"Take heed," said Jesus, "that ye despise not one of these little ones; for verily I say unto you that their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven." The little ones are often despised. They are weak. They contribute nothing to the strength or support of the family. They are only little ones. Some men think more of their horses and cattle and farms and gold mines and banks than they do of their children. There are places of shame where the souls of young people are being ruined by hundreds every year, and yet many people think it would be bad policy to close them, for they yield a little revenue and add to the financial strength of the city. But what of the little ones? There are many ways in which men show that they despise the little ones. Many of us who would resent the charge have done things which the Judge of all will decide to be acts of contempt of little ones. But they have angels for their protection. Heaven does not despise the little ones. If we have done so, may God forgive us.

What marvelous beauty and infinite value are concealed in the little things about us. If we could see all there is in a rose, or a lily, or a blade of grass, or a drop of dew, or a grain of sand, we would be lost in wonder. A grain of sand from the sidewalk under a microscope will glow with all the colors of the rainbow. They are there all the time, but the microscope reveals them. What must the eye of God see in a grain of sand, or a blade of grass? Robert Burns saw a poem of immortal beauty in a mouse, and William Cullen Bryant saw one in the flight of a water-fowl, and Edgar Allen Poe saw one in a raven. O, for the eye of a poet. But if poets can see things hidden from the eyes of ordinary men, what must God see in the commonplace things that are around our path every day?

Life is made up of little things. It does not require a revolution or national convulsion to enable one to develop the graces of patience and charity and love. Little deeds of kindness are doing more to make the earth a paradise than the heroic deeds of great warriors on bloody fields.

Little acts of kindness, little deeds of love,
Make the earth an Eden like to that above.

God is present in the little things as well as in the great, and through the commonplace things of earth He is working out His high designs of eternal wisdom and power. Learn then the lesson of the magnitude of little things.—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Virginia Valley Central, was held at Newport, Page Co., beginning Thursday, August 12th.

Others are to meet as follows:

Alabama.—Christiana Church, Tuesday, 10:00 a. m., Oct. 19. Rev. G. O. Lankford, Pres., Columbus, Ga., J. W. Payne, Secy., Wadley, Ala., R. F. D.3.

Ga. and Ala.—Richland, Ga., Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., Oct. 26. Rev. H. W. Elder, Pres., Richland, Ga., J. F. Hill, Jr., Sec., Box 64, Phoenix, Ala.

Eastern Virginia.—Franklin, Tuesday, Nov. 2. Rev. N. G. Newman, Pres., Holland, Va., Rev. W. D. Harward, Secy.

Eastern N. C.—Sanford, Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Underwood, Pres., Sanford, N. C., Rev. W. C. Wick-er, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Ramseur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Belew's Creek, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

THE VICIES OF CHRISTENDOM.

In concluding, recently, a brilliant contribution to the Outlook, Dr. Lyman Abbot, after quoting the significant sentence from Scripture "By their fruits ye shall know them," asks this comprehensive question: "What has been the effect on human character of faith in Jesus Christ as the supreme manifestation of God?" In reply to his own question this is given: "To attempt to answer this question would be to write the history of Christianity. It must suffice to say that the vices of Christendom are common to humanity, its virtues are largely its own. Cruelty and oppression, fraud and deceit, drunkenness and prostitution, are a part of the world's history. What is not a part of the world's history, but only a part of the history of Christendom, is the abolition of slavery, the emancipation of government, the creation of a sense of commercial honor which has made possible banks and a post-office and credit system, hospitals and asylums for the unfortunate, and a temperance movement which has promoted the power of self-control. What is common to humanity is a poignant sense of remorse for sin: what is peculiar to Christendom is an experience of forgiveness of sin."

These are truisms presented by Dr. Abbott which all see and admit. And yet how very many people reason as if the vices of Christendom were the creations and offspring of Christendom itself. The vices of Christendom are those common to humanity, and are not, therefore, either in part or parcel, to be attributed to the spirit of Christianity.

Even when a church member goes wrong, lives wrong, fails to measure up, as many do, there be those ever ready to point at this particular one as a product of the church, of Christianity. How very far of the mark does such an one reason. The sins, errors, blunders of the wayward brother are not products of the Church, or of Christendom, but are only such as are common to humanity. Men of the type of the wayward church member can be found in all the world of human depravity; but men of highest virtue, truth, piety, can only be found in the Church—and these are the products of Christendom. The virtues of Christendom are its products and are peculiar to itself.

DOING ONE'S BEST.

There is a divine copartnership which may be entered into in this world. Until one enters that copartnership one has not done one's best. God never intended that man should fight out his battles alone. God wants to help him. Man, unaided, is doomed to defeat. Who fights in any conflict, trial, task, trouble, without divine help is fighting a losing battle. It matters not how deft the fingers, how skilled the hand, unless God helps, no man does his best.

Matthew, at the seat of toll, was doing his best as a customs house keeper. But Jesus found him there, entered into partnership with him and gave him a better chance. Matthew became a keeper of divine records, a writer of immortal fame, a man of eternal weight and worth. Jesus the Christ gave Matthew a chance, and Matthew never did his best till he knew Jesus and took Him into his own life and labors and tasks.

A very skilled operative managed the loom long and well. But one day the threads became tangled. There was a sign over the door "When any trouble arises, or threads get tangled, call the superintendent." "But why call the superintendent this time?" queried the operator, "I can untangle the threads." But soon more threads were tangled and shortly a loom was broken. Then the superintendent was called: "O superintendent, I have done the best I could, and still the crash came." "No," replied the superintendent, "you have not done the best you could till you have called me." No mortal man has done the best he can till he has called Jesus Christ as his help, companion, friend. Jesus wants to help. He wants to give all a chance. He takes the lowliest, the humblest, the most insignificant often, into copartnership, and gives them a chance. This is doing one's best in this life—taking the blessed Christ as daily help, friend, companion, guide. God helps us do our best—that is, take Christ with us in all things.

A BUSY LIFE.

Christianity fills the life, crowds and packs it, with busy and fruitful activity. The very busiest, most varied, active, and fruitful life the world has ever known was the life of Jesus the Christ. A writer, (no less an one than the beloved Disciple) said that if the events, variety, and incidents of Lord Christ were written out in books he supposed the world could not contain them. Think of it, a life of such infinite variety, achievement, and activity that a world full of books could not contain it. Christianity, the true Christian spirit, always crowds the life, makes it full and fruitful.

The curse of sin is its barrenness. Wickedness is fruitless. Worldliness is emptiness. From a world of idleness to a world of activity, has ever been the call of Christianity.

They are busy men in the Book, from Moses to Christ, the men of meadows and the men of manglers. They have about them the breath of fresh fields, the power of boundless forests and unchained seas. The hand that wields the scepter for Lord Christ is an ungloved hand, a hand burdened by task and toil and trial.

The fishermen of Galilee were called: not the idlers and drones. And they were made more busy and became fishers of men. The spreaders of nets became spreaders of the Gospel.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

Laying the corner-stone of the new Portsmouth Christian Church, on Thursday afternoon the last day of September, was an event in the history of that church.

This church was organized Oct. 31, 1901, with thirty members, and they have worshipped, up to the present time, in a chapel on High Street. The present membership is one hundred and thirty and the Sunday-school numbered one hundred and eighty-seven last Sunday.

The land and chapel where they now worship cost $4,500, and is now estimated at $15,000. They have had an offer of $12,000.

The new lot is located on the corner of Washington and County streets and cost $9,000. It is, perhaps, the best location for a church in Portsmouth, and Providence seems to have favored Bro. Harrell and his faithful band of workers from the initiation of this undertaking.

The church building will cost in the neighborhood of $24,000. The organ and some other things will be left off for the present. It is to be of Mt. Airy granite, trimmed with sandstone, and is 79x71 feet. The auditorium will be 71x45 feet, with elevated floor, and will seat 400, and finished in dome shape overhead. The Sunday school department will open into Main Auditorium by rolling partition. The Sunday school department will be 71x30 feet and two stories, cut up into assembly room in the center and class rooms at both ends and above in the balcony. It will be heated by steam with furnaces in basement. The windows will be of leaded Cathedral glass handsome in design.

The building is now above first floor and ready to receive door and window frames. When finished it will be one of the best church edifices in Portsmouth.

If they realize $15,000 for the High Street property, the financial estimate will be as follows:

Resources,—old property estimated $15,000, subscription $2,000, making $17,000. Indebtedness on new property $3,000, leaving gross assets $14,000. Total cost of building to be $24,000, leaving an indebtedness on the property of $10,000, no more than the land is worth without the church on it. Their idea is to get a long-time loan and pay out gradually while they have the use of the elegant and well appointed new building.

The corner-stone was laid by the Seaboard Lodge, No. 56, A. F. and A. M., at 3:30 p.m., September 30, 1909. The ceremony was impressive and several hundred people were present.

Prof. J. W. Cooper was choir master and there were about thirty in the choir which rendered good music.

Ministers from Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Disciple, and Christian Churches were present.

The day was ideal and Rev. J. W. Harrell, his good wife, and the congregation thankful. He has labored zealously as the leader and pastor of the flock for eight years, and he will soon have a church property worth at the least more than thirty thousand dollars and well adapted to modern church work. Those who have contributed to this enterprise will soon be proud that they have money in it; and I hope they will be richly rewarded for their much needed contributions.

I had the privilege and honor of making a little talk on this auspicious and prophetic occasion.

W. W. Staley.

NORFOLK LETTER.

As previously announced, last Thursday evening at 3:30, the corner stone of the new Christian church in Portsmouth was laid with Masonic ceremonies, the Masonic odes being sung by the choir of the church.

Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D., of Suffolk, delivered the address. It is hardly worth while to say that it was a fine address, and well delivered; that naturally, goes without saying, to all who know Dr. Staley, or have ever heard him make an address. There was a large crowd present, and Brother Harrell seemed to be in exceptionally happy mood, and well he might be, for he has worked hard for the success of the church, and to see this, the beginning of what is to be the full realization of his hopes and ambition, gave him good cause to be happy. The church, when it is completed, is going to be a great credit to our people in Portsmouth, and an ornament to that part of the city, in which it is located. I will not attempt a description of it, or further comment at this time, because I suspect that if you will read the Suffolk letter in this issue, you will find a more extended, and detailed account of this occasion. I just felt that I wanted to mention it, because I think too much cannot be said in commendation of the faithful little band, that has worked together, as the Portsmouth Christian Church.

The Memorial Temple Sunday school held a rally in connection with their Sunday school yesterday, an appropriate program having been executed, much to the pleasure and edification of the large number present.

Rev. C. C. Ryan, the pastor, was engaged last week, and will be again this week, until probably Thursday, assisting Rev. C. C. Jones in a meeting at Wakefield. A splendid meeting is reported, something like twenty-five conversions already. He is scheduled to assist Rev. H. E. Rountree at Waverly, in a meeting, following the third Sunday. He is planning, with his family to leave here about the 26th inst. for his work in Ansonia, Ohio.

The Sunday school of the Third Church had no "rally day" yesterday, but the Sunday school rallied, having the largest attendance that we have had at the morning session of our Sunday school, lacking just a few of having the total enrollment of the school present.

Prof. S. M. Smith conducted the prayer meeting last Wednesday night. He gave us an interesting talk, to the delight and edification of those present.

I regret very much to have to record that Sister J. A. Nichlos of the Memorial Temple, mother of our good Bro. B. L. Nichlos has been suffering with a cancerous growth on her shoulder. Last week she underwent a surgical operation for the removal of the same. While she has been suffering considerably as the result of the operation, she is getting on very nicely, and hopes are entertained for her complete and speedy recovery.

J. W. Manning.

On September the 25, Germany anchored another huge Dread-naught, the Helogland. This monster of war will carry a crew of 1,000 men, and will be armed with twelve inch guns.

—For many years Hetty Green has been rated as the richest woman in the world, but since the death of Edward H. Harriman she has lost that distinction. By the terms of Mr. Harriman's will his widow, Mrs. Mary W. Harriman, becomes the world's richest woman. The entire Harriman estate was left to her, variously estimated from $50,000,000 to $200,000,000.

—When Henry Hudson drifted down the river that now bears his name, little did he dream that such a pageant as is witnessed today in New York would ever be held in his name. It is a beautiful piece of poetical justice. It is the Hudson River that made New York, and this city is an immortal monument to the discoverer, Henry Hudson.

—When Fulton in the little Clermont steered down Hudson river he never dreamed that he was inaugurating a new era in navigation that would in less than a century be world-wide and of unsurpassable good—an era that would make the seas an invisible network of transportation lines. This stupendous fact is an infinite honor to the name of Robert Fulton.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....	$3,748.85.
Monthly Dues:
J. Maryon Saunders ....	$.60
William Staley Cheatham ..	.10
J. Willard White .....	.10
Mary Lee Foster .....	.10
James L. Foster, Jr. ....	.10
Monthly S. S. Offering:
Palm St., Greensboro ...	1.53
Durham, N. C. ....	10.00
Wake Chapel, N. C. ....	2.00
Franklin, Va. ....	2.68
Norfolk, Va.,
Third Church .....	3.33
Jr. C. E. Society, Elon
College, N. C. ....	.18
Henderson, N. C. ....	3.02
Special Offering.
Mrs. T. A. Jones, Norfolk, Va. ....	2.00
Mrs. Bettie Cates (on support of children) . .	3.00
Pictures sold (J. L. F.) .	1.20
Am't. 36th week .....	29.94
Total .....	$3,778.79

Elon College, N. C., Sept. 29, 1909.
My Dear Children and Friends:—

This week finds us with a nice report, and the orphan children very busy. We are glad to have so liberal a report, yet we need larger amounts and from more persons, schools and churches.

These beautiful days the boys are making hay (pea vines) and the girls are doing "fall cleaning," getting ready for school which begins Oct. 4th, and then books, books, and sleepy looks will be the order for quite a while.

Sister T. A. Jones of Norfolk, Va., is the first "Old Cousin" to respond to our request which would make "Uncle Jim" shout! Now if a few hundred of "Old Cousins" will send in $2.00 each as Sister Jones has done—you just take down the receiver of the telephone and listen and see if you do not hear shouts from Uncle Jim. Durham Sunday-school takes their offering not monthly but quarterly, and they report through Bro. Harward $10.00 for last quarter, which is very liberal. In fact all the schools that make an offering average well, so much so that if all would take an offering we would have a liberal support from the Sunday-schools.

We shall greatly appreciate any church or community getting us a donation of wheat or corn for this winter as the weather so affected our corn crop we shall be very short and we must look ahead and provide. Who will write us about this matter?

Who will help us to get more land? Write often, dear children, and lets do all we can for the Orphanage. We will need many school books also—which takes money.

Yours for the work,
Uncle Jim.

Norfolk, Va, Sept. 21, 1909.

My dear Uncle Jim:—
No reflections as to the need of your shouting, yet I love to see every one happy. Therefore I send a small donation of two dollars to help make you shout, also to help buy the needed plot of land to keep the little boys busy, as God has taught us from the busy bee, and the babe in motion and at play, that we all should be busy all the time. Wishing you much success, and that you will realize more than enough for your land.

Yours truly,
Mrs. T. A. Jones.

Thank you, sister Jones. You are the first "Old" Cousin to respond towards helping us buy another plot of land. Wish all would be as liberal as you. Will you pray that God will bless our work and that we may get the needed land? God bless you and your two dollars!

Elon College, N. C., Sept. 27, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—
I am sending sixty cents which, I think will pay my dues for the remainder of the year.

I am so sorry it's getting cold, for I can't go barefooted or stay out to play, but I'll be glad to see Santa, won't you?
Fondly yours,
J. Maryon Saunders.

Ah! Maryon, little folks begin to think early of Santa! Cold weather brings the dear old fellow, so I know you'll give up the barefeet willingly.

Golden, N. C., Sept. 20, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—
I am a boy fifteen years old and I am at a training school for the Lord's work.

I would like to send to the orphans and join the band of cousins and send ten cents per month. My mother is dead, but I have a darling step mother who takes good care of us. We appreciate her kindness to us very much. I send my love to you and the dear cousins.

I remain yours in His name,
J. Willard White.

Don't Throw it Away
Does Your Granite Dish or Hot Water Bag Leak?
USE MENDETS
A PATENT PATCH
They mend all leaks in all utensils—tin, brass, copper, granite ware, hot water bags, etc. No solder, cement or rivet. Any one can use them; fit any surface; three million in use. Send for sample pkg. 10c. Complete pkg. assorted sizes, 25c postpaid. Agents wanted. Colletts Mfg. Co., Box 1141, Amsterdam, N. Y.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S
Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S PASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

PROTECT Yourself & Family
By keeping a jar of
VICK'S
Croup and Pneumonia Salve

in the house at all times. The very best thing to use in sudden cases of Cold or Croup. The great nipper of Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc., the best pain easer for Burns, Itching Piles, Bruises, Stings, etc. Endorsed by physicians and ministers everywhere. At druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00 per jar.
Vick's Family Remedies Co.
Greensboro, N. C.
For free sample specify department No. 3.

WANTED— Bookkeepers, Stenographers.
MORE BANKERS in the 16 States in which Jno. F. Draughon's 30 Colleges are located, indorse these Business Colleges than indorse ALL others. IF YOU want the EVIDENCE and want to RISE to the $10-a-day class, ask for FREE catalogue. LESSONS BY MAIL if preferred. Draughon's Practical Business College, Raleigh, N. C.: A. M. FISHER, Mgr

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.

P. M. A. M.	STATIONS.	A. M. P. M.
1:15	6:00	Raleigh 8:30 3:45
1:54	6:24	McCullers 7:52 3:03
2:11	6:59	Willow Sp'gs 7:37 2:45
2:23	7:14	Varina 7:27 2:34
2:35	7:26	Fuquay Sp'gs 7:19 2:25
2:55	7:45	Kipling 7:00 2:05
3:15	8:05	Lillington 6:41 1:44
3:41	8:28	Linden 6:15 1:17
4:30	9:15	Fayetteville 5:30 12:30

JNO. A. MILLS, Pres. and Gen. Mgr

MEDICINE.
We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?
FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Burlington, N. C.

Welcome, Willard. Am glad you are in special training for God's work. Surely He has prompted you to remember the Orphans.

Franklinton, N. C. Sept. 20, 1909.
Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am one month old today. I weigh nine and one half pounds net, and am two feet tall.

I held mother's watch today, looked at it and listened to the "tick-tick." I have smiled many times since I was five days old.

My second night, I stayed up for prayers and didn't cry any while grandpa prayed.

Today I earned my first money, which I send to the Band. Mother promised me ten cents, if I would be good when nurse gave me a bath and a shampoo. I won the money of course; for I think I have the nicest nurse at all. Grandma gave me the other dime.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton came to see me the first Sunday in September. That same day my papa bought me a glass automobile filled with candy. That was my first toy, although friends and relatives have given me many pretty presents.

I am glad grandpa explained to Dr. Atkinson why he was so dignified and not big-headed; because I want to go fishing with them when I am old enough. I think grandpa is very sociable.

Mother and I both appreciate the nice cards you, Aunt Myrtle, Mary Lee and James L., Jr., sent us.

Love to you and all the cousins.

Sincerely,

William Staley Cheatham.

You are certainly a fine boy not to cry when you get a shampoo, little man. That is better than our three year old son does. By what name will mother call you? Tell me in your next letter.

My Dear Cousins:—

By the time our letter gets printed, all our children here will be in school. How we little Foster children will want to go, too, but mother thinks we are too young yet. So guess we'll learn our B C's at home this winter and be ready for school next year—that is, Mary Lee will, but baby James will have to be baby for several years yet. We send our dimes.

Fondly,

Mary Lee Foster.

James L. Foster, Jr.

A Policy with the SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSUR-ANCE CO.,

of High Point, N. C.,

is a good investment. Send your name and address today for valuable information regarding the use and abuse of horses.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

.. THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

LIGHTEST ROOF EVER MADE.
And the lightest—and the Rightest—and the Mightiest.

Any reader of this paper who contemplates building should think of the roof very shortly after he has concluded on the location of the building—for if the roof is not right the house will never be right.

To assist house builders, the Cortright Metal Roofing Co., Philadelphia, have published generously illustrated books giving the experience of people all over the United States in roof construction. For the good of this cause they will send these books free to any of our readers who write for them. They have been run into several editions, and have been helpful to thousands of home builders, as well as architects, contractors and roofers, because they demonstrate the good points and the weaknesses of all the various forms of roofing.

The roofing that is best for buildings in this section is a very light yet dense and flexible material that will make an absolutely tight covering, proof against weather, fire and wear. This material and its most practical application is fully discussed in these Cortright free books. The Cortright Metal Roofing Co. have carried its use to the farthest degree of development, producing the tightest and rightest roof that ever went on a house; suited alike to the smallest house and largest structure—and it is of such dignified character that it gives a charm to the little buildings about the house, while it makes the larger house notable for beauty in a community of handsome architecture.

Its application to churches, schools, town buildings, railroad stations and factories throughout the United States is evidence, both of its practical value and its ornamental effect. This class of building is invariably designed by an architect who specifies the roofing, and is closely watched by officials whose duty is to get the most for the money spent. To secure the booklet free, address Cortright Metal Roofing Co., 54 N. 23rd St., Philadelphia, Pa.

RAISE MONEY FOR YOUR CHURCH.

We offer you an easy method. Send us a photograph of your church or your pastor, and we will send you 500 high grade post cards, with photograph on each card, and scripture verse if desired. Sell these cards at 10 cents each. When sold, remit us $20.00 and keep the balance. You can do this in a week. We will return photograph.

LAKE SHORE SUPPLY CO.,
225 Broad St., St. Joe, Michigan.

CANCER CAN BE CURED.

Personal or Home Treatment. Both successful. Scores of testimonials, from persons who gladly write to those now suffering, all tell of permanent cures. My Mild Combination Treatment destroys growth and eliminates the disease from the system. Free book "Cancer and Its Cure" and 125-page book of testimonials from cured patients in all parts of the country. No matter how serious your case, how many operations you have had, or what treatment you have taken, don't give up hope, but write at once. Dr. Johnson Remedy Co., 125 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo. Physicians treated free.

DO YOU WANT TO GO TO COLLEGE? If so we can help you. We have already put hundreds through college by means of our plan. Write today for full information regarding our offer of a free scholarship in any school or college. Address, Robert J. Sherlock, 29-31 East 22nd Street, New York City.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1698. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Branaman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

BOYS AND GIRLS.—Earn a Watch, Camera, Printing Press, Roller Skates, Pyrography Outfit, Boy's Tool Chest, Reflectoscope, Graphophone, Air Rifle or other premiums, selling our line of 400 fast-selling Household Specialties. Send 38 cents for sample, Premium Catalogue and full instructions, postpaid.

Cecil M. Gideon,
828 E. Rockdale Ave.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

OPIUM or Morphine Habit Treated. Free trial cases where other remedies have failed, specially desired. Confidential.

Dr. R. G. CONTRELL, successor to HARRIS INSTITUTE, Room 552, No.
400 W. 23rd St., New York.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

atchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—WHY

In this enlightened age it seems almost superfluous to write an article with such a caption. The pity is that our people, some of them, do not even know why we need a Christian Endeavor Society and so are going on in the same old way, losing the overflowing energy of youth to the cause of Christ and the Church.

Many of our churches are trying to do everything in their power to make the Church and other religious organizations popular with the young, and yet they constantly see them drifting away from the Church. What more can we do that we are not doing to interest our young people in things religious? they ask in the hour of their disappointment. Nothing. You are doing too much already. These young people want to do something for someone else and not to have everything done for them. Christian Endeavor will give them this chance, and so is needed in the church today.

Others of our churches are feasting and entertaining the young people, hoping by this means to get them into the Church and interested in its work. Lawn parties, hay rides, moonlight excursions, white sales, rummage sales, pink, green, or red teas, ice-cream or oyster suppers, and a thousand and one other devices are resorted to to catch and to hold the young in the church. Yet they are steadily drifting away from it. Their social nature is developed by these things (and I do not object to having it developed, for our Master attended feasts and banquetted often), but not their spiritual. Such churches are on the wrong track. They must sooner or later realize that the only thing which really appeals to the religious nature of young people is religious work. Christian Endeavor will furnish this religious work and so is necessary to the growing church. Service, not entertainment, is the watchword of Christian Endeavor. . . . .

In the third place, wherever Christian Endeavor has been tried fairly, it has succeeded wonderfully in building up the Church, the Sunday-school, and all the other auxiliaries of the religious life. This has occurred not only in America, but also in England, and France, and Spain, and Germany, and China, and in the uttermost parts of the earth. There is not a land where the Society is not known and honored and loved. There is no land that would do without it. There is no Church, which has it, that could be induced to part with it. There is no church which can afford to do without it. An effective Christian Endeavor Society means a growing, prosperous, hopeful, soul-saving, effective Church. Therefore, we need Christian Endeavor. Shall we have it?

From Rev. Edward French.

Rev. Edward French sends in blanks filled out for the following churches: New Hope, Beulah, Newport, Whistler's Chapel, Wood's Chapel. He reports a new Teacher-Training Class organized in the New Hope Sunday school, of which M. John Vaupelt is president and Bro. French teacher, the class having fifteen members. In transmitting these items of interest Bro. French adds: "I realize that I am very late in sending in my reports, but under existing circumstances it seems about the best I could do. Any other information you may want from my field I shall be glad to furnish and will try to be prompt next time.

"I am secretary of the Department of Class Organization for the Virginia Valley-Central Young People's Convention, and it is my purpose to get organized classes in all our schools where possible." Thanks. That sounds well. Who next?

What are you doing for Teacher-Training and Christian Endeavor? Let us hear from you.

"C. B. C." Banquetted.

On Friday evening, Sept. 24, from 8 to 11 P. M., Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Atkinson entertained in their hospitable home the "C. B. C." Organized Class of the Elon College Sunday school. All but four of the class were present, and they were providentially detained. The evening was delightfully spent. Dainty refreshments were served. Mr. M. A. Atkinson won a Red-letter Testament in a Bible Contest, which was as follows:

1. What Apostle was chosen in the place of Judas Iscariot?
2. To what city was Paul going when converted?
3. Of what city was Paul a native?
4. Who wrote Acts?
5. Who were put in the fiery furnace?
6. Where did Christ work his first miracle?
7. Who ate grass like an ox?
8. What Old Testament King slept on an iron bedstead?
9. In what book of the Bible is God not mentioned?
10. Who went to heaven alive?
11. Give the shortest verse in the Bible.
12. On what mount did the ark rest?
13. Who was the beloved disciple?
14. Who was the first Christian martyr?
15. Who was banished to Patmos?
16. Who had John the Baptist Killed?
17. Who wrote Revelation?
18. What man served seven years for a kiss?
19. What patriarch slept on a rock for a pillow?
20. Give the first and last words of the Bible.

The winner in this contest made 95 per cent. The lowest grade was 40 per cent. After the contest, Miss Mary Lou Pitt sang. The class enjoyed itself and went forth more determined than ever to do valiant, effective service for the kingdom.

As soon as you organize a Christian Endeavor Society, please report the same to me. Do the same of Teacher-Training and Organized Classes. Why not report at once?

Miss Sallie Lou Cobb, Lanett, Ala., is about to organize a Christian Endeavor Society in that town. Good! Let us hope it will do great good.

Miss Bettie Stephenson, Roanoke, Ala., reports an excellent Organized Class at New Hope Church and a Teacher-Training Class in process of organization. This is encouraging. She adds:

"I am greatly interested in the work and will help all I can." Her address on "The Pastor's Relation to the Young People's Movement," delivered at the District Meeting at Rock Stand, Aug. 29, will appear soon in the Sun and will deserve a close and careful reading. It is to be published by request.

C. E. TOPIC FOR OCTOBER 10—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

How Can We Help Our Pastor?

Ex. 17:8-13.

The Leader.—The leader should in a brief, terse manner state through what perils the Hebrews had passed in escaping out of Egypt and then show the other foes they had to meet. He should speak of the different kind of leadership demanded now from that demanded in leading the Israelites from Pharaoh's domains. They were now to fight and not to flee. Joshua was the man for this, as Moses had been for the other. He should note also how Moses helped. There are five spiritual truths here and they should be applied to the manner in which Endeavorers may help the pastor. A map should be used to make the situation of Amalek plain.

The Scripture Lesson.—Let six bright Endeavorers memorize each a verse of the lesson and after repeating it give paragraph comments thereon.

Question Spurs.—(To be answered in the meeting without being specifically called for).

- How can we advertise our pastor?
- What errands can we run for him?
- How can we assist in the mid-week prayer meeting?
- Do we need a pastor's aid committee? What work should such a pastor do?
- How can we make our pastor's sermons more effective among our Society members?
- What can we do for the Sunday evening preaching service?
- Why can't the older people render the pastor all the help he needs?
- Why are we responsible for Church work?
- What can we do to increase the church membership?
- What effect will this lesson have on our Society?
- How can we help the church finances along?
- What is our proper part in the church socials?
- What should we do to get strangers to attend church?
- How can we help in the Sunday school?
- Would our pastor be glad for us to visit him individually in his home?

Scripture References.—(To be read without being called for).

Human Weakness, Num. 11:14.
 Strength in Weakness, I Cor. 1:27.
 Co-operation, Mark 2:3, 6:7.
 Praying for the Pastor, Rom. 15:30-32.
 Willing Helpers, Acts 6:1-7.
 Standing by in Danger, 2 Tim. 4:6-12.

Generous Support, 1 Cor. 9:1-14.
 Following Wisely, Heb. 13:17-18.
 Regular Attendance, Heb. 10:19-25.
 Victory, Rom. 8:37.
The Pastor.—In this meeting the pas-
 (Continued on page sixteen).

Gibbes Portable Shingle Mill

With or Without Bolting Attachment

This popular machine has recently been remodeled and improved in many respects. It is now the best mill of the kind ever offered. With the Bolting Attachment it is a Complete Shingle Outfit in Itself.

It has hardwood carriages, solid rolled steel track, large bearings and is substantially built throughout. It has a large capacity—and is a money-maker.

Gibbes Machinery Company, Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.
 Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery,"—All Kinds,—All Value.

Books for Every Christian Home.

Do you know why you are a member of the Christian Church? Do you understand what the church stands for and teaches? If not, send and get a copy of the "Principles and Government of the Christian Church," just revised and greatly improved by order of the Southern Christian Convention.

Cloth binding per copy, post paid 50 cts.
 Limp Cloth binding per copy, post paid 35 cts.
 Paper binding per copy, post paid 25 cts.
 Handsome Persian Morocco, with name in gilt $1.25.
The Southern Christian Convention also Ordered Another Book Published, PREPARING THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER TO TEACH. Edited by Profs. W. A. Harper, W. C. Wicker and W. P. Lawrence.

The book is neatly printed and bound and is invaluable to the Sunday-school worker, 236 pages.

Paper binding per copy, postpaid, 60 cts.
 Cloth binding per copy, postpaid, 90 cts.
 To Sunday-schools, paper binding 50 cts. cloth 75 cts.
Have You Read That Thrilling and Inspiring Story of His Own Life, MOTHER'S ANSWERED PRAYER, BY REV. P. H. FLEMING, D. D.?

Cloth binding, postpaid 55 cts.
 All these books should be in your home. Order at once
 For sale by, THE CHRISTIAN SUN, ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

IT'S INTERESTING to hear the different comments on different Shoes. All shoes have some good points; Style or comfort or service.

WALK-OVER SHOES

have all the good points; style and comfort and service and their price is the best point of all. $3.50, 4.00 & 5.00.

Foster Shoe Co., Burlington, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See, Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

D I E D.*Johnson.

Near Windsor, Va., Sept. 8th, 1909, Mrs. Nancy Wich Johnson relict of the late Madison Johnson, aged about 84 years. Her husband died about seventeen years ago, leaving his wife, six sons and one daughter. They were members of Antioch Church. Sister Johnson made a profession of religion when quite young and united with the Church and was one among the oldest and best members of Antioch and therefore she will be greatly missed in her home, community and church. She was declining in health about two years and as the end drew near, she seemed to see her loved ones who were gone before her to the better land and would call them by name.

She was a good mother, neighbor, and faithful to her church. God bless the sacred memory of that dear mother. Just before she passed away to her home in the bright mansions above, she called her children and asked them to meet her in Heaven. She leaves six sons and one daughter, 31 grandchildren, and 25 great-grandchildren. Her funeral service was conducted by her pastor at Antioch, and her remains were laid to rest in the church cemetery to await the resurrection morn. God bless and comfort the dear bereaved ones.

H. H. B.

Boykin.

Near Windsor, Sept. 25, 1909, Mrs. Lizzie A. Boykin, relict of the late John M. Boykin, aged 71 years 1 month and 25 days. She gave her heart to God and united with Antioch Church and consecrated her life to His service at the early age of about ten years and was faithful to the end. She leaves to mourn their loss one son, Willie D., of Windsor, Va., two daughters, Mrs. Lula R. Griffin, of Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Sadie B. Holland of Isle of Wight Co., six grandchildren and many friends. The funeral service was conducted by her pastor at Antioch, where she had been a member for over 60 years and her remains were laid to rest in the old church cemetery to await the coming of her Lord.

H. H. Butler.

Williamson.

Blanche Cleveland Williamson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reps Williamson, was born in Nansemond Co., Va., April 10, 1884, and died in Asheville, N. C., Sept. 6, 1909, at the age of 25 years, 4 months and 26 days. She is survived by her parents, three sisters, Mrs. J. O. Atkinson, Misses Regina and Adelia Williamson, and three brothers, W. Thomas, Reps Jr., and Fred Williamson. She made a profession of religion at the age of twelve and united with Berea (Nansemond) Christian Church, where she remained a consistent and

STEWART
HOME and SCHOOL

FOR FEEBLE-MINDED

CHILDREN AND ADULTS.

Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky, 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.

Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

VITA SPRING

(Alkaline Chalybeate)

MINERAL WATER

The Peerless Medicinal Properties of this Water Make It

Nature's Own Remedy

for the cure of indigestion, liver and kidney trouble, uric acid poisoning, gastritis, constipation, rheumatism and all specific complaints caused by impure blood. As an illustration, its curative power is so great that old sores bathed several times each day in Vita Spring Mineral Water, disappear in a few days. It is recommended by

The House of Representatives of South Carolina
as "a pure mineral water of medicinal properties."
From the thousands of unsolicited testimonials received from relieved sufferers, we quote the following:

A. L. R. Avant, M. D., Savannah, Ga., says: "It made me feel like my former self."
Miss L. B. Terry, Barton, S. C. Says: "It relieved me of indigestion and gave me a better color than I have had in years."

R. B. Farrant, P. M., Springfield, S. C., says: "It acted nicely on my kidneys. A fine invigorator."

ANALYSIS
Calcium Carbonate	12.505
Magnesium Carbonate	3.399
Calcium Sulphate	.877
Sodium Sulphate	4.565
Potassium Sulphate	.624
Sodium Chloride	5.964
Iron Sesquioxide and Alumina	.023
Silica	2.303
	29.960

Special introductory price, 5-gallon demijohns, $1 per 5 gallons.
Send for free illustrated and descriptive booklet.
Local agents wanted.

The Vita Spring
Shelton, S. C.

"The Oxford Teachers'
par excellence

JUST ISSUED I

OXFORD

Teachers' Bibles and
S. S. Scholars' Bibles

With New 20th Century Helps arranged in One Alphabetical Order.

THE HELPS

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, says: "The helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

Address Christian Sun,
Elon College, N. C.

Bible is the Bible
of the World."

NOW READY!

SIX NEW EDITIONS

OXFORD

Black Faced Type BIBLES

Three on Oxford White Paper. Three on the famous Oxford India Paper.

Pearl 32mo. A wonderful clear type in a small-size book.

Minion 16m. Ready October 1907. A model hand Bible.

Brevier 16mo. Large type in small compass. "A quart in a pint measure."
"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."

ASK FOR THE

OXFORD EDITION

REMEMBER: That we guarantee satisfaction and sell to you cheaper than the publisher and dealers do. Our business is by mail and express and prices quoted are the prices of goods delivered to you. We can furnish you the Oxford, or the Holman Teacher's Bible at prices ranging from $1.35 to $4.00. Send for our catalogue or write us what you want. Address faithful member until her death. In her home she was a model child, and her many friends knew how amiable, modest and uplifting her influence and example were in that large circle of friends and acquaintances. She spent three years at Elon College. Her health failed and she had to abandon her dream of graduating from that institution. While at College she was a social favorite, and made many strong friends who regret her sad death. She fought a valiant fight for health, but in spite of all that human skill and loving hearts could do, the end came at Asheville, N. C., where she had gone, hoping to derive some benefit from the climate and treatment there. Her funeral was conducted by the writer, in the Suffolk Christian Church, assisted by Revs. W. W. Staley, N. G. Newman, W. L. Jones, and G. H. McFaden. Miss Blanche was a young lady of unusual social and moral gifts and attainments. Nature had blessed her with a bright, happy disposition, and none could know her but to love her. Through her long sickness, when she often suffered severely, she was bright, cheerful, humble and submissive, and always impressed one with her willingness to yield to the Divine Will. We cannot explain or understand her early departure, but we know God does what is best for His children. Her loss will be greatly felt in church and community, but most of all in that "inner circle," in her home, where she lived the pure life of one of the Father's sweetest children. Our loss is her gain. We extend to the bereaved family the comfort of the Gosepl, and pray for the Father's blessing to be upon them in this hour of sorrow.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN Elon College, N. C.

I. W. Johnson.

Williamson.

Our heavenly Father, who is all wise and just, has taken from our circle our dear young friend and sister, Blanche Cleveland Williamson. Her life was beautifully characteristic of patience and devotion. She was noted for her sweet disposition and kindness in her home and among her friends.

Blanche has gone before us, and we would not recall her. Her health had been gradually failing for four years, and life could not be much pleasure to her here and she has risen to a higher and grander life. Her influence will live long with those who knew her best, and "to know her was to love her."

We mourn our loss, but believe it to be the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Therefore be it Resolved:

First—That we shall ever remember

Your Boy

Ask your doctor how often he prescribes an alcoholic stimulant for children. He will probably say, "Very, very rarely." Ask him how often he prescribes a tonic for them. He will probably answer, "Very, very frequently." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a strong tonic, entirely free from alcohol.

No stimulation. No alcohol habit. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a tonic for the young. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Why You Should take the Herald of Gospel Liberty

- BECAUSE it furnishes needed information in a thoroughly interesting and up-to-date manner.
- BECAUSE it interprets movements within the Christian Church in a Christian spirit in relation to other churches throughout the world.
- BECAUSE the Christian Church could not do its part as a Christian Church without a newspaper like the Herald of Gospel Liberty.
- BECAUSE it is the best religious newspaper published in America, having proved itself for ONE HUNDRED YEARS the friend of the entire family, chronicling each week the progress of the world by its record of current events interpreted from a Christian standpoint, bringing interesting and helpful reading of the highest literary quality for every member of the family, old and young.

TERMS: $1.50 PER YEAR

Send for sample copies

Christian Publishing Association

J. N. HESS, Agent

DAYTON, OHIO

her patience in suffering and triumph in death, and endeavor to imitate her virtues.

Second—That we sympathize with the family, and while mingling our tears with theirs we have bright hope of seeing our dear one again.

Third—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be recorded in the secretary's book of the Ladies' Social Union of Berea (Nansemond) Church, and a copy be published in The Christian Sun.

Mrs. R. B. Odom,
Miss Mary Brinkley,
Miss Addie Everett,
Committee.

Johnson.

Whereas, it has pleased God in His goodness and loving kindness to take out of our midst Sister S. T. Johnson in the 37th year of her age, and whereas she was a faithful member of our Church and Sabbath school, therefore be it Resolved:

First—That we submissively bow to the will of God, since He doeth all things well.

Second—That we hereby express to the family our heartfelt sympathy and pray that when their work is done they

Self-Sharpening Shears

Always ready to cut anything from wet tissue paper to heavy cloth. New sharp idea. Cuts clean and sharp to the points of blades. Will last for years. Don't pay big prices for shears, get this one mailed to your address on receipt of 90c. Positively guaranteed.

G. H. Terpany Mercantile Company,
33 Beaufort St.,
Providence, R. I.

Free to Housekeepers

We have just discovered a new method that removes ink and dirt from clothing, fine linen and cotton goods, table cloths, napkins and handkerchiefs, face linen and lace curtains—easily, quickly and injures the fabric not a bit. This wonderful preparation is for sale, and is sent postal free on receipt of 10c in stamps.

See our Illustrated Catalogue of the
Geo. H. Pinkerton, 538 S. Lime St., Lancaster, Pa.

may meet in that land where there are no more tears.

Third—That a copy of these resolutions be placed on our church minutes and a copy sent to the Christian Sun for publication and to the family of the deceased.

C. W. Whitmore,
R. T. Brittle,
E. D. Faison,
Committee.

(Begun on page thirteen).
 tor should frankly state wherein the Society has been and may still further be a benefit to him. Then let the president of the society in a few words pledge the members to help carry out his plans. The members might rise to show their approval of the president's promise for them.

Suggested Program.

1. Several appropriate songs.
2. Chain of prayers for the pastor and his work.
3. Scripture lesson recited and comment given.
4. Leader's Remarks.
5. Song, followed by prayer.
6. Question spurs.
7. Scripture references.
8. Some special music.
9. Pastor's remarks, President's Response, Society's approval, as suggested above.
10. Pledge recited in concert.
11. General participation, as desired.
12. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

NOTICE FROM SECRETARY SIPE. Important—Read! An Urgent Need.

On the floor of the Young People's Convention of the Southern Christian Church which was held at Elon College last Spring a number of pledges to the support of the work were made. These pledges were payable Sept. 1st, and, according to the Constitution of the Convention, are to be paid to the Secretary, the Secretary to give receipt for all money collected, and pay same over to the Treasurer taking his receipt for all payments made.

The work of the Convention has been carried on and the Executive Committee is in need of funds with which to meet the current expenses. Hence this call is made, earnestly requesting early payment of all pledges. Please send all money to the undersigned at Greensboro, N. C. and receipt will be sent you at once. In sending money please state what pledge it is in payment of.

The following are the only payments received up to this time:

Cash collection at Young People's Convention of the N. C. and Va. Conference .....$ 1.35
 J. W. Folk, Treas. Sunday School Convention of the E. Va. Conf. 10.00
 Rev. R. L. Williamson for the Young People's Convention of the Western N. C. Conf. .... 4.20
 D. Jennings Sipe, Sec. Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 25, 1909.

DR. J. H. BROOKS
 Surgeon and Dentist
 FOSTER BUILDING,
 Burlington, N. C.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company
 BURLINGTON, N. C.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway. Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway. Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.
 R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt., J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
 Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.
 S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M., W. H. TAYLOE, G. P. A.,
 Washington, D. C.

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

DEAF 25 YEARS Can Now Hear Whispers

C. P. WAY
 Juvenator

I was deaf for 25 years. I can now hear a whisper with my artificial EAR DRUMS in my ears. You cannot see them in my ears. I can not feel them for they are perfectly comfortable. Write and I will tell you a true story—How I Got Deaf—and How I Made Myself Hear. Address

GEO. P. WAY
 8 Adelaide St., Detroit, Mich.

AGENTS WANTED $2.19 SAMPLE OUTFIT FREE. 50 per cent profit. Credit given. Premiums. Freight paid. Chance to win $500 in gold extra. Let the largest wholesale agency house in the United States start you in a profitable business without one cent of capital. Experience unnecessary. Write for free outfit at once. McClan, Black & Co., Inc., 100 Beverly St., Boston, Mass.

KEEPING FAMILIES ABOVE WANT.

Every thinking man wants to provide so that his wife and little ones, those dependent upon him, will be kept above want when he is no longer here to provide for them. The great question now-a-days is the best means to this end. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insur-

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West.

Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address

C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt.,
 No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

ance Company has a plan whereby the helpless ones are protected as long as they live and kept from want. Write T. A. Cary, Mutual Building, Richmond, Virginia for "Document 843," giving full particulars and showing how easy it is for you to protect your family forever.

The Christian Sun.

State Library

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 40.

Court Houses and Corporations.—In two editorial paragraphs of the Charlotte Observer one day last week appeared two ideas that present a contrast, and, ergo, produce a thought or so.

One item called attention to the very unsanitary condition of our court houses and enquired, How many counties enforce the law, how many health officers know there is such a law, compelling fumigation of court houses? And then quotes: "The ordinary court house is one of the greatest disease breeders we have. If our depots were allowed to go in such an unsanitary condition there would be a great howl raised, and the Corporation Commission would be constantly busy hearing the citizen's complaints."

Now there is a situation. The State, through its Commission, makes the railroads keep depots in tolerable condition, but the State's own depots, nay, her temples of justice, are kept in a most intolerable condition. A plain case of making another do that which one will not do for one's self.

The other item is to similar effect, thus. The people of the town of Durham said there must be an overhead concrete bridge at one of the street crossings. The people flew to the Corporation Commission and showed how deadly and dangerous, and so forth, it all was not to have such a crossing. Would not the Commission, for the sake of the common good, security to life, limb and property, compel the railroads to build such a crossing?

Of course we will, said the Commission, for the thing is just, and is needed. And, continued the Commission's decision, the town of Durham must, in justice and right, pay $26,000 on the cost of such a bridge—must join with the railroads in building the bridge.

Whereat the good town of Durham is not so sure that it needs said bridge, for security, safety, and such. After all the good town may do as well to get along without the overhead bridge. But how awfully awful that bridge would have been needed if the Commission had said the railroads must pay all the cost.

Some times the irony of fate puts us poor mortals in a funny fix. Our wants are many and multiplied when we can compel others to supply them. When we must supply for ourselves we do not want so much after all.

This is written not in palliation of corporations—for they are terrible things with claws and teeth and bloody eyes for whom no good thing must dare he said—but it is written as a comment on this weak human nature of ours.

Would it not be well for us to read the golden rule to ourselves sometimes in this fashion, "Have others do unto us as much as, and no more than, we are willing to do unto others." At any rate the golden rule has not been abolished.

Prostituting Its People.—As was noted in these columns some weeks since, Cuba has established a national lottery. The Government is the central figure in the scheme, for the sole purpose of raising revenue. Early in September the first drawing of tickets was held in the treasury building at Havana. There had been received three hundred thousand dollars from the purchasers of lottery tickets. Two hundred thousand dollars were distributed to the holders of these tickets, the Government thus realizing one hundred thousand dollars revenue on the first drawing. The revenue came all right, and there was no complaining. But at what a price! Most of this money came of course from the poorer and more needy classes—for these are they who are always hoping most for something from nothing. The largest prize was sixty thousand dollars. That one man got a fortune—in money. But sixty thousand others got nothing. It is gambling, pure and simple, and of such hideous mein that our Government not only forbids it, but forbids the mails or express companies to carry tickets or letters pertaining to the scheme.

This is the saddest comment on Cuba yet seen—that it as a Nation proposes to live by gambling. It is seventy-five years behind time. Such a government of gamblers cannot abide. Either the lottery will go, or the Cuban Government, in a few brief years, will be calling again for an American protectorate. It is too late in the world's history for a Nation to thrive by gambling.

The Trees of God.—History reveals that the "cedars of Lebanon" famed in the poetry, description, and song of many a Bible page, are well nigh extinct, there being now on the sides of the Syrian mountains only about two hundred of these noble trees. In Solomon's time these trees were abundant and were used with lavish hand in building the Temple. These are quite different from our cedars, resembling more our giant, wide spreading oak, and are a beautiful, soft, white wood which was the pride and glory of Jewish architecture. The few trees remaining, some of them fifteen hundred years old, are called by the Arabs "Trees of God." Truly they bear the right name. In fact all trees are "the trees of God."

If Americans could come to see the beauty, grace, value of the splendid trees of our forests, we would not be so prodigal and ruthless with them. What splendid and majestic giants of the forests some of our wide spreading trees are, planted of the hand of God, rocked in the cradle of His care, nurtured with the unstinted bounty of His hand, and protected in the might of His mercy. All trees are "the trees of God." For beauty, grace, symmetry, might and majesty, it is difficult to find aught in all creation that equals many of the trees that live, grow, flourish, and bless the earth about us—our trees—"the trees of God."

—After reading the adventures of Nick Carter and how he finally succeeded in landing "Bloody Pete" in jail a youth of Goldsboro, North Carolina was arrested and lodged in jail on the charge of stealing pistols from several parties in the city. This young boy—now a youthful criminal—informed the authorities that he stole the pistols for the purpose of holding up some one and robbing him and then to see if he could have better success than "Bloody Pete." When arrested he had four pistols on his person, all loaded, and he thought himself a hero, but when the heavy iron doors of his cell were closed, he came to himself and began to realize that Bloody Pete's profession was not so grand and thrilling as it seemed to be.

FROM THE FIELD.

Bethel.

We held our meeting week following third Sunday in July. The Lord gave us a good meeting. There were five conversions, and two joined the church.

Christian Chapel.

We began our meeting second Sunday in August, and the Lord revived his people and gave us a good meeting. There were fifty or more conversions and twenty-nine joined the Church.

New Hill.

I began our meeting on third Sunday in September. The Lord gave us a good meeting. There were several conversions. About 16 joined the church.

I have assisted in other meetings. I feel that the Lord has blessed my work and to Him give all the praise.

J. S. Carden.

Durham, N. C.

Columbus, Ga., Letter

The protracted meeting which began at Girard the third Sunday in September continued until the fourth Sunday night. According to previous arrangements, Rev. J. H. Milam was with us and did the preaching at all the night services, the writer doing most of the preaching in the day. Bro. Milam did very earnest preaching which was appreciated by the people who heard him. The interest was good throughout the meeting and congregations the largest we have had this year in Girard. Four members were added to the church. The work at this place is progressing nicely.

The services at North Highlands Sunday were right well attended. The interest was good. Sunday school at this point has recently taken on increased interest, consequently a small increase in attendance.

Rev. H. W. Elder preached at Waverly Terrace Sunday and Sunday night. Services will be held a few nights this week and possibly until next Sunday night. This will depend on the interest manifested in the meeting.

The writer went to Wadley, Ala., last week to attend a meeting of the Home Mission Board of the Alabama Conference. The Board met to consider the advisability of continuing the work at Wadley another year. Wadley being a new town and only a small population in the place, with two churches already established and the town being on a "stand-still" just now, it is a problem to know what steps to take. It is our opinion, however, that it would be unwise to abandon this work yet. There is hope that Wadley may, in the not distant future, become a manufacturing center. If this should come to pass, more churches will be needed to take care of the people and before us would arise an opportunity to share in this noble work. Before we come to a final decision, brethren, relative to this work, let us do some earnest, sober thinking.

We are quite busy now finishing the work of the conference year. It is only two weeks until the Alabama and but three until the Ga. and Ala. Conferences. See to it that your church letters, committee reports, etc., are ready in due time. We ought to strive to make the sessions the "best yet" and this not only in name but in reality. Let all the delegates and ministers be present at the opening service and remain until after the last benediction. This way of delegates going to Conference and staying for only a day is a mistake. There is such a thing as "haste makes waste" and I am sure the Alabama Conference in its annual sessions, has had too much haste. We need more time for the transaction of the business that claims our attention once a year. Three full days would not be too much. Think about this on your way to Conference.

G. O. Lankford.

Oct. 4, 1909.

New Providence.

Our protracted meeting at New Providence began the fourth Sunday in August and continued nine days, resulting in three additions to the church. Rev. W. T. Herndon did the preaching and presented the gospel in a clear and forceful manner.

Bethlehem

Our meeting at Bethlehem began the third Sunday in September and resulted in six additions and the church much revived. Revs. G. R. Underwood and C. C. Peel did the preaching, and greatly endeared themselves to the people.

Union

Our meeting at Union, Alamance, began the fourth Sunday in September, and resulted in eleven additions and the church greatly revived. Rev. L. F. Johnson was with me and did good work for the Master. Rev. W. T. Walters was present but did not take an active part under the advice of his physician. Bro. Walters, however, seems to be rapidly improving and expects soon to be able to return to his work in the Virginia Valley..

J. W. Holt.

Monticello

We closed a great revival at Monticello last night. It was a grand, good meeting. Rev. J. L. Foster was with us three days at the beginning. We organized a church at Monticello Sept. 30, 1909, with twenty-one charter members, and received seven more members last night, making a membership now of 28. Several men of families were converted in the meeting here. To God belongs all the praise.

L. I. Cox.

PORTSMOUTH LETTER

The Corner Stone of the New Christian Church was laid Thursday, Sept. 30. The day was ideal. A large crowd gathered to witness the ceremonies. Many of the city pastors were present and a number of the city officials. It was a great day for the Portsmouth Church.

The corner stone was laid by the Masonic Seaboard Lodge of this city. The music was furnished by a large choir led by Prof. J. W. Cooper of the city. Col. E. E. Holland of Suffolk was on the program to introduce the speaker, but he was unable to be present and, therefore, this duty fell to the lot of the pastor. The speaker of the occasion was the Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D., of Suffolk, Va., who took as his subject, "The Mission of Christianity." His address was rich, clear, forceful, entertaining and highly appreciated by the large gathering that listened attentively to him.

The Doctor said in part, "Christianity is incomparably the greatest teaching man has received. All other religions pale before Christianity as tallow candles before electric lights. The 40,500,000 candle power search-lights used in the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York equal 20,000,000 candles and illustrates what this means. No wonder Jesus claimed to be the light of the world. This is the light that lighteneth every man that cometh into the world.

"The mission of Christianity is that of a person. God called Abram from Ur of the Chaldees as the origin of the Hebrew nation. He was the personal leader and head of the religious nation. God called Moses to lead this nation out of bondage. He was the medium of communication between God and His people; his personal influence was the chief element of power and advancement. In the fullness of time God sent forth His Son as the sole leader and teacher of his people. From Bethlehem to Olivet he was the central figure, the leader and commander of the people. In all early empires great personalities guided and controlled states. Henry, Jefferson, and Washington guide the affairs of this nation in its formative period. Mohammed founded and inspired the Mohammedan religion. A personal God and the personal Christ stand out in the Old and New dispensations. Jesus teaches, heals, foils the tempter, calms the sea, raises the dead, forgives sin, and rises from the tomb."

In the next place the Doctor said: "The mission of Christianity is that of a Book. Lincoln said, 'The Bible is the greatest gift God has given to men.' This inspired Book cannot be improved nor destroyed. It gets into art, literature, business, governments, and life. It molds and directs the national spirit when allowed to work in the hearts of the people. The declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and the Laws founded on the Constitution all show the personal leadership passing into a book. If the prophets and apostles had not written the Book religion would have perished. Christianity has produced a Book to enlighten the conscience of mankind. This Book keeps man in touch with God through the Holy Spirit. It is authority in all highest ideals of best life. Printing and distributing this Book is one means of evangelizing the world. Missionaries have done more to create languages and translate this Book than all other scholars combined.

"Finally the mission of Christianity is that of an institution. The Hebrew commonwealth was a great Institution, and the Church of Christ is a great Institution, and so is the Government of the United States. Institutions embody and perpetuate personal leadership and books enlarge the sphere of their purpose and achievement. The institution organizes, increases its force, sustains, trains, and develops man. It represents members, wealth, wisdom, experience and outgrows its founders."

The work on the Church is going forward as rapidly as could be expected. The workmen were delayed several weeks in September on account of material, but are now in a position to push the work. The walls at this time are from ten to fifteen feet high. There is a possibility of getting the roof on by the last of December.

We sent out notices to those who have outstanding subscriptions to the work a few days ago, but we have not heard from all. Brethren, please let us hear from you. We need your help now. The payments must be met. The third payment will be due in a very short while. We have not yet sold our old lot, and therefore it cramps us to make the payments. It would be such a relief if everybody would do what he could to help the work along. We trust a great willingness may get hold of our hearts and we may be flooded with donations. This would be a most delightful experience in a time like this.

Cash Acknowledgements

Previously acknowledged	.....$1,549.73
A. H. Savage, Holland, Va. . .	5.00
A. J. Glover, Norfolk, Va. . .	5.00
J. D. Gray, Waverly, Va. . . .	10.00
J. W. West, Waverly, Va. . . .	25.00
Rev. W. H. Thompson, Norfolk, Va. . . . .	5.00
Mrs. Pauline C. Culpepper, Gilmerton, Va. . . . .	10.00
T. G. Hyatt, Newport News, Va. . . . .	5.00
C. D. West, Newport News, Va. . . . .	10.00
J. J. Baker, Newport News, Va. . . . .	5.00
Ladies' Aid Society, Newport News Church, Mrs. W. B. Baker, treas. . . . .	13.50
A. T. Harrell, Suffolk, Va. . .	5.00
R. L. Stringfield, Newport News, Va. . . . .	1.50
Willis J. Lee, Bennett's Creek, Va. . . . .	50.00
Mrs Fannie Curling, Great Bridge, Va. . . . .	1.00

We are very thankful for these donations and trust that the donors will accept our thanks. Who will be the next? Let us hear from you at once.

Oct. 1. J. W. Harrell.

"C. Q. D."

The value of the wireless as a life-saver on shipboard has once more been demonstrated; also it has been shown that the race of heroes is still alive. One man, George E. Eccles, of Seattle, gave his life in order to save passengers and crew of the steamship Ohio, which had struck a rock, and was sinking off the Alaskan coast. When the ship crashed into the rock, the wireless operator sent out his weird call, "C. Q. D." Two vessels picked up this signal of distress, and promised to rush to the aid of the ill-fated Ohio.

Sitting at his instrument, Eccles sent another message forth on the wings of the ether: "Ohio sinking fast—cannot hold out. Passengers being taken off in small boats. Captain and crew will stick to the last." He was told that the rescuers were hastening to the scene. Then he wired: "Passengers all off, and adrift in small boats. Captain and crew going off in last boat; waiting for me now. Good-by."

That was the end. Before he could reach the small boat, the vessel foundered. He went down, a martyr to duty.

A deed like that is sublime. To see the vessel sinking rapidly; to look upon the hurried preparations for the safety of passengers and crew; to realize that much, perhaps all, depended upon coolness and the correctness of the message sent out; and to sit still, patiently, calmly, deliberately utilizing every moment, and then go down to death, having served and saved the others—this is indeed glorious.

Man is built to do these things. The eager desire to serve until death leaps forth into heroic deeds when occasion offers. This is the spirit of Christ which ennobles and illumines and glorifies common lives, and makes men worthy sons of the heavenly Father.—C. E. World.

THE BIBLE.

The Bible is the most wonderful book in the world. In a museum in Europe there is a copy of the Bible for which the equal of $36,000 has been offered and refused. The Bible is today more handsomely bound, more free from typographical errors than any other book published. The Bible was the first book that fell from the printing press after its invention. The output of the Bible is today more than the total output of any other ten books that can be named. There have been published to date more than three hundred million Bibles.

The Bible is the most influential book in the world. It exerts a dominating influence over language, history, literature, art music, law, etc. Martin Luther's Bible made the German language. King James' Bible formed the English language. The era making events in the last two thousand years were caused by the Bible. In 30 of Shakespeare's plays direct references are made to the Bible. If all quotations, thoughts and other traces of the Bible were removed from your library here it would be absolutely unreadable. Twenty-seven of Raphael's greatest paintings, and twelve out of nineteen of Michael Angelo's, are Bible subjects. The greatest masterpieces of music are sacred pieces, such as The Messiah and The Holy City, etc. All good law is founded upon the Bible. Talk about our great republican form of government, why our constitution is modeled after the Bible. Gen. Grant said, "We must hold fast to the Bible as the sheet anchor of American liberties."—Rev. H. McWhite.

—In 1864 the coinage of the two-cent piece was authorized. In 1873 it was ordered discontinued. During that time forty-eight million pieces were issued, only seventeen million of which have been returned to the Treasury. This would leave thirty-one million still in circulation: but one seldom sees a two-cent piece now, and these will be sold as curios a few years hence.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Rev. J. L. Foster left Tuesday night to visit churches and Conferences in Alabama and Georgia in behalf of the Orphanage and Christian Sun.

—During the month of October 2,500,000 acres in North and South Dakota are being given to new homesteaders—making room for an inrush—which is sure to come—of 15,000 homesteads.

—On the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of his marriage, a man of means recently sent a check of $1,000 to the aged minister who officiated at the wedding. That was certainly a fine compliment, and a delicate one, to the wife who had made him happy for forty years.

—And now the ladies are to wear, this fall, aeroplane hats. We do hope however, they will not all fly away yet. And, moreover, aeroplanes will be better, we fancy, than peach baskets.

—A hermit, destitute and always in need(?) died in New Jersey the other day—and $17,000 in gold was found in his mattress. He did a generous act by dying.

—Bob Womack has just died, a poor man. He is the miner who, after a long, hard search, discovered gold on Cripple Creek and straightway in his joy went on a spree. While drunk he told his rich secret, and when he got sober he found that others had rushed in and located claims that have since panned out $280,000,000. That was the costliest spree on record, measured in money. Others, measured in character, have been quite as expensive.

—Every penny asked of the churches by Conference is needed. How many the points among us needing help to build churches where congregations now small are not able to build and pay all themselves. And the other objects are as important and necessary as these. Conference does not ask a penny but that it feels the need thereof sorely. It is a pity not to send to Conference the pittance requested. Do your best, brethren and sisters, in this good work now of preparing for Conference —It will be read with deep pleasure and interest that Hillsboro street Christian Church, Raleigh, is improving much in attendance and in prospect. The News and Observer of last Saturday and Sunday gave a good account of the revival in progress there, speaking in glowing terms of the work Pastor L. F. Johnson is doing and of the improved condition of the Church generally. A meeting has been in progress for a week and a half. There have been growing congregations, deepening interest, many conversions and several additions to the Church.

—Rev. J. L. Foster, "Uncle Jim," will visit the Alabama, and the Georgia Conferences in behalf of the Orphanage and The Sun. He will also visit several churches, the appointments having already been announced in these columns. Bro. Foster was to leave today for a three weeks' stay visiting and laboring in the Conferences named. The brethren there will receive and hear him with profit and pleasure, as there is no more earnest worker in all our number. Whatever is done to help him along in his good work will be appreciated both by himself and by The Sun and publishing interests. If our subscribers will see him and renew, it will be of much help and convenience, and Bro. Foster will be quick to appreciate the same and give proper receipt.

Moving Picture Shows.—We have no praise for the nickle-shows, or the moving-picture shows, for they have never interested us and our acquaintance does not justify comment. But before the brethren denounce them wholesale, and rule them out entirely, we call attention to one virtue of them.

The saloon-keepers of Chicago have raised objection to their being located in their locality. The complaint is that they "hurt business," in that men who used to spend the whole evening in the saloon now take their families and go to these nickel theatres. We are almost tempted to praise the moving picture shows on this one account. Whatever takes the men away from the saloon and sends him with his family for an evening is not all bad. And, moreover, we heard not long since that the five cent theatre was hurting the business of the $1.50 theatre.

Let us hope that somebody will invent something yet to keep men out of meanness. That would certainly be a great invention.

The Private Citizen.—It does not take the effulgence and the glamor of office any more to make a man great.

Brain, energy, soul in any sphere can make the small great and the little large. Our day courts the man, not the man's prestige or position. He who can do things in any sphere is reckoned with. The man who brings things to pass is valued. It does not make so much difference any more as to what place a man fills: how does he fill that place? is the main inquiry. What statesman of our times has been so feared, honored, famed, as E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate? We are not praising him, his means and methods, but making the enquiry as to station. His was the life of the private citizen, but he had brain, pluck, determination, energy, skill. These carried the man to great heights. These always carry the man. Brains count. Energy measures. Skill marks the might. No one seeking fame need seek public position and place. The world today courts the man who can.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Rev. J. O. Cox arrived last Tuesday evening and took charge as business manager of the Christian Sun Wednesday. He attended children's day exercises at Union, North Carolina, last Sunday.

—Rev. Dr. Newman was the speaker at the eleven o'clock service here Sunday. He was feeble, and was completely exhausted at the end of thirty minutes. He is better today, Monday, and is able to meet his college classes.

—The Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening, conducted by Mr. O. W. Hinton, a ministerial student from the Eastern Virginia Conference, was one of the best the Society has had. The ante prayer meeting just before the regular Christian Endeavor meeting, conducted by Mr. W. F. Warren, was very impressive also.

—From the Greensboro daily papers, we learn that the Annual District Convention of Masons last Saturday and Saturday night in that city was the most largely attended in the history of that ancient order, in this state. Rev. W. C. Wicker presided, and in the evening Dr. Moffitt and Prof. Harper were in attendance from the lodge at Elon.

—Karl Jansen, the Norwegian lecturer and impersonator, gave an entertainment in the auditorium Saturday night. Recent news of his grand father's death in his homeland had cast a gloom over Mr. Jansen's spirits, yet his lecture was well received.

—Work has begun on Professor Harper's lot just north of his house now occupied by Rev. Mr. Durant, looking to the erection of his new residence which is to be modern in design and equipped with all latest conveniences.

—Mrs. J. W. Patton and little daughter have been sick for a week, but are better now. W. P. Lawrence.

—With ceremonies of a dignity in harmony with the traditions of America's oldest institution for higher education, and in the presence of a great assemblage of educational, civil, military and naval dignitaries, Professor Abbott Lawrence Lowell was inaugurated President of Harvard University. He is the twenty-fourth president, and succeeds Charles W. Elliot, who held this insignia of office for forty years.

NOTICE

The Eastern Va. Christian Conference will meet at Franklin, Nov. 2, 1909. Ministers, delegates, and visitors, expecting to attend will please inform Mr. E. R. Darden, Franklin, Va., before Oct. 22, so that we may provide homes for all who attend.

Schedules:

S. A. L. East 6:25 a.m.; West 10:38 a.m.
 East 4:29 p.m.; West 10:12 p.m.
 So. East 7:00 a.m.; West 9:45 a.m.
 East 3:55 p.m.; West 9:40 p.m.
 C. H. Rowland, Pastor.

PROGRAM

District Meeting.

To be held at Corinth Christian Church, Randolph Co., Ala, Oct. 28-30th.
Friday.

7:00 P. M. Preaching by Rev. J. D. Dollar.

Saturday.

9:30 A. M. Devotional exercise by president.

9:45 Organization.

10:00 Influence of Religious Literature, by Rev. G. D. Hunt.

10:30 Why Read Christian Sun? by Rev. Jas. L. Foster.

11:00 Preaching by Rev. G. D. Hunt.

12:00 M. Refreshments.

1:30 P. M. The Successful Pastor, by Rev. C. M. Dollar.

2:00 The Necessity of a Better Educated Ministry, by Rev. G. O. Lankford.

2:30 The Need of a High School in our Conference, by Revs. E. M. Carter and J. V. Knight.

3:00 The Best Method to Establish our Church in New Fields, by Rev. J. H. Milam and J. J. Carter.

3:30 Miscellaneous business.

4:00 Adjournment.

7:00 P. M. Preaching by Rev. G. O. Lankford.

Sunday.

9:30 A. M. General discussion of Sunday school subject led by W. A. Radney.

10:00 Our Orphan's Home, by Revs. James L. Foster and G. D. Hunt.

11:00 Preaching by Rev. Jas. L. Foster.

J. H. Hughes,
 M. W. Knight,
 J. W. Welborn,
 Committee.

NOTICE! CORRECTION.

In the Sun of last week we made a mistake in the program for the Alabama Conference. The address on the subject, "The Shepherd and His Sheep," should be assigned to Rev. C. W. Carter instead of Rev. E. M. Carter.

NOTICE.

Appointments for Rev. J. L. Foster have been arranged in the Ga. and Ala. Conference as follows:

Lanett, Thursday, Oct. 21, 7:30 p.m.

Oak Grove, Friday, 22nd, 11:00 a.m.

LaGrange, Friday, 22nd, 7:30 p.m.

North Highlands, Sunday, 24th, 11:00 a.m.

Girard, Sunday, 24th, 3:00 p.m.

Waverly Terrace, Sunday, 24th, 7:30 p.m.

Brown Springs, Monday, 25th, 7:30 p.m.

Ga. and Ala. Conference, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 26-28th.

G. O. Lankford.

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 8, 1909.

TO ALL MINISTERS

Who Have Charge of Churches Within the Bounds of the Western North Carolina Conference.

Brethren, you will please send to J. D. Kernodle, Graham, N. C., the names of all delegates and visitors, from your church or churches, whose purpose it is to attend the Western North Carolina Conference, which will convene with the Graham Christian Church on November the ninth, 1909.

You will very greatly oblige us by furnishing the information at once, as it will be necessary for the entertainment and comfort of all those wishing to attend.

Hoping for an opportunity to welcome every minister of the Conference and a full representation from every church.

Fraternally,

L. E. Smith, Pastor.

J. D. Kernodle, Sec.

NEWS ITEMS.

—Americans have purchased at Stratford-on-Avon, in England, the house in which John Harvard, the preacher for whom Harvard University is named, lived and will keep it as a memoriam. The house was built in the sixteenth century by Thomas Rogers, father-in-law of Harvard.

—Most boys of a mechanical turn are building aeroplanes these days. One of them launched his from the roof of a shed the other day, in an attempt to fly over the garden. The tomato patch in which he landed gave him an appearance more horrifying than was justified when the stains were washed off by his anxious mother.

—Secretary Ballinger of the Department of the Interior is completely exonerated by President Taft from the accusation that he had been influenced by personal considerations in his attitude toward the so-called Cunningham claims in Alaska. The charges seemed to have been based solely upon suspicion and are without any substantial evidence to sustain them. The President dismissed from the service, S. R. Glavis, chief of the field division of the General Land Office, who made the charges.

—M. Bertillon, a distinguished Frenchman, is investigating the decline in the birth rate of France. He finds in 445 of the most distinguished families of Frenchmen only 575 living children. In 94 artist's families there were 104 children; in 133 families of men of letters there were 127 children; in 111 families of politicians there were 193 children. An exchange remarks: "If the other families of France were on the small scale of these distinguished ones, the population would shrink fifty per cent in a generation."

—A remarkable career is that of President Diaz of the republic of Mexico. On September the 16th the 99th anniversary of the beginning of the struggle for the independence of the republic was celebrated and on the day before, September 15th, President Diaz's 79th birthday fell. He is only twenty years younger than the republic of which he is the head. No other man in the history of the Latin-American republics is so remarkable as he, for he has served continuously as president for 32 years, and is at present a candidate for re-election.

—The day is come—at least the welcome indications—that justice must be more speedy than it has been in the past. There is no dispute amongst the judges or the lawyers that there is often ample justification for the discontent with the procedure in our courts. The slow processes of the courts in both civil and criminal cases, the frequent mistrials, the retrials of the same case, and the actual miscarriage of justice through petty technicalities, all fully justify discontent and call for reform. To this end New Jersey takes the lead. A constitutional amendment embodying a simpler and more effective judicial system is to be submitted to the voters of this state this month. To this end also, and of more importance, the American Bar Association at its recent meeting adopted a report urging Congress to pass a law providing, first, that no judgment shall be set aside or reversed or new trial granted on mere technical errors in the lower courts; and second, that in a jury case facts may be determined separately from questions of law, and thus remove the necessity of going over all the evidence again if there is a second trial.

OBSERVATION.

Some pass nearly all of their lives and never observe much that is great and grand. They like their special work perhaps, and feel a deep interest in it, as it is their duty to do, but they can find some time for observing the wonderful works of God. It will refresh, invigorate, and greatly help you to commune with nature and observe it carefully. The sun is the center of worlds, but its light and beauty are yours. The world belongs to God, but it is yours to enjoy and use, not to abuse. "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof," but He gives it freely to you. The landscape is yours, though the land belongs to some one else. And as you pass through beautiful landscape scenery, you may possess the view and leave the land to the owner, just as good and fertile as it was before you saw it. You can observe and be in touch with the things that are full of beauty, and at the same time they will lose none of their attraction and loveliness, and you will be made greater, better and happier by such a delightful exercise. Learn to be a good observer, and it will greatly bless you all through life.

From ocean shore to mountain top, to the great lakes or up the craggy mountain heights, and still beyond them, extended far on either side, nature has painted splendid and instructive pictures, such as charm all who love the beautiful and sublime.

Many take no time to stop, listen, look, think and admire the wonderful works of God. If they were to take more excursions through the vast empires of the King, much more joy would come into their lives. The pleasures of a bright imagination, guided by the divine Spirit, give inspiration to the Christians who are looking upward for the everlasting prize and the immortal crown. His way they love to travel, and the inviting means of grace on every side direct them to a more lofty abiding place.

The lovers of nature's God can see by faith with untold joy the home He has prepared for them, and hope to occupy it and enjoy its blessings forever.

J. T. Ktchen.

Windsor, Va.

AN EXAMPLE OF ERROR.

It is because of the ignorance of some people concerning God and His declarations, that oftentimes their views are widely at variance with Bible statement and teaching. Here is one example of error: "Do not think for a moment that the God of love and mercy would torment the incorrigible wicked eternally." This was written by a man who is a preacher, and who assumes to think of God. He tells us what God will not do, as though he fully understood the mind and purposes of God. The fact is, God has never said He would "torment" anybody, either for a short time or for eternity. He does say that those who die in their sins "shall go away into eternal punishment." If those persons were to be put out of existence, after leaving this world, as that man says that they will be, their punishment would be "eternal." It would be only a temporary punishment, and it would also be a very desirable one to them.

Thousands of ungodly ones would be exceedingly glad if, at death, they might forever cease to exist. They rebel at the thought of eternally existing in a condition of suffering, even in a comparatively small degree. Millions of people, now suffering from physical disease, would be in agony of mind if they knew or thought that they must be eternally in such suffering. They would be in torment, even now, if they believed that they must always continue to suffer as much as they presently do. God's love and mercy do not prevent multitudes of people from having great anguish of mind on account of their sins, or sicknesses, or misfortunes.

God lets the unrepentant ones, at death, go into a world where they will not torment the saved ones any longer. He does not drive them into that world. They go into their own proper place. No one but themselves is at fault, or to be blamed. And God is beseeching sinners to be reconciled to Him in this life, so that they may not be forever in a state of death, with all of its dreadful consequences.

C. H. Wetherbe.

OUR WEAK CHURCHES

By Rev. Henry Crampton, Secretary of Christian Publishing Association

"Why, we have no weak churches!" somebody says. Well, I do not agree with any one who says we have not. We have weak churches in all of our conferences, and the sooner we acknowledge that fact and look it squarely in the face, the better it will be for us as a denomination and for the churches indicated.

It is no sign of weakness to look in the face and see them as they really exist, but it is a sign of weakness, and wicked intent as well, when we will not admit that certain things exist when they are existing, and need to be remedied in some way.

Some churches are weak because they deliberately plan to be that way; they pay no attention to the natural law of growth: their churches are "run" from the dollar standpoint entirely. They hire the cheapest preacher they can get; the cheapest sexton; buy their Sunday school literature from a cheap house outside of their own denomination; they won't spend any money to repair their house of worship, so have it poorly lighted, poorly seated, poorly warmed; they will not take the Quadrennial collections because they "do not believe in sending so much money away from home"; they want to dictate to their preacher what he shall preach about (he has full liberty to preach against the sins of the Jews, but dare not say anything about his church members' short yard-sticks, false-bottomed bushels, light-weight scales, apple barrels with small ones in bottom, specked ones in the middle and large ones on top; the beer which is drunk on the sly; the tithes which are never paid, etc.); their preacher must simply be a "tool" for them or he is not wanted. Some one may say: "Surely such organizations do not exist; the picture is overdrawn." They do exist, and the sooner we admit it the better for them and for us; I have found them, and so have many of my ministerial brethren. God cannot bless such societies, and sometimes it seems almost blasphemy to even ask Him.

But there is another class of weak churches—they are weak because of things beyond their control. These churches need help, and should have all that can possibly be given, for they are worthy.

By force of circumstances often (sometimes by force of inclination) our strong ministers are found with our strong churches; we grade from the top down, and when we reach the bottom we find that the churches which really need the wisdom, energy and help of the strong ministers, have the poorest and most inefficient men to preach for them. I fully realize that the question of support comes legitimately up; the efficient minister has high aims and aspirations; he wants to "keep up with the times," and cannot do it on the small salary the weak church can give. All this only goes to show that something is wrong in our machinery somewhere, and ought to be remedied.

One way to remedy this defect is to raise the standard of ordination so high that inefficient men—men too indolent to reach the standard—cannot impose upon the churches and congregations; thus weeding out the men who enter the ministry for a living an easy time, to get a few marriages, to have a chance to buy some things at a reduced price—a Jew store would give that privilege to a man without his disgracing the ministry,—and an opportunity to get a few free meals by making pastoral(?) visits among the members.

God makes no mistake in calling men to the ministry; and the man who does not feel himself called, as did Aaron, had better turn his attention to other things, and not try to force himself upon the people as a minister.

God knows that I have all respect and love for the men who have been, and still are, struggling along in poverty for small salaries because they feel that the weak churches need them; and to all such men I would lift my hat, extend my help, and offer my prayer to God for them. God bless them! What a noble army they are! What have they accomplished for the world! The Alexanders and Napoleons fade before them! But for the men who are simply "hirelings," and have nothing but an impure selfishness in their work, I have boundless pity because of their utter lack of anything which even borders upon real manhood in its lowest sense, and can only pray that they may see the "error of their ways."

Another way to remedy this defect in our machinery is to teach these weak churches that they must aspire higher, sacrifice a little more, try harder for the best men to be their pastors, and then leave their pastor's hands untied. He is to preach God's message, not man's.

The time has fully come when we should look out for our weak churches, and in some way send to them men who are efficient, and who have the cause of God at heart.

Too many churches are shepherdless; too many do not want to pay the price of living; too many plan deliberately to die, and that would not be such a terrible thing if, before they die, they would make the church property secure to the conference which they are so soon to put in mourning(?) so that some other church, which wants to live, may be strengthened.

The Christians are not the only ones who have weak churches; our neighbors have them, too, for there is a cry going up from all denominations in the form of the question: "What shall, or can, we do for our weak churches?"

Eaton, Ohio.

—The United States easily leads the world in the production of copper. Out of 760,773 tons, the world's production in 1908, America furnished 430,099 tons.

THE RELIGION FOR ME.

Neither the Christian Endeavor Society nor The Christian Endeavor World has much call to deal with theological matters, certainly not to split theological hairs.

The whole Christian Endeavor movement in every land is a practical movement. It has been well called "applied Christianity," for it applies its theology to every-day life, and strives in every way to merit our Lord's words of approval, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Yet every movement, like every individual, must have a basis of belief, whether it has any formal creed or not.

Faith without works is dead, to be sure, but works without faith are equally lifeless.

It is well once in a while to ask what sort of faith produces the best works. We may thus be able to reason back from the works to the faith and see whether it is sound.

Mohammedism produces fanaticism, fierce and implacable; but I have never heard that it attempted to ameliorate the world's woes.

Buddhism is said to make its followers peaceful and content, but it has never sent them out to right the world's wrongs, or produce a prophet that could thunder against injustice in high places.

Among so-called Christian sects there is a great difference in this respect.

What is the religion that believes what it believes enough to send missionaries to the ends of the earth to propagate that belief?

That is the religion for me.

What kind of religion has produced martyrs who are willing to die for their faith, not in the remote historic past, but within the very last decade?

That is the religion for me.

What kind of religion is it that could convert a Jerry McAuley or a Colonel Hadley?

That is the religion for me.

What kind of religion establishes rescue missions, and brings up the drunkard and the harlot from the bottomless pit of degradation?

That is the religion for me.

It is impossible to think of President Eliot's much-talked-of "new religion" as doing any of these things.

It is almost laughable to think of its producing a Paoting-fu martyr, or sending a missionary to the banks of the Congo, or establishing a Water Street mission for the conversion and transformation of the souls of men.

This so-called religion is not new, but is as old as the Greek philosophers; yet, in spite of its antiquity, it never in all the centuries produced any such results.

Until it does it is not the religion for me.—C. E. World.

LEARN TO LAUGH.

A very close friend of mine found himself somewhat deficient in humor. He realized that it was a sad lack. He habitually looked on the serious side of everything and loved to reason out things logically.

So many times, however, had he seen reason stamped with a contagious laugh and obdurate logic give way to sly humor that he determined to possess himself of this very effective weapon.

His wife was like himself, only more so. There were no children in the home, and this heavy-minded couple were too busy for very much company. What could he do to awaken mirth in the household?

Characteristically, he thought it all out, and solved the problem by logical deductions. As a result he subscribed for the illustrated comical weekly that came nearest to his political complexion, and for four steady years he read that paper every week religiously, never once passing a joke until he understood it.

Recently he had the satisfaction in a private club of which he was a member to hear himself characterized as "the man with the autohorn laugh," and still later, the elevator man in the office building where he works stopped him one day and said, "Of all the men in this building, you are the quickest to catch anything that is ludicrous."

Why shouldn't we look over our intellectual garden once in a while, note what we need by way of wholesome variety, and proceed to plant, tend, and cultivate those things that hitherto we have somehow or other neglected?—C. E. World.

NOTICE.

I am mailing the minutes of the E. Va. S. S. Convention to the various churches. I waited some time before having them published, for Bro. M. W. Butler to send in the Statistical Table; and finally had to omit it. Those who attended the Convention can doubtless guess the reason of Bro. Butler's inattention to this matter. I publish this notice that the people may know the cause of the delay and omission.

Stanley C. Harrell,
Sec. of E. Va. S. S. C.

Holland, Va.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Virginia Valley Central, was held at Newport, Page Co., beginning Thursday, August 12th.

Others are to meet as follows:

Alabama.—Christiana Church, Tuesday, 10:00 a. m., Oct. 19. Rev. G. O. Lankford, Pres., Columbus, Ga., J. W. Payne, Secy., Wadley, Ala., R. F. D.3.

Ga. and Ala.—Richland, Ga., Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., Oct. 26. Rev. H. W. Elder, Pres., Richland, Ga., J. F. Hill, Jr., Sec., Box 64, Phoenix, Ala.

Eastern Virginia.—Franklin, Tuesday, Nov. 2. Rev. N. G. Newman, Pres., Holland, Va., Rev. W. D. Harvard, Secy.

Eastern N. C.—Sanford, Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Underwood, Pres., Sanford, N. C., Rev. W. C. Wickler, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Ramseur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Belew's Creek, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

A PARTNER IN BUSINESS.

No mortal man is capable of managing his business alone. One reason why so many men go to their graves before their appointed day is because they undertake to untangle, unaided, and alone, the tangled threads of life.

The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, the world and they that dwell therein. Man plans and proposes: God executes and disposes. There was a striking contrast illustrating this in last Sunday's Bible lesson. "Be of good cheer," said God to Paul. That was in one verse. "We will not eat nor drink till we kill this Paul," said men of Paul. That was in the next verse. These men left God out of the count and were going to dispose in their own way. God had marked His way—and God's way worked in the final. God's way always works in the final.

How foolish, silly, simple, any man, or set of men, to leave God out of the count. His is all the earth. In His hands are seas and mountains and forests and all things.

There is only one instance given, as far as we now recall, when any man ever came to Christ and went away sorrowful. That was of a man who was trying to do business on his own account. He left God out. His business was simply crushing the life out of him. It was drying up his heart. It was sapping his spiritual strength. It was absorbing his moral vigor. "Young man, you are undertaking too much. Business is burdening you to death, carrying you to an untimely grave. Better sell out, start anew, take a Partner with you." But that man did not want a Partner—and he went away sorrowful, staggering beneath a burden already too heavy for him.

Many very busy men are staggering beneath the weight of a similar burden. They are trudging along without inviting a Partner. They are not taking God into their lives. They need Him for help, strength, favor. But they are striving to walk alone. And they are coming to their day untimely and prematurely.

No man does His best in this life till he calls Jesus in to help and guide and direct. Jesus' burdens are all too light; ours are all too heavy. He will take something of ours—if we let Him. Are we seeking Him in worship, reverence, obedience.

CHURCH GROWTH

People who think the Church is losing ground reckon without fact or perchance, look only at some particular locality. There are signs, everywhere, of busy activity in church and religious life. There was never such urgent demand for ministers, so far as we know, and there never was a time when laymen took such active part.

For the past twenty years, as statistics show, there have been built an average of eight new churches a day. This means that people have been interested, in these twenty years, as never before. Nearly twenty-five hundred churches a year for a period of twenty years means not only interest, but a great outlay of effort, sacrifice and means.

Besides this, church-membership is growing much more rapidly than our rapid-growing population. And no one doubts that with increasing church membership there is more than a corresponding increase in moral and religious influence.

Yes, the church has much to do, an abundance of material to work on, and to work with, but no one need be pessimistic.

RESIGNED TO HIS WILL.

It is not enough to be resigned to the will and decrees of God. It is not sufficient to simply submit.

One on whom the hand of fate had fallen heavily said recently, "Of course I am resigned. I will have to be. God is all-powerful, and what He does one must abide by." Such a speech as that, made all too often, reminds one of the boy who, when flogged by his father, said, "Father, I tell you why you have whipped me." "Why?" asked the father. "Because, father, you are larger and stronger than I am, and you know I must submit to your chastisement." That was a terrible indictment against an earthly father. And yet we hear indictments almost as shocking against our heavenly Father when His decrees are grievous to us. We are resigned, yes, because we must be: there is no helping the situation.

Such a spirit is not one of real resignation. One is truly resigned when one sees and feels that the decree was just, good, right, beautiful, rendered in love, given in wisdom. If we would know what resignation is we must rise up to embrace, not crouch down and submit as to a superior might or force. God is love always. All His acts, decrees, dispensations are given in love. They can be given in no other spirit. God is tenderest love, not cruellest might: God has pity and compassion, not cruelty and force. When He tries us it is for our good, not for our undoing.

THE MOST POORLY PRINTED BOOK.

If any proof in the world were needed to show that our Bible is an inspired Book, we have it in the fact that in spite of the thousand and one burdens under which it groans, staggers, and struggles, it lives and people continue to read it. It is, says Professor Motilton, the most poorly printed book in the world. Why any sensible set of men cut sentences to pieces with sundry numbers and distracting figures, split paragraphs wide open with insertions and divisions, tore words and ideas wide open with labels, detachments, attachments and divisions, is certainly past finding out.

Had any other book been so manipulated, emasculated, and emaciated, it would have died long ago. We just have to read on in our Bible despite verse and chapter divisions and separations that have no significance.

The American Revision did improve the Authorized by leaving paragraphs intact, but then put in meaningless numbers where numbers were not wanted, and divisions by figure where divisions were a hindrance and figures a nuisance.

Yes, the Bible is certainly an inspired Book, for it lives, labors, serves in spite of the mutilations and manipulations of printers. The Bible is certainly a marvel and a miracle. It deserves better treatment.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

On September 20th I went to Isle of Wight Court House to assist Rev. R. H. Peel in a meeting. Rev. C. H. Rowland had been engaged to conduct the meeting, but other duties made it impossible for him to go and I was called in to take his place.

I found that brother Peel has a good hold upon the people who appreciate his worth and stand by the work. It is always hopeful when the congregation and pastor are in sympathetic cooperation, and it proved so in this case.

The congregations were very small on Monday and Tuesday, but the other three days filled the house. They served dinner and had two sermons a day. They have a splendid shed under which they serve dinners on permanent tables. They follow the club-dinner method; that is, several families join and furnish dinner one day; then another group furnishes dinner the next day, and so on for the week. In this way no family furnishes dinner more than one day during the meeting. The dinner is in large quantities and served hot just as you would enjoy a good dinner in a home. Ham, cabbage, baked tomatoes, corn, butter, beans, both kinds of potatoes, corn bread, biscuit, light bread, beef, lamb, pig, chicken, pickles, cakes, milk, all make a menu good enough for a king, and the people enjoy it. There is a social feature about such a table that compensates for the hard work, and no doubt it has its religious influence over people. The Jews feasted at their great meetings.

Wednesday and Thursday there were good meetings with several converts. The choir was enthusiastic and rendered very good revival music and that was a great help. Friday was a rainy day, but the house was full and the interest deep and increasing. The afternoon of that day was a genuine overflow of spiritual joy. The Holy Spirit moved upon the congregation in great power and more than thirty professed to have received salvation. Men came forward deliberately to confess Jesus; women, boys, and girls continued to come. All could feel the divine presence and some shouted for joy. J. M. Darden and wife were there from Suffolk and aided in the good work. They are members of that church and have been very useful in it. Twenty-two united with the church on Friday afternoon at the close of the service and more will later on. Brother Peel and his congregation have great reason to thank God and press on.

Thursday, Oct. 7th was red letter day at Hobson, when the corner stone of the new church was laid by Chuckatuck Lodge No. 77 A. F. and A. M. Members from Suffolk, Driver, and Crittendon Lodges assisted in the beautiful service. Dinner was served on the grounds, music was rendered by the choir, and an address was delivered by this writer. The congregation was very good, the dinner was sumptuous, and the day seemingly perfect.

The church is located between Chuckatuck and Crittenden on the ten mile neck or peninsula between the Nantuxet River and Chuckatuck creek, near J. T. Johnson's store, and is surrounded by a small neighborhood of good people. The house is a good frame structure with shingle roof and front tower, and will seat perhaps two hundred. It is under roof, painted, and lacks windows, seats, and side plaster to make it complete. The cost will be about a thousand dollars, with considerable debt; but the little band, led by Mrs. J. T. Johnson and Dr. Leslie Eley, has made great progress and the church promises to be a great blessing to that community. Rev. I. W. Johnson is justly proud of his flock and the new chapel, and when it is completed it will be a neat house and well appointed for worship. It has already cleared the atmosphere in that vicinity, and has a hopeful future for a good small work.

W. W. Staley.

NORFOLK LETTER.

Rev. C. C. Ryan concluded a series of meetings at Dendron, in which he had been assisting Rev. C. C. Jones, last Wednesday night. He reports something like seventy-five conversions during the meeting, with the larger portion being men. I suppose that Brother Jones will give a more detailed report of the meeting.

Rev. H. E. Rountree was through Norfolk Saturday, returning to Waverly from Emporia, where he with Rev. C. H. Rowland of Franklin, had been engaged in a meeting.

At the Memorial Temple Sunday evening, the pastor preached to a house full of people, including the Junior order of American Mechanics who attended in a body. In the afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society of the Memorial Temple was held in the church, at which time the annual election of officers took place. Mr. Finch White was elected President, Mr. T. A. Twiddy, Vice-President, Miss Josie Craig, Secretary, Mrs. C. L. Guynn, Treasurer.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Hettie Eley, one of our Sunday school teachers, to Mr. Jarvis.

I am beginning to hear some encouraging reports with reference to the Porto Rico Fund. One school about which it was reported in reply to my letter of some months ago, requesting that birthday offerings be taken for that special purpose, that they could not afford to do it, has recently taken a special offering for that purpose and the offering has been reported to the amount of more than $13.00, which shows what the people will do if given a chance. I desire to repeat in this connection what I have said before, IF THE PEOPLE WERE GIVEN A CHANCE TO COMPLY WITH THIS REQUEST, THAT IN A LITTLE WHILE, NECESSARY FUNDS WOULD BE IN HAND. At the risk of being tedious and possibly appear annoying on the subject, let me once more BEG of THOSE in CHARGE of the Sunday schools, to give the people the OPPORTUNITY to make this contribution, if they so desire.

Rev. E. J. Bodman of Ravena, N. Y., is expected in Norfolk next Saturday to remain over two Sundays conducting service at the Third Church with a view of taking up the work if both preacher and people are suited.

We are praying that the Lord's will may be done. J. W. Manning.

—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, discoverer of the North Pole, is on the lecture platform, telling of his experience and observations in the Arctic regions. The dispute raised by Commander Peary has not been settled.

—William H. Maire, who is now in Battle Creek, Michigan, has just completed a fast of fifty and one-half days. In performing this fast Maire lost forty pounds in flesh. Throughout the entire time he drank only filtered water.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week	$3,778.79
Dues: . . . . .	. . . . .
Charles E. Newman	.....$ .10
Hannah Clare Newman	.. .10
Annie Pearl Way	..... .10
Carl Lynn Scolay	..... .10
Monthly S. S. Offering:
Jonesboro, N. C.	..... 1.01
Greensboro, N. C. (2 months)	..... 3.81
M. C. T., Norfolk, Va. (Birthday offering)	... 5.00
Special Offering:
Chas. D. Johnston, Graham, N. C.	..... 5.00
Mrs. B. J. Elliott, News Ferry, Va., "In memory of little daughter."	1.00
Am't. 37th week	.....
Total	.....$3,795.01

My Dear Children:—

Another little boy has been added to our family. We are growing rapidly, and our needs are increasing accordingly. The little boy's name is George Heathcox from Ramseur, N. C., twelve years old.

Our children went to the Burlington Fair through the kindness of Mr. McBride Holt, Sec., and had a fine day. The Merry-Go-Round and Ferris wheel gave special rates and so the children had a ride on each. They saw the lion, the big balloon, etc., and now I guess will talk for months about the Fair of 1909.

All have started to school and now we have "hustle and bustle" every morning when thirty-one little ones are getting ready to go.

By the time you read this Uncle Jim will be attending Conference in Ga. and Ala. in the interest of the Orphanage and The Christian Sun. Pray for success of the work.

Lovingly,
Uncle Jim.

Henderson, N. C., Sept. 27, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We have just returned from Liberty where we attended protracted meeting. We proved ourselves typical preachers' children—didn't behave very well in church. Daddy had to leave on Wednesday on account of grandpa's death. We feel sad about grandpa. Charles went to see him this summer. He fell very much in love with "Danpa." Hannah Clare has never seen him. Aunt Pattie Wicker stopped over one night with us week before last. Her little Dan is a pinching fellow. I gave him the house and kept out of the way. Hope he will come again—and stop pinching.

We send our dimes.

Charles E. Newman, Jr.
Hannah Clare Newman.

Never mind,—little folks can't be expected to behave like grown people. You'll do better when you get older.

Sanford, N. C.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I will write my letter and send my dime for October. I am well and having a good time at school. Uncle Jim, you ought to have been at our meeting. We had such a good one at our church.

I will close with love to you and all the cousins. Annie Pearl Way.

Am glad to learn of the good meeting, Annie Pearl. That souls are coming to Christ is the best news that we can learn from the letters our little cousins send.

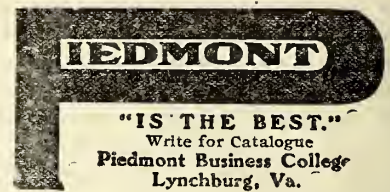

Sanford, N. C.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here comes little Carl Lynn with his dime for October. I have been sick, Uncle Jim, but am better now. I don't know about the little orphans now but papa and mama will teach me when I am older.

I close with love to you and the little ones. Carl Lynn Scolay.

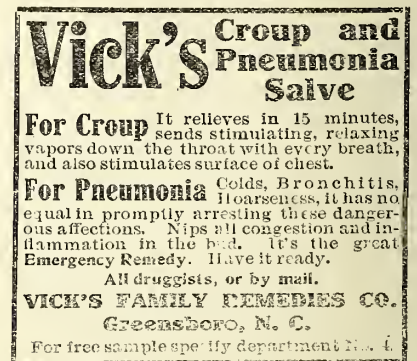

Yes, dear, it will be nice to know about the orphan's needs from babyhood, that you may learn to help all your life in this good work.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S
Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S PASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

WANTED—Bookkeepers, Stenographers.
MORE BANKERS in the 16 States in which Jno. F. Draughon's 30 Colleges are located, indorse these Business Colleges than indorse ALL others. IF YOU want the EVIDENCE and want to RISE to the $10-a-day class, ask for FREE catalogue. Lessons BY MAIL if preferred. Draughon's Practical Business College, Raleigh, N. C.; A. M. FISHER, Mgr

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.

P. M. A. M.	STATIONS.	A. M. P. M.
1:15	6:00 Raleigh	8:30 3:45
1:54	6:24 McCullers	7:52 3:03
2:11	6:59 Willow Sp'gs	7:37 2:45
2:23	7:14 Varina	7:27 2:34
2:35	7:26 Fuquay Sp'gs	7:19 2:25
2:55	7:45 Kipling	7:00 2:05
3:15	8:05 Lillington	6:41 1:44
3:41	8:28 Linden	6:15 1:17
4:30	9:15 Fayetteville	5:30 12:30

JNO. A. MILLS, Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

ESTABLISHED 1868. If its a ring, a diamond, a watch, jewelry or silver-ware, you can get the best quality at the lowest prices from the OLDEST MAIL ORDER HOUSE IN THE SOUTH.
For almost half a century we have served exclusively the Southern trade. Write to-day for our free illustrated catalogue. Address.
G. P. Barnes & Co.,
Box J Louisville, Ky.
Every Article Guaranteed.

MEDICINE.

We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Burlington, N. C.

Telephones FOR FARMERS

RURAL telephone communication with the world is proving a boon to the farmer. It increases his profit-producing possibilities; it keeps him in close touch with prospective weather conditions; it affords him instantaneous communication with a physician or neighbors in case of sudden family illness or accident—he can telephone to a doctor in less time than it takes to hitch up; and he and his family can talk to neighbors and to persons at a distance any minute in the day.

Cost Very Little

• We have formulated a plan by which rural telephones may be installed in country homes at a surprisingly low figure. The plan is for half a dozen or more residents of one neighborhood to band together and build the line to the town limits and connect with our system.

For full details of this, consult the nearest Bell telephone manager, or write to us for descriptive booklet.

Farmers' Line Department
Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co.
 19 South Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

Free to Housekeepers

We have just discovered a preparation that removes ink and rust stains from clothing, fine linen and cotton goods, table cloths, napkins and handkerchiefs, fine faces and lace curtains—easily, quickly and injures the fabric in no way. This wonderful preparation is for sale and is sent postpaid on receipt of 10¢ (stamp or cash).

Geo. H. Pinkerton, 538 S. Lime St., Lancaster, Pa.

DO YOU WANT TO GO TO COLLEGE? If so we can help you. We have already put hundreds through college by means of our plan. Write today for full information regarding our offer of a free scholarship in any school or college. Address, Robert J. Sherlock, 29-31 East 22nd Street, New York City.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MIL LIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHOEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Branaman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

SEEDS FOR FALL PLANTING.

Farm or Garden.

- Oats, Appler, Baneroft, Burt, Turf, Texas and Oklahoma Rust Proof.
  - Barley, .Bearded and Beardless.
  - Wheats, Blue Stem, Early Red May, Red Wonder, Red Fulcaster.
  - Rye, Tall So. Grown, Georgia Rye and Abruzzes.
  - Vetches, Vicia Villosa (or Hairy or Winter Vetch), Vicia Sativa (English Winter Vetch known as Oregon Vetch) and Vicia Cracca.
  - Alfalfa and Clovers—all kinds.
  - Grasses—all kinds.
  - Onion Sets, White Bermuda, White Pearl, White Silver Skin, Yellow Dan-Pearl, White Silver Skin, Yellow Dan-ers, Yellow Shallots.
  - Turnips, Beets, Cabbage and all Vegetable Seed.
  - Bulbs for Fall planting.
- Write for Catalogue and price list.
N. L. WILLET SEED CO.,
 Augusta, Ga.

RAISE MONEY FOR YOUR CHURCH.

We offer you an easy method. Send us a photograph of your church or your pastor, and we will send you 500 high grade post cards, with photograph on each card, and scripture verse if desired. Sell these cards at 10 cents each. When sold, remit us $20.00 and keep the balance. You can do this in a week. We will return photograph.

LAKE SHORE SUPPLY CO.,
 225 Broad St., St. Joe, Michigan.

A Policy with the
SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.,
 of High Point, N. C.,

is a good investment. Send your name and address today for valuable information regarding the use and abuse of horses.

—The British Government launched from its shipyards at Portsmouth recently the "Neptune," making the 8th Dreadnought England has built for its superior navy. The Neptune is even larger than the original Dreadnought, her displacement being 20,250 tons, ten per cent more than the Dreadnought.

10.95 Buys This Large Handsome Nickel Trimmed Stove Range

without warming closet or reservoir. With high warming closet, porcelain lined reservoir, just as shown in cut, $17.35; large, square, oven, wonderful baker, 6 cooking holes, body made of cold rolled steel. Duplex grate; burns wood or coal. Handsome nickel trimmings, highly polished.

OUR TERMS are the most liberal ever made. You can pay after you receive the range. You can take it into your home, use it 30 days. If you don't find it exactly as represented, the biggest bargain you ever saw equal to stoves retailed for double our price, return it to us. We will pay freight both ways.

Write Today for our beautifully illustrated Stove Catalog No. 3144; a postal card will do. 100 styles to select from. Don't buy until you get it.
HARVEY SMITH CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

OPIUM or Morphine Habit Treated. Free trial cases where other remedies have failed, specially desired. Confidential.
 Dr. R. G. CONTRELL, successor to HARRIS INSTITUTE, Room 552, No. 400 W. 23rd St., New York.

"He that winneth souls is wise."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

atchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—HOW.

First. Talk the matter over with the pastor and other leading members of the church.

Second. Call in a few of the leading young people and explain the Society and its workings carefully to them. It would be well to give them the little pamphlet, "Christian Endeavor in Principle and Practice," published by the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass., and which the writer will furnish free on request.

Third. Have these young people canvass the church and community, visiting everybody, whether church members or not. Let them leave an application blank for membership in the Society or let them take their names at once. If the application blank is used, let it be called for at a later specified time.

Fourth. Decide on a time to organize and send written invitations to be followed by personal ones, to everyone who has promised to join. Get them all there. Have an address on Christian Endeavor—any phase of it which you think best. Have some one state the object of the meeting. Appoint a temporary chairman and secretary. Then elect permanent officers and chairmen of committees either from the floor or by a nominating committee.

Fifth. Adopt a pledge for active and another for associate members and a constitution. Have each member sign a pledge, which he is to take home with him, and the constitution.

Sixth. Put every member on a committee and give him some specific work to do.

Seventh. Boost the Society on every occasion. Talk it in the homes, on the streets, in public and in private. Let notices of its and its workings appear in the newspapers. Magnify it. Thus you will give the Society vigor and life and perpetuity.

Will you do this?

Was the first session of the Young People's Convention composed of a set of dreamers? Or were the members practical, earnest, business-like in their sayings and doings? The Convention itself cannot answer these questions. But the conduct of the members and of others in the local churches can and will answer them. What are you doing to make our beautiful watchword a still more beautiful reality? Talk and resolution is alright, but unless it is followed up by hard work, by persistent effort, it is nothing. Let us make our talk work: let us make our resolutions real history. Do your part.

A REVIEW.

Hand Work in the Sunday School, by Milton S. Littlefield, The Sunday School Times Co., Phila., $1.

This book ventures into a new field in Sunday-school work, yet it proceeds with the confidence and assurance of a master of the subject. We are constantly told that nothing is suggested which has not been thoroughly tested in the author's own Sunday-school and that the book is the result of years of evolution. The author is, of course, indebted for its main ideas to the pedagogical principles of manual training employed in the secular schools enunciated first by Froebel, but the application of these principles to the material of the Sunday school lessons is original and deserving of high praise. The book contains ten chapters, filling 117 pages, as follows: Self-expression in Sunday-school Instruction; Types of Hand-work; Hand-work and the Lesson Plan; Geography Work; Illustrative Work; Note-book Work; Decorative Work; Practical Problems; Hand-work and the Social Aim; Hand-work and the Spiritual Aim. There are 29 full-page illustrations and four appendices, very excellent ones too—one on the Journeys and Principal Events in the Life of Jesus in nine parts, a map to be drawn in the note books accompanying each part; a second on The Journeys and Principal Events of Apostolic History in eight parts, a map to be drawn in the note books also accompanying each part; a third on the Principal Events of Old Testament History Outlined to Accompany the Littlefield Old Testament Maps; and the fourth (most practical perhaps of all) telling where the supplies available and useful for manual work in the Sunday school may be had and the prices.

The introduction is written by Patterson DuBois, who says of the system advocated in the book, "Beyond doubt this manual system will go far toward solving the vexed problem of leading the boys and girls." This is the feeling I have in regard to it after a careful reading and a close comparison with my own experience in teaching. I should be glad to have the teachers who read this review purchase this excellent book and use what of it they can in their class work from week to week. I believe it will do any teacher good to read it: it will benefit him or her much more to apply its suggestions; for as the author says on page 91: "A good teacher by nature will be a better teacher with a better method. The good has been the enemy of the best too long in the Sunday school world."

In concluding this brief notice of this book to show the author's manner and the nobility of his purpose, I may well quote a few characteristic passages from a list that could be made much greater:

The teacher's function is not to impart knowledge, but to guide the child in the acquisition of knowledge, * * to furnish the child with an environment which will be appropriate to his intellectual and spiritual life in the different stages of his development.

Hymns, Scripture, and remarks, Jesus' word for it, are made for the child, not the child for these things nor for anything that pertains to the Sabbath.

Hand-work is one of the methods of the recitation and is to be used in connection with all other methods.

A lesson plan as a rule of action must not be of cast-iron fixedness.

The purpose of the lesson presentation is to arouse a moral impulse to reproduce in life the truth expressed in the lesson material.

"Teaching is enabling another to restate the truth in terms of his own life," quoted by the author from Patterson DuBois, yet expressive of his own aims.

The story of the Hebrews is the romance of history, but Israel's place in the world is determined to a significant degree by her place on the world. * * * Bunker Hill and Missionary Ridge are not more significant than Mt. Tabor and the Hill of Zion, nor have they touched modern life more vitally.

The most valuable of all exercises for a scholar is the reading of given portions of the literature [of the Bible, of course. —Ed.] with the purpose of selecting the passage which best pleases him and best expresses the truth of the lesson.

From the law of unity the period of youth is not exempt and the Sunday school to be effective must be an organism rather than an organization.

The best things in life are by-products of service for others, happiness and character for instance.

The supreme aim of religious instruction is spirituality.

The end of the teaching process is a symmetrically developed moral nature.

Beyond doubt the spiritual aim may be lost in the handling of materials, * * * (but) the handling of crayon in color work to make vivid the swift and terrible fall of Israel when the moral law had been forgotten is not one whit the less a spiritual exercise than the handling of propositions alone to impress the same idea. * * * Hand-work at certain ages is the best possible method of presenting the facts. It must never be forgotten, of course, that presentation is only introductory to the interpretation of the facts, and at every step the spiritual significance should be made clear.

Furthermore, manual methods of instruction create a moral environment. A child learns through his experiences.

The work suggested in these pages is being carried out under the limitations of the average Sunday school conditions and is within the reach of any teacher of average ability. Expressed again in the simplest possible terms there are but three kinds of things that a scholar would be asked to do: he can locate the events by some form of map work, he can illustrate the details by some form of picture work, and he can record the facts and impressions. All of this is summed up in note-book work. Each teacher can make a beginning somewhere and do what he can. To fit himself to lead the class he must obey the fundamental principle expressed at the outset of this discussion and learn by doing. But this for his comfort,—by doing the work he will learn. In each stage of study, then, let the teacher do the work or make the book he demands of his class. That will serve the double purpose of clarifying his own ideas and of presenting an objective to the scholars. As concerns the technique many children are familiar with all these forms of work through their day-school studies. One of the great advantages of the introduction of these methods is that it correlates the Sunday school with the other segments of the child's educational life. Both interests and efficiency are conserved by making the day school our allies.

After every lesson the scholar must be given the opportunity to draw a picture, write a title or a text or otherwise summarize the lesson and so to reproduce it. * * * (But) most of the work suggested in this discussion is home-work and much of it is optional. * * All narrative work, except some in the primary grades, and all decorative and constructive work is done outside the class session.

Through the finger tips to the brain is the most direct route, and the hand in turn is the brain's best medium of expression.

C. E. TOPIC FOR OCTOBER 17—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Pilgrim's Progress Series, X.
Doubting Castle.

Psa. 43:1-5; 73:13-20; 1 Kings 19:1-18

Pilgrim's Progress Portion.—Our Pilgrim's Progress Portion this time is a long one, beginning just after the bit of poetry ending, "For though they killed thee, thou art yet alive," and continuing through the bit of poetry, ending, "Whose castle's Doubting, and whose name's Despair." I think it would be a good idea to appoint two persons to give in their own words, limiting them to five minutes each, the substance of what transpires in this portion. Let one tell everything from Vanity Fair till Christian and Hopeful meet with Giant Despair. Let the other tell what happens after this meeting.

The Scripture.—Appoint three readers, one for each of the three passages. Let them read and comment briefly.

Question Spurs.—(To be handed out, but not specifically called for). What are some of the modern Doubting Castles? How may we get out of them? What are our Giants Despair? How may they be slain? What should be the Endeavorer's attitude towards money-getting? Towards criticising the short-comings of Christians? What do you dislike in the character of Lord Turn-about? Of Mr. By-ends? Of Mr. Love-money? What do you like in Hopeful's character?

The Leader.—The leader should select some one episode from the Pilgrim's Progress Section, perhaps that in By-path Meadow or Doubting Castle or in the town of Fairspeech or in the plain of Ease or on Hill Lucre, and drive its application home.

Scripture References.—(To be handed out, but not specifically called for).

(Continued on page sixteen).

Books for Every Christian Home.

Do you know why you are a member of the Christian Church?

Do you understand what the church stands for and teaches?

If not, send and get a copy of the "Principles and Government of the Christian Church," just revised and greatly improved by order of the Southern Christian Convention.

Cloth binding per copy, post paid 50 cts.

Limp Cloth binding per copy, post paid 35 cts.

Paper binding per copy, post paid 25 cts.

Handsome Persian Morocco, with name in gilt $1.25.

The Southern Christian Convention also Ordered Another Book Published, PREPARING THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER TO TEACH. Edited by Profs. W. A. Harper, W. C. Wicker and W. P. Lawrence.

The book is neatly printed and bound and is invaluable to the Sunday-school worker, 236 pages.

Paper binding per copy, postpaid, 60 cts.

Cloth binding per copy, postpaid, 90 cts.

To Sunday-schools, paper binding 50 cts. cloth 75 cts.

Have You Read That Thrilling and Inspiring Story of His Own Life, MOTHER'S ANSWERED PRAYER, BY REV. P. H. FLEMING, D. D.?

Cloth binding, postpaid 55 cts.

All these books should be in your home. Order at once

For sale by, THE CHRISTIAN SUN, ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See, Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

MARRIED.*Beacham-Holland

Erwin L. Beacham and Mary I. Holland were united in marriage at the home of the bride, near Holland, Va., Sept. 14, 1909, the writer officiating. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the happy event. The bridal pair left at once for a tour to some of the northern cities, followed by the benedictions of many friends. They will make their home in Norfolk. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha E. Holland, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Beacham, of Nansemond Co., Va., formerly of Michigan. May their wedded life be happy and useful.

N. G. Newman.

DIED.*Gilliam.

On Monday, Sept. 27th, I was called to Bethlehem to conduct the burial services of Sister Martha W. Gilliam who died the day before at the age of ninety years and twelve days. She had been very feeble for several months and her death had been expected for some time. Her husband preceeded her about eight years. Both were born in September and both died in the same month. Both were members of Bethlehem Christian Church for the greater part of their lives. Four children and a large number of grand and great-grand children constitute the bereaved family. May God comfort them in their sorrow.

