacting duties, she declined to be re-nominated. Officers in the Home Mission Society are elected for one year only, and at every Annual Meeting must be re-elected.

Mrs. E. C. Duncan, Edenton. Street Delegate.

Raleigh friends will be particularly glad to hear that Mrs. Duncan's report was a good one. It filled our hearts with gratitude and a desire to do still better this new fiscal year. Mrs. Duncan also contributed much high enjoyment with her beautiful songs.

Two Active and Useful Young Ladies.

I take pleasure in testifying here to the ready and willing service of Miss Flossie Abell and Miss Helen Gillam, who represented two of our best Auxiliaries—Smithfield and Windsor.

Mrs. Luke Johnson, First Board Manager of Literature and Press Department.

As many of you heard at our Conference, this noble woman has been compelled to decline re-election to her high position on account of failure in health. She has been my special help, indeed, inspiration, and I know that you all unite with me in tenderest sympathy for her, and the earnest prayer that she may soon be restored. May her beautiful mantle fall on her successor, of whom I expect to tell you later.

The Part of the Woman's Home Mission Society When the Panama Canal is Opened.

The Board should so plan and regulate its affairs as to be able to fall into line with any advance movement of the Church, and, if it needs must, to take the advance step itself.

The women of the churches should be studying the subject of city missions in all its phases, and prepare themselves for effective service.

The young women should be heeding the call of God and the Church to prepare themselves as deaconesses and city missionaries, for the salvation of their cities and the defence of their own homes.—Our Homes.

NOT A SICK DAY SINCE.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses, I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

LIBERTY MILLS

PRODUCES DAILY 4,000 BARRELS OF Pure Soft Wheat Flour

AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.

Ask Your Grocer.

LIBERTY MILLS, Nashville, Tenn.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new song-book is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, SEC. AND TREAS.,
STAUNTON, VA.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.
Please mention this paper.

Editorial

RIGHT OF WAY FOR THE ORPHANAGE.

We have received so many courtesies at our District Conferences, and our Presiding Elders have conducted these Conferences so faithfully, often under most trying circumstances, that we hesitate even to offer a suggestion. We offer the following suggestion:

The North Carolina Conference is at present engaged in one of the most sacred enterprises which may engage the prayers and active energies of any church and any people—that of establishing a home for the fatherless and motherless children of the State. To "visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction," is the expression and essence of what St. James calls "pure and undefiled religion."

We are now in sight of the fruition of our hopes. Much, however, is to be done before the grand central building can be dedicated. The enterprise must be kept before the eyes and on the hearts of our people.

Now the most favorable place for developing enthusiasm for the Orphanage is at a District Conference. Let the preachers and laymen talk and appeal, and the result will be richly manifest throughout the District. Would it not be a good thing to make the consideration of the Orphanage a special feature at some time during the Conference? Let the preachers and laymen, led by the Superintendent of the Orphanage, thoroughly and enthusiastically discuss the claims of our Orphanage. No one living man can do justice to the demands in a few minutes, when perhaps the congregation are weary and are longing for adjournment. Let us give the Orphanage full "right-of-way" at our District Conferences this year.

A DANGEROUS FLANK MOVEMENT.

What is known as the "flank movement" is very popular with the Devil and his forces. A front attack is less likely to give them the victory.

Mr. Edward Bok, in the May Ladies' Home Journal, claims that the Devil is "flanking" the temperance forces in a very surprising way—that is, by hurling division after division of patent medicine bottles against the right and left wings where the greatest security from the destructive fire of alcohol is assumed to be found. Mr. Bok, in effect, argues that this flank movement is more destructive to the cause of temperance than are the front movements of the whiskey bottles which wear no disguise in the shape of attractive and deluding labels.

We are inclined to believe that there is much truth in what Mr. Bok says.

He publishes a list of thirty-five "remedies," with the percentage of alcohol in each. The figures are astounding. The lowest percentage of alcohol given is 12. Some of them go as high as 47.5. When it is remembered that beer, which God never intended to be made or drunk, contains 5 per cent of alcohol, we must, in the face of the figures given, feel that those who shudder at a beer bottle, to say nothing of a whiskey bottle, and at the same time fondle some patent medicine bottles, are strangely dangerously "straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel." When we calculate how much alcohol is being swallowed daily, especially by American mothers, we cannot wonder that we are rearing recruits for the vast army of drunkards.

It is time for us to rout this specious insidious force which marches in the shape of patent medicine bottles containing, some of them, as much alcohol as whiskey itself. We must turn our attention to this "flank" movement," at the same time repelling the more direct, but not more fatal, front attack.

Mr. Bok contends that the work should begin in the religious papers. It is a terrible indictment which he brings against the religious papers when he says that they furnish the best medium for advertising these medicines containing so much alcohol. Mr. Bok is wrong in this. We have seen occasionally the advertisements of some of these medicines in religious papers, but we must say they are found oftener in secular daily papers. In the name of the religious press, we deny Mr. Bok's charge. It has always been popular to attack the church and any of its agents.

Yet there is no denial of the fact that many religious papers are culpable at the point in question. There is often lacking a careful conscientious cruting of patent medicines admitted into the advertising columns.

While this paper may not be wholly free from unworthy advertisements (for sometimes they deceive for awhile the very elect), yet we are glad to say that of the thirty-five medicines placed by Mr. Bok in his Index Expurgatorius, there is nor one which finds its place in the columns of this paper.

We are in the great fight for temperance, and we cannot ever any more advertise a so-called medicine containing an undue amount of alcohol than we can advertise a saloon or a brand of whiskey.

Let us watch more closely the "flank" movement..

FLORAL ORNAMENTATION OF OUR PARSONAGES.

We trust that our readers, especially the occupants of our parsonages, will keep in mind our recent proposition touching the floral ornamentation of parsonage fronts and yards.

We wish to develop the spirit of parsonage ornamentation.

We saw recently the picture of an old cabin which for years had been an eye-sore to passers-by. We saw another picture of that cabin. The occupant had trained a few vines over the doors and windows and had planted a few annuals in front, and it was difficult to believe it was the same old cabin.

How different some of our parsonages could be made to appear by a little labor and the investment of a few cents. The changed appearance would react beneficially upon every occupant of the parsonage and would be an inspiration to the whole neighborhood. The humblest cottage may be transformed. Try it.

We trust that many in both Conferences have begun to act on our pronosition. If so, be sure to let the editor of this paper have your name at once.

When vines, shrubs, and flowers are at their best, have a photograph or some one in the neighborhood who has a kodak to take a photograph of the parsonage front, and send the same to the editor of the Advocate by October 1.

A competent committee will then pass on the photographs, and the owner of the most artistic parsonage front will receive a prize of $12.50; the owner of the parsonage front ranking second in artistic beauty will receive a prize of $7.50; third a prize of $5.00. The humblest parsonage has an equal chance with the largest and costliest. Artistic, not elaborate, decoration is what is wanted.

Be sure to send in the photographs by October 1st.

Electrotypes of every parsonage whose picture is sent will be made and published.

Now, let there be many responses to this proposition. Write to J. Horace McFarland, President of the American League for Civic Improvement, care Ladies' Home Journal, Philadelphia; tell him what you want, and he, doubtless, will be glad to assist you.

A conference of Protestant ministers in St. Bartholomew's Church in New York City recently adopted a resolution calling upon the ministers to regard the laws of all churches touching upon the remarriage of divorced persons. A memorial was presented to the public on the sanctity of marriage and the evils of divorce.

Methodist Mention

The Warrenton District Conference will convene at Rich Square July 28, and will embrace the following Sunday.

Note in the District Conference Directory the change in time and place of the Rockingham District Conference.

Grace Church, New York, gave a $90,000 Easter offering for the endowment of the church in that down-town district.

Rev. N. E. Coltrane held a very successful meeting during last week at the Cotton Mill Chapel, Smithfield. There were about thirty professions.

The Elizabeth City District and the Raleigh Christian Advocate are indebted to the Tar Heel, Elizabeth City, for a large number of the cuts used in Elizabeth City edition a few weeks ago.

Mr. B. S. Franklin, one of the stewards of Macedonia Church, Rev. N. R. Seabolt, pastor, reports that they have so improved the new building that it looks like a new church. We congratulate the brethren.

It was our pleasure on last Monday to receive a visit from Mr. J. M. Jones, one of the pillars of our Methodism on the Milton Circuit. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Institution for the Blind in Raleigh.

The Weldon News speaks highly of the sermons preached by Rev. G. F. Smith, P. E., at Weldon on the first Sunday in this month. Twenty were received into the church on profession. One was received by certificate.

Rev. J. E. Underwood, P. E., came very near encountering a burglar in his house lately. Somewhat illustrating the "ruling passion strong in death," Elder Underwood was only afraid that his Sunday dinner was gone. We trust that the fear did not materialize.

Dr. A. D. Betts sends us the following note: "Rev. J. F. Smoot, of Salisbury, is visiting his son, Rev. T. A. Smoot, of Fayetteville. He is seventy-three years old, and very feeble. It was a great joy to me to spend a day with him this week. We joined Conference together in 1856. Such changes in these years!"

The appointment of Bishop Candler as the President of the next North Carolina Conference pleases all our people who know anything of Bishop Candler. He will receive a warm welcome from the ministry and laity. The Western North Carolina is equally fortunate in having for President such a Bishop as William Wallace Duncan.

Next Sunday will be a great day for the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Atlanta. On that day the church will be formally dedicated by Bishop Morrison. On the Friday evening before, there will be appropriate services. We congratulate Dr. C. W. Byrd, pastor, and the other Atlanta Methodists. We appreciate very higly the invitation to be present.

The Wilmington Dispatch says that the large congregations are nightly manifesting great interest in the revival services which are in progress at Grace Methodist Church under the direction of the pastor, Rev. N. M. Watson. The service last night was especially interesting, and eighteen persons took a stand for Christ. In all, since the revival began, twenty-nine have accepted the offer of salvation.

The opening on the first Sunday of the new church at Wilson, one of the handsomest in the whole State, was an occasion of joyful interest to the Wilson Methodists. Rev. R. C. Beaman delighted the large overflowing congregations, both morning and evening. We hope to present a picture of the new Wilson church to our readers at an early day. Rev. M. H. Tuttle, of Hertford, has been assisting Rev. A. P. Tyer, the pastor, during the past week.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

Giving the Exhibits for Each District from December 1, 1903, to May 4, 1904.

B. C. Glover	24
Rev. W. H. Moore	1
Rev. J. M. Culbreth	1
Rev. G. B. Starling	1
Rev. G. W. Fisher	9
Rev. N. E. Coltrane	9
Rev. J. O. Guthdie	3
Rev. R. H. Whitaker	4
Rev. G. R. Rood	1
Rev. G. T. Simmons	2
Rev. J. H. Shore	3
Rev. A. L. Ormond	6
Rev. J. D. Pegram	5
Rev. W. H. Puckett	1
From other sources	27
Total	97
Number preachers reporting	13
Number preachers not reporting	6
Number Station preachers reporting	1
Number Circuit preachers reporting	11
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	54
Number sent in	1
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	96
No sent in	45
Preachers sending in the largest number:
Rev. G. W. Fisher	9
Rev. N. E. Coltrane	9

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	10
Rev. F. D. Swindell	1
Rev. G. T. Adams	5
Rev. M. Bradshaw	1
Rev. H. B. Anderson	1
Rev. H. E. Tripp	5
Rev. F. E. Dixon	1
Rev. J. W. Potter	4
Rev. J. E. Saunders	4
Rev. E. C. Sell	6
Rev. E. H. Davis	1
Rev. Philip Greening	3
Rev. W. H. Townsend	4
Rev. D. C. Geddie	2
Rev. F. S. Becton	1
Rev. J. H. M. Giles	7
Rev. R. H. Willis	6
Rev. T. W. Mansfield	3
From other sources	10
Total	75
Number preachers reporting	17
Number of preachers not reporting	6
Number Station preachers reporting	5
Number Circuit preachers reporting	12
Number of subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	48
Number sent in	15
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	102
Number subscribers sent in	40
Preacher sending largest number:
Rev. J. H. M. Giles	7

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	31
Rev. J. M. Lowder	20
Rev. B. H. Black	1
Rev. J. A. Hornaday	3
Rev. L. E. Sawyer	2
Rev. B. E. Stanfield	12
Rev. J. L. Rumley	1
Rev. R. E. Hunt	8
Rev. J. M. Benson	1
Rev. D. L. Earnhardt	6
Rev. R. R. Grant	7
From other sources	18
Total	110
Number preachers reporting	10
Number preachers not reporting	11
Number Station preachers reporting	1
Number Circuit preachers reporting	9
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	36
Number sent in	3
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	114
Number sent in	58
Preacher sending largest number:
Rev. J. M. Lowder	20

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	17
Rev. G. F. Smith	1
Rev. C. W. Robinson	7
Rev. B. C. Allred	5
Rev. L. M. Chaffin	2
Rev. L. L. Nash	9
Rev. W. W. Rose	1
Rev. G. D. Langston	2
Rev. W. B. Humble	1
Rev. R. F. Taylor	5
Rev. J. E. Holden	4
Rev. D. B. Parker	1
Rev. J. G. Johnson	14
Rev. E. E. Rose	7
Rev. J. T. Stanford	14
Rev. W. C. Merritt	72
Rev. P. D. Woodall	2
Rev. B. C. Thompson	38
Rev. R. L. Davis	10
From other sources	13
Total	225
Number preachers reporting	17
Number preachers not reporting	3
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	15
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	24
Number sent in	10
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	126
Number sent in	194
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. W. C. Merritt	72

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	35
Rev. J. H. Hall	1
Rev. C. O. Durant	2
Rev. W. F. Sanford	1
Rev. H. G. Stamey	4
Rev. G. A. Oglesby	6
Rev. W. T. Usry	12
Rev. G. B. Perry	9
Rev. R. A. Willis	6
Rev. N. H. D. Wilson	22
Rev. S. E. Mercer	25
Rev. J. W. Bradley	32
Rev. Z. Paris	16
Rev. J. M. Ashby	6
From other sources	9
Total	186
Number preachers reporting	13
Number preachers not reporting	3
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	11
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	12
Number sent in	7
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	138
Number sent in	135
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. J. W. Bradley	32

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	12
Rev. Alpheus McCullen	2
Rev. A. B. Haltom	2
Rev. Y. E. Wright	2
Rev. V. A. Royall	2
Rev. W. D. Sasser	1
Rev. C. C. Brothers	7
Rev. A. S. Barnes	1
Rev. A. J. Groves	6
Rev. W. E. Brown	10
Rev. J. J. Porter	2
Rev. N. H. Guyton	7
Rev. J. M. Marlowe	1
From other sources	24
Total	79
Number preachers reporting	12
Number preachers not reporting	9
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	10
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	32
Number sent in	4
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	118
Number sent in	39
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. W. E. Brown	10

DURHAM DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	22
Rev. J. T. Gibbs	5
Rev. W. L. Cuninggim	6
Rev. E. M. Hoyle	1
Rev. N. C. Yearby	1
Rev. M. D. Giles	2
Rev. Rufus Bradley	1
Rev. K. D. Holmes	3
Rev. J. A. Dailey	1
Rev. J. H. McCracken	8
Rev. D. N. Caviness	7
Rev. C. M. Lance	2
From other sources	10
Total	69
Number preachers reporting	10
Number preachers not reporting	7
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	8
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	46
Number sent in	7
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	104
Number sent in	25
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. J. H. McCracken	8

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	11
Rev. T. A. Smoot	4
Rev. C. A. Jones	7
Rev. E. R. Welch	12
Rev. L. H. Joyner	6
Rev. G. W. Starling	51
Rev. E. M. Snipes	3
Rev. R. A. Bruton	1
Rev. J. H. Frizelle	1
Rev. R. W. Bailey	3
Rev. J. C. Humble	5
Rev. R. H. Broom	17
Rev. J. W. Hoyle	20
Rev. S. T. Moyle	1
Rev. E. Pope	5
Rev. A. D. Betts	11
Other sources	10
Total	168
Number preachers reporting	15
Number preachers not reporting	3
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	13
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	12
Number sent in	11
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	138
Number sent in	126
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. G. W. Starling	51

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

B. C. Glover	16
Rev. J. E. Underwood	1
Rev. D. H. Tuttle	3
Rev. H. M. North	2
Rev. W. F. Jones	6
Rev. W. E. Hocutt	15
Rev. J. Y. Old	2
Rev. W. A. Piland	10
Rev. W. H. Brown	5
Rev. T. J. Dailey	15
Rev. F. L. Church	7
Rev. W. F. Craven	12
Rev. William Towe	1
Rev. A. J. Parker	19
Rev. W. O. Davis	1
Rev. W. F. Galloway	3
Rev. W. P. Constable	1
From other sources	9
Total	128
Number preachers reporting	15
Number preachers not reporting	6
Number Station preachers reporting	2
Number Circuit preachers reporting	13
Number subscribers due from Station preachers in proportion to membership	27
Number sent in	5
Number subscribers due from Circuit preachers in proportion to membership	123
Number sent in	97
Preacher sending in largest number:
Rev. A. J. Parker	19

SUMMARY.

Number pastors reporting	107
Number pastors not reporting	54
Total number new subscribers reported	1,137

Concerning the value of personal work in winning souls for Christ, the late Dr. H. Clay Trumbull once wrote: "I have been for more than twenty-five years an editor of a religious periodical that has had a circulation of more than 100,000 a week during much of the time. Meanwhile I have published more than thirty different volumes. Yet, looking back upon my work, in all these years, I can see more direct results of good through my individual efforts with individuals than I can know of through all my spoken words to thousands upon thousands of persons in religious assemblies, or all my written words."

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE
DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE LITERARY EVANGELICAL
ALL FOR CHRIST
EDITED BY REV. W. B. ANDERSON.

The Commitee's Work.

In the Epworth League much depends upon the work of committees and on the business meeting. Too great stress cannot be laid upon careful preparation, and presentation of the reports. No business meeting may be considered a success in which indifferently prepared reports, filled with meaningless sentences, are read to listless hearers.

We have been scanning the few exchanges we have at our command for helpful thoughts on the work of committees. We find the following on Committee Reports in the American Messenger and give it in full:

A good committee report will contain at least four items:

1. What the committee planned to do.
2. The success attending the plans.
3. What remains to be done.
4. Suggestions to the Society of ways in which each member can assist in the work.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF COMMITTEES.

Members of committees ought to be made to realize the responsibility which rests upon them. Committees are appointed to simplify and systematize the work of the society. Since all similar items of business are referred to the corresponding committees, it can readily be seen that if a committee is indifferent, the entire work in that department will be neglected. And, in a general way, it can be said that the society as a body only learns of the progress of the work of a committee through the reports presented at the business meetings. The very tone of a report may determine the attitude of the society toward a given object. Frequently a most worthy appeal is killed in committee simply because the members thereof did not have the disposition to work, whereas if an enthusiastic report had been presented, and earnestly supported by the committee, the recommendations would have been unanimously adopted. One of the most unfortunate occurrences in the appointment on an important committee, such as that of missions, for instance, of a chairman who is not in sympathy with the cause, or who does not have the real spirit of missions in his heart. A half-hearted and dispiriting report often results in the defeat of a most worthy and extremely urgent appeal.

THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS.

The preparation of a committee report should not be left entirely to the chairman. If the writing of the report (as it generally does) falls to the chairman, it should be prepared after a conference with the members of the committee. The recommendations to the society should be made only after the most earnest and prayerful consideration, and should be presented as conscientiously as a jury would return a verdict. If Paul was prompted to say concerning himself, "Woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel," every member of an important committee into whose hands is entrusted a part of the Lord's work might well say, "Woe is unto me, if I do not defend and promote the gospel."

NATURE OF A COMMITTEE REPORT.

A committee report dare not be the personal opinion merely of the members of the committee, but should reflect, and be the embodiment of the sentiment in the society which is in sympathy and in hearty support of the extension of the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. In the consideration of a special appeal a member of the committee to whom it is referred does not act for himself in the sense in which he would dispose of his own private business affairs, but must look at the matter from a purely disinterested point of view. He is attending to the Lord's business, and selfishness, or personal likes and dislikes, have no place in committee meetings. In other words, one member of the society cannot speak authoritatively for all the rest. It is no question whether or not he is in sympathy with the proposed movement, but whether it is in accord with the spirit of the Master and in the interests of His kingdom.

The responsibility of the members of committees and the importance of presenting reports well written and giving evidence of deep consecration and earnestness are two considerations, the value of which cannot be over-estimated.—Rev. Albert S. Bromer.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.

Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.

E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes:

"Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."

For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.

LONGMAN & MARTINEZ,
Manufacturers, New York.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs. Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

HICKS' CAPUDINE
NEVER FAILS TO CURE.
HEADACHES AND COLDS
The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.
At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES
VIA
Seaboard Air Line Railway
TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for May 15, 1904.

The Prodigal Son.

(Luke 15: 11-24.)

Golden Text: Come, and let us return unto the Lord. (Hosea 6: 1.)

The parable of the Prodigal Son is peculiar to Luke. It was delivered during the Perean ministry of Jesus, not long after his exhortation to watchfulness, and may be appropriately treated as a story in seven chapters.

1. At Home.—First we see the picture of a comfortable home, with father and two sons. The father, we know to be a kind and loving disposition, yet the younger of the two sons becomes discontented, and finally asks for the portion of his father's estate which would eventually be his, a request sanctioned by Oriental usage, which is accordingly granted to him, and he receives his portion, which by Deuteronomic regulation would be one-half of his elder brother's share, or one-third of the whole estate. (Deut. 21: 17.)

2. The Departure.—Having obtained his patrimony, the younger son now leaves the paternal roof, and goes forth into a far country, wilfully abandoning the safety and security of his home that he may taste of the pleasures of a life unrestrained by any moral influences.

3. In a Foreign Land.—Next we see the prodigal wasting his substance in riotous living, but soon his means are exhausted, and at length a great famine stalks forth in the land.

4. A Swincherd Ill at Ease.—It has been well remarked that the prodigal, though he had spent his fortune lavishly did not make for himself a single friend. When the famine came, there was no one to befriend him, and he was plunged into misery. No deeper degradation could be suggested than is expressed by the mere fact that he was sent to feed swine.

5. Awakening Repentance.—At last the prodigal comes to a turning point in his downward career. His first thought is of the difference between his father's hired servants, who have an abundance to eat, and himself, ready to perish with hunger. He soon rises however from the thought of his mere physical straits to an appreciation of his moral obliquity, for he says to himself, "I have sinned against heaven."

6. The Return of the Prodigal.—Very touching is the recital of the return of the wanderer. He comes back in a penitent frame of mind, and ere he reaches his home, his father comes to welcome him back with gracious and kindly words.

7. The Episode of the Elder Brother.—The story of the elder brother is thought by some to form a separate parable. It is not included in our lesson and therefore need not be considered here, but it has lessons of value, pre-eminent among which is its warning against self-righteousness.

Teachings of this Parable.—The Parable of the prodigal son has been studied so often that it were idle to expect to suggest any new lessons to be drawn from it, save as there are certain eternal truths which are old and yet ever new. This parable teaches the infinite love of our heavenly Father and the welcome which awaits every repentant sinner who turns from his sin and comes unto God. May it reveal to many this very day the way of eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

CURES ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES AND CARBUNCLES.—COST NOTHING TO TRY.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is now recognized as a certain and sure cure for eczema, itching skin, humors, scabs, scales, watery blisters, pimples, aching bones or joints, boils, carbuncles, prickling pain in the skin, old, eating sores, ulcers, etc. Botanic Blood Balm taken internally, cures the worst and most deep-seated cases by enriching, purifying and vitalizing the blood, thereby giving a healthy blood supply to the skin. Botanic Blood Balm is the only cure, to stay cured, for these awful, annoying skin troubles. Heals every sore and gives the rich glow of health to the skin. Builds up the broken down body and makes the blood red and nourishing. Especially advised for chronic, old cases that doctors, patent medicines and hot springs fail to cure. Druggists, $1.00. To prove B. B. B. cures, sample sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble, and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15. 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

DOESN'T RESPECT OLD AGE.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

Marvelous Cure Made by Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

Don't Use the Knife Until You Try the Remedy.

Dear Mrs. Joe Person:—I want to tell what Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy has done for my family. About four years ago our son was taken with white swelling in his left leg, between the knee and ankle. He suffered a great deal and his leg discharged freely. Nothing did him any good. When it had been running about six months, we had three doctors to come and perform an operation. They split his leg to the bone from just below the knee nearly to the instep a split six inches long. Then they scraped the bone and cut away all decayed flesh. In a few months that cut healed up, but the two holes came back in the same places, and discharged just like they did before the leg was cut. This continued about a year and a half, when we began to use a salve that healed his leg. Last May, twelve months ago, it broke out again in the same place, and the doctor decided to take him to the hospital, when Mrs. Joe Person came to see me. She advised me to give him her Remedy and use her Wash and not to have his leg cut again. I followed her directions carefully, and in three months his leg was entirely well. Now he is just as well and healthy looking as he can be. I can't say enough for Mrs. Person's Remedy. It is the best medicine I have ever taken and I have taken much. I gave the "Remedy" to my little daughter for throat trouble. She had had it for five years, and now she is well. It cured my youngest child of catarrh in the head. Now I want to tell you how it helped me. I have been almost an invalid for ten years, not able to sit up all day much of the time. I had a weak heart and weak stomach, constipated bowels, and every other ill you could imagine. I was so easy to take cold I had to stay in the house all winter, would have a terrible cough that some winters would last me three months. I was sure I had consumption. Since I have been taking Mrs. Person's Remedy, I have only had a very slight cold twice. I feel so much better and hope to continue to improve. I reckon I have taken and given to my children fifty bottles of the Remedy. My house is never clear of it. I believe the Lord is with her in her work. She has, with His help, cured so many poor suffering ones. I hope the Lord will continue to bless her and her patients.

MRS. V. L. STEPHENS.
Dunn, N. C., June 8, 1903.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.

NO CHARGE.

(Established 1891.)

"TO LADIES ONLY."
If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2 cent stamp for postage.
Address MRS. J. M. TURNER, Box 17, Monroe, Ga.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

DON'T
give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.
Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class	First-Class	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class	Second-Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 26	S.....†Carleigh Mills...	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Harwee	9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby	9 14	6 00
8 18	4 52	M.....†McCULLERS.....	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 50
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins.....	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs...	8 10	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 35	5 26	S...† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley	8 06	4 06
10 18	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.25 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.

C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

'Phones 117.

Secular News

STATE.

Daniel J. Sully has admitted that his firm is bankrupt.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows is in session at Durham this week.

The Supreme Court this week is hearing appeals from the Buncombe District.

May 10th was generally observed throughout the State as Confederate Memorial Day.

Postmaster Tyre Glenn has secured an allowance for a sub-station of the Greensboro postoffice.

Madison County Republicans have endorsed Hon. Hezekiah Gudger for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Mr. Stedman and Mr. Glenn seem to be in the lead in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

The banks of Raleigh established a clearing house April 1st, and the total amount of business done during that month was $1,111,712.

Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young paid into the State treasury on last Monday $31,690, which amount represents the collections by the Commissioner during the month of April.

Mrs. E. E. Moffitt, of Raleigh, has been elected a member of the national board of regents of the Daughters of the Revolution. The national convention will be held next year at Asheville.

Sheriff Jordan, of Guilford County, Saturday morning made the startling and fortunate discovery that thirty-eight of the fifty-eight inmates of the county jail, awaiting trial at this week's term of Criminal Court, were in a fair way to escape.

John P. Kerr, of the board of penitentiary directors, says the board has bought as an investment $58,500 of penitentiary bonds, 4 per cent, paying for these $61,425. Some of these are bonds issued for the purchase of the farm, while others are bonds issued to pay the penitentiary debt.

GENERAL.

Peaches are being shipped from Georgia.

The Southern States are producing half the lumber cut in America.

Public benefactions in America during 10 years aggregate $610,410,000.

Dowager Queen Margherita of Italy has a lace handkerchief worth $10,000.

Louisiana Republicans will send an entire white delegation to the Chicago convention.

The United States has been given a deed to the Panama canal by the Panama Canal Company.

The Naval Court of Inquiry finds that no one was to blame for the explosion on the battleship Missouri.

The reach of a searchlight for practical use is 700 yards, but torpedoes can be used effectively from 1,200 to 4,000 yards.

Speaker Cannon, of the House, declares he would not accept the nomination for the Vice-Presidency under any circumstances.

According to a magazine devoted to engineering the Yukon river, which is 2,400 miles in length, is navigable by steamer for over 2,000 miles.

The Hereros, who the Germans are now fighting in southwest Africa, number 20,000 fighting men of a class far superior to most of the African native races.

Beatrice Ross, of New York, wants $5,000 damages from a vapor shower bath manufacturer because he used her picture in an advertisement, showing her seated in a bathtub with her head and shoulders exposed to view.

The Tamarack copper mine, in the Lake Superior region, is said to be the deepest shaft in the world. It is now down 4,973 feet. The same company has another shaft which comes within 35 feet of being as deep as the Tamarack.

Within the past three years the export of pig iron from Germany to the United States has jumped from 5,939 tons in 1901 to 128,980 tons in 1903. Excepting Belgium, the United States is Germany's best customer in this line.

Dr. Dawson Burns has published his annual analysis of England's drink bill. The total amount of the expenditure on spirits, wine and beer during 1903 was £174,445,271, a decrease of over £5,000,000, as compared with the figures for 1902.

An official document has just been issued by the Italian government dissuading skilled mechanics from emigrating to the United States, as it is expected that the industrial prospect of this country will be much depressed in the near future and the number of unemployed enormously increased.

EATEN BY MICROBES.

This expression exactly describes the condition of the skin when attacked by many forms of skin diseases. It is a horrid idea but perfectly true. To eradicate these disease germs and restore a healthy skin, use Tetterine, an infallible cure for tetter, ring worm, itch and all forms of skin diseases. 50 cents per box at all druggists or by mail from J. T. Shuptrine, Mfr., Savannah, Ga.

NOTICE!

I want every man and woman in the United States interested, either for themselves or friends, in the cure of Opium and Whiskey habits to have one of my books on these diseases. Address DR. B M. WOOLEY, Atlanta, Ga., Box 389, and one will be sent you free.

Summer School
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Monday, June 13th—Saturday, July 9th, 1904.

Unexcelled advantages for methods of teaching, broadening of scholarship, and special study in all branches from kindergarten to advanced course. 26 instructors. Board and lodging $10.00 for the term of four weeks. Incidental fee $5.00. Reduced railroad rates. Write for catalogue.

FRANCIS P. VENABLE, President.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.

If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say.

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle. Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for druggists. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

Chronic Sores
Eating Ulcers
A Constant Drain Upon the System.

Nothing is a source of so much trouble as an old sore or ulcer, particularly when located upon the lower extremities where the circulation is weak and sluggish. A gangrenous eating ulcer upon the leg is a frightful sight, and as the poison burrows deeper and deeper into the tissues beneath and the sore continues to spread, one can almost see the flesh melting away and feel the strength going out with the sickening discharges. Great running sores and deep offensive ulcers often develop from a simple boil, swollen gland, bruise or pimple, and are a threatening danger always, because while all such sores are not cancerous, a great many are, and this should make you suspicious of all chronic, slow-healing ulcers and sores, particularly if cancer runs in your family. Face sores are common and cause the greatest annoyance because they are so persistent and unsightly and detract so much from one's personal appearance. Middle aged and old people and those whose blood is contaminated and tainted with the germs and poison of malaria or some previous sickness, are the chief sufferers from chronic sores and ulcers. While the blood remains in an unhealthy polluted condition, and the sore will continue to grow and spread in spite of washes and salves, for the sore is the outward sign of some constitutional disorder, a bad condition of the blood and system, which local remedies cannot cure. A blood purifier and tonic is what you need—something to cleanse the blood, quicken the circulation and invigorate the constitution, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. It counteracts and removes from the blood all the impurities and poisons, and gradually builds up the entire system; and when the blood has been purified the healing process begins and the ulcer or sore is soon entirely gone. S. S. S. contains no mineral or poisonous drugs of any description, but is guaranteed purely vegetable, a blood purifier and tonic combined and a safe and permanent cure for chronic sores and ulcers. If you have a slow-healing sore of any kind, external or internal, write us about it, and our physicians will advise you without charge. Book on "The Blood and its Diseases" free.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they closed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctor intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again, and some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred.

JOHN W. FUNDIS,
Care Schmulbach Brewing Co.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

WHITE GOODS FOR SUMMER WEAR.

For warm weather dresses, nothing looks cooler and daintier than white and our patterns this year are entrancingly beautiful

DIRIGO NOVELTIES
28 inches wide, with a lace stripe, 12½c yard.
FIGURED PIQUE
27 inches wide, 25c and 39c yard.
STRIPED MADRAS
32 inches wide, 25c yard.
Fine White India Lawns, 40 inches wide..12½c.
White Persian Lawn, 42 inches wide.....25c
White Organdies, 60 inches wide..40, 50, 60c.
French Batiste, 40 inches wide.....25, 29, 50c.
India Linons, 32 inches wide.....12½, 17, 20c.
Damask Waisting .....25c.
Long Cloth, 12 yards to a piece, $1.19 per piece.
Write us for samples.

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

BUY THE BOOK YOU WILL READ! SELL THE BOOK THE PEOPLE WILL BUY!
GOOD AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE. LIBERAL TERMS. WRITE TO-DAY.

Fast Selling Book. Tells how many church members travel with the world, and vividly sets forth the fatal compromise with sin. It is a keen rebuke to the spirit of worldliness in the church, and should inspire the reader to a life full of consecration to Christ. New and fascinating. SELLS EASILY. Get a copy for yourself. After reading it, show it to your make a regular canvass for two months and earn from $5 to $10 per day. No experience required. 350 pages, 18 illustrations. Cloth, $1; half morocco, $1.50. Send $1 for complete book, postpaid, and ask for our special terms to good agents.

REX MANUFACTURING CO., Dept. B, P. O. Box 393, Nashville, Tenn.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:
REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

☞Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Receipts Up to April 30.

Cokesbury, $12.72; little Ava Richardson Strickland, window, $2.00; Warrenton S. S., $15.00; Lumberton S. S., $11.15; Magnolia S. S., $4.16; Laurinburg S. S., $20.00; Roper S. S., $5.00; Nash's Chapel S. S., $12.50; Marvin S. S., Rocky Mount Easter off., $10.00; Red Springs S. S., $2.50; Plymouth S. S., $2.25; Oak S. S., Easter off., $2.50; Shallotte S. S., $2.85; Parkers S. S., $5.00; Pittsboro S. S., $5.15; Smithfield S. S., $5.00; Louisburg S. S., Easter off., $10.11; Grifton S. S., $6.00; Gibson S. S., $2.50; St. John's S. S., $2.50; Roper S. S., $5.00; Miss Lama Breeze on Floyd prop., $5.00; Roper on subs., $1.00; Red Springs, $3.00; Mrs. A. V. Darnall, $1.00; Rev. Claude Gower, $1.00; W. C. and Walter Burney on subs., $1.90; H. Cole, $5.00; Mrs. W. H. Dail, $28.00; Wesley's Chapel, Franklinton Ct., $8.00; Trinity, Robeson Ct., $6.65; A. G. Headen, $4.00; Rev. W. W. Rose on subs., $5.00; Cary, $11.25; Apex, $2.00; Ebenezer, Columbia Ct., Easter off., $7.00; Mrs. T. A. Smoot's S. S. class, window, $4.00; A Methodist, $200.00; Mrs. L. S. Woodhouse, $3.00; Sarah and Harrell Woodhouse, window, $2.00; J. W. Goodson, on subs., $5.00; Raeford, $5.00; Bowmore, $8.40; Greenville, $52.35; Mrs. Annie W. Page, $5.00; Red Springs, $5.60; Epworth Church, Raleigh, $7.50; Mrs. Fred A. Woodard on subs., $500.00; Mount Pleasant, $7.95; Mann's Chapel, $5.55; Bynum, $2.07; Miss Attie McArthur, (window, $4.00), $5.00; L. Harvey on subs., $50.00; Charles W. Bagley on subs., $2.00; T. W. Maxwell, window, $4.00; Wesley's Chapel, Newton Grove Ct., $1.25; Edenton S. S., $15.11; Englehard S. S., $3.38; Little Creek church, $3.01; Rev. L. L. Nash on subs., $5.00; Rev. R. D. David on subs., $2.50; Barnard Stainback on subs., $2.00; two sisters, $2.00; Rev. H. M. North on subs., $5.00.

Donations in Kind up to April 30.

Ground peas, Conway Circuit; box of dry goods from Alice Bryan Hall; sweet potatoes, from May Douglas, Evelyn Gertrude and A. McA. Council, Jr.; fruit trees, from Mrs. Ormond; fruit trees, from W. H. Davis; one quilt, from Mrs. N. R. Smith; clothes, from Mrs. Saunders; bees, from Mr. George Mitchiner; bulbs, from Newberry & Co.; plow, from Mr. J. H. Gill; butter beans, from Mrs. C. E. Saunders; box of fish, from Swindell Bros., of Washington; three boxes of fish, from Bro. E. B. Moore, of Washington; box of fish from Swindell & Fulford, Washington; clothes, from W. H. M. Society, of New Bern; clothes, from Mrs. N. G. Whitfield's class; clothes, from Mrs. J. LeGrand Everett; $5.00, from Pinebur Society, Chapel Hill; $5.00, from W. H. M. Society, of Smithfield; clothes, from Aid Society of Washington; clothes, from W. H. M. Society, of Windsor; clothes, from W. H. M. Society, of Wilmington; barrel of fish, from Mr. Smith, of Hog Island.

A prayer cannot be genuine that does not lead to work.

You cannot satisfy your infinite soul with a finite reward.

A NOTRE DAME LADY.

I will send free, with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure of Leucorrhœa, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Scanty or Painful Periods, Tumors or Growths, Hot Flashes, Desire to Cry, Creeping feeling up the Spine, Pain in the Back, and all Female Troubles, to all sending address. To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a Successful Home Treatment. If you decide to continue it will only cost about 12 cents a week to guarantee a cure. Tell other sufferers of it, that is all I ask. If you are interested, write now and tell your suffering friends of it. Address, Mrs. M. Summers, Box 238 Notre Dame, Ind.

Monteagle Assembly.
Opens July 22nd, Closes August 30th.

Longest session in its history. Program has the following celebrities: Miss Clara Morris the great Emotional Actress, James Young, actor and impersonator, Rev. Sam Jones, ex Governor R. L. Taylor, Bertha Kunz Baker and many others of the very best. Splendid orchestra entire season. Lovely cottages for rent. Hotel and boarding houses, reasonable rates. Write for full program to

M. B. PILCHER, Gen. Man.,
Monteagle, Tenn.

MORPHINE
OPIUM, WHISKEY AND ALL DRUG HABITS
CURED WITHOUT PAIN AT YOUR HOME.

If you are addicted to these habits you think you will quit it. You won't; you can't unaided, but you can be cured and restored to your former health and vigor without pain or the loss of an hour from business at a moderate cost. The medicine builds up your health, restores the nervous system to its normal condition; you feel like a different person from the beginning of treatment, LEAVING OFF THE OPIATES AFTER THE FIRST DOSE. You will soon be convinced and fully satisfied in your own mind that you will be cured.

Mr. T. M. Brown, of Queen, Ark., says: "Over seven years ago I was cured of the opium habit by your medicine, and have continued in the very best of health since."

Dr. W. M. Tunstall, of Lovingston, Va., says: "I am glad to say that I firmly believe that I am entirely and permanently cured of the Drink Habit, as I have never even so much as wanted a drink in any form since I took your eradicator, now eighteen months ago. It was the best dollars I ever invested."

Mrs. Virginia Townsend, of Shreveport, La., writes: "No more opium. I have taken no other remedy than yours, and I make no mistake when I say my health is better now than it ever was in my life, and I owe it to you and your remedy. It has been twelve years since I was cured by your treatment."

For full particulars, address DR. B. M. WOOLEY, 339 Lowndes Building, Atlanta, Ga., who will send you his book on these diseases FREE.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure inte nal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment" but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

THIS IS A
RED CEDAR PAIL..
That has seen twenty-two years of Hard Service and having been thoroughly repaired is now ready for 22 more.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
PREWITT-SPURR MFG. COMPANY,
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.
If your supply house does not carry them in stock, write us giving name of your Supply House.

PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
Nashville, Tenn.

Summer Session: June 8- August 3, 1904. 20 courses especially for Teachers. 10 secondary School Courses. 25 College Courses. Only charge $5.00. Railroad rates, One fare for round trip plus 25 cents. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20; July 3, 4, 5. Write for information.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.
Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by
Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to

F. E. CLARK, Trav. Pass'r Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.
J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C
SECOND ROUND.
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WARRENTON DISTRICT.
G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbury, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Elizabeth, Singletary, April 30, May 1
Magnolia, Rose Hill, May 7, 8
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow, Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union, May 28, 29
New River, Stead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.
F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Pamlico, Barnes, April 16, 17
Oriental, Smith Creek, April 23, 24
Mount Olive Circuit, Providence, April 30 to May 1
Dover, Dover, May 7-8
Snow Hill, Mount Herman, May 14-15
Stralts, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit, May 23-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8.
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.
John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Robeson, Bethesda, April 16, 17
Aberdeen, Asbury, April 23, 24
Pekin, Sardis, April 30, May 1
Mt. Gilead, Troy, May 7, 8
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Mattamuskeet, April 30 and May 1
Fairfield (night) May 1
Nashville, York (night), May 7, 8
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.
J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
West Durham, April 17, 18
Durham, Mangum Street, April 18, at night
Leasburg Circuit, at Bethel, April 23, 24
Alamance Circuit, at Lebanon, April 30, May 1
Yanceyville Circuit, at Locust Hill, May 7, 8
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22
THIRD ROUND.
Roxboro Ct., Oak Grove, May 27
Durham Ct., Orange Factory, May 28, 29
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Clayton, Mt Zion, April 30th, May 1
Milbrook, Oak Grove May 7, 8
Brooklyn, at night, May 8
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 26
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29
THIRD ROUND.
Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Central, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Kenly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 6
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

CIVILS.—Vincent Civils, who lived ten miles from Kinston, N. C., died April 10, 1904. He was about eighty years of age, and had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, twenty years. Brother Civils leaves an aged wife and other relatives to mourn their loss. But we believe our brother sleeps in Jesus, and pray that they may be sustained by God's grace here, and at last meet in heaven. D. C. GEDDIE.

WOOLARD.—Aaron Woolard was born in Beaufort County February 11, 1845, and died January 20, 1904, aged fifty-eight years, eleven months and nine days. He was converted in early manhood and joined the Methodist Church at Asbury, of which he remained a consistent member till God called him to join the Church Triumphant in heaven. He was married to Miss Sarah E. McKeel, February 24, 1875. To them five children were born, two of whom preceded him to the better land in their infancy. He leaves a wife, three daughters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. He loved the church and took great delight in attending and in taking part in divine service. He loved his family, and instructed them carefully. His pastor, Rev. D. A. Futrell, conducted the funeral services and laid the body to rest at Asbury church, which he loved so well.

ANNIE E. WOOLARD.

MARR.—Little Mamie, the dear little fifteen-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Marr, of Hope Mills, sweetly passed away to the land of perpetual peace Sunday morning, April 24, 1904. Though her stay was transient, yet her little life was a blessing to all who knew her. Though a sufferer nearly all her days, she was ever the same bright sunshiny little innocent. She has gone. Aching hearts long to hear her little prattle, and the pit-a-pat of little feet just learning to walk, but verily, she is a treasure laid up in heaven. May He who so loved the children as to take them into His arms and bless them, pour into the sad hearts the fullest comforts of His grace.

In beautiful Oakwood, Raleigh, April 25th, we laid her to rest under the shade of the trees.

E. R. WELCH.

ALBRITTON.—Mattie E. Albritton, wife of B. F. D. Albritton, of Hookerton, Greene County, N. C., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Edwards, of Ayden, Pitt County, N. C., was born November 2, 1878, and died February 3, 1904.

She was married February 18, 1903, to Mr. B. F. D. Albritton, of Greene County, a man of high character and earnest devotion to all interests of both his church and his State. Their union was a most happy one, as nature and grace seemed to have fitted each for the other.

Her sickness was severe, having suffered intensely for seven long weeks. She bore it all with Christian fortitude and never murmured. May her felicity in the kingdom of God be measured by the depth and intensity of her suffering here. We shall miss her, but memory will ever hold her precious life in a golden casket.

She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Hookerton in early childhood. She was always a Christian, having been trained by pious parents, the principles of the Christian religion were early instilled into her youthful heart and she continued to grow and develop until ripe for the harvest. Hers was a life of unselfishness. She was an obedient child, kind to her parents, devoted and affectionate to her husband, a loving and sympathetic sister, a true friend, and one who won the love and esteem of every one who knew her. The whole community mourns her untimely death. What a breach has her transit made in that happy little family circle. The home has been so sad and lonely to the bereaved husband. It seems full of mystery now that one so young, so fair, so beloved, and full of bright promises for the future, should be snatched away so suddenly. Why Mattie was taken from us at such a beautiful stage of life, we cannot understand, but it is so consoling to think that our God makes no mistakes. She leaves a husband, father, mother, two brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss. May they all meet her in the great beyond, and thus as one unbroken family, "be forever with the Lord." A FRIEND.

Dr. John Wesley Jones.

Dr. Jones was born in Edgecombe County, September 31, 1831, and died at the home of his son in Tarboro, January 28, 1904.

He began his preparatory training at old Louisburg Academy under the lamented Dr. Turner M. Jones; then at the University, from which he entered the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated M. D. in 1857. After graduation he spent a year and a half in Europe in professional study; upon returning to America he established himself in general practice in Tarboro, giving especial attention to surgery and a few other specialties. He served his profession with honor and distinction as President of the State Medical Society; was elected as Examiner on the State Examination Board for six years, and was correspondent for several medical journals.

During the Civil War he was an assistant surgeon in the Confederate army.

Dr. Jones was a man of intelligence and energy, and possessed the faculty for bringing things to pass which commanded success. He established a reputation for integrity and ability and became a man of mark in connection with various financial institutions and county medical associations.

He lived by Christian principles on a Christian plan, preserving amid worldly affairs a devout spirit and a soul in sympathy with holy things, dignifying and safe-guarding life by seeking "first the kingdom of God and His righteousness."

He was a strong, devoted church man. From its beginning, he had been to St. James M. E. Church, South, a strong pillar, a capable leader and an ardent lover, giving unstintedly, prayers and labor, counsel and money.

For years he was chairman of the Board of Trustees, member of the Board of Stewards, and a faithful teacher of boys in the Sabbath school.

While nature was carpeting earth and festooning bough of evergreen with her snowy mantle, was his body borne by loving hands to rest beside the dust of loved ones gone before, followed by members of the medical fraternity, Daughters of the Confederacy, Camp of Confederate Veterans and many other friends.

Funeral services were conducted by the writer.

R. C. CRAVEN.

February 16, 1904.

The question as to whether you will measure up to your great task twenty years from now is not to be decided then; it is being decided now by the way you are measuring up to-day's tasks.

SUFFERED A THOUSAND DEATHS

Five Physicians had done their best to cure James Wilkes, of Dillon, S. C., who had one of the most terrible cases of RHEUMATISM on record. They all failed until one doctor prescribed—

Rheumacide

IT CURED HELPLESS CRIPPLE.

Mr. Wilkes writes in the course of a long letter, dated August 18, 1902: "My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly 12 months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, told me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used 5½ bottles and was completely cured."

Dr. J. P. Ewing confirms Mr. Wilkes' statement in every particular.

FREE TRIAL BOTTLE SENT ON APPLICATION TO

BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., PROPRIETORS, BALTIMORE, MD

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,

NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)

234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING

AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,

Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....

World's Fair Scenic Route

TO

St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application.

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,

"From The Uncivil War to Date."

The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death. Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2. Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.

HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

PORTO RICO ROAST COFFEE AN EXCELLENT COFFEE.

Aroma purity, and flavor unsurpassed by any popular priced package coffee on the market. The coffee in this blend is selected with utmost care, and is very superior.

Every Package is Hermetically Sealed.

It settles itself, is delicious, stimulating and satisfying. Save the signatures. We give 65 Valuable Premiums for them. They represent everything useful and ornamental for the household and are articles of merit.

CHEEK & NEAL COFFEE COMPANY, Nashville, Tenn.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God in His wise providence has seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved and faithful teacher, Bro. C. H. Dixon, and

Whereas we realize that our loss is heaven's gain; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That while we deplore the loss of Brother Dixon, we bow in humble submission to a loving Father's will.

2. That we extend to the bereaved family and friends our deepest sympathy.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our Sunday-school, that a copy be sent to the New Bern Journal and Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication, and that a copy be sent to the bereaved family.

J. R. BOYD,
QUINBY LANCASTER,
M. R. BLAND,
Committee.

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father to call from our midst our loved and honored brother, Durant K. Moore, therefore be it Resolved 1. That we bow in humble submission to His will, realizing that He doeth all things well.

2. That we recognize in the death of our late brother a loss that can never be filled on earth, and that his noble, warm-hearted and genial nature has left a warm place in our memory that will last until death, and that we extend to the bereaved family our sincerest regret and sympathy in their great loss.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of deceased and a copy be spread on the minutes of this lodge and a copy be sent the Raleigh Christian Advocate and Orphan's Friend for publication, and this lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days.

J. D. R. ALLEN,
W. D. PEEDE,
R. B. NICHOLS,
Committee.

Mt. Pleasant Lodge, No. 157, A. F. and A. M. April 2, 1904.

Resolutions of Respect passed by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Main Street Church on the death of Mrs. Ida Shaw Cheatham:

Whereas, in view of the loss sustained by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Main Street Church, in the death of our dear sister, Mrs. Ida Shaw Cheatham, and the far greater loss that has come to those near and dear to her; therefore be it Resolved 1. That we express our appreciation of her pure Christian character and the desire which she had for the extension of her Lord's kingdom, for while feeble health prevented a very active service, her heart was ever open to the needs of the work and she gave of substance to its aid.

2. That as with bowed heads and sorrowing hearts, we pay this tribute to our departed sister, we commend her loved ones to the care of the all-wise Father who makes no mistakes, and pray that they may be overshadowed by the wings of His omnipotent love.

3. That this testimonial of our heartfelt sorrow be sent to the family of our deceased sister, recorded in the minutes of our Society, and sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate and city papers for publication.

MRS. W. L. CUNINGGIM,
MRS. W. H. McCABE,
MRS. W. I. CRANFORD,
Committee.

Resolutions adopted by the Quarterly Conference, March 28, 1904.

As members of the Quarterly Conference of Edenton Station, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, we desire to express, and it is fitting that we should express and admit to record in the journal of this conference, our admiration for the character and appreciation of the labors of Mr. Theodore Ralph, late a member of this church and its official board.

Brother Ralph was eminently a man of God, and as the term implies, his life was consistent and faithful from every point of view. He recognized the dignity of the Christian profession, and sought to bring honor to it and not reproach. His conception of the duties of life, both as a citizen and a Christian, was high. He measured his obligations and ordered his conduct by the Christian standard. An enlightened conscience was his guide in all the relations of life. Every relation of his life was ennobled by the devotion of his heart.

He loved his work, and put into it the strength of his best years. He loved the community in which he lived, and to it his life was a benefaction. He loved his church, and made liberal offerings to it of his time, his labor and his means. He brought into its councils a judgment ripened in the school of business experience. He "attended upon its ordinances and supported its institutions" with marked regularity and liberality. And at its altars he communed in the faith and simplicity of a little child.

Brother Ralph's home life was exceptionally harmonious and beautiful. He loved his home with an ardent devotion, and never became quite accustomed to the vacancy caused by the death of his devoted wife. In the welfare of his children he manifested the deepest concern in life; and, dying, committed to them that noblest of legacies, the "heritage of a good name," said by the wise man, "Rather to be chosen than great riches."

So, in every relation of life integrity and fidelity characterized him. And so well established was he in the practice of these principles of virtue that he continued to exemplify their excellence even in declining health and under the most trying affliction.

We desire not to be fulsome; nor does the character of our brother need "letters of commendation," and that is not the purpose of this paper. His life was a correct index to his character; and that life, lived in this community, was an "epistle known and read of all" with whom he came in touch, commanding the respect of men of all classes.

We desire simply to express our love for the memory of our departed brother, and to record our estimate of his virtues. Therefore be it

Resolved 1. That in the death of Mr. Ralph the community loses a citizen of probity and sterling worth; his church loses a loyal, consistent and valued member, and his family, a devoted father and friend.

2. That we deeply sympathize with the children of our brother, and commend them to their father's God who has promised to be a Father to the orphan.

3. That, though deeply conscious of our loss, we bow to the sovereign will of God.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be kept in the journal of this conference, a copy sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate and the Edenton Transcript with request to publish, and a copy sent to the family of Brother Ralph.

J. H. McMULLAN,
M. G. BROWN,
C. L. READ,
Committee.

A RUNAWAY BICYCLE

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, of Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

$3.50 will buy a pair Americus Shoes

In 16 Styles

Men's fine custom-made work.

The Greatest Selling Shoe in America for $3.50

For sale by all up-to-date dealers. Pair "Americus" would be an appropriate present for a friend.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

TEN GALLONS OF THE

..BEST..

Mineral Water

ON EARTH

FOR 50 CENTS.

One 8-ounce bottle of Echols' Piedmont Concentrated Iron and Alum Water contains all the medical properties of 10 gallons of the water as it comes from the spring. Condensed and concentrated by a scientific process, it is the most convenient and effective form in which mineral water can be used.

Echols' Piedmont Concentrated Iron and Alum Water.

Cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all other forms of stomach and liver troubles, kidney and bladder disease and all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood. At all good drug stores.

J. M. ECHOLS CO.,
Lynchburg, Va.

JUST ISSUED!

Devotional Songs

EDITED BY THREE FAMOUS COMPOSERS AND COMPILERS

W. H. DOANE, Mus. Doc.
WM. J. KIRKPATRICK and HUBERT P. MAIN.

It contains a larger variety of songs than any other hymn book of its kind ever published.
One-half new songs that will never grow old.
One-half old songs that will always be new.
256 pages. Full Cloth Bound. 276 hymns.
$25 per 100; 30 cts. per copy, postpaid.

THE BIGLOW & MAIN CO.
137 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK. 216 Clark Street, CHICAGO.

TENTS NEW AND SECOND-HAND FOR SALE OR RENT.

There are no tents that we cannot build.
Our Specialty is Gospel Tents.
Try one of our Water and Mildew proof tents. They will not rot. We want to quote you prices.

M. D. & H. L. SMITH,
Mention this paper. DALTON, GA

It is Time to Get Ready for

SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual. White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

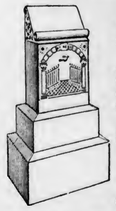
..Dobbin & Ferrall..

(AT TUCKER'S STORE)

123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

Raleigh, N. C.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis

EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,

MAY 9 and 23, 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager. W. H. Taylor, Gen. Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

Magazine Notes.

The May issue of the "Twentieth Century Home" is on hand with a feast of reading and wealth of illustrations for the up-to-date woman. There is a double page of pictures of prominent actors and actresses in their own homes. They are very interesting. Lady Henry Somerset contributes "Rural Life in England." Richard Le Gallienne has a charming essay on "Child Loves" which Rose Cecil O'Neill has illustrated in as delightful a manner. Every housewife will be especially interested in "Oriental Rugs: How to Choose and Care for Them." She is told how to distinguish between the different varieties, which will add much to the pleasure of purchasing a rug. The article is to run through two issues. George J. Kneeland tells about the "Incomes of Wonderful Children." Alfred Veit has a paper discussing the personalities of the wives of famous composers. Bliss Carman, the poet, chooses "The Beautiful Foot" for a theme, and it is remarkable what he finds in his subject. Herbert K. Job's account of the heartless plume-hunting among the Florida bird haunts is enough to make every woman in the country abandon the wearing of the ornaments—beautiful, but obtained with cruel sacrifice and destruction of bird-life. Other fully illustrated articles are, "The Great Berlin Goose-Market," "The Wonders of Lensless Photography," "Some Old-Time Children's Books," "Mme. Loubet, the First Lady of France." The departments are up to their usual standard. Fiction is contributed by Tom Masson, Harry Stillwell Edwards and Elliott Flower.

The Erie Railroad Company, it is announced, will abandon the practice of beautifying its station grounds with flower beds. For more than 20 years the Erie maintained a greenhouse at Avon, N. Y., from which more than 10,000 plants were shipped every summer for these station yard beds. Economy is said to be responsible for the abandonment of floriculture.

DISASTROUS WRECKS.

Carelessness is responsible for many railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by all druggists. Price 50c., and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Attention is called to the announcement in this issue of the opening, July 2d, of the Montcagle Assembly.

A revival that does not stop meanness is not worth holding.

Situations. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.
FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL.—MORE MONEY PAID TO POLICY HOLDERS THAN RECEIVED FROM THEM.

On the 1st of March, 1904, The Connecticut Mutual reached a stage in its history very interesting to its management and its members, and one which is unique in the history of American Life Insurance.

On that date, but little more than fifty-eight years from its organization, it had received from its members in premiums the sum of $228,376,268, and had returned to them or their beneficiaries $228,724,073, or $347,805 more than it had received from them.

The Connecticut Mutual is the first American Life Insurance Company to return to its members one hundred per cent of its receipts from them. And it holds besides $65,000,000 of assets, with a surplus of over $4,600,000 to protect over seventy thousand policy-holders insured for over $166,000,000.

The Company is the largest financial concern in New England doing simply a life insurance business, and it is proverbial everywhere for the conservatism of its management and the safety of its insurance.

The Company has lately changed and made valuable improvements in its applications and policies.

For full information apply to

S. D. WAIT, Raleigh, N. C.
General Agent for North Carolina since April, 1867.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete. . . . . .

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thase and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black..... $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring. ..... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

UNIVERSITY
LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

King's Business College.
(INCORPORATED.)
Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.
Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.
We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

ACID IRON MINERAL
Registered A-I-M Trade Mark
Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.
No equal for diseases peculiar to women. Tones up the entire system
Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents
If your druggist cannot supply you, write to
"Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C.
"For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." J. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C.
(Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.
ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen. Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. HALTIWANGER, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

STATEMENT
American Bonding Company of Baltimore,
Of Marvland.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Paid in cash	$1,000,000.00
Assets December 31st, of previous year	2,050,869.63
Income—From policy-holders, $652,120.63; miscellaneous, $193,036.55; total	845,157.18
Fidelity and Surety	652,120.63
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $271,728.24; miscellaneous $594,570.31; total	866,298.55
Fidelity and surety	271,728.24
Premiums in force at end of year—Fidelity and surety	665,097.91
Business written during year—Fidelity and Surety	726,439.88
ASSETS.
Value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$72,602.22
Value of stocks and bonds(United States, State, etc. owned)	1,340,211.38
Loans on real estate (first lien on fee-simple)	52,523.48
Loans on stocks, bonds and other security	150,900.00
Interest and rents due and accrued	20,321.13
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	281,685.55
Premiums unpaid	106,138.36
All other assets, detailed in statement	131,715.63
Total	2,156,187.75
Less assets, not admitted	13,356.63
Total admitted assets	2,142,831.12
LIABILITIES.
Uncarned premiums	$332,548.95
Unpaid policy claims	72,395.44
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	604,639.52
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,009,583.91
Capital stock paid up	1,000,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	133,247.21
Total liabilities	2,142,831.12

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fidelity and surety—Premiums received, $10,857.28; losses paid, $5,229.22; losses incurred, $6,954.22.

President, James Bond; Secretary, Samuel H. Shriver.
Home office, Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md.
General agent for service, R. B. Raney, Raleigh, N. C.
Business Manager for North Carolina, R. B. Raney, Raleigh, N. C.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 13, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the American Banding Company of Baltimore, of Baltimore, Md., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal, the day and date above written.

JAS. R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA
Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 16.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 106 W. MARTIN STREET.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.

Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.

Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.

Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

An interesting and somewhat depressing illustration of the fact that there is practically a wide gulf yawning between corporate and private morality is seen in the fact that the Western Union Telegraph Company which has been running wires into various gambling dens in New York City insists that its business is to make money and not to discourage gambling. This is a sad state of things. It outlines a business doctrine, to say nothing of moral features, which ignores and undermines the only foundation on which all business stands—the supremacy of law. What could the Western Union, as a money-making enterprise do, if society were lawless? Yet the Western Union by practically aiding the lawless spirit is undermining its own foundation and the foundation of everything that is stable and true among the American people.

Mr. Hearst has relieved the minds of many, and incidentally blunted the edge of popular prejudice within Democratic ranks by announcing that he will support the nominee at St. Louis whoever that may be. Judge Parker's policy of silence is still maintained, and is giving some uneasiness to his friends and Republicans. To the former, because they do not know just where he stands on certain questions and are apprehensive that he may not be exactly en rapport with certain Democratic doctrines. To the latter because a silent foe is generally a dangerous foe. A "talking" candidate generally manages to transfer a few clubs to the hands of the enemy. There are two "dark horses," carefully groomed, which are being kept in the stalls. They are Stephen Grover Cleveland and our Mr. Folk, of St. Louis, who is more feared by evil doers than any other man in the United States.

The State is now in the midst of a sensation in the shape of the trial of the Lumberton lawyers for contempt of court by Judge Peebles. It is remembered that the Lumberton lawyers some time ago refused to make up a calendar for Judge Peebles presiding. The trial of the case was begun last Saturday at Fayetteville and resumed at Lumberton on last Monday. The motions of the respondents to dismiss the case, to have it tried before another Judge, and to have it removed to another county were all overruled by Judge Peebles. The answers of the respondents wwere filed on Monday afternoon. They embody the charge of discourtesy, ill-humor, unfairness, intoxication and other things on the part of Judge Peebles. The Judge has given the respondents five days in which to send him all their affidavits, and on next Thursday week, the case will be called again at Lumberton. It is the general impression that the case will never be tried, at least before Judge Peebles.

We wish that we could give our readers this week some authentic news of the vast operations now going on in Manchuria where the foreign people are "a-fighting." We could take the newspaper reports for the past week and fill a number of pages with the events which are said to have occurred, but we have not yet begun to write fiction. We said last week that the channel into the inner harbor of Port Arthur had been closed and that the Japanese army had cut telegraphic and railroad communication with Port Arthur. We said it because the news had been given out and had not been denied up to the time of writing. But within the last few days, the St. Petersburg dispatches have blandly brought the news that the channel has not been blocked, and a train loaded with ammunition had actually run into Port Arthur. What are we who wish to give authentic news of the war to do? We are almost tempted to tell our readers that they may rely with reasonable certainty on the statement that there is a war going on between Japan and Russia. Let us hold to this one assumption, and perhaps we may be able by next week to tell something that has actually happened.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church convened in Los Angeles on May 4th. On account of belated trains, there was no quorum on the first day. Up to date the business of the Conference has been dispatched with ease and rapidity, and it is probable that the session, which usually last four weeks, will not last so long this time. The first part of the Conference is generally taken up with the hearing of memorials and petitions, which are referred to the proper Committees. Not until these Committees report can there be much discussion or voting. Hence, up to this time, there has been nothing of exciting interest. Dr. J. C. Kilgo, fraternal delegate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, made his address, which was published on last Sunday in full in the Morning Post. It was a characteristic address—which means that it was able and eloquent. We regret that our space limitations prevent us from publishing the address in full in the columns of the Advocate. At least eight new Bishops will be elected. A number have been retired at this Conference. The amusement and time limit questions will receive more than ordinary attention, and the disposition of them is awaited with considerable interest by the public. The usual petitions for the election of a negro Bishop have been received, but we venture the assertion that they will meet the same fate as heretofore.

Over twenty-five years ago, Clara Barton was a humble pension clerk in Washington City. Her sensitive, sympathetic nature was painfully alive to the suffering caused by war, and she began to interest herself in the formation of a society having for its object the enlistment of women in the work of alleviating the physical suffering incident to the battlefield. That society is now known as the Red Cross Society which is represented in every civilized country. A few days ago Miss Barton who for years has been President of the American Red Cross Association, tendered her resignation. There is a certain pathos in the incident. Miss Barton, now seventy-four years old, has spent her life's best energies in developing and strengthening the Red Cross Association. She did not resign on account of advancing age, or because she felt that there was any direct necessity for so doing. It was because tongues began to talk about mismanagement of funds. We feel sure that her fault, if fault there was, was of the head and not of the heart. No woman with the heart of Clara Barton can willfully deviate from the right path. She may have the consciousness that she will continue to live in the heart of civilized humanity as one of the world's queendiest women.

The whole State was shocked at the news of the death of Robert M. Furman, who for the past six years had been editor of the Morning Post of Raleigh. His intimate friends had imagined lately that they saw the deepening of the final shadows, but the State at large was unprepared for the news of his death. He was one of our foremost journalists. He was richly endowed with those gifts which are necessary in the trying field of journalism. An experience which began a generation ago, a mind which was conservative and discriminating, a wide acquaintance with men and things, and a frank outspoken spirit which strove at all times to deal honestly and fearlessly with all matters coming into the field of an editor's duty—all these Mr. Furman had. There was no editor in the State who approached him in the ability to discuss accurately and judiciously the social and economic conditions of the State. He was no politician, yet he had at his finger's ends those facts and figures which enter into an intelligent survey of the field of national and State politics. It was our privilege to know intimately Mr. Furman. We always felt that when we were in his presence, that we were in the presence of one who with a brave heart was essaying to maintain the honor and dignity of a high manhood. There were in his nature sombre clefts filled and wreathed with the ragged clouds of sorrow and internal conflict, but these clouds only served to more plainly outline the white surface of a soul which was ever mounting toward the sunlight. He has wrought well for his State and humanity at large.

The Methodist Quarterly Review for the second quarter of the year is full of good matter. We notice that the present number contains a more varied selection than usual. This means that there is a larger number of briefer articles. Biography, philosophy, theology, and general literature are mixed in healthful and stimulating proportion. Canada, England, and the United States are represented among the contributors.

Contributions

Giving.

AXON.

There is no life however low,
Or humble in its birth,
That may not from its path bestow
Some brightness o'er the earth.

Each little blooming wayside flower,
Tho' lacking beauty rare,
Freely offers all its dower,
To make the summer fair.

The river hastening to the sea,
With all its gathered treasures
Yields up its offerings full and free,
Their worth it never measures.

Thus Nature proves in many a way,
The noblest rules of living;
Would ye receive? Then day by day,
Increase thy store by giving.

A Pertinent Query.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—At the close of your editorial in issue of March 30th on General Miles' letter to the National Prohibition party, you say: "It is hardly probable that the advice of General Miles will be taken, inasmuch as it is practically granted by all that no political party will dare to issue a direct, clear-cut pronunciamento on the question of temperance." I agree with you in this statement, and ask, How then can any Christian man vote for any party that will not make a "clear-cut" declaration against the accursed liquor traffic? As Christians, we have no right to expect them to make such declarations as long as Christian (?) voters continue to vote with them in their miserable compromise. The trouble is, we have been too good Democrats and Republicans and too mean church members. Some excuse themselves by saying, "But there are other issues besides Prohibtion." Not so, and you know it. No evil comparable with the legalized liquor business for causing crime, loss of health, character, reputation, property, home happiness, and souls of mankind. Then all men who can say—

"Take my vote and let it be, Consecrated Lord to Thee,"

should unite in a party that does give forth a "clear-cut" utterance against the gigantic whiskey trust and stand united till victory is won. The trouble, in too many instances is, that the same fellows who shape the policy of the parties have too much to do with shaping the attitude of the church. The National Prihibition Party may be making a slow fight, but she is making a sure one, and gaining ground every year. I hardly know how to "double quick" the victory, but thank God I can control my own vote, and will so direct it that my God can take knowledge of me that no liquor license is issued in the United States of America so far as I am concerned. I'll trust God to manage smaller National evils while I do my level best to help Him smack this great big one. We can do it if we will all pull together and keep at it. Give God your vote. He will do the rest.

D. L. TUTTLE.

Christianity or Buddhism.

Whether Christianity or Buddhism is the ideal religion for Japan has been discussed by Rev. W. N. Clarke, at the Second Baptist Church, Chicago. He referred to the Japanese Commission sent to America to investigate the practical results of Christian teaching. It is reported that this commission "is to determine whether Christianity should supplant Buddhism in Japan, and is to decide, from actual observation, whether our religion can be recommended," said Dr. Clark, "and it is said that the commission has already decided that in England Christianity is a failure."—Evening Chronicle, April 4, 1904.

The above clipping is startling intelligence, and is what the infidel of Europe said an hundred years ago!

Now, in this century of unprecedented Christian zeal and missionary labor, a young semi-Christian nation is bold enough to say, "In England Christianity is a failure," is more than Americans supposed! If this is true! The natural inquiry is—what is the cause? By glancing over the history of the religion of the Hebrew, Greek, and Roman churches since the days of Moses, we learn that the attempts of kings, emperors, and rulers, to make their authority paramount to that of Christianity or the Church of God, and in every instance idolatry was the consequence! But we were not prepared to admit that England, the supposed head and port of Protestantism was so contaminated with the dreadful malady as to be considered anything less than a Christian nation! The charge is at least a warning to the entire civilized world, to beware of a "union of church and state." If the rebellion of the angels in heaven was the result of an unholy ambition, to be equal to their Creator, and brought upon themselves eternal banishment; and the disobedience of our first parents required the gift of the Son, and the Spirit of the Father, and the co-operation of the redeemed to be saved, it is not only a work of supererogation, but absolutely a sin of great magnitude to substitute or make co-equal any creature or created power for God and His government.

The history and existence of Mormonism, which is the pattern of Mohammedanism and Solomon's reign, for selfish motives, and the offspring of Pandemonium, and a disgrace to Christianity, should be considered a clog to civilization and death to Christianity in America if permitted to practice polygamy and usurp the authority of our government. It is the mainspring of the idolatry that ruined the Israelites, Grecians, Romans, and now threatening Protestantism in all lands. Every form of idolatry undermines the religion of Christ, but this is the monster that needs special attention.

JNO. F. FOARD.

Statesville, N. C.

Saved Without Assurance.

It is possible that one may be in a saved state and yet have no definitely divine assurance of it. There are many Christian people who will not accept such a view, for they maintain that every one who is really saved is assured of the fact by a special manifestation of the Holy Spirit to him. Well, they may enjoy their belief with the fullest liberty, but that does not prove that they are correct. I am convinced that there are instances in which genuine Christians have no special assurance that they have been saved from death. A person, giving his signature by the letters "D. O." as printed in the Union Gospel News, wanted to know if one can be saved who believes on Christ, but possesses no assurance of salvation. Dr. James M. Gray answers the question as follows:

"I think so. No one is saved by the assurance he feels, but by his simple faith or reliance on Jesus Christ. Some people never enjoy assurance, but they are saved just the same, if they have taken Christ as their Saviour. To the Hebrews, in the land of Egypt God said, 'When I see the blood I will pass over you.' They sprinkled the blood on their door-posts, and then went inside and waited. Some had assurance, and some had not, but all who sprinkled the blood were delivered. At the same time we may have assurance if we will, and indeed it is our duty to have assurance, for it is nothing else than the result of simply taking God at His word and believing all He has said to us through His promises. The first epistle of John would be a good portion of Scripture for 'D. O.' to read again and again, in the exercise of prayer."

I presume that many Christians suppose that divine assurance of one's being saved consists in a specially deep emotion in the heart, produced by the Holy Spirit, and that if one have no such experience he has no assurance. But real assurance is not always given in that manner. It may be well to use another word which means as much as assurance, and say that the saved one may be convinced that he is indeed delivered from death.

The question is, Is the person daily giving evidence that his present life is decidedly better than it formerly was? Does he now truly love God, His Word, His will, His work.

C. H. WETHERBE.

ORPHANAGE NOTES.

Murfreesboro.

Murfreesboro, on the Meherrin,is a goodly town. There is no better citizenship in North Carolina than that, to the size of the place, in my opinion. They have ever treated me with kindest consideration. It was sweet to spend the first Sunday in the month of flowers with that most delightful people.

I was glad to find that my young friend Woodall had made so fine an impression at so early a day. There is but one thing lacking to him now; it is time he was doubling up. They kindly asked us to call again. We hope to do so.

That Barrel of Molasses has Come.

We will look out for pan cakes now. But then, flour is so high. Wilmington furnished the sweetening. Now, if Goldsboro would only furnish the flour, would we not have a time. If the Superintendent should be extra sweet for the next three months, charge it all to Bro. C. C. Covington & Co., of Wilmington, N. C.

We have planted some watermelons and cantaloupes. If the two-leged varmints will only keep off, we may have a good time next summer.

We will soon have garden peas and spring cabbages if nothing happens.

Shall the Plastering Go On?

The plastering is on the first and second stories, and they are now in the hands of the carpenters. Shall it go on the third? We certainly think it ought to. We would dislike to have plastering done over our heads after moving into the building. It will be so "messy." Then it will be hazardous to the morals of the children. Colored masons are not the most moral of men. Four rooms have the first and second coats on; a good deal of the mortar is already made; yet the plastering has ceased, and the masons are gone. Who will help to have that story plastered? We are anxious to have it on when the Board of Trustees meet about the middle of June. Send it in right away, beloved—the cash!

The End of Life.

The end of life is not to do good, although many of us think so. It is not to win souls, anthough I once thought so. The end of life is to do the will of God.

How can you build up a life on that principle? Let me give you an outline of a little Bible reading:

The object of life: "I come to do thy will, O God."

The first thing you need after life is food: "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me."

The next thing you need after food is society: "He that doeth the will of my Father in heaven, the same is my brother and sister and mother."

You want education: "Teach me to do thy will, O God."

You want pleasure: "I delight to do thy will, O God."

A whole life can be built upon that one vertical column, and then, when all is over: "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever."—Henry Drummond.

The bread of life is love; the salt of life is work; the sweetness of joy, pocsy; the water of life, faith.—Mrs. Jameson.

"Wanted—A Pair of Saddle-Bags."

The long list of Wanted, in the daily of a large city, is interesting, even to the casual reader as he looks hurriedly down the column. But a single item in a late number of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate was rather startling. A presiding elder wanted a second-hand pair of saddle-bags, for one of his preachers. Perhaps there are many readers of the Wesleyan who never saw the article, except the one used by a country physician. The valise, carpet-bag and grip-sack have taken the place of the old historic saddle-bags. A half century ago, the late Dr. Milburn wrote a book that had a large circulation. Its title was, "The Rifle, Axe and Saddle-Bags." These three tools, or implements, represent three important stages in the settlement of the New World. The early itinerants did not have paved highways leading to their churches. Very much of their traveling was on horseback, and his saddle-bags proved a necessary part of the itinerant's outfit. These, on the back of a good horse, helped to mark the Methodist preacher. Many years ago, two or three itinerants were passing through Chester County, late on a December evening. They were not familiar with the country, and were beginning to feel some curiosity, if not anxiety, about suitable lodging. They were passing a comfortable farm house, when an intelligent servant girl came out with a message, "Missus says you look like Methodist preachers going to Conference. She asks you to stop for the night. In old master's time Methodist preachers always stopped with us." The hearty invitation was gladly accepted. The horses were taken care of, and the tired travelers, with saddle-bags on their arms, met a warm welcome at the front door. A lonely widow was comforted and strengthened by their company. The railroads have done away largely with this old feature of the itinerant's life. We may hope the change has its compensations.

Perhaps with the present surroundings, the circuit preacher may not fully appreciate what his visit to a family in his charge may mean to the quiet, secluded homes. Even in a happy family, the daily life may have what we do not care to call a monotony. There is a sameness, however, and human nature loves variety. The children soon learn that the mother makes some welcome additions to the table attractions. The presence of a cheerful visitor brings an agreeable element into the family life. The conversation at the table, and fireside, may be quickening and educating. Children too young to take part may be very intelligent listeners. A sentence, a phrase, a word, a tone, a look may be a seed falling on good ground. The boy will be glad to ride the horse around from the stable to the front, and there to carry out the good man's saddle-bags. The invalid mother, seldom able to go to church, will be helped by the preacher's manner of conducting family prayers, and by the kind word spoken, and by the blessing invoked, as he tells her good-bye. It becomes a common thing for the preacher to spend the night away from his home, if he has one. But it may be a rather uncommon thing with the family that entertains him.

A few years ago, in a Western State, several men, of different religious creeds, were thrown together. At a stage in the conversation the Methodist was surprised when the Episcopal Bishop of that diocese laid his hand suddenly on his neighbor's knee, and said, earnestly, "Brother, what we want is saddle-bags grace, saddle-bags grace." This official had a mountain region in his field. Perhaps wherever he had gone he found the tracks of the itinerant. Taken in its wide, historic sense, and as exhibited by the most worthy hearers of that old piece of baggage, the phrase "saddle-bags grace" has deep meaning. Time, roads, churches may change, the size of circuits and the dress of the preachers serving them may change also. But the currents of human nature, with its fears, hopes and wants and the strange influence for good or evil that one person may have over another—all these remain. It is a small matter, how the preacher may find his way to the lonely home in the mountain cave, whether on horseback, with saddle-bags, on a bicycle, trolley car, automobile, or in a flying ship. The great question is, "What does he carry there?" or, rather, "What does he leave there?" Both of these questions are included in one, "What is he in himself?"

A few years ago a faithful retired itinerant offered his well-worn saddle-bags to the South Carolina Conference Historical Society, as a Methodist relic. Let them remain there as a silent teacher and witness. We hope the Georgia itinerant may use his as long as he finds them necessary. In some active, useful shape, may "saddle-bags grace" be an abiding feature in our ministry. —Southern Christian Advocate.

Humorous.

"The lighted candles of a girl's birthday cake," remarked the Observer of Events and Things, "do not always throw light on the girl's age."

* * *

She: "I heard that you said I reminded you of the North Pole. Don't try to deny it." He: "Of course I did. You are so sought after, you know."

* * *

Cholly Lateboy: "Do you know, Miss Sharp, that music quite carries me away?" Miss Sharp: "Why, isn't that lovely? Do let me play for you." —Chicago News.

* * *

Six-year-old James came in from Sunday-school looking puzzled. He said: "Mamma, who is 'Total,' that goes to Sunday-school and gives more than anybody else?"

* * *

Myer: "I wonder why cats that disturb our midnight slumbers always have such high voices?" Gyer: "Probably because they are frequently pitched on a roof."—Chicago News.

* * *

Magistrate (sternly): "Didn't I tell you the last time you were here I never wanted you to come before me again?" Prisoner: "Yes, sir; but I couldn't make the policeman believe it."—New Yorker.

* * *

"Have you any taste for Thackeray?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "No, I can't say that I have," replied her hostess. "Is that anything like this paprika thy're puttin' in everything now?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

* * *

Uncle Jethro: "There ain't no sense in dictionaries, nohow." Edgar: "How do you arrive at that conclusion, Uncle Jethro?" Uncle Jethro: "They spell 'hoss' with an 'r,' and leave it out when they come to 'horsepital.'"

* * *

"How old are you?" the school-teacher asked the new student. "Six years old," lisped the little one. "When were you six?" asked the teacher. "The day our hired girl came," said the little one conclusively.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

* * *

Little four-year-old Nellie was gazing intently at the visitor's bonnet. "What do you think of it, dear," asked the lady. "Oh," replied Nellie, "it's all right. Mamma told Aunt Mary it was a perfect fright, but it doesn't frighten me."

* * *

"I know what you've come here for," said little Willie. "You're going to ast my sister to be your wife." "Oh! Why do you think so?" "Cause I heard her tellin' ma she was goin' to git you in a corner to-night and make you say it."

* * *

A sentry, an Irishman, was on post duty for the first time at night, when the officer of the day approached. He called: "Who comes there?" "Officer of the day," was the reply. "Then what are yez doin' out at night?" asked the sentry.

Mrs. Simple Newlywed: "I want you to send around a gallon of midnight oil." Grocer: "Midnight oil? Never heard of it." Mrs. Simple Newlywed: "Why, I'm sure that's the kind my husband's mother said he always burned."—Brooklyn Life.

* * *

General Sheridan was once asked at what little incident he had laughed the most. Boys of Our Empire gives his reply: "Well," he said, "I do not know, but I always laugh when I think of the Irishman and the army mule. I was riding down the line one day, when I saw an Irishman mounted on a mule, which was kicking its legs rather freely. The mule finally caught its hoof in the stirrup, when, in the excitement, the Irishman remarked: 'Well, if you're goin' to get on, I'll get off.'"

* * *

A lady was one day teaching a little colored girl how to spell, says an exchange. She used a pictorial primer, in which each word was accompanied by an illustration. Polly glibly spelled "o-x, ox," and "b-o-x, box," and the teacher thought that she was making "right rapid progress," perhaps too rapid. So she put her hand over the picture, and then asked: "Polly, what does o-x spell?" "Ox," answered Polly. "How do you know it spells ox?" Polly was as honest as the day. "Seed his tail!" she responded.

* * *

Henry (seated in the sitting room at the old homestead Christmas morning): "Well, this is what I call genuine Christmas cheer, Uncle Eben." Uncle Eben: "Ain't it, though! The boys got it into the house last night 'thout my knowin' it, too." Henry: "Got what into the house?" Uncle Eben: "That cheer you're settin' in."

* * *

An Iowa judge recently related an amusing incident that occurred in his court when a colored man was brought up for some petty offense. The charge was read, and as the statement, "The State of Iowa against John Jones," was read in a loud voice the colored man's eyes bulged nearly out of their sockets, and he seemed overcome with terror and astonishment. When he was asked if he had anything to say or pleaded guilty or not guilty, he gasped out: "Well, you' honah, ef de whole State o' Iowa is ag'in dis one pore niggah, I've gwine to give up right now!"

The Gospel of Helpfulness.

One of the stories that never grow old is the gospel of helping one another. To be a helper may well fill out the round of a life's ambition. "To get" is the cry of a sordid world: "to give" is the answer of the true hearts that move among men. No man ever had such joy in getting things as he whose purpose is in the opposite direction —to be helpful, and give of self and service to others. It is the one great cure-all for soul-ills; there is no burden that cannot be lightened by it; no darkness that cannot be brightened by it. Soul sickness can find its healing in the hour that it turns to heal another. The sum of things is not in the getting, but in the giving, and the crown of happiness will be in the consciousness that you have always helped and sought to serve.—Baptist Union.

And worry and unrest are distinctly unchristian. They are a denial of God's power, and a disbelief in his love. "Let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God," said Jesus. And whatever the immediate connection of the words, they are a perpetual prohibition of all worry or anxiety on the part of those who believe in God. He knows. He cares. He rules. Let us trust Him and be still.

And much of our worry is absolutely senseless and foolish in yet another regard. We are in a train, and anxious to reach our destination, but the train stops again and again, and the delays are most exasperating. We begin to abuse the engineer and the conductor. The only logical conclusion from our abuse is that they ought to run the train straight on as fast as they can go. Yet there is probably an obstruction on the track, or an embankment washed away, or a train just ahead. What we are worrying for is an accident in which we stand a good chance of being killed. What a fine rational thing such worry is!

The Field

Siler City.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—Enclosed find obituary of I. N. Mann, ordered by the Quarterly Conference, to be published in the Raleigh Christian Advocate. He was worthy, an ideal Christian, devout, and of good report.

Our Second Quarterly Conference was held at Hickory Mountain, Friday, April 29th. For week day, the attendance was encouraging and the financial report better than usual for second quarter. Rev. J. B. Hurley was present in the spirit of the Master, and magnified his office in the chair as well as in the pulpit. The people were delighted with his preaching as well as with his manner of conducting the business. The preacher in charge was so delighted that he followed him and Rev. Jas. H. Frizzelle, our son of the gospel, to Brown's Chapel, where we heard a good report, and had the pleasure of greeting old friends whom we served and love. The work is in fine condition.

We were on the roll three days, drove forty miles and preached three times; last Saturday and Sunday (two days), forty miles, two sermons.

Fair Promise has the best Suday-school in twenty-five years, and the "little flock" at Providence is growing in grace. They will have an organ in a few weeks, we think. So you see we are holding the lines again, none the worse in body, and profoundly thankful for the glorious privilege of preaching the gospel of Christ.

J. SANDFORD.

A Note From Robeson Circuit.

I have been thinking for some time that I would write a line as to the condition of the Robeson Circuit.

With peculiar sadness, we heard of the sad bereavement of our beloved Presiding Elder in the death of his dear boy. We sorely missed his genial face, and Godly counsel, and soul-stirring sermons at our Second Quarterly Conference occasion; but he was fortunate in securing the services of Brother Wilson, of Maxton, who was present, and did us good service, which was highly appreciated by the good congregations that met him. The reports at the Conference showed the circuit to be in good condition. The finances are sharply in advance of last year at this time. Several have been received in the church by certificate and one on profession. Several infants have been baptized.

A nice book-case has been placed in the parsonage, and the preacher and family have been the recipients of many tokens of appreciation. Our people have been so kind to us in every way that we are inclined to question the correctness of Brother Paris' statement when he asserts that Lumberton is the best circuit in the Conference. But he has not been anywhere else, so we will let him enjoy his delusion.

Very truly, J. M. ASHBY.

A Layman's Views.

I wish to call the attention of every reader of the Advocate, and especially all who are interested in Methodism in anywise, and in particular in our great State, and I know there are not a few, to the timely letters of Bros. C. F. Sherrill on second page and M. A. Smith on third page of May 4, 1904.

Brethren of the ministry, what have been your efforts since the days of John Wesley?

Sisters of the Alumnae of Greensboro Female College, what are your aspirations of to-day?

Read again, brothers, sisters, friends, and let the concentrated deep thoughts therein contained give inspiration to every lover of God, every lover of humanity, every lover of Methodism and her pure womanhood, and the Church arise in her might and build Greensboro Female College by her concentrated strength in such proportions as shall do her honor; yes, let it be in the very forefront. I verily believe this will be done. I feel sure there are thousands who would be only too glad of an opportunity to give, and not only give, but give liberally.

Let me suggest that we have a month in which every Methodist pastor in North Carolina—and let that be June—preach in each church in his charge a sermon on Christian education. Tell of the situation and needs of the college; then take a collection in cash and subscriptions. Then together with other influences, my faith is that results will be that our honored B. N. Duke's proposition will be complied with.

With very best wishes for all concerned, I am,

Yours truly, A. C. THOMPSON.

Ashpole, N. C., May 5, 1904.

Report From Brazil.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—My last Brazilian mail brings me some statistics as to the progress of our work in the District of Minas Geraes, that may be of interest to North Carolina Methodists. These figures are taken from the reports prepared for the District Conference held in Juiz de Fora in March of this year:

Work begun twenty years ago.

Seventeen years ago: One congregation, in Juiz de Fora; thirty-two members. Total collections, $4.65.

Today: Fifteen congregations, 1,442 members, three local preachers, nine Epworth Leagues, six of these are Junior; 592 Epworth League members, thirty-one Sunday-schools, 1,013 Sunday-school members, six Ladies' Aid Societies, one hundred and fifty-eight Ladies' Aid Society members, 2 colleges, Granbery and Isabella Hendrix; 1 church building, value, $5,500.00; four parsonages, value, $15,175.00; Granbery College property, value, $25,000.00; contributions during past year, totals, $5,603.40; contributions during past year, per capita, $3.89.

Very sincerely yours,

MARY T. PESCUD.

Raleigh, N. C., May 10, 1904.

Early Missionary Collection.

For several years a persistent effort has been put forth in the North Carolina Conference to get the missionary collections taken early in the year. The wisdom of this course is now generally recognized, and does not need to be discussed in this communication.

