The Mission of Duke University

The founding Indenture of Duke University directed the members of the university to "develop our resources, increase our wisdom, and promote human happiness."

To these ends, the mission of Duke University is to provide a superior liberal education to undergraduate students, attending not only to their intellectual growth but also to their development as adults committed to high ethical standards and full participation as leaders in their communities; to prepare future members of the learned professions for lives of skilled and ethical service by providing excellent graduate and professional education; to advance the frontiers of knowledge and contribute boldly to the international community of scholarship; to foster health and well-being through medical research and patient care; and to promote a sincere spirit of tolerance, a sense of the obligations and rewards of citizenship, and a commitment to learning, freedom, and truth.

By pursuing these objectives with vision and integrity, Duke University seeks to engage the mind, elevate the spirit, and stimulate the best effort of all who are associated with the university; to contribute in diverse ways to the local community, the state, the nation, and the world; and to attain and maintain a place of real leadership in all that we do.

The information in the bulletin applies to the academic year 2000-2001 and is accurate and current, to the best of our knowledge, as of May 2000. The university reserves the right to change programs of study, academic requirements, lecturers, teaching staffs, the announced university calendar, and other matters described in the bulletin without prior notice, in accordance with established procedures.

Duke University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, handicap, sexual orientation or preference, gender, or age in the administration of educational policies, admission policies, financial aid, employment, or any other university program or activity. It admits qualified students to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students.

Duke University recognizes and utilizes electronic mail as a medium for official communications. The university provides all students with e-mail accounts as well as access to e-mail services from public clusters if students do not have personal computers of their own. All students are expected to access their e-mail accounts on a regular basis to check for and respond as necessary to such communications, just as they currently do with paper/ postal service mail.

The Divinity School of Duke University seeks to cultivate, as Jean LeClercq's classic study of monastic education in the Middle Ages so aptly put it, a love of learning and desire for God. We do so in the conviction that the knowledge and the love of God are crucial for the effective formation of women and men for today's diverse ministries in the church and world, and for doctoral education in the university. The love of learning is integrally linked to the desire for God, whether it is in our studies in the classroom, our research and scholarship, or our reflection on our engagements with the world. We need to be learners who teach and teachers who learn in the context of a love for God.

The Divinity School opened in 1926 as the first of the graduate professional schools at Duke University. As a university divinity school, it is also one of the thirteen theological schools founded and supported by the United Methodist Church, which has been and continues to be central to the school's mission. Additionally, Duke Divinity School is a major ecumenical center by virtue of its Wesleyan tradition and its commitment to the catholicity of the church.

Together, students and faculty at Duke Divinity School seek to understand God and the Christian faith through a curriculum that encourages scholarly inquiry both within and beyond the classroom. The Divinity School is blessed by a strong faculty of distinguished teachers and scholars who shape the school's educational focus. These women and men from diverse traditions, disciplines, and interests are committed to providing intellectual leadership for the church, as well as significant contributions to the academy and the wider world.

A maxim from the Eastern Orthodox tradition teaches that "the person who prays is a true theologian and the true theologian is one who prays." In this spirit, the Divinity School is a community of worship. The church has long held that pursuit of knowledge is most faithful when it is formed by the praise of God. Christian worship directs attention to God, challenging our disordered desires by redirecting our loves to the One who alone can satisfy human yearnings. Worship is a practice that shapes and forms Christian identity and knowledge.

To cultivate a love of learning and desire for God, Christians must live the Christian faith in transformative service with, to, and for others. Such service is required by Scripture (e.g., Micah 6, Matthew 25). It also calls us to repentance for the ways in which our learning may be blinded by ideologies and other forms of self-deception. Through service, including both individual witness and broader social analyses and engagements, people cultivate habits that re-shape desire and re-orient knowledge. Our school provides opportunities for service through outstanding programs of field education in rural and urban churches, outreach ministries, hospitals, and other settings within Duke, in Durham and other communities in North Carolina, in the broader United States, and in settings around the world.

There is an urgent need in our world for men and women whose love of learning and desire for God is manifested in the faithful service of, with, and for God's people. We invite you to join our community of learning, worship, and transformative service as you seek to answer God's call to ministry.

L. Gregory Jones
Dean

History

Duke University began as a simple, one-room school house in rural Randolph County, North Carolina. Established as Union Institute by Quakers and Methodists in 1838, it became Normal College in 1851. Normal was reorganized as Trinity College in 1859, when the Methodist Church became a major financial supporter. In 1892 Trinity College moved to Durham, North Carolina.

In 1924 James B. Duke established a trust fund for educational and charitable purposes. The chief beneficiary, Trinity College, became Duke University. The purpose for establishing the trust was clear: "I have selected Duke University as one of the principal objects of this trust because I recognize that education, when conducted along sane and practical, as opposed to dogmatic and theoretical lines, is, next to religion, the greatest civilizing influence. . . . And I advise that the courses at this institution be arranged, first, with special reference to the training of preachers, teachers, lawyers, and physicians, because these are most in the public eye, and by precept and example can do most to uplift mankind." The School of Religion began its work in the academic year 1926-27, and formal exercises for its opening were held on November 9, 1926. In 1940 the name was changed to the Divinity School.

During its history, the Divinity School has had outstanding teachers, scholars, and administrative leaders. Since the founding of the school in 1926, the following persons have served as deans or acting deans: Edmund Davidson Soper, 1926-28; Elbert Russell, 1928-41; Paul Neff Garber, 1941-44; Harvie Branscomb, 1944-46; Gilbert T. Rowe, acting dean of the faculty, 1946-47; Paul E. Root (elected in 1947, but died before assuming office); Harold A. Bosley, 1947-50; James Cannon III, acting dean 1950-51, dean 1951-58; Robert Earl Cushman, 1958-71; Thomas A. Langford, 1971-81; Jameson Jones, 1981-82; Dennis M. Campbell, 1982-1997. The current dean, L. Gregory Jones, was installed on October 3, 1997.

Its graduates have distinguished themselves by making significant contributions to the church and the world.

The Role of the Divinity School

The Divinity School represents theological inquiry and learning within the greater university. By history and indenture, it stands within the Christian tradition, mindful of its distinctive lineage in and its continuing obligation to the United Methodist Church. The Divinity School, although United Methodist in tradition and dependency, receives students from many Christian denominations and offers its educational resources to representatives of the several communions who seek an education for church-related ministry. From its inception, it has been ecumenical in aspiration, teaching, and practice, as well as in its faculty. Educational policy has consistently aspired to foster a Christian understanding "truly catholic, truly evangelical, and truly reformed."

The principal purpose of the Divinity School is the professional education for the ministry, which in today's world is manifested in a variety of forms. Although the conventional and inherited styles of ministry are now undergoing change, the Divinity School curriculum continues to prepare students for informed and discriminating exercise of the church's historic offices through the ministry of word, sacrament, order, service, pastoral care, and teaching. The Divinity School believes these offices will remain, although the form and context of the local church may change.

With this in mind, the Divinity School tries to prepare students for the mature performance of their vocation. It hopes to develop in each graduate a disciplined intelligence, informed by sound learning and equipped for worthy professional service. Its resources are offered to students with a diversity of ministerial aims, although the school seeks, by recruitment and financial support, to prepare persons for ordination or lay professional vocations in the churches. In all its endeavors, the Divinity School aims to serve Jesus Christ through service to the church and the world.

The Relation of the Divinity School to Duke University

The Divinity School is an integral part of the university and shares fully in its activities, privileges, and responsibilities. The Sunday services in the university chapel give Divinity School students each year an opportunity to hear several of the country's leading preachers. The university libraries make a rich collection of books and other materials easily accessible. Without additional fees, selected courses in the graduate and professional schools are open to Divinity School students, as well as the general, cultural, and recreational resources of the university.

Divinity School Library

The Divinity School Library contains a collection of more than 328,000 volumes in the fields of religion and related disciplines and affords a wealth of material for the seminary student. An integral part of the university's library system, which possesses more than 4,865,000 volumes, the Divinity School Library has newly renovated facilities within the Divinity School building. The library currently subscribes to over 650 religious periodicals, offers study facilities for students in its reading rooms, and houses a reference collection in religion. Although some of the library's collection is now stored off-site, the core and vast majority of the collection can still be browsed within the library's open stacks.

Staffed by the library director, reference librarian, and electronic services librarian trained in both theology and library science, by two circulation managers, and by a number of student assistants, the Divinity School Library offers a variety of services to assist the student in selecting and locating information. The book, microform, and periodical collections are carefully chosen to support basic course work as well as advanced research in all major fields of religious studies.

The Divinity School Library offers a wide variety of computerized resources, including an online catalog and other databases available through the web as well as an array of specialized CD-ROM databases in religion. The library's web page www.lib.duke.edu/divinity, contains information about services and electronic resources, links to web sites in religion, and online forms for interlibrary loan, reference questions, and more. A computer classroom with ten work stations, connected to the Internet, is available for student use in the library. The library also provides power and network connections for laptop computer use.

The seminary student may also use the resources and facilities of all other Duke libraries, including extensive electronic resources, public documents, maps, periodicals, newspapers, microforms, and special collections (within which are ninety-eight prized ancient Greek manuscripts). Students may arrange to borrow in person from the other libraries of the Triangle Research Library Network (North Carolina Central University, North Carolina State University, and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill).

Center for Studies in the Wesleyan Tradition

The Center for Studies in the Wesleyan Tradition was founded in 1979 and is supported by a permanent endowment of the Divinity School. The center supports a wide variety of programs designed to advance teaching, research, and publication in Wesleyan history and theology.

Library. The Baker Collection of Wesley and Methodist materials, housed in both the Divinity School Library and the Special Collections Library, is one of the two largest and finest such collections extant. The late Professor Frank Baker was the world's foremost authority on John Wesley and was editor emeritus of the bicentennial edition of Wesley's works, a project based at Duke Divinity School. The Baker Methodist Research Center in the newly renovated Divinity School Library celebrates the lives of Frank Baker and his wife, Nellie Baker.

Visiting Professors. The center brings distinguished visiting professors to teach in the Divinity School.

Visiting Scholars. The center makes research grants to scholars from around the world to work for various periods of time in the Divinity School.

Visiting Lecturers. The center has an extensive program of visiting lecturers that exposes students and faculty of the Divinity School to leading figures in the Wesleyan tradition from throughout the world. Most recently these included: Professor Peder Borgen, University of Trondheim, Norway; Dr. Manfred Marquardt, the Methodist Theological Seminary, Reutlingen, Germany; Ruediger Minor, bishop of the Eurasia Area, Moscow, Russia; the Reverend Helmut Nausner, district superintendent, Vienna, Austria; Professor Norman Young, Queens College, the University of Melbourne, Australia; and Walter Klaiber, bishop of Frankfurt, Germany.

Publications. The center is committed to a program of scholarly publication. In 1983, support was given for preparation of a reader in theology in the Wesleyan tradition that was published in 1984. The center recently translated Theologie in Hymnen, a study by Teresa Berger of Charles Wesley's hymnody. Professor Richard Heitzenrater directs the Wesley Works Project, a thirty-five volume collection of John Wesley's writings.

Faculty Committee. Divinity School faculty related to the center include Richard Heitzenrater, Geoffrey Wainwright, Karen Westerfield Tucker, and L. Gregory Jones, dean and chairman.

Faculty

Amy Laura Hall, Assistant Professor of Theological Ethics

Faculty

The faculty of Duke University Divinity School is regarded as one of the world's strongest theological faculties. The faculty is committed to excellence in teaching, research, publication, and service to the Church, the university, and the wider community. The Duke faculty is particularly well-known for its strong commitment to the Church and its ministry. The faculty is diverse, including persons who come from all over the United States and the world. Virtually all major Christian traditions are represented, and identity with specific communities within the Christian tradition is taken seriously by faculty members. Because of its distinguished faculty, the Divinity School is an international center for research and publication in the theological disciplines and for reflection on the practice of ministry.