J. W. Holt.

Kisling

Frank Kisling departed this life Sept. 29, 1909, at the age of 56 years, 9 months and 29 days. Deceased united with the Christian Church at Beulah a few weeks before his death. He leaves to weep, a wife, one son, two daughters, and one sister. Funeral services were held at Beulah Sept. 30th by the writer, assisted by Rev. Edward French, and interment was made in the cemetery at Keezletown.

A. W. Andes.

Beaton

David Owen Beaton, twenty months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herbert Beaton of Suffolk, Va., died Sept. 9, 1909. The funeral services were conducted at Holland Christian Church by the writer and the remains buried in Holland cemetery. We extend our sympathy to the parents, and pray that this affliction may be sanctified to their present and eternal good.

N. G. Newman.

John Bridger Newman.

John Bridger Newman was born near Longview, in Isle of Wight Co., Va., October 14, 1821. His father was Thomas Newman, one of 15 children born to John Newman of Isle of Wight Co., Va., and his wife Keziah Bridger, a relative of Col. Joseph Bridger. He was one of 11 children. His father died when he was 5 years old, and his youth was a struggle to care for his widowed mother and younger brothers and sisters. When a young man he went to Norfolk, where he clerked in a store for a few years, and then went into mercantile business in the city of Portsmouth, where he remained until the late civil war. He was married to Civilla Ann Gayle, April 22, 1847. To this union there were born four children, Elnora, John A., Mary C., and John C., of whom two survive. Jan. 12, 1858, he married

KEEPING FAMILIES ABOVE WANT.

Every thinking man wants to provide so that his wife and little ones, those dependent upon him, will be kept above want when he is no longer here to provide for them. The great question now-a-days is the best means to this end. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company has a plan whereby the helpless ones are protected as long as they live and kept from want. Write T. A. Cary, Mutual Building, Richmond, Virginia for "Document S43," giving full particulars and showing how easy it is for you to protect your family forever.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BUKLLINGTON, N. C.

Gibbes 'Economist' Planer, Matcher and Moulder

A good, heavy machine at a moderate price. Will plane up to 24" wide and 6" thick, or match up to 10" wide.

Designed to meet the demand for a high-grade machine at a reasonable price. Possesses all the features of the more expensive machines and is fully guaranteed. Description of other styles and sizes will be furnished on request.

Gibbes Machinery Company, Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.
Sellers of "Gibbes Geared Machinery" - All Kinds, All Values

"The Oxford Teachers' par excellence"

JUST ISSUED!

OXFORD

Teachers' Bibles and S. S. Scholars' Bibles

With New 20th Century Helps arranged in One Alphabetical Order.

THE HELPS

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, says: "The helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

Address THE CHRISTIAN SUN,
Elon College, N. C.

---

Bible is the Bible of the World."

NOW READY!
SIX NEW EDITIONS

OXFORD

Black Faced Type BIBLES

Three on Oxford White Paper. Three on the famous Oxford India Paper.

Pearl 32mo. A wonderful clear type in a small-size book.

Minion 16mo. Ready October 1907. A model hand Bible.

Brevier 16mo. Large type in small compass. "A quart in a pint measure."

"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."

ASK FOR THE OXFORD EDITION

REMEMBER: That we guarantee satisfaction and sell to you cheaper than the publisher and dealers do. Our business is by mail and express and prices quoted are the prices of goods delivered to you. We can furnish you the Oxford, or the Holman Teacher's Bible at prices ranging from $1.35 to $4.00. Send for our catalogue or write us what you want. Address

THE CHRISTIAN SUN, Elon College, N. C.

Hannah Gross Urquhart of Isle of Wight Co., Va. To this union were born seven children, of whom six survive.

At the breaking out of the civil war he volunteered with a Portsmouth Co., and was afterwards transferred to Co. D., 9th Va., Infantry, from which he was dismissed in the autumn of 1863, being over the age limit at that time. He then came back to his native County and began life anew on the farm, and the remainder of his life was marked by vigorous and incessant toil, till past 80 years of age. His chief characteristics were industry, integrity and generosity. The aspirations of his early manhood being blighted by the civil war and other misfortunes, he was content to live a retired humble life, his chief ambition being to provide for his family and meet his financial obligations.

The middle period of his life was not marked by any special religious faith or activity, but twenty-three years ago a radical change took place in his life. This was connected with an interesting incident, which was known only to a few members of his family. A revival was being conducted at Oakland Christian Church, near his home. He did not attend church, but was plowing in the field and being overcome by heat, he went home and lay down to sleep. While asleep he had a dream or vision, in which he saw his first wife as an angel in the spirit world, and under either wing the two little boys who had preceded her to the spirit land, beckoning him to come. He awoke in a state of deep conviction and penitence. All his remaining years were marked by a simple faith and trust, reading his Bible as long as he could see and engaging in daily devotions.

He had been partially deaf for 30 years, and in late years totally deaf at times. His sight failed ten years ago, and he was almost totally blind the last few years of his life. Time hung heavily upon him in his later years,—too feeble to work, too blind to read and too deaf to converse with his family and friends, he grew weary of life. He spoke little of personal experiences, but when he did expressed himself as ready and only waiting. As he came nearer the end he seemed to long for death. Free from all disease he lived till the candle of life burned out. He lived like Jacob to see the fourth generation upon his knee, and passed quietly away, Sept. 22, 1909, lacking just 22 days of being 88 years of age.

He leaves a widow, with whom he had lived nearly 52 years, 8 children, 31 grandchildren and 9 great-children. The surviving children are: Mrs. Elnora C. Hirst, Middletown, N. Y.; Mrs. Job Hol-

Your Hair is Worth It
 Afraid to use hair preparations? Don't know exactly what to do?
 Then why not consult your doctor? Isn't your hair worth it?
 Ask him if he endorses Ayer's Hair Vigor for falling hair.
Does not Color the Hair
 J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.

The Centennial of Religious Journalism

EDITED BY J. PRESSLEY BARRETT, D. D.
 Editor Herald of Gospel Liberty

This is without doubt the most generally interesting publication sent out by the Christians. Its centennial, historical and denominational features make it not only unique in character, but interesting as well. From beginning to end it claims the interested attention of the reader.

We have not space here to give the table of contents, but suffice it to say, that beginning with the "Discussion of the conditions which made the organization of the Christian Church a necessity," the reader will follow with interest and profit, the "History of the Herald of Gospel Liberty," "The One Hundred Editorial Gems," "Historical Sketches of One-Hundred-Year-Old Churches," "A Symposium—A Hundred Years of Progress," setting forth in well prepared papers the development of the various enterprises of the Christian Church, and with a heart full of optimistic hope he will peruse "The Future Outlook of the Christian Church."

And all this, and more, in a book of nearly 650 pages, handsomely bound, with gold titles, while the price is only $1.00 for cloth binding and $2.00 for Morocco, with your name printed in gold. Postage, 15 cents extra. Send your order at once to

J. N. HESS, Publishing Agent

Dayton, Ohio

SHINGLES SLATES PLAIN TIN
CURL & BURN SPLIT & DROP RATTLES & LEAKS

CORTRIGHT

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES make a perfect roof—waterproof, fireproof, noiseproof, almost wearproof. Any competent mechanic can lay them in half the usual time—no solder, no seams, fewest nails, least cutting—shipped painted both sides or galvanized—no raw edges to start rust. If you want the best roof money can buy, send for our three free books, showing all styles of Cortright Metal Shingles, as used all over America—and the name of your neighbor using them.

CORTRIGHT METAL ROOFING CO., 54 N. 23d St., Philadelphia

land, Chuckatuck, Va.; Dr. J. U. Newman, Elon College, N.C.; W. T. Newman, Chuckatuck, Va.; Rev. N. G. Newman, Holland, Va.; Mrs. W. C. Wicker, Elon College, N. C.; Rev. C. E. Newman, Henderson, N. C.; and Mrs. L. W. Staggs, Norfolk, Va. The funeral services were conducted at Oakland Christian Church, by Rev. H. H. Butler, assisted by Revs. J. H. Kabler of the M. E. Church, and I. W. Johnson.

This historical sketch would not be complete without making reference to the influence of this life upon others. Three of his sons are ministers, who are well known throughout our church, in the South. One of these is one of the ablest teachers in Elon College. The world will never know what sacrifices were made by this father to give his children an education. I am quite sure that many of those who looked upon his face at the funeral services had not seen him for several years, on account of his retirement. But he has been heard from three pulpits, each Sabbath, by hundreds who, perhaps, did not even know that he was still living. While on a visit to him a few years ago, I said: "Bro. Newman, it must be a pleasure to you to know you have three sons who are doing such efficient and faithful service in the ministry." He said: "I have done the best I could for them, and I am glad they are doing well; I hope they will continue to be successful." While the other children are not as widely known, yet they are all Christians, and are loved, respected and honored among their friends and acquaintances. Such a father's precept, example and influence are the most valuable legacy to hand down to children. He will not know the extent of his service or the value of his reward until the final day of account. No sculptor's chisel can carve an epitaph upon the finest marble shaft worthy of such a life. He was among earth's uncrowned kings in life, but he wore a golden crown set with richest jewels near his heart. May the Father's richest blessing be upon the family in this hour of bereavement.

I. W. Johnson.

(Begun on page thirteen).

Some Good Men in Doubt, Gen. 17:17; Matt. 17:22; Luke 1:20.

Dangers of Doubt, Mark 16:14; Heb. 3:12.

Patience Triumphant, 2 Thess. 1:4.

Rewards to Patience, Jas. 1:12.

God's Promises are Sure, Rom. 4:16.

Trust in God, Heb. 3:17.

Pray, Phil. 4:6-7.

The Key of Promise, 2 Pet. 1:1-4.

Suggested Program.

1. Chain of prayer. A song or two.
2. Pilgrim's Progress series program as suggested above.
3. Leader's application of some episode.
4. Song. Prayers, several sentence ones.
5. Scripture lessons, read and comment thereon.
6. References voluntarily read.
7. Question spurs voluntarily answered.
8. Song.
9. Pastor's five minutes.
10. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

CHOICE BIBLE READINGS

A volume of unusual merit. Invaluable to all Christian workers—for use personally, in the home, S. S. and all religious meetings. Great variety of subjects. Makes Bible study very interesting. It is highly endorsed. Thousands of copies sold. Sent postpaid on receipt of the price—25 cents. Address "BIBLE READING PUBLISHERS," Box 247, Springfield, Illinois.

DRINK VITA SPRING (Alkaline Chalybeate) MINERAL WATER

For Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
Vita Spring, Shelton, S. C.

YOUNG MEN! If you want to know why you should become telegraph operators and what school to attend, write to SOUTHERN SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, Newnan, Ga., for free Catalogue "A." EVERY BOY should read it. Positions positively guaranteed.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway.

Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway.

Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt.,
Charlotte, N. C.

J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M.,

W. H. TAYLOR, G. P. A.,
Washington, D. C.

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage. EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

—Dr. John C. Kilgo, of Trinity College, says: "There was never a time in this nation's history when the Church colleges rendered a larger and more efficient service than they are rendering the nation at this time in every line of honorable work. The college man is still in the minority, but among college men in any field of labor the large majority of conspicuous leaders are the sons of Church colleges. Of the Presidents of the United States, eighteen have been college men, sixteen of whom were educated in Church-founded colleges. In the present Supreme Court of the United States there are eight college men, seven of whom came from colleges founded by Churches. In the United States Senate there are forty-six college men, twenty-five of whom attended Church colleges. In the House of Representatives there are two hundred college men, one hundred and eleven of whom are sons of Church colleges. In President Taft's Cabinet there are six college men, three of whom are Church college men and three sons of independent colleges. Of twenty large American universities having an attendance of more than two thousand students, eleven of the Presidents of these institutions were educated in Church colleges and seven in independent colleges. And of the twelve conspicuous preachers in the New York pulpit, eleven received their training in the colleges of the Churches."

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.

QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West.

Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist
FOSTER BUILDING,
Burlington, N. C.

—Rural Free Delivery, which was begun in the United States twelve years ago as an experiment, with only five routes, has been extended year by year until now there are 40,919 routes, serving a population of about 20,000,000 people.

"He that winneth souls is wise."

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 41.

Liquor Men Active.—"The devil never tires." Neither do the liquor interests. And these were never more active in North Carolina than at present. That the great, good majority of the people have spoken makes no difference whatsoever. The forces of evil never count the odds against them; and the will of the majority is a name without a meaning.

Everywhere we hear it that prohibition has not succeeded; that there is more liquor now than under the reign of the saloon. That figures and facts are entirely otherwise makes no difference whatsoever. The liquor interests want it to seem that prohibition has failed, at all hazards.

Recently when a fight was on to close up saloons in Roanoke, Va., the rumor was set afloat there that prohibition had failed in North Carolina. Governor Kitchen being called upon wired in reply:

"Report very erroneous. Prohibition has been generally successful. It has greatly diminished the consumption of intoxicants."

But a thousand replies from those who know the facts and are reliable carry little weight with the liquor interests.

What North Carolina needs is law enforcement. Her law is good enough. It is the part of every good citizen to see that the good law is enforced, for the liquor interests are busy.

The Commandments.—In the childhood of the race, certain commandments were given. They have played a mighty part in the formation of character of nations, empires, peoples. The ages will not improve upon the Ten Commandments. Children learn these in home and in school early in life and do not forget them.

The largest Sunday school in the world, that of Mr. John Wanamaker, Philadelphia, reads them together and in concert every Sunday morning. The Sunday schools will not soon improve upon them for concert reading.

Our military academy at West Point has three commandments: "Thou shalt not steal," "Thou shalt not lie," "Thou shalt not be afraid." This is not an improvement, only a serious curtailment, and a rather silly substitution.

The President of Wake Forest College says there is one commandment for his students, "Be a gentleman." That is well and covers many. But our Savior made the best short decalogue, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart and thy neighbor as thyself."

Public Schools.—According to Government statistics, there were 17,000,000 children entered in the public schools of this country at the beginning of the current school year. There was about an equal number of boys and girls, the former being slightly in the majority. There are 500,000 teachers, and 300,000 school buildings valued at $300,000,000. There are four women teachers to one man teacher. The cost of maintenance is a million dollars a day. Ours is a land of public schools, a magnanimous blessing to any people, a source of universal uplift to any nation.

Equipped for Service.—

God did not equip some with all the virtues and graces, and others with none. He is no respecter of persons. In the race of life some may seem better equipped than others. Of such, more is expected and required. They have further to go. To them the race is swifter. Superior equipment demands superior service. The humblest citizen has obligations as well as the highest official. The latter must accomplish more because advantages are more and better.

But highest and lowest have obligations. One is simply required to do one's best—in all stations and circumstances of life. No more: no less. Results are with God. To do the little deed, perform the humble task, may, in the final, be crowned with as large results as the great deed, the noble task. One is equipped for the small: one for the great: results are of the future—and belong to God.

One never need despair of natural endowment and equipment. All are not endowed alike because each and all have separate tasks to perform.

—When I bid you not be a miser, I do not order you to become a debauchee or a prodigal. * * * There is a moderation in things; finally, there are certain boundaries, on either side of which moral rightness can not exist.—Horace, Satire I.

—"I am not much of a mathematician," said the cigarette, "but I can add to a youth's nervous troubles, I can subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers, I can take interest from his work, and discount his chances for success."—New York Observer.

—Studying on Sunday is coming to be frowned upon more and more by all educators, especially, and moral men in general. Doctor Battle, Dean of the University of Texas, has urged the Freshmen of that institution to refrain from dishonoring the Lord's Day and making it a day of labor instead of a day of rest. This is a sin, and an error too commonly indulged in our schools. Perhaps, for this reason, Monday should be a light day, or a holiday.

—The execution of Prof. Ferrer, a Frenchman, by the Spanish authorities, October 14th, has caused disorder in both Spain and France, and even a demonstration was made in Rome. In Austria and Germany also the feeling is running high. On the 15th it became necessary to increase the guard about the Spanish embassy in Paris. The mad crowd, despite protestation, burned King Alfonso in effigy. In Madrid the King is practically a prisoner in the palace and an uprising threatens to take the form of a civil war with the overthrow of the monarchy for its object.

I never yet found a Christian who was disappointed in Christ, although I have found a great many who were disappointed in themselves. It is now twenty-three years since I first caught a glimpse of him and he has been growing on me ever since. There is not a want in the soul which he will not meet.—Dwight L. Moody.

FROM THE FIELD.

PORTSMOUTH LETTER

The work on the church is progressing rapidly. The weather has been ideal. It begins to look like we shall have a church in the near future. If the weather keeps good the walls will be up in a few weeks. It seems that the roof might be on by the first of December. It does us good to see the good work go on, but it works us fearfully hard to keep up with the payments. We are having to meet every body with open hands, ready to receive donations of all sizes. We are looking for donations through the mail, on the streets, on the trains, in church, shop and store,—in fact everywhere. We are beginning to fear that our friends will be afraid to see us coming towards them. Last Sunday evening we filled the South Norfolk pulpit and could not resist the temptation of asking those good people for an offering, though they were but a mission point with a nice little debt of their own to care for. They responded and gave us $10.01.

The Portsmouth pulpit was filled by Rev. Stanley C. Harrell of Holland, Va. His sermon was highly spoken of by those who heard him. He preached at South Norfolk in the morning.

Both the Herald and Christian Sun have requested a cut of the new church and perhaps others are asking why none has appeared. We have not had a cut made of the building being erected, on account of the cost it would entail. The church will be entirely different from the cut that has appeared in the Sun as the proposed design. The new is by far more handsome than the old. We will have a cut made as soon as the building is near enough completed to get a good picture of it.

Cash Acknowledgments

Previously acknowledged	$1,700.73
W. D. Daniel, Waverly, Va. . .	2.00
Irving Curling, Great Bridge, Va. . . . .	10.00
Col. Alex. Savage, Norfolk, Va.	50.00
John King, Suffolk, Va. . . . .	12.50
W. H. Brinkley, Driver, Va. . .	25.00
Col. J. E. West, Suffolk, Va. . .	25.00
Mrs. Cattie Riddiek, Suffolk, Va. . . . .	5.00
H. M. Macleary, Suffolk, Va. . .	5.00
John Pitt, Norfolk, Va. . . . .	2.50
William Faucit (?), South Norfolk, Va. . . . .	1.00
Basket Collection (South Norfolk) . . . . .	2.01

We are exceedingly grateful for these donations. They are a great help and much appreciated. They help to relieve the strain. Let those who propose to help us do so now. We need your help now as much as we can possibly need it at any time. Our money is in the old lot which we have not yet sold. We have borrowed what we could on it and have used that in making the payments to date, with what donations we could secure. We are without resources for the next payment, save as our brethren shall open their hearts and come to our rescue. "A friend in need is a friend indeed," and who will be our friend in this hour, and a friend of the Lord's work?

Are there not some that ought to give $500 to a work like this? Only one has given to that extent so far. We are of the conviction that there are others that ought to do so. There are five that have given $100 each. Are there not others that ought to do likewise? Something like two hundred have given smaller contributions. Who next?

J. W. Harrell.

Oct. 11, 1909.

COLUMBUS, GA., LETTER

Last Sunday was a day of unusual interest among the Waverly Terrace people, the occasion being the organization of the Waverly Terrace Christian Church. Previous mention of the dedication of the church has been made in the columns of the Sun, the dedicatory services having taken place the second Sunday in May, but the organization of the church had been delayed until now. In the meantime, however, Sunday-school and preaching services have been held and during this time, one series of meetings of considerable interest engaged the attention of quite a number of people. But only last Sunday did the church organization come into being. At the eleven o'clock service, Rev. H. W. Elder preached a sermon on the "Principles and Government of the Christian Church." His discourse was logical, forceful, and eloquent, and left a deep impression on the minds of those present. After the sermon, seventeen names were enrolled as charter members. The night services were well attended and very impressive. Revival meetings are still in progress. This new church starts in a hopeful way.

G. O. Lankford.

Oct. 13, 1909.

Bethel.

Our meeting at Bethel began the first Sunday in October and continued five days. Revs. A. F. Iseley and J. S. Carden were present and assisted in the meeting. They endeared themselves to the people. There were six conversions and three joined the church. I baptized one Sunday and two Thursday. The church was much revived.

Thos. W. Strowd.

Wakefield.

It has been some time since the Wakefield Pastorate has been heard from; never the less, the good work has been going on. Since the dedication of our new church here, brothers W. H. Jones and Hon. E. E. Holland, of Suffolk, Va., sent five dollars each as a donation. We wish to thank those brethren, and may God abundantly bless them.

Our work is moving on very nicely, and our people are very kind and thoughtful of us, and our welfare. Brethren J. S. Drewry and Johnnie Bain thought of our horse, and hauled in a load of hay, each, for which the horse and her master were much pleased. Many thanks. We have held all of our protracted meetings, but one.

Rev. M. L. Bryant was with me at New Lebanon, and did most excellent preaching. We had the largest crowds that the writer ever saw at that place, and the spirit of the meeting was good. Several accepted Christ, the community much revived, and one joined the church.

The writer conducted the service at Burton's Grove, himself. Had only afternoon service, and Tuesday and Wednesday, there were burials in the community, so we had only two good days with the people. Yet God was with us, and three accepted Christ, and two united with the church.

Bro. Bryant assisted at Union, Surry, and we had all-day meetings and public dinner. We had very large congregations, good preaching with spiritual power, and a grand revival. Some fifteen renewed and four joined the church. Brother Bryant is a good man and a spirit-filled preacher.

Rev. C. C. Ryan, of Norfolk, Va., was with us at Dendron. He preached afternoon and evening. He was called home Thursday, but came back Friday, and was compelled to be in Norfolk Sunday. The crowd had grown so large, and the interest so high, that he was prevailed upon to come back on Monday. Sunday night we moved to the M. E. Church, where the crowd could be accommodated. The writer preached to a full house, and the spirit was good. Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights the audience of much interested people filled the house to its utmost capacity. The result of the meeting was the best that has ever been at Dendron. Some fifty or sixty were reclaimed or made confessions of Christ. Brother Ryan is one of the most spiritual and forceful preachers who have ever met with the Dendron people.

Six new members were added to our church at Dendron, several to the M. E. Church, and some to other churches in and out of town. We regret that Bro. Ryan is to go back to Ohio soon, but we pray God's richest blessings to follow him and his good family.

Rev. I. W. Johnson, of Suffolk, Va., is to assist us at Wakefield, beginning with fourth Sunday night in this month. Our people are looking and praying for a good meeting. Brethren, pray that we have the power of God's spirit with us; that the town of Wakefield be shaken from the bottom. The Wakefield pastorate has given the writer a unanimous call to serve again another year, and the work has been accepted. The past year's work has been very pleasant indeed, and we pray that much good was accomplished, and that the work may continue in the Lord's power.

C. C. Jones.

NOTICE

Delegates and visitors coming to the Eastern N. C. Conference at Sanford on Thursday, Nov. 11, 1909, will arrive on Seaboard trains Nos. 41 and 43 at 5:36 and 6:26 P.M. and on Southern at 3:30 P.M.

Please write to the undersigned whether you will come on train or private conveyance, so homes can be provided.

Very truly,

J. D. Gunter.

Box 15, Sanford, N. C., Oct. 11, 1909.

NOTICE

All ministers, delegates and visitors to the N. C. and Va. Christian Conference, which meets with Belews Creek Church, Nov. 23, 1909, will note the following: Conference is to open at 9 o'clock A.M., and in order to be there for first day's session it is necessary to go on Nov. 22nd. Train for Belews Creek leaves Greensboro 4:55 P.M. and only one time for that point each day.

Those going by rail from east of Greensboro will come on train arriving there about noon, those from north will come on train arriving about 1 o'clock P.M. Observe the above and save yourself much inconvenience and delay, and all persons whosoever who will attend the approaching session will notify J. G. Fulton, Belews Creek, so that their entertainment may be arranged before arrival as train gets there after dark.

C. C. Peel, Pastor.

—Thirty-seven lives and $1,000,000 worth of property were lost in a furious storm which swept middle and west Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, and portions of Arkansas, and South Carolina, on the evening of the 14th.

OUR OWN DUTIES

As professed Christians we should be true to our own duties in relation to any matters, whether others be loyal to theirs or not.

We are not to wait to see if the members of our Church are going to do their part in the general work before we will consent to do our full duty. Our personal obligation to God in respect to a particular affair does not at all depend upon what others may think or do or not do. As individuals we are each bound to perform the work which God calls us to do, just as though there was not another person in the world. If others neglect their duties, there is not any reason for our neglecting our own duties. The neglect of others does not lessen our own responsibility. There are those who say that if certain members of their church will not do their share in bearing the expenses of the local cause, they themselves will give nothing, nor do anything. But such ones cannot release themselves from their obligation to God and his cause by such an attitude.

The late editor of a religious paper said: "If God has given you one thing to do, and ability to do it, go about it, and keep at it till it is done. Others may have grander schemes; they may be anxious that you should wait till they are ready, but if you know the Shepherd's voice, and understand the leadings of Divine Providence and of the Holy Spirit, and are satisfied that God in his providence has called and is leading you, let no such considerations hinder you from your work. Do not be allured from attending to your own personal business by the hope or prospect of doing some great work with someone else. God may have other workers prepared for that."

I may be allowed to say that I have always made it a practice to do my full duty in relation to any matter, utterly regardless of what others might say about me and my ways. Many times I have been opposed and complained of, yet I have continued right along, seeking only the pleasure of my Lord.

C. H. Wetherbe.

THE EASE OF DUTY-DOING

Only those really know the ease of living who never try to dodge the hard things in life. For the easiest time to do a hard thing is when it first makes its appearance. If we would double its difficulty, we need only postpone it once; if we would make it four times as hard, a second postponement will insure this. And if we would have the drag and the nightmare of shirked duty always with us, so that life itself becomes a chronic burden, we must simply make our postponement of our hardest duties permanent. Tribulation lies ahead for any one who will not grapple his hard tasks promptly. Joy and strength and the exhilaration of ever-increasing power are assured to one who seeks the ease of instant duty-doing. We are hardest on ourselves when we try to save ourselves from hardship.—S. S. Times.

CURING COLD IN ADVANCE

We get sick because we are too lazy to keep well, according to Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Woman's Home Companion for October. We are always looking for short cuts to health. Of reputed cures for coughs and cold, he says:

"Their name is literally legion, for hardly a drug can be mentioned, hardly a substance discovered, which is capable of either being swallowed or inhaled, that has not been recommended as a cough remedy. Eight tenths of all colds are mild infections, which run their course until the body has time to produce an antitoxin or antibody to stop their further progress. As this process in reasonably healthy individuals is usually carried out in from four to six days, anything which happens to be given in that time stands a fair chance of getting a reputation as a cure. "The only sure cure for colds and coughs is to avoid the infections and the foul air of ill-ventilated rooms and buildings in which they breed; to keep the body toned up to fighting pitch, by cold baths and an abundance of fresh air, especially in the bedroom; and if the infection does get a foothold to assist Nature in her fight against it by rest in the open air, and promoting elimination through the skin, bowels and kidneys.

"In fine, don't tinker with symptoms; look for the cause, and remove it. Don't try to lock the stable door after the horse is stolen, but train your horse to bite strangers. Attack is the best defense. Keep your body at good fighting weight, and you can defy disease. Sunlight, food, fresh air and exercise are the only cure-alls known. Don't worry about disease and what to take when you're sick, but work for health."

—The cotton crop for this year shows a decrease,—it was 69.7 for October, 1908, while it is 58.5 now.

—Divorcees continue to increase. In 1870 there were 1½ divorcees per thousand; in 1880 it had risen to 2 divorcees per thousand; 1890, there were 3 divorcees per thousand; while in 1900 it was 4. If this increase goes on, what will become of the home?

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Rev. W. T. Walters, Harrisonburg, Va., while recuperating from recent poor health, has been spending some time with Rev. L. F. Johnson in this city.

—Rev. T. W. Strowd, Chapel Hill, N. C., was a welcome visitor at The Sun office last Thursday. Bro. Strowd reports his work in good shape and hopes to go to Conference with church apportionments paid in full. His churches have had good revivals and a successful year.

—Rev. H. W. Elder builds churches where churches are needed, and then builds congregations to occupy the churches, as witness Waverly Terrace Church, Columbus, Ga., dedicated last May, organized last Sunday week with seventeen charter members as told of in our Columbus, Ga. letter elsewhere this week.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Saturday, 16th: "As a result of the series of meetings recently held at the Christian Church, nine have been received into church fellowship, and it is expected that several more will join tomorrow, when the doors of the church will again be open for the reception of new members."

—Rev. W. S. Long, D.D., Graham, N. C., is open to engagement to serve as pastor of a church or churches for all his time the coming year. He will be pleased to correspond with any charge desiring a pastor for full time as he is willing to go and live among the people he serves. This is an excellent opportunity for a charge desiring a well equipped and able preacher and pastor.

—Nine fraternal and benefit organizations with a membership of nearly 3,000,000, and three international labor unions with a membership of over 100,000, have joined the ranks of the fighters against consumption within the last year, according to a statement issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

—Rev. McD. Howsare, Versailles, O., who becomes pastor of Christian Memorial Temple, Norfolk, Va., writes that he will move to Norfolk to begin his work about the middle of November. Bro. Howsare (and his good wife who is no less interested in church work than her husband) will find a warm welcome in the South where many of us remember well to have met him when at the Norfolk Quadrennial. He is a man of magnetic personality, warm hearted, and a very agreeable speaker. We join with our Norfolk people in rejoicing over capturing him for work in the South.

—Last Sunday was Missionary Day at Wake Chapel, in Wake Co., N. C. There were two sermons, dinner in the church yard, between. Envelopes with amount of Conference apportionments printed thereon were distributed after the morning sermon. There was prayer and song. The envelopes were then taken up with amounts enclosed. The collection was above expectation, and only $1.65 had to be raised at the afternoon service to complete the total apportionment of $73. It was the opinion of many that the envelope collection is far superior to the promiscuous begging system, and is easier. It was a pleasant day, and the services were well attended.

—Rev. J. W. Harrell is doing a magnificent work in Portsmouth, Va., and the brethren do well to encourage him. "The Lord helps those who help themselves," we are assured. Then Bro. Harrell is sure of divine help, for he is a faithful and true worker. The Portsmouth Church when completed will be a credit both to the growing city in which it is built, and to the great denomination under whose auspices it was projected.

A recent issue of the Portsmouth Star, carrying a good cut of Bro. Harrell, and an appreciative write up of his work, says:—

"The work was begun by the present pastor, Rev. J. W. Harrell. The church was organized with thirty charter members. Services were first held in the Pythian Castle hall at Court and County streets.

"The congregation moved into its chapel at High and Effingham streets during the summer of 1902, having purchased the site and erected the chapel

"The church has enjoyed a steady growth, having added to its membership a good list of names each year, and the Sunday school has outgrown the chapel.

"In the spring of 1908 the congregation decided to purchase the site at Washington and County streets, upon which to erect their permanent house of worship, and sell the High street property.

"The work has been carried forward under the supervision of the Home Mission Board of the Eastern Virginia Christian Conference, which is composed of Col. J. E. West, Col. E. E. Holland and Rev. H. H. Butler, of Suffolk, Va. The conference makes liberal appropriations to the work each year. The pastor has visited a number of the churches of the conference and secured from them liberal donations to the building fund."

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Several of our villagers and members of the College visited the Central Carolina Fair at Greensboro last week.

—Rev. J. F. McCulloch, editor of "Our Church Record," Greensboro, filled the College pulpit last Sunday. His sermon was ably thought out and effectively delivered. Judging from the favorable comment heard from many of the most competent auditors, Bro. McCulloch will be heartily welcomed by his Elon audience at any time in the future.

—A new telephone line is being built into our town, that will give our people full telephone service through both Gibsonville and Burlington central offices.

—Wilkins Cable, who lives near here, has been critically ill of heart dropsy. Physicians have little, if any, hope of his recovery.

—Prof. W. A. Harper made a trip to Wilson a week ago and made three addresses on Sunday school and Christian Endeavor. He had large audiences and was well received.

W. P. Lawrence.

NEWS ITEMS.

—In September the production of iron in this country amounted to 2,385,206 tons, an increase of nearly a million tons over that of Sept., 1907.

—It is good news indeed that on Nov. 4th the receivership of the Seaboard road will end and the property be turned over to the company for management, the decree to this effect having been signed by Judge Pritchard at Asheville Oct. 18.

—Reports from Kentucky point to the renewal for another year of the tobacco growers' agreement, and to another year's reign of lawlessness and murder. The night-riders are again at work, punishing those who refuse to sign this agreement.

—Though much has been said and written about the insane manner in which we spend the "glorious fourth" of July, we have not learned yet to be very sane about it, considering that 215 persons were killed last "fourth," 125 of whom died of lockjaw.

—In 1908 the catch of cod fish in Massachusetts waters amounted to 72,217,000 pounds, valued at $1,944,200. All the fisheries of the Bay State brought in $7,095,230, which industry was once among the greatest of that State, but now only a trifle in comparison with her other gigantic industries, such as shoes for instance, or the manufacture of cotton goods.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOME MISSIONS IN THE NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA CONFERENCE.

Last year the Sunday schools of the following churches met the request of Conference in regard to Sunday school Home Missions: Apple's Chapel, Durham, Elon College, Greensboro, Hines' Chapel, Happy Home, Howard's Chapel, Long's Chapel, Lebanon, Pleasant Grove, Shallow Ford, and Mt. Bethel. These schools were supplied with a memorial by the president and secretary of Conference. The amount raised last year was $59.40. That was a good beginning.

This year we hope to do better than this. Why should we not? We have everything to encourage us and nothing to discourage. Will not every school send in the full amount? If so, we can in the name of the Sunday schools undertake next year the organization of some new church. Shall this not be done?

For information I give amounts expected of each Sunday school. These amounts are taken from the Annual and represent 10 cents per member on the Sunday school enrollment (if there was no Sunday school reported, an estimate was made) reported to Conference last year. They are as follows: Apple's Chapel, $6.70; Belew's Creek, $6; Bethel, $6; Bethlehem, $14.30; Berea, $13; Concord, $2.60; Durham, $15.70; Elon College, $23.50; Goshen Chapel, $1.50; Greensboro, $18.30; Haw River, $4.50; Happy Home, $7.50; Hebron, $4.50; Hines' Chapel, $4.50; Howard's Chapel, $5.40; Ingram, $3; Kallom Grove, $3.30; Lebanon, $3; Long's Chapel, $3.30; Mt. Bethel, $3.25; Mt. Zion, $2; New Lebanon, $4.50; Palm St., Greensboro, $17.; Pleasant Grove, $7.90; Pleasant Ridge, $5.30; Salem Chapel, $5.70; Sage Garden, $1.; Shallow Ford, $6; Union (N. C.), $5; Union (Va.), $4. Total apportioned, $207.20, from 2,072 Sunday school pupils. Is it not little enough for so many workers to give? Shall we not have it all? I pray so.

W. A. Harper,
President.

—Official figures made public at Washington show that there are 300,000 Indians in the United States.

—The lure of free, rich lands is irresistible. 70,000 American farmers have gone to Canada within the past year. The free lands will soon be gone in this country, and they will soon be filled up in Canada; then we will have more emigration to the South.

A PRAYER.

Father of our hearts, the sense of need within us is greater than our power of utterance. Be not far from us, but as we grope after Thee in the darkness, wilt Thou let us feel the strong clasp of Thy hand holding ours. Oh, God, we are weak, but Thou are mighty. Our weakness makes us ashamed to lift up our eyes to Thee; and yet the knowledge of Thy love and pity gives us courage. Help us to stop looking into our own hearts, and to look away to Thee. Help us to stop feeling after our motives, and to use all our energies in doing Thy will. Keep us from allowing any earthly disappointment or adversity to shake our hold upon Thee. Wilt Thou purify every love of our hearts, and make holy every common act of every day. In the dear name of Thy Son, our Savior. Amen.—Philadelphia Westminster.

WINDSOR NOTES.

The first Sunday in September we began our meeting at Johnson's Grove. On Monday morning, Rev. M. L. Bryant came to aid in the meeting and did the preaching through the week. Though the weather was unfavorable part of the week we had a good meeting. Several professed faith in Christ, several back-sliders were reclaimed, and the church was generally revived. Three united with the church, making eight additions during this conference year.

While the meeting was good all through the week, there was a special manifestation of the Spirit's power on Friday afternoon. Christians were caused to rejoice in His presence and sinners were convicted of sin and brought home to Jesus Christ.

On the third Sunday in September we began our meeting at Isle of Wight Court House. Rev. W. W. Staley came on Monday morning and preached throughout the week. While the congregations were small in the beginning, the interest increased with each service, until Friday afternoon we had one of the most glorious meetings ever experienced by the writer. The Holy Spirit came in great power and all present seemed to be enjoying showers of blessing. There were something like thirty professions and renewals in that one service. There were about forty, or perhaps more, professions and renewals during the week, twenty-two united with the church and others have signified their intention of joining.

The fourth Sunday in September we began our meeting at Barrett's church. The interest in the meeting was good from the beginning. Rev. M. L. Bryant did the preaching from Monday until Friday. On Friday afternoon we were blessed by a mighty outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Something like twenty professed faith in Christ in that one service, and about thirty during the meeting. Twelve united with the church.

All my churches have been blessed with good meetings this year except Windsor. We expect to begin our meeting here about the second Sunday in November.
R. H. Peel.

NOTICE!

At the last session of the E. Va. Christian Conference, Rev. C. H. Rowland, Rev. H. E. Rountree, and the writer were appointed a committee to receive means and erect a suitable monument in memory of Rev. M. D. Barrett.

The following amounts have been received for that purpose:

Public collection at Dendron ...	$ 2.16
Rev. J. W. Wellons .....	1.00
Mrs. W. D. McClenney .....	1.00
Spring Hill .....	5.60
Cypress Chapel .....	5.00
Waverly .....	5.00
South Norfolk .....	5.00
Rev. J. P. Barrett .....	5.00
Holy Neck .....	5.00
Liberty Spring .....	5.00

Total .....$39.76

Other churches subscribed at the Annual Conference that have not yet paid in the amounts subscribed. We trust that all subscriptions will be paid in the near future and any one desiring to subscribe to this fund will do so as early as convenient, so that the matter may be disposed of. All subscriptions may be sent to me.
R. H. Peel,

Windsor, Va.

"I think of the Chinese story of the man, who said when things seemed to be going wrong, "Well, perchance it's happiness." When his son broke his leg, he said, "Perchance it's happiness." And so it proved, for robbers desired to impress his son into their band. When he was unable to find lodgment in an inn, he said, "Perchance it's happiness." And so it proved, for the inn was plundered that night."

"What money can do as an agency to glorify God and to bless the bodies and souls of men is a lesson which the Church seems to be learning afresh. There is nothing better on this subject than John Wesley's advice: 'Make all you can; save all you can; give all you can.' Fairly interpreted, this summarizes the whole doctrine of money."

OUR NORTH POLES

Every man who is worth his salt (and, for that matter, every woman, too,) is seeking some north pole; in other words, has some goal to which his ambition spurs him on, as dear to him as the achievement of the ninetieth degree of latitude was to Peary or Cook.

It may be a worthy or unworthy ambition; it may be a small or a great goal that he seeks; but, whatever it is, it is his north pole.

For one man it is a million dollars; for another, perhaps only ten thousand dollars. For a third it is a book that "the world will not willingly let die." For a fourth it is some high political honor.

For many, yes, for all, of my readers, whatever other goals they have in view, I hope that their highest ambition is what the Westminster Catechism calls "the chief end of man," to glorify God and enjoy Him forever"; for in that wonderful definition is summed up much more than could be expressed if this whole issue of The Christian Endeavor World were given to it.

Commander Peary by his world-startling feat has taught us all some things about our own north poles. One of these is that failure paves the way to success. It was practically certain that he could not have reached the pole the first time he tried. He had neither the equipment nor the knowledge necessary. But his failures were far from being disasters; they were simply delayed successes.

The first journey, when he got but little beyond the eighty-second degree, was really as necessary to his ultimate success as his final dash for the pole.

Early Lessons

So it is with us all. The millionaire who made a bad investment in his early life learned caution and wisdom therefrom, which really contributed as much to his fortune as the last successful speculation that enabled him to write six ciphers in his bank-account.

Harriman, the late railroad king, doubtless laid the foundations of his fortune in that poor country rectory where he learned in the hard school of experience the lessons of thrift and enterprise, lessons it would have been impossible for a rich boy to learn.

The foundation does not show, but it is far more important to the building than the showy flag which waves over the topmost pinnacle of the castle.

The author who at last succeeds in commanding the attention of his generation probably had a score of rejected manuscripts come back to him, perhaps a hundred, before he found his way to the heart of the public through pen and ink; but every rejected manuscript was a step towards his north pole.

Few statesmen ever reached high office without being defeated more than once at the primaries or the voting-booths, as were Lincoln and Disraeli; but their defeats meant final victory.

Why should a Christian expect any easier path to his final goal?

We are not inclined to take our religious life seriously enough in these days.

The goals are great—God, Heaven, Eternal Life; but many a Christian is totally unwilling to make the effort or endure the hardship that Peary gladly suffered in reaching the pole.

No Christian ever danced his way to glory, or won heaven at the card table. I am not inveighing just now against these amusements, but am trying to make it plain that Christian's goals are worth toil and struggle and intermediate failure.

"No slacker grows the fight;

No feebler is the foe;

Nor less the need of armor tried,

Of shield and spear and bow," sang Dr. Bonar, and his lines are just as true to-day as when he wrote them.

If there is one thing that this age needs, it is a sense of the seriousness of life. To a multitude of people life is largely a joke. It means at the most a good dinner, and a game of golf, and a dance or a theatre in the evening; and plenty of our well-to-do people deserve Kipling's bitter scorn for the "flanneled fools."

There is something thrilling in Peary's persistent pressing on amid difficulties and dangers and sufferings and disappointments, undaunted by failure after failure, until at last the goal was won.

Helping by Our Failures

Once more, every one may help another, even by his repeated failures, to reach his own north pole.

Sir John Franklin's disastrous failure, when life itself was lost, and all trace of his expedition for years was swallowed up in the arctic wilds, made it possible for Dr. Kane to get a little farther, and Dr. Kane's failure helped Greely to make calculations that enabled him to reach his "farthest north"; and, had it not been for Greely's and Abruzzi's explorations, Peary might have failed altogether in his last triumphant dash.

We cannot trace our own advancement in life so plainly to the efforts and failures of others, but I have no doubt the connection is quite as close, for we are all largely what our fathers and grandfathers, and our remoter ancestors for a score of generations back, have made us. None of us can tell what tears and prayers, what heart-aches and sorrows, as well as what triumphs have entered into our remote history to make our lives in free America or Britain what they are; but we may be sure that our pathway would have been a very different one, and our road to our own individual north pole much harder, had not a hundred generations blazed the way before us.

These generations have made it possible for us to live in houses instead of caves and huts; to eat a civilized meal instead of tearing raw meat from the bone with our fingers; to worship God in His own house, instead of grotesque and hideous images.

Especially for every Christian ancestor and forerunner should we thank God on our bended knees.

"They climbed the steep ascent of heaven

Through peril, toil, and pain;

O God, to us may grace be given

To follow in their train."

—Dr. Francis E. Clark, in C. E. World.

BENEFITS

What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?"

Physical benefits or blessings may first be named because much will depend upon the physical condition of anyone as to the enjoyment of any thing. For this reason, then, it is the duty of everybody to give careful attention to his physical condition, and he should study to know himself as well as possible. Ignorance and bad habits have ruined many, and made shorter the lives of others. Many do not know, because they have no one to teach them and correct wrong habits. If you are physically weak it disqualifies you from bearing the burdens and enjoying the pleasures of life. When this is the condition abstain at once from everything which unduly excites and weakens, it must be avoided. Then by careful, prudent living, there is another chance to get strong. If anything hurts in any way, let it alone. Put all the guards watching for the enemy. He is looking for you—he wants you, and will capture you if he can. But do not let him succeed.

Use all the means to keep strong, always knowing that it is necessary to maintain plenty of reserve power. You have great vitality now, it may be—but take good care of it. You will need it later on as the years begin to draw upon your physical resources. Lay up a good supply for times of need, just as one ought to save plenty of his earnings for times of sickness or old age. I have known people to spend all they made. They did not provide a reserve fund, and were caught in the grasp of poverty.

It is a fine thing to see; it is a good thing to hear; it is such a glad privilege to walk; it is a grand thing to talk; and it is such a splendid thing to live and move among nature. To possess in full exercise the five senses is such a great privilege. We may be deprived of great learning and of abundant wealth—but the possession of the blessings named above can not be estimated. They ought to be called rich, comforting blessings, and yet how little some people seem to appreciate them.

See there a fine-looking person—his eye not dim, nor his natural strength abated, the picture of manliness and health, which is more valuable than wealth. The privilege of having sound faculties, of possessing good use of the organs of the body, of breathing, thinking, and of having splendid activity is a possession of priceless value. Living and being able to take part in the great drama of life are blessings not fully appreciated by those who are able to do so, but those who cannot do these things would greatly enjoy doing them. Many are so constituted as not to appreciate what they possess as they ought. Deprive them of what they have, then they appear to realize the loss and better understand its worth. The finding of the lost sheep was appreciated more than the ninety and nine which went not astray. So also of the woman who lighted a candle and looked and swept the floor of the house until she found the lost piece of silver. Finding the lost piece gave more pleasure than all the other money she possessed. When the lost was found they all came with great rejoicing.

When your health becomes impaired the next thought is to have it restored, and when you succeed you feel that the restoration of it is more to you than all the world beside. How happy is everyone thus restored. These facts will apply to every relation we sustain—to every stage and condition, to all ages and nations. They will be none the less convincing to every reasoning individual, and help him to form better conclusions while thinking of and investigating other subjects. A person who had been sick, and nursed by another during the sickness, after recovering wrote with a grateful heart the following words: "The good attention given to me and the kind words spoken by you in my favor will be like a ripple on the ocean of time, and will reach the shore of eternity." Thus you see a good, kind, sincere act never ceases to live. It will be in the mind of some one, and will be kept and perpetuated in tender remembrance.

Some physical benefits or blessings having been noticed—there are other things which may be properly considered in the investigation of this subject.

Temporal blessings may claim the attention for a while, and the proper thoughts concerning them ought to be full of gratitude to Him who gave them so freely. These things are within the reach of all, and may be obtained, in part, by everyone who tries to possess them. Some get more blessings than others, and there are causes for this, but each may get enough of them if the right way is taken. Some are good managers and use to the greatest advantage the means they employ. Success comes to them because they open the way for it. They have more capacity and are more actively engaged, and do not yield to discouraging influences. It will not do for the ship to drift with the waves and the tide, but it must continue to cut its way through the storm to make its destination. It takes confidence, persistence, faith and bravery to keep right on through. It is a duty to make the best of life and get all the good out of it possible.

So many temporal blessings are all about us. The air which perpetuates life is surely one of the greatest benefits which the Maker of the world produced, and one of the greatest temporal blessings we enjoy, and yet there are many who never look up to God and thank Him for it.

With this there is the bright sun light glaring before us, bringing not only brightness but helping those on the way to be cheerful and happy; helping them to live not simply in the light of day, but to walk in the light of God. Water is also another great benefit. It has been provided freely for the use of everyone, and it flows abundantly from the springs for a blessing to the world. What a great provision did our Father make when He prepared water for the use of His creation! Every thing has been provided for the good and comfort of His creatures, and in this provision forethought and wisdom were shown.

It was a wonderful and profound thing to create the animal kingdom; it was a great thing to make the mineral kingdom; it was a most useful thing to provide the vegetable kingdom, and a triumphant work to prepare the heavenly kingdom. These things are too large and full and complete to grasp and fully understand, yet it is desirable and natural to think of them, because we are part of them. Yes, we are parts of the mineral, vegetable, and animal kingdoms. We may not have thought much about this great subject, but by careful reflection and the proper investigation it may be seen that it is true.

This three-fold combination causes us to be physically and intellectually strong, and prepares us for more endurance and usefulness. The fourth great kingdom—the heavenly kingdom, is the one that should most interest us. The first mentioned kingdoms were necessary, and we have seen and realized their benefits, but the kingdom of God should interest and concern us more than any thing else because it will stand forever. And we are looking for a kingdom that shall not be moved. Millions are pressing for the possession of this kingdom and these fervent words will help them into it: "Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear." What rich and helpful benefits the Lord has provided in these earthly kingdoms, but how infinitely glorious must be the blessings of heaven!

Many have been blessed with lands, houses, and with means for support, and these alone ought to give unlimited pleasure. There are others who have spent their lives in preaching the gospel, and who possess very few of the temporal blessings. They have left all to follow Him. But when they consider how nicely they have been entertained, how many kind homes they have visited and that for a time they enjoyed the homes and their surroundings as much as the owners of them, they begin to consider and to realize more fully what Jesus said to Peter. "Verily I say unto you, There is no man that has left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my sake, and the gospel's, but he shall receive an hundred fold now in this time, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life."

When you consider the spiritual blessings, they have been fully provided to fill every life which can or will receive them. Not even the poorest has been neglected. The invitation, "Come unto me," is a general one, and He who created has greatly and graciously provided for it. The Spirit bears witness with our spirits, and impresses the saved one that he is a child of God. Our Lord has wonderfully pardoned us, lovingly provided spiritual blessings, and greatly protected us, giving us deliverance when bound with sin.

(Continued on page eleven).

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....	$1.50
Six Months .....	.75
Four Months .....	.50

Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Virginia Valley Central, was held at Newport, Page Co., beginning Thursday, August 12th.

Others are to meet as follows:

Alabama.—Christiana Church, Tuesday, 10:00 a. m., Oct. 19. Rev. G. O. Lankford, Pres., Columbus, Ga., J. W. Payne, Secy., Wadley, Ala., R. F. D.3.

Ga. and Ala.—Richland, Ga., Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., Oct. 26. Rev. H. W. Elder, Pres., Richland, Ga., J. F. Hill, Jr., Sec., Box 64, Phoenix, Ala.

Eastern Virginia.—Franklin, Tuesday, Nov. 2. Rev. N. G. Newman, Pres., Holland, Va., Rev. W. D. Harward, Secy.

Eastern N. C.—Sanford, Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Underwood, Pres., Sanford, N. C., Rev. W. C. Wickler, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Ramseur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Belew's Creek, Tuesday, Nev. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

THE BOOK AND THE LIFE.

No one who is acquainted contents that the Bible is a book of the dead past. It never was a dead book, can never be. This for the reason that it was written to portray life. There is not a shade of experience, or of human nature, in all the Book that is not found also in human life and vice versa. The Book is saturated with life. It pulsates with vitality, throbs with unceasing heart beats. We read the Book because it reveals life to us—opens the vistas of an ever brightening day. The books men write about the Bible perish: but the Bible does not perish. It is vital.

When, then, a people adopt this Book as their only rule of faith and practice they have adopted, not a creed, but a life. They have grouped themselves about a great Life that it may vitalize and invigorate them. We read the Book not merely to learn lessons, but to imbibe a life. We would drink from the deep and overflowing fountains of that Life.

Because the Christian Church wants to live a life, be inspired, directed, touched, thrilled by a Life, it adopts a Book for its rule of faith and practice which Book pulsates with life. "Christ is our creed," and the Book tells, shows, manifests, reveals Him.

WHEN SMALL THINGS BECOME GREAT.

The King of England has been bestowing the honor of knighthood on influential men of his realm who have worked their way to prominence and influence from very humble beginnings. One of the number recently knighted is Sir James Duckworth, a great manufacturer, director of companies, former mayor of a city and member of Parliament. Of the man and the event the Methodist Recorder of London thus speaks:—

"Sir James Duckworth is the recipient of the public congratulations on his recent knighthood. He told a number of interesting reminiscences of his early life, among others, how he went to Sunday school before he was three years old, and had learned the alphabet before that. At the age of fourteen he was earning fifteen shillings a week at the loom, though he always hated the mill. But his stepfather could only make eight shillings a week, and the boy had to be the main support of the home. During the Crimean War he enlisted in the Royal Marines, but was bought out by his parents. Sir James also stated that all through his business life he had given at least one night a week and the whole of his Sundays to religious work, and that work he had never regretted, for it had kept him from getting into a narrow, selfish groove."

When a man of meager beginnings becomes great and influential, the things that seemed smallest loom largest, and these are they that the great men love most to tell about. The man of millions loves to tell how he attended Sunday school, went to church, read his Bible, worked hard and long and late and lived hard, when he was a boy.

Did you ever hear of a great man who regretted having gone to Sunday school, attended church service, and been of service in the King's cause? Hardly. The small things become largest when indeed those small things helped once to build the moral and spiritual manhood of the race.

COLLECTIONS FOR CONFERENCE.

The churches are busy taking their collections for the approaching Annual Conference. This is well; though to have been busy earlier were better. If the members who remain from Conference could realize as those do who attend Conference how very much the sums asked were needed, all apportionments would go up in full. What we send to Conference represents our gifts during the year to the church. (What is paid the pastor is neither given to the church nor to the Lord: it is paid the preacher for service rendered). Care should be taken then that the apportionments are raised in full. Every penny is needed, and will be put of the very best of use.

And all these funds would be readily raised and paid but for this one fact: the many wait for the few, and the few feel that they have more than their share of the burden to bear.

In this world, the few have the burdens to bear. The many will not: the few must. It is so in church, in state, in home. The few must, or the work is not done, will not be done.

But the few do not hurt themselves. They are the better for their burden-bearing, the happier for their heaving.

Only this brings the sting: one does his duty; and then he feels that another should, and is hurt in heart if the other does not. Our duty belongs to us alone. Let each attend well to his own duty and be not harmed over what the other does not. One is answerable to conscience and to God. Because another will not do his duty is no reason for our not doing our duty. One has a duty in the matter. One should attend to that with a willing hand and heart. To shrink or shrink because of what another does, or fails to do, is not the part of a courageous man, and a true Christian soldier.

The great purpose of the Church is cooperation for the common good. We band ourselves together in Christian fellowship with Christ as our Leader. What would He have me to do? is the sole question in this, as in other matters. Or, that which comes to the same, What can I best do in this matter to advance the kingdom of my Lord? If all will ponder this question, and give the answer of a clear conscience, there will be no trouble about conference apportionments coming up in full—and the Lord's treasury will run over.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

Tuesday, June 6, was a very rainy day in Suffolk, and somewhat cool. Between twelve and one o'clock Mr. Paul Howell came to my study to ask me to speak at the Baptist Baraca social on Thursday night. When he started away there was a half grown chicken standing at my door wet and cold, and when the door was opened, the chicken walked into my study. I said to Mr. Howell, "This is a brave chicken to take the risk of a preacher's study in preference to a July rain." He laughed and passed out into the downpour. At one o'clock the dinner bell rang and I left the chicken standing in my room and went to dinner. I returned with a biscuit to feed my guest till the storm was over, and found it prostrate on the floor and nearing the end of life. It would not eat and finally died. I cannot tell the cause of the chicken's death. It may be that it had the cholera; or it may be that when it saw the theological library and found it was in a preacher's room fright brought on heart-failure and it passed on into the chicken future. I wonder what the future of chickens is! We know very little about the future of any creature; but we know more about the future of man than any other. The whole scripture implies a future state for man, and that state corresponds to his character here in this life. And the church has an open door for every storm-driven pilgrim of time; and more, the door of hope and the kingdom is always open to the weather-beaten and sin-scarred homeless of earth. No institution gives such universal welcome to mankind, and no institution does so much for those outside. Its doors open at the least touch, and its fountains gush forth at the touch of need. God not only founded the church upon the rock, but all its springs are perennial and healthgiving to the soul.

The surprise is that so many in the church do not seem to count it a privilege to work for and give to the church. The percentage of those who can be counted upon to attend, to pay, and to work in the Sunday school, is small in most churches; but the good accomplished by this small number proves what the church might accomplish, if all would take active part. If all the members of the church would do their part faithfully, no department of church work would lag. The church has ability, influence, and money enough to do great things for God and man, if it could all be brought into consecrated service. The first thing to give is thought—thought of the needs of the church in local and missionary enterprise. The next thing to give is self.

Much is said about methods in raising money for the Lord's work. If Christians would first give themselves, money obligations and necessities would all be solved. Self cannot be given without much prayer, for the most difficult requirement in religion is self-surrender. Self is the all-inclusive gift. Those who can sing, "I surrender all" from the heart, are singing the grandest song of the church. That is what Jesus did for us, and that will make us like Him. Consecration covers the whole ground of christian obligation, and the church has failed to secure the consecration of its members. When mind, heart, time, and wealth are all laid upon the altar, then new advancement will mark the church. Great progress has already been made, but it is only the beginning of a service that shall crown the future with glory and establish the reign of Jesus over the kingdoms of this world.

W. W. Staley.

NORFOLK LETTER.

Mrs. J. A. Nichlos who was operated on for cancerous growth, I am glad to report, is convalescing nicely. Her general condition seems to be very much improved.

Rev. C. C. Ryan closed his labors as pastor of the Memorial Temple, with the services of yesterday. Congregations were large at both services, in the evening filling both the auditorium and the Sunday School rooms; received one member into the church at the morning services. He leaves this morning for Waverly, where he will assist the pastor, Rev. H. E. Rountree, in a series of meetings. His arrangements are to leave here Friday, 29th, for their future home in Ohio. Taking the work at the time he did, when it was considerably crippled, by the withdrawal of several of the active members to form the Third Church, I consider that his success has been very good indeed. He leaves the church on a good strong working basis, financially, numerically, and spiritually. He has the best wishes of a large circle of friends both in the church and out of it, which will go with him to his new field of labor.

Brother Howsare is expected to take up the work about the middle of next month.

Rev. E. J. Bodman, of Revana, N. Y., together with his wife, arrived in Norfolk, Saturday morning, and are being entertained at the home of Sister J. E. Davidson. Brother Bodman comes for a week's stay investigating this field, with the view of possibly taking up the work at the Third Church. He preached for us yesterday morning, and evening two strong, forceful sermons, which were well received. He will conduct the mid-week prayer service, and be with us again next Sunday. Both his wish and ours, is that the will of the Lord be accomplished, if it be in his taking up the work or not.

The work in Portsmouth is getting on nicely. They are having the largest average attendance at Sunday school that they have had at any time, having one hundred and four present yesterday. Congregations at the preaching services are also reported to be the largest of any time. Work is progressing nicely on their new building. They are working hard to meet their payments, not having sold their old property, it is making it a little hard for them at the present time, but with a hand of as faithful workers as they are, success will crown their efforts beyond a shadow of a doubt.

J. W. Manning.

SUCH AS I HAVE.

Rev. G. Campbell Morgan tells this story: "Some years ago a woman came to me at the close of the Sunday morning service, and said, 'Oh, I would give anything to be in this work actively and actually. I would give anything to have some living part in the work that is going on here next week in winning men and women to Christ, but I do not know what to do.' I said, 'My sister, are you prepared to give the Master the five loaves and two fishes you possess?' She said, 'I do not know that I have five loaves and two fishes.' I said, 'Have you anything that you have used in any way specially?' 'No,' she did not think she had. 'Well,' I said, 'can you sing?' Her reply was, 'Yes, I sing at home, and I have sung before now in an entertainment.' 'Well, now,' I said, 'let us put our hand on that. Will you give the Lord your voice for the next ten days?' She said, 'I will.' I shall never forget that Sunday evening. I asked her to sing, and she sang. She sang the Gospel message with the voice she had, feeling that it was a poor, worthless thing, and that night there came out of that meeting into the inquiry room one man. That man said to me afterwards that it was the Gospel that was sung which reached his heart; and from that day to this—that is now eleven or twelve years ago—that man has been one of the mightiest workers for God in that city and country I have ever known. How was it done? A woman gave the Master what she had."

Are we willing to give the Master what we have? If so, there will be a harvest of glorious surprises in the immediate future. There is not a talentless man or woman in all the world.—Selected.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....$3,795.01

Dues:

Paul Hooper Strader ....$1.00
 Rillie Stephenson ..... 1.00
 Willie Jackson Everett .. .20
 Nannie Bell Benton ..... .10
 R. Leslie Newman ..... .05

Monthly S. S. Offering:

Palm St., Greenshoro, N.C. 1.21
 Catawba Springs, N. C. .. 3.38
 Wentworth, N. C. .... 2.77
 Linville, Va. .... .75
 Rosemont, Va. .... 1.00

Special Offering:

F. M. Carlton, Durham,
 N. C. .... 5.00
 Mrs. Rebeeca Watkins,
 Middleburg, N. C. .... 1.00
 Am't. 38th week ..... — 17.46
 Total .....$3,812.47

My Dear Children:—

Digging potatoes is one attraction at the Orphanage this week. They have not been measured yet, so we cannot give you the number of bushels at this time but will let you know later.

Change in the weather caused colds and some sore throat last week but nothing serious. The health of our children has been all the time unusually good.

Miss Ella Andrews visited us last week and left candy for them all. This is not the first time our children have been treated like this by our kind friend and they love to see her come.

Mrs. Tenie Moss, Keats, Va., has sent some dried fruit which, owing to the scarcity of this much enjoyable article, will be doubly appreciated.

The Farmer's Cotton Oil Co., Wilson, N. C., F. N. Bridges, Sec. and Treas., sent last week 1,000 lbs. cotton hulls, which we were very thankful to receive.

Our former cousins are not responding to our call as we had hoped. Guess they are waiting for Thanksgiving when they mean to swell the amount given by their churches yearly to this good cause. Well, let it come when it will, only he sure to send a nice donation real soon.

Cordially,
 Uncle Jim.

Roanoke, Ala., Oct. 5, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Enclosed you will find one dollar for my dues for all of this year. Do not think I have written since February.

I have made lots of money on my pet hen. She is a good layer and has raised me some chickens too.

I am so glad you are coming to our Conference. You must be sure to visit us when you come to New Hope, our church.

Your niece,
 Rillie Stephenson.

Hope to see you very soon, Rillie, and all the Ala. cousins, which will be quite a treat to Uncle Jim.

Franklin, Va., Oct. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am with mama now going to school. I like my teacher. She says I am a gold dollar. I am getting along nicely. I like to go to school, but I did hate to leave uncle and auntie. I know they miss me so much. They came to see us not long since and didn't say one word about taking me back with them. I wanted to go.

Enclosed please find 20c., my dues to November 1.

Your loving little cousin,
 Willie Jackson Everett.

Gold dollars are valuable, Willie, so teacher must value you highly. Learn fast, then visit Aunt and Uncle this summer and have a good time.

Greenshoro, N. C., Oct. 8, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am a little girl and want to join the cousins. I am ten years old. I go to school every day. I go to the training school at the Normal. My brother takes The Christian Sun. I like to read the cousin's corner.

Enclosed find 10 cents.

May I remain
 Your niece,
 Nannie Bell Benton.

I believe you are our only cousin from Greenshoro, Nannie, and right welcome you are. Cannot you get others to come along with you?

Manson, N. C., Oct. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I write to send you my dues for October. It is a warm sunny day, isn't it?

Mama and I were helping Grandpa Newman strip tobacco yesterday. While we were fixing to get some tobacco out of the pit, Murdock (Grandpa's youngest son), fell in. But it didn't hurt him much. Scared him bad, though.

Are crops coming up less than people up there expected they would?

Love to all. Your nephew,
 R. Leslie Newman.

Some of our crop will come short, Leslie, but potatoes I guess will be plentiful, and you know how boys love "taters."

Summerfield, N. C., Oct, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Please excuse me as I haven't sent in my dues for some time, but I haven't forgotten the little orphans. I will send you $1.00 to be used for them. My school will start in a short while and I am real anxious to go.

Sincerely,
 Paul Hooper Strader.

We have missed your letters, Paul, but when you make up for lost time like this, you encourage us very much.

When in Burlington call at

T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

WANTED—Bookkeepers, Stenographers.

MORE BANKERS in the 16 States in which Jno. F. Draughon's 30 Colleges are located, indorse these Colleges than indorse ALL others. IF YOU want the EVIDENCE and want to RISE to the $10-a-day class, ask for FREE catalogue. LESSONS BY MAIL if preferred. Draughon's Practical Business College, Raleigh, N. C.: A. M. FISHER, Mgr

YOUNG MEN! If you want to know why you should become telegraph operators and what school to attend, write to SOUTHERN SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, Newnan, Ga., for free Catalogue "A." EVERY BOY should read it. Positions positively guaranteed.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist
 FOSTER BUILDING,
 Burlington, N. C.

RAISE MONEY FOR YOUR CHURCH.

We offer you an easy method. Send us a photograph of your church or your pastor, and we will send you 500 high grade post cards, with photograph on each card, and scripture verse if desired. Sell these cards at 10 cents each. When sold, remit us $20.00 and keep the balance. You can do this in a week. We will return photograph.

LAKE SHORE SUPPLY CO.,
 225 Broad St., St. Joe, Michigan.

(Begun on page seven).

“What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?” Render means to return—to give. How shall we answer this question? What can I give,—poor, little, and weak as I am, unto the Lord who owns the worlds? Suitable expressions of love, and willing acts of service should be given in loving remembrance for all the benefits we have enjoyed.

Let us give the main use of our minds to the service of the Lord. Give to His cause a part of the means we have, and we ought to be willing to do this. A good part of our time should be given to the Lord, and this too ought to be rendered freely. Let us give Him our energy, “not slothful in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord.”

J. T. Kitchen.

Windsor, Va.

SOME HISTORIC ROOFS.

Wisdom of Early Builders Evident in Relics of Colonial Days.

The stately colonial houses of old Virginia, Independence Hall, Philadelphia, the houses of New England, a hundred or more years old—all of them are roofed with tin, and as they stand now with steadfast walls and solid timbers to this day, they are testimony to the value of the roofing chosen by their wise builders.

Today, builders who work to the best interest of their customers also use tin roofing, but it is now a vastly improved house covering.

This new roofing is known as Cortright Metal Shingles, and their value as roofing lies in their ingenious form as much as in the superiority of the basic material. There is not a drop of solder-used on a Cortright roof. There is not an exposed nail on a Cortright roof. The highest wind could not produce a noise from a Cortright roof. A hurricane back of a rain or snow-storm can not drive a particle of moisture under or into a Cortright roof—neither could a spark live on it—or heat or cold pull it apart—or lightning harm a house under it—and it will out-wear any kind of roofing.

It is weather, wear and trouble-proof, all because it is made of perfect roofing material in a perfect way. It is superior to plain tin, because the Cortright Metal Shingles are cut in comparatively small pieces and so stamped that they interlock, requiring nails only at one edge—fewer nails than any kind of roofing. The free edge is held by the fastened edge of the preceding shingle, which allows stretch in heat and shrinkage in cold without tearing at the nail-holes, and all are painted on both sides before shipment.

The laying of Cortright Metal Shingles is such a simple matter that no competent mechanic can go amiss in the work.

Any of our readers preparing to build should write for particulars to the Cortright Metal Roofing Company, 54 N. Twenty-third St., Philadelphia, Pa.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

.. THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

CANCER CAN BE CURED.

Personal or Home Treatment. Both successful. Scores of testimonials, from persons who gladly write to those now suffering, all tell of permanent cures. My Mild Combination Treatment destroys growth and eliminates the disease from the system. Free book “Cancer and Its Cure” and 125-page book of testimonials from cured patients in all parts of the country. No matter how serious your case, how many operations you have had, or what treatment you have taken, don't give up hope, but write at once. Dr. Johnson Remedy Co., 125 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo. Physicians treated free.

Free to Housekeepers
We want every housekeeper to have a Perfect Dust-Beater. Every house needs it every day. Hundreds of testimonials. To introduce it we will send a New Household Necessity of equal value and Free Premiums. Send 40 cents, stamps or money order.

Home Needs Co., 275 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

WHAT'S YOUR TIME WORTH?

Technically, the Bell Telephone is applicable in ALL cases: “It reaches anyone, anywhere, anytime.” Letters and personal calls, trips by rail, trolley or team may some times be necessary or desirable substitutes, but as a standing dule we should use the telephone. It saves time, trouble, annoyance and money; often it saves life and property.

Ever read what the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., of Atlanta, Ga., has to say upon the importance of telephone service in rural districts? If not, write for their free booklet. It explains how the Southern farmer can enjoy the advantages of telephone connection at a mere trifle. And then to think that there are still people to be found who are trying to struggle through life without it!

KEEPING FAMILIES ABOVE WANT.

Every thinking man wants to provide so that his wife and little ones, those dependent upon him, will be kept above want when he is no longer here to provide for them. The great question now-a-days is the best means to this end. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company has a plan whereby the helpless ones are protected as long as they live and kept from want. Write T. A. Cary, Mutual Building, Richmond, Virginia for “Document 843,” giving full particulars and showing how easy it is for you to protect your family forever.

DO YOU WANT TO GO TO COLLEGE? If so we can help you. We have already put hundreds through college by means of our plan. Write today for full information regarding our offer of a free scholarship in any school or college. Address, Robert J. Sherlock, 29-31 East 22nd Street, New York City.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHOEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for “Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup,” and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braraman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

MEDICINE.

We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Burlington, N. C.

OPIUM or Morphine Habit Treated. Free trial cases where other remedies have failed, specially desired. Confidential.

Dr. R. G. CONTRELL, successor to HARRIS INSTITUTE, Room 552, No. 400 W. 23rd St., New York.

HORSE INSURANCE

Is written by THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.

Of High Point North Carolina. Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

Wanted All kinds of old-fashioned furniture, looking glasses, clocks, brass articles, etc. Send description and price. Address, IRVING ELTING, Saugerties, New York.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

Watchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—OFFICERS.

"If I only had the necessary leaders among the young people to act as officers, I would be only too glad to have a Christian Endeavor Society in each of my churches." Thus writes a good brother pastor to this office and thus think many other good pastors who ought to write us, but don't.

Now, brethren, let us reason this thing out together. It is the business of Christian Endeavor to train young people to be leaders. If they are already trained, you don't need the society for them. If they are not trained, a fact which you admit, then they do need the Society that they may get the necessary training.

You must not expect your new Society to do as good work or be as well officered as an old, experienced one, but it can do effective work and acceptable to the Master. You will likely need to appoint some older person as president for six months. This person should be a pusher rather than a leader of the young people in the Society. Let him put them in his place and in responsible positions as often as possible. For example, at the business session, he may ask the vice-president to preside a few minutes while he does something else—makes a talk for example—and then let him help the choir through the remainder of the session. The trouble with most of us older ones is that we like to lead and not to push. Leadership is all right, and we need it, but "pushership" is better, especially when it comes from the older people who are helping to launch a Christian Endeavor Society and train up its officers from the young people. If you must have an older person as president, be sure to get a pusher.

All the other officers should be young people. These should include a vice-president, a recording secretary, a corresponding secretary, a treasurer, an organist, a chorister, and such others as local conditions may render advisable. Frequently change officers—let no one hold the same office more than two terms in succession—one term is perhaps a better plan. This will give all a chance and so will train all. Don't have an older person as president more than six months. State this at the beginning.

We have no church which is so backward that it cannot have a Christian Endeavor Society. It is a reflection on a church to say that it cannot have this organization. Is your church, are you, being reflected on? Who is to blame?

Who will be the next to report a new Christian Endeavor Society, or Teacher-Training Class, or Organized Class? Let us hear from you.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—1911.

On July 7, 1909, in his opening address before the All-America Christian Endeavor Convention, Dr. Francis E. Clark proposed as a program for the next two years, 10,000 new societies and 1,000,000 new members for Christian Endeavor in America. The Convention met his proposal with hearty approval and have adopted as the Society's watch word for two years: "Atlantic City, 1911," which being interpreted means 3,000 new Young People's Societies, 3,000 new Junior Societies, 2,000 new Intermediate Societies, and 2,000 new Senior Societies, aggregating 1,000,000 new members. Wonderful; isn't it?

Yet the work is fairly on and on a business basis at that. North Carolina is assigned 75 new Societies, Virginia 30, Alabama 60, and Georgia 30. In all these states our membership is strong and our course hopeful and bright-eyed. Shall we not have our part in this great campaign for Christ and the Church and the young people? Shall we not?

The future of the church is with the young people. The future of the young Christian is with the Christian Endeavor Society. What conclusion do you draw from this?

Two C. E. Books—Reviewed.

That prince of writers, Amos R.

Wells, has sent to this office several books of his production to be reviewed. Two of these, entitled On the Lookout and The Endeavor Greeting, have been read and with pleasure. They are both heartily commended to our people and will be found to be worth several times their cost (10 cents each, published by the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass.).

The Endeavor Greeting is a manual of information for new members. Under the caption, "We Welcome You," on the title page we read these warm words of cheer to the new member:

"We rejoice that the Holy Spirit has led you to join our Society.

"We receive you most cordially into our fellowship and ask you to think of us as your brothers and sisters in Christ's blessed service.

"We trust that the Society will gain much power and that you will gain much from the Society. Let us be laborers together—hand in hand and heart to heart."

Its 40 pages tell the new Endeavorers what the society is, what it will do for him, and what he ought to do, how to do it, and concludes with a "And Now May God Bless You" prayer, full of tenderness and fervor and charm.

The second booklet, On the Lookout, is a manual giving suggestive methods of work for Lookout Committees. It contains 53 pages brimful of most excellent matter. There are eight chapters, every one of which is luminous with Mr. Wells' genius for illustration and being practical. These chapters are: The Lookout Committee; Winning New Members; Inspiring and Guiding; In the Prayer Meetings; Emphasizing the Pledge; Work with the Unconverted; The Stranger Within the Gates; Use Printers' Ink. The book is invaluable to a new society. Every Christian Endeavorer ought to have it.

Why This Waste?

Every revival sees many back-sliders reclaimed. These are largely from among the young people. Why this waste? Because the young convert is given nothing to do in the religious life. His burning enthusiasm, the joy of his new experience, is lost. His spiritual nature atrophies for lack of work and he goes to the world. Is there no remedy for this? Try Christian Endeavor. I know an active pastor in another church who rarely has to convert the same person twice. He puts all new members to work in the Christian Endeavor Society. One of the most aggressive and progressive denominations today follows this plan—I refer to the Disciples of Christ—and though younger than we they number more than ten members to our one. Is there not a lesson here—a warning and a spur to better things? Let us stop this waste!

C. E. TOPIC FOR OCT. 24—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Why Some Men and Women Do Not Succeed in Life.

Joshua 1:1-9.

The Leader.—Care should be exercised in the choice of the leader for this meeting. He should be a successful man or young man (or a lady may be chosen). The leader's remarks should be definite and to the point. Do not try to cover all the causes for failure in life, but only one or two of the most common ones.

Speaker from Outside.—An excellent variation in this meeting would be to get some successful man of high ideals to tell in five minutes what he regards as the fundamentals of a truly successful career.

The Scripture.—Have nine Endeavorers memorize each a verse of the lesson. Let them rise and in order repeat the same, adding a sentence or brief paragraph comment, showing how the verse bears on the topic of the evening.

Question Spurs.—(To be handed out, but not specifically called for):

What is true success? How does God's idea of success differ from the world's? How does procrastination affect success? Courtesy? Perseverance? Cheerfulness? Sincerity? Industry? A sense of the value of time? Ambition? Attention to Little Things? Cultivation of the Spiritual Life? The Bible? Prayer? The Christian Endeavor Society?

Scripture References.—(To be handed out, but not specifically called for. A verse should be accompanied by a word of comment showing its bearing on the topic,—only a word).

Drunkenness, Deut. 21:20.

Fear, Num. 14:3.

Instability, Matt. 13:6.

Indecision, Matt. 6:24.

Falsehood, Psalm 5:6.

Fear of God, Isa. 50:10.

Honesty, Phil. 4:8.

Integrity, 2 Cor. 7:2.

Industry, Acts 18:3.

What is Success? Luke 12:16-21.

(Continued on page sixteen).

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

---

A PURITAN CAPTAIN

BY EMMANUEL C. CHARLTON, PH. D.

This thrilling tale of sea adventure is based on actual experience and is told in the author's own natural manner, which is made the more impressive because of his long experience as a seaman, and Christian worker among his fellow-craftsmen. The story is specially attractive to all classes. The moral is of a high character. There is not a dull chapter in it.

This beautifully bound book, printed from good, clear type, on first quality paper, containing nearly 270 pages, sold for $1.00. Address all orders to

J. N. HESS

Agent of the

Christian Publishing Association

DAYTON, OHIO

---

Books for Every Christian Home.

Do you know why you are a member of the Christian Church?

Do you understand what the church stands for and teaches?

If not, send and get a copy of the "Principles and Government of the Christian Church," just revised and greatly improved by order of the Southern Christian Convention.

Cloth binding per copy, post paid 50 cts.

Limp Cloth binding per copy, post paid 35 cts.

Paper binding per copy, post paid 25 cts.

Handsome Persian Morocco, with name in gilt $1.25.

The Southern Christian Convention also Ordered Another Book Published, PREPARING THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER TO TEACH. Edited by Profs. W. A. Harper, W. C. Wicker and W. P. Lawrence.

The book is neatly printed and bound and is invaluable to the Sunday-school worker, 236 pages.

Paper binding per copy, postpaid, 60 cts.

Cloth binding per copy, postpaid, 90 cts.

To Sunday-schools, paper binding 50 cts. cloth 75 cts.

Have You Read That Thrilling and Inspiring Story of His Own Life, MOTHER'S ANSWERED PRAYER, BY REV. P. H. FLEMING, D. D.?

Cloth binding, postpaid 55 cts.

All these books should be in your home. Order at once.

For sale by: THE CHRISTIAN SUN, ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

---

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON. N. C.

MARRIED.

Waynick-Walker

At the residence of Capt. Robt. Faucett, in Stony Creek township, Caswell Co., N. C., Oct. 7, 1909, Mr. Cras. M. Waynick to Mrs. Mattie Walker. A quiet home wedding in the presence of a few invited friends, Rev. J. W. Holt officiating.

Somers-Madren.

At the residence of A. D. Madren near Altamahaw, N. C., Oct. 10, 1909, Mr. George Somers to Miss Effie Madren. Both parties of Alamance County. Many good wishes follow these popular young people. J. W. Holt.

Miles-Stanfield.

Near Corbett, N. C., at Mr. J. B. Stanfield's, Wed., Oct. 13, 1909, Mr. L. A. Mills and Miss Hattie B. Stanfield were united in marriage by the writer, in the presence of many friends and relatives. They have the best wishes of many friends and relatives for a long and happy life. Thos. W. Strowd.

D I E L.

Pool

Mrs. Nettie Pool of Auburn died Saturday, Sept. 18, aged sixty-four years. She was the wife of Peter Pool deceased, the mother of W. E. and E. J. Pool, Delma and Earl Pool, Mrs. Baley and Brookie Pool. She had been a great sufferer for many months. She was a loyal member of the Auburn Christian Church where her funeral was conducted by the writer on Sunday afternoon of the 19th. A large audience was present at the funeral. She was hurried in the old family grave-yard near the village.

As a faithful Christian and a tender hearted mother she loved mercy and truth. She died having a hope of glory. Let mother live on forever, and may those who will sometime follow her in death be as happy as she is happy now.

L. F. Johnson.

—Despite the attacks made on Doctor Cook, New York City honors, all the higher, the explorer. On the 15th he was officially extended the freedom of the city. This is an honor that is rarely granted,—few Americans have been accorded it. It was first granted to George Washington, LaFayette enjoyed it, and Charles Dickens and Prince Henry of Russia.

Bilious? "How are your bowels?" the doctor always asks. He knows how important is the question of constipation. He knows that inactivity of the liver will often produce most disastrous results. We believe Ayer's Pills are the best liver pills you can possibly take. Sold for over 60 years.

Doctors all agree that an active liver is positively essential to health. Ask your own doctor about Ayer's Pills. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company
BUKLLINGTON, N. C.

Gibbes Gasoline Engines

Either vertical or horizontal, for any service. The most economical power for running farm machinery, small manufacturing plants, etc. Send for catalogues and full descriptive matter of the various sizes and styles of outfits.

An Ideal Power for Every Purpose.

Gibbes Machinery Co., Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.
Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery"—All kinds.—A Value

VICK'S CROUP AND PNEUMONIA SALVE

This splendid remedy, popular for fifteen years, is endorsed by physicians everywhere—over 300 in North Carolina alone. It has saved thousands of lives—children with croup and whooping cough, adults with pneumonia, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc.; and it soon relieves all congestion and inflammation of the throat and air passages. It differs from ordinary remedies, giving off vapors that are Antiseptic, Stimulating and Germicidal. Its Bromine Treatment which loosens the phlegm, unlocks the congested air passages, as liquid medicines cannot possibly do, and at the same time the application to the skin relieves the nervous system, reducing inflammation and aiding the blood in its fight against the invading germs. Get it now—25c, 50c, and $1.00. At all druggists or by mail from VICK'S FAMILY REMEDIES CO., Greensboro N. C. For free sample specify department No. 2.

"The Oxford Teachers' par excellence"

JUST ISSUED!

OXFORD
Teachers' Bibles and S. S. Scholars' Bibles

With New 20th Century Helps arranged in One Alphabetical Order.

THE HELPS

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, says: "The helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

WILEY-BLISS CHRISTIAN BIBLE PUBLISHING CO., ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Bible is the Bible of the World."

NOW READY!
SIX NEW EDITIONS

OXFORD
Black Faced Type BIBLES

Three on Oxford White Paper. Three on the famous Oxford India Paper.

Pearl 32' J. A wonderful clear type in a small-size book.

Minion 16m. Ready October 1907. A model hand Bible.

Brevier 16mo. Large type in small compass. "A quart in a pint measure."

"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."

ASK FOR THE OXFORD EDITION

REMEMBER: That we guarantee satisfaction and sell to you cheaper than the publisher and dealers do. Our business is by mail and express and prices quoted are the prices of goods delivered to you. We can furnish you the Oxford, or the Holman Teacher's Bible at prices ranging from $1.35 to $4.00. Send for our catalogue or write us what you want. Address THE CHRISTIAN SUN, Elon College, N. C.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seacoast Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION FOR OCTOBER

It is possible to get a most amazing amount of interest out of practical articles when they are handled like those which appear in Woman's Home Companion for October.

Such an article is that containing William Armstrong's advice to the ambitious music student who wants to study abroad. Mr. Armstrong has made a careful special investigation, and his advice is to study at home first.

In "Short Cuts to Health," Dr. Woods Hutchinson waves a danger flag over many popular old-fashioned remedies.

"Why I Left the Ministry" is a startling confession by a country parson, who is anonymous for obvious reasons.

Far from the country parson lies the theatre of action of Kellogg Durland's story of Queen Elena.

Marion Harland at Chinon has written her big-hearted woman's story of Joan of Arc.

Besides these, there are eleven special articles in this issue, every one of which ought to be read and preserved.

Mothers will be pleased with two new departments dealing with the bringing up of children, which begin with this issue. These are conducted by Jean Williams, M.D., and Mary Louise Graham.

The Idea Club will prove a source of wealth to many a church aid society.

But perhaps the best thing in the whole issue is Myra Kelly's "Games in Gardens"—that wonderful humorist never wrote anything funnier than this.

There are also good stories by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Katherine Holland Brown, Temple Bailey, Mrs. John Van Voorst, and Kate Douglas Wiggin.

"Choice Cake Recipes," "The Formal Dinner," "How to Furnish the Boy's Room," the Big Fashion Department—each has in it something for every woman.

THE PROOF THAT CONVINCES.

What people see is more convincing than what they hear. Therefore it is what they see of the power of Christ in men's lives, rather than what they are told about it, that convinces them. The inventor who can show a successful working model of his invention will convince others of its success where a ten-thousand word explanation, no matter how clear and reasonable, would leave them skeptical. "A man who lives right and is right has more power in his silence than another has by his words," said Phillips Brooks. Is this our power?—S. S. Times.

—According to the official report on crops, the wheat crop of this year is 724,768,000 bushels, against last year's 664,602,000.

—A bill has been introduced into the Australian Parliament making military training compulsory from the age of twelve to twenty.

(Begun on page thirteen).

True Success, I Tim. 6:17-1.9
Suggested Program

1. Open with prayer service, preferably a chain of prayers.
2. Scripture and comment by nine Endeavorers.
3. Song: The Son of God Goes Forth to War.
4. Leader's Remarks.
5. Voluntary participation, including Scripture References with word comment and Question Spurs answered, as suggested above.
6. A suitable hymn of solo.
7. Five-minute address from speaker from outside.
8. Pastor's Five Minutes, in which he will do well to point out where the Society can improve.
9. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

Just Six Minutes to Wash a Tubful!

This is the grandest Washer the world has ever known. So easy to run that it's almost fun to work it. Makes clothes spotlessly clean in double-quick time. Six minutes finishes a tubful.

Any Woman Can Have a 1900 Gravity Washer on 30 Days' Free Trial

Don't send money. If you are responsible, you can try it first. Let us pay the freight. See the wonders it performs. Thousands being used. Every user delighted. They write us bushels of letters telling how it saves work and worry. Sold on little payments. Write for fascinating Free Book today. All correspondence should be addressed to 1900 Washer Co., 427 Henry St., Binghamton, N. Y. If you live in Canada, address Canadian 1900 Washer Co., 355 Yonge St., Toronto, Canada.
BRANCH HOUSES: We maintain branches at 187 Broadway, New York City; and 113 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, and in all principal cities. We also make shipments from our warehouses in Kansas City, San Francisco and Seattle.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West. Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway. Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway. Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.
R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C. J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt., Asheville, N. C.
S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M., Washington, D. C. W. H. TAYLOE, G. P. A.,

You Hear Whispers Through a New Giant Phone

With Andrae's New Giant Telephone you don't have to be yelled at, neither do you have to shout to make people understand. That is because of a transmitter toned to every possible condition. This handsome, never-out-of-order, adjustable-ringing, guaranteed telephone sent on

Test at a Kentucky Exchange

Number of Andrae Giants in use . . .	110
Repair jobs on them . . . . .	None
Other makes in use . . . . .	139
Repair jobs on them . . . . .	148

It is a storm-proof phone. It is capable of better service than any other make, because it is built for hardest usage and of strongest materials. 5 bar, 1600 ohm

30 Days' FREE TRIAL.

NEW LOW PRICE

Any subscriber to this publication can secure interesting facts about telephones by mailing us this coupon. [1]

Julius Andrae & Sons Co.
156 Sycamore Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

COUPON ANDRAE & SONS CO., Milwaukee, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Please send me your telephone booklet telling all about the Low Price "New Giant" phone at once.

Name _____
P. O. _____
State _____

ARE YOU BUILDING A HOUSE?

If so the question of durability and elegance of finish makes the following advice timely,—Don't buy cheap paints because they are cheap. Get the best and purest paints and stains. Here is the best selection it is possible to make if purity, durability and finish are the objects sought.

For interior and exterior paint, use Sphinx Pure Mixed Paints. For an elegant and durable floor finish, use Le-mo-lac. For natural wood interiors, use L. M. P. & O. Co.'s Natural Wood Stain. For carriages, automobiles, and buggies, use Royal Gloss Carriage Paints.

These Paints are guaranteed absolutely pure and the best it is possible to make.

Wide variety in tints. Write for free color cards and send us name of your nearest dealer.

Leland Moore Paint & Oil Co.,
CHARLESTON, S. C.

The Christian Sun.

State Library

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 42.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

God's Bounty.—He who does not revel in these glorious autumn days must be dull and dead, indeed, to all the charms of beauty, and allurements of color and variety. The trees are orange and gold, garnet, purple, blushing pink, and gorgeous red. An acre of woodland now will put the most skilled artist to very shame for delicacy of coloring and variety of tint and hue. Only the rich can buy splendid paintings. But spring and autumn make us all rich. Forest and field, under golden sunshine and generous shower, are transformed into art galleries such as never graced a king's palace, or adorned a Dives' mansion.

This is none other than the hand of God. He is the Master Artist. Only the infinite mind could conceive such color schemes, only divine Energy could shape such handi-work. In His Book of books, the Bible, God has condensed His thought, stored His energy, revealed His will. In this beauty and bounty of Nature, so golden and so glorious now, God gives free play to the majesty of His mind, opens up the flood gates of His marvelous Might, and writes out, for the reading of man, thoughts that are heavenly and meditations that are holy and divine. He who will not read God in Nature now is blind. For His beauty is matchless, miraculous, indescribable.

And not beauty only, but Bounty. Last spring a seed was planted in the soil. From it has come the full grown stalk, the large ear, an abundant increase. God gave the increase. He multiplied the little with much, the meager into might. With His daily bounty He feeds the cattle on a thousand hills, and likewise the teeming millions who throng the cities and people the earth. Our daily food is a gift of Heaven's bounty: our annual increase tells of God's interest in and concern for His children—for you and me, and all the rest. While gathering the golden grain, harvesting and housing the increase of the fields we shall see and bear in mind that the good God provides all this for His children because He is good, and because He loves them—loves us, loves all men and the children of men, everywhere, and would have us not forget Him, and at all times be grateful to Him.

Farmers and Poets.—An archaeologist claims to have discovered the site of the Sabine farm, sung of with such sweet and lavish note in the poems of the immortal Horace. And lo: "the estate," my "restful, happy, glorious Sabine farm" consists of two acres "more or less." The Roman poet, remarks an exchange, "raised there neither potatoes nor melons, but cultivated the muses, and made the farm yield a crop that is still in a good state of preservation."

As a rule, we believe, the average farmer cares less for poetry than for any product of brain or soil. And yet nothing has done so much to glorify the farm, turn the thought and fancy of untold millions to the farm as the poet, and poetry. As long as a furrow is plowed and the mellow soil is turned to the tune of the plow Robert Burns will be read and loved, for his immortal muse adorned and exalted everything about the farm. Why is farming so hard to do, and yet so beautiful to think and sing and write about? Men flee from the farm, and then paint pictures, sing songs and write books about the happiness and wholesomeness of farm life.

I wonder. Is it that the hardest things in reality come to be the happiest things in reflection and recollection? Maybe so. Middle age declares that youth is happy. Old age knows that youthful vigor was glorious. In heaven we shall see the earth was not bad. And these pains we suffer, these toils that try us, these sacrifices we must needs endure will all be one happy, sweet and beloved recollection and meditation when we get to that better and happier land.

The farmer need not wait to leave his farm to praise and enjoy it. God knows his lot is not the hardest one now, as lots and scores go here below. His lot is happy, as he himself will one day see and know. Nor need we who toil and sacrifice and strive think the day unkind and the hour unpropitious. A good God is in His world glorifying it with His presence and magnifying it with His majesty and might. There is poetry and power, goodness and grandeur everywhere, before our very eyes if we will but look up and see.

The Matchless Miracle.—It is difficult to comprehend the might and the mystery of this miracle of a Book. Societies, churches, organizations in this, and in other lands, vie with each other in their endeavor to circulate and to have read and studied the Book. Among the oldest and most active of these is the British and Foreign Bible Society, though there are others who hold a close second. This Society has just published its 105th annual report. The information given out is wonderful. This Society added six languages last year into which it translated, printed and distributed the Bible, making in all 418 languages. In the year just closed the Society issued nearly 900,000 Bibles, more than a million New Testaments, and more than four million portions of the Bible. Be it remembered that this work is not done without difficulties. Last year agents of the Society, in their work of distributing the Bible, were arrested in Nicaragua as spies, in Burma they were robbed, in Germany (by the Social Democrats) they were mocked, in Peru they were driven from villages and their supply of Books was burned, in Baluchistan they were beaten by Moslems, and in remote corners of the Philippines they were stoned. Yet, despite these obstacles and difficulties the Book was distributed, read, studied as never before.

Unless this were more than any human document, fashioned by the mind, and written by the hand of man, as other books, why is the Book so much hated, criticised and despised by enemies abroad and foes at home? Surely the Bible is "God's Book for Man's Life," not only telling of might and majesty and miracles, but itself the one incomparable and matchless miracle of all miracles.

Every one knows the power of the rose
To drive away a tear;
Yet sting of the nettle, hid 'neath its petal,
May last for many a year.

FROM THE FIELD.

Malone, Alabama.

Yesterday closed one year for the writer as pastor of Corinth Church. While we have witnessed no great upheaval or any great reforms, we note with pleasure improvement along many lines. A year ago our Sunday school there was very weak; today it is much stronger and is gathering strength with the passing weeks. Bro. J. C. Harris, the efficient superintendent who has served in that capacity for seven years and has only missed five Sundays during that time, is doing a great work. It has been a very pleasant year with us at Corinth. We feel we have had the entire cooperation of the church. While we have not accomplished what we hoped, we feel that God has blessed our labors and feel very hopeful for the success of the work at this point. In fact we feel very hopeful of the success of the cause of the Christian Church through this country. Many portions of our country are fast being developed. We hope that our church may keep pace with this development. We start the new conference year with highest hopes of future success. J. H. Hughes.

South Norfolk—Anniversary.

The 19th Anniversary of the organization of the Baraca Bible Class was celebrated in a joint session by Baraca and Philathea Classes of the South Norfolk Baptist Church and the Baraca Class of the South Norfolk Christian Church Sunday evening, Oct. 17th. The service was held in the Christian Church and was enjoyed by a large congregation. Mr. Griffin of the Disciple Church, Norfolk, spoke of the history and achievements of the Baraca Work, and the writer read a paper on The Advantages of an Organized Class. This was a very pleasant Anniversary Service and we trust that the inspiration of the occasion may be of lasting benefit to the classes.

Sunday also marked another anniversary with the South Norfolk Christian Sunday school. It was the third anniversary of the entrance of death into the ranks of our school. Many remembered that it was just three years since death entered for the first time and claimed one of our sweetest little girls, Marjorie, the four and a half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lane. For three years she had been a great sufferer with hip joint trouble and her affliction together with her sweet disposition bound all to her with the strongest ties of love. Those of us who loved her so dearly remember with a peculiar sadness the time death entered for the first time into the ranks of our Sunday school. We are grateful to Almighty God for the gift of such a sweet life, though it was not permitted to shine in our midst but for so short a time. May the influence of this little child yet lead many to the fold of Christ, is the wish of the pastor. J. O. Cox.

South Norfolk, Va., Oct. 18, 1909.

Berkley Letter.

The work at this place is moving along nicely. Our congregations are good and especially so at the evening service. Our Sunday school is larger than it has ever been and has a better average attendance. Our Supt., Bro. J. O. Wiggs, who is devoted to his school, has recently been sick with malaria fever and was unable to be in his place for two Sundays. He is out again now and we are glad to have him back. The Missionary Society has had three special meetings during the year and is planning to have a Missionary Rally on the evening of the 31st. At this time the program will be given by the pupils of the Sunday school. The Young People's Auxiliary and the Ladies' Aid have reorganized for the winter and are busy at work along the social as well as financial lines. We expect to be on the roll with the "Banner Churches" at the Eastern Virginia Conference.

During the month of July I was away enjoying the vacation granted by the church. Before going I assisted Bro. Peel in a meeting at Ivor and Bro. Harrell in a meeting at Portsmouth. Since returning from the leave of absence I have helped Bro. Peel in meetings at Johnson's Grove and Barrett's Chapel; Bro. Rountree at Spring Hill and Centerville; Bro. Jones at New Lebanon and Union (Surry), and Bro. M. W. Butler at Newport News. My work in these fields has been very pleasant and must say with reference to these charges that I found the pastors loyal and faithful, while the people in return are interested and striving to keep their churches active along all lines.

I expected to help Bro. I. W. Johnson in a meeting at Crittenden this week but was taken sick upon my return from Newport News Saturday morning and have been confined to my room most of the time since. I was unable to have charge of my work here Sunday evening, so Prof. Smith of Norfolk conducted the service for which I am very grateful. The people of Berkley always hear Prof. Smith with pleasure. He was at one time a resident of our city and we had hoped to have him in this ward again, but for convenience he has located at Park Place; however, he has promised to share a part of his time with us.

In the last Quarterly Conference of the Main St. Christian Church I was unanimously elected to serve them as pastor another year with an increase of salary. This will make my fourth year with these good people who have manifested their interest in me in many ways during the past three years.

Oct. 19, 1909.

M. L. Bryant.

Hank's Chapel

I will report my work for this conference year.

I have charge of Hank's Chapel, Martha's Chapel, New Elam, and Zion and will serve same for next year. My next year will be twelve years as pastor of two of these and four each for the other two.

The work at Hank's is in splendid condition. There seems to be almost perfect harmony among the members. We had one of the best meetings last August that I ever held. There were many renewals, some twelve or fifteen conversions, seven united with the church. I expect this church to go to conference as one of the banner churches.

Martha's Chapel

Is growing in numbers and influence. Pastor's salary has been almost doubled within the last three years, arrangements are on foot to change the building and repaint. They have put in a neat pulpit suite this year. We had a most excellent meeting in Sept. Bro. J. S. Carden was with me and did excellent service. He is a good worker. Several conversions and five joined the church. This church will go to Conference as one of the banner churches.

New Elam

Is growing. We had a good meeting last August. Bro. J. S. Carden was present and did good work. He is held in high esteem by this people. Several conversions, six united with the church. This church expects to go to conference as one of the banner churches.

Zion

Is moving well; but is not doing as much as it could do. It is doing better than some years ago. We had a good meeting last August. Several conversions, seven united with church. It is making an effort to go to conference as one of the banner churches.

G. R. Underwood.

Sanford, N. C.

O'Kelly's

I have been serving the church at O'Kelly's Chapel for three years without any difficulties or church troubles at all, and I am sure that I am perfectly safe in saying that the church is in a great deal better condition in every particular than it was three years ago. The interest in Sunday school has increased, church attendance is much better than it has been for quite a while, and it doesn't sting our people to talk finance half so much as it used to. In every way my work in this community has been very, very pleasant indeed.

At my last appointment, however, just at the close of the sermon, I was interrupted by Rev. P. H. Massey, a citizen of that community, and a minister of the M. E. Church, South. As the brother began I could think of nothing else than that he was about to take issue with me in regard to the thought of the hour. As he proceeded, however, I discovered that he had something good to say and something better to present.

After a very appropriate address, he presented to the writer, on behalf of the entire community—all church members and non-church members represented—a handsome purse containing thirty-four dollars and sixty-five cents.

This was a perfect surprise to the pastor, but a most pleasant one. Not many preachers object to interruptions when they result as this one did.

The money, as I understand afterwards, was collected by Mrs. G. M. Parrish, who is a member of the Baptist Church.

May every donor be fully assured that his contribution is most heartily appreciated.

My prayers and best wishes shall ever ascend to the One who is able to give and who will not withhold any good thing from those who walk uprightly before Him.

L. E. Smith.

NOTICE

All ministers, delegates and visitors to the N. C. and Va. Christian Conference, which meets with Belevs Creek Church, Nov. 23, 1909, will note the following: Conference is to open at 9 o'clock A.M., and in order to be there for first day's session it is necessary to go on Nov. 22nd. Train for Belevs Creek leaves Greensboro 4:55 P.M. and only one time for that point each day.

Those going by rail from east of Greensboro will come on train arriving there about noon, those from north will come on train arriving about 1 o'clock P.M. Observe the above and save yourself much inconvenience and delay, and all persons whosoever who will attend the approaching session will notify J. G. Fulton, Belevs Creek, so that their entertainment may be arranged before arrival as train gets there after dark.

C. C. Peel, Pastor.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

By Rev. D. E. Millard, D.D.

The command—"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy"—is being sadly disregarded in this professedly Christian land. "The Modern Sunday Scintillates with Excitement." Foreign immigration has brought with it the Continental Sabbath. Says a writer in a recent magazine: "A great many people have forgotten what the day stands for. 'How will you spend the Sabbath?' I asked the stenographer in my office. 'I'm going to dance tomorrow night,' she answered. 'How will you spend Sunday?' I asked a College Professor. 'In my laboratory with a wonderful new specimen I have to analyze,' he said. 'How will you spend Sunday?' I asked a lawyer friend. 'On the golf links,' he admitted gaily." Thus Sunday, the Lord's day, instead of being a day of rest and worship, has, with the many, become a day of amusement and dissipation. Sunday excursions, Sunday theatres, Sunday baseball and Sunday pic-nics are more attractive to the young—and to many who are not so young—than the Church, the Sunday school or the home.

But we are told that it is useless to oppose Sabbath desecration—since the continental Sunday is here—and has come to stay. So has sin come to stay. But shall we not open our mouths against sin, because it has existed through the ages and its name is legion? What if the 'Continental Sunday' has come to stay? It is enough that we know what it means. Let us meet its defenders frankly and condemn it openly.

They are beginning to find out in Europe, where it came from, that in spite of its professions it is no true friend to the people. Writers for the press inform us that in Germany 53 per cent of the murders and crimes are committed between Saturday night and Monday morning. And yet there are those—and among them members of Protestant Churches,—who want the German Sunday (with its Beer Gardens and Open Saloon) to exist in this country. But I am glad to learn that a strong reaction in favor of the Christian Sabbath has already set in on the Continent: and when its old friends, learning its true character, are tearing from it its plausible mask, I am sure the friends of the Continental Sabbath ought not to increase, and will not increase, in these United States.

Statistics show that 20 per cent of the population of these United States are members, and 50 per cent are adherents, of Protestant Churches. Let this vast body of believers—recognizing the validity and sacredness of the 4th Commandment, once stand erect on their convictions, shoulder to shoulder, showing a solid front and bow long would it be before, with the blessing of God, a correct public sentiment would enforce good laws.

Some time ago a member of the British Parliament said before the House of Commons: "Let Sunday once come to be used by the Nation generally for amusements, and the collar of work will be fastened as tightly around the necks of the working men on Sunday as on any other day." The results so far as they are known accord with this statement. There are, it is true, unwholesome extremes on both sides of Sabbath observance. It is an error, fraught with sad consequences, when the Sabbath is made an unnatural gloomy day. But of the two extremes, give me the extreme of the Puritan rather than the Continental Sabbath; for it would be attended with far more liberty for the people. But let us have neither extreme, but make the Lord's day in our homes a holy day, and at the same time the happiest of all the week.

The Church and Christians are the true guardians of the day. Therefore, it becomes us to arouse ourselves to our responsibility. The looseness of one Christian in his observance of the Lord's day does more harm than that of a dozen people that make no profession of obedience to God's commands.

Evermore let us hold the sacredness of the Sabbath as a trust from God, regarding it not as an irksome restraint, but as a "blessed boon to be religiously guarded from unholy encroachment."

Portland, Mich.

NOTICE

Delegates and visitors coming to the Eastern N. C. Conference at Sanford on Thursday, Nov. 11, 1909, will arrive on Seaboard trains Nos. 41 and 43 at 5:36 and 6:26 P.M. and on Southern at 3:30 P.M.

Please write to the undersigned whether you will come on train or private conveyance, so homes can be provided.

Very truly,

J. D. Gunter.

Box 15, Sanford, N. C., Oct. 11, 1909.

—President Taft, still on a speaking tour through the Southwest, while trying to make himself heard by many thousands at Houston, Texas, broke down in voice and could with difficulty talk at all. Continuous open air speaking is a tremendous strain on the vocal organs and few indeed can bear up under it.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Next week the Eastern Virginia Conference convenes at Franklin, Va., Tuesday to Friday. The North Carolina Conferences follow in the successive weeks. November in fact is conference month.

—Now that is a pounding right Rev. L. E. Smith reports—a pounding with a purse. That is something spectacular and unusual. We suspect that some one will have to call Bro. Smith down a peg or two if that sort of thing keeps up. But why are the brethren so slow of reporting their fall poundings? We wonder.

—Bro. F. T. Banks, Montgomery, Ala., writes: "We are hoping for a clean State, the good people are working hard, and the amendment is gaining ground every day." The cause of temperance and sobriety marches on, adding victory to victory, and here is hoping that Alabama will soon be added, by constitutional amendment, to the dry column.

—Dear good "Uncle" Millard from Portland, Michigan, sends a timely article on a timely topic, "Sabbath Desecration," and writes: "The Sun comes regularly every week and is always welcomed in our home." And Bro. Millard's pen is always welcome in The Sun's columns. His article this week is uncommonly fine and fruitful.

—They are preparing in France to build a monument to the man who invented the cork-screw. We presume the inventor will not be responsible for the bad use to which it has been put. Sir Thomas Lipton, the English sportsman who is anxious for America's yachting cup, says in an October magazine that "The cork-screw has sunk more men than the cork-jacket will ever save."

—We are in receipt of the following: Mrs. Olivia Cokes McKenzie and Rev. Murdoek W. Butler announce their marriage at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., at high noon Tuesday, Oct. 19th, 1909. At Home to their friends 924 24th St., Newport News, Va., after Oct. 29." We extend hearty congratulations to the united pair and wish them a long and happy married life.

—Rev. J. O. Cox, formerly pastor of the South Norfolk, Va., Christian Church, has become Business Manager for The Christian Sun. Bro. Cox did a fine work in Virginia as a pastor, and the business tact he displayed in that work will serve him well now in his work for the Sun. Dr. Atkinson is to be congratulated on securing such valuable assistance in his work as editor and publishing agent for the Southern Convention.—Editor J. B. Barrett in Herald of Gospel Liberty Oct. 21.

—We see it announced that Rev. J. J. Summerbell D.D., Dayton, Ohio, is to deliver a series of lectures to the ministerial students of Union Christian College, Merom, Ind. We wonder if the "powers that be" could not arrange to have Dr. Summerbell deliver the same series at some early date to the students of Elon College? There is no deeper thinker, nor more scholarly man in the Christian Church than Dr. Summerbell, and any series of lectures he may prepare will certainly be worth making an effort to hear.

—Rev. W. D. Harward, writing from Madrid, Iowa, says: "We have just had our first snow (Oct. 13), and it has already been about as cold as we have in the South in the real winter time. * * I shall miss the pleasant association of the brethren at the coming conference. We did not come out here without first making the matter a subject of prayer and feel surely the Lord must have a work for us to do. When it occurs to us that our work here is accomplished we have it in mind to return again to a warmer climate."

—Bro. J. H. Blanchard of the Memorial Temple, Norfolk, who is much interested in the primary work in our Sunday schools writes: "I believe that Mrs. Lincoln (Superintendent of the Primary Department of the Eastern Virginia Sunday School Convention) is going to make a good showing this year in the extension of this work and I have pledged her my efforts and support. I would be pleased to see in The Sun any ideas or suggestions the brethren have which tend to help those engaged in the primary work in the Sunday school."

—The Nashville Christian Advocate points out, pertinently, we presume, that the reason bad men, especially in municipal affairs, are more active in politics than good men, is because they do not scruple to make money out of politics, and good men cannot do this. Many a good man, honest, able and efficient, has steered clear of office and position, because of the corrupt practices that must be entered into in order to win. And that is a sad comment on our democracy. The best men, and purest, not the designing and impure, should fill our public positions.

—Hand clapping and feet stamping as methods of applause are altogether out of place in church. We are glad that our Southern folks have little of it. Bro. Johnson, of Charity and Children, speaking of those who meet in the Baptist State Convention says very pertinently:

"When we are in the Lord's house attending to the Lord's business we ought to act decently and in order.

Hand-clapping and stamping like a drove of mules is not creditable to us as a denomination. Besides, public applause is strictly against the rules of the Convention, and we will gladly vote for any brother who can enforce the rules."

—We are certainly glad that it is becoming rather disreputable for a church to offer its pastor $50 a year. If a church can not do better than that it ought to go out of business and its members join some other church of like faith and order.—Editor Johnson in Charity and Children. Amen!

MEETING OF THE SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION IN 1910.

By invitation of the Suffolk Christian Church we are pleased to announce that the next session of the Convention will meet in Suffolk, Va., on Tuesday before the first Sunday in May, 1910.

We earnestly request all conferences to elect delegates as prescribed by the revised Government given in Chap.V. Section I, item 2, pages 51,52, in the new Book, which is one delegate to every two hundred members: provided that every Conference shall be entitled to two delegates—one elder and one layman.

We request Secretaries of Conferences to send a list of delegates—their names and address—to Rev. W. W. Staley, Suffolk, Virginia, as information preliminary to entertainment. Do not overlook this.

We further request the Chairman of each committee to hold a meeting or correspond with members of his committee and prepare such outline of work for the Convention as will aid our Committee in the preparation of the Program, and send the same to Rev. W. W. Staley, Suffolk, Va., who is chairman of our Committee.

The next session ought to be the best in our history; but it will take real work to make it better than the Greensboro Convention. Suffolk, Va., is accessible, hospitable, and progressive. The Conferences will do well to select representative men and to insist upon their attendance.

W. W. Staley,
P. J. Kernöde,
J. W. Wellons,
Executive Committee.

Oct. 25, 1909.

—Judge Rufus W. Peckham, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, died at his home in Albany Co., N. Y., Oct. 24. Justice Peckham received his appointment at the hands of President Cleveland and has been on the bench since 1896.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Last Thursday evening, the Ladies' Aid Society was given a delightful social by Doctor and Mrs. Moffitt.

—The foot-ball eleven of the Greensboro High School, accompanied by a number of Greensboro ladies and gentlemen, came down on the afternoon train Thursday and gave the newly organized Elon eleven her first practice game. The game was attended by many spectators. The Elon team, though considerably heavier than the visiting, was far outclassed by them in skill, this resulting in an overwhelming score in favor of the visitors. Elon had another game Saturday with the Bingham School eleven at the Fair Grounds in Burlington. Here the score was eleven to six in favor of Elon.

—Professor Amick was in Rocky Mount where he went to fill the pulpit of Rev. S. W. Taylor who was engaged in an evangelistic meeting at High Point last Sunday.

—The college pulpit was occupied at the eleven o'clock service Sunday by Rev. Dr. Atkinson. His sermon was of the usual high order, receiving much appreciative comment from his audience.

—In Dr. Moffitt's absence while he is soliciting funds for the endowment, Professor W. C. Wicker is the acting president. The supreme need of the College is an increased endowment, and no one knows as well as the president himself, how hard a place a College puts its president into when it puts him between such a need and the extreme difficulty of securing large sums of money. Every dollar given through Dr. Moffitt's solicitation to increase the endowment will increase the usefulness of the College in, at least, a threefold ratio.

—Rev. J. W. Wellons purposes leaving Thursday to attend the Eastern Virginia Conference which meets at Franklin next Tuesday. Dr. Moffitt and Rev. J. O. Cox will go from here also.

—Mr. J. C. Rowland, and Misses Affie Griffin and Lima Johnson were among those of our number who attended the State Fair at Raleigh last week.

W. P. Lawrence.

NORFOLK LETTER

Two new members were added to the Sunday school at the Third Church yesterday.

Rev. E. J. Bodman and wife leave via "The Old Dominion" this evening, for their home in New York. Brother Bodman filled the pulpit at the Third Church again yesterday, both morning and evening. He created a very favorable impression upon our people. He has had experience in building up new work in a city, having been for about seven years pastor of Bogle St. Church at Fall River, Mass. He is an Englishman by birth, coming to this country about twenty years ago. Previous to leaving England he was in a school conducted by Dr. C. H. Spurgeon. He had experience in city mission work in the great city of London, which has been of great help to him in these years of his work in this country.