In order that we might see just what progress has been made in this direction during the present year, I asked Brother Walker, the Treasurer of the Board, to send me, on the first of May, a statement of the amounts received from the various charges in the Conference. Copies of this statement have been made and sent out to all the preachers. It shows an increase in the receipts up to May 4th this year over the receipts for the same period last year of over one hundred per cent, the amount reported on that date last year being $3,036.53, and this year $6,145.37. Last year thirty-six charges had made payments, this year sixty-four. Last year five charges had paid in full, this year sixteen. The most noticeable advance has been in the Durham District, the receipts for this period in that district being $1,459.12, an increase of $1,195.12 over the receipts for the same period last year. Half the charges in that district had settled in full by the last of March. Every charge in the district, except two, has made some payment. In the New Bern District there has been an increase of $751.11; in the Wilmington District, $512.91; in the Fayetteville District, $319.00; in the Washington District, $303.44; in the Rockingham District, $69.22; in the Raleigh District, $7.13. In the Warrenton and Elizabeth City Districts there has been a slight decrease in the receipts for the period. In the Warrenton District this has been due to the special effort that has been made to pay off the debt on the District parsonage. In the Elizabeth City District a large increase was made last year, the district then taking its place at the head of the list in the matter of early collections, and there was not so much room for improvement as in the other districts. Reports received from the District Secretaries show that throughout the Conference wise plans are being adopted, and there is every reason to believe that at our next Conference we shall be able to make the best report we have yet made.

R. H. WILLIS,
Conference Secretary of Missions.

The Strawberry Business.

The writer has had the pleasure of visiting the strawberry section on his trip during its boom. We cannot easily grasp the meaning conveyed by the figures showing the movement of strawberries in Eastern North Carolina at this time. The strawberry season in Eastern North Carolina is now at its height, and one can conceive of no more active plan of industry in the United States than the several points along the A. C. L. Railway, where strawberries are grown. An idea of the enormity of the industry may be gained when it is stated from the official report, as follows: On last Monday forty-four cars and 1,782 crates shipped by express. New York, nine cars, 177 crates by express; Newark, one car; Philadelphia, three cars, 320 crates by express; Baltimore, 492 crates by express; Washington, D. C., 372 crates by express; Wilmington, Del., and Chester, Pa., 165 crates by express; Richmond, Va., 109 crates by express; Boston, four cars; Providence, one car; New Haven, one car; Pittsburg, six cars; Buffalo, three cars; Scranton, three cars; Erie, Pa., two cars; Syracuse, one car; Albany, two cars; Harrisburg, one car; Wheeling, W. Va., one car; Detroit, two cars; Bradford, one car.

Over two millon quarts shipped on Tuesday! Heaviest on record. Over 212 cars and 2,688 crates by express. The distribution was as follows: Forty cars and 232 crates by express. Boston, twenty-nine cars, on a market of 11 cents to 14 cents; Philadelphia and Pittsburg, twenty-one cars each; Buffalo, sixteen cars; Newark, nine cars; Providence, seven cars, on a market of 15 cents to 17 cents; Cleveland, six cars; Elmira, five cars; Baltimore and Scranton, four cars each; Springfield, Pittsfield, Mass., Albany and Binghampton, three cars each; Washington, Worcester, Hertford, Erie, Wilkesbarre, Auburn, Toronto and New Bedfield, two cars each; in fact, several other points North. Philadelphia also received 440 crates by express; Baltimore, 720; Washington, 330; Chester, 605; Richmond, 268, and North Carolina points fifty-six.

The aggregate of the day's shipments is 66,288 crates, or a little over two million quarts, which if sold at an average of 10 cents per quart, would bring to this section a little over $212,000. If all cars went forward Tuesday were attached to a single train, would make a string something over two miles in length.

Friday's Shipments.—Friday's strawberry shipments through South Rocky Mount amounted to ninety-nine solid refrigerator cars and 1,262 crates by express. The distribution was as follows: Boston, twenty-one cars, prices 12 cents to 14 cents; Pittsburg, nineteen cars; New York, seven cars and twenty-nine crates; Buffalo and Elmira, six cars each; Utica, four cars; Providence, three cars; Worcester and Albany, three cars each; Springfield, Hertford, New Haven, Scranton, Erie, Syracuse and Cleveland, two cars each; Philadelphia, one car and 153 crates; Washington, 438 crates, and several other points North.

You will note from the above report that Eastern North Carolina is becoming more and more popular as one of the finest sections in the United States for trucking. I learn that they can grow almost anything that is to be grown in Eastern Carolina.

I write this more especially for our brothers that live in Middle and Western North Carolina, and hope it will be instructive as well as entertaining.

Saturday's shipments are not so large, and prices are now advancing very rapidly owing to scarcity of berries.

Very respectfully, B. C. GLOVER,
Traveling Representative of Raleigh Christian Advocate.

The Family

The Red Cross of Europe and America.

Into the shell-shattered city of Strasburg on the morning after its capitulation to the Grand Duke of Baden, there walked unguarded, unattended save by a maid, a slight delicate woman in a dark, plain dress, with a scarlet cross wrought in her sleeve above the elbow. Through the battalions of conquering troops which guarded the city she went fearlessly, unchallenged and unmolested, and the sentinels on the ramparts grounded their muskets as she touched the scarlet symbol on her arm, and hurried past them over the heaps of dead and dying, into the heart of the stricken city. She found famine, fire, terror, a shattered city surrendering through hunger, its hospitals filled with wounded women and children, its streets swarming with half-naked, half-starved, frenzied people, a city whose able-bodied men were all in the conscripted ranks of the French army or in the prisons of Germany.

Through the instrumentality of the stranger, in forty days the hungry were fed, the sick healed, and the naked clothed. Boxes of supplies came by hundreds into the city, marked ever with the scarlet symbol she wore, money poured into her treasury faster than she could spend it, and scores of brave nurses and heroic assistants gathered about her. White hands that had never known labor bound the scarlet badge on their arms, and the proudest ladies of Germany, under the sign of the crimson cross, went down to the help and succor of the city which their troops had conquered. Indeed, so abundant were the offerings of clothing that a message was sent to the Empress: "You are making paupers of Strasburg with your generosity; send me material rather than clothing, that I may hire them made up here, and thus create an industry for the people." The material was sent, and twice each week hundreds of women went to her door with baskets on their arms to receive their work, for which they were abundantly paid. Forty thousand neatly fashioned garments of assorted sizes were packed in boxes stamped with the scarlet cross.

The Commune had fallen in Paris. The crash of the column Vendome still thrilled in the startled air. The flames of the Hotel de Ville lit the city with the lurid light. The streets were reeking with blood, and the air was heavy with the groans of the dying.

Suddenly there appeared the same vision of mercy that came to the need of Strasburg; pale, dust-covered, travel-worn, and well-nigh exhausted, for she had walked seven miles into the city (90,000 horses having been eaten by the people, none were left for transportation). The German troops outside the city detained her with no questions when they caught the gleam of the scarlet cross. Cordons of French soldiers guarding the streets lowered their bayonets as she touched the glowing symbol, and the sullen, frenzied mob made way for her to pass.

The mayor had been reinstated in his office but a few hours, the dust of months lay thick on books and papers, his assistants were hurrying to and fro and writing frantically. The mayor himself was anxious, weary, heart-sick. Suddenly a soft voice sounded in his ear, an earnest, resolute, tender woman's face was lifted to his own, he caught the gleam of the scarlet cross, and heard the low, clear words: "Mayor, I have come to help you. I have 40,000 garments in my boxes outside the city, and plenty of money." The mayor's house was instantly at her disposal, but she argued: "It is too grand for my work; give me some humble place where the poor will not be afraid to come to me."

"Madam, eight months ago I left my home, as I supposed, to be burned—to-day, through the grace of God, it stands intact. Is it too good for God's poor? Make it your headquarters—they will go to you anywhere."

The history of Strasburg repeats itself, and the hungry were fed, the naked clothed, the poor taught self-helpfulness, and then the woman of the red cross vanished.

When the Mississippi overflowed its banks in 1884, and people were without homes, food, money, or seed for the next season's planting, suddenly out of the turbulent waters a steamer laden to her guards with every variety of provender, sustenance and comfort for man and beast, came to the rescue of the suffering people. Whence she came, how provisioned, by whom supplied, no one knew; only a woman stood at the helm, with a cross of crimson on her sleeve, and at the mast a banner floated—a shield of white crossed with scarlet bars. When the floods abated and the needs were all supplied, the strange craft vanished and her colors were hauled down in an unknown port.

High up in the Balkan mountains the soldiers of Bulgaria were freezing and dying for want of supplies. Word came to the woman with the scarlet cross, was forwarded to her colleagues in various cities, and before night this telegram was sent from New Albany: 'Call on us for $500 for the Balkan soldiers." The message was cablegramed to Geneva, Switzerland, the next morning: "The Red Cross of America sends $500 to the Balkan soldiers." Telegrams were sent from Geneva to Bulgaria, goods were purchased to that amount, and the next day after the woman of the red cross received the call of need, high up in the fastnesses of the Bulgarian mountains the soldiers were receiving the warm garments sent.

Who is this mysterious woman that controls the soldiers of opposing armies and commands the Exchange of the world with the gleam of the scarlet cross?

Heroes of the Civil War know her as the first woman nurse to bring comfort and succor to the wounded. Surgeons remember when her white tented wagons drove upon the field the things most needed were at hand. The army of the Potomac know her and the heroes of Morris Island have never forgotten the only woman who remained on the island, caring for the wounded while the shot and shell fell like hail. The Andersonville prisoners remember the woman who took them by the hand, and the widows and mothers of the Andersonville dead will ever remember her at whose request the bodies of the 30,000 men who died there were identified and buried in marked graves. The sufferers of the Ohio floods, Michigan fires, Charleston earthquake and Texas drought, can tell you who she is, and every sovereign in Europe knows well the name and works of Clara Barton, the President of the "American Red Cross."—Exchange.

A Prayer Said.

"Just come and say a prayer at the funeral. We can't find a dominie, and we don't want to bury her without a prayer."

It was a new experience for the deaconess. She didn't know who was dead or what to do. But there are no new experiences for the Lord. He knew the way. She would follow.

She went with the messenger to a desolate place. Untidy, ungodly people had kept the house—it was not a home. The housekeeper lay in the sleep of death; her companion sat sullenly by, in a half-drunken stupor; a hard faced company sat around the room. They had ignored or blasphemed the laws of God; but when the death-angel came they wanted "a prayer" said.

The deaconess prayed for the living. The sweet words of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Nearer My God to Thee," roused tender memories long crushed by the hard grind of making a living. The ever wooing message, "Let not your heart be troubled," opened the fountain of tears that had long refused to give a refreshing drop to the parched plant of God's affection.

On leaving the grave, the man awkwardly removed his hat, showing traces of old-time gentility, and spoke of his early home and training. All the good in his debased nature had been aroused by a woman's act of kindness.—New York Deaconess.

What Was Done for Vera.

The deaconess found Vera at the police station, a desperate young creature, beautiful, but—so fatal a gift, sometimes, is beauty!— fast losing all that makes womanhood attractive. She talked with and quieted the girl, stood by her in the court and when the demands of a broken law had been satisfied, took her away home to do her best to make the blighted life bloom again.

She succeeded better than she had dreamed, for Vera, taught by love, came to long with all her young heart for goodness; and soon sought and found Jesus, the Saviour of her soul. She stayed on at the Home useful in many quiet ways, growing womanly in adoration of the pure-hearted women who came and went before her.

Her desire grew to be to help those who were unfortunate as she had been. As other girls were brought in from time to time, she received them gladly and did much to win their confidence. Once when two of them had run away at night and two of the deaconesses came in at a late hour after a fruitless search for them, they found Vera still awake awaiting the result of their errand. Her grief at their having been unable to find the wanderers was great.

On a wild night in winter one of the deaconesses saw a light burning in Vera's room. Going in to ask the reason, she found the girl on her knees in prayer.

"I heard the storm," she explained, "and thought of the girls in the street and of how many of them will be tempted to go into the saloons to-night. I am praying God to keep them safe."

The deaconess knelt by Vera's side and they prayed together. Who knows but some storm-tossed and tempted one was turned aside that night from the snare set for her feet, by the resistless influence of that prayer?

"I find it hard to believe that this girl had ever been anything but true and devoted," says a deaconess newly arrived in the Home; "indeed, I do not try." The Lord, through his servants has done great things for Vera.—Exchange.

O Thou our Life, true light of all who come into the world, help us to live to Thee. From death of sin; from all forgetfulness of God and love; from heart ambitions which do not rise above the world; from folly of uncharitableness and idle listlessness that suffers opportunity to slip away unused—good Lord deliver us? Help us to live strong, useful, happy lives by the indwelling and outworking of Thy Spirit. Fulfill in us Thine own thought of what man may be and use us to the uttermost in service, overcoming sin and working righteousness and appearing us for the unhindered vision of Thy face in everlasting life with Thee. Amen.

To dethrone Christianity from its place in the world to-day would be the act of a madman or a fool. Were it possible to do so, vast numbers of intelligent people, who now think themselves emancipated from it, would strive for its restoration, not at all because they had come to realize, as they never had realized before, how necessary it was to the progress of the world.—New York Tribune.

God grant that you may so conquer your temptations by the power of God that they may not leave you as you were, but fill you with the consciousness of yourself and with deep sympathy with your brothers.—Phillips Brooks.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.

New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.

Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.

Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.

Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.

Warrenton District, Rich Square—July 28 August 1.

Fayetteville, Jonesboro—Fifth Sunday in July.

Rockingham District, Gibson—July 21-24.

Our Boys and Girls

Goldsboro, N. C., April 12, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl seven years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My pastor is Rev. Mr. Trivo, and he has a nice wife, and I like them very much. I have one sister living and three brothers dead. My mama and papa are both living. Now, I will ask a question: How old was Jesus when he began preaching?

Your little friend,
BESSIE MILDRED CRAWFORD.

Winsteadville, N. C., April 8, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. G. W. Hudnell is our Superintendent. D. A. Futrell is our pastor.

I also go to every-day school. My teacher is Miss Ola Ross. I like her very much.

I will close by answering Corrinne Blalock's question: Peter was taken out of prison by the angels.

Your little unknown friend,
MATTIE M. SPARROW.

Rehoboth, N. C., April 11, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am glad when it comes so as I can read the little folks' letters and see the questions asked by them. I am a little girl thirteen years of age. I will close by asking a question and answering Leslie Rand's question. And if I make no mistake you will find the longest verse in the 8th chapter and 9th verse in the book which has not the Lord's nor God's name nor the devil's or heaven nor hell. There is such a book in the Bible.

Your unknown friend,
RUTH DRAPER.

Ocracoke, N. C., April 10, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years of age. My grandpapa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the boys' and girls' letters very much. My father and mother are both dead, and I am living with my grandmama and grandpapa.

I go to Sunday-school every Sunday, and my teacher's name is Mrs. Bettie Grant, and our Superintendent is T. W. Howard, and our pastor is Rev. R. R. Grant. I inclose ten cents for the orphans.

Yours truly,
MARTHA P. WYCHE.

Winfall, N. C., April 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. My papa takes the Advocate. I love to read it very much. I go to every-day school, and I go to Sunday-school, too, and our Superintendent is Mr. W. Mathews, and my teacher is Mr. White. I like him very much. Mr. Church is our pastor, and we like him fine.

I will close by asking a question: The baptism of John—was it from Heaven or of men?

Yours truly,
CLARA HOLLOWELL.

Garner, N. C., April 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As my other letter didn't find the waste-basket I will write again. I haven't any pets except two little calves. Mama is dead. She died in March, and I miss her very much.

I will answer Leslie Rand's question: The ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Esther is the longest verse in the Bible.

Now I will ask one: Who was taken up to heaven in a chariot of fire?

RANSOM MIDDLETON.

Burlington, N. C., April 9, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years of age. I thought I would write, as I never had. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher's name is Mrs. W. E. Hay. I like her very much. My pastor's name is Rev. D. N. Caviness. I love him very much. I go to every-day school. My teacher's name is Miss Susie Stafford. I like her very much.

Now I will close. Find inclosed five cents for the orphans.

Your unknown friend,
KATHRINE PETERSON.

Winfall, N. C., April 13, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. My papa takes the Advocate. I love to read it. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My Superintendent is Mr. Whit Mathews We all like him very much. My Sunday-school teacher is Mr. J. N. White. I also go to private school to my sister Virginia. I study arithmetic, grammar, spelling, and fifth readers. Our pastor is Rev. F. L. Church. We like him very much.

I will close by asking a question: Who was the oldest man?

Your little friend,
MATTIE NEWBOLD.

Ashepole, N. C., April 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy twelve years old, and I never wrote to the Advocate before. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folk's letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday that I can. Mr. P. B. Thompson is our Superintendent, and Mr. J. M. Ashby is our pastor. We all like him very much.

I will close by asking a question: Where was Moses buried?

Inclosed you will find ten cents for the orphans.

Your little friend,
OSCAR GAINEY.

Ruskin, N. C., April 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I have just finished reading the little folks' letters, and enjoyed them very much. Papa takes the Advocate, and I always read the letters before I read anything else. I have three sisters and three brothers. I have a sweet little correspondent. Her name is Lila Aman. She lives at Richlands, N. C. She writes some very nice letters. I wish some of the little Advocate cousins would correspond with me.

I will close in fear of the waste-basket.

Your little friend,
ELLA JESSIE WEST.

Blanche, N. C., April 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. School is out now. My teacher was Miss Kate Woolfolk. I like her very much. This is my first letter to the Advocate. My papa takes the Advocate. I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I have six sisters and three brothers, and one sister dead. I go to Sunday-school when I can. My teacher is Mrs. J. W. Allen. Our preacher is Mr. Daily. All of us like him very much.

I will close by answering Corrine Blalock's question: Paul was taken out of prison by angels.

I will ask one: Who buried Jesus.

From your little unknown friend,
KATE WATKINS.

Battleboro, N. C., April 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. My mama takes the Advocate, and I like to read the children's page very much.

I go to Sunday-school, and always like to know the lesson well. My teacher is Mr. J. H. Griffin. I go to every-day school also. We are at work on our concert pieces, and expect to have a grand commencement the 22nd. My teacher is Miss Leyta R. Carter. I love her very much. I will answer Lucy Herring's question: Joseph was an hundred and ten years old when he died, and was put in a coffin in Egypt.

I will close by asking a question: Why was not Moses allowed to enter the promised land?

Much success to the Advocate.

Your little friend,
EULA ELLEN.

Columbia, N. C., April 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy fourteen years old. Papa takes the Advocate, and I love to read the letters in it. Papa is the preacher here. The children of the Sunday-school have organized a Junior League, and we are getting on finely. We have presented a $12.50 Bible to the church, and we are going to raise $5.00 for the school in Elizabeth City. Our Superintendent is Mrs. Ida B. Boyse. This is my first letter to the Advocate.

I will close for this time, wishing to see this in print.

Our preacher's name is Rev. W. P. Constable.

From your friend,
PALMER N. CONSTABLE.

Willow, N . C., April 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years old. I go to school now. Miss Eddie Bond is my teacher. I like her very much. My papa and mamma are both dead. I have one sister fourteen years old. We live with our uncle and aunt, and we have a good home. We go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Aunt Mesia. My uncle takes the Advocate. I enjoy reading the little childrens' letters. Rev. T. J. Daily is our pastor; we like him very much.

I will answer Maud Mann's question: Moses was the meekest man.

Now I will ask one: Who was the child of promise?

I will close, hoping to see this in print. MINNIE PERRY.

Hertford, N. C., April 11, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl 14 years old. My papa takes the Advocate. I enjoy reading the children's page. My papa and mama are both living. I have four brothers and three sisters living. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Our Superintendent is Mr. Whit Mathews. We like him splendidly. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Virginia L. Newbold. I go to private school also. My teacher is Miss Virginia L. Newbold. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. F. L. Church. We all like him fine.

I will answer Minnie Johnson's question: Jesus appeared three times after the resurrection.

I will ask a question: What became of Salome?

Your friend,
NELLIE HOLLOWELL.

Milwaukee, N. C., March 9, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher's name is Mr. A. J. Panton. I like him very much. Our pastor is W. C. Merritt. This is his fourth year with us, and the thought of him having to leave us makes our hearts ache. But we hope it will not be the last year he will ever preach for us. School has closed now, and I am so sorry. I studied spelling, English grammar, arithmetic, history, geography and three others. My teacher's name is Mr. J. E. Gilliams.

Well, I will close with best wishes to all the little Advocate friends.

ACRA JOHNSON.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

"TO LADIES ONLY."

If your health is bad, (you know what I mean) I have a simple Home Made Treatment that WILL CURE YOU. Send me your address for full information. If you wish a sample, enclose 2-cent stamp for postage.

Address MRS. J. M. TURNER, Box 27, Monroe, Ga.

Summer School

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Monday, June 13th—Saturday, July 9th, 1904.

Unexcelled advantages for methods of teaching, broadening of scholarship, and special study in all branches from kindergarten to advanced course. 26 instructors. Board and lodging $10.00 for the term of four weeks. Incidental fee $5.00. Reduced railroad rates. Write for catalogue.

FRANCIS P. VENABLE,
President.
Chapel Hill, N. C.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

$38.60 Raleigh to Dallas, Tex., and return, account General Assembly Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Tickets on sale May 15th to 18th, inclusive, final return limit May 31st.

$25|75 Raleigh to New Orleans, La., and return account Southern Good Roads Meeting. Tickets on sale April 4th and 5th, final limit April 9, 1904.

$19.05 Raleigh to Jacksonville, Fla., and return account Interstate Sugar Cane Growers' Association. Tickets on sale May 2nd and 3rd, final limit May 8th, 1904.

$65.25 Raleigh to SanFrancisco, Cal., and return account General Conference Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 3 to 31, 1904; also Meeting National Association of Retail Grocers of U. S., San Francisco, Cal., May 3rd to 8th, 1904. Tickets will be sold account of the above occasions April 22nd to April 30th, final limit June 30, 1901. Liberal stop over privileges and diverse routes will be allowed west of the Mississippi River.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return account Annual Meeting Southern Baptist Convention and Auxiliary Societies. Tickets on sale May 10, 11, 12, 1904. Final return limit 10 days from date of sale. By depositing ticket with Mr. Jos. Richardson, Special Agent, and paying fee of fifty cents, final limit may be extended, but in no case to reach original starting point later than June 6, 1904.

For tickets sleeping car reservations and full particulars call on or address

T. E. GREEN, C. T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N.C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President — Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnlie Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

The study circle of Edenton Street Foreign Missionary Auxiliary, held its last meeting with Mrs. N. G. Whitfield.

After making the necessary plans for the use of our new book, "Lux Christi," in which a large number of our members are interested, Mrs. Whitfield's gracious hospitality was sealed by the serving of dainty viands to her guests, who fully enjoyed this little season of "work and refreshment."

The Bright Jewel Band of Rocky Mount, under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Boyle, made a fine report at our Annual Meeting, and was awarded the handsome Chinese banner.

In the exercises for the Bright Jewels on Saturday, the response to the address of welcome was delivered by one of the smallest of the Rocky Mount Jewels—little Miss Martha Boyle. Her self-possession and her enunciation were perfect, and there were many compliments on this initial effort of the bright little Jewel.

The Bright Jewel Band of Trinity Church, Durham, Mrs. Leon Richardson lady manager, was given the Brazilian banner for largest increase in membership.

My dear sister, while you are reading this column in the Raleigh Advocate, the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions is in session at Jacksonville, Fla. Our Conference Society is well represented by our President, Mrs. Cunninggim, and our Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. D. Swindell.

Have your prayers arisen as "sweet incense" to the throne of God, for His abiding, quickening presence during the meeting of the Board?

Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon them, and may He establish the work of their hand!

There is one item we want our readers to give a prominent place in their memories—that is, the itinerary of Mrs. Hargrove in a portion of our North Carolina Conference.

The places and dates have already been given in this column, and will be again, later on; but as it will come in July, when perhaps many of our sisters will be away from home, those who will have charge of the different meetings should "take time by the forelock," and have all arrangements well in hand.

Rockingham, Fayetteville, Wilmington, New Bern, Raleigh, and Durham are the favored cities this gifted woman will visit, and we bespeak for her, this early in advance, large audiences and attentive listeners.

The list of officers which "headlines" our column, will remain as it is for another fiscal year—a majority of the votes cast at our Annual Meeting so decreed.

All the District Secretaries, except two, were re-elected.

Mrs. M. J. Simpson was elected District Secretary of Fayetteville District, in the place of Mrs. B. N. Mann, who has moved her residence to Durham.

Mrs. Hardison was elected in the Elizabeth City District, to succeed Mrs. T. C. Blanchard, who, to the regret of her sisters, found it impossible to serve longer as District Secretary.

Miss Mary Peseud will remain in charge of the organization of Golden Links societies. "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest." O, how the heart of every Christian yearns over the ingathering of the precious young people, to the security and spiritual growth which are found in the garner of well-conducted societies for the young!

The close of the first quarter of this fiscal year is near at hand. Now is the "accepted time" for close calculation and earnest effort to put into each quarter every cent of dues and offerings that belongs to it. No procrastination must be allowed if we want to keep abreast with the demands that are upon each auxiliary.

Let us profit by the experience of the past year, and begin now, with deliberate care, and intelligent foresight, to pay into our treasury the "tithes and offerings" which we, aforetime, have been prone to put off to the hazardous "eleventh hour."

Every treasurer, knowing the number of members in her auxiliary, should keep a strict account of the amount those members should pay in during each quarter, and, if possible, keep them so informed and so urged, that she will have no trouble in collecting and reporting the whole amount due.

Each member of the auxiliaries has it in her power to relieve the treasurer of much worry in her collections, if she be prompt to hand to the treasurer what she is due the Society every month. "And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury." O, may we feel that He is near us, too, and watching and applauding as we cast in our mites!

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN.

Suffer untold agonies from ring worm, ground itch, eczema, scalp eruptions and other itching diseases of the skin. Their parents can relieve these helpless little ones promptly by the use of Tetterine. 50 cents per box, all druggists, or by mail from the manufacturer, J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Sound Waves which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.

OTOPHONE CO.
1602 Arch Street, ROOM 105 Philadelphia, Pa.

Monteagle Assembly.

Opens July 2nd, Closes August 30th.

Longest session in its history. Program has the following celebrities: Miss Clara Morris the great Emotional Actress, James Young, actor and impersonator, Rev. Sam Jones, ex Governor R. L. Taylor, Bertha Kunz Baker and many others of the very best. Splendid orchestra, entire season. Lovely cottages for rent. Hotel and boarding houses, reasonable rates. Write for full program to

M. B. PILCHER, Gen. Man.,
Monteagle, Tenn.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Mrs. E. L. Prince, South Fifth Street, Wilmington, N. C.

This is the address of our new Treasurer. Auxiliary Treasurers will please bear it in mind, for the time is drawing near for the forwarding of collections of the first quarter. I trust they will be good, proving continuance of increased interest in the great cause to which we are pledged; but whether good or poor, please forward promptly. This reminder, however, is hardly necessary, for I feel that you all desire to help Mrs. Prince in her responsible labor of love. She is a very capable woman, having been Treasurer of the South Georgia Conference, and we are very fortunate in having the benefit of her services.

John Wesley's Treasury Account.

What an example in "giving to the Lord" was the founder of our Methodist Church! In all his life he spent only $15,000 upon himself, but gave away $200,000. Our petty giving sinks into insignificance, our one-tenth dwindles almost into nothing! Yet many church members do not reach the tenth. Is it not one of the duties of the Woman's Home Mission Society to point out the privileges that are lost by paltry payments?

When the fullness of the gospel of Christ is realized, we may then hope to see Christians "give as God hath prospered them."

Papers Read at Our Annual Meeting

I hope to be able to give you in this column some of the papers read at our meeting. The one on Tithing, by Mrs. Fearing, of Elizabeth City, was especially pertinent.

So few women have any income of their own, it is sometimes difficult to discover the one-tenth they desire to give. The only way seems to be to find just how much their good husbands can and will allow them for individual expenses and by judicious arrangement and willing self-denial save the tenth. Such a course will, also, bring a gain of practical knowledge of funds and figures, much needed by many of us, and which would be a real help to husbands.

In time I hope we all will be able to see clearly the best way to carry into execution this important duty.

A New Auxiliary Hebron Church, Gates County.

I am glad to give this good news, and know you will be glad to hear it. The good work goes on in our Banner District, Elizabeth City. Mrs. W. H. Brown, wife of the pastor in charge of North Gates, is Corresponding Secretary. I hope to have the pleasure of giving names of all the officers in the future. May their labors be crowned with richest blessings.

The Revival at The Sue Bennett Memorial School.

Many of you have heard of the recent great revival in this school and have rejoiced in the glad tidings. For those who do not keep in touch with it let me quote a line from Professor Lewis, the Principal: "It would do your souls good to be here and realize how potent is the influence for good going out from this school year by year. I thank God for the privilege of having a share in it."

We, too, are glad of our share in it, and wish we could persuade many more of our sisters to join in our happiness.

NOT A SICK DAY SINCE.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses, I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Shou'd be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

It is Time to Get Ready for

SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual. White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..

(AT TUCKER'S STORE)

123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

Raleigh, N. C.

Editorial

THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS "ABSENCE."

There can be no harm in the discussion now being carried on concerning the young man's absence from church. A certain editor of one of our greatest monthly journals has explained the young man's absence in a way to reflect on the man whose prerogative it is to preach the Gospel. Well, this editor is indulging in a fashionable pastime, and we conceive it to be as much a waste of time and breath to excoriate him and the pack which yelps behind him as to berate the poor simpleton who advocates the recrudescence of the tooth-pick shoe.

It will not do, either, to wildly proclaim that the young man is not absent from church. He is absent, and that by a large majority. Of course, we are speaking in general terms. There are churches where the young man's pew is filled.

What we object to is the seeming settling down of the profane and sacred mind on the assumption that the church is the only place where the young man is conspicuous by his absence. The truth is, the young man, and the older, too, is absent from other places where truth is to be dealt out. Let a noted lecturer come into our midst, and the young man is absent (mind you, let the young man represent both sexes of all ages). Not long ago we went out to hear a noted lecturer of national reputation, and there were not so many present as to rob the auditorium of that awful "hollow ring" with which so many public speakers are acquainted.

How is it with musical concerts? If it be of a high class and solid character, the "young man" is absent, unless there are beautiful bewitching singers whose charm of face is able to eclipse the charm of voice or classic instrumental melody.

Who goes to political speakings these days? We never meet on the train or highway a candidate on his way to address his fellow citizens on the public questions of the day without being moved to a yearning pity for him. We know that in nine cases out of ten the sweetness of his carefully concocted oratorical potion will be wasted on the desert (ed) air. It was only last year that a noble band of speakers went over the State to arouse the people to overthrow ignorance. The court-houses, school-houses and country stores tell to this day pathetic stories of "absent young men."

Even the drama often disports itself on a stage which is more populous than the orchestra and galleries. It is only when burnt cork and nudeness are in evidence that the manager rejoices in full houses. So it must be evident to the discriminating mind that the "young man" is absent from other places than the church. So why harrow the minds of the saints by making them believe that the Church is the only place which the young man shuns, and that therefore there must be something horribly wrong with the preacher or with the gospel which he preaches?

This brings us to the real practical point which we desire to emphasize, and it is that the public mind and heart just now are inoculated with the germ of morbid sensationalism. Dr. Strong, in "Our Country," very clearly brings out the fact that this is a nervous generation. This nervousness we feel sure, has so vitiated the mental and moral appetite as to cause it to cry out with all the insistence of the daughters of the horse leech: "Spice! Spice!" We have learned to call the newspaper whose columns are not filled with something spicy a dull sheet, and that the only voice worth listening to is that which speaks out from the midst of red fire, whether it be on stage or in pulpit.

The problem for us to solve is to bring about a normal healthy mental and moral appetite which knows nothing of a craving for spice, but is content with the plain and century-old pabulum which makes brain and brawn, which turns the eye away from that eternal self and fixes it upon the "other man," and which makes the thought of duty done the sweetest and most appetizing condiment in the food of the soul.

WILLIS COOPER AND HIS LEGACY.

We had something to say last week concerning the reported action of the Foreign Missionary Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church in declining the large legacy of the late Willis Cooper for the reason that Mr. Cooper lost his life in the Iroquois Theatre fire. We prefaced our remarks by expressing our opinion that the report was incorrect. We did not see how such an action based upon such a motive could be made to quadrate with Christian charity or plain common sense.

We have just learned from the Northwestern Christian Advocate that the Board did decline the legacy, but that it was only for two reasons: (1) The legal adviser of the Board was of the opinion that the laws of the State of New York, by whose legislature the Society was chartered, would not permit the Board to administer the trust; (2) all the benevolent societies of the Church do not pay a rate of 6 per cent on annuities where the annuitant is under sixty years of age as was the case in the provisions of Mr. Cooper's will.

The Board of Managers of the Society, while declining the gift of Mr. Cooper, expressed their highest appreciation of his interest in Missions and ordered the resolution to be recorded in the Minutes of the Board.

We trust, now, that all those papers, secular and religious, which berated the Board for its action will take as much pains to correct the report, which if uncorrected, will do damage to the cause of Foreign Missions.

THE STEWARD AT THIS JUNCTURE.

The church steward occupies a position of high honor and great responsibility. It is nothing but natural and appropriate that he should magnify his office. That in some cases he does not do so is a fact which is sometimes almost painful to those who have the highest interests of the church at stake.

It is now the time of the year when the Steward should fight against an idea which only too widely prevails—that he is to manifest his main activity at the beginning of the year when the preacher comes and at the end of the year when the preacher goes to Conference. The preacher-in-charge needs material support now. There is not now the same amount of money in circulation as there was a few months ago or as there will be a few months later, and this is just the reason why the Steward should be more than usually attentive to the material interest of the preacher, now. The man in secular pursuits can adapt himself and his business to the comparative stringency. The faithful preacher must continue to preach the gospel and visit his people, and has no time to make any special preparation for making "both edges cut." In the meantime, expenses maintain at least an average.

We exhort every Steward in the North Carolina Conference to have a special eye right now to the material support of the preacher and his family.

GIVE THE OLD RALEIGH HER DUES.

Rev. J. W. Jenkins, Superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage, practically stated in last Sunday's News and Observer that his article which was printed in that paper had been crowded out of the Advocate.

Now we call our beloved brother to witness that at the time this statement appeared in the News and Observer, the article in question had been printed on the first side of the Advocate on the third page, at the request of Brother Jenkins, and it appears in this week's paper.

Brother Jenkins cannot possibly feel any deeper interest in the Orphanage and its affairs than the editor of the Advocate, and we must insist that we be properly represented before the public, especially in a secular paper.

In the meantime, we call the special attention of our readers to the appeal of Brother Jenkins. He needs the money. Send it right in.

SOME NEW LITERATURE.

Before George R. Stuart brought out his volume of sermons we feared that he was making a mistake in contemplating such a thing, for he is one of those unique volcanic preachers whose thought cools when transferred to the printed page. When we received Stuart's "Sermons," beautifully bound, we felt foredoomed to a certain disappointment. We read first his sermon on Temperance which, we were glad to find, was no longer called by that horrid name, "The Stump Digger." We had not read half through the sermon before we were under the same thralldom as possessed us when several years ago, with the rest of the audience, we almost lost our bearings as we listened to the rush and roar of the same sermon as it tore its way through mind and heart. We laid the book down with this mental comment: George Stuart, your book will not play you false. It will be as great an agent in carrying on the work which in a few years at most you will have to drop.

This book of sermons is published by the Pepper Publishing Company, of Philadelphia. Price, $1.00 per copy; 75 cents to preachers. Write to Mrs. Geo. R. Stuart, Cleveland, Tennessee.

* * *

People never lose interest in a personality. Hence, biography is one of the greenest meadows in the great field of literature. "Sunshine and Shade in a Happy Itinerant's Life," by Rev. Green P. Jackson, of the Tennessee Conference, is not exactly a biography. It is less, and it is more. It is a story of Jackson's life, and is compiled from the daily journal which he has kept from his early manhood. Would that he had many imitators. There is a literary vein running through the whole volume. This literary feature and the naturalness of expression bearing on a life filled to overflowing with incident serve to make the book very attractive, and, we trust, helpful, to the reader. It sells for 80 cents, and is published by our Publishing House at Nashville, Tennessee, and Dallas, Texas.

* * *

The very appearance of Dr. Tigert's "Constitutional History of American Episcopal Methodism" is impressive in its bulkiness and in the expression of the book-binder's art. The title itself is an emollient to the irritated minds of Southern Methodists who chafe under the charge that Southern Methodism is lacking in the solidities of literature. But the least capable reader who is least impressed by the superficial features mentioned cannot read 100 pages of the book without feeling that he has run square up against two things: First, the accurate, discriminating, and scholarly mind of the author, our Book Editor; second, a fine historical treatment of the constitutional phases of American Episcopal Methodism.

The present book is a revised edition, containing two new chapters, a revision of Chapter IX. of the original work, and a number of emendations and corrections. Among the Appendices is a very interesting chapter, containing "The First Discipline and the Large Minutes of 1780." We are glad that we have the revised edition. In Methodist bibliography, it should occupy an important place. As a book of reference, it is invaluable, and Methodist preachers and laymen could afford to make a large sacrifice in order to have it in their library. Price, $2.00. Obtained at our Publishing House.

* * *

There are many people, both North and South, who believe that the solution of what is known as the "race problem" is found in the colonization of the negro. We have before us a pamphlet in which this theory is argued with marked ability by a man who has given thought to the question for over one quarter of a century. The title of the pamphlet is "North America and Africa: Their Past, Present, and Future." The author is Dr. John F. Foard, of Statesville, N. C. We feel sure that the reader, if he should fail to be intellectually convinced, would be intellectually enlightened and stimulated by a careful reading of the pamphlet. Send 25 cents to Dr. Foard and procure the pamphlet.

Methodist Mention

Bids will soon be asked for a new building costing $60,000 for Emory and Henry College.

Rev. J. D. Pegram should have been credited with six new subscribers instead of five.

Rev. R. H. Willis, Morehead City Station, was recently elected Grand Chaplain of the Odd Fellows.

The Epworth League Conference of the Alabama Conference will convene in Montgomery June 22-24.

The negro members of the Northern Methodist Church are insisting upon having a Bishop of their own color.

The Robesonian has shown commendable enterprise in making its edition semi-weekly instead of weekly as heretofore.

Centenary Church, St. Louis, gave a warm welcome on May 6th to Dr. W. B. Palmore, who had just returned from a trip around the world.

Rev. E. C. Glenn has been assisting Rev. D. N. Caviness in an excellent meeting at Burlington. He is now engaged in a meeting in Greensboro.

Rev. K. D. Holmes, P. C. Roxboro Circuit, is looking forward to a great day at Oak Grove on the fifth Sunday in May. On that day they will observe Children's Day.

"Publicist" advocates in the columns of the Nashville the policy of General Conference ownership of our church papers, and a great reduction in the number of the same.

Rev. N. M. Watson writes that the meeting at Grace Church closed on last Wednesday night. There were thirty-six professions of faith and the church was most powerfully revived.

One of the features of the Lookout Mountain Missionary Conference will be Field Day. The day will be given to addresses by returned missionaries from practically all mission fields.

We have received a program of Denver District Conference which began on May 3. We notice that Rev. J. C. Jones, formerly of the North Carolina Conference, preached the introductory sermon.

Next year, Providence permitting, the "Old Raleigh" will celebrate her Jubilee. Next year she will be fifty years old. Preparations have already been begun for a celebration of her fiftieth birthday.

Dr. J. W. McGee, one of the staunchest members of Edenton Street Church and truly a "physician beloved" in Raleigh, is still very sick. Many prayers are going up for the recovery of this good and useful man.

The meeting at Greensboro, conducted by Revs. Sam Jones and George Stuart, has come to a close. It was accounted a great success. It seems likely that Greensboro will go for straight prohibition at an early date.

Rev. G. T. Simmons writes that the five Sunday-schools for Youngsville Circuit forced into winter quarters by the severe winter, have all reorganized and, together with the other one, have been organized into Sunday-School Missionary Societies.

Rev. F. B. McCall and daughter spent last Saturday in Raleigh. It was our pleasure to have their company for awhile. Brother McCall is spending his fourth year as pastor of Carr Church, Durham. He is a man who leaves everything in trim when he leaves a work. He has had a successful pastorate at Carr Church.

There will be a great sale of lots on May 27th, 1904, in Greensboro, beginning at 3 o'clock p. m. Two splendid lots will be sold, half the proceeds of which will go to the State Normal and Greensboro Female College. Messrs. Millikan & Bain, real estate brokers, who will conduct the sale, have shown great generosity toward these institutions.

We did our best to get to Aurora last week. We lost two nights sleep and traveled 150 miles, but a late train did the work for us. We were grievously disappointed, for we greatly desired to see the brethren of the Washington District and the good people of Aurora. But who can compete with latter day railroad schedules?

Three distinguished English Wesleyan preachers are in America at this time: Rev. James Chapman, Cole Lecturer at Vanderbilt University; Rev. S. Waddy Moss, fraternal delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Rev. Mark Guy Pearse, who has been on an extended tour of the United States and Canada.

Brother Burrows, of the Midland, opines that it is bad enough for laymen to go to sleep in church, but that "when preachers at a Conference, or elsewhere, go down in such soporific bending, it is demoralizing to the struggling brother in the pulpit." Brother Burrows, however, insists that he has no ground for personal complaint. This deponent has.

Hon. F. A. Woodard who loses no opportunity to show his interest in the Advocate and all other Methodist affairs paid his respects to this office on last Friday. He was one of the counsel in the famous case involving the suit of the Corporation Commission against the A. C. L. R. R. When the State is on the hunt for a man to fill any of her official places, no matter how high, she would show wisdom in considering F. A. Woodard.

Rev. J. O. Guthrie reports that there will soon be a new parsonage at Selma. He speaks glowingly of the prospects of Selma, affirming that it is one of the strategic points in the Conference. There is already under way a $100,000 cotton mill, and within the next few months there will be projected another great enterprise, which means the influx of hundreds of people into the town. There is an "open door" at Selma for Methodism.

The Associated Press says of Dr. Kilgo, who delivered his address to the General Conference at Los Angeles on the 11th: "Dr. Kilgo aroused the enthusiasm of the delegates to a degree not before reached in the Conference by his eloquent peroration in which he asserted that no one could love the Stars and Stripes more than the people of the South. At the conclusion of his address, the entire audience arose at the request of Bishop Andrews and sang 'America.'"

Last Wednesday was a great day on Wofford's campus. May 4 was the seventy-ninth anniversary of the birthday of Dr. Carlisle, the Nestor of the faculty, and was fittingly celebrated by students and professors. Dr. Carlisle's colleagues and the boys who sit at the feet of the "grand old man" love him, and they know that he knows they love him; but, notwithstanding that fact, they reminded him of it Wednesday in a way that touched the Doctor very profoundly.—Southern Christian Advocate.

The Rev. W. P. Constable preached last night in Central Methodist Episcopal Church upon the subject of the safety and victory of the man who trusts in God. It was the farewell sermon of this divine, who will leave today for his home in Columbia, N. C., accompanied by his wife and child. His earnest presentation of truth in the revival services for the past two weeks has been of great help to many. The Rev. J. W. Stiff, pastor of the church, announced that the meetings will continue, special services being held next Sunday.—Norfolk Landmark, May 7.

The Collegian (Louisburg Female College) for April is an alumnae issue. It is beautifully printed and handsomely engraved. It contains the photos of many of the alumnae of the long ago, some of whom are now silver-haired and others who have passed away from the scenes of earth. It also contains interesting letters and reminiscences. We prize highly the copy so kindly sent to the Advocate, and advise all who can procure a copy to do so. It makes interesting reading for young and old, male and female. Mrs. Jno. R. Brooks, of the class of '63, shows great skill in the editorial management of this issue.

Publisher's Column

THE OUTLOOK.

It rejoices us to know that the brethren continue to send in new subscribers. We lack now only a little over one hundred of having the number aimed at in the Conference Resolutions. We are going to have this number—and more. We believe that if the brethren keep up their interest during the year that the number will reach 2,000 by the close of the Conference year.

Some sections of the State are right now in the midst of the trucking season. This means that now is the best time to work for new subscribers in those sections. We trust that the brethren will utilize their golden opportunity.

Remember that the same offers are made to the preachers as were made to them before May 4.

We trust to bring out another District Edition soon. In every case where a District Edition has been issued, the request has come from the Presiding Elder and its matter has been furnished by his District.

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them, and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Hendersen next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.00.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following is the report since May 11:

B. C. Glover	21
Rev. L. H. Joyner	3
Rev. H. G. Stancy	4
Rev. N. H. Guyton	2
Rev. J. W. Hoyle	1
Rev. R. L. Davis	1
Rev. J. W. Bradley	1
Rev. W. F. Craven	1
Rev. A. J. Parker	1
Rev. J. H. Hall	1

The following is the report by Districts since May 4:

Fayetteville District	32 increase	4
Wilmington District	23 increase	23
Rockingham District	11 increase	6
New Bern District	10 increase	0
Washington District	7 increase	0
Elizabeth City District	7 increase	2
Warrenton District	5 increase	1
Raleigh District	1 increase	0
Durham District	1 increase	0

Total number new subscribers received since December 1, 1903, 1,234.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

Amounts subscribed since last week:

O. C. Hamilton, Mint Hill, N. C.	$1.00
J. L. Keene, Sr., Grifton, N. C.	1.00
Rev. C. P. Jerome, West Durham, N. C.	1.00
J. H. Southgate, Durham, N. C.	2.00
Rev. R. L. Davis, Windsor, N. C.	1.00
Cash	1.00
Rev. A. W. Pigler, Weaverville, N. C.	1.00
Dr. W. G. Bradshaw, High Point	5.00
Rev. M. A. Smith, Wadesboro, N. C.	1.00
J. R. Mendenhall, Greensboro, N. C.	1.00
J. E. Walker, Asheboro, N. C.	1.00
Amount previously reported	142.85
Total to date	158.85
Total amount needed	$500.00

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE
DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE LITERARY EVANGELISTIC
ALL FOR CHRIST
EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

League Notes.

The Holston Epworth League Conference promises to be a great event. By the way, how does the Epworth League of the North Carolina Conference manage to get along without a Conference?—Raleigh Advocate. Poor enough. Secretary Adams has not found a suitable home for us. Give us an invitation to Raleigh.

The Jubilee number of the Era has, for some cause, failed to reach us.

The Texas Leagues met in Conference at Waco, May 5.

All the North Texas Districts are organized except two.

Centenary (Newbern) League has pledged $500 to the building of the new church. It is hoped the building committee will remember them in a suitable League room.

Life Issues.

In Proverbs, the fourth chapter and twenty-third verse, we read: "Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." We are so kept by the power of God unto salvation we are apt to forget we have any keeping to do. This passage teaches us that we are to watch, guide, restrain, preserve that fountain of real life—the heart. Every one knows it does not mean the fleshy, muscular organ; but that which is the seat and centre of the mental, moral and spiritual faculties and powers. While the heart beats there is life, but what makes the heart beat is a mystery. Physiologists tell us all about the formation of the brain, but none of them ever saw the thought that passes through it, and it is that inmost essence, which no eye can ever see, and no philosophy ever explain, that is to be kept with all diligence, or, as the marginal reading has it, "above all keeping." Nothing else is to be guarded so zealously and kept so carefully, because out of it are the issues of life. The issues of life are from within, and not from without. They have their source-spring and fountain in the heart. A man may live in a royal palace with all the wealth of a Rockefeller many times multiplied, with all this world's luxuries that heart could wish for, and be the most miserable being on earth, living in a veritable hell, and with his mouth full of cursing. Another man lives in a little hut; he has hardly the necessaries of life. He lies upon a bed of straw and suffers the agonies of inflammatory rheumatism, but ever and anon he bursts forth into songs of praise and hallelujahs of thanksgiving. He testifies to his supreme happiness and abundant life. In the one instance, where from outward appearances we would most expect to find happiness, we look for it and it is not here. In the latter case, where we least expect to find it, lo! it is there. How is it? Because happiness, joy, peace, life are in the heart, and not in material things. Out of the heart are the issues of life; keep the jewel with all diligence.—Rev. A. K. Birks, in Canada Epworth Era.

League Mephibosheths.

Poor Mephibosheth! He could eat well, sleep well, talk well, but he could not walk. Lame in both feet. We do not know how many children he left, but he has many descendants alive today. Every church, every League, can supply one or more. Perhaps the brother makes a picturesque figure at Conference or Convention. He can talk well, he can pray well, and he literally revels in good addresses and good music, but when it comes to patient attendance at League, or class-meeting, or Sabbath-school, he is lame in both feet. When it comes to red hot fight against whiskey, when you want some one to buttonhole doubtfuls and marshal votes at the polling-booth, you have his sympathy, you have his prayers, but unfortunately he is lame in both feet. What causes this lameness? It is a kind of spiritual rheumatism, and fortunately is amenable to treatment. Let but a wave of spiritual enthusiasm sweep through the man, and in a moment the lameness is gone, the crutches are thrown aside, and the spiritually lame walks and leaps and praises God, and evermore runs to do his Master's will—Selected.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.

Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.

E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes:

"Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."

For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.

LONGMAN & MARTINEZ,
Manufacturers, New York.

ALTHOUGH SUFFERING WITH CONSUMPTIONMRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY CURED HIM. ONE OF THE GREATEST ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE AGE.

I was very ill and confined to my bed. The doctors and every one else said I had consumption. My mother, two uncles, an aunt, and my sister, twelve years old, all died of consumption. My family were confident that I was going the same way, and that I could not live much longer. I had a terrible cough and night sweats, and I was just a living skeleton. I commenced taking Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and in a short while I began to improve and continued to do so, and now I can truthfully say that I believe if I had not taken the Remedy I would have been in my grave today. I have taken over one hundred bottles, and now I am a well man. I am, Yours truly,

FRED HOWELL.
Goldsboro, N. C., April 28, 1903.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs. Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113 RALEIGH, N. C.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

CAPUDINE
Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE.
10c. 25c. 50c, A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them.' Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisians; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES
VIA
Seaboard Air Line Railway
TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for May 22, 1904.

Jesus Teaches Humility.

(Mark 10:35-45.)

Golden Text: For even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister. (Mark 10:45.)

Jesus was now near the close of his Perean ministry. He was proceeding toward Jerusalem, where he knew that death awaited him, yet he moved forward "with majesty and heroism." "There are few pictures in the gospel," says Canon Farrar, "more striking than this of Jesus going forth to his death, and walking alone along the path into the deep valley, while behind him, in awful reverence and mingled anticipations of dread and hope, the disciples walked and dared not disturb his meditation.'

An Ambitious Request.—Though Jesus had clearly indicated to the disciples the tragic end which was in store for him, they seem utterly to have failed to comprehend his meaning. A conclusive evidence of this is seen in the startling request which was made by the two sons of Zebedee, James and John, who with their mother Salome came and asked, that they might sit, one on the right hand, and the other on the left hand of Jesus in his glory.

The Master's Renly.—The two disciples ask that they might have the two chief places of honor in an earthly kingdom, which they imagined that Jesus was about to establish. But the Master admonishes them that they know not what they ask, and then he promises them, not that they shall sit in the coveted places of honor, but that they should drink of the cup that he was to drink, and be baptized with the baptism wherewith he should be baptized. In other words, they were to be partakers of like sufferings with him, and in the martyrdom of James (Aets 12:2), and the bnishment of John to Patmos, these predictions received their fulfillment.

The Characteristics of true Greatness.—The ambition showed by James and John aroused the resentment of the other disciples. Jealousy and ambition were evidently rife among these men whom Jesus had chosen to be his apostles, and the situation called forth from the Master's lips a definition of what true greatness really is. "Whosoever will be great among you shall be your minister." said Jesus. "Your minister"—that is, your servant. Service, then, is the true badge of greatness in the kingdom which Jesus came to establish. Not pride and ambition, but meekness and humility are to be the distinguishing characteristics of the followers of Christ.

The Supreme Mission of Jesus.—It is in this connection that Jesus spoke the memorable words, which may be rightly regarded as the culminating statement of his own mission upon the earth. He is himself a shining exemplar of the principles which he had just been enunciating to his disciples, for we know both by his own life and death that "even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

KEEP POSTED.—Your name and address will bring you the North American Miner six months free. Learn what a few dollars may do. Lake & Herring, 2 E. Saratoga St., Baltimore, Md.

CURES ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES AND CARBUNCLES.—COST NOTHING TO TRY.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is now recognized as a certain and sure cure for eczema, itching skin, humors, scabs, scales, watery blisters, pimples, aching bones or joints, boils, carbuncles, prickling pain in the skin, old, eating sores, ulcers, etc. Botanic Blood Balm taken internally, cures the worst and most deep-seated cases by enriching, purifying and vitalizing the blood, thereby giving a healthy blood supply to the skin. Botanic Blood Balm is the only cure, to stay cured, for these awful, annoying skin troubles. Heals every sore and gives the rich glow of health to the skin. Builds up the broken down body and makes the blood red and nourishing. Especially advised for chronic, old cases that doctors, patent medicines and hot springs fail to cure. Druggists, $1.00. To prove B. B. B. cures, sample sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble, and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobbacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

DOESN'T RESPECT OLD AGE.

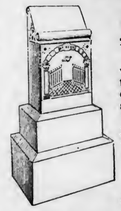
It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure internal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment," but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.

Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS
Please mention this paper.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.
Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to
F. E. CLARK, TRAV. PASS'R AGT., ATLANTA, GA.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT.
ATLANTA, GA.

DON'T
give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class	First-Class	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class	Second-Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 25	8.....†Carraleigh Mills...	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 51	4 39	F.....† Barnes	9 20	6 06
8 00	4 45	F.....Hobby	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M.....†McCULLERS.....	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 40
8 30	4 58	F.....Austins.....	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs...	8 40	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 35	5 30	S...† Finney Springs..	8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley	8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00	F.....*Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington	7 45	3 50
Ar.	Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

SEABOARD
AIR LINE RAILWAY

Short Line to principal cities of the South and Southwest, Florida, Cuba, Texas, California and Mexico, also North and Northwest, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Memphis and Kansas City.

Trains leaves Raleigh as follows:

No. 50. NORTHBOUND.

1.20 a. m.—"Seaboard Express," for Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all points North, Northeast and Northwest.

No. 38.

11.10 a. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for ALL POINTS from Raleigh to Portsmouth, Norlina to Richmond; connects at Henderson for Oxford and Weldon with A. C. L.; at Portsmouth-Norfolk with ALL STEAMERS for points North and Northeast.

No. 66.

11.35 a. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Connects at Richmond with C. and O. for Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis; at Washington with Pennsylvania and B. and O. for all points.

No. 57. SOUTHBOUND.

4.15 a. m.—"Seaboard Express" for Charlotte, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

No. 41.

4.00 p. m.—"Seaboard Local Mail" for Charlotte, Atlanta and all local points. Connects at Atlanta for all points South and Southwest.

No. 27

7.10 p. m.—"Seaboard Mail" for Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Atlanta, Columbia, Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa and all points South and Southwest.

UP-TOWN TICKET OFFICE,
Yarborough House Building.

C. H. GATTIS, C. T. & P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
'Phones 117.

Secular News

STATE.

Senator Simmons will spend his summer at Beaufort, N. C.

The Republican State Convention meets in Greensboro this week.

The North Carolina Teachers' Assembly will meet in Morehead City June 8th to 12th.

A high diver with a carnival company at Goldsboro was killed last week while making his dive. He struck the tank which contained the water into which he dived.

A band of Christian Crusaders have stationed themselves near Trading Ford, on the Yadkin River, some two miles east of Spencer, where they are holding a series of religious meetings.

The annual meeting of the trustees of the Baptist Female University was held in Raleigh Monday afternoon, at which time the name of the College was changed to the Baptist University for Women.

Mr. James H. Chadbourn in a talk before the Chamber of Commerce of Wilmington made the interesting statement that more strawberries are shipped from Chadbourn, N. C., than any one market in the world.

The Commission for Church Work Among Colored People, one of the recognized auxiliaries of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Episcopal Church in this country, held a session in Raleigh on Tuesday.

A charter has been issued for the Waccamaw Land and Lumber Company of Brunswick County. The capital stock is $1,000,000, and the incorporators F. W. Wheeler and E. H. Sullivan of Detroit, Mich., and Hon. John D. Bellamy of Wilmington.

In the United States Supreme Court, Monday, Judge James E. Shepherd, on behalf of the State of North Carolina, asked permission of the Court to file a brief for a rehearing of the suit against this State decided some weeks ago in favor of South Dakota.

After receiving the answer of the eleven Robeson County lawyers charged with contempt of court, and the thirty-three affidavits they offer to maintain their position, Judge Peebles continued the hearing until Thursday, May 26, when the matter will be fought to a finish before his honor at Lumberton.

Major H. L. Grant, clerk of the United States District and Circuit Courts in this city, received an order from Judge Purnell, who is in Richmond sitting on the bench of the Circuit Court of appeals, postponing the term of the District Court set for May 23rd until May 30th.

Judge Brown in the Superior Court of Wake County, decided against ex-Treasurer Worth in the case where Worth was suing on a private bond for $5,000 given by W. H. Martin, one of his clerks, who stole $17,000 from the Treasury. The judge said the statue of limitations applied to the bond as it was given in 1895 and replaced later by one in a bonding company.

Possibly the largest compensation ever earned in one case by a North Carolina lawyer was that recently received by ex-Senator Marion Butler for his services before the Congress as attorney for the Delaware Indians. He and two other attorneys are to receive an interest in the tribal lands in the oil region of the Indian Territory, supposed to be worth more than a half million dollars.

GENERAL.

The area of Corea is 82,000 square miles.

London bridge is crossed every day by 220,000 people.

Education costs $165,000 and religious sacrifices $186,000 in Corea.

There is $300,000,000 of British money invested in submarine cables.

The population of Japan is 12 times as dense as the United States.

The New York postoffice last year showed a profit of more than $8,000,000.

The population of Corea is 17,000,000, including 25,000 Japanese, who control the country's activities.

An English auctioneer was compelled to sell the furniture of his own household in lieu of a debt.

Gold is the great mineral wealth of Corea, nearly $3,000,000 worth being exported annually.

Five men were killed and a number of others injured by an explosion in an Illinois coal mine.

President Roosevelt has issued formal instructions for the government of the Panama canal zone.

Fourteen hundred delegates are attending the international convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Buffalo, N. Y.

Two officers and fifteen men of the Seventeenth U. S. Infantry, were killed and five men wounded by Moros in the island of Mindanoa.

Edward Emmet, a woodsman, who claimed St. Louis as his home, died at Horton, W. Va., from drinking hot drops as a substitute for whiskey.

The dead body of E. L. Wentz, the young millionaire, missing for months past, has been found in the mountains in Wise County, Virginia.

The United States received last year $151,000,000 of public revenue from the tax on spirits and $47,000,000 from the tax on beer, a total of $178,000,000.

Several of the public schools of Albany, N. Y., are to have gardens this spring, cultivated and tended by the pupils, under the direction of the teachers. Vegetables and flowers will be grown.

The school teachers at Cartersville, Ill., have gone on a strike because of the discharge of one of their number. This is the first strike since the organization of the Teacher's Union.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of urine difficulties. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 238, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it

Teachers Wanted!
Teachers Wanted!!

Do You Wish a Better Salary? We need several hundred teachers at once for Southern Schools and Colleges. Best Agency Service in the South. Eleventh Year.
SHERIDAN'S TEACHERS AGENCY,
Box E, Greenwood, S. C.

P. S.—This notice will not appear again.

UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

THE SSS BEST TONIC

It increases the appetite, tones up the stomach, invigorates and strengthens the system, and furnishes purer and better blood for the upbuilding of the run-down constitution. You will find no tonic to act so promptly and beneficially where the health has given way, the strength over-taxed by hard work and close confinement. Those living in the low, marshy sections of the country, exposed to miasmatic poisons and breathing the impure air arising from stagnant pools and swamps, till their systems are filled with malaria and their health undermined, will find S. S. S. a most excellent tonic, and its timely use has many times prevented the serious complications that so often result from malaria.

Good blood, good appetite and good digestion are the foundation stones of good health. S. S. S. supplies all these, containing as it does ingredients for the purification of the blood and also well-known tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy in cases where the blood has deteriorated, the stomach disordered and appetite has failed.

S. S. S. being a purely vegetable compound, leaves no bad after-effects, like the strong potash and mineral remedies, which are bad on the stomach and nerves. A course of S. S. S. now will fortify the system, and the impurities that have accumulated through the long winter months are more readily and promptly thrown off, and the warm weather finds you in good physical condition, instead of weak, run-down, tired and debilitated, with no appetite or energy, as is apt to be the case where the system is neglected and nature left to take care of herself. If you need a tonic and appetizer, you will find S. S. S. the best. Medical advice without charge to all who write us about their case.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Canton, Ohio, Aug. 6, 1903.

Gentlemen: S. S. S. is a good medicine. I keep it in the house all the while. It is an excellent tonic to give strength to the system and tone to all the organs. It gives appetite and energy and makes one feel better in every way. I have found it also an excellent blood purifier. For months I was troubled with an itching skin eruption on the face, and I tried specialists and many remedies to get a cure, but S. S. S. is the only medicine that seemed to relieve. I am now comparatively free of this eruption. I think a great deal of your medicine, believing it to be the best blood purifier and tonic known to the world to-day.

MRS. FRANK HORNER.
1380 E. Seventh st.

Altoona, Pa., June 20, 1903.

I have always been averse to giving a testimonial, and only do so now because of a desire to have others benefited by the use of your most excellent medicine. Before using S. S. S. this spring I very much felt the need of a tonic; was troubled with Dyspepsia and Constipation, and my blood was in bad condition. The use of your specific has driven away all indications of Dyspepsia, regulated my bowels, enriched my blood, and caused me to gain 20 pounds in weight, so that I feel in better physical condition than I have in years. In my judgment there is no better tonic and blood purifier on the market than your preparation, and I unhesitatingly recommend it as such.

A. L. FISHER.

WHITE GOODS FOR SUMMER WEAR.

For warm weather dresses, nothing looks cooler and daintier than white and our patterns this year are entrancingly beautiful.

DIRIGO NOVELTIES
28 inches wide, with a lace stripe, 12½c yard.
FIGURED PIQUE
27 inches wide, 25c and 39c yard.
STRIPED MADRAS
32 inches wide, 25c yard.

Fine White India Lawns, 40 inches wide..12½c.
White Persian Lawn, 42 inches wide.....25c
White Organdies, 60 inches wide..40, 50, 60c.
French Batiste, 40 inches wide.....25, 39, 50c.
India Linons, 32 inches wide.....12½, 17, 20c.
Damask Waisting.....25c.
Long Cloth, 12 yards to a piece, $1.19 per piece.

Write us for samples.
Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association

Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : : :

Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

BUY THE BOOK YOU WILL READ! SELL THE BOOK THE PEOPLE WILL BUY!

GOOD AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE. LIBERAL TERMS. WRITE TO-DAY.

Fast Selling Book. Tells how many church members travel with the reliake to the spirit of worldliness in the church, and should inspire the reader to a life full of consecration to Christ. New and fascinating. SELLS EASILY. Get a copy for yourself. After reading it, show it to your friends and neighbors, and quickly sell half a dozen, or several dozen; or, make a regular canvass for two months and earn from $5 to $10 per day. No experience required. 350 pages, 18 illustrations. Cloth, $1; half morocco, $1.50. Send $1 for complete book, postpaid, and ask for our special terms to good agents.

REX MANUFACTURING CO., Dept. B, P. O. Box 393, Nashville, Tenn.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, - Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Dover.

I went to Dover last Saturday to play Presiding Elder for Dr. Swindell. But Brother Caraway, the P. C., was sick, and the Q. M. had been called off, and as it was Baptist day, I returned to Kinston and spent the day with that goodly people. It was my intention to go out to Rainboro and Hookerton; but an attack of vertigo Sunday morning kept me in bed until it was too late to go. Bro. John Hooker and his matronly wife, gave me a most pleasant lodging place in Kinston.

Receipts up to May 15.

Rocky Mount S. S. in full for 1903, $23.89; Mrs. M. T. Hambrick, small window, $2.00; Murfreesboro, $43.45; Murfreesboro S. S., $7.45; Lumberton S. S., $11.17; Osmonds S. S., $7.50; Gibson S. S., $2.50; St. Johns S. S., $2.50; G. H. A. Lilly, two windows, $8.00; G. H. A. Lilly, general fund, $2.00; City Roads S. S., Elizabeth City, $5.00; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mabry, memorial, $4.00; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mabry, general fund, $1.00; Miss Etta Harris, on subs., $1.00; Judge O. H. Allen, on subs., $5.00; Miss Addie Matthews, $1.00; Parkers S. S., for May, $5.00; Louisburg S. S., two $4.00 windows, $8.00; Trinity S. S., Columbia Circuit, $1.70; Trinity S. S., Columbia Circuit, Session Bible Class, small window, $2.00; Smithfield S. S., for May, $5.00; Pittsboro S. S., for May, $2.95.

A Pleasant Little Visitor.

Little Adolphus Hunter Page, of Cheraw, S. C., came out with his mother, Mrs. Dollie Page, and aunt, Mrs. Dunn, to see the Orphanage, and especially the children. He likes us. Has the Advocate read backwards to him, and brought a little surprise gift to every one. The children were puzzled to know how he knew how many there were. It was a juicy orange, with candy to season it. He wanted to see them and to distribute the gifts to them. But they were too widely scattered at that hour. So they were formed in line later and received them with sincere thanks. Bless the little boy! Come again Dollie, Jr. We love the Pages. May the "Book" continue to grow!

Cary—Apex.

A cold contracted on our way from Stedman, kept us in doors mostly last week. So we failed to meet our appointment at Rocky Mount, Sunday 10th. Feeling better Sunday morning we took Bob and went to Cary. We never fail to go to Cary when we get a chance. It was a surprise to them. We bantered them to surprise us in the collection, and they did. Cary is always liberal. A passing glimpse of that dear people, and a good dinner with Professor Middleton, and Starling, G. B., and I were away for Apex. His little blooded nag seemed very anxious to show us his heels. But George had him strapped down. Dear little church of Apex! Faithful yet. None truer. If they had a hundred such members what would they not do? A night's rest in our old room at the preacher's home, at Brother Utley's cultured home, was a great treat. Brother Utley is a good Baptist. But we have the bigger share in sister Utley and the children.

Mount Pleasant, Mann's Chapel and Bynum.

These are all on the Haw River Circuit. Mount Pleasant is the handsomest country church that I know of. Mann's Chapel is an off-shoot on the north and Bynum an off-shoot on the south, from old Mount Pleasant. I had all the morning in which to talk to the Sunday-school, and a square hour to devote to the great congregation. Their patience was highly commendable. A good country dinner with Brother Norwood, set off with some good buttermilk, that would make John Cole's mouth water for a month, and a short nap, put the orphan boy in good trim for Mann's, at 3.30 p. m. That was a goodly afternoon congregation. The ride over those healthy hills along those romantic roads fitted one well for the night service at Bynum. There are no better people in Chatham than these. The Manns, the Snipes, the Atwaters, the Bynums. They are greatly mixed—the Strouds, the Baldwins, the Norwoods, the Fearingtons, the Lamberts, and others too tedious to mention, constitute a most excellent citizenship.

Bailey, our Robert, paid me the highest compliment that I have had in the longest time. He said that I was good in wind. That is long-winded. A horse couldn't have a higher compliment than that. Robert has the reins well in hand. They all love him, and they ought to, because he loves everybody. But who could not succeed with such a helpmeet as he has. Then the boys are both hopeful and helpful. I hope to go that way again. They are wife's kinfolks, you know. There are lots of good things in Chatham besides rabbits.

About Pipe Organs
WRITE
Hutchings-Votey Organ Company,
23 Irvington St., Boston, Mass.

We have recently taken in exchange a two manual organ of 15 stops, in very good condition. Write for particulars. Can be seen and heard by applying to James Charles Craft, 119 N. Sixth St., Wilmington, N. C.

Positions. High-grade commercial, professional and positions of all kinds procured everywhere; office connections in all principal cities, and our facilities for Carnegie service are unsurpassed; we guarantee the position in every case.
If you desire a position or better salary, send us $1.00 for registration fee and let us place you.
Union Bureau of Registration,
Temple Court Building, Atlanta, Ga.

BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED ALT BRICK,

The Greatest Stock Remedy Known.

As a tonic, blood purifier, liver and kidney regulator and aider of digestion, it has no equal.
No dosing, drenching or mixing with feed. Every animal his own doctor. Always in place and ready for use. Thousands endorse its wonderful merits. If your dealer does not handle it, enclose us $1 for trial sample of four bricks sent by express prepaid. Fully guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For further particulars write for full descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc. Special prices to dealers.
Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Sole Mfrs., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THE ONLY "FRATERNAL" HOTEL ON THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS
IS THE
Fraternal Home Hotel
Clayton Road, 2 blocks West of Skinner Road.

Endorsed by the Leading Fraternities.

100 yards from Main South Entrance to the World's Fair. Take Market Street Car line from Union Station to Terminus (West End Heights), walk one block West to the to the top of the Hill. Under the control of the Exposition Management as to Safe Methods of Construction and Uniform Fixed Rates.

IT IS AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT—Every room an outside room. Away from all the noise of railroads and street cars. A quiet, homelike place. Pure filtered water. Electrically lighted. Window Screens for every room. A Special Low Rate of $1.00 per day per person to all parties who write and mention this paper during this month. Send $1.00 for Certificate of Credit. This secures your reservation in advance. The balance is paid on arrival at the hotel. The low rate of One Dollar per day does not include meals. Meals 50 cents. Also a la carte service at moderate prices. All rooms accommodate two persons (separate beds if desired). New Building—New Furniture. A thoroughly Up-to-date Hotel—Extra precaution taken to prevent fire—Free telephone service.

As only a limited number of Certificates of Credit will be issued, and as they are going fast, do not delay in writing for them. Send for descriptive circular and rates for rooms en suite, with private bath.

Fraternal Home Hotel Co.,
Dept. A., Downtown Office, Second Floor, 720-722 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
Nashville, Tenn.

Summer Session: June 8- August 5, 1904. 20 courses especially for Teachers. 10 secondary School Courses. 25 College Courses. Only charge $5.00. Railroad rates, One fare for round trip plus 25 cents. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20; July 3, 4, 5. Write for information.

THE COUNTRY IS RINGING WITH THE PRAISES OF THE "Southland Belle" Shoes
FAMOUS BECAUSE MERITORIOUS. THE BEST IN AMERICA FOR $1.50. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.
IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM, A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.
CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.
LEADING SHOE MANUFACTURERS OF THE SOUTH.
LYNCHBURG--------VA.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.
J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C.
SECOND ROUND.
Currituck, April 30, May 1
Dare, at Stumpy Point, May 7, 8
Kitty Hawk, at Collington, May 10
Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WARRENTON DISTRICT.
G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Weldon, May 1, 2
Battleboro and Whitakers, McTyeire, May 7, 8
Roanoke Circuit, Ebenezer, May 14, 15
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Carver's Creek, Hebron, May 14, 15
Onslow Queen's Creek, May 21, 22
Scott's Hill, Union, May 28, 29
New River, Sneal's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

NEW BERN DISTRICT.
F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Snow Hill, Mount Herman, May 14-15
Straits, Springfield, May 21-22
Atlantic, Wit, May 23-24
Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Fetbel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Lillington, Spring Hill May 6
Buckhorne, Olive Branch, May 7, 8
Sanford, Jones Chapel, May 13
Goldsboro, Asbury, May 14, 15
Newton Grove, May 20
Dukes, Elevation, May 21, 22
Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.
John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Montgomery, Ophir, May 14, 15
THIRD ROUND—IN PART.
Lumberton Circuit, Regan, May 21, 22
Maxton and Caledonia, Maxton, May 29, 30
Rockingham Station, June 4, 5
Robardet Circuit, Mt. Pleasant, June 11, 12
Hamlet Circuit, Snead's Grove, June 18, 19
Richmond Circuit, St. Paul, June 25, 26
Laurenburg Station, July 3, 4
Rowland Circuit, Oak Grove, July 9, 10
Robeson Circuit, Olivet, July 16, 17
St John and Gibson, Gibson, July 23, 24

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Aurora (District Conference), May 14
Farmville, Bethlehem, May 21, 22
Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night. June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.
J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, at Mt. Tirzah, May 14, 15
Burlington Circuit, at Mt. Vernon, May 21, 22
THIRD ROUND.
Roxboro Ct., Oak Grove, May 27
Durham Ct., Orange Factory, May 28, 29
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham, Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night
Milton, Providence, June 25, 26
Hillsboro, Walnutt Grove, July 2, 3
Leasburg, Union, July 9, 10
Chapel Hill, July 16, 17
Yanceyville, Prospect, July 23, 24
Alamance, Clover Garden, August 6, 7
Burlington, Prospect, August 13, 14
Burlington Station, August 21, 22
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, at Haw River, August 27, 28
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, September 3, 4

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Granville Circuit, May 14, 15
Cary, May 21, 22
Kenly, May 28
Wakefield, May 28, 29
Tar River, May 28, 29
THIRD ROUND
Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Central, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Kenly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 8
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

RIGGAN.—Mrs. Martha L. Riggan, nee Caudle, was born May 24, 1879, and died of consumption, February 10, 1904. She endured her afflictions patiently, without a murmur, and died in hope of a blessed immortality. At the age of 13 years she professed religion, and joined the Baptist church, of which she remained a consistent member till her death. When she was 14 years old her mother died, leaving to her care seven children, and though so young herself, she largely filled a mother's place to them. On April 16, 1902, she was married to Mr. John J. Riggan, of Woodworth, N. C. At her marriage she became the step-mother of five children, and was to them a mother. Her short life was one of toil and watchful care, and I am told that she did her part well. Her father, brothers, sisters, husband, and an infant seven months old survive her. May God bless and save them.

L. M. CHAFFIN.

HARRIS.—Abigail Terrell Harris was born February 12, 1818, died March 18, 1904.

She was married to David Harris February 27, 1834. Fourteen children were born to them, ten sons and four daughters, nine of whom are still living. She was converted and joined the Methodist Church early in life, in which communion she lived faithfully till God called her to membership in the triumphant church in Heaven.

She was ever patient, trustful and uncomplaining.

Her fortitude and resignation were comforting evidences of the faith that dwelt in her. Her pastor had an opportunity of knowing her well the last two years of her life. To him and to all with whom she mingled, she gave comfortinz assurances of peaceful communion with God. The world is made richer and better by her life of faith. When the messenger called for her, she was anxious and ready to go.

Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

M. D. DIX.

HYDE.—Absalom Hyde was born in Pickens, S. C., February 22, 1836, and died in Salisbury, N. C., April 10, 1904. In early youth Brother Hyde joined the M. E. Church, South, and lived and died in its fellowship and love. For four years prior to the Civil War he served in the United States Army under General Johnson. When the Civil War broke out he sought an honorable discharge that he might come home and join the Confederate Army, but this was refused him. He then entered the Federal Army and went through the four years' struggle being twice wounded in the battle of Gettysburg. After the war he was employed as keeper of National Cemeteries at Fort Leavenworth and Fort Scott, Kan.; Fort Gibson, I. T.; Fort Donaldson, Tenn.; New Bern and Salisbury, N. C. He was a brave soldier and a faithful employee of the Government, a good man, a kind husband and a devoted father. Though he has lived in Salisbury but a few months he had won many friends and general respect. We gave him a Christian burial, assisted by the Masonic fraternity, of which he was an honored member. May God bless the grief-stricken children, and help them to emulate the Christian example of their dear father.

W. R. WARE, Pastor.

LIPSCOMBE.—Thos. Lipscombe died after months of severe suffering at his home near Durham, N. C., April 1, 1904, being about fifty-two years old.

Brother Lipscombe was an excellent citizen. He served his community as magistrate and his county as County Commissioner.

He was converted to God about fourteen years ago, and at once joined the Methodist Church, which he efficiently served as Sunday-school Superintendent and steward.

The Christian life to him was real. It meant renunciation of sin and a full and hearty co-operation with God and his church to do good. He despised pretension, but had great love for the truth, and believed the promises of God.

A helpful neighbor was he, a loving father, a true and devoted husband.

He died well. More than once did he assure us that he was ready to depart and be with Christ.

J. B. THOMPSON. P. C.

BALDWIN.—Mrs. Annie Eliza Baldwin, daughter of Dr. D. N. Patterson, was born January 27, 1869. She was converted and joined the Presbyterian Church in early girlhood. On November 27, 1894, she was married to Thomas Roper Baldwin. Five children were born to them, three of whom are still living. She died at her home in Mangum, Thursday, March 30, 1904.

Mrs. Baldwin was a remarkable woman, with strong force of character, and deep and earnest consecration.

In the home, in the private circle, and in society, she exercised an influence as sweet as the music of song, and as fragrant as the perfume of flowers. Her beautiful Christian life leaves its impress on her family. I have never seen more genuine affection than she manifested in the home. The great wealth of her heart exhausted its resources upon her aged father, her husband and children.

She was sick about two weeks. She seemed to realize from the first that she would not live, and talked freely about death, and the beautiful home to which she was going.

She was very fond of music, and on the day of her death joined in the singing of a number of those sweet old hymns, which are so precious to the Christian.

While it seems strange to us that a mother should be taken from her husband and children so soon, yet we know that our Heavenly Father, who holds our lives in His hands, makes no mistakes; and believing His special Providence, we believe that she has gone to the rest and reward of Heaven.

Sister Baldwin leaves her aged father, her husband, her three children, her two sisters, Mrs. Chas. W. Tillett and Mrs. Janie Pritchett, and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

May we all meet her again under fairer skies, and amid gardens whose foliage and flowers will never be blighted.

M. D. HIX.

TAYLOR.—Sophie Jane Taylor was born in Brunswick County, June 15, 1850, and fell on sleep in her home last Sunday, April 10, 1904, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Sister Taylor became the third wife of ex-Sheriff E. W. Taylor of Brunswick County, October 20, 1889. She came into this home to take her sister's place as mother. While there were never born to the deceased any children, she took her sister's children and loved them as well as if they had been her own. She brought them up in the right way; and under her training they all learned to love the Lord, and she was permitted to live long enough to see them all grown men and women, some of whom are occupying places of trust, and all of whom have been so trained that they have developed into Christian manhood and womanhood, and are prepared for places of trust.

Of her own family a brother, J. B. Mercer, and one sister, Mrs. E. M. Walker, both of Wilmington, her husband ex-Sheriff E. W. Taylor, and her aged mother, Mrs. A. J. Mercer, of Winnabow, N. C., remain to weep her departure, while ex-Sheriff Taylor's children mingle their tears with theirs.

Sister Taylor was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, at the age of 16 years. Notwithstanding this tender age at which she began the Christian life, she never fell from grace nor put her Lord to an open shame by inconsistencies. From her conversion to her death, one purpose, that of consistent Christian life, dominated her. She was a sufferer from her girlhood, but through all her affliction she was patient, ever ready to say with Paul, "And we know all things work together for good to them that love God."

She worshipped at the altar of M. E. Church, and learned at her feet for 37 years. She was one of the most loyal members I ever knew.

Sister Taylor is not only mourned by her own family and step-children, but by this whole community, for it proudly and tenderly held her one of the most honored of her daughters, and mourns her with an anguish of a doting mother's grief. She was loved by all who knew her, in fact, to know her was to love her. She was of an affectionate, tender, sensitive nature, who loved to love and be beloved by her community. It grieved her to differ with people, but it would have killed her to surrender truth to win their applause. She had no patience with a captious scepticism, nor toleration for a patronizing condescension towards the religion of our Lord Jesus Christ. To her it was the holiest unity of life. In the storm of temptation and affliction and in the calm of peace she walked with her God.

Frequently singing her favorite hymn—

"Come ye disconsolate, where'er ye languish;
Come, and at God's altar fervently kneel;
Here bring your wounded hearts, here tell your anguish;
Earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heal."

That so much could be done by one woman in a life no longer than hers, and done so well under circumstances often so adverse, is a wonder. Truly she was a great woman. She lived well. She died well.

"Rest comes at length; though life be long and dreary.
The day must dawn, and darksome night be past;
All journeys end in welcomes to the weary,
And heaven, the heart's true home, will come at last."

While we sorrow here our noble friend is spending her first Sabbath in the Paradise of God. She will not wake tomorrow to another long day of pain, to another week of wishing she could get well and go to work again. She is well now, and it has been a long time since we could say that of her. Well again, and at work, it may be, where there is no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, nor any more pain.

"Servant of God well done!
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won.
Enter thy Master's joy."

W. R. ROYALL.

IT MAY TOUCH THE HEART

Rheumatism Is Treacherous and Delay May Prove Fatal.

GET IT OUT OF YOUR SYSTEM NOW.

Rheumacide

Will do the work quickly, effectively and without any injury to the digestive organs. In fact, it will leave you in much better condition every way, for it cleanses the blood of poisonous lactic and uric acids that cause rheumatism, kidney troubles, indigestion, boils, chronic constipation and catarrh, and the germs that leave one an easy prey to malaria and contagious blood poison. It is not only the greatest blood purifier, but hundreds of relieved sufferers testify that it does one thing that no other remedy does—

CURES RHEUMATISM.

"GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE."

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application.

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly. For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway, Richmond, Va.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,
"From The Uncivil War to Date."

The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death. Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2. Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.

HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

11 Professors 17 Instructors. MEDICAL STUDENTS Write for Free Catalogue of the Founded in 1850. Graduates 4,495.
Medical Department, University of Nashville.
Curriculum includes twenty-three lecture courses, each followed by a thorough review quiz; seven laboratory courses, and three hours of hospital work daily. New building elaborately equipped with modern apparatus and appliances. Expenses moderate. Address J. Dillard Jacobs, M. D., Secretary, 635 South Market St., Nashville, Tenn.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Resolutions of Respect.

Resolutions adopted by the Methodist Sunday-school of Wesley Memorial Church, Warrenton, N. C., on the death of Mr. H. B. Hunter, Sr.

On the morning of March 27, 1904, just as the church bells were ringing to remind the worshipers that the hour for service was at hand, one of our most beloved members, who had always responded so promptly to their call received the summons—"Child come Home."

We all know this faithful man of God was ready for the summons and when "the silver cord was loosed," the pure, unselfish spirit of H. B. Hunter returned to God.

How we shall miss him from his accustomed place. There is a vacant place in his class, in the school, in the church, and in our hearts, but we rejoice in the fact that our loss is his gain, for we believe he is now on the other shore, in the ranks of the bloodwashed throng, and from the Holy City, the New Jerusalem, he will watch and wait for the coming of loved ones left behind.

Now, therefore, as it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to take unto Himself our beloved brother and friend, H. B. Hunter, with loving remembrance, we will submit the following resolutions:

1. That while in the death of Bro. Hunter our church and Sunday-school has lost one of its most valuable members, we bow in submission to the Divine will.

2. That we treasure the memory of his modest, unassuming Christian life, and strive as he did to walk in the footsteps of the meek and lowly Jesus.

3. That we extend to his children and grandchildren our tenderest sympathy, and pray God may comfort their sad hearts and reveal himself to them as the tender, loving Father who doeth all things well.

4. That the secretary be requested to send a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased, that they be published in the Raleigh Christian Advocate and The Record, and that they be copied on the record book of the Sunday-school.

R. B. BOYD,
P. H. ALLEN,
MISS ANNA D. GRAHAM,
Committee.

A RUNAWAY BICYCLE

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, of Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

A McKINLEY MEMORIAL BELL.

A 1,500 pound "Blymyer" Bell was recently presented to the Methodist Episcopal Church of Lyons, Neb., by the Junior Epworth League, in memory of the late President William McKinley. The pastor, Rev. E. E. Hossman, in a letter to the Cincinnati Bell Foundry, writes as follows:

"We are highly pleased with the 1,500 pound 'Blymyer' Bell. It is a perfect casting. The inscription is plain, the tone is rich and mellow, and under favorable conditions can be heard eight miles distant.

"Another society has just placed a new 1,000 pound copper and tin bell at a much greater cost than ours, and we find that the 'Blymyer' has a rich, mellow and musical tone, with a far stronger carrying power than the tin and copper bell."

One reason for the great superiority of the "Blymyer" Bell is the fact that its diameter is considerably greater than that of any tin and copper bell of the same weight. For this reason the bell has greater resonant surface, and in consequence, far greater volume and power of tone.

The Cinnati Bell Foundry, Cincinnati, Ohio, manufacturers of the "Blymyer" Bells, have issued a catalogue that gives some very interesting information to all who are or may be interested in bells. It is sent free. Write for it.

PERFECT HEALTH FOR 3 CENTS A DAY!

ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON and ALUM WATER

Will cure any form of CHRONIC DISEASE you have. This water contains 20 minerals and is concentrated to 160 times its strength. One teaspoonful equals in benefit three days sojourn at the springs. Eminent physicians endorse it heartily for all Chronic Diseases.

8oz. Bottle 50c. 18 oz. Bottle $1.00

AT YOUR DRUGGISTS, OR

J. M. Echols Co., - - Lynchburg, Va.

STATEMENT

HARTFORD STEAM BOILER INSPECTION AND INSURANCE CO.,
Of Connecticut.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Paid in cash	$500,000.00
Amount of ledger assets December 31, of previous year	2,640,082.73
Income—From policy-holders, $1,304,254.36; miscellaneous $160,059.27; total	1,464,313.63
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $157,154.67; miscellaneous, $1,155,988.20; total	1,313,142.87
Business in force at end of year	3,522,147.31
Business written during year	1,461,988.59

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$19,090.00
Value of stocks and bonds (United States, State, etc., owned	2,017,149.00
Loans on real estate (first lien on fee-simple)	717,520.00
Interest and rents due and accrued,	17,814.14
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	138,464.33
Premiums unpaid	335,550.71
Total	3,245,588.18
Less assets, not admitted	123,423.08
Total admitted assets	3,122,165.10

LIABILITIES.

Unearned premiums	$1,851,355.78
Unpaid policy claims	20,415.03
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	32,516.64
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,904,287.45
Capital stock paid up	500,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	717,877.65
Total liabilities	3,122,165.10

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Steam-boiler: Premiums received, $21,677.27; losses paid, none; losses incurred, none.

Vice-President Charles M. Beach; Secretary, J. B. Pierce.
Home office, No. 650 Main Street, Hartford, Conn.
General agent for service, James Southgate, Durham, N. C.
Business manager for North Carolina, Managed from home office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 14, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal, the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23, 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

Rate From

Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager. W. H. Taylor, Gen. Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM.

Closing Exercises at the State Normal College May 25-27th.

The State Normal and Industrial College commencement programme May 25th, 26th, 27th, 1904, is as follows:

Wednesday Afternoon, May 25.—Class day exercises; 8.00 p. m., meeting of Adelphian and Cornelian Societies.

Thursday, May 26.—11.00 a. m., commencement sermon, Rev. Robert Strange, D. D.; 3.00 p. m., laying corner stone of new dormitory building by Grand Lodge of Masons; 8.30 p. m., class essays.

Friday, May 27.—11.00 a. m., commencement address by His Excellency, Governor Charles B. Aycock; graduating exercises.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$13.10 Raleigh to Atlanta, Ga., and return, account Annual Convention Southern Hardware Jobbers Association and American Hardware Manufacturers Association. Tickets on sale May 21, 22 and 23; final limit May 31st. An extension can be had on payment of a fee of 50 cents, good until June 30, 1904.