Faculty Biographical Information

David Aers, James B. Duke Professor of English and Professor of Historical Theology. D. Phil. (University of York)

Dr. Aers works especially on late medieval and early modern literature, religion, and culture in England. His publications in this area include Piers Plowman and Christian Allegory (Arnold, 1975), Chaucer, Langland and the Creative Imagination (Routledge, 1980), Chaucer (Harvester, 1983), Community, Gender and Individual Identity, 1360-1430 (Routledge, 1988), and two edited volumes, Medieval Literature: Criticism, Ideology, History (Harvester, 1986), and Culture and History, 1350-1600 (Wayne State, 1992). Powers of the Holy was published by Penn State in September 1996. He is currently director of the Center of Medieval and Renaissance Studies at Duke University. He has just completed a book on Faith, Ethics, Church: Writing in England, 1360-1409 (Brewer, 2000).

Lewis Ayres, Assistant Professor of Christian Theology. M.A. (St. Andrews University), D.Phil. (Oxford University).

Dr. Ayres publishes on and researches in the fields of both patristic and modern theology. In the patristic area he works on Augustine and on wider questions concerning Trinitarian theology in the fourth and fifth centuries. In modern theology he is particularly interested in recent Trinitarian theology and questions of theological method and theological exegesis. Before coming to Duke, Dr. Ayres was Lecturer in Christian Doctrine at Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland. He has published articles in a wide range of scholarly journals and has edited two collections of essays, most recently Christian Origins: Theology, Rhetoric and Community. He is also editor of the forthcoming The Trinity: Classical and Contemporary Readings and is currently finishing a book entitled Augustine's Trinitarian Theology. Dr. Ayres is co-editor of the forthcoming Cambridge History of Early Christian Literature and of the monograph series Challenges in Contemporary Theology (Blackwell Publishers).

Michael Battle, Assistant Professor of Spirituality and Black Church Studies, B.A., Ph.D. (Duke University), M.Div. (Princeton University), S.T.M. (Yale University).

A priest in the Episcopal Church, Michael Battle has taught spirituality and moral theology since 1995 at University of the South's School of Theology. He is the author of Reconciliation: The Ubuntu Theology of Desmond Tutu (1997) and is currently at work on A Christian Spirituality of Non-Violence, in consultation with Arun Gandhi, the grandson of Mahatma Gandhi. He has worked as an inner city chaplain with Tony Campolo Ministries, and overseas in Uganda and Kenya with the Plowshares Institute. A participant and worship committee member of the Seventh Assembly of the World Council of Churches, he has served on its central committees in Geneva and Johannesburg. A research fellow in residence with Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Dr.

Battle was ordained by the Archbishop in Cape Town, South Africa. He holds certification in spiritual direction from the Shalem Institute.

Teresa M. Berger, Associate Professor of Ecumenical Theology. L.Th. (St. John's College, Nottingham, England); M.Th., Dipl. theol. (University of Mainz, Germany); Dr. theol. (University of Heidelberg); Dr. theol. habil. (University of Münster).

Professor Berger's academic interests lie at the intersection of ecumenical, liturgical, and feminist theology. She has published research on such subjects as the hymns of Charles Wesley, ecumenical readings of the Scriptures, and gender analysis and liturgical history. She has taught theology at the Universities of Mainz, Münster, and Berlin (Germany). Her current teaching focuses on World Christianity, particularly liberation and feminist theologies from the Third World. Professor Berger is a Roman Catholic from Germany.

Jackson Carroll, Ruth W. and A. Morris Williams Jr., Professor of Religion and Society and Director of the J. M. Ormond Center, B.A. (Wofford College), B.D. (Duke University), Ph.D. (Princeton Theological Seminary), D.D. (Wofford College).

Dr. Carroll is known for using sociological methods to aid the church's understanding of its relation to society. An ordained United Methodist minister, Carroll served a Methodist chaplaincy at Duke University from 1961 to 1965, taught at Emory University and Hartford Seminary, and is a member of the Western North Carolina Conference. Dr. Carroll's scholarship encompasses five distinct, yet related, areas of research: congregational studies, the nature and practice of ministry, women in ministry, mainline Protestantism, and theological education. He is currently directing a major project focused on strengthening the quality of pastoral leadership. His numerous books and articles, many of which are collaborations with other authorities in the field, illustrate his focus on these concerns. Dr. Carroll is the author of several books that have influenced local congregations and scholars, including As One with Authority, Women of the Cloth, Being There: Culture and Formation in Two Theological Schools, Studying Congregations: A New Handbook, and Mainline to the Future: Congregations for the 21st Century.

James L. Crenshaw, Robert L. Flowers Professor of Old Testament. B.A. (Furman University); B.D. (Southern Baptist Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Vanderbilt University); D.D. (Furman University).

Professor Crenshaw's academic interests are in literary and theological interpretations of the Hebrew Bible. He teaches courses on biblical theology, wisdom and prophetic literature, prayer in the Old Testament, narrative art in the Hebrew Bible, the problem of evil, Job, Ecclesiastes, Proverbs, and introduction to the literature and history of ancient Israel. Among his publications are Prophetic Conflict, Samson, A Whirlpool of Torment, Ecclesiastes, and Story and Faith. His most recent works include Joel, Urgent Advice and Probing Questions, Sirach, and Education in Ancient Israel. His book Old Testament Wisdom: An Introduction, originally published in 1981, appeared in a revised and enlarged edition in 1998. A former editor of the Society of Biblical Literature monograph series, he currently edits a series, Personalities of the Old Testament. A Baptist minister, he has been active in Baptist and Christian (Disciples of Christ) churches for more than three decades.

James Michael Efird, Professor of Biblical Interpretation. A.B. (Davidson College); M.Div. (Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Duke University).

Having served on the Duke Divinity School faculty since 1962, Professor Efird has concentrated on making biblical scholarship understandable and useful for men and women preparing primarily for parish ministry. In addition, he has taken this approach to the laity of the Church in many different denominations. Professor Efird's teaching, research, and writing cover the broad spectrum of both the Old and the New Testaments and are reflected in thirteen books and in over fifty articles in various journals and Bible dictionaries. Among his books are New Testament Writings and Revelation for Today.

Mary McClintock Fulkerson, Associate Professor of Theology. B.M. (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill); M.Div. (Duke University); Ph.D. (Vanderbilt University).

Professor McClintock Fulkerson's primary teaching interests are contemporary Protestant theology, authority in theology, and feminist theologies. Her work is published in journals such as Journal of the American Academy of Religion, the Journal of Feminist Studies in Religion, and Modern Theology. Her recent book, Changing the Subject: Women's Discourses and Feminist Theology, examines the liberating practices of feminist academics and non-feminist church women. Her current work is on the ecclesial practices that enable resistance to racism and other contemporary forms of social brokenness. An ordained minister in the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), Professor McClintock Fulkerson has been involved in national ecclesiastical bodies and was the recent chair of New Hope Presbytery's Task Force on Human Sexuality.

Amy Laura Hall, Assistant Professor of Theological Ethics. B.A. (Emory University); M.Div. (Yale University); Ph.D. (Yale University).

Professor Hall's interests include the retrieval of traditional Christian texts for moral discernment, feminist and Christian medical ethics, and Kierkegaard studies. In her forthcoming book, Treacherous Intimacy: Fallen and Faithful Engagements in Kierkegaard's Writing, Hall describes Kierkegaard's account of interpersonal sin, including his indictment of our predatory interest in and appraisal of others. In her applied ethics she focuses on humanity's exploitation of the vulnerable, writing against domestic violence, active euthanasia, selective abortion, and the use of children in medical research. Her scholarly articles appear in the Society of Christian Ethics Annual, The Journal of Religious Ethics, and Modern Theology. As an ordained pastor in the United Methodist Church she has served both inner-city and suburban parishes.

Stanley M. Hauerwas, Gilbert T. Rowe Professor of Theological Ethics. B.A. (Southwestern University); B.D., M.A., M.Phil., Ph.D. (Yale University); D.D. (University of Edinburgh).

Professor Hauerwas teaches theological ethics. He has sought to recover the significance of the virtues for understanding the nature of the Christian life. This search has led him to emphasize the importance of the church, as well as narrative, for understanding Christian existence. His work cuts across disciplinary lines as he is in conversation with systematic theology, philosophical theology and ethics, political theory, as well as the philosophy of social science and medical ethics. Of his many books, perhaps the best known are The Peaceable Kingdom, A Community of Character, Suffering Presence, and (with Will Willimon) Resident Aliens: Life in the Christian Colony. His most recent books are Christians Among the Virtues, Wilderness Wanderings: Probing Twentieth Century Theology, and Sanctify Them In the Truth: Holiness Exemplified. He lectures widely to church and academic audiences, but his work clearly indicates that his fundamental interest is in the upbuilding of moral discourse within the contemporary Christian community. Dr. Hauerwas has been named to the prestigious Gifford Lectureship at the University of St. Andrews, Scotland for the year 2000-2001.

Richard B. Hays, Professor of New Testament. B.A. (Yale University); M.Div. (Yale University); Ph.D. (Emory University).

Professor Hays, who is noted for his work on Pauline theology and New Testament ethics, has focused attention on the theologically innovative ways in which the New Testament writers employed Israel's Scripture. He is the author of The Moral Vision of the New Testament: Community, Cross, New Creation; Echoes of Scripture in the Letters of Paul; The Faith of Jesus Christ; and First Corinthians (Interpretation Commentary). He has also published numerous articles and reviews in scholarly journals. He formerly chaired the Pauline Epistles Section of the Society of Biblical Literature, and he has served on the editorial boards of the Journal of Biblical Literature and New Testament Studies. Currently, he is a member of the editorial board of the Zeitschrift für die neutestamentliche Wissenschaft, and he is co-convenor of the Consultation on Teaching the Bible in the Twenty-First Century, sponsored by Lilly Endowment. Professor Hays is an ordained United Methodist minister in the North Georgia Conference.

Richard Heitzenrater, William Kellon Quick Professor of Church History and Wesley Studies, B.A., B.D., Ph.D., (Duke University).

Dr. Heitzenrater is acknowledged as the major Wesley scholar of his generation. Best known for his discovery of the "key" to Wesley's Oxford diaries, Heitzenrater's breakthrough illuminates the importance of the Oxford period for Wesley's life and work and continues to shape the course of Wesley studies. Professor Heitzenrater is general editor and director of the Wesley Works Project, an international publishing venture that has yielded fifteen of an intended thirty-five volumes on Wesley's writings. Professor Heitzenrater's own contribution to the Wesley Works Project is his edition of seven volumes for the Journals and Diaries, important tools for general historians of the eighteenth century. Heitzenrater is author of Diary of an Oxford Methodist: Benjamin Ingham, 1733-1734; the two-volume The Elusive Mr. Wesley: Mirror and Memory: Reflections on Early Methodism; and Wesley and the People Called Methodist.

T. Furman Hewitt, Director of Baptist House of Studies. B.A. (Furman University); B.D., Th.M., Th.D. (Southern Baptist Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Duke University).

Dr. Hewitt joined the Divinity School in 1992 as a visiting professor of Baptist studies and director of the Baptist House of Studies at Duke. Before coming to Duke, he taught Christian ethics at Southeastern Baptist Seminary from 1976-1992. His experience as pastor and professor provides a strong foundation for his role as a mentor and educator in Baptist polity. He also assists with field education and job placement. He continues to serve as interim pastor in area churches.

Reinhard Hütter, Associate Professor of Christian Theology. M.Div.equiv. (Evangelical Lutheran Church of Bavaria, Germany), Th.M. (Duke University), Dr. theol. (University of Erlangen), Dr. theol. habil. (University of Erlangen)

Professor Hütter joined the Divinity School faculty after teaching at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago from 1990-1999. He teaches systematic theology. In his recent work he has sought to bridge between contemporary queries and classical commitments, between European and North American theologies, and between divided church traditions. The author of two scholarly books and numerous articles, reviews, and translations, he has also co-edited three books. His most recent book was published in English with the title Suffering Diverse Things: Theology as Church Practice. He was awarded the Henry Luce III Fellowship and was also accepted as a research fellow at the Center of Theological Inquiry at Princeton, where he will work on his next book, Freeing Freedom—Remembering the (Natural) Law. A member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Professor Hütter has served on task forces of the Evangelical Church in America and of the Lutheran World Federation.

