

Introduction:

1. Weary Willie's financial position was very shaky, and when he met a kind old lady in the park he decided to tell her his story.

"Ma'am," he said, "I've Asked for money<sup>k</sup> and Begged for money, and Cried for money."

"Have you ever thought of working for it?" she asked.

"No, not yet, ma'am," said Willie. "You see, it's like this, I'm going through the alphabet, and I ain't got to 'W' yet." (Public Speakers' Treasurer Chest).

2. When watching a beggar or bum one often is convinced that the man's position is just a result of his own laziness, his own choice to get by in life with the least effort he can.

Of course, in many places of the world one suffers not because of personal fault but because food and other necessities just aren't available in his country or locality. So far as material things are concerned it is not true that poverty is always ones own fault. However, in our country it frequently is true that hardship goes with laziness and poor judgment.