$11.05 Raleigh to Athens, Ga., and return account Summer School. Tickets on sale July 2, 11, 18, limited returning fifteen days in addition to date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$13.50 Raleigh to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, account Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Tickets on sale July 10 and 11, final limit July 23, 1904. An extension can be obtained until August 3rd, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Detroit, Mich, and return account Baptist Young People's Union of America International Convention. Tickets on sale July 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit July 12. An extension until August 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$19.95 Raleigh to Louisville, Ky., and return account Biennial Conclave Knights of Pythias. Tickets on sale August 12 to 15, final limit August 25. An extension until September 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$18.20 Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return account Monteagle Sunday-school Institute. Tickets on sale August 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit August 31, 1904. An extension until October 31, 1904, can be obtained by paying difference between rate which ticket was sold and summer tourist rate.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return, account Peabody Normal Summer School. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4, and 5, with final limit fifteen days from date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30th, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, account National Prohibition Convention. Tickets on sale June 26 and 27, final return limit leave Indianapolis not later than July 15, 1904.

$16.80 Raleigh to Pittsburg, Pa., and return account Annual Convention National Association of Manufacturers of U. S. A. Tickets on sale May 14, 15 and 16, final return limit to reach starting point not later than May 21, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Republican Convention. Tickets on sale May 16, 17 and 18, final limit May 23, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Democratic Convention. Tickets on sale June 21, 22 and 23, final limit June 27, 1904.

DISASTROUS WRECKS.

Carelessness is responsible for many railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by all druggists. Price 50c., and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..

Lisle and Silk IN ALL THE NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or White..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring. ..... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

$2.00 will buy a pair

Roxie Ward Women's Shoes

Made by Southern Girls and Boys

The equal of any $2.50 shoe on the market

TAKE NO OTHER

Your dealer should keep the best, and the best is "ROXIE WARD."

GEO. D. WITT SHOE CO.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

Dropsy CURED Gives Quick Relief.

Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer. Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box. B Atlanta, Ga.

King's Business College.

(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?

IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.

RADIA

WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.

Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

STATEMENT

American Bonding Company of Baltimore,

Of Maryland.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Paid in cash	$1,000,000.00
Assets December 31st, of previous year	2,050,869.63
Income—From policy-holders, $652,120.63; miscellaneous, $193,036.55; total	845,157.18
Fidelity and Surety	652,120.63
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $271,728.24; miscellaneous $594,570.31; total	866,298.55
Fidelity and surety	271,728.24
Premiums in force at end of year—Fidelity and surety	665,097.91
Business written during year—Fidelity and Surety	726,439.88
ASSETS.
Value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$72,602.22
Value of stocks and bonds(United States, State, etc. owned)	1,340,211.38
Loans on real estate (first lien on fee-simple)	52,523.48
Loans on stocks, bonds and other security	150,990.00
Interest and rents due and accrued	20,321.13
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	281,685.55
Premiums unpaid	106,138.36
All other assets, detailed in statement	131,715.63
Total	2,156,187.75
Less assets, not admitted	13,356.63
Total admitted assets	2,142,831.12
LIABILITIES.
Unearned premiums	$332,548.95
Unpaid policy claims	72,395.44
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	604,639.52
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,009,583.91
Capital stock paid up	1,000,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	133,247.21
Total liabilities	2,142,831.12

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fidelity and surety—Premiums received, $10,857.28; losses paid, $5,229.22; losses incurred, $6,954.22.

President, James Bond; Secretary, Samuel H. Shriver.
Home office, Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md.
General agent for service, R. B. Raney, Raleigh, N. C.
Business Manager for North Carolina, R. B. Raney, Raleigh, N. C.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 13, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, of Baltimore, Md., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal, the day and date above written.

JAS. R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

XANTHINE! PROF. HERTZ' GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE

Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.

If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say.

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send $1, and we will send you a bottle, CHARGES PREPAID, without testimonials. Write us for circulars. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS.

ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by

Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Headley Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 17.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 108 W. MARTIN STREET.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.

Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.

Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.

Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

The divorce evil is beginning to appear black and gigantic among the moral forces of the country, and this fact is a bright omen for a future which in some respect seems dark. The Interchurch Conference on marriage and divorce, representing the Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, German Reform, Lutheran, Baptist, Cougregational, and other churches, has issued its first appeal. There is a pleading for a recognition of the sanctity of marriage. Such recognition, it is claimed, will lessen the number of heedless marriages. We are inclined to believe with the editor of an influential newspaper that the problem does not so much relate to discouraging matrimony as to compelling those who are married to stay married.

There are monuments erected to the memory of men who are not dead, and these monuments are not always in the form of marble stelas and gothic piles. When Tyre Glenn, of Greensboro, was asked to mention some good preacher to open the Republican Convention last week, he said: "I don't know as to the best preacher, for they are all the best, but if I was going to send a message to the Lord and wanted to be sure that He would get it, I think that I would take my chances on old Dr. Carraway." Our aged brother, Paul J. Carraway, may go down to his grave with the consciousness that over that grave, though it be in Westminster Abbey, there will be no monument so beautiful and eloquent as that which gleams in the above words.

There is no doubt that within the last week stirring events have occurred in the zone of the Russo-Japanese war. In fact, it seems that Russia is just beginning to exert her military energies. The tide of Japanese success which had been uninterrupted since the Russian ships were sunk in Chemulpo harbor, has at last turned. There is no doubt of that. General Kuroki, with his victorious troops, has been checked in his northward advance, and one division has been driven back by the Russians with great slaughter to the former. It is not certain that the Russians have evacuated New Chang. In fact, the latest report is that the Russian force has been strengthened in this city. Japan has had the misfortune to have one of her finest warships sunk in the channel at Port Arthur by a floating mine. Russia has had one of her finest ships beached at Vladivostock. The Japanese have made another furious assault on Port Arthur, but the place seems to be impregnable. The only way to take it is to cut off all supplies and re-enforcements from the beseiged, and it appears that this has not yet been done. The channel at Port Arthur is now free, allowing egress for the largest Russian vessel. Russia's spirits have been greatly revived by the events of the past week. Unless General Kuroki succeeds in flanking Kuropatkin within a few days, he will be estopped from further operations by the storms incident about the last of May or first of June in Manchuria.

The Methodist Episcopal Church has at last elected a negro Bishop. He was elected last week by the General Conference in session in Los Angeles. His name is Dr. I. B. Scott. He is made Bishop of Africa. Is this localization due to the demands of the situation in Africa or the social demands which have hitherto kept the negro out of the Bishropic in the United States? We imagine that our Northern brethren have at last solved a very hard problem. If the brother in black is content with this corralling of his Bishop in Africa, all will be well, but if he suspects a ruse, there will be trouble. We trust, however, that all will be well.

It is remembered by students of American history that there was a time when Morocco played an important part in the affairs of this young republic. Much that occurred was not creditable to our government which, for a time, was in the habit of paying tribute to the Moorish pirates. History is always repeating itself. The time has come when the United States must once more interest herself in Moorish affairs. Ion Perdicaris, an American citizen of fabulous wealth, has been kidnapped in Morroco by brigands, and the event has caused quite a flutter in diplomatic circles. If our government shows no more interest in the rescue of Perdicaris than was shown in the rescue of that poor woman who was kidnapped a few years ago by Turkish brigands, Perdicaris will be in "durance vile" for some time to come.

The long expected report of the Committee appointed by Governor Aycock to investigate the affairs of the A. and N. C. R. R. has at last been made to the Governor and published.

The management of the road is severely criticized. The system of keeping accounts is pronounced "crude and very unsatisfactory." It is held that very considerable betterments over conditions prevailing four years ago should have been effected by the expenditure of so large a sum of money as is reported to have been expended, and that while the service has been greatly improved within the period covered by President Bryan's administration, and much of this money wisely spent, "some of it has been injudiciously used—in some cases approaching extravagance." The bad judgment used in the erection of depots and warehouses is commented on at length. The Committe finds that the spirit of the law, if not the letter, governing the issuance of free passes, has been glaringly violated. One of the lawyers using free passes has appeared on the other side in every case tried in Craven County during President Bryan's administration. The Committee condemns the purchase and management of the hotel at Morehead City. The State is advised to sell or lease the hotel at once, as it must be a burden on the hands of the railroad. The Committee says that during President Bryan's administration the net earnings of the road amounted to $324,496.62, while there has been expended the sum of $283,236.19, leaving to be accounted for after the deduction of $14,607.64, representing cash on hand, and amount lost by the hotel, the sum of $26,655.79. The Committee says that the road is very valuable property, but that the most efficient and valuable management cannot be secured under State control. The Committee sees nothing in the situation to call for great haste on the one hand or extreme action on the other in reference to any proposed change in the control and operation of the property. The report of the Committee covers about twenty-five typewritten pages, while the evidence taken stenographically covers several hundred pages.

Separation of church and state is based on the eternal fitness of things, to make a long argument short, and it is gradually becoming a reality throughout Europe. All observing eyes can see in the results of the Russo-Japanese war not only a wider liberty for Russia, but the breaking of the iron bonds which have held Russia to the almost cruel embrace of ecclesiasticism. But that to which we wish to call especial attention is the significance of the rupture between France and the Vatican. The Pope, who seems to be a man of nerve, has sent abroad an official protest against the visit of President Loubet to Rome, because the Pope believes that the French ministry is anti-clerical in sentiment and act. The papal protest has caused France to recall Mr. Nisard, her representative, at the Vatican. We see in all this the emergence of France into a larger liberty expressed in a complete separation of church and state.

There is no reason, as far as we can see, why a monument should not be erected to the memory of every hero, if such a thing were possible. But the five million dollars, lately given by Mr. Carnegie to create a fund from which medals and money rewards are to be given to those who are called heroes by the world, must fail in its object. It must fail because the majority of true heroes are never known to the world. They walk, and suffer and die among the shadows, and their names are never seen in the columns of newspapers. Mr. Carnegie deserves thanks for the reason that he has demonstrated his unselfishness in parting so lavishly with his many millions and in bestowing them upon objects which appeal at least in some faint degree to philanthropic impulses. But there is a general feeling of regret that Mr. Carnegie has not devoted his money to the alleviation of human misery rather than to the stimulation of aesthetic tastes. But the money given belonged to Mr. Carnegie, and he alone is to be held responsible for its disposition.

Contributions

Compensation.

BY MRS. E. M. ANDERSON.

There is a rose for every thorn,
Though we have wounded been;
After each night, there comes the morn,
To let the daylight in.

From deepest sorrow, springs a joy,
The soul's sweet recompense;
From heaven sent, a beacon light,
To lure our spirits thence.

For every sigh, for every tear,
There is a healing balm,
To soothe and cheer the aching heart,
And bring a blessed calm.

For every cloud there is a ray
Of golden sunshine given;
Into each cleft and broken life,
There comes a glimpse of heaven.

No darksome night without some star
Still shining, tho' unseen;
For every week of toil and care,
A Sabbath day between.

For thirsty souls, the cooling draught,
And for the hungry, food;
The tired ones find sweetest rest,
And feel that God is good.

E'en for the sinner, grace abounds,
Sin-soiled? A cleansing flood!
A light upon the darkest way,
Is found in Jesus' blood.

A recompense for every woe;
Heaven sends us blessings rife,
In darkness, light, in trouble, peace,
For Death, eternal Life!

Durham, N. C.

A Peep Into Paul's Heart—Phil. 3: 8—14.

BY REV. D. VANCE PRICE.

This is one of the profoundest passages in the writings of the greatest of the apostles. Paul here unbosoms himself and gives us a glimpse of his inner, hidden life in God. He strikes the highest possible spiritual note; and a thorough study of his lofty ambition and his holy aspirations would stir the soul of the dullest and most sordid of men.

The Epistle to the Phillipians was addressed to the first church which Paul himself planted in Europe. It was perhaps the most thoroughly Gentile in its membership of all the churches that were established by his missionary efforts; and yet certain Judaizers had followed him and attempted to impose the heavy burden of the Jewish ritual upon the few Jewish Christians in that city, and possibly also upon the Gentile converts. These "false brethren" demanded the circumcision of the Gentiles, and even further conformity to the Levitic ritual. Their teachings came into collision with the policy and ostrine of Paul, who believed and taught that baptism had taken the place of circumcision; that the rites and ceremonies had found their fulfillment in the ministry and the sufferings of Jesus; and that the Lord's Supper was the only and true memorial of the sacrifice of Chist, who is "our passover."

Hence, he combats the teachings of these Judaizers; and the special objection he here urges is, that they would obscure Christ in a cloud of absolute and useless ecremonies.

To his mind, their whole conception of Christianity is wrong. It concerns itself with the external and the visible, and loses sight of the spiritual and essential.

With these false teachers, the law—the ceremonial law—is everything; but with Paul, Christ is everything—all other things were, comparatively, nothing—"offal."

In opposition to them, he urges his own position, and especially his own religious experience. He bares his own breast and reveals his own inner life.

To show that there is nothing selfish in his views, and that he occupies the position of an impartial judge of the merits of the controversy, he first shows that he had already complied with all the requirements of the Jewish law before his conversion to the Christian faith. He was of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin; he had been circumcised the eighth day; he had been found blameless in the law; hence, he was not trying to escape these things himself. That were impossible, because, forsooth, they had already been accomplished in him. But his knowledge of Christ, derived from both revelation and experience, urged him to free his Gentile brethren from all these unnecessary burdens.

Plunging into the depths of his own experience in Christ, and of his aspirations toward Christ, his language runs closely on the verge of mysticism. But Paul is no mystic. The apparent mysticism arises from the nature of the subject—the poetry of religion—the gradual incorporation, into a human heart and human life, of the divine love and the divine life in Jesus Christ.

Note what Paul's Christianity did for him.

1. In the first place, at the very outset in the processes of his conversion, his conceptpion of Christ led him to sacrifice all other things to Him. This I call negative consecration, a mere means to a nobler end. He suffered, he says, the "loss of all things for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ, his lord." He gathers into a bundle his national prejudice, the esteem of his brethren in Israel, the advantages of his birth and training, the pride of the noblest lineage that mortal man ever had; the prospect of leadership and wealth and ease among his own people, and throws them all overboard as a mere bagatelle. And all this for Christ's sake—all to attain a higher good.

And the sacrifice was so sincere and complete that he even despises it, and speaks of it in terms of the greatest possible contempt. His severance from the old life was complete and irrevocable. He burnt the bridge behind him, and settled the question forever. Henceforth there is nothing for him to live for but Christ. Jesus Christ, the end of all his thought, all his affection, all his activity!

2. I have anticipated the second part of Paul's experience,—the more positive side of it,—his lofty aims and aspirations, together with corresponding effort.

It is his supreme ambition "to win Christ."

To that end, he directs all the energies of his being, and avails himself of all the grace which God deigns to give him. This great ambition is a compound of several purposes and desires which he more particularly defines:

1. To win the righteousness of God in Christ. He would experience the full salvation which comes through faith in Christ. He would be saved from sin—its guilt, its power, its pollution, its moral disability.

He would be clothed with righteousness—not the self-righteousness of the legalist, or of the moralist, but "the righteousness of God"—God-given and possible only through faith in Christ as the Son of God. He would realize God's idea of what he ought to be.

He would be free from sin, not only wiful sin, but also from those faults and frailties which hinder our usefulness and obscure the glory of the indwelling Christ. Would God this lofty aspiration might be kindled in all our groveling souls; and that we might "be found in Him, having the righteousness of God." But this is not all. Let us follow the apostle up the dizzy heights to which he climbs.

2. He aspires to win that experimental "knowledge" of Christ which will bring him into the closest possible sympathy with Christ—"the fellowship of his sufferings."

This means, I think, that he would have the full dramatic and moral force of all Christ's sufferings felt in his own heart; and thus be won forever to the infinite beauty and tenderness of Christ's love, to be ennobled by the personal understanding of Christ.

Again, he would be brought into sympathy with Christ's great purpose in the sufferings He endured. In other words, he would love men as Christ loved them; he would yearn for lost sinners with the compassion of Christ; he would drink the same cup of sorrow over the sins of the world which Jesus drank. He would go as far with Jesus into Gethsemane and Calvary as a human being could go! Brethren, we sometimes hear men talk lightly of Chritsian doctrine, as though our creed were lacking in humanity. Here, we see the inseparable love of man and devotion to Christ. The highest possible love to mankind is found only in the breast of a devoted disciple of Jesus.

3. But Paul also aims at conformity unto the death of Jesus. This profound utterance means that he desired to be made willing to suffer martyrdom with Christ in the cause of humanity. He would reach the extreme love for men that would make him gladly die for them. He would feel the submissive spirit in suffering the will of the Father which enabled Jesus to say: "Thy will be done." How beautiful this is, when viewed in the light of subsequent events. About two years after this letter was written, the author sealed his love for the Master with his own blood, and died rejoicing that he was counted worthy to suffer for Christ.

4. Lastly, but not in that order, the apostle declares his desire and aim to win the power of the resurrection of Christ, and attain unto the resurrection of the dead.

I understand him to refer to the spiritual display of the same power that raised Jesus from the tomb. Not a mere hope that He would, after awhile, sonquer death, and live forever in the presence of his Lord; but he wanted, then and there, on earth, in his own personal life and work, the highest enduement of power from Christ.

He wanted a spiritual miracle wrought in him that corresponded with the miracle of Christ's physical resurrection. He wanted the fulness of divine power in the service of Christ and humanity.

It also includes, doubtless, the desire for the happiness which Jesus enjoyed in His glorified state, during the forty days—as much of it as man could realize.

But he confesses, with becoming modesty, that he has not yet reached his goal; he has not yet that intimate knowledge of Christ which he so ardently desires; he is not as righteous as it is possible for him to be; he is still deficient in sympathy with Christ, and in conformity with his death; he has not yet found the utmost of spiritual power in Christ's service. Paul never made an profession of Christian perfection: he was only relatively and approximately "perfect." "Perfect," in the sense of sincerity and earnest seeking—not of attainment. He has not given up the chase; he is so intent on progress that he "forgets the things that are behind." Too busy running to look back.

Reaching out toward those things which are ahead, he presses, urges all his strength, strains every faculty of his soul to win the prize—"the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

O what heights of manhood, of nobility, of holiness, of generosity, of fulness of joy are they to which God calls us in Christ!

Go on, thou consecrated soul, thou lowly servant of Jew and Gentile, thou greatest in the calendar of saints, thou leige-man of the Lord Christ, thou art nearer every step thou takest in the great race toward the goal of human perfection; thou art ever approaching the perfection of Jesus Himself; thy character is being slowly and steadily drawn into the likeness of Christ; and thy joy will increase forever in the presence of thy King!

We are very foolish to attempt to entertain two guests so hostile to one another as Christ and Satan. Christ will not live in the parlor of our hearts, if we entertain the devil in the cellar of our thoughts.—C. H. Spurgeon.

Is it Self Immolation?

BY REV. ROBAH F. BUMPAS.

In a late number of the Advocate, my friend, the editor of the Epworth League Department, quotes from a little book which is quite a favorite in my home as it contains many noble and inspiring passages.

Mystical writers like Kempis, Guyon and E. S. E. E. are apt to be extremists, and therefore are not always safe guides.

The kingdom of God in all ages has had room for those who would separate themselves wholly from the world and lead a life of devotion. Jephtha's daughter was relegated to a life of religious seclusion. The sacred order of the Nazarites existed for fifteen centuries, but in all this period, only three men belonging to it were thought worthy of mention in the Scriptures, and one of them was exceedingly human.

Types of character more diverse than John the Baptist and Christ would be difficult to imagine. Each had its sphere; but Christ is our model, not John. He said: "Follow me." He taught self-denial. He fasted upon occasion, but was certainly no ascetic.

In the prayer referred to, the author says:

"From the desire of being esteemed,
From the desire of being loved,
From the desire of being sought,
Deliver me, Jesus.

"From the desire to be mourned,
From the desire of influence,
From the desire of approval,
Deliver me, Jesus.

"That others may be employed, and I set aside. Jesus grant me to desire this."

We are taught to esteem others above ourselves, to please others, having Christ for our pattern, all personal selfish ambition is to be crucified, but we are also taught that God has given to every man His work, and we are enjoined to work while it is day.

Christ said: "Let your light so shine that others may see your good works."

Paul says: "Covet earnestly the best gifts." Shall we not desire to be loved? Shall we not seek to influence our fellow-men for good? Shall Shall we not covet the approval of conscience? of God? of man? Paul, who could say, "To me to live is Christ," gloried in a conscience void of offense both toward God and toward man.

Georg Ebers in "Homo Sum" gives us the life of an old Roman tribune who sought self-conquest in a life of asceticism among the anchorites on Mt. Sinai. Years were passed in this life of self-crucifixion until it seemed that all the evil in him was subdued. On the liff one day he met that ancient enemy whom he thought he had forgiven. Instantly all the animosity of his nature sprang into life, and with a hoarse cry, he flung himself upon his enemy, and both were hurled in destruction upon the rocks below. No amount of asceticism and self-discipline coul change him. He needed a new heart.

John Watson, in his little book, "The Upper Roam," delineating the characteristics of the twelve, says: "It comes as a surprise that one class of religious people is unrepresented; no disciple is perfect."

I unite heartily with Brother Anderson in recommending to those seeking holiness of heart and life the perusal of "Gold Dust," but we should take all mystical writings cum grano salis.

The Duty of Church Members.

BY J. L. KING.

There are a great many obstacles that confront the church to-day, that are non-controllable. We have opposition from all quarters that have got to met one way or another, but the worst obstacle, in my opinion, that the church has got to overcome, is right in the church, and it arises from the fact that a large number of our church members are not willing to be governed by the discipline of our church. It is indeed a sad fact, but we cannot get around it.

I think that when a person takes upon himself the obligations and vows of our church and confesses that he has been converted and that his sins have been forgiven, that if he is indeed converted he is no longer his own master, but belongs to God. I believe when a person renounces the world, the devil, and the flesh, that it is his or her duty then to work for God with both hands and heart, and not depend too much upon our pastor. It depends as much, or more, upon the membership of a church as to the advancement of Christ's kingdom in a community or neighborhood as it does the pastor. If we find fault with our pastor because he does not preach as well as another pastor did, or pastors at other churches, can we expect to accomplish anything? It is a sad fact, but too true, we members of the church criticize our preachers because they do not preach exactly to suit us, instead of lending a helping hand and assisting them in gathering in the lost ones to the fold. We are not as closely allied to our cause, though it be the only thing worth our while, as the world. Do you know if we criticize our pastor it makes the sinner hold aloft from the church? Are we doing our duty? No, far from it. We are only doing one thing, and that is, retarding the advancement of the cause of Christ. Let's come together and be a unit and uphold our pastors and leave it to the outside world to criticize if there is any to be done. Let's work for God with both hand and heart.

Christ the Incomparable.

C. F. SHERRILL.

Christ is not the first among his equals—primus inter pares. He is the Incomparable, the Only.

* * *

How calm and composed was Socrates in the Athen's prison when he drank the cup of hemlock. What agony the Son of God endured when he knelt in Gethsemane. The funeral grief of the world was seen when he died on Calvary. How different was the cup that each drank. One was visible; the other invisible. One referred to himself; the other to a lost race. Christ "tasted death for every man."

* * *

The forgiveness of a sinner is God's deepest problem. To condemn the sin and forgive the sinner, so the moral order of a universe is preserved, is a task for which only the Infinite God is equal. It is a task for a God. The difficulty of this problem is olved in the death of Christ. He is the way. The condemnation of the cross forever rests upon Sin. Gethsemane's agony and Calvary's death tell us what an awful thing sin is. By the atoning blood from that same cross the sinner is forgiven. In the crucifixion, God's infinite love for the lost is seen. Forgiveness is God's profoundest problem. The moral order of a universe must be preserved. The divine wrath against sin is always the same. The sinner can be saved. Christ is the way.

* * *

There are three things that make sin awful in our consciousness and conscience: One is the fact that we choose a lower in the place of a higher good. Another fact is, that it is we who choose. No awful fate drives us. Free moral agency is the deepest fact of our consciousness. This is the second fact that adds to the awfulness of sin. The third fact is that Jesus was "wounded for our transgressions;" "He died for us." The personal pronoun stirs the conscience. The Great Death was for us. These three facts make sin forever awful.

* * *

The greatest thing in the universe is the love of God. The strongest thing is law. The darkest thing is sin. Christ's death was for a threefold purpose: to reveal the love of God; "the highest arch-angel never saw so much of God before;" to preserve the moral order and law of the universe; to forgive the sinner. Revelation; Preservation; Forgiveness.

Forgiveness is both from and in Christ. If we take His forgiveness, we must also take the Christ who forgives. If we take Christ, we must take His forgiveness. Forgiveness, then, is Christ in the heart. We do not take His forgiveness as a package from the store. We take it as the flower takes the sunbeam. Every such flower has the best of light and presence of the sun.

Washington District Conference.

The Washington District Conference for 1904 convened at Aurora, May 11-15.

Rev. J. D. Bundy, the Presiding Elder, was president and Rev. R. C. Craven was elected secretary.

The absence of serval ministers was deeply regretted by those present. Two of these were unavoidly detained; there was a fair but not full attendance of the lay delegates.

The delegates elected to Annual Conference are J. F. Bruton, of Wilson; Wiley Brown, of Greenville; W. K. Jacobson, of Washington, and R. T. Bonner, of Aurora.

B. E. Stanfield, who is serving acceptably as supply on Grimesland and Vanceboro Circuit, was recommended for admission on trial, and for elder's orders.

The next Conference will be held at Greenville.

Aurora is not easily accessible to the whole district, which fact probably accounts for the absence of some members of the Conference. Those who were present found themselves, after an enjoyable ride on the broad and placid waters of the Pamlico, with the genial captain of the Hatteras, in the midst of an intelligent, progressive people, surrounded by lovely farms of surpassing fertility; hundreds of whose acres were planted in potatoes, soon to be marketed as a most valuable product.

Those hospitable people vied with one another in their royal reception of the Conference.

The Conference is said to be one of the most pleasant sessions in its history; a program of strength and excellence had been made possible by our presiding officer, who, though in his first year as Presiding Elder, is making a fine impression all over the district by his faithful attention to the interests of the respective charges.

Mrs. J. E. Underwood presented the merits and claims of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, and made an eloquent appeal for greater interest in that worthy cause.

Miss Nannie Lee Smith, the "Joan of Arc," of North Carolina Methodism, who carries more faith and enthusiasm within a given space than the ordinary people, earnestly pressed the need of rebuilding Greensboro Female College; she took some "evidences" that her address was not in vain.

We missed that benevolent face of the "Orphan," the chaste language and lofty thought of "ye editor," and both of you, by absence, missed more than we.

Rev. J. M. Lowder, the faithful pastor of that circuit of the morning light, a man who is ever ready to preach or to die, did no little to make the Conference a success.

R. C. CRAVEN, Sec.

The annual debate between the Columbian and Hysperian Literary Societies was held in the Craven Memorial Hall on last Tuesday evening. The subject discussed was: "Resolved, that the history of trade unionism in the United States for the past twenty years shows a predominating tendency favorable to the best interests of the country." Messrs. B. F. Lee and C. J. Harrell, of the Columbian Society, were the affirmative speakers. The Hesperian Society had the negative side and was represented by Messrs. E. O. Cole and C. R. Warren. The judges of the debate were the Rev. R. C. Beaman and Messrs. C. W. Massey and R. E. Sessoms. In a witty speech, Mr. Beaman announced that the affirmative had won the decision. After the debate the Hesperian Society entertained its alumni and honorary members and the judges of the debate in its society hall. Speeches were made by members of the faculty, former inter-collegiate debaters, and others.

The Field

Granville Circuit Sunday School Conference.

This body convened in its annual session at Bullocks, May 14, 1904. The object of its existence is to build up the Sunday-school work by spreading intelligence and enthusiasm among the people.

The part of Bullock's congregation as host was to furnish the music, the dinner and the welcome, all of which they did in splendid style, and which was equalled only by the beautiful and encouraging words of welcome that were said by one of her coming young men, Bro. Otho Lyon. This address was a gem, and the safe prediction is that the speaker will be heard from later. The music for the occasion was indeed a feast, as was the beautiful dinner that was spread during the recess hour.

The very efficient president, Bro. W. S. Gooch, had a well-arranged program, in which various topics were assigned to different speakers, all of whom showed evidence of thought.

As it was the occasion of our second quarterly meeting, Dr. Moore, the Presiding Elder, instead of being master of ceremonies as usual, came in on the program of the day, and gave us an interesting and instructive address on "The relation of the Sunday-school to the home." The Sunday-school workers of other churches took part in the discussion by special invitation, and a sweet brotherly spirit was prominently manifest.

The officers of last year were re-elected—W. S. Gooch, president; J. B. Mays, secretary; W. H. Lyon, treasurer—the last of whom will have the pleasure of transmitting to Brother Jenkins the two dollars raised for the Orphanage.

Tabor was selected as the place for holding the next annual session. J. D. PEGRAM.

To the Methodists of the Wilmington District.

For a large number of people to accomplish a special work, it is necessary that they have oneness of aim and, to a large extent, oneness of method. Suffer me, then, to make a brief review for our gratification and encouragement of the record made in the district last year on Conference collections, and to exhort to a united effort within the next month.

The Conference Journal shows that ten charges paid all assessments in full, viz.: Grace, Fifth Street, Market Street, and Bladen Street churches, and Magnolia, Clinton, Town Creek, Elizabeth, Whiteville, and Bladen Circuits. Burgaw and Onslow Circuits had only small deficits. These twelve charges all paid out on missions, as did also Scott's Hill, Jacksonville and Richlands, and Shallotte Circuits. There were only four charges in the district that did pay all assessments for missions. Several overpaid. The amounts overpaid by Grace Church and Whiteville Circuit were quite appreciable, and made it possible for the district to pay out. This was a great gain over anything ever done before, and I am sure every Methodist in the district is greatly gratified because of it.

At our Missionary Institute this year the preachers resolved to raise all our assessments, and to raise the assessments for missions by the 15th of June. I wish to urge our preachers to bring this resolution before the people, and let it be their aim to secure a contribution from every member and to pay all our assessments for missions during the next month. To the membership I would say, make your contribution now, if you have to make special effort to do so. Also urge your fellow-members to do the same. Pass this paper to your neighbor who doesn't take the Advocate. Talk it up. The Lord has abundantly blessed you. Show your gratitude by a liberal offering to His cause. It will enrich your own soul, help the work, the church, gladden your pastor's heart, and free his hands for other important tasks. We are already well in advance of same date last year. We are asked to contribute $5,000 on all collections. We have eight thousand members. In view of God's abundant mercies $8,000 would not be a large offering for us to make. We can do it—we ought to do it. Let us pay our assessments for missions now. The protracted meeting season will soon be upon us. Your preacher can do better work if his mind is free at this point, and he will have more faith in God's blessings upon his people. This is Scriptural Come up to the help of the Lord.

The Discipline plans for all our Sunday-schools to be organized into missionary societies. Let our superintendents see to it. Send twenty-five cents to Dr. W. R. Lambuth, Nashville, Tenn., for a year's program for monthly meetings. The chief benefit of this move is educational, the money raised secondary.

I hope committees appointed to examine church registers, etc., will do their work, and have written reports at the third quarterly Conferences.

Faithfully yours, R. B. JOHN.
Wilmington, N. C., May. 1904.

Duke Circuit.

The work here is formed of that part of the Dunn Circuit which was left after Dunn was made a three-quarter station, with Black's Chapel atached to fill out the other quarter. There are three churches in use, two being built, five appointments, four organizations, and four Sunday-schools.

By the end of the year we aim to have the church at Duke and at Angier complete. We are making fairly good headway at both places, and the work is in reasonably good condition spiritually. Our congregations are large, well behaved and attentive. We have no wealthy people on the work, though some few are prosperous and in fairly good circumstances.

We are working and praying for better and brighter things. Our Sunday-school's observed Children's Day at Duke last Sunday under the supervision of Mrs. J. J. Womble and others. The young people acquitted themselves very creditably.

Truly, W. A. FORBES.
May 18th, 1904.

P. S.—What a blessing it would be to us in our struggle if the reader would send us a small contribution on either of these churches.

W. A. F.

Mount Olive.

No mushroom growth in this place. The writer has visited a great many towns in North Carolina, but can readily say that this place is fast becoming one of the best towns in Eastern Carolina. There have gone up in the last twelve months ten new and up-to-date brick stores, all modern buildings. The writer was informed by one of the best merchants in town that residences were in great demand, and that they could not be built fast enough to supply the demand. Everybody and everything here is in a hustle, and more especially at this season of the year. Mount Olive is second to none in its strawberry industry. It is also a large market for early potatoes, beans and peas. The amount of strawberries shipped from this point alone is enormous. Nineteen solid refrigerator cars and 4,500 crates gone by express today (Monday) from this point. Prices range from $2.50 to $3.00 per crate, and still moving upward.

Hotel Olivette, a new modern and up-to-date hotel, with all modern improvements, has just been completed and opened to its traveling guests. It has twenty-five beautifully furnished rooms, with electric bells in each room; also has connection with the long distance telephone. This hotel has a veranda of 244 feet, which makes it most beautiful and very attractive in its appearance. This hotel will do credit to any city. Mount Olive of the present and Mount Olive of the future are pleasant topics about which to write. This town has a bright future in store for it, and the people here are so kind, so clever and so hospitable that you feel that there is nothing too good for them. They deserve all that the horn of plenty has in store.

Very respectfully, B. C. GLOVER,
Traveling Representative of Raleigh Chris... Advocate.
May 16, 1904.

Trinity College Commencement.

The commencement exercises of Trinity College extend from June 5th to 8th. On Sunday, June 5th, at 11 a. m., the commencement sermon will be preached by President William De Witt Hyde, of Bowdoin College. Before becoming president of Bowdoin, Dr. Hyde spent some years in the pastorate of the Congregational Church. He is the author of numerous books, including among his subjects, "Practical Ethics," and "God's Education of Men." A few years ago Syracuse University, one of the leading Methodist universites of the country, honored him with the degree of LL. D. Among his other interests, President Hyde has been one of those actively identified with the recent organized Society for Religious Education. He has a reputation for marked ability as a speaker, and has been much in demand before college and university audiences.

On Tuesday morning, June 7th, Dr. Francis C. Woodward, of Richmond, Va., will deliver the baccalaureate address, and on Tuesday, at four o'clock, Mr. Goodwin Davis Ellsworth, '80, of Washington, D. C., will deliver the alumni address. The alumni banquet will be held on Wednesday at one o'clock. On Tuesday evening will occur the annual senior oratorical contest for the Wiley Gray medal.

The commencement address on Wednesday morning, June 8th, will be delivered by Professor Francis Greenwood Peabody, of Harvard University. Last year Professor Peabody made one of the most striking addresses at the Southern Educational Conference at Richmond, and also spoke very acceptably at the University of Virginia. As an author, he has published among other works, "Short Addresses to Young Men on Personal Religion," and "Afternoons in the College Chapel."

On Wednesday night the alumni reception in honor of the graduating class will be held in the Washington Duke Building. The following ladies will act as patronesses: Mrs. B. N. Duke, Mrs. J. C. Kilgo, Mrs. B. S. Leak, Mrs. W. H. Branson; Mrs. E. M. Graham, Mrs. E. K. Powe, Mrs. J. C. Angier, Mrs. W. D. Carmichael, Mrs. W. H. McCabe, Mrs. H. A. Fonshee, Mrs. G. W. Watts, Mrs. C. W. Toms, Miss Anne Roney, Mrs. J. E. Stagg, Mrs. C. B. Green.

Several members of the faculty are filling engagements to deliver commencement addresses in various parts of the State. On Friday, Prof. A. H. Meritt delivered the address before the graded schools of Wadesboro.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., May 20, 1904.

Rebuild at Once.

As soon as our shocked minds could rally from the first horror of the news that our beloved college lay in ashes, the first thought was involuntarily the question, that arose from a thousand grief-stricken hearts, "Will the College be rebuilt?" Not long did it take loyal hearts to decide what their hands would do! North Carolina Methodism could not afford to lose this right arm of her influence, wielded so many years by her faithful handmaiden of the church.

Out of dark disaster was born the inspiration for stronger endeavor, and the resolve that from her ashes this grand old institution should arise in more splendor than ever!

With ample means to command, and with abundants faith in the great spirit of Greensboro Female College that has outlived so many vicissitudes and attacks on her material life, our people cannot, and will not, see her go down under this last heavy blow! A thousand times, No! Without hesitation or delay, let us rally to her side, and with God's help, raise speedily from her mourning in ashes a new Greensboro Female College, anointed and clothed in the glorious expression of our undying love.

LIZZIE P. JONES.
Raleigh, N. C., March, 1904.

The Family

"THE MAN BEHIND THE BAGGAGE."

What The Christians at Home Can Do for the Man Fighting at the Front—A Call for Full Consecration.

William Briggs, of Toronto, Canada, has published a little booklet, "On the Banks of the Besor," or, "The Man Behind the Baggage," which for its clearness and the force of its arguments is one of the best missionary statements we have seen. It is written by Mr. C. B. Keenleyside, who was sent from Yale to Japan about eleven years ago. He says:

"To-day, as of old, there sits One over against the treasury who notes the gifts cast therein; and He has, what to us is, a curious system of mathematics. His reckoning defies all our rules; for with Him two and two do not make four, neither is a penny less than a pound. According to His arithmetic, two mites, about one-quarter of a cent in value, are more than the great gifts cast into the treasury by the rich. Comparing the widow's quarter-cent and the rich man's great gift gift, he says: They all did cast in of their superfluity; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.'

"Applying to our time the same system of arithmetic, for Jesus Christ is 'the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever,' how He must reverse the judgments of earth. Men reckon gifts by their size. God reckons them by what it costs to give. Not the amount given, but the amount left, is what God looks at. This is why the quarter-cent was more than the great gifts—they were given out of superfluity—it out of want.

* * *

"In a certain city lives a girl who is out at service. By dint of economy she had saved fifty dollars, and had decided to buy for herself a fur coat, but becoming filled with the spirit of David's two hundred men on the Besor, she went one day to her pastor, and told him her intentions, and added: 'But I have changed my mind, and here are forty dollars for a missionary, and I will buy a coat with the balance.' And now, as she turns in, weary, but happy, at night, she has a substitute in India who turns out to do his share of work for the Master. She is on the Besor.

"In a Canadian city is a wealthy manufacturer who placed himself and his possessions entirely at God's disposal many years ago. At that time he decided that his remaining days and all his profits should be given for the advancement of the kingdom. Not long ago a man in his confidence informed the writer that although his business had doubled in volume, and his earnings had kept pace, he was a poorer man to-day than he was fifteen years ago.

"He was speaking after the manner of men. The man in question is not poorer to-day than he was fifteen years ago. The wealth he has given away is the wealth he has. What has gone to aged people's homes, mission churches, and to the thousand and one things at home and abroad to which he has contributed, is now laid up where moth and rust do not corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. It is his for eternity.

"Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, when making his budget speech in 1897, said that the value of the cigar and cigarette stubs thrown away annually in Great Britain amounted to one and a quarter million pounds, which is more than the entire amount given by the Christians of Great Britain for Foreign Missions, and it is but fair to assume that the same ratio holds good here; that is to say, more money is thrown into the gutters in cigar and cigarette stubs than is given to obey Christ's commands, 'Go ye.'

"In David's day (see 1 Samuel 30:9-24) two hundred men were by the baggage and four hundred in the baggage. That is, two were in the battle for every one by the baggage.

"In our day seventeen thousand missionaries only have gone down to the battle, while five hundred millions stay by the baggage. Represented by figures, this is how it stands, as 2-1 is to 1-30,000, so David's army was to Christ's.

* * *

"The church has never been without men willing to preach the Gospel, and by doing so to give up all hope of earthly possessions and human preferment. Why, then, should it be thought a thing incredible that men could be found willing, in like manner, to dedicate their time, power, and brains, in the so-called secular pursuits, to the sole object od advancing the kingdom of God? Let the lawyer, the doctor, the merchant, the manufacturer, the inventor, the artisan, the mechanic, the laborer, abiding each in his calling, lay himself and his talents on the altar for the glory of Jesus Christ in the evangelization of the world.

* * *

"The truly far-seeing man projects everything forward, far beyond the bounds of this little life, into the light of that day when Jesus shall return in triumph to judge the quick and the dead. Let us live thus, and let us do nothing of which we shall be ashamed when Jesus comes, nothing to bar us from sharing in David's great law: 'As his share is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his share be that tarieth by the baggage.'"—Exchange.

Valuable Lessons.

Failure has a teaching in it which nothing else can give. No man is likely to do a thing in the best way until he has failed once or twice, and so learned what weakness or fault is to be avoided. Famous engine-builders in this country were asked if they had ever had an explosion of one of their engines. They replied: "No, we have not. We wish we could if no one were hurt, for we should like to know where the weakest part is." In great chain factories power machines are especially designed to make chains fail, so that the makers may know how and why and where the chains' weakest portions are. It is sometime a distinct advantage to have learned by a failure. Robert Louis Stevenson felt this when he wrote—

"To thrill with the joy of girded men,
To go on forever and fail, and go on again."

He that is wise will have somewhere in his heart a gratitude to God for the times when he was given the advantage of his failures. He who trusts God will remember this and take heart in the day of his failures.—Sunday-School Times.

Gems Culled From G. Campbell Morgan, D. D.

"A crowd is an opportunity. Crowds ought never to appal the saint, but ought rather to appeal to the saint."

"Every time I take up one of these modern books that is going to save men, by the evolution of the human mind, I want to put the writer and his book down in the slums, and bid him prove it."

"God is not going to work a miracle to make up for the church's laziness."

"The kind of a man God can't work with is a coward."

"The church is beginning to believe that God can save a man in the summer."

"The man who is trembling himself can never make another tremble. It is the man who is unafraid who makes the other man afraid."

"We want the strenuous life, not merely in business and politics, but in the church."

"God can only work with courageous and consecrated persons."

"Any service that has no suffering in it is barren."

"Oh, the soft dilettantism! It is so awfully cheap to hang a picture of the cross in your room, or to wear the cross round your neck. We do not want mere sentiment. The cross waits for you this summer in the slums of your city, in the homes of the poor and outcast."

"If the church will suffer with the Son, you can shake the city to its foundations in one year—but never till you are ready to suffer."—Selected.

What the Flowers Did.

Of old we read that the Lord Jesus when He saw the multitudes went up into a mountain and there sat and preached the one great sermon of His that is preserved to us with any completeness.

It was up into the mount that Moses had gone to receive the law, guarded with an awful sanctity, amidst the terrors of lightning and thunder and earthquake. How great is the contrast as the Saviour sits under the stretch of blue sky and in the shadow of the rock. About him rang the music of the birds, the chirp of sparrow, the rapturous song of the lark. From the further heights came the croaking of the raven and from the clefts of the rocks the cooing of the dove. Far down below there lay the blue waters of the sea of Galilee, fringed with its towns and villages and dotted by the fishing boats; all the slope of the mountain gay with flowers—the most striking feature of the landscape in Palestine.

At the first when God made a sanctuary for man, we read that He planted a garden, and within its cool and fragrant shades He walked and talked with His child. And now in this "Garden of Eden run wild," the Son of God sits and talks with His disciples. He is teaching them to find their refuge and rest in the care of the heavenly Father, when suddenly He stops and bids them listen to the birds.

"Consider the fowls of the air," saith the blessed Master, "they sow not, nor reap, nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not better than they?"

Thus He made the birds His duly appointed preachers—the sparrow in homely suit of brown, with its chirp; the raven in orthodox black, but let us not think with orthodox croak.

Then He stooped and picked a flower—a flower of the field—mere common buttercup or daisy, all the more fitted to preach because it was little and common and weak. It stood up that day and whispered: "See, your heavenly Father hath fashioned me, in all my beauty. He hath perfectly fitted me to my home; He hath swathed me with these protecting leaves; He hath taught me to bend to the storm; He sends me the dew to drink and the sunshine to feed upon. His hand hath decked me with these hues. Shall He not much more clothe you?"

Birds and flowers; these are the message, the ministry of the country. How much we all need it, dwellers in this great city. How much more do they need it who dwell in stifling court and alley. How much it should do for men and women, boys and girls, to have the chambers of the imagery filled with these sweet visions; to have even for a day the great stretch of heaven overhead and the sight of field and tree and flower. We have been slow to think that in these things there is anything distinctly religious—that there is a blessed message which speaks to the innermost heart, which brings a new faith and breathes a new peace and sings of a new hope. I have been amazed a the stories I have met with in the West London mission, stories of how the flowers have brought to some—and those the most helpless—nothing less than the beginning of a new life.

"They do make me think," is the testimony that meets us again and again. "They do make me think." And the thoughts that they bring are always so sweet, so gracious, so gentle, so beautiful, so altogether like unto Him whom we have been taught to call the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley.—Rev. Mark Guy Pearse.

Ten cents' worth of help will make more religion than a dollar's worth of argument.

Our Boys and Girls

Gold Rock, N. C., May 2, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eight years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday, and know my lessons perfectly. My teacher is Mrs. E. J. Braswell, my grand-mother; our superintendent is Mrs. J. D. Ward. We are doing good work in our school.

I will close by asking what two chapters in the Bible are alike?

Your friend,
MOSES E. MOORE.

Tillman, N. C., May 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little boys' and girls' letters. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can; my teacher is Miss Cherry Phillips, and I like her fine. My pastor is Dr. J. Sanford, and my superintendent is Mr. C. H. Womble; I like him fine.

I will close with love and best wishes to the Orphanage.

Your little unknown friend,
JENNIE E. BENNER.

Woodard, N. C., May 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the girls' and boys' letters. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday; our superintendent is Mr. A. W. Snell; my teacher is Mrs. Henry Sitterson, and I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. R. L. Davis and I like him fine.

I will answer Chloe Pruden's question: Samson was the strongest man.

What was the first miracle that Jesus performed?

Your unknown friend.
JANNIE LOWE.

Pates, N. C., May 2, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eleven years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I have one brother seven years old. We live seven miles from our church. Our school closed two weeks ago. I like to go to school very much.

I will answer Lessie Wooten's question: Noah was nine hundred and fifty years old when he died.

I will ask a question: How many brothers had Joseph

Find enclosed ten cents for the orphans.

Your unknown friend.
WALTER L. McRAE.

Battleboro, N. C., May 2, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years of age. My papa takes the Advocate. My mother and papa are both living. I have two brothers and four sisters living; have one brother dead. Two of my sisters are married. I go to Sunday-school and know my lessons. I live in the country.

I have been told that the Jews crucified Jesus, but you will see in the 18th chapter of St. Luke and the 32nd verse that the Gentiles were to crucify him. Please explain it. Hope to see my letter in print.

Your unknown friend.
LUCY BRASWELL.

Hertford, N. C., May 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. My father and mother are both living. I have one brother living and one dead. He died the 28th of December, and you don't know how much I miss him, for he was a good brother.

My mamma is my Sunday-school teacher. My week-day school has been closed for some time. Miss Annie Overton was my teacher.

I will close my letter by sending twenty-five cents for the Orphanage.

Very respectfully.
ARABELLA ONEIDA BRINN.

Windsor, N. C., May 1, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eight years old. My school has closed now. My teacher was Miss Mamie Moore. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher is Miss Ruth Tayloe, and I think she is a good teacher. Our pastor is Rev. R. L. Davis. We like him very much.

I have three sisters and one brother. Now I will close by asking a question: Where did Samson's strength lie?

Now I will answer Jessie Inman's question: Jesus wept, is the shortest verse in the Bible.

Your little friend.
NANNIE PRUDEN.

Aulander, N. C., May 1, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I will now attempt to write to my favorite page. I am a little girl eleven years old. My school has closed now. We had a real nice entertainment. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss Oliver Taylor; I like her very much. Our superintendent is Mr. Calvin Moore and our pastor is Rev. R. L. Davis. I think he is a good preacher.

We are preparing for Children's Day now for the third Sunday.

Now I will close by asking a question: Who was the strongest man? Good-by.

From your friend.
MARY TAYLOE.

Pates N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nearly eight years old. I can't write very well, but I love to read the boys' and girls' letters in your paper. I have a pet goat; I can drive him and carry wood in my little wagon.

Our school closed two weeks ago. Miss Ela Steed is our teacher, and we all like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. J. W. Bradley; we all like him.

I will ask a question: Where is the shortest verse in the Old Testament found?

Find enclosed twenty-five cents for the orphans.

Your little unknown friend.
ADRIAN B. McRAE.

Osmond, N. C., April 28, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl seven years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My papa is our superintendent. My teacher is Aunt Jennie Featherstone, and my pastor is Rev. Mr. Rufus Bradley.

I have four brothers and two sisters living and a little brother dead. My baby brother is only three months old, and his name is Norman Broom Stephens.

I will close by asking who was the meekest man?

I hope to see my letter in print. Enclosed you will find five cents for the orphans.

Your little friend.
MABEL STEPHENS.

Methodist Orphanage,
Raleigh, N. C., March 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—My father and mother are both dead. I have only two sisters living.

We have Sunday-school here every Sunday. Miss Lucy Reeks is my teacher. We have a "Bible Reading Circle" in our class. This requires us to read the Bible every day, and we read a chapter every Sabbath morning before we go to church.

I am interested in my studies. My teacher says I am getting along nicely. When we get on the roll of honor she gives us beautiful reward cards or takes us out sight-seeing.

I will answer Ruth Draper's question: It was Pilate that raised his voice in Christ's behalf during his trial.

What money was paid for the strangers' burying ground?

We thank the little Cousins for the nickels and dimes they send us.

Your friend,
CASSIE BRIGHT.

Blackjack, N. C., April 27, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eight years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. I go to Sunday-school. Our Superintendent is Mr. W. L. Wooton, and my teacher is Miss Clara Tucker. Mr. B. E. Stanfield is our pastor. I like him very much. I will ask a question: What remarkable question did Saul ask Abner when David went to fight the giant? I will close with love and best wishes.

Your little friend.
ARTHUR S. PORTER.

Goldsboro, N. C., April 12, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. I have written one letter to the Advocate but thought I would write another. Our pastor is Rev. Mr. Tripp, and we all like him and his wife very much. I have a little sister living and three brothers dead.

I will answer Alice Turner's question: Jesus was baptized in the river Jordan.

Now I will ask one: Who was the oldest man?

Much success to the Advocate.

Your little friend.
HAZEL CRAWFORD.

Blackjack, N. C., April 27, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nine years old. Papa takes the Advocate, and I love to read the little girls and boys letters. My school is up now. Miss Mammie Galloway was my teacher. I go to Sunday-school. Our pastor is Rev. B. E. Stanfield. I like him very much. I will close by asking some questions: How old was Sarah when she died? To which son did Jacob show a great partiality? How was Moses employed when the Lord appeared to him?

Your little friend.
MURRAY K. PORTER.

Raleigh, N. C., May 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I see where Fenton Gardner asked some one to send her the song, "Put my little shoes away," so I will send it to her.

PUT MY LITTLE SHOES AWAY.

Mother, dear, come bathe my forehead,
I am growing very weak,
Let the clear and cooling water
Fall upon my burning cheek.
Tell my loving little playmates
That I never more shall play:
Give them all my toys; but, mother,
Put my little shoes away.

Santa Claus, he gave them to me,
With so many other things,
And I think he's bro't an angel
With a pair of downy wings.
Mother, soon I'll be an angel,
Ere, perhaps, another day,
Then, O then, my loving mother,
Put my little shoes away.

Soon the baby he'll grow larger,
And they'll fit his little feet:
Won't he look so nice and crony
As he walks along the street?
Mother, now I'm going to leave you,
So remember what I say:
Then, O then, my loving mother,
Put my little shoes away.

Your friend,
OLA HOUSE.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$11.05 Raleigh to Athens, Ga., and return account Summer School. Tickets on sale July 2, 11, 18, limited returning fifteen days in addition to date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$13.50 Raleigh to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, account Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Tickets on sale July 10 and 11, final limit July 23, 1904. An extension can be obtained until August 3rd, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Detroit, Mich, and return account Baptist Young People's Union of America International Convention. Tickets on sale July 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit July 12. An extension until August 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$19.95 Raleigh to Louisville, Ky., and return account Biennial Conclave Knights of Pythias. Tickets on sale August 12 to 15, final limit August 25. An extension until September 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$18.20 Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return account Monteagle Sunday-school Institute. Tickets on sale August 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit August 31, 1904. An extension until October 31, 1904, can be obtained by paying difference between rate which ticket was sold and summer tourist rate.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return, account Peabody Normal Summer School. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4, and 5, with final limit fifteen days from date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30th, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, account National Prohibition Convention. Tickets on sale June 26 and 27, final return limit leave Indianapolis not later than July 15, 1904.

$16.80 Raleigh to Pittsburg, Pa., and return account Annual Convention National Association of Manufacturers of U. S. A. Tickets on sale May 14, 15 and 16, final return limit to reach starting point not later than May 21, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Republican Convention. Tickets on sale May 16, 17 and 18, final limit May 23, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Democratic Convention. Tickets on sale June 21, 22 and 23, final limit June 27, 1904.

God would show himself to us more often and more wonderfully if we would get eyes that see.—Christian Endeavor World.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Miss Mary Pescud went to Greensboro Monday, where she joined a party going to the meeting of the Woman's Board in Jacksonville, Fla. She and our beloved president, Mrs. Lucy A. Cuninggim, will represent the North Carolina Conference Society of the Woman's Foreign Mission work in our State.

We have no fear for the interests of our Society work, when it is entrusted to the vigilance of such efficient representatives.

There has been much anxiety among her friends, especially her missionary co-workers, over the rumor that Mrs. F. D. Swindell was quite ill, but the assurance that her disease was not of a malignant type, has brought relief to her friends and sisters.

If profound sympathy and earnest prayer will avail, our afflicted sister will soon be recovered from her illness, and her life prolonged for still further usefulness in the sphere where she has labored faithfully for years.

She had, no doubt, with careful and prayerful preparation, made all her plans for the interests of her Conference Society, in the meeting of the Woman's Board in Jacksonville. But in a heart which has her faith and trust, there is no complaint—nothing but a quiet submission to the will of her Father.

The following resolutions were received last week, but too late for publication:

Resolutions of respect by the W. F. M. Society of Centenary Church, New Bern, N. C.:

Whereas, our beloved sister, Miss Frances Hay, has been called to her eternal home; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That while our hearts are sad because we shall no more see her face upon earth, yet we bow submissively to God's will, knowing that our loss is her everlasting gain.

2. That her long, beautiful, consistent life shall be to us an inspiration to a closer walk with God, and greater devotion to His service.

3. That we especially endeavor to emulate her example of love for, and devotion to, the work of Foreign Missions, to which, since the organization of our Society, she has given her brightest thoughts, her fervent prayers, and her constant support, feeling it can be said truly of her: "She hath done what she could."

4. That to her bereaved family we give our loving sympathy, praying that to them may be given, in abundant measure, that divine grace which, for so many years, was her comfort and stay.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her bereaved family, and to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication; also a copy be spread upon the minutes of this Society.

MRS. S. H. SCOTT,
MRS. FANNIE NEAL,
MRS. R. C. RICHARDSON,
MRS. M. A. MOORE,
Committee.

The subjoined letter from St. Paul's, Goldsboro, will give pleasure, and encouragement, too, to all who are interested in our Juvenile Department, and especially to the Lady Managers of our Bright Jewel Bands. Our column would like to have some news each week from the Juvenile leaders:

Dear Mrs. Dixon:—Complying with your request in last week's Advocate for news from the Lady Managers of the Bright Jewels, I will say that I have held a meeting since my return from the Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City, which was a very pleasant, and, I trust, profitable one.

The meeting was held just after Sunday-school. I requested the superintendent to ask all the children not over ten years of age, who were not members of our Band, to remain with us, and quite a large number did so.

I talked to them of our work, and told them of some of the interesting things I had heard from Mr. Lee and Miss Pescud, of the little children in Brazil, and of the work the Bright Jewels, organized by Mrs. Lee, are doing in that country. I told them, also, of the work our own Bright Jewels are doing in many of our towns and cities.

The children seemed much interested, and I asked them if they did not want to help in this labor for Christ, in sending the blessed gospel to these children in foreign lands. At the close of my talk ten new members were secured, and others said they would join at our next meeting if their parents would consent.

I hope to give an entertainment of some kind very soon so as to raise money on our pledge.

I love the work already, and hope that I will be able, through this medium, to do something for our blessed Master.

At the regular meeting of our adult Auxiliary, our president, Mrs. Swindell, was not able to be with us, as she was, and is yet, ill with diphtheria. Of course she will not be able to attend the meeting of the Woman's Board, and I'm sure this is a great disappointment to her.

At this meeting of our Society I tried to tell the sisters of our Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City, and the delightful, successful time we had.

Sincerely,
MARY MILLER SOUTHERLAND.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN.

Suffer untold agonies from ring worm, ground itch, eczema, scalp eruptions and other itching diseases of the skin. Their parents can relieve these helpless little ones promptly by the use of Tetterine. 50 cents per box, all druggists, or by mail from the manufacturer, J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

It is Time to Get Ready for

SCHOOL COMMENCEMENTS.

We are most liberally prepared to supply entire classes as well as the individual. White things will be most used this year at all the day and evening exercises, and we have a beautiful and extensive stock of every conceivable fancy in White Wash Fabrics, from the most inexpensive little dimity to the finest, sheerest imported novelty. We will make a liberal discount on all class orders.

Let us send you Samples.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.
Raleigh, N. C.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to MRS. R. O. BURTON, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

THE PREACHER'S HOME.

Not Always a Happy Reality.

It is hardly necessary for me to remind this audience that the great need of comfortable homes for our preachers gave birth to our organization. The idea originated in the brain of that noble woman, Miss Lucinda B. Helm, on hearing a conversation between one of our Bishops and Dr. Morton, at that time Chairman of the Board of Church Extension. The problem of sending men to inaccessible places where the gospel was needed, where other men were dying without this gospel, was a serious one—for often not even abiding places could be found for them. They felt that the command, "Go and preach," was imperative, but staggered at the thought of what this "going" entailed.

A SEARCHING QUESTION.

The faith of the Methodist preacher has ever been heroic, but when other lives and hearts are brought to the sacrifice, when wife and children may be without home or shelter, can we wonder that this faith sometimes fails? It has been said, and the fact deplored, that few young men are entering the ministry of our Church at present; may not the realization that they must go wherever sent, whether or not adequate provision be made for physical needs, explain, in some measure, this condition? The world offers better things from a temporal standpoint, and the young man hesitates, although he has heard and felt the call and believes the need is becoming greater every day.

THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Dr. Morton saw these difficulties, but was at a loss as to the best methods of meeting them. It was then that Miss Lucinda came with these words: "Why cannot the women of the Church organize and build homes for the preachers when the people are unable or unwilling to do so?"

The brethren accepted her plan as heaven-sent, and then and there commissioned her to organize the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society.

This was about eighteen years ago, and the child of Miss Lucinda's brain has grown beyond even her most sanguine expectation. Her disembodied spirit has left its feeble tenement of clay, but others are carrying on the work which she began, and it has broadened us the calls have come from the needy and sinful of earth. Other enterprises have developed and the Home Mission Society has made for itself a place in our Church polity.

THE KEYNOTE

But parsonage building is, and ever will be, the keynote of our success. Up to one year ago, 1,377 parsonages had been helped, with an appropriation of $128,487.60. In the year just closed, one hundred and fifty were assisted, our Society contributing $13,122.96. One-half the amount of dues paid in is returned for parsonages in our own Conferences, to be applied where there has been honest effort on the part of the preachers and people to provide homes.

PARSONAGES IN N. C. CONFERENCE.

There are one hundred and sixty-five charges in our Conference, thirty-one of which have no preachers' homes, and there remain a debt of $11,000 on those already built. If the churches without parsonages were in cities or towns where good salaries are paid and good houses are for rent, it would not be so bad; but they are generally on mission charges where the pay is small, and often in the country where there are no houses for rent.

I could give several instances of the timely help of our Society in this State, and the ministers who live in these homes would gladly bear me out in my statements, but lack of time forbids.

In the recent Warrenton edition of the Raleigh Christian Advocate one brother wrote that this District takes care of all its preachers, except one, but he did not tell that the Home Mission Society had helped to build, or to pay the debt on, five of these parsonages, and that there is still a debt of $1,400 on them.

Elizabeth City is the only District without a parsonage debt; five charges have no parsonages, but I think they must be filled by unmarried men, or we would have heard from them.

GREATER NEEDS ELSEWHERE.

I have given above a few facts in regard to our local conditions. If we in North Carolina need help, how much greater must be the need where the preacher has to stand almost alone against the tide of ignorance, scepticism and vice which prevails in much of our Western Country! How important that a comfortable home should stand in every charge, as a pattern of what true life should be! As the Settlement Home in our great cities sends out beams of love to the erring, so should the parsonages in these mission fields be the centers from which all saving influences go forth.

A PLEA FOR MORE MEMBERS.

But we cannot help all who ask aid unless we are strengthened by an increase in membership. To me, the saddest part of the Home Mission work is the fact that our income is so far below our urgent needs. If the women of our Church could wake up to a realization of these and to their responsibilities, there are few who would not willingly pay the small amount required. I would not dare charge one of them with indifference to this great work after being properly informed.

It is a privilege to give to our readers this excellent paper, read by Mrs. Wilkins at our Annual Meeting. Would that its eloquent earnestness could appeal to every woman in our Church!

DISASTROUS WRECKS.

Carelessness is responsible for many railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by all druggists. Price 50c., and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Editorial

OUR FRATERNAL MESSENGER AT LOS ANGELES.

The reception of Dr. J. C. Kilgo's address to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Los Angeles was of that character which must bring pleasure to every member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Dr. Kilgo stirred the brethren in a wonderful way, bringing about those dramatic scenes of the olden days when sacred eloquence exerted its great power over men and women. We feel that Dr. Kilgo very greatly helped our church at Los Angeles.

The address is very lengthy, and we have been as yet unable to present it to our readers. This we will do in next week's Advocate. We desire all our readers to get the benefit of this address.

THE SIMPLICITY OF A PLAN TOO DEEP FOR BOOKS.

We do not take any stock in the modern physiological theories of sin. We have as little use for the psychological theory of conversion. Both are floating mines, chained together by the Devil and planted in the channel to blow up all craft seeking an entrance into the inner harbor.

We should never lose sight of the fact that the best place to study the nature of sin and salvation is in the experience of men and women around us. Such exercise is safe and healthful. To study elsewhere has its dangers. We know two bright men who lost their spiritual grip on God because they went too far afield in the mists of transcendental philosophy. We can learn more of God, His idea of sin, and His way of regenerating men and women, and saving souls, from our neighbor who has been persuaded to find God in a Methodist revival than from a year's study of "The Psychology of Conversion," and all other works which reduce salvation to terms of philosophy and science. The sermon preached by Christ to Nicodemus is the only sermon worth hearing when we are looking into the first principles of the deep things of God. This greatest of sermons finds the clearest and strongest illustration in the spiritual birth of the one most deeply sunk in sin.

How forcibly Bishop Fowler illustrated all this in his sermon preached a few days ago at Los Angeles. At an earlier period of his life he had buried the little girl of a man who even at the grave claimed to have outgrown his earlier "superstition" about religious things. The preacher had a geological theory of conversion. In a few days the father of the little girl was stricken down with cholera. The preacher, with the "geological theory," was sent for. He describes as follows what happened:

"The cold perspiration started over me. As I went I prayed for help. It came to me. 'Preach my gospel,' I said. 'That is it. I will give him only the Word of God and leave the responsibility with God.' As I went into the house the woman fell down and caught me around my feet, saying, 'Oh, sir, you must save him!' As I went up by the side of the bed the man sprang up and threw the stump of his arm about my neck, and said: Oh sir, what shall I do? It is so dark and everything whirls so. I can't die this way.' I said: 'Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.' He sprang up and shook his hand at me, saying: 'Don't you tell me that. Here I am fifty years old, crystalized in sin and have only an hour or two to live. You can't make me over in an hour.' There was my geology of character face to face with me. I waited. Another spasm took him, and he cried out again: 'What shall I do? I can't die this way.' I said: 'Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.' Again he said: 'Don't tell me that,' and I waited. For nearly two hours we teetered over that single passage; I gave him nothing else. At last, fearing he would go soon, I said: 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and don't you dare to tell me no. You will be dead and in hell in an hour. All the people that have gone up to God have gone by this way of faith.' Then he began to moan and pray: "Lord Jesus, have mercy upon me!' Soon he was praying with all his might. Then I repeated the promises to him. I repeated that wonderful promise: 'Him that cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out.' He said: 'Say that again, say that again.' I repeated it. He said: 'I believe it, I believe it. Glory to God! I can die now. Hallelujah! I can die now.'"

We add that Bishop Fowler said in his sermon that two persons were cured of the "geology of character" that night.

A VICTIM OF THE PRESS.

A few weeks ago there appeared in one of our State papers an extract from a sermon preached before the students of Yale University by President DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine.

This extract, standing by itself, and unexplained, convicted President Hyde not only of extreme heterodoxy, but of a skepticism that, in some respects went a bow shot beyond that of Robert G. Ingersoll in his palmiest days.

If we had believed President Hyde to be guilty of uttering such sentiments, especially in a sermon before theological students in a great university we would have lost no time in condemning Trinity College for having President Hyde to preach the annual sermon at the approaching Commencement, and warning our readers against giving the moral support of their attention to such a man. If there is one thing a Christian college is obligated to teach and maintain, under all circumstances, whether private or public, it is the sacredness of the Bible as the Word of God, and the reality of Jesus Christ as the Son of God and the Savior of the world.

But we did not believe President Hyde to be guilty of holding or uttering the sentiments attributed to him. We wrote to him at once, sending him the clipping, and apprising him of the fact that the paragraph had been running through a large number of the newspapers of the State. We expressed ourselves as unwilling to believe that he had been correctly or justly reported, and asked for authority to make for him a public denial, especially since he was on the programme of Trinity Commencement to preach the annual sermon.

A few days ago we received the following reply:

Brunswick, Maine, May 17, 1904.

Mr. T. N. Ivey, Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Ivey:—The report of my Yale sermon was erroneous. In the course of the sermon I said that certain doctrines could be so stated as to be made to appear absurd, and gave three or four illustrations of such absurd statements; this occupied perhaps a page of the sermon. During the remaining ten or twelve pages I attempted to show that these same doctrines could be stated so as to commend themselves to every intelligent person. The reporter gave the absurd statements, in exaggerated form, as the sum and substance of the discourse. I have never taken the trouble to correct the thing in print. A crazy man got hold of it, and made it the basis of a tirade which appeared in several papers. The matter was unfortunate; but so manifestly absurd that I did not suppose many people would take it seriously.

Very truly yours,

Wm. DeW. HYDE.

This answer of Dr. Hyde fully vindicates him and must be satisfactory to those who have most rabidly criticised him.

We again call attention to the fact that for a newspaper to copy a newspaper report reflecting upon a man or woman is an act unwarranted and unjust. There is a reformation needed just here both in the secular and religious press. The policy of publishing indiscriminately and at random anything that happens to be in print is a dangerous policy and is subversive of all justice and truth.

Will those newspapers which published the paragraph in question publish President Hyde's letter or the substance of it.

DEATH OF REV. Z. T. HARRISON.

We have just received news of the death of Rev. Z. T. Harrison. He died at his home at Roberdell on Saturday, May 21, and was buried in the cemetery at Rockingham on last Sunday evening. His health had been at low ebb for some time. We learned no particulars of his death.

The whole Conference is bereaved in the death of this good man and faithful preacher. He was deeply consecrated. He loved God. He loved his fellow man. He loved his work. His presence was always pleasant and helpful. The readers of the Advocate remember that in his recent letters to the paper, he showed a wonderfully mellow spirit. It seemed as if he were ripening for God's harvest time. We feel sure that he was ready to go. Such a life as he lived is always followed by a glorious translation.

An extended obituary will appear in this paper. Our hearts sympathy goes out to the stricken family.

COMMENCEMENT OF LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.

The following is the programme for the Commencement at Louisburg Female College:

Sunday night (Methodist church), sermon by Bishop Duncan, to the Y. W. C. A.

Monday evening at 8.30 o'clock, Alumnae banquet.

Tuesday morning, 11 o'clock, Annual Sermon, by Bishop W. W. Duncan (Methodist church. Tuesday evening 8.30 o'clock, graduating exercises by School of Expression (Opera House).

Wednesday morning, 10.30, graduating exercises. At 2 o'clock, literary address, by Hon. T. W. Mason (College). Wednesday evening, 8.30, Annual Concert (College).

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.
Warrenton District, Rich Square—July 28 August 1.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—July 20-24.
Rockhingham District, Gibson—July 21-24.

NEW LITERATURE.

"Experience of An Army Chaplain."

This is the title of a neat pamphlet of over one hundred pages, in diary form, giving the army experience of Dr. A. D. Betts, who was chaplain of the 30th N. C. Troops, Confederate States of America.

Of course, every one who knows Dr. Betts will want to read this pamphlet. It is written in that terse laconic style for which Dr. Betts is noted. It covers a great range of experience which has lost, through the years, no interest for the people who lived during the stormy days of the 60's.

The pamphlet is edited by Rev. W. A. Betts of the South Carolina Conference. In addition to the Diary, there is a number of testimonials as to the life, character, and usefulness of Dr. Betts; also a number of meritorious war poems in which all will be interested. We feel sure that the pamphlet will have a large sale. There is also a short biographical sketch of Dr. Betts. Write to Rev. W. A. Betts, Piedmont, S. C., for a copy.

Dr. James Atkins will preach the baccalaureate sermon at Columbia Female College, May 29-31.

Methodist Mention

Rev. Z. Paris, Lumberton Circuit, will begin a series of meetings at Hamlet the fifth Sunday in May.

The new Methodist Church, Asbury, on the Golston Circuit, was dedicated on last Sunday by Rev. J. B. Hurley, P. E.

Rev. T. A. Smoot, of Fayetteville, N. C., will deliver the literary address at the commencement of Buie's Creek Academy, June 1.

Rev. G. R. Rood wrote for the News and Observer a beautiful memorial ode for the tenth of May. He has decided poetic talent.

We were pleased to have a pleasant visit last week from Dr. J. R. Parker, of Union. He is attending the Medical Convention at Raleigh.

The chairs of the Methodist Orphanage have come, and will soon be placed. The auditorium will be exceedingly handsome and comfortable.

Rev. F. A. Bishop preached on last Sunday morning a strong sermon on Parental Responsility. The sermon has been highly praised by many of the hearers.

We have received from "Anonymous," Raleigh, N. C., the sum of $5.00 for Foreign Missions. The donor has our thanks, and the amount has been forwarded to Mr. J. B. Walker, Treasurer.

The Lookout Mountain Missionary Conference for Young People will be held July 1-10. This will be a very important occasion. The delegation of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be limited to one hundred.

Rev. Mr. Rone, of Rocky Mount, preached in the M. E. Church Sunday morning and evening. He is an able minister and was complimented very highly by those who had the pleasure of hearing him.—Nashville Graphic.

Rev. B. E. Stanfield announces that there will be a missionary mass meeting for Grimesland and Vanceboro Circuit at Salem Church, May 28 and 29. All of the officials and members are requested to be present. Speeches and sermons by prominent men.

Dr. R. H. Whitaker is thinking of collecting in book form the letters which he has been writing for the News and Observer. We trust that he will materialize his intentions. These letters are exceedingly interesting and instructive, and the book would have a large sale.

Bishop W. W. Duncan spent last Friday night in Raleigh, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Jerman. He left on Saturday. On Sunday he dedicated the new Methodist Church in Louisburg. In the evening of the same day he preached a sermon to the Y. W. C. A., of Louisburg Female College.

We highly appreciate Rev. C. F. Sherrill's invitation to attend his District Conference (Waynesville), which meets at Clyde, July 14-17. He writes that he and family moved into the new District parsonage last week. Brother Sherrill is giving full proof of his ministry in the Presiding Eldership.

The following new Bishops have been elected by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church: Joseph F. Berry, of Chicago; Henry Spellmeyer, of Newark, N. J.; William F. McDowell, of New York; James W. Bashford, of Delaware, Ohio; William Burt, of Rome, Italy; Luther B. Wilson, of Baltimore, and Thomas B. Neeley, of Philadelphia.

Rev. Plato Durham preached the annual sermon before the Y. M. C. A. of the A. and M. College on last Sunday night in Edenton Street Church, Raleigh. The sermon was characterized by depth and originality of thought bearing upon a very practical and evangelical theme—the "lifting up" of Christ. The sermon was finely adapted to a body of students, and will do great good.

We rejoice to know that prohibition carried in Newport on last Tuesday, 7 inst. Rev. J. H. M. Giles had his heart in this matter, and he is the happiest man of all. We regret that his dispatch announcing the result was received too late for last week's paper.

Rev. J. A. Dailey writes that Rev. K. D. Holmes failed on account of sickness in his family to assist in the recent meeting at Milton. Rev. Rufus Bradley, however, assisted, and did great good with his calm convincing preaching. The church was strengthened and sinners were converted.

Mr. T. B. Eldridge, former telegraph editor of the Post, and by the way one of the best equipped teachers in Edenton Street Sunday-school, has been doing the editorial work on the Morning Post since the sickness and death of Mr. R. M. Furman. Mr. Eldridge shows great versatility and readiness as an editorial writer.

The penchant the Presiding Elders have for holding several District Conferences the same week is emphasized this year by the fact that during one week in July there will be no District Conference at all. This is hard on those of us who would like to attend them all. A District Conference "clearing house" each year would be no bad idea.

Col. F. A. Olds, the brilliant newspaper correspondent of Raleigh, is never so happy as when he is making other people, especially the children, happy. On last Friday evening, he entertained the orphans at the Methodist Orphanage, with selections from the graphophone and with some stories of his own, told in his inimitable style.

The good work in behalf of Greensboro Female College continues. Miss Nannie Lee Smith is having unprecedented success in securing subscriptions. That valuable layman, Mr. J. A. Odell, has given $5,000 to the endowment fund. The brick for the new building are being made. Surely every one by this time feels assured that G. F. C. redivivus is a reality.

Dr. Winton strikes a keynote in the last Nashville, when he says: "For the names that appear in our Church papers in connection with stewards' meetings, missionary societies, and the like also to be bandied in the society column among those giving or receiving attentions such as are described above [dances, card parties, and wine suppers] is an offense and a scandal. The Church has enough to carry without being loaded down by the careless infidelity of its own members.

Our traveling representative, Mr. B. C. Glover, surprised us last week, not by bringing back a good report, for he always does this, but by bringing back a wife, nee Miss Bessie Butler, of Fayetteville, a most excellent and charming young woman. The ceremony was performed Thursday evening in the presence of several specially invited guests, Rev. T. A. Smoot officiating. We wish the newly married the utmost happiness in life.

We have received from Rev. L. L. Johnson, Afton, I. T., a paper printed in the Cherokee language. We must accept the merits of the contents on pure faith, as our linguistic attainments do not cover a very proficient knowledge of the Cherokee language. We know, however, that whatever comes from L. L. Johnson is all right. Bro. Johnson is very much pleased with his present charge, and is doing a fine work. We trust to have from him a long letter for our readers at an early date.

But it is not too much to say that the intense interests of the General Conference in fraternity culminated when the representative of our sister from the South, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Kilgo, with a voice of triumph and in words fairly burning with Chritsian zeal, brought to us a message which was the equal of the one delivered by our own splendid representatives, the Rev. Dr. D. W. C. Huntington and Governor John L. Bates, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Dallas, Texas, two years ago.—Daily Advocate (General Conference.)

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them, and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following is the report since May 18:

B. C. Glover	17
Rev. L. H. Joyner	8
Rev. G. T. Simmons	2
Rev. C. M. Lance	2
Rev. H. B. Anderson	1
Rev. J. E. Holden	1
Rev. A. J. Parker	1
Rev. W. H. Puckett	1
Rev. J. M. Lowder	1
Rev. E. C. Sell	1
Rev. D. B. Parker	1
Direct	1

The following is the report by Districts since May 4, 1904:

Wilmington District	40	increase for week 17
Fayetteville District	40	increase for week 8
New Bern District	33	increase for week 3
Rockingham District	32	increase for week 1
Elizabeth City District	8	increase for week 1
Washington District	7	increase for week 0
Warrenton District	7	increase for week 2
Raleigh District	4	increase for week 3
Durham District	3	increase for week 2

Total number new subscribers received since December 1, 1903, 1,271.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

The following amounts subscribed since last report:

G. H. Weston, Lake Landing, N. C.	$1.00
Judge B. F. Long, Statesville, N. C.	5.00
Rev. E. H. Davis, Kinston, N. C.	1.00
Dr. James A. Weston, Hickory, N. C.	1.00
Col. J. F. Bruton, Wilson, N. C.	5.00
Amount previously reported	158.85
	171.85
Amount needed	500.00

TRINITY PARK HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

June 4. Class Day Exercises and students reception.
June 6, 8.30 p. m., Graduation Exercises.
Declamation Contest.
Presentation of diplomas and certificates.
Awarding of prizes, medals, and scholarships.
Music by First Regiment Band, Richmond, Va.

The Christian Endeavor organization is primarily an American institution, and in the United States it claims 44,360 societies, with 2,661,600 members. It has societies in Alaska, Canada, Mexico, the West Indies, Central America, South America, Hawaii, the South Seas, Australia, Japan, China, Korea, India, Siam, Burmah, Persia, Turkey, Madagascar, and throughout European countries. It is organized in the church, home, army, navy, prisons, factories, schools, business houses, and wherever there are young people to respond to its methods and purposes.

The Florida Christian Advocate, ever progressive, is making arrangements to make the first issue in each month a District number.

Bishop Hoss will sail from Boston for Liverpool on the 28th.

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE
DEVOTIONAL CHARITABLE CONFERENCE LITERARY EVANGELICAL
FILL FOR CHRIST
EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

Somebody.

"Somebody did a golden deed,
Somebody proved a friend in need,
Somebody sang a beautiful song,
Somebody smiled the whole day long,
Somebody thought 'tis sweet to live,
Somebody said I'm glad to give,
Somebody fought a valiant fight,
Somebody lived to shield the right—
Was that somebody you?"

—Selected.

Just Praise.

It is always wise to look for the good in those you meet and at the proper time break the alabaster box of your love and tenderness upon them. I said at the proper time break the alabaster box, for there are times when our friends and acquaintances need cheer and encouragement. We should, however, be judicious in the use of our compliments, being neither fulsome nor scant in their use. Scant praise is as hurtful as fulsome praise is nauseating. If you are addressing an assembly in Sleepy Hollow, at the mouth of the River of Death, do not speak of it as the beautiful, charming, attractive, and thrifty city by the sea, whose loveliness is surpassed only by an occasional sun-set scene at the Golden Gate, and whose thrift is scarcely equaled by the push and activity displayed in a metropolitan city. The people may be charmed by your metaphorical display of words, but they will seriously question your veracity. (Frankly, I cannot for the life of me see how you can maintain your self-respect), and o not speak of a numb skull as though he were a star of the first magnitude.

But in Sleepy Hollow there may be "a gem of purest ray serene," and in the numb-skull (?) there may be a broken cord which, if touched, will again vibrate to all that is noble and good. A life whose light had gone out may be rekindled by a timely word.

Men of worth do not wish to be damned with faint praise, but some timely word of encouragement, or a faithful criticism, might be the strength of the lads arm which sent the great ship sliding over the ways into the water.

If you have an alabastar box laid away full of fragrant perfume of sympathy and affection which you intend to break over a friend's dead body, bring it out in his weary and troubled hours when he has failed, and the world, the indifferent world, has turned away from him, or when he has erred and the world is hissing at him; or sinned and the world, the blood-thirsty, is crying, "away with him from the earth!" and open it and pour out upon him as much as he needeth.

Let us learn to anoint our friends before-hand for the burial. Post-mortem kindness never cheered the burdened spirit nor inspired to nobler deeds the discouraged soul.

"We Can't Afford It."

This statement seems to be ringing in my ear. Am I dreaming, or is it true? It is true! Can't afford what? We cant afford 27 cents in twelve months toward the support of that missionary you have been talking about in the Advocate. To use a nautical phrase, "we are already loaded down to the gunwale." Twenty-seven cents more would sink our craft. Is that true?

Well, I am sorry you think so. But stop a moment. Has the amount you have pledged cost you a single indulgence? Will you travel a single mile less on account of your church expenditures? Will you spend a day less at the springs, mountains, or sea-coast? Will you be deprived of a single chew of gum or tobacco; one less drink at the soda fountain; one less plate of cream?

The missionary would cost you only twenty-seven cents. And you do not have to pay that down—five cents the first month and only two cents for the next eleven. Only one-half of a cent a week for fifty-two weeks plus two cents.

What sacrifice is necessary on your part to support a missionary in a foreign field for twelve long months?

Only six cigars in twelve months.

Only six cool drinks during the hot months.

Only one breakfast at restaurant prices in twelve months.

One collar or cravat.

Only one short piece of ribbon.

We might go on in this way until we had filled our space and never yet touch any of the necessities of life. And yet, this old horrid phrase: "We can't afford it," rings in our ears day and night. God pity us. With all we have, and all His many blessings we cannot spare one twenty-seven cents more where the support of a missionary twelve months is involved.

Horrid phrase, ring on! Ring out so loud that earth and heaven shall hear!

A Great Movement.

A deep revival of spiritual life in Victoria College, Toronto, has, as it always does, eventuated in a quickening of missionary zeal, and eight students have volunteered to conduct an evangelistic and missionary campaign in the churches; the general plan of which is to spend a week in each place, unless local conditions make it necessary to depart from the plan.

The aim of this campaign is:

(1) That souls may be saved, not alone for safety, but for service; (2) to meet the growing needs of the work, both at home and abroad; (3) to double the present force of missionaries within three years; (4) that the whole church may be led to a fuller realization of its duty to the world, and may receive a fresh baptism of power from on high for the accomplishment of its mighty mission.

This company of young men go forth with the full sympathy of the college and the Missionary Board, having the indorsement of Dr. Burwash Chancellor of Victoria University and Dr. A. Southerland, General Secretary of Missions.

NOT A SICK DAY SINCE.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses, I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50 cents at all druggists.

HICKS' CAPUDINE
NEVER FAILS TO CURE
HEADACHES AND COLDS
The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.
At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company
THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO
California and the Pacific Coast!
Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.
For particulars address
J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...
Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.
Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.
OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.
Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.
J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES
VIA
Seaboard Air Line Railway
TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for May 29, 1904.

The Passover.

(Matthew 26: 17-30.)

Golden Text: For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us. (1 Cor. 5: 7.)

Soon after the incident recorded our last lesson, Jesus closed his Perean ministry and entered upon the last week of his earthly life. The order of events, as generally agreed upon by the majority of scholars, is as follows: On the Friday preceding what we now call Palm Sunday, Jesus and his disciples arrived at Bethany. On the following day (Saturday), a supper was made for him at Bethany, and he was anointed by Mary. On the next day (Palm Sunday) occurred the Triumphal entry. On the next day (Monday) came the second cleansing of the temple. The following day (Tuesday) was the last great day of Jesus' public teaching. Concerning the next day (Wednesday), we have no record in the gospels, but apparently Jesus spent this day in retirement at Bethany.

The Last Supper.—Thursday, the day before the Crucifixion, was engaged with the events connected with the Jewish passover, which was celebrated by our Lord with his disciples in the upper room in Jerusalem. It was at the close of the Passover feast, that Jesus instituted the ceremony which is now designated as the Communion, the Encharist or the Lord's Supper.

The full significance of that solemn service we may never wholly fathom in this world. Our Saviour himself, however, gave to it his own interpretation, and this we must ever regard as the inspired revelation of its true meaning.

The New Covenant.—Perhaps the most helpful thought which we can attach to the Lord's Supper is the thought of the new covenant for which it stands, and which is freely offered to all humanity through Jesus Christ our Lord, who shed his own precious blood in ratification of it, and thus redeemed to himself all who will accept the gift of his saving mercy.

O Jesus! in the midst of glory forget not the sadness upon earth! Have mercy upon those to whom God has sent the bitter trial of separation from those they love! Have mercy on that loneliness of heart, so full of sadness, so crushing, sometimes full of terror! Have mercy upon those struggling against the difficulties of life, and faint with discouragement! —Selected.

CURES ECZEMA, ITCHING HUMORS, PIMPLES AND CARBUNCLES.—COST NOTHING TO TRY.

B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) is now recognized as a certain and sure cure for eczema, itching skin, humors, scabs, scales, watery blisters, pimples, aching bones or joints, boils, carbuncles, prickling pain in the skin, old, eating sores, ulcers, etc. Botanic Blood Balm taken internally, cures the worst and most deep-seated cases by enriching, purifying and vitalizing the blood, thereby giving a healthy blood supply to the skin. Botanic Blood Balm is the only cure, to stay cured, for these awful, annoying skin troubles. Heals every sore and gives the rich glow of health to the skin. Builds up the broken down body and makes the blood red and nourishing. Especially advised for chronic, old cases that doctors, patent medicines and hot springs fail to cure. Druggists, $1.00. To prove B. B. B. cures, sample sent free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble, and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.

Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.

E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes:

"Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."

For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.
LONGMAN & MARTINEZ.
Manufacturers, New York.

KEEP POSTED.—Your name and address will bring you the North American Miner six months free. Learn what a few dollars may do. Lake & Herring, 2 E. Saratoga St., Baltimore, Md.

DOESN'T RESPECT OLD AGE.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No ku fe. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure inte nal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment," but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case. Still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address
Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

EVERY FORM OF
CHRONIC DISEASE
Yields Promptly and Lastingly to
ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON AND ALUM WATER.
It is a highly concentrated natural mineral water, containing the identical mineral properties found by analysis in healthy human bodies. Cures the most stubborn cases. One teaspoonful a dose.
8 oz. bottle, 50c.
18 oz. " $1.00.
At all Druggists, or
J. M. Echols Co.
Lynchburg, Va.

JUST ISSUED!
Devotional Songs
EDITED BY THREE FAMOUS COMPOSERS AND COMPILERS
W. H. DOANE, Mus. Doc.
WM. J. KIRKPATRICK and HUBERT P. MAIN.
It contains a larger variety of songs than any other hymn book of its kind ever published.
One-half new songs that will never grow old.
One-half old songs that will always be new.
256 pages. Full Cloth Bound. 576 hymns.
$25 per 100; 30 cts. per copy, postpaid.
THE BIGLOW & MAIN CO.
137 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK. 216 Clark Street, CHICAGO.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobbacco Nah t. Nerve Exhaustion.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.
Please mention this paper.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

DON'T
give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh Marble Works

Monuments
Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.
Special attention paid to finish and lettering.
Only Best of Stock Used.
Write for new catalogue.
COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad
TIME TABLE.
Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

South Bound Trains. Daily, ex. S. Second. Class	First. Class	STATIONS.	Nor. Bound Trains. Daily, ex. S. First. Class	Second. Class
101	105		104	102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv. ....Raleigh.... Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	....Raleigh....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 25	S....†Caraleigh Mills....	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F....*Sylvania....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F....† Barnes	9 20	6 06
8 03	4 45	F....Hobby	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52	M....†McCULLERS....	9 10	5 55
8 27	4 56	F....Banks....	8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59	F....Austins....	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S....†Willow Springs	8 40	5 30
9 05	5 15	M....† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F....† Cardenas....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S....C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 25	5 26	S....† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 56
9 40	5 31	F....Buckhorn	8 20	4 45
9 45	5 36	F....Rawls	8 17	4 40
10 00	5 45	S....† Chalybeate....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S....Bradley	8 00	4 05
10 15	6 00	F....* Smith Mill....	7 55	4 00
10 15	6 10	....Lillington	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.
Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to
F. E. CLARK, Trav. Pass'r Agt., ATLANTA, GA.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

Secular News

STATE.