Willie J. Jennings, Associate Dean for Academic Programs and Assistant Research Professor of Theology and Black Church Studies. B.A. (Calvin College); M.Div. (Fuller Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Duke University).

Dr. Jennings teaches in the areas of systematic theology and black church and cultural studies. The author of numerous articles, his research interests include these areas as well as liberation theologies, cultural identities, and anthropology. Dr. Jennings is a native of Grand Rapids, Michigan. An ordained Baptist minister, Professor Jennings has served as interim pastor of several North Carolina churches and continues to be an active teaching and preaching minister in the local church.

L. Gregory Jones, Dean of the Divinity School and Professor of Theology. B.A., M.P.A. (University of Denver); M.Div., Ph.D. (Duke University).

Dean L. Gregory Jones is a theologian whose work centers on the nature of forgiveness, and how Christians can appropriate the Christian faith to live lives of transformative service. Dr. Jones is known for teaching that fosters students' imaginations to explore the implications of theology for everyday life, for research that promotes interdisciplinary conversation among scholars, and for commitment to ecumenical dialogue. The author of three scholarly books and more than eighty articles, he has also co-edited four books. His most recent book, Embodying Forgiveness, was named an Outstanding Book of 1995 by both Christianity Today and The Academy of Parish Clergy. In addition, Dr. Jones is the co-editor of Modern Theology, a scholarly journal published by Blackwells Publishers in Oxford, England. He is also an active contributor to popular publications; his reviews, opinion-editorials, and other articles have appeared in The Christian Century, Christianity Today, and various newspapers. Dean Jones and his wife, the Rev. Susan Pendleton Jones, have written "Adult Bible Studies" for the United Methodist Publishing House. Prior to his arrival at Duke, Dr. Jones was chair of the theology department at Loyola College in Maryland, where he was cited, in 1995, by the Catholic Review as among "Teachers Who Make A Difference." He is an ordained elder in the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Susan A. Keefe, Associate Professor of Church History. B.A. (University of Pennsylvania); M.A., Ph.D. (University of Toronto).

A church historian and specialist in the study of Carolingian manuscripts, Professor Keefe has taught at Duke since 1988. Her work over the past ten years has involved texts on baptism and the creeds, especially as they relate to the instruction of the clergy. She has travelled extensively throughout Europe, visiting remote libraries, churches, and monasteries to study original manuscripts. Her book, Water and the Word—Baptism and the Instruction of the Clergy in the Carolingian Empire: A Study of Texts and Manuscripts, is forthcoming from the University of Notre Dame Press.

Elizabeth C. LaRocca-Pitts, Assistant Professor of Old Testament. B.A. (Duke University); M.Div. (Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Harvard University).

Dr. LaRocca-Pitts has special areas of interest in the study of ancient Israelite religion and the intersection of the biblical text with the archaeological record. Her doctoral dissertation, "Of Wood and Stone," a study of biblical views toward standing stones, sacred trees, and other cultic objects, is forthcoming in the Harvard Semitic Monographs Series. An ordained elder in the North Georgia conference of the United Methodist Church, Dr. LaRocca-Pitts has held diverse appointments including a rural four-point charge, an inner-city youth agency, and an associateship at a 2,000 member church.

John R. Levison, Associate Professor of the Practice of Biblical Interpretation. B.A. (Wheaton College); B.A., M.A. (Cambridge University); Ph.D. (Duke University).

Professor Levison's research and teaching recognizes the religious vitality of early Judaism and acknowledges the insights of contextual biblical interpretation in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. His books on early Judaism include Portraits of Adam in Early Judaism, Josephus' Contra Apionem: Studies in its Character and Context, edited with Louis H. Feldman, The Spirit in First Century Judaism, and Of Two Minds: Ecstasy and Inspired Interpretation in the New Testament World. With Priscilla Pope-Levison, he is the author of Jesus in Global Contexts and editor of Return to Babel: Global Perspectives on the Bible, which was published in 1999.

Richard Lischer, James T. and Alice Mead Cleland Professor of Preaching. B.A. (Concordia Senior College); M.A. (Washington University); B.D. (Concordia Seminary); Ph.D. (University of London).

A native of St. Louis, Professor Lischer's graduate theological training is in systematic theology. He is an ordained minister in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and has nine years of pastoral experience in rural and suburban settings. He teaches in the areas of homiletics and ministry. In his scholarly work, Dr. Lischer has sought to portray proclamation as an integrated theological activity. He has published and lectured widely in the areas of theology, ministry, and preaching. He has held many distinguished lectureships, including the Lyman Beecher Lectures at Yale Divinity School. His earliest book is a study of Christian anthropology, Marx and Teilhard: Two Ways to the New Humanity. A Theology of Preaching and Theories of Preaching deal with the theological and rhetorical bases of preaching. Speaking of Jesus reflects his parish experiences with grassroots evangelism. His award-winning book The Preacher King: Martin Luther King, Jr. and the Word that Moved America is a study of Martin Luther King as a preacher. He is also the co-editor of the Concise Encyclopedia of Preaching.

Roger L. Loyd, Professor of the Practice of Theological Bibliography. B.A. (McMurry College); M.Th. (Southern Methodist University); M.L.S. (North Texas State University).

A recent member of the board of directors and past president of the American Theological Library Association, Professor Loyd is known as a librarian who seeks to complement the building of an excellent library collection with the intelligent and fiscally responsible use of technology. An elder in the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, Loyd has served pastoral and campus ministry appointments, and prior to his Duke appointment, he was associate librarian and assistant professor of theological bibliography for twelve years at Perkins School of Theology (SMU). He is the editor of A History of the Perkins School of Theology by Lewis Howard Grimes.

W. Joseph Mann, Adjunct Professor of Parish Work. B.A.. (University of North Carolina), M.Div., S.T.M. (Yale University).

Joseph Mann has been with the Rural Church Division of The Duke Endowment since 1989, serving as director since July 1996. As director of the Rural Church Division, he is responsible for making requests to the trustees of The Duke Endowment from eligible beneficiaries. Many of the grants made through the Rural Church Division are made to Duke Divinity School or to students in the school who serve as student pastors or as assistant pastors in rural United Methodist churches in North Carolina. Prior to joining the Endowment staff, Mann was director of continuing education at Duke Divinity School. Earlier he served as United Methodist campus minister and director of the Wesley Foundation at North Carolina State University, and as associate minister at Wesley Memorial United Methodist Church in Wilmington. He is immediate past president of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

Keith G. Meador, Professor of the Practice of Pastoral Theology and Medicine, B.A. (Vanderbilt University); M.D. (University of Louisville); Th.M. (Duke University); M.P.H. (University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill).

A physician and board certified psychiatrist, Dr. Meador has served on the faculties of the School of Medicine and Divinity School at Vanderbilt University and Duke University. His joint appointment in the Divinity School and the School of Medicine builds on his clinical, research, and teaching background in religion and psychiatry. The confluence of his training in public health, aging and human development, and theology has led to numerous publications and national presentations regarding religion, aging, and mental health. He lectures regularly to groups in the Christian community regarding mental health, pastoral care, and the Church. He serves as the director of the Duke Institute on Care at the End of Life and the Theology and Medicine program at the Divinity School. He is an active member of the Episcopal Church.

Carlton P. Minnick, Jr., Bishop-in-Residence, B.A. (Lynchburg College); B.D., Th.M., (Union Theological Seminary, Virginia); D.D. (Randolph-Macon College, Millsaps College, Rust College, N.C. Wesleyan College, and Methodist College).

Bishop Minnick came to Duke Divinity School as bishop-in-residence after serving sixteen years as an active bishop in the United Methodist Church. For twenty-nine years, prior to his election to the episcopacy in 1980, he was an elder in the Virginia Annual Conference, where he served as a pastor and district superintendent. As bishop-in-residence, he is available for counsel and consultation with students, faculty, and staff. Bishop Minnick serves as leader of one of the spiritual formation groups and shares teaching responsibilities in Twentieth Century Methodism: History, Theology and Polity in the spring semester.

Priscilla Pope-Levison, Assistant Professor of the Practice of Evangelism and the Royce and Jane Reynolds Teaching Scholar. B.Mus. (DePauw University); M.Div. (Duke University); Ph.D. (University of St. Andrews).

Dr. Pope-Levison's research in evangelism focuses on bringing diverse voices into conversation with evangelism. Her book, Evangelization from a Liberation Perspective, was selected by the International Bulletin of Missionary Research as one of 15 outstanding books for mission studies in 1991. She is presently engaged in a study of women evangelists in the Progressive Era, 1890-1920. In addition, she writes in the area of contextual theology along with her spouse, John R. Levison. Together they have published Jesus in Global Contexts and Return to Babel: Global Perspectives on the Bible.

Jefferson Powell, Professor of Law and Divinity, jointly with the Law School. B.A. (St. David's University College in Wales); M.Div., J.D. (Yale University); A.M., Ph.D. (Duke University).

Professor Powell's teaching and research interests in the Divinity School are in Christian theological ethics and in the theological interpretation of contemporary society. His publications include three books, Languages of Power (1991), The Moral Tradition of American Constitutionalism: A Theological Interpretation (1993), and The Constitution and the Attorneys General (1999). His most recent theological work is a chapter on "The Earthly Peace of the Liberal Republic" that will appear in a forthcoming collection of writings by Christian lawyers. Powell is a lay member of the Episcopal Church and a parishioner at the Chapel of the Cross in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

J. Deotis Roberts, Research Professor of Theology. A.B., L.H.D. (Johnson C. Smith University), B.D. (Shaw University School of Religion); B.D., S.T.M. (Hartford Seminary), Ph.D., Litt.D. (University of Edinburgh), D.D. (Interdenominational Theological Center).

A Baptist preacher who is known for his formative influence on two generations of theologians, including James Cone, Robert Franklin, and Dwight Hopkins, Dr. Roberts is the author of thirteen books and more than one hundred essays. He has served as president of the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, the dean of Virginia Union Theological Seminary, and of Georgia Baptist College. At Howard Divinity School, where he was also professor of theology, he was editor of Journal of Religious Thought. Committed to ecumenical, cross-cultural and inter-religious work, he was the founder and president of the Foundation for Religious and Education Exchange (1984-94). Dr. Roberts was Distinguished Professor of Philosophical Theology at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has served as director of several national and international organizations including Albert Schweitzer Fellowship, the Lanten Booklet of COCU, the M.L. King, Jr. Center, the Ecumenical and Cultural Institute, and the International Bonhoeffer Society (English Language Section). He is a member of the American Theological Society of the American Academy of Religion, the Society of Biblical Literature, and the Christian Ethics Society. He served as president of the American Theological Society and is a founding member of the Society for the Study of Black Religion. He has been a visiting professor at many universities including International Baptist Seminary in Argentina, Claremont Graduate School of Theology, Swarthmore College, and Yale, Tübingen and Edinburgh universities. He has researched, preached and lectured globally.

Valerie B. Rosenquist, Adjunct Assistant Professor of Parish Work and Associate Director of the Duke Endowment Rural Church Division. B.A. (LeMoyne College); M.Div., Ph.D. (Duke University).

Valerie Rosenquist has been with the Rural Church Division of The Duke Endowment since 1996, serving as associate director. In this capacity, she is responsible for making grant requests to the trustees of The Duke Endowment from eligible beneficiaries. Many of the grants are made to Duke Divinity School, or to students in the school who serve as student pastors in rural United Methodist churches in their building programs and in outreach ministries. Prior to joining the endowment staff, Rosenquist was pastor of a rural church and taught history at North Carolina State University. She is author of The Iron Ore Eaters: A Portrait of the Mining Community of Moriah, NY (Garland Press).

Dwight Moody Smith, George Washington Ivey Professor of New Testament. B.A. (Davidson College); B.D. (Duke University); M.A., Ph.D. (Yale University); Litt. D. (Davidson College).

Professor Smith's Composition and Order of the Fourth Gospel appeared in 1965, marking the beginning of a career-long interest in the Gospel and Epistles of John. His more recent contributions have included First, Second, and Third John (1991), John among the Gospels (1992), The Theology of the Gospel of John (1995) and a commentary John in the Abingdon New Testament Commentaries Series (1999). His textbook, with Robert A. Spivey, Anatomy of the New Testament (1969), is currently in its fifth, revised edition (1995). Professor Smith is also editor of the series Studies in Personalities of the New Testament. An elder in the South Carolina Annual Conference, he has been a fellow of Lilly Endowment and the Guggenheim Foundation, as well as the Center of Theological Inquiry at Princeton. From 1960 to 1965, he taught at the Methodist Theological School in Ohio.