Rev. H. G. Rockwell, of St. Johnsville, N. Y., is expected here next Saturday also to investigate the field of work at the Third Church. He comes well recommended, and will remain over two Sundays with us, in the meantime, attending the Eastern Virginia Conference at Franklin. We hope soon to arrive at some definite conclusion with reference to a pastor for the Third Church.

Rev. C. C. Ryan is having the sympathy of his many friends in the breaking up of his plans for the immediate future. He was assisting Rev. H. E. Rountree in a meeting the first of last week, at Waverly. He expected to leave with his family this week for their home in Ohio. Coming home last Wednesday, he found his oldest daughter, Nora, very sick with scarlet fever, hence he is tied up by quarantine for an indefinite period. It will interfere with Brother Howsare's movements also. The little girl is doing nicely, and hopes are entertained that they will be able to go as soon as the usual four weeks' limit is out. Brother Ryan filled the pulpit at the Temple again yesterday morning and evening, owing to this change in his plans.

Wednesday at six o'clock a pretty home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Eley, 710 13th St., when their daughter, Hettie May, became the bride of A. B. Jarvis of this city. The entire lower floor was decorated with palms, ferns, and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Lizzie Carr Brinkley sang "A Crown of Love," after which the bride entered with her sister, matron of honor, and was met by the groom and his best man, Mr. John Jarvis.

During the ceremony, "Blest Be the Tie" with variations was rendered.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. L. Carr of West Virginia.

The bride was handsomely attired in a gray traveling suit with beaver hat and gloves to match, and carried a showery bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. H. J. Dixon, who was matron of honor, wore a beautiful gown of cream voile over taffeta, elaborately braided, and with Irish point trimmings, and carried a bouquet of la france roses.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis left for a tour to northern cities.

Among the out of town guests present were:

Mrs. Charles Dixon and Mrs. H. J. Dixon of Warren, Pa.; Mrs. Mayme Watkins, of Windsor, Va.; Mrs. Otis Channel of Smithfield, Va.; Mrs. Lizzie Carr Brinkley of Suffolk, Va.; Mrs. Gallop of Elizabeth City, and Mrs. C. L. Carr of Lewisburg, W. Va.

Mr. Jarvis is engaged in the tea and coffee business, and is a man of fine business qualities, and of sterling worth as an individual. Miss Eley is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Eley of the Third Church. She is the church organist, also a valued teacher in the Sunday school.

A great many handsome and useful presents were received, there being more than one hundred gifts, amongst them a number of handsome mahogany tables and chairs, and forty-eight pieces of cut glass.

They are expected to return from their northern trip about the first of the month, after which time they will be at home at 710 30th St., Norfolk.

J. W. Manning.

—Because Dr. Cook is accused of not having reached the top of Mt. McKinley, whose summit the discoverer declares he did reach, he has cancelled all lecture engagements, and will undertake to scale the mountain and obtain therefrom records which he declares he deposited there.

—On enquiry it was found that there were nearly 200 girls in the Kansas City high schools who have never seen a live hog, one girl of the number being perfectly astonished to find that a hog had hair. In the living world, as in dead volumes, there is a storehouse of information to be acquired.

—Pellagra has developed so rapidly in the South that our Government has decided to investigate its cause and cure! Officers of the N. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service and of the medical corps of the army have been assigned to the task and are to meet at Columbia, S. C., Nov 3rd, to begin their work. The real cause of the disease to the present is unknown to medical science, though there are many surmises.

—Besides making a fight for a clean and a dry and sober State, Alabama makes a move of might in another direction. Her last Legislature authorized the commissioner of agriculture to offer, in each county, premiums ranging from five to twenty-five dollars to the farmer who has the best acre of corn, wheat, oats, hay, Irish and sweet potatoes, the awards to begin in 1910. It is doubtful if any State in the Nation is doing more for material, moral and civic progress at present than Alabama.

MORE LIGHT.

By Rev. Carlyle Summerbell, D.D.

As the dull student of this wonderful world that God has so bountifully given us, I am interested in all the manifestations of Himself, especially what his children are saying about this world and its relation to Him. Sometimes I cannot clearly understand what they say, or what is implied, in what is said, and then I ask questions, which may come from my dullness, not from the lack of clearness found in the productions.

In an interesting editorial in The Sun of Oct. 13th, my friend Dr. Atkinson says: "All trees are the 'trees of God.' For beauty, grace, symmetry, might, and majesty, it is difficult to find aught in all creation that equals many of the trees that live, grow, flourish, and bless the earth about us—our trees—the trees of God."

This truly is a beautiful sentiment and worthy of The Sun, and it implies, does it not, the coming vision of the 20th Century, when the hand of God will not alone be seen in a Book religion, but his voice heard from the leaf which whispers on the trees, to the black diamonds singing base under the pillars of the mountains.

As Thomas More sings:
"There's nothing bright, above, below,
From flowers that bloom to stars that glow,
But in its light the soul can see
Some features of the Deity."

Or as our own Bro. Warren Hathaway has sweetly written:

"There's not a leaf in yonder hower,
Or gem that sparkles in the sea,
Or blade of grass, or tender flower,
But has a voice of love to me,—
A voice that speaks of God, my trust
When danger or when death is near:
He lifts the righteous from the dust;
He wipes away the scalding tear."

Now if God so manifests himself in the phenomena of nature, does he not also show his guiding spirit in history, as well as the best literature and inventions of our day?

If trees are divine, made by a divine architect, sustained by a divine force, blessed by laws of nature which are formulated by divine decrees, why can we not appreciate the same divine Spirit in the writings of Emerson, or Whittier, or Ruskin, or Tolstoy?

We surely have a right to say that men of old spake as they were moved by the Spirit of God, and that men of today also speak as they are moved by his Spirit? Who will dare to set limits to the work of the Almighty or assert that his word has been spoken for all Time? If men by their puny hands and little vision will attempt to set bounds and limits to the inspired words of God, then in the providence of God other men will open the book, break the seal, and free the spirit of mankind from the bibliolatry of the past, clearing the way for the city of God to be built upon the earth.

"For the earnest expectation of the creation waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God."

That man is to be pitied, who can not see the vision of himself, greater, better, more holy, or cannot conceive of the developing spirit, even now active, that moved upon the faces of the water. First came the mechanical means and then followed the revelations of the Spirit, no more divine perhaps, but of higher order in the workshop of the Universe.

We are now in the beginning of God's creation; He has not yet begun to show what He has prepared for his children.

"Man is not man as yet."

Many of the early fathers of the church believed with all their heart, in the verbal inspiration of the scriptures. Is it obligatory on us in order to be loyal, to walk in their footsteps, or shall we turn aside into the open country of God's out-of-doors?

F. W. Newman, in writing The Early History of Cardinal Newman, has this to say in his "address to Protestants," which I wish my friends who rest in Verbal Inspiration might study, and if they think it true, accept, and if false, reject.

"Paul, tent maker, preacher, and traveller was a very busy man. Whether he dictated a letter or wrote it, he must often have been in a great hurry. He quoted the older Scriptures often by mere memory. Every learned critic knows that he is not always accurate. He never proposes his Epistles as a new Sacred Letter, but writes in disparagement of tablets of stone in contrast to the Law written in the heart. What right had Luther or Calvin to palm upon him a divine honor, destroy for him the excuse of hasty composition, and turn his small errors into monstrous mischief? Go among the half-educated who look on every sentiment of Paul as divine, and dare not use their good sense against a single word; you will there find diverse interpretation at its maximum. This generates the discord which is our weakness. Go among more learned men who know the impossibility of sticking for verbal inspiration, and you will find the discord dwindling, the errors of the Apostle largely imputed to weakness incident to that age. While criticism is arbitrarily crippled, you have necessarily discord, but free criticism moves toward concord. In the case of Paul that of the whole New Testament is typified.

"In the Historical books—the Gospels and Acts—the case against Verbal Inspiration is stronger still, because even if each were written by one man, in no case does that one man claim to be an Apostle; and the introduction to Luke makes pretension so modest, that we may say he no more claims inspiration than does Livy or Tacitus."

But claims of inspiration or perfection do not prove the same. The ultimate test of men or books, is, What are they good for? If a book inspires those who read it to higher, better, happier living, we can trace, if we could only see, the hand of God, somewhere, everywhere, in its composition.

The trees of God, planted in the earth and growing toward heaven, are symbolical in many ways of the righteous. And surely God who made, or rather, who is making the Universe, planted these wonderful creations, the trees. As in the 104th Psalm,

"The trees of Jehovah are filled with moisture;
The cedars of Lebanon which he has planted."

Let us dwell upon this beautiful suggestion of Cardinal Newman:

"Again I ask what would be the thoughts of a man, who, when examining a flower, or an herb, or a pebble, or a ray of light which he treats as something so beneath him, in the scale of existence. Suddenly discovers that he was in the presence of some powerful being, who was hidden behind the visible things he was inspecting—who though concealing his wise hand, was giving them their beauty, grace and perfection, as being God's instruments for the purpose."

Praise Jehovah!

"Mountains and all hills; Fruitful trees and all cedars."
Fall River, Mass.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION

It may be seen by reference to the minutes of the last session of the Eastern Virginia Conference, held at Dendron, Va., that the conference put itself on record as favoring the formation of a Foreign Missionary Association, the forming and conducting of said Association to be under the supervision of the foreign mission committee. As adopted by the conference the fees for membership are to be as follows: For men, churches, Sunday schools, Missionary and Christian Endeavor Societies, $10.00; for women, $5.00. No other steps have as yet been taken, aside from the securing of memberships. At the last conference fifteen names were secured: Four men, eight women, one church and two Sunday schools. With these names $110.00 was secured to begin with and we thought it a good beginning. There will be a little reminder sent to these members, aside from this public notice, to the effect that these members of the said association, if they can well do so, be present at the coming session of the conference, with their dues, and with plans and suggestions looking to the better organization of and some definite work undertaken by the association. A meeting is to be called during the sitting of the conference for this purpose.

This movement is an outgrowth of a felt need for larger things along the line of foreign missions and of undertaking something more definite. We have no church within the conference that for years has made its freewill offerings for missions large enough to support a missionary and his family in one of the foreign fields. This church is no poorer, even in temporal things, for these offerings and surely they must have a richer experience for sacrificing along this line. Why can we not have a Foreign Missionary Association, within the conference, that shall undertake the supporting of a missionary in the foreign field, or the building of a church house at some place where it is so greatly needed?

We are building at home, to be sure, and we have put ourselves on record that we will stand by the work here, but our experience teaches us that supporting the foreign work does not hinder the work at home but rather helps it. And this in view of the fact that it is not a matter of the ability of our people to give more largely, but a willingness to do so as they may see and realize the need of it. Keep the Association in mind and make it a subject of prayer that the will of the Lord may be known in the matter.

W. D. Harward.

Madrid, Iowa, Oct. 13, 1909.

THE ESKIMOS.

The alleged discovery of the North Pole by those two hardy adventurers, Cook and Peary, has brought into the limelight some less dashing and less ambitious personages—the Eskimos. To give the name of any particular Eskimo who accompanied Peary and Cook on their trip to the far North would be a difficult task; yet these people are joint discoverers of the earth's apex, and in addition are too careless or modest to mention it. Peary admits that there was an Eskimo with him when he undertook the last spring poleward, and Cook says that he will hunt up his boon traveling companions and bring them to the United States to verify his statements. Unwittingly it is the gentle Eskimo who holds the balance of power in the controversy and who is entitled to some of the honor and glory.

A nomadic people, ill kept and uncouth, with no thought of glory or gain, the Eskimos play their small part in life and then go home to such glory as comes to those who deserve something. Of them the New York Press says:

"The Eskimos are the filthiest people in the world. They never wash, not even face and hands. The smell of their fur clothing and secretions from the skin causes a stink about their persons, and especially in their igloos and tents, that is unbearable to the tenderfoot.

"Eskimos are all children, contented, peaceable, honest, and hospitable, without rulers and without ambition for fame or power. They live almost entirely on raw animal food, and this explains the absence of a number of diseases which are common to civilization. Salt water contains iodine; and all sea animals, as well as all who eat them uncooked, absorb more or less of this fickle chemical substance.

"Scurvy, so common and deadly among early explorers, is totally unknown among Eskimos who eat raw meat. This iodized raw food also explains the absence of enlarged tonsils, glands, and goiter. Their perfect, splendid teeth and strong lower jaws mark them completely carnivorous. The exclusion of vegetable food has shortened their intestine, and indigestion is unknown. One would suppose their pure flesh diet would cause biliousness, etc., but the large percentage of oil in their food acts as a gentle laxative and protects against all harms. The Eskimo eats with relish old rotten blubber that would stagger a buzzard.

"The Eskimo's skin, though covered with filth and vermin, is smooth as satin and totally free of disease or blemish. The very fact that these people fear and hate washing in water may account for their fine 'Arctic' skins. Exposure of hair to midnight sun for three months of the year favors hair growth. Baldness is unknown, and even time seldom bleaches the hair to gray, and at sixty it is still coal-black. Their special senses are very keen, and eyesight seems undiminished by age. Consumption is unknown, nor is there any skin or bone form of tuberculosis. But when brought to the United States they contract consumption in most virulent form. Of six brought to New York, all contracted the disease in less than six months. One who returned to his Arctic home made a quick cure.

"It is well known that the long Arctic winter, with its depressing effects on body and mind, often upsets the best-balanced nervous system even of the native. But this hysteria vanishes with the summer. Explorers have suffered in the same way, and two have committed suicide. In summer the Eskimos get so full-blooded that nose-bleeding is very common.

"All degenerative diseases that cause so much suffering and death in civilization are absent from the Eskimo. There is no arteriosclerosis, Bright's disease, cirrhosis, diabetes, cataract. The pure, sterile Arctic air contains no germs, but Eskimos invariably take a bad 'ship cold' when they go aboard white men's ships."—Christian Advocate.

LOOK OUT ON THE BEAUTIFUL.

The forest appears to be blazing with the fire of an autumn sun, and the trees which were adorned in their green summer dress are changing into many lovely colors. They look so well in their last farewell to summer. They never attire themselves in black mourning garbs, but even to the last preserve a cheerful brightness to an admiring world.

Painter's brush and sculptor's chisel may paint and carve, pen may write; oratory, romance, and poetry may tell with amazing description, but none but the eye which sees nature can fully appreciate its beauty.

As you look out upon the blue mountains and the inviting woodland you are glad to recall these impressive words: Ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

J. T. Kitchen.

DIED.

Anderson.

At his home near Milesville, Caswell County, N. C., Oct. 14th, 1909, Q. T. Anderson, at the age of sixty-nine years, five months and twenty-three days. He was a highly esteemed citizen in his community. His wife and seven children are left in the sorrow of bereavement, but they sorrow not without hope. His body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Concord Church, where his father served as pastor for twenty-three successive years. Burial services by Rev. J. W. Holt.

Burlington, N. C.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Eastern Virginia.—Franklin, Tuesday, Nov. 2. Rev. N. G. Newman, Pres., Holland, Va., Rev. W. D. Harward, Secy.

Eastern N. C.—Sanford, Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Underwood, Pres., Sanford, N. C., Rev. W. C. Wick-er, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Ramseur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Belew's Creek, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATIONS.

The Christian Missionary Association once covering the field of the Southern Christian Convention was found to be impracticable in scope. The territory was too large for one organization. Members would send their fees, but would stay at home because, in instances, the railroad fare amounted to more than the annual membership fee. Interest waned. The organization gradually and inevitably became local.

That there is a field for special home missionary effort and enterprise, all, who are acquainted with the situation, readily admit. More than this, there is a work along this line that must be done. The meager home missionary funds sent to conferences with the other Conference collections will not, can not do the work absolutely essential. Such collections will not meet half the requirements of the home mission field. The demands for funds with which to do home mission work are pressing and urgent. The only hope is by special effort, individual offerings. Practically all the conferences realize this.

The remedy is readily apparent. Every Conference will have to organize its own Christian Missionary Association. Other than this there is no hope. And several of the Conferences, realizing this, have already planned, or are planning, to organize these Associations.

This is healthful and hopeful. If we would enter half the places whose demands are pressing, and whose needs are urgent, we will simply have to have organized effort along missionary lines. It is, therefore, devoutly to be hoped that the Conferences which have organized Associations will realize great results from the same, and that the Conferences that have not the Associations will take steps looking to such organizations. It means hundreds for home missions where we now have tens, and thousands where we now have hundreds.

PREPARING FOR THE EMERGENCIES.

Every sane man gives somewhat of time and thought to the emergencies of life. Anybody can sail a ship when there is a mild breeze. The sailor, to whom alone a ship should be entrusted, knows how to steer in time of storm. Any of us can take care of ourselves in time of health. In sickness a physician must be called. The open will do when the sun shines bright and clear. In storm and shower shelter must be sought. He is an insane man who does not consider emergencies.

Strange indeed that as touching our religious life so many fail to prepare for the emergencies. When sorrow, bereavement, trouble, disappointment, sickness come—how then we wish we had prepared the heart, the soul, for the emergency. The religion of Lord Christ prepares for the extremes, the emergencies. In time of stress, trial, affliction, you have never yet heard one lament or regret that he had done so much for Christ, and church, and truth. But how very, very often have you heard one say, "How I wish I were as good as Mr. A., or as sure of heaven as Mrs. B, or, my life has not been what it should have been, and I regret this so much."

In cultivating the gift of the Spirit, the presence and blessing of loving loyalty to Church and God, we are preparing for the extremes, the emergencies when they come. No sane person can afford to neglect to prepare in his heart for the emergencies; for as sure as life is, extremes will come and emergencies will overtake all.

A DEFENSE OF REVIVALS.

To those who have been in a revival, and especially to those who have been affected by a revival, no defense, definition, or explanation is necessary. The most glorious experiences of the best men and women in Christendom are traceable, as a rule, to a revival. When the mind and heart of a multitude are given to religious meditation, consideration, devotion and worship, the Spirit manifests Himself in special power, and men given to sin and darkness face about, and begin a new life.

But we had thought that revivals were coterminous with Christianity. We had the notion that revivals grew out of the teaching and preaching of Lord Christ. To our surprise one of the finest defenses of the revival we have seen comes from a Jew, as the following from The Temple (a Jewish paper) of Louisville indicates:

"Revivals and conversions are part, not only of the Christian religion, but of every other true religious or spiritual system. Indeed, the historical student will have no trouble in tracing the Christian custom and teaching back to Jewish origin. Nor is this phase of the religious life anything to be ashamed of, or superfluous or out of harmony with modern insight or idealism. The true psychologist will admit its high value. Briefly speaking, a revival is an effort to stir up the dormant religious forces of the people. A "conversion" is the awakening of the soul of the individual, the sudden flickering up of the divine light within it, in its sudden response to the call of God.

Revival meetings may be had or good. Conversions may be had or good. They are bad when they represent a mere momentary excitement of the religious emotions, without the purpose and the endeavor to lead to a permanent improvement of conduct. They are good when they can note the beginning of a better mode of life, inspired by the heightened feelings of some propitious moment. Such conversions may be occasioned not only by regular revival meetings; they may occur in the most diverse places; they may be engendered by all manner of incidents. A hook, a conversation, a sermon, an illness, a sublime scene of nature—any experience that stirs up the depths of the soul—may be the cause of such a conversion, which means the sudden realization of God on the part of the human soul and response to his call. That such conversions take place daily, we all know. Their worth cannot be exaggerated. It is a mistake to deny them. It is foolishness to sneer at them."

SUFFOLK LETTER.

On Oct. 2, 1909, I went to Oakland Church in place of pastor I. W. Johnson, who was at Liberty Spring, to conduct funeral service of Walter Hurley Jones, who was born Dec. 3, 1896, and died Sept. 30, 1909. This boy, who was nearly thirteen, had been greatly afflicted all his life. He ate, drank, slept, laughed, and cried, and had to be cared for as a little babe. He could not turn over in bed, sit up, or walk. He had never weighed over twenty-eight pounds. He could not talk and did not develop in body or in mind. He was brought to the church in a little white coffin on a buggy like the infant is carried to the grave.

His parents are poor, had buried a grown daughter in August, another daughter, sixteen, was just out of a spell of fever, and a seven year old girl had a malformed knee. In spite of all this trouble, and an afflicted aunt who lives in the family; they took the death of the little boy very hard. The head might think that they would feel relieved of a great care in the death of the little boy; but the heart felt the loss more keenly, perhaps, than if it had been a proper child.

I am writing this, not simply to tell a sad story, or to draw a dark picture of a family living on another man's land, but to ask the reader to think for a moment of the blessings which have come to you. It is so easy to imagine that our lot is hard and that our blessings are few: but the average family is rich in health of body and of mind. Think of that poor mother who has nursed one baby boy for quite thirteen years, then look at your children as they grow and soon care for themselves. A normal child is a great blessing to the mother and the home.

I buried an infant this afternoon only two months old. Ruth Virginia Winner, born August 20th and died October 21st. Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Winner live near Churchland and brought the dear babe to Suffolk and laid its remains in Cedar Hill. They have three children still living, but they cannot fill the place which this dear child occupied in parental hearts. Each child fills its own place in the heart and the home, and there are no substitutes in the domain of love, and there are no separations in the domain of love. You cannot forget them, you cannot dismiss them from memory, you cannot separate them from your heart. The heart never forgets; it is the head that forgets. God never forgets His children—He cannot. Love has a good memory, bridges all chasms, climbs all mountains, crosses all seas and looks into eternity. Love is life's highest goal and its brightest joy. Graves are sweet to love. Love transforms all experiences into pleasures, paints its finest pictures on the walls of sorrow, and sees its best qualities in the departed. We would not blot out the cemeteries if we could; they are the gardens where we put the most fragrant flowers and they contain the chambers where we commune with sweetest spirits. It may be imagination, it may be the work of the strange artist that paints for love, but grave dust is the most precious dust known to the soul, for it is sweeter than any flower that ever faded on the little mound beneath which dear ones sleep. Why don't you burn up that cradle and put away from you that black sorrow that comes up in your heart every time you look at the cradle and think of the dear babe that lay in it for a while and left you in tears? You would burn up everything in the house before you would part with that treasure-house of your soul.

W. W. Staley.

RALEIGH LETTER.

I am happy to write a brief account of our Raleigh work. I came here about a year ago filled with hope and enthusiasm for the church. My hope has not been blighted nor has my enthusiasm diminished. I will close the Conference year, by the grace of God, with my heart as full of love and gratitude as when I began it. I expect to go to the Annual Conference as happy and hopeful as any minister or layman. The Lord has abundantly blessed me and my work this year. My health and the health of my family have never been better. The Lord has graciously blessed every step that I have taken for the advancement of his kingdom in this city. The work has grown steadily with increased interest all the year. I have received about thirty members. Have just closed one of the best meetings held here for a number of years. About fifteen converts and nine members. Others to join before Conference. The outlook for a strong church in the capital city is good. We need more members and more money, all of which we will have, if we continue faithful in well doing. It takes love, faith, and energy to build up a congregation. May the Lord give me and my people more of all that is necessary for building up a strong church in this splendid city. Forward shall be our watchword for the coming Conference year. With the blessings of God we have been able to do some good work in organizing this year. Our newly organized Ladies' Aid Society and our ever growing Sunday school are an inspiration and a very great help in our church work. We have our ideals for these departments and we hope to reach them before the close of another Conference year.

We need most of all a deepening of the spiritual life. I am happy in the belief, that it is coming to me and my people. Christian piety is the vital force in any church work. Money and members do not make a church, but consecrated members and consecrated money will make one. Give us more consecrated members and more consecrated money and the Kingdom shall not suffer here, nor elsewhere.

We hope soon to meet our friends in annual conference. It will be a pleasure to speak of our work there. We need the sympathy and prayers of all in our effort to build up an important church in the capital city of this good old State.

L. F. Johnson.

NOTICE.

The Educational Committee and The Home Mission Committee of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference will meet at the Huffines' Hotel, Greensboro, Monday, November 22, at 12:30 p.m. All who have business with either of these committees will please meet at time and place named.

J. O. Atkinson,

J. W. Holt,

Chairmen.

—If all cities and towns that President Taft has visited on his tour have gone at it like Wilmington, N. C., this entertaining of presidents is a costly business indeed. Wilmington, city, citizens and county, according to The Charlotte Observer, have raised upwards of $10,000 for the forthcoming Taft day entertainment.

—Almost two million dollars a day are destroyed by men in the employ of the Treasury Department at Washington. This comes about by the redemption of worn-out paper money. The government encourages the tendency of people to demand crisp and clean bills for the soiled and torn, and the average life of a one dollar bill is now about fourteen months, where it used to be three or four years. The larger bills, for obvious reasons, have a much longer lease of life. The large increase of late in the volume of bills of all kinds sent in for redemption is taken as a reliable indication of brisker business and better times.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will he pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week	$3,812.47
Dues: .. . . . .
Para Lee Beggs .....	$ .10
Grady Beggs .....	.10
Warner Carpenter .....	.10
T. J. Carpenter .....	.10
Clarence Newman .....	.10
Addie Newman .....	.10
Monthly S. S. Offering:
Wake Chapel, N. C. ....	2.20
Suffolk, Va. ....	15.63
Berea (Nansd.), Va. ....	3.76
Youngsville, N. C. ....	1.34
Special Offering:
Mt. Auburn, N. C., Christian Church .....	5.57
B. F. Hunt, from Poplar Branch Church .....	1.00
Amt. 39th week .....	30.10
From Mt. Zion Christian Church, Roanoke, Ala.:
S. N. Sledge .....	$1.00
T. S. Keeble .....	1.00
W. C. Sharman .....	.50
J. L. Liles .....	.25
Pierce Keeble .....	.01
J. T. Swan .....	.50
D. B. Dunlap .....	.75
Byrd Keeble .....	.25
Mrs. L. A. Keeble ..	.10
Mrs. Lula Sledge ..	.50
Nettie Swan .....	.10
Total .....	$ 4.96
From New Hope, Roanoke, Ala.:
Rev. G. D. Hunt ...	1.00
C. H. Stephenson ..	1.00
J. H. Miles .....	1.00
J. H. Crislex .....	.50
E. A. Floyd .....	.50
Miss Annie Floyd ..	1.00
J. L. Thomason ...	.25
Total .....	5.25
From McGuire's Chapel, Daviston, Ala.:
Rev. G. D. Hunt ...	1.00
A. P. Hunt .....	.50
W. R. Miller .....	.20
G. H. Veazy .....	.25
W. J. Vickers .....	.25
Z. T. Veazy .....	.20
Total .....	2.40
From Sardis:
Rev. C. W. Carter ..	1.00

W. M. Riddle .....	.25
T. J. DeLaughter ..	.25
D. M. Summer .....	.25
Lee Denny .....	.25
W. S. Griffin .....	.25
A. D. Mann .....	.25
J. M. McDaniel .....	.25
W. S. Boling .....	.25
G. G. Vickers .....	.25
A. P. Mann .....	.50
Total .....	3.75
From Beulah, Wadley, Ala.:
Walker Pearson ...	5.00
Dr. J. M. Welch ...	5.00
J. J. Carter .....	1.00
C. A. Weldon .....	1.00
Mrs. S. E. Pearson ..	.50
W. M. Adamson ...	1.00
Rev. G. D. Hunt ...	1.50
J. M. Gay .....	1.00
Vernon Carter ....	.25
J. F. Carter .....	.50
Rev. E. M. Carter ..	.50
Leonard Welch ...	1.00
C. D. Knight .....	.50
J. D. Bailey .....	1.00
J. T. Wilkins .....	.50
Total .....	20.25
From Pleasant Grove, Buffalo, Ala.:
Rev. B. F. Young ..	1.00
J. D. Harris .....	1.00
J. R. Pool .....	.50
J. E. Landis .....	1.00
M. T. Hill .....	.50
J. W. Gatlin .....	.50
Miss Lizzie Meadow	1.00
Mrs. M. E. Causey ..	.25
Mrs. G. H. Hill ...	.25
Total .....	6.00
Pictures sold .....	2.10 2.10
Total .....	44.71
Grand Total .....	$3,887.28

My Dear Children:—
 As I write this letter to you tonight, my thoughts travel about 490 miles, to the State of Alabama, where "Uncle Jim" is probably at this very hour speaking to a congregation of which some of you are a part.
 We of the Orphanage family find the one week of his absence a very long one indeed, but know that the dear God who has called him to the work in our behalf, will take care of us and return him in safety when the Conferences there are over. Of course he is enjoying his trip (which is the first to that part of the State), and the reports of his success are encouraging.
 Our work here is moving on in regular winter routine. My, how we dread to creep out of bed these cold mornings! But if we do our work and get ready for school, there must be no idling. One of our little fellows who thinks it quite without warming closet or reservoir. With high warming closet, porcelain lined reservoir, just as shown in cut, $17.35; large, square, oven, wonderful bak. & broiling holes, body made of cold rolled steel. Duplex grate; burns wood or coal. Handsome nickel trimmings, highly polished.

10¢ Buys This Large Handmade Nickel Trimmed Steel Range

OUR TERMS are the most liberal ever made. You can pay for your range the way you like. You can take it into your home, use it 30 days. If you don't find it exactly as represented, the biggest bargain you ever saw equal to stores retailed for double our price, return it to us. We will pay freight both ways.

Write Today for our beautifully illustrated Stove Catalog No. 5144; a postal card will do. Try to select from. Don't buy until you get it.

MARVIN SMITH CO., CHICAGO, ILL.

When in Burlington call at T. H. STROUD'S
 Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.
 Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

WANTED—Book keepers, Stenographers.
 MORE BANKERS in the 16 States in which Jno. F. Draughon's 30 Colleges are located, indorse these Business Colleges than indorse ALL others. IF YOU want the EVIDENCE and want to RISE to the $10-a-day class, ask for FREE catalogue. Lessons BY MAIL if preferred. Draughon's Practical Business College, Raleigh, N. C.; A. M. FISHER, Mgr

YOUNG MEN! If you want to know why you should become telegraph operators and what school to attend, write to SOUTHERN SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, Newnan, Ga., for free Catalogue "A." EVERY BOY should read it. Positions positively guaranteed.

DR. J. H. BROOKS
 Surgeon and Dentist
FOSTER BUILDING,
 Burlington, N. C.

MEDICINE.
 We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?
FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
 Burlington, N. C.

PIEDMONT

"IS THE BEST."
 Write for Catalogue
Piedmont Business College
 Lynchburg, Va.

fine to be allowed to go to school says: "I know de anther 'fore de teacher puts it on de board." So you see he is a bright boy. Can any of our cousins do as well?

Potato time has surely come and "if you'll walk into our cellar" said the children to the cousins, "we'll not treat you as the spider did the fly, but let you look on one of the largest piles of sweet potatoes you ever saw; and if you are fond of them will ask you to take a bite with us."

It is also shoe and stocking time, and we ask all our cousins to take a "bite" here too, which means renewed interest all along the line.

Lovingly yours,
Aunt Myrtle.

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 15, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here we come with our dimes for October. Am so glad that you are coming to visit us at the North Highland Christian Church on the 24th of Oct.

Enclosed find 20 cents for October.

With love to all the cousins,

Para Lee and Grady Beggs.

Enjoying my Alabama trip very much, children. So glad to know the little cousins of the Southland.

Malone, Ala., R. F. D. 2, Box 16.
Oct. 12, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here I come with dues for Sept. and October. Please excuse me for not writing last month. I am busy picking cotton. I am going to spend a few days with Sister Margie. I know I will enjoy that; she has a new baby boy. I saw in the Sun that Uncle Jim was coming south. I am very glad, for I want to see him. I wish some of the cousins would come with him.

I will close. Love to all.

Warner Carpenter.

You just ought to see the little children at the Orphanage pick cotton, Warner! Wonder if they could beat you. Guess not.

Henderson, N. C., 1903 Nicholas St.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here we come with our dimes for October. There is right much sickness around here, but we hope all will be well soon.

Hastily,

Clarence and Addie Newman.

Thanks, children: your letters and dimes always faithful. Your remembrance of the Orphans is very sweet.

Malone, Ala., R. F. D. 2, Box 16.
Oct. 13, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Enclosed you will find my dues for

BRINGS the CITY to the FARM!

The Rural Telephone

SOONER or later, Mr. Farmer, you'll want a telephone in your home. When you get it, you'll wonder how you got along without it, for nothing can do the telephone's work. Its services become indispensable for calling a physician; for summoning help in a hurry; for ordering supplies when it's inconvenient to go to town; for talking to neighbors or friends; or for communicating with persons wherever there's a Bell telephone.

The farmer without a telephone is like a farm with no labor-saving machinery.

We have a plan for furnishing you and your neighbors with full local and long-distance telephone facilities at a figure so low it will surprise you.

Write for free booklet describing plan and giving particulars. Address nearest Bell telephone manager or

FARMERS' LINE DEPARTMENT

Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co.

19 South Pryor Street

Atlanta, Georgia

September and October. We are having some fine weather for picking peas, and we are making good time at the job. I haven't seen my question answered yet. I'll ask the question again. Who was the first Christian martyr? I hope some of the cousins will answer this time.

I will close. Love to all the cousins and to Uncle Jim.

T. J. Carpenter.

Guess our cousins will surely answer T. J.'s question this time. Wake up and get to studying your Bible, little folks.

RAISE MONEY FOR YOUR CHURCH.

We offer you an easy method. Send us a photograph of your church or your pastor, and we will send you 500 high grade post cards, with photograph on each card, and scripture verse if desired. Sell these cards at 10 cents each. When sold, remit us $20.00 and keep the balance. You can do this in a week. We will return photograph.

LAKE SHORE SUPPLY CO.,
225 Broad St., St. Joe, Michigan.

HORSE INSURANCE

Is written by
THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.

Of High Point North Carolina. Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

DO YOU WANT TO GO TO COLLEGE? If so we can help you. We have already put hundreds through college by means of our plan. Write to-day for full information regarding our offer of a free scholarship in any school or college. Address, Robert J. Sherlock, 29-31 East 22nd Street, New York City.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

Watchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—PRAYER MEETING LEADERS.

A great many pastors and interested Church workers among the laity refrain from organizing Christian Endeavor Societies because they are sure they have not enough young people to act as leaders for the prayer-meetings. Again we rise to remark that this is no objection, for it is the business of Christian Endeavor to train leaders for its prayer meetings.

If I did not have a single young person who would lead the prayer meeting, I would all the more feel the necessity of organizing a Society and training them to lead. How? By telling them the sacred obligation their Church membership imposes—that they are to be workers in the Master's vineyard. —Co-laborers with Christ. I would ask one of them each meeting to be a co-leader with me. I would get him to announce the hymns, read the Scripture, write and read a brief comment on the topic of the evening, etc., while he all the time felt that I, not he, was leading. In this way you will have all your membership leading without knowing it. It is even possible to have a meeting without a leader, allowing all to take part in such way as they elect, one voluntarily reading the Scripture, another calling for a hymn, a third for a chain of prayer, a fourth propounding a question he would be glad to hear answered, a fifth testifying, a sixth leading in prayer, etc., etc. Don't be discouraged and refuse to organize because you do not have brilliant leaders—that condition simply shows the absolute necessity of Christian Endeavor in your Church. It will train up its own leaders.

Now a word to those who are willing to lead. A good leader is not necessarily a good talker; certainly he is not a long talker. Long-windedness and proper Christian Endeavor leadership are incompatible terms. Too much clucking from the nest is intolerable in a prayer-meeting leader. I think he ought rather to be called a prayer meeting pusher; for his chief business is not to make learned remarks nor deal out lengthy phrases in pompous style. Neither is his chief aim to conduct the prayer-meeting; for the Christian Endeavor prayer-meeting is not a machine to be run with belts and pulleys and shafts and cranks. His chief business is to get his fellow-endeavorers to express themselves in regard to the topic, and unless he does this, the meeting is a failure, no matter how eloquent or learned or brilliant his remarks may have been. The leader's remarks should not always come at the same point in the program, nor should they be after a stereotyped fashion, but they should always quicken or interest in the theme of the evening and be such as to fire up the members to the point of participating in the meeting. Two minutes will often be sufficient time for him to consume, five minutes is nearly always ample, under no circumstances ought he to exceed ten minutes. Let him cut his remarks short. Let him remember that two earnest sentences, pulsing with thought and fresh from the bottom of the heart, are better than an hour of stilted phrases delivered in a perfunctory manner. Let him not aim to tell all he knows; let him practice the art of selection. Let him remember that others are to follow him; let him be modest and sensible—and cut it short.

Being Practical.

A brother pastor and dear friend writes after this fashion: "I would be glad if some plan could be presented that the country churches could see wherein they could get the time to devote to Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, and Christian Endeavor; for it would be of great help to the Church. The theoretical may seem easy, but the practical is the true solution that we country pastors and people are wishing for and so far we have failed to find it. I hope the near future in your work will soon develop plans whereby this very important work will be successfully carried on and bring into these lines of Church work the great number of idle young people who could not do so much for the Church of God."

Now, brethren, we submit that we are doing our best to be practical and not theoretical in our handling of this Young People's Department. We are from week to week writing editorials on all the essential phases of the work contemplated by our watchword, we are reviewing books that bear directly on these lines of work, and we are answering privately every question submitted to us and doing so as practically as we know how. How can we be more practical? If the brethren will try the plans suggested in these columns from time to time, we know that Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, and Christian Endeavor will be established in every local congregation in our entire brotherhood. We know this to be so. Brethren, read and heed, and put our practicality (pardon the word) to the test. By all means be practical yourselves by trying our practical plans and suggestions.

Why not guarantee the life and vitality of your church by organizing a Christian Endeavor Society? Why not now?

A BOOK REVIEWED.

Prayer-Meeting Methods. A Book of Plans for Young People's Religious Gatherings. By Amos R. Wells.

The United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass.,
35 cents, 174 pages.

Mr. Wells in this book writes from his vast knowledge of the difficulties confronting young people in the Christian life and from his varied experience, extending over twenty years, with the practical problems of Christian Endeavor. And he has produced a work of almost inestimable value to the man whose business it may become to lead a prayer meeting at any time. I do not see how the prayer-meeting committee of a Christian Endeavor Society can afford to be without the invaluable suggestiveness of this handy volume. Every member of the society ought to read it. So ought the pastor, for it will help him in his midweek prayer meeting as well as give him a new sense of the dignity and worth of the Christian Endeavor prayer meeting.

The book contains fourteen chapters, and deals with all the practical problems of the prayer meeting, from how to get the diffident ones to participate, how to cure the verse reading habit, and how to say what you have decided to say, to how the long-winded ones from occupying too much time. If you are ambitious to make your Society effective, if you really desire to make the Christian Endeavor idea go in your Church, you cannot do better than invest thirty-five cents in this book. It ought to be in a library accessible to the young people anyway, whether that library be a Sunday school or Church or Christian Endeavor one.

“To be a good prayer meeting follower is as good as to be a good prayer meeting leader. The best Endeavorer is both.”

“A good prayer meeting is one led by anybody, partaken of by everybody, monopolized by nobody, and where everybody is somebody.”

Christian Endeavor Bees.

- Be early.
- Be joyous.
- Be prayerful.
- Be sincere.
- Be reverent.
- Be friendly with strangers.
- Be helpful to friends.
- Be consistent everywhere.
- Be Christ-like always.

C. E. TOPIC FOR OCT. 31—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Heroes of Missions in the Islands.

Isa. 32:1-4, 16-20.

The missionary committee should lead. Let them arrange to take a special offering for the new Church house in Ponce, Porto Rico, for which Dr. Manning is working so hard and the need of which for our work there is so evident to all. I think it will be well to try to raise a definite amount.

The Leader.—The leader will do well to speak of the heroic qualities required of the foreign missionary, of the sacrifices he makes, and of the good he accomplishes. Let him be brief.

The Scripture.—Have the Society in concert read the two passages of the Scripture lesson. Then have voluntary sentence comments by a dozen or more on the passages verse by verse showing how they each bear on the theme of the evening.

Written Work.—Two minute essays on the life of John G. Paton and of James Chalmers.

Pastor's Address.—Ten minutes on our work in Porto Rico and its needs.

Question Spurs.—What has Christianity done for the Islands of the Sea? What is it now doing? What can we do? What will be the result if we do nothing?

Scripture References.—(Have these read voluntarily, and get a word of comment on each).

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Kinkade's Bible Doctrine

EDITED BY REV. S. Q. HELFENSTEIN
With Helpful Explanatory Notes.

This book contains enough dynamic truth to shatter tons of erroneous theology. It holds the key to many difficult passages of Scripture, is written in a sweet spirit, and teems with the light of truth. Read it, and catch some of the spirit of the pioneers of the Christian Church.

Limited edition, 380 pages, bound in beautiful brown cloth, gold titles, and sold for only $1.00. Send your order at once to

J. N. HESS, Agent

Dayton, Ohio

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON. N. C.

Extension of the Kingdom, Matt. 28: 19.

The Gentiles' Call, Eph. 3:6.

Holy Ghost to Gentiles, Acts 10:45.

Gentiles Heard Paul Gladly, Acts 13: 48.

Paul Goes to the Gentiles, Acts 18:6.

Salvation Is Sent to the Gentiles, Acts 28:28.

The Kingdom Enlarged, Isa. 51:1-6.

To All the World, Luke 24:44-48.

The Great Commission, Mark 16:15.

For the Committee.—Prepare a map of the Islands of the Sea. Especially have a map of Porto Rico. Also have pictures of our Porto Rico missionaries and scenes from our mission fields there.

Suggested Program.

1. Chain of prayer.
2. Scripture read and commented on as suggested above.
3. Some missionary songs.
4. Leader's remarks.
5. Voluntary participation, which

PROTECT Yourself & Family
By keeping a jar of
VICK'S
Croup and Pneumonia Salve

in the house at all times. The very best thing to use in sudden cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, Croup, The great n' per of Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc., the best pain killer for Burns, Itching Piles, Bruises, Stings, etc. Endorsed by physicians and ministers everywhere. At druggists—25c, 50c, $1.00 per jar.

Vick's Family Remedy Co.
GREENSBORO, N. C.

For free sample specify department No. 2.

should include answers to Question Spurs and Reading of Scripture References. Don't call for these especially.

6. Written work. Prayer and song.
7. Display of maps and pictures by the Committee.
8. Pastor's address on Porto Rico and its Needs.
9. Song. Special Offering. Mizpah.

MARRIED.*Jones-Crockett

“Blountville, Tenn., Sept. 23.—The marriage of Miss Emily Chaffin Crockett to Mr. Thomas Smith Jones, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Chaffin Crockett, at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, September 21, 1909. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her brother, Mr. John Gatton Crockett, of North Holston, Va., gowned in a becoming traveling suit of amethyst, with hat and gloves to correspond, carrying a shower bouquet of bride's roses and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. William Goode Buchanan, of Saltville, Va. The beautiful ring ceremony was performed in a very impressive manner by the bride's father, Rev. William Chaffin Crockett.

“Mr. and Mrs. Jones left immediately for Bristol in an automobile, where they took the vestibule for points east, where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to Saltville, Va., where they will be at home to their friends after October 1st.

“The bride is a young woman of admirable traits of character, and of an attractive personality, who comes of an aristocratic Virginian family, while Mr. Jones is a very popular young business man of Saltville, Va., and his many friends will congratulate him on his good fortune in winning such an attractive bride.”

The above appeared in the Bristol Herald Courier, and we extend our congratulations. Bro. Jones is a member of Bethany Christian Church, and is a young man much appreciated in his own community. May they be happy and useful.

C. H. Rowland.

Burgess-Cotton.

It was a beautiful scene when Samuel P. Burgess and Miss Nora A. Cotton, both of Dendron, were united in marriage at the Christian Church on the night of Oct. 5th, 1909, the writer officiating. The church was beautifully decorated with yellow and green. Mrs. E. T. Atkinson played the wedding march while the attendants came to place, and during the ceremony, Rev. C. C. Ryan invoked the marriage blessing upon them and dismissed the very large congregation. The happy young couple will make their home near Dendron, Va. The bride is the oldest daughter of A. J. Cotton, one of Dendron's best business men, and the groom is the son of Purton Burgess, a successful farmer near Dendron.

May the Lord bless the happy pair.

C.C.Jones.

One Doctor

Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for throat and lung troubles. Doctors have prescribed it for 70 years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Have only one doctor—just one! No sense in running from one doctor to another! Select the best one, then stand by him. No sense in trying this thing, that thing, for your cough. Carefully, deliberately select the best cough medicine, then take it. Stick to it.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

LIGHTNING PROOF      WATER PROOF      FIRE PROOF

CORTRIGHT

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES equally protect the house against lightning, storm, flying sparks and the waste of wear. It is the only roofing that fits—laid in half the time—no solder, no seams, fewest nails, least cutting. If you want the best roof money can buy, send for our three free books on Cortright Metal Shingles, as used all over America—and the name of one of your neighbors who has been using them for years.

CORTRIGHT METAL ROOFING CO., 54 N. 23d St., Philadelphia

“The Oxford Teachers’
par excellence

JUST ISSUED!

OXFORD

Teachers’ Bibles and
S. S. Scholars’ Bibles

With New 20th Century Helps arranged in One Alphabetical Order.

THE HELPS

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, says: “The helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars.”

Holt College, N. C.

Bible is the Bible
of the World.”

NOW READY!
SIX NEW EDITIONS

OXFORD

Black Faced Type
BIBLES

Three on Oxford White Paper. Three on the famous Oxford India Paper.

Pearl 32mo. A wonderful clear type in a small-size book.

Minion 16mo. Ready October 1907. A model hand Bible.

Brevier 16mo. Large type in small compass. “A quart in a pint measure.”

“The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public.”

ASK FOR THE

OXFORD EDITION

REMEMBER: That we guarantee satisfaction and sell to you cheaper than the publisher and dealers do. Our business is by mail and express and prices quoted are the prices of goods delivered to you. We can furnish you the Oxford, or the Holman Teacher's Bible at prices ranging from $1.35 to $4.00. Send for our catalogue or write us what you want. Address

THE CHRISTIAN SUN, Elon College, N. C.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

Hatch-White.

James A. Hatch and Miss Ruth White, both of Wakefield, Va., were married at the home of the bride, Oct. 19, 1909. The writer officiated. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the happy event. The bridal pair left at once over the N. & W. R.R., for a tour to some of the northern cities, followed by the best wishes of many friends. They will make their abode in their handsome new home in Wakefield. The bride is one of Wakefield's fairest daughters, and the groom is a worthy business man of our town.

We pray that their wedded life may be happy and useful. C. C. Jones.

D I E L .

Harrell

Mary J. Harrell, daughter of the late John and Susan Harrell, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elisha Hayes, near Cleopas, Nansemond Co., Va., October 6, 1909, aged 58 years. Beside the

LET US SHIP THIS FINE STEEL RANGE TO YOU ON APPROVAL

Send us only one dollar as a guarantee of good faith and we will ship this SIX HOLE STEEL RANGE to you on approval. On its arrival at your freight station examine it carefully, and if you are entirely satisfied that it is the best value you ever saw, pay your agent the balance, $22.00. Then try it for 60 days in your home and return it at our expense any time within that period if not entirely satisfactory, and your money and freight charges will be promptly refunded. Is not this the fairest offer you ever heard?

$45 Range For Only $23

This range is extra strong and is as good as any range being sold in your county to-day for $45.00. It has an ample porcelain lined reservoir, large warming closet, two tea brackets, asbestos lined and will burn either coal or wood. It is beautifully nicked and an ornament in the kitchen. Size 8-16, oven 16 x 20 x 13 1/4 inches, top 45 x 28 ins. Height 29 ins., weight 87 lbs. Larger sizes cost: 8-18, $25; 8-24, $27. Customers in the West will be shipped from our factory in Illinois to save time and freight. Write to the advertising manager of this paper or to the Bank of Richmond, Richmond, Va., one of the largest institutions in the South, and they will tell you that we always keep our promises.

THE SPOTLESS CO., Inc.
130 Shockoe Square,
RICHMOND, VA.
"The South's Mail Order House."

sister mentioned she leaves one brother, Dempsey Harrell, Holland, Va. The funeral service was conducted at the home by the writer and the body was laid away in a cemetery nearby. The deceased was a member of Ariel Baptist Church, in Gates Co., N. C.

N. G. Newman.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.
QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West. Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.
P. M. A. M.		STATIONS.		A. M. P. M.
4:15	8:00	Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50	7:25
4:25	8:10	Caraleigh Lv.	10:40	7:10
4:48	8:35	McCullers	10:22	6:43
4:53	8:40	Banks	10:17	6:37
5:04	8:52	Willow Spgs.	10:09	6:25
5:20	9:04	Varina	10:00	6:14
5:28	9:14	Fuquay Spgs.	9:50	6:05
5:50	9:35	Chalybeate	9:35	5:50
5:55	9:40	Kipling	9:28	5:43
6:08	9:53	Cape Fear	9:16	5:25
6:15	10:00	Lillington	9:11	5:19
6:23	10:08	Harnett	9:01	5:08
6:28	10:13	Bunlevel	8:55	5:02
6:38	10:23	Linden	8:45	4:52
6:49	10:34	Lane	8:33	4:40
6:54	10:39	Slocomb	8:28	4:35
7:10	10:55	Tokay	8:12	4:17
7:20	11:05	A.C.L. June.	8:05	4:10
7:25	11:10	Ar. Fay't'v'l Lv.	8:00	4:05

Raleigh, N. C.

J. A. Mills, Pres.

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT.

For advertising rates apply to Religious Press Advertising Syndicate (Jacobs and Company), home office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising department of this paper.

Advertising representatives:

Jacobs & Co., J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, home office, Clinton, S. C.
D. J. Carter, 163 Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
J. M. Riddle, Jr., Box 46, Nashville, Tenn.
J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
E. L. Gould, 150 Nassau St., N. Y.
C. H. Tutt, Cleveland, Ohio.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway. Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway. Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt.,
Charlotte, N. C.

J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M.,

W. H. TAYLOE, G. P. A.,
Washington, D. C.

COMPLETE ONLY $15.00

Burns Wood or Coal

Just Send Me One Dollar

and I will ship C. O. D. to any open railroad station in the U. S., east of the rocky mountains, this fine Willard Steel Range. Anyone can say they have the best range in the world, but I will furnish the evidence and leave the verdict to you. After you examine this range, if you are satisfied in every way, pay agent $14.00 and freight, and you become the possessor of the best range in the world for the money. The range has six 8-inch lids; 17-inch oven; 15-gal. reservoir; large warming closet; top cooking surface, 30x26 inches. Guaranteed to reach you in perfect order. Shipping weight 400 lbs. "Write for Catalogue." Agents wanted to take orders for this range.

WM. G. WILLARD,
No. 135 Willard Bldg.
320 Chestnut Street
ST. LOUIS, MO.

Gibbes "Heavy Duty" Balanced Valve Engine

New Design, Heavy Duty, Balanced Valve.

Built to stand the severest test. Every possible source of trouble has been discarded, every improvement has been added. Extra heavy fly wheels, crank made from solid steel forging, accurately balanced and other features make this engine rank as "best obtainable."

Write for catalogue.

GIBBES MACHINERY COMPANY

Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery,"—All Kinds,—All Value.
BOX 1200, COLUMBIA, S. C.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braraman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

Wanted All kinds of old-fashioned furniture, looking glasses, clocks, brass articles, etc. Send description and price. Address, IRVING ELTING, Saugerties, New York.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHCEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1028. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

S. S. Hammond, 633 Frisco Building, St. Louis, Mo.

J. B. Keough, 229 Candler Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

L. S. Franklin, Dallas, Texas.

about
Think Right an organ

This is an Estey suggestion—it won't lead you astray

Think right about an Estey Organ and write for information to Estey Organ Co., Brattleboro, Vt.

KEEPING FAMILIES ABOVE WANT.

Every thinking man wants to provide so that his wife and little ones, those dependent upon him, will be kept above want when he is no longer here to provide for them. The great question now-a-days is the best means to this end. The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company has a plan whereby the helpless ones are protected as long as they live and kept from want. Write T. A. Cary, Mutual Building, Richmond, Virginia for "Document 843," giving full particulars and showing how easy it is for you to protect your family forever.

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—God.

State Library

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 43.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A Foot Ball Tragedy.—Eugene A. Byrne, a cadet of the West Point Military Academy, was killed Saturday in a foot-ball game with Harvard University, and Cadet Wilson of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, lies dying, it is reported, from wounds received in a game between Annapolis and Nova Villa two weeks ago, Wilson being completely paralyzed from his neck down, as was Byrne for the few hours between his injury and death. As to how young Byrne was killed in the game Saturday this dispatch of Sunday gives a glimpse:

"Young Byrne expired just as the sun was rising over the hills along the Hudson, with his grief-stricken father, John Byrne, a civil war veteran, at his bedside. Brave as was the young soldier's fight against death, it was hopeless from the start. Buried beneath a mass of struggling players in the Harvard-Army game yesterday, his neck was twisted and broken by the weight of the crushing pile above him, and he was picked up with every nerve of his body except those of his head and face helpless to perform their function."

Young Byrne was very popular at West Point, was 21 years old, and was acting captain of his team and played left tackle, when going to his death. The dispatch quoted from gives this further picture:

"The manner of young Byrne's injury was dramatic in the extreme. When the spectators realized that the accident was serious the cheering stands were hushed as if by magic. A few minutes later Byrne was carried unconscious from the field and the spectators filed silently down to the station, leaving a deserted foot-ball field, where laughter and waving college pennants had made a gay picture before the accident changed the scene.

Taken to the cadet hospital, skilled surgeons working with relays of capable attendants, labored over Byrne throughout the night, though the surgeons realized that they were only working to prolong, not to save a life: and Byrne knew it, too, before the day broke. He welcomed death smilingly, only thoughtful for the grief-stricken parents.

And the foot-ball season has only fairly opened. How many more brave boys will be sacrificed before the season is gone, God only knows.

Religion Is Fundamental.—Religion is not grafted onto a body. It is fundamental or not at all. It does not operate from without in, but from within out. It is at the center—"the center of the center," one great thinker has put it. The foundation of government, states, nations, principalities, is religion. Whatever rules religion out is tearing away the foundation. Religion gone, then it is a structure with nothing to rest on. In such a light the following from Judge Grosscup, of Chicago, in a recent address is apropos:

"The one blot on the American public schools is the exclusion of spirituality as one of the great facts of the world. The law admits Darwin, admits scientists of every-day and admits all facts except the supreme fact that religion is the fundamental influence in all movements of mankind. These schools teach the life of Lincoln, of Washington, of the great American characters, but are forbidden to teach of Jesus Christ or the Bible. The purpose of this, I suppose, is to avoid factional feelings and strife among the various sects. The position is not a neutral one, but an avoidance of a supreme subject. So long as America turns its back upon religion and the existence of God—the perfect message given by Jesus Christ, it is excluding one of the most powerful influences for good, both spiritual and civil, that the world has at its command."

Mud.—No one likes mud—yes, a hog does, but that is because he is a hog. Mud is a nuisance. It is inconvenient. It is uncomely. It gets in the way. It is very costly. It is the most expensive luxury—save the mark—that a community, county, state ever gets stuck on. Mud makes you mad. You want to be out of it, and away from it. Mud is a dead, heavy, cumbersome weight hanged about the neck to drag people down, and to keep them down. Mud stays the wheels of progress, bespatters and besmears the eyes of civilization, binds and shackles the hands and feet of those who would go and do.

So it has been learned. So has our day and time discovered. If this generation of ours has learned nothing else, it has discovered the cumberseemness and the curse of mud. So mud must go. Mud is doomed. Its destiny is fixed. The good roads movement has come to stay. If you will keep your car to the ground you will hear a mighty sound. It is the sound of pickaxe, shovel, dynamite and progress issuing mandates for mud to get.

Blessed day is this. Men in the country have decided they do not want to be isolated. They want to see their neighbors now and then. They want to go to market, decently, well loaded, and in order. They want their children to go to school in winter, as well as in spring and fall. They want to go to meeting on Sunday.

We take courage and thank God for such a spirit as this. The spirit of the road builders fills the air. It is contagious. A few years, and mud will be a disgrace, as it is already an abomination and a curse. The old fogies may as well give up their hue and cry about more taxes and bond issues for good roads. The highest and heaviest taxes any people ever paid on earth are the taxes demanded and exacted of mud—mirky, miry mess on public places called roads. No bonds were ever as heavy as those printed and sealed in mud.

The good roads movement is no novelty of the day that has sprung up as the mushroom growth. The movement means light and life and progress. And no man, nor set of men, can quench the light, now that it has been seen, stop the life and stay the progress once they have manifested themselves with such main and might. Good roads make for material prosperity, mental enlargement, moral development and civic righteousness. All hail to the good-road advocates, devotees and builders. May their tribe multiply and replenish the earth. Good roads means better homes, better school houses, better churches.

Open the door to the heart; let in Sympathy sweet for stranger and kin;
It will make the halls of the heart so fa'r

That angels may enter unaware.

Open the door!

—Selected.

FROM THE FIELD.

Pine Plains.

We began our meeting here second Sunday in August and continued till the following Thursday. The result was a revival in the church, backsliders reclaimed, and some professed faith in Christ.

Moore Union.

Here we began third Sunday in August and continued until the following Friday. The result was a glorious revival: it was a time of much rejoicing. The Lord was present in his convicting and saving power. Quite a number professed faith in Christ.

Berea.

Here we aided brother C. C. Peel, the pastor, in a meeting. We continued with Bro. Peel from the first Sunday in August till the first Sunday night in September. Here there was a good revival in the church. Some were reclaimed, and a good number professed faith in Jesus. I was indeed glad to be in a meeting here. Some 7 or 8 years since I organized this church. Since that time this persevering band of untiring brethren have erected a handsome church building for themselves. They have a fine Sunday school with Bro. J. N. Sutton superintendent.

New Hope.

Here we began our meeting Saturday before the fourth Sunday in September, and continued till Friday night with increasing interest through out the entire meeting, and closed with the interest at high tide. This was indeed a wonderful meeting. Here the Lord manifested His convicting power. During the night time some were aroused from their slumbers and seized with awful conviction, and had to arise from their bed and get down before God and confess the whole truth, and one man was bed and get down before God and continues to rejoice a month later with exceeding joy. The Lord overtook one man in the road and so convicted him and saved him that before he got to the church he was rejoicing. The Lord only knows how many were reclaimed and professed faith in Jesus. Here we have a fine Sunday school with J. B. King superintendent. This revival I believe was due, that is on man's part, to the agreement of just a few. This revival has continued for a month and still goes on. We had with us our lay Bro. J. W. Knight, who did some splendid talking.

Palm Street Church, Greensboro, N. C.

Here we conducted a meeting for the pastor, Rev. W. C. Wicker, whose position in Elon College as professor, compelled him to be absent until the last day of the meeting. This meeting was continued from the first Sunday in Oct. till the second Sunday, when I was called to the bed side of my aged sick mother, who is nearing the end of her journey. Here was quite a good meeting. The church seemed to be greatly revived and a goodly number professed faith in Jesus. Here I found our dearly beloved H. C. Simpson who has the respect and confidence of the people and I believe is doing a good work in his church. It was my pleasure to spend the greater part of my time, while here, in his home. In all the above meetings I do not know how many professed in Jesus. Perhaps a hundred, more or less, and good number joined the above churches. And to God be all the praise, honor and glory forever.

Yours affectionately in His blessed service.

P. T. Klapp.

Oct. 26, 1909.

Memorial Temple S. S. Work.

Owing to the fact that we are without a pastor at present, I feel that a few words from this charge will be of interest to the Sun readers.

Sunday was a very disagreeable day, so far as the weather could make it so, but on the inside there was much sunshine. Our school had a large attendance for the day and it seemed that everyone had a touch of the power. At the bugle call the school assembled for its closing exercises. According to the usual custom, the Primary Supt. visited the main school for this service. After a general discussion of the lesson, standing committees for the year were appointed, and it would seem from the general appearance of the school and the enthusiasm manifested that these committees expect to get busy and bring things to pass in the Sunday school work.

We had a report from our Cradle Roll superintendent, of her work during the past quarter. This was a most excellent report and one worthy of notice. She has on roll 47 members and makes regular visits to the parents' homes each quarter, remembering babies with cards, pins, etc. This is the means of getting parents to come to the school with baby and eventually lands the baby in the school, to be trained in the Lord's work. During the quarter just closed she reports 22 visits to the main school by babies and their parents. Some of these are frequent visitors. I would love to see our schools take hold of this work for the sake of the future of our children, bring them in the school work at an early age. Owing to sickness in the family of Bro. Ryan, he will not be able to leave Norfolk for a short while yet. We enjoyed another good sermon from him both morning and night, and expect to have him again next Sunday.

We are using every effort to be ready for conference. Delegates will be elected on Wednesday night. The writer expects to attend and get some of the many good things delivered there.

Yours in prayer,

Oct. 24, 1909.

J. H. B.

HENDERSON LETTER.

Rev. L. F. Johnson was with me in a series of meetings at Liberty the third week in Sept., and did faithful work. There were seven professions, a number of reclamations, and five united with the church. The last day of the meeting was rainy and kept many away. I have heard of several others to join. A Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor has been organized with twenty-five members. At the last prayer-meeting there were forty-four present. At our recent quarterly conference the deacons reported the church in good condition. We expect to go to conference with a good report.

At Henderson we had to postpone our meeting from the second week in October till after the conferences. There is a demand from the church, and many of the town people are pleased with the same, that Dr. Atkinson be with us. Delegates have been elected to conference, pastor paid in full and all conference calls will be complied with. We have organized a C. E. Society with twenty-one members. Bro. D. I. Langston, deacon and superintendent of the Sunday school, met with quite a loss last Saturday night, the 24th, in the burning of a livery stable here. His buggy and carriage were destroyed, but horse was unharmed.

The meetings from Fuller's and Virgilina have been reported. These churches will go to conference with good reports. All are in harmonious condition, so far as I know. All have Sunday school and prayer meetings. I shall serve same churches next year. No minister serves a kinder and more appreciative people.

C. E. Newman.

NOTICE

Delegates and visitors coming to the Eastern N. C. Conference at Sanford on Thursday, Nov. 11, 1909, will arrive on Seaboard trains Nos. 41 and 43 at 5:36 and 6:26 P.M. and on Southern at 3:30 P.M.

Please write to the undersigned whether you will come on train or private conveyance, so homes can be provided.

J. D. Gunter.

Box 15, Sanford, N. C., Oct. 11, 1909.

OUR FATHER.

Eleven times in a single chapter in the Gospel by Matthew it is recorded that Jesus repeated this endearing title. This title helps us to understand God. It is the key to the most stupendous problem in the world. Who by searching can find out God? Who is God? What is God? We need not go to philosophy or science, we need not pry into the secrets of nature, nor read many books to find an answer to these questions. The best answer is found in the father's heart. All that an earthly father is to his children, and infinitely more, God is to us. All the tenderness, all the mercy, all the compassion, all the love ever found in the hearts of all the best fathers in the world, have come from the heart of God. As the father hears his children when they cry God hears us. As a father pities and cares for his children, God pities and cares for us. As a father is accessible to his children at all times so God is always accessible to us. When Mr. Lincoln was burdened with the cares of a great nation in the agonies of a great war, many dignitaries could not find easy access to him; but there was one person that could come at all times. It was the little son of whom he was so fond. So we can come to our Father at all times, and He will receive us.

The teaching of this title makes it easy to believe in the forgiveness of sins. This is one of the hardest things for men to believe, partly because of the holiness and justice of God, and partly because of our own sense of guilt and shame, and partly because of our own unforgiving nature. But when the transgressor is your own son it is easy, it is a pleasure, it is a luxury to forgive. So it is easy to believe in the forgiveness of sins when we are assured that God is our Father.

The thought of the fatherhood of God imparts new beauty to the world we live in. The kind of God one really believes in will go far to determine his thought of the world. If he believes in God who made the world and then took His hand off, and looks on with indifference while His laws are being carried out, the world may be beautiful, but it will be a cold world to him. There is no God in it, and the God who made it has no pity. But if one believes in a God who made the world and is still in every part of it watching with an eye of pity and the heart of a Father, the whole scene will be changed. Every bush and flower will be divinely beautiful, for our Father made them and is in them showing forth His love and care. One may see heirlooms in some houses, an old chair, a cane, a spinning-wheel. The owner says: "It is of no intrinsic value, but I prize it more than rubies because it belonged to my father. He made this cane with his own hand cut from the battlefield where he laid his life on the altar. In that old cane a part of the life of my venerable old father abides." So when we look at the stars and the sun, the mountains and the sea, feeling that the life of God is in them and that this God is our Father, how divinely beautiful they all are.

The thought of the fatherhood of God gives a bright interpretation to all the dark scenes and bitter experiences of life. What a puzzle life would be if God were not our Father. But with this fact before us all the dark things are tinged with light. All things work together for good to them that love God because our Father presides over them all. The little boy on board a ship in the midst of a terrific storm, taught us all a beautiful lesson when he said the reason why he was not afraid was because his father was at the helm. Let the storm rage, our Father is at the helm.

This idea of the fatherhood of God exalts manhood. Some have unworthy notions of themselves. They think they are eiphers in the world, but it is not so. God is your Father. You may not be able to trace your ancestry back to a royal family, but you can trace it back to the King of Glory. Claim your heritage and live as a child of a king. Some hold mean views of their neighbors. If a king or a president of the United States should ride down the street they would walk a mile to see him, but if a common laborer should go down the street they would not care to see him. This fact shows what ignorant notions of humanity we have. The apostle says, "Honor all men." They are all the children of our Father.

Since this is true we are all brethren. Thy neighbor is thy brother. He may be your enemy, but he is your brother. He may be a lost sinner, but he is thy brother still. We do not forget the distinction between the righteous and the wicked, a distinction as wide as the diameter of the universe. Yet while the wicked have by their own sin, put themselves in an evil case and are hurrying down to ruin, they are not despised but pitied and helped. God is their Father, and as a father goes after his wandering son, so God goes after the wicked and is ready to welcome them to all the blessedness of the saints in light.

If the thought of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man could be burned into the minds of all men it would make a mighty change in the world. It would make an end of oppression and cruelty and injustice and war, for we are all brethren, and one is our Father, even God. Creating big navies will not keep the peace of the world. Nothing will do it but a general conviction that God is the Father of us all and that we are all brothers.—Sel.

THE WHY OF IT.

Our name is Christian, not because we think ourselves to be purer than others, because we want Bible authority for our name, and in Acts 11:26 we find it signed, sealed and delivered.

Then, too, our name is simply Christian because it better harmonizes with our teachings,—the union of all Christians, without regard to party names. We do not desire to distinguish ourselves from other Christians by taking another name. We feel that to have only Christian for our name, that it better accords with our Leader's prayer "that they might all be one."

At the time we adopted our name, given by divine authority, there were too many party names; and as these names have multiplied so fast, we see the best of reasons for retaining the name and causing no more divisions. We believe that Christ taught that all His followers should be united in one body and hence our teaching of the one name Christian.

Sectism and partyism in the church is in direct variance to the command of God, to the doctrine of Christ, to the prayer of the Savior, as well as to the preaching of the apostles. Not only this, but the isms and schisms of men, by whatever name known are diametrically opposite to the spirit of the Christ.

We have the name Christian because other names disunite instead of bringing together. Party names tend to despise others and soon brotherly love discontinues. When a soul comes into union with Christ, is regenerated, or born from above, it is in union with the whole family of God; it loves all others for a time, until some sect teaches that its name is the only name, and then it is corrupted from the simplicity of the Bible to some party creed, and takes up with one of the inventions of men.

We hold the name Christian because we believe it to be the only name on which the people of God can unite; because it is the only name that throws the church door wide open and invites all to Christian fellowship; because it is the name of the Head of the Church.—Jas. M. Pitman, in Christian Vanguard.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Our struggle is not to make a living, but to live a life.

—The Burlington Christian Church is installing a heating plant.

—In order to be truly grateful for anything we should be thankful for all things.

—Rev. P. T. Klapp changes his address from Pittsboro to Moncure, N. C., R. F. D. 2.

—The foundations of religion were not made to sit on but to build on. Are you a builder?

—Rev. W. T. Walters changes his address from Harrisonburg, Va., to 45 W. Water St., Winchester, Va.

—Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty is expecting to attend the conferences convening this month in N. C. and Va. He will be a welcome guest.

—We may become so busy planning for tomorrow that we forget to execute today what we planned yesterday. Take time to be holy, and to do right what you undertake to do, if you wish any satisfaction in life.

—America is the greatest divorce country in the world—and divorces are on the increase. Think of it. Within the past twenty years there have been 945,625 of our homes broken up by divorce in the United States.

—Burlington News, Oct. 27:

“Rev. Mr. Bolton from Greensboro came down Monday and is assisting Rev. Mr. Fleming in his protracted meeting at the Christian church this week. Good crowds are attending and good sermons are being delivered. Everybody is invited to attend.”

—The program of the Western N. C. Conference which convenes at Graham Nov. 16 has been issued and shows that the program committee has labored to make the forthcoming session a success. A copy of the program has been mailed to every speaker and to all members of the various conference committees, we are informed by President L. I. Cox.

—Rev. W. G. Clements, Morrisville, N. C., has been very unwell recently, but hopes now to be able to attend his conference at Sanford, N. C., next week. He asks that we give notice as follows: “Those having business with the Committee on Home Missions of the Eastern N. C. Conference please meet said Committee Wednesday night, Nov. 10th (evening before Convention convenes), Bro. J. D. Guter at Sanford will tell any one enquiring where Committee meets.”

—The good work goes on. We have received a $1.50 contribution to our Rev. C. E. Newman typewriter fund “to be used on condition only that Bro.

Newman write plainly on the typewriter when bought, as there is some doubt in my mind,” goes on the contributor (who evidently knows what he is talking about) “as to whether we can read his writing even from a typewriter.” Brethren, if you expect a letter from C. E. N. written the next six months you will be sorry if you do not contribute to this fund.

—We note with pleasure, and with good wishes for continued success, that Supt. John A. Mills is to extend his road, the Raleigh and Southport, from Fayetteville south to Hope Mills, there forming an important connection with other roads which, The Charlotte Observer says, “will add materially to the railway facilities of both Carolinas.” By his energy and business ability Mr. Mills has done much for the progress and development of a large scope of country between two important towns, Raleigh and Fayetteville, and deserves to succeed in his further and larger undertakings.

—Edwin Ginn, of Boston, is preparing to establish an international school of peace with a permanent foundation of $50,000 and an endowment at his death. “The school is intended to provide permanent legal machinery for receiving and disbursing contributions and bequests toward international peace, and connected with it will be a bureau of education to attempt to modify courses of study in schools, colleges and universities so as to minimize the achievements of war the world over, with an international exchange of teachers and pupils, in accordance with principles of the Rhodes scholarships.”—Ex.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Saturday evening, a hallowe'en party was given in the Gymnasium, the program being arranged principally by the the lady members of the Faculty. The occasion was full of the hallowe'en spirit, and of glee and jollity.

—By the munificence of Prof. Amick, the recitation room made by taking out the partition between the rooms in which Prof. Cobb and Mr. Pritchette formerly taught has been repapered, and painted. It is now the largest and neatest recitation room in the College.

—Miss Mamie Holland of Suffolk, Va., came Friday to accompany home her sister, Miss Virgie. The latter is a popular member of the Senior Class. She has been suffering from a case of nervousness and indigestion, and her physician advised that she go home for a few days' rest and recuperation.

—Major Elijah Moffitt of Asheboro stopped over here a day in a business trip to other towns, last week. He is among the number who each furnished a room in West Dormitory.

—Mr. S. E. Lowdermilk, of Asheboro, has taken the contract to do the carpenter work on Professor Harper's new residence. Mr. J. C. McAdams of Elon drew the plans.

—Dr. Atkinson and Revs. J. W. Wellons and J. O. Cox, and President Moffitt are all in attendance on the Eastern Virginia Conference at Franklin, Va., this week.

—Prof. Harper represented Elon in a meeting with Dr. Parkin of London, at Greensboro, N. C., Monday of this week. Dr. Parkin is an agent of the Rhodes Scholarship fund of America.

W. P. Lawrence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOME MISSIONS

At the twenty-seventh annual session of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Sunday School Convention, of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Young People's Convention of the Christian Church South at Elon College in May, 1909; it was decided that all Sunday-schools composing this body should heartily cooperate with the Home Mission Department of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference by sending to the Conference at its annual session ten cents per member of gross enrollment of each Sunday school composing this body.

This money is to be used by the Home Mission Board of the Conference, in advancing our church work in needy places. The Young People's Convention of the N. C. and Va. Christian Conference provides in its constitution that: This Convention shall annually elect two members or trustees of the Home Mission Fund and request that the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference place them on its Home Mission Committee as representatives of this body. Mr. Oscar Hines, of McLeansville, N. C., and Mr. H. C. Simpson of Greensboro, N. C., were chosen.

Last year was the first time anything of the kind had ever been tried by our Sunday schools and we sent to Conference almost $60.00. The following responded in full and received from Conference beautiful memorials signed by the president and secretary of Conference: Apple's Chapel, Durham, Elon College, Greensboro, Hines' Chapel, Happy Home, Howard Chapel, Long's Chapel, Lebanon, Pleasant Grove, Shallow Ford, and Mt. Bethel. This was well done, but we can do better this year. Shall we?

In last week's Sun, Prof. Harper gave the amounts apportioned to each Sunday school, but for fear some did not read his article I will give the amounts again. These are from the Annual and are estimated at ten cents per member enrolled as reported to Conference at its last session. They are as follows:

Apple's Chapel, $6.70; Belew's Creek, $6.00; Bethel, $6.00; Bethlehem, $14.30; Berea $13; Elon College $23.50; Goshen Chapel, $1.50; Greensboro, $18.30; Haw River, $4.50; Happy Home, $7.50; Hebron, $4.50; Hines' Chapel, $4.50; Howard Chapel, $5.40; Ingram, $3.00; Kallam Grove, $3.30; Lebanon, $3; Long's Chapel, $3.30; Mt. Bethel, $3.25; Mt. Zion, $2; New Lebanon, $4.50; Palm St., Greensboro, $17.; Pleasant Grove, $7.90; Pleasant Ridge, $5.30; Salem Chapel, $7.50; Sage Garden, $1; Shallow Ford, $6.00; Union (N. C.) $5.00; Union (Va.) $4.; Total apportioned, $207.20, from 2,072 Sunday school pupils. As an officer of the Convention let me beseech every one to do his full duty. What Conference asks is too little. Shall we not do our full duty? Go to Conference and carry the full amount asked for by the Convention and Conference.

J. T. Cobb, Pres.

Y. P. C. N. C. and Va. Conf.

NORFOLK LETTER.

The many Norfolk friends of Dr. J. P. Barrett, of Dayton, Ohio, Editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, were delighted to see him in Norfolk several days during the past week. He preached in the Lambert's Point Church Thursday night. He is on his way to attend the E. Virginia Conference at Franklin this week.

The people at the Memorial Temple were glad Sunday morning to have with them at the services our good friend and brother, "Uncle Wellons," of Elon College, who was also en route to attend the conference at Franklin.

Brother Ryan's little girl, who has been sick with scarlet fever, is doing very nicely, and they hope to be able to leave for their home in Ohio in a short time.

Excellent reports have come to us of the meeting at Waverly. It seemed to some, when Bro. Ryan could not return to the meeting, as if they had as well quit and not try to have the meeting at this time, but the pastor decided to go ahead with the meeting, with the result that large numbers have been converted during the past week, and that the church and whole town have been very much moved upon. The report coming to me is, that some seventy-five or more have been converted, up to and including Friday night, at which time there were thirty-five converted. Brother Rountree will quite likely give the readers of the Sun a more detailed account of this meeting.

The members of the Third Church were very much disappointed at not having with us, as had been expected, Rev. H. G. Rockwell, of St. Johnsville, New York. A telegram was received Friday night that he could not get there as expected; later, a letter followed, explaining that conditions had arisen in his field that seem to make it appear unwise for him to consider at all leaving where he is at the present time. So at the Third Church we had no preaching services. Sunday school was very good.

The relatives and friends of Sister Margaret Green of the Third Church were very much shocked last Tuesday when a telegram was received for her husband to come at once to her bedside, that she was very ill in Michigan where she had been for a few weeks past, attending her sick mother. Her husband left immediately. The next day the family received another telegram, saying that she passed away that morning. She had only been a member of the Third Church for a few months, but by her splendid Christian character, and beautiful life, she had drawn to herself in the closest bonds of Christian love and fellowship, the whole membership of the church and Sunday school. She leaves heart broken a husband, and many relatives, besides a large circle of friends. We can but commend all of them to the care of Him who doeth all things well, and thus has the Third Church and Sunday school, for the first time since its organization been invaded by the hand of death.

J. W. Manning.

NEWS ITEMS.

—The Farmers' National Congress is meeting this week in Raleigh, N. C. A large delegation from most of the agricultural states is expected.

—A gift of $100,000 has been made to the University of Paris for the establishment of a professorship of aeronautics, and a still larger sum to equip a department in this branch of engineering. The president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology favors a course in aeronautics in that school. Possibly all scientific schools will, at an early date, teach its pupils how to fly, at least the science and the art of flying.

—The last number of the Defender contains an article by Dr. Clark, strongly condemning the Sunday baseball, in which the sailors of the fleet were allowed to indulge during their stay at Provincetown this summer, and also the Sunday baseball advocated by a professor in a Connecticut theological seminary. The governor of Connecticut vetoed the legislation allowing the Sunday sport, and the veto was overwhelmingly supported by the members of the legislature.—Ex.

toed the legislation allowing the Sunday sport, and the veto was overwhelmingly supported by the members of the legislature.—Ex.

—An idea of the size of the profits made by some of our large corporations may be gathered from a statement made recently by Charles A. Keene, president of the Independent Watchdealers' Association of America.

One watch manufactured by the Waltham Watch Company which costs $55 in this country may be purchased in Paris for $36.12, and the French firm makes a profit. Another watch sold by the same company costs $20.50 here, whereas in Paris it may be bought for $14.50. The cheap Waltham watch, sold in this country for $6, is to be had in Paris for $4.60.

As those big companies do not do business abroad out of charity, we may imagine that the American public pays the difference in price in order to swell the profits of the firm.—Ex.

—In spite of the fact that the little people of the frozen snows, whose home is at "the top of the earth," are heathen, or largely so, they have developed some of the gentler Christian virtues.

No race on earth has so hard a struggle for existence, yet no race is more nobly patient and calm, or more amazingly daring and courageous, in its fight for daily bread, or, rather, daily blubber. Their patience is a proverb. Nansen the explorer tells a story, which he says is a fact, that illustrates this trait. An inspector of the Danish colony at Godthaab once sent a woman-boat and its crew to the Ameralik fjord to mow grass for his goats. They remained so long away that no one could understand what had become of them. At length they returned and when asked why they had been so long absent they replied that when they got to the place they found that the grass was too short, so they had to settle down and wait till it grew.

The Eskimos are gifted with the finest disposition of all God's creatures. This may be the reason why they call themselves inuit, that is to say, "human beings," and why they look upon all other men as belonging to a different race. One can hardly make an Eskimo angry. He is personified peace. They rarely quarrel among themselves. They never strike back when they are smitten. They prefer to turn the other cheek. They have all the fighting they want with nature, and have no strength to spend on "human" brawls. To the Eskimo mind war is an undreamed-of enormity. That men should butcher one another simply passes the Eskimo's comprehension.—C. E. World.

"YOU CAN'T MAKE MEN MORAL BY LAW."

Some papers seem to think they have made a very wise and statesmanlike remark when they have succeeded in getting off this stale, much-abused platitude. It is a favorite argument used by some against laws prohibiting the liquor traffic—as if the prime object of such laws is to make men moral.

There are, roughly speaking, three men against whom the prohibitory laws are directed—the drinker, the drink-maker and the drunkard-maker; the buyer, the manufacturer and the seller. Now, it would be a fine thing for society if all three of these classes would be made securely moral, by legislation or otherwise. But laws are not primarily designated to foster morality, as desirable as morality is, and as necessary, if society is to endure and be strong. Laws are enacted to protect individuals and society from injurious persons and practices. Laws are intended for self-preservation. And, therefore, whenever a state or community finds growing up in the midst of it persons or practices, customs or traffic which have proved to be injurious to society or to impose unjust hardships upon individuals—more particularly the defenseless and the weak—it not only has the right, but the positive duty to step in and say to the offender, be he individual or an organized trade, "Thou shalt not." In other words it is not immorality that the law takes cognizance of, but injury. The law isn't primarily a gospel, though it may be a God-send. It is primarily a protection. Its representative is the policeman, not the preacher. Hence to claim, "You can't legislate men into morality," as an argument against liquor enactments or any other similar law, is simply to misconstrue the prime function of civil and criminal law.

Of course all good laws do aid morality and all bad laws tend to foster immorality. This, however, is incidental and not primary.

This leads easily to another fact which our friends who are so fond of using the platitude that heads this article seem to forget, namely, that laws originally intended to protect are necessarily more or less educative in character. Pass a law which is designed to prevent men doing an injury to their neighbor or to society as a whole, and at once you have set up a powerful agency for teaching men that the thing against which the law is directed is wrong. The citizen's moral character is constantly being toned up by seeing good laws passed and executed. The law becomes a moral standard and men shape their lives in accordance with the good laws. This is the history of legislative enactments. They are at first the expression of sovereign power. In a republic they are the expression of the sentiments and will of the majority. As time goes on, they become more than the will of a majority, they become the accepted standard of the consciences of the entire community upon the particular matter with which they deal. In this way laws passed for the protection of society, if they have in them a moral bearing—and the prohibition laws confessedly have—become exceedingly powerful moral agencies. That is to say, good laws do and always will, tend to make a moral citizenship. Hence, we deny "in toto" that "you can't make men moral by law."

You can't make men moral by law alone. You can't change the moral principle of an individual in the sense of renewing his heart, by means of law. That is frankly admitted. But if one means to affirm that the passing of good laws does not help morality, both in the individual and society, he gives evidence of shallow thinking and no observation at all.

We are now willing to go yet one step further and—over against the assertion, "you can't make men moral by law," place this declaration: "You never knew any individual or community which was ever made moral without law."—Baptist World.

BE PATIENT.

How great was the patience of Jesus! Even among His own disciples, how forbearingly he endured this blindness, their misconceptions, and hardness of heart! Philip had been for three years with Him, yet he had "not known him!"—all that time he had remained in strange and culpable ignorance of his Lord's dignity and glory. See how tenderly Jesus bears with him—giving him nothing in reply for his confession of ignorance but unparalleled promises of grace! Peter, the honored and trusted, becomes a renegade and a coward. Justly might his dishonored Lord, stung with such unrequited love, have cut the unworthy cumberer down. But He spares him, bears with him, gently rebukes him and loves him more than ever! See the Divine Sufferer in the terminating scenes of his own ignominy and woe. How patient! "As a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he opened not his mouth." In these awful moments, outraged Omnipotence might have summoned twelve legions of angels and put into the hand of each a vial of wrath. But he submits in meek, majestic silence. Verily, in him "patience had her perfect work."

Think of this same patience with his Church and people since he ascended to glory. The years upon years he has borne with their perverse resistance of his grace, their treacherous ingratitude, their wayward wanderings, their hardness of heart and contempt of His Holy Word. Yet, behold, the forbearing love of this Savior God? His hand of mercy is stretched out still;"

Child of God, art thou now undergoing some bitter trial? The way of thy God, it may be, all mystery; no footprints of love traceable in the chequered path; no light in the clouds above; no ray in the dark future. Be patient! "The Lord is good to them that wait for him." "They that wait on the Lord shall renew their strength!" Or hast thou been long tossed on some bed of sickness—days of pain and nights of weariness appointed thee? Be patient! "I trust this groaning," said a suffering saint, "is not murmuring." God, by this very affliction, is nurturing within thee this beautiful grace which shone so conspicuously in the character of thy dear Lord. With Him it was a lovely habit of the soul. With thee the "tribulation" which worketh "patience" is needful discipline. "It is good for a man that he should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of God." Art thou suffering some unmerited wrong or unkindness—exposed to harsh and wounding accusations, hard for flesh and blood to bear? Be patient. Beware of hastiness of speech or temper, remember how much evil may be done by a few inconsiderate words "spoken in advisedly with the lip." Think of Jesus standing before a human tribunal, in the silent submissiveness of conscious innocence and integrity. Leave thy cause with God.—Rev. J. R. MacDuff, D.D., in the Congregationalist.

THE COLLEGE YET TO BE.

"It's time to send my oldest boy to college," said my neighbor, after deciding which of the rival explorers had reached the North Pole. "I've been writing down a little list of things that it seems to me a good college ought to be and the kind of place where I would like to have my son go. Like to know what they are?"

I said I would be very much interested in them and my neighbor showed me the following, jotted down on a sheet of paper:

"The Kind of a College I Wish My Son Could Attend.

"1. A college where the president and all the teachers are unmistakable Christians, spiritually minded as well as in-

Intellectually keen, and tremendous lovers of humanity.

"2. Where brains are considered of more value than muscle and Christian character counts for more than football heroism.

"3. Where fraternities and clubs are of such a character that real democracy and brotherhood, instead of snobbishness and aristocracy, are fostered.

"4. Where the bulk of the expense for my son will be for real education instead of for society and athletics.

"5. Where ethics and plain everyday righteousness will be taught in the classroom as much as 'science and philosophy.'

"6. Where the main object of the college authorities is to turn out as 'products' enthusiastic Christian men whose main object in life is to serve mankind and obey the Christian rule of love to God and one's neighbor."

I read the list and handed it back to him.

"I know just the college that would suit you," I said.

"Where," asked my neighbor eagerly.

"In the mind of some great hearted Christian educator not yet born," I said.

My neighbor looked at me sadly.

"I'm sorry," he said. "That will come too late for my boy." And he turned and went into the house.—Home Herald.

BLESSINGS FROM SICKNESS.

Those religionists who are arguing that personal sickness is always a curse to one, and never a blessing, are very blind to facts, and also to the value of personal experience. Nowhere in the Bible is the sentiment taught that sickness is wholly an evil to its subjects. But the Bible does repeatedly show us that from personal sickness blessings of great worth have come, not only to the person himself, but to others on account of his illness. Very many unconverted ones have been led by their sickness to accept Christ as the healer of their heart. And many a Christian, by means of his serious illness, has been made to more fully appreciate good health than he ever did when he was most healthy. He has also prayed far more fervently than formerly, and laid hold of God with greater intensity of faith. The Christian Advocate, of New York, says: "A lady in the hospital, who had suffered much, said she was glad that she had been ill, because the letters, the calls, the flowers, and other tokens of sympathy and appreciation she had received, made even her sufferings a blessing. She did not know that she had so many friends, or that they cared so much for her, or that friendship was so sweet in adversity. The bitterest cup of sorrow and affliction, with love, is sweeter far than the best wine of Satan's banquet." The man who says that God has nothing to do with one's sickness, has but a very slight knowledge of God, and of His ways in dealing with mankind. The truth is, God knows that sickness, especially of an alarming kind, is much more effective than almost anything else to induce its subjects to pause long enough to think of Him, and also of eternity. It is when one is critically ill that he realizes his utter helplessness, and his need of God's grace. More earnestly than usual does the Christian parent pray when his child is dangerously sick. He then passionately pleads with God. Have you had such an experience?

C. H. Wetherbe.

A GOOD LIFT.

Do not worry; eat three square meals a day; say your prayers; be courteous to your creditors; keep your digestion good; exercise; go slow, and go easy.—Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy but, my friend, these I reckon will give you a good lift.—Abraham Lincoln.

DIED.

Hartsoe.

Mrs. Mary A. Hartsoe, relict of the late Winship Hartsoe, died at the home of her son, W. B. Hartsoe, in the city of Durham, N. C., Oct. 5, 1909, aged 81 years. She leaves to mourn their loss one son, one brother, one sister and five granddaughters. Sister Hartsoe was a good woman. She was a professor of religion for about sixty years and a member of New Elam Christian Church for fifty years. She will be missed in the church and community.

G. R. Underwood.

Hayes.

Maggie May Hayes, daughter of Charlie Lee and Maggie Hayes, was born April 4, 1906, died Oct. 6, 1909, aged three years, six months and two days. Maggie was left motherless at the age of two months and twenty-one days. She was taken into the home of her aunt, Mrs. Otho Spruill, where she was tenderly cared for. During the past summer she had whooping cough and this was followed with fever. No parent could have done more than Mr. and Mrs. Spruill did, for their little niece. Several doctors and a trained nurse were in attendance; but human skill could avail nothing. The Christ who blessed little children while here on earth took her to be with him.

The funeral services were conducted from the Christian Church of Henderson on the morning of Oct. 7th by Rev. J. R. Doane of the Baptist Church and myself and the burial was in the town cemetery.

May a Heavenly Father comfort the loved ones in their loss and may they meet Maggie in heaven.

C. E. Newman.

NOTICE

All ministers, delegates and visitors to the N. C. and Va. Christian Conference, which meets with Belews Creek Church, Nov. 23, 1909, will note the following: Conference is to open at 9 o'clock A.M., and in order to be there for first day's session it is necessary to go on Nov. 22nd. Train for Belews Creek leaves Greensboro 4:55 P.M. and only one time for that point each day.

Those going by rail from east of Greensboro will come on train arriving there about noon, those from north will come on train arriving about 1 o'clock P.M. Observe the above and save yourself much inconvenience and delay, and all persons whosoever who will attend the approaching session will notify J. G. Fulton, Belews Creek, so that their entertainment may be arranged before arrival as train gets there after dark.

C. C. Peel, Pastor.

ONE CONCRETE CASE.

Of the Value of Telephone Service to Farmers and Rural Residents.

"Mr. John Kimbrough, who lives ten miles from town, got together thirteen two-horse wagons one day last week to haul a carload of guano from the Sparta depot," said the Sparta Ishmaelite. "When he got there with his wagons he was surprised to find that the car of guano had not arrived, and all had to return home empty. How much would a rural telephone connection with the Sparta depot have been worth to him? How much would it be worth to you?" Farmers in all sections of the South who have suffered financial loss and great personal inconvenience on account of being unable to communicate promptly with the nearest town, will be interested in knowing that it is now possible for farmers to have telephone connection in their homes on an economical basis. The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company is encouraging farmers to construct telephone lines to be connected with exchanges and toll stations. The plan of the Company is a simple one, and the cost involved is so small as to make this great convenience within reach of every farmer. A booklet outlining this proposition and giving full details may be procured by writing to the Farmers' Line Department, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, 19 South Pryor Street, Atlanta, Ga.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....	$1.50
Six Months .....	.75
Four Months .....	.50

Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Eastern N. C.—Sanford, Thursday, Nov. 11, 10 a. m. Rev. G. R. Underwood, Pres., Sanford, N. C., Rev. W. C. Wicker, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Rameur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Blew's Creek, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.

I Tim. 4:15.

(Not they that eat most, but they that digest most, are the most nourished. Not they that get most, but they that keep most, are the richest. So not they that hear most, or read most, but they that meditate most, are the most edified and nourished and enriched unto everlasting life).

Daily Food.

"I am the bread of life."

Sunday, November 7.

I will give unto him that is athirst, of the fountain of the water of life freely. Rev. 12:6.

"Life, like a fountain rich and free, Springs from the presence of the Lord; And in thy light our souls shall see The blessings promised in thy word."

Keep thy heart with all diligence: for out of it are the issues of life. Prov. 4:23.

Monday, November 8.

Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life. John 4:14.

"See, the spring of living waters, Springing from eternal love, Well supply thy sons and daughters, And all fear of want remove."

Give me this water, that I thirst not. John 4:15.

Tuesday, November 9.

Fear not; I am thy shield and thy exceeding great reward. Gen. 15:1.

"God is our sun and shield,

Our light and our defense;

With gifts His hands are filled,

We draw our blessings thence:

He shall bestow

On Jacob's race

Peculiar grace

And glory too."

He that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. Heb. 11:6.

Wednesday, November 10.

The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it. Prov. 10:22.

"No; it's vain to seek for bliss,

For bliss can ne'er be found

Till we arrive where Jesus is,

And tread on heavenly ground."

I will not let thee go, except thou bless me. Gen. 32:26.

Thursday, November 11.

Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come. I Tim. 4:8.

"From covetous desires set free,

On Jesus cast thy care;

In heaven thy better portion see,

And let thy heart be there."

Godliness with contentment is great gain. I Tim. 6:8.

Friday, November 12.

The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them. Psa. 34:7.

"He bids his angels pitch their tents

Round where his children dwell;

What ill their heavenly care prevents

No earthly tongue can tell."

Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation? Heb. 1:14.

Saturday, November 13.

I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee. Jer. 31:3.

"O love divine, how sweet thou art!

When shall I find my willing heart

All taken up with thee?

I thirst, and faint, and die to prove

The greatness of redeeming love,

The love of Christ to me."

And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge. Eph. 3:19.

[From Daily Food, Bible Readings and Daily Meditations.]

OUR CREED.

Every person has a creed of some sort. The father of modern philosophy gave an impetus to thought and research by adopting as his slogan, Cogito, ergo sum. (I think, therefore I am). Now, to think is to be, and, moreover, to be, as a man, is to think, that is, to have a creed. A creed is the thing one thinks, believes.

A long time ago, more than a hundred years by the calendar, a man standing in a religious assembly dared to think that the Bible was a very wise, and a very sufficient Book, and that it contained enough, and none too much, to be a sufficient rule of faith and of practice for a church, a people, a denomination. Taking that Book in his hand he said, "I move that this Book and this alone be declared a sufficient rule of faith and practice, and that those who believe this to be sufficient be called by the name Christian, as that seems to me to be a sufficient name." So Rice Haggard, or words to that effect. That religious assembly adopted the motion unanimously, and from that day forth those who are content with the biblical name Christian, without any additional man-given names about it, have said, and do say to all who would come "Take the Bible. That is sufficient. That is none too small. It is none too great. God forbid that we should add to or take from. It is God's Book for man's life, and we are willing to abide by its teachings. The Bible is our only creed."

For this century and more the denomination called Christian has been heralding this great truth to the world. As a church and a people we have never essayed any other creed, we have never substituted, nor offered, nor suggested any other book. We are willing to risk the Bible as all sufficient in matters of faith, practice, fellowship, doctrine, government and conduct.

That the world is coming more and more to think less of man made creeds and to put larger emphasis on the Bible as a sufficient rule of faith and practice is none of our fault. It only shows that we are coming into larger and fuller fellowship, one with another. Fraternity among men increases. The churches will one day see that the Bible is sufficient. Then lesser creeds that sever and distract and divide will be done away, and our Lord's prayer will prevail, "That they all may be one," even as Father and Son are One.

THE MISSIONARY TASK.

It is stupendous. It staggers the mind to try to grasp it—this of converting the nations, and all the peoples of all the nations to Christianity. From a human standpoint it is simply impossible; it cannot be done. But all things are possible with God, and in His good time and way it will be done.

As a glimpse of the greatness of the task look at this. The Mohammedan religion, the religion of Islam, withstands Christianity longer than any other religion. It is more difficult than others to win converts from, to convince, to meet and conquer. According to the Independent, the majority of the population of Turkey are Mohammedans. There are sixty-two millions of Mohammedans in British India and twenty-five millions in Dutch India. Germany rules over eight and a half millions in Africa, France sixteen and a half millions, and Great Britain nearly eight million. But of the two hundred and twenty-three million Mohammedans, nearly one hundred and sixty millions are under nominally Christian governments, while no nation whose population is Christian is governed by Mohammedans.

But will these "nominally" Christian nations ever be able to reach the heart of Islam and plant there the message of the Cross? That is one task of the future which the missionary problem presents.

THE BREACH HEALS.

It takes a thousand agencies to heal up the deep sore occasioned by the struggle between the States in the '60's. But those agencies have been busy and the good work in a thousand directions goes on.

Churches are conservative, naturally. And the breach in church and denominational life is hardest to heal on that account. In the case of our own Church, the breach has been healed and the North and South are one under the banner of the American Christian Convention. Each maintains its integrity in a measure, but the breach is healed, the union is complete.

Some of the larger denominations have not been so fortunate. We still have Northern and Southern Methodist churches, Northern and Southern Presbyterians, Northern and Southern Baptists, and so on.

But the two branches of these churches are not as far apart in belief, government and fellowship as in former years. There are signs of union constantly appearing, and as time rolls on—time, that magic master that heals and relieves so much of the world's disease, prejudice and difference,—will also cure this one, and in all probability all branches of churches now divided by a geographic line will be merged into one, about half the denominations that now exist in our country will be done away.

In this line it may be noted that the moderator this year of the Northern Presbyterian General Assembly was a Confederate soldier (Dr. James M. Barkley) as was also the moderator of the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly (Dr. W. E. Bogg). Both Dr. Barkley and Dr. Bogg wore the gray.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

The drift of human society seems to be toward the place of most immediate and largest remuneration for labor. When mechanical and trade life offer more pay, population moves into the town and city; when agriculture offers the best return for labor, population moves to the country. When work is scarce in one city and abundant in another city men move to the most active center. There is no law to prevent this change. For many years the drift has been from the country to the town, because it seemed easier to earn bread in store or shop or mill than in the field. Where there is ability this is true; for the common laborer it does not always prove best.

At the present time the indications are that farm and garden products will continue in good demand and at good prices. The difference in the cost of living in the country and town is in favor of rural life. Besides this, science and government have done much in recent years to aid rural life. Rural mail delivery puts the country in touch with the current thought and business of the world, tells of markets, political and religious movements, and keeps in touch with friends. Weather bureau service, public schools and kid-wagons, add to the facilities for education and farm work. Machinery for tilling the soil, for harvesting crops, and markets for all that labor can produce are inducements to intelligent farming and home-building in the country. Moreover, the wholesome atmosphere for body, mind, and soul in the country should be a compensation for the absence of city privileges and city associations. Intensive farming overcomes the labor problem in some measure, and more head-work pays in the field as well as in the store or factory. All nations have had their best in the agricultural and pastoral ages, and it is to be hoped that government and Christianity will favor country life in this broad land. Somebody has said that city population runs out in five generations. The perpetuation and multiplication of the race depend upon the rural life, if that is true. It would be folly to advocate the principle of all people remaining in the country; it would be greater folly for them all to go to the city. But the United States are so well adapted to rural life that we ought to maintain a safe balance between municipal and country life.

It is difficult to keep day and night separate in the city—each runs into the other—people work into the night and sleep into the day. That illustrates the fact that city life is, in large measure, artificial. In the country we have nature as the rule of life, and nature is always superior to art. This is not meant as a criticism upon the city, but as an endorsement of the country, and simply to show the distance they are apart. — Whatever aids in keeping city and country in right relation in this land is worthy of our best support and fullest approbation. What we need is more intelligence in the country and more purity in the city. In the city intelligence outruns character; in the country character outruns intelligence. That may not be the exact truth, but it points in the direction of truth, and is worthy of study. Human contact creates good and creates bad; the friction of society makes it go; but congested populations breed crime and shame. It is that mass of humanity in the cities, untaught and unused, propagating itself without reference to purity or bread, that taints the city and makes character so hard to reach. Religion has its problems in town and in country, but the hardest problem is in the crowded and overcrowded centers where sunlight is scarce and bread is hard to earn.

W. W. Staley.

—The Raleigh correspondence carried a story of human interest, and a moral, last week. William G. Rouse of La Grange, N. C., came to Raleigh for treatment for hydrophobia. In the neighborhood from which Rouse came a boy was dying of hydrophobia, having been bitten by a dog with rabies last May. The boy was a strong one, and the case very violent and extreme. People from fear would not help the father in holding the boy. Finally Rouse volunteered for the precarious service. In scuffles with the boy, Rouse was scratched on arm and hand, and the face and hands of the dying boy were covered with saliva. The Pasteur treatment will bring the man around all right, it is believed.

—According to The Manufacturer's Record the South—including also the District of Columbia, Oklahoma, and Missouri,—spent $13,000,000 the first nine months of the present year in church building. So large a sum going in this direction, for neither food, raiment, shelter, nor to pay debts, indicates a return to prosperity, the Record thinks.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Eln College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week $3,842.57

Dues:

- Blannie Franks .....$ .05
- Bettie Franks ..... .05
- Dwight Franks ..... .05
- Noma Franks ..... .05
- Numa Franks ..... .05
- Helen S. Foster ..... .20
- T. Clifford Foster ..... .10
- Susie R. Watson ..... .10

Monthly S. S. Offering:

- Henderson, N. C. .... 3.51
- Broadway, Va. .... 1.62
- Greensboro, N. C. .... 2.88

Special Offering:

- Christian Church and Conf., Dadeville, Ala.:
- Rev. H. M. Stephenson .. 50
- Rev. G. D. Hunt ..... 1.00
- J. J. Carter ..... 50
- Rev. G. O. Lankford .... 1.00
- Rev. J. H. Milan ..... 1.00
- V. E. Kitehen ..... 50
- J. W. Payne ..... 50
- Rev. B. F. Young ..... 1.00
- Rev. E. M. Carter ..... 50
- H. A. Collier ..... 50
- Rev. J. W. Elder ..... 1.00
- Rev. J. V. Knight ..... 50
- J. E. Landers ..... 50
- W. E. Pate ..... 1.00
- E. M. Lankford ..... 50
- G. H. Dollar ..... 25
- Rev. C. M. Dollar ..... 50
- B. Brown ..... 50
- Rev. J. D. Dollar ..... 50
- Mrs. M. E. Lambert ..... 10
- J. F. Fuller ..... 1.00
- Tyler Jennings ..... 50
- W. D. Freeman ..... 25
- J. B. Freeman ..... 25
- W. A. Jennings ..... 50
- J. M. Richards ..... 25
- G. L. Lambert ..... 50
- Mrs. E. M. Carter ..... 50

Lanett, Ala.:

- J. F. Cox ..... 1.00
- E. R. Overcash ..... 25
- Oak Grove, Chipley, Ga.:
- J. R. Highsmith ..... 1.00
- J. J. Short ..... 50
- J. J. Floyd ..... 1.50
- C. H. Wyatt ..... 50
- N. J. Wyatt ..... 50
- A. H. Hart ..... 25
- C. E. Short ..... 50

Mrs. Eula Floyd ..... 25
 Sale of Pictures ..... 2.50
 Am't. 40th week ..... 33.51
 Total ..... $3,876.08

My Dear Children:—

Uncle Jim will probably be at home when this letter reaches you and in his letter for next week will tell you something of his Alabama and Georgia trip, and also introduce the Ala. cousins to those of N. C. and Va. Won't that be nice? You see by this and last week's reports that he has not been idle and the friends from the south have responded liberally to his call.

Thanksgiving Day is the next great day to which we look forward. We are hoping, by the offerings on that occasion, to have such help that many debts may be paid and necessities purchased whereby our orphan children may be comfortable. Let us all give a pull to that end.

Lovingly,
 Aunt Myrtle.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 16, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We will send our letter for Oct. Guess the orphan children are going to school now. Do they like to go?

Enclosed please find twenty-five cents.

- Your nephews and nieces,
- Blannie Franks.
  - Bettie Franks.
  - Dwight Franks.
  - Noma Franks.
  - Numa Franks.

Yes, our children are fond of going to school and some of them are learning fast. They all go now, even the youngest.

Taro, Va., Oct. 24, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I have been going to school five weeks and like my new teacher fine.

Enclosed please find my dues for this month.

With best wishes for you and the orphans, I remain

Susie R. Watson.

Thanks, Susie. Be sure you write again before Thanksgiving, and get your little friends to send a contribution.

Crews, Va., Oct. 25, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I hate to always say I am late, but mother has been sick again. Her trip to the country did not do her any good. Little brother was real sick last week, but better now. Glad you and the cousins keep so well. I enclose 20 cents, our dues for September and Oct.

Your fond little niece,
 Helen S. Foster.
 T. Clifford Foster.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S
 Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

WANTED—Bookkeepers, Stenographers.
 MORE BANKERS in the 16 States in which Jno. F. Draughon's 30 Colleges are located, indorse these Business Colleges than indorse ALL others. IF YOU want the EVIDENCE and want to RISE to the $10-a-day class, ask for FREE catalogue. Lessons BY MAIL if preferred. Draughon's Practical Business College, Raleigh, N. C.; A. M. FISHER, Mgr

Don't Throw it Away Does Your Granite Dish or Hot Water Bag Leak?
USE MENDETS
 They mend all leaks in all utensils—tin, brass, copper, granite ware, hot water bags, etc. No solder, cement or rivet. Any one can use them; fit any surface; three million in use. Send for sample pkg. 10c. Complete pkg. assorted sizes, 25c. postpaid. Agents wanted. Collette Mfg. Co., Box 1141, Amsterdam, N. Y.

DEAF 25 YEARS
Can Now Hear Whispers

 I was deaf for 25 years. I can now hear a whisper with my artificial EAR DRUMS in my ears. You Medicated Ear Drum cannot see them Pat. July 15, 1908 in my ears. I Can Not Feel Them for they are perfectly comfortable. Write and I will tell you a true story—How I Got Deaf—and How I Made Myself Hear. Address
C. P. WAY
 8 Adelinto St., Detroit, Mich.

DR. J. H. BROOKS
 Surgeon and Dentist
 FOSTER BUILDING,
 Burlington, N. C.

MEDICINE.
 We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?
FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
 Burlington, N. C.

Think Right about an organ
 An Organ, whether of pipes or reeds, is maker and materials. The maker who thinks right will use best materials and most skill Think right about an Estey Organ and write for information to Estey Organ Co., Brattleboro, Vt.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,

Christian Church, South.

atchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—TAKING PART IN THE MEETING.

As has been repeatedly said in these columns, unless the members each take some part aside from singing in every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, the pledge is not kept and the meeting not a success. But how shall this be attained?

1. Plan the meeting. What? Plan a prayer meeting? Can you foretell what expressions you will have in the meeting? No; but we can foreknow what impressions we desire to produce and we can prepare for them; in that event, expressions will take care of themselves. Every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting should be planned carefully and prayerfully. The prayer meeting committee should assist the leader in doing this, and they may at times call in the president or pastor or anyone else they desire. After consultation a program should be prepared similar to those which are from week to week suggested in these columns under the exposition of the C. E. Topic.

2. Get the Members to Prepare.—Place topic cards with the daily readings thereon in each member's hands. If this cannot be done, announce the topic with readings a week ahead. Get as many copies of the Christian Endeavor World as possible in the hands of the members. Also get them to use the Christian Sun for what help it can furnish. Suggest books which will give light on the Society and its workers. Write to the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass., and to this office for samples of Endeavor literature and put the same to good use in the Society. A most excellent work is the Christian Endeavor Quarterly, Erie, Kans., 25c. per year. Another is the Endeavorer's Companion, 10c. per year, by Amos R. Wells, published by the United Society. Use every available means to get the members to prepare.

3. Assign Work.—Do this only to those who are bashful and diffident and who would not likely participate without it. This assigned work may be in the form of questions to be answered or Scripture references to be read or essay work representing research and accurate knowledge. Let most of this assigned work come in under voluntary participation. Never let an Endeavorer arise and say, the following verse was given me to be read and then read it. But let him rise and read his verse as if he had not been asked to do so and then let him add a sentence to show what it means and how it applies to the theme of the evening. Do the same of question spurs. The one to whom such a question has been given should not read the question, but should give his answer as if it were a voluntary performance throughout. This will keep the meeting from being stilted and formal. Some kinds of assigned work, such as solos, duets, essays, chart talks, reading of the Scripture lesson for the evening, have to be called for by the leader, but this should not be the case with question spurs and Scripture references.

Remember that the prayer meeting is not successful unless every member participates and works to that end.

Appropriate Benedictions.

The most common Christian Endeavor benediction is the universally known, loved and honored Mizpah. It is found in Gen. 31:49. It is not always correctly given, but should be. Here it is: "The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another."

For variety's sake, the Society may at times close with this sentence from the Psalms: Let the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, our Strength and our Redeemer."

Another beautiful and appropriate form of benediction is this from Num. 6:24-26:

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee:
The Lord make his face to shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee.
The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

Young People's Work at the Conferences.

The editor and field secretary of the Young People's Department cannot attend all our Conferences and present the claims of the work, nor is that necessary. If we have a young people's movement, then there ought to be many leaders in every Conference to set forth its aims and outline its work. The Conferences will be standing in their own light, if they neglect so vital a work as that now being undertaken by the young people. On the other hand, the Conference which does the most to encourage and push forward this hopeful movement and to conserve this youthful energy for religious ends will ere long be our most progressive body. Brethren, do not neglect the young people when you come together in Annual Conference to deliberate in regard to the welfare of our Zion. Our future is in our young people; their future is intimately connected with the Young People's Department and what it stands for. Ought there not to be at least one address on this work in every Conference? The young people spoke their ambitions in convention at Elon College last May. Will their elders in October and November bid them Godspeed or discourage them? God-speed, of course!

A C. E. Opening Prayer.

It is a delightful thing at times to open the prayer meeting with a prayer in concert. The Lord's Prayer is often used in this way, and this is well. So also are many of the Psalms, the members with bowed heads and bended knees reading those which they have not committed to memory; this also is well. But many societies write their own opening prayers and get each member to memorize it. This prayer is then used at least once a month, perhaps oftener, but not at every meeting. Here is a beautiful one, which comes to us from far away Australia:

"Heavenly Father, draw near to us as we now draw near to thee. Mercifully grant that thy Holy Spirit may in all things direct and rule our hearts, and renew us in the spirit of our minds. Deliver us from all sloth in thy work, all coldness in thy cause, and grant that by looking unto thee we may rekindle our love, and by waiting upon thee may renew our strength, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

—Raleigh, N. C., is said to be the only capital city in the United States without a Y. M. C. A. building.

C. E. TOPIC FOR NOV. 7.—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Life Lessons for Me from the Book of Hebrews, Heb. 12:1-7. Monthly Consecration Meeting.

The Book of Hebrews.—We are not sure who wrote this excellent book. Resemblance between the thought and style of this epistle and the Pauline epistles have led many to attribute it to Paul. Others assign it to Barnabas, Silvanus, Apollos, or Clement of Rome. The latest suggestion, from Harnock, is that Priscilla who helped Paul so much at Corinth and Ephesus is the author. It is addressed to Christian believers of the Jewish race, perhaps to the church at Jerusalem or at Alexandria or at Rome. It is argumentative in style, rather a theological discourse than a letter, intended to strengthen in the Christian faith and keep Jewish Christians from apostasy. It has always been a favorite among spiritually minded Christians because of its magnificent exaltation of the character and office of the Savior. It was written before the fall of Jerusalem at the hands of Titus, for it speaks of the temple worship as still going on. Perhaps the date 64 or 67 would not be far wrong. These facts should be given by the leader or someone designated by him.

Outline of Hebrews.—Write on blackboard or chart the following or a similar outline of the letter. Have the one in charge of this give suitable explanation, while the Endeavorers with open Bibles turn through the book as the outline proceeds. Five minutes is enough for this exercise.