This State built 113 miles of railway last year.

Gold has recently been discovered in Montgomery County.

Mr. J. A. Odell, of Greensboro, has made a gift of $5,000 to the Greensboro Female College.

The State Board of Medical Examiners were in session in Raleigh last week. There were 88 applicants.

The next Legislature will be asked to form a new county out of parts of Robeson and Cumberland counties.

The North Carolina Medical Society met in annual session in the Hall of Representatives at Raleigh last Tuesday.

Mr. H. C. Dockery, of Richmond County, has engaged very extensively in cattle raising, and says his success is beyond expectations.

Governor Aycock released for publication the report of the special committee and the State Board of Internal Improvements on their investigation into the affairs of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad Company and the physical condition of the road, last Monday.

The Washington correspondent of the Raleigh Post says North Carolina is one of the few States in the Union that has not been honored in the naming of the battleships of the navy. The naval program to be enacted by this Congress contemplates the construction of three first-class armored men of war. An effort will be made to have one of the big fighters named in honor of the Tar Heel State.

The Republican Convention held at Greensboro, May 18, nominated a full State ticket, as follows: Governor, Chas. J. Harris, of Jackson County; Lieutenant-Governor, I. M. Meekins, of Pasquotank; Secretary of State, J. J. Jenkins, of Chatham; Treasurer, C. G. Bailey, of Davie; Attorney-General, W. H. Yarborough, Jr., of Franklin; Auditor, Frank Linney, of Watauga; Superintendent of Public Instruction, C. P. Frazier, of Guilford; Corporation Commissioner, D. H. Abbott, of Pamlico; Labor Commissioner, J. Y. Hamrick, of Cleveland; Commissioner of Agriculture, W. R. Dixon, of Craven; Supreme Court Judges, W. A. Montgomery, of Wake, and R. M. Douglas, of Guilford.

GENERAL.

The steamer Corwin, which sailed on last Tuesday with 89 passengers from Seattle to Nome, is probably lost.

Police Commissioner McAdoo of New York city, is making raids on the pool rooms of that city. Several people have been arrested, among them several Western Union telegraph people.

Some robbers who attempted to loot a mail wagon in Chicago are believed by the police to have been inspired by the example of the young men recently hanged out there for similar exploits of a more bloody character.

Mrs. Benjamin Greenbough of Boston, claims one-quarter of a cent on every gallon of kerosene oil manufactured by the Standard Oil Company since 1874 is due her, as the executor of her husband's estate. She has entered suit against the great corporation, and the amount is $50,000,000.

A Statement as to Subscribers.

A request was made of the pastors last fall not to pay Orphanage money to the Treasurer of the Joint Board; but they did not heed it. I had two reasons: One was to give every charge its due in the Advocate; to let the churches and Sunday-schools know how much they had done during they year; then to put it in the Journal of the Conference.

The other was, to give each subscriber credit on my list for having paid his subscription. Some of these (not many) paid to the preacher in charge, and he turned it over to the Joint Board, and no report was made to me; so I do not know who have paid and who have not. I know a good many who have not. It offends us all to be "dunned" for money that we have paid already. So I do not propose to send out any more duns.

A Notre Dame Lady's Appeal.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbagos, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M Summers, Box 283, Notre Dame Ind.

LIBERTY MILLS

PRODUCES DAILY 4,000 BARRELS OF

Pure Soft Wheat Flour

AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.

Ask Your Grocer.

LIBERTY MILLS, Nashville, Tenn.

$1.50 will buy a pair Dixie Girl Women's Shoes

Made by Dixie Girls

BEST SHOE ON EARTH FOR PRICE

Hard to find a dealer without them. If so, write us, and we will tell you where to find them.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Makers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

"Wouldn't hurt a baby." Rheumacide is entirely vegetable, and instead of hurting the digestion, tones up the entire system.

SUMMER RHEUMATISM

The idea that Rheumatism is strictly a winter disease, that comes from exposure or cold, is wrong; a spell of indigestion, torpidity of the liver, inactive state of the kidneys, or sudden cooling of the body when over-heated, being frequent causes of an attack. Rheumatism is due to an over-acid condition of the blood and bad circulation. As it flows through the body the blood deposits an acrid corrosive sediment in the joints and muscles, and the circulation grows sluggish because of the constant accumulation of acid impurities, and when the system is in such condition Rheumatism is liable to come out at any time, winter or summer. It is hastened and provoked by exposure to cold, damp air, sudden cooling of the body when over-heated, a bad spell of indigestion, or anything that is calculated to further derange and depress the system; but these are only exciting and not the real cause of Rheumatism. It is in the blood, and when this vital fluid becomes overcharged with the acid impurities and is running riot in the veins, an attack is sure to come, whether in summer time or the cold, bleak days of winter. You are a slave to pain as long as the blood is tainted with acid. Liniments and plasters are helpful and useful, but it takes something more than rubbing and blistering to drive away this demon of pain.

SSS

S. S. S. goes to the seat of the trouble, enters the circulation, neutralizes and filters out of the blood the acid poisons. It enriches and strengthens the weak, diseased blood; the general health improves under its tonic effect, and when rich, pure blood begins to circulate through the stiff joints and sore, tender muscles, pains and aches vanish, and the longed-for relief comes to the nervous, pain-tortured sufferers. S. S. S. contains no minerals, but is guaranteed purely vegetable. Write us if in need of medical advice, which is given without charge. Our book on Rheumatism, telling of the different forms and varieties of this pain-racking disease, is mailed free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

NO USE FOR CRUTCHES.

I had an attack of Sciatic Rheumatism in its worst form. The pain was so intense I became completely prostrated. Having heard S. S. S. recommended for Rheumatism, I decided to give it a trial, and after I had taken a few bottles I was able to hobble around on crutches, and very soon had no use for them at all. S. S. S. having cured me sound and well. All the distressing pains have left me, my appetite has returned, and I am happy to be again restored to perfect health.

MRS. JAMES KELL,
901 U. St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Christian Endeavor Hotel,
WORLD'S FAIR OFFICIALS

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOTEL, World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo.

Headquarters for Christian people. Located 100 feet from gate to Fair Grounds. Street cars direct from Union Station. Built for safety and comfort. Capacity 3,000 guests daily. Backed by men of highest standing and endorsed by World's Fair Officials. Thousands of representative people from all sections of the country have already engaged accommodations. Rates arranged in advance $1.00 and $2.00 per day. Send for booklet giving full particulars. Tell your friends about it. Address at once

Christian Endeavor Hotel and Auditorium Company,
St. Louis, Missouri.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association

Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : :

Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.

RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

EXCELLENT

is the word used when speaking of the merits of

Porto Rico Coffee.

See new premium list in each package. CHEEK & NEAL COFFEE CO.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Receipts up to May 20.

Franklinton Sunday-school, $10.00; Grifton Sunday-school, $6.72; Henderson Sunday-school, $15.68; Elizabeth Sunday-school, $5.00; Morehead City Sunday-school, $30.00; Black's Chapel Sunday-school, $2.10; Lilesville, Easter offering, $4.00—for window, $4.35; J. M. Howard's Sunday-school class on subscription, $10.00; New Bern, $75.50.

The Amende Honorable.

In reply to Dr. Ivey's complaint in the last Advocate of not giving the "Old Raleigh" its dues, I would say, that I simply meant that the pressure on its columns had crowded me out; not that Dr. Ivey had.

We are greatly indebted to his chivalry. But we confess that we would like to have all of the 13th page, except that which the Presiding Elder's appointments occupy.

Don't be too sensitive, my venerable friend; we love the "Old Raleigh" too well to treat her badly.

Good News.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee on Wednesday, the 18th instant, the Superintendent of our building was directed to put the plastering on the third story. Some of the money had come in. Believing in the generosity of our Methodist friends, we went forward. Send it in, beloved. Don't disappoint us. We want to have it as nearly finished as we can by the annual meeting of the trustees. All the rooms on the first floor are ready for the doors. Three of the sliding doors are in, the wainscoting is on a good deal of it, and they are running one of the stairways. The carpenters will soon be on the second story. The prospect of early completion brightens with each day. Only let the cash come and the work will be done.

A Word to the Preachers in Charge.

Brethren, beloved, you said at the session of our last Annual Conference that you would take a collection for the Orphanage, not later than June; but very few have taken it up to this time.

Brother, don't let June pass without taking it. Take a good one. Don't be afraid that the people will give too much. Make a good talk for it. Tell them that it will do them good to give to God's little needy ones. Let all your people know that there is a Methodist Orphanage. Lots of your people don't know it. Give them a fair chance. If you will do this, and send us a good collection, we will be ready to throw the doors of our great building open by the beginning of the next session. Don't fail us, beloved.

Stedman.

Stedman is not a large town. They have no church within its bounds. But old Cokesbury is in walking distance. A goodly congregation was present. They were attentive and patient. Some smiled and some wept, and all showed interest. It was a great pleasure to join them in a sacramental service—one of the largest that I ever saw, to the size of the congregation. It was a sweet sight to see those boys and girls kneeling by the side of the hoary-headed. It was pleasant to find an Epworth League at this country church. Is there another in the State. None of our preachers take more interest in the Orphanage than Brother Joyner.

The Superintendent found pleasant company and good fare at the parsonage. It was a privilege to break bread with Sister Strickland and Brother Geddie also.

HEALTH IS YOUR HERITAGE.

If you feel sick, depressed and irritated, if your food disagrees with you, if you are constipated, if you suffer from catarrh or kidney and bladder trouble, you are not getting what you are entitled to out of life. There is no reason why you should not be restored to a life of perfect health and usefulness. There is a cure for you and it won't cost you a cent to try it. The Vernal Remedy Company have so much confidence in their superb remedy, Vernal Palmettona (formerly known as Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine), that they are willing to send, free and prepaid, to any reader of the Raleigh Christian Advocate that writes for it, a trial bottle. You can try and test absolutely free of all charge. We advise every reader to take advantage of this generous offer and write today to The Vernal Remedy Co., 538 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

THERE ARE NOT WORDS ENOUGH IN WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY TO DO JUSTICE TO MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY.

So said Capt. W. W. Clements, engineer Southern Railway, Spencer, N. C., on April 28, 1903. He said that he had been a severe sufferer from eczema for three years, during which time he spent over $300 in medicines that did him no good. He then tried Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and it cured him. Eight bottles did the work.

Situations. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY. FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

About Pipe Organs
WRITE
Hutchings-Votey Organ Company,
25 Irvington St., Boston, Mass.

We have recently taken in exchange a two manual organ of 18 stops, in very good condition. Write for particulars. Can be seen and heard by applying to James Charles Craft, 119 N. Sixth St., Wilmington, N. C.

Positions. High-grade commercial, professional and positions of all kinds procured everywhere; office connections in all principal cities, and our facilities for thorough service are unsurpassed; we guarantee the position in every case.
If you desire a position or better salary, send us $1.00 for registration fee and let us place you.
Union Bureau of Registration,
Temple Court Building, Atlanta, Ga.

The Princess Anne Hotel,
Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer, or vacation. One hundred feet from the ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to
Jno. S. Groves,
President and Manager,
Virginia Beach, Va.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH BELLS
AT $5.35 for 20-inch 165-pound, $19.15 for 32-inch 870-pound, we sell all sizes of bells at one-half the prices usually asked. $1.31 buys best 50-pound farm bell. Finely crystalline metal, quality and volume of tone unequaled. Guaranteed against breakage for 5 years. For most astonishing bell offer in liberal terms, complete catalogue, write for FREE CATALOGUE OF BELLS. Address: SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

TENTS NEW AND SECOND-HAND FOR SALE OR RENT.
There are no tents that we cannot build.
Our Specialty is Gospel Tents.
Try one of our Water and Mildew proof tents. They will not rot. We want to quote you prices.
M. D. & H. L. SMITH,
Mention this paper. DALTON, GA

SPECIAL PRICES ON WHITE GOODS.

Write us this week for samples of these dainty cotton fabrics. You'll find the prices to be rock bottom.

Persian Lawns, 32 inches wide, ... 16c and 25c.
Persian Lawns, 48 inches wide, ... 25c.
French Batiste, 47 inches wide, ... 39c and 50c.
French Nainsook, (soft), 47 inches wide, 39c 50c and 60c.

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

THE ONLY "FRATERNAL" HOTEL ON THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS
IS THE
Fraternal Home Hotel
Clayton Road, 2 blocks West of Skinner Road.

Endorsed by the Leading Fraternities.

100 yards from Main South Entrance to the World's Fair. Take Market Street Car Line from Union Station to Terminus (West End Heights), walk one block West to the to the top of the Hill. Under the control of the Exposition Management as to Safe Methods of Construction and Uniform Fixed Rates.

IT IS AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT—Every room an outside room. Away from all the noise of railroads and street cars. A quiet, homelike place. Pure filtered water. Electrically lighted. Window Screens for every room. A Special Low Rate of $1.00 per day per person to all parties who write and mention this paper during this month. Send $1.00 for Certificate of Credit. This secures your reservation in advance. The balance is paid on arrival at the hotel. The low rate of One Dollar per day does not include meals. Meals 50 cents. Also a la carte service at moderate prices. All rooms accommodate two persons (separate beds if desired). New Building—New Furniture. A thoroughly Up-to-date Hotel—Extra precaution taken to prevent fire—Free telephone service.

As only a limited number of Certificates of Credit will be issued, and as they are going fast, do not delay in writing for them. Send for descriptive circular and rates for rooms en suite, with private bath.

Fraternal Home Hotel Co.,
Dept. A., Downtown Office, Second Floor, 720-722 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue, address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Quarterly Meetings.

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C.

SECOND ROUND.

Columbia, May 14, 15
Roper, May 21, 22
Pantego and Belhaven, May 28, 29
Plymouth, June 4, 5

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

THIRD ROUND.

Enfield and Halifax, Enfield, June 19, 20
Warrenton, Hebron, June 25, 26
Littleton, Bethel, July 2, 3
Northampton, Pleasant Grove, July 5
Conway, Sharon, July 6
Murfreesboro, July 7
Bertie, White Oak, July 9, 10
Harrellsville, Colrane, July 10, 11
Hobgood, Epworth, July 16
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, July 16, 17
Scot and Rock, July 18
Roanoke Circuit, New Hope, 23, 24
Roanoke Rapids, July 29, 30
Rich Square, Woodland July 31

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Scott's Hill, Union, May 28, 29
New River, Snead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Bank, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Central June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Kenly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 8
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Morehead, May 26
Carteret, Bethel, May 28-29
Beaufort, Bethel, May 29
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

THIRD ROUND.

Mt. Olive, at Faison, June 18, 19
Goldsboro Circuit, Pine Forest, June 25, 26
St. Paul, 26
District Conference, Beaufort, June 30 July 3
Jones Circuit, Shady Grove, July 9, 10
Kinston, July 10
Craven Circuit, Beech Grove, July 16, 17
Centenary, New Bern, July 17

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. S. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Sampson, May 27
Fayetteville, Hay Street, May 29, 30

THIRD ROUND.

Fayetteville Circuit, Camp Ground, June 4, 5
Hope Mills, Fishers, June 11, 12
Cokesbury, Tabor, June 18, 19
Dunn Station, June 25, 26
Haw River, Ebenezer, July 2, 3
Carthage, Ingram Branch, July 8, 10
Elise, Mt. Carmel, July 9, 10
Siler City, Mt. Vernon, July 16, 17
Jonesboro, (District Conference), July 23, 24
Pittsboro, Chatham, July 30, 31
Lillington, Cool Springs, August 6, 7
Buckhorn, Harnett Chapel, August 13, 14
Sanford, Lemon Springs, August 20, 21
Goldstone, Maroneys, August 27, 28
Newton Grove, September 3, 4
Duke, September 10, 11
Sampson, September 17, 18
Fayetteville, Hay Street, September 24, 25

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

THIRD ROUND—IN PART.

Maxton and Caledonia, Maxton, May 29, 30
Rockingham Station, June 4, 5
Roberdel Circuit, Mt. Pleasant, June 11, 12
Hamlet Circuit, Snead's Grove, June 18, 19
Richmond Circuit, St Paul, June 25, 26
Laurenburg Station, July 2, 4
Rowland Circuit, Oak Grove, July 9, 10
Robeson Circuit, Oliver, July 16, 17
St John and Gibson, Gibson, July 23, 24

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Grimesland and Vanceboro, Salem, May 28, 29
Greenville, Night, May 29
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night. June 5

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Roxboro Ct., Oak Grove, May 27
Durham Ct., Orange Factory, May 28, 29
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branch, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night
Milton, Providence, June 25, 26
Hillsboro, Walnutt Grove, July 2, 3
Leasburg, Union, July 9, 10
Chapel Hill, July 16, 17
Yanceyville Prospect, July 23, 24
Alamance, Clover Garden, August 6, 7
Burlington, Prospect, August 13, 14
Burlington Station, August 21, 22
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, at Haw River, August 27, 28
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, September 3, 4

Marriages

MANESS—BROWN—On the 21st of April, at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. L. S. Maness to Miss Polly Brown.

WEBB—LEWIS—At Grace church, Wilmington, N. C., April 20, 1904, Harry Vance Webb, of Richmond, Va., to Miss Mary Elizabeth Lewis, Rev. N. M. Watson officiating.

HASSELL—MITCHELL.—In the Methodist Church in Roper, N. C., Wednesday evening April 20, 1904, T. Raymond Hassell and Miss Maud Mitchell, Rev. W. F. Craven officiating.

TAYLOR—BYNUM.—Dr. James Nathaniel Taylor and Miss Annie Bangs Bynum, both of Byrum, N. C., were married at the Methodist Church in Bynum, Wednesday, April 20, 1904, Rev. Robert W. Bailey officiating.

KERR—NEWBERRY.—At the residence of Mrs. Annie Newberry, 810 Market Street, Wilmington, N. C., by the Rev. N. M. Watson, on Wednesday evening, April 20, 1904, Mr. Colon E. Kerr to Miss Annie May Newberry.

HUGHES—KING.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. A. King, 504 North Front Street, Wilmington, N. C., March 2, 1904, Mr. Benj. J. Hughes, of Norfolk, Va., to Miss Corrine Dortch King, Rev. N. M. Watson officiating.

BUTCHER — CULBRETH.—At Grace Church, Wilmington, N. C., on Wednesday afternoon, April 6, 1904, by Rev. N. M. Watson, Mr. Edward W. Butcher, Jr., of Petersburg, Va., to Miss Mary Elizabeth Culbreth, daughter of Dr. N. M. Culbreth.

Obituaries

Obituaries containng not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

AMAN—At Havelock, N. C., April 2, 1904, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Aman died, age two weeks.

Mother and father have a precious treasure laid up in heaven. May God help them to meet their darling there. L. F.

FOSCUE.—At Maysville, N. C., June 29, 1903, little Hattie, oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Foscue, age four years and twenty-seven days.

How we miss you, our darling! May we be faithful and meet you in the sweet bye and bye. L. F.

ANDREWS.—Alexander Andrews was born May 4, 1827. He was married to Miss Sarah P. Jenkins, June 2, 1853. To them were born eleven children. He leaves ten children and his wife to mourn their loss.

Brother Andrews professed religion in early life. He at first united with the Baptist church, but some years after his marriage, he, for reasons satisfatcory to himself, severed his relation with the Baptist church and united with the M. E. Church, South, of which he lived a consistent member to the day of his death.

Brother Andrews was a quiet, good man. He did not make a great stir, but went on in an easy manner. Every one who knew him speaks well of him. He was stricken down about three months ago and was unable to help himself from that time till God took him. April 11th, 1904, about three o'clock, he quietly breathed his last. On Tuesday, the 13th, we laid his mortal remains away in the family burying ground to await the resurrection morn. May the comforts of the gospel be the bereaved family's stay in this sad hour.

J. M. ASHBY.

WATSON—Winslow Watson, twin son of I. B. Watson and Margaret Watson, was born October 12, 1885, and departed this life April 16, 1904.

Last winter he was taken with a deep cold, which resulted in typhoid-pneumonia, and was confined to bed nearly all the winter. He gained slowly, fever remaining light and hard to break, until this spring he was able to be up and out of the house.

Only last Wednesday he went to Englehard, took fresh cold, and died Saturday. His death was a shock to all. He leaves his parents, four sisters and four brothers.

May God bless them all in this bereavement, and may we meet him in heaven. B. H. B.

BUTTON.—Sister Mary Lizzie Button, lovingly spoken of as "Miss Lizzie," one of the Master's choicest spirits, passed away after a protracted illness, April 10, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Gilbert, of Hope Mills, N. C.

The writer does not know when she became a Christian, but he does know that she was one. I have known no one who loved her church and pastor more devotedly; she was prominent in all departments of Christian activity. Her last words, "Take care of my Sunday-school class," were truly indicative of her life amongst us. She thought not of self, but others. Her life was hid with Christ in God. I was privileged to talk and pray with her many times during her illness, and always found her faith bright.

Truly she is gone from our midst, but we know where to find her. We will 'say not good-night,' but in some brighter clime bid her 'good-morning.'"

May God abundantly shed the Holy Spirit on the stricken hearts, and may they find His grace fully competent. E. R. WELCH.

ASHLEY.—Mrs. Charity Alford Stephens was born February 4, 1832. She was married to Mr. Stephen Ashley October 15, 1846. There were born to them eleven children, of these six are living. The other five, together with their father, preceded their mother to the spirit world.

Sister Ashley joined the church in early life, of which she was a consistent member for more than fifty years. She was a consecrated woman. She lived her religion in her daily life. It was her highest pleasure to carry comfort and cheer to sorrowing ones when it was possible. Her church was her delight. Until age and infirmity forbade it, she was regular in her attendance upon all church services. She was a subscriber to the Advocate for years.

Sister Ashley was a genuinely good woman, and will be sorely missed in the community. Her faith never failed her while her mind was clear. She had confidence in Him in whom she had believed, and was persuaded that He was able to keep that which she had committed to Him unto that day.

On Monday morning, March 28th, 1904, she quietly breathed her last. On the 29th we laid her mortal remains to rest in the church cemetery amid a host of friends and relatives.

May the sorrowing ones have the full comforts of the gospel. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

J. M. ASHBY.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,
"From The Uncivil War to Date."

The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death.
Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2.
Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.

HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.
NO CHARGE.
(Established 1891.)

PEABODY COLLEGE FOR TEACHERS.
Nashville, Tenn.

Summer Session: June 8- August 3, 1904. 20 courses especially for Teachers. 10 secondary School Courses. 25 College Courses. Only charge $5.00. Railroad rates, One fare for round trip plus 25 cents. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20; July 3, 4, 5. Write for information.

When writing advertisers pleasemention this paper.

WADE.—The subject of this sketch, Sister Rebecca N. Wade, was born September 27, 1816, and crossed over the river April 3, 1904, in her eighty-eighth year. Nearly fifty years ago she was converted and joined our church at Beaver Creek, under the ministry of Rev. H. P. Cole. She turned her face, like a flint, toward Zion, and remained steadfast unto the end.

The writer had the privilege of conversing with her more than once, and always found her testimony sure. On Easter Sunday, at 5 o'clock, she closed her eyes in death, and on the following day we laid her remains to rest, there to await the morning of the resurrection.

May God comfort the loved ones and numerous friends. May our last end be like hers. If so, we shall all meet her in the sweet bye and bye.

E. R. WELCH.

MURRAY.—William Durant Murray was born October 26, 1834, died March 4, 1904. He married Rebecca J. Watson September 14, 1858, who died June 9, 1871, leaving one child, Mrs. Margaret I. Jones. June 22, 1875, he married Mary E. Spencer, who survives him with four children. He was not in the church, but of the church. The preacher had no better friend. A regular attendant, a close, earnest, sympathetic and teachable listener, he loved the Word and heard it with profit. He bore all the signs, and produced the fruit of a member of the body of Christ. As a citizen, he was without reproach; as a husband, kind, gentle, sweet-spirited; as a father, mild, yet strong, indulgent, yet firm. He so filled every sphere of his life, that he is sadly missed. A man could not have lived as he did without the Christ.

T. P. BONNER.

FERGUSON.—The death angel entered the home of Walter and Eugenia Ferguson March 23, 1904, and claimed their darling boy, Wesley Craven, for his own. He was two years and nine months old; was an obedient, affectionate son, too pure for this sinful world. God wanted him to move in a better society, to adorn a sweeter home. What a breach has his transit made in that happy family circle. The home has been so sad and lonely to the bereaved ones since his departure. They have listened for the merry voice and looked for the sweet form of Wesley, but he has been lifted too far above to be heard or seen, and now in humble submission to the divine will, we look forward with fond anticinations to the happy day when we shall meet him where parting is no more.

"Lone are the paths, and sad the bowers,
Whence thy meek smile is gone;
But oh, a brighter home than ours,
In heaven is thine own."

OLA WEBSTER.

ASHLEY.—Mrs. Harriet J. Ashley (nee Powell) was born August 8, 1824, and December 4, 1842, she was married to Mr. R. G. Ashley. Six children were born of this union.

Sister Ashley was a meek, quiet woman. Her life was spent at home very largely. At the age of thirty, she had measles, which left her health impaired, from which she never fully recovered. For quite a number of years she was an invalid.

Sister Ashley made a profession of religion in early life. She never lost her faith in God, nor did she get so far off from Him that she could not get comfort in her religion. It was my privilege to visit her several times in her last days. I always found her in good hope. The verdict of all who knew Sister Ashley is, she was a good woman.

On the night of February 24, 1904, just about midnight, she quietly breathed her last. Two of her children survive her, together with a number of grandchildren and friends to mourn their loss. They mourn not as those who have no hope. They know where to find her. We laid her body to rest on Friday evening, February 25th. May the comforts of the gospel cheer all the bereaved ones.

J. M. ASHBY.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God, in His infinite wisdom, has removed from our midst our beloved friend,, Mrs. Thomas R. Baldwin; and,

Whereas, the members of Hebron Sunday-school feel deeply the loss of our friend, organist, and co-worker; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That while death has taken from us a beloved and useful member, we bow in humble submission to a loving Father's will, knowing that His ways are always right, and love is o'er them all.

2. That we extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy, and pray that He who is "too wise to err, too good to be unkind," will comfort them in this hour of sorrow.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of our Sunday-school, a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and to the Raleigh Chritsian Advocate and Presbyterian Standard for publication.

MRS. W. A. SMITH,
MRS. E. D. GADDY,
MRS. F. O. LANDIS,
MISS CARRIE WEBSTER,
Committee.

Mangum, N. C., April 12, 1904.

Resolutions of respect passed by the Second Quarterly Conference, Warrenton Circuit, April 16, 1904:

Whereas, it has pleased our heavenly Father, who never errs in His dispensations, to take from among us our friend and much beloved Christian brother, Henry B. Hunter, Sr.; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That in his death our church and the whole community has lost a most active member and valuable citizen, whose very name had become synonymous for whatsoever things are true, and for whatsoever things are just, and for whatsoever things are honest, and for whatsoever things are of good report.

That we shall sadly miss Brother Hunter from our Board of Stewards, and from our church, and that our hearts go out in sympathy for the grief-stricken ones who were near and dear to him by the ties of nature.

3. That in this, their day of sorrow, we commend them to God's tender and loving care, and remind them that our God has promised to bind up the broken heart of all those who put their trust in Him.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the sorrowing family and that a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

W. B. BOYD,
G. R. SCOGGIN,
A. S. WEBB,
W. A. OVERBY,
W. S. GARDNER,
Committee.

A RUNAWAY BICYCLE

Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, of Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's as good for Burns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs. Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113 RALEIGH, N. C.

ACID IRON MINERAL

Registered A-I-M Trade Mark

Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts. Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.

No equal for diseases peculiar to women. Tones up the entire system
Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents
If your druggist cannot supply you, write to

"Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C.
"For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." J. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C.
(Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.

ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen. Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. HALTIWANGER, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

STATEMENT

HARTFORD STEAM BOILER INSPECTION AND INSURANCE CO.,
Of Connecticut.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Paid in cash	$500,000.00
Amount of ledger assets December 31, of previous year	2,640,082.73
Income—From policy-holders, $1,304,254.36; miscellaneous $160,059.27; total	1,464,313.63
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $157,154.67; miscellaneous, $1,155,988.20; total	1,313,142.87
Business in force at end of year	3,522,147.31
Business written during year	1,461,988.59

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$19,090.00
Value of stocks and bonds (United States, State, etc., owned	2,017,140.00
Loans on real estate (first lien on fee-simple)	717,530.00
Interest and rents due and accrued,	17,514.14
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	138,464.33
Premiums unpaid	335,550.71
Total	3,245,588.18
Less assets, not admitted	123,423.08
Total admitted assets	3,122,165.10

LIABILITIES.

Unearned premiums	$1,851,355.78
Unpaid policy claims	20,415.03
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	32,516.64
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,904,287.45
Capital stock paid up	500,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	717,877.65
Total liabilities	3,122,165.10

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Steam-boiler: Premiums received, $21,677.27; losses paid, none; losses incurred, none.

Vice-President Charles M. Beach; Secretary, J. B. Pierce.
Home office, No. 650 Main Street, Hartford, Conn.
General agent for service, James Southgate, Durham, N. C.
Business manager for North Carolina, Managed from home office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 14, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal, the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23. 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets will be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager. W. H. Taylor, Gen. Pass. Agent, Washington. D. C.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

The bishop of Stepney told a striking story when addressing the Federation of Workingmen's Clubs some time ago. He described the confusion and noise at Liverpool street station one night, when the suburban trains, workingmen's trains, and a number of excursion trains were being rapidly dispatched one after another. In the midst of the noise and rush there stood a porter, so calm, good-tempered and helpful as to be remarkable. At last the bishop went up to him and said: "My friend, how can you do it?" and the man replied: "Why, sir, you ought to know. The grace of God."

PERFECT PEACE.

After months of torment, is the boon which comes to a poor sufferer from Tetter, Ring Worm or other severe itching skin diseases, after the use of a box of Tetterine, the infallible cure for all skin diseases; fragrant, harmless, effective; used by physicians in their practice. Endorsed by druggists.

Only 50 cents a box at druggists, or by mail, postpaid, from the manufacturer,

J. T. SHUPTRINE,
Savannah, Ga.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS—RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 4th TO AUGUST 4th.

Expert opinion as to talent and course of study. Attendance to be probably second largest of any Summer School in the South.

As to work of the school last year, the resolutions passed by the student body at the close of the session speak for themselves:

"That the Agricultural and Mechanical College, with its breezy rooms, beautiful campus and attractive surroundings, is an ideal place for a Summer School.

"That the school here has been an ideal school, stimulating, attractive and power-giving.

"That we commend its methods and its teaching staff as in every way worthy of the confidence and support of the teachers in and out of the State.

"That our hearty thanks are expressed to the President and other managers of the school and to the citizens of Raleigh for their courteous and warm hearty hospitality."

The scope of work for the current year is much more comprehensive than that of last, while the faculty and lecture list number about eighty, which is more than double that of last year.

A distinguished Northern educator writes as follows to the Secretary: "I spent last evening reading over your literature, and was forcibly struck with it. The writer has had occasion to organize Summer Schools for many years. You will please accept our congratulations on your most excellent program. The talents you have secured are equal to any in the United States."

This is quite a compliment from a high authority.

The attendance last year represented nine States and 57 counties in North Carolina. A great many of the old students have reserved rooms for themselves and friends. Accommodations have been made to entertain comfortably one thousand.

Return tickets for one fare plus twenty-five cents; board $10 to $12.50 per month.

Full information can be had by addressing the secretary at Raleigh, N. C. CHAS. J. PARKER.
Secretary and Business Manager.

Note.—Before Superintendent Joyner ruled that it was illegal, twenty-one County Boards had voted to pay the tuition charges of their teachers, and several to pay traveling expenses also. Such enthusiasm is unprecedented, and is worthy of special note. CHAS. J. PARKER.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..

Lisle and Silk IN ALL THE NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

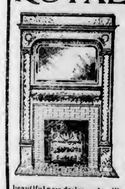
Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, SEC. AND TREAS.,
STAUNTON, VA.

The Princess Anne Hotel,

Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer or vacation. One hundred feet from ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to

Jas. B. Groves,
President and Manager,
Virginia Beach, Va.

ROYAL MANTELS AND GRATES



Have an established reputation for correct Style, Finish, Workmanship and Material. Why? Because we sell direct from factory to home, and put into our goods the profit generally allowed the middleman.

We sell a Beautiful CABINET MANTEL as low as $6.75

Guaranteed too.

Send for our handsome book the "Advance Courier" of the Royal Line, showing many beautiful new designs. It will save you money on any kind of Mantels, Grates, Tiles or Fire-Place Fittings.

WHITE MANTEL & TILE CO.
624 Gay Street, - - KNOXVILLE, TENN.

King's Business College.

(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

STATEMENT

The Continental Insurance Company,

OF NEW YORK.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$1,000,000.00
Amount ledger assets Dec. 31st, previous year	13,150,369.08
Income—From policy-holders, $5,862,665.61; miscellaneous, $864,084.39; total	6,726,749.99
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $2,680,112.31; miscellaneous, $2,488,344.69; total	5,168,457.00
Fire Risks—Written or renewed during year $661,320,652
In force	1,035,395,861.00

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$1,113,000.00
Mortgage loans on real estate	32,150.00
Book value of bonds and stocks	11,460,530.14
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	808,503.53
Agents' balance, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	770,039.28
Agents' balances, representing business written prior to October 1, 1903	96,585.31
Interest and rents due and accrued	85,431.24
Bills receivable taken for fire risks	427,853.81
Total	14,794,093.31
Less assets, not admitted	601,915.68
Total admitted assets	14,192,177.63

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$464,893.23
Unearned premiums	5,646,414.36
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	517,441.51
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	6,628,749.10
Capital paid up in cash	1,000,000.00
Surplus	6,563,428.53
Total liabilities	14,192,177.63

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fire risks written, $1,929,981.00; premiums received, $34,084.73.
Losses incurred—Fire, $22,246.41; paid, $18,781.56.
Losses now unpaid, $7,183.47.
President, Henry Evans; Secretaries, J. E. Lopez, E. L. Ballard.
Home office, No. 46 Cedar Street, New York, N. Y.
General Agent for service, C. J. Hunter, Raleigh, N. C.
Business Manager for North Carolina, E. W. Grigg, Petersburg, Va.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, February 12, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Continental Insurance Company, of New York, filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of Dec. 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ'S GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE

Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.

If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say.

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for booklet. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.

Will cure that tired feeling. Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by

Kloczowski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

LIBRARY of TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA

Reading Room

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 18.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1904.

Methodism in America: Past, Present, and Future.

Fraternal Message from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

DELIVERED AT LOS ANGELES, CAL., BY REV. JOHN C. KILGO, D.D., OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

Mr. President and Brethren:

In the name of something more than a million and a half members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, I bring you greetings and assurances of genuine fraternity. They have fraternal interest in your welfare and prosperity and rejoice to learn of your faith and increasing strength in all parts of the world in which you labor. I feel certain that you will receive these assurances of fraternal esteem with unstinted cordiality, and will grant them more than a conventional courtesy. Methodism in America is still serious enough to be honest, and brave enough to be truthful. Therefore, a formal parade of kinship is not becoming the simplicity of faith which has given definite character to American Methodism, and, if there be in any quarters a secret desire to depart from the ways of sincerity, such a desire will not find favor on an occasion like this.

You have sent, by a class of noble men, fraternal messages to the church which I represent, and they have always brought us brave and inspiring words, which they have spoken in the spirit of brotherly kindness. Your last messengers, Doctor Huntington and Governor Bates, who came to us at Dallas, Texas, sustained the high record made by those who had performed like tasks. You still make men, and this is the divine credential which has in the past, and must in the future, give Methodism the right of way in every quarter of the globe. It is cause for fervent gratitude that out of the simple homes of this nation, where vanity and luxury are unknown, Methodism has often raised up strong men who have wrought wonderful things. Their deeds are the proofs of their faith. Such logic is unanswerable. It is far better than the formal reasoning of scholarly apologetics. A mighty man needs no apology, and a weak man can not be helped by an apology. For the men you make we give thanks and joyfully accord them due honor.

The meeting of your General Conference at the beginning of this new century, on the western coast of this continent, in a city with no mean name, is full of inspiring suggestions and prophetic significance. When measured in the terms of toil, pain, and heroic sacrifice, it is a long distance from Los Angeles in 1904 to Baltimore in 1784, yet every inch of this vast and wild distance has been traversed by Methodism, and today the largest body in it celebrates with devout and fervid song a triumph the meaning of which no man can tell. A little more than fifty years ago Isaac Owen and William Taylor, later Bishop Taylor, brought Methodism to California. They were only a little in advance of that greed for gold which turned the money-loving world in this direction. It is, therefore, meet that you should signalize the deeds of the mighty faith which has wrought such an honorable history, and in your rejoicing all Methodism takes peculiar delight.

A journey from Durham, a busy little city situated in central North Carolina, across this continent to Los Angeles, almost staggers one with the vastness and greatness of our nation. And yet the Pacific shore is not this nation's boundaries. Many seem to be greatly opposed to expansion, but we have expanded and continue to expand. What is the meaning of this vast sweep of continent, this immense store of energy, these incalculable resources of wealth gathered into one mighty republic? Is it one of the accidents of history? Is it an evolution of human genius independent of a divine purpose and apart from a Providential administration? What part has this nation in the tasks of the world, and what is the place of American Methodism in helping this nation to do its world's work?

It is only a little more than four centuries since Columbus landed at San Salvador, and one hundred and twenty-three years since Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown. We cannot, therefore, boast of ancient traditions, nor have pride in old institutions. Ours is a new country. It is a nation built by a new race of people, a race that has been filtered out of the best bloods of the best civilizations of the earth. Americans are not the descendants of kings and enfeebled aristocracies; they are sons of stalwart men in whom had been gathered the forces of centuries and of generations of progress, and what they have achieved on this continent has been achieved by the unflinching energies of a determined race. But while America cannot claim respect because of antiquity, it may command that higher esteem which is accorded a race and nation on account of the things they have brought to pass. This is, beyond dispute, the country of a new dispensation in human history—a dispensation of new hopes, new faiths, new enterprises and a new life.

Among the many and varied forces that have co-operated to build this nation and give shape to its life, Methodism has been one of the most potent and vital. It has woven its influence into the intellectual and spiritual fibre of the republic, directly or indirectly affecting every phase of the nation's life. Unfortunately, students of history seem to think that nations, and especially this nation, have been built by legislators, warriors, educators and industrial leaders; but something mightier than hammers and picks and drills and engines and enactments has been at work on this continent. The Bible and the preacher have had a considerable part in making the marvelous history of this country. While none would detract the least from the honorable records of every Christian church which has wrought beneficial results in the life of the nation's life and progress, it is admissible to recount the part Methodism has had in these labors, and to make an inventory of the share it may claim in the results. Methodism has shown every condition of the nation's life and progress, having labored amid all the circumstances of its history. It has wrought from the high and intense life of the metropolitan centres to the lowly life of the cabin hid away in the mountain fastnesses. It marched with the tide of emigration which kept pushing its way across the continent toward these western shores. The battles which decided the deepest and most vital issues of the nation's history were not fought on Bunker Hill and King's Mountain, but at the camp-meetings assembled in the forests, where day and night the sacramental hosts of God, with invincible faith and unflagging zeal, made terrible war against sin and infidelity. These were the forces and the occasions that rescued the nation from infidelity and decided that type of American civilization. The forces that turned back the floods of French infidelity from these shores and defeated the huge design of papal Spain to build between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast a western empire, with its seat of authority on the banks of the Tiber, were the most vital forces that affected the character and growth of this republic.

Americans are as free as they are because the Methodist circuit rider preached Arminianism from end to end of this land, and firmly established the ascendency of Protestantism as the type of its religious faith, a triumph to which the hopes and prospects of the Orient today are debtor. Wherever the circuit rider touched the nation's life, he left the abiding evidence of his work in the tone, institutions and ideals of society; while those regions in which he labored least are marred in their faith and sentiments by the lack of his godly influence. These are not arrogant assertions; they are simple facts of history, recalled with humble gratitude to Providence for raising such a body of men and sending them forth at the critical period of American history.

Methodism, Mr. President, is God-consciousness. It is, therefore, a fact, not a theory; it is power, not a philosophy; it is a life, not a logic. To understand it has engaged the earnest thought of the historian and philosopher, the statesman and the churchman, the religious student and the profane student, and all have had something to say as to its meaning and its vital resources; but the only essential fact in Methodism, the only fact that makes it unique, is the fact of God in the human consciousness. This is all that may be truthfully said as descriptive of Wesley's religious life, and it is all that may be said of the distinctive truth deposited with the Methodist people. Their faith is a consciousness of God, and their mission is to make the world conscious of Him. The mystery of the incarnation of the Son of God finds its ethical perpetuity in the Witness of the Spirit, which is only a limited formulation of the infinite truth of divine operation within the compass of human consciousness. Every moral effect of the Godhead, as it was manifested in the life of Jesus Christ, may be reproduced in the moral qualities of the human spirit, and thus the seat of ethical force and authority is transferred from the stones hewn out of Sinai to the sensitive conscience inspired by the indwelling Spirit of God. This is Methodism, and this is the gospel it was sent forth to preach. And, Sir, Methodism preached it and created in this nation a God-consciousness at a time when the moral currents of life were running deep and swift and turbulent to the dead seas of brutalism and skepticism. As the result of this sublime achievement, the scattered settlers, locked in by dense, wide forests, abandoned to an isolated life, removed from all refinement, and lacking the inspiration of profitable pursuits, were saved from a fatal recklessness and a hopeless overthrow of morality. The results were far more than conservative results, arresting a downward sweep of character; they were positive results, issuing forth in a sensitive regard for better ideals, arousing a keen ambition for lofty and lawful pursuits, and starting up an energy which applied itself to every task and promoted new lines of endeavor. The mightiest power that has ever wrought through human energy, the mightiest endowment with which mankind can be invested, is a consciousness of God. It marks the highest capacity of the human mind. It is the one fact that subjugates to its authority every power of the soul, inspires an unflinching courage, lifts the spirit to heroic levels, begets an invincible hope and faith, and stirs within the soul all the powers of love and purifies them into a spotless perfection; not a faculty escapes its transforming and up-lifting power, for its radiance kindles in the eye, its joys permeate every tone and its supremacy is manifest in every word and every act. Man is never himself in the full sense of his divine manhood, he is never on his rightful throne of universal dominion over earthly creatures, he is never rising up to the sublime heights of his perfection, unless an intense consciousness is the centre from which spring all the aims and activities of his life. What is true of the individual is true of a nation. The golden days of Israel were those days when David, with song and prayer and worship, filled the land with consciousness of God. His reign became the ideal reign for which all subsequent generations longed, and the eternal establishment of his throne was the loftiest hopes that stirred the Hebrew soul. In the days of David the land prospered, righteousness ruled in the nation, Israel's armies were invincible, the voice of the prophets was full of truth, and the priests went to the altars with clean hands to make sacrifice before God. But Israel lost its consciousness of God, and from the high pinnacle of David's reign the descent has been unbroken. Lacking the spiritual vision to discern the Messiah when He taught among them, in their blindness they crucified Him, and today they wander about earth without a land, persecuted with bitter prejudice, suspected in every quarter, and the apparent victims of a hopeless apostasy. God has written in Israel's pitiable fate, and published through them to the nations of the earth, the eternal dependence of human life, for all its resources, upon His dwelling within the spirits of men, and the fateful terms in which he has issued His terrible warning against a nations losing consciousness of Him should make this republic give jealous heed to all His injunctions, lest the Ark of the Lord be taken from this people.

When, Mr. President, a complete catalogue of the nation's builders shall be made, truth, justice and gratitude unite to demand that high up in the list shall be placed the Methodist circuit rider. He was one of the chief pioneers of American civilization—the unselfish statesman who bore in his own great and earnest soul the pains and privations of his country's beginnings, and he was the prophet whose brave words put steel into the souls of men and made them believe in the day that was dawning. What a mighty man he was! Free from pompous pretence, unheralded by the blast of trumpets, lacking the credentials of earthly courts, without the equipage of wealth, not certified by lordly society, this man, the Methodist circuit rider, stands the peer of any man, or set of men, who helped to build this republic. The desire and expectation of worldly gain did not mar his motives. He had no wish for social applause, he sought no indulgence at the hands of patronizing luxury, and did not crave personal comforts; but, like a man upon whom rested the prophetic commission of the eternal throne, he went to his task as one bent on a desperate mission. Serenity was on his face, a heavenly radiance was in his eye, the tone of eternal authority was in his voice, and the strength of a divine inspiration steadied his step. He obeyed the behest of heaven and went everywhere, theading tangled wildernesses,climbing over wild mountains and penetrating dense swamps, and wherever he went he delivered the word of God with miraculous power. He did not peddle indulgence to sensuous society, he made no concessions to popular evils, he softened no word of truth in order to promote his personal comfort, nor was he a mendicant for any kind of worldly favors. He was a "prophet sent of God," and the tone of Sinaitic thunders was in his words while he waged unceasing war against sin in all places. He arbitrated no differences between righteousness and sin, God and Satan, but proclaimed an eternal antagonism between them never to be adjusted by any other method than the everlasting defeat of evil. He has left his record in an eternally established boundary between truth and falsehood, righteousness and sin, a boundary which ecclesiastical diplomats of these last times seem to think extends far beyond the property rights of God, and should be drawn in to suit the convenience and commerce of Satan. Woe to the land and generation that make amicable terms with sin, that force righteousness into an unnatural companionship with evil, and extend to wickedness an honorable entertainment in the temple of God! Such a concession is treason to Methodist history, it is infidelity to the heroism and faith of the circuit rider, it is jilting the truth and it is perfidy to an allegiance with God.

Standing here today, Sir, with the splendid glow of a heroic past falling on us and a prospect of immeasurable issues opening before us, some very serious questions crowd into the mind. Will Methodism be to this nation in the future what it has been in the past? Will it exert its powers to preserve and promote a consciousness of God in the nation's life? Will it be able to interpret the moral providences of our nation's history and bring all the startling resources of wealth and mind which have fallen to its lot under contribution to the world's redemption? Or shall this nation travel the highway from poverty to riches, sink into idle luxury and vulgar selfishness and go down to the ruin of animalism as did Babylon and Rome? The answer to these terrible questions which force themselves to the front with the meaning of destiny is not with legislators, artists and wealthmakers, but they are with the churches of America, and the Providence which has committed to Methodism the largest share of Protestant power on the continent, has likewise imposed upon it the gravest share of responsibility. It is no time for the glorification of past heroism and the feasting of denominational pride. While there is just cause for an exalted regard of the many happy issues of our past history, no amount of enthusiasm should make us lose sight of the supreme duty to conserve and cultivate the virtues which made our fathers great.

The nineteenth century was a century of progressive revolution and reformations which revised and substituted to a greater or less degree nearly all the sentiments and ideals of the world. The methods of industry, the systems of commerce, the ideals of society, the functions of government, the relation of interdependence of nations and the meaning of the Christian religion, have all come under the influence of these far-reaching changes, and the rapidity and peacefulness with which they have come about, indicate the mighty energy that is at work in the world. However, it would be amazing, if amid all these vast and radical changes, there has been sustained no loss of vital powers and valuable sentiments. It is a deplorable misfortune that human progress does not always conserve the benefits which belonged to former faith and sentiments. When men set themselves to destroy idols, they often show a reckless disregard for the altars; and when they begin to amend their creeds, they do not sensitively guard their faiths. There is always danger of mistaking agitation for advancement, and recklessness for reform. Locky, in his study of Rationalism in Europe, after he had extravagantly appraised all the valuable results it had produced, concluded that something had been lost out of civilization. And that civilization was weaker because of the loss. The "something" which had fallen by the way was the robustness of character, the toughness and sturdiness of a mighty manhood. It was that vital quality which steeled the Puritan heart, that fired the souls of the Huguenots, that made invincible the Methodist circuit rider. Civilization today is more rational, it is more refined and better informed; but is it as stalwart, as brave, as persistent and as irresistible as it was in the times of simpler living and hardier customs? Have the simplicity and strength of open nature been preserved in the simplicity of faiths and ideals? These qualities form the substratum of personal character and the only secure basis of a vigorous civilization, and their decadence indicates the presence of a consuming disease which may become chronic and work a shameful death. Moral soundness and moral vigor are the essential things in the life and growth of a nation, and against the infection of any sort of moral weakness and disease there should be observed an unremitting vigilance. Education should find a way to increase strength as it increases knowledge, and to preserve simplicity and stalwartness as it refines thought and maners.

The main, the vital force in a nation's life is its religious faith and its religious earnestness. No amount of material prosperity, no increase in knowledge and the facilities for gaining knowledge, no improvements in the outward circumstances of life can compensate the decay of religious faith and the decline of religious growth. Such a decay is the most virulent disease that can attack a civilization. To the truthfulness of this the history of Egypt and Babylon, Israel and Assyria, Greece and Rome bear sad witness, while modern history adds pitiable instances of unquestionable proof. The world is without the record of a single instance in which a nation, by any kind of patching or substitution, has been able to survive the loss of its religious life, and this American republic, with all of its resources of strength, its marvelous wealth, its increase of culture and extension of power, dare not flatter itself with the deceptive notion that it is especially exempt from the calamities which overtook other empires. The laws of God make no exceptions, and the mysterious hand that wrote the doom of the empire on the festive walls of Belshazzar's palace, still holds the sceptre of destiny over all principalities and powers. He has not vacated His throne, nor revised the laws of His infinite kingdom. It, therefore, behooves the church to watch diligently after the purity, the sincerity, and the vigor of this nation's faith in God and its loyalty to His will. Others will actively guard its material interests, and its political offices will not lack patronage, but to the church of God has been given the supreme task of looking after its religious welfare and keeping sensitive its consciousness of God.

The ability to enumerate the dangers that seem to threaten social purity and political integrity is no infallible sign of rare endowments of mind and a special training in social sciences. Nor is the too common practice of classifying some one evil as the supreme peril of society an evidence of a superlative moral insight. Such judgments are often swayed by local conditions, if, indeed, they are not solely for the delectation of personal prejudice or the expressions of a sort of moral monomania. Professional critics are apt to develop a conceit which narrows mental vision. But without indulging in this distasteful and odious habit, it is worth while to consider two influences which, at this time, hinder the growth of religious sympathies and impair the integrity of religious faith. These are, first, the secularization of public education, and second, the application of scientific methods in every field of thought.

From the beginning education and religion were united by what seemed to be a natural and convincing logic, but the progenitors of the French Revolution, among their many other schemes, conceived the divorcement of the schools from the church, education from religion—a divorcement which papal policies did much to inspire. The project as begun in France was perfectly consistent with the philosophy of infidelity and should have been left to its patronage. However, Mr. Jefferson imported the idea into America where it has taken deep root. Under a national Constitution, which is wholly a secular document, only mentioning religion to declare that it should receive no state patronage beyond the widest civil tolerance of all sorts of creeds, under this national document religious aims have been pushed out of the public system of education, making it entirely secular in methods, ideals and spirit. In some places the Bible is accorded a patronizing courtesy of a fragmentary reading at an opening worship, but even this small courtesy has become grounds for political issues and, in some conspicuous instances, the Bible has been forced out by court rulings, or the pressure of political sentiment.

It is scarcely xpected that the sincere and trustworthy Christian faith and sentiment of this nation shall regard with moral complacency and patriotic enthusiasm a system of education which is divorced from religion and painfully embarrassed by the presence of the Bible. While none may feel as deeply as did the sainted and spotless Bishop Pierce, who, when speaking of such a system of education, declared: "You may call it republicanism or democracy, but, in the name of God, I pronounce it a damnable heresy, fraught with disaster, a shame to our civilization, and a curse to our liberties;" yet there is just cause for serious alarm and a persistent protest. Nor are these fears and protests ample reasons upon which to base a suspicion of one's patriotic fidelity and public generosity. The orthodox Christians of America have as rightful claims to public confidence, and may boast as genuine loyalty to the welfare of this nation, as may be claimed by those classes in whose behalf the Bible has been excluded from public schools of all kinds, from the primary school to the university. It is a national shame to make American Christianity the vassal of American infidels. It is an adroit evasion of the issues to charge these protestations to the chagrin of defeated sectarnianism or the impatience of partisan intrigues; they are in the interest of the nation's health, peace and prosperity.

The inadequacy of secular education will not be disputed by its most ardent apologists. As a system of education it fails to include in its aims the most vital phases of individual development and the service which the individual must render within the widely differcing circles of which he is a member. Secular education takes no account of the spiritual or originating faculties of mind, but confines its aims and its efforts to the faculties of reason, imagination and memory, faculties which are only instruments to be used by those deeper faculties in which all purposes, all plans, and all activities take their beginnings. The power to believe, the power to hope, the power to love are the regnant powers of consciousness, and the system of education that leaves these vital powers to shrivel and waste for the lack of the care and training that are indispensable to their growth, activity and direction, is a system which trifles with mind as though it were a paltry bubble to float for a moment and then go out forever. With vigorous precision Saint Paul stated the comparative value of the faculties of mind when he said to the Corinthians, "Now abideth faith, hope, love, but the most comprehensive of these is love." They are the powers which education should be most zealous to train. The lack of their cultivation and sanity makes a hideous appearance in moral, social spites, unseemly contentions, wavering consciences, political intrigues, unblushing profanity, industrial discontents, and in very many other weaknesses which are too prevalent in these times of universal education.

These things do not make for the safety of society, and no amount of statistical parade of money spent, buildings constructed, teachers employed and children taught, can offset the social threatenings one meets daily in the streets.

With the Bible and religion excluded from education, the educational interpretations of human life become necessarily narrow, leaving out all those qualities, relations and aims which make life rich with divine meaning and immortal prospects. If man were only a transient denizen of the earth, if all his duties were within state boundaries, if all his hopes were shut in by the horizon of material existence, if he were not a member of the infinite circle of creation which demands of him sympathy and justice and mercy and faith and hope and love for all beings, beginning at the one nearest to him and including the one most remote from him, then secular education might have some rational ground of defense. But man is that being whose appointed place in creation's order is the boundary line between things material and things spiritual, he is that being whose consciousness fills a mediatorial office between the earth behind him and the infinite world of spirit beyond him, and through his thoughts and feelings the world of matter is being lifted to its highest estate, and through his thoughts and feelings the world of spirit is moving down into the world of matter. He is, in a very true sense, a supernatural creature and as such should be educated. Only men through whom God can find his way into the world, lift life to higher levels and advance the world's true destiny.

The school question, Sir, is a far-reaching issue, involving the ideals and type of American civilization. If these schools continue to secularize the ideals, sympathies, and purposes of childhood and youth, the prospects are gloomy enough. The founders of this republic never dreamed that the idea of the separation of church and state meant any sort of civil allegiance with infidelity or non-religious classes. The separation of church and state was never designed to be a bitter antagonism between church and state, and to yield the point is to surrender the nation into the hands of those classes who are least fitted to have it in their charge. The churches should lose no time in turning back this tide of secularism which has already grown to alarming proportions, and the contention for the Bible and religion in the public schools should be urged till the issue is settled by a signal triumph for the Bible or by humiliating defeat of it.

There is, however, another influence at work in these days which is destructive of a consciousness of God, and that is, as has been stated, the application of scientific methods in every field of thought. It has produced a scientific habit of mind which hesitates to accept any other tests and proofs than those approved by scientific methods. The outcome of this new habit of mind is the growth of a heartless and calculating naturalism which dissipates in the human spirit the consciousness of God and intimidates faith in the supernatural. Not a few pulpits have turned pale in its presence, and some would make peace with it by writing theology with God left out. This is especially the coveted achievement of that class of pulpit adventurers and promoters of novel notions who group themselves under such pretentious terms as "advanced thinkers," "evolutionists," and "modern critics." If "these gentlemen," as Bishop Candler calls them, have found a new truth, or thrown a stronger and wider light on an old truth, or searched deeper applications of any truth, the church of the living God should be the last to discourage them and should hasten to become their strongest and most ardent ally. If advanced thinking is certified by advanced living, if evolution is affirmed by a fuller disclosure of God, if modern criticism is verified by a higher faith, the church should rejoice and esteem them as benedictions. But when advanced thinking brings forth a stumbling life, when evolution quenches the spirit of prayer, and when modern criticism squelches the sense of reverance, then there is ample reason for suspecting them of being a Trojan horse which outwardly brings gifts, but inwardly carries death. The affiliation of these postulates with the conjectures of naturalism makes one hesitate to become entangled with them till their full intent is laid open. Naturalism displays too little sympathy with the belief in a personal God and His providential superintendence of His miverse, it writes too many worthless interrogation points over the portals of God's temples and on the face of God's altars, it openly suspects a common origin for the writings of Moses and the writings of Homer, and fancies that the history of religion and the phenomena of religious experience may be explained on the ground of psychological processes. The baneful influences of naturalism show themselves in the decay among men of a consciousness of God, the lack of which poisons society with moral impurities; unbridles the political conscience, stirs in industry a reckless rush after gain, and engenders in the church a weakly sentimentalism which muzzles faith and veneers the truth to please a back-slidden constituency.

It is too late in the world's history for the church to repudiate the God of the Bible. The passing centuries have attested with far more infallible proofs that He is God than did the outrage and death-dealing sword of Elijah on the summit of Carmel prove to Ahab that He is the only God. This old book, which was born amid the clouds that mantle Sinai and completed amid the splendid radiance that poured upon Patmos, reveals to mankind a God of vast and unceasing work, carrying on infinite enterprises of creation, and administering the universe in harmony with the infinite perfection of His own character. This administration proceeds along the lines of His righteous Fatherhood, having providential regard for His creatures amid all the circumstances of their existence. He not only holds the sun in its blazing centre and the planets within their orbits, but He watches the babe in its cradle and is present at the burial of the sparrow. The book of Job is a drama in which God sits on the throne of final judgment and settles every detail of the final issue. The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; the God of Peter, James and John; the God of Sinai, Gethsemane, and Calvary; the God of Hermon, Joseph's garden, and Olivet needs no "qualified commendations or introduction from the high priests of human learning." "This God is our God for ever and ever, and He will be our guide even unto death."

There is an imperative need of a revival of faith, a real and genuine faith, in the personality of God, and an all-pervasive consciousness of Him. There are moral conditions in our nation's life which nothing save the power of God can correct. There are strifes and hatreds which will never be untangled except by the power of an indwelling God, antagonism which will never be arbitrated until a conscience of God shall smother out flaming passions, and there are a moral inertness and a spiritual apathy in the church which nothing but the presence and power of God can eradicate. Such a revival must be more than a commotion among the people, a transient agitation of their sensibilities, it must be a deep and permanent awakening of faith in some vital truth which shall become regnant in thought and conduct. Such was the revival under Luther who preached justification by faith, and such was the revival under John Wesley who preached the witness of the Spirit. The revival, sir, which the present conditions demand is one that will make this nation terribly conscious of God, and not one that will waste itself in a sort of emotional revelry and a brief delectation, but one that will take enduring hold upon all the motive powers of the spirit and rule every affection, and bring all conduct under direction of the laws of God. The next great revival of religion will be along the lines of a real and serious application of Christian truth to every phase of life.

The need of a great religious awakening in this nation is stressed by the moral condition of the immigrants that are pouring into this country. The voyage across the seas does not regenerate their ideals nor purify and ennoble their motives, while the atmosphere of freedom tends rather to intoxicate than to tame them. To close the ports of America against them would be a narrow exclusiveness, yet the monuments of Garfield and McKinley are perpetual warnings against some of the unpronouncable names that land at Castle Garden. There is a battle going on in the streets of every American city between heathenism and Christianity, and the issue is whether this nation shall be a Christian nation or a pagan nation. American Methodism should not forget the property right of God to this country, property rights which He has recorded on every page of its history. Unless the churches of America are desperately aggressive, pagan altars will rise in the shadows of Christian temples, and American morals will become a compound of Christian teachings and heathenish folly. This is a free land, but it is not the rendezvous of idolatry, paganism, and antiquated superstitions.

The rapid growth of mobocracy is an alarming malady which cannot be cured unless there be a mighty quickening of the conscience and strengthening of the moral integrity of this nation. Its growth is a sure sign of moral degeneracy, and this is true whether the sin of the mob be to wreak vengeance for a horrible crime, to vent an insane passion, to enforce a labor union's demands, to carry an election by fraud and intimidation, to force an opinion by boycott and persecution, or to forestall justice by inflammatory appeals to human passions. All are form of mobocracy which, in essence, is anarchy. It is American freedom pushed to American defiance. Nor is the church entirely free from this pernicious and corrupting seduction of law and order, a confession which is made with pain and humiliation. Obedience to decency and order is a Christian virtue which Saint Paul zealously exhorted the Apostolic church to exemplify in all things, and the emulation of it by the church in this nervous period is of vital importance. The deification of public opinion is a horrible heresy, not to be nurtured in the sacred precincts of God's temple. For when the church becomes deaf to the voice of God and tolerant of loose conduct, the State will not enforce law with any marked degree of courage and sincerity. This ghastly shadow that is falling athwart the path of this nation can be rolled back only by an irresistible awakening of a consciousness of God in the life of the republic, and thus save it from the fatal malady which has been the ruin of republicanism in all ages.

The symptom which begets the most distressing anxiety for the strength and power of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is the possible lowering of moral standards and the relaxation of an earnest desire for Christian living. It is not true that there is any compromise in the voice of the pulpit, or that the discipline is less exacting in its requirements of church membership. These are still held up to a high and correct ideal. But it cannot be disputed that the enforcement of discipline and a jealous guardianship of righteous living, are relaxed to a perilous degree. Church approval is too lavishly bestowed on men who have conspicuous reputations for godless conduct. Nor do their reputations for faithfulness seem to be impediments to their advancement to official honors and duties, the idea sometimes being entertained that official position will prove a means of saving grace, a theory which has often proved to be a sort of spiritual venality without any return, save chagrin and positive harm. A Methodist stewardship can not claim more redemptive efficacy than has been found in the work of the Holy Ghost. As the custodian of moral standards, a part from any other of its divine functions, the church should keep the distinction between right and wrong defined and enforced. There is, therefore, a pressing need for a revival of church discipline, but whether there will be such a revival is not so certain. It is possible, as has been verified in famous instances, for a church to pass beyond the fatal point in moral decay from which there is no returning, a calamity that may overtake American Methodism. The Spirit of truth cannot operate through apostate instrumentalities, nor be a party to hollow worships. A greed for the increase of membership and the enlargement of collections may be attended by an indifference to the spiritual quality of character. It is right, Sir, to covet and seek for American Methodism an outpouring of the Holy Ghost that will cleanse its atmosphere from moral malaria, inspire in it a rigid adherance to the laws of God, and make it a highty power for pulling down the fortresses of evil and exercising a vigilant care for the salvation of this great nation. In this prayer thousands on thousands of consecrated men, women and children who belong to the sacramental hosts of Methodism; whether they have their homes in the far away hills of Maine or along the fragrant banks of the St. John; whether they bow at the splendid altars of the mercopolitan temple or kneel in the wheat-straw of the camp-meeting; whether they are white or black, American or foreigner—in this prayer they join with bleeding hearts and besieging faith. And will not he who dispenses redeeming grace hear their cries?

It should not be difficult for Americans to love their country and to believe in their country. It is the beneficiary of God's infinite bounties and is divinely commissioned to render a saving service in all parts of the earth. It seems now to be in the vigor and enthusiasm of its youth. There are no marks of age on its institutions, no signs of decrepitude in its plans and its purposes. Tourists do not come hither to study broken columns and walk with reverent tread among antiquated ruins. For there is no Palatine Hill with its crumbled palaces, no unearthed Forum with its ancient memories, no Melrose Abbey to be seen by the moonlight, and no Kenilworth Castle to recall baronial luxury. The joyous whistle and the glad song and the strong whoop of stalwart youth fill the morning air as this nation goes forth to its day of mighty deeds. In its geographical location, its extension of territory, its composite race, its cosmopolitan sympathies, its universal commerce, its aggressive energy, its enterprising faith, and its Protestant Christianity, it constitutes the mightiest agency for the promulgation of truth that has ever been organized among men. One hundred years ago it was a small and infant nation lying along the Atlantic slope, but by the leadings of Providence it has stretched its domains across this wide continent from sea to sea, and from Porto Rico in the tropics to Alaska in the far north, and now at length floats its stars

(Continued on page six.)

The Field

Notes from Louisburg.

The fourth Sunday in May dawned bright and clear. It was the day appointed for the dedication of our beautiful new church. It has been built at a cost of about $8,000.00, and has a seating capacity of about five hundred. For a town of this size, it is really an elegant church, built of brick and granite, and covered with slate. All its windows are memorial windows, and are very pretty. The foundation was laid during the pastorate of Rev. G. F. Smith, who is remembered here with much love, and the one regret which the present pastor has heard with reference to the dedicatory services is that he could not be present. The building was finished and paid for during the pastorate of Rev. M. T. Plyler, and all were glad to have him present to rejoice with us at its dedication. It was indeed a glad day. The other churches of the town suspended their services, and for one day we Methodists had things our own way. A large congregation greeted Bishop W. W. Duncan, of Spartanburg, S. C., who had come to preach the sermon for us. His text was Matt. 5: 13-14: "Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world." I should do the Bishop an injustice to attempt any analysis of his masterful sermon. Suffice it to say that he presented the church as the conservative force in the world. Here is the hope of our country. It is not whether one political party or another is in control. We are not saved by any thrones of earthly power. Roman arms and Grecian philosophy, where are they to-day? We admire them only in the magnificence of their ruins; while the church, then represented only by a humble constituency, has spread itself over the world. This is the institution that stands for that which is to save us. And then the Bishop came down to the individual relation, and in a very practical way emphasized the importance for each one to be in his own way God's salt and God's light. It was a strong and forceful presentation of the great theme which he discussed, and it made a profound impression upon our people.

Whether it was the joy of the occasion,or whether it was because we were to have a live Bishop in our home, I will not undertake to say; but the appreciation of our people for their present pastor took a very practical turn in connection with the above occasion. Two wagon loads of things good to eat, and many of them necessities to every pantry, drove into our back yard and emptied their contents upon the back porch. It was a pounding and more. We shall not get over it for many days, and we don't care if we don't. It was another evidence added to the many already given that our lot has fallen among a pleasant and appreciative people. We sincerely pray God's blessings upon them! L. S. MASSEY.

Carthage Circuit.

This charge, now composed of Carthage, Centre, Cool Spring, High Falls, and Ingram Branch churches, is in a decidedly hopeful condition. The stated services are largely attended, especially in the country. Satisfactory and successful financial system are in use; the Sunday-schools and the Missionary Societies are well organized and are prosperous. The people are so reasonable and considerate that the work is a pleasure to the pastor.

Rev. J. B. Hurley, our active, enthusiastic, efficient Presiding Elder, has been among us twice this year, averaging two good, helpful sermons, emphasizing all the interests of the church, and making himself very agreeable socially. His District Missionary Institute was a real inspiration, a valuable blessing.

The Fayetteville District Conference is to be held in Jonesboro between the third and fourth Sundays in July. Our delegates are Rev. E. B. Craven, T. B. King, Duncan Cole, and A. P. Davis.

Long before the Conference year was half gone, death had claimed three of our most consecrated members—Sisters Sarah V. Davis and Mary Jackson, after protracted and painful sufferings, and Bro. Brinkley Short, without any warning whatever, while he was hard at work in the field.

His many friends here express sincere sorrow at the news of Rev. Z. T. Harrison's death. He was pastor of this circuit in 1897-'98, and the fruitfulness of his ministry was evidenced by the ingathering of fifty-eight souls.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate has made large gains on this circuit this year; but it is claimed that the editor is due Carthage a visit, and it is very much desired that he spend a second Sunday here in the early fall, if not before.

Rev. M. T. Plyler, of Chapel Hill, representing the furnishing of new Greensboro Female College, spent several hours with us recently. We were glad to have him, and he was encouraged by a strong, healthy sentiment favoring rebuilding, and by the promise of substantial proof of this sentiment a few months later.

R. H. BROOM, P. C.

Snow Hill Circuit.

On the evening of the 26th of May, the monotony at the parsonage was broken by the appearance of a pounding party. It was a pleasant occasion. The merry crowd soon dispersed, leaving quite a number of packages—tangible tokens of remembrance—all of which were highly appreciated. We desire to publicly thank the good people who so kindly remembered us.

Our second Quarterly Conference has been held, which reminds us that the year is rapidly rolling by. The following brethren are delegates to the District Conference: Josiah Exum, Sr., T. M. Dail, W. H. Dering, and G. M. Lindsay.

Death has invaded our territory and from our ranks have fallen Susan McKeel, Mary Barrow, Roderick Sugg, and J. T. Holmes. They were good people, and the church needed them, but God willed otherwise. Their death impresses us with the frailty of humanity and the uncertainty of life. Some day, in the midst of life's duties, the summons will come to us, and we'll have to lay down the implements of toil, and enter upon the realities of eternity. May they be the realities of the world above.

The cause of missions has been receiving attention. This is a matter of great importance. Too much stress cannot be laid upon the missionary enterprise. The outlook, we think, is hopeful.

The Advocate hasn't been entirely overlooked. Seven subscriptions and one renewal have been sent up. May the time soon come when this paper shall make its weekly visits to every Methodist home in the North Carolina Conference.

E. C. SELL.

Commencement Exercises of Littleton Female College.

On Sunday morning, May 23, 1904, Rev. G. F. Smith, Presiding Elder of the Warrenton District, preached to the young ladies of the college at the M. E. Church. His sermon was one that gave forth "a certain sound" of excellent advice and practical ideas of service and success. His theme was that by striving to do well we are greatly benefited whether we succeed or not, seeming failures often giving place to higher glory. "We rise by the things that are under out feet."

The Class Day exercises were held on the campus on Tuesday afternoon. These were especially interesting to the student body and to the friends of the "naughty fours" ('04).

The prophecy and will abounded in humor and the poem in beauty and pathos. After burying their mistakes, they planted over the grave a magnolia tree, this indicating that they were determined to make every failure a stepping-stone to higher and holy aims.

Dr. C. W. Byrd, of Atlanta, Ga., was present on Wednesday evening and preached the baccalaureate sermon in the college chapel. The leading thought of his discourse was "consecration and consequent transformation." He endeavored to teach that nothing in the natural world, either plant or animal, is of any good till it yields itself to the giving out of what it has to those around. He appealed to the young ladies to give their lives, while in life's morning, to Him who will make of them all that they could hope or dare think, and that eternity would but be a beginning of the great things God has in store for them. The influence of his sermon cannot be measured, and many a heart is determined to present his body a living sacrifice. At the close of his sermon, the audience rose and sang, with touched feelings and subdued hearts, "Entire Consecration."

The graduating exercises were at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The audience stood as the class marched in bearing their flag of crimson and gold.

This is the largest class that has yet been graduated, numbering ten, Miss Katharine Brice, of South Carolina, graduating with the highest honors of her class.

PROGRAMME.

Doxology.
Prayer.
Salutatory Addresses—Essay, "Night Brings Out the Stars," by Katharine Brice.
Essay—"Mental Telepathy," by Mary Angeline Ware.
Essay—"The Pains of Growth," by Lucile Aiken.
Violin Solo—Polish Dance (Wieniawski), by Grace Crocker.
Essay—"American Ideals," by Ellen Douglas Gainey.
Valedictory Addresses—Essay—"The Morning of the Mind," by Rosa May Lowder.
Presentation of diplomas, Bibles, badges and certificates.
Announcements.
Chorus, Faithful and True—Bridal March—from Lohengrin—Wagner.
Literary Address—Rev. R. D. Smart, D. D., Norfolk, Va.
Benediction.
Ushers—Ella Stanfield, Belle Evans, Etta Frizelle, Georgia Lee.
Subjects of essays not read:
"Silent Influences," by Myrtle Flythe.
"Sources of True Happiness," by Dominne Pearl Aycock.
"For Value Received, I Promise to Pay," by Bessie Green Pulliam.
"Service and Culture," by Nellie Grant Beardsley.
"Art for Humanity," by Rethia Daile Whitehead.

The essays were filled with rich thoughts and showed deep research, and were such as any young woman should have been proud to deliver.

The salutatory and valedictory addresses were especially touching.

Dr. R. D. Smart, of Norfolk, Va., delivered the literary address. This was practical, ornate and eloquent, and was received by an appreciative audience. His theme was the "Largeness of Littles, or Duty." For about thirty-five minutes he elaborated these thoughts in his own inimitable manner and closed by pointing the members of the class to the hand of God whose blood is able to make the heart white—even as white as the snow. In the reckoning of eternity only will he know how great the good done was and be rewarded accordingly.

The recital by music and elocution pupils, Thursday night, was superb and grand. At the close of the recital, the entire class sang, "Off for the Holidays," which brought forth gladness and tears to a goodly number. This piece was composed by Miss Nora Foy, class '05.

This has been the most successful year in the history of this school, and we are very proud to note the grand success that Brother Rhodes is meeting with in his school, for he richly deserves all that the horn of plenty has in store.

Very respectfully,

B. C. GLOVER,
Traveling Representative of Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Institute Program to be Held in Edenton Street Church, Raleigh, N. C.

FIRST SESSION—MONDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 27.

4.00.—Devotional Exercises—Led by Rev. W. H. Moore, D. D.
4.15.—A Bible Study—"The Life of Christ," by Dr. Hamill.
5.00.—Practical Primary Problems by Mrs. Hamill.

SECOND SESSION—MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 27.

8.15.—Song and Prayer Service—Led by W. J. Young, Jr.
8.30.—The Child in the School, by Mrs. Hamill.
9.00.—A Forward Movement in our Methodist Sunday-schools, by Dr. Hamill.
Offering for expenses.

THIRD SESSION—TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 28.

9.30.—The Quiet Half Hour—Led by Rev. F. A. Bishop.
10.00.—Points in Teaching—
(a) Managing a Class.
(b) Holding Attention.
(c) Securing Home Study.
(d) The Art of Teaching, by Dr. Hamill.
10.45.—Aids in Primary Teaching—Music, pictures, blackboard, helps, etc., by Mrs. Hamill.
11.30.—Volunteer Reports of Schools by Superintendents.

FOURTH SESSION—TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 28.

4.00.—The Quiet Half Hour. Led by Rev. J. H. Shore.
4.30.—The Sunday School Session—
(a) The Program.
(b) The Work of the Officers.
(c) The Lesson Study.
(d) Fine Points in Management. Dr. Hamill.
5.15.—Hard Primary Lessons—Review, Temperance, Missionary. Mrs. Hamill.
5.45.—Round Table—The Home Department, House-to-House Visitation, Sunday School Helps, Decision Day, etc. Led by Dr. Hamill.

FIFTH SESSION—TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 28.

8.15.—Song and Prayer Service. Led by Rev. T. N. Ivey, D. D.
8.30.—The Child in the Church. Mrs. Hamill.
9.00.—The Problem of the Teacher. Dr. Hamill.
Offering for Expenses.
Issuing Certificates of Honor.

W. H. M. Society.

Report of the Annual Meeting of the W. H. M. Society at Selma, N. C., by Mrs. C. C. Aycock to the Fremont Auxiliary, which she represented.

Fremont Auxiliary had a large representation at Selma on Friday. We arrived in Selma about 8.30, and were met at the cars by Dr. James Person, who introduced us to Mr. Spiers, husband of our Corresponding Third Vice-President, and of whom I have more to say. These gentlemen conducted us to the hotel, and, after breakfasting, we were directed to go to Mrs. Spiers' home before going to the church, and Dr. Person kindly accompanied us. Arriving there, we were pleasantly welcomed by Mrs. Spiers, and soon found ourselves in the presence of, and shaking hands with, ladies prominent in the work; ladies with whom I had corresponded and from whose letters I had received inspiration and encouragement—Mrs. Scott, our Conference Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. Wilkins, our former Corresponding Secretary, and others.

After a few minutes conversation, Mrs. Spiers disappeared to soon return with the insignia of the Society, bestowing one upon each of us. These badges were artistically designed and hand-painted by Mrs. Spiers—a pure white ribbon with the letters W. H. M. S. intertwined with forget-me-nots.

The hour having arrived, we started to the church and were met at the gate by our much loved friend and Conference Treasurer, Mrs. Speight, and Mrs. Duncan, and near the church entrance by our Conference Recording Secretary, Mrs. Jerome, and other ladies. Entering the church our eyes fell upon the mottoes: Welcome to the W. H. M. S." and "Our Land for Christ" arranged on either side of the pulpit. There was a large attendance of delegates and District Secretaries. "The largest in our history" we were told.

After devotional exercises, reports from Smithfield, Durham, Raleigh, and Wilmington Auxiliaries were read, and gave evidence of advance in all lines of work. Ladies representing Durham Auxiliaries desired information respecting tithing, and the following questions were considered: What is the tithe? The uses of the tithe? What its historical and spiritual value? Is paying one-tenth increase commensurate with Christian obligation? It was decided that the tithe is intended only as a basis of giving below which none should go, if able to give at all.

Mrs. Spiers, in making her interesting report of the Baby Roll and of the Florine McEachern Brigade, forestalled me in proclaiming the fact that Fremont Auxiliary has the banner brigade of the Conference.

Mrs. Harrell deplored the lack of sympathy and co-operation with the ladies in the Home Mission work exhibited by the preachers of the Conference. It was only the preachers receiving meagre salaries and living in rented houses who gave us their hearty sympathy. Mrs. Burton desired to speak a few words in defense of the preachers, and suggested that this lack of sympathy might be attributed to a want of information and urged that we should send our pastors literature with the request to inform themselves.

Mrs. Scott held a consecration service. Every word she spoke was laden with loving zeal for the cause, and gave inspiration and encouragement. The keynote was faith in God and service with Him in blessing and uplifting humanity.

The session adjourned to meet again at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Spiers captured the whole Fremont delegation by her charming originality, her diversified talent, and her free-hearted hospitality.

The devotional service for the afternoon was led by Mrs. S. I. Harrell, a gifted, consecrated lady. Mrs. Wilkins, Secretary of the Warrenton District, and Mrs. Dixon, of the Raleigh District, reported work which told of untiring zeal in the vineyard of the Lord. Mrs. Wilkins has the banner district of the Conference.

At 4 o'clock the Society, delegates, visitors and all attended a reception at Mrs. A. E. Edgerton's home. This was admirably planned to afford opportunity in a delightfully informal way to delegates and visitors to mingle with one another and with the ladies of Selma; also to amuse and to give us an example of Selma's hospitality.

We brought with us a souvenir in the form of an envelope decorated with a cherub bearing the Baby Roll of the W. H. M. So, designed by Mrs. Spiers, our talented Third Vice-President, and Miss Margaret Etheridge, with whom I was so pleasantly thrown. We also brought with us pleasant memories which will linger with us many days.

Ocracoke High School Commencement.

By request, I write a few items concerning our commencement at Ocracoke. The exercises began Friday, May 20, 1904. The presence of a large and appreciative audience gave evidence of the general interest in our school. The achievements of the students were very gratifying. Saturday night addresses were delivered by Rev. R. R. Grant, Rev. G. W. Stancill, and Rev. W. E. West, which thrilled every heart with the desire to get an education.

On Sunday morning the commencement sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. West. This being the first commencement ever at Ocracoke, it was a great benefit to the school, and also to the community at large. Everyone sympathizes with the teachers in so great a task, as it is to them the successful merits of the students are due.

Prof. Redfern made a talk to the patrons and students that should ever be remembered.

Wishing the school a continued success, I remain an everlasting friend.

R. S. WAHAB.

Ocracoke, N. C., May 24, 1904.

New Bern District Conference.

The New Bern District Conference will be held at Beaufort, June 30th to July 3rd, opening at 9 a. m. on the 30th, Bishop A. Coke Smith presiding.

Friday morning will be devoted in whole, or in part to the subject of missions. We will be pleased to have the District Secretaries of the Foreign and Home Mission Societies present to report their work. We urge the Recording Stewards to have the Quarterly Conference records on hand the first day.

Committee on Admissions and License—G. T. Adams, E. H. Davis and E. C. Sell.

On Orders—M. Bradshaw, H. B. Anderson, W. H. Townsend.

F. D. SWINDELL,
Presiding Elder.

A Tribute From California.

I am not in a mood to write a cheerful letter; but I cannot refrain from telling you and the North Carolina Methodists about our representative to the General Conference of the M. E. Church at Los Angeles.

A few weeks ago Dr. Kilgo wrote me to come down and chaperone him through the General Conference. I went, but not for the purpose indicated; because I knew nothing about a General Conference. However I did expect to show them around the city, and make some side trips. But the Doctor would not go anywhere until he had delivered his message and then he could not get away for some time.

At the hour for the address, Dr. Bovard and Mrs. Bishop Hamilton gave our party, Mrs. Kilgo, Prof. Flowers, Miss Trippe and myself, a box near the speaker's stand. From this we could see the Conference, Bishops and visitors, and hear the message from our own church's representative.

I cannot begin to describe the effect it produced. That great body of men were so thrilled that they gave prolonged applause again and again. At the close, when the cheering had somewhat subsided, Bishop Andrews, who was presiding, with the Conference gave the Chautauqua salute, then some one began to sing America and the whole Conference, visitors and all, sang the old song with great feeling.

It was an hour long to be remembered. Bishop Berry said to Dr. Kilgo when congratulating him that "the high water mark had been reached and nothing else would equal it during the session."

I expected to bring the Doctor home with me, and have him preach in Berkeley and San Francisco; but the Powers would not let him leave until after Sunday when he preached to a great audience in the First M. E. Church, in Los Angeles.

Monday night they reached San Francisco, and I had an opportunity to chaperone.

We visited Stanford University and places of interest about the city, such as the Cliff House, Golden Gate Park, Chinatown, University of California, Berkeley and Oakland. Although the Doctor was very tired he preached for us at Oakland Wednesday night, after which he and his party were given an informal reception.

But the time soon came when they had to turn their faces to the East, and I was again left alone in the great West.

Of course I hated to see them go; but in the language of a Georgia girl, the time spent in California with such a party, "seemed good ter me."

J. C. WOOTEN.

An Explanation.

Mr. Editor:—In Brother Willis' letter on "Early Collections" there is a statement which is calculated to leave a wrong impression as to Elizabeth City District. He speaks of a slight decrease in the amount paid on missions as compared with last year. According to the figures presented, there is only a difference of sixty-eight cents.

Brother Towe, of Dare Circuit, has sent in his entire assessment for missions, which reached the hands of the treasurer just a little too late to get in the report. If this amount had been received a few days earlier, it would have made Elizabeth City District $132.32 in advance of last year instead of a decrease of sixty-eight cents. I write this in justice to our people.

J. E. UNDERWOOD.

Methodism in America: Past, Present, and Future.

(Continued from page three.)

and stripes far away in the Orient, and no man can tell where the American flag will find its last resting place. The extension of this nation is a propagandism that dazes the imagination, and the quiet good nature with which it takes up the burdens that fall to it, is an example of heroic generosity that should fill every American heart with patriotic joy. What an opportunity God has opened for His church in the forces, influences and enterprises of this mighty republic under whose protection Americans may go to all parts of the globe!

Shall American Methodism, favored with the providential bounties of this land, have a due share in helping it to fill its divinely appointed mission? This is no time for croaking and no time for conventional lamentations, though there may be painful reasons for heart-burnings and speedy repentance, yet whatever may be the results of past labors, however much there may be to regret that they are not more abundant, still there is cause for gratitude and encouragement. Your own great church, Sir, has not been idle, it has not been unmindful of its commission. It has its chapels and schools in the shadows of the Vatican, it sings its songs among the glacier fields of the Alps, it sends its preachers along the banks of the Danube, it proclaims the gospel around the ice-girt coasts of Norway and Sweden, it holds its conferences in the dark and tangled heart of Africa, it assembles its prayer-meetings and class-meetings along the Ganges, and sends forth its songs into the dark and heavy night of Oriental paganism. And yet its faith is not satisfied, for here you are discussing wider plans, preparing for new enterprises, and are organizing for a world-wide crusade against heathenism and error. May God go with you and help you to overthrow sin and ignorance wherever you may find them entrenched.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has something of an adequate conception of the meaning, spirit, and purpose of its Lord's kingdom among men, and is not an idle spectator of the world's movements. It is debtor to the Greeks and Barbarians; both to the wise and the unwise, and as far as in it lieth it is willing to preach the gospel on every continent and in every island till its Lord shall see of the travail of His soul and shall be satisfied. The ceaseless cry that goes up from its altars is a cry for the world's redemption, and its bishops, from the grand old man, Bishop Keener, who sits in the quiet glow that fills the evening of a splendid life, to the last one ordained to the office, are moved by an apostolic faith and an apostolic zeal. There is a holy impatience at what seems to be a widespread apathy among many members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, but this impatience springs from a consecrated desire to do larger things in every field of work. It is a healthful sign, and rightly guarded, may lead to a larger faith and intenser zeal.

American Methodism, Mr. President, should never forget that evangelistic zeal and persistent labor are the only conditions upon which it can claim divine sanction and expect genuine success. These are the marks by which it has hitherto verified its Apostolic faith, and there is no need to go back of this unanswerable record to reopen trifling issues of historical succession, puerile pursuit that may well be left to those who have less pressing engagements than absorb, or should absorb, the whole attention of Methodism. It becomes and behooves Methodism to keep on its working garb, for such apparel better befits its faith and pretensions. The glitter of mitred priests and the vain pomp of worship about high altars are arts in which it is not skilful, and any clumsy efforts in such practice would only provoke ridicule. It will find nobler honors and more enduring glory by closely following its Lord's example, who at the early age of twelve years became conscious of the heavenly and imperative compulsions of His Father's work. As co-existent with His Father, He had taken part in every act of creation, and His earthly history was full of incessant labors, for He hastened to finish the work that had been given Him to do, that He might be raised to the glory which He had with the Father before the world began. And now that He is ascended up on high, far above principalities and powers, He still works, walking continually among the candle-sticks and holding the seven stars in His own right hand, directing the movements and overlooking the conditions of His church in the earth. Work—consecrated, persistent, heroic work—is the infallible sign of allegiance to our Lord, and he who has not had fellowship in His suffering and labors cannot have co-inheritance with Him in His glory. Therefore, let American Methodism evince its loyalty to its Lord by incessant labor, let it make full proof of its divine commission by the outlay of its powers, its thought, its resources and its life, that fallen manhood may be redeemed.

Now that the world is a wide-open field for work, and the loud calls for workmen come from every quarter of the globe, there should be no discordant note, no segregating spirit, no provincial faith in American Methodism. It should respond to these providential appeals with an enthusiastic vigor, an inspired loyalty, and an eternal allegiance; and amid abundant and ardent labors find a lasting fellowship becoming the potential fraternity which we so much admire and so often profess. It is no time to squander energy and waste resources upon a worse than worthless factiousness, it is no time to nurse petty prejudices and foster childish rivalries, it is no time to contend about useless forms and transient circumstances. An unified Christian church—"unified in a heavenly communion rather than compacted into an earthly corporation"—is the supreme need of the age. The day of segregations, of prejudices, of provincialism, of antagonism, and sectional strife should be fully past in this land. Americans are not tribal pagans masquerading in sacerdotal robes, and strifes and divisions do not become this nation within whose borders the note of Christian song is never hushed. And social divisions, political strifes, sectional estrangements and sectarian antagonisms should find no shelter within the altars of God's temples, nor should they have their ardent promoters in the preachers of the gospel. American Methodism ought to deem it a holy privilege to set an example of Christian fellowship, and lay out its energies to unite every institution, every influence, every force and every section of this great nation into an undying fraternity.