David C. Steinmetz, Amos Ragan Kearns Professor of the History of Christianity. B.A. (Wheaton College); B.D. (Drew University); Th.D. (Harvard University).

Professor Steinmetz is a specialist in the history of Christianity in the later Middle Ages and Reformation. Before coming to Duke in 1971, he taught at Lancaster Theological Seminary of the United Church of Christ. He has been a visiting professor at Harvard University and at the University of Notre Dame as well as a Guggenheim Fellow at Cambridge University and a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellow at the Herzog August Bibliothek in Wolfenbüttel, Germany. He has written numerous books and articles in his field, including Luther and Staupitz, Luther in Context, and Calvin in Context, and serves as the general editor of the series, Oxford Studies in Historical Theology. He is currently writing a book for Oxford entitled, Divided by a Common Past: Christian Thought in Reformation Europe. He is a United Methodist minister and a former president of the American Society of Church History.

Peter Storey, Professor of the Practice of Christian Ministry. B.A. (Rhodes University); L.L.D. (Albion College); D.D. (Ohio Wesleyan University).

Professor Storey is former president of the Methodist Church of Southern Africa, past president of the South African Council of Churches, and was Methodist Bishop of the Johannesburg/Soweto area for thirteen years. A native South African, he was a national leader in the church struggle against apartheid, and is no stranger to arrest and threats on his life. In 1984, he co-led an ecumenical delegation to the United Nations, the U.S. Congress and Europe, urging intensified pressure on the apartheid regime. Committed to non-violence, Professor Storey co-chaired the regional Peace Accord structures intervening in political violence before South Africa's first democratic elections. Later, President Nelson Mandela appointed him to help select the nation's Truth and Reconciliation Commission. Specializing in urban ministry, he has served as director of a 24-hour crisis intervention service in Sydney, Australia, and senior minister of the Inter-City Methodist Mission in District Six, Cape Town, and the Central Methodist Mission in Johannesburg. In the 1960s, Professor Storey served as Mandela's prison chaplain on Robben Island. He has authored many publications and was a weekly columnist for South Africa's Sunday Independent, a national newspaper. He presented the Franklin S. Hickman Lectures at Convocation & Pastors' School at Duke Divinity School in 1987.

James L. Travis III, Clinical Professor of Pastoral Care. B.A. (Mississippi College); B.D., Th.M. (Southern Baptist Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Emory University).

Professor Travis' clinical and academic interests have combined over thirty-five years of pastoral care and education in psychiatric and general hospitals. Earlier publications address issues such as liturgical worship in a psychiatric hospital and New Testament implications for pastoral care and counseling. Certified as a chaplain supervisor by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, he is interested in the formation and development of persons in the pastoral role, medical ethics, and pastoral care. His research interests include the relationship of pastoral care to health care and the measurement of objectives in CPE programs. Dr. Travis is chaplain to Duke University Hospital and director of pastoral services at Duke University Medical Center.

Karen B. Westerfield Tucker, Assistant Professor of Liturgics. B.A. (Emory and Henry College); M.Div. (Duke University); M.A., Ph.D. (University of Notre Dame).

An elder in the United Methodist Church, Dr. Westerfield Tucker has served as a local church pastor and as a campus minister in the Illinois Great Rivers Conference. She is also a trained musician and has served as a church organist and choir director. Her academic interests include Methodist liturgical history and theology, the pastoral dimensions of the liturgy, and hymnody. She is an assistant editor for the ecumenical and international journal Studia Liturgica and is on the editorial board for the Proceedings of the North American Academy of Liturgy. She commissioned and compiled The Sunday Service of the Methodists: Twentieth-Century Worship in Worldwide Methodism (1996), and is the author of American Methodist Worship (Oxford University Press, 2000). A member of the World Methodist Council, she is the chairperson of the Council's Worship and Liturgy Committee.

William C. Turner, Jr., Associate Professor of the Practice of Homiletics. B.S., M.Div., Ph.D. (Duke University).

Professor Turner's ongoing work focuses on pneumatology and the tradition of spirituality and preaching within the black church. Articles on "Black Evangelicalism," "The Musicality of Black Preaching," and "The Black Church and the Ecumenical Tradition" reflect his teaching and writing interests. He taught in the areas of theology and Black Church Studies and directed the Office of Black Church Affairs prior to his appointment in homiletics. Professor Turner travels widely as a preacher and lecturer and is actively involved in local church and community activities. Dr. Turner held positions within Duke University in student affairs and African-American Studies before joining the Divinity School faculty.

Grant Wacker, Associate Professor of the History of Religion in America. B.A. (Stanford University); Ph.D. (Harvard University).

Grant Wacker joined the Divinity School faculty after teaching in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill from 1977-1992. An exceptional scholar and writer, he has pioneered studies of evangelical and pentecostal Christianity. He is the author of Augustus H. Strong and the Dilemma of Historical Consciousness and Religion in Nineteenth Century America. He is at work on two new books: A monograph to be called Heaven Below: Pentecostals and American Culture, 1900-1925; and a survey textbook of American religious history with Harry S. Stout and Randall Balmer to be published by Oxford University Press.

Geoffrey Wainwright, Robert Earl Cushman Professor of Christian Theology. B.A., M.A., B.D., D.D. (University of Cambridge); Dr. Theol. (University of Geneva).

A minister of the British Methodist Church, Dr. Wainwright taught theology in Cameroon, West Africa (1967-73), Birmingham, England (1973-79), and Union Theological Seminary, New York (1979-83). He has held visiting professorships at the University of Notre Dame, the Gregorian University in Rome, and the Uniting Faculty of Theology in Melbourne, Australia. He is author of Eucharist and Eschatology, of Doxology, of Worship With One Accord, and of For Our Salvation: Two Approaches to the Work of Christ, and an editor of The Study of Liturgy and The Study of Spirituality. He was a member of the Faith and Order Commission of the World Council of Churches and currently chairs the international dialogue between the World Methodist Council and the Roman Catholic Church. His churchly interests are reflected in his books, The Ecumenical Moment and Methodists in Dialogue. President of the international Societas Liturgica in 1983-85 and of the American Theological Society in 1996-97, he was honored by the publication of Ecumenical Theology in Worship, Doctrine and Life: Essays Presented to Geoffrey Wainwright on his Sixtieth Birthday (1999). He teaches across the entire range of Christian doctrine and is particularly interested in the truth claims of faith and theology.

Brett Webb-Mitchell, Assistant Professor of Christian Nurture. B.Mus.Th. (University of Kansas); M.Div. (Princeton Theological Seminary); Th.M. (Harvard University); Ph.D. (University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill).

Professor Webb-Mitchell's teaching interest has focused on the practices of educating Christians, practices which are theologically, biblically, historically, and theoretically laden. Ordained a minister in the Presbyterian Church (USA), he has worked in various church settings, as well as in diverse circumstances with people with disabilities. Along with numerous articles that have been published, he has also published three books on the church and people with disabilities, God Plays Piano, Too: The Spiritual Lives of Disabled Children; Unexpected Guests at God's Banquet: Welcoming People with Disabilities into the Church; and Dancing with Disabilities (1996). He is currently working on a book project, Christly Gesture, soon to be published.

Daphne A. Wiggins, Assistant Professor of Congregational Studies; B.A. (Eastern College); M.Div. (Eastern Theological Seminary); Ph.D. (Emory University).

An ordained minister of the American Baptist Churches, Dr. Wiggins has experience in the local church and as a university chaplain. She has researched the intersection of gender and religiosity in the context of the African-American church and her dissertation was titled "Where Somebody Knows My Name: The Social and Cultural Determinants of Church Attendance Among African-American Women." Her current research is an analysis of the rhetoric and practices pertaining to gender roles and ideology within African American congregations.

William H. Willimon, Professor of Christian Ministry. B.A. (Wofford College); M.Div. (Yale University); S.T.D. (Emory University); D.D. (Westminster College); D.Hum.Litt. (Wofford College); D.D. (LeHigh University); D.D. (Campbell University); D.D. (Lafayette College); D.D. (Colgate University).

Professor Willimon teaches courses in preaching and worship in addition to his duties as dean of Duke University Chapel. Before coming to Duke, he served as pastor in churches in Georgia and South Carolina. His research and publication includes work in liturgics, homiletics, and pastoral care. He is the author of fifty books, two of which have been selected by the Academy of Parish Clergy as "the most useful book for pastors" in the years in which they were published. He has served the Church as an editor of new worship resources, curriculum writer, and as a member of the United Methodist Commission on Worship. He is on the editorial board of a number of professional journals, including Quarterly Review and the Christian Century and he has lectured in the United States, Korea, and Europe. Professor Willimon is an elder in the South Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, and he was selected by a Baylor University survey as one of the "Twelve Most Effective Preachers in the English-Speaking World."

Requirements and Procedures

The Divinity School is a fully accredited member of the Association of Theological Schools and is one of 13 accredited seminaries of the United Methodist Church. It considers candidates for admission who hold an A.B. degree, or its equivalent, from a college approved by a regional accrediting body.

Preseminary Curriculum. The Divinity School follows the guidelines of the Association of Theological Schools with respect to undergraduate preparation for theological study. In general, this means a strong background in liberal arts, especially the humanities. A well-rounded background in English language and literature, history, philosophy, psychology, religion, social science, and foreign languages is especially desirable.

Application Procedures for Master of Divinity (M.Div.) and Master in Church Ministries (M.C.M.). Application forms, secured from the admissions office or downloaded from the web site, should be filed six to 12 months in advance of the intended date of enrollment. Completed applications (application and all supporting credentials) must be received in the admissions office by 5 p.m. November 1, 2000, for January 2001 enrollment and by 5 p.m. April 2, 2001 for August 2001 enrollment. Offers of admission for the M.Div. and M.C.M. programs are made on a rolling admissions basis. When an application is completed and ready for committee, an admission decision should be reached, under normal circumstances, within two weeks.

The student should provide the following supporting documents and information: (1) one copy of the official transcript from each college, university, or seminary attended sent by the institution directly to the director of admissions; (2) one supplementary transcript, sent as soon as possible, showing completion of work that was in progress when the earlier transcript was made; and (3) the names of five persons who are best qualified to judge the applicant as a prospective student in the Divinity School and who will be contacted by the applicant for written letters of recommendation. Of these five references, two should be academic, two should be church (e.g. home pastor(s), campus minister, or denominational official), and one should be a general character reference. Applicants for the Master of Church Ministries with a track in Health and Nursing Ministries must be registered nurses licensed or eligible for licensure in North Carolina. Applicants must supply, as one of their two academic references, a letter of recommendation from a former nursing supervisor or colleague, or member of the faculty of the nursing school they attended, attesting to their professional conduct and competence

Materials submitted in support of an application are not released for other purposes and cannot be returned to the applicant. A nonrefundable $25 application fee must accompany the application, and the application cannot be processed without this fee. An application processing fee waiver is not available. Applicants are strongly urged to come for on-campus visits prior to final admission.

Admission Requirements. Those persons are encouraged to apply:

1. who have or will have been awarded a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university prior to their intended date of enrollment;
2. who have attained at least an overall B- (2.75 on 4.0 scale) academic average; and
3. who are committed to some form of ordained or lay ministry.

Applicants are evaluated on the basis of academic attainment, future promise for ministry, and vocational clarity and commitment.

Admission to Limited Program. Limited program designates a special relationship between the school and the student, designed to encourage and support academic achievement. Students may be admitted to limited program for a number of reasons, including an undergraduate degree in a program other than liberal arts or an undergraduate transcript that does not fully meet Divinity School standards.

Limited program means reduced schedules of work, with the amount determined by the associate dean for academic programs (ordinarily no more than three courses each of the first two semesters), and also includes a review of work at the end of each semester by the Committee on Academic Standing until limited program status is lifted.

