Dear Al, (with copies to Steve, Bill, David)

Here is the report of the WTS committee formed in Calif. to explore the CD proposal made by Northwest Nazarene. The committee was David Bundy, Barry Callen, and Bill Kostlevy. The committee's proposed stance for the WTS Executive Committee to consider is as follows:

"The Wesleyan Theological Society grants the Wesley Center at Northwest Nazarene College the right to produce and sell a CD-format version of the Wesleyan Theological Journal that encompasses volumes 1-30. It is understood that ownership of the Journal and its contents (in all formats) remains with WTS. It is further understood that this right granted to Northwest Nazarene is for one year (beginning July 1, 2000, potentially renewable) and is non-exclusive. It also is understood that the WTS will receive $50.00 for each copy of the CD sold. Anyone wishing to make the CD available on a network system will be required to purchase a license at an agreed upon rate from the WTS and restrict access to its institutional users."

Al, this is the committee report. It is based in part on the industry standard of restricting CD access to the most recent five years of hardcopy publication. We assume that you or Steve will set up a telephone conference of the WTS Exec. Com. in the near future so that some action can be taken on this proposal. Following such action, if positive, Northwest Nazarene would then be informed and, if the terms are agreeable, could proceed with their proposed project within the above guidelines.

Let me know if anything else is needed from this ad hoc committee-- or if we can die a natural and glorious death!

Barry L. Callen (on behalf of David Bundy and Bill Kostlevy)