- I. Christ's Superiority, 1:1-8:13.
  1. To Angels, 1-1:2:18.
  2. To Moses and Joshua, 3:1-4:13.
  3. High Priesthood of Jesus and the high priesthood of the first covenant, 4:14-8:13.
- II. The Superiority of the new Covenant, 9:1-10:18.
- III. Encouraging and Warning, 10:19-39.
- IV. Faith and Heroes of Faith, 11:1-40.
- V. Exhortations, 12:1-13:17.
- VI. Conclusion, 13:18-25.

The Leader.—If the leader elects to have some one else give the facts of the book and preside over the presentation of the outline, his part should be to drive home some great lesson from the book, such as that presented in chapter 11, the roll call of the faithful.

The Scripture Lesson.—Have seven Endeavorers each memorize a verse and repeat it, adding a sentence of comment applying its teaching to our present day life.

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage. EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Why You Should take the Herald of Gospel Liberty

BECAUSE it furnishes needed information in a thoroughly interesting and up-to-date manner.

BECAUSE it interprets movements within the Christian Church in a Christian spirit in relation to other churches throughout the world.

BECAUSE the Christian Church could not do its part as a Christian Church without a newspaper like the Herald of Gospel Liberty.

BECAUSE it is the best religious newspaper published in America, having proved itself for ONE HUNDRED YEARS the friend of the entire family, chronicling each week the progress of the world by its record of current events interpreted from a Christian standpoint, bringing interesting and helpful reading of the highest literary quality for every member of the family, old and young.

TERMS: $1.50 PER YEAR

Send for sample copies

Christian Publishing Association

J. N. HESS, Agent

DAYTON, OHIO

Question Spurs.—To be given to those who desire them and to be answered when they see fit:

- What is faith?
- Why did Christ die?
- How does salvation come?
- How can we increase our faith (give to several)?
- How does faith save?
- How does faith help us in this life?
- What is the Christian's expectation?
- Why is postponement of faith dangerous?
- Name some modern heroes of faith.
- Show how faith helped Paul; Peter; Samuel; Moses.
- How has faith helped you (give to several)?

References.—To be given to those desiring and to be read, with a word of comment, by them when they desire:

- Glory of Christ, Heb. 1:3.
- Ministering Spirits, Heb. 1:11.
- No Escape, Heb. 2:3.
- Whence Help, Heb. 2:18.
- Hold Fast, Heb. 3:6.
- Right Now, Heb. 3:13.
- Christian's Rest, Heb. 4:9.
- God's Word Powerful, Heb. 4:12.
- God's Omniscience, Heb. 4:13.
- Christ's Temptation, Heb. 4:15.
- Come Boldly, Heb. 4:16.
- Ancor of the Soul, Heb. 6:19.
- Power of Immortality, Heb. 7:6.
- All May Come, Heb. 7:25.

The Secretary.—Do not call the roll, but mark all who take part. Just before the close, call the list who have participated and give opportunity for the delinquents to keep their pledge.

(Continued on page sixteen).

LYON & HEALY'S GOOD CHURCH ORGANS

At Reasonable Prices

We make a specialty of large reed organs, voiced to closely resemble pipe organs. These church organs will be found much richer in effects than any cheap pipe organ.

Let us tell you what our Cathedral Organ will furnish in the way of musical effects.

Styles from $100 to $500. Payments spread over 2 years when desired.

Fine Folding Organs $37.50; Fine Parlor Organs $43; Good second-hand Organs at half price. Write for catalogue.

LYON & HEALY, 10 Adams St., Chicago

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.

Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Elegantly appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.

Write for forms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

Send your name and address to-day for
Of High Point North Carolina.

SURANCE CO.
THE SOUTHERN LIFE STOCK IN-
is written by
HORSE INSURANCE

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.

P. M. A. M.	STATIONS.	A. M. P. M.
4:15	8:00 Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50 7:25
4:25	8:10 Caraleigh Lv.	10:40 7:10
4:48	8:35 McCullers	10:22 6:43
4:53	8:40 Banks	10:17 6:37
5:04	8:52 Willow Spgs.	10:09 6:25
5:20	9:04 Varina	10:00 6:14
5:28	9:14 Fuquay Spgs.	9:50 6:05
5:50	9:35 Chalybeate	9:35 5:50
5:55	9:40 Kipling	9:28 5:43
6:08	9:53 Cape Fear	9:16 5:25
6:15	10:00 Lillington	9:11 5:19
6:23	10:08 Harnett	9:01 5:08
6:28	10:13 Bunlevel	8:55 5:02
6:38	10:23 Linden	8:45 4:52
6:49	10:34 Lane	8:33 4:40
6:54	10:39 Slocomb	8:28 4:35
7:10	10:55 Tokay	8:12 4:17
7:20	11:05 A.C.L. June.	8:05 4:10
7:25	11:10 Ar. Fayetteville Lv.	8:00 4:05

J. A. Mills, Pres.

Raleigh, N. C.

BOYS! FOOTBALL.

You want to play this exhilarating game this season. Get one of these regulation balls absolutely free. They are well made of the best material. Will be sent to any boy who will give us a few hours of his spare time for one week and 45c for our samples.

Lorman Co., Ellicott Square, . . .
Buffalo, N. Y.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

"The Oxford Teachers' par excellence"

JUST ISSUED!

OXFORD

Teachers' Bibles and S. S. Scholars' Bibles

With New 20th Century Helps arranged in One Alphabetical Order.

THE HELPS

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, says: "The helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

address
Elon College

Bible is the Bible of the World."

NOW READY!

SIX NEW EDITIONS

OXFORD

Black Faced Type BIBLES

Three on Oxford White Paper. Three on the famous Oxford India Paper.

Pearl 32mo. A wonderful clear type in a small-size book.

Minion 16mo. Ready October 1907. A model hand Bible.

Erevier 16mo. Large type in small compass. "A quart in a pint measure."

"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."

ASK FOR THE OXFORD EDITION

REMEMBER: That we guarantee satisfaction and sell to you cheaper than the publisher and dealers do. Our business is by mail and express and prices quoted are the prices of goods delivered to you. We can furnish you the Oxford, or the Holman Teacher's Bible at prices ranging from $1.35 to $4.00. Send for our catalogue or write us what you want. Address

THE CHRISTIAN SUN, Elon College, N. C.

Gibbes' PLANER and MATCHER

A high-class portable Planer at a low price. Does fine work surfacing, matching, beading and making moulding. Suitable for custom work in saw mills, carpenter shops, box shops, etc. Feed rolls strongly geared, top feed rolls held down by spiral springs. Solid steel cutter head, steel matcher spindles. The acme of perfection for simplicity of construction, excellence of workmanship and durability.

Write for catalogue. GIBBES MACHINERY CO., Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery"—All Kinds.—A1 Value. Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braraman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

CANCER CAN BE CURED.

Personal or Home Treatment. Both successful. Scores of testimonials, from persons who gladly write to those now suffering, all tell of permanent cures. My Mild Combination Treatment destroys growth and eliminates the disease from the system. Free book "Cancer and Its Cure" and 125-page book of testimonials from cured patients in all parts of the country. No matter how serious your case, how many operations you have had, or what treatment you have taken, don't give up hope, but write at once. Dr. Johnson Remedy Co., 125 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo. Physicians treated free.

PRINT Your Own

Cards, circulars, book, newspaper, Press $5, Larger $18, Rotary $30. Save money. Print for others, big profit. All easy, rules sent. Write factory for press catalog, TYPE, paper, etc. The Press Co., Meriden, Ct.

ON RECEIPT OF $1 ONLY

We will ship you this splendid ball-bearing, high arm, drop head sewing machine, no matter where you live. On its arrival at your freight station examine it carefully and, if fully satisfied, pay the freight agent the balance due, $14.75. Then try it for 60 days in your home, and you may return it any time within that period if not satisfactory, and we will promptly refund all money and freight charges paid by you. We ask the one dollar simply to keep away idle inquirers. This beautiful machine usually sells for $35.00, but to advertise it widely we have temporarily reduced the price to $15.75, which includes all attachments.

THINK OF IT!

A $35.00 Machine For $15.75

and 60 days trial. Can you imagine a fairer offer than this? This elegant machine has all modern improvements with full ball-bearings, patent belt replacer and a most attractive five-drawer, golden oak stand. A written guarantee for ten years goes with each machine. Customers in the West will have the machine shipped them from our factory in Illinois to save time and freight. Our reference is the advertising manager of this paper, with whom we are personally acquainted, or the Bank of Richmond, Va., one of the largest institutions in the South. They will tell you we always keep our promises. Send us $1.00 to-day while this offer is open.

The Spottless Co., Inc.
 130 Shockoe Square,
 RICHMOND, VA.
 "The South's Mail Order House."

No picture can do justice to this beautiful machine. We want you to see it and try it at our expense.

BALL BEARINGS

(Begun on page thirteen).

Suggested Program.

1. Three or four consecration songs.
2. A chain of prayer.
3. Contents of the Book of Hebrews.
4. Outline of the Book of Hebrews.
5. Prayer. Solo.
6. Scripture by seven Endeavorers with comment.
7. Leader's Remarks.
8. Voluntary Participation in whatever way desired, which should include Question Spurs answered and References Read.
9. Pastor's five minutes.
10. Concert recitation of pledge.
11. Song. Offering. Mizpah.
12. Ask all, who have not done so, to read the Epistle to the Hebrews at once.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY. QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West. Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT.

For advertising rates apply to Religious Press Advertising Syndicate (Jacobs and Company), home office, Clinton, S. C., who have charge of the advertising department of this paper.

- Advertising representatives:
- Jacobs & Co., J. F. Jacobs, J. D. Jacobs, home office, Clinton, S. C.
  - D. J. Carter, 163 Randolph St., Chicago, Ill.
  - J. M. Riddle, Jr., Box 46, Nashville, Tenn.
  - J. B. Gentry, Columbia, S. C.
  - E. L. Gould, 150 Nassau St., N. Y.
  - C. H. Tutt, Cleveland, Ohio.
  - S. S. Hammond, 633 Frisco Building, St Louis, Mo.
  - J. B. Keough, 229 Candler Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
  - L. S. Franklin, Dallas, Texas.

NOTICE.

The Educational Committee and The Home Mission Committee of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference will meet at the Huffines' Hotel, Greensboro, Monday, November 22, at 12:30 p.m. All who have business with either of these committees will please meet at time and place named.

J. O. Atkinson,
J. W. Holt,
Chairmen.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway. Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway. Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt., J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
Charlotte, N. C. Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M., W. H. TAYLOR, G. P. A.,
Washington, D. C.

Only the Best is Good Enough for the Family

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION
VOLUME 54 NO. 1
JANUARY 6, 1910
© 1910 BY THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

SOLDIERS OF PEACE
BY THE HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK

MORE than Half a Million American Families read The Youth's Companion every week because they have found it "worth while"

The Volume for 1910 would cost $30 if printed in book form. Each week's issue will be crowded with the reading that delights every member of the family.

For 1910—50 Star Articles by Famous Men and Women, 250 Stories, 1000 Up-to-Date Notes on Current Events, etc., 2000 One-Minute Stories will be printed.

FREE Every New Subscriber who at once cuts out and sends this slip (or the name of this publication) with $1.75 for the 52 issues of The Youth's Companion for 1910 will receive TO JAN. 1910 All the issues for the remaining weeks of 1909, including the Thanksgiving and Christmas Numbers. The Companion's "Venetian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in 13 colors and gold. Then The Youth's Companion for the 52 weeks of 1910—a treasury of the best reading for all the family. P215

Illustrated Prospectus and Specimen Copies sent upon request.
THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, BOSTON, MASS.

Self-Sharpening Shears

Always ready to cut anything from wet tissue paper to heavy cloth. New simple idea. Cuts clean and sharp to the points of blades. Will last for years. Don't pay big prices for shears but get this one mailed to your address on receipt of 50c. Positively guaranteed.

The Theo Nov. Co., 925-987 17th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 44.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Education and Missions.—There are those who ever insist that education, rather than the simple gospel, is what is needed to enlighten and civilize "the heathen." Those who say this know little of the situation, and less of the power of the gospel. Sir William Mackworth Young, resident of England, graduate of Cambridge, member of the Legislative Council of India and six years Lieutenant—Governor of the Punjab, says: "Would to God that all the higher education of India might have been kept in the hands of the missionaries. If that had been the case we would have a very different outlook in the case of the cultured Hindu today. There is no influence comparable to that of mission schools and colleges upon the rising youth of the present generation."

Christianity, in the hands of the faithful missionaries, blazed the way for progress and improvement in pagan lands, and was the torch of civilization in the uttermost parts of the earth. This is history. It is passing strange that men should ever want to discredit the power of the plain and simple gospel.

An Autocrat.—It is said that the Tsarevitch—the little Tsar of Russia who will, if he lives, one day occupy the throne of all the Russias—"is never crossed, contradicted, or punished," by his father, or by any one else. This is to show the little fellow that his will is supreme, and that he is born to be an autocrat, and is to know no law save his own will.

That is the way to make an anarchist, an outlaw, a despotic autocrat, but hardly the way to make a ruler. No man can govern others until he has learned to govern himself. As long as Russia rears rulers in that way she may expect to suffer groanings, reverses and defeats. No man becomes supreme by ignoring law, or violating it, but by coming to be subservient to law. "He that would be greatest among you, let him be servant of all."

There are too many autocrats in the world already, boys, like the Tsarevitch, who have their will and way. These are they who fill our courts, crowd our criminal records and overflow our prisons.

More Football.—When we wrote last week of certain tragedies in football the figures were not all in. A very meager report had reached us. The New York Christian Advocate summarizes "Two Days of Foot-ball" as follows:

"Michael Burke, of Shenandoah, Pa., a student of a medical college in Philadelphia, died on Sunday of injuries received on Saturday. Eugene A. Byrne, a student at West Point, and left tackle on the West Point team, was injured in Saturday's game with Harvard, and died on Sunday. Byrne was paralyzed from his mouth down. His father was there and saw his son fatally injured. Roy Spybuck, football player of Haskell University, fell on his head while making a tackle on Saturday, and died in the hospital at Kansas City. The injured whose accidents have been made public since this season began (barely a month ago) number over 128, and up to Monday of this week fourteen players have been killed this season. Of the 128, 100 have suffered serious hurts. Many have been hurt whose cases have not come to public notice. We have counted up nineteen who had their collar bones broken, twelve whose legs were broken, and eleven whose ribs were broken."

Great is foot-ball. We presume it is played on the basis of the philosophy that those whom it does not kill it makes great. There must be some redeeming feature at any rate.

Crime.—Seek the causes where you may, the appalling fact remains that crime is on the increase. True, publicity has seemed to herald, far and near, each individual crime and make crime seem more numerous and wide spread. But actual statistics show that in this country in 1860 there was one criminal to every 1,647 of the population; and in 1904 there was one criminal to every 300 of the population.

Among causes assigned are the influx of foreign population, the relaxation of home discipline (allowing children to grow up rather than rearing and training them with proper discipline), the failure to teach proper ethics in the schools and such. Another great cause may consist in the fact that in 1860 negroes were held in slavery and their masters corrected their crimes with the lash, without court records or publicity. But whatever the cause, crime is on the increase. With all our preaching and teaching and writing and the rest, crime is increasing. Criminologists are searching the causes, and when these are found the remedy may in a measure be applied.

The Railroad Task.—When we hear of a wreck, a collision, a smash up, we immediately think of carelessness and neglect. There is another side.

A road between Chicago and Denver has just made its report for the year ending June 30, 1909. In that year the road carried 18,743,022 passengers without killing one. There at least is something to think upon. And, moreover, four other roads have announced clean records, so far as fatal accidents are concerned, for the past year.

Block signaling is being employed, steel passenger cars are being built, and greater watchfulness for safety is prevalent. The reputation of our roads has not been good in comparison with that of other countries, but railroads are learning that human life is worth something, and accidents are hurtful as well as costly, and can be with proper care avoided. It is a great task, such as few realize, this of handling, without harming, the many millions who entrust themselves in travel to the keep of railroads. And every appliance for safety and security is benevolence and charity.

—Messrs. Gompers, Morrison, and Mitchell have lost their first appeal. They now appeal to the Supreme Court. These men were tried several months ago for contempt of court and were fined with imprisonment.

—So great has been the demand for the Lincoln one cent that nothing else has been coined at the mint in Philadelphia since the end of June. The coinage of these coins in the three and a half months has reached the total of 70,000,000 cents, which is equivalent to the average annual output for the last decade.

FROM THE FIELD.

Alabama Letter.

We have just closed one of the most successful sessions of the Ala. Conference ever held. Nearly all the churches were represented. It seemed that the ministry and laity all had a mind to work.

The business of the Conference was transacted in harmony. Perfect peace and unity prevailed from beginning to end. Rev. J. L. Foster, of the Orphanage, was with us and did a great work in our midst. May he come again.

Our Conference collections came up very nicely, considering the surroundings. The Missionary Association brought up a good collection. This is one of the liveliest enterprises of our Conference. The Association employed this writer for half his time, in the Home Mission field.

Our work will be supplied next year as follows: Rev. J. H. Hughes will serve Corinth.

Rev. C. M. Dollar, Rock Springs and New Harmony.

Rev. J. W. Elder, Macedonia, New Home and Beulah.

Rev. C. W. Carter, Noon Day, Flint Hill, Sardis and McGuire's Chapel.

Rev. J. D. Dollar, Rock Stand and Christiana, perhaps Pleasant Grove.

Rev. J. V. Knight, Forest Home.

Rev. Bro. Holder will preach at Bethany.

Rev. E. M. Carter will continue at Mt. Zion.

New Hope and Antioch will be supplied by this writer.

Rev. J. H. Milam goes to the Ga. and Ala. Conference.

Revs. G. O. Lankford and E. M. Carter continue in that Conference.

Rev. J. W. Elder returns to our Conference.

I shall begin work for the Missionary Association immediately. I trust we may have a good year.

G. D. Hunt.

Limeville, Ala.

The Conference year for 1910 has opened, and has a bright prospect for doing more and better work for the Master. As we stop to look over the past work, we can see that the Lord has been good to us, for which let us praise His Holy Name. As we look back over our past year's work let us look for our mistakes and improve upon them, that we may do more efficient work for the Master. I do not wish to boast of our work in the far South, but the Lord is doing a mighty work through His servants for the uplifting of the cause we so much love.

How shall we establish churches in new fields? is now the question before us.

We held our last District Meeting with Corinth Church, fifth Saturday and Sunday in October. The Lord was with us in great power, and we feel that our meeting was not in vain. In this meeting there was one subject that was continued: "How Shall We Establish Our Church in New Fields?" Let us trust and pray for this one special work, and remember that Rev. G. D. Hunt was put out as a "Missionary."

Bro. Foster was with us at this District Meeting and preached an able sermon at 11 o'clock Saturday. Even the children appreciated "Uncle Jim's" presence with us. And we believe the Corner will be stronger by his visit.

Our next District Meeting will be held with Noonday Church near Wedowee, Ala., embracing the fifth Sunday and Saturday before in January, 1910. May the spirit of God be with us in great power.

J. V. Knight, Secy.

Nov. 3, 1909.

Alabama Conference.

The recent session of the Alabama Christian Conference, which convened Oct. 19th with the church at Christiana was decidedly one of the best sessions ever held by this body. A splendid representation, both of ministers and laymen, was in attendance. This speaks much for the success of the meeting. Not only was the attendance good, but those present came filled with interest and enthusiasm for the work.

Officers were elected as follows: Pres., Rev. G. D. Hunt; Vice Pres., Rev. J. W. Elder; Sec., J. W. Payne; Asst. Sec., Rev. E. M. Carter; Treas., Dr. J. M. Welch. A more worthy and efficient corps of officers could not have been chosen.

The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. J. W. Elder. Text, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his." Num. 23:10. The discourse was interesting, thoughtful and uplifting.

A large part of the first afternoon was taken up in reading ministerial and church reports, which showed that a good year's work had been done. These reports gave evidence of an increased interest and more definite effort in the direction of more aggressive policies.

The following delegates to the Southern Christian Convention were elected: Ministers, Revs. E. M. Carter, G. D. Hunt, J. W. Elder and G. O. Lankford; Laymen, Messrs. W. E. Pate, I. D. Harris and J. J. Carter.

The reports on Religious Literature,

Moral Reform, Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Ministerial Education, Standing of Churches and Standing of Ministry elicited some very earnest, able addresses.

Among those visiting the Conference were Revs. H. W. Elder, B. F. Young, and J. D. Garrison of the Ga. and Ala. Conference, Rev. H. M. Stephenson, pastor M. E. Church, Dadeville, Ala., and Rev. J. L. Foster, Supt. Christian Orphanage, Elon College, N. C. These brethren were seated as deliberative members. Their presence and counsel add much to the pleasure of the session.

Rev. J. L. Foster preached the annual sermon. "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Matt. 16:18. The speaker used this Scripture as his text. His sermon was strong, instructive, logical, practical, inspiring. We would say to "Uncle Jim," come again next year.

The sermon of Rev. C. M. Dollar the last day of Conference on the theme, "Confession," made a profound impression on the congregation. The speaker discussed the subject from a Biblical standpoint. The discourse was a most earnest appeal to men occupying different positions in life both old and young, urging the necessity of confession of sin in order to be saved.

It was decided that the Conference meet next year with Pleasant Grove Church. Rev. G. D. Hunt, Pres., is to deliver the annual address.

During the Conference, Wednesday night was given to the meeting of the Missionary Association. At this meeting a most important movement was launched, when Rev. G. D. Hunt was employed for one half his time next year to do missionary work in the bounds of the Conference. This will doubtless meet a long felt need in this field.

As a whole the session was interesting, harmonious and enthusiastic. The watchword for the next year and for the future is, and must be, "Onward and upward." The fields are white, the opportunity large and inviting. May the Lord help us to go forth and conquer in His name.

G. O. Lankford.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 2, 1909.

Portsmouth Letter.

The work on the new church is going steadily forward. There has been scarcely any loss of time for the last two months. The weather has been all that could be desired. The gables will in all probability be completed before this letter goes to print. If the weather continues good the roof will be on by the last of the month. It seems now that we might move into the new church about the first of the spring. Let us hope that this may be true. We are greatly in need of our Sunday school department.

The only side that is giving us any trouble at this time is the financial. We are having to hustle to keep in sight of the payments. We have been able to meet them until the third at which point we failed to come up in full. We have about exhausted our available resources and now are dependent upon what we raise to meet the payments as they fall due. The fourth payment of $2,000 will be due by the time this letter goes to print. We are doing all we can to meet it. We appeal to those who can to meet it. We appeal to those who have not come to our assistance. There are many who could send us a donation and be richer by doing so. Let there be a great rallying to the work and a mighty leap forward. We are in great need of your help. Do not think your gift too small to be appreciated.

Cash Acknowledgements.

Previously acknowledged . . . . .	$1,840.74
Jasper Harrell, Norfolk, Va. . . . .	5.00
Geo. H. Frey, Norfolk, Va. . . . .	10.00
J. M. Cox, Waverly, Va. . . . .	5.00
Rev. H. E. Rountree, Waverly . . . . .	10.00
J. E. T. Joyner, Carrsville, Va. . . . .	10.00
R. T. West, Waverly, Va. . . . .	3.00
J. S. Thompson, Newport News . . . . .	2.50
C. L. Griffin, Windsor, Va. . . . .	5.00
R. L. Brothers, Suffolk, Va. . . . .	5.00
R. L. Smith, Newport News . . . . .	2.50
John King, Suffolk, Va. . . . .	12.50
Rev. W. D. Harward, Madrid, Iowa . . . . .	10.00
Mrs. Lucile Holland, Holland . . . . .	1.00
W. J. Holland, Holland, Va. . . . .	5.00

We want to assure the above contributors that their donations are highly appreciated and they helped to relieve the strain. Who will help us next?

J. W. Harrell

Nov. 2, 1909.

ABSTRACT OF MISSION BOARD PROCEEDINGS.

The Mission Board of the Christian Church met in annual session Wednesday, Oct. 20, 1909, at 10:00 A.M., in the Chapel of the Christian Publishing Association Building, Dayton, Ohio, and adjourned Tuesday evening, Oct. 26th.

All members of the Board attended the meeting; they are: Rev. J. G. Bishop, D.D., Rev. O. W. Powers, D.D., and Rev. M. T. Morrill, of Dayton; Rev. M. D. Wolfe, Haverhill, Mass.; Rev. Clarence Defur, Merom, Ind.; Rev. W. P. Fletcher, Drayton, Ont.; Mrs. Athella Howsare, Versailles, Ohio; Rev. P. S. Sailer, Boston, Mass.; and Rev. Warren H. Denison, D.D., Huntington, Indiana.

The minutes of the last annual meeting, the Mission Council proceedings, the correspondence actions, were read and approved, and it was voted that the Board invite the brethren, who may so desire, to be present at the Board meetings.

The Foreign Secretary, the Home Secretary, Treasurer, Publisher, and Editor of the Christian Missionary, made their annual reports and recommendations, and these were referred to their proper committees.

Committees.

Home Missions: Wolfe, Powers, Sailer.

Foreign Missions: Denison, Morrill, Mrs. Howsare.

Literature and Publicity: Mrs. Howsare, Sailer, Denison.

Nominations: Fletcher, Defur, Wolfe. Finance: Defur, Wolfe, Fletcher, Sailer.

Resolutions, Sailer, Defur, Fletcher. Indianapolis Church (Special Committee): Defur, Wolfe.

Auditors, (Elected: A. F. Chase, H. H. Worley.

Investment (Standing): Bishop, Morrill, Powers.

All communications from the churches, individuals, conferences, missions and missionaries were read and referred to appropriate committees.

Officers elected: President, Rev. J. G. Bishop, D.D., Secretary, Warren H. Denison, D.D., Treasurer, Rev. J. G. Bishop, D.D., Mission Council, Bishop, Morrill, Powers, Fletcher, Denison.

Editors of the Christian Missionary: Revs. M. T. Morrill and O. W. Powers, D.D.

Publisher, Christian Missionary, Rev. M. T. Morrill.

Japan.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That we make a special appropriation of $45.00 for the work of the Standing Committee of Co-operating Missions in Japan.

That we make a special appropriation of $125.00 for the Sendai Orphanage for the ensuing year.

That Rev. E. K. McCord and family be returned to Japan April 1, 1910, and that the Foreign Secretary be authorized to make a special call for the sum of $1500 for their return expenses, outfit allowance, etc.

That Rev. A. D. Woodworth, D.D., and family be granted a furlough, as per the Manual, to begin April 1, 1910.

That the $600 asked for in the Japan budget, for the return of the Woodworths be allowed, the same to be paid out of the general appropriations for Japan.

That it is the opinion of this Board that it is better to continue each of our Japan schools independently, each with its own faculty, and each under the direction of the Japan Mission.

That the support of the girls' school in Japan, by the Board, be limited to the special gifts for that purpose for the coming year.

That we express to Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Garman, our sincere sympathy in the loss of their infant daughter, Florence, and we commend them for comfort to the Loving Heavenly Father, to whom they have often pointed others in their sorrows. We direct that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Brother and Mrs. Garman.

The Auditing Committee made the following report:

We, your committee, having carefully audited the books of your Treasurer for the year ending September 30, 1909, beg to report that we find them correctly kept, and agreeing with the cash in bank, vouchers, certificates, and other legal papers in his possession. We find all money received by your treasurer properly accounted for, as shown in his annual report.

We have audited the books of your publisher of the Christian Missionary, and find them correctly kept.

We have examined the Literature account book and vouchers of your Home Mission Secretary, and find them agreeing with the Mission Treasurer's books.

This report of the Treasurer's and Publisher's and Book account were adopted and placed on file, and the Auditors were re-elected for the ensuing year.

Porto Rico.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That we authorize the Mission Council to purchase a lot for a church house in Ponce, Porto Rico, as soon as a suitable location may be secured.

That as soon as practicable, the Mission Board purchase a suitable lot for a church in Santa Isabel, Porto Rico.

That we continue raising funds for the Porto Rico building fund.

That we express our appreciation to Dr. J. W. Manning for the active interest he has shown in calling to the attention of our people the possibilities when all our Sunday schools unite their birthday offerings towards church building funds in Porto Rico. The importance of this work, which was inaugurated by the last American Christian Convention, cannot be over-estimated, and we express our interest in the schools

(Continued on page six).

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Bro. W. C. McCloud, formerly of Berkley, Va., now teaching in Ponce, Porto Rico, writes: "I always enjoy reading The Sun. Am finding my work pleasant here."

—By a large majority, Bro. J. E. West, of Suffolk, was on Nov. 2 elected to a seat in the next General Assembly of Virginia to represent Nansemond Co. That body will have no wiser counsellor, nor more zealous worker, than J. E. West.

—Pastor H. E. Rountree of our Waver, Va., church, rejoices in the outcome of a great revival recently held as a union service in his church. The pastors of the town joined with Bro. Rountree and the good people of all denominations became interested. The town was revived as possibly never before in its history, and large numbers have been, or will be, added to the several churches. It was such a meeting as rejoices the hearts of a people, and makes everybody feel better. The meeting continued about two weeks.

—Pleasant Grove Church in Halifax Co., Va., has installed a large and ample furnace, so that the entire building is heated without signs of stove and soot and smoke. We wonder why more of our churches in the country do not put in furnaces, and thus avoid the rush to, and crowding about, the stove in cold weather? City churches have furnaces. Why should not country churches, fully as able and worthy, have equal comforts and conveniences? Country churches can have comforts and conveniences if they will, and it is high time many of them were willing.

—Col. A. Savage, Norfolk, Va., is no longer able to attend the sessions of his annual conference, the Eastern Virginia, but he remembers his brethren and the work there, sends his renewal to The Sun and greetings to the editor and the brethren, all of whom he loves in the spirit. What a splendid life is this, filled with days and years of useful service, going out now amid a beautiful halo of loving loyalty to church and unswerving devotion to God and truth. God bless this truly great and good man of God, a benediction to all who know him, a veritable father in Israel.

—Rev. Martyn Summerbell, D.D., LL.D., President of Starkey Seminary, Lakemont, N. Y., has written President Moffitt that he will visit Elon College the first of December and deliver a series of lectures for the benefit of the College and any friends who may wish to attend. These lectures will be given Dec. 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, at 7:30 P.M.

Public cordially invited. Dr. Summerbell is no stranger at Elon, having been heard with great profit and pleasure here before in public address. He is recognized as being one of our ablest and most cultured men. His coming is looked forward to with much pleasure.

—If the young people of our churches are not given something to do and say in their religious life and church relationship, it is certainly not Prof. W. A. Harper's fault. Week after week he is giving our young people the very best advice and instruction in The Sun, and is laboring with tongue and pen, mightily to have "A teacher training class in every Sunday school and a Christian Endeavor Society in every church."

And when we see in our churches the very large number of young people who are doing nothing in church work, we well know that such labor as Prof. Harper is now doing is worth while. Pastors everywhere, and Superintendents, should see to it that what Prof. Harper writes should not go unread and unheeded.

—The Charlotte Observer notes that a subscriber of the Philadelphia Press is anxious to know where can be found a copy of a book "which describes the adventures of one Joseph, who was sold into Egypt by his brothers. She remembers to have read the narrative years ago and wants to read it again if she can find the book containing it." And then The Observer turns the point to effect, that we read some Bible stories when children and now take it for granted we know all about them, when in very truth that which would most impress us now escaped us entirely when children. "We do not read about Joseph, because we either think we know all about him or we have a general idea that Joseph belongs to the child's realm and would no longer interest us."

"So we turn to the Book of Genesis and are fairly amazed. Where else is a story of adventure so well told, so wonderfully varied within brief compass, so agreeably instructive? And the unutterable affections of family life are portrayed, as well as the petty jealousies not always absent. To read Judah's noble plea before the unknown brother, or Joseph's revelation of himself, or the scenes which show the love between Joseph and his aged father, is to be moved perhaps painfully. We find that we have never really known the story of Joseph before."

The Observer's point is well taken.

—Judge William J. Gaynor, democrat, was elected mayor of New York, defeating Bannard and Hearst, November 2.

84th ANNUAL SESSION OF THE N. C. AND VA. CONFERENCE.

The 84th Annual session of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference meets this year with the church at Belew's Creek, Forsyth Co., N. C., beginning at 9 A.M., Nov. 23, and closing with a preaching service Nov. 25 at night. It will be necessary to go there on the evening of Nov. 22 in order to be present at all the first day, as only one train a day goes from Greensboro, leaving about 4 P.M. and arriving at Belew's Creek in the night. Be sure to elect delegates who will go and then see that they go.

A program has been prepared and the speakers notified. It is hoped that every speaker will come prepared and will observe the time assigned him, else we cannot do the business of Conference in the three days allotted us.

I trust that every church will be a banner church this year and that the Convention Missions and Sunday school Home Missions will also be remembered and sent up, especially the latter, since it is the distinctive work of our Sunday schools for the Church in its larger sense. We hope enough Sunday school Home Mission Money will be sent up this year to warrant the Convention in undertaking a work at some needed point during the next Conference year.

W. A. Harper, Pres.

NEWS ITEMS.

—It is predicted by Governor Blackburn of the Panama Canal Zone that the canal will be open for use at the close of the year 1913.

—At the present rate of decrease there will soon be no pension rolls in the United States. During the past year 48,312 names were taken by death from the number of war veterans.

—The twenty-ninth session of the National Farmer's Congress convened in Raleigh on last Thursday. There was a record-breaking attendance, perhaps 1,500, and over thirty states represented.

—It is a source of gratification to note that Sunday is hereafter to be observed as a day of rest, so far as is possible, by the United States navy, an order having been issued requiring all officers and men to reduce their work to a minimum.

—On the evening of November 4, Mr. Clarence H. Poe was awarded the Patterson cup because his book, "A Southerner in Europe," was declared the best literary production by a North Carolinian during the past year. Ambassador James Bryce, the most distinguished of living diplomats, presented the cup to Mr. Poe.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR ELON COLLEGE.

This is the mark we have set in our present campaign in the interest of a larger income for Elon College. And the more I talk with our people about it the more I am impressed with the possibility of raising it. Fifty thousand dollars looks like a large sum of money to raise for our College, but I believe every intelligent member of the Christian Church who really loves progress, will be interested in raising this money. The college needs it and deserves it; and the church cannot make a better investment, one that will bring larger returns to the ministry, to the laity, to the local churches, to all the conferences and to the church at large.

Strengthen the college and you strengthen the church. Weaken the college, by failing to support it so as to enable it to meet the demands upon it, and you'll weaken the church and every local organization and individual in it.

This fact has been, and is being recognized, by every other denomination in North Carolina and other States where there are church colleges; and they are practically all moving for better equipments, larger endowments and more permanent and increasing incomes. The Methodists have just finished raising $100,000 for Greensboro Female College. Only a year or so ago the Baptists raised $150,000 more for Wake Forest; and the Presbyterians are just now starting out to raise $250,000 additional for Davidson. Trinity College (Methodist) is already heavily endowed ($600,000 or over). And Guilford (Friends) has a good endowment approaching well on toward the $200,000 mark.

Shall we alone remain content with only a nominal income, outside of our tuition charges and fees, which are too to meet running expenses, but which are small to meet running expenses, but which are about as high as our people would be willing for us to make them?

Certainly every man really interested in the progress of his church and its supporting enterprises will give a hearty second to every movement looking to the strengthening of Elon College.

As stated before, this $50,000 will be used to take up the bonds outstanding against the college when due, and to meet other urgent demands on the College. Or, if a donor prefers, what he gives may go into a separate permanent endowment fund.

The plan for raising this money has already been stated in The Sun, but I may mention it again here, lest some may have overlooked it.

We want to find ten or more men who will give $200 a year each for five years—or $1,000 each; twenty who will give $100 a year each for five years—or $500; then $50, $25, $10—and so on down until all are given the opportunity of taking part in this great movement.

So far, I have been looking only for thousand dollar men, hoping to get at least $10,000 before beginning a regular canvass.

I have succeeded in finding eight of these brethren who have kindly and magnanimously expressed a willingness to start the movement with $1,000 each in the above named plan. These are:

Col. J. E. West, Suffolk, Va.
Mr. C. A. Shoop, Suffolk, Va.
Mr. W. H. Jones, Jr., Suffolk, Va.
Mr. G. W. Truitt, Suffolk, Va.
Mr. K. B. Johnson, Cardenas, N. C.
Gen. Julian S. Carr, Durham, N. C.
Mr. J. Beale Johason, Cardenas, N. C.
Mr. Willis J. Lee, Norfolk, Va.

We must find at least two more ten thousand dollar men; and it is important that we get them before Jan. 1, as the payments begin then. It seems to me that we ought to get at least these two volunteers at once. To see such an opportunity of giving a wonderful impetus to such an important movement ought to appeal to the hearts of even more than two others, and cause them to write me at once signifying their willingness to give $200 a year for five years to make the undertaking a success.

The following brethren have already signed up for $500 each under the terms stated above:

Dr. Job G. Holland, Holland, Va.
Mr. John King, Suffolk, Va.
Mr. C. D. West, Newport News, Va.

So we have $9,500.00 already subscribed by these liberal hearted brethren, and we shall hope to add many more names to this "honor roll" during the next few weeks and months.

I cannot raise the money, working alone, brethren, but with your interested assistance the whole $50,000 can and will be raised. And then we may confidently look forward for another great forward movement in the Christian Church in all its local and general undertakings, such as has never been witnessed before.

To the work, brethren, one and all!
E. L. Moffitt, President.
Elon College, N. C., Nov. 8, 1909.

—Indians are no longer on the decrease, but are on the increase, there being now in the U. S. over three hundred thousand, forty thousand more than when the last census was taken.

—Dr. Charles Julian, Assistant Secretary for the State Board of Health of N. C., appeals to every minister in this State to preach a special health sermon on tuberculosis Nov. 28.

—A negro man near Raleigh became angry at his seven year old son last Sunday evening and struck at the little fellow with the butt end of the gun, when lo, the gun fired and killed the irate father instantly.

—Women, not to mention children, usually feel better after "a real good cry." It seems that tears not only soothe the spirit, but also serve another useful purpose, for an eminent specialist asserts that the saltiness of tears clears the eye and refreshes its delicate organism. In their passage down the face the tears sterilize the skin and kill germs upon which soap and water have no effect, and which serve as a natural beauty bath.—Ex.

MEMORIAL TEMPLE, NORFOLK.

We had the usual attendance at our school this morning. Bro. White gave an interesting account of the Conference, laying stress on the needs of the Orphanage at Elon and pressing the need of the Special Thanksgiving Offering. The Primary Superintendent also brought echoes of the Conference to the children and told them of the Orphanage need and the fact that there are many applications and no funds to support them. "No room." How sad, to say this to a little lamb who has no home, yet that is what we are saying to these applicants. Yes, Jesus will take them to His fold when we fail to care for them as they ought to be here in this world.

Rev. J. W. Harrell of Portsmouth preached for us this morning, bringing before us the Portsmouth work. He gave us a splendid sermon and administered the Lord's Supper. At night Rev. Stanley C. Harrell preached to a good audience. Bro. Harrell's sermon was a good one and the people thoroughly enjoyed it.

Rev. Stanley Harrell will preach in the Temple next Sunday morning and Rev. J. W. Harrell will preach at night. We hope to give them good audiences at both services. On the 21st we expect to have our new pastor, Rev. McD. Howsare.

We hear reports of the South Norfolk Church calling Rev. Stanley Harrell today. We cannot confirm this report, but hope it true. The writer believes that he will make them a good pastor. He is a graduate of Elon College.
J. H. Blanehard.

(Begun on page three).

that have taken up the plan, and we trust that with the beginning of the new year all our schools will adopt the birthday offering plan for church buildings in Porto Rico.

That this Board, with pleasure, recognizes the sacrifice and missionary spirit manifested by the brethren in Porto Rico in their Home Missionary efforts to erect the Chapel at Canas, and buildings for meeting purposes at other points. We wish them success, and express our purpose to give them hearty co-operation.

Finances.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That the total Home Mission appropriation, including the emergency amount, placed at the disposal of the Mission Council be $6,500.00.

That the sum of $9,000 be appropriated to the Japan Mission.

That the sum of $4,000 be appropriated to the Porto Rico Mission.

That the Treasurer's bond be provided by the Board, and $30.00 be appropriated therefor.

That we appropriate $10.00 for the clerical expenses of the secretary.

That the expenses of this Board meeting be hereby appropriated.

That the salary of Dr. Bishop be placed at $500 for the ensuing year as Treasurer and Author of our Missionary History.

That the expense account of the Christian Missionary, above receipts, be equally divided between the Home and Foreign Mission accounts.

Literature and Publicity.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That each member of this Board be requested to secure at least fifty new subscriptions to the Christian Missionary during the coming year, believing that such an expression of appreciation for the excellency of the work of the editors, must prove more helpful than the most beautiful of resolutions or commendations that we can spread upon our minutes.

That pastors of churches which have contributed as much as $100. in one year toward the work of this Board, be requested to write an historic sketch of their church, and furnish a photograph of the same for publication in the Christian Missionary, giving a special prominence to methods employed in raising missionary funds.

That we recommend to the publisher of the Christian Missionary the following offers: The Christian Missionary and the Christian Annual for 50c; the Christian Missionary and the Herald of Gospel Liberty for $1.65. We also advise, further, clubbing with the Laymen's Special Bulletin for the city campaigns, and with such other literature as he may deem advisable.

That we gratefully recognize the splendid qualities of tracts and literature that our secretaries have prepared and circulated during the year, and we direct them to prepare or secure, during the ensuing year, such literature as is necessary, and as they feel are consistent with our funds.

That we commend the efforts of our Home Secretary in putting into the hands of our people the books in the Mission Study Courses, and other literature calculated to arouse missionary interest, and we recommend to our pastors and societies a larger use of this literature.

Laymen's Missionary Movement.

That we regard the Laymen's Missionary Movement as one of the foremost and most important movements of the day in the religious world, and we, therefore, urge our people to enter this movement with all the vigor at our command; that each conference, joint convention, and institute be asked by our foreign secretary to make the Laymen's Missionary Movement a prominent feature on their programs. We ask the conference and district Mission Secretaries to urge the churches of their districts to send laymen and pastors to one or more of the campaigns to be held in 75 cities this winter. And we ask our Home and Foreign Mission secretaries to give special attention to getting our laymen and pastors to attend these city campaigns.

Home Field.

After careful consideration of applications and fields, appropriations were made for Home Missions as follows: For the year 1910, Lebanon, Indiana; Lambert's Point, Va.; Lynn, Mass.; Des Moines, Ia.; 1st Church and 2nd Church, Coshocton, Ohio; Kaskatchewan, Canada; Toronto, Ont.; Raleigh, N. C.; Columbus, Ohio, Wyoming Conference; 3rd Church, Norfolk, Va.; Bangor, Maine; Columbus, Ga.; Portsmouth, Va.; So. Norfolk, Va.; Merom, Ind.; Lima, Ohio; Erie Pennsylvania Conference.

The following points were referred to the Mission Council for further consideration:

Rockport, Mo.; Romeo, Mich.; Illinois State; Boston, Mass.; E. Montana; Rosemont, Va.

Appropriations were made to Walnut Hills, Dayton, Ohio, conditioned on the church raising certain funds; to South Dakota, conditioned on the Iowa churches raising certain funds; to Henderson, W. V., conditioned on the report of a committee, O. W. Powers and J. F. Burnett; to the Publicity Campaign of the Home Mission Council; to Marshall, Michigan, conditioned on the church raising certain funds.

Appropriations were made to the following points for the last quarter of 1909: Walnut Hills, Romeo, Mich., Lebanon, Indiana, Lambert's Point, Va., Lynn, Mass., Des Moines, Ia., 1st Chch., Coshocton, Ohio, Saskatchewan, Canada, Toronto, Ont., Columbus, Ohio, 3rd Church, Norfolk, Va., Bangor, Maine, So. Norfolk, Va., Merom, Indiana, Lima, Ohio, Manchester, N. H.

That the Home Mission Secretary continue the plan for the assistance of Rev. F. D. Hutton in Western Idaho, through the Women's Board of the Miami, Ohio, Conference.

That the work in North Dakota, Northern New York Conference, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oklahoma, Almena, Kansas, to be referred to Mission Council, and the Home Mission Secretary is directed to give such encouragement as he may be able, and to visit the fields whenever it is practicable.

That the Home Mission Secretary be at liberty to attend the meeting of the Home Missions Council Publicity Campaign, and that he encourage the attendance of our people at these meetings.

That the work of the committee on the Watson Memorial in aid of the First Christian Church, Dayton, Ohio, be approved, and the Home Mission Secretary be directed to continue the co-operation.

That the Women's Board for Home Missions be asked to raise, during the coming year, $2,000 for the general work, and that they also be asked to support the Boston work as a special, $400 being appropriated to that work.

That the traveling expenses of Brother Monta Perry on account of the Bantary Church, North Dakota, be allowed.

That the Home Mission Secretary be authorized to submit the appropriations from the churches in the bounds of the Southern Christian Convention to the Missionary Committee for any suggestions that they may care to make, and that the Mission Council be authorized to modify the distribution of the amounts in accordance with their suggestions, without increasing the aggregate.

That in view of the present conditions in the church at Indianapolis, as appearing from papers submitted to this Board, we recommend that the whole matter be referred to the mission council with recommendations that no appropriation be made without the approval or an indorsement of the Executive Boards of the Indiana, Miami Reserve Christian Conference, and the Indiana State Conference.

That the Mission Council is authorized to increase the appropriations in items one and two, or to transfer any unused appropriations, and to make appropriations for evangelistic services, or for aid in case of emergencies in the Home Mission funds, provided that the entire expenditure, including the appropriations for the field made by the Board shall not exceed $6,500.00.

That when the loan of the Surrey, N. Dakota, church is repaid, the same to be applied by the Mission Treasurer, toward replacing the loan to the Home Mission Fund from the permanent fund.

That we refer the matter of the unpaid appropriation to Rosemont, Virginia to the Mission Council.

Miscellaneous.

The following resolutions were adopted:

That we are gratified at the action of the women of the Erie Christian Conference in undertaking to raise funds for the Chapel at Arus, Porto Rico, and on account of the great need for the house as a place of worship, we hope they will complete the work at the earliest possible moment.

That we learn with pleasure of the work inaugurated on the principle of the Christians in Georgetown, British Guiana, South America, and which was visited by Rev. S. A. Howell the past year, and we direct the Foreign Missionary Secretary to lay the work before the next session of the American Christian Convention, and to secure an expression of the Convention as to whether that work shall be recognized by us and be given financial aid; meanwhile, we recommend to the Afro-Union Christian Church that they foster the work.

That we appoint Rev. J. Pressley Barrett, D.D., editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, as our representative, bearing a part of his expense, and Rev. A. D. Woodworth, D.D., of Tokyo, Japan, our senior missionary, as alternate to the World Missionary Congress, to be held in Edinburgh, Scotland, June 14th to 24th, 1910.

That we ask the Women's Board to raise at least $3,000 this year toward our Foreign work, to be applied to the support of the Tokyo station.

That we recognize with pleasure the work of the Women's Board of the Miami, Ohio, Conference, during the past year in the support of our Japan pastor, Rev. Diasaku Akano at Ishinomaki, by the "Living Link" plan, and ask them to continue his support for the ensuing year. We also urge upon other Women's Conference Boards the "Living Link" plan.

That we continue our Increase Missionary Campaign begun a year ago, and urge that our people raise at least $18,000 for Foreign Missions this closing year of our quadrennium, turning all their foreign gifts for any and all purposes for which they wish to give through the Mission Treasury. We make this request that the brotherhood may know year by year how much they are doing for Foreign Missions, and receive credit for same. Also that other denominations may know what we are doing. These affect the courage of our own people and our standing and recognition among the denominations, and will help us to plan wisely and for larger things at the meeting of the American Christian Convention.

That we express our appreciation to the Rhode Island and Massachusetts Conference for making it possible to send Rev. Saburo Koshiba to Japan by furnishing his support, and we trust they will continue his support, in view of the good results we have already secured from his labors in the Mission.

That we express our appreciation to the New England Christian Endeavorers for the help they have given this year towards the support of Miss True, and we trust that they may be able to raise the full amount of her support for the ensuing year.

That we recommend that the office work be so arranged that one of the Department Secretaries may be kept in the field or the purpose of raising the sum necessary to put the treasury out of debt by the close of this fiscal year.

That the work of the Women's Missionary Board of the Miami, Ohio Conference in supporting certain work chosen by them, be indorsed.

That a communication be sent to the Merom, Indiana, Church, that they hasten the project of a new house.

That the Board congratulates our churches at DeLancey, Ohio, Surrey and Denbigh, North Dakota, Rifle, Colorado, and Danville, Illinois, in reaching self-support during the year, and that we feel confident that their future will reveal a growing interest in the general work by giving liberally of their means for the enlargement of our activities in other fields, as other churches have done which were fostered by the Board. The Tokyo, Japan, church also to be congratulated on reaching self-support and its expression of desire for enlarged work.

That our National Thanksgiving Day be a day of special Thanksgiving and Praise for victories won in both the Home and Foreign Mission fields.

That we gratefully acknowledge greetings from Sister Christine Pearnol, and send our greetings in return, praying the divine favor to rest upon her in her work for Christ.

That members of the Board performing work in behalf of our Mission interests, be instructed to present necessary bills of expense to the Mission Council for approval.

That we express to Mrs. C. M. Hagans our heart-felt sympathy in the loss, by death, of her husband, our beloved brother and Home Missionary, late of Lebanon, Indiana, and that the Secretary of the Board convey our expression of sympathy to her.

That the gratitude of the Board be expressed to the generous donors who wish to remain un-named for the much-needed Sendai church building and parsonage, and also to the friends who have made it possible to continue the Girls' School without definite guaranty from the Board. We appreciate the generosity all the more because we see what great benefit the much-needed new church building will be to the church at Sendai, and to all our northern field. We pray the Father's choicest blessings upon these special donors who have come to the aid of our work in this period of peculiar stress upon the Mission Treasury.

That we ask Dr. Bishop to complete his Mission History as soon as possible, and that its publication be left in the hands of the author and the editors of the Christian Missionary.

That all unfinished business be left in the hands of the Mission Council.

That the appointment of Miss R. Mabel Francis be revoked as she has already taken work with another Board.

That the Mission Secretaries take up the matter of holding a Missionary Conference with the Craigville, Massachusetts Campmeeting Association, and endeavor to arrange for such a meeting.

That the Foreign Secretary be made a delegate to the Student's Volunteer Convention at Rochester, New York, next December.

That the Treasurer be directed by this Board, under the direction of the Mission Council, to effect such temporary loans as may be necessary to carry on our work, giving such security as may be necessary.

That this Board appoint three representatives as delegates at large, according to the request of the World's Sunday School Association, to attend the next convention of the Association at Washington, D. C., May 19th to 24th, 1910. The president was instructed to make these appointments.

(Concluded on page sixteen).

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CONFERENCE CALENDER.

Western N. C.—Graham, Tuesday, Nov. 16, 10:30 a. m. Rev. L. I. Cox, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Rev. R. L. Williamson, Secy., Ramseur, N. C.

N. C. and Va.—Belew's Creek, Tuesday, Nov. 23, 9 a. m. Prof. W. A. Harper, Pres., Elon College, N. C., Prof. W. P. Lawrence, Secy., Elon College, N. C.

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.

I Tim. 4:15.

(Not they that eat most, but they that digest most, are the most nourished. Not they that get most, but they that keep most, are the richest. So not they that hear most, or read most, but they that meditate most, are the most edified and nourished and enriched unto everlasting life).

Daily Food.

"I am the bread of life."

Sunday, November 14.

I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people. Jer. 31:33.

"O how I love thy holy law;

'Tis daily my delight;

And thence my meditations draw

Divine advice by night."

O how I love thy law! It is my meditation all the day. Psa. 119:97.

Monday, November 15.

The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him, and he will show them his covenant. Psa. 25:14.

"The Lord shall make him know

The secrets of his heart.

The wonders of his covenant show,

And all his love impart."

Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth; but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you. John 15:15.

Tuesday, November 16.

Thy Maker is thy husband; the Lord of hosts is his name; and thy Redeemer the Holy One of Israel. Isa. 54:5.

"Thou dear Redeemer, dying Lamb,

We love to hear of thee;

No music like thy charming name

Nor half so sweet can be."

Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood. Rev. 5:9.

Wednesday, November 17.

The God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. Rom. 16:20.

"Now let my soul arise,

And tread the tempter down;

My Captain leads me forth

To conquest and a crown;

A feeble saint shall win the day,

Though death shall obstruct the way."

Be sober, be vigilant: because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour; whom resist steadfast in the faith. I Pet. 5:8,9.

Thursday, November 18.

The Lord will give strength unto his people; the Lord will bless his people with peace. Psa. 29:11.

"The saint shall flourish in his days, Dressed in the robes of joy and praise. Peace, like a river, from his throne, Shall flow to nations yet unknown."

Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace. Psa. 37:37.

Friday, November 19.

He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son. Rev. 21:7.

"My dear almighty Lord,

My conquerer and my King,

Thy scepter and thy sword,

Thy reigning grace I sing:

Thine is the power; behold, I sit

In willing bands beneath thy feet."

And if a son, then an heir of God through Christ. Gal. 4:7.

Saturday, November 20.

As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you. Isa. 66:13.

"O that I could with favored John

Recline my weary head upon

The dear Redeemer's breast!

From care and sin and sorrow free,

Give me, O Lord, to find in thee

My everlasting rest."

Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort, who comforteth us in all our tribulations. 2 Cor. 1:3,4.

He that puts faith into his prayer will put energy into his work.

EASTERN VIRGINIA CONFERENCE.

Franklin, Va., was the good host to the Eastern Virginia Conference Tuesday to Friday of last week. And it would have been a positive reflection on the character of the guest not to have been at its best in good word and works. Franklin homes vied with each other in cordial hospitality, and not only the Christian church, but the whole town, laid itself out to make Conference and visitors feel happy and "at home." Rev. C. H. Rowland is pastor there; pastor of his church and of the town, for everybody loves him there, and, having been nine years with them, is regarded as their very own.

The Conference was meeting in its eighty-ninth annual session, and judging from his thorough acquaintance with every detail of the work, and from the prudent, calm deliberation with which he went to his task and wielded the gavel, President N. G. Newman must have presided over most, if not all, the sessions of this body since its organization. Bro. Newman does not look to he of that age, however, and we are persuaded that he has learned wisdom's way well, and kept to it (though some people are really older than their form and face would indicate). Rev. I. W. Johnson was elected secretary, and Mr. W. H. Jones, Jr., Suffolk, was reelected treasurer. The body is officered all right, and the business of this conference proceeds like clock work.

There were four full days of conference work, with preaching at night. The work of these days was divided in this fashion: First day, Reports from churches, ministers, Executive Committee, fraternal and other messengers. Second, Education and Home Missions. Third, Religious Literature, Moral Reform, The Orphanage, and Foreign Missions. Fourth, Sunday schools, Christian Endeavor, Assessments, and all unfinished business.

Rev. N. G. Newman was elected to deliver the next annual address, and Berkley was chosen as the place for holding next session.

The churches were all represented, save one, and all those represented, save two, paid all conference apportionments in full, which is a showing that should carry pardonable pride to every church and member of the body. The principal object of home missionary effort in this Conference now is the handsome house of worship in building at Portsmouth. Pastor Harrell is certainly zealous in this good behalf, and is doing a truly great work. The promise is for a magnificent and commodious stone and brick building for Portsmouth at an early date. One of the most interesting papers of the Conference was read by Rev. W. E. McClenny of Suffolk on "Our Home Missions in the Past, and the Need of the Future." This was a very illuminating piece of history and will be published in The Sun at an early date.

The address on Education was made by Dr. E. L. Moffitt, president of Elon College, and was listened to with close attention. Dr. Moffitt announced that eight of the ten men to give a thousand dollars each to Elon College had been found and that he had hopes of finding two others at an early date.

One of the great features of the Conference was a series of four papers by Rev. W. W. Staley, D.D., on "The Book of Amos." These papers were exceedingly thoughtful, suggestive and helpful, and will be given to Christian Sun readers shortly.

Conference was greatly edified by addresses and a sermon from Rev. Dr. A. W. Lightbourne of Dover, Delaware. Dr. Lightbourne has recently, with a congregation of nearly four hundred, come into the Christian Church, under conditions differing little from those under which Rev. James O'Kelly left the Methodist Church and later joined in helping to found and form the Christian Church. Dr. Lightbourne is a man of scholarship, culture and refined thought, as well as a man of deep piety and spirituality. He seems thoroughly identified with our church and all its interests. On Thursday night of the Conference he preached a sermon replete, from start to finish, with sober thought, deep insight, high conception and noble utterance. It was truly a spiritual uplift to the highly intelligent audience that greeted him. Dr. Lightbourne made an exceedingly favorable impression upon the Conference, the members of which came to regard him as an earnest, sincere and able man.

All his brethren and hosts of friends were glad to see Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., Editor Herald of Gospel Liberty, at this Conference. His brethren still wrestle with him and "will not let him go."

THINK ON THESE THINGS.

Paul was a psychologist. He understood the operations of the mind. He well knew that thought enlarged its object. The manly virtues and Christian graces would be enlarged for any one who would think upon them.

The vices also. And there is the pity of it. If one does you an injury, or causes you offence, just think over it. It will multiply manifold. Injuries, real or imaginary, will grow into life and activity, faster than eggs will, if brooded over. Once decide that someone has done you hurt, and then think upon it—the thing takes teeth and feet and claws sharp and fast. The only way to alleviate offence and abolish injury, and get on friendly terms with the offender is to quit thinking of the offence, lift your soul above it.

That master modern philosopher, Des Cartes, was preaching gospel when he said, "When any one has offended me, I try to raise my soul so high that the offence cannot reach it." One never raises one's soul by brooding over the offence, injury, weakness of another.

After all, our thoughts make us—our beliefs, our attitude. You have seen people who were cast in a great mould. Their soul was large. They were destined to be good and gracious and generous. But by slow gradations they have talked on little things, thought on little things, meditated upon minor events, until they have dried up the very fountains of their greatness. Their soul withers. Their largeness turns to littleness. It is a dangerous thing to think always on little things.

If you have offence against any man, think on it very little, till you are able not to think on it at all. Thought magnifies.

If there be any virtue—and surely there is some virtue—think on that.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Rev. J. O. Cox and wife arrived Saturday evening. Their household furniture had already been placed in the Carr cottage which they occupy. The town of Elon is glad to have this excellent young family come here to live.

—Dr. T. Dwight Sloan, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, spent Saturday and Sunday here. He is traveling in the interest of the quadrennial Convention of this great movement, which meets in Rochester, N. Y., December 29 to January 3. Elon is entitled to three delegates. Mr. E. T. Hines of the Junior Class was chosen by the Y. M. C. A. and Miss Affie Griffin also of the Junior Class, by the Y. W. C. A., last Sunday, as two of the delegates. It is not certain yet that the funds can be raised to send a third representative.

—Dr. Moffitt's announcement Tuesday morning to the student body, that nine thousand, five hundred dollars on the fifty thousand dollar endowment, has been raised, brought hearty applause.

—Rev. Martin Summerbell, D.D., President of Palmer Institute in New York, is to deliver three public lectures in the College Chapel Dec. 1, 2, and 3.

These lectures will be open to the public. Dr. Summerbell is regarded as one of the ablest men in the ministry of the Christian Church in America, and his coming will mean much to Elon College and to those who hear him.

—Rev. T. C. Amick was the preacher at the eleven o'clock service Sunday. His sermon was well conceived, carefully prepared, and was closely listened to by his audience.

—Mr. O. B. Barnes has bought the Boston Cable farm of sixty-five acres just north-east of town, and is going to improve it and sell it in small farms.

W. P. Lawrence.

NORFOLK LETTER.

The delegates who attended the conference at Franklin last week are unanimous in their praise of the Christian Church at Franklin, and all the people of the city generally.

I will not attempt to write of the conference and its work, for Drs. Atkinson, Staley, and Barrett were there, and that means that all the writing necessary will be well done.

Rev. C. C. Ryan and his family left Friday morning for their future home at Ansonia, Ohio. The earnest prayers, and best wishes of a large circle of friends, go with them to their new field of labor.

Rev. J. W. Harrell of Portsmouth, preached at the Memorial Temple Sunday morning, and Rev. Stanley C. Harrell of Holland, preached for him at Portsmouth in the morning and at the Temple in the evening.

Dr. J. P. Barrett, of Dayton, Ohio, filled the pulpit of the Third Church both morning and evening. Preached fine sermons to large and appreciative audiences. As is well known, Dr. Barrett is one of our strongest men, and most popular preachers in this section, so when it is known that he is to preach, it usually brings a large congregation.

Sunday school at the Third Church was the largest in its history, having seven more present than at any previous morning session of the school.

Miss Mary Barrett, daughter of Rev. J. W. Barrett, of Lambert's Point, has been sick some weeks with typhoid fever. We are glad to know she is improving.

Dr. Barrett leaves Norfolk tomorrow for Sanford, N. C., to attend conference there this week.

Recent developments in connection with a pastor for the Third Church bid fair to show something right soon, but nothing positive to report at this writing.

J. W. Manning.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....$3,920.79

- Bernice Brown .....$ .10
- Harlan Knight ..... .05
- Della Knight ..... .05
- Quag Horton ..... .15
- Grady Horton ..... .15
- Joe Harris ..... .05
- Warner Carpenter ..... .05
- Charles E. Newman .... .10
- Hannah Clare Newman . .10
- Pauline Lawrence ..... .10
- Delphine Lawrence ..... .10
- Ruth Klapp ..... .10
- William Staley Cheatham .10

Monthly S. S. Offering:

- Durham, N. C., 5th Sunday offering ..... 17.00
- Franklin, Va. .... 2.29

Special Offering:

- De Witt Klapp, Pittsboro, N. C. .... 1.00
- Chas. D. Johnson, Graham, N. C. .... 5.00
- Mrs. Bettie Cates (on support of children) . 3.00
- W. A. Lewis ..... .10
- Mrs. W. W. Staley (Thanksgiving Offer.) 2.00
- Mrs. Bessie Staley Cheatham ..... 1.00
- Miss Annie Staley .... 1.00

Girard, Ala., Ch.:

- Mrs. Carrie Parish .$.50
- Mrs. Fannie Crather ..... 1.00
- Jane Waldrop .... .50
- G. L. Newsom ..... .50
- P. A. Newsom .... .50
- J. W. Cone ..... .50
- J. F. Posey ..... .50
- D. P. Elder ..... 1.00
- Lula Johnson .... .50
- Mattie Stubbs .... .50
- Rev. G. O. Lankford .50
- J. F. Hill ..... 1.00
- Charlie Lynn ..... .50
- Total ..... 8.00

Rose Hill Ch., Columbus, Ga.:

- Miss Mary Thompson ..... 1.00
- Talmage Elder .... .25
- Total ..... 1.25

Brown's Springs Ch., Ga.:

- Rev. J. H. Milan .. .50

- S. J. Bullard ..... .10
- Miss Julia Rogers . .50
- Mrs. L. D. Lawrence .50
- J. B. Rutherford .. .50
- L. R. Ryls ..... .50
- Mrs. R. H. Reynolds .25
- J. P. Brown ..... .50
- Mrs. M. E. Wyrick .20

Total ..... 3.55

From "Cheerful Helpers," Langdale, Ala. ....

8.00

Richland, Ga., Ch. and Conference:

- Rev. H. W. Elder .. 1.00
- D. S. Hogg ..... 2.00
- C. S. Singleterry ... 1.00
- W. L. Osborne .... 1.00
- Rev. J. C. Postell .. 1.00
- Mrs. J. C. Postell . .50
- J. W. Kent ..... .50
- Mrs. M. L. Young . .50
- M. D. Brown ..... .25
- J. R. Hansom ..... .25
- G. A. Plymale .... .25
- J. L. Hawkins ..... .25
- G. L. Newsom ..... .50
- T. C. Floyd ..... .25
- F. W. Shehand .... .28
- L. C. Harrison .... 1.00
- M. G. Bishop ..... .25
- Jim Elder ..... .50
- R. J. Dickson ..... .10
- G. M. Swan ..... 1.00
- Mrs. G. L. Ivy .... .50
- Mrs. Susie Richardson ..... .50
- Total ..... 13.38

Corinth, Ala., Ch. and Dist. Meet.:

- Rev. G. D. Hunt .. 1.00
- Rev. J. W. Elder .. .50
- Rev. C. M. Dollar . 1.00
- S. E. Carpenter .... .25
- W. E. Pate ..... .50
- Mrs. M. E. Carpenter .25
- Mrs. M. A. Brown . .25
- W. J. Horton ..... 1.00
- Rev. W. R. Knight . 1.00
- M. W. Knight ..... .50
- Rev. C. W. Carter . .25
- J. C. Harris ..... .50
- Mrs. W. R. Knight . .50
- Miss Hattie Elder . .25
- Rev. J. H. Hughes . .50
- J. C. Knight ..... .50
- J. H. Harris ..... .25
- G. C. Brown ..... .50
- C. C. Carson ..... .25
- Total ..... 9.75

Sale of Pictures ... 2.20

Amt. 41st week ..... 79.72

Total .....$4,000.51

Elon College, N. C., Nov. 3, 1909.

My Dear Children and Friends:—

Home again Monday, Nov. 1, 4 P.M.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist

FOSTER BUILDING,

Burlington, N. C.

MEDICINE.

We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Burlington, N. C.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Branaman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

Had a great trip to Ga. and Ala., of which we will write later; our report is lengthy and we will need the space, so I will be brief. Sisters Bessie Staley Cheatham and Annie Staley join with Sister Jones and add their dollars to make Uncle Jim shout—what other "old cousin" will join in?

In the corner this week we publish Bro. Chas. E. Johnson's letter, Graham, N. C. It's a private letter but shows such deep interest in the Orphanage work that I feel it may help others to arrive at a definite offering for the Orphanage work. Bro. Johnson is Register of Deeds for Alamance County, N. C., and in conversation with Uncle Jim 13 months ago said, "If I am reelected I will give the Orphanage $5.00 a month for support"—he got elected—hence his monthly offering. Now who will join Bros. Carlton and Johnson? Bro. Johnson has just finished one year. Bro. Carlton will soon complete two years. We want eight others by Christmas who will be ready for New Year.

Our first Thanksgiving Offering was made this year by Mr. John Beck, of Richland, Ga., who is an engineer on the Seaboard Air Line R. R., and though not a member of any church feels that every person should make a Thanksgiving Offering, and he designated the earnings of one day, and turned over to Rev. H. W. Elder, pastor Christian Church, Richland, for his gift $4.77. We are very grateful for this kind act and realize what an enormous amount would result if every church member would do as Mr. Beck has done. May God bless this kind-hearted and brave man at the throttle, and may he at last so have run the engine of life as to come to a standstill at the Grand Union Station of the City of our God.

Sister W. W. Staley sends in her Annual Thanksgiving Offering. She never fails; year after year comes and goes and Sister Staley is always ready to help the orphans. May there be thousands this year who will do as Bro. Beck and Sister Staley have done.

Thanksgiving!

The Thanksgiving envelopes are being delivered to delegates at the Conference, except Valley Va.; these will be mailed in a day or two. We ask pastors and people to take the Offering this year as early as possible, make it just as liberal as they can, and report it promptly. We need your prompt, and persevering help.

Donations:

Bro. S. O. Caviness, Greensboro, one bunch of bananas for the children, and they enjoyed them, too! Thank you, Bro.

Sister Jennie Hamlet, Semora, N. C., 2 pillows and 2 pillow cases. May many tired heads find rest on these pillows! Thank you, Sister Hamlet.

Bro. J. C. Harris, Wadley, Ala., about 50 lbs, "Ribbon Cane" (all Uncle Jim could carry in his strong right hand) for the orphans. That was a sweet time, Bro. Harris, when little and large got to "chewing cane" as the Ala. people would say. Master Earle Cates took his lot and sat on the "drawing horse" and spent the while chewing and enjoying it finely. Wish the Ga. and Ala. friends could have seen the picture—many of them found it very sweet but hard to swallow.

In last week's report the amt' brought forward should have been $3,887.28 instead of $3,812.47, which would make the total for last week $3,920.79. It is quite difficult to keep every detail correctly.

Let every body talk and pray for the greatest Thanksgiving Offering yet made by our people.

Yours for the work,

Fondly,

Uncle Jim.

Graham, N. C., Oct. 30, 1909.

Rev. J. L. Foster,

Elon College, N. C.

My Dear Sir and Brother:—

I herewith enclose you my check for five dollars for my monthly donation to the Orphanage for the month of Nov., 1909. This donation completes my offering for this year's work as my year begins with December 1st.

Bro. Carlton and myself have been a little lonesome this year, just two of us, but how much more interesting it would have been if we had had eight more for company. Now I know that I have use for all the money that I have, having a large family of little fellows too young to work, and could use every dollar that I make, but I am willing to make a sacrifice and do without things that I need in order to give something to help the orphans.

I have a very deep sympathy for a little orphan child and I am glad to be able to lend a helping hand to cast a little sunshine in their pathway. I am willing to make this same offering monthly for the next twelve months if we can get eight more for company. It would be so much more interesting to have fifty dollars per month instead of ten. I wonder if eight more will not decide to join our little band? With much love to you and the orphans I beg to remain
Yours very truly,

Chas. D. Johnston.

If the eight do not join our company, I am going to give the same amount this next year, beginning with December, anyway.

C.D.J.

Fraklinton, N. C., Oct. 20, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Grandma gave me another dime, which I gladly send to you for the orphanage. I am two months old today, and weigh 13 pounds. "Mammy Crews" left me when I was seven weeks old, and grandma, mother and I cried and she cried some, too. We have missed her so much. Mother weighed me in her arms, the day before she left, on Grandpa Staley's cotton scales, where mules and bales of cotton are weighed and I weighed 14 lbs. but my shawl weighed one and one half pounds.

Mother hoped when I was named for grandpa that the folks would call me William Staley. But if that is too long for a boy, call me "Staley."

I have been rich since last week and mother failed to mail my letter until today, so I am 10 weeks old now. Grandpa has not seen me since I was ten days old.

Kind regards to you and all the cousins. Mother and Aunt Annie are "old cousins," and they send $1.00 each in response to your call.

Papa has been to see me three times this week and I laughed aloud, too.

Fondly,

William Staley Cheatham.

Well, dear little man, you are doing nicely indeed, and almost big enough to come to see us—here where your first money was spent. Come see how you like your investment.

Moneure, N. C., R.F.D. 2, Oct. 26, '09.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I was at Elon College in August, when papa assisted brother Peele in a meeting at Berea. While I was up there Sister Myrtie carried me over to the orphanage and I saw some of the little orphans, and they have such a nice home, it made me feel almost like I would love to live there myself. I am nearly six years old. I can read. I send ten cents to help the orphans.

Your little friend,

Ruth Klapp.

We are so glad to welcome dear little Ruth to the Band of cousins. Now, if you can read you must hurry to learn to write your own letters to Uncle Jim. That would be nice, wouldn't it?

Seagrove, N. C., R.F.D. 1, Oct. 24, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

It has been some time since we wrote last, but we haven't forgotten you all. There will be preaching at New Center this afternoon by our pastor, Rev. W. H. Roach.

Enclosed find our dimes.

Your loving nieces,

Pauline and Delphine Lawrence.

A long time indeed, little girls, but we are glad you remembered at last. Do not forget again.

Henderson, N. C., Oct. 28, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Just to think we have had birthdays since we wrote last. Charles is now three, and Hannah Clare one. Charles thinks he is very big, but Hannah Clare doesn't mean to be left behind. She can walk well, and follows close on Charles' heels. We went up to north Henderson this P.M. to get a chicken Mrs. Stephens gave us. The chicken came near getting away after we got home and Charles had a big cry over it. We would like to help you eat your "tadlys," as Charles calls potatoes. Mr. Kenneth Newman and Mr. Pres Fuller gave us a whole "lot of tadlys," so you see we have not been without.

Daddy is great on raising Irish potatoes. He planted a peck for a second crop. When he dug them he had just about a peck.

We send our love and dimes.

Lovingly,

Charles E. Newman, Jr.

Hannah Clare Newman.

Charles will certainly have to learn to beat Daddy raising potatoes. James says he is going to be his daddy's "farmer boy."

When in Burlington call at

T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

atchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—TAKING PART. NO. 2.

Sometimes when we ask an Endeavorer to do more than read a verse, he will say, "I just can't express myself. I would be only too glad to lead in prayer or make a short talk or give a comment on the verse I read, but I just can't express myself." To get such diffident members as this one to do active work is the reason for the existence of our society. Unless we can interest them, our meetings are at best to remain recitation performances for the less gifted ones and exhibition galleries for the progressive ones. How shall we interest these diffident ones?

1. Get them to really want to take part. Don't let them stop with a wish; get them to want to feel they have lost something unless they do participate. Do this by saying incidentally, "That was a fine verse you read today, and I did so hope that you would add a word of explanation. Our meetings would be so much better if you would help give them zest in this way." Don't stop with doing this once, but keep at it until you get results.

2. Get them to work to that end. Assign them work to do and literature to read. Get them to be assistant leaders. Give them encouragement every time they come out of their shell.

3. Get them to practise expression before the meeting at home. Tell them to write out what they desire to say in the best English they can and then to tear it to pieces and give it off-hand in the meeting. Practice makes perfect. They can practice at home as well as in the society prayer-meeting.

4. Don't ask too much at first. Merely a Scripture verse repeated will do for a first effort in prayer. A word of comment on a verse or a hymn may be a good starter in public speech. "The parable of parables for the young Christian is that of the mustard seed." But praise their meager beginnings. Remember that the swiftest runners once had to travel by crawling, and that too by assistance.

5. Get them to stand up when they take part. Nothing helps speech like having everybody's attention. The fact that others are expecting you to say something will help you say it. Be sure to get them to stand up when they take part. It will give them confidence and encourage them to go on.

6. Assist them in the meeting. How? Take a seat by one of them; have three other members of the Prayer-meeting Committee do the same. Suggest to him the time for him to take part. If you desire to teach him to pray, say to him, "When I pray in the chain of prayer, I wish you would follow me in a sentence prayer." Then make your prayer very simple, so as not to discourage him. If you fail the first time, remember Robert Bruce and the fly. Keep at it.

7. Frequently have some form of concert work, especially when you are sure not all have taken part, aside from singing. If a member once fails to keep the pledge, he will fail again. We are creatures of habit. Therefore at some point during the meeting, in concert, you may often with profit read a hymn or a psalm or repeat the pledge or the Lord's prayer or some other prayer or the ten commandments, or ask all who would testify for Christ to stand up. This concert work is valuable in itself, and it serves a useful purpose often in helping all keep the pledge. When it becomes a cloak for slothfulness in Christian service, abandon it altogether.

"C.B.C." Organized Class Banqueted.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Huffman, on Thursday evening, Oct. 28, the "C.B.C." Organized Class of the Elon College Sunday school was given a most cordial reception. The class now numbers 41 and nearly every member was present. The home had been tastefully and artistically decorated for the purpose and good things bountifully provided, so that all the class could do was to enjoy itself to the full. The hours were from 8 to 11, and surely hours never passed so delightfully before. The Elon College Sunday school orchestra was there and rendered suitable music.

Each guest was given a fortune in a pumpkin cover and charades were played. It was a good thing to be a member of the class that night.

From Miss Stephenson.

Miss Bettie Stephenson, Roanoke, Ala., under date of Nov. 1, writes: "I have a class of about fourteen in our Sunday school (New Hope), five boys and nine girls, ranging from the ages of fourteen to eighteen. I organized them last January under the name of "Constant Workers," and they have done good work.

"Our pastor, Bro. Hunt, is talking Christian Endeavor to the boys and girls and expects soon to organize a Society. If he does, my class of boys and girls will be a part of the Society. (Let us hope that the Society will soon materialize. Ed).

"We have organized a Teacher-Training Class of three members. I am the teacher."

Who will be the next to send such encouraging items? That's what we call good writing in this office. Who will be next?

C. E. TOPIC FOR NOV: 14—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Pilgrim's Progress Series, XI. Beulah Land, Isa. 62:3-5.

Pilgrim's Progress Passage.—Again we have a very long passage from the Pilgrim's Progress. It begins with, "They went then till they came to the Delectable Mountains" and ends just before the paragraph beginning, "So I saw that when they awoke, they addressed themselves to go up to the city," 25 pages in the large edition which I possess. I doubt if much more can be done with this unwieldy passage than to select a few impressive scenes and have them presented in five minutes each by suitable members. For example under this head might come Bunyan's Picture of Beulah Land, The Delectable Mountains, In the Flatterer's Net, On the Enchanted Ground, Ignorance and Atheist, Little-Faith Among Thieves.

Scripture Lesson.—The three verses should, perhaps, be read in concert by the Society. The Leader may draw lessons from it or appoint three Endeavorers to comment briefly on a verse each, in which case the Leader will draw a lesson or two from the Pilgrim's Progress Passage.

Scripture References.—Hand out, but let those who get them read them, adding a sentence comment, when they see fit as the meeting progresses:

- The Soul Restored, Isa. 1:26.
- The Church a Diadem, Deut. 32:10.
- Power of Righteousness, Luke 1:6.
- Beulah a Blessing, Eph. 1:23.
- Beulah Land, Where? Rom. 14:16-19.
- A Land of Heart-peace, John 16:22-23.
- A Land of Plenty, Jer. 31:12-14.
- A Land of Joy, Isa. 66:10-12.
- A Land of Love, I Cor. 13:12-13.

Question Spurs.—Hand out, but let the ones who get them give the answers as if no question had been given and without being called for:

- What is Beulah Land?
- How may we enter it?
- How may its influence be felt in daily life?
- What kind of thoughts would it make us think?
- What effects should Beulah Land have on our homes?
- On our church? On our government?
- On our Society?

Who is our guide to Beulah Land?
 What is my position in reference to Beulah Land? (To be given to several).

Suggestive Program.

1. Song: Beulah Land. Chain of Prayer.
2. Scripture Lesson and Comment.
3. Pilgrim's Progress Program.
4. Some songs. Prayer.
5. Pastor's five minutes.
6. Leader's Remarks.
7. Voluntary Participation, including Scripture References with Comment and answers to Question Spurs.
8. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

AGENTS:—If I knew your name, I would send you our $2.19 sample outfit free this very minute. Let me start you in a profitable business. You do not need one cent of capital. Experience unnecessary. 50 per cent. profit. Credit given. Premiums. Freight paid. Chance to win $500 in gold extra. Every man and woman should write me for free outfit. Jay Black, Pres., 100 Beverly St., Boston, Mass.

20 CHRISTMAS POST CARDS 10c.
No Two Alike—Latest Designs.

Lovely assortment of 20 Artistic Christmas, New Year, and Flowers in exquisite colors, all for only 10c if you answer this ad immediately. J. H. Seymour, 251 W. Eighth St., Topeka, Kans.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.
 For catalogue or further information, address
EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

The Centennial of Religious Journalism

EDITED BY J. PRESSLEY BARRETT, D. D.
 Editor Herald of Gospel Liberty

This is without doubt the most generally interesting publication sent out by the Christians. Its centennial, historical and denominational features make it not only unique in character, but interesting as well. From beginning to end it claims the interested attention of the reader.

We have not space here to give the table of contents, but suffice it to say, that beginning with the "Discussion of the conditions which made the organization of the Christian Church a necessity," the reader will follow with interest and profit, the "History of the Herald of Gospel Liberty," "The One Hundred Editorial Gems," "Historical Sketches of One-Hundred-Year-Old Churches," "A symposium—A Hundred Years of Progress," setting forth in well prepared papers the development of the various enterprises of the Christian Church, and with a heart full of optimistic hope he will peruse "The Future Outlook of the Christian Church."

And all this, and more, in a book of nearly 850 pages, handsomely bound, with gold titles, while the price is only $1.00 for cloth binding and $2.00 for Morocco, with your name printed in gold. Postage, 15 cents extra. Send your order at once to

J. N. HESS, Publishing Agent

Dayton, Ohio

LET US SHIP THIS FINE STEEL RANGE TO YOU ON APPROVAL

Send us only one dollar as a guarantee of good faith and we will ship this SIX HOLE STEEL RANGE to you on approval. On its arrival at your freight station examine it carefully, and if you are entirely satisfied that it is the best value you ever saw, pay your agent the balance, $22.00. Then try it for 60 days in your home and return it at our expense any time within that period if not entirely satisfactory, and your money and freight charges will be promptly refunded. Is not this the fairest offer you ever heard?

$45 Range for Only $23

This range is extra strong and is as good as any range being sold in your county to-day for $45.00. It has an ample porcelain lined reservoir, large warming closet, two tea brackets, is asbestos lined and will burn either coal or wood. It is beautifully nicked and an ornament in the kitchen. Size 8-16, oven 16 x 20 x 13 1/4 inches, top 45 x 28 ins. Height 29 ins., weight 375 lbs. Larger sizes cost: 8-18, $27.50; 8-24, $27. Customers in the West will be shipped from our factory in Illinois to save time and freight. Write to the advertising manager of this paper or to the Bank of Richmond, Richmond, Va., one of the largest institutions in the South, and they will tell you that we always keep our promises.

THE SPOTLESS CO., Inc.,
 130 Shockoe Square,
 RICHMOND, VA.
 "The South's Mail Order House."

—Mayor Tom S. Johnson of Cleveland, famous for his fight for three cent street car fare, was defeated in the recent election.

DIED.

Shrodes.

Roy W. Shrodes, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Shrodes, 518 Eflingham St., Portsmouth, Va., was born at Ithica, Mich., Jan. 1, 1896, and died Oct. 21, 1909 at the home of his parents.

Ray was a youth of great promise, refined and modest in disposition; ambitious and persevering in life. He loved music, books and those things that would uplift and elevate.

He was a member of the Christian Sunday school and we feel that we have sustained a great loss in his death. Though he had been in our midst less than a year, we had learned to love him and appreciate his sterling qualities of mind and heart. He always manifested deep interest in Sunday school and Church work and had on several occasions won Sunday school medals for faithfulness.

We cannot understand the early departure of this seemingly promising life, but we do know that God is too good to be unkind and too wise to err. Loving hands covered Roy's grave with flowers and sympathizing hearts mingled tears with those of fond parents—bereft of their only child in whom were centered fond hopes for the future.

The funeral services were conducted from the Christian Church by the writer, assisted by Rev. Mr. Parish of the Baptist Church. J. W. Harrell.

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.

P. M.	A. M.	STATIONS.	A. M.	P. M.
4:15	8:00	Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50	7:25
4:25	8:10	Caraleigh Lv.	10:40	7:10
4:48	8:35	McCullers	10:22	6:43
4:53	8:40	Banks	10:17	6:37
5:04	8:52	Willow Spgs.	10:09	6:25
5:20	9:04	Varina	10:00	6:14
5:28	9:14	Fuquay Spgs.	9:50	6:05
5:50	9:35	Chalybeate	9:35	5:50
5:55	9:40	Kipling	9:28	5:43
6:08	9:53	Cape Fear	9:16	5:25
6:15	10:00	Lillington	9:11	5:19
6:23	10:08	Harnett	9:01	5:08
6:28	10:13	Bunlevel	8:55	5:02
6:38	10:23	Linden	8:45	4:52
6:49	10:34	Lane	8:33	4:40
6:54	10:39	Slocomb	8:28	4:35
7:10	10:55	Tokay	8:12	4:17
7:20	11:05	A.C.L. June	8:05	4:10
7:25	11:10	Ar. Fay't'v'l Lv.	8:00	4:05

J. A. Mills, Pres.

Raleigh, N. C.

STOPS FALLING HAIR

Ayer's Hair Vigor is composed of sulphur, glycerin, quinin, sodium chlorid, capsicum, sage, alcohol, water, perfume. Ask your doctor about this. Follow his advice. Promptly checks falling hair. Completely destroys dandruff. An elegant dressing.

Does not Color the Hair

J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

DO YOU DRIVE TO TOWN?

This farmer telephoned and—stayed at home.

This farmer went to market.

And find the market unfavorable for your produce? The farmer who has a telephone in his home can telephone first. The useless trips thus saved are worth the cost of service.

Under the plan of the Bell System the service costs but a trifle; the farmer owns the instrument and the equipment.

Write to nearest Bell Telephone Manager for pamphlet, or address

Farmers' Line Department
SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH CO.
19 SOUTH PRYOR STREET, ATLANTA, GA.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S PASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

SPHINX PURE MIXED PAINTS THEY LAST!

"Sphinx" Paint comes ready-mixed. You don't waste one-third of your painter's time at $2 to $3 per day as when you use lead and oil. You save from $10 to $30 on your labor bill when you use "Sphinx."

Then too "Sphinx" Paint is ten-fold better mixed than any painter could possibly do it, for we use perfect mixing machinery. This is why "Sphinx" covers so evenly and goes farther per gallon than any other paint. We guarantee one gallon to cover 300 square feet,—two coats.

Sphinx Paint is Best for Southern Pine

Look for our trade-mark bearing the words Leland Moore Quality. It is your best insurance against cracking, scaling and peeling. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us for free color-cards and prices. Made in white, black, and 45 beautiful tints and colors.

LELAND MOORE PAINT & OIL COMPANY, CHARLESTON, S. C.

—The London authorities continue to have trouble with the "suffragettes." One woman wearing the suffragette colors smashed a bottle containing corrosive acid on a ballot box, injuring several election officials.

(Begun on page three).

That is the judgment of this Board, the Christian Denomination is responsible for the evangelization of at least one million people in Foreign Mission lands, and the Foreign Missionary Secretary is directed to bring this matter to the attention of the next session of the American Christian Convention, urging that body, as representative of the denomination, to officially accept the responsibility named above.

That this Board meet on the day preceding the opening of the next session of the American Christian Convention, or at the call of the Mission Council.

The following Home Mission pastors were approved:

A. C. Burnham, J. W. Dudley, P. E. Zartmann, D. M. Helfenstein, J. W. Barrett, Albert Dunlap, R. C. Moulton, L. D. Hammond, L. D. Holaday, C. E. Fockler, L. F. Johnson, W. H. Sando, H. W. Elder, J. W. Harrell, S. D. Bennett, B. L. Hess, J. C. Grafton, John S. Halfaker, Henry Crampton, F. D. Hutton, H. J. Rhodes, and P. S. Sailer.

Warren H. Denison,
Secretary.

TINKERLESS ROOF.

A New Kind That Requires No Repairs and Little Attention.

While Burbank is out in California creating seedless fruits, and Marconi abroad is making wireless telegraphy, and Virginia is producing smokeless coal, the Cortright Metal Roofing Co., Philadelphia, outstrips all efforts toward the betterment of humanity by producing a tinkerless roof.

This roof is made of Cortright Metal Shingles. Its basic material is tin, long recognized as the best "all round" material. This is not ordinary tin; it is the best the world produces; then it is cut and stamped into shapes that are very handsome, and so arranged that they are joined together by a hook-hinge on one side and nailed on the other so that no power of the elements can loosen, weaken or separate them. Top and bottom they join, too, as well as on the sides—join as close and as proof against water as the scales of a fish and as secure against fire as boilerplate—and all of it is made to gauge, so that any part of it fits on the roof anywhere, always producing that delightfully artistic effect of shaped shingles or carefully sawed stone slates.

But the chief value is the tinkerless feature. It is painted both sides—no rust to start with—and when you put it on you do nothing to induce rust. There is no solder used, and every nail you drive is immediately covered by the next piece you put on. There's not a raw edge or spot anywhere. You put it on and forget the old leaky days. That's all.

If you would like to know about this best roof, write to the Cortright Metal Roofing Co., 54 North 23rd Street, Philadelphia, Pa., for their finely illustrated free books.

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway. Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway. Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt.,
Charlotte, N. C.

J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M.

W. H. TAYLOR, G. P. A.,

Washington, D. C.

THE MOST ENTERTAINING PAPER THAT COMES TO MY HOME—AND THE MOST FOR THE MONEY.
One of a Half a Million Subscribers.

To entertain and inform its readers, and make every line "worth while," is the constant aim of

The Youth's Companion

The contents of the 1910 volume would cost thirty dollars if printed in book form.

Each week's issue will be crowded with reading that delights every member of the family circle.

For 1910—50 Star Stories by famous men and women, 250 Stories, 1000 Notes on Public Affairs, 2000 One-Minute Stories, Weekly Health Article, etc.

Illustrated Prospectus and Specimen Copies sent Free upon request.

FREE TO January 1910

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER who at once cuts out and sends this slip (or the name of this publication) with $1.75 for the 52 issues of The Youth's Companion for 1910 will receive

All the remaining issues for 1909, including the beautiful Holiday Numbers for Thanksgiving and Christmas, The Companion's "Venetian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold, Then The Youth's Companion for the 52 issues of 1910—a treasury of the best reading for every member of the family.

Free

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, BOSTON, MASS.

HORSE INSURANCE

Is written by

THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.

Of High Point North Carolina.

Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

PIEDMONT

"IS THE BEST."

Write for Catalogue
Piedmont Business College
Lynchburg, Va.

The Christian Sun.

State Library

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 45.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Thanksgiving.—There is no happier and more fitting custom so far sprung up amongst us than this of an annual Thanksgiving Day. It is purely an American institution. Its origin is traced to that day when the New England colonists, in 1621, having harvested their first crop, Governor Bradford made provision for a day of rejoicing, of praise and of prayer. In 1623 a day of fasting and prayer for rain, during a continuous drought, was changed into a day of thanksgiving by the coming of rain during the prayers. During the Revolutionary War a national thanksgiving was observed each year by order of Congress. Since 1864, President Lincoln leading off in what has now become custom, the President has appointed, by proclamation, the last Thursday in November of each year as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer. President Taft issued his proclamation for this year on November 15, which is as follows:

By the President of the United States—

A Proclamation:

“The season of the year has returned when, in accordance with the reverent custom established by our forefathers, the people of the United States are wont to meet in their usual places of worship on a day of thanksgiving appointed by the civil magistrate to return thanks to God for the great mercies and benefits which they have enjoyed.

“During the past year we have been highly blessed. No great calamities of flood or tempest or epidemic sickness have befallen us. We have lived in quietness undisturbed by wars or rumors of wars. Peace and the plenty of bounteous crops and of great industrial production animate a cheerful and resolute people to all the renewed energies and beneficent industry and material and moral progress. It is altogether fitting that we should humbly and gratefully acknowledge the Divine source of these blessings.”

“Therefore I appoint Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November, as the day of general thanksgiving and recommend our people to lay aside their usual vocations and repair to their churches and unite in appropriate services and thanks to Almighty God.”

(Signed)

“WILLIAM H. TAFT.”

Another Against the Saloon.—Out in Indiana a woman sued a saloon-keeper for selling her husband drink when he was already drunk, the husband under the influence of drink having fallen down and killed himself. The lower court gave the verdict of $1,200 sued for, and this decision has now been confirmed by the higher court, the court ruling that it made no difference that the saloon man didn't know the man was drunk, or if he habitually became drunk and due notice had been given the bar tender to that effect. The whiskey dealer was held responsible and was given the penalty asked for.

If men are to handle the dangerous, poisonous, deadly stuff, it seems that the courts are highly justifiable in making them sit up and take notice of the damage they are doing. It is a fearful thing to help usher your fellowman, before his day, into the presence of the great I AM.

The Oldest Man.—One Isaac Brock recently died in Waco, Texas, aged 121 years, 6 months and 3 days. We do not understand why The Charlotte Observer missed this, for this man of antiquity was a far heel after your heart, born on North Carolina soil, away up on Cherryfield Creek. There is no doubt as to the date of his birth and death, these being matters of authentic record. Of Isaac Brock the New York Advocate thus deposes: “He was born in Buncombe County, N. C., March 1, 1788. At the time of his birth that county covered all of western North Carolina. He was born in what is now Transylvania County, and for many years he lived near Cherryfield Creek. His name is signed to several land deeds and other papers now in possession of the Duckworth family.” It is believed that he was the oldest man in the United States. Even in this fast and furious age it is possible for one to live a long time, though life is not measured for value and worth by length of days; but by usefulness and service for others.

Fatal Football.—The last fatality and the one nearest home to Sun readers, in foot-ball is all too sad, too shocking, too deplorable for comment. Archie Christian, an eighteen-year-old student at the University of Virginia, from Richmond, was fatally wounded in a game of foot-ball between the University team and that of Georgetown at Washington, D. C., Saturday P. M., Nov 13, and died in a Washington hospital at 3:30, Sunday A. M. His brother, also a member of the team, his grief-stricken father and broken-hearted mother were present when the end came. His mother had premonitions and would not attend the game, so great was her fear and dread for her young and manly son, and when the game was concluded, 'phoned the hospital before she heard of the accident, to know if her son was hurt. She declared that she expected in breathless fear the sad news that was told her. Out of respect to their comrade the University of Virginia team, upon order of the authorities, has canceled all engagements and disbanded for the season. Georgetown has done likewise. One sits appalled in the presence of such a tragedy and comment is as unnecessary as it would be cruel.

—The State Department of the United States is acting wisely in refusing to take any sides in the great Peary-Cook controversy. The scientific bodies and the parties interested are enough to fight it out—we only hope they will soon fight it out and let us know “who is who.”

—In the British Isles, lunacy, idioey, and general mental imbecility has increased over six times as fast as the population. For the past decade 2,370 lunatics annually have been added to the number of insane. For the past fifty years the population has increased 81 per cent and the number of insane persons has increased 250 per cent. The main cause of this alarming fact is drink. These facts about increasing insanity are not confined to Great Britain alone, but if the researches were made as closely in our country as they are there we would have, perhaps, like facts to face.

FROM THE FIELD.

Columbus, Ga., Letter.

My work for the next year will be the same field I have served the past twelve months, viz., North Highlands, this city, and the Christian Church of Girard, Ala. The labors in this pastorate, during the year just closed, have been difficult, yet pleasant. Before coming to this field a little more than twelve months ago, I expected to find plenty hard work, and, by no means, has disappointment been my lot in this respect. But work was not the only thing found. Here we have two little bands of faithful Christian men and women, who love the church and the cause it represents, and who take a deep interest in their pastor, church, Sunday school and prayer-meeting. We have just reasons to feel grateful for the degree of success that has attended our efforts. By no means are we discouraged, nay, our hearts are glad and hopeful as the new conference year comes upon us.

The first service of the year was the midweek prayer-meeting at Girard. A spirit of intense earnestness seemed to pervade the minds of those in attendance. Church conference was held after the prayer service, at which time officers and committees for the ensuing year were elected. Sunday school at this point is "holding its own" and we are hopeful of an increased interest and attendance in the near future.

The first Sunday instant was a good day with us at North Highlands. The morning congregation was none above the average attendance, but at the evening service the congregation was the best we have had in several months. Those present manifested a profound interest in the service and worship of God. A number of church members who have grown cold expressed a desire and purpose to live a more consecrated life.

G. O. Lankford.

Nov. 8, 1909.

Portsmouth Letter.

The past Conference year has been one of the most successful years in the history of the work. There were added to the church roll about 22 names and the Sunday school roll reached 180. The average attendance has been about 100. The church raised during the year about $2,000 and received from rents about $600. The canvass of the churches of the Conference has resulted in the collection of about $2,000 or more.

The fifth Sunday in October marked the eighth anniversary of the organization of the church. Suitable services were held and they were largely attended. We endeavored to get out all the members of the church to the roll call, but it is not necessary to say that we did not succeed. It would indeed be a wonderful thing to get every member of any church to be present at one time. This would be a sight that would gladden any pastor's heart. We are glad to say that we got out a goodly number.

The work on the new church is most encouraging. The roof is now being raised. We are anxious to see it closed in before bad weather comes on. We are beginning to see how the church is going to look and it makes a splendid show. It is the consensus of opinion that it will be among the prettiest in the city. We often hear remarks of surprises that the Christian Church is erecting such a handsome structure. The building surpasses even our own expectation. We are building better than we thought possible. We are praying and trusting that God will continue to smile upon us and enable us to carry the work to completion. We are in great need of financial assistance at this time. We have used up our available resources for the present. We are dependent upon donations to meet the next two payments which amount to $4,000. We are not able to see how these payments shall be met. We are praying and trusting that our Heavenly Father will open the way. Who will be the next to help us in this hour of great need? Send us a donation today.

J. W. Harrell.

Nov. 9, 1909.

South Norfolk, Va.

Our church and Sunday school wish to express in The Sun gratitude for the many blessings which have been showered upon us the past conference year. God has blessed us wonderfully. We have had the pleasure and opportunity of working together without the loss of a single member of our little flock. Our church is pushing forward. The prayer meetings are very interesting and very helpful especially to us young people.

Our Sunday school is interesting, but I think there is room for improvement. May the love of God get hold of us all so we can do more for Him..

Last Sunday, Oct. 31, Bro. Cox preached the last sermon of his conference year with us, and it was with a sad heart that many of us listened to it, for Bro. Cox has become one of us and it is like parting with one of our own family.

He has mingled with us for four years, shared our joys and sorrows, and now goes away from us as gold which has been tried in the furnace and comes out brighter and purer.

He has been a shining light wherever he went doing good not only to those of his own household but to suffering humanity wherever an opportunity afforded. He has worked so faithfully in the culture and sacrificed so nobly, that the church feels her loss deeply.

In the Sunday school he was always ready to help and give encouragement whenever needed and no one will feel the loss more than the writer; for if there is anyone who appreciates a faithful worker there, it is the Superintendent. May God reward him for his faithful service is the prayer of S. S. and church.

We would not forget his faithful wife. She was a teacher in the Sunday school, and a more faithful one I never saw. Her scholars were devoted to her and she will be missed by all. But she is leaving behind a lesson for most of us to learn, that of punctuality and faithfulness. May the service which she rendered bear much fruit and prove a blessing to her.

There were many tokens of love and esteem presented to them Sunday. At morning service the Superintendent, in behalf of the Sunday school, presented to Bro. Cox a set of gold cuff buttons and scarf pin to match, and to his wife a very beautiful pin. Bro. Clarence Stewart presented him, in behalf of the Baraca, a beautiful silk umbrella. At the evening service I. O. O. F. Oakdale Lodge No. 70, of which he is a respected member, turned out in a body to show their love for him. He had a heart to heart talk with them, his subject being, "Whom will you this day choose, Barrabas or Christ?"

After the service Bro. Billy White presented him with a lovely Bible, which bore his name and that of the Lodge. Then they sang that dear old hymn, "Blest be the Tie that Binds." At the prayer meeting, Bro. Rodgers, in behalf of the Ladies Aid Society, presented to his wife, who was also a faithful worker there, a handsome set of silver knives and forks.

May the Lord bless them in their new field of labor is the prayer of us all.

R. W. Spruill.

NOTICE.

Barrett Monument.

At the last session of the Eastern Virginia Conference, the Conference instructed the committee appointed to solicit means and erect a monument in memory of Rev. B. M. Barrett, to erect a plain slab at his grave and raise $100 to be used in placing a window to his memory in the new Portsmouth Christian Church. At the Conference at Den-dron subscriptions were made for the erection of the monument. Part of these remain unpaid. The following amounts have been paid and are now in hand to be used as ordered by the Conference:

Public collection at Dendron	....$ 2.16
J. W. Wellons	..... 1.00
Mrs. W. D. McClenny	..... 1.00
Spring Hill	..... 5.60
Cypress Chapel	..... 5.00
Waverly	..... 5.00
South Norfolk	..... 5.00
J. P. Barrett	..... 5.00
Holy Neck	..... 5.00
Liberty Spring	..... 5.00
Dendron	..... 5.00
T. R. Gaskins	..... 1.00

Total .....$45.76

We would be glad if those who have pledged amounts would send them in as early as convenient.

Any one desiring to contribute may send the amount to the writer who was made Treasurer of the Committee.

R. H. Peel.

Windsor, Va.

THE CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION.

The next session of the Christian Missionary Association of the Eastern Va. Conference will be held with Berkley Christian Church Dec. 7, 1909. This session will cover only one day and evening. The program is now being arranged, and will probably appear in the Sun in a few weeks.

The Association is now a creature of the Conference and destined to become an important factor in developing the Conference work. It is the duty of each person that is able to take one or more memberships in the Association and thereby help to make it more effective in its work. It is the right arm of the Conference. We would be delighted to have a large list of new names added to our roll at the coming session.

We want to urge the members of the Association to make arrangement to attend the coming session. We desire to make the meeting as enthusiastic as possible. In order to do this we must have your presence. You cannot have interesting and enthusiastic meetings without the people. You can come in on the morning trains and leave in the evening. It will take only one day of your time. Let us devote that day to the work that God has entrusted into our hands. J. W. Harrell, Pres.

Portsmouth, Va.

Words From Waverly.

I am glad to note, mention already having made in these columns, of the good revival held at Waverly. I assure you that our editor has not over-stated the facts. We had planned to hold a series of evangelical meetings for ten days beginning with the third Sunday night in October. Our brother Ryan, whom God has blessed so wonderfully during the past summer, had been secured to conduct the meeting. Bro. Ryan reached us on Monday and preached three very forceful sermons. He was necessitated to return home on Wednesday. When he reached home he found his little girl ill from scarlet fever which, of course, made it impracticable for him to return. Rev. C. C. Jones, of Wakefield, was visiting us, and he was pressed into service for two services, after which he had to return home.

Feeling greatly disappointed and discouraged, many thought best to close the meetings, but the burden of souls lay heavily upon my heart. I had been praying two years for that which I hoped to see accomplished now, and to yield the work was, to me, not only yielding the battle to the enemy, but it was disclaiming the promises of God. This would seem very wicked. I believe that if God will be with us at one time, He will be with us at another, and the fact that Bro. Ryan was incidentally taken from us, was to me no reason that the Lord had left us and desired us to give up our battle. If the people wished a blessing, they could get it. God would give them just what, deep down in their sincerest heart, they most desired. The meeting continued.

The pastors of the other churches were invited, with their people, to join hands with me in a union meeting for the good of the town. They gladly did so. And when done, it seemed to me, I never before felt such a good spirit as swept the community. It was thought by everyone that the right step had been taken; and the people began going to church and participating in the services. 'Twas great to hear that great throng of four or five hundred people singing "The Glory Song," "The King's Business," "For He is so precious to Me," etc.

The meetings were continued in this way for one week, during which time there were about ninety professions and reclamations, the most of them being professions.

The meetings have produced three distinct results: The union of church people, sentiment against existing evils and inspiration to do better and be better folks.

There is a more brotherly feeling existing now than before; not that the churches were antagonistic, but that now they have more sympathy, fellow-feeling, good wishes, genuine cordiality, and a ready hand for one another, realizing that we are but little companies of the Lord, in different boats only, steering for the same port.

Quite an attack was made on the existing evils of the town, paying special respects to the dispensary. I am glad to say that I feel that the people here are beginning to realize that a dispensary is the most demoralizing and damaging thing to churches that ever was instituted. When we essay to follow and serve the Lord and at the same time arm and ally ourselves with the devil, we are as bad off as the Ark and Uzziah were when the Ark of the Covenant rested in the camp of the enemy,—God is gone! And God will stay gone till we rectify ourselves with Him. This meeting has been a decided step in that direction.

The meetings as a whole were inspiring. I think, were we to name the reclamations, we would have to name every one who attended the meetings. The people in general were revived. Many who did not attend felt the Spirit, and since have given expression to their religious impulses.

Last Sunday morning I received twenty-three into church fellowship and baptized one by effusion. There will probably be others to join later. Last night, at the conclusion of the prayer-meeting, at which there were about three hundred people present, I baptized twenty-two by immersion. Nine of them were women and little girls, thirteen were young men and little boys. Some of the little ones were as young as ten. There will be many to unite with the other churches. Praise ye the Lord for all his wondrous works toward the children of men.

H. E. Rountree.

Waverly, Va., Nov. 11, 1909:

Lassiter.

Richard P. Lassiter was born Dec. 28, 1882 and died Oct. 31, 1909, at the age of 26 years, 10 months and 3 days. He leaves to mourn their loss a companion, two children and an only sister. His death was quite a shock to his family and friends, as it was not at all expected. He died at the Protestant Hospital of Norfolk, Va. Truly we do not know what moment death shall claim us. We should ever be in readiness for the call of the Master. Our brother professed faith in Christ at the Brown and Curry meeting held here about eighteen months ago. The funeral services were conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. W. G. Parker of the M. E. Church. The Lord bless and comfort the bereaved ones.

J. W. Harrell.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Rev. C. E. Newman, pastor of our Henderson N. C. Church, is doing an excellent work, and made a fine showing in his annual report to Conference last week.

—Rev. J. W. Wellons is attending the annual conferences and takes a keen interest in all matters pertaining to church and conference work. His health is unusually good.

—Have you in your home a copy of the new edition of "Principles and Government of the Christian Church"? The prices are, cloth 50c., limp cloth 35c., paper 25c. per copy postpaid.

—A wire message last Friday from Rev. C. H. Rowland, Franklin, Va., gave the regrettable information that the condition of his mother, which has not been good of late, was worse, and grave fears are entertained.

—His brethren were glad indeed to greet Rev. W. G. Clements at the Sanford Conference, coming in weakness of body from recent severe and continued illness, but in fulness of heart and hope for the work, and thoroughly alert to all church and conference work.

—The Home Mission Board of the Southern Christian Convention will hold its annual session in Greensboro, N.C., Wednesday, Dec. 1, beginning at 9 A.M. The members of the Board are J. E. West, Chr., J. O. Atkinson, Secty., Revs. H. W. Elder, J. W. Holt, and Brethren K. B. Johnson and Elijah Moffitt.

—Rev. B. S. Crosby, formerly of Clinton Corners, N. Y., writes under date Nov. 8: "Expect to commence my pastorate of the Hilton, N. J., church next week. I am getting quite well acquainted with the brethren of the South by reading The Sun, whose columns are filled with wholesome thoughts. My address after this will be Hilton, N. J., to which continue to send The Sun."

—Bro. J. D. Gunter entertained the whole Conference at Sanford last week, that is to say, provided suitable and happy homes for everybody, saw that guests and hosts were gratified, and did everything else of a cordial kind to make all delegates and visitors at Conference have a good time and feel at home. Bro. Gunter knows how to entertain a Conference all right.

—Dr. Staley's studies in Amos, four papers besides the introduction, beginning in this issue of The Sun, were read before the Eastern Va. Conference at its recent session and all who heard them were greatly enlightened as to the most ancient of the prophets, and were highly edified by the many fruitful truths contained in and growing out of these studies. The Sun has not printed better matter in many a day than these papers which every reader will do well to read and ponder over.

—No report at the Eastern N. C. gave evidence of more faithful and acceptable service the past year than that of Rev. A. T. Banks, McCullers, N. C., his churches paying their conference apportionments, and showing a goodly increase in membership. Bro. Banks is a licentiate, being driven from school by the condition of his eyes which forbids close application to books, but is thoroughly alive to every enterprise of the church, and a consecrated, conscientious man. The Lord is blessing his labors.

—The Eastern Conference was characterized, at its recent session especially, by the large number of intelligent laymen who attended as delegates and took a lively interest in Conference work, not infrequently taking part in the discussions. Dr. Staley, of Suffolk, believes that one of the sad lacks in our church councils is the smallness of the number of laymen who take part, and who are interested enough to show deep concern and speak out in meeting. The movement of our time is to enlist the interest of the laymen in church work. The laymen's missionary movement is in the aim and is bound to come.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Miss Urquhart, teacher of expression and physical culture, and Miss Maggie Isley of the Sophomore Class represented the Elon Y. W. C. A. in the Territorial Conference at Richmond, Virginia. This Conference was held from Thursday until Sunday and was composed of representatives of the Young Woman's Christian Association in South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia.

—The Philologist Literary Society has completed the program for the annual entertainment in the College Chapel Thursday evening, November 25. This is the Thanksgiving occasion and this Society is expected to give a good entertainment, as it has shown its ability to do on previous occasions.

—Mr. J. C. McAdams is putting brick and sand on his lot just north of his present home, preparatory to the building of a handsome residence.

—The new telephone Company has installed two dozen or more 'phones in our town within the last two weeks.

—Dr. Moffitt has rounded out ten thousand dollars on the endowment he is raising. Mr. W. Z. Atkinson, of Cardenas, N.C., signed up last week for the last $500 on the first ten thousand.

—The Senior Class was given a formal reception at West Dormitory Saturday evening by the Junior Class. The occasion was one of dignity and rare social pleasure. The Juniors showed themselves excellent hosts, a part of the culture that every well-bred person cannot well afford to neglect.

—The Francis Asbury Palmer Fund Board, in session last Thursday, appropriated $1,500 to be used in the current expenses of Elon College during the present college year. President Moffitt has received a letter from Dr. Martin Summerbell, President, and a letter also from Dr. Frank S. Child, Secretary of the Board, informing him of the appropriation. The Francis Asbury Palmer Fund is a bequest of about half a million dollars, made by the late Mr. Palmer of New York, who, so far, is the largest single benefactor of Elon College, the College already being in possession of thirty thousand dollars given by him to its endowment. The income from the F. A. Palmer Fund is to be used by the Board for Christian educational purposes wherever, in the judgment of the Board, the best results will follow. The appropriation to Elon was $500 last year. The increased appropriation this year is an evidence of the Board's confidence in Elon, and should encourage the friends of the College.

—Rev. Herbert Scholz, M.A., Class of 1891, Macon, N. C., was made Secretary of the Association of High School Superintendents at Greensboro at the session of the Association Nov. 5 and 6. So we learn from the Greensboro papers; from which source we learn also that this Association covers twenty counties in this part of the State. Professor Scholz spent the night here on his return from the Association and was at our Sunday school opening services Sunday, Nov. 7.

—Mr. Smith, an old friend of Mr. and Miss Wilson, came down from New Hampshire a few days ago and has since been their guest,—his first trip south of Washington. The remarkably fine weather since his arrival has impressed upon him the meaning of the phrase, "The Sunny South."

—Dr. Martin Summerbell's lectures as announced in these notes last week are to be given in the College Chapel at 8 o'clock on the evenings of Dec. 1st, 2nd and 3rd. They will be on the following subjects:

I. "Martin Luther,—His Training and Times."

II. "Luther's Duel with the Papacy."

III. "The Life and Work of John Calvin."

—The Elon delegation at the Eastern North Carolina Conference at Sanford Nov. 11-15 was: Revs. J. W. Wellons and W. C. Wicker, the latter being Secretary, Drs. J. O. Atkinson and E. L. Moffitt, Professor W. A. Harper, and Mr. J. Lee Johnson, a ministerial student. It is likely that several from here will attend the Western Conference which meets in Graham Tuesday to Friday of this week.

—Mr. Hosea D. Lambeth, the Elon railway agent, was married Monday evening, Nov. 8, to Miss Minnie Trollinger of Graham. The happy couple spent Monday night here with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lambeth, parents of the groom, and left Tuesday morning on a bridal trip. They will reside with the parents of the groom.

W. P. Lawrence.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

Introductory.

