

copy (on Harvard letter head)

January 16, 1988

Dr. Dennis M. Campbell, Dean
The Divinity School
Duke University
Durham, North Carolina 27706

Dear Dean Campbell,

Thank you again for your invitation to visit the Divinity School in regard to the possibility of joining your faculty. From our brief conversation over the phone, I was excited at your description of the position and needs you are trying to fill.

I received your letter, Divinity School Catalogue, and other information about the School yesterday, and have been pouring through the catalogue. I am looking forward very much to February 15. The flights I was able to get are: Sun., Feb. 14, Piedmont #459 from Baltimore, arrives at Raleigh/Durham at 5:20 P.M.; Tues., Feb. 16, Piedmont #833 leaves R/D at 9:35 A.M.

Unless we are snowed in or some other disaster befalls Boston or myself, I will be there Sun. evening. Thank you again for your invitation and your enthusiasm over the possibility of my joining your team.

Sincerely yours,

Susan A. Keefe

Duke University
1988

VISIT OF SUSAN A. KEEFE
(Candidate for Church History Position)

Sunday, February 14:

5:20 p.m. Arrives at Raleigh/Durham Airport

Monday, February 15:

8:00 a.m. Breakfast with Russell Richey

9:00 a.m. Faculty Planning and Appointment - Room 105
Dean Campbell James Crenshaw
James M. Efird Stanley Hauerwas
Richard Lischer George Marsden
Carol Noren Russell E. Richey
David Steinmetz Geoffrey Wainwright

10:30 a.m. Coffee - Alumni Memorial Common Room

11:00 a.m. Lecture - Alumni Memorial Common Room

12:30 p.m. Lunch:
James Crenshaw Geoffrey Wainwright
Rick Lischer Dan Via
Moody Smith

2:00 p.m. Church History Division - Room 105
Ted Campbell Russell Richey
Paula Gilbert Donn Michael Farris

3:30 p.m. Women's Center - Room 107

4:00 p.m. Students with Professor Keefe - Room 105

6:30 p.m. Dinner with Mary McClintock Fulkerson
and Elizabeth Clark

8:00 p.m. Dessert with Junior Faculty at Carol Noren's
2920 Chapel Hill Road, 6C

Ted Campbell William Turner
Paula Gilbert Mary McClintock Fulkerson

Tuesday, February 16:

9:35 a.m. Departs Raleigh-Durham airport

copy (on Harvard
letter head)

February 17, 1988

Professor Dennis M. Campbell, Dean
The Divinity School
Duke University
Durham, North Carolina 27706

Dear Dennis,

I can only reiterate my thanks for such a memorable visit, beginning with your meeting me at the airport, to having a chance to meet Liz at a very special dinner with both of you and the Steinmetzs, to Russel Pritchey at breakfast to Carol Norin for dessert, and all the warm and fascinating people in between! I was especially touched by Carol Norin's hospitality at the end. The small gathering at her house was a lovely closing to a beautiful day. I am also indebted to dear Mike Scudder who was there bright and early the next morning to deliver me at the airport.

I've enclosed the travel expenses-- two cab fares and the plane. I realized that the smaller white plane ticket just says Boston to Boston, $416.50. But that is inaccurate, because it includes a side-trip I made returning to Boston at my own private expense, which was $84.00. So I included the bill stamped "paid" from the travel agency, which has the correct amount of $332.50. But if your expense account people will not accept the larger white invoice, I'll send you a check for $84.00. I'm sorry for that oversight.

I'll probably be saying all this to you all over again on the phone, but I did want to express my feelings about the Divinity School people I have been dwelling on since returning. It is certainly an impressive community.

Warmest regards, to you and Liz,

Susan A. Keefe