Mr. President, my task is done, I have delivered the message which I crossed this continent to bring you from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and I thank you for the courtesy which you have so generously accorded me. It is no more than I anticipated, yet it is none the less appreciated because it was expected. I trust that you will in the future, as you have in the past, send fraternal messengers to the branch of Methodism which I represent, and I assure you they will always receive a welcome becoming the fraternal fellowship of American Methodism. The region of our country out of which I have come is a fair region, and the light of a splendid day is on its hill-tops and is pouring through all its valleys. A great people, Sir, dwell between the Potomac and the Rio Grande, and their hearts are bound by an indestructible loyalty to the destines of this republic. They are not represented by the coarse and vulgar classes—classes that live in every section of every land—nor does the inflammatory speech of the sectional demagogue, let his home be where it may, find sympathy in their sentiments and ideals. I confess to a love of my native Southland. I love its gentle and genial sunshine; its forests, vocal with the songs of birds; its hills, fragrant with never-fading flowers; its brooks and rivers, singing softly to the sea; its mountains with their imposing forms; and its wide swamps where the mourning pine and the tall cypress lift themselves with royal grace above the mass of tangled undergrowth. But with as genuine sincerity and as patriotic pride, I love the bleak sea-beaten rocks of New England's coast, and the booming waters of wild Niagara, the fertile valley of the Ohio and the wide plains where the northern winds pour their furious gales, and as I love this far away eastern land on the breaking swells of the Atlantic, so I love this far away western land on whose hill-tops may be seen the last gleam of the American day. May the peace of God fill all our borders, and His presence guide our land through all coming generations.

Golden Wedding Occasion.

On the evening of April 26, 1904, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Thompson, of Ashpole, N. C., celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Ashople, N. C. The occasion was one of real pleasure to the family and invited guests. The children, with two excentions, were all present, five boys, and three girls, together with quite a number of grand-children and invited guests, numbering in all, seventy-two. The presents to the old people were numerous, beautiful and useful. The hours from six to eight were spent in pleasant conversation. At eight, the summons came to repair to the dining-room. Here an elegantly conceived and splendidly prepared supper was served in courses. To this, ample justice was done. The youngest member of this interesting family is a grand-child three weeks old, the oldest is the grand-father, who is in his seventy-seventh year.

The guests were delighted with the evening's entertainment. As the guests left, they all congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Thompson upon their long life, and wished them many more happy years. They are excellent old people, and have reared a fine family. If the world was full of such people it would be happier and better.

J. M. ASHBY.

Mrs. Margaret Bottome, speaking of the secret of joyous old age, says: "I could not ask for you a greater gift than that in the future, when the autumn time of life shall come, you may have the spring-time in your heart. There is only one life where the new never becomes old, where the love is always kept fresh, and is always a first love with increasing freshness; and that is having the One who says: 'I am the Life!'"

A FRIGHTENED HORSE,

Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy, and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles, disappear quickly under its soothing effect. Twenty-five cents all drug stores.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

A revival is a spiritual equipment from which we issue forth on a vigorous, perilous campaign. Spiritual strength is the product of persistent and continued growth. I have never known a man to backslide who regularly kept the morning watch.

The question as to whether you will measure up to your great task twenty years from now is not to be decided then; it is being decided now by the way you are measuring up to to-day's tasks.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$11.05 Raleigh to Athens, Ga., and return account Summer School. Tickets on sale July 2, 11, 18, limited returning fifteen days in addition to date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$13.50 Raleigh to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, account Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Tickets on sale July 10 and 11, final limit July 23, 1904. An extension can be obtained until August 3rd, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Detroit, Mich, and return account Baptist Young People's Union of America International Convention. Tickets on sale July 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit July 12. An extension until August 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$19.95 Raleigh to Louisville, Ky., and return account Biennial Conclave Knights of Pythias. Tickets on sale August 12 to 15, final limit August 25. An extension until September 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$18.20 Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return account Monteagle Sunday-school Institute. Tickets on sale August 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit August 31, 1904. An extension until October 31, 1904, can be obtained by paying difference between rate which ticket was sold and summer tourist rate.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return, account Peabody Normal Summer School. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4, and 5, with final limit fifteen days from date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30th, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, account National Prohibition Convention. Tickets on sale June 26 and 27, final return limit leave Indianapolis not later than July 15, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Democratic Convention. Tickets on sale June 21, 22 and 23, final limit June 27, 1904.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N.C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Our Corresponding Secretary.

All her friends and "companions in labor" will be rejoiced to know that Mrs. F. D. Swindell, who has been ill for some time, is now much improved. They all unite, we know, in an earnest prayer for her full restoration to health and usefulness.

Conference Expense Fund.

The law relating to this Fund is, that the twenty-five cents should be paid the first quarter. Its present need was urged at our Annual Meeting at Elizabeth City.

BLANCHE FENTRESS.

This item of our law concerning the time for the payment of our Conference Expense Fund—or contingent fund, as some choose to express it—is opportunely given by our esteemed Recording Secretary, and should be, not only read carefully, but put into immediate practice by all our Auxiliaries. It has been the custom of some to defer the payment of this fund till the third or last quarter. The Treasurer of each Auxiliary is requested to make a note of this law, and instruct the members in it at each meeting, until it is perfectly understood, and faithfully complied with.

Bright Jewels.

Let it be remembered that Auxiliary members are expected to visit and take an interest in our Bright Jewel Bands.

BLANCHE FENTRESS.

Here is another valuable suggestion from our Recording Secretary, in the way of "stirring up our pure minds by way of remembrance," in the discharge of duty to our laws and regulations, in this department of the work.

It is not known by all, that where there are adult and juvenile societies in the same church, the Lady Manager for the Bright Jewel Band is elected by the adult auxiliary; and that it is the duty of that Auxiliary to appoint a committee to attend the meetings of the Bright Jewel Bands, when considered necessary, to encourage and assist in keeping up an interest in the work.

There is no fault in our regulations—in the machinery that propels our grand enterprise; but there is great need, sometimes, for the lubrication which love, patience and tender consideration will bring.

"Uppermost rooms" and "chief seats" must have no place in the ambition of those who labor purely for the extension of our Lord's kingdom, and the salvation of souls.

Officers for 1904-1905.

Perhaps it will be best to give our readers a full list of the officers that were elected at our last Annual Meeting:

Mrs. Lucy A. Cuninggim, Greensboro, N. C., President.
Mrs. R. A. Willis, Laurinburg, N. C., Vice-President.
Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C., Corresponding Secretary.
Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C., Recording Secretary.
Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C., Treasurer.
Mrs. M. L. Hendren, New Bern, N. C., Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work.
Auditors.—Mr. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C., Mr. H. M. Groves, New Bern, N. C.
District Secretaries:— Raleigh, Mrs. R. H. Whitaker, Raleigh, N. C.; Durham, Mrs. W. H. McCabe, Durham, N. C.; Fayetteville, Mrs. M. J. Simpson, Fayetteville, N. C.; Rockingham, Miss Emma Page, Aberdeen, N. C.; Wilmington, Mrs. James Gibbons, Wrightsville, N. C.; New Bern, Mrs. C. P. Dey, Beaufort, N. C.; Washington, Mrs. J. L. Horn, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Warrenton, Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton, N. C.; Elizabeth City, Mrs. S. S. Hardeson, Elizabeth City, N. C.; Miss Mary T. Pescud, Organizer Golden Links.

Our Leaflets.

There is not enough attention paid to the reading and distribution of the leaflets sent out every quarter.

When you consider the amount of time, care and expense required for the issuing of these useful helps in our work, you will be surprised to find in what a light esteem they are held, even by some of our most enterprising women.

They should not only be read by the members of all our auxiliaries, but preserved and distributed among those women and children who are not members of our societies.

There are many important facts, beautiful thoughts and suggestions, and germs of "eternal truth" embodied in our leaflets, which cannot fail to instruct, interest and quicken, if they are properly read and presented to the minds of women and children.

To our corresponding secretaries of the auxiliaries, therefore, we would suggest a dilligence in the business of giving special prominence to your leaflets, not only in the monthly meetings, but wherever you find a "convenient reason" for handing them to those who are not "established in the faith" of foreign missions.

A COSTLY MISTAKE.

Blunders are sometimes very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you'll never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, Liver or Bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. Twenty-five cents at all drug stores.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SUCCESSFUL LIFE INSURANCE MEN IN NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA.

Any life insurance solicitor who is successful and reliable, or any capable reliable man who is willing to work up to it, can secure from the Southern Loan and Trust Company of Greensboro, N. C., a working contract possessing all the advantages of a general agent's contract. With this contract can be secured small or large territory as desired, and such facilities as may be necessary for financing the general agency. No man need apply who is not a worker, and who cannot give satisfactory references.

The Southern Loan and Trust Company has spared no pains or expense to give its patrons the best that there is in life insurance. It is a legal reserve company with a cash capital and surplus of over $225,000. The company has operated in only a few counties in North Carolina, but in the territory in which it has operated, has written more business than any other company. For further information address A. W. McAlister, Manager, Greensboro, N. C.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to MRS. R. O. BURTON, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Mrs. E. F. Cook, Board Superintendent of Press Work.

We gladly welcome Mrs. Cook as our new Superintendent and congratulate ourselves on having been able to secure her services.

She is from Thomasville, Ga., in itself almost a guaranty of success, and in her first issue of our Monthly Bulletin proves the wisdom of the Executive Committee in their choice.

Her plea for the co-operation of the Conference Superintendents is a call for sympathy and help which I earnestly trust we will willingly hear and gladly heed.

A Tribute to Mrs. Luke Johnson.

I feel that every Auxiliary will heartily endorse Mrs. Cook's words concerning the fine work of her predecessor, Mrs. Johnson: "The terse, telling paragraphs of the Monthly Bulletin have proven an important part of Home Mission information. Mrs. Johnson's practical plans and suggestions, that were the very coinage of her heart and brain, have established this new department of work, giving it character and permanence."

Our Board Meeting.

The session recently held in Kansas City was the best in the history of our Society. I wish every member could read the admirable account in the May number of "Our Homes." It is inspiration to review the work and learn of plans for future activities, and I doubt not every reader will rejoice anew that it is her privilege to claim in it a share, be it ever so small.

The Success of "Our Homes."

Although just twelve years old, the organ of the Woman's Home Mission Society is self-supporting, keeps out of debt, has a subscription list of 9,267, and owns stock in the Birmingham Street Railway Company. Is not this clear testimony to the practical business ability and fine management of Miss Helm? We extend hearty congratulations to her.

A Boys' Dormitory.

And we owe more than congratulations to our capable and consecrated Editor. We here express our grateful thanks for the recent gift of $1,000 that has come through her from "Our Homes" to the Treasury of the Woman's Home Mission Society. This makes possible the much-needed Boys' Dormitory at the Sue Bennett School, which means new life-purpose, new equipment, new culture for scores of mountain boys.

Mrs. C. C. Aycock's Report of Our Annual Meeting.

On account of lack of space, I could not give Mrs. Aycock's interesting report in this column, but Dr. Ivey kindly offered to publish on another page, and you will enjoy it there. Our Annual Meeting was so delightful, I feel that a second account will be gladly welcomed. And I desire to thank Fremont here for this contribution to our Press Department. How many Auxiliaries will "follow suit"? Sisters, we must bestir ourselves!—[The article will appear next week.—Editor.]

A Reminder.

I am looking longingly for replies to my May communications. I desire to know what is being done in our secular papers, and to hear at once from all who have not written concerning the use of the Monthly Bulletins in the regular meetings. In a few days my report for the quarter must go. Please remember this, and write immediately to me.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity of Longman & Martinez Paint whenever they paint.

Methodist Church in Georgia, used 32 gallons L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil. From use of other paints, they calculated to use 100 gallons. The L. & M. saved them over eighty dollars.

E. G. Tracy, Waverly, N. Y., writes: "Have sold the L. & M. Paint for twenty-five years. Customers call for it, saying they used the L. & M. twelve, fourteen, and in one instance seventeen years ago, and will have no other even as a gift."

For sale by one merchant in nearly every locality in the United States.

LONGMAN & MARTINEZ.
Manufacturers, New York.

STRONGLY ENDORSED BY BUSINESS MEN.

The most practical, thorough, reliable and up-to-date institutions of the kind, and those endorsed by business men from Maine to California, are Draughon's Practical Business Colleges, Nashville, Tenn., Ft. Worth, Tex., Atlanta, Ga., St. Louis, Mo., Columbia, S. C., Shreveport, La., Little Rock, Ark., Galveston, Tex., Oklahoma City, O. T., Montgomery, Ala., Kansas City, Mo., and Ft. Scott, Kans.

These schools are incorporated. Capital stock $300,000.00. Fourteen bankers on its board of directors. J. F. Draughon, Pres., is author of four text-books on bookkeeping. It is generally conceded by practical bookkeepers and business men that three months' course given under Prof. Draughon's copyrighted methods is equal to six months elsewhere. Students may, if prefer, pay ten dollars on entering and balance out of salary after course is completed and position is secured. No vacation. Enter any time. Bookkeeping, Shorthand, etc., taught by mail. If interested in home study send for 100-page catalogue on home study. If you wish to attend college send for 160-page catalogue. Address Draughon's College, either place as above.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Sound Waves which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.

OTOPHONE CO
1602 Arch Street, ROOM Philadelphia, Pa.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.

NO CHARGE.

(Established 1891.)

Editorial

"GREAT REVIVALS AND THE GREAT REPUBLIC."

This is the title of Bishop Candler's latest book, just from the press of our Publishing House. Coming as it does at a time when the need of a great sweeping revival like that of the "Great Awakening" is becoming emphasized in the minds and hearts of all those who are truly solicitous for Israel, it must be accepted in a certain sense as providential.

The book is evidently the product of both brain and heart. Some very readable books have in them neither brain nor heart. Those, however, who know Bishop Candler feel that whatever intellectual or spiritual product he throws out on the public must come from glowing forges.

That religion and national life are most intimately related; that revivals in the Old World made colonies in the New; that evangelical Christianity is the security of the Republic and the hope of the world; that we may expect another great awakening—these are some of the theses which are treated and maintained in a style which is fascinating and a logical force which is convincing.

The Wesleyan Revival, the revival of 1800, the revival of 1858, and the revival in the days of Moody and Sankey are considered at length in such a way as to illustrate many striking truths.

The author in the chapter on "The Next Great Awakening," says that the next great awakening will be a revival of religion—not a political reform nor a philanthropic scheme of social amelioration. It will not be based on an altruism, but on the love of a Father for a lost world. It will be doctrinal. It will come through great leaders.

The book has the merits of originality. Many books have been written on the subject of revivals, but we know of none other that deals with the subject in as practical, enlightening, and stimulating way as does "Great Revivals and the Great Republic."

The book is neatly bound, clearly printed, and of convenient size. Price $1.25 at our Publishing House.

THE DOCTOR.

There used to come to our father's house away back in the 60's an old and good man they called "The Doctor." He was not handsome, but they said that he was one of the best men that his county ever produced. It was an open fact that over half of his service was purely charitable. He always brought sunshine into the home circle of that little parsonage. Strong was our faith in his ability to cure every physical ill. When he left crape hanging on the door, that faith remained unshaken. He sleeps in an old graveyard overlooking the little mountain town. That grave and the memories of childhood have glorified for us the medical profesion, and through all the passing years we never meet the true "Doctor" without an impulse to tip our hat to him as one of God's noblemen.

The Doctor walks hand in hand through life with the Preacher. It is the mission of the Doctor to minister to that which the Preacher calls the "temple of the Holy Ghost." Both Preacher and Doctor are appointed for the alleviation of suffering. The one ministers to the body; the other to the soul. Just as the true Preacher must have an eye single to the welfare of the body as well as of the soul, just so the true Doctor must have an eye single to the welfare of the soul as well as of the body. Soul and body are so intimately connected. We love to think of those physicians who are ready to offer a prayer at the sick bed and to turn the eyes of an unhappy soul to the Great Physician who is able to minister unto all His patients.

We never could understand why the Doctor does not always receive the meed of praise which is his due. He is next to the Preacher in the amount of charitable service rendered. Yet his bill, like that of the Preacher, is very often the last one paid. He deals with the body which is like a "harp of a thousand strings"—wonderfully subtle and complicated, yet a slight mistake is often accounted sufficient to damn. He is the bulwark against those tides of charlatanism are ever striving to sweep in the name of science over suffering and credulous humanity, yet how seldom is his voice heeded in legislative assemblies when he speaks against fraud and deception and pleads for that which is sound and scientific.

These thoughts were evoked by the assembling of the North Carolina Medical Convention in the city of Raleigh last week. The occasion was a very important one. It meant much for the State and humanity at large. There are over one thousand members of this Society in North Carolina, and the number is constantly growing. It is a remarkably fine looking body of men. We bid them Godspeed in their noble and self-sacrificing work.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

This body has adjourned. It will be several days before the transactions of the concluding days will be known to the public. The Associated Press pays little attention to religious bodies, and so the public can get but a faint idea of what they do. This is specially true of Methodist Conferences, because, perhaps, Methodists are poor advertisers of their own transactions.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which has just adjourned was remarkable in several respects. It contained a large number of new men. The paramount issues were few, but very important. There was much speaking. Dr. J. M. Buckley and Dr. T. B. Neely were the leaders on the floor. Both men are skilled parliamentarians and remarkably well equipped.

The event which created the greatest sensation was perhaps the retirement of five Bishops, four of whom probably had not thought of such a thing. Our Northern brethren evidently believe in having the work only in strong vigorous hands. Sentiment plays but a little part in their affairs. The superannuation of as many as five Bishops could hardly happen in a General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

We have already published the names of the Bishops-elect. The publication of the name of Dr. James R. Day, of Syracuse University, was rather premature, as this gentleman was of the opinion that he was not called to the order of the Bishopric, but that it would be better for him to remain in the educational field. We have no doubt that he was correct. His case is somewhat similar to that of Bishops Soule and Haygood, who at one time, respectively, refused the office. But it is not often that a man who has been elected Bishop can be persuaded that there has been any mistake made.

The time limit question which was one of the most important matters with which the General Conference had to deal was settled in such a way as to leave the law as it was for another four years.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

Amounts subscribed since last report:

Rev. P. E. Parker	$.50
Hon. W. D. Turner, Statesville, N. C.	5.00
L. H. Allred, Esq., Youngsville, for his father, Rev. B. C. Allred	1.00
Mrs. Partridge, Jonesboro, N. C.	1.00
Rev. J. D. Bundy, Rocky Mount	2.00
Mr. Cyrus Foscue, Fowle, N. C.	1.00
Hon. F. M. Simmons, Washington, D. C.	10.00
Rev. F. M. Shamburger, Oxford, N. C.	1.00
Rev. R. H. Willis, Morehead City, N. C.	1.00
Mr. Henry Page, Aberdeen, N. C.	5.00
Rev. J. M. Ashby, Ashepole, N. C.	2.50
Mr. C. N. Allen, Auburn, N. C.	5.00
Amount previously reported	171.85
	206.85
Amount needed	$500.00

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

The Newton Theological Institute has voted that seventy-two years shall be the limit of active service in the faculty.

A woman in Scotland has received a diploma of honor for sixty-seven years of continuous teaching in a Sunday-school.

The information concerning Bishop Thoburn does not promise a speedy recovery. At last accounts the placing of his broken limb in plaster proved a failure, making necessary further taxing treatment.

Ex-Gov. James P. Eagle, of Arkansas, was elected for the third time president of the Southern Baptist Convention at its session in Nashville. Governor Eagle is a native of Tennessee, and served in the Confederate army under Gen. Leonidas Polk.

It is estimated that fifteen or twenty thousand visitors have been in Los Angeles during the General Conference. The great Methodist host was royally taken care of and the delegates found much to interest them in that city of flowers, of fruit and sunshine.

Mr. John R. Mott delivered a course of lectures before the Ohio Wesleyan University on the general theme "The Place of the Pastor in the Evangelization of the World." The occasion was the seventh series of lectures on the Merrick Foundation.

The committee appointed by the national triennial convention of the Episcopal Church, at San Francisco in 1901, to consider the advisability of changing the legal name of the denomination has reported against the advisability of making any change. This is a wise, conservative decision, and ought to settle the matter for some time to come.

In the revival in Birmingham, England, Dr. R. A. Torrey witnessed Sunday morning Bible classes numbering from 7,000 to 8,000 men. These men are mostly from the working classes, and take a keen delight in the study of the Bible and subjects pertaining to the Christian life. Dr. Torrey regards this as one of the most interesting movements of the country.

The popular impression in the United States is that the Friends are decreasing in numbers, but statistics for 1903 show that the Quakers have made a slight gain. In a total membership of 92,998 the net increment of the year is 398. As only ninety-six of this number are due to excess of births over deaths, it is evident that the principles of the Friends are still winning converts. Indiana is today the greatest stronghold of the Friend.

As a part of his financial reform scheme, the Pope has ordered that notice be given to various clerical newspapers and reviews that the Vatican subsidies hitherto accorded to them will now be withdrawn. Among the publications affected is the erudite review "Il Bessarione," founded and financed by Leo XIII. as an aid to the movement for the reunion of the Eastern churches with Rome. It is expected that similar treatment will be meted out to the famous intransigeant Roman daily "La Voce della Verita."

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.
Warrenton District, Rich Square—July 28 August 1.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—July 20-24.
Rockhingham District, Gibson—July 21-24.

Make it a rule, and pray to God to help you keep it, never, if possible, to lie down at night without being able to say: "I have made one human being, at least, a little wiser, a little happier or a little better this day."—Charles Kingsley.

Methodist Mention

State.

The Brooklyn Sunday-school, Raleigh, goes on an excursion to Lillington to-day.

Bishop Duncan will preach at Epworth church, Raleigh, at some time in June. The Cunninggim memorial window will then be unveiled.

Rev. J. W. Jenkins held quarterly Conference for Presiding Elder W. H. Moore last Saturday at Ebenezer in Franklin County. He preached at the same place on the next day.

The closing exercises of Jonesboro High School, Rev. E. Pope, principal, will be held June 7 and 8. Hon. J. Y. Joyner, Superintendent of Public Instruction, will deliver the literary address.

The North Carolina editors on their return from the St. Louis Exposition showed their appreciation of the Secretary, Mr. J. B. Sherrill, by presenting him with a handsome gold-headed cane.

We are pained to learn through Rev. S. F. Nicks of the extreme illness of Rev. J. M. Rice, of Ashland, N. C. He, at the time of writing, was not expected to recover. We trust that under a kind Providence he is better by this time.

We acknowledge the following invitation: Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Utley request your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Lottie Edith, to Mr. Burke Hubert Parker, on Thursday evening, the ninth of June, 1904, at nine o'clock, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Apex, N. C.

Mr. B. N. Duke, of South Carolina, has offered to give $10,000 to rebuild Greensboro Female College of that State, provided $90,000 more be raised for the endowment.—Central Methodist, North Carolina. Brother Batson, Mr. B. N. Duke is a North Carolinian, and has given more to the cause of education than any other Southern man.

Dr. C. W. Byrd preached on last Sunday at Pleasant Plains, near the home of his mother, in Harnett County. He passed through Raleigh on Monday on his way to Atlanta. We had a pleasant visit from him. He is doing fine work as pastor of the First Methodist Church in Atlanta, which was recently finished at a cost of $149,000. It was dedicated a few weeks ago by Bishop Morrison.

Rev. D. C. Geddie writes: "We have been kindly remembered again. A few days ago a number of presents came to us on the steamer Howard; and on examination we found they came from the Lee's Chapel members, and if we made no mistake, some also from those who were not members of our church. We thank them all most heartily, and pray that they may be paid many times for their kindness."

We clip from the Clarkton Express the following reference to Children's Day service at Elizabethtown: "The Children's Day praise service was held at the Methodist Church on last Sunday night. The program was very interesting and consisted of songs, responsive readings and recitations by the children of the Sabbath Schools of the town and an interesting talk by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Brown. Credit is due to Mrs. Mattie Clark for the training of the children in singing and recitations and the success of the celebration."

Rev. W. B. Humble writes: "We had a missionary rally day service yesterday at Ebenezer. Had a large congregation and fine day. We had a soul-stirring sermon by our Presiding Elder, Bro. Smith, at 11 a. m.; a large communion service, and after a recess had some recitations and songs and a very helpful and instructive talk on missionary Sunday-school work and the financial condition of the church by our beloved Presiding Elder, closing with a song and collection. Brother Smith preached a fine sermon at Tabor at night to a large congregation."

Mr. Lee White, son of Rev. I. A. White, now of Raleigh, but formerly of the North Carolina Conference, has been awarded a scholarship at Haverford College, Pa. He graduated with distinction at Guilford College, and was one of the brightest young men in that institution.

A pleasing incident of the session of the Edenton Street Sunday-school on last Sunday morning was the presentation of a gold-headed cane to Rev. J. R. Johnson by his class. This worthy man who is an active, devout local preacher in the insurance business, left to-day for Canada, where he will make his home. He has made many friends in the South, where he is esteemed as a business man of sterling worth and a preacher of ability.

Connectional.

Central College, Missouri, has a beautiful exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition.

South Carolina stands fifth in contributions to Foreign Missions, Georgia, Virginia, Texas, and Kentucky being ahead in the order given.

The Western Christian Advocate favors the consolidation of the publishing interests of the M. E. Church and of the M. E. Church, South.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions convened in Jacksonville, Fla., May 18, and continued through to the 25th.

Dr. J. M. Buckley was elected for the fourth time chairman of the Episcopal Committee. He has been a member of every General Conference since 1872.

R. B. McSwain, now professor in one of our church colleges in Texas, has been elected to the presidency of Epworth University at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and has accepted.

Mr. H. T. Coleman, who died recently in Reynolds, Ga., bequeathed $2,500 to the Methodist Church at Reynolds, and $5,000 to the South Georgia Orphan's Home at Macon.

Among the editors of Southern Methodism who are visiting the M. E. General Conference at Los Angeles, we note Dr. Cannon, of Blackstone, Va., one of the bravest and brainiest.—Exchange.

At the recent session of our oBard of Missions, held in Waco, Texas, established the Hebrew Mission, and Rev. Julius Magath, formerly Professor in Emory College, has been appointed to the mission.

Dr. Jay Benson Hamilton has resigned the presidency of Walden University, Nashville, Tenn. Suits aggregating $100,000 have been entered against the university by relatives of girls who lost their lives in the fire there last December.

A memorial window to the late Rev. William Arthur has been placed in Wesley's Chapel, City Road, Loudon. The figure represents a sower sowing seed, and the text is, "Now the parable is this: The seed is the Word of God." Dr. Arthur was president of the Conference in 1866.

The Baltimore Southern Methodist is scheduled to give to the Church its first issue on June 2. Rev. J. A. Anderson, of Baltimore, is chairman of the Publishing Committee; Rev. E. V. Regester is secretary, and C. M. Armstrong, Esq., is treasurer.

The Furman will case has been compromised by the relatives and Vanderbilt University. The terms of the compromise are not yet announced. All litigation will be stopped and the estate settled as agreed upon. Vanderbilt was to have received about $150,000. This will be considerably reduced by the compromise.

At the recent meeting of the Book Committee, the question of erecting a new publishing house was quite prominent, and a sub-committee was appointed with power to act, and to proceed with the building as soon as practicable. It is understood that as soon as a satisfactory sale can be negotiated for the old plant, steps will be taken to erect an up-to-date plant on the lot at the corner of Broad and McLemore.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them,and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following is the report since May 25:

B. C. Glover	6
H. C. Spell	2
Rev. W. B. Humble	1
Rev. J. W. Hoyle	1
Rev. C. A. Jones	1
Direct	1

The following is the report by Districts since May 4, 1904:

Wilmington District	42 increase 2
Fayetteville District	42 increase 2
New Bern District	15 increase 2
Warrenton District	13 increase 6
Rockingham District	12 increase 0
Elizabeth City District	8 increase 0
Washington District	7 increase 0
Raleigh District	4 increase 0
Durham District	3 increase 0

Total number new subscribers received since December 1, 1903, 1,283.

Some Testimonals.

You have no idea how I enjoy the blessed old Advocate which I have been reading since I was a boy. I look eagerly for its coming every week, and read it with much enjoyment. It is easy for me to say that it grows better and better, and it has been excellent all the time. No editorials do I enjoy more in any paper. Always bright, thoughtful and safe. God bless you and the Advocate in your good work.

REV. L. L. JOHNSON.

Afton, I. T.

I have been a regular subscriber for the Advocate ever since it started. If I live to see my next birthday I will be 79 years old, and in the year 1846 I was born again of the water and of the spirit, and brother, I can tell you that God owns me as His child today, the 12th day of March, 1904. Thank God, Brother, I ask an interest in your prayers. When it goes well with you, remember me at a throne of grace.

Your brother in Christ,

ELI GIBSON.

A tablet bearing the following inscription has been unveiled at the Jerry McAuley Mission on Water Street, New York: "The converts and his friends of the McAuley Mission have placed this tablet in loving memory of Col. H. H. Hadley, our beloved and God-honored brother, a redeemed drunkard, who from the day of his conversion, July 28, 1886, to the day of his death, December 2, 1903, gave his life for the lost drunkards of this land. 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith.'"

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE

EDITED BY REV. W. B. ANDERSON.

The Methodist Presbyterian and Congregational churches of Canada are talking strongly of organic union of the three denominations. Only a few years ago all the Methodist bodies became one. There seems to be, in the cities, no discordant voices in the present movement.

"Your labor shall not be in vain in the Lord." A public prosecutor in a large district of the Transvaal, South Africa, says that "of thirteen thousand natives convicted of crime during a long period, only four had been educated in connection with the native churches."

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has a regular income from Miss Lizzie L. Johnson, of Casey, Ill. She is a great sufferer, and has been bedridden for years; but she makes bookmarks, and devotes the proceeds to the cause of missions. Since 1901 the income from this source has amounted to $4,810. In addition to this, she carries on an extensive correspondence which reaches into nearly every State in the United States and into five or six foreign nations. —Exchange.

A High Standard.

The aim of every child of God should be to live every day with reference to the Father's will to have life's plans so thoroughly in harmony with God's purposes; and to be so thoroughly consecrated to the service of the Father, that, if they knew they were to die within twenty-four hours, they would not have to change a single plan.

Epworthian, if you knew you would close your eyes to-morrow night for the last time on earthly scenes, would you make any material change in your plans for to-morrow?

Is the thought gruesome? Do you shudder to contemplate it? On the contrary, it should be a most delightsome thought. Not that you are to die to-morrow night, but that you are so thoroughly in harmony with God's plan concerning you, that if it were God's will to take you to Himself to-morrow night, your state of mind would be one of joy rather than of dread. Happy is that servant whom, when his Lord doth come, shall find watching.

Why Should We Support a Missionary.

It would broaden our view of the kingdom of God.

It would prevent discouragement when we failed of success in some cherished chapter work. When depressed or despondent we need the touch of enthusiasm which large and successful activities bring. No better thing could happen to the chapter of the North Carolina Conference than that every member become possessed with a holy passion of a great and noble movement like this, on which many chapters are centered. It would uplift, it would capture and hold the heart with a thrilling power. It would inspire prayer for the evangelization of the world. It would compel higher endeavor, and greater sacrifice for the Master and larger love that would change everything and give life a fuller, happier and more glorious meaning.

It would bring us into direct and close communication with the foreign field by correspondence and otherwise. It would bring us into personal contact with at least one living missionary and his work, and this would quicken our desire for world-wide evangelism.

Leaguelets.

South Georgia Conference has 150 chapters. The entire State is divided into ten districts and each district has a secretary through whom reports are gathered and whose duty it is to hold a District League Conference once a year.

The League meeting held in Waco, Texas, was a great success. The indications are that the Leaguers of the five Texas Conferences are wide awake. They appointed delegations at their meeting the other day to attend the League Assembly at Biloxi, Miss., and the sessions of the Baptist Young People's meeting at Laporte, Texas, for the purpose of observing plans and methods.

All about State and Conference Leagues are being held, resulting in great enthusiasm and forward movements. Let the North Carolina Conference League be held and adopt as a watch-word instruction, conviction, inspiration, action.

It is very difficult to become enthusiastic over a thing we know so little as most of us know about the League.

FIGHT WILL BE BITTER.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall, of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once, and four bottles entirely cured her." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

The Princess Anne Hotel,

Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer or vacation. One hundred feet from ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to

Jas. S. Groves,
President and Manager,
Virginia Beach, Va.

CAPUDINE

Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE. 10c. 25c. 50c, A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company

THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO

California and the Pacific Coast!

Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.

For particulars address

J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...

Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them.
Through the Rice and Oil Belt.
4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.

Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.

OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.

Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.
No trouble to answer questions.

J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES
VIA
Seaboard Air Line Railway
TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for June 5, 1904.

Christ's Trial before Pilate.

(Mark 15: 1-15.)

Golden Text: Then said Pilate to the chief priests and to the people, I find no fault in this man. (Luke 23: 4.)

After Jesus had instituted the Last Supper, and had uttered those wonderful discourses to His disciples, which are given in the Fourth Gospel and must be ever considered among the choicest heritages of the Christian Church, events moved swiftly and sadly to their awful culmination on Calvary.

Leaving the upper room where he had eaten the Passover with His disciples, Jesus passed out with them to the Mount of Olives. Then taking Peter, James and John, He entered into the Garden of Gethsemane, where he endured that untold agony which forced from Him great drops of bloody sweat. His betrayal and arrest quickly followed, and He was hurried before the Jewish authorities, ostensibly for trial, but in reality for condemnation.

Jesus Before the Jewish Rulers.—Jesus was taken first before Annas, the father-in-law of Caiphas, who was the actual high priest. After a brief hearing before Annas, Jesus was taken before Caiphas, where false witnesses gave their discordant testimony against Him, speaking in conformity with the wishes of the rulers and chief priests, but in utter disregard of the truth.

After this mockery of a trial, which was conducted in defiance of all the principal provisions of the Jewish law, respecting the rights of an accused person, and the proper form of procedure, the court declared Jesus worthy of death. But though this was their decision, they were utterly powerless to carry out the sentence they had pronounced, for the power of life and death rested with the Roman courts alone. So, soon after day-break, Jesus was brought before Pilate, the Roman governor.

A Character Sketch of Pilate.—The name of Pilate will ever be connected with the trial and death of Jesus Christ. Some interesting facts concerning him are given by Dr. MacLear in the Cambridge Commentary for Schools and Colleges. His office, we are told, was that of procurator under the governor (propractor) of Syria, but within his own province he had the power of a legatus. His headquarters were in Caesarea, he had assessors to assist him in council, he wore the military dress, was attended by a cohort, as a body-guard, and at the great festivals came up to Jerusalem to keep order. When presiding as judge, he would sit on a Bema or portable tribunal erected on a tesselated pavement, called in Hebrew Gabbatha.

In character Pilate "was not insensible to the claims of mercy and justice, but he was weak and vacillating, and incapable of compromising his own safety in obedience to the dictates of his conscience. As a governor he had shown himself cruel and unscrupulous, and cared little for the religious suscentibilities of a people whom he despised and could not understand."

A Fatal Decision.—The details of the trial before Pilot are familiar to us all. Though Pilate repeatedly declared Jesus to be innocent of any wrong-doing, yet he delivered him over to be crucified, and in so doing he has handed down his name to perpetual ignominy.

The Personal Application.—It is a solemn thought that to each human soul there comes a responsibility akin to that which faced Pilate, when Jesus was brought before him for trial. Pilate was compelled to decide either for or against Jesus. So to-day every human soul must decide either for or against the claims of Jesus.

A STRONG ENDORSEMENT.

Dr. C. I. S. Cawthon, Andalusia, Ala., declares "Tetterine is superior to any remedy known to me for eczema and stubborn skin diseases." Many other physicians unite in this testimony. It has accomplished wonders in their practice. It is amazing that anyone would suffer with itching, burning skin diseases when relief might be had infallibly from the use of a 50-cent box of Tetterine.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

CURES BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES, ITCHING HUMORS, ECZEMA, SCROFULA, ETC.

Send no money—simply write and try Botanic Blood Balm at our expense. A personal trial of Blood Balm is better than a thousand printed testimonials, so don't hesitate to write for a free sample.

If you suffer from ulcers, eczema, scrofula, Blood Poison, cancer, eating sores, itching skin, pimples, boils, bone pains, swellings, rheumatism, catarrh, or any blood or skin diseases we advise you to take Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) Especially recommended for old, obstinate, deep-seated cases of malignant blood or skin diseases, because Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) kills the poison in the blood, cures where all else fails, heals every sore, makes the blood pure and rich, gives the skin the rich glow of health. B. B. B., the most perfect blood purifier made. Thoroughly tested for thirty years. Costs $1.00 per large bottle at drug-stores. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

This is an honest offer—medicine sent at once, prepaid.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No sloughing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure into nal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment" but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case. Still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

$3.50 will buy a pair Americus Shoes

In 18 Styles

Men's fine custom-made work.

The Greatest Selling Shoe in America for $3.50

For sale by all up-to-date dealers. Pair "Americus" would be an appropriate present for a friend.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH BELLS

AT $5.35 for 20-inch 185-pound, $19.15 for 30-inch 870-pound, we sell all sizes of bells at one-half the prices usually asked. $1.35 buys best 50-pound farm bell. Finest crystalline metal, quality and volume of tone unequaled. Guaranteed against breakage for 5 years. For most astonishing bell offer, liberal terms, complete catalogue, write for FREE CATALOGUE OF BELLS. Address: SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS

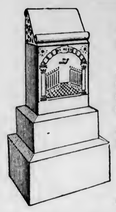
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Please mention this paper.

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop. Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class 101	First-Class 105	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class 104	Second-Class 102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	..... Raleigh	9 45	6 35
7 55	4 25	S.....† Caraleigh Mills...	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....* Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes	9 20	6 06
8 03	4 48	F..... Hobby	9 10	5 10
8 18	4 52	M.....† McCULLERS....	9 10	5 55
8 20	4 56	F..... Banks	8 55	5 40
8 30	4 09	F..... Austins	8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07	S....† Willow Springs ..	8 10	5 30
9 05	5 15	M....† JOHNSON MILL ..	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S....C. F. & N. Junction	8 33	5 01
9 25	5 26	S....† Fuquay Springs.	8 30	4 59
9 40	5 31	F..... Buckhorn	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F..... Rawls	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S..... Bradley	8 00	4 06
10 18	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	..... Lillington	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS.
President and Gen. Manager.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM

OPERATES

Double Daily Trains

Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).

Electric Lighted Throughout

BETWEEN

Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City

AND TO ALL POINTS IN

Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories

AND THE

Far West and Northwest.

THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.

ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP

Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to

F. E. CLARK, TRAV. PASS'R AGT., ATLANTA, GA.

S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

The June McClure's.

Genuine, gripping readableness is the marked quality of the June McClure's. This is supplied by a lot of high grade summer fiction covering a wide diversity of places and things, together with a number of live, vital articles, and some significant editorial comment.

Ida M. Tarbell describes the twenty years' strugle of the independent oil men for commercial life in this instalment of her "History of the Standard Oil Company." It is a powerful narrative of a giant combat, of the greatest commercial war in history, and it sweeps the reader along like a romance. Miss Tarbell has now reached the time and the incidents in her history of the deepest present interest. Another article of mixed fiction, truth, and satire which reduces some of the methods of high finance to their last analysis, is called "The Inoculation of Mr. Skads." In it John McAuley Palmer a teacher in economics at West Point, keenly probes some of the sore spots in modern business in a manner highly humorous, yet drawn so close to the line of life and fact that it presents a real as well as entertaining picture.

"The Peril of the Icebergs," by P. T. McGrath, describes at first hand from a life on "the grand banks," makes cool and refreshing June reading, if somewhat depressing for ocean travelers. Samuel Hopkins Adams tells the life story of Dan Cunningham, United States Deputy Marshal, whose strenuous years have been full of more hazardous adventures, thrilling incidents and heroic deeds than an historical novel.

"Starts to work with the first dose." Let Rheumacide begin today the campaign against disease in your body. At all druggists.

NORFOLK EXCURSION.

The Seaboard Excursion to Norfolk, Va., and return for $2.50, June 8th, will take a large crowd from Raleigh and Durham, for the train will be high-class, carrying vestibule coaches. Refreshment car, and will maintain a fast schedule. Plenty of coaches will be provided to give everybody a seat. Train leaves Raleigh at 10.30 a. m., Durham at 10 a. m., returning leaves Portsmouth at 10 a. m. Friday, June 10th.

..California...

Knight Templars—Odd Fellows

The Last Opportunity of the Season.

Beginning August 15th and continuing daily to September 9th round-trip tickets will be sold account of the above conventions from all points in the Southeast to either Los Angeles or San Francisco at extremely low rates, with final return limit October 23rd.

Tickets will permit of ten days stop-over at St. Louis and allow holder privilege of going one route and returning another without additional cost, except that tickets returning via Portland an additional charge of $11.00 will be made.

The Frisco-Rock Island Systems offer excellent routes in either direction.

Write for rates, descriptive literature and full information, and let us plan your trip.

S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

CONSUMED BY A FIRE THAT WATER WILL NOT QUENCH

Eczema drives its victim almost to the verge of distraction by its intolerable itching, stinging and burning. It seems to set the skin on fire, and the tormented sufferer rubs and scratches till the flesh is raw and the skin is torn and bleeds. Nothing applied externally does much good, for the disease is internal; the blood is aflame with acid poisons, that are forcing their way through the glands and pores of the skin, causing it to redden and swell and break out in splotches, pustules and pimples, from which a clear, yellow, watery matter exudes, hardens and dries, and then peels off in scales or fine particles like bran. Eczema kindles a fire that water will not quench, and that lotions, salves, powders and soap cannot smother. As warm weather comes on and the system is reacting and the blood making extra efforts to throw off the accumulated poisons, Eczema attacks with redoubled violence, and the sufferer is almost distracted by the fearful itching and burning. It is the most uncomfortable and aggravating of all skin eruptions and a terror in warm weather.

Local remedies give temporary ease, but as Eczema is not due to outside causes, but to a disordered condition of the system and an over-acid and impure blood, the treatment must be constitutional, or internal. Purify the blood and the skin disease will disappear. No better blood remedy can be found than S. S. S. It builds up the sour and acid blood, rids it of all impurities and poison, stimulates the sluggish organs, and invigorates and tones up the entire system; and as all skin eruptions like Eczema are only symptoms or signs of bad blood, they naturally disappear when that vital fluid is again restored to health.

ECZEMA KEPT SPREADING.

Six years ago my wife had a breaking-out below her knees. At first red bumps appeared, but soon white, husky scabs came, and when these would shed off the place became red again, and would itch and burn so that she found it impossible to sleep. At times a yellow water ran from the bumps, and it kept getting worse and worse. Our family physician pronounced it Eczema, and prescribed ointments and powders; but it kept spreading, breaking out on her body and arms, and almost closed up her ears. The druggist at Garner told me to try S. S. S., which she did, and after taking several bottles was cured, and is well to-day and has been for years.

Garner, N. C. W. A. HOGUTT.

SSS

S. S. S. is guaranteed strictly vegetable. It is not only a blood purifier, but a splendid tonic and appetizer, making it an ideal spring medicine. Treat Eczema through the blood, or you will never get permanently rid of it. Write for our book on the Skin and its Diseases, which is mailed free Medical advice furnished without cost to you.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE ONLY "FRATERNAL" HOTEL ON THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS IS THE

Fraternal Home Hotel

Clayton Road, 2 blocks West of Skinner Road.

Endorsed by the Leading Fraternities.

100 yards from Main South Entrance to the World's Fair. Take Market Street Car Line from Union Station to Terminus (West End Heights), walk one block West to the to the top of the Hill. Under the control of the Exposition Management as to Safe Methods of Construction and Uniform Fixed Rates.

IT IS AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT—Every room an outside room. Away from all the noise of railroads and street cars. A quiet, homelike place. Pure filtered water. Electrically lighted. Window Screens for every room. A Special Low Rate of $1.00 per day per person to all parties who write and mention this paper during this month. Send $1.00 for Certificate of Credit. This secures your reservation in advance. The balance is paid on arrival at the hotel. The low rate of One Dollar per day does not include meals. Meals 50 cents. Also a la carte service at moderate prices. All rooms accommodate two persons (separate beds if desired). New Building—New Furniture. A thoroughly Up-to-date Hotel —Extra precaution taken to prevent fire—Free telephone service.

As only a limited number of Certificates of Credit will be issued, and as they are going fast, do not delay in writing for them. Send for descriptive circular and rates for rooms en suite, with private bath.

Fraternal Home Hotel Co.,
Dept. A., Downtown Office, Second Floor, 720-722 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

THE

Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association

Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds

Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : : :

Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pulton Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

A. D. JONES & CO

Southern Factory Distributors for the World's Famous

KIMBALL

WE Loan you the money to buy them.

WE Give free trials.

WE Pay the freight.

WE Save you 25 per cent.

WE Add nothing to the principal when sold on

EASY PAYMENTS.

Write for our latest piano and and organ catalogue and full particulars.

A. D. JONES & CO.,
205 South Elm Street,
GREENSBORO, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1 25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED SALT BRICK,

The Greatest Stock Remedy Known.

As a tonic, blood purifier, liver and kidney regulator and aider of digestion, it has no equal.

No dosing, drenching or mixing with feed. Every animal his own doctor. Always in place and ready for use. Thousands endorse its wonderful merits. If your dealer does not handle it, enclose us $1 for trial sample of four bricks sent by express prepaid. Fully guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For further particulars write for full descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc. Special prices to dealers.

Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Sole Mfrs., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order. or Registered letter.

Donations in Kind up to May 27.

W. H. M. S., Fremont, box clothes; Main St. Durham Aid Society, box clothes; Messrs. C. C. Covington & Co., Wilmington, barrel molasses; Mrs. L. L. Smith, barrel meal; W. H. M. S., Warrenton, box clothes; Epworth League, Edenton St. Church, Raleigh, clothes for little boy; W. H. M. S., Weldon, box clothes; Mrs. Georgia Porter, Enfield, box clothes; Mrs. Worth's class, Edenton Street Church, clothes for little girl; Mrs. Ivan Proctor's class, clothes for little girl; W. H. M. S., Elizabeth City, box clothes; W. H. M. S., Smithfield, for clothes, $5.00; Pugh, Baum & Co., barrel fish; from unknown friend, four barrels fish; from unknown friend, barrel sweet potatoes; E. B. Moore, box fresh fish; Mr. Bledsoe and wife, shoulder of bacon.

As the Times Go By.

Our violets—wild ones—are in full bloom. I never saw anything to beat them. Come boys and girls—good ones—gather them in pairs.

We are through planting Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes are bedded. Not a soul gave us a seed potato of either kind. And my, they are so high. Never mind these farmer friends have a chance yet to give us some cow peas, as Prof. Massey calls them. We call them cornfield peas. They are just like potatoes in one respect.

Thanks for butter from sister C. R. Saunders, of Smithfield, N. C. Prospect of the money crop improving.

Fish has come since our last notice. Bros. Pugh, Baum & Co., one barrel; unknown friends, four barrels; Bro. E. B. Moore, a box—all freight paid, or dead-headed. That is so nice. It saves so much.

Our garden is doing nicely. Peas, salad onions, cabbages. A great time at our house.

Quarterly Meetings.

WARRENTON DISTRICT.
G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

THIRD ROUND.
Enfield and Halifax, Enfield, June 19, 20
Warrenton, Hebron, June 25, 26
Littleton, Bethel, July 2, 3
Northampton, Pleasant Grove, July 5
Conway, Sharon, July 6
Murfreesboro, July 7
Bertie, White Oak, July 9, 10
Harrellsville, Colrano, July 10, 11
Hobgood, Hyworth, July 15
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, July 16, 17
Scotland Neck, July 18
Roanoke Circuit, New Hope, 23, 24
Roanoke Rapids, July 23, 24
Rich Square, Woodland, July 31

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
New River, Sneed's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.
John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.
THIRD ROUND—IN PART.
Rockingham Station, June 4, 5
Robersiel Circuit, Mt. Pleasant, June 11, 12
Hamlet Circuit, Sneed's Grove, June 18, 19
Richmond Circuit, St. Paul, June 25, 26
Laurenburg Station, July 3, 4
Rowland Circuit, Oak Grove, July 9, 10
Robeson Circuit, Olivet, July 16, 17
St John and Gibson, Gibson, July 23, 24

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.
J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N C.
THIRD ROUND.
Pasquotank Ct., Union, June 11, 12
Elizabeth City, City Road, June 12
Hertford Ct., Evans, June 18, 19
Edenton, at night, June 19
Kennekeet, (C. M.) June 21, 26
Hatteras, June 27
Roanoke Island, July 3, 4
Perquimans, Bethany, July 9, 10
Gates, Philadelphia, (D. C.) July 13, 17
North Gates, Parker's, July 17, 18
Camden, Newlands, July 23, 24
Elizabeth City (First Church), night, July 24
Moyock, Concord, July 30, 31
Currituck, Mt. Zion, Aug 6, 7
Kitty Hawk, Aug 7, 8
Columbia, Aug 13, 14
Dare, Aug 14, 15
Pantego and Belhaven, Aug 20, 21
Roper, Pleasant Grove, Aug 27, 28
Plymouth, Aug 28, 29

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Central, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Keely, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 7
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5
THIRD ROUND.
South Edgecombe, Sandy Cross, June 11, 12
Wilson Circuit, Barnfoots, June 18, 19
Wilson Station, night, June 19
Fremont, Yelverton, June 25, 26
South Rocky Mount, night, June 29
Bath, Bethany, July 2, 3
Washington, night, July 4
Robersonville, Jamesville, July 9, 10
Rocky Mount, night, July 13
Swan Quarter, Stateville, July 16, 17
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, July 19
Mattamuskeet, Mt. Pleasant, July 21
Fairfield, July 23, 24
Farmville, Long, July 30, 31
Nashville, Bethel, August 6, 7
Springhope, Gold Valley, August 8
Bethel, Conetoe, August 13, 14
Tarboro, night, August 14
Grimesland & Vanceboro, Providence, Aug 20, 21
Greenville, night, Aug 22
Aurora, Campbell's Creek, Aug 27, 28

NEW BERN DISTRICT.
F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
St. John, June 3
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12
THIRD ROUND.
Mt. Olive, at Faison, June 18, 19
Goldsboro Circuit, Pine Forest, June 25, 26
St. Paul, 26
District Conference, Beaufort, June 30 July 3
Jones Circuit, Shady Grove, July 9, 10
Kinston, July 10
Craven Circuit, Beech Grove, July 16, 17
Centenary, New Bern, July 17

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Fayetteville Circuit, Camp Ground, June 4, 5
Hope Mills, Fishers, June 11, 12
Cokesbury, Tabor, June 18, 19
Dunn Station, June 25, 26
Haw River, Ebenezer, July 2, 3
Carthage, Ingram Branch, July 8, 10
Elise, Mt. Carmel, July 9, 10
Siler City, Mt. Vernon, July 16, 17
Jonesboro, (District Conference), July 23, 24
Pittsboro, Chatham, July 30, 31
Lillington, Cool Springs, August 6, 7
Buckhorn, Harnett Chapel, August 13, 14
Sanford, Lemon Springs, August 20, 21
Goldstone, Marcuryx, August 27, 28
Newton Grove, September 3, 4
Duke, September 10, 11
Sampson, September 17, 18
Fayetteville, Hay Street, September 24, 25

DURHAM DISTRICT.
J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham, Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night
Milton, Providence, June 25, 26
Hillsboro, Walnutt Grove, July 2, 3
Leasburg, Union, July 9, 10
Chapel Hill, July 16, 17
Yanceyville Prospect, July 23, 24
Alamance, Clover Gardeu, August 6, 7
Burlington, Prospect, August 13, 14
Burlington Station, August 21, 22
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, at Haw River, August 27, 28
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, September 3, 4

Positions. High-grade commercial, positions of all kinds procured everywhere; office connections in all principal cities, and our facilities for thorough service are unsurpassed; we guarantee the position in every case.

If you desire a position or better salary, send us $1.00 for registration fee and let us place you.

Union Bureau of Registration,
Temple Court Building, Atlanta, Ga.

DEAR MADAM: Please Read My Free Offer

Words of Wisdom to Sufferers from a Lady of Notre Dame, Indiana.

I send free of charge to every sufferer this great Woman Remedy, with full instructions, description of my past sufferings and how I permanently cured myself.

You Can Cure Yourself at Home Without the Aid of a Physician.

It costs nothing to try this remedy once, and if you desire to continue its use, it will cost you only twelve cents a week. It does not interfere with your work or occupation. I have nothing to sell. Tell other sufferers of it; that is all I ask. It cures everybody, young or old.

If you feel bearing down pains as from approaching danger, pain in the back and bowels, creeping feeling in the spine, a desire to cry, hot flashes and faintness, or if you are suffering from any so-called female complaint, then write to Mrs. M. Summers, Notre Dame, Ind., for her free treatment and full instructions. Like myself thousands have been cured by it. I send it in a plain envelope.

Mothers and Daughters will learn of a simple family remedy, which quickly and thoroughly cures female complaints of every nature. It saves worry and expense and the unpleasantness of having to reveal your condition to others. Vigor, health and happiness result from its use.

Wherever you live I can refer you to well-known ladies in your neighborhood, who know and will testify that this family remedy cures all troubles peculiar to their sex, strengthens the whole system and makes healthy and strong women. Write to-day, as this offer may not be made again.

MRS. M. SUMMERS, BOX 233, NOTRE DAME, IND., U. S. A.

Infants and Children's Wear. Special Prices

White Lawn Cap, 19cts. Worth 25cts.
Two styles, one corded with dainty embroidery around the face, the other with hemstitched tucks. 19cts.

White Lawn Dresses, $1.00 Worth $1.25.
Russian styles, long waist, with hemstitch tucks, ruffles over shoulders, front trimmed with small pearl buttons. Full skirt with hemstitched tucks and hem. $1.00.

Gingham and Chambray Dresses 89c.
Amoskeag Gingham and Chambray for children between five and twelve years. Russian style, long waist, trimmed in fancy braid and White Pique. Bretelles over shoulders. 89cts.

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

Normal and Collegiate Institute FOR Young Women,

FALL TERM opens September 21, 1904. ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA.

1. A Normal course for thorough training of teachers under instructors from best normal schools.
2. A Commercial Course, including Stenography, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, etc.
3. A Course of Domestic Science, including (a) Scientific Cooking, (b) Draughting, Cutting, Fitting, and Making of Garments.
4. An admirable Musical Department has been provided under trained and experienced teachers.
5. Systematic study of the Bible in all Departments.
6. Terms for Board and Tuition in any of the Departments, $50 per term, or $100 per year.

For Catalogue, address REV. THOMAS LAWRENCE, D. D., ASHEVILLE, N. C.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,

"From The Uncivil War to Date."

The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death.

Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2.

Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.

HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ' GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE

Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.

If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Express Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for booklet. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS

ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for

MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by

Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

Dropsy CURED

Gives Quick Relief.

Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box. g Atlanta, Ga.

$2.50 TO NORFOLK, VA., AND RETURN,

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1904,
VIA
SEABOARD AIR LINE RWY.
FROM Raleigh and Durham
AND INTERMEDIATE STATIONS.

Leave Raleigh at 10.30 a. m.; Durham, 10.00 a. m., Wednesday, June 8th. Returning, leave Portsmouth 10.00 a. m., Friday, June 10th.

Fast Schedule.
Vestibule Coaches.
Refreshment Car.

Coaches for Ladies and their escorts. Separate Coaches for White and Colored.

For information, apply to
S. H. REAVES, Agt., C. H. GATTIS, G.P.A. Durham, N. C. Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue, address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Marriages

ROPER—ROGERSON.—At the residence of the brides, near Weeksville, N. C., on the 29th of March, 1904, Mr. Caleb Roper to Miss Minnie Rogerson, Rev. W. F. Jones officiating.

SHAEFER — LE GWYNN.—In Fifth Street Methodist Church, Wilmington, N. C., April 27, 1904, Mr. Wm. H. Shaefer and Miss Katie Hall Le Gwynn, Rev. A. McCullen officiating.

HOWARD—O'NEAL.—In the M. E. Church, South, Ocracoke, N. C., April 13, 1904, Mr. Halton H. Howard and Miss Chloan O'Neal, both of Ocracoke, R. R. Grant officiating, residence of the bride, near Weeks-

Obituaries

Obituaries containng not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

ELLISON.—God in His all-wise providence has again visited our church and called from earth to heaven the soul of our sister, C. Isabella Ellison.

Sister Ellison had been a faithful member of our church for a long time, having been converted and joined the church in her girlhood.

Her place in her home and her church cannot be filled as she filled it. We all miss her, for she lived her religion, and by her godly walk and conversation drew everybody to her. She laid down the cross here and wears the crown in glory.

Her children rise up and call her blessed. May they follow her as she followed Christ.

T. H. SUTTON.

JONES.—Mrs. Ida B. Jones (nee Hunter) was born June 20, 1873, and died March 18, 1904, at her home, Forkade, N. C. It was my privilege to be her pastor for three years, 1897 to 1900 inclusive, and in all my ministry I have never served one who was more faithful to God, to the church, and to her pastor, than she was. Converted in childhood, and making a complete consecration of herself to God in young womanhood, her life was one of unfeigned love, of boundless charity, of almost endless patience, and sweetness that endeared her to everybody. In December, 1899, she was happily married to Bro. J. C. Jones, by this writer. To them was born one child, a bright little boy, who, with father, survives wife and mother. She died as she lived triumphantly, trutsing in Jesus.

We miss thee from our home Ila,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

ANDREW J. GROVES.
Cypress Creek, N. C., April 11, 1904.

OGLESBY.—Levi T. Oglesby was born 1818 and died November 4, 1903, age eighty-five years.

He leaves a wife and four children —Mr. Irvin Oglesby, Mrs. Jas. Boon, Mrs. Alex. Dennis, of Wildwood, N. C. and Mr. Dave Oglesby, of New Jersey; also grand-children, great-grand-children, relatives and a host of friends who loved him for his true worth.

He was honored by his church and State. He held public office at the age of twenty-two, and till late in life, when age and feeble health prevented it. He was the first Democratic Representative—but one—from Carteret County, serving his State during 1852-1858.

He was director of the A and N. C. R. R. for years, and held State's proxy.

He joined the church in 1844, under the ministry of Rev. Henry Gray. He was a man of few words and very unassuming.

His son said of him: "There was more religion in one of his short prayers than in many sermons for him. He never knew him to do a bad act."

Truly a "father in Israel" has left us. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord. Surely he could say at the end of his earthly pilgrimage: "I am ready; temporal affairs adjusted, and spiritual vision without a cloud."

God grant a reunion of all his loved ones.

"The gates of life swing either way.
On noiseless hinges night and day
One enters through the open door,
One leaves us to return no more."

J. H. M. GILES, Pastor.

ADAMS.—Mrs. Mary Adams was born in Northampton County, N. C., February 17, 1830, and died at her residence in Wilson, N. C., January 8, 1904.

Mrs. Adams was a daughter of Daniel L. and Martha A. Ellis. They were strong-minded, intellectual, cultivated people, and bequeathed to this daughter an abundant share of these gifts, of which she made, perhaps, the best use during a long life.

She found peace with God at eight years of age, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at once, and lived a pious and useful life, adorning the Christian faith for sixty-six years.

In her young womanhood she was educated at Buckingham College in Virginia. In head and heart she was a credit to any college.

In 1853, she was married to Prof. E. W. Adams, a teacher of no small note, and at once entered the schoolroom with him, where she displayed great gifts and ability both for teaching force and governing power. The influence of her sweet spirit is felt in many young lives till to-day. She was a many-sided woman.

After teaching in Wilson Seminary for several years, her husband accepted the presidency of the Goldsboro College in which Mrs. Adams sustained, even increased, her already fine reputation for moral and mental discipline.

Sister Adams believed in God. She had repented of sin, rested her faith in God on Christ, experienced a decided change of heart, had a renewed nature, and was, therefore, a real scriptural Christian. Her life among her neighbors was beautiful, her influence strong and far-reaching, and her example always the best. Many were the expressions of deep personal loss when it was said Sister Adams is dead.

She never proved untrue to her church vows. She was a Christian first, then a Methodist, and the light of her life did not go out when death claimed her body, but shines on more and more. There are many who stand by the sod that enwraps her clay, and declare that "there lies a good woman."

She leaves one son, two daughters and other relatives to enjoy the heritage of a triumphant faith and a glorious life.

May her children and grand-children follow her pious example and imitate her holy life!

ANDREW P. TYER.

JACKSON.—Mrs. Mary Jackson, daughter of John and Bethania Cheek, was born in Moore County, N. C., October 12, 1834, and died in Carthage, April 8, 1904, in her seventieth year. She survived her husband, John C. Jackson, about sixteen years. Of their eight children only three are now living, namely, W. K. Jackson and Mrs. T. H. Harrington, of Carthage, and John C. Jackson, of Fayetteville.

When some twenty years old she was soundly converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in which she was stedfast and faithful until death. With an intense consciousness of God's saving grace, she heartily enjoyed the rich experience of the Christian religion. Whatever she did was done heartily as unto the Lord. In the days of the camp meeting she was, in her tent and in the worship and service of God, one of the most liberal and enthusiastic supporters. In all the meetings and all the interests of her beloved church in the visits of her pastor, whoever he might be, for her church paper she never ceased to feel and show this same warm interest. Her cordial Christian hospitality was unexcelled. Her whole life was lit with the flame of love. In her devotion to her family she was absolutely forgetful of herself. In like manner she showed her love for God, for all that is good, for everybody. It is not strange therefore that sometimes in a season of grace, with merry heart and musical voice, she would pour out praises to God from a cup ever held up for God to fill. In response to the call from the needy and suffering her generous spirit could know no bounds. She was candid, pure of purpose, always understood. She never made an enemy nor lost a friend. She trained her children and grandchildren in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Those who preceded her were doubtless waiting and watching. Those who survive her rise up to call her blessed. She left a recorded request that not one fail to meet her in heaven.

The life of this dear sister-mother was marked with much of affliction and trial as well as bodily suffering. The repeated shocks of sad and sudden death among her loved ones seemed sometimes sufficient to crush life from body and spirit, yet, by divine grace, like the bruised flower, she gave only the increased fragrance of abiding trust and perfect resignation.

She would not murmur nor complain
Beneath the chastening rod,
But in the hour of grief and pain
She leaned upon her God.

One of her last expressions, treasured as a fond recollection by this writer, was: "My many sufferings have made me love my blessed Savior more."

She was triumphant in trouble. Over death she gained the victory before he came. To her he had no power to sting. She prayed for his approach. When she felt she had fought her fight and finished her course she looked to the crown of rejoicing and longed to receive it. Her form and face have passed away, her voice is hushed. Yet her whole life we hold embalmed in precious memory. We sorrow in our loss, we rejoice in her everlasting deliverance, and thank God for every remembrance of her. We shall meet again.

"That cheerful voice whose joyous tones
Made glad the scenes of sin and strife,
Sings now an everlasting song
Around the tree of life."

W. F. CRAVEN.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God, the wisdom and graciousness of whose purposes and plans and providences we do not doubt, has called to Himself our tenderly beloved sister, Mrs. Mary Jackson, who, for several years, was a most faithful member of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Carthage M. E. Church, South; therefore be it Resolved 1. That while we humbly and cheerfully submit to God's will, we keenly feel the great loss our Society has sustained in her death; for all interests had in her a most loyal and cordial supporter even during years of affliction.

2. That the sweet influences of her consistent Christian life shall be to us a rich heritage, and shall be conserved in the increasing devotion and enlarging sacrifices of our own lives.

3. That we hereby express for the sorely bereaved family our most sincere condolence, and assure them that it is our fervent prayer that they too may be faithful unto death.

MRS. S. H. HUMBER,
MRS. BETTIE A. STUART,
MRS. R. H. BROOM,
Committee.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our friend, Miss Laura Stokes; therefore be it resolved by the scholars of Powellsville Sunday-school:

1. That in the death of Laura we have lost an earnest worker and a faithful friend.

2. That while we bow in humble submission to the will of an all-wise providence, we feel deeply our loss and mourn the death of our companion.

3. That we extend to the heart-broken family our deepest sympathy and most earnest prayers in this their hour of affliction.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and published in the Advocate, and a page of our Sunday-school record be inscribed to her memory.

LAURA SESSOMS,
TINY HOLLOWMAN,
SADIE BRITTON,
RUTH PARKER,
Committee.

GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE.

BEGINS WORK with the first dose, cleansing the blood of all the poisonous acids that produce RHEUMATISM, driving out all the dangerous germs that infest the body—that is the way cures are effected by

Rheumacide

Other medicines treat symptoms; Rheumacide removes the cause, and, therefore, its

CURES ARE PERMANENT.

Helps the digestion, tones up the system. Sample bottle free on application to BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., Proprietors, 316 West Lombard St., Baltimore, Md.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct coanections.

SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application.

SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS

On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Special accommodations arranged for parties.

USE THE C. & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address

W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

Echols Piedmont Concentrated
Iron and Alum Water
IS A PROVEN REMEDY FOR ALL
CHRONIC DISEASES.

It is so concentrated that the greatest quantity of beneficial minerals enter the system in less time and at less expense than can be accomplished under any method of treatment. One teaspoonful in water is a dose. All druggists sell this water at 50c. for 8 oz. bottle; $1.00 for an 18 oz. bottle.

PREPARED BY
J. M. Echols Co., Lynchburg, Va.

11 Professors 17 Instructors. MEDICAL STUDENTS Write for Free Catalogue of the Medical Department, University of Nashville. Founded in 1850. Graduates 4,400.

Curriculum includes twenty-three lecture courses, each followed by a thorough review quiz; seven laboratory courses, and three hours of hospital work daily. New building elaborately equipped with modern apparatus and appliances. Expenses moderate. Address J. Dillard Jacobs, M. D., Secretary, 65 South Market St., Nashville, Tenn.

Southern Girl SHOES.
THE BEST SHOE IN AMERICA FOR $2.00

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE
IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM, A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.
CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.
LEADING SHOE MANUFACTURERS OF THE SOUTH.
LYNCHBURG — VA.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs. Plants of all kinds.
PHONE 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

STATEMENT

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore, Maryland.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Amount of capital paid up in cash.....$1,700,000.00
Amount of ledger assets December 31st of previous year, $2,497,814.71; increase during year, $49,100.00; surplus paid in $16,393.50; total 2,563,308.21
Income—From policy-holders, $1,836,823.09; miscellaneous, $198,361.70; total 2,035,184.79
Burglary, $329,148.04; fidelity and surety, $1,507,675.05.
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $688,259.22; miscellaneous, $1,249,925.18; total 1,936,184.40
Burglary, $114,155.35; fidelity and surety, $574,103.87.
Premiums written or renewed during the year—Burglary, $451,426.76; fidelity and surety, $1,806,700.00.
Premiums in force at end of year.—Burglary, $394,492.17; fidelity and surety, $1,566,256.46.

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$445,611.92
Mortgage loans on real estate	22,650.00
Loans secured by stocks, bonds and other security	23,535.00
Value of bonds and stocks	1,890,523.80
Interest and rents due and accrued.....	24,719.08
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	257,183.45
Premiums unpaid	405,357.44
Advanced account contract secured.....	155,730.45
All other assets, detailed in statement	42,262.50
Total admitted assets	3,270,573.62

LIABILITIES.

Unpaid policy claims	$116,813.46
Unearned premiums	984,158.48
Ledger liabilities	82,902.26
Commissions, brokerage and other charges due	85,755.06
Estimated expenses of unpaid claims.....	5,000.00
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,274,629.26
Capital paid up in cash	1,700,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	295,944.36
Total liabilities	3,270,573.62

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Burglary.—Premiums received, $699.98; losses paid $390.00; losses incurred, $390.00.

Fidelity and Surety.—Premiums received, $18,092.97; losses incurred, $820.45.

Totals.—Premiums received, $18,792.95; losses paid, $390.00; losses incurred, $1,210.45.

President, John R. Bland; Secretary, Geo. R. Callis.
Home office, No. 20 S. Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md.
General Agent for service, John L. Randelman, Salisbury, N. C.
Business manager for North Carolina, managed from home office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 15, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the United States Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Baltimore, Md., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
MAY 9 and 23. 1904

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip rates to St. Louis. These tickets w... be good in regular and Special Through Coaches. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Asheville, N. C.
Charlotte, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager. W. H. Taylor, Gen. Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS' REUNION, NASHVILLE, TENN., JUNE 14-16, 1904.

For above occasion the Southern Railway will sell tickets to Nashville, Tenn., and return at rates named below: Goldsboro, $13.55, Selma $13.15, Raleigh $12.60, Durham $12.05, Henderson $15.00, Greensboro $10.95, Salisbury $9.95, Winston-Salem $10.55, Hickory $8.80, Charlotte $10.10, Gastonia $9.65, Shelby $9.10. Approximately low rates from other points. Tickets sold June 10 to 15, 1904, inclusive, with final limit to leave Nashville, June 18, 1904; provided tickets are officially stamped by Joseph Richardson, Special Agent.

Tickets can be extended until July 10, 1904, if deposited by original purchaser with Joseph Richardson, Special Agent, at Nashville, between hours of 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., June 10 to 18, inclusive, and upon payment of a fee of 50 cents per ticket.

Gen. J. S. Carr has selected the Southern Railway via Asheville, Knoxville, and Chattanooga, as the official route for his annual "Confederate Veterans Special," which will consist of first-class day coaches, and standard Pullman cars, to be handled through to Nashville, Tenn., without change. This special train will leave Raleigh, N. C., at 3.25 p. m., Sunday, June 12, 1904. Berth rate from Raleigh $4.50, Durham $4.50, Greensboro $3.50, Salisbury $3.50, Asheville $2.50. Two persons can occupy a berth without additional cost. Excellent service on regular trains in both directions. Ask your agent for rates from your station. For further information and sleeping car reservations, write

R. L. VERNON, T. P. A.,
Charlotte, N. C.

AND THE FIRST SHALL BE LAST, AND THE LAST SHALL BE FIRST.

My child had some trouble on his head which the doctor said was scrofulous in its nature. A sore came on his neck first, causing it to badly swell. I finally had it lanced and the sore healed, but broke out again and I had to have it lanced the second time. The scalp of his head on top became scaly and the hair would shed; we could pull it out in bunches. We thought it was scald head and put a tar cap on him, but it did no good. Friends advised us to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, but I wanted to try the best first and put him under the doctor's treatment. Neither did the doctor's treatment do him any good. He was in this condition for two years and nothing did him any good. Then I concluded to try Mrs. Person's Remedy. After he had taken the second bottle I could see he was mending and five bottles of the Remedy and one Wash package cured him. He has been well ever since, has a good healthy head of hair, and there has been no sign of the trouble since he was cured two years ago.

H. D. FOUSHEE.
Roxboro, N. C., Sept. 1, 1902.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

One Fare Plus $2.00

FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

Tickets on sale every Wednesday and Saturday. Return limit, sixty days.

The Frisco System in connection with the Rock Island System from Memphis offers the best route.

Write for literature and full particulars.

S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..

Lisle and Silk IN ALL THE NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete.

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or White..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
Raleigh, N. C.

We Are Now Beginning ... Our ... SUMMER

"CLEAN UP"

SALES.

1-3 off the regular prices on a special lot of Dress Goods, Voiles, Batistes, Canvas, etc.

Special Reductions in fancy silks—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c. per yard. Splendid for Shirt Waist Suits and short dressy dresses.

1-2 off regular prices on a special lot of white goods wash stuffs, suitable for shirt waist dresses.

WE WILL MAIL SAMPLES.

DOBBIN & FERRALL
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED. May pay tuition out of salary after course is completed and position is secured. Indorsed by business men from Maine to California. For 160-page catalog, address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres., either place,

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS Colleges

Columbia, S. C. Nashville, Tenn.

Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Ft. Worth, Texas; Oklahoma City, O. T.; Galveston, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Ft. Scott, Kans.; Shreveport, La.; St. Louis, Mo.; Kansas City, Mo. After July 1st, 1904.

Incorporated. $300,000.00 capital. Established 1869. 14 bankers on board of directors. National reputation. Our diploma represents in business circles what Yale's and Harvard's represent in literary circles. No vacation; enter any time. Part car fare paid; cheap board. Write to-day.

HOME STUDY. BOOKKEEPING, SHORTHAND, PENMANSHIP, etc., taught by mail. Money refunded if not satisfied with course. Write for prices of home study courses.

The Princess Anne Hotel,

Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer, or vacation. One hundred feet from the ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to

Jas. S. Groves,
President and Manager,
Virginia Beach, Va.

King's Business College

(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?

IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.

RADIA

WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.

Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. B.)

STATEMENT

The Continental Insurance Company,

OF NEW YORK.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Capital paid up in cash	$1,000,000.00
Amount ledger assets Dec. 31st, previous year	13,150,369.08
Income—From policy-holders, $5,862,665.61; miscellaneous, $864,084.39; total	6,726,749.99
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $2,680,112.31; miscellaneous, $2,488,344.69; total	5,168,457.00
Fire Risks—Written or renewed during year $661,320,652
In force	1,035,395,861.00

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$1,113,000.00
Mortgage loans on real estate	32,150.00
Book value of bonds and stocks	11,460,530.14
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	808,503.53
Agents' balance, representing business written subsequent to October 1, 1903	770,039.28
Agents' balances, representing business written prior to October 1, 1903	96,585.31
Interest and rents due and accrued	85,431.24
Bills receivable taken for fire risks	427,853.81
Total	14,794,093.31
Less assets, not admitted	601,915.68
Total admitted assets	14,192,177.63

LIABILITIES.

Losses and claims unpaid	$464,893.23
Unearned premiums	5,646,444.36
All other liabilities as detailed in statement	517,441.51
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	6,628,749.10
Capital paid up in cash	1,000,000.00
Surplus	6,563,428.53
Total liabilities	14,192,177.63

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Fire risks written, $1,929,981.00; premiums received, $31,081.73.
Losses incurred—Fire, $22,246.41; paid, $18,781.56.
Losses now unpaid, $7,183.47.
President, Henry Evans; Secretaries, J. E. Lopez, E. L. Ballard.
Home office, No. 46 Cedar Street, New York, N. Y.
General Agent for service, C. J. Hunter, Raleigh, N. C.
Business Manager for North Carolina, E. W. Grigg, Petersburg, Va.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, February 12, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the Continental Insurance Company, of New York, filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of Dec. 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

Christian Endeavor Hotel,

WORLD'S FAIR OFFICIALS

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOTEL, World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo.

Headquarters for Christian people Located 100 feet from gate to Fair Grounds. Street cars direct from Union Station. Built for safety and comfort. Capacity 3,000 guests daily. Backed by men of highest standing and endorsed by World's Fair Officials. Thousands of representative people from all sections of the country have already engaged accommodations. Rates arranged in advance $1.00 and $2.00 per day. Send for booklet giving full particulars. Tell your friends about it. Address at once

Christian Endeavor Hotel and Auditorium Company,

St. Louis, Missouri.

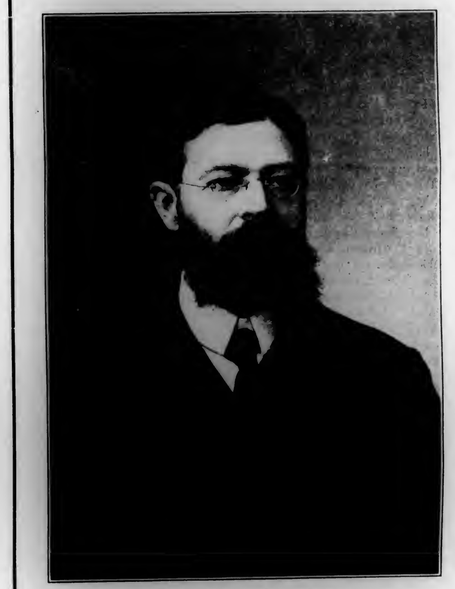
When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

LIBRARY ... NO. CAR...
Duplicate Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

Organ of the North Carolina Conference

Fiftieth Year | RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1904. | Number 19.



PRESIDENT WM. DEWITT HYDE,
BOWDOIN COLLEGE, BRUNSWICK, MAINE.

GATCHELL MANNING PRINTERS

Contributions

Faith.

There are some who lift
Their hearts to God in prayer,
And tell Him what they want,
Yet still their burdens bear.

And there are hearts that make
Loud cries before His throne,
That He will keep them day by day,
Yet walk their way alone.

There are some hearts that feel,
That God hath heard their prayer,
Because the days are glad,
And sunshine everywhere.

But O there are some hearts,
Who further go than this,
Who trust Him, when the days are drear,
And life seems all amiss.

Who, in each darksome night,
Still trust Him, and hope on,
And look for sunshine, while it rains,
And heavy clouds roll on.

Who ask with faith sublime,
Although they can not see
The slightest token that He hears,
Still unto God they flee.

And day by day they call,
And trust Him still, and wait,
And know the Father heareth them,
O such a faith is great!

MRS. E. M. ANDERSON.

Durham, N. C.

About Two Prayers.

BY REV. S. A. WEBER.

It is interesting and instructive, and may be helpful, to study, in their mutual and common connections, two comprehensive and deeply spiritual prayers of the Apostle Paul: one which he made for the Thessalonians (I. Thess. 5:23), and another which he made ten years later for the church at Ephesus (Eph. 3:16-19). Take the first, "the very God of peace sanctify you wholly, ... your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ." Now this is a most remarkable prayer, covering the entire scope of personal sanctification. One stands confused and bewildered in the presence of its implied spiritual possibilities. To be sanctified wholly (through and through); to be preserved blameless in spirit, soul and body till the coming of Christ,—certainly this is a wonderful prayer. Keeping this in view, what a relief it is, realizing our limitations, to turn to the gracious and ample means for the fulfillment of the prayer as suggested in the verse following it: "Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it." Herein is our comfort and help, namely, that he who calls us to these high attainments and privileges, is pledged by his word of promise to do for us and in us what we can't do for ourselves without his gracious co-operation. And then the second prayer, in which the Apostle prays for the Ephesian Church, among other things, that they might be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge and that they might be filled with all the fulness of God. It is hard to conceive how language could express more. There is nothing in the way of analogy or figure either to simplify or intensify the meaning here. Taking the grand climacteric of the prayer: to be filled with God, to be filled with the fulness of God, to be filled with all the fulness of God (Adam Clarke),—how happy the privilege and opportunity to turn to the doxology (verses 20 and 21) that follows: "Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen."

And so the glory of our salvation from its initial stages to its ultimate consummation belongs to God, and to Him only and always. Duty is ours; results are God's.

Yorkville, S. C.

Adrift on the Pamlico.

BY A DRIFTER.

Did you ever out of the pulpit reach a point where you could go no further? If so, you are prepared to appreciate the narrative I shall try to relate. Should it appear to approach the limits of credulity, remember it is of the sea, fishy.

On Monday morning, bright and soon, seven enthusiastic travelers, Revs. A. P. Tyer, J. D. Bundy, J. A. Hornaday and R. C. Craven and Col. Bruton, Messrs. Davenport and Brown boarded a naptha launch, the "Annie G"—how gentle the name—at Aurora, bound for Washington, N. C. The water was smooth, the air balmy, and right beautifully did Annie speed us along, and very fulsome were the words of praise extended by her cargo.

Bundy occupied a conspicuous position on the vessel where he sat clothed with all the dignity which a Presiding Elder who has scored his first point in a successful District Conference can have; he also wore a St. Thomas doubt.

Tyer so far forgot his dignity as to smoke, once, twice and again, and those classic features of his profile often were disturbed by mirth. Hornaday, in that inimitable style of his, regaled us with some of his best jokes, most of whose incidents never occurred.

Col. Bruton, in that suave, courtly manner, which cannot be affected, essayed occasionally to go one better than Hornaday, with some show of success.

Brown's hearty laugh was even a better tonic than the bracing breeze.

Davenport wore an, I-wonder-what-next expression, and Craven, tired from the duties of secretary, had a Diogenes expression, save when a large wave came familiarly near the Annie G and coquetted with her.

We decided to visit the historic town of Bath against the protests of our captain, who told us that fate had been adverse to the ancient town since the time that their mockery caused George Whitfield actually to shake off the dust from his feet against its inhabitants as a judgment. However, we took the risk, and are indebted to Dr. Nicholson for courtesies extended in pointing out places of interest. We learned anew the story of Governor Eden and Edward Teach—men who divided the booty before the age of post-offices and postal scandals.

Bidding the genial doctor adieu, we again boarded the Annie G, but she had lain in the harbor of Bath long enough to catch somewhat of its spirit; hence, when word was given to go, gentle Annie preferred a rest. She was coaxed, and teased, but withal was "uncertain coy and hard to please."

Bundy said, "I told you so;" Hornady illustrated it with another joke, and Col. Bruton played the Jonah act, and exclaimed that he alone was responsible. Craven peered into the engine room when Annie's engine gave a kind of sneeze, like unto the report of a gun, which gave quite an animated expression to our secretary, who proceeded forwith to occupy his small corner.

After an hour, gentle Annie seemed to overcome the soporific effect of Bath, threw off her lethargy and sped with us out into the bay.

In the eyes of certain aforesaid gentlemen, who were becoming disillusionized, gentle Annie had degenerated into a common "gas boat." With the instinct of some feminine creatures, Annie was watching her opportunity for revenge, and—she got it.

When we were again in deep water, the shores far away, the wind increasing and white caps were heaving all around, Annie, with a sneeze, somewhat akin to an old man sick with influenza and whooping-cough, stopped, and positively refused to respond to any of our wooings. With an ominous twinkle in his eyes, Bundy said, "I told you so," Tyer forgot himself and smoked, Hornaday's jokes were so dry that they cracked prematurely, Brown spoke of the joys of home-life, and we all talked of Paul's experience in the briny deep, of Jonah and Peter's walking on the water, and, of ourselves, without any preconcerted action; that cargo resolved itself into a Quaker meeting, which became so noisy that two passengers climbed as high as possible on that gas boat and looked laughingly towards the west where loved ones lived.

Having drifted within shouting distance of land, one of the cargo, with a voice that would wake any chronic church napper, hailed a boat, which was dispatched to the town of Bath with Tyer and Hornaday on board to negotiate for transportation. As soon as they landed, they struck a bee-line for a hotel.

In the meantime Annie, with true feminine instincts, relented concerning her perverseness, and moved off as gently and smoothly as ever a maid does when her error is manifest. The white caps wooed in vain; she tarried not.

We repaired to Bath to get the negotiators and found them at the dinner table. They were compared to Benedict Arnold and Maj. Andre, but for the fact that they had ordered lunches for the rest of us who had neither food nor drink for nine hours, they might have shared a like fate to Arnold and Andre.

Again boarding the Annie G at 3 o'clock, we gaily rode the crested waves and arrived at Washington at 5 p. m. With the loss of six hours and Craven's hat, and the gain of interesting experiences, we bade adieu to Capt. Lane, who had done all possible for us, in response to which the an expiring snort.

The Light of the World.

C. F. SHERRILL.

A few centuries, the fourth and seventeenth, notably, presented the unlovely sight of Christians thinking more of a creed than of the Christ. The Savior of men is more than a dogma. Christ is greater than any creed. He is the Light of the world. There is lumination in his words and works. But the light first of all was in the Divine Person. Jesus is more to the human heart than the Arian, Athanasian, and Apostolic creeds. In him was life, and the life was the light of men.

* * *

Christianity is the religion of the Christ. While it cannot countenance false dogma, its glory and greatness is in a Person. "I am the Vine." "Believe on me." "Confess me." "Come unto me." Christ is over Christianity and in it. To repeat a formula is not to find the Christ. Religion is a living faith in a living Lord.

* * *

When Peter said: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God," he thought little about whether his confession should fit an Arian or an Athanasian creed. It was the soul's love and loyalty to its Lord. The creed of all creeds is the personal trust in a personal Christ.

* * *

The incarnation of Christ, purposed in eternity, made visible and actual in times will continue forever, and finds its final purpose in our redeemed and completed humanity. "Ye are complete in him."

* * *

Christ was conscious that he was the Eternal Son. He was also conscious that he was the Head of the human family. The Son of the Father was the Elder Brother of man. How near this brings the human to the divine, man to God. Christ was no more conscious of his Sonship than of his Headship of the human race.

* * *

To be all spirit and no body is to be an angel. To be all flesh and no spirit is to be a man. To be a man with an immortal spirit quickened by the spirit of the Perfect Man and Perfect God is to be a Christian. The Christian is the crown of creation, the perfect fruit of the redemption of Christ, the heir of the ages, the child of the Eternal Father.

Wrong at the Grave.

A solemn place to do wrong. Who was doing so? An official member of our church, I think. How was he doing wrong? By persuading one or more young men, brothers, never to remove their membership from the church of their childhood home. This was contrary to our Discipline. (See paragraph 138.) I heard it, but owing to the sadness of the home, said nothing. The family, the mother of whom was buried that day, had been living in Elizabeth City several years, their membership remaining twelve miles distant, and twelve miles from the pastor. During that good woman's sickness I was blamed by Baptists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians and members of my own church for not visiting her, they being under the impression that the family were members of my church. I knew nothing of the mother's sickness till I saw notice of her death in the paper. It may be that the family feeling that they had no claim on me as pastor had not informed me. Many members of my church did not know that the family were Methodists, hence did not render kindnesses that otherwise might have been rendered. From six or seven different points of the compass the grown sons and daughters gathered about that dear mother's grave—some from other States—yet it seems that none had moved their membership, and, therefore, had no pastor—no soul-shepherd in their different homes. Truly, they might come to say like David. "No man careth for my soul"—certainly no one had "official responsibility for their souls in their new homes." Dont move your membership till you get "settled down," is a trick of Satan by which he gets you to begin to neglect an important duty. If you do not live in a place but a short while, your church letter puts you on God's side while there. You can't "settle down" without your church membership, for your best interests have been left behind till you get it—your are not entirely moved. Then, again, we are not to serve and worship the place where one's parents did, but the God of our parents, in the place wherein God's providence our lot is cast. Abraham moved his altar from Bethel to Mamre—the tent and altar went together. Our Discipline is right on the certificate ideas. But you say your church needs their financial aid. Will not God care for His Church in every place? Is the future of your church dependent on its present membership, or on your faith in God's promise to care for the church? Is it right to keep names on your church register for the financial aid the persons give when they cannot be there to work for the salvation of souls? Is it true when sinners say: "We are after the money only?" Would it not be better to let members who move take their membership with them, and the church go to prayer, and work to save other sinners to take their places on the register? "Let all things be done decently and in order," says Paul, and the Discipline.

OBEY.

The Granbery College.

The wisdom of founding and maintaining an institution of learning in any given community depends upon the educational needs of the people and the adaptability of the institution to meet these needs.

It is because those who have visited and studied the field were particularly impressed with Brazil's need of such a school as the Granbery College proposes to be that they have appealed to the church in the United States for the money and the men necessary to establish and carry forward the enterprise.

Four very important questions might be appropriately asked concerning this institution of learning: Where is the Granbery College? What is the Granbery College? Why is the Granbery College? What may be the results from the Granbery College?

These inquiries might be summarily answered as follows: The Granbery College is a Christian school for boys, founded at Juiz de Fora, Brazil, in the year 1890, by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for the purpose of preparing young men for the ministry, furnishing to Brazilian youth the best means for the development of their physical, intellectual and moral faculties under Gospel influence, and to serve as an evangelizing agency.

But in order that the importance and the needs of this institution may be brought more prominently before the Christian public it may be well to attempt an answer more in detail to each of these separate inquiries.

WHERE IS THE GRANBERY COLLEGE.