At the Dendron Conference in 1908, I was requested to deliver a course of Bible studies at the Eastern Virginia Christian Conference in Franklin in 1909. I complied with that request and delivered four talks on the book of Amos. The Conference requested that these addresses be published in "The Christian Sun" and "Herald of Gospel Liberty."

I do not consider them worthy of print and, as they were not prepared with this in view, that they may be the better understood, I will give this letter as an introduction, explaining the outline of my studies and the purpose I had in their delivery.

Amos means burden. Perhaps he was burdened by the sin of the age in which he lived, though it was the most prosperous in the history of Israel. There is no burden comparable to that of soul-interest in the character and destiny of others. Individual worries and responsibilities are small compared with religious concern for the community or the age in which we live. Parents and teachers know that self-concern is light compared with concern for children. Amos had on his heart the weight of a nation, as Jesus bore the sin of the world. God laid this burden on Amos as He laid on Jesus the iniquity of us all.

Amos lived in Judah, but he prophesied in Israel. He undertook a great work without precedent or outside support. God qualifies those whom He calls into His service provided they obey the deepest convictions of their souls. Moreover, Amos not only preached a great gospel, but he also wrote his message. If the prophets and apostles had only spoken and had not written, much of the Bible would be wanting. The Lord said to Habakkuk, "Write the vision and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it." A written sermon may be as much a message as extempore speaking; the important matter is to have a message from God; a plain message that will quicken those who read it into a run for life. The analysis of the Book of Amos gives us: I. The Call of Amos. II. A Message of Judgment against the Nations Adjacent to Israel. III. A Message of Judgment against Israel. IV. The Message Foretells Israel's Restoration. But the Book contains so much material, that it is difficult to analyze the book freely without extending the work too far for our present purpose. The time is too short to go into details and full exposition. My purpose has been to derive from Amos practical themes as the salient elements in his book and to make modern application of the general principles emphasized in his writings.

Amos is one of the oldest of the prophets, only Joel and Jonah dating before him. Jonah was, perhaps, the first, 862 B.C.; Joel came 800 B.C.; then Amos 787 B.C., according to accepted chronology. It is quite certain, therefore, that his message was one from God, as he could not have copied from others. I am inclined to believe that modern sermons are too much from Books and too little from God; and that, no doubt, accounts for the weakness of the pulpit in modern times. I do not mean by this to depreciate the value of learning nor the wise use of books; but it is so easy to breathe the atmosphere of literature rather than the spirit of God. Amos got his message first-hand and gave it hot from his heart. The time of his ministry was during the contemporary reigns of Jereboam II over Israel and Uzziah over Judah. Jeroboam reigned over Israel forty-one years, and came to the throne in the fifteenth year of the reign of Amaziah, King of Judah; he, therefore, reigned fourteen years contemporaneously with Amaziah and twenty-seven years contemporaneously with Uzziah, as kings of Judah. Israel reached the zenith of power during Jeroboam's reign. But power is a poor support for purity and piety; and wealth contains little to maintain religion and justice.

It remained for a country preacher to puncture the inflated corruption of a luxurious and profane nation, and to set fire to the dry stubble of a harvest-field of former yeras of faith and true worship. Careless security rested upon Israel; no political signs indicated danger; and dependence upon God had shifted to confidence in continued prosperity. None dreamed of inward moral decay and ease and luxury submerged religion. It was at a time like this, a time like the last ten years of our own country, that the herdman of Tekoa was called to bear a message to Israel and especially to the house of Jeroboam. Individual Christian work may be done for individual souls; but sermons, prophecies, should be addressed to congregations, communities, officials, nations. There is a public spirit that overwhelms the individual, carries the individual on its current and besets him, and that public spirit must be corrected in order to restore the backslider. It was this large work, his heroic service, that inspired Amos to undertake his God-given task. A nation had prospered, gone astray, and was fast going to self-destruction. Israel was grossly corrupt in manners, morals, and civic life, and God called Amos to sound the alarm in the ears of their king and to give the nation an opportunity to come back to God. The time was ripe for such a message.

The message I derive from the Book of Amos is in four parts and will be sent to The Sun in four letters. I. Manhood and Ministry. II. Religion and Civilization. III. Prosperity and Corruption. IV. Message of Doom or Restoration.

My word to the reader is, to read all of these articles, keeping in mind that they were prepared for delivery and not print, and that they are not critical expositions but practical lessons from this wonderful prophet whose message is up-to-date and abreast with any age in its Social, political, and religious necessities.

W. W. Staley.

—The price of cotton has been raised to fifteen cents, the highest price for thirty years except for a short time in 1904. Mills all over the world are reducing output by shortening time.

—America has the most formidable battle ship in the world. The super-dreadnought, the North Dakota, last week established her claim to be ranked as the fastest battle-ship afloat. In addition to this advantage in speed, she is more heavily armed than any foreign war vessel.

—There may be some comfort in this. "Some writer has traced the origin of a thousand successful men. He found that 300 started as farmers' sons, 200 began as messenger boys, 200 sold newspapers on the street, 100 were apprentices to printers, 100 began life in a factory, 50 began at the bottom of the ladder in railroading. Only 50 of the 1,000 had wealthy parents to start them on the journey of life with the needed capital."

HISTORY OF HOME MISSIONS.

By W. E. McClenny, Suffolk, Va.

The study of the growth of the Home Mission idea in our church is very interesting. It began with the birth of the denomination, for before it was organized it had commenced to send out missionaries to the home field. Soon its youthful growth was retarded, and almost stopped as we will see from the history of the denomination; but during the last three decades the work has taken on new life, and it is now accomplishing great things for us as a denomination. Let us take a retrospective view.

The first mention of Home Mission work that we have been able to find was at the Conference at Piney Grove Church in Chesterfield County, Virginia, August 1793. Mr. O'Kelly in his "Apology" tells us that the people below were very anxious to become acquainted with the principles for which the seceders were contending, and that a committee was appointed to go and instruct the people privately and by public discussions, and then to take the sense of the people, to see if they were willing to accept the principles of the new church. This was done, and in a few weeks, more than one thousand people joined the then new denomination. The region referred to is most likely that now occupied by the Eastern Virginia Christian Conference. This was one year before the Christian Church was thoroughly organized, and so from this we get an idea that the early pioneers were alive to the situation, and improved their opportunities.

When the Christian Church was organized, August 4, 1794, everything was most opportune for Home Mission work. The entire country was stirred over the different kinds of governments that were being advocated, and the "Republican Party" was most numerous in Virginia, and as the Christian Church advocated the same kind of church government that the people did for the state it was a wonderful help to the early Christian preachers in their home mission efforts. The people of this section naturally loved the principles advocated by our fore-fathers, and flocked to her standard. In the little time of fourteen years she had spread her borders from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, thence down the Ohio river, down the Mississippi to a point due west from the southern Georgia line, thence down that line to the Atlantic ocean, and thence back to Philadelphia by water. Rev. William Guirey, who seems to have been one of the best informed men of the denomination at that time, 1808, says that he had labored in all that region, and from the best information he could gather there were 20,000 members south of the Potomac, and east of the Mississippi river. There were members and churches in every state in the territory mentioned and in some sections they were quite numerous. The Christian churches in Pennsylvania we are told were founded by and through the effort of the brethren in Virginia, and were only separated from them by a difference of language, the Pennsylvania church members speaking the German language. Up until the year 1808 the records of the denomination show that the growth of the new church had been most wonderful, perhaps it had not been equalled by any people up to that time. We naturally ask the question, Why was this? Before 1809 all the Christian ministers had preached the principles of the church, and held up her only creed, the Bible, each member was reconciled to his brethren, and they had not let the individuality of the leaders appear. They had spent their time trying to spread the gospel of Jesus, and point men to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world.

During these years there were men like Rev. James O'Kelly who built his church, known by his name in North Carolina, William Glendenning, who built the first Christian Church in Raleigh, North Carolina and called it Bethel, and Francis Williamson who perhaps built the first Christian Church in Hertford County, North Carolina, and preached there himself, while Rev. Burwell Barrett had built Barrett's Meeting House in Southampton County, Virginia, and was organizing the church at Spring Hill, Sussex County. These are only a few instances of men who consecrated their talents, their time, and last but not least, their means to the cause of home missions in the early Christian Church. The account of the General Meeting of 1809 shows that there was a large scope of territory represented, as men from near Washington, D. C. to South Carolina were in the body, and that powerful and efficient work had been done.

Now we come to the sad part of the picture, when Home Missions received a stunning blow from which it barely recovered in fifty years. The denomination divided, and went to disputing with one another, and as Christ said, a "house divided against itself cannot stand," so the Christian Church divided could not stand the fiery darts of evil. Before 1809 it appears that everything was in harmony and union. This year a union with the brethren in New England was effected and different opinions began to crop out concerning the methods of administering the ordinances of the church, and other theological questions. When this state of affairs was reached the other denominations began to misrepresent the position of the new church, and it was not long before there was almost total confusion in the ranks of the once quiet and hard working body of Christians. The leaders each wanted to have their own way in non-essentials, and were not willing to yield for the sake of peace. One division was followed by another, and all the enterprises of the churches began to lag, and soon the weak churches began to die, and the territory of the church commenced to swivel.

In the account of the General Meeting of 1811 there is no mention made of any of the enterprises of the church that conduce to its health and growth. It was nothing more than a great camp meeting held at a church, with no thought of strengthening the now weakened church. Education, the dynamo of efficient church work, was not mentioned. Home missions were not touched, foreign missions were not thought of.

For some time before this the ministers had endeavored to get all denominations to unite on the one broad platform with the Bible as a creed, and had paid little attention to organizing churches. When they found that this could not be accomplished they changed their tactics, and went hither and thither holding revival meetings, but when people were converted and baptized they were not organized into churches, and they either joined some other church or went back to the world.

The record we have of the Eastern Virginia Conference in 1818 is blank on all the subjects mentioned above, and more there was very little plan, order or system to the conference. The seventh session of this conference has very little to say regarding the supplying of the churches with pastors, and nothing in missions, home or foreign, education, publication, etc. At the eighth session held at Union, only a few miles from here a constitution was to be adopted, but we have not seen a copy of this.

From the year 1812 to the year 1844 there was a constant disintegration in our beloved church, for its members as said by one had "divided and subdivided until you could hardly find two of them that thought alike." These were the dark years for our church and it seemed at times that the last ray of hope had set to rise no more, and that it would only be a few years before the Christian Church would only be known on the page of history.

During these years while our people were dividing and sub-dividing, Rev. Alexander Campbell, the founder of the Disciples of Christ began to do aggressive work in the South, and his ranks were constantly recruited from the weak churches in our denomination, and this is one of the reasons, I believe, why that denomination had such a phenomenal growth during its early years. It was no fault of the Campbellites, for had they not done the work some one else would. It was the fault of the Christian Church, for while they were disputing over the methods of how to baptize, and who was to hold the highest place in the church, Mr. Campbell and his followers were preaching, and baptizing by immersion, and organizing their converts into churches in which the new members might work.

A bright star of hope arose in 1833 when it was proposed to begin the publication of a church newspaper, but it took eleven years for this star to get above the horizon, and the first issue of the paper to come from the press, The Christian Sun in 1844. Soon another important character appears on the scene of action in the person of Rev. William B. Wellons, D.D., a man of broad views, and comprehensive ideas, and one who always stood for concentration and organization. It was not long after these appear before the few scattered, disorganized, and weak churches began to rally around the one common standard, The Christian Sun, and soon we see new life in the old churches, and some new ones were organized. Everything in the early fifties seemed to be propitious for another stride forward, after so long a period of seeming semi-consciousness. Evangelists like the Rev. Isaac N. Walter were again in the field, and thousands were added from year to year.

But the war clouds were gathering thick and fast, and soon broke out in the bloody struggle from 1861 to 1865. During these years there was only one conference that tried to hold yearly meetings, and they were very weak, for all the men were in the field wearing the gray under the immortal Jackson and Lee. When the smoke of battle had cleared away, there was nothing but poverty, sadness and desolation to be seen where a few years before peace, plenty, happiness and prosperity had abounded. Our churches in many cases had been used for various purposes by both armies, and were in a dilapidated condition, the members were scattered, wounded, disheartened or killed, and it was enough to make any but the strongest hearts quiver to behold such a scene of desolation. Even the lamented Dr. Wellons was almost disheartened and for some time knew not what to do.

But he and his friends like true Southerners arose boldly four square to every wind of difficulty that arose, and soon showed that they were not to be overcome by mere trifles. The standard, "The Christian Sun," was again raised by the noble standard bearer, Dr. Wellons, and in a few years the church again commenced to show signs of revivification, and all the departments of the church were more thoroughly organized than they had ever been before. Before we were over the ill effects of a bloody fraternal war the department of Home Missions was again at work though in a feeble way, and new churches were being organized, and new houses built.

About the time of the war the church began to give more attention to the matter of educating the ministry, and this was one thing that helped to save the church at the crisis we have just mentioned. Ever since there has been more and more attention paid to this phase of church work, and it has had a telling effect for good on our home mission department.

From the Annual of 1879 we find that most of the conferences had Home Mission departments, and more that they were doing something in their line. Some of these reports show that they were doing very effective work for those times, and that there was a lack of ministers at that day.

The subject of an educated ministry and better support for the ministry was discussed at almost every conference and convention, and more young men began to take up the holy calling. This has had a most important bearing on Home Missions in our territory; for with every class of ministers that had been licensed to preach by our conference, there have been new churches organized and old ones have been revived.

From 1880 to the present day we have enjoyed a fairly good growth for a church of our size and means, and especially when we consider what we have been through in the past. We have as a denomination paid more attention to the education of the ministry, and this has brought about a better support for it, and today we have a better equipped ministry, and a more intelligent laity, than ever before, and in the meantime Providence has smiled on our section, and as a rule we are more able financially to carry the work forward than we have ever been before.

In 1887 we had a Home Mission Department with a secretary who devoted a part of his time to this work, and in that year Rev. R. A. Ricks was commissioned by this body to write a history of Home Missions in this conference for the past ten years, 1877-1887, but the body realized that not much had been done for they limited him to fifteen pages of foolscap paper for his history. This was done, and two thousand copies were printed for gratuitous distribution.

We have since entered a few cities and towns, and now we are prepared to offer a church home to the young men and women who leave the country and go to these cities and towns to make their fortunes in the world. Before this time we had been a rural denomination and had paid but little attention to the towns and cities. We can now see our mistake, and may we in the future profit by it. The minutes of our conference will show any one what we are now doing and while it is not as much we ought to do, it is so much more than we were doing a few years ago that we ought to feel greatly encouraged.

So much for the past. Let us change about and face the future to see what she holds in store for us. Let us try to look with the inspired eye, and then let us not be disobedient to the heavenly vision.

In the original territory of the Christian Church South there is yet room for a great deal of missionary effort. Even from where we now sit to Henderson, North Carolina, there is not a village nor a town where a Christian Church spire rises. We may go from here to Key West, Florida, and we will find only a few churches in North Carolina of our name. In all of Virginia north of the James river and east of the Blue Ridge mountains you will find only one or two churches of ours. From Petersburg to Danville, and thence back to the Allegheny mountains you will find none of our churches. The great mountain regions of the South with her stalwart sons and daughters is a most inviting field. These are good blooded people, and have served their country well on every occasion. In almost every church paper, except ours, we see accounts of the work that is being done in this section, and accounts of the needs of the people and how they live. But says some one, Is this section worthy of missionary effort? It appears to be in the eyes of other denominations, and often from the city pulpits in the North we might hear sermons telling of the needs of the Southern mountaineers. These people are our countrymen, they are our neighbors, and we can do more for their betterment, perhaps, than any other people.

We need to go into more cities and towns and villages in our own territory
(Continued on page sixteen.)

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....	$1.50
Six Months .....	.75
Four Months .....	.50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.

Sunday, November 21.

The Lord taketh pleasure in his people; He will beautify the meek with salvation.—Psalm 149:4.

The Lord takes pleasure in the just,

Whom sinners treat with scorn;
The meek, that lie despised in dust,
Salvation shall adorn.

They shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels.—Mal. 3:17.

Monday, November 22.

This is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life.—1 Jno. 2:25. Nor death nor hell shall e'er remove

His favorites from his breast;
In the dear bosom of his love

They shall forever rest.

This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent.—John 17:3.

Tuesday, November 23.

The people shall be willing in the day of thy power.—Psalm 110:3.

“Come to me,” the Savior cries;

“Lord, I come,” my heart replies;

“Speak the word, and it is done;

Draw me, Lord, and I shall run.”

No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him; and I will raise him up at the last day.—John 6:44.

Wednesday, November 24.

He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust; his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.—Psalm 91:4.

He that hath made his refuge God
Shall find a most secure abode;
Shall walk all day beneath his shade,
And there at night shall rest his head.

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God, and in him will I trust.—Psalm 91:2.

Thursday, November 25.

I will ransom them from the power of the grave, I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction.—Hosea 13:14.

Say, Live forever, wondrous King,

Born to redeem and strong to save;

Then ask the monster, Where is thy sting?

And where is thy victory, boasting grave?

Death is swallowed up in victory. O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?—1 Cor. 15:54,55.

Friday, November 26.

Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.—Psalm 116:15.

The graves of all his saints he blessed,

And softened every bed:

Where should the dying members rest,

But with the dying Head!

Them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.—1 Thess. 4:14.

Saturday, November 27.

Our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death.—Psalm 68:20.

Our Savior, Advocate and Friend,

On thee our lives and souls depend;

The keys of death and worlds unseen

Firm in thy hands have ever been:

Thy pierced hands our feet shall lead

Safe in thy steps through death's dark shade.

I am he that liveth and was dead; and behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and death.—Rev. 1:18.

THE EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA.

The most energetic and strenuous of the conferences is the Eastern. From the time the gavel falls for opening till benediction for closing there is something doing. This may be because Rev. J. L. Foster, who is a bunch of restless energy, presided, or because the conference is composed of some very vigorous and energetic young men, such as Revs. J. D. Wicker, W. G. Clements and G. R. Underwood, for instance. Busy and alert young men these. No wonder their conference is alert and active. And then this is one of our youngest conferences, and is catching up—if it ever was behind.

Conference was held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, but they decided not to do that again. Delegates did not know whether to go home Saturday or wait till Monday, after the usual moral reform resolution on Sunday trains was adopted, and so there was doubt and difficulty, but not many delegates, after early Saturday morning. Many of the ministers remained over Sunday, however, and occupied the various pulpits of the city.

Rev. J. L. Foster presided over the sessions, Rev. W. C. Wicker kept the records, and Bro. J. D. Ballentine received the money and kept the accounts—has done so and perfectly for years. We were not present first day, but a motion prevailed that Bro. Geo. T. Whitaker furnish a copy of his annual address to be published in The Sun, and readers may expect to see this in these columns shortly. Rev. W. C. Wicker, Chr., read the report on Education, highly commending Elon College, and urging loyal support, both with means and patronage, to this institution. President Moffitt made an able address and presented an earnest plea in behalf of the endowment which he is now raising. The Report on Religious Literature laid emphasis upon the value of good books, the Bible especially, in the home, recommended The Sun as worthy a place in every home and urged loyal support both of this, of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, and resolved that a representative of The Sun should be appointed in every church. Several new subscribers obtained, and pledges from many to assist materially in enlarging the present subscription list. Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., preached a fine sermon on Foreign Missions, taking as basis of his remarks Isaiah 62:1, “For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace” etc. Dr. Barrett said in part:

“When we oppose foreign missions we do not oppose what the minister says, but what Christ stood for and was His plainest and most emphatic demand. The text is full of the missionary spirit. It is prophetic of the kingdom of Christ. Israel had been a very wayward people. Time has come when prophet declares what shall be when Christ comes. A new order and kingdom, What we need is to turn to the Lord's way. Direction of armies largely dependent upon leader. Napoleon's generals at Waterloo did not understand his directions. Much of our failure is due to misunderstanding of divine directions. Wherever the power of God is made manifest in the world, men take notice of its wonder and power. The church needs to be so thoroughly in touch with Christ that it will reflect His light. “He hath clothed me with the garments of salvation.” Ready to go. “He hath covered me with the robe of righteousness.” So the church may be so beautiful in this life and in the light of His love that we may attract the world with our beauty. A church that is not giving out the light, sending out the gospel, is not a church, save in name. A church should be clothed in righteousness and shine. We may be bedecked with the ornaments of righteousness.

God said, "tell the people to give me no rest—till He should shine forth in Jerusalem." When men in sin shall see the fulness of life, the beauty of it in us, they will want it, will come and ask for it. We must have the dawning of the Christian morning in our home church. This is a lamp that burns—glows with a light for Christ. Then the light from us, from Christ, shall go out into foreign fields. We are to give God no rest (verses 6 and 7) until we stand in the dawning of the morning of Christian life—till He make Jerusalem a praise in the earth. The Lord's way is to stir us up that we may not let Him rest.

Every man and woman under the dispensation of Christ has the right to have the gospel preached unto them. God has made it the duty of the church to give the gospel to every creature. Human weakness is in the way? But divine strength more than overcomes our weakness. We have been almost a non-missionary church.

Four reasons why we must be a missionary church:

1. Our spiritual prosperity depends upon our closeness of relationship with Christ, as individual Christians.

2. His abiding presence with us depends upon our obeying His commands, and He has said, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

3. His will that the church shall be zealously active in spreading His Gospel—sending the message to all the world.

4. Because indifference on the part of the church means the forfeiture of His presence, which means a dead church. A dead man cannot please or help. The missionary effort takes out all selfishness. For the sake of the home work we must be a missionary people—look to the foreign field. He who opposes foreign, opposes home work.

Love of God constrains us. Sweeps us out. Forces us on—when our wills and spirits are right.

For the sake of the heathen world we are compelled to be a missionary people. They are in darkness, in want, in need.

For the glory of God through Christ we must be a missionary people. Who else can go for Christ than His people? He has no other plans for saving the world than through His people. A million people are depending upon us. The Christian Church is expected to give the gospel to a million. The apportionment has been made and this number falls to our lot.

Dr. Barrett is attending the Conference in the interest of the Herald of Gospel Liberty and other publications of the C. P. A., and adds much by sermons, public addresses and counsel to the interest of the meetings. A feature of the Conference was an address on Saturday night by Prof. W. A. Harper on "Christian Endeavor, How To Make It Go." The address was thoroughly practical, of deep interest, and is likely to result in the organization of several societies within the bounds of the Conference. Prof. Harper organized two C. E. Societies at the Christian Church Sunday and spoke at eleven o'clock the same day to the young people at the Methodist Church. Bro. J. Lee Johnson passed the examination successfully and was licensed, at the Christian church, Sunday, 11 A.M., to preach. Bro. Johnson is a student in Elon College and bears promise of becoming a useful and successful minister.

Rev. H. F. Wolfe, formerly of the United Brethren Church of Ohio, now in the bounds of the Eastern, made application to become an elder in the Conference and upon examination was admitted. Bro. Wolfe impresses one as a man of piety, devotion, fitness and capability. He is well recommended, is of pleasing address, affable manner, and is ready to take pastoral work in churches desiring his services. His address is Rock Branch, N. C.

Rev. W. S. Long, D.D., preached to a large audience Friday evening of Conference, and will serve as pastor of our Sanford Church the ensuing year. The next session of Conference will be held at New Elam in Chatham Co., and Rev. C. E. Newman is to deliver the annual address.

A FAITHFUL PASTOR. FORTUNATE PEOPLE.

We know of no more beautiful relationship existing between pastor and people than that of our Church at Suffolk, Va. Rev. W. W. Staley, D.D., has labored there continuously for twenty-seven years, and is today more strongly entrenched in the hearts and affections of his people than ever before. No facts or figures can give even an estimate of what has been accomplished for righteousness, peace and truth in this length of time. Under his ever faithful pastoral services the work has had wonderful growth, and the outlook for greater things yet, was never brighter than today. Here is some history which will interest any reader who admires continuous growth and rapid development.

It is from the Suffolk correspondent of The Virginian-Pilot dated Nov. 8:

On Sunday, which was the beginning of his 28th consecutive year as pastor of the Suffolk Christian church, Dr. W. W. Staley gave some interesting facts in connection with the growth and development of his charge, not only during his own years of service, but since the foundation of the church in 1860.

This church was organized 49 years ago with a membership of 25 persons by Rev. W. B. Wellons. It now has 726 members, 576 members of the Sunday school; church property valued at $50,000, and an expense account during the present year of $6,230. The average amount raised during the 27 years of Dr. Staley's service is $4,000.

Of the 25 charter members of the church at its organization 49 years ago, three are yet alive—Mrs. Sarah E. Norfleet, William T. Duke and James A. Turrentine. The latter belongs to the Christian church at Burlington, N. C., the two others belong to the Suffolk church.

There was one charter member present to hear Dr. Staley Sunday—William T. Duke, a still active citizen, who walks in from his home near Magnolia.

During all the 49 years of the church it has had but four pastors—Rev. W. B. Wellons, who in 16 years received 262 new members; Rev. Jesse T. Whitely, who in three years received 22 members; Rev. W. T. Walker, who in three years received thirty members, and Dr. Staley, who in 27 years received 773 members.

There have been four treasurers—B. F. Cutchin, James M. Caulk, P. J. Kernodle and H. Woodward; seven secretaries—Jesse T. Whitely, Thomas H. Hines, James R. Baker, B. F. Cutchin, H. M. Parker, John Monell and John King, and five Sunday school superintendents—J. A. Turrentine, Robert D. Brinkley, Maj. D. B. Dunbar, P. J. Kernodle and C. A. Shoop.

The committee which first waited on Dr. Staley in connection with securing his services was composed of Jacob Lawshe, John F. Lotzia and James W. Johnson.

Dr. Staley's first year's salary in Suffolk was $600, which was less than he was receiving in Graham, N. C. He now receives $1,800.

During 27 years 110 members have died, an average of four per year. Dr. Staley has buried 99 of them and about five times as many other persons outside the church membership.

In telling of the church history, Dr. Staley said:

"My stay among you as your pastor for 27 years is proof of mutual confidence and appreciation. I could not help loving a people so uniformly kind to me, and I would not if I could."

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week	$4,000.51
Dues:
Willie Jackson Everett .$.25
Nannie Bell Benton . . . . .10
Baird Moffitt . . . . .25
Catherine Moffitt . . . . .25
J. Newman Denton . . . . .10
S. E. Denton, Jr. . . . .10
J. W. White . . . . .10
Monthly S. S. Offering:
Suffolk, Va. . . . .14.49
Linville, Va. . . . .1.16
Catawba Springs, N. C. . . . .2.70
Special Offering:
F. M. Carlton, Durham, 5.00
Mrs. R. A. Garrett, Danville, Va. . . . .25
Mrs. Mattie Gunter . . . . .50
Mrs. W. D. Underwood . . . . .25
Amt. 42nd week . . . . .25.50
Total . . . . .	$4,026.01

My Dear Children:—

The warm days still linger, and I know many of you are enjoying school because it is such comfortable weather in which to go. If Old Santa does not look out his reindeer will have no ice to ride over when he comes with his good things Christmas.

Thanksgiving and then Christmas! Already some of the cousins are writing of dear old Santa, but lets talk Thanksgiving now, and give our offerings so that the Treasury at the Orphanage will be so full as to pay all debts; then what a Merry Christmas we all can enjoy!

Remember, dear children, and work accordingly.

We have to report this week: Mrs. Hepsy Barber, Elon College. N. C., R. F. D. 1, 1 quilt. She is 85 years old and remembers the orphans with this nice gift.

Mr. J. J. Branch, Auburn, N. C., sends 4 bushels of sweet potatoes. We thank these kind friends very much.

Very cordially,

Uncle Jim.

Golden, N. C., Nov. 1, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I may be a little late, but I am sure that it will do good all the same; so find my November dues in this little note.

Last Saturday night we boys in the Institute and some of the ones in the neighborhood went over to Mr. John Yelton's house and shucked corn until half past eleven. Then we went into the house and had a midnight lunch. We all had a very good time. I wish you and others could have been there.

The school that I go to is in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and it is in the western part of this state. We have a very fine manager and also teachers. It is a delightful place and I am sure if you should be out this way, that they would be very glad to see you and all.

We are having very fine weather and although it has been cloudy, I hope all will have a good Thanksgiving. I must close now, as the bell is ringing for us to put our lights out.

I remain yours in His name,

J. W. White.

Golden Valley Institute, Rutherford Co., Golden, N. C.

Glad you are enjoying your school so much, John, and remembering the orphans as you study. Hope to meet you personally some day.

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 8, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

This is my second letter. I guess you had a fine time on your trip to Ala. I guess the cousins are all going to school. Wish they could have been here Friday. It was Educational Day. There were over 10,000 school children in the parade. We had a nice time.

I will close for this time with love to the cousins. Enclosed please find my dime.

Your loving niece,

Nannie Bell Benton.

Guess you did have a good time, Nannie Bell, in the parade. A pretty sight I am sure.

Holland, Va., Nov. 8, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am here with uncle and auntie for a few days. They went to Conference and I went home with them. I am enjoying myself fine. I brought my books so I could keep up with my studies. Mama is going to leave Franklin next week, so when I start to school again it will be to a new teacher. I don't want to go.

Enclosed please find ten cents for November and fifteen cents for Thanksgiving.

Your loving little niece,

Willie Jackson Everett.

Guess you will find your new teacher and school work pleasant, Willie. So make up your mind to enjoy them.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist

FOSTER BUILDING,
Burlington, N. C.

MEDICINE.

We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Burlington, N. C.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braraman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

CANCER CAN BE CURED.

Personal or Home Treatment. Both successful. Scores of testimonials, from persons who gladly write to those now suffering, all tell of permanent cures. My Mild Combination Treatment destroys growth and eliminates the disease from the system. Free book "Cancer and Its Cure" and 125-page book of testimonials from cured patients in all parts of the country. No matter how serious your case, how many operations you have had, or what treatment you have taken, don't give up hope, but write at once. Dr. Johnson Remedy Co., 125 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo. Physicians treated free.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

PRINT Your Own
Cards, circulars, book, newspaper. Press $5. Larder $18. Rotary $60. Save money. Print for others big profit. All easy, rules sent. Write factory for press catalog, TYPE, paper, etc.
The Press Co., Moridon, Ct.

Pine Apple, Ala., Oct. 31, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We wanted to go to Conference even more when we heard that you would be there, but we could not. I doubt that we could have appreciated even the sermons, for although we love so much to go to Sunday school, we often get restless and last Sunday little brother sang "Bye Baby Bunting" during prayer. He promises not to do such again, so good Supt. Jackson forgave him.

Love and dimes.

Fondly,

J. Newman Denton.

S. E. Denton, Jr.

So sorry not to have seen you, children. Little folks cannot be expected to behave like their elders, so you need not be discouraged.

Asheboro, N. C., Nov. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

It has been such a long time since I wrote you, I guess you think I have forgotten the Band. I have started to school now, so I hope it will not be long before I can write you myself; then I guess I can be more prompt in sending my letters.

Well, I had such a nice summer and now I am beginning to think of Santa and the time for snow-falling. It's hard to know what season I like best. When I was in Va. with aunties I thought it fine to go to the big ocean and play in the great big water and make sand houses on the shore. I also went to Norfolk to see my uncles and thought the big boats were so nice. I think I should love to live there when I am a man.

Enclosed find fifty cents for the Band.

Your fond little friends,

Baird and Catherine Moffitt.

We have missed your letters, little folks, very much, but when they come we see you are still interested in helping to care for the orphan children.

THANKSGIVING.

Dear Brethren and Sisters:—

The time has arrived when we shall make our free-will offerings unto the Lord's cause as an expression of gratitude to God for his goodness to us in 1909, and for His sustaining grace which has been over us all our lives. How great shall our expression be? What amount of gratitude have we to Him, expressed in dollars and cents? This is the month of our Fourth Annual Thanksgiving Offering for the Christian Orphanage. Thanksgiving envelopes have been delivered by mail and by delegates at Conferences to Virginia Valley, Alabama, Georgia and Alabama and Eastern, Va.

How Charming Homes Are Decorated Designs and Stencils Free

We have issued a book on wall decorations, picturing and describing the effects now in vogue. It will show you the charming ideas now in fashion.

The book also offers to furnish you free special water color designs adapted to your particular rooms.

It also offers out stencils, without any charge, for producing the designs we suggest.

Before you decorate any room be sure to ask for this book. It is free.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

Alabastined walls are now the general vogue, in cottage and mansion alike. There is nothing so charming, so healthful, so cheap. Wall paper and kalsomine are now out of fashion.

Alabastine is a brilliant powder made from alabaster rock. It comes in packages, in many tints and white. It is mixed with cold water and applied with a brush. It does not rub off.

The tints are combined, or applied with stencils, to create a myriad artistic effects.

Let us show you how modern homes use them, and how to adapt them to yours. Mail us this coupon to-day for our book and our offers. (10)

Alabastine Co., Dept. 49, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to

_____

_____

We hope that these churches with their pastors will take up this great work at once, as we need help the first of December. Other churches will be supplied with envelopes as their respective Conferences are held; then we hope all pastors and all churches will give us their united effort to raise a large offering. The orphan child is the most worthy object of Christian charity. On this great Thanksgiving Day let us remember that they who give to the Lord's poor lendeth unto the Lord, and surely the Lord is able to bring rich returns to us for all we give unto His cause.

We hope many will report promptly. Send all money by check, postoffice order or registered letter.

Yours with gratitude for the past help.

Jas. L. Foster,

Superintendent.

LYON & HEALY'S GOOD CHURCH ORGANS

At Reasonable Prices

We make a specialty of large reed organs, voiced to closely resemble pipe organs. These church organs will be found much richer in effects than any cheap pipe organ.

Let us tell you what our Cathedral Organ will furnish in the way of musical effects.

Styles from $100 to $500. Payments spread over 2 years when desired.

Fine Folding Organs $37.50; Fine Parlor Organs $45; Good Second-hand Organs at half price. Write for catalog. (44)

LYON & HEALY, 10 Adams St., Chicago

Chicago; Portland, Ore.; Watbury, Conn.; Winnipeg, Canada.

MANTEL LAMP CO. OF AMERICA, DEPT. 127

Free or single for Agency Proposition. THE

Ask our nearest office how you can get a lamp held. Our Sunbeam Burners fit other lamps in every home. Every lamp guaranteed. Sold in revolutionizing lighting everywhere. Needed

AGENTS MAKE BIG MONEY

Simple, efficient, clean, safe and durable.

Light from clean gas that gives a light more brilliant than any other.

Burning common kerosene the ALADDIN MANTLE

FROM KEROSENE COAL OIL

A FLOOD OF LIGHT

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

Watchword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—THE PLEDGE.

A pledge is not a creed. It is not a promise to believe something, but to do and to be something. The Christian Endeavor pledge ought not to be called a pledge at all, but rather a covenant. The signer promises Christ, that by His help, he will do certain things; he does not make the pledge to the Society, but to Christ. Furthermore the Christian Endeavor pledge differs from all other pledges in that the one who takes it does not leave the pledge with the Society's Secretary, but takes it home with him, thus showing again that it is an agreement between the signer and his Master. Therefore, I repeat, it is rather a covenant than a pledge. For proof that it is biblical, scriptural and Christian to make such a covenant, see Gen. 9:15; Ex. 34:28; Num. 18:19; 2 Chr. 13:15; 2 Chr. 25:15; Acts 3:25; Rom. 9:4; Eph. 2:12; Heb. 8:6 and many other places in sacred writ.

Then again, there is no stereotyped form of Christian Endeavor pledge. That adopted by the parent society in 1881 has been the one most generally used, though there are known to be hundreds of different forms of the pledge. The United Society has collected the most generally prevalent and popular pledges and published them in pamphlet form, which pamphlet I will with pleasure mail free of charge to all who desire it. If none of these forms is exactly suited to your needs, why, exercise your liberty in Christ and write one that will be acceptable. It is not absolutely necessary that all members of the same Society should sign the pledge, though it is better so, because of the great advantage in making it prominent and reciting it in concert from memory on consecration evenings. Adopt the pledge that seems most suited to your needs, writing a new one outright if it appears wisest, and then with Christ's help try to live it in your lives.

Now a word as to the benefit of such a pledge. The chief benefit is that it holds up a lofty ideal of the Christian life and a noble view of Christian service. If an ideal is valuable, then the pledge is valuable. If you have no ideal in Christian work, the pledge will furnish you with one. I believe the reason why so few people do Christian work is that they are ignorant of what to do, of what is expected of them. The pledge will assist here and so is worth while. A second benefit is that it gives system to your Christian work. I think I need not try to prove to the thoughtful readers of these columns the value of system in every thing. The great hindrance to our progress as a people has been and is our lack of system, of co-operation with each other and with our Lord and Master. A third (and with this we stop for this time, though there are many others) advantage is the esprit de corps, the spirit of friendly emulation in Christ's service, which comes of the consciousness that we are doing our Father's will in cooperation with our fellows and that we are all striving to attain and realize the same noble ends. When I know that you are striving to achieve the same conquest in Christian work that I am, it helps me wonderfully to press forward. It is true that it is a good thing to be compassed about by a great crowd of witnesses in a race, but the thing that makes the race is the rivalry of the racers themselves. You have but to visit a church with an active Christian Endeavor Society to realize the truth of what has here been said of the value of the pledge.

The Interest Grows.

It is with pleasure that we note the growing interest in Christian Endeavor in our Church. The brethren and the sisters too, are writing us, telling what their plans are and asking for suggestions and literature, which we are always glad to send. The probability is that we shall report within a week or two three new-formed Societies, at Crittenden, Va., Roanoke, Ala., and Hobson, Va. From all three of these points we have had most encouraging letters and to all of them we have sent literature and made suggestions. We will gladly do the same for every church in the bounds of our Brotherhood.

Another sign of the general interest in the young people's work is to be found in the space allotted it in the approaching Conference programs. Besides giving time to the Sunday school and its special work, the Eastern North Carolina Conference will have a special address on Christian Endeavor. The Western Conference gives time likewise to Sunday schools and has not only an address on Christian Endeavor, but also a model Christian Endeavor prayer meeting. The North Carolina and Virginia Conference will have an open parliament on the value of the auxiliaries of the Church in the financial, moral, and spiritual upbuilding of the Kingdom and an address on the watchword of the Young People's Convention, these two exercises coming at different sessions of the Conference. We do not know what attention was given this movement by the Georgia and Alabama Conferences or by the Eastern Virginia Conference, but we feel sure that the Annual will show large interest in these progressive bodies also. Verily we are in the midst of a great forward movement in church work. I pray the Lord of the harvest to lead and guide that our efforts may be wise and effective!

C. E. TOPIC FOR NOVEMBER 21—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

The Blessings of a Thankful Heart.

Neh. 8:8-12.

Thanksgiving Service

It is true our Thanksgiving Service will come four days early, but perhaps it is better thus than after. If possible, change the date of the meeting till Thursday, or give the program over again then. It sometimes pays to change the time as well as the place of the meeting.

The Leader.—The leader should be the largest-hearted member of the Society, one whose life shows him or her to be grateful for the blessings God has bestowed. The leader should read one Bible passage and make suitable comment.

Written Work.—Assign for three-minute essays one or more of the following subjects: Origin of Thanksgiving Day; Duty of Being Thankful; Why the American People Should be Thankful; How to Spend Thanksgiving Day.

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Scripture References.—(To be handed out only one verse or portion to an individual, but not specifically called for, coming in under the head of voluntary participation):

God's Call to Joy, Matt. 2:10; Luke 10:17; Ps. 40:8.

Gratitude, Ps. 107:22; Luke 17:16; Acts 28:15.

Giving Thanks, Ps. 50:14; Eph. 5:20; I Tim. 4:4.

Our Motive, 2 Cor. 5:14-15.

Our Duty, I Pet. 2:17.

Our Adorning, I Pet. 3:3-4.

Our Rule of Life, I Pet. 4:8-9.

What We Need, 2 Pet. 1:5-8.

As Followers of God, I Pet. 3:13.

How to Live, I Pet. 3:8-9.

Thanksgiving in all things, Col. 3:12-17.

Question Spurs.—(To be handed out, but not specifically called for, allowing to come in under voluntary participation):

How do our words show our gratitude?

How do our deeds show our gratitude?

How do our countenances show our gratitude?

How can we cultivate gratitude?

How can we help others to become grateful?

What are the blessings of thankfulness? (Give to several).

What are the evils attendant on ingratitude?

What should our Society be thankful for? (Give to several).

What should I be thankful for? (Give to several).

Suggested Program.

1. Two or three songs of gratitude.
2. Voluntary Prayers.
3. Scripture.
4. Leader's remarks.
5. A song. A prayer.
6. Assigned essay work.
7. Voluntary participation, including Scripture References and Question Spurs.
8. Chain of prayer.
9. Pastor's five minutes.
10. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

—One of the greatest tragedies in the long list of nine horrors occurred at the mine of the St. Paul Coal Company at Cherry, Illinois, Nov. 13. 400 men lost their lives, it is estimated.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

A PURITAN CAPTAIN

BY EMMANUEL C. CHARLTON, PH. D.

This thrilling tale of sea adventure is based on actual experience and is told in the author's own natural manner, which is made the more impressive because of his long experience as a seaman, and Christian worker among his fellow-craftsmen. The story is specially attractive to all classes. The moral is of a high character. There is not a dull chapter in it.

This beautifully bound book, printed from good, clear type, on first quality paper, containing nearly 270 pages, sold for $1.00. Address all orders to

J. N. HESS

Agent of the

Christian Publishing Association

DAYTON, OHIO

ON RECEIPT OF $1 ONLY

We will ship you this splendid ball-bearing, high arm, drop head sewing machine, no matter where you live. On its arrival at your freight station examine it carefully and, if fully satisfied, pay the freight agent the balance due, $14.75. Then try it for 60 days in your home, and you may return it any time within that period if not satisfactory, and we will promptly refund all money and freight charges paid by you. We ask the one dollar simply to keep away idle inquirers. This beautiful machine usually sells for $35.00, but to advertise it widely we have temporarily reduced the price to $15.75, which includes all attachments.

THINK OF IT!
A $35.00 Machine

For $15.75

No picture can do justice to this beautiful machine. We want you to see it and try it at our expense.

and 60 days trial. Can you imagine a fairer offer than this? This elegant machine has all modern improvements with full ball-bearings, patent belt-replacer and a most attractive five-drawer, golden oak stand. A written guarantee for ten years goes with each machine. Customers in the West will have the machine shipped them from our factory in Illinois to save time and freight. Our reference is the advertising manager of this paper, with whom we are personally acquainted, or the Bank of Richmond, Va., one of the largest institutions in the South. They will tell you we always keep our promises. Send us $1.00 to-day while this offer is open.

The Spotless Co., Inc.

130 Shockoe Square,
RICHMOND, VA.

"The South's Mail Order House."

about an organ

Think Right

A well-built organ will last a lifetime. A few dollars more makes an Estey cheaper than its cheapest competitor

ESTEY ORGAN COMPANY
Makers of Pipe and Reed Organs
BRATTLEBORO, VT.
Send for catalogue

750 BIBLE AND GOSPEL STUDIES

BOOK OF 750 BIBLE STUDIES

Brief Complete Outlines of Sermons, Talks, Addresses, for Students, Teachers, Preachers. Covering Old and New Testaments. Ready Help for Leading all Meetings. Many Important and Puzzling Questions Answered. Apt References and Short Explanations. All Subjects Covered. Vest Pocket size, 128 pages. Cloth 25c, Morocco 35c, post-paid. Stamps Taken. Agents Wanted.

GEO. W. NOBLE, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

Gibbes
No. 2
Swing Saw

Swing Cut-Off Saw

Expertly built of cast-iron and steel combined, cannot spring or twist. It is a smooth running machine, built for hard service and with its three drop supporters so constructed as to insure perfect cutting. An ideal Saw at a moderate price.

Write for catalogue.

Gibbes Machinery Co.
Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery"
—All Kinds.—All Value.
Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.

P. M.	A. M.	STATIONS.	A. M.	P. M.
4:15	8:00	Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50	7:25
4:25	8:10	Caraleigh Lv.	10:40	7:10
4:48	8:35	McCullers	10:22	6:43
4:53	8:40	Banks	10:17	6:37
5:04	8:52	Willow Spgs.	10:09	6:25
5:20	9:04	Varina	10:00	6:14
5:28	9:14	Fuquay Spgs.	9:50	6:05
5:50	9:35	Chalybeate	9:35	5:50
5:55	9:40	Kipling	9:28	5:43
6:08	9:53	Cape Fear	9:16	5:25
6:15	10:00	Lillington	9:11	5:19
6:23	10:08	Harnett	9:01	5:08
6:28	10:13	Bunlevel	8:55	5:02
6:38	10:23	Linden	8:45	4:52
6:49	10:34	Lane	8:33	4:40
6:54	10:39	Slocomb	8:28	4:35
7:10	10:55	Tokay	8:12	4:17
7:20	11:05	A.C.L. Junc.	8:05	4:10
7:25	11:10	Ar. Fayetteville Lv.	8:00	4:05

J. A. Mills, Pres.
Raleigh, N. C.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S PASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

One Pill

It is impossible to be well, simply impossible, if the bowels are constipated. Waste products, poisonous substances, must be removed from the body at least once each day, or there will be trouble. The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one pill at bedtime. All vegetable.

Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills, gently laxative, all vegetable. He knows why they act directly on the liver.

J. C. Ayer Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.
B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

You Hear Whispers Through a New Giant 'Phone

With Andrae's New Giant Telephone you don't have to be yelled at, neither do you have to shout to make people understand. That is because of a transmitter toned to every possible condition. This handsome, never-out-of-order, adjustable-ringing, guaranteed telephone sent on 30 Days' FREE TRIAL.

It is a storm-proof phone. It is capable of better service than any other make, because it is built for hardest usage and of strongest materials. 5 bar, 1600 ohm

Test at a Kentucky Exchange

Number of Andrae Giants in use . . . 110
Repair jobs on them . . . . . None

Other makes in use . . . . . 139
Repair jobs on them . . . . . 148

COUPON

ANDRAE & SONS CO.,
Milwaukee, Wis.

Gentlemen:—Please send me your telephone booklet telling all about the Low Price "New Giant" 'phone at once.

Name _____

P. O. _____

State _____

NEW LOW PRICE

Any subscriber to this publication can secure interesting facts about telephones by mailing us this coupon. [1]

Julius Andrae & Sons Co.
156 Sycamore Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

VICK'S CROUP AND PNEUMONIA SALVE

This splendid remedy, popular for fifteen years, is endorsed by physicians everywhere—over 300 in North Carolina alone. It has saved thousands of lives—children with croup and whooping cough, adults with pneumonia, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc; and it soon relieves all congestion and inflammation of the throat and air passages. It differs from ordinary remedies, giving off vapors that are Antiseptic, Stimulating and Germ-destroying to Bronchial Tract which loosens the phlegm, unlocks the congestion, as liquid medicines cannot possibly do, and at the same time the application to the skin relieves the nervous system, reducing inflammation and aiding the blood in its fight against the invading germs. Get it now. 25c., 50c., and $1.00. At all druggists or by mail from VICK'S FAMILY REMEDIES CO., Greensboro, N. C. For free sample specify department No. 2.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S
Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

HORSE INSURANCE
Is written by
THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.
Of High Point North Carolina.
Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

SPHINX

PURE MIXED
PAINT

DEFIES TIME & WEATHER

Look for the trade-mark bearing the words Lemoco Quality. It is your surest guarantee of satisfaction and your protection against cracking, scaling and peeling.

“SPHINX” PAINT IS MADE FOR SOUTHERN PINE.

Made in white, black and forty-five beautiful tints and colors. All ready mixed. If your dealer cannot supply you write for free color cards and prices.

Leland Moore Paint & Oil Company,

BEST FOR THE SOUTH

Charleston, S. C.

MADE IN THE SOUTH — FOR USE IN THE SOUTH!

—Fifty Carnegie hero medals were given at the recent meeting of the Carnegie fund. Many who did heroic feats were killed and their medal goes to the nearest relative. The fifty medals cost $34,000, or $680 each.

(Begun on page six.)

and build churches, for it is said that the most enterprising, and energetic of the young people of the country are going to the towns, and if there is no provision made for them to have a Christian Church home in most cases they will become lukewarm while thier names remain on the old church record at home, or they will join some other denomination, or what is worse they will go back to the world entirely, and be lost eternally. To put it in a few words the whole South land is one broad home mission field white unto the harvest, and only requires Christian workers to go into the harvest, and gather the ripened grain.

We think all will agree that it is one of the most promising fields, but the question comes: How is the work to be accomplished? What do we need for the work?

In the first place we need more pure religion, the kind that was in the old Christian Church at Antioch in Syria. We need a live and zealous laity in our present churches. When we get this, the Pauls, the Silases, the Barnabases and the Lukes will come forth. We will than have more young men of pluck and means to enter the ministry, men who are consecrated to the noble work of preaching the gospel, men who are willing to do whatever the Lord would have them do, men who are willing to sacrifice something for the cause they represent, men who are more intent upon saving souls than they are about the amount of salary a field will pay, men who are willing to lay themselves on the altar of God for His glory and the salvation of poor lost fallen humanity. Our ministers will see that young men are influenced to consider a call to the ministry. When this shall come to pass I believe that the home churches as of old will support the missionaries in the new field, and not only that, but they will be ready to lend a hand to the weaker churches. Then the principles of the Christian Church like the gospel of old will begin to spread from north to south, and from east to west in this fair land, and its influence will not stop at home but who knows but that our creed and our principles will be a blessing not only to communities, but to nations yet unborn.

May we each and every one pray and work that this may be so, and may the great I AM gant that our efforts, feeble though they may be, may be like bread cast upon the waters, that the effects may be seen after many days.

—398 doctors attended the late pel-

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway.

Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway.

Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt.,
Charlotte, N. C.

J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,
Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M.,

Washington, D. C. W. H. TAYLOE, G. P. A.,

1886 TIME-TESTED WEAR PROVED 1909

CORTRIGHT

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES have been in use on large and small buildings all over America—under all conditions of wear and weather—for more than 23 years—yet no one has seen a wornout Cortright roof—many have seen a Cortright roof moved from one building to another.

If you want the best roof money can buy, write for our three free books, showing all styles of Cortright Metal Shingles, as used all over America, and the name of your neighbor using them.

CORTRIGHT METAL ROOFING CO., 54 N. 23d St., Philadelphia

3 CENTS A DAY

the first year and nothing thereafter, is all it costs to place in your home our finest Five-Bar Bridging Telephone, with polished quarter sawed oak cabinet, inside binding posts, improved receiver and transmitter, silent running generator, double spool adjustable ringer, positive carbon lightning arrester, long lever self contained insulated switch hook, adjustable drop shelf, and two cells of our famous Blue Streak Dry Battery.

— SAVES LIFE In case of serious illness, a few minutes saved in securing the services of a physician may mean the saving of the life of one of your loved ones.

— SAVES PROPERTY Should fire break out in your buildings at any time, a warning over the 'phone will instantly bring help from every direction and many hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable property may be saved.

— SAVES MONEY With a telephone at your service you can market your produce when prices are highest. You are in constant connection with your city market and can get a price that suits you before making delivery.

— SAVES TIME When repairs for machinery are needed, when you want the assistance of a neighbor, or when you want your dealer to deliver something by mail from your nearest town, a telephone in your home will save valuable time.

— SAVES WORRY The satisfaction, the comfort, the pleasure of having an ever ready means of communicating with the world about you, the knowledge that both property and life are better protected, are worth annually a great many times the small cost of installing one of our telephones in your home.

Our prices for Telephones complete are from $9.48 to $14.36. Write today for catalog and prices, and get our experts' free advice on the outfit best adapted for your particular needs.

ALBAUGH-DOVER CO., 2152 MARSHALL BLVD., CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Prices for instrument complete, adapted for party lines as follows:

$9.48
each for 10 party lines

$9.89
each for 12 party lines

$10.18
each for 14 party lines

$10.69
each for 18 party lines

$11.09
each
for 22 party lines

lagra conference in Columbia. This is an evidence of the wide-spread interest taken in this old-new disease. A National Association has been organized, and the next meeting will be held in Peoria, Illinois.

The Christian Sun.

State Library

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 46.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Hero Awards.—On November 3, fifty awards were given by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for acts of bravery and praiseworthy conduct during the year. There were many noble deeds, heroic in nature, courageous in execution, fearless in daring, recorded and rewarded. Of the fifty approved, fourteen had lost their lives in behalf of others, and of course the next of kin received the award. One man, Woods by name, was shown to have rescued, unassisted, two men and a woman from almost certain death, at great risk and exposure of himself. The Commission finding that Woods was in debt $1,000, presented him a check for that amount besides a silver medal. All the fifty awards tell of deeds that make one have larger love for his fellow man and give more hope for weak and capricious man.

The reward by no means is ample, for some of the noblest deeds ever done are brought to no public notice whatsoever. The Carnegie Hero Commission cannot learn all or see all.

But there is an all-seeing eye that even marks the sparrow when it falls. That eye never slumbers or sleeps; and whosoever shall give a cup of cold water in His name shall not miss or lose his reward. His badge of honor is that crown whose glory shall never fade or grow dim with using.

Don't Die on the Third.—In baseball there are just three bases. To reach first is easy. That is often given. To reach second is not hard, for a runner easily steals that. From second to third is more difficult. Having arrived at third, however, everyone is on the alert as to the movements and conduct of the man on the third. With this in mind the following squib from some source, we believe from a Norfolk paper, is readable and very suggestive:

"All the world's a baseball diamond. You are one of the players. Perhaps you have reached first by your own efforts. It may be that the sacrifices of your parents or friends have enabled you to reach second. Then on some one's "long fly" into the business world—a 'fly' that was not 'long enough' to prevent him going out—or some one's fluke on the rules of simple morality and square dealing, you have advanced to the third. The opposition against you at third is stronger than at either first or second. At third you are to be reckoned with. Your opponents converge all their attention on you. Pitchers and catchers and opposing fans are watching to tip off your plans and frustrate them. From third you become either a splendid success or a dismal failure.

"Don't die on third!"

"What are you doing to win the score that life is ready to mark up against your name? Third base has no laurels on which you can rest. What are you doing on third? Are you waiting for some one to 'bat you in?' Suppose he misses; his miss is yours, too. If you place all your dependence on some one else, his failure spells yours. What are you doing on third? Waiting for 'something to turn up?' Don't—nothing turns up, but the thumbs of the thousands of men who watch you may turn down. Moriarty wouldn't have scored had he waited, for Mullin didn't hit the ball—and the run was absolutely necessary to save the game. The run was gained in an unmeasurable fraction of time, but the difference between success and failure is very, very often measured in seconds.

"Don't die on third!"

Many boys are able to "pull through" college and an early business career by what parents and friends have done. But they go out on the third. When all depended upon individual initiative, energy, pluck, the one on third went down. Don't die on third. Make a last, and your best effort, to reach home from the third. There is no good, profit, or benefit in remaining on third.

Radium.—So far as we have reckoning, radium is the most costly of chemical elements. Its present price is $2,500,000 an ounce, forty million dollars a pound. The price does not grow less, but greater, the price when radium was first discovered being a million dollars a pound. The British Radium Corporation has been formed to extract radium from pitchblende. To date only about one quarter of a pound has been obtained, all told, for scientific purposes. Nature hides her most precious gifts far beyond the immediate gaze and scrutiny of man. That which is most valuable must besought after with painstaking care, energy and sacrifice. "The kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchantman seeking goodly pearls; and having found one pearl of great price goeth and selleth all that he hath and buyeth it." (Matt. 13:45,46.)

The President's Trip.—One of President Taft's secretaries has compiled an official record of the President's recent trip. Several presidents have taken the "swing around the circle," Harrison, McKinley, Cleveland and Roosevelt in our day, but improved means of travel make greater things possible for each succeeding executive who seeks to see and speak to the people. President Taft's trip covered 13,000 miles in fifty-six days. He visited 33 States, made 265 speeches, (all of which speeches were taken down in short hand and have already been transcribed and indexed), rode about 1,000 miles on automobiles, more than 150 miles on carriages and walked 75 miles. There was no accident or mishap, in the slightest degree, to the President or his party, every date and appointment was kept almost to the hour, and the presidential train pulled into Washington on the minute, as had been planned nearly two months ahead. To such limits hath man mastered steam, electricity and material forces about him. Mirabile dictu.

—Mrs. John Jacob Astor has been granted a divorce, and it is reported she will make her home in France. She had been married since 1891. In lieu of alimony she was given $10,000,000. If economical she might manage, it seems, to shift along on this.

—Carrie Nation of hatchet fame has not settled on a farm in Arkansas, as was reported. Instead, when last heard from she was in New York on a smashing crusade and was arrested and fined $10. Mrs. Carrie loves to smash, and be fined—it helps her sell hatchets.

FROM THE FIELD.

Winchester, Va.

We held our revival meeting at Timber Mountain the first two weeks in September. The meeting was held jointly with the Methodists, their pastor, Rev. F. F. Neil, preaching half the time. The attendance was good and the people seemed to be interested in the work. The meeting resulted in three conversions, one accession to our church, and four to the Methodist. Bro. Neil is a pleasant and agreeable man to labor with.

Owing to sickness I have been forced to take a month's rest. I am under obligations to Revs. H. C. Moore and L. L. Lassiter for filling my appointments while I was away. I am glad to have associated with me in the work at Bethlehem, Rev. L. L. Lassiter, who preaches for the church once per month. I had the pleasure of being with Bro. A. W. Andes for three nights in his meeting at Palmyra. I have preached for those people occasionally and always find it a pleasure to be with them. There was much interest manifested in the meeting. Bro. Andes is held in high esteem by the whole community. I expect to begin revival services at Bethlehem Nov. 23, and at Timber Ridge Dec. 7. We are hoping and praying for good meetings.

The building committee at Winchester have decided on the plans for our new church, and an architect is at work on the drawings. We hope to begin building in the early spring. The subscription papers for the funds will be started this week. We hope to have a liberal response. Later we expect to call on our friends in other fields to help us. The following amounts have been received:

Previously reported .....	$507.25
R. A. Burke .....	5.00
R. A. Henton .....	1.00
Mrs R. A. Henton .....	1.00
N. M. Hasler .....	1.00
Mrs. Isabelle Alamong .....	2.50
E. T. Arnold .....	2.50
Church Ext. Fund Com. ....	60.00
Rent from lot .....	42.50

Total .....

W. T. Walters.

Memorial Christian Temple, Norfolk.

The days grow brighter as we move on in the great work of the church. Our church family seemed to be in the best of spirits Sunday.

Our Sunday school was well attended and the work moved on steadily, with the usual enthusiasm in it. The school recommended that its members make an effort to help Bro. Harrell in his Portsmouth work by using the little envelope system of his for raising funds for his church. We are going to try to fill every one Bro. Harrell sent us. Our school needs to have some changes made, in order to accommodate the classes properly. To this end, a committee was appointed to recommend improvements to meet the needs of the work. We have plenty of house room, but we need it arranged a little different.

Bro. Stanley Harrell preached a very forceful sermon at 11 A.M. from Matt. 7:13,14. He gave some good thoughts from this scripture. At 7:30 P.M. his subject was "The Danger of Covetousness."

Bro. Harrell's sermons were both well presented and his discourse was splen-

REV. MCDANIEL HOWSARE.
Pastor Memorial Christian Temple,
Norfolk, Va.

did on these topics. He pleased our people very much, and the writer can truly say that we believe Bro. Harrell has a most encouraging future before him. We pray that God will use him Holy in His service.

Next Sunday we expect to have our new pastor, Bro. Howsare. We are hoping to give him a warm welcome. We will give The Sun a more complete statement of the installation services next week.

We hear that the Third Church did not have services today on account of having no pastor. The writer also heard today that there was no preaching at South Norfolk, or Rosemont.

Look at these, brethren: Third Church, South Norfolk, Rosemont and Providence without pastors. "Let us be much in prayer, asking God to send the laborers."

On account of Bro. Stanley Harrell's present engagement with the School Board for the year he could not accept the call to South Norfolk Church.

J. H. Blanchard.

[Crowded out last week.—Ed.]

MISSION WORK FOR E. N. C. CONFERENCE.

At the recent session of the Eastern North Carolina Christian Conference, W. C. Wicker, Jas. L. Foster, and L. F. Johnson were appointed a committee to plan an organization for more aggressive missionary work. There are many needs and much to encourage us to understand this work. Calls come each year for help at important places to organize Christian churches where there are none, and for help for those churches that are well worthy of help for larger development.

Several of the Conferences have organized Christian Missionary Associations similar to the Christian Missionary Association of the Southern Christian Convention, with an annual membership fee of $5.00; and it seems that this plan would meet our needs as well as any plan of organization that suggests itself. Every individual, or church, or Sunday school, or auxiliary society that pays the annual fee of $5.00 could be entitled to one vote each in disposing of the funds that such association may be able to raise.

If this plan could be worked within the Conference and one hundred members could be secured that would give an annual income of $500 to add to our present Home Mission work. The Western Conference organized last week while in session at Graham and secured a membership of thirty members before Conference closed. This was a fine beginning, and will mean great things for that Conference.

Our Conference must undertake this work at once or be left behind in the progressive work of missions.

As Chairman of the Committee, I appeal to the ministers and laymen of the Eastern North Carolina Conference to begin work at once and send me the names of all individuals and churches that will become members of such an association, paying a fee of $5.00 between now and next annual Conference. Our Committee will meet soon and organize and plan the work for the entire Conference.

Five Hundred Dollars additional for Home Missions for our Conference during this year should be our watchword.

W. C. Wicker.

My work for the Conference year 1909 is finished. The year has been a busy one, and the work in my field is in good condition. Union, N. C., has built a substantial new church, paid for it, and now comes up with the conference apportionments in full. A fine Sunday school has been kept up since we got into our new building and seems hopeful and encouraged.

At Bethlehem we held our last service the third Sunday in November. A large congregation was present, two deacons were ordained and conference apportionments raised. Within the last month we have nicely painted the church and paid for it. Bethlehem Sunday school is doing well and the prospect seems hopeful. We go up to conference feeling that the Lord has blessed us greatly.

Thanks are tendered Sister Ida Walker for a fine Christmas turkey, and to sister Jennie Kernodle for sausage.

J. W. Holt.

INDIANA.

On the morning of Oct. 23, I left for a short visit to this State. The passage by Roanoke, Columbus, and Marion was a pleasant and refreshingly one. The extended fields, inviting land scapes, rich soil, enchanting scenery gave help, hope, and gladness to my life, and as I looked, wondered, thought and admired, it brought me nearer to God. When one gets out from his little, circumscribed home and sees more of the vast dominion of his Father it helps him to realize more fully the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Then from the Occidental to the Oriental he feels bound by the ties of humanity.

This is a beautiful, rich country, inhabited with many fine people. The farming interests are great, the broad, fertile fields producing large crops of wheat and corn are grand to behold. The people live well and enjoy it. The horses, cattle and hogs are fine and plentiful. Have met several old people whose parents came from Va. Of course, I am related to them and feel at home. They have treated me so nicely and kindly in every way. But I did not intend to write up this state, just to let you know where I am.

Wishing you greater success, I am

Yours truly,

J. T. Kitchen.

MARRIED.

Ward-Ives.

A very quiet but pretty marriage took place at the home of Mrs. Kathrine Ives in North Main St. last Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, when her second daughter, Miss Lola Virginia, became the bride of Mr. James Franklin Ward. The bride wore a blue traveling suit and carried bride's roses. Only the near relatives of the bride and groom were present. After the ceremony the happy couple left on a southern tour, visiting Jacksonville, Palm Beach, Savannah and other southern cities. Returning they will reside at the home of the bride's mother. The bride received many handsome and useful gifts. Miss Lola is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine and the late Mr. Curtis O. Ives and is a faithful member of the Main St. Christian Church, having been for some years a teacher in our Sunday school. Mr. Ward is in the employ of the S. A. L. Rwy. in the Norfolk Office.

The writer, who performed the ceremony, wishes for them a long, happy and prosperous life.

M. L. Byrant.

Mitchell-Curling.

Sunday, November 7, 1909, at high noon, Mrs. Mittie Lee Curling of South Norfolk, Va., was united in marriage to Mr. Hersey Lee Mitchell. A large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties assembled to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the writer. Miss Edna Smith presided at the piano and Messrs. Clyde A. Miller and Earnest Lee Jenkins acted as ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left Monday for a visit to the relatives of the groom at Ahoskie, N. C. They will make their home in Berkley Ward, Norfolk, Va.

J. W. Harrell.

DIED.

Holland.

Joseph R. Holland, son of the late Joel Holland and Mrs. Otelia Holland, departed this life near Holland, Va., Nov. 6, 1909, after a decline of two years from pulmonary trouble, aged 21 years 11 months and 15 days. He leaves a mother and three sisters, Mary, Nezzie, and Ruth. The funeral was conducted by the writer at the home and the remains laid away in the family cemetery. A large number were present to express their sympathy for the widowed mother and the sisters. This family has suffered much affliction, but we pray that the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ may sustain them through all.

N. G. Newman.

Everett.

Isaac W. Everett was born in the paternal home near Holland, Va., Oct. 9, 1836, and from the same home his life went out Oct. 29, 1909, after a decline for years and a few weeks' illness. His father was Thomas Everett who belonged to a prominent family of upper Nansemond Co., and his mother, Cherry

Williams, of Gates Co., N. C. His only sister, Sarah, married B. G. Porter and died in 1873. He had one brother, Elisha, who died in the war. In 1861 he was married to Miss Ann Porter who died Dec. 12, 1907. He entered the civil war in 1862 and served in the 14th Va. Infantry till Lee's surrender, after which he suffered months of imprisonment at Newport News, Va., returning home July, 1865. The deceased was a member of Holy Neck Church from youth and at the time of his death was senior deacon. Before the years of decline he was a regular attendant at all the services and a leader in the counsels of the church. He was a quiet, unassuming man, yet true to his convictions and always standing for the moral and material interests of his community. He was supervisor from Holy Neck district for many years. Clean in life, honest in business, straightforward and sincere in speech, kind and generous, he represented a combination of moral virtues too seldom found and his death vacates a place difficult to fill. The funeral services were conducted by the writer at the home and the body laid in the family cemetery. He leaves four children—Mrs. F. B. Norfleet, Mrs. C. B. Milteer, H. B. Everett, and Miss Julia Everett; also six grandchildren. To all of these we extend our most sincere sympathy and pray the Heavenly Father's blessings upon them.

N. G. Newman.

Benjamin Herward White.

Benjamin Herward White, the four months son of B. E. White, near this place, died Sunday afternoon, after about a week's sickness. In an instant He was gone and the spotless soul of the child had vanished.

This was the only son of his parents and his untimely death leaves a pall upon the hearts of these good people which only the experienced can realize. But the little bud of earth will be a blossom yonder. The remains were interred in Spring Hill Cemetery.

H. E. Rountree, Pastor.

PROTECT Yourself & Family
By keeping a jar of
VICK'S
Croup and Pneumonia Salve

In the house at all times. The very best thing to use in sudden cases of Coid or Croup. The great nipper of Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc. the best pain easer for Burns, Itching Piles, Bruises, Stings, etc. Endorsed by physicians and ministers everywhere. At druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00 per jar.

Vick's Family Remedies Co.
Greensboro, N. C.

For free sample specify department No. 3.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—The last of the Conferences this week, the N. C. and Va. at Belew's Creek in Forsyth Co. Conferences so far have been well attended and reports from the various churches are very good indeed—above the average of previous years.

—Hear ye, my brethren, heed, take to your hearts, my fellow ministers, this sermon in a sentence: "Evangelize or fossilize; preach or perish; be a missionary church, or you will become a missionary field." Taken to our columns from the Central Baptist.

—Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., preached for the congregation at Wake Chapel, in Wake Co., last Sunday. His friends there were delighted to see him again and the congregation heard him with gladness and to edification: He preached for our Raleigh church at night.

—Rev. A. P. Barbee reports a great revival in progress in our Durham Church, there having been seventy-five or eighty conversions already, and the meeting still continues with growing interest and increasing congregations. Evangelist W. W. Smith is doing the preaching.

—Our sympathies are extended to Rev. A. T. Banks and brother, Deacon J. Milton Banks in the loss by death of their father at his home near McCullers, N. C., last Saturday morning. Deceased was advanced in years, had been in feeble health for quite a while and the end was not unexpected. Bro. L. F. Johnson, Raleigh, was to conduct the burial services Monday 22nd.

—The Home Mission Board of the Southern Christian Convention meets at Greensboro Wednesday, Dec. 1, 9 A.M. The members of the Board are J. E. West, Suffolk, Chr., J. O. Atkinson, Elon College, Secty., H. W. Elder, Richland, Ga., W. T. Herndon, Elon College, J. W. Holt, Burlington, E. Moffitt, Asheboro, K. B. Johnson, Cardenas, N. C.

—Secretary W. C. Wicker of the Eastern N. C. informs us that his Conference gained all along the line the past year, there being an increase of funds sent in for all purposes of more than $400 over that of ten years before, an increase of about 200 in membership and an increase of four elders added. This is a message of hope which cheers. We trust that other Conferences may show up as well.

—Rev. R. L. Williamson becomes assistant pastor to Rev. P. H. Fleming, D.D., of our Burlington Church. Bro. Williamson is well qualified for such a work, being a graduate of Elon College, a pastor of some years' experience and a man of piety and ability. The work at Burlington grows and that the labors of an assistant pastor are required shows something of the spirit of aggressiveness there.

—That is a wise provision whereby all our churches are called upon to contribute a Thanksgiving offering to the Orphanage. The Convention arranged that every Christian church in the South should take an offering at its first service nearest Thanksgiving Day, and send that offering to the support of the Orphanage. This is the only time through the whole year when the churches are called upon to help the orphanage. Every church, and every member of every church, should do the very best that can be done on this occasion, for the cause is worthy and the need is evident.

—Friday, Nov. 19. The News and Observer of Raleigh had in large head lines: "Christians Begin their Convention." Then the dispatch beginning "Wilson, Nov. 17—Delegates to the 65th Annual Convention of the Christian church poured into Wilson today on every train" etc. What the esteemed Observer should have printed was: "The Disciples begin their Convention." And "Convention of the Disciples Church" since it was the Disciples and not the Christian church in convention at Wilson last week. The fault, however, was not with The Observer, but with its correspondent. There was no Christian Church Convention in Wilson last week.

—Rev. S. L. Baugher, Conshohocken, Pa., under date of Nov. 19, says: "The Lord is still blessing us here at the Gulf Christian Church. One member received last Sunday. We have raised $1600 for all purposes this year, and we had no suppers, sociables or festivals, either, as we do not believe in such for raising funds for the Lord's cause. We are holding union revival meetings here now, having closed the fifth week. There have been forty conversions and large congregations." Bro. Baugher is to serve the church the coming year. He is one of our most consecrated and zealous workers and his brethren rejoice with him in the great work he is doing.

—Rev. McDaniel Howsare was installed last Sunday, Nov. 21, as pastor of Memorial Christian Temple with appropriate exercises. Bro. Howsare comes to us from Versailles, Ohio, where he has had a successful pastorate, and is not unknown to many of us in the South as a man of intellectual worth and spiritual power. Not only is he welcomed, therefore, by the Norfolk church, but by all in the Southern Convention who know the needs and realize the demand for strong and aggressive men among us, men alive to all the interests and enterprises of our common care and keep. No preacher in our day belongs to his local church only, but to the other churches and interests with which his church is associated and identified. The man who serves our Norfolk church well serves more than Norfolk; he serves us all, for Norfolk is alive, aggressive, thoroughly one with all that we as a people desire and undertake. For this and similar reasons Bro. Howsare comes not to Norfolk only but to all of us in the South and The Sun joins in the hearty and very cordial welcome that was extended him in Norfolk last Sunday. Thrice welcome, Bro. Howsare, and Sun readers will be glad of frequent messages from your pen, when your good heart is ready and willing to speak to us.

—The following comment from the Burlington News Nov. 17 is well spoken of a most worthy man:

"On last Sunday, upon the completion of his fourteenth year as pastor of the Christian church in Burlington, Rev. P. H. Fleming, D.D., was presented with a handsome silver cup, a gift from his congregation, as a token of their love and esteem. Capt. J. A. Turrentine, one of the oldest members of the congregation, presented the cup in words that thrilled the hearts of the congregation.

"One of the sweetest things in this world is the love of a congregation for their pastor, and we have never seen a more devoted congregation and pastor than these. During the past fourteen years the pastor and people have passed through trials and sorrows that have drawn them together, and Dr. Fleming stands today as a brother to the older members of his flock and as a dear father to the younger ones—loved and respected not only by his own people but of the town and county as well. We hope he may continue to go in and out among his people for years to come and that his usefulness may increase as the years go by."

We join Editor Crowson in all this good sentiment and devout hope. Bro. Fleming has indeed done a noble work, and the Lord has abundantly blessed his labors. In all our ranks there is no better and no more worthy man than he.

—Nicaragua has internal upheaval, and much bloodshed is reported. President Zelaya has instituted a reign of terror and revolutionists, or those suspected of sympathizing with the revolutionists, are convicted and put to death without much show of trial or justice. It is reported that two Americans have been beheaded, and two warships have been ordered to Nicaragua in post haste to watch the course of events and protect American interests.

SUFFOLK LETTER.

Studies in the Book of Amos. II.

MANHOOD AND MINISTRY.

God's people had passed through three stages, and each stage had its peculiar exposures and temptations.

The nomadic stage had its trials, developed sourness and complainings, as we see so often in the wilderness journey, when they murmured against the Lord and complained against Moses. The tent life of the world, the wandering tribes of earth, have been sour, blood-thirsty, unhappy. Note the history of the Jews, the Arabs, the Indians. The Jews were nearest to good wandering life, because they held close together. The next stage was agricultural, and that developed independence and separation. When men scattered over wide-areas and cultivate the soil, they grow independent in spirit and drift apart in life. Independence is born in the development of the individual and agricultural pursuits produce strong individual characteristics. The agricultural and pastoral age is usually the sanest, most heroic, and simplest stage in human progress. This age was the most religious and the happiest in the history of the Hebrew nation, and, perhaps, of our own. The third stage is the municipal age, when cities grow, when wealth concentrates, when luxury floods the centers, and few people see the mountains and the stars. Israel had reached this last, this most dangerous stage; and the currents of ruin had already set in toward her destruction. To meet the conditions of that age, God selected a Man and made him a Minister to that nation. God did not choose a schoolman, but a herdsman, for this mission. When Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, reported to Jeroboam II, the king of Israel, that Amos had conspired against him, he said: "the land is not able to bear his words;" and Amaziah said to Amos: "Seer, go flee into the land of Judah; and there eat thy bread and there mayest thou prophecy;" and Amos answered Amaziah: "I am no prophet, nor am I a prophet's son, but I am a herdsman and a gatherer of sycamores. And Jehovah took me from following the flock; and Jehovah said unto me, "Go, prophesy to my people, Israel." Amos was first of all, a Man—and that is the only stuff out of which God can make a Minister. Amos was not prophesying in Bethel because he could get more pay. His life had been simple and did not require much for his support. The influence of rural life over man may be seen in Moses, in Midian; John the Baptist in the wilderness; Jesus in the mountain; and Cromwell behind the plow. Amos had lived in the country, but he had marketed sycamore fruit and wool in Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Samaria, and, perhaps, Damascus. He had studied city-life in the market-place, in the temples, and the crowded thoroughfares. He had seen the common peddler, the hard-faced slave-trader, the luxurious sensualists, the overbearing official, and the heartless and formal ceremonies in religion. He had carried these impressions back to Tekoa where he developed them in his soul as a photographer takes the sensitive plate into his dark room to develop the picture. As he dressed the sycamore fruit for market, or followed the herd, or rested at night, he strove to solve the questions of the crowded city, with its congestion, its corruption, its godless worship, and its round of gain, indulgence, and oppression. The hills listened to his manly heart beats and the stars looked down upon him; and God took note of his thoughts and his motives. Every time he went to the city, he was more deeply impressed by its impurity, its debauchery, its wild rush after vanities; and everytime he returned to Tekoa he pondered over the future of such conditions.

This age needs Men who can take correct observations of our great cities, who can weigh the situation of cosmopolitan and congested populations; of wealth prostituted to vile uses; of power wielded for personal gain; and of conditions that rob the poor of their wages and the innocent of their virtue. This age needs inspired men, not schoolmen. God called Amos and sent him forth as a Minister; and as he went he prefaced his message by, "Thus saith Jehovah," and "Hear this word." He had no message from Gilgal or Jericho or from any school of prophets; his message was from God. He "saw" the word of God. The message of science, of literature, of philosophy, of sociology, of ethics or esthetics, has no power to correct the monstrous evils that control in the great cities. This age needs Ministers called of God, inspired with a message from God, Ministers built upon Manhood that fears no foe, asks no favors, dallies with no false isms, surrenders all personal interests for the one high aim of proclaiming God's message to the age. The Book of Amos discloses the great truth that God can make a great Minister if He can find a great Man.

The impressions upon Amos were as the roar of a lion. Jehovah had spoken. Paul said, "Woe unto me, if I preach not the gospel." Deep impressions are made upon Men called to be Ministers. Amos was one of those recruits and reformers from common life that uttered facts and conviction as soundest prophecy. Shall the trumpet sound and the people not tremble? Shall the fire bell ring and there be no excitement? Shall God's prophet speak and conscience not be awakened?

What this age needs is a Ministry of the Amos type—not men taught but men inspired; not men looking for place, reputation, or pay; but Men who go in the name of God to bear a message from God to society; men who breathe the air of earth and heaven; men who see human need and feel divine truth in their souls. The Manhood of Ministry is as brave as the heroes of war, as modest as angels of peace, and as wise as the sons of God. Manhood interprets duty in the light of truth, submerges self in the interest of others, and knows no authority but the Almighty. Amos was a plain countryman, but he carried in his life the sincerity of sunlight, the solidity of the mountain, and the quiet depth of the starry heavens. His life was unstained by the sin of the age and his soul was aflame with the spirit of concern for the nation. His Ministry was the ministry of Manhood to a Nation of decadence. There is a national spirit, a public sentiment, a widespread moral miasm that deserves rebuke and warning. This is the besetting sin of the age. It is not the specific sin of an individual that is his besetting sin, but the prevailing sin of his age or community that besets him, overwhelms him, carries him away on its mad current. It is the community or national sin that alarms the reformer, stirs the Minister, and brings forth the new preacher of righteousness. It is not the one individual sick that needs treatment, but the unsanitary cesspools and conditions that cause disease. The fight of the health officer is not against a sick individual, but against the cause of disease; the work of the Minister is not the rebuke of one sinner, but the fiery denunciation of national sin. Amos came out of the field, a man of keen insight into national danger, with a heart as pure as the mountain air that he breathed, and a range of thought as wide as the starry spaces that looked down upon his herds. He loved the people, but he hated the sin that was increasing among the nations. Inspired with a message from God he opened a campaign of righteousness, religious and civic, and his message burned like flame in stubble. David had left his shepherd's crook on the hillside in the pasture-field for a sceptre in the Capital City of God's commonwealth and Amos left the care of herds to proclaim a divine message to a wayward nation.

THE CALL.

There's a problem that confronts me,
And 'tis quite a serious thing,
For I'm about to ask the Conference
To add "Reverend" to my name.

Yes, an awful serious problem,
And though I chance to write in rhyme,
I forget none of its reverence,
I remember 'tis divine.

As I sit in meditation
On what I'm about to undertake,
I but ask myself the question,
Am I making a mistake?

But a moment for decision,
For I've felt enough to know
That the Lord of Hosts is calling,
And to battle I must go.

Could I be a mighty soldier,
Could I be a hero brave,
Could I act for Christ as Captain,
And some perishing army save,

Were I skilled to use the weapon,
Word of God, two edged sword,
That o'er sin I might gain victory,
Winning laurels for my Lord;

Then it seems that I could enter
With more courage, with more zeal,
With more hope of gaining victory
On the mighty battle field.

Then it seems that I'd not stagger,
Seems my steps would be more firm,
But alas! How weak a creature,
I am nothing but a worm!

But I must not be discouraged,
For the promise is to all,
Who, though with one talent only,
Heed the gentle Savior's call.

Then, dear Master, teach me patience,
Let me Thy sweet story tell,
May I be content to suffer,
..Just to rescue one from Hell.

[Mr. J. Lee Johnson, a ministerial student in Elon College, was licensed at Sanford Christian Church Sunday, Nov. 14, to preach the gospel. A week before Conference met, thinking one evening of what he was about to do, wrote home a personal letter to his brother, J. Beale Johnson, which letter was in rhyme and by chance fell into our hands. It is printed in full above and we offer no apology, for printing, save to the writer who will be more surprised than anyone else that it is published here.—Ed. Sun.]

A GOOD THING.

One receives many offers of good things. The promoter, who has a mining scheme, or an oil-field scheme, or a western-land scheme, or a stock-company scheme, tells you he has a good thing. Being a skillful promoter, he succeeds in persuading you that it is indeed a good thing; and you, having more money than experience, invest with him several hundred or several thousand dollars, fully expecting to realize a handsome fortune in a short time. At the expiration of a year you begin to doubt whether it is really a good thing or not, and in two years you lose all faith in the scheme and find that you have been chasing a rainbow.

The advocate of some strange doctrine about God, or life, or happiness, assures you that he has a good thing. It will cure your rheumatism, or your neuralgia, or your catarrh, or your nervous prostration; and if you take enough of it you will soon learn that there is no such thing as pain, no such thing as sickness, and you can go on through life with unspeakable peace and rest. Being a fluent talker and a shrewd advocate, he succeeds in persuading you that he indeed has a good thing to offer, and you give up your faith and grace and try this new doctrine. Before long an automobile accident, or a railroad accident, or a slip on the icy pavement, or a typhoid microbe gets in its work, and you find that there is such a thing as pain, and that the sensations of the flesh are realities, and if you are honest you will confess that you have been chasing a rainbow.

There are some who frankly say there is no good thing under the sun. They have seen so many failures and frauds that they have come to the conclusion that all things are false and delusive. All is vanity and vexation of spirit. Wealth is vanity, pleasure is vanity, philosophy is vanity, science is vanity, the world is vanity, religion is vanity, and nothing is real, nothing worth while. There were pessimists thousands of years ago who asked, "Who will show us any good thing?" There are no good men, no good ways, no good doctrines, they said. There are pessimists still who are asking the same old question.

The Bible answers this question thus: "It is a good thing to draw near to God." "It is a good thing that the heart be established with grace." Grace in the heart is a good thing. It is better than money in the pocket, better than genius in the brain, better than theories in the mind.

It is no new thing. This is not in its favor in the minds of some. They like new things and despise that which is old. There are new things which are good; but age is not against anything if it be a good thing. The older the better. The religion of Christ is not an experiment. It is not on trial. It is not a recent invention or discovery. It has been tried in all parts of the world for ages by all kinds of people; and the unanimous verdict of all those who have given it a trial is that it is a good thing.

It is good because it makes men and women good. If it made men rich it might be good. If it gave health it might be worth seeking. If its only recommendation were that it makes men happy it would be valuable. But it does something better. It makes men good. We do not say that all professing Christians are good. Some of them are as bad as Satan wants them to be. They are not only bad outwardly, but they are hypocrites at heart. But this fact does not prove that the religion which they profess is not good. They misrepresent it. But thousands of people have been made good by this grace. It makes the thief honest, the drunkard sober, the liar truthful, the leper clean. There are thousands of witnesses to this fact.

It is good also because it transforms everything which concerns us into good. It is good for youth and manhood and old age. It is good in prosperity and in adversity. It is good in life and in death. "All things work together for good to them that love God"—all loss and gain, all sickness and all health, all pleasure and all pain, all defeats and all victories. "It is a good thing that the heart be established with grace."—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

THE PERILS OF COMMON LIFE.

A conductor just retiring after nearly half a century of life on the railroad is reported as regretting the change because he will be in greater danger. He speaks from experience, as he has escaped all injury on the rail, and an accident that befell him when he went into business a few years ago frightened him back into his old calling for safety.

His case is not unique. We speak of the terrible slaughter by the railroads, and there is much more of it than there need be. But so far as passengers are concerned, when comparison is made with other dangers, accident-insurance companies can afford to promise especially large damages to those injured in railroad travel because of the smaller chance of suffering injury. It is said that more money has been paid to persons hurt in hanging pictures than to those suffering in head-on collisions. An illustration of the same principle is seen in the fact that within a few months the papers have noted the deaths from very slight falls of at least three men whose business it had been to make daring ascents of chimneys, steeples, and flag-staffs.

Very much the same situation is found in the moral world. We think, for instance, of the danger besetting the man intrusted with large sums of money belonging to others, and should perhaps shrink from such responsibility. Men in such positions do fall, indeed; and their fall attracts general notice. But they are the rare exceptions. Few of us have cause to dread that particular danger; so insignificant temptation lurking in ambush in the regular routine of life may work for us a complete downfall. The probability is far less that ruin will come to us through what we fear as some great sin than that we shall meet defeat through some snare that we think too insignificant to be worth a thought. We need to have our eyes more open to the dangers of every-day life and to be on guard against them.—C. E. World.

THE GIFT THAT IS IN THEE.

Many persons say that they have but one talent. We are never sure whether they say this by way of complaint against the Providence which has distributed our gifts, or whether it is a mere excuse for shifting personal obligation. Few men need make such modest claims. True, it is written, "Let no man think of himself more highly than he ought to think." "If a man think himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself." These are wise and wholesome counsels for men who are disposed to esteem themselves too highly. Everyone should hold modest views of his own abilities and achievements.

Yet it is difficult to place too high an estimate on the gifts bestowed on him by the Creator. We have all received, not one talent only, but many. If we could take an inventory of the gifts which are within us we would be amazed at the multitude and majesty of them.

Faith is a gift of God. Paul says: "By grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." As the hand and the eye and the ear and the memory are gifts from God, so is faith. What is faith? It is the power of the soul which apprehends spiritual things. By this faculty the soul lays hold on God and clings to Him. It is a tremendous force, because it appropriates the resources of omnipotence. Moses endured as seeing Him who is invisible.

What shall be said of the man who says he has no faith? Perhaps he has neglected to stir up the gift that is within him. If he should neglect his musical faculty as he neglects his faith he would soon have no musical faculty. If he should stir up his faith as he does his intellectual faculties God would be as real to him as anything in the material world. He would live in an atmosphere of spiritual things.

Prayer is a gift. We often hear of men and women who are gifted in prayer. It is said that when Mr. Spurgeon prayed in the presence of the multitudes who waited on his ministry, he seemed to talk with God as a man talks with his friend face to face. He revealed in an ocean of the divine presence and power and love. So Elijah and Samuel prayed. Perhaps we have all heard men pray in that way. They had improved their gift of prayer until it had become a real factor. Why are so many prayers feeble and impotent? Because those who offer them have neglected to stir up the gift that is in them until it has almost failed.

Song and speech are gifts. There is not money enough in the world to pay a man or woman for the gift of song or speech, yet too often these gifts are bartered away for a trifle. Those who possess them value them according to the money that is in them. Not long ago a smart boy five years old whose father was a singer was asked if he intended to be a singer when he became a man. His quick and sharp reply was, "No." And why? "Because there is no money in that." The boy had learned how men and women value gifts. This is a low view of music when considered as a gift from God this mercenary view is base.

Influence is a gift from God. Love is a gift. Sympathy is a gift. Some men have a remarkable faculty of comfort. They are real sons of consolation. It is easy for them to sit down by the afflicted and pour in the balm of consolation to cheer the broken heart. They know what word to speak, what kind and thoughtful act to perform. They have cultivated this wonderful gift until it has become prominent and powerful.

How shall a man stir up the gift that is in him? By consecration. It is from God. Take it to Him and devote it to His service. We have all observed how Jesus developed the gifts of the men who became His disciples. Look at Peter. What a remarkable man Jesus made out of that common, unlearned fisherman. Look at Matthew. What a great man Jesus made out of that common publican. He can develop the gifts which are in us if we will consecrate them to His service. By education. We all understand that the intellectual faculties must be developed by training and discipline, but we expect spiritual gifts to spring into full strength by magic. Faith must be educated as well as memory. Love must be put to school as well as the reason. Prayer requires as much culture as the musical faculty. Patience must be learned as well as mathematics. By exercise. The singer learns to sing not merely by studying music, but chiefly by singing. The poet learns to write by writing. His first efforts are crude affairs, but his last productions are gems which enrich the literature of the world.

Nothing can abide idleness. The saw, the plane, the chisel, the plow, the scythe, will rust and become useless if they are not put to use. The watch, the piano will lose their fine qualities if left unused for years. Every intellectual faculty must be put to use. And every spiritual gift must be used. Put faith and prayer and influence into practice and they will grow stronger and stronger. "Stir up the gift that is in thee."—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO EASTERN VA. SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

We have sent to the Superintendents of all the Sunday schools of the Eastern Virginia Conference brick envelopes to be used in soliciting funds for the building fund of the Portsmouth Christian Church. We earnestly request that each superintendent endeavor to make the plan a success in their schools. The brick are sold at ten cents each and each envelope will hold $6.00.

The following prizes are offered: $5. in gold to the one that solicits the largest amount; $2.50 to the next and $1.00 to the third. The names and the amount solicited by each person will be reported in the Christian Sun after all the schools have made returns. All the envelopes are to be returned to the superintendents by the second Sunday in December and the money forwarded the following week. We shall await the result of this effort on the part of the Sunday schools with much interest. Let every school make it a great success.

J. W. Harrell, Pastor.

Portsmouth, Va.

about
Think Right an organ

With sixty years of honor in organ making, it would be foolish to offer anything but good Estey Organs. Now think of that a moment and write for catalogue of pipe or reed instruments to

ESTEY ORGAN COMPANY
BRATTLEBORO, VT.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.

I Tim. 4:15.

(Not they that eat most, but they that digest most, are the most nourished. Not they that get most, but they that keep most, are the richest. So not they that hear most, or read most, but they that meditate most, are the most edified and nourished and enriched unto everlasting life).

Daily Food.

"I am the bread of life."

Sunday, November 28.

My mercy will keep for him forevermore, and my covenant shall stand fast with him. Psa. 89:28.

Forever shall my song record
The truth and mercy of the Lord;
Mercy and truth forever stand
Like heaven established by his hand.
Thou art my Father, my God, and the Rock of my salvation. Psa. 89:26.

Monday, November 29.

The Lord hath set apart him that is godly for himself. Psa. 4:3.

Know that the Lord divides his saints
From all the tribes of men besides:
He hears the cries of penitents,

For the dear sake of Christ that died.
The Lord will hear when I call unto him. Stand in awe, and sin not; commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still. Psa. 4:3,4.

Tuesday, November 30.

The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. Phil.
4:7.

O Lord, the pilot's part perform,
And guide and guard me through the storm,

Defend me from each threatening ill;
Control the waves; say, "Peace, be still."

Now the Lord of peace himself give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you. 2 Thes. 3:16.

Wednesday, December 1.

The eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears open unto their prayers. I Peter 3:12.

My God, if thou art strong indeed
Then I have all my heart can crave;
A present help in time of need,
Still kind to hear and strong to save.
But the face of the Lord is against them that do evil. I Pet. 3:12.

Thursday, December 2.

God is not a man that he should lie; neither the Son of Man that he should repent; hath he said and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good? Num. 23:19.

His very word of grace is strong
As that which built the skies;
The voice that rolls the stars along
Speak all the promises.

Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. Matt.
24:35.

Friday, December 3.

That whosoever believeth in him
("the Son of man") should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3:16.
Sinners, believe the Savior's word.

Trust in his mighty name and live;
A thousand joys his lips afford,

His hands a thousand blessings give.
He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. John 3:18.

Saturday, December 4.

Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness. Psa. 112:4.

His soul well fixed upon the Lord,
Draws heavenly courage from his word:
Amidst the darkness light shall rise,
To cheer his heart and bless his eyes.

Surely he shall not be removed forever; the righteous shall be in everlasting remembrance. Psa. 112:6.

THE WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

The Western North Carolina Christian Conference met in its 43rd Annual session Tuesday, November 16, 10 A.M., with the Graham Christian Church.
Conference was called to order by Rev.
L. I. Cox, president of last session; devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. W. Wellons. The organization resulted in the selection of Rev. L. I.
Cox, President; Brother W. B. Holt of our Burlington church, Vice-President;
Rev. J. W. Patton, Secretary, with Rev.
R. L. Williamson as his assistant; and Captain J. A. Turrentine, Treasurer.

After the organization, the pastor,
Rev. L. E. Smith, in behalf of the church and town gave the conference a very cordial welcome, which was responded to on behalf of Conference by Hon. W. H. Carroll of Burlington. The afternoon of first day was devoted to the reading of church letters and ministerial reports. These gave evidence of faithful work and progress along most all lines. The Annual Sermon was preached at the night session by Rev.

J. U. Newman, D.D., which was a very able and scholarly discourse.

The second day was taken up with reports on Foreign Missions and Religious Literature. Revs. P. T. Klapp and J. P. Barrett championed the foreign mission cause and each delivered enthusiastic addresses on the subject.
Drs. Long, Moffitt and Atkinson spoke to the Report on Religious Literature.
Dr. J. P. Barrett, editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, Dayton, Ohio, preached a very able sermon at the night session of the second day.

The third day was devoted largely to Home Missions, Education, and Christian Endeavor. Home Missions occupied the mornig hour. E. Moffitt, of Asheboro, read the report of the committee and outlined its policy for the coming year. Rev. J. W. Holt, of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference gave a very able address on "Our Home Field." Rev. J. W. Bolton, pastor of our Greensboro church, and others spoke upon this report. Following the vote on this report a Missionary Association with an annual membership fee of $5.00 was organized, and thirty members secured on conference floor. According to our way of thinking, this was the most progressive step taken by this session of conference. If this association receives the loyal support of the brotherhood of this conference, in a few years it will be able to enter the many inviting fields within its bounds and build churchees that will reflect credit upon the denomination.

Education was the theme of the afternoon session. Dr. P. H. Fleming read the report and made some explatory remarks; after which President E.
L. Moffitt delivered an address choosing as his subject: "Loyalty to Our College." Rev. D. A. Long, D.D., and others also spoke on the subject and following the vote, Mr. J. F. Morgan, a very promising young man of the Junior Class in Elon College was licensed to preach as a probationer.

Christian Endeavor received full consideration at the night session. Prof.
W. A. Harper, President of the State
C. E. Convention, was present and delivered an address on "How to Make Christian Endeavor Effective;" after which a real Christian Endeavor prayer meeting was conducted, and enjoyed by the members of conference.

The Sunday school, the Christian Orphanage and the report on Moral Reform received proper consideration by the few who remained over for the last day. Brother Foster made a noble plea for the Orphanage and Dr. Newman made a telling speech on Moral Reform. Perhaps most of those who remained to the close will join me in saying that the last day was one of the most profitable days of the conference; and it could have been even more profitable if so many had not gone home before the close.

This was a very harmonious session and signs of progress is manifested in this conference. We hope for and expect the day when this Conference shall take her place along with the other more progressive Conferences of our Southern Convention.

The good people of Graham without respect to church or denomination, united in the entertainment of conference, and they did it well.

NOT CHRISTIAN.

The papers last week, our North Carolina dailies, had as head lines one day this: "The State Christian Convention in Session at Wilson." "The Christians are in Annual Session at Wilson" etc. What these papers meant was, "The Disciples are in Annual Session," "The State Disciples" Convention in session at Wilson. Of course the papers themselves did not know, but most likely the writers knew. Somehow our Disciples brethren, since their founder, Alexander Campbell lived and preached among us, but would not unite with us, have had a mighty desire to claim and to wear our name. They know they have no legal right to the name, and they know further that they adopted as their name The Disciples of Christ, and that, when their churches exist in a town or city side by side with our churches, they call themselves Disciples, but they do evermore honor and love our good name, and on every occasion possible persist in using the name Christian instead of their own names Disciples.

Both indeed are exceedingly good names, and it is a pity that both may not be one; but these Disciples brethren of ours will not allow. They hold to certain views and beliefs that we of the Christian name and faith never did teach under the sun. For an instance, Rev. J. W. McGarvey, D.D., reputed to be the greatest scholar and theologian in the Disciples, or Campbellite church, says: "A part of the process by which one passes into Christ is the act of baptism; and it follows that he is not in Christ until he is baptized; until he is baptized he is not forgiven."

Now this is vital. And we of the Christian name and belief never did undertake to promulgate such teaching as that among the children of men. We hold to the Bible as our only rule of faith and practice, our only and sufficient creed, and a man made theology like this of Dr. McGarvey's would not be taught among us. We know too well that the Bible shows more than one person forgiven, and so most likely redeemed and saved, whether baptized or not baptized.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Rev. J. P. Barrett, editor of the Herald of Gospel Liberty, Dayton, Ohio, is in the South attending the Conferences in Virginia and North Carolina. He has been a very active and useful man in the Christian Church, and now holds the highest and most influential position in the Christian Church in the United States and Canada, being editor of the general church organ. He was one of the aggressive spirits in establishing Elon College, and is still a member of the Board of Trustees. He was a welcome visitor on the College Hill last week.

—The elocution department will give an entertainment in the Chapel next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. A small admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to go towards purchasing a stereopticon outfit for the College.

—Mrs. Hugh McAlister of Lumberton, N. C., (nee Miss Elise Ramsay) is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Moffitt for a few days this week. Mrs. McAlister was for several years a successful and popular teacher of piano in the College. This is her first visit to the College since her marriage last June.

—Professor W. A. Harper and Mr. D. W. Brown are representing the local church in the session of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference in session, from Tuesday to Thursday, at Belews' Creek, Forsythe County. Other representatives from our town are Dr. J. O. Atkinson, Revs. J. W. Wellons, L. I. Cox, C. C. Peel, and W. L. Wells, Messrs. J. S. Truitt, and B. J. Earpe, Ministerial students, and President E. L. Moffitt and W. P. Lawrence.

—Rev. L. I. Cox's oldest son, Basil, was painfully hurt last Saturday. He and some other boys were shooting an old gun when a screw they had fastened in the barrell blew out and struck him in the face just under the right eye. While the wound is deep and painful, his physician thinks neither the eye nor the nose is permanently injured.

—Messrs. Foushee, York and Green,

Park's Cross Roads; W. H. McPherson of Spoon's Chapel; O. D. Lawrence of New Center; John Dunlap of Christian Union; Hiram Freeman of Shady Grove; S. T. Moffitt of Shiloh; Rev. R. L. Williamson and father of Moffitt's Mills, and Mr. Hunt of Jonesboro were some of the members of the Western North Carolina Conference who visited the College and Orphanage last week. There were others, whose names are not at hand.

—Rev. Dr. J. U. Newman was the speaker at the eleven o'clock service last Sunday. His sermon was replete with thought happily organized into a strong discourse.

—Rev. Mr. Peeler, the German Reform pastor of Greensboro was a visitor at our Sunday school Sunday morning.

—Miss Urquhart gave an interesting account of the Richmond Y. W. C. A. Conference before the local Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

—Rev. T. C. Amick left Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Amick who went on a visit to her parents near Liberty, N. C., Professor Amick going on to Randleman to attend the North Carolina Methodist Protestant Conference.

W. P. Lawrence.

NOTICE.

All who expect to attend the Christian Missionary Association which meets in Berkley Dec. 7th will please notify

Rev. M. L. Bryant,
Berkley Ward,
Norfolk, Va.

—The fight on tuberculosis is aggressive now as it should be, millions of money being appropriated by governments to be used in battling with it.

The horror of the White Plague is nothing new. In 1700 the conviction that tuberculosis had a contagious element in it became so strong that in some portion of Europe it was a common practice to isolate consumption from the public after their lungs had been ulcerated.

Charteauubrian found it impossible to dispose of his carriages in Rome because Mme. Beaumont who died of consumption had ridden in them.

"At the end of the month," wrote George Sand in 1839, "poor Chopin, who had a cough since we left Paris, became worse. We sent for a doctor, two doctors, three doctors—each more stupid than the other, who started to spread the news in the island that the sick man was a consumptive in the last stage. As a result there was a great alarm—we were regarded as plague infected. The owner of the little house we had rented turned us out brutally."

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....	$4,026.01
Monthly Dues:
Perla Pate .....	$.10
Carl Lynn Schobey ....	.10
Annie Peary Way .....	.10
R. Leslie Newman .....	.05
Warner Carpenter .....	.05
T. J. Carpenter .....	.05
Blannie Franks .....	.05
Bettie Franks .....	.05
Dwight Franks .....	.05
Noma Franks .....	.05
Numa Franks .....	.05

Monthly S. S. Offering:
Wake Chapel, N. C. ....	3.20
Palm St., Greensboro. . .	.90
Oak Level, N. C. ....	1.50
Youngsville, N. C. ....	.68
New Elam, N. C. ....	3.50
Graham, N.C., Sept., Oct., Nov. ....	3.00
Timber Ridge, W. Va. . .	2.05

La Grange, Ga.,
Sunday school:
Elma Moore .....	$.50
Mr. McLeod .....	.50
Viola Moore .....	.50
Carrie Brandon ...	.25
Mae Stephens .....	.50
J. W. Kent .....	.25
J. D. Arrington ...	.50
Henry Smith .....	.25
O. L. Smith .....	.25
Mrs. J. B. Hunt ...	.25
Mrs. Mattie D. Ty- son .....	1.00
Mrs. H. G. Barnes .	1.10
T. M. Smith .....	.25
Annie Lizzie Hal- man .....	.25
Mary Fannie Hal- man .....	.25
Katie Bell Halman	.25
Louis Halman .....	.25
Ninna Barnes .....	.15
Fannie Barnes ....	.15
Dovie Daniel .....	.15
Ben Daniel .....	.15
Geo. Daniel .....	.15
Sam. Daniel .....	.15
Essie Tidwell .....	1.00
Dewie Tidwell ....	1.00

Total ..... 10.00
Thanksgiving Offering:

Timber Ridge. W.
Va. ....	12.45
Amt. 43rd week .	64.25
Total .....	$4,090.26

My Dear Children:—
 By the time you read this letter, the pastors and secretaries of our churches will have received the letters and envelopes which have been prepared for this year's Thanksgiving Offering. We hope every one will respond to the call as God has prospered him, and make our hearts glad because of the large amounts to swell our Treasury and thus make more comforts for the orphan children.
 One of our little boys, George Heathcock, tried to play squirrel the other day and jumped from a tree only to fall on a rock, and badly sprain his ankle. He does not suffer very much, but is confined to his bed. We hope it will not be for long, but guess he will leave climbing trees to the squirrels for a time.

Mr. Peter Iseley of McCleansville, N. C., remembered us very kindly this week with two bushels turnips, 2 bu. sweet potatoes, 3 bu. wheat, 3 bu. corn, 2 bu. oats. This is quite a help and we thank this kind friend who has helped us before this.

Help us to wind up the year with every debt paid, dear children and friends, and grateful, thankful prayers will rise from North to South from those who are so deeply interested in our beloved work.

Sincerely yours,
 Uncle Jim.

Sanford, N. C., Nov. 10, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—
 I will write my letter and send my dime for November. I go to school every day. I have no time for play now. My lessons are so hard. I love to go, and want to learn all I can.

I close with my love to you and the cousins.

Annie Pearl Way.

Never mind, Annie, play time will come after a while. So study away with a will.

Sanford, N. C., Nov. 8, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—
 Here comes little Carl Lynn with his dime for November. I am a little late. Papa forgot it, but will try and think of it next time. Papa is writing for me tonight. Will close with love to all of the cousins.

Carl Lynn Schobey.

All O. K., Carl. Jog papa's memory next time.

DR. J. H. BROOKS
 Surgeon and Dentist
 FOSTER BUILDING,
 Burlington, N. C.

MEDICINE.

We prepare as good medicine, the very best medicine that the finest, freshest, most potent drugs and chemicals will produce when carefully and skilfully compounded by an expert prescription man—just such medicine as your physician means that you should have, medicine of the utmost possible effectiveness. May we prepare your medicine?
FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
 Burlington, N. C.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braraman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.
 We Guarantee Our Cures.
THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
 1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
 Physicians Treated Free.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

8 HOLIDAY POST CARDS 10c
 Send 10c for 8 High Grade Colored or Embossed Christmas and New Years Cards. We send you quality cards not quantity. 24 cards for 25 cents. Kansas Post Card Co., Dept. 463, Topeka, Kans

Malone, Ala., R. F. D., 2, Box 16.
Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here I come with my dues for November. School opened last Monday. I surely enjoy going to school. We were surely glad that Uncle Jim came south. We were glad to meet him. I hope the children at the orphanage enjoyed chewing cane.

Well, I will close. Love to the little cousins.

Warner Carpenter.

Glad indeed to have seen our Southern cousins, Warner. Hope you can come to see us sometime.

Malone, Ala., R. F. D. 2, Box 16.
Nov. 12, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We are having fine weather. Our school opened Monday. We have a new teacher. I like him very much. I was proud to meet Uncle Jim. I fell in love with him. I am sure the orphans love him. I guess the children enjoyed their cane. Papa has made our cane into syrup, so chewing is done with me.

I will close.

Good luck to all.

Enclosed you will find five cents for my dues.

Your nephew,

T. J. Carpenter.

Our children were indeed fond of the cane, little man. Now we can enjoy the "sop" instead of the "chew."

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 14, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Enclosed find twenty-five cents, our dues for November.

Our school started last Monday.

Love to you and all the cousins.

Your loving nephews and nieces,

Blannie Franks.

Bettie Franks.

Dwight Franks.

Noma Franks.

Numa Franks.

Now the little "Franks" will have to study, study, study, but don't forget to write.

Manson, N. C., Nov. 9, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Hope you are home from your long trip; I know all the children were glad to see you.

I had bad luck today, fell against the heater in the strip-room and burned my left wrist and right hand almost in a solid blister. I am in hopes of nothing serious.

Enclosed please find my dues for Nov.

Love to Aunt Myrtle and all.

Your nephew,

R. Leslie Newman.

Ah! Leslie, that was indeed bad. Hope you will soon get over your trouble.

Why Lowney's Is Best

The reason for the richer flavor and more nourishing quality of Lowney's Cocoa is, because it is purely the choicest cocoa beans, ground finer than flour, without adulteration or chemical "treatment."

The Dutch Cocoas are rotted with strong alkali to make them dark and "soapy"; of these a State Food Commissioner says: "Most of the alkali is active and should not be taken into the human stomach."

No cocoa goes as far in satisfying as LOWNEY'S.

The WALTER M. LOWNEY CO., Boston, Mass. Cocoa, Chocolates, Bonbons

VITA SPRING

(Alkaline Chalybeate)

MINERAL WATER

The Peerless Medicinal Properties of this Water Make it
Nature's Own Remedy

for the cure of indigestion, liver and kidney trouble, uric acid poisoning, gastritis, constipation, rheumatism and all specific complaints caused by impure blood. As an illustration, its curative power is so great that old sores bathed several times each day in Vita Spring Mineral Water, disappear in a few days. It is recommended by

The House of Representatives of South Carolina
as "a pure mineral water of medicinal properties."
From the thousands of unsolicited testimonials received from relieved sufferers, we quote the following:

A. L. R. Avant, M. D., Savannah, Ga., says: "It made me feel like my former self."	me a better color than I have had in years."
Miss L. B. Terry, Barton, S. C., says: "It relieved me of indigestion and gave	R. B. Tarrant, P. M., Springfield, S. C., says: "It acted nicely on my kidneys. A fine invigorator."

Special introductory price, 5-gallon demijohns, $1 per 5 gallons.
Send for free illustrated and descriptive booklet.
Local agents wanted.

The Vita Spring
Shelton, S. C.

ANALYSIS
Calcium Carbonate	12.665
Magnesium Carbonate	3.399
Calcium Sulphate	.577
Sodium Sulphate	4.665
Potassium Sulphate	.624
Sodium Chloride	5.964
Iron Sesquioxide and Alumina	.023
Silica	2.303
	29.960

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

Keyword: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—SEVEN COMMITTEES.

The Christian Endeavor Society not only means the active participation of the members in the public prayer-meetings; it also means Christian service during the week. This work it seeks to get done through Committees. It is a fundamental principle of Christian Endeavor that every member is to be on some committee and to be assigned some definite work to do. In the organization of a new society, care should be exercised not to have too many committees to start with. Three I think a good number, others to be added as the occasion seems to demand them. If only three are appointed, perhaps they should be the Look-out, Prayer meeting, and Social. The Chairmen of these committees are officers of the Society and should be chosen as the other officers are chosen. The chairmen together with the other officers, the pastor assisting, should divide all the members up among the committees. No chairman is justified in doing all the work of his committee. It is better to get ten persons to work in the Society than to do the work of ten individuals. The chairman should supervise the work of the committee, but not do it.

In this editorial we will give the duties briefly of seven committees, which are found doing effective work in many Societies.

I. Lookout.—The Lookout Committee is perhaps the most important in any Society. It is charged with securing new members, seeing that those who are members attend, and doing everything else in their power to increase the membership and attendance. If a new person moves into the community of the church, the Lookout Committee should visit him and keep at him until he joins the Society. If a present member is absent, the Lookout Committee should go to see him, learn the reason, and insist on his regular attendance.

II. Prayer Meeting.—This also is an important Committee. It has to do with the public prayer meetings of the Society. In connection with the leader, it should be carefully, prayerfully plan each prayer meeting. It should also devise methods by which all the members may be led to take part. It should have variety in the programs of the prayer meetings and make them interesting and enthusiastic.

III. Social.—Christian Endeavor is not opposed to social intercourse. Why should it be? Did not our Lord attend wedding-feasts and banquets. But it subordinates entertainment to spiritual development. The Social Committee, to which is given the management of the social life of the Society, should remember this. It should be particular not to have the refreshments too elaborate, else the poorer members will be embarrassed and the Society suffer. Amos R. Wells' Social Evenings and his Social to Save, 35 cents each, should be in the hands of every Social Committee.

IV. Missionary.—This Committee should have charge of the missionary activities of the Society. They should frequently lead the missionary meetings and should devise means by which interest may be created in missions in the entire membership.

V. Good Literature.—This is a hard committee to serve on. It requires genuine interest on the part of its members in books and in Christian Endeavor books and literature in particular. It should not be a large committee, but a very earnest one. Its business is to get suitable books and periodicals in the Endeavor or Sunday school Library and the homes, and then to devise means by which they should be read and made useful in the Society's prayer meetings.

VI. Flower.—The younger members may well serve on this committee. Its function is to provide flowers for all the exercises of the Church, the Sunday school, and the Society. It should also carry flowers to the sick.

VII. Music.—This Committee should have on it the organist and the chorister, and one of them should be chairman. It should prepare a musical program for each meeting, consulting with the leader and the Prayer meeting Committee in regard to it. It should practice the Society on new songs, give variety to the music of the public prayer meetings, and have general oversight of and be responsible for the musical training and development of the membership.

Teacher Training at Shallow Ford.

