Eulogy

In the passing of

Brother and Sister James William Moorefield

The lives of these two were not stars to flash in great splendor on occasions, but rather they should be likened to the clear beams of a lighthouse burning with all sureness, beauty and dependability. These two lives were genuinely spiritual and yet did not put their religion on exhibition or parade it about, "to be seen of men," but constantly and uniformly exemplified the beauty and simplicity of the religion of Christ. No one who knew them could ever call in question the purity of their Christian character.

On September 11, 1961, Brother Moorefield found the crossing and made his way to his last appointment in that house not made with hands. Funeral services were conducted on September 13, 1961, in Pine Ridge Primitive Baptist Church, by Elder Wilbur Worrell and Elder Wesley Fagg.

When two people walk hand in hand down through the sunset years of life—and one passes on before the other, the remaining one becomes lonely. Such was the situation with Sister Moorefield. She became anxious to be with her husband. One year after his death, the earthly life of one who lived for a noble purpose ended. Her funeral was conducted in the Church on August 27, 1962, by Elder Wilbur Worrell.

Thus the chapter was closed on two wonderful people—who spent their lives living beneath the Cross. They were members of the Primitive Baptist Church for fifty years.

Respectfully submitted,

Bro. Hosea Snyder