The location of institutions of learning with reference to accessibility to the people, healthfulness of the climate and surroundings generally is always a matter of importance. Juiz de Fora in the State of Minas Geraes, where this college is located is an important and growing commercial and industrial city of 15,000 or more inhabitants on the Central Railroad about 170 miles from the city of Rio de Janeiro. The elevation is about 2,200 feet above the level of the sea, and the situation is in the midst of an extensive and very fertile coffee producing and agricultural section of the country. There are railroad connections with the Federal capital, with the progressive State of Sao Paulo, and with the system soon to be run through the Southern States, reaching into the Republic of Argentine and Uruguay; a branch also of the extensive Leopoldina Railway system starts from this point and reaches populous sections of the States of Minas Geraes, Rio de Janeiro and Espirito Santo. The Central Railroad extending through the State with branch lines is being rapidly projected on into the great San Francisco River valley to connect with lines through Bahia, Pernambuco and other northern States, and to stretch across the great interior cattle raising highlands and mountainous mining regions and on into the Amazon valley. As things appear at present there could be no more accessible, central and healthy location in Brazil for this school.

The site in the city has been well chosen; a plot of ground measuring 192 by 369 feet, with streets on three sides. The entire block might later be acquired if necessary. The college is easily accessible to persons living in all parts of the city, and is but a short walk from the Methodist Church.

The handsome building now nearing completion, and greatly needing funds to allow of its complete equipment has been wisely planned, and together with the old residence of the grounds where the school has been conducted in very crowded quarters until the present, will furnish accommodation for the President and his family, one professor and family, and 120 boarders. There will also be room for at least 100 day pupils from the city. The plant could not be better located to make its work and influence felt as an evangelizing agency. So much for the location, general and local of the institution.

Cup-Offerings of Water.

It is hardly an exaggeration to say that two-thirds of all that makes it "beautiful to be alive" consists in cup-offerings of water. Not an hour of life's journey but is rendered easier by their freshening or harder by their absence.

Why?

Because most of us are burden-bearers of one sort or another; because to most of us a large part of the journey is a dull and trivial trudge; because there is much dust upon the road, and—not so many bad places as probably we think—yet many common places; and it is load and dust and stretches of the commonplace that makes one thirsty.

We crave the roadside recognitions which give praise for the good deeds attempted, pity for the hard luck and the fall, a hand-lift now and then to ease the burden's chafe, and now and then a word of sympathy in the step-step-stepping that takes us through the dust.

And this is all that most of us wait to give, for we, too, are here on business. You cannot step my journey for me, neither carry me on your back, cannot do me any great service; but it makes a world of difference to me whether I do my part in the world or without these little helps which fellow-travelers can exchange.

"I am busy, Johnny, and can't help it," said the father, writing away when the little fellow hurt his finger. "Yes, you could—you might have said 'O!'" sobbed Johnnie. There's a Johnnie inside of all of us upon occasions.

The old Quaker was right. "I expect to pass through this life but once. If there is any kindness or any good thing I can do to my fellowbeing, let me do it now. I shall pass this way but once."—W. C. Gannat.

Comic and Curious.

Judge Lyman S. Barr was once talking with a novelist, now famous, then young and obscure, but self-confident. Finally he said sternly, "So you expect to be famous some day, eh?" "Some day," said the young man, "I expect to have the world at my feet." "What have you been doing all this time," said the judge, "walking on your hands?"

* * *

One of our readers sends us an amusing story of a borrowing family:

The other day one of its members went to a neighbor's house and asked for the loan of a wash-tub, and the answer she received was rather perplexing. It was as follows: "No, I can't; the hoops are all off; the bottom is out, and it's full of water."

* * *

At a recent examination of young men in England, three of the answers to the question, "What is the Monroe Doctrine?" were:

"The religion of America taught by Dr. Monroe on the transmigration of souls."

"The doctrine that people may be married several times."

"One that has to do with vaccination and smallpox; it was brought out by Professor Monroe."

* * *

Frances had been brought up in a strict Presbyterian household, and in all her nine years had never attended service in a church of another denomination. While on a visit with her mother to a part of the country for from her own home, she entered the parlor one Saturday afternoon and eagerly asked: "Oh,mamma, may I go to the 'Piscopal church with Gertie to-morrow? I'll promise not to believe a single word the minister says!"

* * *

Stories are told concerning a certain Irish town where "watchmen" are employed to parade the streets by night and "call the hours," their usual formula being something like this: "Two o'clock; all's well, all's well!"

One night,as a visitor happened to be lying awake, he heard the following somewhat paradoxical cry:

"Two o'clock; all's well Smith's mill's on fire; one man killed! All's well!"

* * *

During the "Reconstruction Period" a colored man was elected a Justice of the Peace in the backwoods of South Carolina. His first case happened to be one in which the defendant asked for a trial by jury. When the testimony was in and the arguments had been concluded, the lawyers waited for the Judge to proceed with his instructions to the jury. The Justice seemed somewhat embarrassed. Finally one of the lawyers whispered to him and told him that it was time for him to charge the jury. Looking warily at the jury, with a grim judicial air, the Judge said:

"Gentlemen uv de jury, sense dis is a very small case, I'll jes' charge y'all a dollar an' a ha'f apiece."

Take thy self-denials gayly and cheerfully, and let the sunshine of thy gladness fall on dark things and bright alike, like the sunshine of the Almighty. —J. F. Clarke.

The Field

Goldsboro Circuit

This circuit is nicely situated around and near Goldsboro, and of the seven appointments only two are as far distant as seven miles from the parsonage, and the pastor can fill any two of the appointments and return home in the same day.

Our circuit is surely progressive in almost every line of work, and we feel encouraged to expect still greater achievements in the near future.

The moral, spiritual, intellectual and financial condition of our people will compare favorably with most sections and their love and care for their pastor and family, supplying their every need, as well as their constant offices of benefaction to any who really stand in need, speaks for them its own eulogy.

We have just completed two nice new churches. One at Pine Forest costing $1,000, to be dedicated June 26th; one at Pikeville costing $1,200, to be dedicated as soon as it is seated, and we hope to do that very soon. These churches are plain, but nice ones, and are an honor to those sections and a credit to those who, under difficulties, erected them.

The money for building them was raised mainly within the bounds of this circuit and from our own people, and it has been quite a tax upon them and will somewhat retard our early Conference collections, but "all is well that ends well," and they will not suffer the wheels of progress to lose their motion or stand still.

More of our people are reading the Advocate, and as they read it more they find that $1.50 is not such a great price for a paper like the "Old Raleigh." We hope to send many more subscribers during the year.

HENRY E. TRIPP, P. C.

Goldsboro, N. C., June 2, 1904.

Hookerton Circuit

After closing a very pleasant four year's pastorate on Lumberton circuit among tried friends, we were sent to Hookerton charge for the current year. On arriving here early in December, we found ourselves in the midst of an appreciative people.

At the last Conference this charge was made by dividing the Snow Hill circuit, hence we had no parsonage in which to live, but found the official board ready to take such steps as changes demanded. At once they proceeded to purchase a lot and build a parsonage for our occupancy. The building is now complete, painted inside and out, and nicely furnished with everything necessary from an axe to a rolling-pin. Everything is paid for. With a leadership composed of such loyal Methodists as Hon. Jno. E. W. Sugg, W. W. Ormond and Dr. G. C. Edwards, together with a no less willing constituency, things must come to pass. We took possession of these newly acquired premises on April 27th, and since have enjoyed many expressions of esteem.

The three churches composing this work are nice structures, located in thrifty and progressive communities, from two to four miles apart. Each church has two appointments a month, and furnish good congregations. All the appointments have been met during the year notwithstanding the unusually cold winter. The Sunday-schools always steer clear of winter quarters, and are in fairly good shape. Two of them are organized into Missionary Societies. The work seems to be in such shape as will justify the looking forward to a profitable year.

With the truest sense of appreciation for what has been done for our comfort, we pray God's richest blessings upon all the people. We trust this year may be signalized by the doing of great things for the Master.

J. P. PATE, Pastor.

Programme of Raleigh District Conference to be Held in Cary, N. C, June 29th to July 3d, 1904.

WEDNESDAY.

8.15 p. m.—Opening sermon by Rev. F. A. Bishop.

THURSDAY.

9.00 a. m.—Prayer service.

9.15 a. m.—Organization.

9.45 a. m.—Reports from pastors on Sunday-schools.

(1) Scholars enrolled.

(2) Literature used.

(3) Missionary Societies organized.

(4) Improvement made since last report.

11.00 a. m.—Sermon: Christian character as exemplified in early piety, by Rev. F. M. Shamburger.

EVENING SESSION.

3.00 p. m.—Address: Epworth Leagues and their value to the church, by Rev. J. M. Culbreth.

3.30 p. m.—Address: "The difficulties in the way of Sunday-school work and how to overcome them," by Rev. W. H. Puckett.

4.00 p. m.—Adress: ....., by Rev. L. S. Massey.

8.15 p. m.—Sermon: "Responsibility of parents for developing Christian character in their children," by Rev. J. D. Pegram.

FRIDAY.

9.00 a. m.—Prayer service.

9.15 a. m.—Reading the minutes and enrolment of new arrivals.

9.30 a. m.—Reports on missions:

(1) What interest in taken in the cause?

(2) What has been done to create an interest among our people?

(3) Have the missionary collections been taken?

(4) What steps have been taken to insure full collections this year?

11.00 a. m.—Sermon on missions, by Rev. R. F. Bumpas.

FRIDAY EVENING SESSION.

3.00 p. m.—Opening service.

3.15 p. m.—Our Orphanage, by Rev. J. W. Jenkins.

3.45 p. m.—"The duty of the church to send the Gospel to all the world," by Rev. N. E. Coltrane.

4.15 p. m.—"What the Raleigh District is doing for missions, and what is possible for it to do," by Rev. F. A. Bishop, District Secretary.

8.15 p. m.—Sermon: "The works of Christ, and the greater works of the church," by Rev. J. H. Shore.

SATURDAY.

9.00 a. m.—Prayer service.

9.15 a. m.—Reading minutes.

9.30 a. m.—Reports on spiritual state of the church.

11.00 a. m.—Address on Christian education, by Rev. J. C. Kilgo, D. D.

EVENING SESSION.

3.00 p. m.—Prayer service.

3.15 p. m.—Report of Committee on Quarterly Conference Records.

3.30 p. m.—Unfinished business.

Selection of place for next Conference.

8.15 p. m.—Sermon by Rev. R. H. Whitaker, D. D.

SUNDAY.

10.00 a. m.—Love feast; conducted by Revs. J. O. Guthrie and G. W. Fisher.

11.00 a. m.—Sermon, followed by communion, by Dr. J. C. Kilgo.

8.15 a. m.—Sermon by Rev. J. O. Guthrie .

Let every one be present at the opening service.

Commencement Exercises of the Harry North School.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—The commencement exercises of the Harry North School have been held this week. On last Sunday morning Rev. N. M. Watson preached the commencement sermon, taking as his text, 2 Tim. 3:7: "Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth." It was a strong sermon, and was much enjoyed. Dr. W. I. Cranford was to have delivered the literary address, but was prevented from doing so by the death of Mrs. C. W. Edwards. Prof. Plato D. Durham came in his stead, and delivered a very fine address on Wednesday night. Tuesday evening a concert was given by the music class. It was of a high order and reflected much credit upon both teacher and pupils. On Thursday evening there were exercises by the school. The children were well trained and, though the exercises were a little lengthy, the audience would not have had any part omitted.

This school, owned and controlled by our church at this place, is doing a good work. It has met with a much larger success during the past year than was expected by the friends, and we are expecting even greater success next year. Arrangements have been made for boarding pupils, and a number of these are expected.

I enclose a paper which has been adopted by the School Board, and which I will thank you to publish.

Yours truly, R. H. WILLIS.

A New Church and Parsonage for Rocky Mount.

Dear Dr. Ivey:—I write to say that our people here are thoroughly committed to and have begun the work of building a handsome new church and parsonage, both of modern architecture and improvements. This will be pleasant news to those of my predecessors in the pastorate here who are now living, and to our Methodist people generally who know how long and greatly this work has been needed.

The church will be of brick, slate roofed, and stone-trimmed, and will be worth, when complete, including lot, $17,000. The parsonage will be of wood and will be worth $3,000. Both buildings will occupy very nearly the sites of the old church and parsonage, corner of Church Street and Sunset Avenue, the old buildings having just been removed to make room for the new. The parsonage will be completed within the next three months, and the work of the church will be pushed forward during the summer and fall.

Very sincerely, W. S. RONE.

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 2, 1904.

Harry North School, Morehead City.

(A paper adopted by the School Board.)

With the exercises of this week, the Harry North School comes to the close of the first year of its existence. We rejoice to note the success that has come to the school during this year, and would express our appreciation of the faithful and efficient work that has been rendered by the principal and each of his co-laborers. With zeal and fidelity they have prosecuted their work, and, therefore, deserve, and no doubt receive, the hearty thanks of the many friends and patrons of the school. The school has had a most auspicious beginning, and, we feel sure, has a bright future before it. We bespeak for the management of the coming year the sympathy and co-operation of all who are interested in the school. We hereby pledge ourselves, both as a School Board and as individuals, to continue to give the school our hearty support and to do all in our power to advance the cause of Christian education in our community.

We have been glad to have with us during the closing exercises of the school, Rev. H. M. North, through whose efforts during his pastorate here, the school was established. The work wrought by him while in our midst is highly appreciated, and we hope he will make it convenient to visit us frequently in the future on these commencement occasions.

It is with pleasure also that we have had with us Rev. N. M. Watson, of Wilmington, and Prof. Plato D. Durham, of Trinity College. The management of the school is to be congratulated upon having secured such eminent speakers for this occasion. The messages brought by them have been inspiring and uplifting, and we would hereby extend to them our sincere thanks.

The Family

June.

Come, with thine old-time witcherics of life,
Oh, thou full-breasted mother, hasten thee,
Lest on some winter-weary sense there fall,
Too late the rose and humming of thy bee!

So late thou art! Through many pulsing days
We heard thy tread in heart of earth and tree,
And felt thy breath until each leafing vine
Yearned for thy sensuous touch to make it free.

Through barren months, all black and cold and gray,
We watched, like children through the muffled pane,
A tender signal from a beckoning hand,
But only saw frost-flowers through the rain.

Come, coax the shyest blossoms of the year!
Bless us, sweet mother! Make the palest smile,
And, with our storm-roughed cheeks against thy breast,
Give us thy beauty for a little while.

No changelings call thee, for our hearts are thine;
Thou boldest that which keeps all things in tune,—
Rose-leaves and kisses, love and life's red wine,—
Oh, golden hearted, peerless, perfect June!

—June Century.

Following Afar Off.

Our Lord has millions of followers, but they are not all equally near to Him. Some walk close to His side every day, while others follow afar off. Many waver. One day they resolve to cleave to the Lord at all hazards and all costs, another day they fall back into the rear rank. One appears to follow the Lord fully while everything goes on according to his mind, but no sooner does he meet with disappointment and trial than he begins to lag behind and almost drop out of sight of those who were his chosen companions in former days.

Those who make a profession of religion but refuse to unite with the Church of Christ follow Him afar off. Some one will say, "Can I not be a Christian without being a member of the church?" Yes, you can, but what kind of a Christian do you wish to be? If you wish to be an out-and-out Christian you will have to unite with the church, but if you are content to be a half-and-half Christian you can do so without identifying yourself outwardly with the people of God.

An apple tree may grow in the forest surrounded by oaks and pines and sycamore trees, but it will not bear fruit, or if it should bring forth fruit its fruit will be inferior and unfit for use. The apple tree which is planted in the orchard, pruned, cultivated, and tended with special care, will bring forth good fruit. So it is with Christians. "They that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God." They shall bring forth fruit in old age.

One who tries to be a Christian and still live without the church is a sort of double witness. By his words he declares that he is a follower of Christ. He says: "I believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and trust in Him for salvation. I pray and read the Bible and keep the Sabbath." This is well, but he is identified in his life, not with the people of God, but with the people of the world. He is counted among those who do not follower Christ. If he is a follower of Jesus he follows afar off.

Those who make a profession or religion and neglect the means of grace follow afar off. God has ordained prayer, the word of God, the Church of Christ, and the holy Sabbath as channels through which grace may be supplied to the believing soul. We need them. The Christian begins the new life with prayer. He continues to walk in the narrow way by prayer. He prays morning, noon, and night. He prays without ceasing. He prays everywhere. Only by unceasing prayer can he fight the good fight of faith. "Restraining prayer, we cease to fight." Hast thou given up prayer? Thou art afar off. The Word of God is the sword of the Spirit with which we may fight the battle of the Lord. We must search the Scriptures daily or we lay down the sword of the Spirit. That professing Christian who is not a daily Bible reader is following affar off. The Christian needs the church and the Sabbath. No one can forsake the assembly of the saints and follow Christ closely. No one can neglect to keep the Sabbath holy without falling back from Christ.

All those who make a profession of religion and live a worldly life follow afar off. There are Christians whose minds and hearts and time are all taken up with making money. They are so busy that they have no time for prayer in the morning, and so weary that they have no strength for prayer at night. They are church members, but the life and power of godliness have departed. There are others who are absorbed in pleasure. Parties, entertainments, amusements, and recreations are their life. They are members of the church, but where is their spiritual life? How much do they contribute to the sum of spirituality in the community?

Some follow Christ outwardly, but not in heart. They belong to the church, and do not neglect the means of grace. They are honest, upright, and outwardly consistent. But they were never converted. They do not know by experience the joys of pardoned sin. They have not received the Holy Ghost. They are destitute of the witness of the Spirit. They are following, but it is all on the outside. To follow Christ closely one must follow Him in heart. He must walk as Christ walked, and he animated with that same divine life which throbbed in His heart. He must be a partaker of the divine nature.

"It is good for me to draw near to God." It is not good to live in clouds and darkness when there is light. It is not good to walk on the borders of the enemy's country while traveling to the celestial city. We may travel through Immanuel's ground to fairer world on high. We do not have to wait until death to see God and walk with Him. "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Jesus has promised to be with us and to dwell in us.

"Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee;
E'en though it be a cross
That raiseth me."

A Motive for Consecration.

One of the distinguished ministers of the Presbyterian church told us the other day in a conference in a Western city that a little boy who had been operated upon by Dr. Lorenz said as soon as he came out from under the anaesthetic, "It will be a long time before mother hears the last of this doctor;" and then said my friend: "I thought of an incident in my own life, of a poor German boy whose foot was twisted out of shape, whose mother was poor and could not have him operated upon, and I determined to bring him to a great doctor, and ask him to take him in charge." The operation was over and was a great success. When the plaster cast had been taken off from his foot, my friend said he went to take him home. He called his attention to the hospital, and the boy admired it, but he said, "I like the doctor best." He spoke of the nurses, and the boy was slightly interested, but said, "They are nothing compared to the doctor." He called his attention to the perfect equipment of the hospital, and he was unmoved, except as again and again he referred to the doctor.

They reached the Missouri town, and stepped out at the station together, and the old German mother was waiting to receive him. She did not look at her boy's face nor at his hands, but she fell on her knees and looked at his foot, and then said, sobbing, "It is just like any other boy's foot;" and took him in her arms. But all the boy kept saving to her over and over was, "Mother, you ought to know the doctor that made me walk."

And then my friend said: "There is no one of us but for whom Jesus Christ has done ten thousand times more than the doctor did for this boy, and we have never spoken for Him; we have not yielded ourselves to Him."

It must have been with some such spirit as this that the apostle said: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."—Selected.

Keeping Clean All the Way.

It was on a transcontinental train. We were fellow-passengers and had become quite well acquainted by reason of our sharing the same section for a day or so. He was a young man full of hopes and ambitions. Learning who I was he became quite confidental and told me of his plans for the future and the purpose of his present journey.

He was on his way to a Western town to marry the sweet heart of his boyhood days. On the second day, after a very dusty ride across the desert, I missed him for a time. He soon came back from the toilet room cleanly washed and shaved, his clothing neatly brushed, and fresh linen in place of the soiled.

I said to him: "You must be getting near the end of your journey, where you will meet your future bride."

"Oh, no," said he. "I find that the best way to be clean at the end of the journey is to keep clean all the way along."

Oh, if the young men and women of our day would not put off cleaning-up time until the end of the journey! If they would not think that they will have time enough to prepare to die! If they could only be made to realize that it is a far more serious thing to live than it is to die, and that the only way to be clean at the end of the journey is to get clean now and keep clean. —The Rev. Bruce Kinney.

A "Widow's Mite.

Everybody has heard of the "Widow's Mite," but how many are aware that a real specimen of this oft-mentioned coin is in existence? Yet this is the case, and it now reposes in the cabinet of coins in the United States Mint at Philadelphia, enjoying the reputation among unmismatists of being the most noted coin in the world.

"The Widow's Mite" was found in some rubbish in the temple grounds in Jerusalem some years ago, and the finder presented it to the Mint. Its original name was "lepton," from "leptos," very small. The word mite is English, formerly meaning a weight representing the twentieth part of a grain, but was used in the place of "lepton" when the New Testament was translated. The coin is of bronze, weighs ten grains, and has a diameter of three-tenths of an inch.

The nationality of the coin is not definitely known, but authorities say it is fairly certain that it is not of Jewish origin, there being little Hebrew money in circulation at the beginning of the Christian era. Just what was the value of the mite is also a subject of speculation, but expert numismatists suppose it to have been worth about one-fifth of a cent.—New York Sun.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE DIRECTORY.

Washington District, Aurora—May 11-16.
New Bern District, Beaufort—June 30-July 3.
Raleigh District, Cary—June 30-July 3.
Elizabeth City District, Sunbury—July 13.
Wilmington District, Southport—July 28 to July 31.
Warrenton District, Rich Square—July 28 August 1.
Fayetteville, Jonesboro—July 20-24.
Rockhingham District, Gibson—July 21-24.

Repentance is the awakening of the consciousness of sin; and patience is the ever-deepening abhorrence of its sinfulness.—Bishop Thorold.

Our Boys and Girls

Tulls, N. C., May 10, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl cleven years old. I go to Sunday-school when I can. I also go to every day school. My teacher's name is Miss Belle Wimbish. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. James Y. Old. We all like him very much.

Now, I will close with best love for the orphans.

Your friend,
NELLIE BAXTER.

Bath, N. C., May 6, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I have been going to school, but it was up a month ago. Mr. H. N. Roper was my teacher. I like him very much. I have a sweet little sister five years old. Her name is Esther. I have a brother eight years old. His name is Lindley. My papa and mama are both living.

Your little friend,
ANNIE I. TYER.

Gibson, N. C.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy twelve years of age. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Mrs. T. J. Adams.

I will answer Esther Miller's question: Iron floated in Jordan River; also Helen Weaver's question: Joseph was twelve years old when his brethren sold him.

I will ask a question: How old was John the Baptist when he was beheaded?

Your friend,
JIM PATE.

Sanford, N. C., May 12, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy cleven years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. I love to read the little boys and girls letters. My Sunday-school teacher is my father. My father takes the Advocate. Our pastor is Rev. S. T. Moyle. Our Superintendent is Mr. S. P. Hatch. I will ask one question: Who was the oldest man?

I will close. Find 10 cents for the orphans.

Your unknown friend,
ERNEST CONOLEY BASS.

Bayboro, N. C., May 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As I have never written to you, today I write. I have five brothers and one sister. I have a mother, but no father. I go to school and to Sunday-school too. I am in school now. Mrs. Jellah M. Cheek is my teacher, and Mrs. E. H. Pickles is my Sunday-school teacher. Mr. E. H. Picklee is our superintendent. We like him very much. I will close by asking a question: Who put Daniel in the lions' den?

Best wishes for the Advocate.

Your little unknown friend,
ETHA R. LUPTON.

Wilmington, N. C., May 10, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. Papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little girls and boys' letters.

I go to Sunday-school when I am well. I go to every-day school, and I am in the second grade. I study spelling, third reader, and "A great America for a little American." My teacher's name is Miss Belle Anderson, and I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. A. B. Haltom, and we like him very much. Our Superintendent is Mr. R. H. Beery.

I will close.

VIVIAN C. WILLIAMS.

Wanchese, April 27, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Marina Simpson, and I like her very much.

Our pastor is Rev. A. J. Parker, and I like him very much also.

I go to every-day school. My teacher is Mrs. C. R. Taylor. If this escapes the waste-basket I will write again.

Your friend,
MINNIE WILLIS BAUM.

Troy, N. C., May 10,1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl thirteen years of age. I am going to school every day. Mr. W. B. Cochran is my teacher. I like him very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Mrs. Fanny Parker. Our superintendent is Mr. R. T. Pool. Our pastor is Rev. M. D. Hix. I like them very much. I have never written to the Advocate before. I will answer Sallie Miller's question: Sampson was the strongest man. Now I will ask one: In what part of the Bible are the ten commandments found?

Your unknown friend,
MYRTLE EWING.

Okisko, N. C., May 9, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl 13 years old. My papa takes your paper, and I enjoy reading the boys and girls letters very much. This is my second letter to your paper.

I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. Our pastor is Rev. W. F. Jones. We all like him very much. We are going to have childrens day service the fifth Sunday.

Now, I will ask a question: Who wrote the ten commandments?

I will answer Maud Haskett's question: "Jesus wept," is the shortest verse in the Bible.

I will close now.

Your true friend,
EULA G. WOOD.

Troy, N. C., May 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—Mama takes your paper, and I enjoy reading it, especially the boys and girls corner.

I am a little girl cleven years old. I belong to the M. E. Church here. I joined last year. Our pastor is Rev. M. D. Hix.

I have two brothers and two sisters.

I will answer Grace H. Drewett's question: Moses was one hundred and twenty years old.

I will ask some: In what book of the Bible are the ten commandments found? Who was Cain's wife?

Quarterly Conference is in session here now. Elder Cole is with us.

As this is my first letter, I will close, hoping to see my letter in print, I am

Your little friend,
NANNIE LEWIS.

Stonewall, N. C., May 4, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I will write a few lines. We have an interesting Sunday-school. R. H. Baxter, Superintendent. Mrs. P. A. Baxter is my teacher. Our week-day school continues eight months. About 125 students. Mrs. Z. M. Cheek principal. Have three teachers.

My father is pastor at Stonewall.

We have organized a missionary society at this place. About fifty members. We meet monthly. I have the honor of being secretary. We expect to pay our missionary collections in full this year. I am acquainted with Emma and Blanch Carter, of Hemp, N. C. I will answer their question: "What three persons fasted forty days?" Moses. Elijah and Jesus.

A question: As the Advocate is very helpful to us, how many girls and boys will promise to get one new subscriber this year? Report through the Advocate. [Hurrah for Ruth!—Editor.]

RUTH ETHERIDGE.

Troy, N. C., May 10, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl twelve years of age. My papa takes the Advocate, and I like to read the little boys and girls column.

I go to school now. My teacher's name is Mr. W. B. Cochran. We all like him. I study arithmetic, grammar, history, geography, and dictionary. I like history and dictionary best of all my studies. I go to Sunday-school also. Our pastor is Rev. M. D. Hix. We all like him very well. My Sunday-school teacher's name is Miss Alice Bruton. I like her fine. Our Superintendent is Mr. R. T. Poole. We all like him. We have a real good Sunday-school.

I have written to you before.

I will close by asking a question: In what part of the Bible is the Lord's prayer found?

I hope this will not go to the waste basket.

Your friend,
MATTIE STAMEY.

Old Hundred, N. C., May 5, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I have written several times before, and I will try again. We are going to have "Childrens' Day" the third Sunday in May. We are looking to have a big time.

I think the girls will get ahead of the boys if they do not write often. My birthday will be the third day of October, and I wan't to have a party. I will be fifteen years old.

I think it is so kind in Dr. Ivey to give us a page in his paper. We ought to try to fill it up with nice letters.

I will answer Sallie M. Miller's question: Sampson was the strongest man.

I will ask one: What is the shortest verse in the Bible?

I will close for fear of the waste-basket.

Your friend,
LELIA MAY THROWER.

Roper, N. C., May 9, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a motherless little boy cleven years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little folks letters. I go to Sunday-school and preaching every Sunday. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Ella Herrington. Our Superintendent is Mr. L. G. Roper. I go to the graded school also. Professor Bayne is our principal. I will answer Annie Bell Dickens's question: The Lord's prayer is found in the sixth chapter of St. Matthew, and in the eleventh chapter of St. Luke.

Now I will ask one: Where is something said about the boys and girls in the Bible?

I close, sending 20 cents with love to the orphans.

Our Sunday-school supports Warner Vernon, one of the orphan boys. We have his picture.

Your little friend,
LEE J. CRAVEN.

A FRIGHTENED HORSE,

Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy, and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles, disappear quickly under its soothing effect. Twenty-five cents all drug stores.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$11.05 Raleigh to Athens, Ga., and return account Summer School. Tickets on sale July 2, 11, 18, limited returning fifteen days in addition to date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$13.50 Raleigh to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, account Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Tickets on sale July 10 and 11, final limit July 23, 1904. An extension can be obtained until August 3rd, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Detroit, Mich, and return account Baptist Young People's Union of America International Convention. Tickets on sale July 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit July 12. An extension until August 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$19.95 Raleigh to Louisville, Ky., and return account Biennial Conclave Knights of Pythias. Tickets on sale August 12 to 15, final limit August 25. An extension until September 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$18.20 Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return account Monteagle Sunday-school Institute. Tickets on sale August 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit August 31, 1904. An extension until October 31, 1904, can be obtained by paying difference between rate which ticket was sold and summer tourist rate.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return, account Peabody Normal Summer School. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4, and 5, with final limit fifteen days from date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30th, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, account National Prohibition Convention. Tickets on sale June 26 and 27, final return limit leave Indianapolis not later than July 15, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Democratic Convention. Tickets on sale June 21, 22 and 23, final limit June 27, 1904.

UNIVERSITY
LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue, address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Womans Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N.C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President — Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juevnile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Mrs. Hargrove.

By request, the following dates for the addresses of Mrs. Mary L. Hargrove in some of the towns of our Conference, are republished: Rockingham, Sunday, July 10th, 8 p. m.; Fayetteville, Monday, July 11th, 8 p. m.; Wilmington, July 12th, 8 p. m.; New Bern, July 13th, 8 p. m.; Raleigh, July 14th, 8 p. m.; Durham, July 15th, 8 p. m.

Notes from the Board.

The twenty-sixth annual session of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions was held May 18-24 in the handsome new McTyeire Church, Jacksonville, Fla. What a pleasure and a privilege it was to attend this delightful meeting! When my beloved co-workers, by their loving generosity, turned my mind in that direction, the thought was a pleasure trip simply, but to my great regret and disappointment sister Swindell, our Conference Secretary, was taken ill of diphtheria, and prevented from going—being her alternate, it became my duty to go in her place. She was greatly missed in the deliberations of that body of Christian women.

All of the officers were in their places except Mrs. M. L. Hargrove, Recording Secretary, who had not returned from the S. S. Convention in the Holy Land. Miss Nina Wilson performed the duties of that office in a most acceptable manner. Only four or five of the 34 Conference Societies were unrepresented. Bishop Candler, at 11 a. m., Sunday, and Bishop Wilson, at 8 p. m., preached grand, uplifting sermons to large audiences. Dr. W. W. Lambuth and Dr. Nanee, President of Soochow University, China, delivered interesting and instructive addresses on Friday and Saturday evenings. Dr. Margaret Polk and Miss Helen Richardson, of China Mission; Miss Viola Blackburn, from Mexico, and our own Mary Pescud, from Brazil, all added interest to the meeting. Four young ladies were accepted and appointed to foreign work. One to Brazil, and three to China. One young lady offered and was accepted as music teacher to one of our schools in Mexico.

The forward movement the past year was cause for thanksgiving, and necessitated enlarged plans for future work. To meet the demands from the foreign fields and also to visit the Conferences in the home land an associate general secretary was elected. Mrs. J. B. Cobb, of Macon, Ga.—a lady of culture and consecration to this mission work since its organization. She will live in Nashville, Tenn.

Some important changes were made in regard to "specials," which will be explained later.

Our "agents" in the foreign fields will hereafter be called "secretary of the mission"—Brazil Mission and China Mission, etc.

The Scarritt Bible and Training School had the largest enrollment the past year of any in its history. Nineteen graduates this year. The Maria Wightman lectureship was pledged in full by the secretaries, and another started in honor of Mrs. S. C. Trueheart.

The five pressing invitations for the Board "meeting" next year showed its appreciation. Muskogee, Indian Territory, received the largest vote.

Total receipts of the year were $132,143.37; increase over last year of $20,000. All appropriations were met. The amount of Pledge for the North Carolina Conference Society for this year is $2,000.

It was the good fortune of Mrs. Crawford and myself to be guests in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Holloman, formerly of the "good Old North State," which is dear to their hearts still. May God's richest blessings ever abide with them as well as upon the members of our beloved W. F. M. S. of the North Carolina Conference.

LUCY A. CUNINGGIM.

A STRONG ENDORSEMENT.

Dr. C. I. S. Cawthon, Andalusia, Ala., declares "Tetterine is superior to any remedy known to me for eczema and stubborn skin diseases." Many other physicians unite in this testimony. It has accomplished wonders in their practice. It is amazing that anyone would suffer with itching, burning skin diseases when relief might be had infallibly from the use of a 50-cent box of Tetterine.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SUCCESSFUL LIFE INSURANCE MEN IN NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA.

Any life insurance solicitor who is successful and reliable, or any capable reliable man who is willing to work up to it, can secure from the Southern Loan and Trust Company of Greensboro, N. C., a working contract possessing all the advantages of a general agent's contract. With this contract can be secured small or large territory as desired, and such facilities as may be necessary for financing the general agency. No man need apply who is not a worker, and who cannot give satisfactory references.

The Southern Loan and Trust Company has spared no pains or expense to give its patrons the best that there is in life insurance. It is a legal reserve company with a cash capital and surplus of over $225,000. The company has operated in only a few counties in North Carolina, but in the territory in which it has operated, has written more business than any other company. For further information address A. W. McAlister, Manager, Greensboro, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new songbook is needed. It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, Va.

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

Facts and Figures.

Dr. Pierson said "Facts form the fuel with which missionary fervour is fired and fed"—which words to me appear an alliterative appeal, and I think our readers will agree with me after considering the following facts recently collected. In the century just closed the population of the United States increased 14 fold. Protestant membership 54, all Methodism, 92; Southern Methodism, 246. Twelve years ago only 17 per cent of the cotton factories of the United States were in the South. Now there are 54 per cent.

GREAT DUTIES AND PRIVILEGES.

Do you not see them? It devolves upon us women in a peculiar way to continue the work of our beloved Southern Methodist Church, because its wonderful growth must be the unmistakable seal of God's approval, and because along with this growth has come the acknowledgement of woman's ability to work beside her brother. Some denominate this the "emancipation age" for women, and we should not be slow to claim and use our privileges. I do not refer to the hackneyed "woman's rights," for our place is not in any portion of the political arena. But it behooves the Woman's Home Mission Society to increase its number of schools, kindergartens, settlement homes, rescue homes, etc., and to send out hundreds of trained workers among the masses.

Our Four New Deaconesses.

Only four received the high and holy orders at the meeting of the Board in April, viz.: Mrs. Sonley and Miss Lockard, who were sent to Kansas City, Miss Olsen to Sloan Mission, St. Louis, and Miss Elliott to the Homer Toberman Deaconess Home, Los Angeles, Cal. May they be blessed in every word and work, daily proving their right to the beautiful name given by Bishop Hendrix —"Sisters of Jesus."

Amity Auxiliary, Lake Landing.

"We have used Bulletins sent us. It has been suggested that we study them more carefully, that we select the most important items and advance ideas on them, thereby hoping to develop our own members."

I give this welcome extract from Mrs. Fisher's latest letter as a sample of a charming reply to my letters to the auxiliary superintendents of press work.

A Beautiful Box-opening.

We have just had our first mite-box opening, and I must declare it a success. The mothers were invited to meet at a member's home, and to bring babies and children. The first to arrive was a young mother with her three months' babe, in long snowy robes, and the little one's sweet face, wreathed in dimpled smiles, brought joy and gladness. The children came forward as their names were called, and their elastic steps and glowing countenances said: "We are happy." Not one had less than 25c., and some had more than a dollar, the whole amounting to $6.71—and several children were absent. No epicurean luxury can take the place of candy with children, so we treated them to it while they played on the lawn, and the ladies finished up business. The mothers were as pleased as the children, and the one with the babe mentioned joined our Auxiliary. We will not forget to teach them to work for the Lord for Christ's sake.

MRS. M. M. FISHER,
Corresponding Secretary of Amity Auxiliary, Lake Landing.

SKIN PARASITES.

Live and multiply in the skin of the sufferer from Tetter, Itch, Ring Worm and similar skin diseases. It is horrible for one to be fed upon in this manner. Fortunately the sufferer is no longer helpless. One box of Tetterine will destroy the germs and restore the skin to a perfectly healthy condition. Physicians prescribe and druggists endorse it. If you have a friend suffering from such troubles tell him of Tetterine. 50 cents at druggists or by mail from J. T. Shuptrine, Savvannah, Ga.

OH! THE GOOD OF IT! OH! THE ECONOMY OF IT!

We have been using Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy in our family for the past eighteen months and find it to be a good medicine. Our little boy, five years old, was afflicted with a stomach trouble all his life. He took medicine from four of the best physicians in our community. We couldn't give him meats or vegetables for two months at the time, and all the medicine he took seemed to help him only for a little while. Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy was recommended to us and we thought we would give it a trial. He took sixteen bottles and now he seems to be in splendid health and eats anything he wants. We also gave the Remedy to our teething baby and found that it did her more good than anything we could get. When she would have high fever, sick stomach, when red spots would come on the tongue and her mouth get sore, I would give her a teaspoonful of the Remedy in a teaspoonful of sweetened water every hour until she was relieved and then gave her the Remedy three or four times a day.

We haven't had to call in a doctor to one of our children on account of sickness since we commenced using Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

MRS. FLORENCE MORGAN.
Hope Mills, N. C., May 4, 1903.

ROYAL MANTELS AND GRATES

Have an established reputation for correct Style, Finish, Workmanship and Material. Why? Because we sell direct from factory to home, and put into our goods the profit generally allowed the middleman.

We sell a Beautiful CABINET MANTEL as low as $6.75

Guaranteed too.

Send for our handsome book the "Advance Courier" of the Royal Lines, showing many beautiful new designs. It will save you money on any kind of Mantels, Grates, Tiles or Fire-Place Fittings.

WHITE MANTEL & TILE CO.
624 Gay Street, - - KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.

NO CHARGE.

(Established 1891.)

Editorial

SOME REVIVAL SUGGESTIONS.

We are approaching the season of the "dog-days," and revival meetings will be in evidence throughout the rural sections of our Conference. From the point of physical comfort the summer season is not very favorable to revival meetings, but circumstances incident to agricultural life make the summer season the best time for holding meetings in the majority of the sections of our Conference.

In writing on this subject, the editor feels happy in the thought that his knowledge of revivals is not merely theoretical. He has been a "circuit rider" and is proud of the fact, and he feels today that the circuit riders form the "Old Guard" in Immanuel's army. Having been a circuit rider, he knows something of revivals. A station may go for years without a revival and in a way survive, but who ever heard of a circuit preacher going up to Conference without a report of revivals on his work. A circuit simply could not exist without revivals, and it is truly providential that it is comparatively easy to have a "good meeting" in the country.

But about those "Suggestions." They will be general rather than specific, and are intended to fit revivals anywhere—in town or in country.

(1) Remember that no revival is "gotten up," but comes down. This statement lacks originality, but it throbs with dynamic force. We are absolutely dependent on the Holy Spirit for the fire which consumes the dross of sin, and He is always more than willing to kindle this fire when men and women will allow Him to do so. We would say that when you find a preacher agonizing in prayer for a divine visitation, you may look out for the presence of the King and the glow of the shekinah. "But a preacher cannot do much unless the people be ready," you say. Yes, but whenever you see a preacher thus agonizing, you may look in nine cases out of ten for a people ready to bless and be blessed.

(2) Kindle the fires among the church members before you burn the brush in the new ground. If necessary, have the whole church at the altar, not perfunctorily reconsecrating themselves for a few minutes, but praying as penitents for a new life in the soul. The fire, then, is bound to burst over into the new ground.

(3) Do not magnify preaching at the expense of prayer and singing. We have seen this done, and have noticed only unsatisfactory results. In our opinion, the least formal services in revival meetings are the most successful. A strong evangelical, earnest sermon of thirty minutes pointed and emphasized by short, earnest prayers both preceding and following, and by hearty singing from the soul, always has a good effect.

(4) Preach the awful reality and the real awfulness of sin. Preach that salvation from sin is only through a complete surrender to Jesus Christ. Preach that man is saved from sin for this life as well as far the life to come. Somehow or other, many people have the idea that the real salvation belongs ahead when we will wear crowns and sweep golden harps. Salvation from sin is for this life.

(5) Have the church building as well ventilated as possible. If you have night service, have plenty of light. It is simply impossible to have the best service in a poorly lighted church. If you have an afternoon service, issue a proclamation to the people that "good" dinners may be left at home. The zeal of good women in preparing fine spreads has, we believe, crippled Zion in many a revival meeting. Exhort the men and children to harden their hearts sufficiently to leave the beloved dogs at home. Be sure to place the "sleeping brother" on the rear seat, and do not let a sleeping preacher sit behind you in the pulpit.

(6) "String your fish as soon as you catch them," is good advice, but be sure that you allow no fish to spoil on the string. Salt them down as soon as possible. Read and explain the rules of the church to those whom you are to receive as members. Explain to them the vows they take. See that each one has a Bible and the Discipline, and secure at once his subscription to the church paper, and put him to work at something. We have always believed in giving the time of a whole service to the reception of members. It is time well spent. Such a service is extremely impressive.

We express the hope that this year may be a great year for the conversion of sinners and the strengthening of saints. God has good things in store for us, but He cannot empty them into palms turned down. Let us through prayer and an earnest agonizing faith be ready for the gifts.

THE MORNING POST'S NEW EDITOR.

Mr. Robert M. Phillips has been elected editor of the Morning Post of Raleigh. He was formerly city editor. Those who know Mr. Phillips feel satisfied that the directors have made a wise selection, and that under Mr. Phillips's editorial management the Post will lose none of that prestige and usefulness which were vouchsafed to it by the lamented Furman.

Mr. Phillips is a practiced newspaper man, having been in the work for the last fifteen years. For several years before taking the place as city editor of the Post he was editor of the Greensboro Evening Telegram. Mr. Phillips is a remarkably terse and forceful writer, having clearly in view what he wishes to write, and then writing it in the fewest words possible. He has a wide knowledge of State affairs. He is a man of fine Christian character, and is a useful member of Edenton Street Church. He came from fine Methodist stock, being a gradnson of the late Rev. Louis Phillips. The Advocate wishes the new editor much success in his new position.

A MEMORABLE WEEK.

The week beginning Saturday, April 28, and ending Saturday, June 4, is destined to live in North Carolina as a memorable week. Never before since the war have sensations so spectacular and deep-reaching engaged the public mind.

On Saturday, April 28, the application for a receivership for the A. and N. C. R. R., was considered by Judge Purnell, and Mr. T. D. Meares, of Wilmington, was appointed Receiver. On the following Monday, V. E. McBee was appointed Co-Receiver. It is safe to say that the majority of the people of the State deplored the appointment of a Receiver, since it is a generally held opinion that the Governor had determined to lease the road at the earliest possible moment. The appointment of Mr. McBee as Co-Receiver was taken as a direct blow in the face of the State, and was therefore ill-advised.

The Sunday morning's issue of the News and Observer contained some strictures on Judge Purnell's ruling, and consequently on Monday Judge Purnell issued a rule against Mr. Josephus Daniels, editor of the News and Observer, requiring him to appear and show reason why he should not be attached for contempt of court. On Tuesday the trial was held, and Mr. Daniels was adjudged to be in contempt and was fined $2,000, without the right of appeal. Mr. Daniels refused to pay the fine. He was held in the custody of the Marshal. The imposition of such an enormous fine and the holding Mr. Daniels in custody aroused intense feeling all over the State. His arrest was considered an encroachment of Federal power on the freedom of the press. Mr. Daniels received in the shape of letters and telegrams such an ovation as hardly any other man in the State had ever received. It showed how jealous the people of North Carolina are with regard to the freedom of the press and the sacredness of individual rights.

In the meantime, counsel for the State in the matter of the A. and N. C. R. R., secured from Chief Justice Fuller an order requiring the road to be held by the former officers until the case could be heard before the District Court in October. Messrs. Meares and McBee who had taken possession of the road were required to give over the property to the original officials.

On Thursday, Mr. Daniels secured a writ of habeas corpus, and on Friday the case was tried by Judge Pritchard, who ruled that not only was the fine imposed excessive, but that Judge Purnell exceeded his jurisdiction in holding Mr. Daniels in contempt. Mr. Daniels was released.

On the same day (Friday) the Supreme Court overruled Judge Peebles in attaching Messrs. Kerr, Southerland, and Carroll, for contempt in the case of Judge Peebles against the Lumberton lawyers. On the same day Judge Peebles dismissed the case against the lawyers, and once more is the State quiet.

We have given briefly the history of a memorable week. It contains lessons of great value. We will make later the comments we think necessary.

CRAVEN MEMORIAL PORTRAIT.

We are dispappointed in that we were not able to unveil the Craven Memorial Portrait on Tuesday, as we anticipated. Without compensation, and at great labor and expense, we undertook to secure for the Memorial Hall a handsome oil portrait of Dr. Braxton Craven, the first President of Trinity College. Our heart has been saddened by the thought that it is always safer for a man to have his monument made before he dies—that is, if that monument is to be erected by his friends. We have learned that the memory of the dead with many is very short-lived. Hundreds of Dr. Craven's old pupils and friends have not given anything to perpetuate his memory. Many to whom we have written have not responded.

But please remember that the portrait will be secured and paid for. You may depend on this. God is able to "raise up of these stones children unto Abraham." We thank heartily all those who have so nobly responded and we call on others to send us a contribution at once.

The following is the report since last week:

Mr. James A. Gray, Winston	$5.00
Gen. J. S. Carr, Durham	10.00
Capt. C. F. Siler	1.00
Rev. N. M. Jurney	1.00
Judge W. R. Allen	5.00
W. B. Dowd, Esq., New York	2.00
Prof. Jerome Dowd, Chicago	5.00
Amount previously reported	206.85
	235.85
Amount necessary	$500.00

DEATH OF REV. J. H. RICE.

Again are we called to announce the death of a member of the North Carolina Conference. Rev. J. M. Rice died on Monday morning, May 30th. We regret that we did not receive the news in time to publish it in last week's Advocate. Brother Rice was compelled several years ago to take a superannuated relation on account of impaired health. Since his superannuation, he has lived quietly, alternating between extreme sickness and partial recovery. He was a true Methodist preacher, faithful to his duty, and happy in the consciousness of God's approbation. It is unnecessary to say that he was ready to go. He wrote frequently to the Advocate, and his letters always breathed a spirit of deep consecration and entire resignation. The bereaved wife and children have the deepest sympathy of the Advocate. A memoir of the deceased will be furnished later by Rev. S. F. Nicks.

Rev. E. C. Glenn, of Greensboro, is assisting Rev. L. E. Thompson in a meeting at the Methodist church, which began last Sunday.

On Thursday, July 19th, an election will be held in Greensboro to determine whether that enterprising town will have prohibition or saloons.

Methodist Mention

State.

We would be glad to receive at once fifty copies of the Advocate of June 1st.

Dr. W. H. Moore, Presiding Elder, preached two excellent sermons at Edenton Street Church on last Sunday. The day was excessively warm, but he had a large number of attentive listeners.

Through the efforts of Mr. J. B. Danelly, superintendent, and others, a flourishing Y. M. C. A. has been formed at Pilot Mills, Raleigh. This Association has twenty-four members, and will do great work.

It was our pleasure to receive on last Saturday a visit from Prof. Ralph Fisher, of Roseboro, and his two little friends, Davis Martin and George Pool, pupils for the past year at the Institution for the Blind.

Messrs. W. H. Humphrey, Clerk of the Superior Court of Robeson County, and Editor Peterson, of the Lumberton Argus, were appreciative visitors last week. They were attending the habeas corpus trial in the Supreme Court.

A gracious revival was held in the Odd Fellows Orphan Home, Goldsboro, not long ago. About thirty-six orphans professed Christ. A number of these joined the Methodist Church. The Odd Fellows of the State are doing a great work.

Rev. A. P. Tyer conducted services in the Methodist Church Sunday morning and evening. His sermons were able and instructive and highly appreciated by the large congregations gathered there to hear one who was well known and loved by many of them when he was pastor here more than twenty years ago.—Lumberton Argus.

The following invitation tells the tale of another preacher's becoming tired of single life; and we wish him and his great happiness in life: "Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Turner request your presence at the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth to Rev. Wesley F. Craven, June 15th, 1904, nine o'clock a. m., at their residence, near Franklinton, N. C. At home, Roper, N. C., June 16, 1904."

Rev. Dr. T. H. Law, Field Agent of the American Bible Society, requests us to state he will be absent from his field for the next two months on a trip to Europe, whither he goes as a delegate to the General Council of Presbyterian church which meets in Liverpool June 28th. He, therefore, desires that during his absence all remitttances for the Bible Society be made directly to Mr. Wm. Foulke, Bible House, treasurer, New York.

W. E. Spruill, C. N. Wharton, Eugene Johnson, Mrs. Mamie J. Clay, and Miss Mollie Taylor, Directors, hold in trust about seven hundred acres of land near Littleton, and will establish a high school for boys. They wish to employ a Principal to take charge not later than July 1. 1904. There are on the ground three buildings that can be ready for use by October 1st. These three buildings will furnish accommodation for the Principal and thirty boarding pupils. The Principal, with one assistant lady teacher, will be needed by July 1st. The Principal will be paid a guaranteed salary. Address W. E. Spruill, Littleon, N. C.

A series of meetings began at the Methodist Church last Sunday morning, conducted by Evangelist Thos. H. Leitch, of Charleston, S. C. Preaching twice a day, at 11 a. m. and 8.30 p. m. Much interest is manifested in the meeting. Several have been converted and a number have asked the people of God to remember them in their prayers. Evangelist Leitch is an earnest, consecrated worker, and is bold and fearless in his denunciation of sin and vice. Good music is made by the choir, led by Mr. Marshall, who accompanies Evangelist Leitch. The meeting will continue till Sunday if not longer.—Sanford Express.

Rev. D. N. Caviness sends us the following concerning the matters on his charge: "Front Street Church has recently experienced one of the finest revivals in its history. Rev. E. C. Glenn did all the preaching, and did it well. His preaching was of a high order and intensely Methodistic, hence Scriptural. The greatest work done was in the conversion of church members of various churches. I believe there were at least one hundred and fifty church members converted. As a result of the meeting, thirty have joined our church. A number has joined some other churches. Brother Glenn is not an evangelist, but a revivalist. He and his good wife very greatly endeared themselves to our people."

Rev. C. O. DuRant has our sympathies in the loss by death of his mother, who died on April 22. He sends the following item: "We organized a church at Roberdell No. 2 on the fifth Sunday in May, with 12 members. We hope soon to double our membership there. I suppose I was the last preacher in the Conference to move. I arrived here at the Old Pee Dee parsonage on the 30th of March. Since that time we have done a good deal of repairing, which was sadly needed. However, we are about through with the carpenters' work, and if funds were in hand would give the old building a little dash of paint on the outside. asit has had its share on the inside. We are trusting for a large ingathering this year."

Connectional.

An exchange states that the Episcopal residence recently purchased in Texas for Bishop Hoss is to be abandoned, and another provided.

Our church at Brownsville, Tenn., has subscribed $2,740 for missions. This is in addition to the regular assessment which was paid some months ago.

The Wesleyan Advocate, Atlanta, states that the results of the recent election show that there are no less than sixteen Emory College graduates who will represent their respective counties in the lower house of the next Legislature.

The missionary exhibit at the General Conference in Los Angeles was visited by 102,563 persons, an average of 6,410 per day. All classes of people, from public school children to university professors and students, looked on the exhibit.

The official board of Centenary Church, St. Louis, have fitted up the spacious parlors and reception rooms of the church for lodging the preachers of the three Missouri Conferences in general and the St. Louis Conference in particular during the fair. Twelve persons can be accommodated at a time Invitations have been sent the preachers proffering these accommodations without cost.

The new Centenary Church building at Greensboro, N. C., will be very handsome. The seating capacity will be 1,200, the main auditorium seating 800 and the annex 400. The congregation hopes to occupy the annex by November. The old church is for sale, and the committee is ready to negotiate a sale, reserving the use of the house till the congregation can be accommodated in the new church.

We welcome the Baltimore Southern Methodist to our exchange list. It is neatly printed on excellent paper. The first issue gives every token that it will stand in the front rank of Southern Methodist papers. Rev. B. W. Bond is editor, and Rev. Charles Lynch, assistant. The paper starts out with nearly three thousand subscribers—a good beginning. We wish our new contemporary a career of great usefulness.

Dr. W. R. Lambuth will sail on June 4th for an extensive visit to our mission in Brazil, going direct to South America from New York. He will traverse the Rio Grande do Sul District and look into the status and prospects of mission work there, later coming north to the session of the Annual Conference. The presiding bishop will not attend that Conference this year. Dr. Lambuth expects to be absent about six months.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Publisher's Column

REQUEST NO. 1.

Brethren of the North Carolina Conference, please give special attention to the exhibit by Districts showing how many new subscribers have been sent in. You know that we are very desirous of securing the requisite number, 1,350, by June 15. This is the last week of our special offer. You will see that we lack only 57 of having the 1,350. Shall we fail when we are so near the goal? Will not every preacher in the Conference send us before June 15 at least one new subscriber? This will more than carry us to the point desired.

REQUEST NO. 2.

We are sending out this week a request to every circuit preacher to let us have at once a revised list of the postoffices on his charge at which the Advocate is taken. We trust that no preacher will fail to let us hear from him at once. We wish to place the subscribers' accounts in the hands of every preacher at once. We need the money now. This is the hard time of the year, and our expenses are not reduced. The paper we are giving you costs more than it ever did before. We might give you a paper which would not cost us so much to issue, but you would not appreciate it as much. Will you not remember us at this trying time of the year by sending us some renewals as well as new subscribers.

REQUEST NO. 3.

Dear subscriber, you whose subscription is due, read carefully "Request No. 2," and remember that your renewal would come in exceedingly handy just now. Do not wait for the preacher to come around, but rejoice us at once with your renewal. Won't you?

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them,and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1.350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following is the report since June 1.

Rev. W. E. Brown	3
Direct	3
L. H. Joyner	1
Rev. W. B. Humble	1
Rev. H. A. Humble	1
Mr. R. F. Wrenn	1
Rev. N. H. D. Wilson	1

The following is the report by Districts since May 4:

Wilmington District	45 increase 3
Fayetteville District	45 increase 3
New Bern District	15 increase 0
Warrenton District	15 increase 2
Rockingham District	13 increase 1
Elizabeth City District	8 increase 0
Washington District	7 increase 0
Raleigh District	5 increase 1
Durham District	3 increase 0

Total number of subscribers received since December 1, 1903, 1,204.

NORTH CAROLINA EPWORTH LEAGUE CONFERENCE

DEVOTION CHARITY LITERATURE EVANGELISM

EDITED BY REV. H. B. ANDERSON.

If the work of establishing Sunday-schools was committed to us, I have a vague notion we would move as slowly in that work as we are moving in this. Yet who does not recognize the value of the Sunday-school?

We may not realize that we can spare the time to organize and establish a League. Yet few of us would object to falling into that heritage of a well organized League, over which some other brother has prayed, wept, and shed his blood. If you think you can erect a monument of any kind worth its space without labor, toil and patience, it is more than I have ever been able to do; and—well, I don't want your job. Don't think it's an easy thing to set a first-class League a-going.

Personal Evangelism.

In the Pullman sleeper which brought me back from California were some fifteen or eighteen passengers. Among the number was a lady from Washington. She was a woman of intelligence and of unusual ability as a conversationalist. During the journey from Los Angeles to Kansas City, she labored personally and persistently with every passenger in that coach, including myself. What was the theme of her conversation? Christian Science, so-called. I never saw a Christian woman labor for the salvation of the unsaved with half the intensity and persistency with which this woman labored to convince us of the truth of the doctrines of Christian Science. During the last day as we were coming along through Kansas, I said to myself: "That woman makes me ashamed of myself. Here I have been riding with these people for three days, have enjoyed as great opportunities as she has enjoyed, and yet I have not said one word to anyone about Jesus Christ, my Saviour and my Lord." That night I took a walk through the train. I entered one of the tourist sleepers. I noticed that one of the berths was occupied. I said to the porter: "Is there anyone in that berth, and is the person ill?" He replied that a young man was there who was very ill indeed, and they had been afraid during the whole journey that he would not live to reach Chicago. The porter secured for me an invitation to go and visit the young man. I put my head in between the curtains, and there saw a young fellow not more than twenty-two or three, with pale face and sunken eyes, and the crimson glow upon his cheeks which told of tuberculosis in an advanced stage. I asked his pardon for intruding, and he said he was glad I had come, for he was very, very lonely. In feeble voice, he told me about his trip from his eastern home last autumn, seeking health in California. But the climate had not agreed with him, and he was now returning home to die. I spoke sympathetically, and tried to cheer him up, and he brightened perceptibly upon hearing my words. I was afraid I would weary him, and was about to leave. But I thought of the Christian Science woman and how desperately in earnest she was to win people to her belief. So I turned back, and said: "I hope, my boy, you are a Christian. If you are not, Christ yearns to save you just now. Have you learned to trust Him yet? He is such a true, generous friend. You ought to have Him to help you in your loneliness to-night." The boy's eyes filled with tears, and then he whispered something that thrilled me through and through, and has been ringing in my ears ever since. Said he: "I'm glad you have come to tell me that. I do want to find Him, and I didn't just know how. I have been wondering ever since we left Los Angeles whether there was anybody on this train who was a Christian and who would help me to find Christ." I quoted some of the invitations and promises of the Master, and after a few words of prayer, left him. The next morning before we reached Chicago, I went to see the dying boy. I looked in through the curtains, and did not need anyone to tell me that Jesus had been there during the night. He grasped my hand joyfully, and as he pressed it he said: "You had not been gone five minutes last night before I was able to look up through the darkness and see Jesus Christ. He is my Savior now. I have been too happy all night to sleep."

There are all about us, every hour of every day, opportunities for just such service as that. There are discouraged souls that need comfort. There are sin-sick souls that need salvation. There are men and women who in their heart of hearts are longing for the Christ. But Christian people pass them by in indifference, and they are not saved. The great demand of our time is for men and women anointed from above to go to their friends and neighbors and plead with them to be reconciled to God.—Rev. J. F. B. in Canadian Era.

FIGHT WILL BE BITTER.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall, of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once, and four bottles entirely cured her." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

"Starts to work with the first dose." Let Rheumacide begin today the campaign against disease in your body. At all druggists.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

One Fare Plus $2.00

FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

Tickets on sale every Wednesday and Saturday. Return limit, sixty days.

The Frisco System in connection with the Rock Island System from Memphis offers the best route.

Write for literature and full particulars.

S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

HICKS' CAPUDINE

NEVER FAILS TO CURE HEADACHES AND COLDS

The great Indigestion and Sour Stomach remedy. Perfectly harmless! Unequalled for Nervousness and Brain Fag.

At All Druggists 10c. 25c. 50c.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company

THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO

California and the Pacific Coast!

Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.

For particulars address

J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA

R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.

..."SUNSET ROUTE."...

Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.

4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.

Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.

OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.

Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.

No trouble to answer questions.

J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.

R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES

VIA

Seaboard Air Line Railway

TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for June 12, 1904.

Christ Crucified.

(Mark 15: 22-39.)

Golden Text: Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures. (1 Cor. 15: 3.)

A most helpful book upon the period of Christ's history which we are now studying is "The Trial and Death of Jesus Christ," by Dr. James Stalker. (Published by American Tract Society, 150 Nassau Street, New York City. Price $1.50, postpaid.)

The spirit in which we should approach the narrative of this lesson is beautifully expressed by Godet, who writes: "When the angel of the Eternal appeared to Moses in the burning bush, he forbade him to approach without taking his shoes off his feet; 'for,' said he, 'the place whereon thou standest is holy ground.' The cross is also a burning bush. Let us not approach this holy place until we have removed from our hearts every carnal, worldly or profane thought!"

The lesson properly includes the whole story of the Crucifixion, and should therefore be studied with the aid of a good Harmony of the Gospels. An interesting and helpful treatment may be found in taking the utterances of Christ as he hung upon the Cross, and weaving around them the various incidents which occurred during the closing hours of the earthly life of our Lord. These utterances of Jesus are known as the Seven Words of the Cross.

The First Word.—"Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." (Luke 23: 34.) This prayer for forgiveness for his executioners probably fell from the Saviour's lips just as he was being nailed to the Cross. It furnishes us with a sublime illustration of the Master's own teaching, "Pray for them which despitefully use you."

The Second Word.—"Verily I say unto thee, to-day shalt thou be with me in paradise." (Luke 23: 43.) This was the Master's promise to the repentant thief, and it has been the ground of eternal hope for many another who, in the closing hours of a sinful life, has turned in faith to the Saviour.

The Third Word.—"Woman, behold thy son!" . . . "Behold thy mother!" (John 19: 26-27.) It was to Mary, his mother, and the apostle John that the Master gave this message. There is infinite pathos in the scene that presents itself to our minds as we think of this parting between Jesus and his mother.

The Fourth Word.—"My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mark 15: 34.) This utterance marks the moment of deepest anguish for our Saviour, when even the Father seemed to be withdrawing His presence and help. Into this mystery of mysteries we cannot presume to enter.

The Fifth Word.—"I thirst!" (John 19: 28.) This was the only expression of physical suffering which fell from the lips of Jesus through all the long hours of his mortal agony. In answer to this piteous cry, a sponge moistened with sour wine (vinegar) was put to his mouth.

The Sixth Word.—"It is finished." (John 19: 30.) This impressive utterance indicates the completion of the work of redemption on the part of the Son of man. It emphasizes the fact that the earthly work of Jesus was perfect—there was absolutely nothing lacking.

The Seventh Word.—"Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit." (Luke 23: 46.) This last utterance of our Saviour shows us that his thoughts were turned toward heaven. It indicates the right attitude for every follower of Jesus, when the hour of death draws near.

CURES BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES, ITCHING HUMORS, ECZEMA, SCROFULA, ETC.

Send no money—simply write and try Botanic Blood Balm at our expense. A personal trial of Blood Balm is better than a thousand printed testimonials, so don't hesitate to write for a free sample.

If you suffer from ulcers, eczema, scrofula, Blood Poison, cancer, eating sores, itching skin, pimples, boils, bone pains, swellings, rheumatism, catarrh, or any blood or skin diseases we advise you to take Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) Especially recommended for old, obstinate, deep-seated cases of malignant blood or skin diseases, because Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) kills the poison in the blood, cures where all else fails, heals every sore, makes the blood pure and rich, gives the skin the rich glow of health. B. B. B., the most perfect blood purifier made. Thoroughly tested for thirty years. Costs $1.00 per large bottle at drug-stores. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

This is an honest offer—medicine sent at once, prepaid.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent,
Raleigh, N. C.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N.C.

For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit. Nerve Exhaustion.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH BELLS

AT $5.35 for 20-inch 165-pound, $10.15 for 25-inch 270-pound, we sell all sizes of bells at one-half the prices usually asked. $1.31 buys best 50-pound farm bell. Finest crystalline metal, quality and volume of tone unequaled. Guaranteed against breakage for 5 years. For most astonishing bell offer, liberal terms, complete catalogue, write for FREE CATALOGUE OF BELLS. Address: SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

A COSTLY MISTAKE.

Blunders are sometimes very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you'll never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, Liver or Bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. Twenty-five cents at all drug stores.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No slaughtering oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure internal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment," but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

..California...
Knight Templars—Odd Fellows
The Last Opportunity of the Season.

Beginning August 15th and continuing daily to September 9th round-trip tickets will be sold account of the above conventions from all points in the Southeast to either Los Angeles or San Francisco at extremely low rates, with final return limit October 23rd.

Tickets will permit of ten days stop-over at St. Louis and allow holder privilege of going one route and returning another without additional cost, except that tickets returning via Portland an additional charge of $11.00 will be made.

The Frisco-Rock Island Systems offer excellent routes in either direction.

Write for rates, descriptive literature and full information, and let us plan your trip.

S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

LIBERTY MILLS

PRODUCES DAILY 4,000 BARRELS OF Pure Soft Wheat Flour

AND THERE IS HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN EVERY POUND.

Ask Your Grocer.

LIBERTY MILLS, Nashville, Tenn.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS

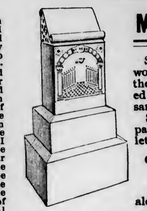
VALLEY FORGE BELLS WORTHY, NOBLE POPULAR, LOWER PRICE. SUPERB CATALOGUE FREE. WRITE TODAY. Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

Please mention this paper.

DON'T

give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh Marble Works



Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State. Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.

Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS.			STATIONS.		NOR. BOUND TRAINS.
Daily, ex. S.					Daily, ex. S.
Second-Class	First-Class				First-Class	Second-Class
101	105				104	102
A. M.	P. M.		Lv.	Ar.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15				9 45	5 25
7 35	4 25				9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30				9 20	6 15
7 54	4 39				9 20	6 05
8 00	4 45				9 14	6 00
8 15	4 52				9 10	5 55
8 25	4 56				8 58	5 40
8 30	4 59				8 55	5 36
8 50	5 07				8 50	5 30
9 05	5 15				8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17				8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22				8 33	5 01
9 25	5 30				8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31				8 29	4 35
9 45	5 36				8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45				8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50				8 00	4 06
10 15	6 00				7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10				7 45	3 50
A. M.	P. M.		Ar.	Lv.	P. M.	P. M.

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM

OPERATES

Double Daily Trains

Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).

Electric Lighted Throughout

BETWEEN

Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City

AND TO ALL POINTS IN

Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories

AND THE

Far West and Northwest.

THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.

ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP

Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to

F. E. CLARK, TRAV. PASS'R AGT., ATLANTA, GA.

S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

Secular News

STATE.

Judge Pritchard has purchased a residence in Asheville, and will make that city his home.

The Christian denomination has collected about $5,000 for the purpose of establishing an orphanage, but have not yet decided on the location.

The contest for the Democratic nomination for Governor continues growing warmer. Both Mr. Glenn and Mr. Stedman's supporters claim they are in the lead.

Judge Pritchard last week retired from the bench of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and went to Richmond Wednesday to take the oath of office as Circuit Judge.

Charlotte will vote on the liquor question July 5—the issue being whether the city shall continue to have saloons, or shall have a dispensary or prohibition in lieu thereof.

The eighty-eighth annual Protestant Episcopal Convention of the diocese of North Carolina, began in Christ Church, this city, today. A very large attendance is expected.

The net profits of the Raleigh dispensary this year will be at least $60,000, half going to the city, the revenue of which from bar rooms under the old system of license was only $7,000.

The bulletin of the State Board of Health says 37 counties have smallpox, the census aggregating 700—Durham, 125; Ashe, 200; Greene, 40; Vance, 42; Caswell, 32; Forsyth, 23; Richmond, 20.

According to Col. Olds there are 142 agricultural students at the A. & M. College—more than in any other department. Up to three years ago 17 was the largest number of agricultural students.

According to the last census, tobacco was produced more or less in every county in this State in the year 1899, the year for which statistics were collected, save Camden, Iredell, Mecklenburg and Union.

The Sanford Express says a bank can now be found in nearly every small town in the country. Ten or fifteen years ago very few banks could be found in towns in this State that had fewer than 5,000 people. There are now six banks in Moore County and the population of all the towns put together wouldn't make much over 5,000. Four of these banks are within two miles of each other. Does so many banks mean prosperity?

Situations. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY. FOR CIRCULAR OF THE "Cheapest and best College."

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY

Refers to thousands of successful graduates. Cost to complete Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board, about $90. Phonography, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. Address WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

COACH EXCURSIONS TO ST. LOUIS, MO., EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY IN JUNE VIA C. & O. ROUTE AT SPECIAL COACH EXCURSION RATES.

On each Tuesday and Thursday during the month of June, special ten day coach excursion rates will be in effect to St. Louis and return via C. & O. Railway. See display ad. for rates. Fast vestibuled trains with through coaches to St. Louis via Cincinnati and Big Four routes.

For further information, address W. O. WARTHEN, Dist. Pass. Agt., C. & O. Railway, Richmond, Va.

THE KING OF BLOOD PURIFIERS SSS

No remedy ever yet discovered has met with such popular favor as S. S. S. The people everywhere indorse it, and there are few homes where S. S. S. for the blood is not known and used. It is superior in many ways to the ordinary blood medicines. In the first place S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable compound, made exclusively of medicinal roots selected for their wonderful purifying and tonic properties that act upon the blood, purging it of impurities and restoring it to a healthy, natural condition. At the same time, under its tonic effects the general system improves, the sluggish organs are toned up, and renewed strength and vigor and better health is the result. No bad after-effects follow the use of S. S. S., as so often happens with blood medicines containing strong minerals, which derange the stomach and digestion and in other ways damage the system. For diseases of the blood, such as Chronic Sores, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Boils and Pimples, Eczema, Tetter, Blood Poisons, and other troubles due to impure or bad condition of the blood, no remedy acts so promptly and thoroughly as S. S. S. It reaches deep-seated, long-standing cases, upon which the ordinary potash and sarsaparilla compounds have no effect. Even where there is an hereditary predisposition to disease, S. S. S will search out and remove from the blood the fixed poison and build up the health; it enriches and purifies weak, thin blood and stimulates the circulation. Pure blood is essential to health. You can exist without good blood, but can never be robust and strong; for every organ, tissue and nerve in the body looks to the blood for nourishment, and unless this vital fluid is kept in a pure, healthy state, the rest of the body suffers and the system soon breaks down. Nature has provided in S. S. S. a remedy for diseases of the blood which long experience and a thorough test have proven superior to all others, and the acknowledged "King of Blood Purifiers."

ALWAYS KEEPS S. S. S. ON HAND.

Monticello, Ark., May 21, 1903.

Gentlemen:—For about twelve years I have been using your S. S. S. as a household remedy. I have taken it as a tonic and appetizer, and believe there is none better. I have used it for my children at various times for little skin eruptions, boils and poisons caused by playing with weeds. S. S. S. is my standard, never mind what is the matter. If I use a bottle of S. S. S. it tones up the system, cleanses the blood and makes me well again. As an all-round family medicine I consider S. S. S. the best remedy of the kind that have I ever used, and generally keep it on hand as a family remedy. MRS. V. C. WHITTINGTON.

OUR MEDICAL DEPARTMENT, in charge of graduated physicians, is an important part of our business, maintained for the benefit of those who need advice or special information in regard to their case. Write us, and our physicians will advise you without charge.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE ONLY "FRATERNAL" HOTEL ON THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS IS THE

Fraternal Home Hotel

Clayton Road, 2 blocks West of Skinner Road.

Endorsed by the Leading Fraternities.

100 yards from Main South Entrance to the World's Fair. Take Market Street Car Line from Union Station to Terminus (West End Heights), walk one block West to the to the top of the Hill. Under the control of the Exposition Management as to Safe Methods of Construction and Uniform Fixed Rates.

IT IS AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT—Every room an outside room. Away from all the noise of railroads and street cars. A quiet, homelike place. Pure filtered water. Electrically lighted. Window Screens for every room. A Special Low Rate of $1.00 per day per person to all parties who write and mention th's paper during this month. Send $1.00 for Certificate of Credit. This secures your reservation in advance. The balance is paid on arrival at the hotel. The low rate of One Dollar per day does not include meals. Meals 50 cents. Also a la carte service at moderate prices. All rooms accommodate two persons (separate beds if desired). New Building—New Furniture. A thoroughly Up-to-date Hotel —Extra precaution taken to prevent fire—Free telephone service.

As only a limited number of Certificates of Credit will be issued, and as they are going fast, do not delay in writing for them. Send for descriptive circular and rates for rooms en suite, with private bath.

Fraternal Home Hotel Co.,

Dept. A., Downtown Office, Second Floor, 720-722 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

THE

Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association

Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds

Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.

This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the : : : : : : : : :

Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.

For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us

Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION.

Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.

RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

A. D. JONES & CO

Southern Factory Distributors for the World's Famous

KIMBALL

WE Loan you the money to buy them.

WE Give free trials.

WE Pay the freight.

WE Save you 25 per cent.

WE Add nothing to the principal when sold on

EASY PAYMENTS.

Write for our latest piano and organ catalogue and full particulars.

A. D. JONES & CO., 208 South Elm Street, GREENSBORO, N. C.

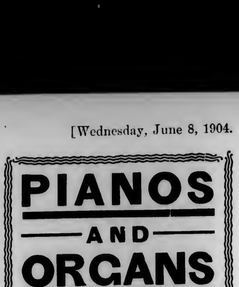
Dixie Boy Shoe



BUILT ON HONOR TO WEAR

There are Ten Million (10,000,000) boys in America who ought to wear "DIXIE BOY" Shoes. Why? Because "Dixie Boy" is ALL SOLID LEATHER MADE

DO IT NOW

Ask your Dealer next time for "Dixie Boy," and get the best.

Geo. D. Witt Shoe Co.

Makers of fine Shoes

Lynchburg, Va.

THE NEW HYMN BOOK

270 songs every one can sing, 100 new.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S

SONGS OF PRAISE

By IRA D. SANKEY.

4 EDITIONS: REGULAR, CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR, EPWORTH LEAGUE, BAPTIST Y. P. UNION. All editions in Round or SHAPED NOTES.

256-272 pages, Full Cloth Bound, $25 per 100; 30c. per copy postpaid.

THE BIGLOW & MAIN CO.,

137 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK. 216 Clark Street, CHICAGO.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:

REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order, or Registered letter.

Receipts up to June 4.

Franklinton S. S., $10.00; Lilesville Church, window, $4.00; Lilesville Church, general fund, .35c.; New Bern, on subs., $75.00; New Bern, cash, .50c.; Henderson S. S., $15.68; Grifton S. S., $6.72; Black's Chapel S. S., $2.10; Tabor, Easter offering, $6.87; Ebenezer, $2.95; Smith's and Pearce's $1.73; Elizabeth S. S., $5.00; Miss Kittie Sanders, $5.00; Morehead City S. S., $30.00; Miss Fannie B. Jenkins, $2; J. M. Howard's S. S. class on subs., $10.00; Rev. R. W. Bailey on subs., $6.55; Rockingham S. S., $25.00; Mrs. L. P. McKay, $5.00; Mrs. J. M. Rhodes, window, $4.00; Rocky Mount, $32.75; W. A. Pearce on subs., $10.00; Cash, $1.00; Roper S. S., $5.00; Ebenezer, Tar River Circuit, $2.24; J. E. Nicholson, window, $4.00; Rev. D. H. Tuttle, on subs., $13.25; Rev. D. H. Tuttle, on window, $4.00; Rev. D. H. Tuttle, general fund, $1.00.

Our Visitors from Abroad.

Rev. J. B. Streeter, Superintendent of the North Carolina Children's Home Society, at Greensboro, N. C., spent a short while with us Tuesday evening, and looked over our plant. He is doing a fine work in getting homes for orphan children.

Drs. Whitaker and Nicholson, two of the disciples of Aesculapius, in attendance upon the Medical Convention, called to see us Wednesday evening.

Sister Speight and daughters, Mrs. Duncan and Hook, and a lady friend, also.

Come again friends.

That Collection, Sunday Schools, etc.

If the preachers in charge will take the collection in this month, June, and the Sunday-schools will pay up to date, the work on our new building will go on to completion. Brethren, will you not do it? You said you would. Several of our strongest Sunday-schools have sent us nothing up to date. This embarrasses us. The current expenses must be met.

Let all the Sunday-schools organize, and let me know how much they will give per month, or quarter. We will then know nearly how many more children to take when our new building is ready to take them. We hope to hear by the first week in September. Meanwhile, let the friends send in their gifts. Gold, silver, bills, checks, etc.

New Bern.

Beautiful Old-New New Bern, is forging to the front. That fine new Methodist church will be one of its chief ornaments when completed. Methodism is a great power in that town. Adams is growing, so is the town, so is Methodism. They treated this scribe kindly and paid up their subscriptions. He who sleeps, and eats with Munger and Meadows finds rest and good picking. Phone us again when you want us. G. T.

Rocky Mount.

When I first knew Rocky Mount it was a struggling village of a dozen houses. Now, with South Rocky Mount, and the Falls, it stretches along for about four miles. It is one of our thrifty, bustling towns, with a great future before it. But few remain of those who were there in fifty-eight. I preached in the same old church. But hope to preach in the new one when I go again. Ground will be broken very soon for a new church and a new parsonage. Rone is the man to build it. He is one man that was not spoiled for the pastorate by being Presiding Elder so long. Eight years is long enough for any man to be P. E. and twelve for Bishop.

Ebenezer-Tar River Circuit.

The fourth Sunday and Saturday before, was spent at Ebenezer on the Tar River Circuit, with Rev. A. L. Ormond, P. C. It was pleasant to be there to meet a few old friends and to talk Orphanage to the children of my friends of long ago.

The Sunday-school there agreed to join the Circuit in supporting an orphan. They will pay one-fourth of the amount. I expect to enroll the Tar River Circuit Sunday-schools soon, among those who support an orphan. What Circuit will be next? Brother Ormond is doing well on the "Old Tar River."

I have been roasted several times for dunning those who had paid. Of course we expect all honest men to pay their subscriptions, if they are able to do it. It is a loss of time. I am sure, if I had spent the time last year in canvassing, that I spent in trying to collect subscriptions, I would have more money, and more friends. A man would rather make a gift, than pay a debt. I am done dunning. Do I hear an echo? So mote it be! Now for giving that will make all happy.

Our bees swarmed last Sunday. Do they always swarm on Sunday? So our plant has increased a hundred per cent. Now, if each of these swarm, how many per cent will that be? But won't that be nice?

A NOTRE DAME LADY.

I will send free, with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure of Leucorrhœa, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Scanty or Painful Periods, Tumors or Growths, Hot Flashes, Desire to Cry, Creeping feeling up the Spine, Pain in the Back, and all Female Troubles, to all sending address. To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a Successful Home Treatment. If you decide to continue it will only cost about 12 cents a week to guarantee a cure. Tell other sufferers of it, that is all I ask. If you are interested, write now and tell your suffering friends of it. Address, Mrs. M. Summers, Box 238 Notre Dame, Ind.

Quarterly Meetings.

WARRENTON DISTRICT.

G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Cokesbury, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 6
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12

THIRD ROUND.

Enfield and Halifax, Enfield, June 19, 20
Warrenton, Hebron, June 25, 26
Littleton, Bethel, July 2, 3
Northampton, Pleasant Grove, July 5
Conway, Sharon, July 6
Murfreesboro, July 7
Bertie, White Oak, July 9, 10
Harrellsville, Colrane, July 10, 11
Hobgood, Epworth, July 13
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, July 16, 17
Scotland Neck, July 18
Roanoke Circuit, New Hope, 23, 24
Roanoke Rapids, July 23, 24
Rich Square, Woodland July 31

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

New River, Snead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.

John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.

THIRD ROUND—IN PART.

Rockingham Station, June 4, 5
Roberdel Circuit, Mt. Pleasant, June 11, 12
Hamlet Circuit, Snead's Grove, June 18, 19
Richmond Circuit, St Paul, June 25, 26
Laurenburg Station, July 3, 4
Rowland Circuit, Oak Grove, July 9, 10
Robeson Circuit, Olivet, July 16, 17
St John and Gibson, Gibson, July 23, 24

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.

J. E. Underwood, P. E., E. City, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Pasquotank Ct., Union, June 11, 12
Elizabeth City, City Road, June 12
Hertford Ct., Evans, June 18, 19
Edenton, at night, June 19
Kennekeet, (C. M.) June 21, 26
Hatteras, June 27
Roanoke Island, July 3, 4
Perquimans, Hertford, July 9, 10
Gates Philadelphia (D. C.) July 13, 17
North Gates, Parker's, July 17, 18
Camden, Newlands, July 23, 24
Elizabeth City (First Church), night, July 24
Moyock, Concord, July 30, 31
Currituck, Mt. Zion, Aug 6, 7
Kitty Hawk, Aug 7, 8
Columbia, Aug 13, 14
Daro, Aug 14, 15
Pantego and Belhaven, Aug 20, 21
Roper, Pleasant Grove, Aug 27, 28
Plymouth, Aug 28, 29

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 14
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Bentral, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 9, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Keuly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 8
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5

THIRD ROUND.

South Edgecombe, Sandy Cross, June 11, 12
Wilson Circuit, Barrefoots, June 18, 19
Wilson Station, night, June 19
Fremont, Pelverton, June 25, 26
South Rocky Mount, night, June 29
Bath, Bethany, July 2, 3
Washington, night, July 4
Robersonville, Jamesville, July 9, 10
Rocky Mount, night, July 13
Swan Quarter, Statesville, July 16, 17
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, July 19
Matlamuskeet, Mt. Pleasant, July 21
Fairfield, July 23, 24
Farmville, Long, July 30, 31
Nashville, Belford, August 6, 7
Springhope, Gold Valley, August 8
Bethel, Conetoe, August 13, 14
Tarboro, night, August 14
Grimesland & Vanceboro, Providence, Aug 20, 21
Greenville, night, Aug 22
Aurora, Campbell's Creek, Aug 27, 28

NEW BERN DISTRICT.

F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.

SECOND ROUND.

St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12

THIRD ROUND.

Mt. Olive, at Faison, June 18, 19
Goldsboro Circuit, Pine Forest, June 25, 26
St. Paul, 26
District Conference, Beaufort, June 30 July 3
Jones Circuit, Shady Grove, July 9, 10
Kinston, July 10
Craven Circuit, Beech Grove, July 16, 17
Centenary, New Bern, July 17

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

J. B. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Fayetteville Circuit, Camp Ground, June 4, 5
Hope Mills, Fishers, June 11, 12
Cokesbury, Tabor, June 18, 19
Dunn Station, June 25, 26
Haw River, Ebenezeer, July 2, 3
Carthage, Ingram Branch, July 8, 10
Elise, Mt. Carmel, July 9, 10
Siler City, Mt. Vernon, July 16, 17
Jonesboro, (District Conference), July 23, 24
Pittsboro, Chatham, July 30, 31
Lillington, Cool Springs, August 6, 7
Buckhorn, Harnett Chapel, August 13, 14
Sanford, Lemon Springs, August 20, 21
Goldstone, Maroneys, August 27, 28
Newton Grove, September 3, 4
Duke, September 10, 11
Sampson, September 17, 18
Fayetteville, Hay Street, September 24, 25

DURHAM DISTRICT.

J. T. Gibbs, P. E., Durham, N. C.

THIRD ROUND.

Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham, Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night
Milton, Providence, June 25, 26
Hillsboro, Walnut Grove, July 2, 3
Leasburg, Union, July 9, 10
Chapel Hill, July 16, 17
Yanceyville Prospect, July 23, 24
Alamance, Clover Garden, August 6, 7
Burlington, Prospect, August 13, 14
Burlington Station, August 21, 22
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, at Haw River, August 27, 28
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, September 3, 4

The Princess Anne Hotel,

Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer or vacation. One hundred feet from ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to Jas. S. Groves, President and Manager, Virginia Beach, Va.

This Ad is Worth 40c.

Cut it out and send in 60 cents and you will receive a $1.00 box containing 20 five cents packages of Valentino's Old Fashioned Sweet Gum, "the kind mother used to chew." It sweetens the breath, aids digestion, is recommended for Asthma and promotes good health. For sale by all dealers at five cents per package. Address VALENTINO MFG. CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

GREAT REVIVALS and the .... GREAT REPUBLIC

:: BY ::

BISHOP WARREN A. CANDLER, D. D., LL.D.

..12 mo., cloth; 286 pages..

Price: $1.25

Postpaid.

SMITH & LAMAR, Agents, Dallas, Texas Nashville, Tenn.

WOOL

If you have wool to sell for cash, to exchange for goods, or to be manufactured, ship it to the CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, ELKIN, N. C., and you will not regret it. They pay the highest market price and make the best goods you can get. Their blankets at all the leading expositions have been awarded GOLD MEDALS as the finest made in America.

WRITE THEM FOR SAMPLES.

XANTHINE! PROF. HERTZ' GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE

Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.

If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say

At druggists. Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it send to Elkhart or our New York office. Charges Prepaid. Highest testimonials. Write us for booklet. XANTHINE COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS

ELIXIR BABEK

The Quick and Sure Cure for MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.

It is a powerful tonic and appetizer. Will cure that tired feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C. Price 50cts.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

Marriages

WELLS—SPENCER.—In Washington, N. C., April 27, 1904, Dr. A. S. Wells and Miss Susan J. Spencer, Rev. L. E. Thompson officiating.

DENNIS—OGLESBY.—At Wildwood, N. C., February 10, 1904, Mr. A. H. Dennis and Miss Mary Lee Oglesby, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

LEONARD—TAYLOR.—At Mr. N. H. Taylor's, Harlowe, N. C., Mr. T. L. Leonard and Miss Allena Pearl Taylor,, April 19, 1904, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

MANN—GARNER.—At Mr. Rufus Garner's, near Newport, N. C., March 16, 1904, Mr. Gibeon L. Mann and Miss Winnie L. Garner, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

ELLIOTT—BECTON.—At Rev. F. S. Becton's, Bachelor, N. C., Mr. Jas. H. Elliott, Jr., of Newport, N. C., and Miss Mamie Becton, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

ALDRIDGE— HARDESTY.— In the Methodist church, Newport, N. C., April 27, 1904, Mr. A. S. Aldridge of Oriental, N. C., and Miss Matilda Hardesty, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

WETHERINGTON — DAUGHERTY.—In Asbury church, Craven County, N. C., April 13, 1904, Mr. J. E. Wetherington to Miss Ada T. Daugherty, W. H. Townsend officiating.

McKENZIE—BRUNER.—At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Bruner, at Maxton, N. C., W. B. McKenzie, of Florida, and Miss Willie M. Bruner, by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson.

WHITEHURST — CARRAWAY. —At Mr. E. F. Carraway's, Merrimon, N. C., April 18, 1904, Mr. Simon H. Whitehurst, New Bern, N. C., and Miss Essie Ray Carraway, J. H. M. Giles officiating.

RIDDICK—WILLEY.—At Kittrells church, Willeyton, N. C., Tuesday, May 3rd, Mr. Wm. Mills Riddick, of Gates, N. C., to Miss Annie M. Willey, of Willeyton, N. C., Rev. W. H. Brown officiating.

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

HENDERSON.—Cora F. Henderson, beloved daughter of Fletcher and Mary O. Johnson, was born in Duplin County, N. C., January 2, 1881. She was converted in early life and joined the Methodist Church. On February 20, 1901, she was happily married to Mr. W. D. Henderson, of Roschill, N. C., where she lived a consecrated Christian life until her work on earth was done. On April 27, 1904, the Lord took her from a happy home and loved ones on earth to live with God and the redeemed in heaven.

Let us take up the cross.
Till we the crown obtain,
And gladly reckon all things loss,
So we may Jesus gain.

J. W. MARTIN.

WHITE.—Died in the 63rd year of her age, on April 24, 1904, Mrs. Lydia L. White. She was a member of the M. E. Church, South, at Fletcher's Chapel, and was a devout Christian. She had been afflicted with consumption for several years, and her valuable life was only prolonged by the best medical skill and tenderest nursing, but finally the frail body had to succumb and the pure spirit took its flight to that "house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." She had a most amiable disposition, her bereaved husband says she had not spoken a cross or unkind word to him during their long married life. May the Lord comfort him and the heart-broken children.