Last summer, the second Sunday in July I think it was, the Boone Station Township Sunday School Convention met at Shallow Ford Church. The writer was there and among other things presented the claims of the Teacher-Training to our people there. The result was the organization of a class which began work at once. It is now four months since the class began, surely a long enough time for the enthusiasm of a new thing to have passed and for the idea to have fastened itself permanently on the class because of the real value of the work itself. We have been hearing of this class all along. The other day we asked the teacher for the facts. They are as follows: Nine pupils; Mr. Berry Barber, President; Mrs. Claude Cable, Secretary-Treasurer; Miss Jewel Michael, Teacher. Remember that Shallow Ford is a country church and not of a very large membership. It is worth noting also that the first Christian Endeavor Society in a country church in our Southern Christian Convention was organized in this progressive, though rural, church.

An Adoption Worthy of Note.

The following item from the Herald of Gospel Liberty will be a welcome bit of news to those who helped to make our Teacher Training Course and to our interested workers in general:

Teacher Training in the Sunday School.

Dayton, Ohio, July 23, 1909.

The committee appointed by the Official Board of the Ohio State Christian Association, to examine and recommend a book on Teacher Training to the Sunday schools of the state, met in Dayton, a majority of them, and after due consideration, recommend the following:

First Year Course.

For the first year we recommend "Training the Teacher," by Dr. Schaffner, Dr. Brumbaugh, Mrs. Lamereaux and Marion Lawrance, published by the Sunday school Times Co., Philadelphia.

This work is the first standard course and the diploma you receive will have printed thereon in bold type, "First Standard Course."

Second Year Course.

For the second year we recommend "Preparing the Teacher," published by the Southern Christian Convention, supervised by Prof. W. A. Harper.

Four Suggested Forms of the C. E.

Pledge.

Merely as a matter of information we print below four forms of the Christian Endeavor pledge in general use. The second is that of the parent Society, which was organized at the Williston Congregational Church, Portland, Me., Feb. 2, 1881. These pledges are for active members.

Form I.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do what He would like to have me do; that I will pray to Him and read the Bible every day; and that, just so far as I know how, throughout my whole life, I will endeavor to lead a Christian life. As an Active Member, I promise to be true to all my duties, to be present at, and take some part, aside from singing, in every meeting, unless hindered by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Lord and Master, Jesus Christ. If obliged to be absent from the monthly consecration meeting, I will, if possible, send an excuse for absence to the Society.

Form II.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do; that I will make it the rule of my life to pray and read the Bible every day, and to support my own church in every way, especially by attending all her regular Sunday and mid-week services, unless prevented by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Savior; and that just so far as I know how, throughout my whole life, I will endeavor to lead a Christian life.

As an Active Member, I promise to be true to all my duties, to be present at and take some part, aside from singing, in every Christian Endeavor prayer meeting, unless hindered by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Lord and Master. If obliged to be absent from the monthly consecration meeting of the Society, I will, if possible, send at least a verse of Scripture to be read in response to my name at the roll-call.

Form III.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will

Elon College.

Co-educational. Established 1890.

Thorough College courses leading to M. A., A. B., and Ph. B. degrees. Strong and experienced Faculty with highest University training. Good Library, Reading Room, Laboratories, Literary Societies. Excellent Music, Art, Elocution and Business Departments. Diploma from Elon admits to graduate departments in the highest universities.

Beautiful and healthful location, 17 miles east of Greensboro on Southern Railway. Best moral and religious influence. No hazing. New students met by reception committees from young people's Christian organizations connected with the college. Good equipment. A large new dormitory, with modern conveniences, has recently been built to meet the requirements of growing patronage.

EXPENSES UNUSUALLY MODERATE. FALL TERM OPENS SEPT. 1ST.

For catalogue or further information, address

EMMETT L. MOFFITT, LL. D., President.

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

Kinkade's Bible Doctrine

EDITED BY REV. S. Q. HELFENSTEIN
With Helpful Explanatory Notes.

This book contains enough dynamic truth to shatter tons of erroneous theology. It holds the key to many difficult passages of Scripture, is written in a sweet spirit, and teems with the light of truth. Read it, and catch some of the spirit of the pioneers of the Christian Church.

Limited edition, 380 pages, bound in beautiful brown cloth, gold titles, and sold for only $1.00. Send your order at once to

J. N. HESS, Agent

Dayton, Ohio

FREE to YOU ON THIRTY DAYS TRIAL

THIS FAMOUS SPOTLESS WASHING MACHINE

Reduces "wash-day" to "wash-hour." Write us a postal card to-day and we will ship you at once this wonderful washing machine and wringer. It comes right to your depot without any trouble on your part. Try it for 30 days, give it the hardest kind of a test and then if not satisfactory send it back to us by freight and we will pay the charges both ways.

STOP SERIOUSLY TO THINK

If you could imagine a Miller over them this. Could we make it if the Spotless was not the best washer in the world? No, never, there are no strings to this offer. Look a square deal and it is just as it is written. All you have to do is to send us, any two references, that we may know who you are. Our Spotless Washer is honestly made of Superior Virginia White Cedar—fast and tight, has all of its mechanism enclosed, no danger of hands or clothing being caught, is built bearing like a bicycle and is the only machine made in the world that is automatically lubricated; that is why it runs so easily. It will wash anything that it can grasp and it is a quite. Over 5,000 now in use. Send to-day for full particulars of this remarkable machine.

SPOTLESS CO., Inc.
130 Shockoe Square,
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

THE SOUTH'S MAIL-ORDER HOUSE.

strive to do whatever He would have me do. I will Make it the rule of my life to pray and read the Bible, to support the work and worship of my church, and to take my part in the meetings and other activities of this society. I will seek to bring others to Christ, to give as I can for the spread of the Kingdom, to advance my country's welfare and promote the Christian brotherhood of man. These things I will do unless hindered.

(Continued on page sixteen).

D I E D.

Mary Virginia Spain.

Mary Virginia Spain was one year and nine months old, the second daughter of Mrs. J. L. Spain. The little one was suddenly taken ill Thursday afternoon, Oct. 14, 1909, and died from convulsions the following day. More than two years ago, before her birth, her father was accidentally killed in a saw-mill. The little one was almost as suddenly taken, and now she is gone to spend eternity with her father. There is incomparable bitterness in the sadness that appalls us when our own dear children are taken from our bosom, but there is comfort about it which we would not take the world for,—we can have no doubt about the eternity of that soul. The purity of a little child is nearer the purity of heaven than any one else.

H. E. Rountree, Pastor.

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.
P. M. A. M. STATIONS. A. M. P. M.

4:15	8:00	Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50	7:25
4:25	8:10	Caraleigh Lv.	10:40	7:10
4:48	8:35	McCullers	10:22	6:45
4:53	8:40	Banks	10:17	6:57
5:04	8:52	Willow Spgs.	10:09	6:25
5:20	9:04	Varina	10:00	6:14
5:28	9:14	Fuquay Spgs.	9:50	6:05
5:50	9:35	Chalybeate	9:35	5:50
5:55	9:40	Kipping	9:28	5:43
6:08	9:53	Cape Fear	9:16	5:25
6:15	10:00	Lithington	9:11	5:19
6:23	10:08	Harnett	9:01	5:08
6:28	10:13	Bunlevel	8:55	5:02
6:38	10:23	Linden	8:45	4:52
6:49	10:34	Lane	8:33	4:40
6:54	10:39	Slocomb	8:28	4:35
7:10	10:55	Tokay	8:12	4:17
7:20	11:05	A.C.L. Junc.	8:05	4:10
7:25	11:10	Ar. Fayetteville Lv.	8:00	4:05

J. A. Mills, Pres.

Raleigh, N. C.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.
QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West.

Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

Weak Lungs

Seventy years of experience with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral have given us great confidence in it. We strongly recommend it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak throats, and weak lungs. It prevents. It soothes. It heals. Just the help nature needs.

Ask your doctor to name the best family medicine for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak lungs. Follow his advice. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company
BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLABS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

A Free Book About Beautiful Walls

We have just issued a book about house decoration. May we send you a copy—free?

It tells how to produce those beautiful walls, now seen in all the finest of homes and hotels.

It suggests color schemes—offers a wealth of ideas. And it tells what has brought alabastine into universal vogue.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

Alabastine is the only wall coating that doesn't breed germs. It has been so for 39 years.

In the past few years it has become the rage. Fashion now demands it. People of taste—both rich and poor—now have alabastined walls.

Please know the reason. Know the endless color schemes you can get from it. Know how easily you can apply it, even on papered walls.

You will never use wall paper—never use kalsomine—after you know the facts. This coupon will bring them to you. Please send it now.

Alabastine Co.,
Dept. 91,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to

---

---

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

HORSE INSURANCE

Is written by

THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.

Of High Point North Carolina.

Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

THE BEST PAINT

TO USE ON SOUTHERN PINE

Is "Sphinx" Pure Mixed Paint. Not simply because it is honestly made of the purest and best ingredients, but also because "Sphinx" Paint is made by a special formula particularly adapted for pine. This is the reason why so many up-to-date architects and builders insist upon "Sphinx" Paint for all houses built of Southern Pine.

LOOK FOR THE WORDS Savees Quality ON EVERY CAN
This is your protection against deception. If your dealer can not supply you write us for color card and prices.

Leland Moore Paint & Oil Company,
CHARLESTON, S. C.

—Rev. J. W. Wellons returned to the College the first of last week after an absence of nearly three weeks during which time he attended the Eastern Virginia and the Eastern North Carolina Conferences.

CORNISH Sent to You for a Year's Free Trial

Three Years' Credit If Needed, On This Baby Grand

On Terms of Your Own Choice

We will send direct from our Factory, any Cornish piano or organ that you may select from our catalog, on any terms of payment that you may choose, with the distinct understanding that if the instrument does not come up to your fullest expectations you will be under no obligations whatsoever to keep it, and that the

Trial Will Cost You Absolutely Nothing

If the instrument does not prove better value for the money than you can get anywhere else—if it is not as good an instrument as you can buy for one-third more than we ask—if at any time within a year you feel that you have not a good bargain, send it back; we won't find one word of fault with your decision, and you will not be one cent out of pocket for piano or use of the instrument.

Two Years' Credit If Needed

We Save You $100 and More On a Piano

We Give You a Legal Bond of Indemnity

Easy Terms

Buy On The Cornish Plan—Save One-third

which holds us strictly to this offer. You risk nothing. We assume all responsibility, because we know all about the great beauty of material and workmanship in Cornish pianos and organs and we know all about the pure, sweet, rich tone quality of our instruments and we know what a quarter of a million satisfied purchasers think of them.

If you keep the instrument it will cost you the Rock-Bottom Factory Price, not one cent more, and you will receive with it our Bonded Guarantee which insures the instrument for 25 years against defect in material or workmanship.

Send For The Cornish Book

Don't think of buying before reading it. It is the handsomest piano and organ catalog ever issued. It explains things you ought to know whether you buy from us or not and it is yours for the asking. Write for it now and please mention which you are interested in—piano or organ.

Chapel Style

Discount To Religious and Charitable Institutions

CORNISH CO. WASHINGTON, N. J. Established One-Half A Century

Southern Railway

Operating Over 7,000 Miles of Railway.

Quick Route to all Points North, South, East and West.

For Speed, Comfort, Courteous Employees, travel via the Southern Railway.

Rates, Schedules and other information furnished by any of the undersigned.

R. L. VERNON, Trav. Pass. Agt.,

J. H. WOOD, Dist. Pass. Agt.,

Charlotte, N. C.

Asheville, N. C.

S. H. HARDWICK, P. T. M.,

W. H. TAYLOR, G. P. A.,

Washington, D. C.

GIBBES "LOG-BEAM" SAW MILL

Superior to any other log-beam mill. Variety of sizes to suit any requirements. Rack and pinion or cable drive. All sizes fitted with the celebrated Heacock-King Variable Belt Feed Works, giving more perfect control than any other feed. Connected saw guide and arbor boxes. Steel head-blocks. Either the new style Duplex Dogs, or Standard Drop Dogs.

It is the best "Log-Beam" Saw Mill on the market.

GIBBES MACHINERY COMPANY

Write for catalogue Box 1260, Columbia, S. C.

Sellers of "Gibbes Guaranteed Machinery."—All Kinds—All Value.

COMPLETE ONLY $15.00

Just Send Me One Dollar

and I will ship C. O. D. to any open railroad station in the U. S., east of the rocky mountains, this fine Willard Steel Range. Anyone can say they have the best range in the world, but I will furnish the evidence and leave the verdict to you. After you examine this range, if you are satisfied in every way, pay agent $14.00 and freight, and you become the possessor of the best range in the world for the money. The range has six 8-inch lids; 17-inch oven; 15-gal. reservoir; large warming closet; top cooking surface, 30x26 inches. Guaranteed to reach you in perfect order. Shipping weight 400 lbs. "Write for Catalogue." Agents wanted to take orders for this range.

WM. G. WILLARD,

Burns Wood or Coal

No. 135 Willard Bldg. 320 Chestnut Street

ST. LOUIS, MO.

(Begun on page twelve).

dered by conscientious reasons, and in them all I will seek the Savior's guidance.

Form IV.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would have me do. I will make it the rule of my life to pray and read the Bible, to support the work and worship of my church, and to take my part in the meetings and other activities of this society. These things I will do unless hindered by conscientious reasons, and in them all I will seek the Savior's guidance.

Young People's Work at the Eastern Conference.

The editor attended the Eastern North Carolina Conference at Sanford, Nov. 14. The last session of the Conference was given to Christian Endeavor. There was an address on "How to Make Christian Endeavor Go," following the reading of the report. After the address, Christian Endeavor literature was scattered through the audience. On Sunday morning following the adjournment of Conference, steps were entered into which will mean for the Sanford Church a Junior Society under the supervision of Miss Emma Hart and of a Young People's Society under the presidency of Mr. J. O. Gunter. Unless we are sadly mistaken Damascus, led by Miss Sudie McCauley, and Catawba Springs, led by Mr. John Murray, will also soon organize Societies. The Henderson, Raleigh, and Liberty churches already have strong, active Societies. We believe the future is freighted with great things for the Young People's work in this Conference.

A FLOOD OF LIGHT FROM KEROSENE (Coal Oil)

Burning common kerosene the ALADDIN MANTLE LAMP generates gas that gives a light more brilliant than city gas, gasoline or electricity. Simple, address, clean, safe and durable. AGENTS MAKE BIG MONEY is revolutionizing lighting everywhere. Needed in every home. Every lamp guaranteed. Sells itself. Our Sunbeam Burners fit other lamps. Ask our nearest office how you can get a lamp free or apply for Agency Proposition. THE MANTLE LAMP CO. of America, Desk 127

Chicago; Portland, Ore.; Waterbury, Conn.; Winnipeg, Canada

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S PASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 47.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Japan. No nation has done as much in recent years to advertise its growth, progress, development, as the "Sunrise Kingdom." Japan has surpassed other nations, not only in progress, but in making her progress known and felt. At every Exposition—Chicago, St. Louis, Jamestown—Japan had magnificent displays of her arts, sciences and resources. Nor does it tire of this work of advertisement, as much as such work costs. Next year, it is announced, Japan will employ twelve halls in London and display there her history, religion, literature, military organizations, arts, and sciences. Japan as a nation has certainly caught the spirit of modern methods of advertisement and of growth.

Absence of Goodness. What is the difference between being "bad" and living in the "absence of goodness"? That is a question raised by a declaration of the great and good William Ewart Gladstone who said, "If I was not a bad boy, I think I was a boy with a great absence of goodness." We have seen a great many boys who if not bad certainly had about them the longing look of "an absence of goodness." The beauty in the life of Gladstone was, however, that he felt the absence of goodness and spent the long days of a useful life in eliminating that absence, till in his old age, men everywhere could say, "Here is a man with whom goodness is ever present."

A Saint Under Trial. A remarkable incident occurred in New York, Sunday, Nov. 21. With due, appropriate and largely attended ceremony, a tablet was unveiled in one of the prominent churches to Bella Cook, who died a year ago. Who was Bella Cook? Just a sweet and noble soul who was bed-ridden and lay under affliction and suffering for more than fifty years. Shut in by the four walls of her room, confined to the narrow limits of her bed a half century, her heart went out to others and through her agency a great charity was carried on. For fifty-five years she remained a faithful and devoted member of a church not one of whose services was she permitted to attend. A New York paper thus speaks of the life and works of this poor (but rich in soul) afflicted woman: "Ministers of all denominations and representative women in every sphere of life were interested in her, frequently visited her, and found strength and comfort in her testimony to the power of religion to keep the heart filled with gratitude, confidence and hope."

Bananas. You cannot eat a banana without paying tribute to a Trust. One of the most complete, as well as one of the largest, corporations in this country is the United Fruit Company, which now controls the banana trade. This Trust not only brings the bananas to the American market, but produces it on its immense banana plantation in the West Indies, and in several countries of Central and South America. It owns its own lines of steamers engaged exclusively in the transportation of bananas, and also owns and operates several hundred miles of railroads which connect its plantations with its own ports for shipment by steamers. This company owns and controls 85 per cent. of the bananas brought to this country, and shows itself as grasping and as jealous as the Standard Oil Company. The company is only about ten years old, but it is already a master among the gigantic business concerns of this country.

A Higher Power. However rich, powerful or influential one may become, it keeps one more humble, more composed, more complacent to remember always that there is a Higher Power. No ruler in our time was so universally beloved as the late Queen Victoria of England. Riches were hers, fame throughout the whole world attached to her name, and the sun never set on her domain. Yet, in her diary she wrote, "Great events always make me calm," because, as she wrote further, "I have a calm reliance upon a higher power." One speaking of the noble and beloved Queen, one who knew her well, wrote: "Her Majesty was profoundly religious. She believed in the efficacy of prayer. She was a regular Bible reader and frequently used the well-worn Bible that belonged to General Gordon, and was presented by his sister to the Queen, who acknowledged the gift in an autograph letter. At the same time she did not permit her religious convictions to influence the subtle intricacies of statecraft." We may well learn a lesson of calm faith and beautiful humility from the life and career of Queen Victoria.

—The Times-Democrat of New Orleans estimates the present cotton crop at 10,625,000 bales.

—Monday, Dec. 6, Congress convenes for the regular work of the 61st session. It is generally believed that Hon. Joe Cannon, present Speaker, will be re-elected to that position.

—Col. John R. Webster, aged 64, once speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, and many years the brilliant editor of Webster's Weekly, at Reidsville, N. C., died at Reidsville Nov. 28th. His was a life of influence, activity and great usefulness.

—The constitutional amendment for prohibition in Alabama, voted upon on Nov. 29, lost by a small majority. The good people of Alabama put up a splendid fight, and their defeat should not discourage. They are in a good cause, and will doubtless win out in the final.

—Cuba is in a precarious condition and its government may be overthrown. There are internal factions many and bitter and there is much unrest reported. The President of the Senate is a negro, but the negroes are reported to be much dissatisfied because so few of the offices are filled by men of their race.

THE ORPHANAGE PICTURES.

From time to time, the Supt. of the Orphanage has placed in the hands of friends copies of the Orphanage picture. Many of these have not been sold, or if sold, those selling have delayed sending in the money. We ask all friends who hold pictures to rush them off at ten cents per copy and send in the amount of sales as we need the money. Show them to your Sunday schools and many pupils will buy. We want to close the entire lot out before Christmas. Let those who can sell a dozen order from the Supt.

Jas. L. Foster, Supt.

FROM THE FIELD.

NORFOLK LETTER.

Sunday was a good day with the people of the Memorial Temple, it being the day on which Rev. McD. Howsare and the people of the Temple began their relation as pastor and people. Brother Howsare arrived in the city Wednesday night. His family is visiting his wife's people and will arrive later.

The services Sunday morning were in charge of the Rev. I. W. Johnson of Suffolk. Solos were sung by Miss Ruth Fulford and the writer. Brother Johnson preached a strong sermon on the subject, "The Messenger of the Lord." He spoke in a very comprehensive way of what should be the true relation between pastor and people. His sermon was well received, and I heard many favorable comments on it. After the sermon, he proceeded to install Brother Howsare as pastor, according to the principles and government of the church. Then, on behalf of the Eastern Virginia Conference, he delivered an address of welcome. Deacon A. J. Glover delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the deacons and the church.

Rev. Dr. A. J. Fristoe, pastor of Park Ave. Baptist Church, was to have delivered an address in behalf of the pastors of the city, but was detained, and did not reach there. Brother Howsare then responded to the addresses of welcome with appropriate remarks. He had prepared and distributed to the congregation a neatly printed little folder bearing words of greeting to the people which he said expressed his sentiments on the occasion.

Brother Johnson went to Berea, Norfolk Co., and preached for Rev. J. W. Harrell in the afternoon. He was present at the evening services, and participated in the service. Brother Howsare preached at that hour on the subject "Visions of Strength." The sermon abounded in splendid thought, and was delivered in a strong forceful, clear manner, that held the congregation from beginning to end. I think that I can safely say that he captured his people from the start. Brother Howsare is a strong man, having done splendid work for our people, as pastor at Versailles, Ohio, on two different occasions, aggregating eight years. Also in Michigan he held an important pastorate for something like five years with one church. He is a man of splendid education, a strong preacher, and a splendid organizer, and best of all as affecting the people of the Memorial Temple, is that he feels that he is where the Lord wants him, and in response to the Divine call. My expectation, hope, and earnest prayer is, that their association together as pastor and people may result in great good for the old Memorial Temple.

At Portsmouth the pulpit of the Christian Church was filled by a visiting minister from the Baptist Association, which is in session at this time in Portsmouth. Rev. Mr. Wytha preached in the morning, and Mr. Street in the evening. They reported good Sunday school and good congregations both morning and evening. Their pastor, Brother Harrell was at Dendron yesterday, in the interest of the new church in Portsmouth. Weather continues fine, and work consequently progresses at a rapid rate on the church. They are now putting on sheeting for the roof, and if this good weather continues for a few days, they will have the roof on.

The pulpit of South Norfolk was filled both morning and evening by Baptist brethren from the Association. They are as yet, without a pastor. Prof. S. M. Smith will conduct their services next Sunday morning.

Miss Mary Lou Brickhouse leaves today for a stay of several weeks in New York.

Col. A. Savage, who has been reported in these columns recently we are glad to say is at this time considerably improved.

Friday was Taft day in Norfolk, that means necessarily that it was a big day. It was a large day in several respects. Weather conditions were well nigh perfect for an occasion of that kind. Just cool enough to give snap and vim to those who were to take part in the parade. The crowd was enormous, variously estimated at from seventy-five to one hundred thousand people. The President's yacht, the Mayflower, came in promptly at 8:30 and anchored off Hospital Point, and after the President's salute was fired by the artillery stationed near by, and also from the navy yard, the President came ashore, and was escorted to the Monticello Hotel, where he held an informal reception in the parlors. Then he proceeded to the reviewing stand, about ten o'clock passing by and stopping for a while to admire the human flag, composed of about four hundred school children, dressed in red, white and blue, representing old glory. They sang for him America. After reaching the reviewing stand, the parade which was a magnificent one, passed in review. Then the President made a speech to the thousands packed around him, was then hustled off to the Norfolk and Southern for a trip to Cape Henry, to enjoy an oyster roast of delicious Lynnhaven oysters. The President declared afterwards that he had eaten oysters until he felt like an oyster, and was sure on that occasion that he should be as mum as one. Coming to Norfolk in the afternoon, he with Andrew Carnegie, Gov. Swanson and about twenty distinguished guests were entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. Furgus Reid. Later, he appeared at the Armory Hall where a vast throng were assembled at a smoker, given in honor of the Press Association, there he made a short speech before he returned to the Mayflower. Thus winding up a day, that we doubt not, will be for good, ultimately, to Norfolk, and this port generally, by reason of the President's visit, and the presence of the hundreds of the delegates of the Waterways Association, who were just closing up their session, and hundreds of representatives of the Press from various sections of the country, who were here. It is quite probable that at no time in Norfolk's history has there ever been before, such a mass of magnificent decorations as on this occasion.

Keep your eye on Norfolk, it is coming to the front.

J. W. Manning.

COLUMBUS, GA., LETTER.

Rev. E. M. Carter came down from Chipley Saturday P.M. and filled the pulpit at Waverly Terrace Sunday, both morning and evening. His sermons were favorably spoken of by those who were present. The morning congregation was small, but a good audience was in attendance at the evening services. Sunday school was normal, with perhaps a small increase of attendance. The crying need at this point is a pastor for full time. Rev. H. W. Elder is doing all in his power to build up a strong church here, but he has more on his hands than any one man can do. One city church, two country appointments, and two churches in small towns constitute his pastorate at present. By all means another man is needed. But that is the problem. Every available man in our midst has about all he is able to look after. The work is indeed plentiful, but the lack of men to do this work is deplorable, to say the least. Again referring to Waverly Terrace, there seems to be a bright future here if only the present apparent crisis can be tided over and arrangements for the future successfully made.

The attendance at North Highlands Sunday was about as usual, the morning audience being a little above the average. Several were present who are not accustomed to worshipping with us. This is a sign of increased interest.

The 18th instant was a day of peculiar pleasure to a number of our people. The occasion was the fiftieth anniversary of Bro. J. L. Elder, senior deacon of our North Highlands church. About twenty invited guests assembled at his home to spend the day and to partake of such hospitalities as only Bro. Elder and his good wife and daughters (and a few others) are capable of rendering. At the noon hour a most sumptuous table was spread—a feast for that happy, fortunate assemblage. During the day every face was bright and every heart seemed to rejoice, but the happiest of them all was the honored host. May he live many years to come, and as time speeds on, may his happiness increase, his pathway grow brighter, the Master's service sweeter and richer until God shall say, "It is enough. Come up higher."

G. O. Lankford.

Nov. 22, 1909.

Burlington, N. C.

We have entered on our new Conference year with good prospects for a prosperous year.

Our church sent up to conference the best report that it has ever made, and we are planning for greater things this year.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Long of Graham worshipped with us last Sunday morning, Nov. 21st. Dr. Long conducted the services at 11 A.M. in his own inimitable way. Rev. R. L. Williamson who is to assist in the work this year, preached to good acceptance last Sunday night.

On Thursday, Nov. 25, we held thanksgiving service and took an offering for the orphanage. A nice contribution was made.

At three P.M. on Thanksgiving Day Christian Endeavorers assisted by King's Daughters and others served dinner at the County Home for the poor and infirm; while some individuals went to the homes of afflicted ones and carried bits of sunshine in the way of kind words and a good and bountiful dinner.

On the first Sunday in December, Dec. 5th, at eleven A.M., Rev. Martyn Summerbell, D.D., or Lakemont, New York, will preach for us. It is a great pleasure to have Dr. Summerbell with us and to hear him preach.

The Lord bless and prosper His workers everywhere, and "Thanks be unto God, which always causes us to triumph in Christ."

P. H. Fleming.

Portsmouth Letter.

Since our last letter the work on the church has steadily gone forward. The workmen have lost no time. The weather has been ideal. There is a possibility of getting into the new church in the early spring. This will depend largely upon the severity of the winter.

Just after Conference we sent to all the Sunday schools in the Eastern Virginia Conference, brick envelopes to be used in soliciting funds for the new church. We trust all received them and are using them. We have heard good reports from some schools. They have taken told of the plan with earnestness. The success of the effort will largely depend upon the superintendents. Let each superintendent endeavor to get best results possible. It is a plan that enables everybody to help. We are greatly in need of assistance at this time. We are looking to the Sunday schools to help us out in a large measure. With a united effort the schools could easily raise $500. This would be a great help to us.

The second Sunday I exchanged pulpits with Rev. H. H. Butler and went to Bethlehem church in the interest of the new church fund. The offering was $79.36 and they had contributed $15.00 before. The third Sunday I was at Oakland and Mt. Zion and at the two places the offering amounted to about $47.00. We are indeed thankful for these donations. They helped to meet the needs of the hour. But they were not sufficient to enable us to meet our last payment in full. We are still $17.00 short. We sincerely trust that everyone who can will come to our assistance and help us in carrying the work to completion.

I want to call attention to the meeting of the Christian Missionary Association with the Berkley Christian church, Dec. 7, 1909, at 10 o'clock A.M. We would urge the members of the Association to be present as far as possible. The program has not been completed as yet. We will not be able to give it to The Sun as the time of the meeting is now drawing near. Let every member of the Association endeavor to bring in a new member. This would give impetus to the work. It could be done if we were to get right down to work in earnest. We must plan for larger things.

Cash Acknowledgements.

Previously acknowledged	.....$1,927.24
T. J. Wright	..... 5.00
J. M. Eley	..... 5.00
Mrs Joe. Holland	..... 1.00
L. S. Parker	..... 1.00
William Saunders	..... 1.00
Mrs. Carroll	..... 1.00
Rev. I. W. Johnson	..... 25.00
A Friend	..... 25.00
W. H. Brinkley	..... 25.00
Geo. H. Frey	..... 5.00
Rev. C. H. Rowland	..... 5.00
J. J. Pitt	..... 2.50

M. W. Hollowell	..... 5.00
Mrs. David McClenny	..... 1.00
Bethlehem S. S.	..... 20.00
Mrs. J. E. Harris	..... 1.00
Caleb Griggs	..... 1.00
Mrs. Caleb Griggs	..... 1.00
Mrs. M. F. Pierce	..... 1.00
M. E. Pruden	..... 1.00
J. T. Williams	..... 10.00
J. S. Rountree	..... 2.00
J. W. Folk	..... 5.00
Mrs. J. W. Folk	..... 1.00
S. L. McClenny	..... 1.00
G. T. Luke	..... 1.00
John T. Smith	..... 1.00
M. A. Savage	..... 1.00
Felton Pierce	..... 1.00
C. S. Byrd	..... 1.00
E. C. Griggs	..... 1.00
N. W. Byrd	..... 1.00
Thurman Pierce	..... 1.00
R. Wesley Nelms	..... 5.00
David McClenny	..... 5.00
E. L. Turner	..... 2.50
T. F. Holland	..... 1.00
E. T. Collier	..... 1.00
W. H. Holland	..... 2.50
M. J. Wright	..... 1.00
E. L. Cullip	..... 1.00
Annie Savage	..... .11
Tammie Harris	..... .50
Emma Story	..... .25
W. C. Moore	..... 5.00
W. T. Newman	..... 5.00
H. J. Gayle	..... 2.50
J. S. Copeland	..... 1.00
J. H. Gayle	..... 1.50
J. J. Whitley	..... 1.00
C. H. Pitt	..... 1.00
Leroy Pope	..... 1.00
G. C. Griffin	..... 1.00
W. B. Harrell	..... 1.00
Basket Collection (Oakland)	.. 4.46
Capt. Higgins	..... 1.00
Capt. Mathews	..... 1.00
Will Mathews	..... 1.00
Mrs. Coggins	..... .50
C. P. Hicks	..... 1.00
Mr. Brown	..... 1.00
Basket Col. (Mt. Zion)	..... .25

We are indeed grateful to the above donors for their contributions to the work. The Lord abundantly bless and repay. Who will be the next to send us a donation? We shall need $3700 by the middle of December. Now is the time assistance is needed.

J. W. Harrell.

November 24, 1909.

Girls Free. This beautiful Gold Watch with standard movements together with Watch Pin given away absolutely Free for a few hours of your time. Send us 40c for a sample of our latest Household Novelty to take orders with. Send us in the orders you take and the Watch and Pin are yours. Address, Peters Bros. Novelty Co., 83 Ave. A., New York, N. Y.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—It was none of Prof. Harper's fault that the C. E. topics and outline were left out of The Sun last week. They were simply crowded out, an incident, we trust that will not occur again.

—To write it Xmas shows a lack of good breeding, culture and due reverence. There is no such person, place or thing under the sun. Write it Christmas, or not at all. To make an X stand for Christ is barbarous and unpardonable.

—From The Herald of Gospel Liberty, Nov. 25th: "There are two active, able men in the Christian Church, who are open to engagement as pastors. These brethren are Revs. W. S. Long, D.D., and D. A. Long, D.D., both of Graham, N. C. They are both strong preachers and capable of large usefulness in the ministry. Some of the pastorless churches may do well to make note of this fact and look into the possibilities here suggested."

—The Southern Educational Association is to have its 20th annual meeting at Charlotte, N. C., Dec. 28th, 29th, and 30th. The Association embraces sixteen States and is the only Association in the South that discusses the professional features of education in practically all lines. We note with pride and pleasure that among the eminent and distinguished speakers for the forthcoming meeting is Prof. W. A. Harper of the Chair of Latin in Elon College.

—We acknowledge the receipt of the following: "Dr. and Mrs. George S. Altmore invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Hannah Oliver, to Mr. James Adolph Long, Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1909, 7:30 a. m. At Home, Stonewall, N. C. "Dolph" Long was one of Elon's most popular students, and since his graduation has been a success both in the class room and later at the bar, now being a prosperous lawyer and practitioner. We extend heartiest congratulations.

—We chronicle with genuine sorrow the death, at Burlington, Monday, Nov. 28th, of Bro. Isaac N. Walker. Deceased was a half brother of the late lamented Rev. W. T. Walker, and was himself a most agreeable man, an excellent citizen, and a devout and loyal Christian. He was greatly beloved by all who knew him. The interment was from the Burlington Christian Church on Tuesday, 30th, Rev. J. W. Wellons and others assisting Pastor Fleming in the burial service. A good man has gone to his reward.

—An observant brother, deeply interested in all our Southern work, writes: "Glad to see from The Sun evidences of prosperity among our Southern churches. Glad to see Bro. Howsare go to Norfolk: an Elon graduate go to South Norfolk. Hope greater Norfolk will become still greater for our cause. Harrell seems to be doing nicely with the Portsmouth church: Dr. Staley and the Suffolk church still reach toward the top; Raleigh seems to be coming; Burlington continues its growth, and the endowment for Elon passes its $10,000 mark of increase. Praise the Lord!"

—Of the 133 students in Merom Christian College, Merom, Indiana, 17 are preparing for the ministry. This is encouraging indeed and shows, we judge, a much larger ratio than that of our Elon College. Scarcely five years ago we were pleading for money with which to educate our young ministers. Now there is scarcely a Conference that has enough young men in preparation to use the money provided for their training; one Conference in fact having a thousand dollars of such a fund loaned out, drawing interest, this in the absence of worthy young men who deserve and need the money to help in their work of preparation for the ministry.

In the five Conferences of Virginia and North Carolina held this fall, we now recall but three young men receiving license to preach and only one ordained as elder. This is regrettable indeed. Our young men are certainly not flocking into the ministry.

—One of the most appropriate, fresh, and fitting Thanksgiving utterances we have seen this year was that by Dr. A. W. Lightbourne, Pastor of the Christian congregation at Dover, Del., on Sunday before Thanksgiving and printed in the State Sentinel of Dover on Saturday Nov. 27. Dr. Lightbourne used as text Psalm 100:4: "Be thankful unto Him, and Bless His name." No portion of this splendid discourse could do it justice, but three short paragraphs from the introduction will show something of the spirit of the whole:

"We are a nation of grumblers. We have no leisure, in the sense of wholesome, rational and pleasurable recreation. A foreigner was severely condemned for critically remarking that "Americans take their pleasures too seriously." His criticism was just. We have never learned God's philosophy of play. We are getting to be a decrepit nation in consequence. We make a business of pleasure, and a pleasure of business. We could learn from the example of almost every other nation, in this respect. Especially from England, for in their pleasures the English are the merriest people on earth.

Thanksgiving day should be a day of joyous relaxation and recreation. It is home-coming day; a time of blessed reunions and sweet fellowships. It is a day of childhood freedom and sport. We talk about men's rights, and nowadays we hear much about women's rights; but I am more interested in the children's rights. The boys and girls cannot play in the home any more, as our homes are now mere show-places for the curious and covetous gaze of strangers, rather than places of comfort and convenience for the indwelling family. And they are afraid to play out-of-doors lest they come home a little soiled. All Nature manifests the spirit of play. At times we seem to feel that Nature is in a playful mood.

The ancient Jews were a joyous people. Probably the world has never witnessed the parallel of the old Hebrew anniversaries. One of their chief national festivals was the "Feast of Harvest." At its approach the whole nation woke to holiday. Every heart bounded, every eye flashed. From valley to mountain-top the land broke forth into singing, and cottage and palace, hamlet and city, with harp and trumpet and festal procession, were joyous before God. Our "Thanksgiving day" corresponds with the Jews' "Feast of Harvest," and we should observe it in the same spirit of exulting joy.

THE NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

This Conference, the last to meet of our Southern tribe, was in 84th annual session at Belew's Creek, Forsyth Co., N. C., Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of last week. The church here is not large in membership, but in loving loyalty, kindly fellowship and genuine devotion we have not found its superior. If Conference was not all that it should have been the Belew's Creek church was not to blame. It did the work of host in most gracious and generous fashion. The whole community quit work and gave itself entirely to the entertainment and work of Conference. It was indeed good to be there.

Prof. W. A. Harper, already President for several sessions, was reelected. Rev. J. W. Holt was elected vice-President, Prof. W. P. Lawrence and Rev. T. W. Strowd were reelected Secretary and Treasurer respectively, and Mr. C. A. Hines Assistant-secretary. In his well worded and cordial address of welcome, pastor C. C. Peel said that in 1893 Rev. J. W. Holt, then pastor of Salem Chapel church, began preaching in this community. The outlook was promising and so well did the work progress that in 1894 a revival was held, the church house was built and dedicated, and the organization was completed.

In his response President Harper said the fact that Conference was eighty-four years old carried with it a feeling and sense of responsibility. Many who had belonged to the Conference in earlier days had gone to their reward, and these, with the hosts of other interested ones compassed us about as a great cloud of witnesses. Those who have labored in the past looked down from the battlements of glory, praying for our success. A Chinaman 35 years old had been making bricks 4,000 years, that is to say, his ancestors had been doing so and he was under obligations to improve upon what they had done. The greatest praise we can give our fathers is to improve upon them. Fellowship and unity should prevail, and we should go forward. The past year two churches have been built, and a third is asking admittance to the Conference.

After the addresses of welcome and response, President Harper delivered the annual address choosing for his topic, "The Effective Church." This address was pointed, practical, powerful. It is in our hands for publication and will appear in an early issue of The Sun. We have not heard, before any of our Conferences, what we deem a more valuable and fruitful paper than this.

At the conclusion of Prof. Harper's address, Rev. J. P. Barrett, D.D., preached from the text "And when they had lifted up their eyes they saw no man save Jesus only." Matt. 17:8. The speaker said there were strange things in Scripture, and the text brings out one of these, unless the right light be turned upon it. Why did Jesus take only three of his twelve disciples with him to the Mount of Transfiguration? Each would have liked to have been there. Why were not all admitted? It must have been an inspiration. It must have been a glad and glorious privilege. Why did not all share this? Moses and Elijah were talking with Christ, and Peter admitted that it was good to be there. And a voice from heaven said: "This is my beloved Son. Hear ye him." Now we all need to hear Christ. The science and philosophy of our day need to hear him. God is determined to convince men that Jesus is His beloved Son. Human wisdom has its place, but the life of Christ must have first place. The three fell on their faces and remained till Jesus touched them. We need to remain prostrate and in humility till Jesus touches us. We need to fall and to plead, till Jesus touches in spiritual sense. When Jesus had said "arise" they saw Jesus only. We need to arrive at that place in our Christian experience where we will see Jesus only. These three disciples saw everything in the light of Christ. They were so baptized that they saw everything in the light of Christ. That is why the three only were taken to the mountain: the other nine were not prepared to go there. Their Christian life and experience had not been such as to permit them to go to the mountain with Jesus, as much as He would love to have had them. "It would have grieved me," said the preacher, "had I been one of the nine left behind from this glorious mountain scene." We need to come to that point in life where we shall see everything through the life and light of Jesus Christ. The troubles in church and family would vanish could we behold them through the light of Jesus Christ. Satan enlists our anger and co-operation in stirring up strife and enmity. If there be any faction in the church which will see all in the light of Christ, such a faction will vanish. So of home and community.

These three, Peter, James, John, were spiritually qualified, the nine were not, to see the transfigured Christ, and to see all things through Him. The nine were not. The three had in some way got qualifications which the others had not. If ear is stopped we cannot hear the whisper. Many of us have ears that are stopped. We do not hear the whisperings and wooings of the Spirit. So many of us are left behind because we are not ready to go up. Out of 120 Christ chose 70 to send out. Later on of the 70 He chose 12—the ones best qualified. And here out of the 12 He chose only three to go up with Him—the rest were not qualified.

If the Christian church is to become a power, we must press forward, not to surpass others, but to get closest to Christ. Jesus is on the mountain top today. He is distributing great blessings. It is for us to decide whether we shall be there or not. We must make preparation while we run, and qualify ourselves spiritually for Christ's choosing.

In the afternoon, Monticello church, near Brown Summit, in Guilford Co., with a membership of twenty-eight, was admitted to the Conference and delegates were seated.

Under the Report on Sunday schools, Prof. Lawrence delivered a very suggestive address on "The Watchword of the Young People's Convention." "This is the young man's age," we are told, said the speaker. Every age is the young man's age. In the Revolutionary war there was scarcely a man of note or prominence over 40 years old. So back in all history. Thomas Chatterton had become prominent and died before he was 18. Many of the most noted literary men had won their fame before they were 30. Old men in the English Parliament at the close of our Revolution said all was gone. But William Pitt, who electrified that body and gave it new and vigorous life, was prime minister at 24. Whence our Young People's Movement? For several years our Christian Endeavor Committee has been ashamed to make a report because nothing has been done. At the Greensboro Convention a motion was made to abolish Christian Endeavor in our churches. This woke up the Convention. Out of it our Young People's Convention was born. This movement means that we are trying to educate our young people for Christian service. Farmers want the best machinery on their farms. The church needs and deserves the best service that can be had. There is improvement and education everywhere. It was a shame not to prepare and to train for service in the church. The energies of our young people are in large measure wasted. They should be taken and trained in the Master's hands for church service. We need to bring out the best in the young people for the church and for Christ.

There were other interesting talks made on the movement and the report.

On the second day of Conference delegates were elected to the next session of the Convention which meets at Suffolk, Va., next May, nine clerical and nine lay delegates. Only eight of each were elected at first, but it was found when the tabulating committee brought in its report that the Conference membership had increased more than three hundred the past year, and this gave two additional delegates. The reports on Foreign Missions, Religious Literature, and on Education, with addresses by Revs. C. C. Peel, J. O. Atkinson, and Dr. E. L. Moffitt respectively, and the discussions incident thereto, filled the second day. In the evening, after a missionary sermon by The Sun's editor, Bro. Howard E. Truitt was licensed to preach as probationer, and Rev. Edward French was ordained as an elder, the ordaining presbytery consisting of Rev. J. O. Atkinson, who read the Scriptures and questions, Rev. J. W. Wellons, who offered prayer, Rev. J. W. Holt who delivered the charge and Rev. C. C. Peel who presented the Bible. The charge as delivered by Bro. Holt was chaste, well chosen, of excellent worth and wording, and delivered in most solemn and becoming reverence. Bro. Peel was equally as happy, pointed and practical in presenting the Word.

After the ordination, the Report on Home Missions was read, discussed and adopted. Durham and Monticello
(Continued on page thirteen).

WELL DOING.

"We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace." 2 Kings 7:9. These are the words of the four leprous men, who in the face of a famine that meant death to them unless relief should soon come, took chances between life and death and went over to the camp of the Syrians, Israel's enemy encamped near the city of Samaria. These men, finding the Syrian camp deserted, proceeded to help themselves to the good things found in the Syrian tents. Having, presumably, satisfied their own hunger, they began to carry out the valuable things which they found and hid them. In this act of their selfishness they were reminded that it was such and said, "We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace. * * * Let us go and tell the king's household."

People need to be reminded of their selfishness. Peter thought it fitting to stir up even "pure minds by way of remembrance." If men and women would stop to think they would act differently. The Psalmist says, "I thought on my ways, and turned my feet to the way of thy testimonies." Ps. 119:59. It was not until the prodigal had "come to himself" that he took the steps that led him back to the father's house. Isaiah says, "Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord." Christian people ought to seek information along the lines of Christian living and Christian service. The Bible is the first book to be consulted. Herein we may find the principles that regulate and control in a life of well doing. Then there are good books that are but expressions of consecrated lives, rich in Christian experience and fruitful in Christian service. Then there is the religious news paper, whose mission is to educate to a standard of higher, nobler, and more unselfish living. "Why spend money for that which satisfies not?" Why not invest in that which will help the soul and enable one the better to realize the privilege and responsibility of living? The fact of a failure to do well ought to appeal to a multitude who claim to be followers of Christ. The highest type of living is characterized by the spirit of unselfishness. And this is the Christian life. "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich." 2 Cor. 8:9. Are we doing well when we measure ourselves by the spirit that characterized our Great Example? "Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of his." Rom. 8:9. There are people who claim to be Christians, with habits that cost them many fold more than they give to the cause of spreading the gospel, the "good tidings" of salvation. How long before these people will wake up and acknowledge, "We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings and we hold our peace"?

The methods adopted in the Lord's service should be along the line of unselfishness. How is it today in many places? People will not give unless they get something in return. Hence the church fairs and festivals and suppers etc. The church can never fill her God-given mission as long as methods like these are resorted to. And the sooner any church that employs such methods is made to realize, "we do not well," the better will it be for the prosperity of that church and for the spread of the gospel which is the mission of the church. Tithing and offerings are the methods sanctioned by the word of God, both in the Old Testament and in the New. And a failure to follow in this Bible way is called "robbing God".

Some one said to me the other day, "If every member of the church should pay tithes what would we do with the money"? It would be quite a sum, I know, but it could be used in spreading the "good tidings" that the King's household ought to hear about. We must be a missionary people, not only for the sake of the salvation of lost souls, but in order to have the approval of God and our enlightened consciences. "We do not well," unless we are seeking to spread the "good tidings" that Jesus is a Savior and the only Savior from sin. We ought to do this out of love to God, and because of the famishing condition of the King's household in darkened lands and because everyone is entitled to a hearing of the good tidings: the Bread of eternal life, Jesus Christ, is offered to all who believe. "But how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher? and how shall they preach except they be sent?"

W. D. Harward.

Elkton, Va.

On Sunday, November 21. I received four members on confession of faith into the Island Ford Christian Church, and there are others to join soon. The brethren are holding weekly prayer meetings, and the revival continues. When people are being saved, it is because somebody is praying. At the close of the service we went to the beautiful waters of the Shenandoah River where I baptized nine happy converts. I have received twenty one members into this church since October and baptized 15. To God be all the praise.

J. W. Dofflemyre.

A LIVE WIRE.

In this strenuous life, the world's requirements set the highest premium on TIME and ENERGY savers. That's why millions of people in all walks of life, in city, town or country, use the telephone. A telephone often does in ONE minute what otherwise we could not accomplish in an entire week. Hitching your business to a telephone wire means hitching it to a "LIVE wire" in every sense of the word. Southern farmers who value their time and money should no longer be without it. The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., of Atlanta, Ga., has just published a booklet which is free for the asking. Do not fail to write for it. It explains how residents of rural districts can have telephone service, enjoying the advantages of toll connection, at a cost within the reach of everyone.

YOUR ROOF IS WORTH—?*A New View of the Comparative Value of Roof and House.

Your house is worth just as much as your roof—or your roof is worth just as much as your house—according to the viewpoint.

However you may build, however you may fit and furnish your house, after all, the preservation of it depends on the roof. You may lose everything from a nearby fire's spark on an inflammable roof, or water may find its way through a leaking roof, and spread ruin in a less exciting way.

All the old forms of roofing are full of dangers. Wood shingles quickly catch fire, and when they are wet they begin to decay, then they curl and split between times. Slates weigh the roof so heavily that they menace the structure, and when it's very hot or very cold they crack and fall off—especially so in the case of a neighboring fire. Tar and felt roofing is merely highpriced fuel. Plain tin lacks beauty of appearance and has other defects too well-known and too numerous to be mentioned here.

But there is a form of roofing that unites all the good qualities of all other kinds of roofing without a single one of the objections that can be raised to each of them. This roofing is made of tin, but made in the form of shingles and slates, giving homogeneity of tin with its fireproof and waterproof qualities, yet fastened on like shingles without solder, with fewer nails and with less effort in fitting. This model roofing is called Cortright Metal Shingles, and like tin is readily fitted on and about any slope roof, having a workability preferable to tin because of its patented construction. If you are interested in the best roofing money can buy, write today to Cortright Metal Roofing Co., 54 North 23rd St., Philadelphia, Pa., for their free books on all kinds of roofing.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist

FOSTER BUILDING,

Burlington, N. C.

8 HOLIDAY POST CARDS 10c
Send 10c for 8 High Grade Colored or Embossed Christmas and New Year Cards. We send you quality cards not quantity. 24 cards for 25 cents. Kansas Post Card Co., Dept. 463, Topeka, Kans

ETERNAL LIFE.

It is apparent that many people do not have a proper conception of what eternal life is. And there are Christians who assume that eternal life is received by believers only at the resurrection of the righteous ones. They saw that it is a life which is promised to believers, the promise to take effect at the time of their resurrection. These people are decidedly mistaken. It is true that it is a promise, just as salvation is a promise; yet it is a promise which becomes effective as soon as one is born anew. It is a special gift from God, through Christ, to be accepted at once by a believing one. It is not, therefore, the same thing as personal existence. A person will exist forever, and yet he may be entirely destitute of eternal life. The two things are fundamentally apart from each other. Rev. Dr. Scofield, a sound Bible scholar, says: "Eternal life, if it be eternal, is so because it had no beginning, and has no end. Eternal is from everlasting to everlasting. Anything less than it is not eternal. There is a time in experience when that eternal life, which had no beginning and can have no ending, is imparted to us. The eternal life which God gives to us is a life imparted to a believer through the new birth. In a certain sense this is the very a-h-e of the Gospel. Life begins before there is experience. A child is born, and then its history begins; the experience begins, the experience of the infant, of the little child, of the lad or girl, or the man or woman. Life is essential and primary, and antedates experience." No one can become a Christian without having eternal life. This accounts for the fact that a large number of reputed Christians are spiritually lifeless. They are still dead in sin while saying that they are alive. We see, then, that one cannot grow into eternal life by effort or by education. Eternal life cannot be evolved from one's natural constitution, nor can it be produced by any sacred ordinance.

C. H. Wetherbe.

Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve

For Croup It relieves in 15 minutes, sends stimulating, relaxing vapors down the throat with every breath, and also stimulates surface of chest.

For Pneumonia Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, it has no equal in promptly arresting these dangerous affections. Nips all congestion and inflammation in the bud. It's the great Emergency Remedy. Have it ready.

All druggists, or by mail.

VICK'S FAMILY REMEDIES CO.
Greensboro, N. C.

For free sample specify department No. 4.

Every day is Christmas

when an Edison Phonograph is the holiday maker. What is Christmas but a time of joy, of entertainment, of peace and good will?

What produces these things so much as a jolly family circle with the addition of a few friends, all listening to the wonderfully varied programs produced by an Edison Phonograph playing Edison Amberol Records?

You can have just such a real Christmas.

Hear the Edison Phonograph today play some of those new Sousa Band Records, and you will learn for the first time what Edison has done for sound-reproducing machines.

Edison Phonographs - - $12.50 to $125.00
Edison Standard Records - - 35c.
Edison Amberol Records (play twice as long) 50c.
Edison Grand Opera Records - - 75c. and $1.00

There are Edison dealers everywhere. Go to the nearest and hear the Edison Phonograph play both Edison Standard and Amberol Records and get complete catalogs from your dealer or from us.

National Phonograph Co., 149 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.

LET US CLEAN YOUR SOILED SKIRT

Ladies soiled skirts, dresses, suits or wraps of any material, that have become soiled and mussed, can be dry cleaned and pressed, and made new in our

French Dry Cleaning and Dyeing

department. We also dye over garments, with uniform success, and at slight cost to you. Our illustrated booklet and price list is free. Write us for it.

Charlotte Steam Laundry, 224 South Tryon St., Charlotte, N. C.
Carolina's Leading Dyers and Cleaners.

Think Right about an organ

Would you buy a cheap, hastily made organ of unseasoned wood for your church or chapel? Of course not! Estey Organs last a lifetime

ESTEY ORGAN COMPANY
Makers of Pipe and Reed Organs
BRATTLEBORO, VT.
Send for catalogue

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

PRINT Your Own

Cards, circulars, book, newspaper, Press $3, Larger $18, Rotary $30. Save money. Print for others, big profit. All easy, rules sent. Write factory for press catalog, TYPE, paper, etc.

The Press Co., Meriden, Ct.

FREE CATALOGUE

SWAMP ENGINEERS, INC. ALSO DESCRIBE MOTOR ENGINES, BOILERS, GASOLINE
MILLS AND MILLS, GEARWORKS

DELOACH-MILL MANUFACTURING CO., Box 777, Bridgeport, Alabama

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.

I Tim. 4:15.

(Not they that eat most, but they that digest most, are the most nourished. Not they that get most, but they that keep most, are the richest. So not they that hear most, or read most, but they that meditate most, are the most edified and nourished and enriched unto everlasting life)

Daily Food.

"I am the bread of life."

Sunday, December 5.

They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and that turn many to righteousness, as the stars for ever and ever. Dan. 12:3.

Bright as the firmaments above

The truly wise shall shine,

Reflecting beams of truth and love

From, Christ, their Sun divine.

Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Matt. 13:43.

Monday, December 6.

The Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved forever. Psa. 37:28.

When sinners fall, the righteous stand

Preserved from every snare;

They shall possess the promised land,
And dwell forever there.

Let thy loving kindness and thy truth forever preserve me. Psa. 10:11.

Tuesday, December 7.

The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord; and he delighteth in his way. Psa. 37:23.

My God, the steps of pious men

Are ordered by thy will;

Though they should fall, they rise again

Thy hand supports them still.

Make me to go in the path of thy commandments, for therein do I delight. Psa. 119:35.

Wednesday, December 8.

In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence; and his children shall have a place of refuge. Prov. 14:26.

Fear him, ye saints, and ye shall then

Have nothing else to fear;

Make you his service your delight,

Your wants shall be his cares.

The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life. Prov. 14:27.

Thursday, December 9.

My people shall be satisfied with my goodness, saith the Lord. Jer. 31:14.

Thy presence, Lord, can cheer my heart,

Though every earthly comfort die;

Thy smile can bid my pains depart,

And raise my sacred pleasure high.

O satisfy us early with thy mercy, that we may rejoice and be glad all our days. Psa. 90:14.

Friday, December 10.

Our Savior Jesus Christ hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. 2 Tim. 1:10.

Firm as his throne his promise stands,

And he can well secure

What I've committed to his hands

Till the decisive hour.

I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. 2 Tim. 1:12.

Saturday, December 11.

He will be very gracious unto thee at the voice of thy cry; when he shall hear it, he will answer thee. Isa. 30:19.

To God I cried when trouble arose,

He heard me and subdued my foes;
He did my rising fears control,

And strength diffused through all my soul.

Quicken us, and we will call upon thy name, Psa. 80:18.

SYSTEMATIC GIVING.

At the recent session of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference Rev. W. H. Bolton of our Greensboro church delivered one of the sanest, soberest, soundest addresses on Systematic Giving that we have heard recently on that important theme. Bro Bolton spoke from sound sense, from practical experience and observation. Our memory is yet fresh with some things he said to this effect: Years ago we used to raise money by carrying around a paper getting as many as possible to sign; but many would not sign. Very few will give to church and the Lord's cause on faith and by pledge. The great question the Church has been studying is, How to get every member to give something. Each concludes that others are more able to give than themselves, or, "I don't like some member in the church, and I will not give for its support." Any and all excuses are presented.

Now the best plan for getting all to give something is, in a city church, to get something each week, or if country church, each month. That is to say, more will give in little and at stated periods than in large sums at long intervals. Make an average, say, of three cents per day, if no more. That may and can reach the poorest church member. If that is too large, however, make the average smaller, even a penny a day. One member in our Greensboro church gave 93 cents per day the past year, by paying every day and keeping at it. If one will resolve at beginning of the year to give something every day, or every week, or every month, he will find at the end of the year that he had given far more than he had thought or expected.

Giving is hard and heavy because we have no system in it. A washerwoman in one of his churches paid 25c. per week and would not allow her portion to be cut down to 15c. When the year was done she had paid more than $13.00 and was no poorer, but richer for it. "There are no doubt men here today who own farms and yet do not give to the Lord's use in a year what this poor washerwoman gave." One waits till the end of the year to sell his tobacco or cotton or corn. Then he is going to give $5.00. That seems large and not infrequently hurts. When, if given periodically and systematically, it would never have been missed and would have been a pleasure in the giving. "If you have preaching once per month, put a church box in your home and put your weekly, or daily, gifts in that, and you will find at the end of the year that you have given your part easily, satisfactorily, willingly and happily." Systematic giving means giving at stated periods and letting the periods be close together. The trouble we suffer under is not too much giving, but too little system. Until we have system we will have trouble in getting together the gifts necessary to the Lord's work. Bro Bolton's address was well delivered and will result in much good. We regret not to have taken it down in full at the time.

PRESENT AFFLICTIONS.

Suffering is always personal. Afflictions are not abstract, but concrete. Sorrow belongs to self. There is nothing altruistic about pain—pain is intensely personal. So, when suffering, sorrow, affliction comes one says "You do not know what I endure. Your words are very kind, but without weight or worth, because you do not know the depths of my suffering, disappointment, grief, affliction." It is ever so. We think our affliction is the hardest and heaviest that ever fell to anyone. That is because affliction is ever concrete, definite, specific, intensely pointed and personal.

Now in very truth others have suffered, and do now suffer, just as intensely and painfully and definitely as do we ourselves. And if we could only see them right we should learn that God sends afflictions not for our undoing, but for our upbuilding. God afflicts us not because He is cruel, but because He is kind; not because He is angry with us, but because He loves us. In his Thanksgiving sermon at Dover, Delaware, Dr. W. A. Lightbourne used this fine phraseology and lofty sentiment:

"It is God that determines the bounds of our habitation. He appoints the stations we are to fill. He allots the comforts we are to enjoy, and the trials we are to suffer. Our present afflictions are salutary. This is a truth, alike of experience and revelation. They produce in the soul the peaceable fruits of righteousness. As grace is the measure of glory, so "do these light afflictions which are but for a moment, work out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." They are but the winds driving the soul-bark toward the desired haven!—but the darkness of night making glorious the stars of heaven! Therefore, afflictions as they are related to God's true children, must be regarded as mercies in disguise."

SUFFOLK LETTER.

Solomon Junius Carr was born in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, August 1, 1851, and died in Suffolk, Va., November 17, 1909.

He married, first, Mary Eley, December 18, 1878. Their only daughter is now Mrs. Lizzie Carr Brinkley who is one of the finest singers in the state and a member of the Suffolk Church choir. She is the mother of three children, one dead and two, Willie and Mary, living. Her husband, W. E. Brinkley, is town Sergeant.

The second time he married Martha A. Ballard, January 17, 1878, and they were the parents of seven children: Junius Edwin, deceased, Jomie Evalina; Bessie May, deceased; Willie Poste, Annie Ballard; Paul Hope; and Ruth Whitehead. Poste is married and resides in Temple, Texas; Annie married H. J. Titus, has one child, Virginia Annetta, and they live in Sparta, Illinois; Jomie married A. D. Bowen, and they have one child, A. D. Bowen, Jr., and they reside in Suffolk. All the children were at the funeral, though Poste did not arrive from Texas till his father had passed away. Brother Carr left Ballard and Smith's store, where he had been employed for more than twenty years, on Thursday, Nov. 11th, and died Wednesday night, Nov. 17th.

He was twenty years a member of the Suffolk church, having been transferred from Windsor. He was a member of the Music Committee, Sunday school Teacher, Deacon, and Member of the choir. He was faithful and reliable; always present unless sickness or absence from town prevented his attendance; he never neglected any church duty. He loved God, his church, and worship. He enjoyed prayer meeting and all church Societies. He loved to praise God in song. To him singing was not simply an art, but a means of praising God. He sang with the spirit and the understanding also. He was by nature religious, and by experience and practice pious and spiritually-minded. Religion had meaning to his heart and help for his life.

He was devoted to his work and faithful in it. Pleasant and courteous to customers, considerate and patient, accommodating and kindhearted, multitudes loved him and loved to trade with him. His disposition was worth as much as his work.

He had a high regard, even personal love, for his employers and his co-workers. He left the counter for his death-bed, and carried the store in his mind in his delirium. It seemed to be on his mind to the end.

He was intensely affectionate in his family. He carried them in his heart, on his knees in prayer, and in his daily round of service. His married life had been full of happiness, and he clung to his wife and children in the deep simplicity of a child's devotion. Years made no change in the intensity of his sympathy and the fervency of his love for them. It was a model family in devotion and loyalty to one another.

He was sincerely grateful for kindness bestowed and was sure to give expression to his gratitude. Many times he made his benefactors his debtors by words of thanks for what they had done for him.

His lips rarely, if ever, parted to say anything against any person. He kept his tongue from evil and lips from speaking guile. His words were sweet words and his manner was always courteous. Particular in his personal habits, he was clean of speech, and pure in life and conduct. His children rise up and call him blessed.

His end was as quiet as a child goes to sleep. Dr. D. L. Harrell had to examine to see whether he had gone. "Absent from the body; present with the Lord."

A great throng attended his funeral services, and the profusion of flowers looked like summer time. Love hunts for the best and weaves sympathy and affection into flower-fabrics to cover the grave where God's children rest.

A full choir with sobbing hearts rendered "Kissed By the Angel of Peace" and "Come to Our Hearts and Abide" most tenderly. Rev. H. H. Butler, and Rev. J. B. Dunn of the Episcopalian church, assisted in the service.

W. W. Staley.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Thanksgiving went off quietly but joyously. A Thanksgiving service was held in the Chapel in the morning. Students enjoyed themselves in a social way in keeping with the superbly fine day. In the evening the Philologian Literary Society rendered the following program to a large audience:

Oration—Divine Discontent, J. J. Ingle.

Elon Echoes, J. Sipe Fleming.

Oration—The Importance of Co-operation, J. A. Fogleman.

Music, Quartette.

Debate.

Query: Resolved, That Women Should Be Granted the Same Rights as Men in the Use of the Elective Franchise, Affirmative: Negative:

Stewart, J. C.

Anderson, W. L.

Fleming, W. H.

Daughtry, E. L.

Music, Quartette.

Hon. W. H. Carroll of Burlington, Dr. J. U. Newman, and Prof. T. C. Amick, were the judges in the debate, and rendered their decision in favor of the negative. Rev. L. E. Smith presided and Mr. H. E. Truitt served as secretary. The Marshals were: R. C. Lewallen, Chief, and Messrs. A. H. Simpson, S. B. Foushee and F. S. Drake.

The Society maintained its reputation for high-class literary society work. The Clio Society give their annual entertainment on the evening of February 22, and the Psiphelian Society theirs at Easter.

—Bar Haven, a comedy drama in three acts was given Saturday evening, by the department of Expression, to a good sized audience in which were many visitors. Miss Urquhart, the head of the department, showed herself an efficient trainer in the field of the elocutionary art. The performers were: Messrs. Frank Warren, Liggett Lincoln, Arnold Hall, Russell Campbell, Ross Walker, Edgar Hines, and Misses Affie Griffin, Laura Bond, Sadie Fonville, Lois Davidson, and Nannie Baker Farmer.

W. P. Lawrence.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week $4,090.26

Dues:

Hubert A. Neville .....	$ .10
Ethel Lillard .....	.05
Lucille Lillard .....	.05
Garland Gray .....	.25
Lizzie Lawrence .....	.05
Maple Lawrence .....	.05
Warner Carpenter .....	.50
T. J. Carpenter .....	.50
Holt Moffitt .....	.50
Mary Lee Foster .....	.10
James L. Foster, Jr. ....	.10

Special Offering:

1 doz. pictures by N. M. Parish .....	1.20
1 doz. pictures by Miss Emma Williams .....	1.20
1 doz. pictures by R. W. York .....	1.20
11 pictures by Chas. D.

Johnson .....	1.10
5 pictures .....	.50
On support of Mitchell children .....	50.00
On support of brother by Miss Fowler .....	20.00
Thanksgiving Offering:
Liberty, N. C. Chr. Ch. .	3.00
New Center, N. C. Chr. Church .....	.50
Antioch (R) Chr. Ch. ...	.45
T. M. Brady and wife, Cheeks, N. C. ....	1.00
Elisha Thoraburg, Ionia, Kansas .....	2.50
Ravena, N. Y. Chr. Ch. .	7.05
Alcove, N. Y., Chr. Ch. .	2.50
Lambert's Point, Va. ...	9.40
Dr. P. R. Hatch & family, Youngsville, N. C. ....	10.00
Brown Springs, Ga. ....	5.75
Media Ward Hightower .	.35
Mrs. Bagwell, Durham ..	1.00
Morrisville, N. C. Chr. Ch.:
Mrs. M. E. Pugh .....	2.00
Alberta Boone .....	.25
Mrs. W. G. Clements ...	.25
Ralph D. Clements ....	.25
Friends .....	2.60
Holt Moffitt .....	.50
Am't. 44th week .....	126.80
Total .....	$4,217.06

My Dear Children:—

We have a good start for the Thanksgiving offering, and are hoping before the month is gone to fully realize our expectations, viz., payment of all debts. Will not that be glorious news to all who have helped with the good work! This week we have to report: Miss Ratie Hurdle, Greensboro, N. C., 1 quilt; J. W. Fonville, Burlington, N. C., 1/2 bbl. flour; Mrs. C. F. Burges, Ramseur, N. C., 1 box old garments suitable for all sorts of household necessities. Thank you, friends. Anything you can use in your home we can use in ours.

Cordially yours,

Uncle Jim.

Dear Cousins:—

We are rather late with our dimes, but here they are for Oct. Are you all looking for Old Santa? We are, and do hope the dear fellow will bring us lots of goodies.

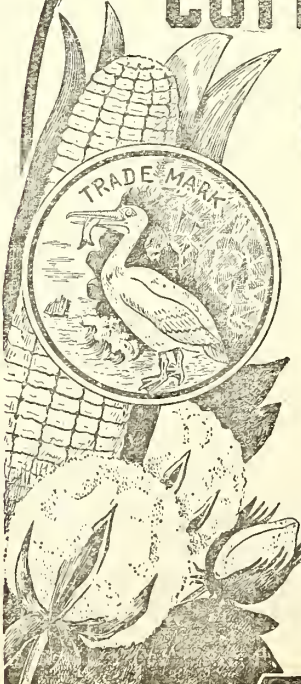

We do not have but three kitties now. Some wood fell on one of the gold dust twins and killed him and we sold the yellow one for 5 cents and an apple.

We bought candy with the money, and all of us little girls here had a stick.

I do not know which we loved the most, the kitties or the candy. James wants Santa to bring him a horn and

GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO

INSURES "BUMPER" CROPS OF COTTON, CORN AND TRUCK

IF you have never used Peruvian Guano, you don't know the possibilities of your land.

With proper cultivation, no other known fertilizer will produce as large yields.

Peruvian Guano is a product of nature. It contains things which man cannot successfully imitate.

Peruvian Guano is the excrement of fish-eating birds that inhabit the West coast of Peru.

Peruvian Guano is, therefore, DIGESTED FISH—digested by Nature and without the use of Sulphuric acid.

Peruvian Guano contains elements quickly active, some slow, and some still more slow, and it, therefore, nourishes the plant from start to maturity.

We have a great number of letters from those who have used Peruvian Guano, and pictures of Cotton Crops, Corn Crops, Tobacco Crops, Truck Crops, and Grain Crops, on which it was used. Send for our book of letters and pictures from those who know Peruvian. It's FREE.

Peruvian Guano Corporation, Charleston, S. C.

Only the BEST is Good Enough for the Family —

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

for 1910

The Contents of the 52 issues of the 1910 Volume, if printed in book form, would make 20 volumes costing ordinarily $1.50 each. Each week's issue will be packed full with reading that delights every member of the family circle. Some of the good things for next year are

- 250 GOOD STORIES; a number of Serials; Stories of Adventure; Humorous Tales and Stories of Character and Heroism
- 300 CONTRIBUTORS who will write on many subjects, useful and entertaining, including many of wide fame.
- 1000 UP-TO-DATE NOTES on Happenings in Science and Natural History; on Current Events of Importance everywhere.
- 2000 ONE-MINUTE STORIES; Bits of Humor and Sketches; Timely Editorials; Children's Page; The Weekly Health Article.

SEND FOR FREE SAMPLE COPIES OF THE PAPER AND ILLUSTRATED ANNOUNCEMENT FOR 1910.

FREE
To January
1910

EVERY NEW SUBSCRIBER who at once cuts out and sends this slip (or the name of this publication) with $1.75 for the fifty-two weeks of The Youth's Companion for 1910 will receive

ALL THE REMAINING ISSUES FOR 1909, INCLUDING THE BEAUTIFUL THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS NUMBERS.

THE COMPANION'S "VENETIAN" CALENDAR FOR 1910, LITHOGRAPHED IN THIRTEEN COLORS AND GOLD.

Then The Youth's Companion for the fifty-two weeks of 1910 — a library of the best reading for every member of the family.

OX 215

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.

I, of course, want a doll baby. I wish I had a hundred. What do you all want?

Lovingly,
Mary Lee Foster,
James L. Foster, Jr.

Ruffin, N. C., R. F. D. 1, Nov. 18, 09.
Dear Uncle Jim:—

We want to join the band. We see so many letters from the little cousins, we want to help too. We are small yet, but not too small to help. Uncle Jim, you have been to our house, but I don't remember it. For fear our letter will be too long, we will close.

Enclosed you will find five cents each.

Love to the cousins, and a share for yourself.

Ethel and Lucille Lillard.

Ah, little folks, you will grow large after awhile, and then you may be able to do more. Welcome.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 23, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

How are you and the cousins getting on? How many turkeys have you for Thanksgiving dinner? You will find a dime for me. Best Thanksgiving wishes.

Your nephew,
Hubert A. Neville.

Well, Hubert, we have to call our "roosters" turkeys, and we had five. They were good, too.

Seagrove, N. C., R.F.D. 1,
Nov. 14, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We are too little girls, Lizzie 3 years old, Maple, 1. We have fine times playing out of doors this fine weather. Maple can walk almost as well as Lizzie.

We don't know much about the orphans yet, expect to learn more as we grow older. We send ten cents. Papa is aiming to go to Conference at Graham next week. Guess he will see you there. Much love to all of the cousins.

Your little nieces,

Lizzie Lawrence.

Maple Lawrence.

Welcome, little ones! As you grow older may your interest increase.

750 BIBLE AND GOSPEL STUDIES

Brief Complete Outlines of Sermons, Talks, Addresses; for Students, Teachers, Preachers. Covering Old and New Testaments. Ready Help for Leading all Meetings. Many Important and Puzzling Questions Answered. All References and Short Explanations. All Subjects Covered. Vest Pocket size, 128 pages. Cloth 25c, Morocco 35c, post-paid. Stamps Taken. Agents Wanted. GEO. W. NOBLE, Lakeside Building, Chicago, Ill.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

Word: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—GOOD PRAYER-MEETINGS.

A Christian Endeavor Prayer-meeting ought to be a good one. Sometimes it is not as good as it might be. When this is so, there is always a cause. In this editorial we will give three things which, if practised, ought to make every Christian Endeavor Prayer-meeting full of interest, zest, and enthusiasm.

1. Provide Christian Endeavor literature. Any literature bearing upon the religious life is appropriate for Christian Endeavor. But there are special books and periodicals which bear directly on the topic for the respective services and which, of course, should be accessible to members. Chief among such literature, we may mention: The Christian Endeavor World, The Christian Endeavor Quarterly, The Christian Endeavorer's Daily Companion, The Christian Endeavor Topic Card with Bible Readings, The Endeavor Greeting, Christian Endeavor in Principle and Practice On the Lookout, The Missionary Manual, Prayer-meeting Methods, Social to Save, Social Evenings, and many others, any one of which will be furnished by the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Boston, Mass. Then the Christian Endeavor Notes in the religious and secular papers should be read. The books mentioned in this paragraph might with profit be added to the individual or the Sunday-school library.

2. Prepare for the Meeting. Literature is of no value, unless used and appropriated. Therefore the books should be read, as also should the periodical literature. The Christian Endeavorer pledges himself to read the Bible daily. His reading might very well be the daily readings on the topic for the next prayer-meeting. When he reads anything, whether a book, periodical, newspaper, what not, he should have his Christian Endeavor spectacles on, look for facts, illustrations, truths that may be helpful to him in the prayer-meetings. This will help to make Christian Endeavor practical, this will mean that it is to become a controlling influence, a compelling factor in everyday life.

3. Plan for the Meeting. It may seem a paradox that Christian Endeavor, one of whose chief tenets is "No impression without expression," should need its prayer-meetings to be planned. "Can you foretell impressions?" No. But you can plan for them, when you know what ones you desire to produce, and then leave expression to itself. The leader and the Prayer-meeting Committee should plan the prayer-meeting, calling on the pastor for assistance. These meetings, when planned, should look somewhat like the suggested program given each week in these columns in connection with the Christian Endeavor Topic. There should be variety in the plans and the assigned work, such as Scripture References and Question Spurs should not be specifically called for. They should come in under voluntary participation, so as not to make the meeting formal and after the manner of a stage-performance. Don't give assigned work ordinarily to any except those who might not otherwise take part.

Christian Endeavor in the Western Conference.

Rarely have we enjoyed ourselves more than in the Western North Carolina Conference, when on Thursday evening the body gave itself over to the consideration of Christian Endeavor. The Conference was in earnest about the matter and so good results followed. Rev. R. L. Williamson read the report and led the discussion. This department's editor spoke on "How to Make Christian Endeavor Effective." Then followed a Model Christian Endeavor Prayer-meeting, which was a joy to the heart and inspiration to the soul. The Graham Church had prepared special music and this helped mightily in the success of the session. After the prayer-meeting, Christian Endeavor literature was distributed and several ministers and lay members declared their intention of organizing Christian Endeavor in their congregations. The program for the evening was well planned and well-executed.

Young People's Work in the North Carolina and Virginia.

One entire session and a part of another were given to the consideration of the Young People's Movement by this Conference, which met with the good people of Belew's Creek. Rev. L. I. Cox on the afternoon of the first day led an open parliament on "Auxiliary Organizations of the Church: How They Help in the Financial, Moral, and Spiritual Upholding of the Church." Under this discussion a minister took occasion to speak against the young people's movement, but Conference was evidently not in sympathy with him and with pleasure took up all the Christian Endeavor literature that had been carried and gave names and addresses for many additional copies to be mailed.

At the evening session of the same day, Bro. L. M. Clymer read the Sunday-school report and led in the discussion. Then followed an address by Prof. W. P. Lawrence on "The Watchword of the Young People's Movement." Prof. Lawrence showed that the idea of the Young People's Movement is fastening itself upon this Conference also, for in less than six months 12 Christian Endeavor Societies, 9 Teacher Training Classes, and 1 Organized Class had been organized. We think we are on the verge of a new day in our young people's work in this Conference, for which we give thanks.

C. E. TOPIC FOR DEC. 5—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Life Lessons for Me from First John.
1 John 4:7-21.

(Monthly Consecration Meeting.)

Facts Concerning First John. This epistle has been called the appendix of the Gospel according to John. The beloved apostle, who lived to the end of the 1st Christian century, wrote it in his last days and most likely to the Church at Ephesus, of which he had for so long a time been the head. Yet the epistle is perhaps the most general of all the writings of the New Testament and practically independent of all time and place. It is a spiritual document and freighted with great comfort and exhortation for the modern world. In it there are two great purposes: to correct many impressions in regard to Christ, showing Him to be the divine Son of God; and secondly to urge obedience to Christ, setting forth with bewitching tenderness the fundamental doctrine of love to God and man. These facts should be brought out by some one designated by the leader, perhaps by the pastor.

Outline of First John. On blackboard or chart have an outline of First John, similar to the one subjoined. Let the one in charge of this part of the program, read the outline and give brief comment, the Endeavorers following with open Bibles. Five minutes is sufficient for this exercise

Introduction, 1:1-4.

I. God is light. 1:5-2:28.

2. If ye walk in the light, 1:5-2:2.

2. Obedient to His Love in general, 2:2-6.

3. Obedient to the Commandment of Brotherly Love in particular, 2:7-14

4. Not Misled by Lusts, 2:15-17.

5. Not Misled by Lies of the World, 2:18-23.

6. Exhortation of the Faithful to Steadfastness in their Assurance of Possessing the Truth and Eternal Life, 2:24-28.

II. He that is born again Doeth Righteousness, 2:29-5:12.

1. Being Born Again a Miracle of His Love, 2:29-3:3.

2. The Reborn is bound by His Will, 3:4-10 (1st clause).

3. Especially to Practise Brotherly Love, 3:10-18.

4. Is Blessed, 3:19-24.

5. Trying God like the False Spirits, 4:1-6.

6. Enjoys the Love of God and Exhibits Brotherly Love, 4:7-21.

7. Triumphs over the World and is Sure of Eternal Life, 5:1-12.

IV. Conclusion, 5:13-21.

Work for All.—Have each member read the entire book and pick out his favorite verse.

Scripture Lesson. Let the leader read the Scripture lesson and comment briefly thereon, after the above suggested work has been disposed of.

Suggested Program.

1. Chain of prayer. Song.

2. Facts about First John by Pastor.

3. Outline of and comment on First John.

4. Roll call and response by the favorite verse in First John.

5. Prayer. Song or solo.

6. Scripture lesson and comment by leader.

7. Song. Prayer.

S. Voluntary participation in whatever way desired.

9. Concert recitation of the pledge.

10. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

(Began on page four).

churches were given aid, and several other points where Christian churches are needed and asked for were considered and recommended as worthy of concern and attention.

On Thursday, the last day of Conference, a Christian Missionary Association was organized. Rev. S. B. Klapp was elected President, Bro. W. J. Graham, Secretary. Several members, sixteen, we believe, were secured, on a fee of $5.00 per member per annum.

A most appropriate Thanksgiving service was conducted; ministers and laymen joined with short and appropriate talks, after which Rev. A. F. Iseley administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. In the afternoon the Tabulating Committee made report, showing a very gratifying gain in church membership the past year, but some decrease in contributions from churches for the various enterprises, save those we believe of Sunday school Home Missions and Convention Missions. Rev. J. W. Holt read a timely and interesting paper on "The Way to Improve." Rev. S. B. Klapp, Chairman, read the Report on Moral Reform and delivered a timely and telling address. Rev. C. C. Peel also spoke to the report, choosing as topic, "Individual Rights." There was much routine and miscellaneous matter last day, and Rev. T. W. Strowd preached in the evening, when a Farewell Service was also conducted.

The next session of Conference is to be held at Pleasant Grove Church, Va., continuing four days from Tuesday after third Sunday in November 1910. Prof. W. P. Lawrence being chosen to deliver the annual address with Rev. S. B. Klapp as alternate.

Every member of Conference was royally entertained, each thinking he had the choicest home and host. In company with Revs. J. W. Wellons, J. P. Barrett, D.D., and J. W. Holt, the editor shared the generous and gracious hospitality of Brother and Sister Thomas Jefferson Preston, than whom we have not found more kindly and thoughtful host and hostess anywhere.

Memorial Christian Temple, Norfolk, Va.

With the old city of Norfolk gaily decorated with glowing colors, stars and stripes, with many thousands of little electric bulbs that made the city fairly glow with light, in honor of the Deeper Waterways Convention and the nation's chief executive, Wm. H. Taft, the most strenuous week in the history of Norfolk closed Nov. 20. And along with many other things for us to participate in was the installation of our new pastor, Rev. McDaniel Howsare, who arrived in the city on November the nineteenth from Ohio. The Installation services occurred on the morning of Nov. 21 and was well attended, well arranged, and very impressive. Rev. I. W. Johnson, of Suffolk, made the principal address of the morning, welcoming Bro. Howsare on behalf of the Eastern Virginia Conference, his subject being "The messenger of the Lord," Mal. 2:7. His address was short, but in his characteristic way he gave Bro. Howsare to feel that he is a welcome worker in this field and that there is room for workers here. Bro. Stover, a deacon, welcomed Bro. Howsare on behalf of the church and deacons. To these addresses Bro. Howsare made a hearty response, in which he assured us that he was at home and that he had come to us to be a co-worker. We are forced to believe that Bro. Howsare is well equipped and that, with proper co-operation on the part of the members, the Old Temple is just beginning to awaken to a broader and better work than ever before.

Miss Fulford rendered a solo during the morning services, and also Dr. Manning sang a solo. The Third Church had no services, the most of the congregation attending the installation services. Bro. Johnson preached a splendid sermon and it was well received. The auditorium of the Temple was well filled at both services.

Our Sunday school came in for a good part of the welcoming of Bro. Howsare. We had a good school and both Bros. Johnson and Howsare took part in the general program. Our school is holding its own and along many lines taking on new life.

In the evening services, the auditorium was filled to its seating capacity. Bro. Howsare's sermon was able, forceful and instructive, and the congregation was highly pleased.

During the evening service a solo was rendered by Mr. A. C. Dyer, a young man, member of the Memorial Temple.

Mr. Johnson filled the pulpit at Berea, Norfolk Co., Sunday afternoon.

We are glad to learn that Col. Savage is somewhat improved at this writing.

Mr. Howsare is being entertained by Bro. M. J. W. White until his furniture and family arrive, after which time his address will be 113 Cook Avenue, Norfolk, Va. Why not our Southern pastors write him a word of greeting?

J. H. Blanchard.

Storms Can't Put This
'Phone Out of Commission

It works as long as the wires are working. You can't wreck a New Giant. It's the strongest telephone made. It's built to stand hardest usage.

The New Giant has a special heavy generator of imported steel. Rings loud and clear. Think of what that means to the farm.

Phone Test at a Kentucky Exchange

Number of Andrae Giants in use . . . 110
Repair jobs . . . None

Number of all other makes . . . . . 139
Repair jobs on them . . . . . 148

NEW LOW PRICE

No other manufacturer can produce such a 'phone at the greatly reduced price of the New Giant—nor at a higher price. We couldn't last year. We charged much more for this 'phone at that time. Now, however, our mammoth factory's output has increased so greatly we're able to make this special low price.

Take a New Giant on 30 Days' Free Trial

We will give you a service guarantee. Write today for our "phonetal" and booklet.

Julius Andrae & Sons Company
Sycamore Street
Milwaukee, Wis.

Ingredients of Ayer's Hair Vigor: Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinin, Sodium Chlorid, Capsicum, Sage, Alcohol, Water, Perfume.

Anything injurious here? Ask your doctor.
Anything of merit here? Ask your doctor.
Will it stop falling hair? Ask your doctor.
Will it destroy dandruff? Ask your doctor.

Does not Color the Hair

J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.

During 1909
(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company
BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

RALEIGH & SOUTHPORT RY. Co.
P. M. A. M. STATIONS. A. M. P. M.

4:15	8:00	Lv. Raleigh	Ar. 10:50	7:25
4:25	8:10	Caraleigh Lv.	10:40	7:10
4:48	8:35	McCullers	10:22	6:43
4:53	8:40	Banks	10:17	6:37
5:04	8:52	Willow Spgs.	10:09	6:25
5:20	9:04	Varina	10:00	6:14
5:28	9:14	Fuquay Spgs.	9:50	6:05
5:50	9:35	Chalybeate	9:35	5:50
5:55	9:40	Kipling	9:28	5:43
6:08	9:53	Cape Fear	9:16	5:25
6:15	10:00	Lillington	9:11	5:19
6:23	10:08	Harnett	9:01	5:08
6:28	10:13	Bunlevel	8:55	5:02
6:38	10:23	Linden	8:45	4:52
6:49	10:34	Lane	8:33	4:40
6:54	10:39	Slocomb	8:28	4:35
7:10	10:55	Tokay	8:12	4:17
7:20	11:05	A.C.L. June	8:05	4:10
7:25	11:10	Ar. Fayetteville Lv.	8:00	4:05

J. A. Mills, Pres.

Raleigh, N. C.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.
QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West.

Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

Here's a Book About Wall Decorations

It tells how to produce the most beautiful walls, and walls that don't breed germs.

It tells how the finest hotels, and most modern homes, get their new color effects.

It tells you how to get them, in your own home, at a very slight expense.

Please get this book, and our wealth of ideas, before you attempt decoration.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

You will never use wall paper—not use kalsomine—after you know the facts.

Good taste and good health both demand Alabastine. It is the vogue now—the fashion—in mansion and cottage alike. It can be applied over papered walls.

Alabastine is permanent and economical—brilliant and beautiful. You can carry out endless color schemes with it.

Please let us tell you about them. Judge if you want such effects in your home. Please send us this coupon now before you forget it—and let us send the book.

Alabastine Co.,
Dept. 52,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to

---

---

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

HORSE INSURANCE
Is written by
THE SOUTHERN LIVE STOCK INSURANCE CO.

Of High Point North Carolina. Send your name and address to-day for valuable information as to the use and abuse of horses.

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at five hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinehurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

SPHINX PURE MIXED PAINTS

THEY LAST!

"Sphinx" Paint comes ready-mixed. You don't waste one-third of your painter's time at $2 to $3 per day as when you use lead and oil. You save from $10 to $30 on your labor bill when you use "Sphinx."

Then too "Sphinx" Paint is ten-fold better mixed than any painter could possibly do it, for we use perfect mixing machinery. This is why "Sphinx" covers so evenly and goes farther per gallon than any other paint. We guarantee one gallon to cover 300 square feet,—two coats.

Sphinx Paint is Best for Southern Pine

Look for our trade-mark bearing the words Lemco Quality

It is your best insurance against cracking, scaling and peeling. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us for free color-cards and prices. Made in white, black, and 45 beautiful tints and colors.

LELAND MOORE PAINT & OIL COMPANY, CHARLESTON, S. C.

"It's strange I never thought of that!"
I heard him shout with glee.

The man was planning for his flat.
A folding Christmas tree.

—Woman's Home Companion for December.

CHRISTIAN HERALD

1,200 Large Pages Yearly. Our Wonderful "Dreamland" Calendar Free with Every Subscription. Always Full of Bright Pictures Published Every Wednesday (52 Times a Year) at the Bible House, New York. Subscription $1.50 per Annum. Louis Klopsch, Proprietor

Different From Others and Better!

There are over 22,000 papers published in this great country of ours, but there is only one Christian Herald. The rest; it is the only one of its kind. It is a great Weekly Magazine aggregating over 1,200 Large Pages a Year. It is always sunny, optimistic, hopeful. It helps to make the world better, brighter, happier, and its every page sparkles with life and beauty.

This differs from all

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon
Regular Contributor to 1910

To invite the weekly visits of The Christian Herald, "The Best of Magazines," to your home is like opening the shutters to let the glorious sunshine in. Gloom and despondency instantly disappear. The wife will revel in its wealth of pictures and stories; the children will devour its contents, and the husband will declare that it was indeed a happy day for the entire household when he accepted our cordial invitation to become a member of The Christian Herald Family.

Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster
Member Editorial Staff

Although The Christian Herald contains in the course of a year as much as Any Four of the Dollar Magazines, its Subscription Price, including our superb "Dreamland" Art Calendar, is only $1.50 per annum. If you Subscribe To-day, you get the FIVE DECEMBER ISSUES FREE.

Entertainment for a Hundred Nights

"Dreamland" Calendar

What Margaret E. Sangster Says of it!

"There is not a Mother, or, for that matter, a Grandmother, in this wide land, from coast to coast, who will not want the 'Dreamland' Calendar for her own, as soon as she sees it. The artist has chosen an ecstatic moment in home life, when the household darling, weary with play, has been caught in the toils of slumber. Here she lies, every muscle relaxed, the dimpled hands and the dancing feet quiet in repose. It is all one can do to keep from dropping a kiss on the rosy cheek; but we must not do that, for we might waken the baby and call her back from Dreamland.

"The 'Dreamland' Calendar will lend an additional touch of grace to the family's best room. It will win a smile from the tired father who cares as much for the little maid as the mother herself. Here is our darling fast asleep. Sleeping or waking, she is the joy of the house.

"The Christian Herald has offered its readers many beautiful Calendars, but this one surpasses all former productions."

What $2.00 Will Buy

This Richly Illustrated Volume, "HERO TALES," 400 pages, Bound in Turkey Red and Gold; Our Incomparable "DREAMLAND" Calendar and THE CHRISTIAN HERALD to January 1, 1911 (ALL THREE), for TWO DOLLARS. ACT TO-DAY!

Sent, All Charges Prepaid

Heroes at Your Fireside

Tales Aflame With Courage and Daring

Would you like to know the Man who Walked Four Thousand Miles Through Six Bleak Winter Months to Add Three Stars to the American Flag? Would you like to shake hands with a Woman who Saved Sixteen Children? Would you like to look upon the Lad who Rescued a Thousand Lives in a Storm at Sea? Would you like to see the Girl who Sacrificed Her Life for Honor, and a Boy who Gave His Life to His Country? You can meet these and scores of others in Francis Trevelyan Miller's Latest Book, Hero Tales from American Life.

Throb With Patriotism

These Hero Tales throb with genuine patriotism. They grip the heart; they thrill the emotions; they bring out the best that is in human life. They bristle with truth that is "stranger than fiction." They make one not only glad to be an American, but proud of the whole human race. They renew faith in the world and in humanity.

A Book For Every Home

Just think of it! Sitting down at your very fireside with Heroes of War, Heroes of Peace, Heroes of Conscience, Heroes of Science, meeting them practically face to face in your own home! What a treat these One Hundred Tales of Heroism will prove when read in the Family Circle for One Hundred Enjoyable Nights around the evening lamp!

An Ideal Christmas Gift—FREE!

THOUSANDS of beautiful pictures have appeared in recent years, but "Dreamland" is the most artistic and the most charming. Purity and peace breathe from the face of the sleeping child. Every one who looks upon it feels a sense of calm repose. That is why we selected it to illustrate our Dreamland Calendar, which we have designed to be the Handsomest and Richest Photogravure Ever Issued by The Christian Herald.

Our "DREAMLAND" Calendar, Measuring 18 x 21 Inches, Goes FREE with Every Subscription to THE CHRISTIAN HERALD. Increased and Undamaged Delivery Guaranteed.

ADDRESS TO-DAY

The Christian Herald, 535-555 Bible House, New York

Admiral Charles D. Sigbee Tales of American Navy

Wilfred Thomason Grenie Explorer, Author, Contributor

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 48.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Weighty Testimony.—Words have weight in proportion to the worth of the man who utters them. What one says speaks much louder than what one says. We treasure words because of the character behind them. For this reason the following words have weight and worth. All who are acquainted with the man and with our history, know that Thomas J. Jarvis is the "grand old man" of today in North Carolina. The state has heaped upon him her highest honors and he has worn them all worthily and well. He has been Governor, United States Senator, Minister to Brazil, and has held other positions of trust and honor.

This good man, now mature in thought, heart, virtues and years attended his Conference (Methodist) as delegate the other week and during the sitting of that body gave utterance to these sentiments, which are words of weight and worth:

"It is the godly men and women of a community and of a State and a nation that make that community and State and nation, and history shows that those people who live nearer to the teachings of the Bible and walk more strictly in the paths of righteousness are the nations that are doing most in the world for God and humanity.

I am glad to say that I do not trouble myself about theology. I believe in three great central facts in my religious life, and I hold to them, live by them, and expect to die by them: I believe in the birth of Christ as the Sovereign of the World, in His Crucifixion on the Cross, and in His resurrection. I never trouble about how it came about. I have no more doubt about the truth of these central facts than I have about my own existence.

Let us not deceive ourselves: we can't deceive God. If we will do the work assigned to us, for which our Father made us, we must live nearer to the Cross. We can't hold on to the world with one hand and to the Cross with the other and do the work that the laymen need. But let us concentrate our lives, our service, our all, on the work of our Blessed Lord. Let us serve each other faithfully. No man can serve his God right that does not serve his fellow men."

Christian Union.—One of the current magazines points out that the Disciples of Christ at their recent centennial celebration discussed as a leading topic Christian Union, the discussion focusing finally around one central thought, to wit, that the basis of union must be sought in a personal faith in, and a loyalty to, Jesus the Christ.

We presume that every evangelical denomination under the sun would come to about the same conclusion and agreement. But the same trouble arises with the Disciples that arises amongst other denominations, to wit, That they themselves must interpret what the conduct, belief and attitude of the individual shall be in order to prove his faith in and loyalty to the Person, Jesus the Christ.

For instance, these same Disciples brethren would say that no person had shown his faith in, and loyalty to, Jesus the Christ until that person had been baptized by immersion. If he refused to be baptized he would not be loyal. If he was baptized by pouring or sprinkling, he would be faithless.

And, in forsooth, there chances to be a great following of folk in the world who believe they can be loyal and faithful to the Person without one particular sort of baptism. So there you are. Christian union will only be possible when men everywhere are allowed to have their own conscience and judgment in the expression of their faith and loyalty.

Personal faith in, and unswerving loyalty to, the Person, Jesus the Christ, is certainly the basis of Christian union. Of that there can be no doubt. "Christ our creed" must become the creed of humanity; but in the non-essentials men must be allowed to choose, according to their private judgment and belief.

This basis of Christian union the Christian church has been offering to men and churches for nearly a century.

Christian the only name; the Bible a sufficient rule of faith and practice; Christian character the test of fellowship; the right of private judgment accorded to all; Christ the only head of the Church: We humbly submit that to our Disciples brethren as a platform for Christian union, if they are really in earnest for Christian union.

Bleed and Bless.—Everybody wishes the preacher to succeed. That is why everybody volunteers him advice. Preachers love each other. That is why they give each other so much good counsel. Rev. James Small, evangelist, has been telling in a whole series of magazine articles, how he has attained to efficiency, usefulness and power, and thinks others may profit thereby. Among suggestions offered is, that the preacher should plan his work with great care and foresight, and then adhere to his plans. Wavering and instability conquer no mind or men. But the better point is to this effect: The preacher must never spare himself. If there is self-indulgence rather than self-sacrifice the preacher will lose out. The law of heaven is self-giving, not self-indulgence. "Every preacher must learn the lesson that Jesus Christ rules, not from a throne, but from a cross, over the hearts of men. When we, as preachers, cease to bleed, we cease to bless."

We are inclined to think that Rev. James Small is driving to the mark. One reason why we as preachers do not shine forth in blessings enough is because in our hearts and labors we do not bow and bleed enough. The real joy in this life is found in self-sacrifice, and if the preacher would share that joy and be a blessing to others, he must give nothing less than himself. We bleed to bless. — —Both houses of Congress convened last Monday for the first regular session of the 61st Congress. The sessions were about 13 minutes long the first day: the day being spent in social greetings and calls.

—J. Pierpont Morgan has bought controlling interest in the Equitable Life Insurance Co., which company underwent a searching examination, and revealed a very great deal of scandal some years since.

—The Phoenix Insurance Company of Brooklyn, N. Y., is under investigation for irregularities. There is said to be a shortage of surplus to the amount of about one million dollars.

FROM THE FIELD.

Boston Letter.

While this letter is written from Boston, it has to do more with New Bedford. A little more than two weeks ago I went to New Bedford at the invitation of the pastor of the Spruce St. church to conduct an evangelistic meeting. As some of you know, we have four churches in the city once famous as a whaling city. New Bedford has grown very rapidly during the past decade, and now claims a population of about 100,000. Spruce St. church ranks about third in numbers and general strength of our four churches there, Bonney St. being the weakest. Of the 53 members on roll at Spruce St., the great majority are residents. Their Sunday school has an enrollment of about 125, with an attendance of about 70. Our attendance was not large at any time during the series of meetings, but with one or two exceptions I have never had better order and attention. Somewhere between 50 and 60 confessed their need of Christ and desire to follow Him. Perhaps 55 would be very close to actual number. The pastor, Rev. G. A. Roemer, is well loved by his people, and is doing good work. Rev. F. H. Peters who became pastor at the White church last summer, is doing splendid work. His congregations are increasing both in the Sunday school and mid-week services. A general spirit of progress seems to mark their whole church life. Rev. P. A. Canada, pastor at Middle St. church, has had a number of accessions to his membership recently, and missionary zeal continues unabated. Rev. Geo. Francis is preaching at Bonney St. and may accept a call there as pastor. It is to be hoped he may see his way clear to do so. Taken all together, the outlook in New Bedford is most encouraging. A great field seems ripe to harvest in the north end of the city. If the local churches could feel assured of sustained interest by the general brotherhood, I have no doubt they would take the initiative, and inaugurate a work there which, in a few years ought to become self-supporting. But—well, you know the old story about as well as I can tell it—neglect. What an inspiration such an enterprise successfully carried out would be to decadent New England Christian churches!

P. S. Sailer.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 24, 1909.

Gratitude.

I want to thank, through our excellent church paper, the churches of my charge for the many acts of kindness shown me and the faithful spirit exhibited in the church work during my sickness. They manifested the Christian spirit, both in kindness and church work.

I want also to thank W. J. Ballentine for a pair of good shoes given me at Conference, and Linnie Ballentine for a pair given me at the Conference last year.

Haw River.

Our revival at Haw River commenced first Sunday in Oct. and closed on the following Friday night. There were possibly 40 converts. Bro. H. H. Butler of Suffolk, Va., did the preaching, and he did it well. He greatly endeared himself to the people. All the denominations in the place worked as one people.

W. G. Clements.

EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

The Eastern North Carolina Conference Missionary Association will hold its first meeting, the fifth Sunday in January for organization, plans, adoption of bylaws and constitution, etc. The place of meeting will be announced later. All ministers, laymen, churches, Sunday schools, Young People's Societies, Organized Classes, or any other persons or organizations that are willing to become members of this association are cordially invited, earnestly requested, and urgently implored to take part in this organization for more aggressive mission work within the bounds of our Conference. While $5.00 has been suggested as a membership, this question and all other questions for plans, purposes and policy will be decided by those who become members of the Association.

I want to subscribe my name as the first member of this Association and through this medium solicit others to unite with me in creating a membership for our first meeting.

All individuals, churches, organizations, Sunday schools and societies are requested to unite with us and send their names at once to the Chairman of the Committee appointed by the Eastern North Carolina Christian Conference to plan and perfect the organization of this association.

Ministers are requested to take an aggressive part in securing memberships for this association and report the same to the Committee as rapidly as they are secured.

I believe every other Conference in the Southern Christian Convention is organized into an Association of this kind. This work is largely a laymen's movement for Home Missions. It will be supported by the ministry, but the laymen will have larger opportunity here to render efficient services for the church than through any other channel. Let us hear from the laymen. Every member of this society will represent his membership by personal vote or proxy in spending every dollar of the money that may be raised. For this reason the progressive business men of the Conference and the local congregation are solicited to take an active aggressive part in making this association a success.

Hoping to report in my next letter a large membership subscribed, I am,

Respectfully,

W. C. Wicker, Chmn. Com.

on Christian Missionary

Association E. N. C.

Conference.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS IN SPECTACULAR PARADE.

Twelve thousand Sunday school workers, ranging from chubby-faced happy youngsters to veterans in the service, carrying the national colors, banners with insignia or religious conquest and pennants with inspiring mottoes, headed by bands of music playing hymns and patriotic airs, paraded the principal streets of Spokane, Wash., the afternoon of October 2, under the direction of Professor E. C. Knapp of Chicago, who declared that the demonstration was the greatest of its kind in the United States, size of the city taken into consideration.

There were also numerous floats, typifying the growth and progress of the crusade, and gaily decorated automobiles and other vehicles. John H. Bowers, mounted on a beautiful horse, was grand marshal of the day, while in the automobile heading the parade were Mayor Nelson S. Pratt, Professor and Mrs. Knapp and W. F. Yearsley. The parade was reviewed at Monroe street and Riverside avenue from the grand stand, where President Taft delivered his address on "The Conservation of Our National Resources" to an audience of 40,000 the morning of September 28.

The parade was seen by more than 30,000 men and women, who lined the principal streets, and there were fully 15,000 at the reviewing stand when Mayor Pratt and others spoke. Business lulled, and traffic was partly suspended during the progress of the parade. It was the beginning of formal revival activities in the Sunday school endeavor, which was followed by mass meeting in First Methodist Episcopal Church the afternoon of October, when Mrs. Knapp spoke, and the organization of the largest teachers' training class in the Pacific Northwest at Westminster Congregational Church the evening of October 4th.

Norfolk Letter.

Rev. McD. Howsare, pastor of the Memorial Temple, filled his pulpit both morning and evening, preaching in the morning on the subject of "The Mission of the 20th Century Church," in the evening on the subject, "Inward Conflicts." Both sermons were well received, and I heard many complimentary references about them. His household effects have arrived, and he has been busily engaged getting them unpacked and in place. His family is expected to arrive Tuesday evening. There will be a reception tendered to himself and family on Thursday night in the reception hall of the church. It is quite probable that he will supply the pulpit regularly at Rosemont in the afternoon. The house at present is undergoing some repairs, and will not be ready for services for a week or two yet.

Professor S. M. Smith of the Naval Y. M. C. A. held services for the South Norfolk people yesterday both morning and night.

Four new scholars in the Sunday school of the Third Church yesterday, with the statement on the part of some of them, that they intended to unite with the church there at some early date. As yet, we have nothing definite to report with regard to a pastor for the Third Church. Hope to very soon.

The members of the Sunday school of the Third Church were very much pleased to have a letter read from Miss Susie Turpin from Porto Rico. It has been just one year since she went out from Norfolk, to take up the work that she is now engaged in, at the Pinuel Orphanage of Juana Dia. She writes very interestingly of her work, and the beautiful part of it is that she feels that she is just where the Lord would have her be.

Now a word personal to the pastors and superintendents, wherever this letter may go.

Several months ago, I set forth the need of a church building in Ponce, Porto Rico. I suggested that we take up the plan adopted by the American Christian Convention, for raising funds for the Porto Rico work, and we apply that plan for the raising of money to build a church in Ponce. That plan met the approval of the Secretary and Treasurer of the Mission Board at Dayton. Since that time the full Mission Board in regular session has endorsed and commended the plan. The editors of our papers both North and South have given their hearty approval and in editorials from time to time have called attention to it, and urged its adoption. I have talked personally with some of you, and you have told me it was your intention to adopt this in your school. but for various reasons, probably that of neglect, it had not been taken up yet. Now I beg of you, thus personally, will you not at least at the beginning of the new year, provide that box, and afford an opportunity to those desiring to do so, to make that offering for the Porto Rico building fund. I know some say that you have all that you can take care of, but I do not believe that you can find a school in our whole brotherhood that will tell you that it has interfered with anything else that they have attempted to do. And besides, I want to again emphasize this point, that all that is asked, is simply that the opportunity be afforded, that those desiring to do so may contribute.

J. W. Manning.

Columbus, Ga., Letter.

The third Sunday instant the Girard Sunday school reached the "high-water mark." It has been the aim and effort of the Supt., Bro. J. F. Posey, to get the school built up to an attendance of one hundred. That aim has hardly been attained but the earnest efforts on the part of the superintendent and his corps of helpers, have not been lost. The attendance on the day mentioned above was about ninety, or a little more than three times the average attendance one year ago. The school is not yet what it might be and what it ought to become and what we hope to make it. It is our purpose to organize a Home Department, through which we expect much good to be accomplished. At this point last Sunday we held a very impressive service in the interest of the "Titling System." At the close of the service six men entered into a covenant to tithe their income. All of these are receiving nice salaries. This means much for the cause of the Master. On this account our heart is glad.

There was no preaching at Waverly Terrace last Sunday. Services were conducted however, both morning and evening by Miss Bettie Stephenson, who has been in the field for the past month. Thirty-two were present at the Sunday school. Miss Stephenson left Monday for Truett, Ala., where she will assist in the public school this winter.

Rev. H. W. Elder was in the city Monday en route to Greensboro, N. C., to be present at the meeting of the Home Mission Board, of which he is a member.

G. O. Lankford.

Nov. 30, 1909.

Valley Letter.

Some time has elapsed since a letter has appeared in the Sun under the above caption. This delay has been due not to carelessness but to press of work. Our revival season is in full force now, and a person with eight meetings to hold, lasting from two to three weeks each, has but little time for writing.

I have just closed my second meeting of the series of eight. This meeting was held at Antioch, one of our best churches. The people seemed to enjoy the meeting, and the church was, I believe, much revived. Two young people professed faith in Christ. The number of non-professors in this community is small.

My first meeting was held at Palmyra. It was by far the best meeting I have ever held at that place. Congregations were larger, and interest better than ever before. There were eleven conversions and reclamations. All have united or will unite with the church.

One day while in the meeting at Antioch, by special invitation I went to the home of Bro. J. E. Johnson, somewhat curious to know the reason for this special and peculiar invitation. Upon entering the dining room at the dinner hour I found the table loaded with an elegant dinner, and under my plate were several small but valuable packages which I saw were presented by the various members of the family. I understood then, for all these things reminded me more forcibly than words that this was my birthday and that this kind family had in some way found it out, and chose to have me enjoy the day by partaking of their hospitality. It is needless to say that the day was enjoyed, and their unbounded hospitality appreciated.

I go next Tuesday to begin my meeting at Mt. Olivet(R). I am hoping and praying for a good meeting here as the church is weak, and there are so many unconverted people in the neighborhood. The church needs them and the Lord needs them. Pray that they may be won for Him.

While writing this letter I have received the sad news of the death of J. B. D. Rhodes.

A. W. Andes.

Harrisonburg, Va., Dec. 4, 1909.

—Ever since the presidency of George Washington, every citizen has felt it his inalienable right to shake the chief magistrate by the hand, and the chief magistrate has usually submitted with very good grace. During Mr. Taft's Western trip, however, the custom was started of changing the form of greeting. The names of the guests were called out, and bows and smiles were exchanged. No doubt the new way seems less cordial than the old, but the reform is a good one.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Our Conferences are waking up to the need of home missions, as the recent sessions, and subsequent events, clearly demonstrate.

—Do you wish a nice Bible to give to your S. S. teacher, your pastor or your friend for a Christmas present? Write The Sun for catalogue and prices.

—The late Mr. John S. Kennedy, a New York banker, besides giving nearly thirty million dollars to aid American institutions, gave four and a half millions for home and foreign missions, this being the largest amount ever given by one individual for this purpose.

—Elon College does not often enjoy a rarer and richer intellectual treat than that which Dr. Martyn Summerbell brought in his admirable course of lectures last week. Dr. Summerbell is a man of scholarship and originality whom it is pleasurable and profitable to hear.

—Rev. J. O. Cox, the newly chosen pastor of Pleasant Hill, Alamance, filled his first appointment last Sunday and reports a good service. The Thanksgiving Offering for the Orphanage was taken, amounting to $12.00; good congregations were present, and one member was received at the Sunday service.

—Bro. Howsare having invaded the South and captured one of our strongest and ablest companies of the "old guard," we would be pleased to have him tell Sun readers about it—about himself, about Norfolk, about the work, about anything Bro. Howsare cares to write. Our columns and our hearts are open to you, Bro. Howsare.

—Rev. L. E. Smith, returning to Elon College last Monday A. M., from his Sunday service at Ramseur was greeted with the sad news that his mother and father were very ill of typhoid fever, with little hope of recovery. Bro. Smith left immediately for the parental home, La Grange, Ga., with the deep anxiety and universal sympathy of his hosts of friends here.

—Rev. H. W. Elder, Richland, Ga., who came to Greensboro last week to attend the meeting of the Home Mission Board, of which he is a member, was taken in charge by our Greensboro people and compelled to tarry for a time and conduct a series of meetings. Bro. Elder is ever ready to do work in the Master's service, and spares not himself, nor energy, when occasion comes. Good meetings are reported, and prospects for success are propitious.

—In the death of Bro. J. B. D. Rhodes at Harrisonburg, Va., Saturday, Dec. 4, a most estimable man, a valued citizen and a Christian gentleman transfers his relationship from earth to heaven. Bro. Rhodes had been in failing health for several months, but the end was quite sudden and unexpected. Dr. E. L. Moffitt, with his wife, a daughter of the deceased, left Saturday P.M. for the bereaved home. We extend a friend's sympathy to the members of this good family in their hours of sorrow and grief.

—Dr. W. S. Long's daughter, Mrs. Albert Franklin, of South Boston, Va., being very ill from a recent surgical operation, The Sun's editor was asked to go, in Dr. Long's stead, to Sanford, N. C. last Sunday, which date was to have been Dr. Long's first service as pastor of the Sanford church. Many regretted deeply that Dr. Long could not be present, and sympathy and much concern were felt for the occasion of his absence. Large audiences were present at the services, and gave close attention, with patience, to the message. We have not met a people more interested in their church, and more eager and anxious to help their pastor in carrying the work forward. They are delighted that Dr. Long is to serve them, and Dr. Long will find a rich and rare opportunity for effectual work and growth. We envy him the undertaking, for a more agreeable people would be hard to find.

—Rev. J. J. Summerbell, D.D., Dayton, Ohio, seems to have completely captivated his audiences of our Christian brethren in Toronto, Canada, with a series of lectures recently concluded there. The Christian Vanguard of Dec. 3 speaks in glowing terms of the lectures and thinks they must be of inestimable value to those who heard them. There were five on the history of Christianity, three on the Evidence of Christianity, and some others on kindred topics. The Vanguard says: "Dr. Summerbell's lectures were both instructive and interesting. * * * His personality put life into the dry facts of history, and he clothed them in such a way that we forgot history was ever considered uninteresting." We rise to enquire if Dr. Summerbell cannot be induced, persuaded or compelled to come to Elon at some early date and give to faculty and students here this course of lectures. We are sure they are worth while, and we are willing to do all we can to make the good Doctor bend his will this way.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

Rev. Dr. Martin Summerbell delivered three scholarly addresses in the College Chapel last week. The baccalaureate sermon he delivered here twelve years ago, is still remembered by a number of those who heard it, as being one of the ablest sermons ever delivered here. So the Doctor was heartily received by large audiences whose high anticipations were fully met in his addresses. Wednesday evening he spoke on "Martin Luther in the Making." Thursday evening his theme was, "Luther's Duel with the Papacy." These discourses showed such familiarity with the world's history in the time of Luther as one does not frequently meet with. Luther was presented as a vital force, one of the world's ten greatest men, set like a spark in a great world, a spark that kindled into a great fire by whose light the nations still walk. The lecture Friday evening was on John Calvin, who, though, perhaps, not an ordained minister, yet he was a preacher of tremendous influence. He might be termed the lawyer among the great reformers. While this lecture was not so lengthy as those on Luther, yet it was no less scholarly, and the audience felt at its close that the speaker ought to go on. Elon in her struggle upward into the light will always have a hearty greeting for such light-bearers as Dr. Summerbell. He preached in the Burlington Church Sunday at eleven o'clock and left for his home, Lakemont, N. Y., in the afternoon.

—Miss Vivian Atkinson of Wake Co., returned home last week after spending some days with her two brothers, Rev. J. O. Atkinson and Mr. M. A. Atkinson, and her sister, Mrs. Jones.