T. J. DAILEY.

AVENT.—Chloe H. Avent, wife of the late Rev. Isaac W. Avent, passed to her reward April 24, 1904. She had been a faithful member of the Methodist Church since childhood. Almost an invalid for many years, yet she patiently endured affliction and died in the triumph of faith. Side by side with other loved ones her body now sleeps in Cokesbury cemetery to await the resurrection morn. How could one think of sister Avent as other than good. Her father, Geo. W. Pegram, though dead for twenty years, still lives for good in the memory of many people here, and her husband was a faithful member of the North Carolina Conference for forty-seven years. One by one we are gathered home. The meeting will be glorious.

G. W. STARLING.

HOLLOWAY.—Naomi Holloway, daughter of Bro. J. A. and Henrietta Holloway, died near Redwood, Durham County, N. C., in her seventeenth year, of typhoid fever.

Her parents had planned large things for her, and she was making good use of her opportunities when called upon to quit these mortal shores. Her teacher considered her one of the most promising students she had ever taught.

Naomi was a girl loved because of her modesty and kindness, as manifested to all she met.

Naomi was a good girl.

At the protracted meeting at Fletchers Chapel, under the ministry of the writer, in the year 1902, she was converted to God, and on the 9th of October, 1902, joined the church at that place, and was a true member till death removed her from the church militant to the church triumphant.

May heaven's richest blessings rest upon the bereaved parents and lonely ones who have lost a dear sister and friend.

J. B. THOMPSON, P. C.

HOUSE. — Mrs. Lucy House, daughter of Bro. I. B. and sister Nannie Lane, was born August 3, 1879, and entered into the heavenly rest April 20, 1904.

In her youth sister House was beautiful in person, circumspect in conduct, graceful in manner and generous in nature. It was her chief joy to perform kindly acts for friends and acquaintances. It was happiness to her to make others happy. It seemed natural to her to be good and do right. In early life her heart turned towards Christ as the flower turns its petals towards the rising sun. Under the ministry of Rev. W. J. Crowson she gave her heart and life to the Savior, and united with the M. E. Church, South, where she led an unblemished, cheerful, Christian life till death set her spirit free.

On December 28, 1898, sister House was happily married to Mr. H. H. House. In her home, she was a charming light, an inspiration to her husband, a guardian angel to her children, and a benediction to all who entered the sacred circle.

Wherever she moved her sweet influence was extended, so that to know her was to love her. A neighbor said to the writer that she did not have an enemy in the world.

This mother in Israel, bore her fatal painful illness with Christian fortitude, patience and hope, and departed in full assurance of a blissful immortality.

May a gracious Father comfort all the bereaved relations and keep them unto eternal life.

W. H. TOWNSEND.

SUFFERED A THOUSAND DEATHS

Five Physicians had done their best to cure James Wilkes, of Dillon, S. C., who had one of the most terrible cases of RHEUMATISM on record. They all failed until one doctor prescribed—

Rheumacide

IT CURED HELPLESS CRIPPLE.

Mr. Wilkes writes in the course of a long letter, dated August 18, 1902: "My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly 12 months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, told me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used 5½ bottles and was completely cured."

Dr. J. P. Ewing confirms Mr. Wilkes' statement in every particular.

FREE TRIAL BOTTLE SENT ON APPLICATION TO

BOBBITT CHEMICAL CO., PROPRIETORS, BALTIMORE, MD

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Fayetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

....Chesapeake and Ohio Railway....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.
SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.
Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application
SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS
On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Correspondingly low rates from other stations Special accommodations arranged for parties. Stop-overs permitted within limit at C. & O. celebrated mountain resorts.
USE THE C. & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address
W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

Normal and Collegiate Institute FOR Young Women,
FALL TERM opens September 21, 1904. ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA.
1. A Normal course for thorough training of teachers under instructors from best normal schools.
2. A Commercial Course, including Stenography, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, etc.
3. A Course of Domestic Science, including (a) Scientific Cooking, (b) Draughting, Cutting, Fitting, and Making of Garments.
4. An admirable Musical Department has been provided under trained and experienced teachers.
5. Systematic study of the Bible in all Departments.
6. Terms for Board and Tuition in any of the Departments, $50 per term, or $100 per year.
For Catalogue, address REV. THOMAS LAWRENCE, D. D., ASHEVILLE, N. C.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,
"From The Uncivil War to Date."
The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death.
Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2.
Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.
HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

BROWN.—Mrs. Alice O. Brown was born July 10, 1839, and departed this life at the home of her son, Mr. Joseph A. Brown, at Gatesville, N. C., on the 25th day of April, 1904. She professed religion in early life and joined the M. E. Church, South, and lived a cheerful and happy Christian life to the end. She loved the church and before her afflictions she was a regular attendant upon all the services of the sanctuary, and an ever willing worker for her Lord. She was a true friend of her pastor, and he always received a warm welcome into her home. She had such a sunny and happy disposition that one felt better after being in her company. She did not burden others with her troubles, but patiently and uncomplainingly bore her sorrows and endured her afflictions. She was indeed a good woman, and no wonder after months of patient suffering she was ready and willing to depart and be with her Lord. She leaves two sons, three daughters, several grandchildren and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss, but their loss is her eternal gain.

T. J. DAILEY.

CARTER.—Mrs. Sarah Arendell Howland Carter, daughter of Mrs. Sarah F. Dennis, of Morehead City, N. C., and wife of S. S. Carter, of Clarkton, N. C., died May 8, 1904. The funeral services were conducted May 10, by her pastor in the Presbyterian Church at Clarkton, and she was laid to rest in the Clarkton cemetery.

She was born December 1, 1842, joined the Methodist Church while young, and was married to S. S. Carter, of Chatham County, July 9, 1862, at the residence of John Bender, near Pollocksville, Jones County, N. C. The ceremony was performed by Simon Koonce. Brother Carter belonged to Company G, Regiment 26, of the North Carolina volunteers, and four of his comrades, Lieut. Frank Foy, A. J. Kinsey, Geo. Hall and Philemon Bender, witnessed the ceremony.

Sister Carter leaves an aged mother, Mrs. Sarah F. Dennis, who was twice married—first, to James Lucas Howland, of Beaufort, N. C., by whom she had two children, Sarah Arundel Howland and Jas. Lucas Howland, then to Col. W. N. Dennis, of Jones County, N. C., by whom she had two children, Edward N. Dennis and Eula Dennis, the last named dying some years ago. Jas. L. Howland is in New York, a commercial newspaper man; Edward N. Dennis in Richmond, Va., prominent with the Western Union Telegraph Company, and afflicted husband, four sons and two daughters. Since joining the church, she has lived an earnest, consecrated life. Though almost an invalid for thirty-five years, she has been patient and cheerful. May God comfort and keep her loved ones.

W. E. BROWN, P. C.

BYRD.—Died at Mt. Gilead, on the 29th of February, 1904, Mrs. Eliza Jane Byrd, daughter of John and Susan Steele. She was born near Pekin, Montgomery County, N. C., May 15, 1823, was converted and joined the Methodist E. Church about the age of fourteen. On the 21st of January, 1844, was married to the Rev. Nathan Byrd. To them were born six sons. Three of them died when small. On the 5th of October, 1857, Rev. Nathan Byrd died. Sister Byrd was far above the average in intellect, judgment, courage, perseverance, economy, etc., with her masterly mind grasped her situation, and with her three boys took hold of the farm, and succeeded well. In 1876 the oldest son, John M. Byrd, died. The younger of the two living sons, L. P. Byrd, and his Christian wife, remained with his mother, and did everything in their power to make sister Byrd comfortable and happy. I have known sister Byrd more or less, since 1855, and never heard or saw anything to her discredit. Always the same modest, prudent, Christian lady. She, with her well-balanced mind and purpose to do right, seldom erred or made mistakes. Ministers of the gospel were welcomely received at her house, pleasantly entertained, refreshed in body and mind, and always left inspired with renewed zeal for the Master's cause. She was an affectionate, kind mother, a good neighbor in every sense of that term, and a good, trusty friend. Sister Byrd was an invalid, had used a rolling chair for nearly seven years. Took la grippe, suffering in its various forms for eight weeks. The two last weeks suffered intensely, and died. Her ransomed soul took its flight to the Paradise of God to hear from her Lord: "Thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." Beyond the reach of sin, sorrow, pain and death, my long-sought home.

Z. RUSH.

REVOLUTION IMMINENT.

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the Kidneys and Bowels, stimulate the Liver, and clarify the blood. Run down system benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. Electric Bitters is only 50 cents, and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by all druggists.

ECHOLS PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED IRON AND ALUM WATER.

Is a SPRING WATER, containing the extreme concentration of those mineral properties most necessary to cure all stubborn and deep seated . . . .

CHRONIC DISEASES

It is no patent medicine, and the best physicians are constantly prescribing it with invariable success. The concentrated product is 100 times stronger than the natural water, and one (1) teaspoonful is a dose. It is rapidly earning a national reputation, and to any physician who has not tested it will be sent an 16 oz. bottle free. Call for it at your druggists.

Price, 8 oz. bot. 50c., (equal to ten gallons of the natural water), 18 OZ. BOT. $1.00.

Write for further information and testimonials,

J. M. ECHOLS CO.
Lynchburg, Va.

H. STEINMETZ.
FLORIST.
Cut Flowers, Designs.
Plants of all kinds.
PHONES 113. RALEIGH, N. C.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

EXCELLENT
is the word used when speaking of the merits of Porto Rico Coffee.
See new premium list in each package. CHEEK & NEAL COFFEE CO.

STATEMENT

United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore, Maryland.

Condition December 31, 1903, as Shown by Statement Filed.

Amount of capital paid up in cash	$1,700,000.00
Amount of ledger assets December 31st of previous year, $2,497,814.71; increase during year, $49,100.00; surplus paid in $16,393.50; total	2,563,308.21
Income—From policy-holders, $1,836,823.09; miscellaneous, $198,361.70; total	2,035,184.79
Burglary, $329,148.04; fidelity and surety, $1,507,675.05.
Disbursements—To policy-holders, $688,259.22; miscellaneous, $1,249,925.18; total	1,936,184.40
Burglary, $114,155.35; fidelity and surety, $574,103.87.
Premiums written or renewed during the year—Burglary, $451,426.76; fidelity and surety, $1,806,700.00.
Premiums in force at end of year.—Burglary, $394,492.17; fidelity and surety, $1,566,256.46.

ASSETS.

Book value of real estate (less amount of encumbrances)	$445,611.92
Mortgage loans on real estate	22,650.00
Loans secured by stocks, bonds and other security	23,535.00
Value of bonds and stocks	1,890,523.80
Interest and rents due and accrued	24,719.08
Cash in home office and deposited in banks	257,183.43
Premiums unpaid	408,357.44
Advanced account contract secured	155,730.45
All other assets, detailed in statement	42,262.50
Total admitted assets	3,270,573.62

LIABILITIES.

Unpaid policy claims	$116,813.46
Unearned premiums	984,158.48
Ledger liabilities	82,902.26
Commissions, brokerage and other charges due	85,755.06
Estimated expenses of unpaid claims	5,000.00
Total liabilities as to policy-holders	1,274,629.26
Capital paid up in cash	1,700,000.00
Surplus beyond all liabilities	295,944.36
Total liabilities	3,270,573.62

BUSINESS IN NORTH CAROLINA IN 1903.

Burglary.—Premiums received, $699.98; losses paid $390.00; losses incurred, $390.00.

Fidelity and Surety.—Premiums received, $18,092.97; losses incurred, $820.45.

Totals.—Premiums received, $18,792.95; losses paid, $390.00; losses incurred, $1,210.45.

President, John R. Bland; Secretary, Geo. R. Callis.
Home office, No. 20 S. Calvert Street, Baltimore, Md.
General Agent for service, John L. Randelman, Salisbury, N. C.
Business manager for North Carolina, managed from home office.

State of North Carolina,
Insurance Department,
Raleigh, April 15, 1904.

I, James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct abstract of the statement of the United States Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Baltimore, Md., filed with this Department, showing the condition of said Company on the 31st day of December, 1903.

Witness my hand and official seal the day and date above written.

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

Christian Endeavor Hotel,
WORLD'S FAIR OFFICIALS
CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOTEL, World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo.

Headquarters for Christian people Located 100 feet from gate to Fair Grounds. Street cars direct from Union Station. Built for safety and comfort. Capacity 3,000 guests daily. Backed by men of highest standing and endorsed by World's Fair Officials. Thousands of representative people from all sections of the country have already engaged accommodations. Rates arranged in advance $1.00 and $2.00 per day. Send for booklet giving full particulars. Tell your friends about it. Address at once

Christian Endeavor Hotel and Auditorium Company,
St. Louis, Missouri.

Why Not Stop That Cold Before It Grows Worse?
IT MAY LEAD TO LA GRIPPE OR PNEUMONIA.
RADIA
WILL CURE IT. COME IN TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.
Order by mail. THE RADIA COMPANY, DURHAM, N. C., U. S. A., (Dept. R.)

An effort is being made to raise enough money to defray the expenses of the old Confederate Drum Corp of this city—the only remaining drum corps of the "lost cause"—to the encampment at Nashville, Tenn. These old veterans were the centre of attraction at the New Orleans reunion last year.

The trustees of the University of North Carolina have given Prof. J. W. Gore, dean of the department of physics, a leave of absence for one year. This is due to the professor's ill health. He will not altogether sever his connection with the University during this period of absence, but intends remaining and keeping in intimate touch with the work.

WEEK END AND SUNDAY EXCURSION RATES VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. TO RESORTS IN NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

The Seaboard wishes to announce, that commencing today it will sell round-trip tickets to resorts named below on Saturday, good returning Monday following date of sale, with exceptions as noted below:

From Raleigh, N. C., to
Portsmouth, Va. $4.75
Old Point, Ocean View $4.75
Virginia Beach $4.75
Wilmington, N. C. $4.50
Lenoir, N. C. $5.30
Blowing Rock, N. C. $8.60

Tickets to Blowing Rock, N. C., will be on sale for Fridays and Saturdays trains, good returning Tuesday following date of sale.

For further information, call or address,

C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

SPECIAL TEN DAY COACH EXCURSION TO THE WORLD'S FAIR VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY IN JUNE.

On account of the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard, in connection with the C. & O. via Richmond and N. & W. via Petersburg, also via Atlanta and N. C. & St. L., will sell round-trip tickets to St. Louis. Limit 10 days from date of sale. Fare from Raleigh via Richmond or Petersburg $18.50. Via Atlanta $20.80. Leave Raleigh 1.25 a. m., arrive Richmond 6.35 a. m. Leave Richmond 2.00 p. m., arrive St. Louis next evening 6.45. Leave Raleigh 11.50, arrive Richmond 4.55 p. m. Leave Richmond 10.30 p. m., arrive St. Louis second morning 7.30. Leave Raleigh 4 a. m., arrive Atlanta 3.55 p. m. Leave Atlanta 4.30 p. m., arrive St. Louis next afternoon 1.35. Leave Raleigh 7.35 p. m., arrive Atlanta 7.50 a. m. Leave Atlanta 8.35 a. m., arrive St. Louis next morning 7.08.

For further information apply to C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

The Seaboard begs to announce that they will sell round-trip tickets to Nashville, Tenn., account United Confederate Veterans' Reunion, June 14-16, 1904. Fare from Raleigh, N. C., $12.60. Dates of sale, June 10-15 and 17. Proportionately low rates from other stations.

For further information, call or write,

C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.
Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A.,
Raleigh, N. C.

NOTICE!

I want every man and woman in the United States interested, either for themselves or friends, in the cure of Opium and Whiskey habits to have one of my books on these diseases. Address DR. B. M. WOOLEY, Atlanta, Ga., Box 389, and one will be sent you free.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..

Lisle and Silk IN ALL THE NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete. . . . . .

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade. In fashionable Spring Colors, white and black.....$1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades.....$1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or white.....25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ...50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only.....75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street, RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
Raleigh, N. C.

We Are Now Beginning ... Our ... SUMMER "CLEAN UP" SALES.

1-3 off the regular prices on a special lot of Dress Goods, Voiles, batistes, Canvas, etc.

Special Reductions in fancy silks—50c., 40c., 35c., 25c. per yard. Splendid for shirt Waist Suits and short dressy dresses.

1-2 off regular prices on a special lot of white goods wash stuffs, suitable for shirt waist dresses.

WE WILL MAIL SAMPLES.

DOBBIN & FERRALL
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED. May pay tuition out of salary after course is completed and position is secured. Indorsed by business men from Maine to California. For 160-page catalog, address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres., either place,

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS Colleges,
Columbia, S. C. Nashville, Tenn.
Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Ft. Worth, Texas; Oklahoma City, O. T.; Galveston, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Ft. Scott, Kans.; Shreveport, La.; St. Louis, Mo.; Kansas City, Mo. After July 1st, 1904.

Incorporated. $300,000.00 capital. Established 1889. 14 bankers on board of directors. National reputation. Our diploma represents in business circles what Yale's and Harvard's represent in literary circles. No vacation; enter any time. Part car fare paid; cheap board. Write today.

HOME STUDY. BOOKKEEPING, SHORTHAND, PENMANSHIP, etc., taught by mail. Money refunded if not satisfied with course. Write for prices of home study courses.

King's Business College
(INCORPORATED.)

Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.

Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.

We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

Infants and Children's Wear. Special Prices

White Lawn Cap, 10cts. Worth 25cts. Two styles, one corded with dainty embroidery around the face, the other with hemstitched tucks. 19cts.

White Lawn Dresses. $1.00 Worth $1.25. Russian styles, long waist, with hemstitch tucks, ruffles over shoulders, front trimmed with small pearl buttons. Full skirt with hemstitched tucks and hem. $1.00.

Gingham and Chambray Dresses 89c. Amoskeag Gingham and Chambray for children between five and twelve years. Russian style, long waist, trimmed in fancy braid and White Pique. Bretelles over shoulders. 89cts.

Freight and express charges prepaid in the Virginias and Carolinas on all orders of $5.00 and over, mailed to the house.

MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

ACID IRON MINERAL

Registered A-I-M Trade Mark

Is a great natural remedy of wonderful curative power mined from a natural deposit. It cures all diseases, involving inflammation, by purifying the blood and directly healing the irritated parts Try it on an external sore and watch its magic healing. It acts in exactly the same way on all internal inflammation, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. Numerous testimonials that it cures when all other remedies fail.

No equal for diseases peculiar to women. Tones up the entire system Four weeks treatment, only 50 cents If your druggist cannot supply you, write to "Cured me completely of bladder trouble." Mrs. Nading, Winston, N. C. "For sores A. I. M., is worth its weight in gold." J. H. Davis, Beaufort, S. C. (Blood Poison.) "By use of A. I. M. I was cured in a few weeks." J. P. Wingard, Branchville, S. C.

ACID IRON MINERAL CO., J. H. Garst, Gen. Mgr., Salem, Va.
P. H. HALTIWANGER, Pres., Columbia, S. C.

THIS IS A
RED CEDAR PAIL..
That has seen twenty-two years of Hard Service and having been thoroughly repaired is now ready for 22 more.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY
PREWITT-SPURR MFG. COMPANY,
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE.
If your supply house does not carry them in stock, write us giving name of your Supply House.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
JUNE 2, 7, 9, 14, 16, 21, 23, 28 AND 30, 1904.

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip Coach excursion rates to St. Louis. These Tickets will be good in all regular Coaches, and on all trains on dates shown. Tickets good 10 days.

	Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30
Statesville	17.00	Marion	16.20
Asheville	15.40	Hendersonville	15.85

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.

For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.

T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager, W. H. Taylor, Gen. Pass. Agent. Washington, D. C.

Positions. High-grade commercial, professional and positions of all kinds procured everywhere; office connections in all principal cities, and our facilities for thorough service are unsurpassed; we guarantee the position in every case.

If you desire a position or better salary, send us $1.00 for registration fee and let us place you.

Union Bureau of Registration,
Temple Court Building, Atlanta, Ga.

The Princess Anne Hotel,
Virginia Beach, is the most delightful place to spend the summer, or vacation. One hundred feet from the ocean waves. Cheap railroad tickets from all points. Write for booklet to Jas. S. Groves,
President and Manager,
Virginia Beach, Va.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA

Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 20.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1904.

TRINITY COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

On Sunday morning, June 5, the Craven Memorial hall was packed with a vast throng that gathered to hear the annual sermon to Trinity's graduating class. The sermon was preached by Dr. William DeWitt Hyde, of Bowdoin College.

The musical program in connection with this service was elaborate and the large commencement choir was composed of Durham's best voices. The selections rendered were all of a high order.

Dr. Hyde preached an able sermon, taking for his subject "The Gifts of Education." His text was taken from 1st Corinthians, 12th chapter and 31st verse: "Desire earnestly the best gifts."

The following is an incomplete synopsis of what Dr. Hyde said:

There are five gifts of education, the physical, the technical, the liberal, the theoretical and the spiritual. The physical gift is a healthy body with strong muscles, normal functions, steady nerves and a cheerful and happy life. Without this, the other gifts of education are of little avail. The technical gift is training for one's vocation. It fits the student to contribute something valuable to the community. A man or woman who cannot earn in the markets of the world enough to live on is an educational pauper.

The liberal gift takes a man out of his little individual self and makes him an interpreter of the processes and laws of nature; the heir of all that has been said and done by man. He knows nature and humanity, not merely as ministering to his physical and economical life, but as appealing to his interests and affections. It bids man be more than a mere producer and consumer of material goods, it bids him enter into the thought and purpose which the world expects and which man for thousands of years has been slowly coming to understand.

The theoretical gift is devotion to truth for truth's sake, forgetful of the individual's personal interests, lost in knowledge as an end in itself. The theorist goes into an unexplored country where the mind of men has never trod and receives the intellectual manna fresh from the hand of God. The touch of the theoretical ideal has electrified the college course and introduced the elective system. This permits students, even while in college, to get beyond the rudiments in one or two departments of learning. If to the free elective system as developed by Harvard, we add the requirement in force at Yale and several other leading institutions, that each student must take at least one research course following a series of suitable elementary courses, we get that combination of liberal and theoretical in education for which the best colleges should stand.

The spiritual gift is the greatest of all. It inspires us to look up with gratitude to the good Father who made this world so beautiful and beneficent and to do our best by our brief presence in it and the part we play while here to make it the truly happy place he really wishes that it shall be. It teaches us to leave the great institutions of family, state, industry, morality and religion, not more impure, corrupt, oppressive, weak and insincere, but purer, sounder, juster, safer, saner for our touch. It bids us treat all men as brothers with rights and interests as dear to them as ours is to us. We could better afford to miss all other gifts than this. Without the physical gift man becomes an invalid, without the technical one become educationally a pauper, without the liberal he becomes a blind man in the picture gallery of the world, without some touch of the theoretical he is in danger of hardening into the crust of conservative conventionality, but without the spiritual he becomes an orphan in his father's house, an outcast and an enemy in a world of order and brotherhood.

You who graduate today should remember that all these gifts together are needed to make the thoroughly educated man. The physical gift alone would make us great fat oxen; the technical gift alone would make us merely machines in an industrial mill; the liberal alone would make us fastidiously near a crank; the spiritual alone would make us monks and nuns. These gifts are all essential and must be developed in due proportion to each other, side by side. The symmetrically educated man will be physically sound and vigorous, fond of outdoor life and sports, doing his work with the joy and health that comes of conscious power. He will do his work so well that the community will be glad to give him in return a decent livelihood. Every day and hour of his life he will have a hundred interests which he would like to follow up, of which he will choose the one he likes best. Could such choice allow he will march with the advance guard of human knowledge and take new truth fresh coined from the mount of God. And to crown it all he will love God and man with so ardent a devotion that he will rest assured with the peace that passeth all understanding that no conclusion of science, no outcome of criticism, no discrediting of an old document and no discovery of a new one can ever wreck for him the sincerity of mind, the serenity of spirit, the purity of heart which the spiritual gift, which is the greatest of them all, bestows upon its faithful followers.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

There are thirty-six members of the board and twenty-six were present at the session. Others came in during the night and gave almost a full attendance at the meeting on Tuesday. Those present were as follows: J. H. Southgate, Durham, President; B. N. Duke, C. W. Toms, V. Ballard, Durham; J. A. Long, Roxboro; J. F. Bruton, Wilson; H. A. Page, Aberdeen; Rev. N. M. Jurney, Mt. Olive; E. T. White, Oxford; Rev. F. A. Bishop, Rev. J. N. Cole, Rockingham; J. G. Brown, Raleigh; A. P. Tyer, Wilson; Kope Elias, Franklinton; Rev. S. B. Turrentine, Greensboro; T. T. F. Marr, Charlotte; G. W. Flowers, Taylorsville; J. W. Alspaugh, Winston; W. R. Odell, Concord; Dred Peacock, Greensboro; W. G. Bradshaw, High Point; T. N. Ivey, Raleigh; R. L. Durham, Spartanburg, S. C.; R. A. Meyer, Charlotte; Rev. J. B. Hurley and Rev. M. A. Smith, of the North Carolina Conference. The business transacted was mainly routine. The following synopsis of the President's report give a view of what the College has done during the year:

"During the academic year 402 students have matriculated in the two departments, 236 in the college classes and 166 in Trinity Park School. This is a gain of something more than ten per cent on the matriculations of the previous year. From the registrar's records are secured facts, which show upon how broad a basis the attendance rests. Representatives are present in the student body from North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia, Arkansas, New York, California and Japan. Not only Methodists are enrolled but also persons connected with the Protestant Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian, Christian, Lutheran and Hebrew denominations.

"Loans have been granted during the present fiscal year to fifty-two students, amounting to a sum total of $4,013.85. The loan fund of the College, with accrued interest, now amounts to $12,045.88.

"During the present year there have been some very necessary and notable additions made to the various departments of the College. Most important among them is the addition made to the number of volumes in the library. The manager of the library reports a total of accessions for the year of 9,953 bound volumes and 1,123 pamphlets. These accessions have been made by purchase and donation.

"During the year a lighting plant has been installed. This new plant cost $2,117.80

"The growth of an institution of learning is a question of financial resources. Within the past several years there has been very rapid development in the various departments of the College, and this development has put great strain upon the financial management. It is gratifying to know that there has been incurred no debt during the past ten years. This is an exceptional record and shows the conservative spirit in which the financial problems of the college have been managed by your executive committee.

"During the present year there has been a notable growth in the work of the Young Men's Christian Association. A committee composed of members of the faculty and members of the student body acts as a general council for this organization. There are a number of sub-committees which have oversight of the various lines of work undertaken. The most gratifying feature in connection with the aims of this organization is the effort to include within the religious idea every part and phase of college life.

"Since 1897 women have been admitted upon the same conditions as men to all departments of the College. At no time, however, since this policy was inaugurated, have the women been more than ten per cent of the entire number of students.

"It is evident that women are not only capable of doing as high class work as men may do, but it is also evident that there is a large and increasing number of young women who desire educational advantages equal to those offered to young men.

"If it is the purpose of your board to continue and develop this phase of the work of the college, other arrangements should be made than have hitherto been made. There should be established a woman's annex which should be a separate and distinct institution, sufficiently near the College to put the library and scientific equipments within easy reach of the woman's annex and make it possible for the faculty of the College to conduct recitations and lectures at the woman's annex.

The requirements for entrance, the standards of work, and educational aims should be identical in both institutions. With an arrangement like this there is no reason why the College might not render a very large service in the education of Southern women. It may be frankly stated that this service is sorely needed and unless those interested in the education of young men become interested also in the education of young women, it is likely that young women will receive the education they desire and deserve."

THE ANNUAL ADDRESS.

The bacealaureate address was delivered on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock by Dr. Frank C. Woodwar of Richmond. Dr. Woodward was at one time president of South Carolina College. He is a pleasing speaker and a deep thinker. His address was one that was elevating and uplifting. He held the attention of his hearers throughout. His subject was "Own Thyself." He spoke in part as follows:

"It is time for a new watchword. How will it do to substitute for the effete 'Know thyself' its echo, 'Own thyself?' This is a convenient aphoristie form of the truth that the ideal of human society is the largest individual freedom with social and civil organization.

"The menace of modern life is the weakening of the individual will to maintain personal convictions against organized agencies and corporate interests; the tendency that is robbing men of their liberties in the name of human progress.

"The industrial sphere cannot afford the opportunity nor the test of human excellence and human progress. Material wealth is not the sure basis of happiness; nor anything but a false measure of worth. Its application is too narrow and partial; divided among us earthlings, earth's wealth would grant each about $600, and impoverish the race.

"Nor is there better hope in the spellbinder boast about our democratic civil and social polity. We are not democrats at all; but would-be-aristocrats. But our so-called democracy bases on the oppressive prineiple of majority supremacy not only in politics, but illogically and unfortunately in nearly all concerns of life, public and private. Public opinion, finally controlled by majority dictation, is but thinly disguised despotism. All such influences make against manly independence and real self-ownership.

"Naturally in such a state of affairs the continental tendency is to narrow the scope of individual thought, action and influence, most men being physically dependent on corporate organizations, and therefore involuntarily tending to repress personal opinions, and silence personal convictions, lest they be hit by social, ecclesiastical, or business blaklist or boycott.

"There can be but one result for the general public: the loss of self-ownership! These influences unchecked will reduce the race to a hireling proletaire, drawing livelihood from a few plutocrats and really owned by these, their souls if not their bodies!

"The goal of human desire and effort is self-ownership; and the first step to its winning is the inalienable command by each man of his own body and his own labor.

"To take the true view of duty, one must get a right definition of success. He who honestly asks will get for answer: Success is achieving the best manhood, physical, mental, moral; a clean body, a pure mind, and unbuyable personality. For almost every man this enforces the simple life of plain food, clothes, shelter. And this, in the last analysis, means to fall back on the soil and one's own brawn. But that means poverty! It means to meet life unmortgaged, to enter on its strenuous campaigns unimpeded, and there is no such wealth as that! A cottage, some rough utensils, a few acres and strong heart and hands, nature and God on your side, it is moral billionaireship!

"The first reward is the consciousness of self-ownership, and that is sweet and good. But one may not rest in that: Duty exacts self-expenditure. But this demands some value in self: it must harbor ideas, convictions, emotions, affections. Attain these and then proclaim and stand for them.

"The final test and attainment of self-ownership is the power to stand alone. Not many hear this call, but it is the crucial test of manhood, the initiation into the master's degree!

"But you are to own self, to give self. The almost supreme duty of life is service. Almost supreme! The exceptions occur with the crises, when you may not grant to another, against the monitions of supreme conscience, the direction of your service. Then must you resume and maintain self-ownership against all outer and inner appeals and protests. Then you will know what it means to stand alone. But this is to stand with Job and Joshua, with Socrates and Luther, with Christ!"

MEETING OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

At 4 o'clock the annual meeting of the alumni association was held. It was well attended, there being a large number of old Trinity men in Durham and about the campus. Some left the walls of Trinity but a few years ago and they still find on the campus students who were in the lower classes when they left. But there are others whose heads are white and whose limbs tremble with every step.

The alumni meeting was like the reunion of a great family. Mr. David Goodwin Ellsworth, who graduated with the class of 1880, was the speaker of the day. He spoke in a reminiscent strain and referred to the fourteen manly, big-hearted fellows who graduated from Trinity now almost a quarter of a century ago when he left her walls. He spoke of how the class appeared and of the hopes, ambitions and pride that filled each breast. "Old Trinity," he said, "had trained the intellect and fired the ambition." He spoke some forty minutes. It was just such an address as is appreciated by those who gather at their alma mater for reunion on an occasion like this.

The following officers were elected: Dr. W. G. Bradshaw, High Point, president; Mr. R. L. Durham, Spartanburg, S. C., first vice-president; Rev. G. T. Rowe, Concord, second vice-president; Dr. J. S. Bassett, Durham, secretary and treasurer, and Dr. C. W. Edwards, Durham, chairman of the executive committee.

WILEY GRAY CONTEST.

The contest at night was among four members of the graduating class for the Wiley Gray medal. This medal, given in memory of the late Wiley Gray, who lost his life in the war between the States, is one of the highest and most coveted honors of a college course. The contestants were H. B. Adams, Jr., of Monroe; G. H. Smith, of Anderson; Mr. J. P. Frizelle, of Ormondville, and Mr. L. H. Gibbons, of Jonesboro. The speakers showed fine mental and elocutionary training.

The medal was won by Henry B. Adams, Jr., of Monroe, whose theme was "Breadth and Effectiveness." The judges were Governor Aycock, Rev. J. A. B. Fry, of Charlotte, and Henry A. Page, of Aberdeen. The presentation was made by the Governor.

COMMENCEMENT DAY.

The commencement address, at 11 o'clock on Wednesday, was really three addresses in one. Dr. Francis Greenwood Peabody, of Harvard, who was to deliver the address, did not come, being detained at home on account of siekness. His place was filled by three of the party who came in a private car to attend the commencement —Dr. Nash, of Harvard College, Rev. John Howard Melish, pastor of Trinity Church, New York, and Dr. George Foster Peabody, of Brooklyn.

Dr. Nash was the principal speaker. He spoke in a general way of the college graduate, and looking back, as he does, on twenty-five years since leaving Harvard as a student, he spoke of the great benefits and of the fact that the pulse of the great American republic is found in the colleges and universities of the land. He proved himself a fluent speaker and one who is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions of life in America today.

Rev. Mr. Mellish spoke for a few moments, urging the graduating class to realize that in the young men of today is the hope for the future. He is himself a young man. He wanted all to realize that God and right is back of all good.

Dr. George Foster Peabody was introduced, as were the other speakers, by President Kilgo, referring to him as having been born in Georgia, a citizen of New York, and an American citizen who is trying to educate the youth of the land. He also made a short talk.

THE GRADUATES.

The following diplomas were presented, Dr. W. P. Few announcing the action of the trustees, President Kilgo saying a few words, and Prof. R. L. Flowers presenting the diplomas:

BACHELORS OF ARTS.

Adams, Henry Bethune, Jr., Monroe, N. C.—Breadth and Effectiveness.

Beachboard, Zachary Pearl, Bell Buckle, Tenn.—The Love of Money.

Bradsher, Arthur Brown, Durham, N. C.—The Culture and Manufacture of Tobacco in North Carolina.

Budd, Walter Pemberton, Durham, N. C.—The Ministry of Doubt.

Bynum, Frederick Williamson, Pittsboro, N. C.—Tariff Legislation in England Since 1800.

Baker, Victor Columbus, Delight, N. C.—The Reign of Lawlessness.

Egerton, Charles Edward, Louisburg, N. C.—.....

Elias, Kope, Jr., Franklin, N. C.—The U. S. Department of Agriculture—Its Work, Past and Present.

Elliott, Arthur Graham, Durham, N. C.—Some Phases of Municipal Aetivity in the United States and Europe.

Finger, Will David, Charlotte, N. C.—Radium.

Frizzelle, Jesse Paul, Ormondsville, N. C.—The Spirit of Conciliation.

Gibbons, Lemuel Hardy, Jonesboro, N. C.—The Strength of the Old South.

Giles, Marvin Stamey, Roxboro, N. C.—Educational Development in North Carolina.

Hinohara, Zensky, Yamaguchi, Japan.—Progress in Japan.

Hoover, Edwin Francis, Bell Buckle, Tenn.—The Industrial Revolution in England.

Hoyle, Enoch Marvin, Durham, N. C.—The Present Crisis in the Southern Pulpit.

Huekabee, James Gaston, Albermarle, N. C.—Some Dangers Incident to the Industrial Development of the South.

Jones, Otho Jerome, Mountain Island, N. C.—The Simple Life.

Livengood, Charles Harris, Coolecmee, N. C.—A Plea for the Restriction of Immigration.

Lockhart, Walter Samuel, Hillsboro, N. C.—Catullus; A Study in Roman Lyric Poetry.

Lowdermilk, William Steele, Covington, N. C.—The National Point of View.

Satterfield, Henry Clem, Roxboro, N. C.—The Evils of Partisanship.

Scarlett, Charles, University Station, N. C.—The Foe of Democracy.

Scruggs, Corrie Jane, Spartanburg, S. C.—The Georgics of Virgil.

Smith, Gilbert Harmer, Anderson, S. C.—Buddha; Pagan Religious and Christianity.

Stephenson, Nellie Arthur, Durham, N. C.—A. B. (Trinity), Philosophy, English, Latin, and German.

Richardson, Michael Ralph, Durham, N. C.—A. B. (Trinity), Mathematics, Physics, Philosophy, and French.

Sessions, Robert Ernest, Montevallo, Ala.—A. B. (Southern University), English and German.

Stewart, Stephen Alexander, Durham, N. C.—A. B. (Trinity), Biblical Literature, Greek, and History.

SOPHOMORE HONORS.

Eva Hugh Branch, Henry Gilbert Foard, John Allen Morgan, Hoy Taylor, Raymond Browning, Charles Blackwell Markham, Robert Thomas Proctor, Mary Reamey Thomas.

FRESHMAN HONORS.

Leroy Compton Bledsoe, Ural Nathaniel Hoffman, Nan Jordan, Susannah Gregory Michaels, Annie Elizabeth Tillett, Claiborne McMillian Campbell, Jr., Holland Holton, Claude Hyman Martin, James McPherson Templeton, Jr., Lela Daisy Young.

HONORS IN DEPARTMENTS.

Highest Honors.—Walter Pemberton Budd, Chemistry; Will David Finger, Chemistry; Walter Samuel Lockhart, Latin.

Honors.—Victor Columbus Eaker, Greek; Corrie Jane Scruggs, Latin; Henry Clem Satterfield, History; Ernest Noell Tillet, Chemistry; John Bailey Walker, Jr., Latin.

Valedictory.—Walter Pemberton Budd.

In the afternoon the annual banquet by the Alumni Association was held. This banquet was in honor of Col. J. W. Alspaugh, of Winston, one of the oldest living graduates of the college, and the oldest member of the Board of Trustees. There was a large attendance.

HONORARY DEGREES.

Several honorary degrees were recommended by the faculty, conferred by the Board of Trustees and announced by President Kilgo. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon Prof. Robert Lee Flowers, a member of the Trinity faculty. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. R. C. Beaman, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Durham, and Rev. Thomas F. Marr, of Charlotte.

Two great gifts were announced. Mr. B. N. Duke, of Durham, and his brother, Mr. J. B. Duke, of New York, gave for a Woman's Annex, which had been decided upon by the Board of Trustees, a tract of land adjoining the Trinity tract, valued at $50,000, and an additional $50,000 in cash. In addition to these gifts other private donations from members of the Board of Trustees were announced amounting to $6,000. This places the donations of the day at $106,000.

The only condition placed upon the gifts is that the Methodist people of North Carolina shall raise an additional $50,000. President Kilgo announced that this would be no hard matter, and that the Woman's College, to be known as the Woman's Annex to Trinity, is now an assured fact.

The annual reception at night was largely attended and most highly enjoyed.

To the Fearful.

REV. W. E. BROWN.

The pledge for the certain bestowal of all needed grace and the necessities of life is found in the fatherly love of God and our sonship. "Your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things." "If ye then being evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" (Matt. 7: 11, cf. Luke 11: 13.)

How beautifully he rebukes anxiety in his fearful and fretful children! "Behold the fowls of the air; for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?" "Consider the lilies of the field how they grow; they toil not neither do they spin, and yet I say unto you that Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these." His reasoning is, the fowls of the air are his creation, serving their purpose in the Divine plan of the universe; the lilies of the field springing up at his bidding serve his purpose, and he cares for them though they bloom and fade between the rising and the setting of the sun. Man is also the creature of his hand, but created on a higher plane, in his image, and therefore a son of the highest. We are accordingly taught by him, who went about doing good to the souls and bodies of men, to address him as Father. If God so cares for the fowls of the air that not a sparrow falls to the ground without his notice; if He clothes the grass of the field and puts the very beauty of his own pure nature in the heart of the rose that blushes in the morning and ere noon is withered, how much more will He nourish and sustain your bodies as well as keep vigilance over your going out and your coming in as constantly as the stars in heaven's blue vault! O gloomy, despondent one, God never slumbers nor sleeps, neither are his ears dull of hearing! "The whole current of His being sets to thee." Look up in the midst of your cares, burdens, perplexities and anxieties, and behold the face of your ever compassionate Father. Why grieve Him with doubts and spoil your own life, wearing frowns and marks of corroding cares instead of a hopeful, cheeful face?" "I have been young and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging bread." (Ps. 37: 25.)

Wonderful.

Dear Advocate:—This week has been a feast of good things. On Tuesday, wife and I heard the sermon at Louisburg Female College commencement. To say that Bishop Duncan did the preaching is enough to say.

On Wednesday, daughter and I went to Littleton Female College and remained till the close of the commencement. Everything connected with it so far beggars my descriptive powers that I shall not undertake a description of anything. It was all inspiring. The most wonderful thing I heard was the President's report to the Board of Trustees, which they requested their secretary to send to the Advocate for publication. I hope every reader of the Advocate will carefully read this report.

Sincerely, GEO. T. SIMMONS.

Youngsville, N. C., May 28, 1904.

Christian Missionary Endeavor and the War—An Appeal From Japan.

At a fully attended meeting of the Missionary Association of Central Japan, a representative organization, held in Osaka, March 15, 1904, after the reading of a paper on the subject of "Missionary Endeavor Under War Conditions," and a spirited discussion following, a resolution was unanimously adopted authorizing the officers of the Association to call the special attention of the Christian public in foreign lands to the present great crisis in the history of Japan, as a Christian opportunity, very extraordinary in character.

We are at the commencement of what promises to be a stupendous struggle, the burden of which will be sorely felt by the soldiers, their families, and the nation, whatever the final issue of the contest may be. The solemnity of mind and deepened sense of need so widely occasioned by the dangers and sorrows incident to war are preparing the hearts of many for a welcome reception of Christ and the better hopes and more enduring joys of his gospel. It is of the utmost importance therefore that the Church should grasp the present situation with all the power of an inspiration and signalize this event in Japan's history by a generous and vigorous response to the call it makes to Christian faith, sympathy, and devotion.

The drain upon the wealth of the country is already being felt by the Japanese churches and by the institutions which they support, increasing the difficulty of maintaining self-support. It will be necessary, therefore, in order to conduct evangelistic enterprises in any way commensurate with the present opportunity, to call upon the churches abroad for special funds and contributions. For the distribution of tracts and Scriptures, the visitation of the sick and wounded in hospitals, the holding of preaching services for the thousands of soldiers waiting in Japan, and for the sending of chaplains with the armies going to the front, the various mission bodies and Japanese churches, acting separately and in co-operation, have already begun to plan and to work. But for the successful and continued prosecution of so vast an undertaking adequate provision cannot be made from local contributions alone.

We, therefore, have felt constrained to appeal to the sympathies of those who enjoy the blessings of peace, with the hope that the spirit of Christ may move in a special manner upon the heart of His Church, causing an increased flow of appropriations and donations to this field, through the duly constituted missionary agencies, for the purpose of carrying on greater evangelistic effort suited to the enlarged opportunities occasioned by the war.

Signed: S. H. Wainright, Chairman (Mission of M. E. Church, South, U. S. A.); C. T. Warren, Vice Chairman (Church Missionary Society, England); H. Laning (American Episcopal Mission), J. H. Scott(American Baptist Missionary Union), George Gleason (Y. M. C. A., U. S. A.), Standing Committee.

In Memoriam.

Rev. Isaac N. Mann was born June 19, 1826, and April 22, 1904, finished his course with joy. Of him it may be said: "After he had served his own generation by the will of God, he fell on sleep." It was a relief to him, for he had suffered long, patiently, for the Lord to say: "It is enough; come up higher." He often expressed his faith in Christ, and his hope of heaven. This message, in substance, he sent me, time and again, while we were unable to see him: "I am trying to be patient. Pray for me, I have no fears." When we did see him, about six hours before his departure, holding my hand, he whispered: "All is bright."

We loved him devotedly, "but he is not, for God took him," and we surrender to the wisdom and will of the Chief Shepherd who has called him from the trials of this present life to join the countless multitude who, "through great tribulations, washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

Some Christians are ready, but not willing, to die, but Brother Mann, with no hope of recovery, was ready and willing. Nearly seventy-eight years old, another of the old land-marks of Methodism in Chatham County has crossed the river to join those who have gone before, young and old, who were ready to greet him at the "beautiful gate." Brother Mann was converted when about thirteen years old, or sixty-four years ago. He was licensed to preach about thirty-five years ago, and as a local preacher, worked faithfully in and around Mt. Pleasant Church and Haw River Circuit where his father, as an exhorter, worked before him. He served Pitsboro Circuit in 1897 as a supply. Here, as elsewhere, the people loved him and loved to hear him preach. He was well up in the doctrines of the Bible, and his delivery was pleasant and helpful, for he knew and felt what he was talking about, and was profoundly in earnest. We thank God for his life and labors. No one but God can estimate the value of his life.

Brother Mann was twice married. His first wife was Miss Frances Foushee, and his second wife Marticia B. Bowdoin, who, with three sons and two daughters by his first wife, survives him, and a host of relatives and friends, for he belonged to a numerous family, good stock, and was profoundly thankful for his goodly heritage from his parents. He leaves to his own children the inheritance of a godly life, more valuable than riches or worldly honors. May God help them to walk in the way their father and mother trod, and to be ready when the Lord shall call them.

Brother Mann was a member of Siler City Church almost from its beginning, and no one was loved more than he. They cherish his memory, and will not forget the sweet spirited Christian whom the children and young people called "Uncle Mann." He did not forget the scenes of his childhood and the old home and church, and evidently wished to rest at old Mt. Pleasant, where so many of his loved ones are waiting till "The Crowning Day." "Servant of God, well done."

J. SANDFORD.

Coral.

The coral is found in the warm countries, where they form large banks not very deep. They are gelatinous living substances. The red coral is much admired for its fine color and a high polish. They bring it from the sea by means of a grappling apparatus which is dragged after a boat or boats; the pieces are broken by a wooden beam which is sunk by weights. The coral grows to the height of one foot and is as thick as your little finger.—Selected.

The Field

Sabbath-Breaking.

BY J. V. WILLIAMS.

This is a subject that needs more action and less talk. We have a law in this country against labor on the Sabbath day, but the trouble seems to be, that the devil has quite a good deal to do with executing the law.

Some years ago, W. W. Poisson, of Wilmington, wrote me to take up this question in the Advocate, and in the early part of this year I saw a note in the "Old Raleigh" calling on me to say something. The brethren seem to understand that I don't write or preach without saying something.

The people go to sleep while we talk about what Wesley, Watson and Benson said. When the ministry wakes up he will wake the people up. All over this country they are playing base-ball on Sunday and doing any other devilment that they want to. To-day at Shreveport, La., where I am now writing, they have a great game of base-ball which is attended by thousands of people, the majority of whom are probably members of some church. The railroads are running excursions every Sunday, contrary to law; steamboats everywhere, private and public conveyances, are running every Sunday.

"Where am I at?"

Think of more Methodists at a game of base-ball on Sunday than at church; and if the preacher refers to the matter he must do it so lovingly that the Sabbath-breaking gangs says, "He's a dear, good man!"

We talk with pride of the Lord raising up Methodists to revive a dead church when we are about as dead as the church was in the days of Wesley.

The world has always been breaking the Sabbath, but the Methodist Church did not. Why is it that the Governors of the States can't enforce the law against Sunday work?

New Orleans runs wide open every Sunday. The liquor sellers have their saloons in full blast. The theatres have their bands on the streets drumming up trade.

They tell me it is because it is a Catholic city and the people elect such officers as will swear to enforce the law, who have agreed not to enforce it before they are elected. But where is your Governor?

I don't think that Governor Aycock would sit down and let any city in North Carolina sell whiskey openly on Sunday.

At the New Bern District Conference two years ago the Committee on Sabbath Observance brought in a report condemning the president of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad for running Sunday trains. I made a speech (as usual) saying that it did not seem the right thing to condemn the president of a railroad for running Sunday excreursions when our Methodist people were patronizing the excursions, and I thought the thing to do was to condemn our people and turn them out for living ungodly lives. If I had known, as I learned afterward, that the preachers who were loudest in their denunciation of the railroad, had members engaged in running boats every Sunday in connection with the railroad, I might have said something that was practical. Every Sunday at Morehead and Beaufort the boats are run—many, I'm told, being owned and operated by church members.

A preacher who has a lot of these Sabbath-breakers in his church, and makes no effort to turn them out, ought to keep his mouth off the railroad. Don't you think so?

Now, don't get frizzled, brother. The truth will always hurt, but the public is getting tired of shams.

I remember when I was a boy in Hyde our neighbor had a frizzled rooster. He was the ugliest thing I ever saw. All his feathers—tail feathers and all—turned the wrong way. When I see a man or woman getting frizzled, I get further on.

Let us purge the Methodist Church of Sabbath-breakers, and then pray the good Lord to have mercy on the ungodly world.

J. V. WILLIAMS.

Go Foward.

From the list of subscribers to "Go Forward" in North Carolina furnished me by the Business Manager of that paper, I gather some facts that may be of interest to the readers of the Advocate. I find that there are 1,149 subscribers in the State. Of these, 559 are in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference. These are distributed by districts as follows: Elizabeth City District, 122; Fayetteville, 105; New Bern, 87; Washington, 75; Warrenton, 42; Wilmington, 41; Raleigh, 38; Rockingham, 28; Durham, 21. There are 142 preachers in the Conference who take the paper, and fifty-seven do not take it. These figures are taken from the subscription list as it stood the first of May. Doubtless there have been some additions since then.

From this it can be seen that the paper is not largely circulated amongst our people. Instead of five hundred subscribers, we ought to have five thousand. If every preacher in the Conference, at each of his appointments, in a five-minute talk would present the claims of the paper, and then devote about ten minutes to taking subscriptions, we would soon have in each district as many subscribers as there now are in the entire Conference.

Brethren, does not this paper deserve greater consideration at our hands? Can any preacher afford to be without it? Can any Methodist who feels an interest in the extension of the Lord's kingdom afford to be without it? It is the only Missionary paper published by our Church, except those published by the Woman's Societies. It is a twenty-four page paper, finely illustrated, containing no advertisements except on the cover, full of soul-stirring messages right from the field. The subscription price is so low that every one can take it—only 25 cents a year. Let every one who reads these words, and is not a subscriber, send at once 25 cents to G. W. Cain, Business Manager, 346 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn., and get the paper each month for one year. Especially let each of those fifty-seven preachers in the Conference who are not taking the paper send in their subscriptions. Let every preacher who has not made an effort to get the paper circulated in his charge do so at once. Let us have a campaign for new subscribers to "Go Forward" in the North Carolina Conference during the next few weeks. This is a paper that the people will read if it is put in their hands, and they will be glad to take the paper if their attention is called to it.

R. H. WILLIS,
Conference Secretary of Missions.

Goldston Circuit.

Dear Bro. Ivey:—As I have not seen anything from Goldston Circuit in some time, I will pencil a few lines. I am confined to the bed with a broken leg and can't make my letter very interesting, as the hot weather, flies and pains of a broken bone keep me restless. I was painfully hurt on the 26th of last month by being thrown from a buggy. Am thankful to say I am doing as well as could be expected. My neighbors and friends have certainly been kind and sympathetic during my sickness, for which I feel so grateful. May the good Lord bless them and cause me to be a better man, more useful to my church and neighborhood. I regret so much that I can't get out to Sunday-school, as I am so much interested in Sunday-school work, but Bro. J. D. Willett, asistant superintendent, and conseerated Chritsian worker, will keep the good work moving on.

We hate so much to part with Bro. J. C. Humble at the close of this Conference year, as we must do. We feel now like we can never get another that will suit the people and work as well. Bro. Humble has done his whole duty. He has labored earnestly and faithfully in the interest of his people and church, and he has the satisfaction of knowing and seeing the Lord's cause prosper in his hands. Through his instrumentality Goldston Circuit has been greatly strengthened, religiously and financially. Brother Humble is a great revivalist, able preacher and will soon be bald-headed enough for Presiding Elder.

Yours sincerely,

JAMES R. RIVES.

Goldston, N. C., June 6, 1904.

Brethren of Conference Brotherhood.

Within the past month Brothers Harrison and Rice have died. Send in your assessments promptly. Relief is needed, and to delay is to forget sometimes. Quite a number of our lay members have dropped out—some paid up and asked that their names be stricken from the roll; others play quit by never responding to notices. I have spent much as ten cents in postage from the Widow's and Orphans' Benefit Fund on such. This is not right. Quit honorably. Those who have requested names dropped have given reason for so doing. Some have said: "We joined to pay, as we understood it, where there was real need, and only in such cases." The brotherhood is under obligations to pay to every holder of a benefit certificate. Can't honorably get out of it.

Not more than one in six of our members dies leaving his family with more than income of $120.00.

Brethren and friends, better pay ten who could do without the help than to leave unpaid one widow and fatherless children—God's favorites—who are in deep need. More love, brethren. We rarely help too much.

D. H. TUTTLE,
Treas. N. C. Conference Brotherhood.

Childrens Day.

Children's Day services at Grace Church last Sunday morning was to me in the nature of a revelation of the hidden forces of the church suddenly brought into activity. Marching, singing, reciting, and all with clock-like precision and naturalness that showed how perfectly and painstaking the work of training had been done. It is universally voted one of the best days in the history of Grace Church.

What an army force of young life we have here, and how beautiful it becomes in the service of the Christ. To have once entered such a fellowship divine ought forever to preclude the possibility of a life of sin. May the hearts, the hands, the feet, the tongues of these who praise Him to-day, never be found in after-life among the rabble who shout, "Crucify Him! Crucify Him!"

Our Sunday-school enrolment has now passed the six hundred mark.

N. M. WATSON.

Preachers Summer Village.

I can secure, free of charge, twenty lots, 100 by 150 feet, near a fine mineral spring, on the crest of the Blue Ridge, sixteen miles from Mount Airy, for twenty preachers who are willing to erect on their lots such cottages as their families may occupy during their summer vacations. The point can be reached by hack line.

Mail and telephone communication good. Any preacher interested in such an enterprise may write me enclosing stamp for reply.

F. L. TOWNSEND.

Mount Airy, N. C.

Notice.

To the Pastors of the Fayetteville District (a reasonable request).

Dear Brethren:—Please furnish me, as soon as practicable, the names of your local preachers, delegates and alternates. I earnestly desire to prepare, for my worthy successor, an accurate roll of the next session of the Fayetteville District Conference.

R. H. BROOM,
Secretary for 1903.

Carthage, N. C., June 9, 1904.

A Good Letter.

Rev. J. W. Jenkins, Superintendent Orphan Asylum.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed you will find three dollars and thirty-eight cents, the amount of our Englehard Sunday-school Easter contribution. We regret very much it is not more, but hope to be able to do better another time. We had a very nice Easter service, which was entertaining and impressive. Our program, the Glory of the Garden, whose recitations and songs were bright and sparkling, was recited and sung by the boys and girls who did much credit to the Misses Guthrie and Watson, who trained them for the service.

With best wishes for yourself and institution,

ENGELHARD SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Pamlico Circuit.

I am well pleased with this charge. Have a good and intelligent people to serve. They are very kind to me. We have not lacked any good thing. Have six churches, all painted and comfortably furnished.

Our parsonage is at Stonewall, a new building, seven rooms, nearly two acres of ground. Rev. W. A. Jenkins is due the credit of this building.

We are making some progress. Several of the churches have paid their missionary collections in full. We hope by the District Conference to pay in full. There are about forty subscribers to the Advocate.

Children's Day has been observed at three churches with good collections. The Orphanage is remembered.

Death has been among us—Redding Lupton, Wallace Hooker, Caroline Cowell, and Henry W. Cowell, all of Bayboro. Bro. Henry Cowell was one of our faithful stewards.

Two Quarterly Conferences have been held. Dr. Swindell, Presiding Elder, was present. He is much liked here. This is his last year with us, and we regret it.

Our delegates to the District Conference are: R. H. Baxter, Chas. Flowers, Daniel Hooker, S. W. Latham. They will all attend.

L. S. ETHERIDGE, P. C.

The Sunday School and The Apostle's Creed.

My Dear Dr. Ivey:—I notice in your issue of May 11th that Brother Constable devotes about two-thirds of a column to the lack of agreement between the Apostle's Creed as given in the new Order of Worship and in the Sunday-school literature.

I beg to say that after the Creed in the Order of Worship has been incorporated in the revised Discipline, as it will probably be sometime during the summer, the same form will be used in the Sunday-school literature. I should have even already made the change, but for the fact that the Sunday-school quarterlies have to be printed several months in advance, and it will not be possible, therefore, for change to be made in them for a few months to come. The magazine is monthly, it is true, but I desire that the forms in the magazine and quarterlies shall agree until the change to uniformity can be made general. The Committee on the Form of Worship interpreted its powers to be full and final, and that interpretation may be correct. It is possible, however, that when the General Conference meets it may desire to modify some things. If it should accept the form of the Creed in the new Order of Worship, it will be a great relief to the Sunday-school editor, because he has long desired an authorized statement of the Apostle's Creed to be used by our Church, and for that reason secured the introduction of the Creed into the Discipline at the last General Conference. Even with such an authorized form printed in the Discipline it will sometimes happen that printers will disregard the direction to print according to the Discipline, and even proof-readers overlook slight changes.

I merely write to assure Brother Constable and the other brethren that the Sunday School Department will do what it can to advance the aim of uniformity in worship, and that at the earliest possible day. With love.

Yours cordially, JAMES ATKINS.

The Family

Real Rest.

N—— will never know any real rest until she leaves off trying to secure it. This life's peace is only to be found in uncertainty. Pure love only finds scope in the absence of all assurance. Every anxious glance is a drawing back and a failure in true self-abandonment. Let us leave God to do what He will with us, and when that is done, be content to lean on nothing earthly.

Your sister must give herself up into God's hands. "Whether we live, we live unto Him, or whether we die, we die unto Him," says St. Paul. Giving up self is only real when there is something to give up. God is the same for the next life as for this, equally worthy to be served for His glory and His good pleasure. In either case He requires our all, and His journey hedges in the souls who seek him on all sides.

I pray for the peace of pure faith and self-abnegation for your dear sister. Such peace is not easily lost or invaded, because it is not built upon any private possession or support. I would fain see her heart full of peace and simplicity. I say this, because simplicity is the true source of peace. Those who are not simple are not true children of peace and do not taste its fruits. People often deserve the anxiety they feel by their useless self-contemplation in spite of knowing it to be harmful. The spirit of peace only rests upon those who do not disturb it by giving ear to self rather than to God. Rest, which is a foretaste of the eternal Sabbath, is very sweet, but the road which leads to it is a thorny path. It is time (this is meant for your sister) to let God complete his work of years. He requires more of her than of a beginner.

I pray with all my heart for your invalid; her cross is precious in God's sight. The more she suffers, the more I reverence her in him who crucifies her that she may be made worthy of him. Great suffering sets forth at once the depth of the wound we have to heal and the greatness of the gifts prepared for us by God.

For yourself, sir, shun dissipation; beware of your own impetuosity. That natural energy which you foster instead of repressing gradually withers up the grace of an interior life. A man only holds fast to rules and visible motives, while the "life which is hid with Christ in God" is affected, becomes pollutted and dies out lack of needful sustenance, namely, silence in the soul's depths. I was sorry that you were not in active service; but I see that it is the intention of God's mercy to detach you from the world draw you to the life of pure faith, which is unceasing death. So give to the world only such time as necessity and social bienseances require. Do not let yourself be absorbed by trifles; only talk when it is needful. Always control your imagination; let go everything. It is not through eager anxiety that you will cease to be impetuous. I do not ask for a laborious, toilsome recollection, but one which merely consists in dropping whatever stirs and excites you.

I am rejoiced to hear that you find so much that is good in ——. I hope you will make her still better by teaching her, through your simple, steadfast example, how attractive and unlike what the world esteems it true religion is. But her husband must not spoil her by a blind passion. While spoiling her he would spoil himself too; and such excess might end in a dangerous coolness, possibly in estrangement. Let the stream flow by somewhat, but watch for providential opportunities to point him to moderation, recollection and the preference of grace to nature. Watch for God's moments and do not let them slip.

God would have us unite two very great acts of self-mortification in doing His work, i. e., to labor as though everything depended on the assiduity of our toil, and, when the work is accomplished, to count it as nothing. Sometimes when we have worked hard, God sees fit to sweep away the fruits of our work as the broom sweeps away a cobweb, and then He himself effects, we know not how, the work on which we bestowed what seems such a useless toil. Do you weave your cobwebs, God will sweep them away; and when you are dumbfounded, he will work things out in His own way. —Fnelon's Letters.

A Reply to the Moderate Drinker.

That staunch old Scotchman, Dr. Arnot, gives a good illustration of the total abstinence question. You will find the world full of men who will tell you that they "are not obliged to sign away their liberty in order to keep on the safe side." "They know when they have had enough; no danger of their becoming drunkards," and the like.

Dr. Arnot says: "True, you are not obliged; but here is a river we have to cross. It is broad and deep and rapid; whoever falls into it is sure to be drowned. Here is a narrow foot-bridge, a single timber extending across. He who is lithe of limb and steady of brain and nerve may step over it in safety. Yonder is a broad, strong bridge. Its foundations are solid rock. Its passages are wide; its balustrade is high and firm. All may cross it in perfect safety—the aged and feeble, the young and gay, the tottering wee ones. There is no danger there. Now, my friends, you say, 'I am not obliged to go yonder. Let them who cannot walk this timber.' True, true, you are not obliged, but as for you, we know that if we cross that timber, though we may go safely, many others who will attempt to follow us will surely perish. And we feel better to go by the bridge!"

Walking a foot-bridge over a raging torrent is risky business, but it is safety itself compared with tampering with strong drink.

Living for Ideals.

There was a wise old clergyman who urged his brethren not to admit young men to the ministry unless they were evidently more broad-minded and enthusiastic in their faith than their elders. "We must allow," he said, "for the inevitable shrinkage." The same allowance is necessary in every life for the sure closing of the real upon the ideals of youth, and the unavoidable narrowing of hope and aim that must come with middle age. The more idealism we start with, the more stoutly we defend it against the shocks it is certain to receive, the more joyous life will turn out to be as we go on living. The dreariness of the middle-age view of life springs largely from the fact that its ideals are so shrunken as to be no longer a source of vitality, of renewal. As long as we believe in life, and in love, and in friendship, and in heroism, and in other ideal possibilities, life is worth living, and we are strong to take our part in it. Living for ideals is happy and courageous living. Living without them is "the dull gray life and apathetic end."—Harper's Bazaar.

A Guide to Conversation.

Subjects not to mentioned in polite society: the rainy weather, the muddy roads, the cook's impertinence, the vase the second girl broke, the gown on which the waiter spilled pudding sauce, the other which the dress-maker ruined, headache, indigestion, the minister's faults, horrible accidents, disappointments, lack of money, all tales of badness, meanness, unkindness, extravagance, imprudence, scandal, back-biting, and vicious deeds. Recommended topics: Pleasant weather, "how does your garden grow," new chafing-dish recipes, the best way to mend tablecloths, babies, dogs, eats, your companion's recent trip (your own if specially urged). lectures, concerts, plays, music, books, magazines, singers, preachers, philanthropists, parties, weddings, picnics, all acts of goodness, kindness, patience, charity, and all the virtues.—Congregationalist.

Nothing will make us so charitable and tender to the faults of others as by self-examination thoroughly to know our own.—Fenelon.

Our Boys and Girls

Winstead, N. C., May 25, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nearly eight years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little boys' and girls' letters. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Mary Stephens, and I have a good lesson every Sunday. I send five cents for the Orphanage.

Your friend,
WILLIAM S. DIXON.

Jarvisburg, N. C., May 23, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eight years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss Ella Wilson. I like her very much. Our preacher is my papa. I enjoy going with him to his churches. I have been to every one of them. Every-day school has closed. My teacher was Miss Rosa Gray. I send ten cents for the orphans.

MONROE G. PILAND.

Maxton, N. C., May 26, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years of age. Father takes the Advocate. Our pastor is Rev. N. H. D. Wilson. This is his last year, and we are sorry that he will have to leave us. My teacher is Miss Florie Burns. She is a good teacher.

I will answer Moses E. Moore's question: The 19th chapter of the 2nd Kings and chapter 37th of Isaiah are both alike.

I enclose ten cents for the Orphanage.

Your little friend,
PANSY WILSON GAITLEY.

Herring, N. C., May 21, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Mrs. Mattie J. Culbreth. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. R. A. Bruton. This makes his third year with us.

I will answer Mamie Taylor and Mollie Harris' questions: Onesimus was a faithful and beloved brother; Daniel's three friends were put in the fiery furnace.

I will ask one: Who was put in the lion's den?

Yours truly,
LUCY CUNNINGGIM HERRING.

Conway, N. C., May 20, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a boy seventeen years old. My father takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Our pastor is Rev. W. C. Merritt, and we like him very well. Our superintendent is Mr. J. O. Flythe.

Now I will answer Maggie S. Jones' question: The longest chapter in the Bible is the one hundredth and nineteenth Psalm.

I enclose five cents for the Orphanage. With best wishes for you and the orphans, I am,

Your friend,
H. B. LASSITER.

Iredell, N. C., May 3, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As it has been a long time since I have written, I will write again. I have been going to school for a long time, but am home again. I enjoyed going very much. My teacher's name was Mr. Willie Watson, and I like him very much. I studied grammar, spelling, geography, history, dictionary. It hurt me very much to part with my schoolmates and teacher; I liked them all so much. I go to Sunday-school nearly every Sunday. We have a good lively school. I read in Bible Class No 1; my teacher is Miss E. L. Belamy. We all like her very much. My superintendent is Mr. John Russ.

I will close by answering the question, who called his wife a heifer? It was Samson.

So no more this time.

ETTA JENRETT.

Winstead, N. C., May 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl nine years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Mary Stephens. I love to go to Sunday-school, and I love my teacher. Papa is the superintendent. I went to school to Cousin Addie Lea. Our school was out the last of April. I loved her, and she was a good teacher. Rev. K. D. Holmes is our preacher. I send five cents for the Orphanage.

Your little friend,
ANNIE H. DIXON.

Roberdell, May 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As I haven't written in a long time, I thought I would write a short letter.

Well, our good preacher, Mr. Harrison, is dead. We hated to part from him. He has been dead nearly a week. I hope to meet him in heaven.

We have a good Sunday-school. Our Sunday-school teacher is Miss Hattie Smith. We all like her splendid.

The Childrens' Day for Sunday will come off very soon. I hope we will have a nice time.

I will close for this time.

SUSIE REYNOLDS.

Clayton, N. C., May 7, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy eight years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. I go to every-day school too. Papa takes the Advocate. Our superintendent is Mr. E. B. McCullers, and our pastor is Rev. G. W. Fisher, and we like him very much. My Sunday-school teacher is Mrs. E. B. McCullers, and my every-day school-teacher is Mrs. R. F. Williams. School will be up in June. Hon. R. B. Glenn will deliver the annual address, and Rev. R. C. Beaman will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 30, 1904.

Now I will answer Annie Bell Dicken's quetsion: The Lord's Prayer is found in Matthew sixth chapter 9th to 15th verses.

I will close. Please find enclosed ten cents for the Orphanage.

Your little friend,
ASHBY FALMER.

Middleton, N. C., May 24, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—As I have seen my letter in print, I will write again. I was glad to see a letter in the Advocate from Gladys Johnson. Her papa use to preach for us. I wonder if she has forgotten me?

I will answer May and Helen S. Jenkins' question: Samson carried the iron gate.

I enclose ten cents for the Orphanage.

Your little friend.
LILLIAN BURRUS.

P. S.—I have a proposition to make. I want to know how many of the little cousins will raise one dollar by Christmas for the orphans and let Mr. Jenkins report the amount raised in this way through the Advocate? L. B.

Stork, N. C., May 9, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little boy nine years of age. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the little girls and boys letters. Our Sunday-school ran through the winter. I go every Sunday. Our Superintendent is Mr. J. A. Williams, and my teacher is Mr. W. J. Steadman. We have a missionary society in our Sunday-school. Our preacher is Rev. J. C. Humble. This is his fourth year on this Circuit. We all like him very much.

I will close by answering Esther Miller's question: "It was in the river of Jordan that the iron (ax) floated. Now, I will ask a question: Where was the garden of Eden? And where was the land of Nod?

I hope to see this in print.

Yours truly,
CAUGHEY C. JOHNSON.

Powell's Point, N. C., May 23, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl eleven years old. My papa takes the Advocate. This is my first letter to the Advocate. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. My teacher's name is Mrs. Fisher, and our pastor's name is Rev. W. A. Piland. We all like him very much.

I will answer Grace H. Drewette's question: Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died.

Now will ask one: Who buried Moses?

If this does not reach the waste-basket, I will try and write again.

I will close, with much love to the Orphanage.

Your unknown friend,
EFFIE L. DUTCHER.

Chalk Level, N. C., May 19, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl ten years old. My papa takes the Advocate and I enjoy reading the children's page very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday I can. Mr. J. M. Cade is my superintendent and Mr. G. W. Starling is our pastor. Mrs. G. W. Starling is my Sunday-school teacher. We like them all very much.

I will answer Mattie Newbold and Ramson Middleton's questions: Methusalah was the oldest man, and Elijah was taken to heaven in a chariot of fire.

I will ask a question: What king ate grass like an ox?

I will close, hoping to see this in print, and much love to all the little Advocate friends.

ANNY LEA ABERNATHY.

Rowland, N. C., May 14, 1904.

Dear Advocate:—I am a little girl fourteen years old. My papa takes the Advocate, and I enjoy reading the boys' and girls' letters. I have been going to school. My teacher's name is Miss Ethel Buchan. I like her very much. School will close the last of May. I have no pets only some kittens. Mamma has ninety-five little chickens; they are very pretty. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My teacher is Miss Irene McQueen. I like her very much. Our pastor is Rev. W. T. Walker. He is very much liked by all.

I live in the country and have many pretty flowers. I am the only girl. I have two brothers living and one sister dead.

If my letter escapes the waste-basket, I will write again.

Your unknown friend,
PEARL PATE.

A FRIGHTENED HORSE,

Running like mad down the street dumping the occupants, or a hundred other accidents, are every day occurrences. It behooves everybody to have a reliable Salve handy, and there's none as good as Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Burns, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Piles, disappear quickly under its soothing effect. Twenty-five cents all drug stores.

"Starts to work with the first dose." Let Rheumacide begin today the campaign against disease in your body. At all druggists.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SPECIAL RATES.

$11.05 Raleigh to Athens, Ga., and return account Summer School. Tickets on sale July 2, 11, 18, limited returning fifteen days in addition to date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$13.50 Raleigh to Atlantic City, N. J., and return, account Imperial Council Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Tickets on sale July 10 and 11, final limit July 23, 1904. An extension can be obtained until August 3rd, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Detroit, Mich, and return account Baptist Young People's Union of America International Convention. Tickets on sale July 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit July 12. An extension until August 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$19.95 Raleigh to Louisville, Ky., and return account Biennial Conclave Knights of Pythias. Tickets on sale August 12 to 15, final limit August 25. An extension until September 15, can be obtained on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$18.20 Raleigh to Monteagle, Tenn., and return account Monteagle Sunday-school Institute. Tickets on sale August 5, 6, 7, and 8, final limit August 31, 1904. An extension until October 31, 1904, can be obtained by paying difference between rate which ticket was sold and summer tourist rate.

$17.75 Raleigh to Nashville, Tenn., and return, account Peabody Normal Summer School. Tickets on sale June 5, 6, 7, 18, 19, 20, July 3, 4, and 5, with final limit fifteen days from date of sale. An extension can be obtained until September 30th, on payment of a fee of 50 cents.

$21.10 Raleigh to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, account National Prohibition Convention. Tickets on sale June 26 and 27, final return limit leave Indianapolis not later than July 15, 1904.

$3.80 Raleigh to Greensboro, N. C., and return account North Carolina State Democratic Convention. Tickets on sale June 21, 22 and 23, final limit June 27, 1904.

UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL.

The Summer Term begin June 8, to continue three months. Thorough instruction in courses admitting to the bar. Special lectures by eminent lawyers. For catalogue, address . . . .

JAS. C. MacRae, Dean,
CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. B. F. Dixon, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of the W. F. M. S. of the N. C. Conference, June, 1903-'04.

President—Mrs. Lucy A. Cunninggim, Greensboro, N. C.
Vice-President—Mrs. R. A. Willis, Littleton, N. C.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. F. D. Swindell, Goldsboro, N. C.
Recording Secretary—Miss Blanche Fentress, Wilmington, N. C.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Adams, Four Oaks, N. C.
Superintendent and Treasurer Juvenile Work—Mrs. L. M. Hendren, New Berne, N. C.

Minutes.

Our Conference Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Swindell, requests us to say that the copy for the Annual Minutes is now in the hands of the publisher. Her illness, and waiting until after the meeting of the Woman's Board, have caused the delay.

Life Certificates.

The reason that many Life Members have not received their certificates is, that the last issue has been exhausted.

As soon as another issue can be printed, the Life Members will be furnished with their certificates without delay.

A Card.

I take this method of sincerely thanking the Societies and many kind friends for their nice letters of interest and sympathy during my recent severe illness, from which, by the mercy of God, and in answer to prayer, I have about recovered.

I desire to use my spared life more constantly and fully in the service of the Master, and for the furtherance of His kingdom.

Later, I hope to acknowledge, by personal letters, the receipt of those which have been written to me.

Fondly your co-laborer,
SUE D. SWINDELL.
Goldsboro, N. C., June 7, 1904.

Mrs. Henderson's Letter.

Dear Jewels:—The reports for the first quarter of the fiscal year are beginning to come in, and I am hoping to find that you have started out so well as to make sure of a still better Annual Report than the very fine one given at Elizabeth City.

The second quarter upon which you will soon enter is, more than any other, a test of faithfulness and interest in your great work. Because of the warm weather and the vacation trips there is great temptation to be negligent about attending the meetings, paying dues, etc.

Do not forget that the object for which you are working increases in importance as the days and months go by; and its claims upon you are more imperative as the years sweep into eternity millions of heathen souls.

I shall hope and pray that you will make special effort the coming quarter to overcome difficulties and obstacles, so that there shall be no falling off in your report.

I should be glad for all the Lady Managers to read the admirable paper on Juvenile Work prepared by Mrs. N. H. D. Wilson and read by Mrs. Leon Richardson at our recent Annual Meeting, as it contains some valuable suggestions. It was left in the hands of Mrs. Richardson to be circulated as largely as possible among the Lady Managers. If any of you fail to receive it, address a card to Mrs. Leon Richardson, Durham, N. C., and she will let you know about it.

I wish to repeat and emphasize the request that you send to our column in the Raleigh Advocate short reports of your work. This will be helpful in bringing us all closer together in the bonds of a stronger love for Christ and His work. May that love constrain us all to greater zeal and faithfulness!

Lovingly,
AUNT LIZZIE.

To the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the N. C. Conference.

Dear Friends:—You are urgently requested to send to the Conference Treasurer a full financial report this quarter, raising as much on the Pledge and other collections as possible.

This call is made to prevent the recurrence of the experience of last year, when there was such a deficit in the collections during the spring and summer months, that the funds in the treasury were insufficient to meet the current expenses of the missionaries in the foreign field.

Our own missionaries, Mary T. Pesend and Elizabeth Davis, whom our Conference Society is supporting, must not be again subjected to such an inconvenience.

Furthermore, it is best to equalize the collections during the four quarters, so there will be no necessity for an especial appeal at the last of the year.

Most cordially yours,
SUE D. SWINDELL,
Conf. Cor. Sec.

CHESTERFIELDIAN MANNERS

Mr. W. C. Cantrell, of Louisville, Ky., pays his compliments to Tetterine as follows: "I take off my hat to a 50 cent box of Tetterine. It has cured me of a skin disease, which doctors in seven States failed to cure." If you have any skin diseases try a box of Tetterine, and you will be as appreciative as Mr. Cantrell. It is infallible in its effects, fragrant and effective.

50 cents a box at druggists or by mail from the manufacturer, J. T. Shuptrine, Savannah, Ga.

SPECIAL TEN DAY COACH EXCURSION TO THE WORLD'S FAIR VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY IN JUNE.

On account of the World's Fair at St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard, in connection with the C. & O. via Richmond and N. & W. via Petersburg, also via Atlanta and N. C. & St. L., will sell round-trip tickets to St. Louis. Limit 10 days from date of sale. Fare from Raleigh via Richmond or Petersburg $18.50. Via Atlanta $20.80. Leave Raleigh 1.25 a. m., arrive Richmond 6.35 a. m. Leave Richmond 2.00 p. m., arrive St. Louis next evening 6.45. Leave Raleigh 11.50, arrive Richmond 4.55 p. m. Leave Richmond 10.30 p. m., arrive St. Louis second morning 7.30. Leave Raleigh 4 a. m., arrive Atlanta 3.55 p. m. Leave Atlanta 4.30 p. m., arrive St. Louis next afternoon 1.35. Leave Raleigh 7.35 p. m., arrive Atlanta 7.50 a. m. Leave Atlanta 8.35 a. m., arrive St. Louis next morning 7.08.

For further information apply to C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

H. STEINMETZ. FLORIST.

Cut Flowers, Designs. Plants of all kinds.

PHONE 113. RALEIGH, N. C

Woman's Home Mission Society

Please send all communications for this Department to Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, N. C.

Officers of W. H. M. S. of the N. C. Conference.

President—Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Elizabeth City.
First Vice-President—Mrs. V. Royster, Raleigh.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. K. P. Black, Littleton.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. J. A. Spiers, Selma.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. C. P. Jerome, West Durham.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. H. Scott, New Bern.
Treasurer—Mrs. E. L. Prince, Wilmington.
Superintendent of Supplies—Mrs. Ivan Proctor, Raleigh.
Superintendent of Literature and Press Work—Mrs. R. O. Burton.

June Questions.

"When Did You First Become Interested in Home Missions?"

To this I would answer: From my earliest recollection, when my cultured Christian mother taught me the duty and pleasure of sharing our gifts, especially the highest, with others less fortunate. A childhood employment was to read the Bible on Sunday afternoons to the colored laborers on my father's plantation, and a school girl's vacation experience was to help her teach, without compensation, there was never a penny charged—the children of the white workers. (I have lived half of my years in the country.)

2. "What Influences Led You to Take a Definite Part in This Work?"

Maturer years brought a clearer realization of my individual responsibility in securing my portion of the eternal glory promised to the followers of Christ—hence the desire to strive to imitate Him in word and work. Also a deeper and more grateful love for the tender Father who has filled my life here with joy and happiness. My sorest sorrows and keenest disappointments have brought Heaven to others. Should not my service be the gladdest and best I can give? And I do not think there is a better organization for Christian work than the Woman's Home Mission Society.

Will others answer these questions?

I would be so pleased to publish replies from many of our members. Will you not send them to me? Let us help one another in every way that we can.

Encouragement.

I was glad to send in my first report to our new Board Superintendent of this Department, Mrs. Ed. F. Cook, a small list of writers for secular papers and for our Conference organ, but I wish it could have been much larger. I earnestly hope you will make it so this quarter. Please vie with Smithfield, Windsor, Weldon, Fremont and Lake Landing in helping our cause in this way, entertaining our readers, and encouraging me.

An Institutional Church.

In Kansas City, Southern Methodism will soon have an Institutional Church which will be an honor to it. And we believe the real, practical good that will result will be a blessing to humanity.

Immigration Perils.

In March more than 51,000 immigrants were landed in New York City. Many remained there in the already congested slums, others went westward, and some turned southward. Most of these foreigners are poverty-stricken and ignorant—a menace to our civilization. Rapidly are opportunities for Christian workers arising on every side. May we all see them and seize them, and help subjugate these aliens to the cross of Christ.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of urine difficulties. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 283, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HYMNAL NO. 2

Should be considered by every Epworth League and Sunday School in which a new song-book is needed It is unquestionably the best book to use after the Young People's Hymnal (No. 1). . . . . .

SAMPLE COPY.

Round or shaped notes, 30cts., by mail $3.60 per dozen; by express or freight, $25 per 100. Words only, by mail, $1.25 per dozen; by express $9 per 100. We pay freight on orders for 100 or more copies. Address all orders to . . . . . .

Southern Methodist Book Depository,
E. B. LIPSCOMB, Sec. and Treas.,
STAUNTON, VA.

$2.00 will buy a pair

Roxie Ward Women's Shoes

Made by Southern Girls and Boys

The equal of any $2.50 shoe on the market

TAKE NO OTHER

Your dealer should keep the best, and the best is "ROXIE WARD."

GEO. D. WITT SHOE CO.
Manufacturers
LYNCHBURG, VA.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED. May pay tuition out of salary after course is completed and position is secured. Indorsed by business men from Maine to California. For 100-page catalog, address J. F. DRAUGHON, Pres., either place,

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS Colleges

Columbia, S. C. Nashville, Tenn.

Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Ft. Worth, Texas; Oklahoma City, O. T.; Galveston, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Ft. Scott, Kans.; Shreveport, La.; St. Louis, Mo.; Kansas City, Mo. After July 1st, 1904.

Incorporated. $300,000.00 capital. Established 1889. 14 bankers on board of directors. National reputation. Our diploma represents in business circles what Yale's and Harvard's represent in literary circles. No vacation; enter any time. Part car fare paid; cheap board. Write to-day.

HOME STUDY. BOOKKEEPING, SHORTHAND, PENMANSHIP, etc., taught by mail. Money refunded if not satisfied with course. Write for prices of home study courses.

Do You Want a Teacher?

The Educational Bureau at Raleigh gives confidential information about teachers for any department of school or college. Hundreds of names on roll.

NO CHARGE.

(Established 1891.)

Editorial

THE STATE'S GREATEST PERIL.

"Strange as it may seem, I verily believe that more marriages have been dissolved in North Carolina during the past five years than there have been in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland since the time of the Reformation." Such were the startling words of Hon. John S. Henderson in an address in Metropolitan Hall on last Friday evening. In the year 1902 there were twice as many divorces in the United States as were granted in France and Germany combined. The figures for the United States were about 61,000 contrasted with 177 in England, and 26 in Canada.

These are facts which throw black shadows around the hearthstone and pressage dire disaster for the home which is the centre and inspiration of our national life.

In discussing the divorce evil, we have been in the habit of keeping our eyes on the New England States, South Dakota and other Western States. But we can now look upon North Carolina as the very hot-bed of this great evil. During last year there were 1,400 divorces granted in North Carolina, 1,333 more than have been granted in the Dominion of Canada during the last 35 years. In North Carolina there is one divorce to about every seven marriages. There is only one State in the Union which has a higher divorce percentage. This is a terrible name old North Carolina is making for herself. She is certainly rushing on to an awful harvest time. No political prestige, no scientific triumphs, no financial exploits, no material Golden Age, can prevent the ruin of a people whose home altars have been destroyed. "One man for one woman, and that for life," is the motto, which contains the principle of safety for any civilized people.

Why is it that North Carolina is making for herself such a black record? The answer is not hard to find. It is in the lax divorce laws that have been enacted. North Carolina of all the States in the Union has the most lax divorce laws. Prior to 1871, the statutes of North Carolina and the Supreme Court reports show that only two acts had been passed on this subject. Only eight or ten cases were in the reports before 1868. In 1895 was passed the first law allowing divorce for abandonment. Only two years abandonment on the part of either party was necessary in order to obtain a divorce. Now only one year's abandonment is necessary. Thus the gates are being thrown wide open. In every case in which a loose divorce law has been passed, it has been to relieve a special hard case. A sluice of destruction has been allowed by our law makers to pour over the sacred hearthstones of our people in order that a few individuals might release themselves from the restraints of marriage.

What is the remedy? It is the wiping out of our statute books those loose divorce laws. As long as they remain there the marriage tie will be more and more dishonored and the pulse of our moral life will become weaker and weaker. Our people must vote for legislators that have an eye single to the moral welfare of the people. Subserviency to the political ukase has been worn to a frazzle and henceforth there must be in the exercise of suffrage a subserviency only to the conscience which keeps its eye on God and His eternal will.

Our present law was fastened upon our people by the help of legislators, one of whom publicly,in our hearing, scouted the idea of our holding to the law of Christ on this subject. He said that this law was "old-fashioned" and "not in keeping" with the genius of this new and progressive age. This man received the votes of God-fearing people. Let no such man be elected to any office. Vote only for men who hold as sacred the great moral principles which form the bulwarks of our social and moral welfare.

IN THE LAND OF FUQUAY.

How the Fuquays and the Pipsisissiways met in mortal combat in the Sippahaw country; how the battle dire raged for a few tragic minutes between Blooming Thunder and Gritty Moccasin; how the former received in his side a long arrow head which was years afterward coughed up and forms one of the choicest relics of the North Carolina Hall of History—is all graphically told by Colonel Frederick A. Olds, the official chronicler of the Fuquay country.

How John A. Millss laid his iron track through all this romantic country and with the help of the Sexons, the Ballentines, the Joneses, the Ellises, the Barhams, the Riggans' and others equally as worthy, made Fuquay Springs famous, and planted a beautiful little town where erstwhile the impetuous brave wooed his dusky maiden is the tale of a later day.

Did you ever visit Fuquay? If not, you have a real pleasure before you. We went down on last Saturday afternoon to preach there on Sunday for Rev. G. W. Starling, who has sown down all that section with Advocates, and who once a month dispenses the Gospel to the Methodist saints of Fuquay.

Dr. James A. Sexton removed himself a few years ago from the "madding crowd" and planted himself at Fuquay. Right on the brow of the hill overlooking the spring he runs an excellent hotel which he is equipping with a modern cafe, bath rooms and many other appurtenances coveted by health-seekers. It was our fortune to be his guest, and we were never more royally treated. He with others are determined to make Fuquay Springs the best resort in all this section of the State. The water is strongly impregnated with mineral qualities, having the gas that is characteristic of the famous Carlsbad water. Dr. Sexton has an artesian well one hundred and thirty-five feet deep and the water is strongly mineral. There is no better place at which to build up run-down health. The surroundings are picturesque. The hotel and boarding-houses accommodations are first-class, and for a reasonable price. It was our pleasure to take dinner on Sunday with the family of Mr. R. S. Barham who for several years has been running an excellent boarding-house right at the Spring. Mr. J. D. Ballentine, an earnest Methodist, has a store in the same locality.

The Methodist church is a gem. It was finished and dedicated only a few months ago. The band of members is small, but ambitious, enthusiastic, and zealous. We counted seventy in the Sunday-school on Sunday morning. Mr. J. D. Riggan, so well known in Raleigh, is the superintendent, and there is nowhere a more zealous Christian worker. He has built a beautiful residence down there, and, under the influence of the change and the water, he has become another man from the physical standpoint.

We preached twice on Sunday—at 11 a. m. and 3.30 p. m. The support given us by the congregations was all that could be desired. The Methodists have every nerve strained to build up their church. They are a zealous set. Rev. G. W. Starling, the preacher-in-charge, preaches at Fuquay on every fourth Sunday afternoon. On the second Sunday, Bro. Burt, a worthy local preacher, has an appointment. Considering the fact that Fuquay Springs is a strategic point, and is destined to become a centre of strong influence, and that the Methodists are so zealous and ambitious, we feel that the church there should have a missionary appropriation and become a station. With the help of a missionary appropriation, the little band down there could easily support a preacher. The possibilities for growth are marvellous.

There is quite a number of visitors at the Springs now. Among them is Rev. E. M. Snipes, of Dunn. He is there successfully building up his health which for the last few months has been greatly impaired. He trusts that a few weeks at the Springs will enable him to apply himself once more to his accustomed duties.

OUR EDUCATIONAL PROSPECTS.

That was an important piece of news which went out on last Wednesday from Trinity Commencement in the shape of the statement that Messrs. B. N. and J. B. Duke had shown their accustomed generosity in giving conditionally to Trinity College $100,000 for the establishment of the Woman's Annex on Trinity Park. Such gencrosity, while not surprising, much touch a very tender chord in every section of Southern Methodism. The donors have done a great work for the cause of Christian education, and they have the thanks of every lover of education.

The Woman's Annex is designed for those young women who wish to take the advanced course furnished in the curriculum of Trinity College and to do post-graduate work. It does not supply the demand for the regular Woman's College which is contemplated in the new Greensboro Female College. So we see no reason why one should be considered antagnistic to the other. Both institutions are needed and will fill different spheres.

The new gift to Trinity College is made on the condition that the Methodist people of North Carolina raise the sum of $50,000. It is true that our Methodist people are in a sense committed to the work of raising a sum sufficient to equip and endow Greensboro Female College, and are now in the midst of this endeavor with the most glowing prospects of success, yet this fact does not mean that our people cannot, and should not, raise the $50,000 for the Woman's Annex, even if circumstances should demand that the moral obligation to Greensboro Female College be first discharged. As far as the question of ability is concerned, the Methodist people of North Carolina can raise $150,000 at once.

We should all congratulate ourselves that such a magnificent educational prospect lies before the people of our church in North Carolina—a prospect which includes in its sweep a new Greensboro Female College and, at Durham, a Woman's Annex, which will be the pride of the whole South.

WE HAVE SOMEWHAT AGAINST THEE.

The following suggestion comes from one of the best men in the North Carolina Conference, and is heartily commended to the consideration of our preachers:

"When any of our preachers are sick it would be well for the family or some friend who knows of the affliction, to let the church know it through our Conference organ. Within the past few years several of our preachers have died, and no notice of their sickness had appeared in the Advocate. It appears that our Brother Harrison had been sick for several weeks, but many of his friends knew nothing of it till the sad announcement was made of his death."

In point of intelligence, preaching and pastoral ability, loyalty to duty, and faithfulness to their Conference organ, the preachers of the North Carolina Conference will stand in line with the preachers of any Conference on the face of the earth. But, we have something against our brethren. They are too modest in the use of the pen. They do not write as often as they should for the Advocate. Every preacher should not only follow the foregoing suggestion of Bro. T. J. Dailey, but should make it a point to let us hear from them at least four times a year in regard to their work. Such short letters are very interesting to our readers and have a tendency to awaken deeper interest in church affairs, and thus bring about a decided development throughout the whole Conference. We should have at least one dozen letters every week on "The Field" page. We have a large number of preachers for whose articles the "Contribution" page is patiently waiting. Brethren, think on these things, and act.

Bishop Galloway, accompanied by Mrs. Galloway, will soon start on his journey to the Far East, where he has charge of the Mission Conferences.

Methodist Mention

State.

Vanderbilt commencement this week.

Wilmington, North Carolina, will vote July 27 on the question of a Dispensary.

The District Conference season in the Western North Carolina Conference began early in this month.

Rev. F. L. Church has been assisting Rev. A. J. Parker in a meeting at Manteo. We have not yet learned the results.

Rev. D. H. Comann, of the Western North Carolina Conference, is assisting Rev. R. A. Willis in a meeting at Laurinburg.

Main Street Methodist Church, Gastonia, Western North Carolina Conference, was dedicated on last Sunday by Bishop Wilson.

Trinity College had its typical weather during commencement. It is unnecessary to say that the mercury was striving to reach the top of the tube.

Rev. R. H. Willis writes that Prof. Plato Durham and Rev. J. F. Bivins made a fine impression on the Teachers' Assembly which met last week at Morehead City.

Rev. W. L. Cuninggim, Main Street, Durham, left on last Friday for Nashville, Tenn., where he will be for two weeks attending the Vanderbilt Biblical Institute.

The following gentlemen by visiting this office last week made us their debtor: Revs. J. N. Cole, Z. Paris, A. P. Tyer, H. A. Humble, C. W. Robinson and Col. J. F. Bruton.

Every one who knows Revs. R. C. Beaman and T. F. Marr will say that Trinity College in conferring at its last commencement the degree of D. D. on these gentlemen very highly honored itself.

Our friend, Mr. M. C. Buffalo, believes not only in Methodism, but in being the first to bring forth the fruit of the ground in the shape of fine peaches. The offering he made to this office is a fine proof of his success.

We call attention to the notice of Rev. F. L. Townsend on another page. The idea is a good one, and we see no reason why it should not be actualized. A summer resting place for preachers and their families would be a great blessing to many.

Dr. H. M. Hamill and wife will hold a Sunday-school Teachers' and Workers' Institute for the northeastern section of the North Carolina Conference at Elizabeth City, June 29 and 30. The program is very interesting and promises to be highly instructive.

On the first Sunday in June, Rev. W. W. Rose, Weldon Station, preached at Fremont. Rev. J. A. Hornaday, Greenville Station, preached at Weldon, and Rev. P. N. Stainback, of Weldon, preached at Greenville. This exchanging of pulpits is a good idea, and should be done oftener.

The commencement season for our Methodist schools in North Carolina is over, and now is the time for Methodist people to become thoroughly solidified in the doctrine that Methodist schools are the best places for Methodist boys and girls. We trust that our people will not become so broad as to ignore this doctrine.

Bishop W. W. Duncan, of Spartanburg, S. C., will preach two sermons in Raleigh next week. On Tuesday evening, the 21st, he will preach in Epworth Church a memorial sermon to "Uncle Jessie" Cuninggim. After the sermon, the Cuninggim memorial window will be unveiled. This window has been placed in the building by the membership of Epworth Church. On Wednesday evening, the 22nd, the Bishop will preach in Edenton Street Church. Raleigh Methodism will enjoy an enviable privilege in this visit of Bishop Duncan.

Honors are coming thick and fast upon our North Carolinians in California. Rev. J. C. Wooten, stationed at Berkely, has recently received his degree from the Theological School of that place, and the stork, after a delay of twenty years, has visited the home of Rev. W. F. Coffin. Our congratulations to all.

Dr. Ley, of the Florida Advocate, quotes us as discoursing in a recent issue on "long sweetening" and throwing out intimations that pan-cakes and molasses and "millions" would come in handy. Now, we know that Brother Ley's mouth was watering when he made that gastronomic reference, but it is our duty to say that Dr. J. W. Jenkins, editor of the Orphanage Department, is responsible for arousing those earthly emotions in our Southern neighbor.

Connectional.

Dr. Piner, pastor of Central Church, Memphis, has become associate editor of the Methodist, published at Humboldt, Tenn.

The St. Louis Christian Advocate calls for a parliament of religious journalists to be held at some time during the Exposition.

While in a recent meeting at Rome, Ga., Rev. Sam Jones was taken very sick. The latest report is that he is much better. He has cancelled all his engagements in the West.

Another superannuate home has been donated to the North Alabama Conference. Dr. S. C. Tatum, of Center, gives the home, which is a comfortable cottage located at Center.

Stephen J. Herber, former Assistant Editor of the Chritsian Advocate (New York), is now editor of the Epworth Herald, vice Joseph F. Berry, who was recently elected Bishop.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the North Alabama Conference College, Rev. John R. Turner was elected president of that institution to succeed Dr. Anson West, resigned.

The Pacific Methodist is responsible for the statement that during the recent General Conference in Los Angeles, three negro preachers were sent one Sunday to fill the pulpits of the M. E. Church, South.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the lower court by which the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church is to receive $250,000 from the late Mrs. Nanny Speed, of Louisville, for educational purposes.

Miss Eva Parker will sail for Brazil early in July and join her brother, Rev. George D. Parker, as a missionary from our Church. She will be supported by the ladies of Felicity Street Church, in New Orleans, where she has her membership.

At the recent session of the District Conference of San Antonio District, held in Del Rio, $1,750 was contributed toward the Mood scholarships for Southwestern University, Mr. J. O. McLymon, a layman, assuming the responsibility of a gift of $1,000.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church took no action on the paragraph in the Discipline forbidding certain forms of amusements, chiefly, as would appear, because such action would have been interpreted to be a recession from the well-known attitude of Methodism.

At a Stewards' Reunion of Atlanta, held at Trinity Church on Tuesday night of last week, the "New Order of Worship" was the topic for discussion, whether it evidences progress or retrogression. After a spirited debate for and against, a vote was taken and showed, one gentleman said, "three to one against the new order."—Wesleyan Christian Advocate.

At the recent meeting of the Book Committee the question of erecting a new publishing house was quite prominent, and a subcommittee was appointed, with power to act, and to proceed with the building as soon as practicable. It is understood that as soon as a satisfactory sale can be negotiated for the old plant, steps will be taken to erect an up-to-date plant on the lot at the corner of Broad and McLemore.—Central Methodist.

Publisher's Column

THE CAMPAIGN NOT CLOSED.

The brethren who have been working so nobly for new subscribers have not been working to secure pre-eminence for their Districts. A higher motive has really actuated them,and that was a desire to advance the interests of Christ through an increased circulation of His paper. Therefore, we safely assume that the brethren will continue the Campaign. We covet the opportunity of reporting June 15 that the 1,350 have been secured. Methodist preachers are not in the habit of saying with respect to their aims and efforts, "So near and yet so far." They are thoroughly in sympathy with us in our desire to report at Henderson next December that the Conference Resolution has been practically carried out. So we make the following

OFFER.

To the District reporting the largest number of new subscribers between May 4 and June 15, 1904, the Advocate will give $10.00 to be applied as the District Conference thinks best.

To the District reporting the next highest, $5.

Reports will be published weekly in the Advocate as before.

The following is the report since June 8:

Rev. W. F. Galloway	2
Rev. W. E. Brown	2
Rev. W. H. Kirton	1
Rev. J. M. Lowder	1
Rev. C. L. Read	1
Direct (Raleigh District)	1
Direct (Fayetteville District)	1
Rev. C. M. Lance	1
Rev. E. R. Welch	1

The following is the report by Districts since May 4:

Wilmington District	47	increase 2
Fayetteville District	47	increase 2
New Bern District	15	increase 0
Warrenton District	15	increase 2
Rockinham District	13	increase 0
Elizabeth City District	11	increase 3
Washington District	9	increase 2
Raleigh District	6	increase 1
Durham District	4	increase 1

Total number of subscribers received since December 1, 1903, 1,305.

THE CRAVEN PORTRAIT FUND.

Since our last report, we have received the following subscriptions:

Rev. N. M. Jurney, Mt. Olive, N. C.	$1.00
Cash	2.00
Rev. G. T. Adams, New Bern, N. C.	1.00
Rev. Z. Paris, Lumberton, N. C.	1.00
Dr. A. Cheatham, Durham, N. C.	5.00
Rev. M. Bradshaw, Goldsboro, N. C.	1.00
Mr. T. M. Anderson, Wilson, N. C.	5.00
Dr. W. H. Nicholson, Hickory	1.00
Amount previously reported	235.85
Total	252.85

TWO TIES.

According to our proposition the special campaign for new subscribers is to close with this issue of the paper. It will be seen, however, that according to the figures, it is impossible to award the first and second prizes for the reason that Wilmington and Fayetteville Districts tie on the first prize, and New Bern and Warrenton, on the second. We are desirous of making the award according to our proposition. So we will extend the propossition until next week, June 22. Let every District make a special effort. You will see that we lack only 45 to make up the 1,350 aimed at. Brethren do something special this week.

THE SOUVENIR.

At the beginning of the year, the Raleigh Advocate sent a specially made calendar to every preacher's wife in the Conference. Last week we sent a Raleigh Advocate souvenir to every preacher in the Conference. If any preacher has not yet received his, we would be glad to know of it at once.

We are sending out the lists of subscribers to the preachers. Please do not forget to send us some renewals during this very dull summer season. Our expenses are as large as at any other time of the year, and our bills must be paid as promptly.

Is it Self Immolation?

Under the above caption Brother Bumpas, if I have correctly read his article, in Advocate May 25th, has misunderstood my meaning in quoting from the little book—"Gold Dust." Whatever the author was in reality I do not think his prayer, a part of which I quoted in League columns of the Advocate of May 4, is the prayer of an ascetic, but a prayer for self-abnegation. True, some passages taken out of their settings and separated from their context might imply he was an ascetic. But the phrase, "from the design of influence," is preceded by the phrase, "from the desire of praise"; and, "from the desire of approval," is followed by, "from the desire of authority."

Then he says: Grant me the utmost holiness of which I am capable, then let others be holier than myself.

That others may be loved more than myself.

That others may be more highly esteemed.

He wanted to be loved and esteemed, but prayed that others should have the greater share of both. The intensity of desire caused the author of the prayer to use some expressions that did not, when separated from other passages, convey his real meaning.

I would teach neither asceticism nor mysticism. I do not think that the Master showed any tinge of asceticism. And He is our pattern and our guide. I believe the Word of God to be the only and sufficient rule both of our faith and practice. I believe in a faith that is free from superstition, and in a Christianity that is eminently practical.

Six years ago the Leagues of the Northern Methodist Church had no mission study classes. In less than two years a thousand mission study classes have been conducted, and in these classes were enrolled 10,886 members. Last year the sales of "The Price of Africa," one of the class text books, exceeded 10,000 copies.

The Centenary (New Bern) League has added to their subscription of $500 to the building fund of their new church another subscription of $500, making a thousand dollars in all. We learn the building committee will provide the chapter with elegant apartments for their meetings.

As Epworthians we are justly proud of the record Dr. Kilgo, the leader of our educational interests in North Carolina, made at the General Conference of the M. E. Church, in Los Angeles. Here's our hand, Doctor. You didn't take our breath if you did cause a General Conference to walk softly while it shouted lustily.

There are four Canadian League Leaflets to which I wish to call special attention as well worth the while of our young people to read, viz., Visiting and Relief, Ministry of Flowers, Missionary Work, and the Model Social. These leaflets may be had of Rev. Wm. Briggs, D. D., Toronto, Can., at twelve cents per dozen.

It is presumed that the Leaguers are familiar with our own publications.

You doubtless read in these columns of June 1st how Miss Lizzie L. Johnson, of Casey, Ill., a great sufferer who by making book marks was able to donate to the cause of missions annually $4,810, and in addition to this has an extensive correspondence which reaches to nearly every State in the Union, and in five or six foreign nations.

If an invalid does this, can we not add the small sum of twenty-seven cents to what we are contributing for that League missionary?

FIGHT WILL BE BITTER.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall, of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once, and four bottles entirely cured her." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SUCCESSFUL LIFE INSURANCE MEN IN NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA.

Any life insurance solicitor who is successful and reliable, or any capable reliable man who is willing to work up to it, can secure from the Southern Loan and Trust Company of Greensboro, N. C., a working contract possessing all the advantages of a general agent's contract. With this contract can be secured small or large territory as desired, and such facilities as may be necessary for financing the general agency. No man need apply who is not a worker, and who cannot give satisfactory references.

The Southern Loan and Trust Company has spared no pains or expense to give its patrons the best that there is in life insurance. It is a legal reserve company with a cash capital and surplus of over $225,000. The company has operated in only a few counties in North Carolina, but in the territory in which it has operated, has written more business than any other company. For further information address A. W. McAlister, Manager, Greensboro, N. C.

WOOL

If you have wool to sell for cash, to exchange for goods, or to be manufactured, ship it to the CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, ELKIN, N. C., and you will not regret it. They pay the highest market price and make the best goods you can get. Their blankets at all the leading expositions have been awarded GOLD MEDALS as the finest made in America.

WRITE THEM FOR SAMPLES.

CAPUDINE

Time to cure yourself! CAPUDINE is guaranteed to cure ANY SORT OF HEADACHE. 10c. 25c. 50c, A BOTTLE AT DRUGGISTS.

Union Pacific Railroad Co.
—and—
Southern Pacific Company

THE TWO BEST AND MOST DIRECT ROUTES TO

California and the Pacific Coast!

Lowest Rates. . . . . Fastest Trains.

For particulars address

J. S. VAN RENSSELAER, 13 PEACHTREE ST., ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY.
..."SUNSET ROUTE."...

Lowest Rates and Through Service to California. Ask About Them. Through the Rice and Oil Belt.

4 Daily Trains from New Orleans to Points in Louisiana; 3 to Texas; 2 to California and Mexico.

Best Trains, Best Service; Best Everything.

OIL BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.

Through Pullman Tourist Car from Washington, Atlanta, Montgomery and Intermediate points to California, Tri-Weekly.

No trouble to answer questions.

J. F. VAN RENSSELAER, General Agent. ATLANTA, GA.
R. O. BEAN, T. P. A.,

WORLD'S FAIR RATES
VIA
Seaboard Air Line Railway
TO ST. LOUIS, MO., AND RETURN.

On account of the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., the Seaboard Air Line Railway, in connection with the C. & O. Route via Richmond and the N. C. & St. L. Route via Atlanta, will sell round trip tickets to St. Louis, Mo., at greatly reduced rates from all stations.

Rates from principal points as follows:

	Season Tickets	60 Day Tickets	15 Day Tickets
Charlotte via Atlanta	$36.10	$30.10	$24.65
Durham via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Durham via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Henderson via Richmond	34.10	28.40	23.30
Henderson via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Maxton via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25
Raleigh via Richmond	35.60	29.90	24.80
Raleigh via Atlanta	38.75	32.30	26.30
Hamlet via Richmond	37.60	31.90	26.25
Hamlet via Atlanta	37.60	31.90	26.25
Wilmington via Richmond	38.65	32.25	26.25
Wilmington via Atlanta	38.65	32.25	26.25

LIMIT OF TICKETS—SEASON TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to December 15, 1904, will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

SIXTY DAY TICKETS.

Good to leave St. Louis up to and including 60 days from date of sale. Will be sold daily commencing April 25th.

FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.

Good to return up to and including 15 days from date of sale, commencing April 25th, and continuing during the Exposition.

COACH EXCURSION TICKETS.

On May 9th and 23rd, 10-day coach excursion tickets will be sold at very low rates from Raleigh $18.50 via Richmond and $20.80 via Atlanta. Tickets not good in Parlor Sleeping Cars. Tickets good to leave St. Louis including ten days from date of sale.

MILITARY COMPANIES.

Special low rates for Military Companies and Bands.

Quickest schedule, direct routes, first-class coaches and Pullman Sleeping and Dining Car Service.

For further information, call on or address us. Same will be cheerfully furnished.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.
C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Sunday School

Lesson for June 19, 1904.

Christ Risen.

(Matthew 28: 1-15.)

Golden Text: Now is Christ risen from the dead. (1 Cor. 15: 20.)

The Resurrection is the crowning feature of the revelation which we have in the person of the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the culminating fact in Christian theology. We cannot exaggerate the importance of the Resurrection as one of the salient and impregnable truths of the Christian faith.

Christ's First Appearance.—Mark tells us that the risen Christ appeared first to Mary Magdalene (Mark 16: 9), and the details of this manifestation are given to us in John 20: 11-18.

It is a significant fact that the risen Christ should have showed himself first to a woman. It seems almost prophetic of the exalted station to which Christianity has elevated woman in every Chritsian land.

Christ Appears to the Women at the Tomb.—Immediately after his appearance to Mary Magdelene, Jesus showed himself to the other women, who had gone with her to the tomb, and from whom she seems to have become separated for the time being. These other women included Mary, the mother of James the Less and Joses; Salome, the mother of John; Joanna, the wife of Chuza, and some others whose names are not given.

A list of the Recorded Appearances.—In all, some eleven instances are recorded in which the risen Lord appeared to human witnesses. They may be enumerated as follows:

1. To Mary Magdelene, early in the morning on the first Easter Sunday, near the Tomb where Jesus had been buried.

2. To the other women who went with Mary Magdelene to the Tomb.

3. To Simon Peter (Luke 24:34; 1 Cor. 15:5), on the first Easter Sunday.

4. To the two disciples who were walking from Jerusalem to Emmaus, in the afternoon of the first Easter Sunday. (Luke 24:13-32.)

5. To ten of the apostles, Thomas being absent) and other disciples in an upper room in Jerusalem, on the evening of the first Easter Sunday. (Luke 24:36-49.)

6. To the eleven apostles (Thomas being present), and others in the upper room at Jerusalem, one week later. (John 20:26-29.)

7. To seven apostles, several days later, by the Sea of Galilee. (John 21:1-22.)

8. To the eleven apostles on a mountain in Galilee some weeks later. (Matt. 28:16-20.)

9. To other five hundred at once, at about the same time as the appearance to the eleven in Galilee. (1 Cor. 15: 6.)

10. To James. (1 Cor. 15: 7.)

11. To the apostles in Jerusalem, and afterwards on the Mount of Olives, near Bethany, at the time of his Ascension. (Luke 24:50-53; Acts 1:1-11.)

The above list of appearances represents the views of probably the majority of scholars. Of course in a matter where there are several different accounts to combine there is a possibility for differences of opinion. For example, some regard the first and second appearances as identical. Others regard the eighth and ninth appearances as also identical. Thus it will be seen that different scholars would enumerate nine, ten or eleven appearances, according to the particular view which they took. This list, however, may serve as a working basis for a study of the various appearances of Christ during the period between his Resurrection and his Ascension.

The Living Christ.—The Resurrection is the positive assurance to every Christian heart that we have a living, not a dead, Saviour. Christ lives to-day, and seeks admission to every human heart.

Paul uses the Resurrection in a beautiful figurative way to describe the life of the Christian believer, speaking of the Christian as one who is risen with Christ. Let us ask ourselves and every member of our different classes the earnest and solemn question, "Are ye risen indeed with Christ?"

CURES BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES, ITCHING HUMORS, ECZEMA, SCROFULA, ETC.

Send no money—simply write and try Botanic Blood Balm at our expense. A personal trial of Blood Balm is better than a thousand printed testimonials, so don't hesitate to write for a free sample.

If you suffer from ulcers, eczema, scrofula, Blood Poison, cancer, eating sores, itching skin, pimples, boils, bone pains, swellings, rheumatism, catarrh, or any blood or skin diseases we advise you to take Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) Especially recommended for old, obstinate, deep-seated cases of malignant blood or skin diseases, because Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) kills the poison in the blood, cures where all else fails, heals every sore, makes the blood pure and rich, gives the skin the rich glow of health. B. B. B., the most perfect blood purifier made. Thoroughly tested for thirty years. Costs $1.00 per large bottle at drug-stores. To prove it cures, sample of Blood Balm sent free by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Describe trouble and free medical advice sent in sealed letter.

This is an honest offer—medicine sent at once, prepaid.

RATES TO ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Tickets to be Sold at Very Low Rates via Southern Railway.

For the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, to be held at St. Louis, Mo., May until November, 1904, the Southern Railway announces the following forms of excursion tickets, effective April 25th:

Season excursion tickets, good to return until December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $35.60 from Raleigh.

Sixty day excursion ticket, good returning sixty (60) days in addition to date of sale, final date in no case to exceed December 15, 1904, sold daily at rate of $29.90 from Raleigh.

Fifteen-day excursion tickets, good returning fifteen (15) days in addition to date of sale, sold daily at rate of $24.80 from Raleigh.

Ten day special coach excursion tickets—see notices elsewhere.

Reduced rate tickets as above will be sold from other stations on the Southern Railway at proportionate rates.

On all one way and round trip tickets, reading to points beyond St. Louis, a stop-over of ten days will be permitted at St. Louis on payment of a fee of $1.00 and deposit of ticket.

The Southern Railway will operate through sleeping car daily, leaving Greensboro, N. C., 7.20 p. m., May and November for St. Louis via Asheville, Knoxville and Louisville.

For full information, literature, etc., call on or address any agent of the Southern Railway.

T. E. GREEN,
City Ticket Agent.
Raleigh, N. C.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS. UNEXCELLED IN SWEETNESS, VOLUME AND TONE. LOWER PRICE. OUR LATEST CATALOGUE FREE. Please mention this paper.

A COSTLY MISTAKE.

Blunders are sometimes very expensive. Occasionally life itself is the price of a mistake, but you'll never be wrong if you take Dr. King's New Life Pills for Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Headache, Liver or Bowel troubles. They are gentle, yet thorough. Twenty-five cents at all drug stores.

I CURE CANCER.

Have you Cancer? Have you been given up as hopelessly incurable by everybody? I can still cure you. At least, I have cured others who were thought to have but a few days to live, and why not cure you? No knife. No plaster. No caustics. No slonghing oils. No injection of acids. No blood drawn. No pain. I can cure inte nal cancer just as readily as external. You can be cured by my "Home Treatment" at your own homes for less than one-fourth the cost of "Personal Treatment;" but if you have been humbugged till you have lost faith in the honesty or ability of any one to handle this disease successfully, come to me, and I will cure you or no pay. And when I cure you you stayed cured. It does not reappear in a few months. I will put money in the bank to back up that assertion. You will be absolutely, wholly and perfectly cured. The chances are ten to one if anything else is the matter with you, you will be cured of that too. You can be cured a great deal quicker, and more cheaply, if you have never permitted your body to be operated on or experimented with by others before I take your case, still if you do not believe it, go ahead and try, but remember me when they have failed. Will you not write me a full description of your case and let me tell you what I can do for you. Address

Dr. Scott Mason,
Dry Bridge, Va.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S WASH.

The healing property of my Wash is not generally known. It will cure poison oak every time. It is fine for inflammation of the eyes, being perfectly painless and very soothing and healing. It will heal any surface sore or eruption, but if the trouble comes from blood impurity, the Remedy should be taken in connection with the Wash. It would pay any one interested in the subject to send for one of my pamphlets and circulars. I am very truly,

MRS. JOE PERSON,
Kittrell, N. C., August 20, 1902.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have been suffering for ten years with an eating corn between my toes. At times you could see the bone in my toes. Mrs. Joe Person's Wash was recommended to me. I tried it for two weeks and am entirely cured of my corn. I would recommend it to all suffering with like troubles.

A. H. GARNER.
Burlington, N. C., Aug. 19, 1902.

..California...
Knight Templars—Odd Fellows
The Last Opportunity of the Season.

Beginning August 15th and continuing daily to September 9th round-trip tickets will be sold account of the above conventions from all points in the Southeast to either Los Angeles or San Francisco at extremely low rates, with final return limit October 23rd.

Tickets will permit of ten days stop-over at St. Louis and allow holder privilege of going one route and returning another without additional cost, except that tickets returning via Portland an additional charge of $11.00 will be made.

The Frisco-Rock Island Systems offer excellent routes in either direction.

Write for rates, descriptive literature and full information, and let us plan your trip.

S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH BELLS
AT $5.35 for 20-inch 165-pound, $19.15 for 30-inch 570-pound, we sell all sizes of bells at one-half the prices usually asked. $1.35 buys best 20-pound farm bell. Finest crystalline metal, quality and volume of tone unequaled. Guaranteed against breakage for 5 years. For most astonishing bell offer, liberal terms, complete catalogue, write for FREE CATALOGUE OF BELLS. Address: SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO., Chicago.

DON'T
give your child old greasy Castor Oil. Give CAS-TO-RINE. Tastes as good as maple syrup. Fifteen cents per bottle at all dealers.

Raleigh Marble Works

Monuments

Ship Monumental work to all parts of the State Delivered to your depot at same price as at shop.

Special attention paid to finish and lettering.

Only Best of Stock Used.

Write for new catalogue.

COOPER BROS., Proprietors,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad

TIME TABLE.

Effect 12:01 A. M., Sunday, April. 5, 1903.

SOUTH BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. Second-Class 101	First-Class 105	STATIONS.	NOR. BOUND TRAINS. Daily, ex. S. First-Class 104	Second-Class 102
A. M.	P. M.	Lv.	A. M.	P. M.
7 20	4 15	.....Raleigh.....	9 45	6 35
7 35	4 25	S.....†Caraleigh Mills..	9 35	6 20
7 45	4 30	F.....*Sylvania.....	9 30	6 15
7 54	4 39	F.....† Barnes	9 20	6 05
00	4 45	F.....Hobby	9 14	6 00
8 15	4 53	M.....†McCULLERS.....	9 10	5 55
8 25	4 58	F.....Banks.....	8 58	5 45
8 30	4 59	F.....Austins	8 55	5 38
8 50	5 07	S...†Willow Springs....	8 50	5 30
9 05	5 15	M...† JOHNSON MILL	8 40	5 15
9 15	5 17	F.....† Cardenas.....	8 38	5 05
9 20	5 22	S...C. F. & N. Junction	8 32	5 01
9 35	5 26	S...† Fuquay Springs..	8 30	4 50
9 40	5 31	F.....Buckhorn	8 20	4 35
9 45	5 36	F.....Rawls	8 17	4 30
10 00	5 45	S.....† Chalybeate.....	8 10	4 20
10 05	5 50	S.....Bradley	8 00	4 05
10 15	6 00	F.....* Smith Mill.....	7 55	4 00
10 25	6 10	.....Lillington	7 45	3 50
		Ar. Lv.

JOHN A. MILLS,
President and Gen. Manager.

THE FRISCO SYSTEM
OPERATES
Double Daily Trains
Carrying Pullman Sleepers, Cafe Cars (a la carte) and Chair Cars (seats free).
Electric Lighted Throughout
BETWEEN
Birmingham, Memphis and Kansas City
AND TO ALL POINTS IN
Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territories
AND THE
Far West and Northwest.
THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE FROM THE SOUTHEAST TO MEMPHIS AND KANSAS CITY.
ONE-WAY OR ROUND TRIP
Excursion tickets from Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., to points in Southwest on sale first and third Tuesdays of each month.
Descriptive literature, tickets arranged and through reservations made upon application to
F. E. CLARK, TRAV. PASS'R AGT., ATLANTA, GA.
S. L. PARROTT,
DISTRICT PASSENGER AGENT,
ATLANTA, GA.

Secular News

STATE.

Work will commence immediately on Greensboro's $30,000 Carnegie library.

Lexington has voted $60,000 of bonds for water works, electric lights, etc.

Capt. W. H. Day, who was stricken with paralysis the other day, continues to improve.

The North Carolina State Bankers Association are holding a meeting in Asheville this week.

The President has appointed J. D. Parker postmaster at Smithfield and R. P. Reinhardt postmaster at Newton.

Hon. Henry G. Turner, of the Supreme Court of Georgia, died at Raleigh, last week. He was a native of this State.

H. F. Seawell, of Moore County, has declined to make the race for Congress on the Republican ticket in the Seventh District.

The retail merchants of North Carolina will hold their second annual convention in Winston-Salem Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Governor Aycock has returned from a stay of several days at Morehead City where he went especially to attend the recent session of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly He was much pleased.

The race for the Democratic nomination for Governor has continued to grow in interest with Messrs. Glenn and Stedman in the lead. Some personal feeling has been injected into the campaign.

The Wilmington and Weldon Railroad—now a part of the Atlantic Soast Line system—is 162 miles long, and when built 71 years ago was the longest railroad in the world. It boasts of the remarkable fact that it has never killed a passenger.

The recent action of the Board of County Commissioners in refusing to grant liquor license to the saloon keepers in Fremont, Wayne County, has led the people of that town to sign a petition to the effect that the saloon keepers be allowed to the first of next January to dispose of their stock.

A. L. McCaskill, postmaster at Fayetteville, who is seeking reappointment and who is endorsed by Republican State Chairman Rollins, has encountered the spirited opposition of a number of negro leaders in this State. This hostility resulted from the exclusion of negroes from the county convention of Cumberland, and McCaskill is charged with responsibility.

The Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons convened in their 56th annual convention in Masonic Hall in Raleigh, Tuesday night. On Wednesday at 11.30 the Grand Council Royal and Select Masters of North Carolina will assemble in 28th annual meeting, and at 8 p. m. Wednesday the Grand Commandery of Knights Templars will convene in 24th annual conclave. A number of prominent Masons will be in attendance.

GENERAL NEWS.

The horse spur is said to have been used since 300 B. C.

Levi Z. Leiter, the Chicago multimillionaire, died at Bar Harbor.

The Boers resent an attempt to take a Transvaal census. They consider it an intrusion into their private affairs.

A map of Jerusalem in Mosaic over 1,500 years old, has been found in Palestine.

The hour of Sunday church service in an English parish has been changed to suit golf players.

One of the little islands of the Hawaiian group containing 70,000 acres is owned by an American named Gay.

Attorney-General Knox has been selected as United States Senator to fill the place made vacant by the death of Senator Quay.

By a vote of five to four the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that residents of the Philippines are not entitled to the right of trial by jury.

Consumption is a rare disease in Japan. Even in winter coughs are of rare occurrence, and this despite the fact that the real Japanese do not heat their rooms with anything more than a tiny charcoal stove.

The chief of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture estimates the total area planted in cotton in the United States this season at 31,730,371 acres, an increase of 2,823,016 over acreage planted last year.

SPECIAL RATES VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.

$21.55, plus 50 cents, from Raleigh to Chicago, Ill., and return account of the Republican National Convention, June 21st to 24th. Tickets on sale June 16th to 20th, inclusive, with final limit to leave Chicago June 29th. Stop-overs at St. Louis will be permitted on tickets reading through that point.

WEEK END AND SUNDAY EXCURSION RATES VIA SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. TO RESORTS IN NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

The Seaboard wishes to announce, that commencing today it will sell round-trip tickets to resorts named below on Saturday, good returning Monday following date of sale, with exceptions as noted below:

From Raleigh, N. C., to
Portsmouth, Va.	$4.75
Old Point, Ocean View	$4.75
Virginia Beach	$4.75
Wilmington, N. C.	$4.50
Lenoir, N. C.	$5.30
Blowing Rock, N. C.	$8.60

Tickets to Blowing Rock, N. C., will be on sale for Fridays and Saturdays trains, good returning Tuesday following date of sale.

For further information, call or address,

C. H. GATTIS, C. P. & T. A., Raleigh, N. C.

Z. P. SMITH, T. P. A., Raleigh, N. C.

..Dobbin & Ferrall..
(AT TUCKER'S STORE)
Raleigh, N. C.

BRIDAL OUTFITS.

We are fully prepared to furnish a complete Trousseau. Every detail absolutely correct. No better materials can be furnished anywhere, and our dress makers are the best in the world—a broad statement but fully true. It is far better to have the customers come to our store making the trip to Raleigh. Write us if you cannot come in person. You will be given perfect attention. . . . . .

Our Prices are Lower Than Other Stores.

DOBBIN & FERRALL
123 and 125 Fayetteville St.

BRINGS
SWEET SLEEP.

"I have used your concentrated water and am delighted with it. I have had considerable trouble in getting a good night's rest; frequently I was as tired in the morning as when I first laid down, was troubled much with bad dreams, etc.; but now I sleep soundly, and am greatly refreshed in the mornings, ready for the day's work. It is indeed a good medicine, and I thank you for calling my attention to it."
REV. J. O. BABCOCK,
Richmond, Va.

ECHOL'S
PIEDMONT CONCENTRATED
Iron and Alum Water
cures disease, tones up the whole system, builds muscle, creates appetite, gives sturdy health, brings soothing slumber. 8 oz. bottle, 50c. 18 oz. bottle, $1.00. At all good drug stores.
J. M. ECHOLS CO.,
LYNCHBURG, VA.

PIANOS AND ORGANS
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
A. D. JONES & CO
Southern Factory Distributors for the World's Famous
KIMBALL
WE Loan you the money to buy them.
WE Give free trials.
WE Pay the freight.
WE Save you 25 per cent.
WE Add nothing to the principal when sold on
EASY PAYMENTS.
Write for our latest piano and and organ catalogue and full particulars.
A. D. JONES & CO.,
208 South Elm Street,
GREENSBORO, N. C.

Money saved is money made
$2.50 BUYS A PAIR OF
Autograph SHOES
THE EQUAL OF ANY $3.00 SHOE
IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT CARRY THEM A POSTAL CARD TO US WILL TELL YOU WHERE YOU CAN GET THEM.
CRADDOCK-TERRY CO.
LYNCHBURG, VA.

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR AT SPECIAL PRICES

Gowns
Nainsook Gown. Chemise style, low neck, short sleeves trimmed with Val. lace insertion and Val. lace ruffle neck and sleeves, wash ribbon, worth $1.25, for..... 89cts.

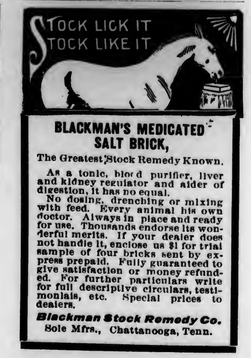
Skirts
Skirt—Skirt, umbrella flounce of fine lawn, fifteen tucks, embroidered insertion and ruffle of embroidery, with dust ruffle, worth $1.25, for..... $1.00

Corset Covers
Nainsook, low neck, seamless back and front, two rows Val. lace insertion, wash ribbon, drawn through beading..... 50cts.

Freight and express charges prepaid in Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina on all orders over $5.00 mailed to the house.
MILLER & RHOADS, RICHMOND, VA.

Smithdeal Business College
Broad & 9th Sts., RICHMOND, VA.
Commercial, Stenographic, Telegraphic and Eng. Depts. Ladies & gentlemen. No vacations. "It is the leading Business College south of the Potomac River."—PHILA. STENOGRAPHER. "When I reached Richmond, I inquired of several business men for the best Business College in the city, and, without exception, they all recommended Smithdeal's as the best."—W. E. ROSS, LAW STENOGRAPHER, Richmond. Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Writing, taught by mail.

When writing advertisers please mention this paper.



BLACKMAN'S MEDICATED SALT BRICK,
The Greatest Stock Remedy Known.
As a tonic, blood purifier, liver and kidney regulator and aider of digestion, it has no equal.
No dosing, drenching or mixing with feed. Every animal his own doctor. Always in place and ready for use. Thousands endorse its wonderful merits. If your dealer does not handle it, enclose us $1 for trial sample of four bricks sent by express prepaid. Fully guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. For further particulars write for full descriptive circulars, testimonials, etc. Special prices to dealers.
Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Sole Mfrs., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Methodist Orphanage

OFFICERS:
REV. J. W. JENKINS, - Superintendent
MRS. J. W. JENKINS, - Matron
MISS LUCY M. REEKS, Teacher

Send money to the Superintendent by Check, Post Office or Express Money Order or Registered letter.

Receipts up to June 11.

General J. S. Carr, on subs., $100; Williamston, pub. coll., $10.18; Vernon Church, Williamston Circuit, pub. col., $3.35; Mr. N. S. Peel, Williamston, N. C., $100; Mr. W. A. Ellison, Williamston, N. C., $5.00; Hickory, $5.00; Mr. W. L. Bone, on subs., $5.00; Lumberton S. S., June, $10.35; Gibson S. S., June, $2.50; St. John's S. S., June $2.50; Plymouth S. S., $1.73; Burlington S. S., $15.00; Red Springs S. S., two months, $5; Stonewall Missionary S. S. Society, $5.05; Lillington, $1.61; by Mr. J. G. Brown, treasurer St. Pauls S. S., $60.00; Wilson S. S., $20.00; Granville Circuit, $10.17; Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Watson, special offering $5.00.

Donations in kind up to June 11: Box of fish from Mr. E. B. Moore, one shoulder of meat Mr. and Mrs. Bledsoe, 3 boxes of Malta Vita J. W. Woodley, box of clothes from W. H. M. Society, Rocky Mount; box of fish from a friend.

Brother Foster and the Baptist Orphanage.

Brother Foster, of the Christian (O'Kelleyite) Church, states that they like the Baptist Orphans' Home better than any of the Orphanages in North Carolina. He has visited all of them. This is quite a compliment to that noble institution.

So, also, did the Superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage visit all the Orphanages in North Carolina, and he got all the information that he could by examining the plants and questioning the Superintendents and officers. He claimed that the Methodist Church ought to have the best, as she came last. She should use the experience of the other denominations and the great fraternities. We made careful inquiries as to plans. There was first, that of a large building for all purposes. Then two buildings, one for the boys and one for the girls. Then, the cottage plan. Two of these—the independent and the group. The advantages were: It was homelike, and capable of infinite expansion. In the same building were the sleeping apartments, school room, dining room, kitchen, pantry and laundry. A matron and a teacher in each cottage to run the whole thing under a general Superintendent. You could fill the grove with them. The objections made were, that it was expensive, cumbersome and inefficient. There was no place for school exercises, or religious services. No place to group the children.

The group cottage plan had a main or central building for school, eating and chapel, services, and office use. The cottages grouped around it, with one teacher to each cottage. The only objection was the trouble of getting to it in bad weather. Sentiment was wholly on the side of the cottage plan. Of the two kinds, we liked the group plan the best, and adopted it.

The Baptist Orphans' Home at Thomasville, illustrates the independent plan. They selected a magnificent site. A beautiful grove, with a spring branch running through it. The cottages were built in rows on each side of the branch. Some distance apart facing outward. They then built a church far to the northeast. Afterward they built a house for school purposes and offices to the southwest, both outside the lines. They are now going to build a general dining room for all.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum now represents the latter, nearly. It has been all. Commencing with one main building, not planned for that purpose they were at a disadvantage. They then put up another large building into which they put the boys. At last through the munificence of Mr. B. N. Duke, they transmographied it into the group cottage plan. The Thornwell Orphanage at Clinton, S. C., is somewhat on the group cottage plan. All three of these are grand institutions. One Masonic, one Presbyterian, and one Baptist. We saw nothing that we wished to copy at Thomasville. We did copy largely from Oxford, and some from Clinton, and some from Barium Springs—Presbyterian. We have never regretted our choice. We now have the best cottage in the State, and will soon have the best main building. If you don't believe it, come and see!

COACH EXCURSIONS TO ST. LOUIS, MO., EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY IN JUNE VIA C. & O. ROUTE AT SPECIAL COACH EXCURSION RATES.

On each Tuesday and Thursday during the month of June, special ten day coach excursion rates will be in effect to St. Louis and return via C. & O. Railway. See display ad. for rates. Fast vestibuled trains with through coaches to St. Louis via Cincinnati and Big Four routes.

For further information, address W. O. WARTHEN, Dist. Pass. Agt., C. & O. Railway, Richmond, Va.

Pupils from New York to Texas at the FISHBURNE Military School,
Waynesboro, Va.
Able instructors, best training, pleasant home and social life, good fare. Prepares for College, University, Annapolis, etc. Pure air, sparkling springs, fine campus for athletics. Electric light, steam heat. Write for catalogue.

Quarterly Meetings.

WARRENTON DISTRICT.
G. F. Smith, P. E., Littleton, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Garysburg, Oak Grove, May 28, 29
Roanoke Rapids, May, 29, 30
Warren, Coksebery, June 4, 5
Henderson, June 5, 7
Ridgeway, Tabernacle, June 11, 12
THIRD ROUND.
Enfield and Halifax, Enfield, June 19, 20
Warrenton, Hebron, June 25, 26
Littleton, Bethel, July 2, 3
Northampton, Pleasant Grove, July 5
Conway, Sharon, July 6
Murfreesboro, July 7
Bertie, White Oak, July 9, 10
Harrellsville, Colrane, July 10, 11
Hobgood, Epworth, July 15
Williamston and Hamilton, Hamilton, July 16, 17
Scot and Neck, July 18
Roanoke Circuit, New Hope, 23, 24
Roanoke Rapids, July 23, 24
Rich Square, Woodland July 31

NEW BERN DISTRICT.
F. D. Swindell, P. E., Goldsboro, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
St. John, June 1
Grifton, Grifton, June 3-5
Hookerton, Ormonds, June 4-5
LaGrange, Trinity, 11-12
THIRD ROUND.
Mt. Olive, at Faison, June 18, 19
Goldsboro Circuit, Pine Forest, June 25, 26
St. Paul, 26
District Conference, Beaufort, June 30 July 3
Jones Circuit, Shady Grove, July 9, 10
Kinston, July 10
Craven Circuit, Beech Grove, July 16, 17
Centenary, New Bern, July 17

ROCKINGHAM DISTRICT.
John N. Cole, P. E., Rockingham, N. C.
THIRD ROUND—IN PART.
Rockingham Station, June 4, 5
Roberdel Circuit, Mt. Pleasant, June 11, 12
Hamlet Circuit, Snead's Grove, June 18, 19
Richmond Circuit, St Paul, June 25, 26
Laurenburg Station, July 3, 4
Rowland Circuit, Oak Grove, July 9, 10
Robeson Circuit, Olivet, July 16, 17
St John and Gibson, Gibson, July 23, 24

ELIZABETH CITY DISTRICT.
J. E. Underwood, P. E., Elz City, N C.
THIRD ROUND.
Pasquotank Ct., Union, June 11, 12
Elizabeta City, City Road, June 12
Hertford Ct., Evans, June 18, 19
Edenton, at night, June 19
Kennekeet, (C. M.) June 21, 26
Hatteras, June 27
Roanoke Island, July 3, 4
Perquimans, Bethany, July 9, 10
Gates Philadelphia (D. C.) July 15, 17
North Gates, Parker's, July 17, 18
Camden, Newlands, July 23, 24
Elizabeth City (First Church), night, July 24
Moyock, Concord, July 30, 31
Currituck, Mt. Zion, Aug 6, 7
Kitty Hawk, Aug 7, 8
Roanoke, Aug 13, 14
Dare, Aug 14, 15
Pantego and Belhaven, Aug 20, 21
Roper, Pleasant Grove, Aug 27, 28
Plymouth, Aug 28, 29

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
W. H. Moore, P. E., Pittsboro, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Edenton Street, June 4, 5
Selma, Princeton, June 11, 12
Smithfield, June 12, 13
Franklinton, Banks, June 18, 19
Brooklyn and Macedonia, Macedonia, June 25, 26
Central, June 26
Youngsville, Rock Springs, July 2, 3
Clayton, July 3, 10
Oxford Ct., Bethel, July 16, 17
Millbrook, July 23
Epworth, July 24
Granville, July 30, 31
Oxford Station, July 31
Keuly, August 6, 7
Wakefield, August 8
Tar River, Trinity, August 13, 14
Louisburg, August 14, 15

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
J. D. Bundy, P. E., Rocky Mount, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
Bethel, Shiloh, June 4, 5
Tarboro, at night, June 5
THIRD ROUND.
South Edgecombe, Sandy Cross, June 11, 12
Wilson Circuit, Barefoots, June 18, 19
Wilson Station, night, June 19
Fremont, Pelverton, June 25, 26
South Rocky Mount, night, June 29
Bath, Bethany, July 2, 3
Washington, night, July 4
Robersonville, Jamesville, July 9, 10
Rocky Mount, night, July 12
Swan Quarter, Statesville, July 16, 17
Ocracoke and Portsmouth, July 19
Mattamuskeet, Mt. Pleasant, July 21
Fairfield, July 23, 24
Farmville, Long, July 30, 31
Nashville, Bellford, August 6, 7
Springhope, Gold Valley, August 8
Bethel, Conetoe, August 13, 14
Tarboro, night, August 14
Grimesland & Vanceboro, Providence, Aug 20, 21
Greenville, night, Aug 22
Aurora, Campbell's Creek, Aug 27, 28

DURHAM DISTRICT.
J. T. Gibbs P. E., Durham, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Durham, Trinity Church, June, 5, 6
Durham, Carr Church and Branson, at Branson, June 5, in afternoon
Durham, Mangum Street, at Bethany, June 11
Durham, Main Street, June 12, 13
Durham, West Durham, June 12, at night
Milton, Providence, June 25, 26
Hillsboro, Walnuit Grove, July 2, 3
Leasburg, Union, July 9, 10
Chapel Hill, July 16, 17
Yanceyville, Prospect, July 22, 24
Altamance, Clover Garden, August 6, 7
Burlington, Prospect, August 13, 14
Burlington Station, August 21, 22
East Burlington, Graham and Haw River, at Haw River, August 27, 28
Mt. Tirzah Circuit, September 3, 4

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
J. S. Hurley, P. E., Fayetteville, N. C.
THIRD ROUND.
Fayetteville Circuit, Camp Ground, June 4, 5
Hope Mills, Fishers, June 11, 12
Cokesbury, Tabor, June 18, 19
Dunn Station, June 25, 26
Haw River, Ebenezer, July 2, 3
Carthage, Ingram Branch, July 8, 10
Elise, Mt. Carmel, July 9, 10
Siler City, Mt. Vernon, July 16, 17
Jonesboro, (District Conference), July 23, 24
Pittsboro, Chatham, July 30, 31
Lillington, Cool Springs, August 6, 7
Buckhorn, Harnett Chapel, August 13, 14
Sanford, Lemon Springs, August 20, 21
Goldstone, Maroneye, August 27, 28
Newton Grove, Sep ember 3, 4
Duke, September 10, 11
Sampson, September 17, 18
Fayetteville, Hay Street, September 24, 25

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
R. B. John, P. E., Wilmington, N. C.
SECOND ROUND.
New River, Snead's Ferry, June
Burgaw, Wallace, June 11, 12
Grace, June 12
THIRD ROUND.
Waccamaw, Old Dock, June 18, 19
Fifth Street, June 19
Market Street, June 19
Bladen Circuit, Doams, June 25, 26
Parks and Richlands, Haw Branch, July 2, 3
Town Creek, Summerville, July 9, 10
Bladen Street, July 10
Clinton, Goshen July 16, 17
Whiteville, Evergreen, July 23 24
Southport, District Conference, July 28, 31
Carver's Creek, Warsaw, August 6, 7
Magnolia, Trinity August 12
Kenansville, Charity, August 13, 14
Elizabeth, Union, August 20, 21
Shallotte, New Hope, August 27, 28
Onslow Swanboro, September 2, 4
Scott's Hill, Acorn Branch, September 3, 4
New River, Turkey Creek, September 4
Burgaw, September 10, 11
Grace, September 18

This Ad is Worth 40c.
Cut it out and send in 20 cents and you will receive a $1.00 box containing 20 five cents packages of Valentine's Old Fashioned Sweet Gum, "the kind mother used to chew." It sweetens the breath, aids digestion, is recommended for Asthma and promotes good health.
For sale by all dealers at five cents per package. Address
VALENTINO MFG. CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

GREAT REVIVALS and the .... GREAT REPUBLIC
::BY::
BISHOP WARREN A. CANDLER, D. D., LL.D.
..12 mo., cloth; 286 pages..
Price: $1.25
Postpaid.
SMITH & LAMAR, Agents,
Dallas, Texas Nashville, Tenn.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
GREENSBORO, N. C.
For the treatment of THE LIQUOR, OPIUM, MORPHINE and other Drug Addictions. The Tobacco Habit, Nerve Exhaustion

XANTHINE!
PROF. HERTZ GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE
Discovered by Prof. Hertz, a Noted German Chemist.
If it did not do the work, we would not tell you so. That is straight. It absolutely restores the natural color to any gray or faded hair, stops dandruff and unpleasant itching, and promotes growth. Not a Dye. Testimonials of unquestionable credibility. We guarantee it, and we mean just what we say
At druggists, Price, $1. Insist on getting it. If your druggist has not got it, send us $1, and we will send you a bottle, Express Prepaid. Illustrated testimonials. Write us for HAIRTHING COMPANY, Richmond, Va.

IN USE FOR 20 YEARS
ELIXIR BABEK
The Quick and Sure Cure for
MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER AND LA GRIPPE.
It is a powerful tonic and appetizer.
Will cure that Tired Feeling, Pains in Back, Limbs and Head. Is a purely vegetable compound, and contains NO QUININE OR ARSENIC. Prepared by
Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.
Price 50cts.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK.
One Fare Plus $2.00
FOR THE ROUND TRIP.
Tickets on sale every Wednesday and Saturday. Return limit, sixty days.
The Frisco System in connection with the Rock Island System from Memphis offers the best route.
Write for literature and full particulars.
S. L. PARROTT,
District Passenger Agent,
Atlanta, Ga.

Marriages

HILL—MILLER.—May 11, 1904, in St. Paul Methodist Church, Goldsboro, N. C., by Rev. M. Bradshaw, Mr. W. B. Hill, of Danville, Va., to Miss Bessie Miller, of Goldsboro, N. C.

Obituaries

Obituaries containing not more than one hundred and fifty words are inserted free of charge. Those sending obituaries containing over one hundred and fifty words are requested to send with the obituary one cent for every word in excess. Unless this rule is observed the obituary must be cut down to the proper limit.

WOODARD.—William Lawrence Woodard, son of John W. and Nancy C. Woodard, was born June 24, 1893, and died April 24, 1904.

Willie had long been in delicate health, but was so bright and jovial that no one suspected, until the end was near, the gravity of his afflictions. Conscious to the last, he realized the presence of the reaper and bade good-bye to his sorrowing parents. May they find comfort in Him who said, "Blessed are they that mourn."

W. T. USRY.

JONES.—James B. Jones, age 68, died at his home near Corapeake, N. C., on April 12, 1904. The roll of membership at Parkers Church, North Gates charge, is one less, but we trust that the "roll up yonder" has been increased by one.

Brother Jones left a wife and a number of children to mourn their loss.

Since his death many have said, he was a good citizen and a good provider for his family.

Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved and our prayer is that they shall meet him in heaven.

W. H. BROWN.

BROOKS.—Joseph C. Brooks was born December 12, 1835, and died May 6, 1904.

He professed faith in Christ early in life and connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in which he remained a consistent member until the day of his death. He was a good man, a good neighbor and citizen, a loving and affectionate husband and father. Death came very suddenly, and in an hour unexpected by his friends, but he was ready for the summons.

He leaves behind to mourn their loss a wife and five children: W. E. Brooks, in Georgia; J. W. Brooks, Wilmington, N. C.; Geo. E. Brooks, Carrie and Fanny, at home, Seaside, Brunswick County, N. C.

May the blessings of the Lord rest upon the mother, sons and daughters left behind, and finally may they all meet in heaven.

N. H. GUYTON.

HARRIS.—Andrew Jackson Harris, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Harris, departed this life April 23, 1904.

By this dispensation Brother and Sister Harris have been called to pass through the deenest sorrow of their life.

Like Isaac to Abraham, little Jack was to them, the child of their fondest hopes.

Jack was indeed an unusually bright and promising boy. He was a sincere, manly little fellow.

Too young to have met the tempter, or to have left any foot prints in the path of sin, like a budding flower not yet having unfolded its petals to the tarnishing touch of the surrounding world, God kept the bud of that life unfolded upon itself till the day when He transplanted it, unblown and unstained by the touch of sin, to the soil of Immanuel's land.

Jack was the idol of the home, but his father and mother with Christian grace and fortitude, bowed submissively to an overruling Providence, and, like Hanna with Samuel, lent little Jack to the Lord. May God bless and comfort them.

K. D. HOLMES, P. C.

BENTON.—William Thomas Benton, of Gates County, N. C., died at his home on the morning of May 7, 1904. He died at a ripe old age.

Until the latter part of 1903 he was a familiar figure in Savages Church, North Gates charge. But from the above time up until his death, with the exception of a few moments, he lay on his bed.

Though he lingered, yet he was ever cheerful. He was visited by many during his sickness, and they were all met with a bright smile and a "Praise the Lord."

He bore his troubles patiently and spent his time in reading God's word and singing hymns of praise of his Lord.

Brother Benton was preceded to eternity by four wives. He always spoke of them as his four darling wives.

May God's richest blessings rest upon the relatives he left on earth, and may there be a happy meeting some day up yonder.

W. H. BROWN.

BRITTON.—The subject of this sketch, Elisha R. Britton, was born near Conway, N. C., December 7, 1835, and died at the same home February 4, 1904, and was therefore a little more than 68 years of age. Just when Brother Britton joined the church is not known by the writer, but he was a faithful soldier in the Master's service for many years. For a long time he was a local preacher in our church, and did great good as a preacher of the Word. Something like twenty years ago his health gave way, and his mind likewise became impaired, and his license was not renewed, but he held exhorter's license, and conducted meetings up to a few weeks before his death.

For a little more than three years the writer was associated with him much, and from all that could be gathered in that time, seeing him in the church, in the home, in the field, and on the highway, it can be said unhesitatingly that he was one of the purest and best of men. He was most assuredly a "prince in Israel." He was gentle, humble, full of love and tenderness. Perhaps his most prominent virtue was charity. He loved everybody, and everything, that "the good Creator" (as he was wont to say) made. He hated nothing but sin.

His faithfulness in the church, his tenderness in love, his firmness in friendship, his devotedness to his Lord, his purity of heart and righteousness of life, all tend to remind us of the word of the Psalmist, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." He belonged to the royal priesthood.

He was the very embodiment of humility. He felt unworthy of all consideration—Divine or human This was particularly noticeable in his last days.

Taken all in all Brother Britton gave evidence of being the nearest entirely weaned from the world of any one this writer ever knew. He was "in the world, but not of the world." The voice with which he loved to praise his Redeemer, in songs of joy, and shouts of triumph, is forever hushed to earth; but with a sweeter melody he joins in praise with the heavenly throng in crowning the Savior Lord of all.

W. C. MERRITT.

IT MAY TOUCH THE HEART

Rheumatism Is Treacherous and Delay May Prove Fatal.

GET IT OUT OF YOUR SYSTEM NOW.

Rheumacide

Will do the work quickly, effectively and without any injury to the digestive organs. In fact, it will leave you in much better condition every way, for it cleanses the blood of poisonous lactic and uric acids that cause rheumatism, kidney troubles, indigestion, boils, chronic constipation and catarrh, and the germs that leave one an easy prey to malaria and contagious blood poison. It is not only the greatest blood purifier, but hundreds of relieved sufferers testify that it does one thing that no other remedy does—

CURES RHEUMATISM.

"GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE."

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

CROSS & LINEHAN CO.,
NEW TUCKER BUILDING.)
234-236 Favetteville St., RALEIGH, N. C.

LET US SHOW YOU WHAT THE FULL MEANING OF BARGAIN-GIVING MEANS IN . . . . . .

CLOTHING
AND GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

OUR NEW SPRING STOCK NOW READY FOR YOUR INSPECTION.

Cross & Linehan Co.,
Leading Clothiers.

.... Chesapeake and Ohio Railway ....
World's Fair Scenic Route
TO
St. Louis, Missouri.

SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST ROUTE. Vestibuled, Electric-Lighted Trains with Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars.
Through tickets from North Carolina with direct connections.
SPECIAL RATES FOR SEASON, SIXTY OR FIFTEEN DAY TICKETS.
Fifteen day tickets from Raleigh, N. C., $24.80.
Sleeping car accommodations engaged upon application
SPECIAL COACH EXCURSIONS
On authorized dates, tickets good for ten days at rate of $18.50. Correspondingly low rates from other stations Special accommodations arranged for parties. Stop-overs permitted within limit at C. & O. celebrated mountain resorts.
USE THE C & O. ROUTE and purchase your tickets accordingly.
For coach excursion dates, reservations and other information, address
W. O. WARTHEN, D. P. A., C. & O. Railway,
Richmond, Va.

Normal and Collegiate Institute FOR Young Women,
FALL TERM opens September 21, 1904. ASHEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA.
1. A Normal course for thorough training of teachers under instructors from best normal schools.
2. A Commercial Course, including Stenography, Typewriting, Bookkeeping, etc.
3. A Course of Domestic Science, including (a) Scientific Cooking, (b) Draughting, Cutting, Fitting, and Making of Garments.
4. An admirable Musical Department has been provided under trained and experienced teachers.
5. Systematic study of the Bible in all Departments.
6. Terms for Board and Tuition in any of the Departments, $50 per term, or $100 per year.
For Catalogue, address REV. THOMAS LAWRENCE, D. D., ASHEVILLE, N. C.

BILL ARP'S GREAT BOOK,
"From The Uncivil War to Date."
The best of his Famous Writings, selected by himself shortly before his Death.
Memorial Edition, printed from large type, with wide margins, Biography & Illustrations, $2.
Golden opportunity for Canvassers. Greatest seller issued in many years. Agents reporting as high as 12 orders per day. Exclusive territory. Liberal terms. Send 30 cents in stamps for outfit.
HUDGINS PUBLISHING CO. . . . . Atlanta, Ga.

When writing advertisers, please mention this paper.

PARKER.—Susan D. Parker, the subject of this sketch, was born January 13, 1830, and departed this life in peace with her Maker, March 25, 1904.

Sister Parker was converted while quite young, and connected herself with the M. E. Church, South, in which she was a true and faithful member until the angel of death removed her to the church triumphant. She was a good woman, highly respected and much beloved by all who knew her.

She leaves behind on earth a large circle of friends, together with her own children and grandchildren to mourn their loss, but they mourn not as those who have no hope.

May the Lord comfort and keep the dear loved ones left behind, and by and by, may they all compose an unbroken family in heaven.

N. H. GUYTON.

BROOKS.—Sorrow upon sorrow! How it multiplies in some hearts and homes!

On January 28, 1904, we laid beneath the sod sister Ida Paylor, the eleventh child to die in the family of sister Belle Brooks.

On April 28th, we again repaired to the cemetery and buried Bertha, the twelfth child to die in this home.

The shadow of death has hovered over this home for many years.

The husband and father in addition to the twelve children who have died, has now slept many years beneath the sod.

But while the shadows have been thick and they have had to grope along amid the deepening gloom, still it has not been a house of despair.

It is a Christian home, and like Israel of old in bondage, they have had the light of hope in their habitation at eventide.

Sister Paylor, the elder daughter and the first mentioned subject of this sketch, was as ripe and happy a Christian as has been my privilege to know.

She left every assurance that all was well with her soul.

She left a husband, with two small children, to mourn her loss.

The death of Bertha was peculiarly sad and distressing.

Death stole upon her so stealthily that his coming was not expected till he was at the door.

She had just grown up into woman hood, and was the pet of all the family. The shock was severe, and yet, in the midst of sorrow upon sorrow, they are comforted in the assurance that she is at rest. Bertha was a good girl, sweet-spirited, cheerful and bright.

She loved her church, and was always in her place at all the services except when providentially hindered.

How it must comfort the heart of that mother, so often bereaved, and called within the last three months to follow two daughters to the grave, to feel that both are "asleep in Jesus." Thank God for the blessed comfort it affords the bereaved family.

May these hours of grief and pain be but promises of happier years, and may the good Lord comfort them in all the years to come.

K. D. HOLMES, P. C.

STEPHENS.—The subject of this obituary, Bennie Stephens, was born in Person County, N. C., reared on his native heath, and departed this life March 9, 1904, was the youngest son of Capt. T. J. and Mrs. M. J. Stephens.

At the time of his death was principal of the High School at Ormondsville, Green County, N. C., at which place he was held in the very highest esteem by all who knew him.

Death sought a high and shining mark when it smote Bennie Stephens.

There was inexpressible sadness in his death. He was blameless and spotless in life and character.

Every impulse of his manhood was noble and true, and in him was the promise of great usefulness.

He was a recent graduate of Trinity College, having made a record worthy of emulation in that institution.

He was well equipped for high class work in his profession. And, as we see with our eyes, the world had need of him. His life and personality was a fragrant flower. Why death sought him on the very threshold of his promising young manhood is a mystery unfathomable to us.

There was an air of culture and quiet refinement about him that made one think of modest violets by the wayside. He was a choice spirit.

We know not why, but God called him to come up higher. And doubtless by this dispensation of an allwise Providence there has come to him, who is gone from us, an enrichment of endless life, and a fullness of joy out of which is builded, for all who love His approving, "an house eternal in the Heavens."

The shadows have fallen heavy on a home of much affliction and oft repeated bereavement.

Our heart goes out to them in love and sympathy; and we breathe the prayer that while they do not "murmur nor complain beneath the chastening rod" these afflictions may work out for them a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.

K. D. HOLMES, P. C.

In Memoriam.

Whereas, our friend and co-laborer, Mrs. Pattie Day, has been translated from earth to the fair land beyond the sky, we the members of the Ladies' Aid Society, pass the following resolution:

That while we bow to God's will, we deeply mourn the loss of one who was loved by all and respected for her beautiful Christian character. She was truly perfected through suffering, and bore affliction with great fortitude and patience. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her brothers and children.

That these resolutions be published in the Index and Raleigh Advocate.

MRS. V. VAUGHAN.
MRS. NORMA DEANS.
MRS. L. C. LAWRENCE.

REVOLUTION IMMINENT.

A sure sign of approaching revolt and serious trouble in your system is nervousness, sleeplessness, or stomach upsets. Electric Bitters will quickly dismember the troublesome causes. It never fails to tone the stomach, regulate the Kidneys and Bowels, stimulate the Liver, and clarify the blood. Run down system benefit particularly and all the usual attending aches vanish under its searching and thorough effectiveness. Electric Bitters is only 50 cents, and that is returned if it don't give perfect satisfaction. Guaranteed by all druggists.

DEAF? Well, Listen!

The deaf are immediately able to hear ordinary conversation by the Magnetic Otophone Found Wares which penetrate the deafest ear. A wonderful scientific invention which restores hearing and banishes head noises. Guaranteed Invisible, Effective, Comfortable, and Harmless. Not an ear drum or trumpet. Compare it with other devices, and be guided by your intelligence. By its use deafness is no longer a hopeless affliction. Book FREE.

OTOPHONE CO
1602 Arch Street, ROOM 105 Philadelphia, Pa.

Dropsy CURED Gives Quick Relief.

Removes all swelling in 8 to 20 days; effects a permanent cure in 30 to 60 days. Trial treatment given free. Nothing can be fairer Write Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Specialists, Box B Atlanta, Ga.

BOILS
PYRAMIDS OF PAIN

Boils show the blood is in a riotous, feverish condition, or that it has grown too weak and sluggish to throw off the bodily impurities, which then concentrate at some spot, and a carbuncle or boil is the result. To one already enfeebled by disease, boils seem to come with more frequency, causing the intensest pain and greatest danger to the already weak and debilitated sufferer. All skin eruptions, from the sometimes fatal carbuncle to the spiteful little cat-boil, are caused by bad blood, and the only way to avoid or get permanently rid of them is to purify and build up the deteriorated, polluted blood, and counteract the humors and poisons; and nothing will do this so quickly and thoroughly as S. S. S., which is the acknowledged king of blood purifiers and greatest of all tonics. Where the blood has become impoverished and is poor and thin, no medicine acts so promptly in building up and restoring its richness, purity and strength. The time to cure a boil is before it develops, when it is in a state of incubation or formation in the blood; for boils are, after all, only the impurities and poisons bubbling up through the skin, and this will continue in spite of poulticing and lancing till the blood gets rid of its accumulated poison. The way to stop boils is to attack them in the blood, and this is what S. S. S. does. All danger of boils is past when the blood has been thoroughly purified and the system cleansed of all morbid, impure matter. If you are subject to boils, then the same causes that produced them last season will do so this, and the sooner you begin to put your blood and system in good order the better the chance of going through the spring and summer season without boils or other painful and irritating skin eruptions. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, and can be taken with perfect safety by old and young, and without harm to the most delicate constitution. It is mild and pleasant in its action, and unequaled as a cure for boils and kindred eruptions. Write us if you would like medical advice or other information.

Allegheny, Pa., June 11, 1903.

From the age of twenty or thirty I was sorely afflicted with large, awful boils on my face and body. As soon as they would heal up in one place they would break out in another part of the body, and this continued for ten years. I tried everything I could hear of to get relief, but nothing did me any good. I had but little faith in S. S. S. doing me good when I began it, but after taking it for a short while the boils began to disappear. I continued on with the medicine, taking six bottles, and all the boils entirely disappeared. Five years have elapsed since that time, and I have never been bothered since, showing that the cure was permanent. I had some thirty or forty of the most painful boils one ever had, and to be entirely rid of them by your great purifier, S. S. S., puts me under a debt of gratitude to you.

HENRY ZINN.

SSS

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Christian Endeavor Hotel,
WORLD'S FAIR OFFICIALS
CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOTEL, World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo.

Headquarters for Christian people. Located 100 feet from gate to Fair Grounds. Street cars direct from Union Station. Built for safety and comfort. Capacity 3,000 guests daily. Backed by men of highest standing and endorsed by World's Fair Officials. Thousands of representative people from all sections of the country have already engaged accommodations. Rates arranged in advance $1.00 and $2.00 per day. Send for booklet giving full particulars. Tell your friends about it. Address at once

Christian Endeavor Hotel and Auditorium Company,
St. Louis, Missouri.

THE ONLY "FRATERNAL" HOTEL ON THE WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS
IS THE
Fraternal Home Hotel
Clayton Road, 2 blocks West of Skinner Road.
Endorsed by the Leading Fraternities.

100 yards from Main South Entrance to the World's Fair. Take Market Street Car Line from Union Station to Terminus (West End Heights), walk one block West to the to the top of the Hill. Under the control of the Exposition Management as to Safe Methods of construction and Uniform Fixed Rates.

IT IS AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT—Every room an outside room. Away from all the noise of railroads and street cars. A quiet, homelike place. Pure filtered water. Electrically lighted. Window Screens for every room. A Special Low Rate of $1.00 per day per person to all parties who write and mention this paper during this month. Send $1.00 for Certificate or Credit. This secures your reservation in advance. The balance is paid on arrival at the hotel. The low rate of One Dollar per day does not include meals. Meals 50 cents. Also a la carte service at moderate prices. All rooms accommodate two persons (separate beds if desired). New Building—New Furniture. A thoroughly Up-to-date Hotel —Extra precaution taken to prevent fire—Free telephone service.

As only a limited number of Certificates of Credit will be issued, and as they are going fast, do not delay in writing for them. Send for descriptive circular and rates for rooms en suite, with private bath.

Fraternal Home Hotel Co.,
Dept. A., Downtown Office, Second Floor, 720-722 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo.

11 Professors 17 Instructors MEDICAL STUDENTS Founded in 1850. Graduates 4,496.
Write for Free Catalogue of the Medical Department, University of Nashville.
Curriculum includes twenty-three lecture courses, each followed by a thorough review quiz; seven laboratory courses, and three hours of hospital work daily. New building elaborately equipped with modern apparatus and appliances. Expenses moderate. Address J. Dillard Jacobs, M. D., Secretary, 625 South Market St., Nashville, Tenn.

Normal and Collegiate Institute, Asheville, N. C.

Commencement week began with the baccalaureate sermon by the President, Dr. Lawrence, preached before a large audience in the beautiful new chapel, from the text: "This is the will of God, even your sanctification."—1 Thess. 4:3. On Monday evening the annual concert took place before a large and appreciative audience, which overflowed into the spacious school annex. The exercises were exceedingly creditable to both pupils and teachers. The graduating exercises on Tuesday evening were fully up to the highest standard of previous years, and were heartily enjoyed by friends and patrons. There were graduated from the several departments forty-nine young women, every one of them professing Christians, and it is a matter of profound thankfulness that there never has been graduated from the teachers' department a single pupil who was not a professing Christian, and the work which they are doing as teachers in this vast mountain region is one of the most interesting chapters in the story of home mission work.

THOMAS LAWRENCE,
President.

On account of the cowardly conduct of a few union miners in blowing up and killing several non-union miners at Cripple Creek, Col., the Citizens Alliance of Colorado backed by the militia and the Governor have taken the law into their own hands deporting union miners from the State, compelling office holders who are in sympathy with the union to resign for fear of being killed, etc.

..LADIES' KID GLOVES..
Lisle and Silk
IN ALL THE
NEW STYLES.

Our Import Order in fine qualities of genuine kid gloves, now ready. Qualities right, colors right, size range complete. . . . . .

These are "Warranted Gloves."

New Line of Lisle and Silk Gloves, with patent thuse and finger tips. Antonio Crispi "Clementina" Kid Gloves for fine retail trade, in fashionable Spring Colors, white and black $1

"Systeme Jaye" Kid Gloves, "Success" and "Renown," in black, white and the leading shades..... $1.50

Extra Fine Lisle Gloves, two clasp, Black or White..... 25c.

Finest Milanese Lisle Gloves, with pearl clasps, also two button Silk Gloves, made up in Kid Glove styles, with stitched back—newest glove for spring, ... 50c.

"Lucille" Silk Gloves, with double tip and patent thumb-back, and white only..... 75c.

All Mail Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sherwood Higgs & Co.
203 and 205 Fayetteville Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Mention this paper.

King's Business College.
(INCORPORATED.)
Leads in training Young Men and Women for high positions in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. No school in the South can approach them in thoroughness and inspiring ambition in its students and securing positions for them. These schools are equipped with up-to-date and modern appliances.
Address, KING'S BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Raleigh, N. C., or Charlotte, N. C.
We also teach Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship by mail.

OXFORD SEMINARY
Oxford, N. C.
Next Session Opens September 7, 1904.
...New Buildings...
Four buildings 40 x 85, two stories high, standing 85 feet apart, connected on their fronts with covered verandas, lighted by gas or electricity, heated by best hot air furnaces, and furnished with complete system of water-works take the place of the one building destroyed by fire on January 18.
The second floors are appropriated to dormitories constructed for two occupants only and sufficient in number to accommodate one hundred and six boarding students. There is a bath-room in each building.
The first floors are used for school work exclusively; the first floor of Music Building contains two Society Halls and fourteen Music Rooms; that of Chapel Building contains a Library, two School Parlors and a Chapel; that of Recitation Building contains seven Class Rooms, a Laboratory, a Studio; that of Administration Building contains apartments for President's family, his Office, a Private Parlor, a Dining Room with pantries, etc.
The plan of these buildings is unique and ideal.
...New Equipment...
The equipment will be largely new. Orders to be shipped August 1 have been placed for bed-room suits, desks, scientific apparatus, pianos, etc.
THE OLD AND TRIED FACULTY WITHOUT EXCEPTION RETURN.
Charges virtually the same as heretofore. Catalogues sent on application.
F. P. HOBGOOD, President.

THE
Park Region Mutual Hail Insurance Association
Insures Growing Crops of all Kinds
Against Loss or Damage by Hail Storms.
This is an old reliable company, with a large membership in this State. We paid three hundred losses last year in North Carolina. We can give you safe protection. We are the Only Old Reliable, Time-Tested Company Doing this Line of Business in North Carolina.
For information, or for names of parties who have been paid losses by us
Address THE PARK REGION MUTUAL HAIL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION,
Room 2, Pullen Bldg. RALEIGH, N. C.
RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED.

WORLD'S FAIR St. Louis
EXTRAORDINARILY LOW RATES,
JUNE 2, 7, 9, 14, 16, 21, 23, 28 AND 30, 1904.

On above-mentioned dates the Southern Railway announces very low round trip Coach excursion rates to St. Louis. These Tickets will be good in all regular Coaches, and on all trains on dates shown. Tickets good 10 days.

Rate From
Goldsboro	$20.00	Greensboro	$17.00
Selma	20.00	Sanford	20.40
Raleigh	18.50	Salisbury	17.00
Durham	17.00	Charlotte	18.30
Statesville	17.00	Marion	16.20
Asheville	15.40	Hendersonville	15.85

Tickets sold at the above rates not good in Sleeping Cars; for other rates see notices elsewhere.
For full information, World's Fair maps, literature, etc., call on or address any Agent Southern Railway.
T. E. Green, City Ticket Agent, Raleigh, N. C.
R. L. Vernon, Traveling Passenger Agent. J. H. Wood, Dist. Pas. Agt. Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
S. H. Hardwick, Pass. Traffic Manager. W. H. Tayloe, Gen. Pass. Agent, Washington, D. C.

LIBRARY OF TRINITY COLLEGE NO. CAROLINA
Reading Room Trinity College

Raleigh Christian Advocate

FIFTIETH YEAR. ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE. NUMBER 21.

RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1904.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE
North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT No. 106 W. MARTIN STREET.

THOMAS N. IVEY, - - - - - - - Editor.

Subscription Rates.—One year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents. Preachers of the North Carolina Conference who act as agents receive the paper free of charge. All other preachers, and widows of preachers, $1.00 a year.
Business.—Watch the label. It shows the date up to which the subscription has been paid. Change in label serves as a receipt. Regular receipt will be sent when requested. When the address is ordered changed, both old and new address must be given. Address all letters, and make all checks and money orders payable, to the Raleigh Advocate Co.
Manuscripts.—All matter for publication to be returned to the writer must be accompanied by proper postage. Matter for the Editor and matter for the printer must not be on the same sheet. Obituaries must not contain over 150 words, nor contain poetry. One cent a word will be charged for all obituary matter over 150 words.
Advertising.—The RALEIGH CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is a fine advertising medium. Rates will be promptly furnished on application.

The World As We See It.

The Summer School is destined to become a very important institution in the South. Every true teacher feels under a certain compulsion to supplement his experience gained during the teaching months with something more didactic and professional during vacation. This latter must not be had, though, at the expense of brain and nerves. The Summer School must combine the maximum of instruction with the maximum of recreation. No teacher can properly fetter brain and body during school session and vacation without becoming an unconscious applicant for a position in the office of Breakdown.

The Raleigh Summer School, which will open July 4th, seems to us to meet exactly the demands. The finest teachers and lecturers in the country will minister to the professional needs. The beauty and natural and social advantages of Raleigh will furnish the proper recreation. A large number of students is expected, and we feel justified in saying that every one will be regaled and benefited.

Jitaro Mori is a wealthy Japanese scholar, who up to a few days ago was an advanced student of Yale University. He had occasion in a recent speech to criticise the scholastic attainments of American missionaries, and incidentally to remark on the abnormal number of American loose women. He avers that he did not intend to reflect on the integrity and usefulness of missionaries, nor upon the purity of American women as a class, yet he is no longer at Yale. To use a homely but luminous expression, he had to get out. At this we must be allowed to express our surprise. Is not Yale University a centre of free thought, where the fullest liberty of opinion is guaranteed? Is not the "illimitable" there utilized to its most glorious capacity? Does not the institution represent a land which sends to these sections where "narrowness" grovels and riots scholastic missionaries to praise the "faithful" and reproach the "unfaithful" with the purpose to make, if possible, the latter wish they had a lodge in a "garden of cucumbers?" Then why has the Jap been compelled to leave the institution—especially since that institution is Yale?

The gubernatorial campaign for North Carolina started out a few months ago with all the roseate promise of a perfect day in June. Four men of the highest moral character and with the prestige of valuable service rendered the State, appeared before the people as aspirants for the Governorship. The contest promised to be a play of good nature. No vultures appeared on the horizon and the dark forms of envy, prejudice, and slander were nowhere to be seen. But we are sorry to say that the situation has somewhat changed. Envenomed darts have been shot in the last few weeks and the round-table of peace and good-will has been broken up. We are sorry—sorry that North Carolina has not been able to demonstrate that within one of her political parties a campaign cannot be waged without the injection of unworthy elements. Happily, the strain will be relieved this week when the Convention meets at Greensboro.

"Half the world sees white and the other half black." This is true, no matter what comes within the range of vision. This is illustrated in the case of Pyramus who, with the ears of an ass ensnares the affections of Titania and provokes only the horse laugh in others. It is also illustrated in the case of Walt Whitman who has persuaded some to call his nonsensical diarrhea of words true poetry, on the same principle, we suppose, that in some circles a baboon in full dress is honored as the guest of the occasion. Oh, the fads! the wearying, idiotic fads! But we started to express our wonder that our ancient friend, Dr. Alexander Dowie, Elijah the Second, who has gormandized on the gullibility of the American people and stuffed his pockets with American shekels, has been able to go over to London, abuse loyalty, rant furiously and at the same time to organize a church. He had finally to evacuate English soil at night, but in Old England the name of Dowie is still "great." This color blindness, limited to white and black, is a strange thing.

The case of Judge Peebles versus the Lumberton lawyers has demonstrated to a certainty that the prevailing opinion in North Carolina is that the harm in drinking spirituous liquors is altogether in the intoxication caused; and that it makes no difference how much one drinks provided he does not get drunk. This opinion is based on an idea which is the fast friend of intemperance and the deadly foe of that temperance which is enjoined in Holy Writ. Intoxication is bad enough, and every case of it is impregnant with the suggestion that although man was made but "little lower than the angels," he is nevertheless endowed with a fearful facility for bringing himself to the level of a brute. But it is well known that alcohol in the human system may have invisible and insensible effects which measured by the train of moral and mental sequelae can be more deadly than those effects which are wrapped up in a "beastly drunk." The "moderate" drinker is a great foe to himself, though he knows it not. He suffers, and makes others suffer, and may be clearing for unborn children a new ground to be ploughed by them in sorrow. "Touch not, taste not, handle not," is an ancient injunction, yet it contains the only true policy. The time has come when no high official and no obscure citizen, especially a Judge, can take as a beverage one drink of alcohol without going too far.

There are some interesting statistics in the Bulletin on Child Labor just sent out by the Department of Commerce and Labor. Of children under sixteen years old, employed in the textile industries, there are 1,087 in Massachusetts, 254 in Rhode Island, 223 in New York, 457 in New Jersey, 1,160 in Pennsylvania, 425 in North Carolina, 830 in South Carolina, 1,193 in Georgia, and Georgia, and 223 in Alabama. The operatives work a larger number of hours in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, than in other States. We think that there is very little in the plea made by Southern manufacturers that more time is needed to accomplish a certain amount of work in a warm climate than in a cold climate. It is not surprising that as a rule the parents of children who are operatives do not admit that the health of the children suffers by working in the mills. Those most opposed to the exclusion from mills of children under a certain age are the parents themselves. Every mill superintendent can testify to this. Yet when we consider the number of mills and operatives in North Carolina, we cannot but consider that the fact that there are only 425 in North Carolina under sixteen years of age very creditable to the State. The number is so small that we cannot avoid a lingering suspicion that there has been a misprint in the figures.

An insignificant cup of grease turns over. It catches fire. The flames spread. An excursion boat loaded with many Sunday-school scholars and teachers is burned and beached. Of the many on board, nearly 1,000 were burned or drowned. This is the sad story of one of the most awful catastrophes that ever happened in Northern waters. It was on last Wednesday, June 15. The Slocumb, a large three-decked excursion steamer, was carrying the Sunday-school of St. Mark's German Lutheran Church, New York City, to Locust Grove, one of the many resorts in Long Island Sound. When the flames began to spread, the passengers became panic-stricken. The life preservers were left untouched. The fire apparatus, for some reason, was not used. Hundreds leaped into the water and were drowned. The hurricane deck fell and crushed many others. The boat was finally beached on North Brother Island, where a temporary morgue was established. There is peculiar sadness in the accustomed tale—that many could have been saved if they had not become panic-stricken. It was an awful disaster, one which we do not like to contemplate. Death is painting this year for the American people a panorama of more than Dantesque horrors. Let us hope that the work is finished. Truly are we learning that "in the midst of life we are in death."

The plan of federation already adopted by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is now a part of the law of the M. E. Church. Henceforth no new work can be started in any place where the other church is doing the work of Methodism until the consent of the Bishop in charge has been secured.

Contributions

He Knows

I know not what will befall me! God hangs a mist o'er my eyes,
And o'er each step of my onward path, He makes new scenes arise,
And every joy He sends me comes as a glad and sweet surprise.

I see not a step before me as I tread the days of the year,
But the past is in God's keeping; the future His mercy shall clear;
And what looks dark in the distance may brighten
as I draw near.

For perhaps the dread future has less bitterness than I think,
The Lord may sweeten the water before I stoop to drink,
Or if Marah must be Marah, He will stand beside the brink.

It may be there is waiting for the coming of my feet,
Some gift of such rare blessedness, some joy so
strangely sweet,
That my lips can only tremble, with the thanks
I cannot speak.

Oh! restful, blissful ignorance! 'Tis blessed not to know,
It keeps me quiet in those arms which will not let me go,
And hushes my soul to rest, on the bosom which loves me so.

So I go on not knowing, I would not if I might.
I'd rather walk in the dark with God, than go alone in the light,
I would rather walk with Him by faith, than walk alone by sight.

My heart shrinks back from trials, which the future may disclose,
Yet I never had a sorrow but what the dear Lord chose;
So I send the coming tears back, with the whispered words—He knows.

—A Hymn.

Christianity's Debt to the World.

BY BISHOP H. C. MORRISON.

(An Address Delivered Before the Missionary Conference at Waco Texas, May 4th.)

The word Christianity is like the word faith. It has no meaning save as it inheres in a personality. By the debt of Christianity to the world we mean the debt of the saved to the unsaved world. Now this great debt is an absolutely and purely moral indebtedness. There is not and never has been any legality or formal constraint about the Christian system. Whatever legality there may have been in the salvation of the world was forever paid and wiped out by the Founder of our Religion. This stupendous debt that we owe is of that moral kind that arises out of the excellence of Christianity. It is indebtedness of the same order that moved the Father to so love the world that he gave his only begotten Son to save the world. It was this moral and divine indebtedness that established the Christian system. The sense of indebtedness is an infallible sign and proof of true Christianity and whatever does not manifest this sense is not true Christianity. This sense moreover is known to no other system or religion on the earth. It is not known to Buddhism, to Confusianism, to Mohamedanism, for it is peculiarly and absolutely Christian in character.

It was in the person of the apostle to the Gentiles that this sense of indebtedness to humanity reached its highest exemplification. "I am a debtor both to the Greek and to the Barbarian, to the wise and to the unwise." This sense of world-wide indebtedness was the mighty inspiration and the desire to meet it was the aspiration of that wonderful life that so strangely moved the whole of the ancient world and after a life of conquest was laid down beneath the executioner's sword in the city of Rome. Such was the constant effort he made to pay what he recognized as his debt to the world. Such was the greatness of the motive back of his sense of indebtedness to the world. Then if you would have the church feel this same driving power, you must bring her up to the plane occupied by the great apostle to the Gentiles. When you have placed the same motive back of the church as was behind St. Paul, you will have solved the problem of the evangelization of the world, and not till then.

What shall we say of the magnitude of this debt. Let us go back to the divine phase of it. Get if you can the measure and the magnitude of the divine indebtedness to humanity, and then you will be able to form some idea of our indebtedness. The magnitude of this indebtedness rises out of a love that endures from everlasting to everlasting, and you will see that this love must give rise to an obligation. It is a love which of its own character generates obligation, and holds its obejct forever in its thought. This is the Divine ideal. It is a fact—a sad fact—that the church does not hold the needs of the world continually in her thought, and it requires a constant effort to bring the needs of earth fully into the consciousness of the church. So great is the energy necessary to bring the world upon the thought and the moral feeling of the church.

Much so-called Christianity does all its thinking about affairs at home, and there is an actual aversion among some who occupy the position of leaders in the church against bringing the world effectively into the thought of the church. There is no place in their thought for the regions beyond. They have forgotten the fact that their Lord loved and suffered for the world. God in truth holds the world forever in his mind.

There is a certain remarkable expression in the New Testament: "We love him because he first loved us." That does not mean just that our love for God is based simply on the fact that he loved us first, but it means more than that. It means that God loved us from the beginning. The first thing that he ever did in the world was to love us. You cannot find in the Bible a single indication of any time when we were not in God's thought. The Psalmist had this in mind when he said: "When I consider thy Heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou has ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that thou visitest him." Think for a moment what is meant by the word "mindful." It means that we fill the mind of God. The redemption therefore was not an afterthought of God. God never had an afterthought. Whenever you bring the church up to this Divine ideal and when you have brought the world upon the heart of the church as from the very beginning it has been on the heart of God, then you will be nigh to the accomplishment of the evangelization of the nations. The commission which has been given us beggars conception in the magnitude of our indebtedness. As long as there is a soul on the earth unlighted by the light of Christianity so long there rests a debt upon us. The mission of the church is to recapture and bring back a wandering world, and they that dwell therein. From an infernal usurpation, until nothing is left in the power and thralldom of the forces of darkness.

This means much. It does not mean that there are 50,000 souls to be brought to the truth; it does not mean that there are 50,000,000 souls to be brought in, but it means that there are 1,000,000,000 to come out of darkness. It means that the gloom of heathen lands must be dispelled and it means that the semi-anarchy so clearly seen in our own is to be arrested and checked and changed and brought into submission to loyalty and right. These are some of the stupendous changes to be wrought by the church of Christ.