—Dr. Moffitt and family were called to Harrisonburg, Virginia, Saturday evening, by a telegram, announcing the sudden death of Mrs. Moffitt's father, Mr. J. B. D. Rhodes, which occurred about noon of that day. Mr. Rhodes had suffered from heart trouble for several months, but of late had seemed better, and his death was a severe shock to the family and friends.

—Mrs. J. B. Gay and little son, Joe Bynum, of Franklin, Va., visited here from Saturday until Monday, being the guest of Mrs. J. O. Atkinson. Mrs. Gay, who was Miss Annie Lee Gardner, graduated in the class of 1896. This is her first visit since West Dormitory and the central heating and lighting plant were built. She, of course, was delighted with the marks of growth seen here.

Rev. H. W. Elder of Richland, Ga., who is, perhaps, entitled to be termed the church builder of the Southern Christian Convention, spent Tuesday night with Dr. Newman. He went to Greensboro Wednesday morning to attend a meeting of the Southern Christian Convention Home Mission Board of which Board he is a member.

—Rev. L. F. Johnson, pastor of the Raleigh Church, was here to hear Dr. Summerbell Wednesday evening, and returned to Raleigh Thursday.

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF AMOS. II. Religion and Civilization.

By Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D.

Jeroboam II was on the throne as the 13th King of Israel, and Uzziah was on the throne as the 13th King of Judah.

Israel was more prosperous under the reign of Jeroboam II than any period of the 264 years of her history, though the King did evil in the sight of the Lord and rendered his reign a curse instead of a blessing. He repelled the Syrian invaders, to Damascus, their capital city; recovered all the ancient dominion from Hamath to the Dead Sea; reconquered Ammon and Moab; restored the trans-Jordanic tribes to their territory; but it was only an outward restoration because the national religious character was waning. The golden calf was worshiped at Dan and Bethel and all the attendant evils of false worship increased with prosperity. It was a characteristic example of civilization and national prosperity producing decline in morality and religion. Amaziah was the priest of this false worship at Bethel, and when Amos began his campaign of telling the nation the truth this false priest charged him with "conspiring against King Jeroboam in the midst of the house of Israel." It is one of the surprises in history that resistance to truth arises among those who profess to follow truth. Saul of Tarsus was the most determined opponent of Christianity, though he was the greatest believer in religion. The most difficult error to dislodge is religious error. Israel was wedded to the golden calf worship and the priests of that false form of religion resisted any spiritual message. It is a sad comment on humanity that religion is expelled from the civilization she has created; and it is a sad fact in history that nations have been least religious when they have been most prosperous. "Jeshurun waxed fat and kicked"; grew prosperous and resisted God or sinned; as a pampered animal grows spirited and kicks his master.

Religion and civilization ought to run together, but they often separate to the ruin of nations. When Rome was high in civilization, her religious life was an abomination; greed, cruelty, slavery, immorality, all stalked the streets of the imperial city in shameless effrontery. When Babylon was at the pinnacle of her wealth, power, and glory, her religion and temple worship would have disgraced the dives of a modern city, if Herodotus is to be credited as a historian. The art and learning of Greece spent themselves in shameless social indulgence. Israel had reached a stage of prosperity and corruption that could not stand together; for wealth and moral character cannot stand together, unless they be agreed, any more than individuals can stand together, unless they agree. Israel had reached the summit of prosperity and was, at the same time, in the pit of unrighteousness. They lay upon beds of ivory and stretched themselves upon couches; ate lambs out of the flock and calves from the stall; tilled to the sound of the harp and drank wine out of sacrificial bowls; anointed themselves with oil and grieved not at the hurt of Joseph. In other words their civilization had taken the form of luxurious self-indulgence and religious indifference. Is that not a universal tendency among all peoples? The fable of the farmer and the snake illustrates human ingratitude. The farmer found a snake in cleaning up a hedge in wintertime. It was stiff with cold. The farmer's sympathy caused him to put the snake in his bosom. When it became warm it bit the farmer as the reward for his kindness. When God makes all rains nourish our fields, all winds favor our business, and His kindness increases wealth and prosperity, then we forget Him.

Has this nation entered upon this stage of danger? Is not the Israel of Amos the America of the twentieth century? Does not our civilization tolerate and live upon the vices which ruined ancient empires? The armies, the navies, the arsenals of Christendom, if made active, would destroy civilization and wreck the achievements of centuries. The innocence of childhood is rendered almost impossible in many of our great cities by amusements patronized by Christian people. The love of money and the desecration of the Sabbath rob the poor of religious rights and turn the masses away from the God of nations. The Sabbath was made for man and should not be employed by corporations to increase their millions at the expense of the religious privileges of the teeming toilers who need the house of the Lord more than seaside or beergarten.

No golden calf with a duly authorized priesthood can be located in this country; no false Amaziah warns the ruler of our nation against the message of the ministers who declare the gospel; and no false priest orders the preachers out of the land; but gold and false sentiments retard the progress of the gospel. It may even be questioned whether the millions given to education, missions, charity and the maintenance of Christian worship more than counteract the extravagance, dissipation, and spiritual indifference of those who possess the wealth of the country. This may raise a question too pessimistic in its suggestions, but it certainly contains a truth of dangerous proportion. How to maintain a safe balance between prosperity and religion is a problem which ages have not solved. There must be a solution somewhere and the question is so vast and so important that Christianity must attempt it.

It certainly is not necessary to religion that the race shall be kept poor; God promised prosperity to Israel upon obedience to his law and fidelity to his worship. Besides this, when nations have advanced in religion they have advanced in prosperity and civilization. From the promises of God and the history of religion we can safely infer that our Father desired his people to have plenty; but we have not learned how to "use this world as not abusing it." Abram was rich, Job was rich, Christendom is rich. No just criticism can be offered against wealth and civilization; it is against the abuse of these blessings that history writes her accusations.

With all the sins of civilized peoples religion has done much to temper society and reduce the cruelties of men. Recent statistics show that there was one criminal in this country for 1647 of population in 1860, and one to 300 in 1904. Immigration, lax home discipline, absence of ethics in education, law-breaking by educated men for money, all of these do not explain the cause of increase in crime, unless detection and conviction are on the increase by reason of enlightenment and closer watch over human conduct.

Of the two hundred and twenty-three million Mohammedans in the world, nearly one hundred sixty million are under nominally Christian governments, while no nation, whose population is Christian, is governed by Mohammedans: 62,000,000 Mohammedans in British India; 25,000,000 in Dutch India; Germany rules over 8,500,000 in Africa; France 16,500,000; Great Britain nearly 8,000,000. In spite, therefore, of crime, cruelty, and religious formality, Christian civilization is gaining power over the nations. Religion is working into governments and doing work that only governments can do. It may be that enlightened government discovers crime and creates crime as advanced medical science discovers and creates new names and forms of disease. What passed as harmless in darker and ruder days becomes iniquitous and criminal in this age of light and quickened conscience. It is a part of the task of Christian civilization to reduce religious and civic evils and to make a combination of righteousness and power that will help to lift mankind to God and liberty.

HE IS NOT DEAD.

Loud mockers in the roaring street
 Say: "Christ is crucified again;
 Twice pierced His gospel-bringing feet,
 Twice broken His great heart in vain."

I hear, and to myself I smile,
 For Christ talks with me all the while.

"No angel now to roll the stone
 From off His unawaking sleep.
 In vain shall Mary watch alone;
 In vain the soldiers vigil weep."

Yet while they deem my Lord is dead

My eyes are on His shining head.

"No more unto the stubborn heart,
 With gentle knocking, shall He plead;
 No more the mystic pity start,
 For Christ, twice dead, is dead indeed."

So, in the street, I hear men say!
 Yet Christ is with me all the day.

—Richard Le Gallienne.

THE BIBLE AND ITS AUTHOR.

The human mind, unaided by superhuman instruction, however thoroughly it might study physical and mental phenomena, could never have conceived the idea of a Supreme Being—a Being self-existent and infinite.

The works wrought by any person, whether God or man, reveal two things respecting the worker: ability to plan—intellectual ability; and ability to execute—mechanical ability; but they do not reveal who the worker is. Paul says, Rom. 1:20: "The invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being perceived through the things that are made, even his everlasting power and divinity." That superhuman power of intellect and will and hand was employed in the production of this wonderful mechanism that we call the universe, is too plain not to be observed even by the most stupid person who thinks at all; but whether that superhuman power resides in the matter out of which the worlds were made cannot be determined by the most scholarly and scientific human mind. The welfare of man, and the attainment of the end for which he was created, required that he should know his Creator personally, and many other things that come with that knowledge. It was to give man that knowledge that God created the Bible. This was His last and most wonderful creative work. The existence of a personal God, whose name is Jehovah; the fact that He created the universe, and created man "in his own image and likeness; that man ranks next to God in the order of creation; that he is morally responsible for the choices he makes between that which is right and that which is wrong; that he is possessed of a spirit, which is the gift of God (not a creation), and that spirit is the medium by which the soul of man is in wireless, intelligent communication with the Spirit of God; that God regards the children of men as His children; provides for their necessities and welfare; and exercises parental authority over them, requiring them to love Him and the other members of His family; that a future existence awaits the souls and spirits of men; that the righteous shall inherit eternal life and the wicked shall perish forever; and many other facts of the greatest importance to us all; are facts that are quite beyond the reach of human search, in any other of God's works, but are clearly taught in the Bible. They are facts that only God knew, or could ever have known, if He had not revealed them. When once known, they are confirmed by every fact and every law of nature, physical, mental and moral. Such is the history of the Bible; and fearful are the consequences to those who reject it, and do not heed its revelations and instructions.

But what is the Bible? Do its important revelations lie open on the surface, so that they may be found by any careless reader? If that were the case it might well be questioned whether God was its author. That is not God's method. The phenomena of the heavens are so misleading, even to an earnest student, that thousands of years were spent in intense study before a theory was found by which all their phenomena could be explained. Are the great truths respecting God and man, moral relations, moral accountability, and moral destiny—the greatest, most profound, most important, most occult—to be found and understood with less labor, study, reasoning? Believe it not. The Bible, superficially read, may be "like a fiddle, on which any man may play any time he chooses," but that is not God's Bible. God's Bible lies deep below the surface; and deep study, a careful attention to facts, sound judgment, a discriminating analysis, and unswerving logical reasoning, are necessary to find it. Directly at this point lies the root of sectarianism. Athanasius assumed that his interpretations were God's Bible; and declared that "He who would be saved must believe" them. From that day to this he has had his followers, some of whom have almost worshiped him, declaring him to be "the father of orthodoxy;" but Athanasius found only a few passages of God's Bible. He who finds God's Bible will find the mind of the inspiring Spirit—the idea, the meaning, the doctrine, God intended to incorporate into His word. This is the work of the candid inquirer after truth.

In the light of these truths how absurd the heresy appears, that was universal a century ago, that an applicant for church membership who could not believe certain articles of the creed should be rejected, although his exemplary life showed that he had "become a partaker of the divine nature" by divine regeneration. Thank God and the Christian Church, that day is past.
 Thomas Holmes.

A FORGIVING LOVE.

As certainly as one possesses the love of Christ, so certainly is he actuated and controlled by a forgiving love. He who says that the love of Christ dominates his heart and rules his conduct, and yet refuses to forgive those who trespass against him, is destitute of that love.

It is in vain that one says that he loves God with all his heart, while at the same time he continues to harbor a spiteful spirit toward one who has confessed his faults to him and asked him to forgive him. But there are such ones in the churches, and some of them aver that their heart is full of love to God and to all Christians. There is no better or truer test of one's profession of love for Christ than is the question as to whether or not he practically forgives an offender who has confessed his faults to him. This question is to be dealt with in a practical manner. It is to be answered, not by mere words, but by such deeds as correspond with one's profession of love. In my dealings with some persons who professed to have a very high order and quality of love, I have seen a very marked disposition to manifest an unforgiving temper. It mattered nothing to them that one asked their forgiveness for any wrong that he may have done to them; they still maintained an unforgiving spirit toward that one, and even more than that.

What, then, does a profession of Christian love amount to? How can anyone have a cordial respect for the man or woman who acts thus? That profession of much love for Christ is worse than useless; it is a mockery and a sham. It is on a level with the conduct of thousands of people who make no profession of love for God. A professing Christian must show a heartily forgiving love, else he will be regarded as being not one whit better than a decent unconverted person. In deed, there are unsaved people who are far more ready to forgive offenders than are many professed Christians. Are you forgiving?
 C. H. Wetherbe.

MARRIED.*Rudd-Pettigree.

On Thursday, Nov. 25, 1909, at the parsonage of the Christian Church, Burlington, N. C., Mr. Wm. D. Rudd and Miss Etta Pettigree, of Caswell Co., were united in marriage by the writer. We wish for them a long, happy, and prosperous life.

P. H. Fleming.

Curtis-Gordon.

At the residence of the bride's father, C. M. Gordon, Esq., Nov. 18, 1909, Mecklenburg Co., Va., was solemnized a very beautiful marriage, when Mr. John W. Curtis led to the altar Miss Olivia I. Gordon.

The ceremony was performed by this writer in the presence of quite a large circle of relatives and friends.

The groom is a young man of rising reputation and one of the prosperous farmers of his section; while the bride, because of her womanly attainments, is a favorite among her acquaintances.

The number and utility of the presents tell of the good wishes that accompany the newly wedded couple as they embark together on life's voyage.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Richmond and perhaps other cities.

Heaven's blessings rest upon them.
C. C. Peel.

D I E D .*Morris.

Mrs. Martha Ann Morris died at her home in Wake County Nov. 16, 1909, aged 59 years, 10 months, 8 days. Daughter of William H. Franks, deceased, the wife of Fred Morris, deceased, she leaves to mourn, a son, Buchanan Morris, three brothers, Chas., Robert, and Anthony Franks, one sister, Mrs. Sam Rowland. She was converted and joined Catawba Springs Christian church early in life. Funeral was conducted at Catawba church Nov. 17th by the writer,
L. F. Johnson.

Banks.

John L. Banks, a citizen of Wake County near McCullers died at his home Sunday A.M., Nov. 21, aged 73 years, 1 month and 6 days. In 1858 he married Miss Pherely H. Thompson. To them were born nine children, seven of whom survive to mourn the loss of a faithful father: Mrs. A. C. Penny, Garner, N. C.; J. Milton Banks, McCullers, N. C.; Mrs. R. S. Brown, McCullers, N. C.; W. L. Banks, Wilson, N. C.; Rev. A. T. Banks, McCullers; F. T. Banks, Montgomery, Ala. The mother of the children was a tender-hearted, sweet-spirited woman. She left her impress of influence in the lives of her children who were devoted to her. Mr. Banks married the second time, Mrs. Bettie Johnson, who survives him. The funeral of Mr. Banks was conducted from Oakland Presbyterian church, Johnson Co., by the writer, in the presence of a large audience of neighbors and old friends. Mr. Banks was a professed Christian having been a charter member of Mt. Hermon Christian Church, later on an active member of Plymouth church. He was not a member of a local church when death came to him. Sympathy to the family.

J. F. Johnson.

Lilley.

Sister Roxana Lilley of Hank's Chapel passed to her rest the 12th of November, after a few days of severe suffering, though her health had been on the decline for several years. She was a devoted member of the Christian Church at the above mentioned place. She left a husband and four daughters to mourn their loss.
P. T. Klapp.

Green.

On the 26th of Oct. the angel of death removed from our midst, our beloved sister, Mrs. Margaret May Green, age 33 years.

About the first week in September she went to her old home in Michigan to visit her sick mother, and while there she was taken suddenly ill, and in a few days was called to her reward, dying before her husband, who had been telegraphed for, could reach her bedside.

The funeral was held from the Baptist Church at Hadley, Michigan, where she first united with the church, and also had taught in the Sunday school. A former pastor who had officiated at her marriage, conducted her funeral services.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. Archie D. Green, to whom she was married nine years ago, and her father, step-mother, and four sisters.

She united with the Third Christian Church, Norfolk, Va., last May, and this is the first time that death has invaded our church since its organization. Desiring to record an expression of love and esteem for her life, Resolved

First—That while we bow in humble submission to the divine will, we deeply mourn because of our loss.

Second—That the Third Christian Church, the Sunday school and the Ladies' Aid Society, have lost one of its most promising members, who was ever faithful and ready to render service for her Master.

Third—That her presence is greatly missed in her church and home, and by her beautiful character and Christian life, she had endeared herself to all who knew her.

Fourth—That we extend to the heart-broken husband, and other near relatives and friends, our tenderest sympathy, and commend them to the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Fifth—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, be placed on the minutes of the Ladies' Aid Society, and sent to the Christian Sun for publication.

Mrs. G. W. Houghwout.

Mrs. T. J. Lawrence.

Mrs. J. W. Manning.

Park Place, Norfolk, Va.

Walker.

Isaac Newton Walker, son of Rev. George G. Walker, was born at Graham, N. C., April 23rd, 1852, and died at his home in Burlington, Nov. 29, 1909, in his 58th year.

His mother's maiden name was Mary Sellars, usually called Polly. Bro. Walker was named by and for Rev. Isaac N. Walter.

Deceased has 1 brother and 2 sisters living,—George B. who is in the West, and Mrs. Anderson of Caswell County, and Mrs. Fonville of Burlington. He was a half brother to Rev. W. T. Walker, deceased.

Dec. 1876, he and Miss Mary A. Sellars were united in marriage and to them were born seven children, all of whom have passed into the spirit land except one. His wife and one child, Miss Edith, survive him.

In early life he united with the Christian church, and was one of the charter members of the Burlington church.

He loved his church and was true and faithful to her interests. As a man he made friends in all the walks of life, and held them. He was kind, courteous, and gentlemanly at all times. For some months he had been declining, but so great was his will and energy that he was up almost to the last.

The end came quietly and he simply fell asleep. The beautiful floral tributes and the large attendance at the funeral which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Wellons and J. W. Holt taking part in the services, attested the deep sympathy extended to the bereaved family and the esteem in which Bro. Walker was held.

The interment was in Pine Hill Cemetery.
P. H. Fleming.

Burlington, N. C., Nov. 29, 1909.

---

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

---

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

---

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

---

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

---

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

---

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

---

MEDITATE UPON THESE THINGS.
I Tim. 4:15.

(Not they that eat most, but they that digest most, are the most nourished. Not they that get most, but they that keep most, are the richest. So not they that hear most, or read most, but they that meditate most, are the most edified and nourished and enriched unto everlasting life)

Daily Food.

“I am the bread of life.”

Sunday, December 12, 1909.

The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand. Psa. 121:5.

He will sustain our weakest powers
With his almighty arm,
And watch our most unguarded hours
Against surprising harm.

My help cometh from the Lord who made heaven and earth. Psa. 121:2.

Monday, December 13.

The same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. Rom. 10:12.

O thou, from whom all goodness flows,
I lift my heart to thee;

In all my sorrows, conflicts, woes,

Dear Lord, remember me.

For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall he saved. Rom. 10:13.

Tuesday, December 14.

Blessed is he that considereth the poor; the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. Psa. 41:1.

Blest is the man whose feelings move
And melt with pity to the poor,
Whose soul with sympathizing love

Feels what his fellow-saints endure.

Lord, be merciful unto me; heal my soul, for I have sinned against thee. Psa. 41:4.

Wednesday, December 15.

The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul. Psa. 121:7.

He girds thy soul, he keeps thy breath,
Where thickest dangers come;

Go and return, secure from death,

Till God commands thee home.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in, from this time forth, and even for ever more. Psa. 121:8.

Thursday, December 16.

Ye shall seek me and find me, when ye search for me with all your heart. Jer. 29:13.

With my whole heart, I've sought thy face,

O let me never stray

From thy commands, O God of grace,

Nor tread the sinners' way.

With my whole heart have I sought thee; O let me not wander from thy commandments. Psa. 119:10.

Friday, December 17.

As the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth from all the nations. Isa. 61:11.

O child of sorrow, be it thine to know

That Scripture only is the cure of woe;

The field of promise, how it flings abroad

Its perfume o'er the Christian's thorny road.

Saturday, December 18.

God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath: that by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us. Heb. 6:17,18.

How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord,

Is laid for your faith in his excellent word:

What more can he say that to you he hath said,

You who unto Jesus for refuge have fled

HOME MISSION BOARD.

The Home Mission Board of the Southern Christian Convention met in annual session at Greensboro December 1. Members present were J. E. West, Chr., Brethren K. B. Johnson and E. Moffitt, Revs. J. W. Holt, H. W. Elder and J. O. Atkinson. This Board has at its disposal the Convention Mission Fund raised by the several churches composing the Conferences of the Southern Christian Convention. The present income is about $1,000 per year, though the Board has held some funds in reserve and there was on hand this year about $3,000. Because this Board asked the Mission Board of the A. C. C. to appropriate $100 to the Raleigh work last year, and because that Board was unable to grant the request for reasons wholly satisfactory, thus creating a deficit of $100 from what was expected for the Raleigh work last year, the Board voted an appropriation to the Raleigh work to make up this deficit.

The following appropriations were given to points now building or under the stress or strain of building, to wit, Winchester, Va., $600—when local membership shall have fulfilled certain conditions; Portsmouth, Va., $400; Third Church, Norfolk, $300; Henderson, N. C., $100; Columbus, Ga., $100.

The policy of the Board is to help build and establish churches rather than make appropriations to churches long established, because it is believed that the local Conference can and will take care of its own churches when established, to better advantage and effect than the Convention can or will, and there should be no overlapping or interfering at any place.

The wisdom of such a fund is apparent. As illustration, Winchester, Va., is a hopeful point. But it will take much money to build and equip there. The Conference to which this church naturally belongs is small. It could take care of Winchester, and will do so; but such an undertaking would exhaust the home mission resources of that Conference, maybe, for several years. The Convention comes in with its fund and proposes to help out the Conference in this great and good undertaking so that in a brief period it may be able to undertake work elsewhere.

The Board will hereafter meet in annual session about the last of September or early in October.

CONTINUED.

When a real good, absorbing, thrilling book has been read, one regrets to come to “Finis.” One wants the book to continue: regrets so much that it closes all too soon.

Life itself is a book. There is nothing else to which it can be the better compared. “Ye are an epistle read of all men,” an inspired one wrote. Now this book of life need have no “Finis.” “Whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die,” said Lord Christ. If our life is lived with Christ in God, no death can come. Only another volume, and another, and another.

Dr. Maltbie D. Babcock made this comparison, which seems to us illuminating: “How good it is that though new chapters go on with our life's story, and people drop out whom we have loved, and incidents change so that it seems quite like another tale, yet the real plot is spiritual and eternal. The true friendships and affections will all come in again, in the next volume. There is no 'Finis' at the end of Volume One, not yet of Volume Two. Always to be continued, never to be concluded, are the life and love that are rooted in Jesus Christ."

REV. S. B. KLAPP.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION.

The Christian Missionary Association of the Southern Christian Convention, though found impracticable, and for that reason, dissolved, is not to die, nor are its fruits to disappear. That Association proved its worth, did a really great work, and in its death really begins to live a larger life.

We have not the facts at hand while we write, but quite if not all, our Southern conferences have organized Christian Missionary Associations upon the basis of the mother association. Of course the Eastern Virginia starts off in the lead because that Association inherited, legitimately, nearly all the strength and membership of the original Association. The Alabama Conference had already organized one of its own before the original body was dissolved. The Western North Carolina organized at the recent Graham Conference. The Eastern made arrangements to organize its forces the fifth Sunday in January coming. The North Carolina and Virginia organized at Belevs Creek. This means the raising of a total of several thousand dollars a year for home mission work that would not otherwise be raised. It means an uplift of this glorious work all along the line.

That impetus may be given to this work, we print herewith a letter from the newly elected president of the Association of the North Carolina and Virginia Conference, Rev. S. B. Klapp, giving our readers a view of his face, and also append the Constitution of the said Association as it was adopted.

"The Christian Missionary Association is the product of a great thought, sprung up in the mind of a great man. Its birth dates back to other years. In Eastern, Va., it was organized seven-teen years ago, and has been a great auxiliary to the work in different conferences in the Christian church. It made possible the success in mission stations which have developed into hopeful Christian churches. There are several inviting places in the bounds of this conference where we need churches; in these places we have members and they will naturally drift away from the Christian church into other denominations. We must look after their best interest as well as ours, or other churches will look them up and put them to work and give them a church home. We find inviting opportunities for Christian churches in Baskerville, South Boston, and Danville, Va., and Reidsville, N. C., and other places not mentioned. I am much interested in mission work in Ether, N. C. Since Conference in Graham, N. C., the foundation of the Christian church building has been laid and it is expected that the work will go on; but those earnest, good people in Ether will need more help to finish up their house of worship. They are self-sacrificing people, who need a church and aim to have a church; with such leaders as Bros. H. Freeman and sons, with others; but to build this house of worship will be too heavy a burden on them without some help. It is very desirable that the readers of the Christian Sun in all our conferences will become interested in the Christian Missionary Association.

I am anxious for all who can to consider this matter and if possible give their names for membership, to Bro. W. J. Graham, Burlington, N. C., R. F. D. 2, Sec. of this Association and send the membership fee in to Rev. T. W. Strowd, Treasurer, Chapel Hill, N. C., by November 25, 1910. We call attention of all our Sunday schools, Christian Endeavors, and churches to consider well this important line of work.

S. B. Klapp.
Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 1, 1909.

CONSTITUTION OF THE N. C. AND VA. CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION.

Article I. The name of this organization shall be The Christian Missionary Association of the North Carolina and Virginia Christian Conference.

Article II. The purpose of this Association shall be to collect and disburse mission funds within the bounds of this conference. The money shall be used as the Association may direct.

Article III. The Association shall convene annually during the sitting of Conference and at such time as conference may decide, and shall be presided over and conducted by officers of its own choosing, said officers to be elected annually and to consist of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer; whose duties shall be such as devolve upon such officers.

Article IV. Any minister, layman, church, Sunday school, Endeavor Society, organized class or other religious organization, or person within the bounds of said conference, shall be eligible to membership and shall have one vote in person or by proxy upon the payment of a fee of five dollars per annum, and one becoming a member shall remain a member until notice is given of withdrawal, provided, no member in arrears of more than one year shall have power to vote; dues to be paid on or before the first day of the meeting of the Association.

Article V. The Executive Committee shall consist of the President, Secretary, and Treasurer, and shall transact such business in the interim of the session as the necessities of the Association shall demand.

Article VI. At each annual session a committee of three shall be selected, known as the Committee on Ways and Means, whose business it shall be to make such plans for securing funds, looking out places for proper expenditures of funds, and such other plans as may be necessary to the improvement and betterment of the association.

Article VII. This Constitution may be changed by a two thirds vote of all members present at any annual session.

—The House of Lords of England on Nov. 30 refused to give formal assent to the budget bill and referred the measure to the country itself, thereby making it in theory impossible to collect taxes to carry on the King's government. This has not occurred in England before in three hundred years and created quite a flurry and sensation. The question before this was, "What will the Lords do with the budget?" The question now uppermost is, "What will the people do with the Lords?"

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....$4,212.36
Dues:

Charles E. Newman, Jr. $	.10
Hannah Clare Newman .	.10
William L. Lindsay ...	.10
Baird Harrison West ..	.10
Para Lee Beggs .....	.10
Grady Beggs .....	.10
Ruth Hamlett .....	.25
John Newman Denton .	.10
S. E. Denton, Jr. ....	.10
Blanche Kernodle .....	.25
Susie R. Watson .....	.10
Dora Young .....	.15

Monthly S. S. Offering:

Sanford, N. C. ....	6.00
Happy Home, N. C. ....	1.13

Special Offering:

Chas. D. Johnson .....	5.00
Miss Mattie Watson ..	.25
Support of Brown children to 6-1-10 .....	150.00
Mrs. T. W. Parks .....	1.00
Pictures sold by W. J. Graham .....	1.20
Ebenezer Church .....	5.00
Annie Strader, pictures	1.20

Thanksgiving Offering:

Beulah S. S., Phoenix, Ala. ....	7.00
Bethlehem, Warren Co., N. C. ....	2.47
Rev. Warren H. Denison .....	1.00
J. J. Summerbell, Dayton, Ohio .....	1.00
Ingram Church, Va. ...	1.50
Bethlehem, Valley Va. .	12.33
Concord, Valley Va. ...	2.70
Union, Va., church ....	5.00
Rosemont, Va., S.S. ...	3.00
Ist Christian Church, Cynthiaana, Ind. ....	4.78
Miss Jennie Herndon ..	1.00
Graham S.S. ....	11.08
Wood's Chapel Va. Ch..	2.00
N. C. and Va. Conference Collection .....	6.17
Mrs. W. J. Kimball ....	1.00
Winchester, Ind. Ch. ...	2.50
Sanford, N. C. church .	4.26
E. F. Chisholm .....	1.00
Miss Emma Hart .....	1.00
Raleigh Ch. and S.S. ...	28.43
Eure church .....	5.85

Rev. A. A. Stokes, Cleveland, Tenn. ....	1.00
Belews Creek church ..	7.11
Liberty, N. C. church ..	3.07
Bethany, Ala. church ..	1.55
Union Alamance church	12.00
Youngsville, N. C. Ch. .	3.00
Rev. John Blood and wife .....	5.00
Elon College church ...	12.79
Amt. 45th week .....	322.92
Total .....	$4,535.28

Elon College, N. C., Dec. 1, 1909.

My Dear Children and Friends:—

We have so much matter this week that we leave off the answers to children's letters. Last week there was an error of $4.70 for pictures (This was a memorandum of pictures put on sale) which made our amt. for the week $122.10 instead of $126.80 as appeared in the report, with total of $4,212.36. This week gives us a splendid report of $322.92 cash besides the splendid amount of donations. We would like to write up each donation, but cannot. Every gift and every contribution of whatsoever kind brings interest to the children.

We heard too that the orphans were greatly delighted over big Bro. J. T. Rowland's box (this is the third year he has thus remembered the children) with its nice edibles, and Bro. J. A. Mills' money for each orphan—16c. each with 4 cents over which we gave the largest girls.

The "Variety Box" from Raleigh was a sight! A regular little store—except they sent no clerk—but "Miss Dora" soon had things in fine shape and all in their places.

The Caraleigh Phosphate and Fertilizer Works of Raleigh are helping us make a fine wheat crop by giving ½ ton guano,—the wheat is looking extra well for the dry season.

Bro. George Allen of Raleigh, a faithful Presbyterian, wants us to teach our boys and girls systematic business and we shall try to profit by his lessons in bookkeeping.

Sisters Elder and Coker of Richland Ga. kindly remember us with gifts, and Rev. H. W. Elder brought the gifts and paid us a nice little visit and told us that all the "far South" was with us.

Sisters Williams and Fuller of Franklinton want to keep the children warm and send us two quilts.

Our friend, "Old Member Memorial Temple", gives us useful box with many articles.

Antioch church, E. Va., through the Committee, helps our supply department nicely with their various gifts from many helpers.

about an
Think Right organ

They fling them together of poor material and varnish them nicely and call them as good as Estey Reed Organs at less price

ESTEY ORGAN COMPANY
Makers of Pipe and Reed Organs
BRATTLEBORO, VT.
Send for catalogue

POCKET S.S. COMMENTARY FOR 1910. SELF-PRONOUNCING Edition on Lessons and Text for the whole year, with right-to-the-point practical HELPS and Spiritual Explanations. Small in Size but Large in Suggestion and Fact. Daily Bible Readings for 1910, also Topics of Young People's Society, Motto, Pledge, etc. Red Cloth 25c, Morocco 35c, interleaved for Notes 50c, postpaid. Stamps Taken. Agents Wanted. Address GEO. W. NOBLE, Lakeside Bldg, Chicago

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

Look Over Your Wardrobe!

Every housewife has among the discarded clothing of the family, garments that can be made fit for wear again, by the aid of our departments. We dry clean garments of any nature,—and make them appear new. We dye articles of ladies' and men's wear, and housefurnishings, that have become tiresome, soiled or faded,—and renew them at small cost. Our illustrated booklet and price list is free. Write for it.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND DYEING

CHARLOTTE STEAM LAUNDRY,
Carolinas Leading Dyers and Cleaners.
224 So. Tryon St., Charlotte, N. C.

Thus, my friends, we are brought to face the cash account! How thankful we are! To each child, each person, each Sunday school, Society, and church we are very grateful. A few weeks' work like this one will fill the need and answer the prayers for this year's work. May God greatly bless the donors.

The following donations have been received:

1 box, Antioch Church, Windsor, Va., by Mrs. Joe S. Pearson, Mrs. Willie Garrison, Mrs. R. A. Butler, Com.

Misses Minta Williams and Lola Fuller, Franklinton, N. C., one quilt each.

Old member Christian Memorial Temple, Norfolk, Va.: 8 prs. hose, 4 caps, 6 cakes soap, 6 towels, 2 yds. ribbon, 5 yds. percale, 2 neckties, 2 lbs. candy.

Mrs. H. W. Elder, Richland, Ga., 4 towels, 1 pr. trousers.

Mrs. Fannie Coker, Richland, Ga., 1 quilt.

Geo. Allen, Raleigh, N. C., 1 copy The Science of Accounts and Book Keeping.

The Caraleigh Phosphate and Fertilizer Works, Raleigh, N. C., 1/2 ton guano for wheat.

J. T. Rowland, Raleigh, N. C., his annual Thanksgiving hox for children.

Jno. A. Mills, Raleigh, N. C., $5.00 to be divided among the children Thanksgiving Day.

Raleigh Christian Church and Sunday school with friends send check for $28.43 with a large hox, the value of which is between seventy-five and one hundred dollars. (There were so many articles that we have not space to give names, etc.)

We want ten friends to send us 1 bbl. wheat each, and 20 friends to send us one half bbl. wheat each, and 25 friends to send us 2 bu. corn each, and then we feel we can see next harvest with clearer vision.

God's blessings upon the noble helpers.

Fraternally,

Uncle Jim.

Henderson, N. C., Nov. 30, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

We must hurry to get our November letter written before the month goes out.

We are so glad Christmas is so near. We are talking Santa Claus. Every day or so we think of something else we want him to bring.

Uncle Jim, Hannah Clare goes to the Wed. night C. E. meetings. She doesn't cry, but she is rather enthusiastic with her responses. Applauds all the speakers and sings a little out of tune at times. She thoroughly enjoys it. Charles sleeps all through the services.

We send our dimes.

Lovingly,

Charles E. Newman, Jr.

Hannah Clare Newman.

Waverly, Va., Nov. 23, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am a little boy eight years old, and want to join the band and be one of the little cousins. I like to read their letters and want to make my own money to send you every month, because my mama says God loves for boys to work and make the money to send you by themselves; so I am going to sweep around the door, and bring water for mama's flowers and for the little chickens. I send you ten cents I made this way. I would like to see all the little cousins. I went with mama to Elon once, but I was so sick while I was there I could not go to see the little boys and girls at the orphanage. I wanted to see you too. I will write again and send you some money after I make it myself.

Your little nephew,

Baird Harrison West.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 26, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

You came to see us and we sure did appreciate your coming.

We are having some fine weather here now.

Miss Bettie Stevenson is still with us and we are so glad to have her.

Enclosed find twenty cents for our dues for November.

We will close with love to you and all the cousins.

We remain,

Para Lee and Grady Beggs.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

This is my second letter. I guess you had a fine trip to Ala. Well, Thanksgiving is most here. My letter is late, but I am sure that it will do good all the same. Find my November dues in this letter. I will close. You will find my 25c. in this letter.

Your loving niece,

Ruth Hamlett.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 23, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I will send ten cents to the orphans for Thanksgiving. I know you all will have a good time. I hope all the cousins are well.

Yours truly,

William L. Lindsay.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I would like to join the band of cousins if you will have me. I am going to school too. Enclosed find 15 cents, my dues for Sept., Oct., Nov.

Your niece,

Dora Young.

Wake Forest, N. C., Nov. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am a little late this time. I am going to school now, and learning fast. That's the reason I haven't written before now. I send my dues for Sept., Oct., Nov. Enclosed find 15c.

Your niece,

Iola Timberlake.

Taro, Va., Nov. 27, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am late, but will write and send my dime for November.

I hope all the little orphans had as nice a Thanksgiving as I did.

We went to church, and it was beautifully decorated with running cedar, oak leaves and pumpkins. There were recitations and songs by the children, hymns were sung, prayer, reading and dinner, which was turkey, cranberry sauce, pies and cakes. I enjoyed all of it.

Our teacher went visiting yesterday, so we did not have school yesterday.

Mama came back from Lynchburg yesterday. She went Saturday with my cousin.

Lovingly,

Susie Roach Watson.

Graham, N. C., Nov. 24, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

It is with much pleasure that I write you. I want to join the Band of Cousins. I am a little girl 7 months old. Papa and mama think lots of me. Papa is gone off for a few days. I want to see him so bad. I think lots of my papa and mama.

I close. I send you 25c. for Thanksgiving Offering.

Your little niece,

Blauche Kernodle.

Pine Apple, Ala., Nov. 22, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

All Alabama is discussing the Amendment. We are fond of our white ribbon badges and can tell for what we wear them. We hope and pray for the temperance army to win next Monday. Congratulate Uncle Elmer for us Thursday evening after the debate.

Our love and dimes.

Fondly,

John Newman Denton.

Sidney Eaves Denton, Jr.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist

FOSTER BUILDING,

Burlington, N. C.

WE OFFER YOU A POSITION

We want 250 men right away. Must have them and will pay good money—$3.00 to $5.00 a day guaranteed according to class of work. You need no money. Everything done on our capital. You deliver our goods and collect. A big opportunity. Write today for free plans, sample outfits, etc. All free. G. H. GROUNDS, Manager. 127 W. Adams Street, Dept. 5888, Chicago, Ill.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention.

Christian Church, South.

CHURCH: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—50 HELPFUL BOOKS.

Last week we said in this column that we must provide literature on Christian Endeavor in order that we may make thorough preparation for the prayer-meetings and plan them with intelligence. This week we shall give a list of 50 helpful books for Christian Endeavor workers and sympathizers. Not one of these books will harm anyone—helpfulness is the aim of each one of them. Many of them the writer has read entirely: of all the others he has read reviews and expects to read the books themselves soon. While these are Christian Endeavor books, any Christian will profit by reading them. No pastor's library ought to be without some of them. The Sunday school library would be better off for more of such books as these and fewer of the stories which revel in a false standard of the Christian life and attract by their depicting of tales of impossible adventure. Can you give your pastor, your brother or sister, your friend, a better, more suitable Christmas or birthday gift than one of these books dedicated to the service of God, consecrated to the good of man? The Christian Sun will furnish these books at the listed price. I will hand all orders over to them at once, if sent to me.

The Young People's Pastor, Wells, $ .75
 Weapons for Temperance Warfare,
     Brain, .35
 Taet, Sanborn, .35
 Three Whys and Their Answers, (Devotional), Babeock, .35
 Secret of a Happy Day, Chapman, .50
 Social Evenings, Wells, .35
 Social to Save, Wells, .35
 The Surrendered Life, Chapman, .35
 Studies in the Life of Christ, Taylor, .75
 Next Steps, McCauley, .35
 Our Unions, Wells, .35

The Officers' Handbook, Wells, .35
 On the Outlook, Wells, .10
 Prayer Meeting Methods, Wells, .35
 The Presence of God, Clark, .25
 Princely Men in the Heavenly Kingdom, Beach, .35
 Our Crowning Meeting, Wells, .10
 The Loom of Life, Peloubet, .35
 Making the Most of Oneself, Gum-bart, .35
 The Missionary Manual, Wells, .35
 The Inner Life, Vincent, .15
 Into All the World, Wells, .35
 Junior Endeavor, Clark, 1.00
 The Junior Manual, Wells, .75
 Fuel for Missionary Fires, Brain, .35
 Good Times with the Juniors, Heath, .50
 Help for the Tempted, Wells, .75
 Heroes of the Cross in America,
     Shelton, .35
 How to Play, Wells, .75
 How to Study, Wells, .75
 How to Work, Wells, .75
 Eighty Pleasant Evenings, Heath, .35
 Elijah Love, Citizen, Wells, 1.00
 The Endeavor Greeting, Wells, .10
 Fifty Missionary Programs, Brain, .35
 From Life to Life, Chapman, 1.00
 A Bible Year, Wells, .35
 The Christian Endeavor Manual,
     Clark, 1.00
 Daily Message for Christian Endeavors, Clark, 1.00
 Deeper Yet, Eberman, .50
 Christian Endeavor in Principle and Practice, Clark, .10
 Citizens in Training, Wells, .35
 The Bible in Lesson and Story,
     Brown, 1.25
 Day by Day, Chapman, .35
 Golden Counsels, Moody, .35
 Grace Before Meat, Wells, .25
 Just to Help, Wells, .35
 Living and Loving, Clark, .25
 The Man Who Said He Would,
     Chapman, .35
 My Best Friend, Tomkins, .15

Two Encouraging Letters.

Writing under date of Nov. 22, Miss Emma Hart, Sanford, N. C., says, "We organized our Junior Endeavor Society yesterday with eight members." This is indeed encouraging. We know Miss Hart will enjoy her work and that great good will come of it.

And the second is most encouraging indeed. It comes from Bro. W. S. Hand, Wadley, Ala., and reads, in part, as follows, "We organized our Society on Sept. 9, 1909 with 20 members. We now have 41. Our membership grows every time we meet. We have met weekly every week since we organized. The Society has had a great influence for good, and is being reorganized as such among the people of this community. The Society has greatly improved our Sunday school." Isn't that fine? The C. E. Society is always an agency for good and will not only improve the S. S. but everything else connected with the church or the religious life. Who will be next to organize a Christian Endeavor Society?

An Offer.

If you will organize a Christian Endeavor Society in your church and promise to use the same in your Society's work, I will send you free of charge, the Christian Endeavor World for two months. This periodical is published weekly in Boston, Mass., and is the international mouth-piece of world-wide Christian Endeavor. No better inter-denominational religious periodical is in existence than this publication. It contains excellent articles on all phases of the religious life and weekly notes on the C. E. Topic and Sunday school lesson. I hope 100 persons will immediately take me up on this offer. Who will be first?

Another Offer.

Do you desire a copy of Preparing the Teacher free? This is our own Teacher-training Course, written by our own people, and has been favorably received by the press and public generally. Would you like a copy of this book free? Then organize a Teacher training class of five members in your Sunday school and make that fact known to me, and I will send you the book by return mail. The other books needed by your class will be furnished by the Christian Sun for 50 cents the volume. Who will be first to accept this offer?

C. E. TOPIC FOR DECEMBER 12—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Pilgrim's Progress Series. XII. Crossing the River. 1 Cor. 15:31-38; Heb. 2:14-18.

Our Pilgrim's Progress Passage.—Our passage this time is a relatively short one, beginning with the paragraph "So I saw that when they awoke, they addressed themselves to go up to the city," and ending with the concluding words of the first part of the Bunyon's Pilgrim's Progress. "So I awoke, and behold it was a dream." If you have a good reader of dramatic ability in the Society, it might be well to have the passage read entire before the Society. If you have no suitable reader, but a talker who can condense and at the same time illuminate, have him tell the story vividly in his own words. Or a third method would be to ask individual Endeavorers to tell in two minutes each what he gathers from the following: Heavenly City, The Shining Men, Crossing the River, Ascending the Heavenly Hill, Life in Heaven, Heaven's Welcome, Heaven's Gate, The Fate of Ignorance, Bunyon's Dream.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

The Scripture Passages.—Appoint two readers and two commentators for our two passages. After the first reader reads, let the first commentator talk not over two minutes. Do likewise with the second passage.

Question Spurs.—(Hand these out to those who will not speak unless given special work to do, but do not call for them; allow them to come in under voluntary participation).

How does Heaven appear to you? (Give to three).

What are angels for, here and hereafter? (Give to two).

Why not fear death?

Who should fear death?

How may we dispel the fear of death?

How can we prepare for Heaven?

What kind of work will we do in Heaven?

How can we help others get to Heaven? (Give to several).

Scripture References.—(Hand out to those who will not otherwise take part. Ask each one to add a word of comment. Let the work come in under voluntary participation).

Fear of Death, Isa. 38:12-14.

Lord of Death, Isa. 43:1-2.

Looking beyond Death, 2 Cor. 4:16-18.

The Gate to the Better Life, 2 Tim. 4:6-8.

An Immortal Heritage, 1 Pet. 1:3-5.

Christ's Promise, John 14:2-3.

Death: A Sleep, 1 Cor. 15:54.

Death Vanquished, 1 Cor. 15:54.

Preparing for Death, Eccles. 9:10.

The Deathless Life, John 6:50.

Our Home Beyond, Matt. 6:20.

John's Vision, Rev. 21:1-4.

The Holy City, Rev. 21:10-16.

The Holy City's Walls, Rev. 21:17-21.

The Holy City's Temple, Rev. 21:22.

The Holy City's Light, Rev. 21:23.

Whosoever Will, Rev. 21:24-27.

A Picture of Heaven, Rev. 22:1-5.

Suggested Program.

1. Several songs about Heaven and Death.

2. Prayer or chain of prayer.

3. Bunyon's Pilgrim's Progress Program.

4. Scripture lesson read and comment thereon.

5. Song. Prayer.

6. Leader's remarks.

7. Voluntary participation, including Question Spurs and Scripture References.

8. Song. Prayer.

9. Pastor's Five Minutes.

10. Opportunity for all who would testify for Christ to stand up.

11. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

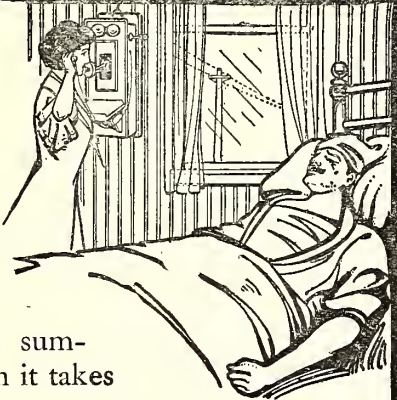

—The Baptist State Convention of N. C. is in session at Wadesboro this week. Five hundred delegates are supposed to be in attendance.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

In Any Emergency

The Telephone is the quickest means of securing relief or calling assistance. In rural districts the doctor or the neighbors can be summoned in less time than it takes to hitch a horse Connection with the Bell System puts you in touch with the whole country. You need a telephone in your home.

Write to nearest Bell Telephone Manager for pamphlet, or address

Farmers' Line Department
Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

19 South Pryor Street
ATLANTA
GEORGIA

Cabbage Plants

Best strains, grown in open air. Frost proof and rapid growers. Only best seed used. Same used on my own truck farm.

Also Lettuce and Beet Plants. All plants guaranteed, full count and best, hardiest plants.

Write for prices, catalog and free booklet on culture of these crops. Address,

B. L. COX, Ethel, S. C.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

FREE DEAFNESS CURE.

A remarkable offer by one of the leading ear specialists in this country, who will send two months' medicine free to prove his ability to cure Deafness, Head Noises, and Catarrh. Address Dr. G. M. Braman, 1100 Walnut St., Kansas

Don't Throw it Away. Does Your Granite Dish or the Water in a Sink? USE MENDEL'S PATENT PATCH.

They mend all leaks in all utensils—tin brass, copper, granite ware, hot water bags, etc. No solder, cement or rivet. Any one can use them; fit any surface; three million in use. Send for sample pkg. 10c. Complete pkg. assorted sizes, 25c postpaid. Agents wanted. Colletta Mfg. Co., Box 1141, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Girls Free. This beautiful Gold Watch with standard movements together with Watch Pin given away absolutely Free for a few hours of your time. Send us 40c for a sample of our latest Household Novelty to take orders with. Send us in the orders you take and the Watch and Pin are yours. Address,

The Upton Berry Co., Glenboro, Manitoba, Can., P. O. Box 197.

HOUSEWIVES FREE!

This Ideal Pie Crimper not only makes a cleaner cut and a neater crimp but it presses both cuts firmly together thus preventing the rich juices from boiling over. Sent by mail 25c. FREE a useful article will be given FREE

W. D. H. Buzby, Ateo, N. J.

Free to Housekeepers

We want every housekeeper to have a Perfect Dust Beater. Every home needs it every day. Hundreds of testimonials. To introduce it we will send a New Household Necessity of equal value and Free Premiums. Send 45 cents, stamps or money order.

Peter Bros. Novelty Co., 83 Ave. A., New York, N. Y.

Thin? Pale?

Consult your doctor freely about medical matters. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. Follow his advice at all times. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

All run down, easily tired, thin, pale, nervous? And do not know what to take? Then go direct to your doctor. Ask his opinion of Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla. No alcohol, no stimulation. A blood purifier, a nerve tonic, a strong alterative, an aid to digestion

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

VICK'S CROUP AND PNEUMONIA SALVE

This splendid remedy, popular for fifteen years, is endorsed by physicians everywhere—over 300 in North Carolina alone. It has saved thousands of lives—children with croup and whooping cough, adults with pneumonia, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc; and it soon relieves all congestion and inflammation of the throat and air passages. It differs from ordinary remedies, giving off vapors that are Antiseptic, Stimulating and Crisp, drying the Bronchial Tract which loosens the phlegm, unlocks the congestion, as liquid medicines cannot possibly do, and at the same time the application to the skin relieves the nervous system, reducing inflammation and adding the blood in its fight against the invading germs. Get it now. 25c, 50c, and $1.00. At all druggists or by mail from VICK'S FAMILY REMEDIES CO., Greensboro, N. C. For free sample specify department No. 2.

Before You Decorate, Get This Book

It will help you avoid a mistake.

It will show you the vogue in wall coating. It will tell you what people of taste are employing, and how.

We have a wealth of ideas, and a book of vital facts. They are yours for the asking. Please ask.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

Note any fine hotel, any modern home, any new apartment. You will find that the vogue is solid-color walls, finished in Alabastine tints.

Where once you found wall paper you now find Alabastine. Its very simplicity is now the height of good taste.

It is brilliant and beautiful, yet economical. It adapts itself to color schemes in endless variety. It can be applied over wall paper.

It is the only wall coating that doesn't breed germs.

Please learn what has made Alabastine the fashion. Then judge if you want it. Simply send us this coupon. Please do it now.

Alabastine Co.,
Dept. 93, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to _____

HILLCREST

The Greatest Land Opportunity now open to the man of moderate means. One Hundred Dollars invested now buys a farm that will support yourself and family in comfort and in less than ten years sell at Five Hundred Dollars per half acre lot.

Hillcrest, near the rapidly growing city of Columbia, S. C., is soon to be the greatest center for the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for the high priced markets of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and the East. The sandy soil and wonderful climate combine to make Hillcrest surpass all other sections for the raising of peaches, grapes, pears, pecans, onions, asparagus, cabbage, tomatoes, potatoes and other early fruits and vegetables.

500 to 800 MILES NEARER THE NORTHERN MARKETS THAN FLORIDA.

The sandy lands of Hillcrest catch and retain the earliest rays of the spring sun and, therefore, produce vegetables and fruits much earlier than the low lands. These early spring fruits bring fancy prices in Columbia and the cities of the North. Three lines of railways, The Atlantic Coast Line, The Seaboard Air Line and The Southern Railway give rapid transit at lowest freight rates to Northern markets, thus giving Hillcrest an important advantage over other fruit and vegetable growing sections. The soil and climate are perfectly ideal for the raising of poultry, and fancy market prices make this industry a wonderful success.

THE WONDERFUL CLIMATE OF HILLCREST.

In selecting a place to live, the first thing to be considered is climate. No spot in America is so favored in this particular as Hillcrest. The fame of Pinchurst, Camden, Columbia, and Augusta as winter resorts have attracted the health-seekers and pleasure-seekers of America by the hundreds of thousands and has multiplied ten-fold the value of land in these places. Hillcrest possesses all the attractions of soil and climate that have made her sister resorts famous, and in addition has the advantage of several hundred feet elevation above any of them, thus giving it the same winter climate, but a much superior summer climate. A hot night in Hillcrest is unknown nor are the days ever uncomfortable. The annual variation in temperature is remarkably small, thus giving the mildest winters and the coolest summers. The porous sandy soil quickly absorbs the most abundant rain, leaving the air pure and dry, and making cultivation possible within a few hours.

HILLCREST—THE GREAT PLEASURE AND HEALTH RESORT.

With its splendid climate and high elevation Hillcrest is soon to be the most popular resort of the South Atlantic section. Its absolute freedom from malaria, its pure and bracing air, and its excellent water, are already attracting homeseekers in large numbers from Columbia and the surrounding territory. The market value of land will increase by leaps and bounds and the farmer, fruit grower, truck grower or poultryman, who buys a farm now for $100 will in a few years be holding his land at Hillcrest for $500 per half acre building lot.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET GIVING FULL INFORMATION.

The management of Hillcrest offers the greatest inducements to homeseekers who are interested in the growing of early fruits and vegetables and the raising of poultry for profit. It is impossible to give full particulars in this announcement, so we urge all interested parties to fill out the coupon below and we will promptly send booklet giving full information including our easy payment plan by monthly installment.

C O U P O N .

The D. Sam Cox Company, Owners of Hillcrest, Columbia, S. C.

Gentlemen:—You may send me your free booklet describing the advantages of Hillcrest, and outlining your easy payment plan.

Signed _____ Town _____ State _____

LET US CLEAN YOUR SOILED SKIRT

Ladies soiled skirts, dresses, suits or wraps of any material, that have become soiled and mussed, can be dry cleaned and pressed, and made new in our

French Dry Cleaning and Dyeing

department. We also dye over garments, with uniform success, and at slight cost to you. Our illustrated booklet and price list is free. Write us for it.

Charlotte Steam Laundry, Charlotte, N. C.
Carolinas Leading Dyers and Cleaners.

224 South Tryon St.,

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

STEWART HOME and SCHOOL

FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AND ADULTS.

Expert training, mental development, and care by specially trained teachers, and experienced physician who has devoted his life to the study and treatment of nervous children. Home influences. Delightfully located in the blue grass section of Kentucky. 100 acres of beautiful lawn and woodland for pleasure grounds. Specially appointed building, electric lighted and steam heated. Highly endorsed and recommended by prominent physicians, ministers and patrons.

Write for terms and descriptive catalogue. Address
DR. JNO. P. STEWART, Supt., Box 4, Farmdale, Ky.

Big Pay in Civil Service

The pay is good, the work congenial, and promotion rapid in the U.S. Civil Service. If you are an American man or woman over 18 you are eligible for any government position if you pass the Civil Service Examination. To learn how you can qualify in your spare time, write for our free U. S. S. booklet.

INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS,
Box 1228, Scranton, Pa.

SPHINX

PURE MIXED
PAINT

DEFIES TIME & WEATHER

Look for the trade-mark bearing the words Best Quality. It is your surest guarantee of satisfaction and your protection against cracking, scaling and peeling.

“SPHINX” PAINT IS MADE FOR SOUTHERN PINE.

Made in white, black and forty-five beautiful tints and colors. All ready mixed. If your dealer cannot supply you write for free color cards and prices.

Leland Moore Paint & Oil Company,

BEST FOR THE SOUTH

Charleston, S. C.

MADE IN THE SOUTH — FOR USE IN THE SOUTH

GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO

THE COMPLETE AND NATURAL PLANT FOOD

NATURE'S OWN PRODUCT, UNTOUCHED BY THE CHEMIST OR MANUFACTURER

TRADE MARK

LOOK FOR THE TRADE MARK

THE “Sign of the Pelican” is your guarantee that you are getting the GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO, the natural excrement from the millions upon millions of fish-eating birds which frequent the rainless islands of the West coast of Peru. Peruvian Guano is digested fish, the richest of all fertilizers.

Works Wonders for Cotton

Comparative tests invariably show that Natural Peruvian Guano produces yields of cotton varying from one-third to one-half larger than those produced by the chemical fertilizers at equivalent cost per acre.

Peruvian Guano has only ONE fault: the supply is limited. If you want the best of all plant foods, write at once for free booklet and prices. Then place your advance order.

Peruvian Guano Corporation, Importers, Charleston, S. C.

—It is announced that Judge Horace H. Lurton, of Tennessee, is to succeed Judge Peckham on the United States Supreme Bench, and that General Luke E. Wright will succeed Judge Lurton on the Circuit Court Bench.

—Alabama was already dry by statute law, but the election was held hoping to establish a constitutional amendment. The failure to carry the State for the amendment does not open the saloons; but it was feared some Legislature might fling down the gage. The State remains dry.

—Mr. E. H. Harriman made $15,000,000 a year during the last decade of his life. It is doubtful, indeed, if the honest earning capacity of one man amounts to so much.

—Col John S. Cunningham, of Person County, N. C., a few years since reputed to be the largest tobacco grower in the world went into voluntary bankruptcy Dec. 6.

The Christian Sun.

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 49.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Worth of Weight.—There are weights that encumber, and weights that help. Ships, for safety, carry ballast. Men, for safety, must carry responsibility. This is the ballast that secures safety to life and character. When responsibility does not crush, it crowns. Strong men often shrink from responsibility, usually do; but when forced, or put upon them, it means the cure of their character, and the coronation of their achievements.

King Edward VII of England was crowned seven years ago. There was then grave apprehensions, well founded. His health was poor, his morals doubtful, his disposition and tastes questionable. After seven years of worry and work and wear—at his sixty-eighth birthday last month—his health was declared excellent, his spirits buoyant and hopeful, his moral tone sober, sane, serious. The weight of a kingdom has given him worth as a king.

Every life needs ballast. Every career responds to, or goes down under, the weight of responsibility.

Four Centuries.—He who regards events only in a life time, little reckons of the really great changes that the slowly moving centuries produce. Dr. Martyn Summerbell, in lectures on Luther, at Elon College recently, gave a vivid picture of the times and the country out of which the man grew.

At the beginning of the 16th Century the very few possessed practically all the wealth, and the great masses were poor beyond our conception. The many had no rights, social, political or financial. Our dogs live better now than the great body of the European population then. The fare was incredible. Garden vegetables were unknown in England till Henry VIII—or in the 16th century. In France till the 16th century the farmer who raised a pig would have to give half the pig for enough salt to put on the other half. Salt was a monopoly, owned by and available to the very rich, but sold at enormous prices to the poor. Clothes were worn without change or bath, until they dropped off from decay or continued wearing. When Henry VIII was crowned king, London was the size of Newark, N. J., and no man of rank dared venture on the streets in those times, at night, unless accompanied by torch bearers. Tyranny sat upon thrones: greed and duplicity ruled in every palace.

Going further back, in the 11th and 12th centuries the greatest nobles, even kings, could not read or write, or subscribe their own names to documents. Signatures in the 13th century are exceedingly rare. Frederick Barbarosa, in the 13th century, could not sign his own name. Philip II of France, regarded as an able and capable ruler, could not read. In the 15th and 16th centuries not more than half the English people could read at all. The priesthood clung to letters: so royalty had chaplains to read to them and write for them. And yet we sometimes hear it doubted as to whether the world is really making progress in knowledge, morals and religion. Any study of the past, the far past of the centuries, will reveal the marvelous and really wonderful progress being made in all lines of being and betterment.

He Saved Others.—The papers told of a brave man, and a brave deed, just across the Mexican line two years ago, Nov. 7, 1907. The man was an engineer named Garcia. Standing at a station it was discovered that a car on Garcia's train was afire, several cars of the train being loaded with dynamite. It was known that if fire reached the cars of dynamite the whole town would be blown up. There was a panic and every man ran for his life save engineer Garcia. He, quietly opening the throttle, pulled the train from the station. Not far in the distance a deep and far-sounding detonation was heard. The train was blown to atoms, the engine destroyed, and no trace of the brave engineer remained. He gave himself, willfully, to save others; himself he could not save. No wonder the town he saved honors his memory with a monument. The days of heroes are not past: and some as good men, as brave, now live as ever walked the earth.

"The End of War."—Since this writer began to read, and hear of things, it has been believed, and written of by many, that weapons of war would ultimately be made so destructive and deadly that men would fear war, and every now and then there be statesmen, Congressmen forsooth, who say that America can command peace if an army and a navy of sufficient proportions and power be built up. Dreadnoughts, Super-Dreadnoughts, and Multi-Super-Dreadnoughts are in course of construction for the purpose of frightening the nations into peace, harmony, cooperation. Such a process of procuring peace has been going on since more than three thousand years before Christ.

Recently, says a writer in Youth's Companion, there was found wrapped around an Egyptian mummy, a papyrus which reveals that an ancient, Dorion by name, made a fighting machine so deadly that it was named, "The End of War." It is not even known now what that machine was. But wars, and the rumors of wars, have filled with blood and gore and death the annals of history before and since Dorion's day. Still the world vainly pursues an implement and an armor that will frighten men into peace. Heaven knows, and has decreed, that peace will not come in such a manner; but through the message and the Life of Him of Whom the Angels sang, "Peace on earth," —President Taft has appointed Judge Horace H. Lurton of Tennessee to be Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court to succeed the late Justice Peckham. Judge Lurton was appointed Circuit Court Judge by President Cleveland in 1893, and is a Democrat in politics, though not active politically since his elevation to the Bench. Judge Lurton was a personal friend, and therefore, well known to, President Taft, and is regarded as a very able jurist. Judge Lurton was a member of the Confederate army.

—There is coal enough in the earth to last seven thousand years, according to an announcement of the Geological Survey. At the end of that time, if the human race has not passed beyond the need of any fuel whatever, it will have learned how to utilize the vast stores of solar energy which are now going to waste daily.

FROM THE FIELD.

Durham Letter.

In the city of Durham we have had a glorious year's work. The Lord has blessed our faithful and loyal band of brethren and sisters. We have great reason to rejoice in our labors. The work has been pleasant and when conference came on we were ready with all conference requirements. We are at home at our post for another year's service, armed and equipped for a better system of work we learned at the different conferences; from the papers presented by the different brethren how we may advance along all lines in the Lord's cause. The two conferences, E. N. C., and the N. C. and Va., were the best sessions ever held since the writer has been in the conference. Let us be able, should the Lord permit us to attend another conference, to carry up yet better reports..

We should look well to the spiritual interest in our churches, leaving off a great many inconsistent practices in our lives and exercising our talent in personal work. We have learned in a great revival in our church with Rev. W. W. Smith evangelist, as the leader that personal work is required of the Christians to bring signal success. We have been wonderfully revived in our church. A great many men and women, boys and girls, have accepted our Savior and will be of great help in the Master's cause. Our meeting came to a close last Sunday night with seven accessions to the church with more to follow later on. The writer has passed through a sad experience this year in the loss of his companion, leaving him in a lonely condition. None but those who have passed through this ordeal can extend real sympathy and know what it means to lose such a friend.

A. P. Barbee.

THE CONFERENCE YEAR 1909.

The Conference year of 1909 is a thing of history, its mechanical work is done, but its influence will live on through ages yet to come. The work in many respects was very gratifying. The financial condition of the churches was encouraging and the spiritual condition was uplifting. While much was done during the year, yet there is more to be done this year. Personally I feel very grateful, I did not lose an appointment during the year by sickness or from any other cause; yet there were two cases of typhoid fever in my family. The revivals in my churches were very good. The unity of the brotherhood is very noticeable. The present indications are hopeful for the incoming year. The supreme ideal should be an advance in all lines. To this end may we all consecrate our energies and consecrate efforts to make this the best year of life. There is a great harvest field before us as a church, and the harvest will be the result of our efforts. We should begin by discharging the duties of the present today and not tomorrow. "Behold! now is the accepted time."

S. B. Klapp.

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 9, 1909.

OUR TEACHER TRAINING.

I wish to enquire what is going with our Teacher Training?

A part of the plan of Teacher Training is to award Diplomas to all who complete the course in a satisfactory manner, awarding a diploma for both first and advanced courses. It is the desire of the State Sunday school Association to cooperate with us in such work, having every class or individual to enroll with them that they may attach the International seal to our Diploma or in the absence of that, award the International Diploma, which is done through them, in which case the examination is conducted under their supervision, all without cost to class or individuals except the postage, which may be incurred thereby.

About twelve months ago many Teacher Training classes were organized throughout our church South, some of them were very large classes, all taking our own "Training the Teacher." It is now time all of these were finishing the book and receiving the Diploma. Are they ready? Where are the classes? What have they done? Who's conducting the examinations? Where are the Diplomas? Who's the Superintendent of Education in our Convention? Who's looking after this work? Who's enrolling the classes? Individuals? Who's encouraging and urging the work authoritatively? Who's writing Teacher Training literature and scattering it broadcast? Who's pressing the Diploma idea? All this is being done in an organized, systematic, and most progressive way in other denominations. I simply raise the question, Are we leaving any thing undone?

It seems to me that if our college is worth distinction and degree in public recognition, that the educational side of our church work needs and should have the same sort of cast and recognition. If we fail to make it so, little is going to come of our Teacher Training except perhaps to buy the books. Our course is being prepared for something more than the purchase of the books and to lay them on the shelf. And yet that is what many of our people are doing,

I fear. If we do not create a Teacher Training head who will press home the Teacher Training work and perpetuate it among our people, it will pass into history, and we will not be able to claim the right to the tail end of progress which we now so happily hold.

The Southern Christian Convention needs a Superintendent for this work, and it needs this work most of all. Education and education!!

By some dint of time, circumstance, or condition, either visionary or real, false or true, I know not how, I have come to feel that the most of our people need to be taught what Teacher Training is; its methods of work, and its results. I think we need to be taught what other denominations are doing. We need to be taught what the International Sunday School Association is, and what a benefit it is to us if we will only avail ourselves of it.

As Teacher Training Superintendent of Virginia, I have tried to enroll the classes in Virginia with this office, and yet, for some reason or another, not a one has done so. Some have been rather shy apparently fearing something. What, I know not. We have no organized Teacher Training work ourselves; that being the case, I have desired to enroll these that we as a denomination might have the same benefits (even better) of Teacher Training than we would have if we were thoroughly organized. I have desired it that every class, and member, and individual who has purchased a book, might have the International Diploma; that we might follow in the train of other denominations who are putting all their force in the International work. But the Diploma idea is something foreign to them. It is such a beautiful light, they will not even look at it. Perhaps they fear they will injure their vision. Other denominations are enrolling with us every day, even without an invitation. They simply know about the work and at once enroll for the International recognition. They want the work and they are getting it. There are now about seven hundred enrolled in this State. There were sixty-eight graduates last June, representing different denominations, but the Christian was not there. Not a single individual in the Christian church has graduated in Teacher Training in the State of Virginia. A very few have enrolled in Waverly and Wakefield. And yet it has been as much the privilege of the members of this church to do this as it has been any other church,—the Disciples, or the United Brethren, for instance, who at present are taking the lead in this and much other of church work throughout this country. Where are we?

I see no reason why we should not be as live and progressive as any other body of workers. I think we can, if we will be a little more zealous and push a little. Paul said he did not count it a sin to be zealous in good things. I think if we will put a little more of Paul's zeal in our Teacher Training it will bring about a rapid transformation in Sunday school work in our church.

H. E. Rountree.

Waverly, Va.

THE PASSING YEAR.

Standing one lovely summer day under a thick spreading tree looking at a landscape of surpassingly beautiful scenery, which was inviting and pleasing, a bevy of birds rested awhile in its branches, and warbled a sweet, glad song. Then in the sheen of a summer sun they winged their graceful flight to thrill other hearts and gladden other lives. As they spread their swift wings until lost in the distant view, it left an impression that many other hearts needed gladness. Hearts which had groped in sorrow a long time, realized that the greatest and most welcome visitor to them would be joy. It may be safe to say that happiness is one of the greatest blessings which this world can bestow upon any one. It is the dream by night and the aspiration by day of millions of anxious ones, who are waiting for some welcome wave of gladness to roll the sweet messenger of peace in their souls. What a glad, happy day it will be when it comes! Everybody is looking for, and expecting it to come. From the least to the greatest, from the oldest to the youngest, from the poorest to the richest, all, all classes and conditions of people are looking for solid happiness. Let it come, let it come, like refreshing showers into every life.

To be tied up, wound up, and bound up in a bunch of unhappiness is a bad thing to think of, and the realization of it must be more so. To be in such a condition, and not able to get out of it would almost be a living death to some, and yet we must think that many are drinking the bitter draught. And if all such did not entertain a hope of getting out of that situation they would be troubled worse than they could bear. But hope comes in and greatly helps them by its persuasive and gentle influence.

The passing years ought to bring to us more gladness especially to the Christian, because he is nearer home, and ready to partake of that happiness which will be lasting. For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. God does not count time by our reckoning, but computes it into infinite length. The great clock of time has nearly numbered the days of 1909, and we are in the twilight hours of its close, watching and waiting for the end, and looking out for that midnight hour that will welcome in the next year. Said a very faithful friend not long since, I have passed several bright happy years, but this appears to have been the most pleasant one of them all,—it has been the way of happiness. I cannot account for this, unless it is because I am nearer the end. And I would always love to feel like saying, My wings being plumed, I am ready to take the final flight to my eternal home. And if I could thus truly express myself, it would give inexpressible gladness. Hope, our everguiding star, which has led us over the way so pleasantly, and successfully, still leads us down through the final days and permits us to say the last words to the departing year. What we have said and done has been recorded on the pages of time, and, as we think, will help to make us happy or unhappy in the great eternity.

What have we done, what are we doing, and what can we do? The past tells what we have done, the present shows what we are doing, and the future is inviting us to make the best of it. If kind acts have been performed, and tender, loving, helpful words spoken, the remembrance of which will bring great blessings and a rich reward. If bitter ones have been said, repent of them, deeply regret them and avoid their use in the future. How many dull and dim eyes have you made to flash with new life? How many faces have you made beautiful with real joy? How many afflicted ones have you visited this year, prayed with, talked with, and cheered by your pleasant presence? How many needy ones have you helped out by the means with which you have been blessed. How many troubled hearts have you comforted with the lotion of kindness? How many lost ones have you found? How many sinners have you helped to save?

These golden days have adorned in a most becoming way the last month of the year. They have been resplendent with their departing beauty and loveliness.

J. T. Kitchen.

NORFOLK LETTER.

Last Thursday evening, in the lecture room of the Memorial Christian Temple, a reception was tendered the new pastor and his family. The room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and a splendid program was presented, giving a welcome address on behalf of the ministers, by Rev. J. W. Harrell, of Portsmouth, and some remarks welcoming them to the South by the writer. Brother Howsare responded with appropriate remarks. Delightful refreshments were served, and altogether, pastor and people spent a very pleasant evening in getting acquainted, one with the other.

Good services are reported at the morning hour, Sunday. At three o'clock, he preached at the Third Church, giving us a splendid sermon, after which the doors of the church were opened. There were received into the fellowship of the church five members, Mr. L. L. Hodges, wife and daughter, coming to us from the Methodist church, Professor S. M. Smith, from our Raleigh church, and his wife who was from the Baptist Church. To all of these we extend a hearty welcome.

The Third Church Sunday school is preparing for the Christmas entertainment. Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Jarvis, and Mrs. Pitt being the committee in charge.

Having no regular preaching service at this time, I had announced Sunday a week ago in the Sunday school, that we would take the Thanksgiving offering for the benefit of the Orphanage. We took the offering yesterday in the Sunday school. It amounted to $12.65.

Nothing definite yet to report with regard to a pastor for the Third Church, but hope to have next Sunday.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Memorial Temple now meets at six-thirty Sunday evening. It was my pleasure to attend that meeting yesterday. Brother J. H. Blanchard was in charge of the meeting, which he conducted in a very interesting manner.

At seven-thirty, Brother Howsare preached a strong sermon from the subject, "Winning Forces in Christian Services." It has been arranged that for sometime, at least, he will have charge of the Rosemont Church, preaching every Sunday afternoon.

Rev. M. L. Bryant of the Main St. Church, has been assisting the pastor, Rev. J. W. Barrett, of the Lambert's Point Church for two weeks past in a series of meetings, resulting in something like thirty conversions, with twenty-three additions to date.

Rev. J. W. Barrett will conduct the prayer meeting at the Third Church Wednesday evening. J. W. Manning.

—The Norfolk and Southern Ry. was sold at auction in Norfolk recently, the price paid being $8,500,000. A Providence, R. I. corporation was the purchaser.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—Decide to make some cheerless heart cheerful Christmas day.

—Buy also a Christmas present for some one from whom you expect nothing in return.

—Rev. H. W. Elder closed his series of meetings in Greensboro and returned to his home at Richland, Ga., last Friday. Bro. Elder rendered valuable and acceptable service, Greensboro brethren report, and the same was much appreciated.

—The cash collection of the Christian Missionary Association of the Eastern Va. Conference was $835.00. That is fine for the Association of one Conference. Now if the Associations of the other Conferences will come to that we shall here find a factor in our work that will tell.

—Read Rev. J. W. Harrell's Portsmouth Letter this week. It is at once a word of inspiration and a call to duty. Pastor Harrell and his Portsmouth people are undertaking great things, and they have a right to expect things. A "Christmas gift" for the Portsmouth church would indeed be happy as Bro. Harrell suggests. His call is urgent, and his cause is worthy.

—News came last week of the death of Rev. Leon Smith's mother, at La Grange, Ga., to whose bedside, it was noted in last week's Sun, Bro. Smith was summoned from Elon College. At last report Bro. Smith's father was reported also exceedingly low with typhoid fever. There were four cases in the family. Bro. Smith has our deepest sympathy.

—One brother ordered 100 Testaments—vest pocket, plain print, neatly bound,—of The Christian Sun last week, to give away Christmas week. We furnished a beautiful little volume delivered for 13 cents each—four cents per copy cheaper than he could have bought them at wholesale in New York, and we are ready to duplicate the order, or any portion of it, for ten or more copies, to any Sun reader desiring. The Sun has placed several hundred copies of Testaments and Bibles the past year, and has yet to hear of the first dissatisfied customer.

—It is learned from The Norfolk Landmark that Rev. Stanley Harrell, who graduated from Elon College last June, and was elected principal of the Holland, Va., High School, has accepted a call to become pastor of the South Norfolk Christian Church and will take charge of the work Dec. 15. Bro. Harrell received his license to preach from the Eastern Virginia Conference last summer. This will be his first regular charge as pastor, though he has preached for the South Norfolk, and other churches, several times on invitation as supply.

—The American Missionary Association raised $18,413.70 more the past year than in the previous year. An old debt of $46,917.92 has been wiped out, and the Joint Missionary Campaign has wrought wonders. The receipts for the year just closed amounted to $447,903.43 which with income from endowments was brought, as grand total for the year, to $545,540.96.

—The American Bible Society has made its ninety-third Annual Report. The total issue of Bibles, and parts of the Bible, the past year, at home and abroad, was 2,153,028. The total issue in the 92 years has been 84,469,351. The receipts to the Society in these years has been $33,440,628. There are now issued about 18,860,000 volumes of Scripture annually.

—If any one ever doubted the wisdom and the necessity of a Convention Home Mission Fund he should read the letters of grateful appreciation from Rev. J. W. Harrell of Portsmouth, Rev. W. T. Walters of Winchester, Va., Rev. C. E. Newman, of Henderson, and others who have received help from this fund. The appropriations came to these brethren at a most happy and helpful time, made their hearts glad, helped to lift heavy burdens and gave new impetus and inspiration to the work. Pity indeed it is that all our churches do not raise to the full this Convention Home Mission Fund. Let us hope and believe that the churches will soon come to this, even though not a requirement in order to be classed as a banner church. No fund is needed more, and does more good when raised.

—One of the largest and most successful of our organized Sunday school classes is that at Suffolk ably and efficiently taught and conducted by Bro. Hersey E. Woodward. The spirit of this class is evidently contagious, as the following from the Suffolk correspondence in The Norfolk Landmark Tuesday, Dec. 7, would indicate:

"Mr. Hersey Woodward, teacher of the Baraca Class of the Christian Church, with several automobile and carriage loads of assistants, went to Liberty Spring church yesterday afternoon and there organized a Baraca Class of great promise. The hour was three and at that time a big crowd had gathered and 17 members were enrolled in the class." We congratulate Liberty Spring Sunday school, for an organized class is certainly a blessing and a benefit if properly conducted.

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF AMOS.

III. Prosperity and Corruption.

By Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D.

The re-action in human society caused by prosperity almost makes one feel like praying for hard times. "Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth for riches and for wisdom," and yet his personal life was corrupt and he said, "All is vanity." Israel's prosperity had made the king cruel and the people corrupt. "Ye oppress the righteous, take bribes, and push aside the poor in the gate from their right. Therefore, the prudent at this time is silent, for it is an evil time." "Many are your transgressions and your sins are great." When great people oppress the good, when courts accept bribes, when judges deprive the poor of their rights; and when worshipers bow before false gods, corruption grows like a cancer and moral disease works like death. "Ye trample upon the poor, and take from him a gift of wheat—give him justice only when he pays for it." "Ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not live in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink the wine thereof." There is a three-million dollar palace at Newport, R. I., closed for many years because a rich man and his wife did not love each other. Vacant palaces because hearts are corrupted by wealth line the course of history. Israel adopted false worship when her harvests were great and her cattle covered a thousand hillsides. They wanted to be like other nations. When the United States struggled for existence her worship was sincere and her people virtuous; prosperity has changed the character of this continent. The backbone of the church are the people who started poor and became rich after they were religious; few become religious after they become rich; that is the danger of prosperity, that the next generation become corrupt and disregard all the obligations essential to citizenship and religious character. During the last twenty years 945,625 homes have been broken up in the United States by divorce, and these have been the most prosperous (years) of our one hundred and thirty-four years of national history. There must be some relation between prosperity and corruption that challenges the wisdom of church and state for solution. Impoverished courts of justice; neglected temples of worship; lavish expenditures on self-indulgence; maltreatment of the poor, who create the wealth in field and mine and mill; the grinding processes that control, what national life produces, for private gain; the creation of public sentiments that ignore God as King of kings and Lord of lords; all these result from prosperity unrestrained by faith and charity.

Corruption in worship resulted in corruption in justice, in private and social life, in the administration of national affairs. It is a known fact that personal prosperity often turns people's heads and they ignore or mistreat their own kith and kin; in the same manner prosperity creates ungodliness, injustice, wickedness and oppression. Those who take note of current events see that a panic corrects not only reckless extravagance in living but recklessness in business; it curtails indulgence in pleasure and increases soberness in thought and conduct. In fact, new generations would hurry on without self-restraint if panics did not cut off the lavish supply of money from their over-indulgent parents.

But Amos is dealing with national prosperity and national corruption. The palaces and courts, the kings and judges have given themselves over to lust and oppression. Robes of state reek with shameless and luxurious dissipation, temples of justice are turned into bribe-emporiums for gain, while poverty groans under the tyranny of corrupt government. In all streets wailing! in all highways men say, alas, alas, and they call the husbandman to mourning. Corruption has gone out into the country and unsettled the virtue and peace of those who live amid the birds and flowers, the herds and harvests. It is bad when vileness saps the vitals of the poor and ignorant in the lanes of the city and the hedges of the country, but it is calamitous when those in authority forget the pit whence they were digged and the rock whence they were hewn, and use their position to misguide and rob a nation. Such rulers create a pestilential atmosphere as deadly as the edict of Pharaoh or Herod when they gave orders to slay the infants. Rulers are not created to enrich and indulge themselves, but to safeguard and bless the people.

When Amos saw the godless and soulless life of the nation from the standpoint of an honest, thoughtful, inspired countryman, indignation rose to a pitch which he could not control. Humanity and God were more to him than cattle and safety. It is remarkable that great crises bring forth men who fit in to correct widespread evils.

Hear what Amos says to the rulers again: "Ye oppress the righteous, take bribes, and push aside the poor in the gate from their right. Therefore the prudent at this time is silent, for it is an evil time." It is an awful time in a nation when public sentiment or the conduct of public affairs is such that the prudent are afraid to speak and, therefore, keep silent. We can understand how ignorant mountaineers in the moonshine whiskey business are so desperate that prudent people keep silent; we can understand why night-riders grow so dangerous that prudent people keep silent; but it is a more serious matter when a nation grows rich and public affairs are conducted so shamelessly and so openly by kings and judges that prudent people keep silent. No wonder the country prophet says, "it is an evil time." Social and religious life are purer and justice is safer in the tent-life of the wilderness or among the red men of uncut forests than in such a state of prosperous civilization as Amos here describes. He talks like a modern prophet to our own nation. We are drifting on the mad current of a flood of prosperity. We are not prepared for the great things that are coming to us. Our prosperity has submerged our sense of dependence, our simple faith in God, our loyalty to the Christian Sunday, our liberality to the source of our blessings. A glance at society gives us a reproduced picture of Israel. We sometimes think this nation had its hardest trials in colonial days in the struggle for existence with Indians, trees, malaria, and hard winters; but we are just now coming into the Waterloo or Yorktown of our history. The giant forces marshalled by unparalleled prosperity will tell to unborn centuries whether we have the Christian manhood and womanhood to maintain the liberty and the character which our forefathers left us. The railroads and steamboats; the playhouses and seashores; the luxuries in living and amusements; the printing press and photograph gallery; free love and no love; covetousness and selfishness; these are foes greater than the dangers and hardships of the colonial period. Vile literature is more deadly than the undrained swamps of young America; vile pictures more dangerous than naked Indian with painted cheeks and tomahawk. They come like some black plague to insinuate death-impressions on the delicate fabric of the young soul and to lay the foundation of a character suited only to Hell. Do not imagine that we live in easy times, unless you call "at ease in Zion" easy times. We are in the presence of foes organized by the use of wealth that silence almost every prudent voice. Many evils are so black, so nameless, that pulpit and press are afraid to speak openly. We need an Amos with a message from God, a tongue of flame, and a voice of thunder, to speak to those in authority and without whose help all effort is vain. Congress has spoken against the lottery, against vile literature passing through the mails; public sentiment and some states are sounding the doom of the liquor traffic; but divorce, graft, Sabbath desecration, adulteration in food products, gambling, and scores of other evils defy the nation. Israel is not the only nation corrupted by prosperity. We are under the strain of that blessing ourselves. We need war-paint and dauntless courage for a fight against "principalities, powers, spiritual wickedness in high places." If we can convince the people that prosperity becomes a curse when we turn away from the Giver, and that only in using for God and upbuilding of His Kingdom can we please Him or enjoy ourselves, then this nation may lead in the salvation of the race and the civilization of mankind; if we do not, this nation may go into captivity to the powers of intemperance, vice, and to every form of evil more disastrous than African slavery or Jewish captivity.

LAYMEN TO THE WORK.

The most hopeful sign of the time is the movement among laymen to take an active and energetic part in church work—in shaping the public policy, pursuits and purposes of the church at present. This does not mean that ministers have failed, but the reverse. The laymen have been reached, and in their characteristic way are taking hold of the missionary problem, for instance, in a practical and business-like manner. That is the meaning of the present "Laymen's Missionary Movement" in its cross-continental campaign now on, embracing in its scope about seventy cities. This campaign opened in Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 16-19. There were more than twelve hundred registered and paid delegates. Some of the most noted speakers—laymen and ministers—of the country were there. Col. E. W. Halford, U. S. A., opened the convention (which began with a banquet) in a brief foreword. A movement was set on foot to raise $100,000 for missions in the several churches of Buffalo. No less than $92,500 was pledged at once—three times as much as was given by all the churches of Buffalo for missions last year. The meeting will probably result in far more than the amount asked for before its results are all in.

Other cities are responding in like manner. The laymen are grappling with the missionary problem in a business-like manner. And it means much. "Laymen to the work" is the cry, and the tendency of the time.

HISTORY OF A RUINED LIFE.

Some weeks before his death, Joseph Jefferson, the greatest of American actors, made an address to the 800 convicts at the State prison in Boston. It was an impressive scene when Mr. Jefferson stood before his audience. The men were silent and attentive, while the actor seemed visibly affected. In his address, which was remarkably interesting, he told of a little experience he had while traveling in Australia. He said:

"I had left what I call my 'home station,' and was making an excursion in the 'blue gum' forest. I had galloped about twenty miles. Dismounting from the horse, I sat down to take a lunch. A large flock of cockatoos, those beautiful white parrots with yellow crests, came circling around and alighted on the trees overhead. I was watching the curious maneuvers of these birds as they were chatting and hopping about among the limbs, when they stopped suddenly, as if alarmed. Something was evidently approaching, of which they were in dread. They set up an awful scream, and with a tremendous flutter spread their wings and flew away.

"Just at that moment a large black collie dog came bounding out of the bushes, and suddenly stopped in front of me. For a moment I was startled. The dog paused, eyed me keenly; then, coming slowly up, walked around me, and at last approached and licked my hand, which I held out to him. He then ran away.

"I had never seen a dog act in so singular a manner, and was wondering what it could mean, when a sharp, joyous bark warned me that he was returning, and, sure enough, he had come back, wagging his tail, and followed by the gaunt figure of a man, thinly clad, barefooted, and with a wide-brimmed, frayed straw hat on his head. He was fifty years of age, and as he removed his hat and made me a well-mannered, dignified bow, I could see that though he was, undoubtedly, a shepherd, he had once been a gentleman.

"As he stood bareheaded before me, the wind blew his long, thin, sandy hair about his brow, and he regarded me with a strange, far off look in his eyes. I met several shepherds after this, and noticed the same strained expression. They live so much alone—sometimes even three or four months without seeing a human being—that they form this habit of looking over the plains, hoping that they may catch sight of some one to relieve the awful monotony of their lives.

"The man sat down quickly beside me and ate sparingly and rather mechanically of the lunch, always sharing his morsel with Jack, his dog. I took out a flask of whiskey, and, pouring out some of it into a cup, offered my guest a drink. His eyes beamed with a longing look as he saw the liquor, and turning on me a strange, frightened look, said: "No, none of that. Put it away, please. I don't like the sight of it."

"It now dawned upon me that my friend was a reformed drunkard who had come out to this lonely part of the world to avoid temptation. I had heard that there were many such in Australia, and that the shepherd's life was chosen as being the most isolated one that could be found.

"I rose to take my departure, when he said: 'You won't go tonight, will you? It's too late. I wish you would stay in my hut tonight. It's so long since I have seen a human face, over three months. A man only comes once in a great while to bring provisions, and that is all we see of humanity from one year's end to the other. Do stay tonight, won't you?'

"'I'd like to oblige you, I replied, 'but they would be uneasy about me at the home station.'

"'But are you sure you know the way? You might get lost.'

"'Oh, no,' I replied.

"The poor fellow hung his head and looked the picture of despair.

"'How far is it to the hut?' I asked.

"'Only a mile, I assure you.' I agreed to go to it; so he started off at a good pace, fearing I might change my mind, I suppose. The dog ran ahead barking, and I followed on horseback. We soon came upon his hut. It was built of mud, sticks, and straw, with the hard earth for a floor. The shepherd prepared a cup of tea—the usual beverage of the bush.

"The sun had gone down behind the low horizon with the same effect that it does at sea. As we sat outside upon a couple of rude blocks of wood, drinking our refreshing tea, the moon rose up, shedding its soft light over this mysterious scene; there was no sound but the distant tinkle of a sheep's bell, and the cracking of the little fire that was boiling the tea. The smoke went up straight and silently into the still air. The loneliness was bad enough with two men; what must it have been with one?

"Here was a man who, to judge by his manner and speech, must have been tenderly reared and highly educated, and one, too, who had practiced the busy calling of the law, yet in a few years of isolation the bright mind had become faded, and the human look of the face changed almost to the blank expression of a sheep.

"I questioned him about his past life. It seems he had been educated at Eton, then became a fast youth in London, where he studied for the law, and in a short time arose to be a successful barrister. He married early, and had one child, a daughter, born to him. After two years of wedded life he lost his wife and child. Despairingly he took to drink, and, being weak and desperate, went down hill and lost his position.

"That, once lost in London, is seldom regained. There is no escape for him, and as his friends shun him he falls in deeper disgrace.

"This was the trouble that had beset the shepherd, who—having a sensitive and perhaps weak mind, succumbed to the pressure that surrounded him, and after a time, with a broken spirit, he left England and went to the colonies. He practiced law in Melbourne for some time successfully, but the old habit came back on him, and, as he could not resist temptation, he buried himself in that sheep station.

"This was the story he told me, and there was no doubt of the truth.

"It was now getting late, and the shepherd insisted on my taking his couch—an old canvas cot, with a plain gray blanket spread upon it. So, as I was tired, I accepted the offer, and lay down for a night's rest. My companion stretched his tall figure on the grass outside. Jack lay between us.

"The strangeness of the scene, together with the strong tea, seemed to banish sleep from me, and I must have been lying there for an hour, with my eyes closed, but quite awake, when presently I heard something stirring. Opening my eyes I saw the shepherd sitting up in the doorway with his head resting on his hand. He seemed uneasy, and began restlessly to pass up and down in front of the hut. The dog remained still, but I felt that he was awake and watching his master, as he walked nervously backward and forward in the moonlight.

"Presently the shepherd stopped in front of the hut and came with a hesitating and irresolute step toward the door. He entered slowly, and, stooping down upon his hands and knees, crawled stealthily to the chair on which my coat was hanging. He put his hand in the breast pocket and drew forth the flask of liquor. And now he seemed bewildered, as if some strange emotion had seized upon him, and then fell upon his knees as if in prayer.

"Suddenly he seemed to rise, and, instead of drinking the liquid, placed the flask untouched back in the pocket of the coat. Then, stretching himself on the floor, with an apparent air of comfort and satisfaction, he went off to sleep.

"The whole proceeding so haunted me that it was broad daylight before I closed my eyes. When I awoke the sun was high in the heavens. My host had prepared breakfast. After our meal he spoke freely of the night's proceedings to me. I told him I had seen all that had taken place.

"I thought it might be so," he said. "The old craving came upon me, so strong, too, but if I ever prayed for strength it was then. Well, at that moment there was a hand laid on my head, a calmness came over me that I had not felt for years, and when I returned the flask to your pocket I knew then, as I know now, that another drop of liquor will never pass my lips. It is all over now, thank Heaven, and I can leave this lonely place and return to the world again with safety."

WHICH WAS THE WISER?

"Two years ago," said a clergyman, "I conducted the funeral services of one of my parishioners. He had been a farmer. Forty years ago he commenced work with one hundred acres of land, and he ended with the same hundred. He was a skillful, industrious workman, but he had laid by no money in the bank. I understood the reason as I listened to the comments of his neighbors.

"It was always a hospitable house," said one. "The poor man never turned any away. His sons and daughters received the best education which his means could command, and all are leading useful and happy lives."

"Said another: 'These children sitting there weeping are the orphans of a friend. He gave them a home. That crippled girl is his wife's niece. She lived with them for years. The young fellow who is weeping so bitterly was a waif that he rescued from the slums of the city.'

And so the story went on—not of a miser who had heaped riches together, but of a servant of God who had helped many lives, and had lifted many of them out of misery and ignorance.

"On my way home from the funeral I stopped at the house of another farmer, who said to me in a shrill, rasping tone:

"So poor Gould is dead! He left a poor account—not a penny more than he got from his father; now I started with nothing; and look here," pointing to his broad fields. "I own down to the stream."

"And on the thin, hard lips was a wretched attempt to laugh. The house was bare and comfortless; his wife, worn out with work, had long ago gone to her grave. Of his children, one daughter was still drudging in the kitchen; one son had taken to drink and died in prison. The other, a harder miser than his father, remained at home to fight with him over every penny wrung out of their fertile fields.

"And yesterday I buried this man," continued the clergyman. "Neither neighbor, nor friend, son nor daughter shed a tear over him. His children were eager to begin the quarrel for his ground he had sacrificed his life to earn. Of it all he had now only enough to cover his decaying body.

"Economy to a noble purpose is a virtue, but miserliness devours intelligence, religion, hope and life interest."—Selected.

TRUTHFULNESS.

Truthfulness is a bright and shining virtue on the part of any one who strives to make the most of life's possibilities. It is the bond of union, and the basis of human happiness. Without truth, there is no reliance upon language, no confidence in friendship, no security in promise and oath.

Truth is always consistent with itself and needs nothing to help it out. It is always at hand and on our lips, ready to drop before we are conscious of it; while a falsehood is troublesome. It is dangerous to wander far from the strict rules of truthfulness, even on the most trifling occasions. However innocent our intentions may be, the habit, if persisted in, may take root, and wield a lasting influence over us.

After our first departure from truth, the path becomes perplexing and it is not in our power to stop. One falsehood leads to another until we are left entangled in its snares. The love of truth and right is the great source of honesty. There is no virtue which does not originate from truth, and no vice which has not had its origin in falsehood. Truth is the root of all knowledge, and the foundation of the virtues.

Strict truthfulness requires something more than merely speaking the truth. One may deceive by looks, smiles, signs, and even by silence, as well as by words. It is not necessary that we tell all we know, but what we say should be the truth on all occasions. No wrong is ever made better, but always worse by a falsehood. The opposing elements of truth and falsehood can never be united, though we may try ever so hard.

After all, the most natural beauty in the world is truth; for all beauty is truth. True features make the beauty of the face, true proportions the beauty of architecture, as true measures that of harmony and music. In poetry, truth is, also, perfection. Falsehood is never so susceptible as when she baits her hook with truth, and no opinions so fatally mislead us as those not wholly wrong.

Such are the imperfections of mankind that the temptations and trials which surround us have rendered truth the only means of escape.

Let us remember that the silken cords of love must ever be linked with those of truth; otherwise the bright promises of life will end in disaster and ruin. Thus only can we attain to that perfection to which we all aspire by making our lives conform to the Author of all Truth. P. E.

"YOU OUGHT TO KNOW"

Almost all of us can remember the friend who upon various occasions has said to us: "Now you must not be offended if I say something to you that I really feel it my duty to speak about." There is another form of friendship quite as common, especially among women, that leads one to tell the other some neat little gossip about herself or family, not that the relator believes a word of it, but because the victim "ought to know." These customs among our friends are so common that we accept them as matters of course; and even when we are most exasperated by them, we know we shall forgive them in time. A sad experience teaches us that.

The friends who compliment sincerely or who repeat frankly the pleasant things they hear of us are so rare that we seldom meet them. Yet if friendship is looked upon abstractedly, if it is regarded as a feeling founded on mutual regard and congenial pursuits, it is a little remarkable that we are so reticent in our expression of appreciation and regard.

Friendship means help and support as well as mere liking; and he has been a poor friend to us if in the hour of need and loneliness we do not involuntarily recall some word of comfort, some expression of confidence that makes us stronger to bear the present trial.

It is not enough to love; we must let the loved ones know we love them.

There are but few persons leading earnest lives who do not feel that they fail to thoroughly realize even the most limited of their aims; and if they are unhappy enough to be sensitive as well as earnest, it cannot be prophesied how much real good a hearty word may do them in times of mental trouble. Then it is that a true friend will think it well to tell them something encouraging, something strengthening and reviving that they "ought to know."—Unknown.

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

CHRIST IN MEN'S LIVES.

Two years ago a young man in Yale University—a member of the sophomore class—started a little mission work, of his own, around on a side street, half a mile from the college. The young man had noticed homeless and seemingly hopeless, men about town. His heart went out for them and he wanted to help them—if he could. He procured a small place where such men might get food and shelter for the night and where he might tell them of Christ their Friend. As weeks went by, other college boys saw that this sophomore was sincere, meant business, and was doing something. Yale students became interested, and recently the entire block on which the young sophomore had started his mission, was bought for $20,000, the money raised, houses were put up and the Yale Hope Mission for Homeless Men was established. "Last year," says a writer in a New England Magazine, "a dormitory accommodating twenty men was fitted up in the basement of the mission, which is filled by homeless men nearly every night. A small rest room was also prepared for the use of the men during the day, a large amount of clothing, collected in the University, distributed, and employment found for a number who are today earning an honest livelihood, and living consistent Christian lives."

Every night gospel services are held—singing, speaking, testimonies of reclaimed men, and the story of the blessed Christ simply and plainly told.

The young man who began the mission had a twofold object: first, to get hold of lost men; and second, to show his fellow students the saving power of Christ in men's lives.

The work has surpassed the most sanguine expectation. During the past year, at this mission, about 12,000 men have heard the gospel preached, 846 have made open confession of sin, and 3848 have been sheltered and fed.

But this is not the greatest, nor even the most beneficent result. It is declared authoritatively that this Hope Mission "has done more to convince all classes of men at Yale of the power of Christianity to regenerate individuals than any other force in the University."

There are learned doctors of the law, of science, of philosophy, of theology, of divinity, at Yale; but the work of this young sophomore, in bringing to bear the power of Christ upon men's lives, to redeem and save them, has done more to stir the University to Christianity than all the theories, speculations and arguments of the great and learned combined.

When you theorize and speculate about Christ, men will differ with you. But when you give Christ a chance with a life, bring Him, and His power to save, into the individual heart, no man can gainsay you then.

Shall we ever come to learn that Christianity is not a theory, but a Life, not a system, but a Character, not speculation, but living, action, being? "For me to live is Christ" declared Paul, and when a man lives that life Christ lives in him to do, to dare and to save.

This Yale sophomore has taught Yale University a lesson of life that it will not forget.

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement is awakening wide interest and growing to enormous proportions. Though new it has already raised millions for missions—did that last year—and promises to do far more the coming year.

A great missionary campaign is planned, embracing seventy most important and accessible cities in the United States. Richmond, Va., and Greensboro, N. C., are among the fortunate seventy. Great things will be done; great results may be looked for. The meeting in Greensboro covers January 12, 13, and 14th, 1910, and already headquarters have been opened (at apartments in the Benbow Hotel), with the leading citizens of the city deeply interested, and directing affairs. Greensboro citizens, besides the expense of entertainment which it will be put to, had to put up $1,500 in order to secure this Convention. The hotels will give good rates during the session, and the city will do its best to make the meeting great.

One can get a season ticket for $1.00 which will admit the holder to all sessions of the assembly. Our church in Greensboro, to help secure the Convention for the city, gave $50, and has at its disposal 50 tickets. Any Sun reader who may contemplate attending the session of the Movement, may secure a ticket by sending $1.00 to Mr. L. M. Clymer, Greensboro, N. C.

These will be three days of wonderful privilege and opportunity to all who may wish information and inspiration as touching the matter of missions. It is a campaign of enlightenment in one of the most important and absorbing movements of the twentieth century, and no minister or layman, who can possibly attend one of these conventions, should fail to avail himself of this rare privilege.

SERMONS NOT PREACHED.

In a recent issue The Christian Advocate of St. Louis had a most significant editorial entitled "Sermons We Have Not Heard." Among the observations recorded are the following:

"We have heard many sermons—many really good sermons; a good many lectures on humanitarianism, ethics of esthetics, with an occasional—very occasional—really warm, earnest exhortation to personal piety and preparation for the inspection of the Judge of all the Earth, but so far as our ears bear witness we have not heard a sermon on the religion of the home. * * * We have heard no sermon—not even an exhortation—on the family altar with the Bible, its song, its prayer, and the daily contact of the home life. We have heard no sermon—for a long time, at least, upon sin—its essence and its results—the awful danger to the soul and the final ruin that follows its indulgence. We have heard no sermon upon the condemnation of the wicked and their eternal banishment. * * * And yet in the Bible there is as much said * * * of eternal misery as of eternal joy. * * * We have heard no sermon on the call to the ministry—not one that we can remember. And yet the church is suffering today for lack of ministerial supply as rarely, if ever, before. * * * We have heard no sermon on the Passion, the supreme incident in the history of the world and the turning point of human destiny. We often see the Christ in His more triumphal hours, and His exhibitions of sympathy for humanity, but it is rare that we see Him in the awful agony of the garden or the sufferings of the Cross."

The title of the foregoing is significant, for indeed there are sermons in the themes mentioned, even if the editor of the Christian Advocate has not heard them: even, in fact, if they have not been preached.

If the Advocate's editor is a man of wide observation and experience, and we presume he is, this is a terrible indictment against the ministry. Take this single statement, "We have heard no sermon upon the condemnation of the wicked and their eternal banishment. And yet in the Bible there is as much said of eternal misery as of eternal joy." This being true, one wonders why the ministry of our day speaks only of eternal joy, never of eternal banishment?" And is the ministry thinking and speaking only of Christ's triumphs, never of His agony, His sufferings, His humiliation?

This is indeed a matter worth thinking on. Sin is not yet banished from the world: is rampant and flagrant on every hand, in high places and in low. Human misery and suffering are widespread and intense. Are we blind to these, and speak only of the joy and gladness of eternal triumph?

Are we leaving something very essential out of our preaching in this day? Is the family altar torn down with no voice or hand to restore it? We can ill afford to ignore such indictment.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Mrs. J. P. Avent of Jonesboro, N. C., has been on a visit for several days at her father's, Rev. C. A. Boone's.

—Mr. W. F. Jones, brother-in-law of Rev. J. O. Atkinson, fell a distance of about twenty feet last Saturday morning while at work on Prof. Harper's new residence. He was so seriously hurt about the head that his life was despaired of. Two physicians are attending him. Monday p.m.—Mr. Jones is considered better.

—The Music department students gave an excellent piano and voice recital Saturday evening. Miss Wilson, head of the department, was in charge and played the accompaniments for those who sang. Her effectiveness as a teacher and director of music is so evident, on such an occasion as that of Saturday evening, as to make all students, who have not taken music, want to do so.

—The preacher Sunday morning was Rev. A. G. Dixon, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church in High Point. His theme was, "Men Who Try and Men Who Cry," and was taken from the report of the twelve spies sent out from the camp of Israel into the Promised Land. The sermon was well thought out and forcefully delivered. It was appropriate to the audience, making a powerful appeal to the wavering and despondent to be firm, positive and hopeful. Mr. Dixon preaches a gospel of helpfulness and inspiration. He will be welcomed by his Elon audience should he come this way again.

—Rev. Dr. Newman filled Rev. L. E. Smith's appointment at Graham last Sunday, Mr. Smith having been called to his home at La Grange, Georgia, a week ago on account of the serious illness of his parents. His mother died soon after he reached home. There was hope of his father's recovery, the last news received here.

—Mr. J. Adolphus Long, an Alamance County boy who graduated from Elon a few years ago and afterwards took a law course at the State University, stopped over here with his accomplished bride a few hours Monday of this week on their way to Oklahoma their new home, where Mr. Long is a successful and prosperous young lawyer. He was married last week near Bayboro in the eastern part of this state.

W. P. Lawrence.

NORFOLK LETTER.

The Memorial Temple reports a splendid day yesterday in both Sunday school and the regular services, being the largest attendance in the school for some time past.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary Society took the time for the evening service. There was a program rendered including an address by the pastor and the use of a large missionary map. It will be their policy for some time to have these meetings take the place of the regular evening service.

Brother Howsare filled his first appointment as the afternoon pastor of the Rosemont church.

I am informed that Rev. Mr. Kees from Pennsylvania has been called to the work of the South Norfolk church, and has accepted the call to take effect the 18th instant.

A call has been extended by the Third church to Rev. A. M. Hanson of Barnes City, Iowa, who telegraphed his acceptance of the call to take effect June 1st, provided the church feels it wise to wait until that time, and if after a visit by him to the field, it is mutually agreeable to the church and pastor. He has been invited to visit us on Sunday, December 26, and remain with us for some days. It is earnestly hoped by all those interested, that he may prove to be the man for the place.

Prof. S. M. Smith of the Naval Y. M. C. A., assisted by the choir of the Third church, held services Sunday afternoon on board the battleship Montana, now lying in the Navy Yard.

J. W. Manning.

PORTSMOUTH LETTER.

The Berea Christian church (Norfolk Co.) reached a point in its work last Sunday that usually makes a church glad. The balance of the debt, that was occasioned by extensive repairs on the church a few years ago, was paid in full. The larger part of it was paid several years ago, but just a small amount was left unpaid and in spite of all that could be done it would come up at almost every church conference. The last end of a church debt is quite a difficult proposition. Nobody seems to know just how to handle it. We rejoice in the fact that we are out of debt once more. The work of the church is moving on nicely. The congregations are usually large. I am never able to be at Sunday school, but I hear good reports from it.

The work at Portsmouth is progressing nicely. The new church is now about closed in. The large tower remains to be completed and the stone masons are hard at work on it now. We will be able to see just how the building will show up in a short while. We hear many remarks that make us believe that it is pleasing to the eye of the public. We are grateful for every kind expression. We are working hard and doing what we believe is to the best interests of the work. We are endeavoring to build for the future as well as the present. The building being erected will meet the needs of the work for the next forty or fifty years, unless there should be very unusual growth. Let us hope that the work may outgrow the building in less time. In the cities by the sea we have a splendid opportunity and shall we not make the most of it? We may go to the front, if we will. However, it will require work and sacrifice, but are we not able to do it? The Lord God will help us if we undertake. God never fails His workmen.

Our hearts have been very much burdened with the responsibilities of the work recently. The way has not been plain. We could not tell just how the financial responsibilities of the work were going to be met. The only thing we could do was to trust, pray and work with our might, determined never to give up until the way opened and the needs were fully met. We are glad to say we have seen the dawn and are waiting for the full-orbed day.

The appropriation of $400 from the Home Mission Board of the Southern Christian Convention came as a most welcome messenger of light. It was such a help and no one can tell the

(Continued on page thirteen).

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....	$4,535.28
Dues:
Helen W. Scholz .....	$.35
Herbert Sholz .....	.35
Elizabeth Sholz .....	.30
Carl Lynn Shobey .....	.10
Annie Pearl Way .....	.10
Boyd Battle Rightzell ..	.05
Monthly S. S. Offering:
Suffolk, Va. ....	16.43
Linville, Va. ....	1.12
Franklin, Va., Nov. & Dec.	5.89
Special Offering:
F. M. Carlton .....	5.00
Miss E. L. Williams, pic- tures .....	1.50
Mrs. Bettie Cates (on ..support of children) ..	3.00
Orphanage Farm, 444lb cotton @ 14½c. ....	64.38
Thanksgiving Offering:
S. A. Caverniss, Greens- boro, N. C. ....	2.00
Waverly, Va. ....	22.05
Henderson Ch. and S.S. .	18.55
Hon. E. C. Phillips, Ram- seur, N. C. ....	10.00
Zion, N. C. ....	5.00
Bethel (Wake Co.) ....	2.00
Mrs. Ella Sanford Chandler .....	3.00
Union, Va. ....	10.00
Six Forks .....	4.37
Mt. Gilead .....	4.00
Antioch (Warren Co.) ..	2.35
Sanford, N. C. ....	8.55
Johnson's Grove .....	6.40
Memorial Temple S.S. .	4.00
Liberty Spring .....	16.00
Geo. Councilman .....	.25
Antioch (Valley Va.) ..	13.06
Linville (Valley Va.) ..	5.75
Mrs J. D. Edwards, Dur- ham, N. C. ....	1.00
Apple's Chapel .....	6.55
Oak Level .....	6.18
Pleasant Hill .....	12.00
Ramseur, N. C. ....	11.80
Elon College additional .	.10
Parma and Greece Ch'ch. Hilton, N. Y. ....	9.00
Isle of Wight C. H. ....	10.25
Windsor S. S. ....	10.01
Amt. 46th week .....	302.79
Total .....	$4,838.07

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,
Dealers in
DRUGS, MEDICINES, PATENT MED-ICINES, and Druggist sundries, Perfumery, all popular odors, Toilet and fancy articles,
Combs, Brushes, etc.
Prescriptions Carefully Compounded.
Burlington, N. C.

DR. J. H. BROOKS
Surgeon and Dentist
FOSTER BUILDING,
Burlington, N. C.

WE OFFER YOU A POSITION

We want 250 men right away. Must have them and will pay good money—$3.00 to $5.00 a day guaranteed according to class of work. You need no money. Everything done on our capital. You deliver our goods and collect. A big opportunity. Write today for free plans, sample outfits, etc. All free. G. H. GROUNDS, Manager 1027 W. Adams Street, Dept. 5888, Chicago, Ill.

PROTECT Yourself & Family
By keeping a jar of
VICK'S
Croup and Pneumonia Salve

in the house at all times. The very best thing to use in sudden cases of Croup or Croup. The great nipper of Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc., the best pain easter for Burns, Itching Piles, Bruises, Stings, etc. Endorsed by physicians and ministers every-where. At druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00 per jar.

Vick's Family Remedies Co.
Greensboro, N. C.

For free sample specify department No. 3.

Get on UNCLE SAM'S PAY ROLL

The U. S. Civil Service offers unusual advantages to American men and women over 18 years of age. To learn how you can qualify at home to pass any Civil Service Examination and thus become eligible for a remunerative government position, write at once for our Free Civil Service Book.

International Correspondence Schools,
Box 1028 Scranton, Pa.

Just Send Me One Dollar

and I will ship C. O. D. to any open railroad station in the U. S., east of the rocky mountains, this fine Willard Steel Range. Anyone can say they have the best range in the world, but I will furnish the evidence and leave the verdict to you. After you examine this range, if you are satisfied in every way, pay agent $14.00 and freight, and you become the possessor of the best range in the world for the money. The range has six 8-inch lids; 17-inch oven; 15-gal. reservoir; large warming closet; top cooking surface, 30x26 inches. Guaranteed to reach you in perfect order. Shipping weight 400 lbs. "Write for Catalogue." Agents wanted to take orders for this range.

WM. G. WILLARD,
No. 135 Willard Bldg.
320 Chestnut Street
ST. LOUIS, MO.

Thomas A Edison
Victor Herbert

Merry Christmas

That's the combination that will bring joy into your home if there are any little ones there (and even if there are not), because Mr. Edison has made the Phonograph that will play the Amberol Records, and Victor Herbert has made music for it which you simply can't resist, and besides Victor Herbert, there are hundreds of other good music makers, grave and gay, all waiting to introduce the real Christmas feeling into your home.

Whatever you have for Christmas, be sure that somebody gives somebody an Edison Phonograph. Then there will be at least one present which will be wildly and rapturously welcomed.

Edison Phonographs - $12.50 to $125.00
Edison Standard Records - .35
Edison Amberol Records
(play twice as long) .50
Edison Grand Opera Records 75c. and $1.00

There are Edison dealers everywhere. Go to the nearest and hear the Edison Phonograph play both Edison Standard and Amberol Records. Get complete catalogs from your dealer or from us.

NATIONAL PHONOGRAPH COMPANY, 149 Lakeside Ave., Orange, N. J.

Elon College, N. C., Dec. 8, 1909.

My Dear Children and Friends:—

We are happy again in this week's report. It is encouraging to receive such liberal amounts from all sections of our field. If all churches will join in we will cancel all indebtedness by the time the full report is in; which will give us by far the greatest year of our history. Send in promptly.

Uncle Jim had great time Dec. 4th and 6th in a big rabbit hunt—the old-fashioned way, hounds,—no guns. In company with Rev. L. E. Smith Dec. 3 we went to Bro. Tom Foushee's near Ramseur, N. C., where on Saturday we had a great hunt and Bro. Smith proved that he was a great runner and fine marksman with stones, as well as a splendid preacher and popular pastor. The entire day was spent enjoying ourselves with Bro. Foushee and his kind neighbors. At 12 M. dinner—oh my! Sister Foushee had remembered that her guests had been out hunting and chicken, beef, "possum and taters," a fat 8 pounder, and "simmon" pudding, and other good things, were served.

The hunt continued in the P.M. with much success and fun, and closed with tired men. Bro. Smith went to Ramseur Sunday morning to his regular appointments. Uncle Jim spent Saturday night with Bro. John Rightsell and family, who was in the hunt, and we all went to Park's Cross Roads for 11 A.M. service; had a nice service, in their splendid new building, and in company with Bro. Eugene York we went to Pleasant Ridge where at 3 P.M. Bro. Smith called on Uncle Jim to preach; here we had a large audience, and after preaching, the Thanksgiving envelopes were distributed and will be taken up later; both Parks Cross Roads and Pleasant Ridge now have committees getting up a donation of corn, wheat, and meat in addition to their cash offerings which they will send in later. We took dinner and spent an hour in the home of "Uncle Tom" Parks as he is popularly called, and who entered into our hunt so youthfully. Sunday night Bro. York and "Deck," his splendid big black horse, carried us on to Ramseur where Bro. Smith kindly announced that "Uncle Jim" would preach, and that to a very large congregation, after which the Thanksgiving offering was taken. This was somewhat of a busy day. We took time to spend two hours in the home of Bro. T. A. Moffitt and family and enjoy supper with them and listen to Sister Moffitt and Bro. Smith talk church. We love to hear pastor and people talk church. Monday morning as the sun rose we found ourselves at Bro. Bob York's and when we had enjoyed some of "the bones" of over a 300lb hog we tried the rabbits again in the same old way. We had quite a large party, mainly those of Saturday's hunt and both men and hounds were in better training and we had a splendid day. Bro. York gave us a fine time. Bro. Smith returned to Elon Monday A.M. Sister York had the chicken first thing Monday morning and the good sausages and the best "sauer kroust." These kind friends will have to care for Uncle Jim again. Results—Wednesday the orphan children had 12 rabbits for dinner and 11 rabbits for Thursday dinner! Now can some of the cousins tell why more rabbit was left on the table Thursday than Wednesday?

We trust the friends will pardon this little rabbit story as these two days are the first full days Uncle Jim has spent in a rabbit hunt in 17 years!

The following donations have been received:

Gowan's Pneumonia Co., Durham, N. C., 1 doz. bottles (50c. size) of Gowan's Pneumonia Cure.

Little Joe. B. Gay, Franklin, Va., $2 for a Christmas treat for the orphan children.

Graham, N. C. Ladies' Aid Society, pkgs. as follows: 3 pr. pillow cases, 2 undervests, ½gal. preserves, 4 qts. jelly, 1 pr. sheets, 10 yds. sheeting, 16 yds. sea island goods, 2 pr. hose, 2 pkgs. breakfast food, 2 glasses jelly, 1 quilt, 27 qts. canned goods.

Grover Bivins, Efland, N. C., ½bbl. flour.

We are very grateful to the Aid Society who have sent us so many useful things. The faithful church at Graham is numbered among our most active supporters.

Bro. Bivins was a member of our S.S. when he was a boy and his gift breads the orphans ½ week.

The Gowan Pneumonia Co., of Durham, N. C., must be mind readers,—the other day Uncle Jim started to Burlington and among the numerous memorandum which three women can get together was Gowan's Pneumonia Cure, and when he got to the depot he found an express package of 1 doz. bottles free. This is a splendid medicine for our children when they have colds and Miss Dora uses it. We thank the Gowan Pneumonia Company for their unsolicited liberal donation. We most heartily recommend it.

Hurrah for our 4th Annual Thanksgiving! Let's make it $2500 and wipe out all indebtedness against the Orphanage.

We think each individual, church, society and Sunday school for the $302.79 cash this week. That's splendid!

Yours hopefully,
Uncle Jim.

Macon, N. C., Dec. 7, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Enclosed you will find $1.00 which pays our dues until Jan., 1910.

Well, Uncle Jim, "there's a 'gude time' coming," and I reckon all the boys and girls are looking forward to Christmas, "when everything is lovely and the goose hangs high."

We expect to send our Elizabeth up to see Aunt Helen during the holidays, and of course she is looking forward to a visit to Uncle Jim and Aunt Myrtle and all the children.

We will close now, with a Merry Christmas to all.

Helen W. Scholz.
Herbert Scholz, Jr.
Elizabeth Scholz.

Ah, we should all be delighted to see Elizabeth, and would like to welcome all this little family who have been so faithful to the corner.

Sanford, N. C., Dec. 2, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I will write and send my dime for Dec. Uncle Jim, I was so glad to see you at Conference. I am glad Christmas is so near by.

Well, I close with love to you and the Cousins.

Your niece,
Annie Pearl Way.

Uncle Jim is always glad to meet the dear cousins, Annie. We had a good time, didn't we, at Conference?

Sanford, N. C., Nov. 30, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Here comes little Carl Lynn with his dime for Dec. Well, Christmas will soon be here. I hope that dear old Santa Claus will bring me something nice for Christmas. I hope he will visit all the orphans. Will close for this time with love and best wishes to all.

Carl Lynn Schobey.

We are certainly looking for Santa, Carl, and hope he'll not forget us.

Dearmanville, Ala., Nov. 8, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I write a few lines to the corner, as it has been some time since I have written. Am delighted to say I have sold one dozen photos for the orphanage. Hope it will help them a little. So please find enclosed $1.20 for the photos and 10c. for my dues.

Wishing you all a grand time in the coming New Year, I remain,

Perla Pate.

Thank you for your help, Perla. You have done well.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

DEVOTED TO: A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—WHAT IT STANDS FOR.

Christian Endeavor stands for four things of supreme importance in the Christian life. The Christian who lacks these things is not what it is his high privilege, his holy duty, to be. The Christian Endeavor Society which does not develop its members along these four lines is a failure, and deserves a funeral or a regeneration, the latter to be preferred, of course. These four things are embodied in the pledge usually used, the pledge of the parent Society, and are universally recognized as the four great Watchwords of Christian Endeavor. They are:

1. Expression. A cardinal principle of Christian Endeavor is: No impression without expression. This applied to the Christian life means: Whenever the Spirit of God moves on your spirit, you should give expression to that impression, whether by word of mouth (in the prayer meeting, for example) or by deed (in doing kindnesses to individuals, for example) or by prayer to God or by such other means as the Spirit may direct. Self-expression, when impelled by the Spirit, is self-development in Christian power. If you can't get your people to take part in prayer-meeting, to pray in public, to talk salvation to sinners, to be charitable, you need to get the Christian Endeavor ideal of expression ingrained into them. I know of no better means to accomplish this ingraining than a Christian Endeavor Society.

2. Christian Service. Time was when people believed interest in the church could be deepened by oyster suppers, pink teas, white sales, etc., but we have learned better now. Those things have their place and are legitimate, but they do not deepen the spiritual life nor bring to the participants the joy pronounced upon cheerful givers. We know now that the only way to develop the spiritual life, to beget real interest in church work on the part of the workers is to do Christian service. Nothing ever appeals to the religious nature of man except religion. Christian Endeavor discovered this twenty-eight years ago and has endeavored to live up to it ever since. Opportunities for Christian service, aside from those mentioned under impression and expression above, are created by the various committees of the Society. These committees are numerous, but chief among them are the Lookout, Prayer-meeting, Flower, Music, Visiting, Sick, Missionary, Good Literature, Church Prayer-meeting, Sunday-school, and Social. These committees, and every member of the Society is on some one of them, offer untold opportunity for Christian service.

3. Loyalty to One's Own. Some in the early days of the Society feared that it would alienate the young people from the local church. History has proved that fear unfounded. The pledge of the first society contained this promise: "I promise Him that I will make it the rule of my life . . . to support my own church in every way, especially by attending all the regular Sunday and mid-week services, unless prevented by some reason which I can conscientiously give to my Savior." This provision has made the Christian Endeavor Society the best ally of the church. It brings the young people to the preaching and prayer-meeting services.

Fellowship with All. While the Society teaches loyalty for one's own, it also insists on the principle for which Christ stood when he prayed "that they all may be one." This is no strange doctrine for the Christian Church, which from its beginning has fellowshipped all God's creatures by whatever name known. This principle of the Society develops a broad-gauged, liberal type of Christian man or woman, and for this reason the Society should be cordially received by our people.

Two New Societies.

Dr. Atkinson reports the recent organization of a Young People's Society in the Sanford Christian Church. Bro. J. U. Gunter, an alumnus of the North Carolina State University, is president. The Society meets on Monday evenings and is doing good work. Congratulations to Sanford, which now has both a Junior and a Young People's Society.

The second new society is in a country church, Damascus, one of the oldest country churches in Eastern North Carolina Conference. The organizer was Miss Sudie G. McConley, Chapel Hill, N. C., and the Society has nine active and two associate members. This is indeed a good start. We feel proud of Damascus. Rev. N. G. Clements, the pastor, assisted in the organization.

Graded Sunday School Lessons.

Our Christian Publishing Association, Dayton, Ohio, has done well in issuing its graded Lesson Series. This has long been a weakness in our Sunday-school literature and it gives us pleasure that it is at last remedied. We hope all our schools will at once introduce the Graded Lessons Quarterlies into their classes and grade their schools. We congratulate the Publishing Association and its editor, Dr. Helfenstein, on this wise step.

Our Sunday-school literature now comprises:

1. Scripture Picture Cards and Scripture Picture Roll or Chart for children from 3 to 6 years. (Price 10 cents and $3 per year each respectively.)

2. Primary Quarterly, for children from 9 to 12 years, price 10 cents per year each.

4. Intermediate Quarterly, for scholars from 12 to 16 years, price 11 cents per year each.

5. Bible Class Quarterly, for teachers, adults, and Home Department Use, price 15 cents per year each.

6. Cradle Roll Supplies, for children less than three years old, at very reasonable prices, according to the equipment desired.

We submit that any school ought to be able with these supplies to select from to get what it needs in the way of up-to-date Sunday-school literature, and that too from our own people and at very reasonable cost.

C. E. TOPIC FOR DEC. 19—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Our Christmas Gifts: Matt. 2:1-11.
Scripture Lesson: Have eleven En-

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

deavorers each to memorize a verse and repeat in order before the Society.

The Leader: The leader will do well to interpret the spirit of the Christmas time. He should show how what it actually is falls below what it ought to be and also how we may have the Christmas spirit all the year.

The Pastor: The pastor should speak of Christ's gift of Himself for the world as the world's greatest Christmas present and should hold up to the Society as the best Christmas present the gift of ourselves to Christ and then to our fellows through Christian service.

Written Work: Have two-minute essays on some such subjects as these: The Origin of Christmas; The Spirit in Which We Should Give; What Christmas Means to the World; The Joy of Giving.

Question Spurs: (To come in under voluntary participation, the ones to whom they are given responding without being called out.):

Why did Christ come to the world?
Why do we say, "A Merry Christmas?"

What gift does Christ most desire?
In what spirit should we give gifts?
To whom should we give gifts?
What kind of gifts should we give?
What kind of gifts are most appreciated?

What makes a gift valuable?
How should Christmas be kept?
What can we give as a Society?

Scripture References: (To come in under voluntary participation, the ones to whom they are given responding without being called out):

- God's Gift to us, 2 Cor. 9, 15.
- Our Gift to God, Rom. 12, 1.
- Christ's Gift, Eph. 5:25-27.
- Christ's Promise, John 6, 37.
- The Heart of God, Prov. 23:23-26.
- He is Able to Save, Heb. 7, 25.
- The Heavenly Invitation, Rev. 22, 17.
- Come unto Me, Matt. 11:28-29.
- Come, Ye Blessed, Matt. 25:34-40.
- Let the Children Come, Mark 10, 14.
- The Life the Service, Rom. 15:1-5.
- Substance to the Poor, 1John 3:17-19.
- Ourselves to Christ, Matt. 4:18-22.

Music Committee: This committee should prepare special Christmas music.

Flower Committee: This committee should provide flowers for the pulpit and prayer-meeting room and should carry flowers to homes of all who are sick or afflicted.

Suggested Program.

1. Special Music.
2. Chain of Prayer.
3. Scripture Lesson as Outlined above.
4. Leader's Remarks.
5. Special Music.
6. Voluntary Participation, under which should come Question Spurs and Scripture References.

7. Prayer. Song.
8. Written Work.
9. Pastor's Five Minutes.
10. Special Music. Offering. Mizpah.

(Begin on page nine).

gratefulness it awakened, and besides it paid bills. It delighted even the contractor and workmen under him. We were delighted again on last Tuesday when the Christian Missionary Association in session at Berkley appropriated $800 for the work. This surpassed our fondest expectations. We can now say the sun has arisen. The way is opening, the light is breaking in upon the darkness and when shall we see the full-orbed day? Two weeks ago we saw that we should need by Christmas at least $3600, but on account of the above appropriations and personal donations sent in since, our actual needs are narrowed down to $2000. Where shall we look for this amount at this time of the year? There are so many Christmas gifts to be bought and many other things, too.

Let us make a suggestion. Suppose you deny yourself somewhere and send a Christmas gift to the Portsmouth church. I do believe it would gladden your heart and I know it would gladden mine and God would be pleased, and bless you.

Cash Acknowledgements.

Previously acknowledged . . . . .	$2,136.81
Bethlehem Missionary Soc.,
Mrs. Upton Savage, Tr. . . . .	10.00
Mrs. J. E. Harrell, solicited from business men in Norfolk	50.15
Mrs. E. C. Magee . . . . .	1.00
W. H. Parron . . . . .	5.00
Col. A. Savage . . . . .	25.00
B. F. Ferrell . . . . .	5.00
J. J. Hall . . . . .	5.00
J. A. Curling . . . . .	10.00
J. W. Curling . . . . .	10.00
J. E. Hall . . . . .	29.00
Geo. H. Frey . . . . .	5.00
Judge J. F. West . . . . .	20.00
W. H. Norfleet . . . . .	2.00
J. T. Pierce . . . . .	3.00
Mrs. N. G. Newman's S. S.
Class . . . . .	3.58

We wish to thank the above contributors for their donations and assure them that they were highly appreciated. You cannot tell just how much it gladdens our heart to receive letters with checks in them for the church. One mail some time ago brought in about $700, and there was rejoicing. This came just after we had done all we could to meet the needs of the hour. We can truly say the Lord is good and a present help in every time of need. He is truly worthy of our confidence. Oh!

that we might trust Him more fully. Who will be the next to send us a letter with a check in it?

The Christian Missionary Association of this Conference adopted as its motto for this year: "A membership in every church in the Conference." At least half of the churches of the Conference have not taken hold of the association. Every minister is asked to take this matter up in earnest and arrange for his church to take at least one membership. We do not mean to stop here, but to enlist the cooperation of all the churches of the Conference and then we can go on to larger things. Some of the churches are taking as many as five memberships, including those of the different denominations, to say nothing of individual memberships taken by members. The cash collection this year amounted to $835. This was a little less than last year, but the Conference did not take its usual ten memberships. This would have made our collection about as large as usual. Let us make the collection next year at least $1500. With a united effort this can be easily done. Now, brethren, let's make the effort and begin now. Don't wait until about two weeks before the meeting of the Association. And by the way the Association decided to meet at Portsmouth next year.

J. W. Harrell.

December 9, 1909.

$500 REWARD
for name of one dissatisfied customer

$10,000 Stock of JEWELRY
at Great Sacrifice Price

Lot 1: 500 Solid Silver Elgin and Waltham

WATCHES
Retail for $15.00 and $20.00
Sacrifice Price . . . . . $5.00

Lot 2: 500 Heavy Gold-Plated, Beautifully-Engraved (ladies' or gentleman's sizes)

WATCHES
Guaranteed American Watch
Sacrifice Price . . . . . $2.75

Lot 3: 400 Extra Heavy Plated Gold Watches, Ladies' and Gentleman's, Finely Engraved, Elgin or Waltham

WATCHES
Sacrifice Price . . . . . $4.75
Genuine Diamond Rings

Solid Gold . . . . . $5, $10, $15
All goods delivered by mail, prepaid, and your money back if you are not delighted.

Buy Your Christmas Gift Now
UNITED JEWELRY COMPANY,
Hagerstown, Md.

PERSONAL TALENTS.

Christ gave a parable on personal talents. He represented some persons as as having received more talents than certain others did. He taught the importance of one's making good use of even one talent. He showed the folly of one's not putting to right use his one talent. Unused ability, He said, is a sin. The Christian Advocate, of New York, says: "A recent writer tells of two poor men who sold books in a small way, in a great city fifty years ago. Thirty years elapsed, and one of them owned a fine publishing house, which was known and patronized throughout the whole country, while the other still trundled his little barrow in the street and sold books in a small way, as at first. One piercing November night he stopped with his little barrow under the walls of the great store of his former rival, and said: "Ah, thirty years ago he and I had a bookstall near each other in the same street, and I sold as many books as he; and perhaps more; but every penny I got I squandered, while he studied, toiled, planned, and saved; and now there he is, and here I am." The parable of the talents over again."

One of these young men made the best possible use of his talents, and pushed onward to large success. He not only worked industriously, but he wisely saved the littles which he earned, and then, with his savings, he kept increasing his business. The other one continued to prosecute his small business, and doubtless did a considerable amount of good. His failure to get into a higher position, and secure more property, was owing to his habit of spending his little earnings foolishly. But it is possible that, even if he had carefully saved his money, he would not have succeeded as well financially as the other young man did, for it may be that he did not possess equal qualifications for expanding his business.

There are many people who, although very industrious and economical, do not become at all wealthy. They do not possess the requisite gifts. And yet the story of those two men has its lesson for young people today. It shows the marked difference between the best use of one's talents, and their products, and a failure to do one's best.

C. H. Wetherbe.

—The Baptist State Convention having listened for an hour to nominating speeches for president, voted later in the session that hereafter only 30 seconds be given to nominating speeches. And thus is verified the assertion that abuses in public assemblies frequently, and sometimes very quickly, correct themselves.

Why Cough

Ask your doctor if all coughs are necessary. If not, then why cough? Ask him about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Stop coughing! Coughing rasps and tears. Stop it! Coughing prepares the throat and lungs for more trouble. Stop it! There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. Stop it! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular doctor's medicine for coughs and colds.

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods. Notions. Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

CABBAGE PLANTS BY MAIL

Charleston and Early Jersey Wakefield. We pay postage 20 Cents per Hundred by mail. We make a specialty of cabbage plants raised in, and acclimated to, North Carolina, capable of withstanding frosts and freezes in this climate. Low express rates on larger quantities to N. C. points. Price by express (not prepaid) 1,000, $1.50; 5,000, $1.25 per M; 10,000, $1.00 per M, Special prices on larger shipments.

UNION PLANT CO., - - Marshville, N. C.

A Free Book About Beautiful Walls

We have just issued a book about house decoration. May we send you a copy—free?

It tells how to produce those beautiful walls, now seen in all the finest of homes and hotels.

It suggests color schemes—offers a wealth of ideas. And it tells what has brought alabastine into universal vogue.

Alabastine The Sanitary Wall Coating

Alabastine is the only wall coating that doesn't breed germs. It has been so for 30 years.

In the past few years it has become the rage. Fashion now demands it. People of taste—both rich and poor—now have alabastined walls.

Please know the reason. Know the endless color schemes you can get from it. Know how easily you can apply it, even on papered walls.

You will never use wall paper—never use kalsomine—after you know the facts. This coupon will bring them to you. Please send it now.

Alabastine Co.,
Dept. 91,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to

_____

DIED.

Lufsey.

Near Suffolk, Va., Nov. 3, 1909, Miss Ann Lufsey, aged 92 years. She had been kindly looked after and cared for by her niece, Mrs. J. M. Nelms. She was for many years a member of Antioch church, but when Bro. and Sister Nelms moved their membership to Bethlehem church, Aunt Ann came with them and was true and faithful to the end.

Her funeral service was conducted by her pastor at Bethlehem, and her remains were laid to rest in the church cemetery.

She leaves to mourn their loss two nieces, Mrs. J. M. Nelms of Nansemond Co., and Miss Emma Lufsey of Isle of Wight Co., Va., three nephews, Willie and David Lufsey of Isle of Wight Co., Va., and Mallory Lufsey of Newport News, Va., and also many friends. Her only brother died about two years ago, and Aunt Ann looked forward with bright anticipation to the time when she could go and be with him again. The Lord bless and comfort the bereaved ones.

H. H. B.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

When in Burlington call at

T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAINS, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHCEA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

FREE to YOU ON THIRTY DAYS TRIAL
THIS FAMOUS SPOTLESS WASHING MACHINE

Reduces "wash-day" to "wash-hour." Write us a postal card to-day and we will ship you at once this wonderful washing machine and wringer. It comes right to your depot without any trouble on your part. Try it for 30 days, give it the hardest kind of a test and then if not satisfactory send it back to us by freight and we will pay the charges both ways.

STOP SERIOUSLY TO THINK

If you could imagine a fairer offer than this. Could we make it if the Spotless was not the best washer in the world? Moreover, there are no strings to this offer. It's a square deal and it is just as it is written. All you have to do is to send us, say two references, that we may know who you are. Our Spotless Washer is honestly made of Superior Virginia White Cedar—is steam tight, has all of its mechanism enclosed, no danger of hands or clothing being caught, is ball bearing like a bicycle and is the only machine made in the world that is automatically lubricated; that is why it runs so easily. It will wash anything from a lace handkerchief to a quilt. Over 25,000 now in use. Send to-day for full particulars of this remarkable machine.

SPOTLESS CO., Inc.,
 130 Shockoe Square,
 RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.

THE SOUTH'S MAIL-ORDER HOUSE.

3 CENTS A DAY

the first year and nothing thereafter, is all it costs to place in your home our finest Five-Bar Bridging Telephone, with polished quarter sawed oak cabinet, inside binding posts, improved receiver and transmitter, silent running generator, double spool adjustable ringer, positive carbon lightning arrester, long lever, self contained insulated switch hook, adjustable drop shelf, and two cells of our famous Blue Streak Dry Battery.

- SAVES LIFE In case of serious illness, a few minutes saved in securing the services of a physician may mean the saving of the life of one of your loved ones.
- SAVES PROPERTY Should a fire break out in your buildings at any time, a warning over the 'phone will instantly bring help from every direction and many hundreds of dollars' worth of valuable property may be saved.
- SAVES MONEY With a telephone at your service you can market your produce when prices are highest. You are in constant connection with your city market and can get a price that suits you before making delivery.
- SAVES TIME When repairs for machinery are needed, when you want the assistance of a neighbor, or when you want your dealer to deliver something by mail from your nearest town, a telephone in your home will save valuable time.
- SAVES WORRY The satisfaction, the comfort, the pleasure of having an ever-ready means of communicating with the world about you, the knowledge that both property and life are better protected, are worth annually a great many times the small cost of installing one of our telephones in your home.

Our prices for Telephones complete are from $9.48 to $14.36. Write today for catalog and prices, and get our experts' free advice on the outfit best adapted for your particular needs.

ALBAUGH-DOVER CO., 2152 MARSHALL BLVD., CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Prices for instrument complete, adapted for party lines as follows:
$9.48 each for 10 party lines
$9.89 each for 12 party lines
$10.18 each for 14 party lines
$10.68 each for 16 party lines
$11.09 each for 22 party lines

RICE'S GOOSE GREASE LINIMENT

FOR RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA GRIPPE PNEUMONIA ACHES AND PAINS

Mr. T. B. Waddell, Richmond, Va., writes:
 "I suffered with rheumatism in back and hips for four weeks; tried good many so-called rheumatic remedies, but experienced no relief until I used Rice's G. G. Liniment. One bottle cured me at once."

PRICE 25 CENTS
 At druggists, or by mail on receipt of price, from Goose Grease Co., Greensboro, N. C.

TRADE MARK

RICE'S
 REGISTERED

THE BEST PAINT

TO USE ON SOUTHERN PINE

Is "Sphinx" Pure Mixed Paint. Not simply because it is honestly made of the purest and best ingredients, but also because "Sphinx" Paint is made by a special formula particularly adapted for pine. This is the reason why so many up-to-date architects and builders insist upon "Sphinx" Paint for all houses built of Southern Pine.

LOOK FOR THE WORDS Lemco Quality, ON EVERY CAN
This is your protection against deception. If your dealer can not supply you write us for color card and prices.

Leland Moore Paint & Oil Company,
CHARLESTON, S. C.

MADE IN THE SOUTH FOR USE IN THE SOUTH

MARRIED.*Johnson-Uzzell.

At the bride's father's near Antioch church, Nov. 7, 1909, Mr. Elmer B. Johnson and Miss Viola Gertrude Uzzell, daughter of Mr. G. W. Uzzell.

Ham-Pruden.

At No. 207 Chestnut St., Suffolk, Va., Nov. 8, 1909, Mr. William J. Ham of Newport News, Va., and Miss Annie B. Pruden of Nansemond Co., Va.

Skinner-Umphlett.

At No. 207 Chestnut St., Suffolk, Va., Nov. 9, 1909, Mr. Felton W. Skinner of Cypress Chapel, Va., and Miss Fornie R. Umphlett, of Nansemond Co., Va.

Butler-Turner.

At the bride's father's, Mr. L. C. Turner, Isle of Wight Co., Va., Nov. 10, 1909, Mr. Arthus C. Butler of Hamlet, N. C., and Miss Lillia Ann Turner.

Hayes-Bradshaw.

At Mr. William West's East Washington St., Suffolk, Va., Nov. 23, 1909, Mr. William R. Hayes of Richmond, Va., and Miss Maie Bradshaw of Isle of Wight Co., Va.

Pierce-Pruden.

At Mr. Cephas Pruden's, Washington St., Suffolk Va., Nov. 24, 1909, Mr. Josiah G. Pierce of Isle of Wight Co., Va., and Miss Maggie D. Pruden, of Nansemond Co., Va. May they all have a long and happy life.

H. H. B.

Rountree-Gootee.

On Dec. 1, Mr. William Thomas Rountree was married to Miss Margaret May Gootee.

The groom is a young man of sterling qualities and Christian character, holding a responsible position with the Gray

Lumber Co., of this place. The bride is an accomplished daughter of Mr. J. W. Gootee, a contractor and also builder of this place, but formerly of Pennsylvania, having lived here about twelve months.

The wedding was quietly celebrated at the home of the bride where only a few friends had gathered. The writer, brother of the groom, was the celebrant. The ring ceremony was used. The parlors were decorated in pine which was most picturesque under the green candle lights that flickered here and there.

The bridal party boarded the fast train for Richmond, thence to Washington, where they will spend a few days. They are expected to return here next week and will occupy apartments at the Westbrook Hotel.

H. E. Rountree.

DIED.
Carpenter.

Whereas, it has pleased God in his infinite wisdom to remove from labor to reward our very much beloved and most highly respected brother, B. D. Carpenter, and whereas, we wish to give some expression of our love and appreciation of his life, also to express the deep regret and sorrow caused us by the death of Bro. Carpenter, who had lived among us for several years and was one of the charter members of Noon Day Christian church.

Therefore be it Resolved:

First—That in the death of Bro. Carpenter, Noon Day Christian church and Sunday school have lost one of their most faithful and loyal members.

Second—That we bow, yet sorrowing, to the will of our God who makes no mistakes.

Third—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Christian Sun for publication, one be spread on our church register, and one be presented to the bereaved family.

J. W. Payne,
E. G. Kirby,
A. B. Sikes,
H. W. Abbott,
Committee.

Rayle.

Miss Annie G. Rayle, of Guilford College, N. C., one of the most amiable and useful young members of Pleasant Ridge Christian church died in the triumphs of a living faith Sunday evening, Dec. 5, 1909, in the 19th year of her life. She was truly a high toned Christian lady. She was faithful and loyal to her parents, untiring in her duties to her church and Sunday school, always at her place on time at home and church. She had been a member of the church about 7 years and was a model Christian lady. She was not overcharged with ambition for those things that are hurtful to vital piety, but was rather content to be humble and loyal to God's will. She was a true type of self-denial in young Christian womanhood. She sought an education, yet under very adverse circumstances; she was working her way on to higher usefulness. She had taken work in Guilford College near her home, at the opening of last Sept. term, and remained till about 7 weeks ago when she was taken with typhoid fever and on Sunday evening she fell into a sleep—the sleep that God gives to His beloved children. Funeral by this writer, attended by a large congregation. We extend sympathies to the bereaved father, mother, and sister.

S. B. Klapp.
Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 7, 1909.

The Christian Sun.

State Library

In Essentials—Unity, in Non-Essentials—Liberty, in All Things—Charity.

ESTABLISHED 1844.

GREENSBORO N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1909. VOLUME LXI. NUMBER 50.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Cheering the Home Folks.—What a great and splendid country is ours. Millions are spent at home, but millions more are sent abroad to cheer the folks beyond the seas. According to Postmaster Morgan, of New York, outgoing steamers from our American metropolis have carried to the other side in money orders, for Christmas gifts and remembrances, $7,524,962, the largest sum ever sent for a Christmas season. Nearly $2,000,000 went to Great Britain, while Italy is remembered with $1,732,131 in gifts large and small. In large measure these represent the gifts and contributions, of friends and immigrants, to kindred and loved ones in the home land. Such figures represent in part with what bounty our general land is blessed.

A Memorable Year.—Those who have lived through it will long remember the glorious and generous year of 1909. It is doubtful if the oldest inhabitant will, or can, recall a better and more bountiful one. What crops have lacked in abundance they have more than made up in price and demand. It has been an honest year. I mean by that, that the very best portion has been allotted to the honest toiler with his hands. It has been the farmer's year. Everything grown from soil, reaped from harvest field, gathered from orchard, or carried from barnyard and dairy, has been of ready sale and high value. Grain, cotton, tobacco, fruit, poultry, eggs, butter, whatever the husbandman has carried to market has yielded rich and ready returns. And when the farmer is prosperous, the whole land rejoices. Factories, for the most part, have been busy, the building trade has been fairly alert, the wage earner has been engaged, and at a high price, and the merchant, though the margin of his profit has been small, has had few idle hours. The banker and the broker have both been kept active, and the professions have been taxed with increased patronage and constituency. Our own land and country has been at peace, and no civil or political strife has embittered the public mind, or torn the public conscience. No governmental corruption, or political scandal, has marred the page of our national annals, and men of all persuasions have been made to rejoice in the spirit of peace, progress, and prosperity, self-evident and manifest on every hand. The schools and churches have done well, and increased constituency and enlarged membership are reported on every hand. It is likely, when the count is all in, that 1909 will show larger contributions and more generous free-will offerings to church, charity and benevolence, than any year of all our history. God has generously and graciously blessed us in this good year of 1909, whereat we should, one and all, be most sincerely and profoundly grateful. For He is the Giver of every good and perfect gift, and from His lavish hand come all our bounty, and every blessing.

Losses of the Year.—Though advance has been made along so many lines the past year, many able, useful and worthy citizens, "giants in large achievements as in lofty hopes," have been called upon "to close their accounts and leave forever the service of their fellows." Among those far famed in literature and letters, whose pen was stopped by the dial of 1909, were F. Marion Crawford, novelist and journalist, George Meredith, great in fiction and in prose, Chas. Swinburne, songster and poet, Simon Newcomb, teacher and scientist. Two of America's most active financiers have ceased forever on the marts of stock and trade, H. H. Rogers, E. H. Harriman. Among men of national repute and favor, Gov. John A. Johnston of Minnesota, has laid down the scepter of authority. These are only a few of the more noted and famous ones who resigned large interests during 1909 to occupy places in the "solitude of the tomb." Nature requires toll for all her earthly toil.

Railway Wreck.—The wreck on the Southern railway, ten miles north of Greensboro, Wednesday A.M., December 16, is appalling in the extreme, to think upon. Almost in the twinkling of an eye, without word or warning, twelve men, on business or pleasure bent, hurled into eternity, and a score of others left bruised, bleeding, and mangled! Passenger train No. 11 from Richmond to Charlotte was making fast time when two of its day coaches, and its three Pullmans, left the track, over Reedy Folk Creek trestle, thirty feet high. Down that steep embankment, cars crashed, one upon another, some torn to kindling wood, others splintered into fragments, carrying their victims to sudden and awful death.

The heart stands appalled amid a scene like that. And one hears the word uttered long ago, "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not." So much does man pay for the modes and methods of rapid transit, hurried travel, nervous achievement—without sufficient care and preparation for results to be reached. The coroner's jury says, "Rotten tie; broken rail." Oh! my soul. We pay our dearest price, ever more in this world, for inefficiency, imprudence, and neglect.

The Ostrich. The most singular of the feathered tribe is the ostrich. He is the one bird that never flies; nor can this bird lift itself, in the slightest manner, by the use of its wings. The bird, however, is fleet of foot, and cannot be tamed. His legs are powerful and serve as his only weapon of offense or defense, kicking his foe, always with a forward stroke.

The ostrich egg weighs from three to four pounds, is palatable when cooked, but requires thirty-five minutes to boil, longer if cooked hard. A fresh egg is worth $25.00. His feather, however, constitutes the chief asset of value, varying in price from twenty-five dollars to three hundred dollars a pound, there being from seventy to ninety feathers to the pound. The choice ostrich feathers are taken from the wing and sell at high price by the individual feather. A fine pair of these birds sells for one thousand dollars. He is the bird of fine feather. Acute of sight and hearing, the ostrich has little "sense" besides. Nature has kindly made up in adornment what is lacking in mind, or instinct. It is often so among men. What is lacking of one trait or characteristic may be made up in other gifts. And no human being is born who may not be of some worth and weight in the world. All are not valued for the same feature or faculty. God makes wide and varied distribution of His gifts.

FROM THE FIELD.

Greensboro.

We began special services Dec. 2nd, and continued eight days, with Rev. H. W. Elder, of Ga., as evangelist. Bro. Elder preached with power, and while there were no visible results, we believe much good will result from these meetings.

J. W. Bolton.

Windsor Notes.

The second Sunday in November we began a series of meetings with the Windsor Christian church. On Monday morning Rev. M. L. Bryant came and did the preaching through the remainder of the meeting. The sermons were filled with plain gospel truth and enjoyed by all who attended the services. Congregations were good and attentive to the Word.

Several professed faith in Christ and at the close of the meeting eight united with the church. Others signified their intention of uniting in the near future.

On Sunday morning, December 12, I baptized one candidate in the church by sprinkling. I have now begun my second round to my churches since our Annual Conference and the work seems to be in a promising condition. Congregations have been good at all services so far.

We hope to make this the best year we have labored together as pastor and people.

R. H. Peel.

A Letter from Porto Rico.

Peniel Orphanage, Porto Rico.

Thanksgiving Day found us with hearts in tune with the occasion.

The United Brethren mission of Villalba joined us in a Thanksgiving service.

After two years of severe drought, God has given us a year of plenty, as was evidenced by a fine exhibit of vegetables, fruits and grains, while just above it on the wall were the words, "Hitherto bath the Lord helped us."

Our native worker, Concepcion, read the 103rd Psalm, Rev. Bracer of the U. B. Church made a brief but very appropriate address, and many testimonies were given from hearts full of gratitude to our Father. At the close of the service we served coffee, cake, and oranges to all except our own family. Their special treat followed in a substantial Thanksgiving dinner.

Instead of the customary turkey, we had a kid, which with rice and numerous accessories made a feast enjoyed by us all and concluded with some of "Miss Susie's" fine chocolate candy.

One of the blessings for which we are all thankful is our faithful helper, Miss Susie Turpin, who came to us from Norfolk just a year ago and with willing heart and helping hand has lightened the burdens of the writer and proved a blessing to us all.

A good horse and carriage—the gift of kind Norfolk friends—are included in the blessings of the past year, also a Thanksgiving donation of 100 yards of goods for clothing the family from Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Leo of Ponce.

We are especially grateful for our Father's care during the recent destructive storm.

Porto Rico received her portion in a tremendous fall of rain to exceed in quantity the rainfall accompanying the cyclone of ten years ago. But there was no wind, and so quietly fell the rain that we did not realize any danger of a flood, until a sudden rush of water (called by the natives a got-pe) from the mountains above us transformed the river, flowing peacefully but a few steps from our door, into a raging torrent carrying down tons upon tons of great stones, which striking against each other sounded like the booming of distant artillery all night long. The virtue of our location was proven by the fact that, while neighbors above and below us were compelled to abandon their homes, we remained safe above high water mark. Much damage was wrought in the valley below, many poor people losing everything but their lives, and a few sad cases of drowning are reported.

The people are warm-hearted and open-handed to help each other as far as possible. The day following the flood we saw strong arms impelled by kind hearts throwing ears of corn across the river to poor people who had nothing to eat and could not reach any source of supply. The road to Juan Diaz was impassable for about three weeks, our only communication with the rest of the world being by way of an old, abandoned trail over the mountains, where careful riders of sure-footed beasts could go. Traffic by ox-cart and on horse is now resumed by the usual route, or as near it as can be approached. The road in some places has been transformed into canals and in others is buried beneath tons of large stones.

We hope it may result in the speedy construction of a better and long anticipated road over a much better route, which avoids seven of the nine passes of rivers by the present route.

Ellen S. Kinsley.

—The wreck on the Southern Railway near Brown Summit Dec. 15 was attributed, by the coroner's jury, to a broken rail and a rotten cross tie.

LAYMAN'S CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION

of

The Eastern North Carolina Christian Conference.

The Committee appointed by the Eastern North Carolina Christian Conference on Layman's Christian Mission Association of said Conference held its first meeting December 3rd and officially adopted the above name of the Association for the expressed

Purpose:

Doing more aggressive Home Missionary work within the bounds of the Eastern North Carolina Christian Conference. It was decided by the committee that an annual fee of five dollars shall be the membership fee, and that any person, church, Sunday school, Christian Endeavor Society or other organization within the church or Sunday school shall be entitled to membership and shall be allowed one vote by person or proxy for every five dollars paid annually into the Association.

First Membership.

It is desired that all who are interested in this Association shall write at once and give their names as charter members. The first meeting for the adoption of by-laws and constitution shall be held the fifth Sunday in January. The place of meeting will be announced through the paper and by private letter to members before the middle of January.

The membership fee must be paid on or before the first day of our next Annual Conference at which time the Association will hold its first annual meeting.

We have decided that this organization shall be called the Layman's Christian Missionary Association and expect the laymen of the church to recognize this as their organization and the only way that a minister can become a member is by becoming a layman, laying his money down which pays his membership fee.

Present Members:

W C Wicker .....$ 5.00
Henderson Church, four ..... 20.00

Let other persons and churches report to W. C. Wicker, Elon College, N. C., who was elected by the Committee as Secretary and Treasurer of the Association.

We want one hundred members representing five hundred dollars at our annual meeting next Conference. We want every minister in the Conference or serving churches in the Conference to become a member of this missionary movement, and we want every aggressive layman to unite with the Association at once and use his influence to interest others and enable us to realize our ideal for this year:

One Hundred Members—Five Hundred Dollars.

W. C. Wicker,

Secretary-Treasurer.

Elon College, Dec. 18, 1909.

PERSONAL TALENTS.

Christ gave a parable on personal talents. He represented some persons as as having received more talents than certain others did. He taught the importance of one's making good use of even one talent. He showed the folly of one's not putting to right use his one talent. Unused ability, He said, is a sin. The Christian Advocate, of New York, says: "A recent writer tells of two poor men who sold books in a small way, in a great city fifty years ago. Thirty years elapsed, and one of them owned a fine publishing house, which was known and patronized throughout the whole country, while the other still trundled his little barrow in the street and sold books in a small way, as at first. One piercing November night he stopped with his little barrow under the walls of the great store of his former rival, and said: "Ah, thirty years ago he and I had a bookstall near each other in the same street, and I sold as many books as he, and perhaps more; but every penny I got I squandered, while he studied, toiled, planned, and saved; and now there he is, and here I am.' The parable of the talents over again."

One of these young men made the best possible use of his talents, and pushed onward to large success. He not only worked industriously, but he wisely saved the littles which he earned, and then, with his savings, he kept increasing his business. The other one continued to prosecute his small business, and doubtless did a considerable amount of good. His failure to get into a higher position, and secure more property, was owing to his habit of spending his little earnings foolishly. But it is possible that, even if he had carefully saved his money, he would not have succeeded as well financially as the other young man did, for it may be that he did not possess equal qualifications for expanding his business.

There are many people who, although very industrious and economical, do not become at all wealthy. They do not possess the requisite gifts. And yet the story of those two men has its lesson for young people today. It shows the marked difference between the best use of one's talents, and their products, and a failure to do one's best.

C. H. Wetherbe.

HIS LAST WORDS.

Everyone who has studied the history of Paul during the last quarter of this year must have been delighted, entertained, and greatly blessed spiritually. It has been more pleasing and profitable than any romance—more elevating to the mind, and more helpful to the soul than any other writing. The beautiful life he lived and the good he accomplished is a monument to his memory as wide as the world and high as heaven. The Christian manliness and the spotless character he had in every condition are worthy of our imitation and earnest consideration. Sitting chained in the cold, damp, dark jail at Rome writing his last words was a most affecting scene. Lonely, sad, and worn down with care, infirmity and age, he surveys the past and feels confident that he has kept the faith. He is now about to take his last voyage—knowing that he will enter the peaceful haven of heaven, and receive the crown of righteousness and wear it gloriously forever. Those chains that clanked about his feet must have been mortifying to his human nature,—but he was indeed free from the bondage of sin, and with his courage, energy, industry, and goodness, could do all things through Christ. As millions will continue to study his character, they will find lovely examples to follow. If our lives are rightly lived our last words may be full of heavenly joy.

J. T. Kitchen.

THE VIRILITY OF THE BIBLE.

Our Bible was not intended primarily to be intoned in cathedral service or languidly perused in a ladies' boudoir. It was meant to grapple with the conscience of the world, to "have dominion over the earth and subdue it." It has tamed the ferocity of Goth and Vandal, has softened the hard hatreds of Viking and Norman, has rebuked the secret vices of the Latins, has seared and shamed the languorous indulgence of the Orient. It has roused the Germans to defy the chief powers of the hierarchy, and the English to believe that resistance to tyrants is the service of God. And to do this it has needed more than a spray of rosewater. It has needed a rugged vocabulary, a rhetoric that can stab and burn, an imagery that can "harrow up the soul" with terror, and a prophetic power that can descend as a veritable "hammer of God" upon the head of hypocrite and usurper and simoniae. The hypersensitive and dapper critics who now find the Bible too earnest to be palatable, and too frank to be in good form, forget that their fathers would have never left the worsäip of Odin and Thor, and the delights of piracy and bloodshed, had it not been for the sledge-hammer blows dealt by the Bible to those sins which have especially beset our Anglo-Saxon blood. We had better expurgate some newspaper reports of proceedings in the courtroom before we attempt to improve the Scripture!—President Faunce, of Brown University, in Van Norden Magazine.

A WORD THAT BLOSSOMED INTO CHARACTER.

Though no one can see the end of what he says and does, the harvest-time comes some time, somewhere. Words that the speaker soon forgets may be like good seed sown on good soil. This proved to be so with the words one boy spoke many years ago. After an outdoor evangelistic meeting in New York, a clean-cut Christian young man came up to the speaker, and said: "I was one of the worst young boys in New York. One day a boy who kept himself clean and who had a good home invited me to go with him to his house. While I was there his mother asked him to do something and he answered, 'Yes, mother dear.' His reply struck me hard, for I had never spoken to my mother in that way. I went home and when my mother spoke to me, I said, 'Yes, mother dear.' All the members of my family laughed at me, for nothing like that had ever been heard in our home before. But I made up my mind that I would go on speaking to my mother in that way. From that time my entire life began to improve." And thus one boy's kindness to his mother is still bringing forth good fruit in the life of a man. Words that spring from a good heart are bound to bring forth good fruit.—The Bible Today.

—Only one merchant vessel flying the American flag passed through the Suez Canal last year; but according to the report of the United States consul at Cairo, two hundred and thirteen vessels of other countries passed through on voyages from American ports, and a hundred and ninety-two bound for American ports. The greatest number of vessels passing through were British, the next greatest were German, and the Dutch came third. Some day American ships will carry the American cargoes.

—The corn crop of this year amounts to 2,767,316,000 bushels, 98,000,000 more bushels than was produced last year. Immense as this crop is there is no sign of a slump in the market because of heavy production, the price is still good.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

—The next issue of The Sun will be on Wednesday, January, 5, 1910.

—Zelaya, the disturbing monarch of Nicaragua, has resigned—to save his head, very likely.

—Rev. J. W. Patton's son, Kent, who has been quite ill, is considered convalescent.

—After his trip to four successive Conferences, all of which he enjoyed much, and after a period of rest from the strain and stress thereof, Rev. J. W. Wellons is feeling well and strong again, all ready to enjoy a happy Christmas with the young people.

—Mr. George Crocker of New York, who died recently, as his wife had died, a victim of cancer, left a bequest of more than a million dollars for the prosecution of medicinal and surgical research regarding cancer.

—Leopold II., King of the Belgians, died at Brussels Dec. 16. He is little mourned by his people, his private life being in no manner fitting a king. He was born April 9, 1835. He had had a long career with which are connected many scandals.

—His brother, Robinson Watson, decares that William Watson, the poet, author of "Lachrymae Musarum," "The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue," etc., etc., is crazy, and is not responsible for what he says or writes at present.

—Rev. Stanley C. Harrell writes that The Norfolk Landmark, which we quoted, was mistaken in saying that he had accepted the pastorate of the South Norfolk church, to begin Dec. 15. Bro. Harrell remains as principal of the Holland High School, and will serve Union, (Southampton) as pastor the coming year.

—Rev. Leon E. Smith who was called from Elon College to his parental home at La Grange, Ga., is called upon to mourn indeed, his mother and father both having died of typhoid fever, and other members of the family being ill. Bro. Smith has our deepest sympathy. In his sorrow God has not forsaken him, though this may seem a dark and trying hour.

—Ex-President Eliot of Harvard is suing for an injunction against a publishing house for advertising his name and picture with a set of his famous "5-foot shelf of books" which are to give the reader a liberal education, etc. Dr. Eliot is editing the aforesaid shelf of books for one publishing house, and another house is publishing the books with his name and photo. He makes plea to enjoin the latter.

—Senator Money of Miss. has been chosen minority leader of the Senate to succeed Senator Culberson of Texas, who resigned Dec. 8.

—The Nobel prize, a purse of $40,000, goes this year, for the first time, to a woman, Miss Selma Lagerlof, the Swedish writer, as the one who made the best contribution to literature during the year.

—According to the Washington Post, a gift of wild beasts, from Ex-President Roosevelt, has been received at the National Zoological Park, Washington. The shipment is received in good shape, and is of the following live animals: Five lions, one leopard, two hartebeests, two elands, one gazelle, one warthog, and one water buck.

—Nicaragua is still in the toils and tangles of internal political upheaval, and has become involved with our government on account of putting to death two American citizens. President Zelaya seems obstinate, and may have to be corrected with American bullets before he quiets down. He seems unwilling for his government to send apologies or grant reparation.

COMING TO CHRIST.

Some people imagine it is a hard thing to come to Christ,—in other words, to become a Christian. But it is an easy thing for the heart that simply feels its sin, its need, its doubt or its distress, or its longing for a better life, to come to Christ in penitence and sorrow, and forsaking its sins, to give the heart and the life to God, in trust and obedience. And yet it means a great deal to yield the heart to the will of God: to say, "I come, take me as I am—make me wholly thine—thine in darkness and in light, in sorrow and in joy." A prayer like this God never turns away unanswered. So coming to Christ the troubled soul finds rest. In tranquil joy he can sing:—

"I heard the voice of Jesus say,

Come unto me and rest;
Lay down, thou weary one, lay down
Thy head upon my breast:

I came to Jesus as I was—

Weary, worn and sad:

I found in Him a resting place,

And He has made me glad."

D. E. Millard.

Portland, Mich.

—The house in which the terms of surrender were agreed upon by Cornwallis and Washington at Yorktown still stands, and two patriotic societies celebrating the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of the surrender, made pilgrimages there last month.

STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF AMOS.

IV. Message of Doom or Restoration.

By Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D.

This inspired man, this inspired prophet, this preacher of a fire-tipped Gospel, cut into idolatry, the tyranny, the atrocities of Israel, and made evil tremble as an earthquake shakes the mountain. Amaziah, the priest of the golden calf at Bethel, told King Jeroboam that, "the land is not able to bear all his words." Amos introduced his message by "Thus saith the Lord," and put a torch to every heap of wickedness that endangered the nations. He began with denunciations against the nations that surrounded Israel. Each threat begins with the same formula: "For three transgressions of Damascus and for four—I will not reverse it—because they—" Their evil doings had been repeated till judgment could not be averted. Denunciations are hurled against Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, Ammon, Moab, Pudah, and then against Israel herself. He names the crimes of each of these outside nations, and then names the judgment; and in each case fire is the instrument; it is used as the symbol of war, conquest, destruction. These nations had practiced every form of cruelty and this merited and would receive fire penalties from the Almighty. Damascus had threshed Gilead with iron rollers; Gaza had sold captives into slavery to Edom; Tyre had forgotten the brotherly covenant; Edom had pursued his brother with the sword; Ammon had ripped up the women to enlarge their border; Moab had burned the bones of the King of Edom into lime; and all of these kingdoms would suffer the ravages of fire. He began with Damascus: "I will send fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall devour the palaces of Benhadad. I will shatter the bolt of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant from the vale of Aven, and the scepter-holder out of Beth-Eden, and the people of Syria shall go into captivity to Kir, saith Jehovah." Extirpation of these kingdoms was to be the result of their evil doings. The others named in this catalogue of six nations were to share a similar fate in punishment. His denunciation of these outside nations prepared the way to thunder in the ears of Israel her own sin and judgments that must follow. Amos next mentioned Judah, a sister nation, declaring that Judah had despised the law of Jehovah, had not kept his commandments, and their lies had misled them. I will send fire into Judah, and devour the palaces of Jerusalem." Utter destruction follows evil doings and the preacher felt that he uttered a message from Jehovah. It must have sounded sweet to hear these scathing denunciations against the nations adjacent to Israel. If their palaces were burned, their armies scattered, their power broken, then Israel would have ease and prosperity. But all this was a series of steps leading up to their own transgressions and the punishment that awaited them. His burning message was not delivered till he told Israel of her own sins and the consequences of such evil. He repeats his preface to his message; "Thus saith Jehovah, for three transgressions of Israel and for four—I will not reverse it—"Because they sell the righteous for money, and the needy for a pair of shoes; they who pant after the dust of the earth upon the afflicted, and pervert the way of the sufferers, * * * and they stretch themselves upon pawned clothes by every altar, and they drink the wine of the punished in the house of their God. Bribes taken, debtors sold into slavery for a debt no larger than the price of a pair of shoes, make the way of the unfortunate as embarrassing as possible, lie upon garments, pawned by the poor for small debts, in the house of worship, and drink the wine of the punished, that is wine bought with the fines, in the house of their God. The sin of injustice supplemented by the sin of frivolous luxury demanded correction. Again: "I brought you out of Egypt, led you in the wilderness forty years, to inherit the land of the Amorite; and I raised up of your sons prophets; but ye commanded the prophets, "Prophecy not." "I will press you down as the full cart presses down the sheaves. Then shall flight be lost to the wife, and the hero shall not save his life." Courage fails when a nation goes wrong.

Against the leaders, the great men of the nation, this message of judgment was hurled by this God-sent prophet. Hear this word, which Jehovah speaks concerning you, ye sons of Israel, concerning the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying, you only have I known of all the families of the earth; therefore will I visit you all iniquities. He shall bring down thy strength, and thy palaces shall be plundered. I will visit the altars of Bethel, and the horns of the altar shall be cut off and fall to the ground. His duty was to preach the gospel of judgment. Jonah's message to Ninevah was a message of destruction. "Go to Ninevah, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before me." Jonah fled from the Lord because he feared to deliver such a message. But the message was finally delivered and a great city spared. Much truth is hurled against wickedness. The message of Amos was a "cry against" Israel. Truth is not always soothing, but sometimes it takes the form of the surgeon's keenest knife, cuts to the quick, and draws blood; but when God requires it, the Doom must be pronounced. All the experience of Amos had prepared him for heroic service, as David was prepared for his encounter with the giant of Gath by his victory over lion and bear. No doubt Amos had met wild beasts on the hills around Tekoah as every shepherd was accustomed to the howl of the wolf, the growl of the bear, and the roar of the lion.

Drought, blight, locusts, famine, earthquake, were some of the physical calamities upon Israel; invasion, battle, defeat, captivity, were some of the political disasters that awaited the nation. All these were simply officers of justice to punish them for their neglect of God, their oppression of the poor, their injustice to the unfortunate, and their vain and sensual indulgence. Job says of the wicked man, "a dreadful sound is in his ears: in prosperity the destroyer shall come upon him." David said in his prosperity, "I shall never be moved." And Solomon said, "The prosperity of fools shall destroy them." The folly of Israel called for this caution message and Amos pronounced her doom unless she repented. Jeroboam II was as bad as most of his predecessors, and the country was successively invaded by the Syrian, Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites; but they were driven back by Jeroboam. It no doubt pleased the King to hear the fiery preacher pronounce their doom without reverse; but it was different when the burning message flamed up in his own palaces; his Kingdom was doomed unless repentance took the place of oppression and indulgence.

This message sounds modern and these conditions seem near us. For this nation should know that prosperity cannot save us while iniquity rules us. No nation in history has stood up against the evils of prosperity and it remains for this nation to use power and not abuse power. Government must be administered for the good of the governed and religion must be cultivated for the glory of God. Gold must not be the end of Government nor the symbol of righteousness.—"I will cause the sun to go down at noon, I will turn your festivals into mourning, and your songs into lamentation. The days are coming when I will send hunger into the land, not a hunger for bread nor a thirst for water, but to hear the words of Jehovah, and they shall stagger from sea to sea." Awful penalties attach to sin—and awful sins attach to prosperity. The ravages of war, the desolations of armies, the famine that mocks hunger, the message that dooms transgressors, all sound in the ears of kings and nobles who prostitute their high trust to sordid and selfish ends. Prosperity is more dangerous than hostile nations, and love to God and man mightier defenses than standing armies and great navies. Any building is firmer erected within the law of gravity than supported by pilasters. Nations are secure only when government is administered in the interest of the governed and when worship is kept pure in the heart and the house of the Lord.

In the midst of this terrible denunciation Amos sounds a note of comfort and hope to the repentant. In that day I will raise up the fallen hut of David, wall up its breaches, raise up its ruins, and build it as in the days of old, that they may possess the remnant of Edom and all the nations upon whom my name is called, when the ploughman reaches to the reaper and the treader of grapes to the sower of seed, and I will bring back the captives and they build the waste cities, and plant vineyards, and make gardens, and shall no more be torn up. Restoration is their only hope and our only hope. God's people may enjoy their prosperity, if they only fear His name, and make all good minister to the poor, the unfortunate and the lost.

DIED. Cobb.

On Dec. 11, 1909, at his home on High Street, following a severe stroke of paralysis, Mr. Edward T. Cobb quietly answered to the last summons. He was a good citizen, and a brave survivor of the Confederacy, being a member of Co. A 13th Va. Calvary. He was a man who never said an unkind word about any one, and was much appreciated by all who knew him. Wife and two daughters survive him, Miss Jennie B. Franklin, and Mrs. W. J. Stephenson, Hampton, Va.

The funeral services were conducted from the residence by the writer, and the remains were buried in Poplar Spring Cemetery. His fellow comrades of Urquhart-Gillett Camp U.C.V. acted as honorary pallbearers. Our prayers and sympathy are extended to the bereaved ones.

C. H. Rowland.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

Exponent of the Young People's Convention,
Christian Church, South.

217 A Christian Endeavor Society in Every Church; Teacher-Training and Organized Classes in Every Sunday School

Devoted to the interest and advancement of Sunday Schools, Teacher-Training, Organized Classes, Cradle Roll, Home Department, Christian Endeavor, Missionary Societies, Temperance Societies, Aid Societies, Civic Righteousness.

W. A. HARPER, Editor and Field Secretary, Elon College, N. C.

[All notes and contributions for this Department should be sent to W. A. Harper, Elon College, N. C., who extends the Church at large a cordial invitation to furnish him with any note of interest to our Young People, particularly information in regard to any forward steps, new movement, or new organization looking to progressive and effective service. All items under this Department not signed are by its Editor and Field Secretary.]

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR—RECEPTION OF NEW MEMBERS.

I believe it is a good plan to have some dignity about the reception of new members. They have taken a solemn pledge, entered into a sacred covenant with Christ, by His help, to do His will. They have also affixed their signatures to the constitution and by-laws of the Society. These matters were likely attended to at a previous business meeting. At the next regular public prayer-meeting following the doing of these things, the pastor of the church or the President of the Society or someone designated by him, should, the new member or person standing, read some such reception formula as this, which I have compiled from the writings of Prof. Amos R. Wells:

"We rejoice that the Holy Spirit has led you to join our Society.

"We receive you most cordially into our fellowship and ask you to think of us as your brothers and sisters in Christ's blessed service.

"We trust that the Society will gain much from you and that you will gain much from the Society. Let us be laborers together,—hand-in-hand and heart to heart.

"May your determination be unwavering.

"May your trust be confident.

"May your zeal be fervid.

"May you never be satisfied with what you have achieved, but go on from hard things to harder, for the glory of God.

"May the fear of God be your constant stay from temptation.

May the knowledge of God be your guide through all perplexity.

"May the love of God be your un-failing comfort and support.

Into the secret of His presence may you go farther day by day, until you come to know Him whom to know aright is life eternal.

"And at the close of all your Christian endeavors may He receive you to Himself."

At the conclusion of the reading, the reader should give the new members the right hand of fellowship. The Society may then rise to show their participation in this act, following which the pledge may be recited in concert or an appropriate hymn sung or both.

The the President should announce on what committee each new member is to work and, if feasible, present him with a copy of Prof. Wells' The Christian Endeavor Greeting, price 10 cents, which is a delightful manual of information for new members.

A New Society.

Rev. R. L. Williamson on last second Sunday organized a Christian Endeavor Society in the Christian Church at Shiloh, with a prospective membership of 20 to 25. He expects to organize others soon. As Rev. C. E. Newman says, Christian Endeavor will go, if you make it go. Brother Williamson believes that too. The officers of the new Society are: President, J. C. Moffitt; Vice-president, O. A. Moffitt; Recording Secretary, Miss Allene Moffitt; Corresponding Secretary, Prof. F. M. Wright; Treasurer, Floyd Deaton. We welcome this new Society to our roll and bid it God-speed in its noble work.

Brother W. E. MacClenny Again.

Brother MacClenny's Suffolk Christian Endeavor Society is evidently at work. It thinks not only of itself, but of the general work, as this clipping from a recent letter will show:

"Enclosed herewith you will find check for $2.50 to help defray the expense of the Young People's work in the Christian Church, South.

"Wish it were so that we could make it more at this time, but we keep our membership up in the Christian Missionary Association, and as we just had to pay that, the Society thought best to make the amount sent you $2.50 at this time and possibly we will be able to do something else in the future."

With His Eyes to the Future in Teacher-Training. Helpful Suggestions from Brother Andes.

Rev. A. W. Andes is a country pastor. He has found it difficult to get the Teacher-Training idea to sprout. He gives some helpful suggestions in the clipping printed below:

"What I am about to write is not intended for publication, but if there is anything in it you wish to use, I have no objection to your using it.

"Owing to the nature of my work I have not found a time when I could meet with classes studying 'Preparing the Teacher.' I have therefore adopted the following plan: I am selling the books wherever I can with the instructions that the purchaser study a chapter at a time, getting all out of it possible by use of the questions at the end of each lesson, and then allow me to give an examination on the chapter. I make such suggestions as I may deem best after looking over each examination paper. I grade these papers, promising a first and second prize to those making the highest average grade on the book. I am virtually teaching by mail. One good point I see in it is that it causes the pupil to do the work and not depend upon the teacher using the lecture method. I have sold books in all my eight congregations and have given several examinations. Some will likely never call for examination questions, but will simply read and study the book alone. By following this plan I hope after this year to have some one in each church who can teach a class in 'Preparing the Teacher.'"

Replying to Bro. Rountree.

In last week's Sun Bro. Rountree raised some important questions. What is to become of our "Preparing the Teacher"? Who is to head the educational work of our Sunday schools and push this Teacher Training idea to success?

Brother Rountree thinks this is to be accomplished by agitation in the Christian Sun and in the local churches and in wide correspondence, we gather from his article. He is also of the opinion that our Teacher Training Superintendent (we have one, though Brother Rountree seems to have forgotten it) ought to superintend this work and issue diplomas, to which the International Seal should be attached.

With all of this we agree, heartily, as the previous matter published in these columns freely attests, and the many personal letters we have written bear additional testimony. If this scribe did not push Teacher Training for three months by written word in The Sun, and does not now write every possible letter urging it, then he is badly mistaken. Does Brother Rountree think we should write on Teacher Training all the time and neglect the Christian Endeavor and Organized Class ideas, which are also a part of our Young People's Convention watchword? We do not so understand.

Now as to the matter of holding examinations and issuing diplomas, that is the business of Prof. S. M. Smith, Norfolk, Va., who, being Chairman of the Sunday school Board of our Southern Convention, is ex-officio Superintendent of our Teacher Training Work. We presume he has well-laid plans looking to the consummation of these matters and hope he will soon forward them for publication in The Sun.

Meanwhile, Bro. Rountree's queries are apropos and deserve our most careful consideration. We shall be glad to hear from Bro. Rountree and others also on these points and will gladly concede part of our space to their opinions.

Before closing this matter for the present, we desire to raise another query: What can we do that we are not doing, and what can we provide that we have not provided, that will make our Teacher Training work more effective and efficient? We shall be glad to print many answers to this query.

Three C. E. Publications Reviewed.

The first is the Christian Endeavor World-Wide Almanac, price 10 cents, 36 pages, nicely bound. It is edited by Dr. Francis E. Clark, the distinguished founder of the Society. It gives the prayer meeting topics for the year 1910 and a Scripture Reference for every day in the year. By it we expect to do our daily Bible reading for next year. Besides this helpful data, the Almanac gives valuable information about Christian Endeavor, the Seasons, Eclipses, Differences in Time, Rates of Postage, etc., just as any other Almanac.

The second is the Endeavorer's Daily Companion, edited by Prof. Amos R. Wells, price ten cents, 110 pages of reading matter and an index for handy reference in addition. It is vest-pocket size and very valuable to Christian Endeavorers. It gives the topics for the year with the daily readings and two pages of suggestive thoughts on each topic, and also the Junior topics for the year. I do not see how an Endeavorer can well be without this book. This is its 17th annual number. It is and deserves to be popular with the C. E. people.

The third is the Missionary Manual, by Prof. Wells, 35 cents, richly bound in cloth, 134 pages. This book gives most helpful suggestions as to missionary methods for young people's religious societies, with special reference of course to Christian Endeavor. It tells in a frank, straight-forward, illuminating way how to stir up and maintain a healthy interest in missions among young people.

I wish a copy of this book could be in every pastor's library in our Church. Were I a millionaire, I would give a copy to each active minister and also to each Sunday school and C. E. Society official. Were I a monarch, I would compel them to purchase it. But since I am neither, I most cheerfully and heartily commend it to their consideration and assure them that it will, if properly, skilfully used, make their churches and their young people enthusiastic for missions, a condition surely to be devoutly prayed for.

These books may be had at the stipulated prices of The Christian Sun, Elon College, N. C., or the C. E. World, Tremont Temple, Boston, Mass.

Organized Classes for Three Months.

We will with the first issue of the New Year turn our attention editorially to the advancement of the Organized Class idea. This does not mean that we shall not push Teacher Training and Christian Endeavor in a private way, and, as occasion may arise, in a public way also, but that our editorial efforts will be directed to Organized Classes mainly for the next three months. Let us all work and pray together for the organization of many such classes in our brotherhood during this special campaign season in that behalf. Together, brethren; look to the East.

C. E. TOPIC FOR DECEMBER 26—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Our Responsibility for Home and Foreign Missions.

Matt. 28:16-20.

Let the Missionary Committee be in charge of the meeting.

The Scripture.—If the Chairman of the Missionary Committee leads, let some other member of the Committee read or repeat from memory the Bible passage. If there are five other members of the Committee, let them each comment for a minute on a verse of the passage. If the Committee does not have so many members, ask others to do this.

The Leader.—The leader will want to have a missionary map of the world suspended in view of the Society. He will need to speak of the necessity for home and foreign missions and of what it must demand in men and money to evangelize the world in this generation. He will show that there are now 19,000 foreign missionaries to whose support the Protestant World contributes annually $23,000,000. It will take about 30,000 additional missionaries and $35,000,000 additional to evangelize the world in our generation. Of this additional amount the United States would give about $15,000,000, which with the $10,000,000 we now give would mean about $1.25 for every member of the Protestant Church in America. This would mean also that every church of 400 members in America would have to send one missionary to the foreign field. Of course until the people are aroused, generally, interested Christians must give more than $1.25 per year. It is the purpose of the Layman's Missionary Conference to be held in Greensboro, N. C., Jan. 12-14, 1910.

Scripture References.—(Hand to those who would not otherwise take part, but let them read the references as a voluntary act on their part).

A Missionary Kingdom, Neh. 8:20-23.

Missionary Commands, Psalms 119: 2-8.

No Shirking in Missionary Work, Jonah 1:1-3.

No Excuses Acceptable, Jonah 3:1-4. Go, 1 Cor. 9:16.

The Harvest Plenteous, Matt. 9:35-38.

We Must Pray, Luke 22:32.

God Has Called Us, Acts 13:2.

Question Spurs.—(To be given to those who will not otherwise take part, but to come in under voluntary participation).

What is our Church doing for Home Missions?

What is our Church doing for Foreign Missions?

What is the greatest need in the Home Field?

What is the greatest need in the Foreign Field?

How can we discharge our responsibility for Missions?

What is our Society's Duty?

How can it meet it?

What can we do as individuals? (To several).

The Pastor.—The pastor would do well to speak of the Layman's Movement, its history, its purposes, its plans, its place. He should preach the gospel idea of "Go—or send." Let him remember

(Continued on page twelve.)

THE CHRISTIAN SUN.

Founded 1844 by Elder Daniel W. Kerr.
Organ of the Southern Christian
Convention.

Entered at the postoffice at Greensboro, N. C., as second-class matter.

Terms of Subscription.

One Year .....$1.50
Six Months ..... .75
Four Months ..... .50
Advertising rates given on application.

J. O. Atkinson, Editor and Publisher.

Important Notice.—As readers will see, The Christian Sun is now published at Greensboro, N. C. The office of publication there is 302½ South Elm Street. Our editorial office, however, remains at Elon College, N. C., to which all letters and communications to the Editor should be addressed, as heretofore.

THE WISE-MEN.

(Matt. 2:1-13.)

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, Wise-men from the east came to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. And when Herod the king heard it, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And gathering together all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea: for thus it is written through the prophet: And thou Bethlehem, land of Judah, Art in no wise least among the princes of Judah: For out of thee shall come forth a governor, Who shall be shepherd of my people Israel.

Then Herod privily called the Wisemen, and learned of them exactly what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search out exactly concerning the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word, that I also may come and worship him. And they having heard the king, went their way; and lo the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. And when they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And they came into the house, and saw the young child with Mary his mother; and they fell down and worshipped him; and opening their treasures they offered unto him gifts, gold and frankincense and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

CHRISTMAS.

There is no gladder season of all the year, than Christmas. And rightly so. He who made this season possible, and for Whom the day is named, bore on His shoulders and His divine heart, a world's burden and our sorrow. On Him was laid our iniquity, and "with His stripes we are healed."

This season celebrates His advent into the world. We are glad, not because of His sorrow, but because He came to bear our sorrows for us. His burdens are all too light; ours all too heavy. We stagger, and moan, and fall beneath weights of work and worry we cannot carry. His blessed face beams upon us, His strong arm goes beneath us, and though we have fallen, in the power of His strength we rise and go forward. He wept that we might rejoice, and died that we might live.

The whole world is full of light and life and joy at this season. The Babe of Bethlehem made it so.

There is no other season as spontaneous as this. Thanksgiving requires a proclamation, national holidays require statutes, and Sunday must needs be sustained by law. But Christmas—there is no statute, enactment, resolution or edict about that. It is spontaneous. People naturally observe Christmas. It is the season of joy and gladness.

The world not only observes Christmas, it gratuitously keeps Christmas. It not only marks the season when men agree to quit work and make merry together, but gives time to forget what we have done for others and rejoice in what others have done for us.

Childhood is happiest because Christmas is supremely children's day. The whole day and season are in the name and honor of a Child, the Child.

So it comes about that youth returns to all; life and joy and glee are on every hand. New life falls upon the earth, and the earth yields her treasures of gifts and gratitude in return. He has made the world glad by a gift—the gift of Himself, that greatest gift of all. And amid all our giving and getting one should not forget Him who gave the largest and the richest Gift.

AN ORGANIZED SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS.

Nothing succeeds like success. That is the best argument for the organized Sunday school class. It succeeds. It attracts to Sunday school, and to church, many who would not otherwise go. It does not diminish, but always increases, interest in church work.

One of the largest of these classes, in all our number, is that taught by Mr. Hersey Woodward, of the Suffolk Christian church and Sunday school. At the end of ten months' existence the Class had a banquet in Armory Hall, Suffolk, on the evening of December 10. One hundred and twenty-five members, out of an enrollment of one hundred and fifty-two, were present. Mr. J. M. Darden was master of ceremonies, and Judge McLemore delivered, according to newspaper reports, an able address on the organized class movement. Speaking further of the occasion The Suffolk Herald says, "Covers were laid for nearly 150 guests and there were present about 140, who enjoyed the evening.

"After partaking of the good things to eat in a hearty manner, the time came for more speech-making, and Mr. J. M. Darden acting as toastmaster, called on the following gentlemen who responded to the toasts: W. M. Watkins, president of the class, welcomed the guests in a most happy style. He made reference to Mr. W. P. Duke, now bordering on four score years, a charter member of the Suffolk Christian church, who walks every Sunday from Magnolia, a distance of three miles, to attend Sunday school and church. Mr. Duke was present at the banquet and spoke a few words of encouragement and hope. The next speaker was W. J. Kendrick, teacher of the Baptist Baraca Class, who responded to the toast, "To the Ladies." Mr. Hersey Woodward, teacher of the Twentieth Century Baraca class, told about the organization of the class, its growth and what it had accomplished. Col. E. E. Holland was very happy in his address on the "Class and What It Is Doing." This concluded the speech-making and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Joseph B. Dunn."

What Bro. Woodward is doing in the Suffolk Sunday school, and what Prof. W. A. Harper is doing in the Elon College Sunday school, and what Rev. H. E. Rountree is doing in the Waverly Sunday school may be done in other schools where an earnest, intelligent effort is put forth. These brethren have awakened new interest in Bible study and Sunday services in their respective communities, and scores are being helped by their endeavor.

—There will be no Christian Sun next week. The office force, with the rest of mankind, will take a few days off for Christmas, and in preparation for the new year.

ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

—Mr. W. F. Jones, who fell and was so seriously hurt Saturday, Dec. 11, as mentioned in these notes last week died from his injuries a little after midnight last Thursday night. Mr. Jones was the son of the late Rev. J. A. Jones of Wake County. He moved here about two years ago. He leaves a wife and three little daughters. The remains were taken to Wake Chapel church where the funeral was conducted on Saturday by Rev. J. W. Patton.

—Rev. W. C. Wicker filled the college pulpit at the eleven o'clock service Sunday, preaching one of his most appreciated sermons.

—Mr. Jennings A. Lincoln led the Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening, which was characterized by a spirit of true devotion.

—Examinations began last Thursday and will close Wednesday afternoon. Students are going away as fast as they finish their examinations, to join the friends at home for the holidays. The College reopens Tuesday, Jan. 4.

—The Elon Banking and Trust Company was chartered by the Secretary of State, Dec. 18, and purposes beginning a commercial and savings bank business about January first. The community at large seems to be interested, for about twenty-five persons, we understand, have taken stock. It is said that a real estate company is to be organized here also.

—The College population will be widely scattered the next two weeks; Miss Pitt of the department of music goes to spend the time with Mrs. Hugh McAlister at Lumberton, N. C.; Miss Bryan of the art department goes to her home near Asheville; Dr. Randolph of the department of Science and modern languages is off for his home near Charlotte; Prof. Harper of the Chair of Latin is to attend the meeting of the Southern Educational Association at Charlotte where he is on the program to deliver an address; President Moffitt will spend part of the time at Harrisonburg, Va. Other members of the faculty will be here and there for pleasure and for the purpose of increasing the patronage of the College.

W. P. Lawrence.

NORFOLK LETTER.

The statement in my letter of last week to the effect that Rev. Mr. Keys of Pennsylvania had accepted a call to the South Norfolk work, proved to be not based on correct information. The facts in the case are, that the Rev. Daniel A. Keys, of Conshohocken, Penn., had been invited to visit the South Norfolk field with the view of investigating the work, which he did, and was present and preached for the South Norfolk people yesterday, both morning and evening. It was my pleasure to be with them at the evening service, and to have the privilege of hearing Brother Keys deliver a strong, foreful sermon on the subject, "The Madness of Sin."

The South Norfolk people seem to be very much pleased with him. He will remain with them until Thursday of this week. It is not known yet just what decision will be reached with reference to his accepting the work.

The work at the Temple seems to be progressing nicely. The Sunday-school has made considerable improvements in their primary departments, having arranged a room for the Philathea class, and dividing the remaining space into several smaller individual class rooms. The church has organized a male choir, which did good service yesterday. Bro. Howsare is pleasing the people, and both Sunday-school and congregations are growing. They will have their Christmas entertainment Tuesday evening of the holiday week.

Word has been received from Brother Hanson that he will be with us at the Third Church on the 26th inst. and remain over the following Sunday. Hence we hope to have something definite about the future pastorate of the Third Church to report by next week.

J. W. Manning.

LAYMAN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.

(A personal letter to every pastor in North Carolina).

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 11, 1909.

Rev. and Dear Brother:—

We beg to call your attention to the North Carolina Convention of the great Laymen's Missionary Movement to be held in Greensboro January 12-14. The "Call" and other literature issued by the Publicity Committee have been mailed to you, from which you may learn of the purpose of the Movement, and of the plans for this one of the seventy Conventions being held in the United States, and as brethren in the great cause of our common Master we ask your earnest and immediate interest in the same.

While it is a Layman's Convention, we realize that outside of Greensboro, at least, the laymen must be reached through their ministers, and therefore, we, the Pastor's Co-Operative Committee, feel that we cannot co-operate more efficiently than by urging our brother ministers throughout the state to join with us in supporting and promoting this great work among laymen for the extension of our Master's kingdom.

To you it is not necessary for us to enlarge upon the importance of this Convention, or to tell you of the wonderful possibilities of this great Interdenominational Missionary Movement of Laymen, for we all realize that it is one of the most hopeful and encouraging signs of the times in the Christian world. But we, on behalf of the twenty-two ministers of our city, do write to urge upon you the great importance of bringing this matter before the men of your congregation, and sending, or better still, bringing as many delegates as possible to the Convention.

We hope you will have delegates appointed at once, in the way you think best, and that you will succeed in having a goodly number present at the Convention; and again hoping that you, yourself, will be able to accompany your laymen, we are,

Fraternally yours,

Rev. E. K. McLarty, Chmn.,

Methodist.

J. L. White, Baptist.

T. J. Ogburn, Methodist Protestant.

J. W. Bolton, Christian.

C. E. Hodgkin, Presbyterian.

S. R. Guignard, Episcopal.

S. S. Myrick, Friends.

C. H. Wenholt, Moravian.

Shuford Peeler, Reformed.

MY CHRISTMAS WISH.

I am thinking of you today because it is Christmas and I wish you happiness; and tomorrow because it will be the day after Christmas, I shall wish you happiness; and so on clear through the year. I may not be able to tell you about it every day, because I may be far away, or because both of us may be very busy, or perhaps because I cannot even afford to pay the postage on so many letters or find the time to write them. But that makes no difference. The thought and the wish will be here just the same. In my work and in the business of life I mean to try not to be unfair to you or injure you in any way. In my pleasure, if we can be together, I would like to share the fun with you. Whatever joy or success comes to you will make me glad. Without pretense, and in plain words, good will to you is what I mean.—Henry Van Dyke.

—Get ready to do good and efficient service during 1910 whatever position you occupy.

THE CHRISTIAN ORPHANAGE DEPARTMENT.

$5,054.44

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

The Band of Cousins.

Jas. L. Foster, Sec., Elon College, N. C.

"He that hath pity on the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and his good deed will He pay him again."—Prov. 19:17.

Reported last week .....$4,838.07

Monthly Dues:

Mary Lee Foster .....	$ .20
James L. Foster, Jr. ....	.20
Jessie Penny .....	.20
Pauline Penny .....	.20
Lucile Manning .....	.25
Brannock Newman .....	.05
Murdock Newman .....	.05
R. Leslie Newman .....	.05
Perla Pate .....	.10
Clarence Newman .....	.20
Addie Newman .....	.20
Helen Foster .....	.20
T. Clifford Foster .....	.10
Nannie Benton .....	.10
Bettie Franks .....	.05
Numa Franks .....	.05
Noma Franks .....	.05
Dwight Franks .....	.05
Blannie Franks .....	.05

Monthly S. S. Offering:

Rosemont, Va. ....	.75
Dendron, Va. (Nov. and Dec). ....	4.60
Berea, Nans'd., Va. (Nov. and Dec). ....	7.58

Thanksgiving

Offering:

Ingram, Va. ....	45.27
Smithwood, N. C. ....	3.00
Wentworth .....	7.46
Providence Chapel, Ga. .	4.01
Matha's Chapel S. S. . .	5.00
Oak Grove, N. C. ....	6.50
Noonday, Ala. ....	2.38
Mt. Auburn, N. C. ....	19.51
Lewisburg, Pa. ....	3.00
Auburn, N. C. ....	5.23
Raleigh, N. C. (addi- tional) .....	1.00
Berea (Nans'd.) Va. ...	25.00
Hines' Chapel .....	5.00
Pine Plains, N. C. ....	2.50
3rd Church S. S. Norfolk	12:65
Shallow Ford, N. C. ....	2.21
Mrs. J. L. Barksdale ...	1.00
Miss Willie Staley ....	1.00
Shallow Well, N. C. ....	9.95
Mt. Zion, Ga. ....	2.51
New Hope, N. C. ....	6.85
Bethel (Valley Va.) ....	4.00
Freehold, N. Y. ....	5.00
Long's Chapel, N. C. . .	3.55
Mt. Carmel, Va. ....	17.51
Amt. 47th week .....	216.37

Elon College, N. C., Dec. 15, 1909.

My Dear Children and Friends:—

Hurrah for the record-breaker $5054.44 to date for 1909!! This is indeed gratifying. This has been a great year for us, and yet our work is just beginning. Who can tell how fast and how large the Lord will prosper our work for these dependent citizens, for whom our States make but little or no provision? Our States provide for their blind children, their deaf and dumb children, and for their insane citizens, and even build magnificent structures for their criminals, while the unfortunate orphan child, who is none the less a citizen, is left to the limited support of church and fraternity. These are sad facts. But we are encouraged that the denominations and fraternities are filling so well the responsibility put upon them. The Christians are coming up well and rapidly on this point of duty; and in a few more years we will be asking for friends to put up "memorial buildings" to accommodate our children.

Christmas is here and the Orphanage children are all busy talking about Santa Claus and writing to him with all kinds of requests for every kind of toy to play with and "goodies" to eat. Sometimes they forget their work and simply talk "Christmas and Santa."

We wish for all the Cousins and friends who have helped us make '09 so great a success the happiest greetings of the season, and may the Christmas of 1909 be to each a very joyful occasion. In our next letter we hope to submit our third Annual Farm Report; could not get all items up for this week.

Donations: Dr. J. D. Helms, Greensboro, N. C., Mfg. Chemist, 4 bottles of Helms' Babyoline; Ladies' Aid Society, Christian Church, Greensboro, N. C., 1 memorial quilt; Misses Pauline and Jessie Penny, Raleigh, N. C., $1 with which to buy Christmas treat for children; Atlanta drummer, 50c to buy treat for children.

If you will read carefully the above report, you will see how generally the people are becoming interested in the Orphanage.

We are so grateful for the liberal cash offering this week. Many Cousins have written; one "old Cousin," Miss Willie Staley, sends in her $1.00 Hope all "old cousins" will send us the $1 so we can buy the new farm. We must have more farm land.

We had a great Orphanage meeting at Ingram 2nd Sunday: the audience was small owing to the threatening weather. After the pastor, Rev. S. B.

Klapp, had introduced Unele Jim, he preached and talked for the Orphanage the best he could; and then Dr. S. T. A. Kent took the offering, and he did it well. Dr. Kent is in deep sympathy with the Orphanage work, and in a few minutes had raised $79 in cash and subscriptions; most of it will be paid before Christmas. This is the largest Thanksgiving offering yet reported for the year, and that from a small church, but a church of deep sympathy and liberal purse. We enjoyed the kind hospitality of Bros. Kent and T. A. S. Boyd and their families while in this community; and thank Bro. Ira Boyd for facing the cold and rain in getting us from and to the depot; this is no small item in our work. We thank pastor and people for the pleasure and profit of this trip.

In this season of cold and colds, we are grateful to Dr. Helms of Greensboro, N. C., for 4 bottles of Helms' Babyoline for the children. We will use this medicine hoping that great relief will be given the little fellows; also the Ladies' Aid Society of Greensboro send us a splendid memorial quilt—they got the memorial and the Orphanage the quilt—that's all right, sisters, we will trade that way often.

Our good Cousins, Pauline and Jessie Penny, of Raleigh, N. C., who anticipate so joyous a season at their home with the good things of Christmas, are willing to share with the orphan child and hence send $1 for treat; also the Atlanta drummer adds 50c for good things for the children at the Home. Thus 31 hearts will be made more cheerful and 31 lives happier by the thoughtfulness of these friends.

We guess Dr. Atkinson will take a week off and thus make it two weeks before you hear from the Orphans again; meantime get ready for the new year and let all join in closing up the old year with gratitude and praise for the rich blessings of the past.

Yours faithfully, Unele Jim.

Waverly, Va., Nov. 22, 1909.

Dear Unele Jim:—

As it has been a long time since I have written to the corner, I guess the little cousins think I have forgotten them. But I am going to school and can write a letter by myself now. I have lots of mistakes, anyway will send it. My little cousin is staying with me now while his papa is sick. He was hurt very badly in the mill last week. Had his arm broken. I will be eight years old next Sunday. I will close for this time with love to the cousins.

Enclosed please find 25 cents, fifteen cents for myself and ten cents for my little cousin.

Your nephew,
Garland Gray.

Sorry your cousin is hurt, dear. You forgot to give his name, so we credit you with the 25c.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 13, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:

It has been a long time since I have written. I am going to school now. I am in the fourth grade. My teacher is very nice.

I hope the cousins will have a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Inclosed find 25 cents.

Your niece, Lucile Manning.

Glad you write again, Lucile, for we are sorry indeed to have the cousins of long ago drop out.

Dec. 10, 1909.

Dear Uncle:

Well, Christmas is almost here, and all the little folks like me are looking for Santa Claus. We are going to have a tree and mother says that we won't get much else. Well, I wish I could send something nice to the orphans for Christmas, but don't have very much myself, but would be willing to divide with them if I could. I enclose 30 cents, our dues for Nov. and Dec. Love to all.

Helen S. Foster,
T. Clifford Foster.

Thanks for your good wishes, Helen. Give us your prayers and surely God will bless both you and the orphan children.

Manson, N. C., Dec. 13, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:

Here come two little boys wanting to join the band. We love to listen to papa read about your little people. We go to Sunday-school twice nearly every Sunday.

We are expecting Santa Claus to come Christmas to see us. Hope he will come to see all the children there.

Enclosed please find our dime.

Your nephews, Brannock Newman, Murdoek Newman.

Welcome, boys, and may you prove faithful all through the coming year.

Manson, N. C., Dec. 12, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

I am late this time; sorry, hope to do better.

I just talk Santa Claus all the time. I want him to bring me a tool box with a hammer and saw, and nig-toes. I can't say nigger-toes.

I think I ought to go with papa every Friady night to the C. E. Society at Liberty because I cry, and he lets me go to Sunday school. I think I must every time he goes to church. Papa is to open the meeting next time.

Enclosed find my dues for December.

Wishing all a Merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

R. Leslie Newman.

Never mind, when you get big you can go all the time. So little boys have to wait.

Dearmanville, Ala., R. F. D. 3.
Dec. 14, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Elon College, N. C. Here I am this cold day. It has been snowing just a little but up here, just enough to say it has snowed. I guess the cousins are fixing for Christmas. Wish they could all come spend Christmas with me. We are going to have a Christmas tree Christmas eve night. Please find a dime.

I remain, wishing the cousins a joyful Christmas from Perla Pate.

Strange that you are having snow and we who are farther north, still having pleasant weather. But we had better look out!

Henderson, N. C., 1003 Nicholas St.

Dear Uncle Jim:—

Well, Christams is nearly here. We wish you and all the children a happy Christams. Hope Santa Claus will remember each child. We send our dues for Nov. and Dec.

With best wishes we bid you adieu,
Clarence and Addie Newman.

I think he will, children, for he is a dear, good fellow.

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 10, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:

I come with my dime for December. Christmas will soon be here. I guess the cousins are looking for Santa. Hope they will have a nice time. Love to the cousins.

I wish you all a merry Christmas.
Your loving niece,

Nannie Benton.

Yes, we are looking for Santa. My—he'll have to bring us lots of things, for we have such a large family.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 13, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:

This is our last letter for this year. Hope the orphans will have a merry Christams and a happy New Year. Enclosed please find twenty-five cents, the dues of brothers, sister and I.

Your loving niece,

Bettie Franks.

Thanks, Bettie. Be sure to be as faithful next year as you have the past.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 10, 1909.

Dear Uncle Jim:

Did you think we had forgotten you and the cousins? We have been very busy, this fall, picking cotton. Now we are busier than ever, going to school.

I am in the sixth grade this year. Miss Meader Rollins is my teacher. Pauline's teacher is Miss Mamie Taylor.

Enclosed please find $40 for our dues and $1.00 for a Christmas present.

With best wishes for a Merry Christmas to you, Aunt Myrtle, and all the cousins.

Your little nieces,
Jessie and Pauline Penny.

Thank you very much indeed, little girls. Your gift will be enjoyed by our boys and girls.

CAN CANCER BE CURED? IT CAN.

We want every man and woman in the United States to know what we are doing. We are curing Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores without the use of the knife or X-ray, and are endorsed by the Senate and Legislature of Virginia.

We Guarantee Our Cures.

THE KELLAM HOSPITAL,
1917 West Main, Richmond, Va.
Physicians Treated Free.

FREEMAN DRUG CO.,

Dealers in

DRUGS, MEDICINES, PATENT MEDICINES, and Druggist sundries, Perfumery, all popular odors, Toilet and fancy articles, Combs, Brushes, etc.

Prescriptions Carefully Compounded.

Burlington, N. C.

DR. J. H. BROOKS

Surgeon and Dentist

FOSTER BUILDING,

Burlington, N. C.

Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve

For Croup It relieves in 15 minutes, sends stimulating, relaxing vapors down the throat with every breath, and also stimulates surface of chest.

For Pneumonia Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, it has no equal in promptly arresting these dangerous affections. Nips all congestion and inflammation in the bud. It's the great Emergency Remedy. Have it ready.

All druggists, or by mail.

VICK'S FAMILY REMEDIES CO.
Greensboro, N. C.

For free sample specify department No. 4.

PRINT Your Own
Cards, circulars, book, newspaper. Press $5. Larger $18. Rotary $60. Save money. Print for others, big profit. All easy, rates sent. Write factory for press catalog. TYPE, paper, etc.
The Press Co., Meriden, Ct.

(Begun on page seven).
that a missionary church, a church of vision, is a growing church.

Something Definite.—Let the offering be for some definite purpose—a church house in Ponce, Porto Rico; the girls' school in Japan; the work in South America; a particular church in the Home Mission Field. Then see that the money goes to that purpose.

Suggested Program.

1. Chain of Prayer.
2. A Missionary song or two.
3. Scripture lesson as suggested above.
4. Leader's Remarks.
5. Prayer.
6. Special music.
7. Voluntary participation, including Scripture References and Question Spurs.
8. Pastor's remarks.
9. Song. Definite offering. Mizpah.

C. E. TOPIC FOR JANUARY 2—A FEW SUGGESTIONS.

Through this year with God.

Num. 9:15-23; 10:10.

Monthly Consecration Meeting.

Let the Lookout Committee lead and let its chairman present a definite plan of work, a definite aim to be accomplished, during the coming year. Some other member of the committee should be leader.

The Leader.—The leader should urge the importance of making good resolutions not only on New Year's Day, but at every time. He should encourage the members to make new resolutions and then to keep them.

The Scripture.—Let one member of the Lookout Committee read the passage. Have another to comment briefly on the same.

Question Spurs.—(Hand out to suitable members, to be answered when the secretary calls the roll as if voluntary on their part):

How can we begin the year with God?

How continue through the year with Him?

What things will God not be with us in?

What things will God assist us in?

What is the good of New Year resolutions?

What is the harm of them?

How can we make the year happy for ourselves?

How can we make it happy for others?

What is your experience with New Year's resolutions? (To be given to several).

Scripture References.—(Hand to suitable persons to be memorized and given as voluntary participation by them as the roll is called):

In God's Presence, Psalms 116:9.

Walking with God, Gen. 5:22.

Our Path, Heb. 12:13.

God's Promise, Matt. 18:20.

Our Light, John 9:5.

The Blessed Man, Psalms 1:1-6.

Our Shepherd, Psalms 23:1-6.

The Pastor.—The pastor will have fine opportunity to speak of that resolution, above every other, to resolve to live the Christian life. If he thinks advisable, he might call for professions after his five-minute talk.

Suggested Program.

1. Two or three spirited songs.
2. Prayer by President of the Society.
3. Scripture and comment as above.
4. Leader's remarks.
5. Chain of prayer.
6. Special music or a song.
7. Roll Call and response by members, including voluntary participation of Scripture References and answers to Question Spurs.
8. Chairmen of Lookout Committee's Presentation of the Society's New Year Resolution, the Society rising at the end of the reading, if they approve.
9. Pastor's Five Minutes.
10. Pledge in Concert.
11. Song. Offering. Mizpah.

MARRIED.

Morris-Turner.

A very pretty marriage was celebrated at Oakland farm in Southampton Co., Va., Oct. 27, 1909, when Miss Bessie Turner became the bride of Mr. Lee Morris. The parlor was beautifully decorated for the occasion and beneath an arch of evergreen the words were spoken that made them husband and wife. May their life be long, useful, and happy.

R. H. Peel.

Laine-Brewer.

At Barrett's Church, Nov. 28, 1909, Mr. R. T. Laine and Miss Virgie Brewer. May peace and happiness attend them in their wedded life.

R. H. Peel.

Rollings-Richardson.

The home of Mr. W. F. Richardson near Wakefield, Sussex Co., Va., was the scene of a beautiful marriage on Nov. 23, 1909, when his daughter, Bertha May, was wedded to Mr. Wiley A. Rollings of Southampton Co., Va. The parlor was beautifully decorated and lighted with candles. The wedding march was played by Miss Callie Rollings, a niece of the groom, and Mr. Amos Rolling, a nephew of the groom and Mr. Hargrave were attendants.

After the ceremony the couple took the N. & W. train at Wakefield for a tour to Washington and other cities. May each make the life of the other happier and brighter.

R. H. Peel.

Pond-Davis.

At the bride's home near Sedley, Va., Dec. 5, 1909, Mr. Geo. D. Pond and Miss Ida May Davis were united in marriage. A number of friends had assembled to witness the ceremony and extend their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple. May their life be filled with joy and usefulness.

R. H. Peel.

Cobb-Whitley.

At the home of Mr. J. F. Whitley, Franklin, Va., on Oct. 27, 1909, Miss Margaret, his oldest daughter, became the bride of Mr. Frank Cobb. It was a quiet marriage, and only a few relatives and friends were present. The bridal party drove to the home of the groom's father, Mr. W. M. Cobb, where a sumptuous supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb have their home in Franklin, where Mr. Cobb is in business, being a member of the firm of Cobb Bros. Best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

C. H. Rowland.

Blythe-Lankford.

On Dec. 9, 1909, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. O. Lankford, at 4 P.M., Miss Loise Lankford and Mr. Albert H. Blythe were united in marriage by the writer. Supper was served at the home of the bride. May they live long and be useful.

C. H. Rowland.

D I E D.

Gatling.

Sister Nancy D. Gatling died Nov. 12 in her 29th year. She was the beloved wife of Riddick Gatling, the treasurer of our county. Sister Gatling was sick only a few days and her death was a shock to the entire community. All was done that could be done, but she had finished her work, and the Lord took her to Himself. She is survived by her husband, four little children, mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Langston, one brother, J. R. Langston, two sisters, Miss Sallie M. Langston and Mrs. T. A. Eure, of Eure, N. C., and a host of near relatives and friends.

She was a woman of many accomplishments, and useful in every sphere. She was always at her post of duty. Nowhere, save in the home, will she be more missed than in her church, which she loved so well. She was our organist, and took a delight in the song service, which was always enjoyed. She has now joined the heavenly choir, and God has put a new song in her mouth. We will perfect our work in eternity. What we love in this world, we will love in that higher and brighter world. Our work does not cease, when we shake off the mortal and put on the immortal. Here we are hedged in on every side; but no one can set the boundary to the possibilities of the soul freed from the bondage of death.

She died a triumphant death, trusting in her Master. "Blessed in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saints." The home has lost a true wife and mother, the neighborhood a true friend, and the church a true worker. The Lord bless the family and friends.

J.M. Roberts.

Turner.

Mrs. Missouri Turner was born in Nausemond Co., Va., Feb. 14, 1838, and departed this life Nov. 18, 1909. She was the daughter of Hardy and Christian Duke. On July 22, 1858, she was married to George W. Turner, who died Sept. 10, 1903. Sister Turner made a profession of religion at the age of fifteen years, and united with Cypress Chapel Christian Church. After the organization of Liberty Spring church, she transferred her membership to that church, of which she was a faithful and consistent member until her death. She was a woman of deep religious convictions, spiritually minded and loyal to her church. Her health began to decline several years ago, and she was confined to her room for several months. During this severe affliction she was humble and submissive. She spent much time talking about religion, and the blessedness of her faith in Christ. She spent much time in prayer. She enjoyed the songs of the Gospel, and often requested people to sing for her. She welcomed the hour when she could depart and be with Jesus. She fell asleep trusting in Him, who died to save from sin. She leaves to mourn their loss, one half-sister, seven children, (two boys and five girls), nine grandchildren and many friends. Her funeral was conducted by the writer at Liberty Spring church, and her remains laid to rest in the church cemetery to await the resurrection morn. May the Lord bless and comfort the bereaved ones.

I. W. Johnson.

Rhodes.

Jacob Bowman Dewitt Rhodes was born August 9, 1848, and departed this life December 4 1909, at the age of 61 years, 3 months, and 25 days. Deceased had for a number of years conducted a prosperous mercantile business at Linville, but owing to failing health retired from business and moved his family to Harrisonburg over a year ago. He was a wide awake man, of good judgment, kind, generous, and obliging disposition. He was widely known and was loved and respected by all who knew him. His disposition was entirely unselfish and he was always active in promoting the welfare of others and of the community at large. He was a loving husband, a kind and considerate father, and his home was ever one of happiness and congeniality. Truly a good man has gone, whose place cannot be filled.

He leaves a wife, who before their marriage was Miss Emma Sipe, daughter of Col. E. Sipe, now deceased. There are also left to mourn, six children—Mrs. E. L. Moffitt, of Elon College, N. C., Miss Sarah B. at home, Mrs. J. K. Ruebush, of Dayton, Va., Charles E., of Charleston, W. Va., and Misses Grace and Bruce at home. Deceased also leaves one sister, Mrs. E. R. Fletcher of Harrisonburg.

The funeral took place at Linville Christian church, Tuesday, December 7, and the body was consigned to the tomb in the cemetery nearby to await the resurrection call.

Dr. B. F. Wilson of the Presbyterian church in Harrisonburg assisted in the services which were conducted by the writer.

A. W. Andes.

Huffman.

Lula May Huffman was born July 4, 1886, died Nov. 15, 1909, aged 23 years, 4 months, and 11 days. For several years she was a great sufferer until death came as relief. She leaves in sadness a father and mother, three brothers and three sisters. Funeral services were conducted by the writer at Linville Christian church, and the remains were laid to rest in the church cemetery.

A. W. Andes.

Rawles.

William Rawles was born in Nausemond Co., Va., Sept. 22, 1820. He was the son of William and Julia Rawles. In the year 1850 he was married to Miss Margaret Ann Porter, who only lived about one year after the marriage. During the year 1853, he was married to Miss Mary Elizabeth Hamilton. To them were born three children: the late Richard T. Rawles, Mrs. A. H. Savage, and Mrs. John R. Copeland. During the year 1882, death invaded his home and took away his beloved companion. In the year 1884 he was married to Miss Cassandra Byrd. Bro. Rawles was feeble for many years, and passed quietly away on Sunday afternoon, November 14, 1909, at the age of 89 years, one month and 23 days. When quite young he united with Holy Neck Christian church, and after the Liberty Spring church was organized, he transferred his membership to that church. Soon after this he was ordained deacon, and he faithfully discharged the duties of that office, until he was too feeble to perform the work. He was faithful in his work, and always at his post of duty, when it was possible for him to be present. When old age and bodily affliction confined him to his home, he patiently waited for the end, with a bright hope of immortality. He leaves to mourn their loss, two children, one sister, twenty grandchildren six great-grand children, a devoted companion, and many friends. His funeral was conducted by the writer, at Liberty Spring church, and his remains laid to rest in the church cemetery to await the resurrection morn.

I. W. Johnson.

Beale.

After more than three years of suffering, Mr. J. Pitman Beale, on Oct. 19, 1909, quietly passed away. He was 36 years old, and had been very active until declining health, but for some time gave up business altogether. He is survived by a widow, three brothers, Mr. W. L. Beale, Handsom, Va.; W. F. and J. W. Beale, Franklin, Va.; and two sisters, Mrs. J. I. Beale, Franklin, and Mrs. H. A. Williams, Norfolk, Va.

The funeral services were conducted at Bethany Christian Church by the writer, and the interment was in the church burying ground. May the Father bless the bereaved ones.

C. H. Rowland.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

Has been used for over SIXTY-FIVE YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098. AN OLD AND WELL TRIED REMEDY.

20 BEAUTIFUL POST CARDS—10c.

No Two Alike—Largest Designs.

Lovely assortment of 20 Artistic Birthday, Friendship, Good Luck, Roses and Flowers in exquisite colors, all for only 10 cents, if you answer this ad immediately.

J. H. Seymour, 251 W. Eighth St.,

Topeka, Kan.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build up the System.

Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle, showing it is simply Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form, and the most effectual form. For grown people and children. 50c.

Think Right about an organ

Think of the small difference in price for a lifetime of organ satisfaction and you won't put a cheap instrument of pipes or reeds into your church. Think right about an Estey Organ. ESTEY ORGAN COMPANY. Makers of Pipe and Reed Organs. BRATTLEBORO, VT. Send for Catalogue

FALL AND WINTER.

The time for fall and winter gardening is here and you need garden tools. We can supply you at lowest prices.

Poultry Wire.

The best assorted stock in the county. Four different styles and weight.

Come and See.

Remember plumbing and bath room fixtures, a speciality. You will find us on Davis St. in the new building near Post Office.

BURLINGTON HARDWARE CO.

When in Burlington call at
T. H. STROUD'S

Store for DRUGS, SOFT DRINKS, and anything desired in drugs and Toilet Articles.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY.

QUICKEST LINE TO

New York, Washington, Charlotte, Florida Points, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans and the West.

Double Daily Service with High-Back-Seat Coaches, Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars.

We operate Daily Vestibule service, with through Pullman Sleeping Cars to Jacksonville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

For Time Tables, Booklets Reservations or any information relative to special rates and route, call on or address C. H. GATTIS, Trav. Passenger Agt., No. 4 Tucker Building, Raleigh, N. C.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
Stops Falling Hair
Makes Hair Grow
Stops Falling Hair
Makes Hair Grow
 J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.
Does not Color the Hair
Does not Color the Hair
Does not Color the Hair

During 1909

(As in previous years)

We want you in our business, for we have what you want in your homes—the very best, most substantial and handsome furniture at bottom prices. We are also the undertakers.

Burke Furniture and Coffin Company

BURLINGTON, N. C.

Dry Goods, Notions, Ready Made Clothing.

When in Burlington visit our large store, supplied always with the very best and latest styles and novelties.

Our Dry Goods are of latest designs, and our Ready Made Clothing cannot be surpassed in quality and price.

Come, See. Be Convinced.

B. A. SELLARS & SONS. BURLINGTON, N. C.

CABBAGE PLANTS BY MAIL

Charleston and Early Jersey Wakefield. We pay postage 20 Cents per Hundred by mail. We make a speciality of cabbage plants raised in, and acclimated to, North Carolina, capable of withstanding frosts and freezes in this climate. Low express rates on larger quantities to N. C. points. Price by express (not prepaid) 1,000, $1.50; 5,000, $1.25 per M; 10,000, $1.00 per M, Special prices on larger shipments.

UNION PLANT CO., - - Marshville, N. C.

Here's a Book About Wall Decorations

It tells how to produce the most beautiful walls, and walls that don't breed germs.

It tells how the finest hotels, and most modern homes, get their new color effects.

It tells you how to get them, in your own home, at a very slight expense.

Please get this book, and our wealth of ideas, before you attempt decoration.

Alabastine
The Sanitary Wall Coating

You will never use wall paper—not use kalsomine—after you know the facts.

Good taste and good health both demand Alabastine. It is the vogue now—the fashion—in mansion and cottage alike. It can be applied over papered walls.

Alabastine is permanent and economical—brilliant and beautiful. You can carry out endless color schemes with it.

Please let us tell you about them. Judge if you want such effects in your home. Please send us this coupon—now before you forget it—and let us send the book.

Alabastine Co.,
Dept. 92,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

Send the Alabastine book to

GENUINE PERUVIAN GUANO

INSURES "BUMPER" CROPS OF COTTON, CORN AND TRUCK

IF you have never used Peruvian Guano, you don't know the possibilities of your land.

With proper cultivation, no other known fertilizer will produce as large yields.

Peruvian Guano is a product of nature. It contains things which man cannot successfully imitate.

Peruvian Guano is the excrement of fish-eating birds that inhabit the West coast of Peru.

Peruvian Guano is, therefore, DIGESTED FISH — digested by Nature and without the use of Sulphuric acid.

Peruvian Guano contains elements quickly active, some slow, and some still more slow, and it, therefore, nourishes the plant from start to maturity.

We have a great number of letters from those who have used Peruvian Guano, and pictures of Cotton Crops, Corn Crops, Tobacco Crops, Truck Crops, and Grain Crops, on which it was used. Send for our book of letters and pictures from those who know Peruvian. It's FREE.

Peruvian Guano Corporation, Charleston, S. C.

LET US CLEAN YOUR SOILED SKIRT

Ladies soiled skirts, dresses, suits or wraps of any material, that have become soiled and mussed, can be dry cleaned and pressed, and made new in our

French Dry Cleaning and Dyeing

department. We also dye over garments, with uniform success, and at slight cost to you. Our illustrated booklet and price list is free. Write us for it.

Charlotte Steam Laundry, Charlotte, N. C.
 Carolinas Leading Dyers and Cleaners.

224 South Tryon St.,
 Charlotte, N. C.

Cabbage Plants

Best strains, grown in open air. Frost proof and rapid growers. Only best seed used. Same used on my own truck farm.

Also Lettuce and Beet Plants: All plants guaranteed, full count and best, hardiest plants.

Write for prices, catalog and free booklet on culture of these crops. Address,

B. L. COX, Ethel, S. C.

WANTS OF THE WORLD.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY—Railway Mail Clerks. Spring examinations everywhere. Commencement salary $500. Rapid advancement. Common education sufficient. Preparation free. Write immediately for schedule showing examination places. Franklin Institute, Dept. N99, Rochester, N. Y.

AGENTS WANTED—Male and Female. Who couldn't sell a kerosene oil burner which makes any lamp give four times the light at half cost! Big profits. Gottschalk, 97 Chambers St., New York.

REAL ESTATE AND INVESTMENTS. Texas Panhandle Country. Swisher County. Richest and cheapest land in the world. Delightful climate. Water everywhere, pure, cold and inexhaustible. Write for free illustrated booklet. Commercial Club, James Frye, Syc. Tulia, Swisher Co. Texas.

Don't buy any real estate in the South till you hear from us. Send name today. Will give you valuable information that you never heard of before by return mail free. Fruitland Colony Co. D. 3k 1, 167 Adams St., Chicago

FOR THE HOME. Any photograph reproduced on beautiful china plates of Family Members, Churches, School Groups, Residences, your Minister, for Souvenirs. Work permanent. Photos returned unharmed. Write for descriptions. Artist Studio, New Era Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

TYPEWRITERS. TYPEWRITERS—ALL KINDS. Only machines equal to new handled, so slightly used they cannot be distinguished from new. Rented everywhere $3 monthly; first six payments to apply if you desire to purchase. Write for catalog and sample of writing showing net prices of each machine, proving that we can save you 30 to 40 per cent. from manufacturers prices. Typewriter Sales Company, 171 Broadway, New York.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN. Dr. Berry's Freckle Ointment positively removes freckles, leaving beautiful complexion. By mail $5. Be kind free. Lady representatives wanted. Dr. C. H. Berry Co., Chicago, Ill.

A Government Position for You

There are broad opportunities in the U.S. Civil Service for American men and women over 18. Life-long positions are granted to thousands every year. We enable you to qualify in your own home at small cost to pass any Civil Service Examination. Get free Civil Service Book. International Correspondence, Box 1025 Scranton, Pa.

SPHINX PURE MIXED PAINTS THEY LAST!

"Sphinx" Paint comes ready-mixed. You don't waste one-third of your painter's time at $2 to $3 per day as when you use lead and oil. You save from $10 to $30 on your labor bill when you use "Sphinx."

Then too "Sphinx" Paint is ten-fold better mixed than any painter could possibly do it, for we use perfect mixing machinery. This is why "Sphinx" covers so evenly and goes farther per gallon than any other paint. We guarantee one gallon to cover 300 square feet,—two coats.

Sphinx Paint is Best for Southern Pine

Look for our trade-mark bearing the words Lenox Quality. It is your best insurance against cracking, scaling and peeling. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us for free color-cards and prices. Made in white, black, and 45 beautiful tints and colors.

LELAND MOORE PAINT & OIL COMPANY, CHARLESTON, S. C.

RURAL TELEPHONE THE BEST
"HIRED MAN" ON THE FARM.

It Will Save You and Your Family Time and Steps. It is Never too Tired or too Sick to Go for the Doctor. Will Soon Save its Cost.

Have you a hired man on your farm? The rural phone costs you less than $1.00 per month. It does more work and saves more time and money than the best paid and most energetic laborer on your place.

There's plenty of proof, if you are looking to save dollars.

Sickness may strike your home in a moment. Ever remember the time in your neighborhood when somebody's life was lost because you couldn't get a doctor quick enough?

It won't do to depend on the hired man, or yourself either.

The sick man or woman or child might die before either one or you had got out of sight of the house.

The hired man might be sick himself, or perhaps you couldn't afford one, or perhaps he'd quit the day before.

Turn the crank on your telephone, speak a few urgent words in the transmitter, and the doctor is with you as quick as he can harness his horse and come tearing over the roads. He can tell you over the telephone what to do until he arrives.

How much is that sort of protection worth to you and the loved ones in your home?

Maybe you break a point to a plow and need a new one. Of course, you might send the hired man, or one of the boys, or go yourself.

But then that would be a day's work lost while one of you went to the nearest town or blacksmith.

The rural telephone will bring that plow-point, or anything else you need in a jiffy, if your neighbors are also enterprising enough to have a telephone.

Maybe your house or barn catches fire and you need every human being on the place to fight it. You need more help to save your household goods and prevent the fire from spreading.

FROST PROOF CABBAGE PLANTS

GUARANTEED TO SATISFY PURCHASERS, FROM THE ORIGINAL CABBAGE PLANT GROWERS.

EARLY JERSEY WAKEFIELD. The Earliest Cabbage Grown. CHARLESTON LARGE TYPE WAKEFIELD. 2d Earliest. SUCCESSION. The Earliest Flat Head Variety. AUGUSTA TRICKER. A little later than Succession. SHORT STEMMED FLAT DUTCH. Largest and Latest Cabbage.

TRADE MARK COPYRIGHTED

Paid in Capital Stock $30,000.00. Established 41 Years.

We grow the first FROST PROOF PLANTS in 1868. Now have over twenty thousand satisfied customers. We have grown and sold more cabbage plants than all other persons in the Southern states combined. WHY? Because our plants must please or we send your money back. Order now; it is time to set these plants in your section to get extra early cabbage, and they are the ones that sell for the most money.

We sow three tons of Cabbage Seed per season Also grow full line of Strawberry Plants, Fruit trees and ornamentals.

Write for free catalog of frost-proof plants of the best varieties, containing valuable information about fruit and vegetable growing. Prices on Cabbage Plants—In lots of 500 at $1.00; 1,000 to 5,000 $1.50 per thousand; 5,000 to 9,000 $1.25 per thousand; 10,000 and over $1.00 per thousand, f. o. b. Youngs Island. Our special express rate on plants is very low.

Wm. C. Geraty Co., Box 53 Youngs Island, S. C.

Remember the telephone!

Maybe, you are ready to sell your cotton, but can't afford to make the trip to town until you know what the cotton will bring.

For all you know, the price has gone down or up two cents a pound since you saw the report in your paper.

The telephone will save you that trip, and it will also save you in all likelihood anywhere from two to five dollars, perhaps ten dollars a bale.

Two events of this nature, or one, would pay for the telephone for twenty years.

Perhaps you are good to your family, and let the boys and girls have a little "social" every now and then.

Still, you can't afford to send the hired man around with the invitations and none of you can take his place as messenger.

Remember the telephone! It will do the summoning in half an hour, your boys and girls can go ahead with the day's work and their preparations with an easy mind and pleasant anticipations. Think about all these things, and then ask yourself whether you'd rather have an indifferent hired man—

Or the hired man of the telephone, who will work for you a year and much more efficiently, for the price poor labor would cost you two weeks.

A postal card will bring you full information. Address, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, 19 S. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

—New England's turkeys and small game are the victims of appendicitis. It is hoped that disease will not take off any turkeys down this way, since the prices are high enough now for this precious bird.

FREE RIFLE

This handsome 1000 Shot Rifle absolutely free to any boy who will send us 25 cents for one of our samples and give us a few hours of his spare time for one week. This rifle is great for Target practice, and is sure death to small game and rats. Address with 25 cents, stamps or money order.

Powers Specialty Co., Beloit, Wisconsin.