Application Procedures for Master of Theological Studies Program (M.T.S.). Application forms, which can be secured from the admissions office, should be filed seven to 12 months in advance of the intended date of enrollment. Completed applications (including all supporting credentials) must be received in the admissions office by 5 p.m. February 1, 2001 for August 2001 enrollment. Enrollment for the M.T.S. program is competitive, with a maximum of 15 to 20 students enrolling each August. Offers of admission for the August M.T.S. class are announced during the last week of February. (Any August enrollment M.T.S. application received before the February 1 deadline but not completed until after the deadline will be considered for admission on a wait list basis only.)

The student should provide the following supporting documents and information: (1) one copy of the official transcript from each college, university, or seminary attended sent by the institution directly to the director of admissions; (2) one supplementary transcript, sent as soon as possible, showing completion of work that was in progress when the earlier transcript was made; (3) the names of two college (or seminary) professors who are best qualified to judge the applicant as a prospective student in the Divinity School and who will be contacted by the student for written letters of recommendation; (4) the names of two persons willing to serve as general character references who will be contacted by the student for a written letter of recommendation; and (5) the name of one person who will serve as a church reference.

Materials submitted in support of an application are not released for other purposes and cannot be returned to the applicant. A nonrefundable $25 application fee must accompany the application, and the application cannot be processed without this fee. An application processing fee waiver is not available. Applicants are strongly urged to come for on-campus visits and interviews prior to final admission.

Admission Requirements. Those persons are encouraged to apply for the M.T.S.:

1. who have been awarded a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university prior to their intended date of enrollment;
2. who have attained at least an overall B (3.0 on a 4.0 scale) academic average;
3. who demonstrate program goals commensurate with this degree program; and
4. where applicable, who are committed to some form of lay ministry.

Application Procedures for Master of Theology Program (Th.M.). Application forms, which can be secured from the admissions office, should be filed six to 12 months in advance of the intended date of enrollment. Completed applications (application and all supporting credentials) must be received in the admissions office by 5 p.m. November 1, 2000, for January 2001 enrollment and by 5 p.m. April 2, 2001, for August 2001 enrollment. Offers of admission for the Th.M. program are made on a rolling admissions basis. When an application is completed and ready for committee, an admission decision should be reached, under normal circumstances, within two weeks.

The student should provide the following supporting documents and information: (1) one copy of the official transcript from each college, university, or seminary attended sent directly to the director of admissions by the institution; (2) one supplementary transcript, sent as soon as possible, from the seminary showing completion of work that was in progress when the earlier transcript was made; (3) the names of three seminary professors who are best qualified to judge the applicant as a prospective student in the Divinity School and who will be contacted by the student for written letters of recommendation, and (4) the name of one denominational official qualified to appraise the applicant's ministerial work who will be contacted by the student for a written letter of recommendation.

Materials submitted in support of an application are not released for other purposes and cannot be returned to the applicant. A nonrefundable $25 application fee must accompany the application, and the application cannot be processed without this fee. An application processing fee waiver is not available. Applicants are strongly urged to come for on-campus visits prior to final admission.

Admission Requirements. Those persons are encouraged to apply for the Th.M.:

1. who have been awarded a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university;
2. who have or will have been awarded the M.Div. degree (or the equivalent) from an accredited theological institution;
3. who have attained at least an overall B+ (3.25 on a 4.0 scale) academic average in their foundational theology degree; and
4. who desire to continue or resume their theological education for enhancement of professional competence in selected areas of study.

Other than one scholarship per year for an international student, Master of Theology students are not eligible for any form of financial assistance through the Divinity School. Applicants are strongly urged to come for on-campus visits and interviews prior to final admission.

Policies and Procedures for International Students. In recognition of the invaluable contributions that students from outside the United States bring to theological discourse and to community life, Duke Divinity School welcomes all fully qualified international students to apply for all degree programs. Although applications from international students are accepted for all degree programs, the Divinity School prefers, due to the contextual nature of ministry to a congregation and our commitment to the needs of the world church, that students pursue the Master of Divinity and the Master in Church Ministries degrees in their respective home countries or regions.

International students must, in addition to the information required of all students, submit the following with the application materials: (1) If the student's native language is not English, certification of English proficiency must be demonstrated by scores from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Applicants to the M.Div. and M.C.M. degrees must also submit scores from the Test of Spoken English (TSE). Both tests are administered through the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey. The Divinity School requires a TOEFL score of at least 580 on the paper-based test, or 237 on the computer-based test, and a TSE score of at least 50. An international student who completes an undergraduate degree at an accredited college/university in the United States may be allowed to waive these tests. (2) A statement of endorsement must be sent from an official (bishop, general secretary, etc.) of the student's native ecclesiastical body, affirming that ecclesiastical body's support for the student's pursuit of theological studies in the United States and welcoming the student into active ministry under its jurisdiction following the student's study in this country. (3) The Divinity School must have a statement demonstrating financial arrangements for the proposed term at the Divinity School. (Estimated minimum expenses per academic year for a single international student are $23,039. Figures are based on 1999-2000 charges and are subject to change. Living costs for additional family members should be figured on the basis of a minimal $400 per month for spouse and $260 per month per child.)

Policies and Procedures for Students With Disabilities. Duke University Divinity School encourages qualified students with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing academic accommodations or have questions about physical access provided, please contact Gregory F. Duncan, Associate Dean for Student Services, at (919) 660-3436 or divinity-info@duke.edu in advance of your participation.

Admission as a Special Student. Special student status is a restricted category of admission for persons who do not have need of a degree program and who desire access to the rich offerings of the Divinity School curriculum for particular purposes (courses are taken for credit). Special student status may be granted after a person has submitted an application and all transcripts of undergraduate academic work, and when all three letters of recommendation have been received from listed references. Completed applications (application and all supporting credentials) for special student status must be submitted by December 1, 2000, for January 2001 enrollment and July 2, 2001, for August 2001 enrollment. Admission as a special student is for one year (two semesters) only. A student desiring to continue as a special student beyond the one-year limit must re-apply (or, if United Methodist and pursuing Deacon's orders as a special student, must obtain approval from the admissions office to extend one's studies beyond the one-year limit). Admission as a special student is distinct from admission to a degree program. There is no obligation on the part of the Divinity School to offer admission to the Master of Divinity, Master in Church Ministries, or Master of Theological Studies degree programs to persons who have been previously accepted as special students. Special students are ineligible for any form of financial assistance through the Divinity School.

Admission Acceptance. Applicants are expected to indicate their acceptance of admission within three weeks of notification and to confirm this with the payment of a non-refundable admission fee of $50. Upon matriculation, this fee is applied to the first semester tuition charge.

To complete admission, students must provide a certificate of immunization and general health to the student health service. The admissions office must also receive a final transcript verifying the conferral of the undergraduate (for the M.Div., M.T.S. and M.C.M.) or seminary (for the Th.M.) degree.

Persons who do not matriculate at the time for which they were originally admitted forfeit admission unless they present a written request for deferral to the director of admissions. The application will then be placed in the deferred file, active for one calendar year. Deferrals of admission for the M.T.S. degree program are not permitted.

Transfer of Credit. Transfer of credit from theological schools accredited by the Association of Theological Schools is allowed by the Divinity School towards the Master of Divinity, Master in Church Ministry, and Master of Theological Studies degrees. Credit from another institution will normally be limited in the M.Div. and M.C.M. programs to one-third of the total number of credits required for graduation by the Divinity School (and to one-quarter for the M.T.S.). Theological courses completed more than five years prior to the intended date of enrollment will not be considered for transfer credit. Only courses with a grade of B- or higher will be considered for transfer.

A student applying for a transfer from another seminary must include the following with the required application materials: (1) a statement of explanation and purpose for the proposed transfer; (2) a letter of honorable dismissal written by the academic dean or registrar of the seminary from which transfer is sought; (3) a letter of recommendation written by the director of either field education or student life of the seminary from which transfer is sought, and (4) on a separate sheet, a list designating all courses taken via the Internet, distance learning centers, extension centers, or other electronic media associated with the home seminary. Applicants for transfer into a degree program are evaluated on the same basis as other applicants.

Educational Requirements for United Methodist Elders and Deacons

During the 1996 General Conference of the United Methodist Church, legislation was passed enabling a new ordering of ministry with ordained orders for deacon and elder. Duke Divinity School offers the theological education necessary to complete the academic requirements for those persons who are considering either the order of deacon or the order of elder through the United Methodist Church. The following summary outlines the various routes of academic preparation within Duke's degree offerings or through Special Student status:

- Elder's Orders – As is true with most mainline denominations, the United Methodist Church requires completion of the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree for those seeking orders to "Word, Service, Sacrament, and Order" as an elder in full connection.
- Deacon's Orders – For those seeking ordination to "Word and Service" as a deacon in full connection, the United Methodist Church has provided three educational options:
 1. Completion of a basic theological degree (M.Div., M.C.M., M.T.S.) that includes the requirements for 24 credit hours (eight courses at Duke) in basic graduate theological studies (Theology, Old Testament, New Testament, Mission of the Church, Worship, Church History, and the two-semester class United Methodist Doctrine, Polity, and History).
 2. For those who already hold a professional master's degree in the area of specialized ministry in which the candidate will serve (M.S.W., M.A., etc.), the candidate must, in addition, complete 24 credit hours (eight courses at Duke) in basic graduate theological studies at a graduate theological seminary recognized by the United Methodist University Senate. This academic route may be fulfilled as a Special Student.
 3. For those age 35 or older, there is the possible alternate route to ordination as a deacon through professional certification or licensing and additional graduate credit in one's area of specialization, as well as the required 24 credit hours of basic graduate theological studies. This academic route may be fulfilled as a Special Student.

For more information on the various routes of theological education for ordination, a candidate is encouraged to contact the United Methodist Division of Ordained Ministry's Section on Elders (615-340-7416) or Section on Deacons (615-340-7371). Additionally, it is always prudent to maintain communication with one's own Annual Conference regarding respective conference's additional requirements for theological education and preparation for ministry.

Conduct of Students

Duke University expects and will require of all its students continuing loyal cooperation in developing and maintaining high standards of scholarship and conduct. The university wishes to emphasize its policy that all students are subject to the rules and regulations of the university currently in effect, or which are put into effect from time to time by the appropriate authorities of the university. Any student, in accepting admission, indicates willingness to subscribe to and be governed by these rules and regulations and acknowledges the right of the university to take such disciplinary action, including suspension and/or expulsion, as may be deemed appropriate, for failure to abide by such rules and regulations or for conduct adjudged unsatisfactory or detrimental to the university.

The Divinity School expects its students to participate in a communally shared concern for growth in life appropriate to Christian faith and to the dignity of their calling.

Readmission to Duke Divinity School

Persons seeking readmission to the Divinity School's degree programs must complete the following requirements: (1) submit a new application; (2) submit an additional statement detailing reasons for withdrawal and reasons for seeking readmission at this time, and describing activities and employment undertaken since withdrawal; (3) submit the names of at least three persons willing to serve as references who will be contacted by the student, one of which must be an ecclesiastical official; and (4) transcripts of all academic work undertaken since withdrawal from the Divinity School.

These new materials, supplemented by the individual's original application and Divinity School academic and field education files, will be reviewed by the members of the Admissions Committee for an admission decision. An interview with the director of admissions prior to the processing of the application for readmission is encouraged and may be required. Any questions about readmission procedures should be addressed to the director of admissions. Applications for readmission will be evaluated on the basis of academic attainment, future promise for the ministry, and vocational clarity and commitment.

Student Life

Project Bri(ddd)ge students work at a Habitat for Humanity home in Durham.

Corporate Worship

One of the most important aspects of training for Christian life is vigorous, inspiring, and varied participation in corporate worship. The corporate worship of the Divinity School, under the guidance of the Divinity School Chaplain, is centered in York Chapel. Four services are held weekly: services of morning prayer on Tuesdays and Fridays, a service of word on Wednesdays, and a service of word and table on Thursdays. Faculty members, administrators, and students share joint responsibility for these services that express the variety and diversity of theological and liturgical traditions represented in the community.

The Divinity School enjoys a particularly close relationship with Duke Chapel. Throughout the year, Divinity School administrators and faculty, as well as guests of national and international stature, preach at Sunday morning worship services. Each year many of our students join the 200-plus member Duke Chapel Choir that provides choral music on Sunday mornings and special music programs throughout the academic year, including an annual Christmas performance of Handel's Messiah. Divinity students and faculty also contribute to the leadership of the ministry of Duke Chapel by chairing and serving on standing committees: Faith and the Arts, Supportive Ministries, Worship, Prophetic Concerns, and Leadership and Development.

Students are also strongly encouraged to involve themselves in the life of a local church community, either through the field education program or on one's own initiative.

Spiritual Formation Groups

The curriculum of Duke Divinity School seeks to cultivate – as one unified reality – a life of prayer, a life of study, and a life of service. Central to this reality is the experience of spiritual formation through prayer in small groups. Entering M.Div. and M.C.M. students (optional for M.T.S. students) participate in a year-long immersion in groups of seven to eight colleagues led by a local pastor or faculty member. These groups meet weekly for an hour to share concerns, to discuss how to be formed as disciples, how to be faithful in one's spiritual life, to reflect theologically on the nature of Christian service, and, primarily, to pray together. Additionally, this opportunity is intended to help prepare seminary students for the challenge of being spiritual leaders in their own respective contexts of ministry. Many students continue this invaluable first-year experience by participation in a variety of student-initiated spiritual formation groups during their second and third years.

Student Activities and Organizations

"We the students of the Divinity School of Duke University covenant together to be a community of faith under the Gospel of Jesus Christ. We seek to be faithful to the Gospel, to live a life of grace and justice, and to make known to the world the love of God for the world" (Preamble, Constitution of the Student Association). In the absence of common living and dining accommodations, community life in the Divinity School centers around a number of organizations and activities.

The Student Association. The Student Association is comprised of all students in the Divinity School. The Association is served by the Student Life Ministry (S.L.M.), an organization with a threefold purpose:

1. to express itself as a community of faith in witness and fellowship;
2. to provide student programs, activities, and services; and
3. to collect and raise money, through dues and other channels, to help accomplish these purposes.

Members of the S.L.M. are students who are nominated and elected annually by the student body. Within the S.L.M., there are several ministry teams designed to provide students with opportunities to express and share personal, professional, and spiritual development with each other. These include:

The Basin and Towel Ministry Team is responsible for offering the community opportunities to participate in educational programs, spiritual/theological reflection, and outreach and service focused on the scriptural call to social justice and compassion.

The Campus Relations Ministry Team is responsible for facilitating interaction between the Divinity School and the greater university. Divinity School representation at the Graduate and Professional Student Council meetings will be provided by members of this team. The team helps create opportunities for fellowship with graduate students from other programs, provides interdisciplinary academic programming, and helps keep Divinity students informed of larger campus issues and activities.

The Community Care Ministry Team is responsible for hospitality and nurture within the Divinity School community. This includes maintaining the community Prayer Board, meeting regularly to pray for the Divinity School community, and working with the office of Student Life and Divinity chaplain to coordinate appropriate responses to students in crisis or with special needs.

The Fellowship Ministry Team plans community-wide events for students and faculty and their families. The activities include social gatherings during orientation, meals and parties at holiday times, and fellowship times throughout the school terms. The team also sponsors "Live at the Lampstand," a popular monthly event through which students, faculty, and staff share their various musical and artistic talents with the entire community.

The Spiritual Formation Ministry Team will assist the Divinity School chaplain with the promotion of spiritual formation within the Divinity School by helping coordinate and oversee student-led spiritual formation groups, as well as providing other appropriate programming.

The Student Publications Ministry Team is responsible for oversight of student publications, including the student newspaper, The Between Times (TBT).

In addition to these ministry teams, the following student organizations receive funding from and/or have representation in the S.L.M.:

Black Seminarians' Union. This organization's purpose is to ensure the development of a theological perspective commensurate with the Gospel of Jesus Christ and relevant to the needs of black seminarians and the black church. Its goal is to improve the quality of life academically, spiritually, politically, and socially in the Divinity School.

Church Educators Fellowship. As a professional organization for persons who serve or intend to serve as professional Christian educators, C.E.F. interprets the role of the Christian educator in the total ministry of the church and provides support, fellowship, and professional relationships. In addition to monthly program meetings, a Christian education emphasis week is held each spring.

Divinity Choir. Membership is open to all qualified students. The choir sings regularly for weekday worship and at special seasonal programs and services. New members are chosen by informal auditions that are arranged for all who are interested.

Divinity Spouses. This organization provides social, spiritual, and educational activities for married students and their spouses with the aim of helping spouses know that they are also important, contributing, and welcomed members of the Divinity School community.

Duke undergraduate religion major Shane Battier

Internationally Minded People of Faith (IMPF). A group for international students and students with interest in international study and mission that meets for fellowship and to discuss experiences and issues.

Order of St. Luke. Formed to recover the worship and sacramental practice that has sustained the church since its formation in apostolic times, the Order of St. Luke is a religious order within the United Methodist Church. Members seek to recover the spiritual disciplines of John and Charles Wesley as a means of perceiving and fulfilling the church's mission. Membership in the Order is open to all seminarians.

Sacred Dance Group. A group of students who participate in the leadership of community worship through the expression of dance.

Sacred Worth. The purpose of this group is to serve the Divinity School community by increasing awareness of lesbians and gays in the church. All members of the community are invited to participate, and the group seeks to promote understanding about homosexuality in the church through various opportunities for discussion and dialogue.

Spiritual Formation Groups. While students advance in the area of academics, they have a corresponding need to attend to their spiritual development. In addition to the required spiritual formation groups for entering M.Div. and M.C.M. students, there are several student-initiated small groups for upperclass students. These groups meet regularly throughout the academic year to nurture spiritual growth. Students, faculty, and staff are all invited to participate.

Student Pastors' Association. Students actively serving their denominations in an ordained or lay capacity have the opportunity to meet, to share, to plan, and to act on their common needs and concerns.

The Between Times. This student newspaper reports on activities, posts information on field education opportunities, and announces important events in the community. The paper also gives students a forum for voicing opinions, perspectives, and ideas.

Theological Student Fellowship. T.S.F. is a student group formed for students who seek to understand, study, and discuss evangelical perspectives on issues in theological education and the church. Meetings are bi-weekly.

Women's Center. The Women's Center serves the entire Divinity School community through a focus on the special needs and contributions of women in ministry in and to the church and society. The office, coordinated by two women students, is a resource center for the whole community, in addition to a support and action center for women in particular.

The student body is also represented on various faculty committees. Students serve with faculty and administration on the Admissions, Field Education Policy, Financial Aid Policy, Worship, Fine Arts, Lectures, Educational Affairs, and other committees. In addition, the Judicial Board is composed of a representative group from the Divinity School community.

Living Accommodations

Off-Campus Housing. The majority of Divinity students live in off-campus apartment complexes because of their proximity to the school and their competitive rental rates. Off-campus rental properties are not inspected or approved by Duke University, nor does the university or its agents negotiate with owners for students. A listing of such complexes can be secured from the Admissions Office of the Divinity School or from the Department of Housing Management of Duke University, Box 90452, Durham, NC 27708, (919) 684-5813. The Department of Housing Administration also maintains lists of rooms and houses provided by Durham property owners and real estate agents who have agreed not to discriminate in the rental of property because of the race, sex, creed, or nationality of a prospective tenant. For assistance with Divinity School roommates, contact the Admissions Office of the Divinity School.

On-Campus Housing. Limited on-campus housing is available for single and married (with or without children) graduate students at Central Campus Apartments and Townhouse Apartments. In recognition of the unique challenges that face entering international students, priority for assignment to graduate student housing will be awarded to those students who arrive from abroad on student visa status. Applications received from domestic students prior to May 1 will be wait-listed. After May 1, space that has not yet been assigned to international students will be made available to domestic students in the order in which applications were received. All students who request University housing are strongly encouraged to apply early. For more information, contact Housing Administration, 218 Alexander Street, Apt. B., Durham, NC 27705, (919) 684-4304.

Additionally, on-campus housing is available to graduate students who serve in residential advisor (R.A.) positions. This program includes free room and a stipend. Many Divinity students find this a helpful way to finance their theological education and to get involved in the larger university community. Students interested in serving as residential advisors should contact the Residential Life Office, Box 90946, 200 Crowell Hall, Duke University, Durham, NC 27708-0946, (919) 684-6313. Residential advisor applications are normally due the last week in January, and advisors are selected in March for the following academic year. However, interested students admitted to the Divinity School after March should contact the Residential Life Office in the event that openings are still available.

Food Services. Food service facilities located throughout the Duke campus include both point plan and cash operations. Details are available from the Food Services Business Office, Box 90847, Durham, NC 27708, (919) 660-3900. West Campus dining facilities include the Blue and White Room cafeteria, the Cambridge Inn, and the Oak Room, all located in West Campus Union Building. Fast food operations are also located in the Bryan Center. Duke University Food Services is a leading employer on campus and hires students in almost every food operation. A listing of open positions and areas is available from the Student Labor Services Office, 302 West Campus Union Building.

Child Care Resources

Duke University's Office of Human Resources/Employee and Family Programs and the non-profit Durham Child Care Council co-sponsor a web page designed to assist interested persons in choosing quality child care or early education programs in the Durham, N.C. area. The following internet address—www.childcare.duke.edu—will connect you with this helpful site. Interested persons might also wish to contact the Durham Child Care Council at the following phone number: (919) 403-6950.

Student Health

The aim of the university health service is to provide medical care and health advice necessary to help the student enjoy the university community. To serve this purpose, both the university health service clinic and the university infirmary are available for student health care needs.

The main components of the health service include the university health service clinic, located in the Pickens Building on Erwin Road, and the university infirmary in Duke Hospital South. Emergency transportation, if required, can be obtained from the Duke campus police. Residential staff personnel or Divinity School administrators should be consulted whenever possible for assistance in obtaining emergency treatment.

The facilities of the university health service clinic are available during both regular and summer sessions to all currently enrolled full-time and part-time degree students. The facilities of the university infirmary are available during the regular sessions, from the opening of the university in the fall until graduation day in the spring, to all currently enrolled full-time and part-time degree students. All currently enrolled full-time and part-time degree candidates are assessed a mandatory students health fee each semester ($222 per semester for the 1999-2000 academic year). Non-degree students are not assessed the fee.

The university has also made available a single student health insurance plan ($778 in the 1999-2000 academic year) and a family plan (for an additional $1,679 in the 1999-2000 academic year) for major medical care for all full- and part-time degree students for a 12-month period (all prices are subject to change). Each full- or part-time degree student must purchase this student insurance or complete the waiver statement contained on the university invoice indicating that he/she is covered by other generally comparable insurance. The family insurance plan also covers basic health care for the family at Duke health care facilities at 80 percent of the usual, customary, and reasonable (UCR) allowance after the deductible has been satisfied. For more information on the insurance plans, please contact the plan administrator: Hill, Chesson, and Associates, P.O. Box 52207, Durham, N.C. 27717-2207, (919) 489-7426.

Counseling and Psychological Services. Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) is a component of student services that provides a coordinated, comprehensive range of counseling and developmental services to assist and promote the personal growth of Duke students. The professional staff is composed of psychologists, clinical social workers, and psychiatrists experienced in working with students of all ages. They are also available to the entire university community for consultation, educational activities in student development, and mental health issues affecting not only individual students but the campus community as a whole.

CAPS maintains a policy of strict confidentiality concerning information about each student's contact with the CAPS staff. There are no charges for initial evaluation, brief counseling/psychotherapy, or self-development seminars. Appointments may be made by calling 660-1000 or coming by the office in 214 Page Building, West Campus, between 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday. If a student's concern needs immediate attention, that should be made known to the secretary, and every effort will be made to arrange for the student to talk with a staff member at the earliest possible time.

Sexual Assault Support Services. Located in the Duke Women's Center, the Office of Sexual Assault Support Services offers advocacy, support, information resources in the university, referrals, and 24-hour crisis intervention services to victims of sexual assault and past sexual violence. To page the S.A.S.S. coordinator 24 hours a day, dial 970-2315, and at the prompt, enter your phone number and hang up. The coordinator will dial back. S.A.S.S. offers support groups for survivors and their friends or partners. Call 684-3897 for information. The S.A.S.S. coordinator offers workshops and initiates ongoing educational programs to alert students to problems of interpersonal violence.

Motor Vehicle Registration

Students possessing or maintaining a motor vehicle at Duke University must register it at the beginning of the academic year for purposes of parking. If a motor vehicle is acquired and maintained/parked after academic registration, it must be registered within five calendar days after operation on the campus begins. Resident students (for example, resident advisors) are required to pay an annual fee of $155 for each motor vehicle or $45 for each two-wheeled motor vehicle. Non-resident or commuting students are required to pay an annual fee of $78 for each motor vehicle or $45 for each two-wheeled motor vehicle. Resident students initially registering after January 1 for the spring semester are required to pay $103 for a motor vehicle or $30 for a two-wheeled motor vehicle. Non-resident or commuting students registering after January 1 for the spring semester are required to pay $52 for a motor vehicle or $30 for a two-wheeled motor vehicle.

Students may register vehicles at University Parking Services (2010 Campus Drive) or at the Divinity School during Orientation. At the time of registration the student will need: license plate number, social security number, local address and phone number, and year/make/color of motor vehicle. The fee can be paid by check or cash.

If a motor vehicle or a two-wheeled motor vehicle is removed from the campus permanently and the decal is returned to the traffic office prior to January 19, there will be a refund of one-half of the fee paid for registration of the vehicle.

Campus Security

The Duke University Police Department provides comprehensive law enforcement and security services to all components of Duke University. Under the federal Campus Security Act (20 U.S.C. 1092f), prospective students may obtain a copy of the university's annual security report by visiting the Duke University Police Department at 502 Oregon St., Durham, NC or by calling (919) 684-3350. You can also visit the Duke Police Department website at www.hr.duke.edu/dupl. This report includes campus crime statistics and the university's safety and security policies.

Cultural Resources

Divinity School students enjoy access to the many resources of the university community, particularly in the area of the performing arts. Two active campus film societies sponsor screenings of major motion pictures on Saturday and Sunday evenings. Other films of a classical nature are offered on Tuesday through Thursday nights, with free films for children scheduled every other Saturday morning. Opportunities in music, dance, and drama are provided by the following: the Duke Artists Series, Broadway at Duke, the Chamber Arts Society, Hoof 'n Horn, the Duke University Collegium Musicum, Duke Players, Duke Dance, the Duke University Symphony Orchestra and the Wind Symphony, the Duke University Jazz Ensemble, the Ciompi Quartet, Dance Black, and the Modern Black Mass Choir, among others.

Athletic Programs

In addition to unrestricted access to all university athletic and recreational facilities, divinity students enjoy other benefits from Duke's commitment to college athletics. The university is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference of the National College Athletic Association, and offers intercollegiate competition in a variety of sports. Admission to all intercollegiate athletic events except men's basketball is free to graduate and professional students using their university I.D. cards. Season tickets to men's basketball games are subject to a camp-out and lottery system operated by the Graduate and Professional School Council. The university supports a strong intramural program in which the Divinity School participates enthusiastically. In recent seasons the school has fielded teams in football, men's, women's, and co-rec basketball, volleyball, soccer, and softball.

Financial Information

Sheila Williams, Assistant Director for Financial Aid

Fees and Expenses

Master of Divinity, Master of Theological Studies, and Master in Church Ministries Candidates. The table below lists basic minimum expenditures. In addition to the fees cited here, there is an admission fee of $50 that is applied to the first term bill as a credit. See relevant section on admissions for details.

	Per Semester	Per Year
Tuition-M.Div., M.T.S., and M.C.M. (Projected)	$5,625	$11,250
Student Health Fee	220	440
Student Representation Association Fee	24	48
Recreational Facilities Fee	25	50

Tuition will be charged at the projected rate of $1,406.25 per course. The figures shown are for a program carrying eight courses per year. Students will be charged for additional course enrollments.

Master of Theology Candidates. A student who is a candidate for the Th.M. degree will be liable for tuition on the basis of eight courses at the rate of $1,406.25 per course. All other costs and regulations for the Th.M. degree are the same as those for the M.Div. degree. Th.M. students are not ordinarily eligible for institutional financial aid, although they may qualify for federal loans.

Special Student. A special student is one who is enrolled for academic credit, but who is not a candidate for a degree at that time. The tuition will be charged on a course basis. No financial aid is available.

Audit Fee. Anyone seeking to audit a course in the Divinity School must, with the consent of the instructor concerned, secure permission from the associate dean's office. In accordance with the general university practice, a fee of $100 per course will be charged to all auditors who are not enrolled as full-time students.

Late Registration Fee. Continuing students who fail to register during the registration period must pay a fee of $50 to the bursar.

Course Continuation Fee. In instances where a student has registered for but not completed all the courses or requirements for their program, a $100 fee is required. Register for CCF 101,102.

Estimated Total Costs. The total cost for nine months (including tuition for eight courses, all applicable fees, books, room, board and other living expenses) for a student to attend Duke Divinity School varies according to individual tastes and requirements; however, experience indicates that a student may expect to spend an average of $23,665.

Housing Fees. Estimated minimal off-campus housing cost for a single student (one-bedroom apartment) will be approximately $3,825 during 2000-2001. A shared apartment in an off-campus, privately owned apartment complex averages $365-$425 per person per month in rent and utilities.

Rates for Central Campus Apartments will be quoted to applying students upon request to the manager of apartments and property. Refunds on housing fees will be made in accordance with the established schedules of the university.

Athletic Fee. Divinity School students may secure admission to all regularly scheduled university athletic contests (except men's varsity basketball games) held on the university grounds during the entire academic year simply by presenting the student identification card. Season tickets to the men's varsity basketball games are secured through a lottery system and cost $150 per season.

Motor Vehicle Registration Fee. There is a $79 registration fee for all automobiles ($47 for two-wheeled motor vehicles) used on campus. Students who register their automobile will not be charged for registration of a motorcycle. For specifics see the chapter "Student Life."

Payment and Penalty. Invoices for tuition, fees, and other charges will be sent by the bursar's office and are payable by the invoice due date. As a part of the agreement of admission to Duke University, a student is required to pay all invoices as presented. If full payment is not received, a late payment charge as described below will be assessed on the next invoice and certain restrictions as stated below will be applied. A monthly tuition payment plan is now available through Tuition Management Systems. For more information on this plan, please call 1-800-722-4867 or write to Tuition Management Systems, P.O. Box 3013, Cedar Rapids, IA 52406-9114.

If payment in the amount of the total amount due on the student invoice is not received by the invoice due date, a penalty charge will be accrued from the billing date of the invoice. The penalty charge will be at a rate of 1.33 percent per month (16 percent per annum) applied to the past due balance on the student invoice. The past due balance is defined as the previous balance less any payments and credits received during the current month and also any student loan memo credits, related to the previous balance, which appear on the invoice.

An individual will be in default of this agreement if the total amount due on the student invoice is not paid in full by the invoice due date. An individual who is in default will not be allowed to register for classes, receive a transcript of academic records, have academic credits certified, be granted a leave of absence, or receive a diploma at graduation. In addition, an individual in default may be subject to withdrawal from school.

Refunds of tuition and fees are governed by the following policy:

1. In the event of death, a full tuition and fees refund will be granted.
2. All other cases of withdrawal from school, tuition will be refunded according to the following schedule: withdrawal before the opening of classes—a full refund; withdrawal during the first or second week—80 percent; withdrawal during the third through fifth week—60 percent; withdrawal during the sixth week—20 percent; withdrawal after the sixth week—no refund. No refund will be granted for reduction in course load after the drop-add period.

Tuition or other charges paid from grants or loans will be restored to those funds on the same pro rata basis and will be refunded to the student or carried forward.

These regulations apply to all Divinity School students—degree candidates, special students, and auditors.

Debts. No records are released, and no students are considered by the faculty as candidates for graduation, until they have settled with the bursar for all indebtedness. Bills may be sent to parents or guardians provided the bursar has been requested in writing to do so. Failure to pay all university charges on or before the times specified by the university for the semester will bar the student from class attendance until the account is settled in full.

Student Financial Aid

A student should select a school on the basis of educational opportunity. At the same time, financial consideration will be a legitimate and often pressing concern. Each student should formulate at least a tentative plan for financing the entire seminary education. Although the exact method of financing the full theological degree may not be assured at the beginning, a student should have a clear understanding of the expenses and available sources of income for the first year and the assurance that there exist ways of financing subsequent years.

As Duke Divinity School seeks to handle its financial resources with a view toward Christian charity and stewardship, the school expects responsibility and integrity of students befitting their Christian commitment. While the Financial Aid Office is willing to aid students with financial counsel, the student and the student's family will bear a significant share of the educational expenses. In addition to personal and family resources, earnings, and loans, a student may seek financial assistance from his or her local church, civic groups, and foundations. The Divinity School financial aid may include scholarships, grants, field education grants, employment, or loans. Students should plan a financial program that incurs as little indebtedness as possible. Most Divinity School students receive some form of financial assistance, and students need to be mindful that such aid is a privilege to be enjoyed thanks to the many benefactors who have graciously given funds to the school.

The total amount of aid available through the Divinity School is limited. Further, the conditions set forth by the individual or institutional donors determine the circumstances under which the grants can be made. Almost without exception, the donors require ecclesiastical endorsement and/or declaration of ministerial vocational aim.

The principles regarding the disbursement of financial aid are as follows:

1. Financial aid is recommended on the basis of demonstrated need and availability of funds. All students must file a Divinity School Application for Financial Aid and the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which substantiate need and provide full information on potential resources. In order to receive assistance in any form from the Divinity School, a student must be enrolled for at least three courses per semester and maintain an overall academic average of 2.0 or higher. Falsification of a financial aid application is a serious offense subject to the provisions of the Divinity School's Judicial Procedures.
2. In the interest of providing reasonable accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Divinity School will permit students with appropriately documented disabilities that prevent them from carrying a full course load (minimally three courses per semester) to enroll in either one or two courses per semester and retain eligibility for Divinity School financial assistance. Such accommodation will be authorized by the associate dean for Student Services. Contested decisions regarding this accommodation may be brought before the Financial Aid Appeals Committee. Students so authorized are free to reduce their course load accordingly while maintaining Divinity School, and, where applicable and permitted, other forms of financial assistance. Students so authorized to enroll less than full time and retain eligibility for Divinity School financial aid are expected to return to full-time enrollment if and/or when their medical condition improves sufficiently to permit it.
3. Grants will be made within the limits of the conditions set forth governing each source.
4. The conditions at the beginning of the academic year determining financial needs shall be the governing criteria for the year. Financial aid programs are set up on a yearly basis, except for those students who may enter the second semester and/or those few whose status may change.
5. Financial aid grants are made on an academic-year basis. The assistance may consist of scholarships, tuition grants, field education grants, employment, and loans. A new application must be filed each year.
6. Tuition grants are ballooned for the first year of study to assist students as much as possible through their transitional first year at Duke. Consequently, grants for the second and third years of study will be less than those awarded for the critical first year.
7. Financial aid application forms are available through the Divinity School Financial Aid Office. Financial aid application deadlines are April 1 for entering M.T.S. students and May 1 for M.Div., M.C.M., and returning

M.T.S. students. Notification will be given after committee approval. Student pastors serving United Methodist churches can be notified after the pastoral charge and Annual Conference determine salary schedules. Financial aid applications for students anticipating fall matriculation are reviewed beginning the prior February.

8. Ordinarily, Divinity School financial aid is not available for the first semester for students who enter in January; however, entering January students can apply for federal student loans, and, if available, federal work study. These students can apply in the spring for the following academic year's Duke financial aid.
9. Ordinarily, financial aid is not available beyond six semesters for a student enrolled in four courses per semester (eight for students enrolled in three courses per semester).
10. Full-time students not participating in the field education program may work up to twenty hours per week in outside employment. Persons participating in the field education program, either summer or winter, may not engage in other forms of employment.
11. Students who have questions about the Divinity School's response to their financial aid request should first contact the financial aid office. Where desired, students may file an appeals form for full review by the financial aid appeals committee.
12. Financial aid resources for M.T.S. students are limited. Candidates are encouraged to apply early.
13. Special students and Th.M. students (with the exception of one international scholar annually) are not eligible for any form of financial assistance from the Divinity School. Th.M. students are eligible to apply for denominational and federal loans.

Financial Resources

Personal. In order that both the Divinity School and churches may be able to extend the use of their limited funds to as many students as possible, a student who desires a theological education should be willing to defray as far as possible the cost of such an education. Resources may include savings, earnings, gifts, support or loans, and if married, earnings of a spouse. In calculating anticipated income, the student first considers personal resources.

Church. Many local churches, conferences, or other governing bodies provide gifts and grants for theological education, such as ministerial education funds that provide grants and/or service loans to theological students. The student makes application to the home church, annual conference, presbytery, or other governing body. The financial aid office cooperates with these church agencies in making recommendations and in handling the funds. United Methodist students and others must be under the care of the appropriate church body to be eligible for church support. The school cannot compensate for a student's indisposition to receive church funds when such are available on application through the Annual Conference Ministerial Education Fund or other agencies.

The Divinity School, as a member school of the Association of United Methodist Theological Schools, takes cognizance of and subscribes to recommended policy and practice regarding the administration of United Methodist Church funds for student financial aid as adopted by the association, June 1, 1970, and as bearing upon tuition grants, as follows:

Resources for tuition grants, scholarships, or the like are primarily available to students with declared vocational aims leading to ordination or recognized lay ministries and supported by commendation or endorsement of appropriate church representatives. At the same time, we believe that consideration for a tuition grant may be accorded to students who adequately indicate conscientious concern to explore, through seminary studies, a recognized church-related vocation. Finally, it is our judgment that, where the above-mentioned conditions are deemed to be absent respecting a candidate for admission, the decision to admit such a candidate should be without the assurance of any tuition subsidy deriving from church funds (AUMTS Minutes, June 1, 1970).

Divinity School Scholarships. A limited number of scholarships are available to encourage qualified students to pursue their preparation for the Christian ministry. Scholarships are awarded only to students entering in fall semester and are not deferrable.

Duke Scholarships. Duke Scholarships, ranging up to $11,250 per year (100 percent of first year tuition), are awarded to both entering and returning students who demonstrate outstanding academic achievement and exceptional promise for either ordained or diaconal/lay ministry. Up to eight scholarships are awarded annually to entering Master of Divinity and Master in Church Ministries (formerly M.R.E.) candidates. Up to three additional scholarships are offered to rising middler students in these programs (who have completed at least seven courses). The scholarship will be renewed each year so long as the recipient (1) maintains at least a cumulative 3.6 overall grade point average and (2) is growing in his or her understanding, skills, and commitment to the ministry of the church. The specific amount of the scholarship will vary according to the recipient's academic course load and demonstrated financial need and will not exceed $11,250 for the academic year. Recipients without demonstrated financial need will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Ray C. Petry Scholarships. Up to two Petry scholarships, ranging up to $11,250 per year (100 percent of first year tuition) are awarded to entering M.T.S. students on the basis of academic excellence and promise of significant future contributions in the field of religious studies. The Petry Scholarships are renewable in the second year of study assuming the recipient (1) maintains a cumulative grade point average of 3.7 or higher and (2) continues to show demonstrated financial need. The specific amount of the scholarship will vary according to the recipient's academic course load and demonstrated need and will not exceed $11,250 per academic year. Recipients not demonstrating financial need will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Distinguished Service Scholarships. Up to five Distinguished Service Scholarships, ranging up to $8,437 (75 percent of first year tuition) per year, are awarded to entering Master of Divinity and Master in Church Ministries (formerly M.R.E.) students who combine outstanding leadership and service in the church with strong academic achievement. These scholarships are renewable in the second and third years of study assuming the recipients (1) exhibit continued ministerial promise and growth as reflected in participation in field education and the life of the Divinity School and Durham communities and (2) maintain strong academic achievement with a cumulative grade point average of 3.4 or higher. The specific amount of the scholarship will vary according to the recipient's academic course load and demonstrated financial need and will not exceed $8,437 for the academic year. Recipients without demonstrated financial need will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Dean's Scholarships. Up to twelve Dean's Scholarships, ranging up to $8,437 per year (75 percent of first year tuition), are awarded to entering Master of Divinity and Master in Church Ministries (formerly M.R.E.) students. Factors taken into account include ethnic origin, missional responsibilities for the Church at home and abroad, and denominational needs. These scholarships are renewable in the second and third years of study assuming the recipients (1) exhibit continued growth in the understanding of and commitment to Christian ministry and (2) maintain strong academic achievement with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or higher. The specific amount of the scholarship will vary according to the recipient's academic course load and demonstrated financial need, and will not exceed $8,437 for the academic year. Recipients without demonstrated financial need will receive a $1,000 scholarship.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Endowed Fund Scholarships. Up to five scholarships annually are given to entering students who belong to ethnic minorities. These scholarships, based on demonstrated need, reward outstanding promise for ministry and strong academic performance. The scholarship award is a minimum of $2,000 and is not renewable for the second and third years of study.

International Student Scholarships. In cooperation with the Crusade Scholarship Committee of the United Methodist Church and other authorized church agencies, students are selected and admitted to courses of study. Scholarships for such students are provided from the Lewis Clarence Kerner Scholarship Fund and from individual churches and private philanthropy. The Divinity School offers one scholarship per year to an international student in the Master of Theology degree program. The scholarship offers up to one year's full tuition.

Other Scholarship Awards. Named scholarships funded by permanent endowments as listed on the pages following are awarded annually. In addition, the Divinity School receives funds designated for scholarships each year from several other sources including the Dickson Foundation of Mount Holly, North Carolina; the Will Ervin Fund of Richlands, North Carolina; the H.E.S., Inc. of Los Angeles, California; the Magee Christian Education Foundation of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania; and numerous individuals and service organizations.

Tuition Grants. Grants for M.Div. and M.C.M. students, ranging up to $3,600 in the first year and $2,300 in succeeding years, are offered in amounts commensurate with demonstrated need as determined by a review of financial aid application materials. Several tuition grants based upon demonstrated need and ranging up to $2,300 per year are awarded to M.T.S. students in the first and second years of study. Because of the purpose of and educational objectives of the school, resources for tuition grants are primarily available to students with declared aims leading to ordination or recognized lay ministries.

Field Education Grants. Varying amounts ranging from $4,000 (winter) to a maximum of $8,400 (summer) are made available through the Divinity School and The Duke Endowment to students who are approved to participate in the field education program. The Offices of Field Education and Financial Aid work together in determining placement and grant amount. This program includes the summer interns, winter interns, and student pastors. See full description under the section on field education.

Pre-Enrollment Ministry Discernment Placements. A ten-week rural church placement in North Carolina for up to eight entering United Methodist Master of Divinity Students during the summer prior to their enrollment in the fall semester. The Duke Endowment will provide a $3,000 salary and a $4,250 scholarship. The church will provide room, board, and travel expenses. (Please see the Field Education section for further details.)

The Duke Endowment Student Pastor Grants. United Methodist students serving under episcopal appointment as student pastors in the state of North Carolina may qualify for tuition assistance of no more than $4,200 through The Duke Endowment. The Financial Aid Committee will determine student eligibility for such assistance after appointments are read at the meetings of the two North Carolina United Methodist Annual Conferences.

Loans. Loan funds held in trust by the university, as well as United Methodist student loans and funds supplied by the federal government, are available to qualified students. The application should be submitted by July 1.

Unless otherwise indicated, all correspondence concerning financial aid should be directed to: Financial Aid Office, The Divinity School, Duke University, Box 90969, Durham, North Carolina 27708-0969.

The Maude Simpson Pitts Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1986 by Mr. and Mrs. Noah O. Pitts, Jr., of Morganton, North Carolina, in memory of his mother. The fund provides support for students who are committed to parish ministry.

The Paul B. and Margaret A. Porter Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Mr. and Mrs. Porter of Shelby, North Carolina, with a priority for students from the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church who are preparing for parish ministry there.

The Myrtle R. and Fred L. Proctor, Sr. Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1996 by Mr. and Mrs. Proctor of Greensboro, North Carolina, to support ministerial education and to honor their long-time friend and former pastor, Wilson O. Weldon, a Duke alumnus and trustee emeritus. The fund income is to provide financial support for students enrolled in the Divinity School with priority for men and women from North Carolina.

The Jennie and Ross Puette Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Francis of Charlotte, North Carolina, in loving memory of her parents and with appreciation for the influence of their faithful Christian Service.

The Mary Eunice Query Endowed Scholarship Fund was established in 1979 by Miss Query of Boone, North Carolina, for Divinity School student financial aid.

The William Kellon Quick Endowment for Studies in Methodism and the Wesleyan Tradition was established in 1985 by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Kresge of Pontiac, Michigan, to support teaching, research, and publication in Methodist studies and to honor their pastor, William K. Quick, Divinity School Class of 1958.

The William Kellon Quick Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1998 to honor the ministry of Dr. Quick, a member of the Divinity Class of 1958, on his retirement from Metropolitan United Methodist Church in Detroit, Michigan. It was funded by an initial major gift from Eric and Candace Law of Berkley, Michigan, and with matching challenge gifts from many friends and parishioners.

The Winifred M. and John K. Reid Endowed Scholarship Fund was established in 1977 by Mrs. Reid of Rutherfordton, North Carolina, to provide financial aid to second- and third-year students who are committed to pastoral or institutional ministry in the United Methodist Church.

The Jane and Royce Reynolds Professorship in Evangelism, established in 1997 by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds of Greensboro, North Carolina, provides annual support for teaching evangelism in the Divinity School. The endowment is administered by The Foundation for Evangelism at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, which seeks to fund these professorships in every United Methodist theological seminary.

The Bill and Nancy Rhodenhiser Endowment Fund was established in 2000 by Dr. and Mrs. Rhodenhiser of Richmond, Virginia, for unrestricted support with priority preference for the support of lectures and other program endeavors of the Baptist House of Studies.

The McMurry S. Richey Endowment Fund was established in 1994 by Russell E. Richey, Douglas G. Richey, and Thomas S. Richey (Law School, Class of 1975) to honor their father and to commemorate the many years of service by members of the Richey family on the Divinity School faculty. McMurry S. Richey (Trinity College, Class of 1936; Divinity School, Class of 1939; Graduate School, Class of 1954) is a professor emeritus of theology and Christian nurture; and Russell Richey is former professor of church history and associate dean for academic affairs. The fund income is for unrestricted purposes.

The Henry Haywood Robbins Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1989 by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Robbins of Pascagoula, Mississippi, in memory of his father, who attended Trinity College in the 1890s and was a Methodist pastor in western North Carolina, and his brother, H. Haywood Robbins, Jr., Law School Class of 1932, who was an attorney in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The Roberts-Earnhardt Endowment Fund was established in 1991 by Daniel T. Earnhardt, Trinity College Class of 1962, Divinity School Classes of 1965 and 1966, of Greenville, North Carolina, to honor his parents, Daniel Edwin and Esther Roberts Earnhardt. The fund provides unrestricted resources for the Divinity School Library.

The Gilbert T. Rowe Memorial Scholarship Fund was established in 1960 through the generosity of alumni and friends of the Divinity School to honor the memory of Dr. Rowe, professor of systematic theology.

The Elbert Russell Scholarship was established in 1942 by the Alumni Association of the Divinity School in honor of Dr. Russell, professor of biblical theology and dean of the Divinity School, 1928-1941.

The Saint Teresa of Avila Endowment Fund was established by an anonymous graduate of the Divinity School to provide resources for the study and practice of the spiritual disciplines.

The Schroeder, Wildey, Yusin Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 2000 by Jane Wildey Yusin and her daughter, Wendy Yusin, of Shirley, New York, to honor their family and to provide financial aid for United Methodist students.

The Sam F. Segnar Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1998 by the Textron Foundation to honor Mr. Segnar, a native of Houston, Texas, and a director of Textron, Inc. The scholarship, to be funded through a planned gift, is for evangelical United Methodist students and those who have been named as John Wesley Fellows.

The John W. Shackford Endowment Fund was established in 1985 by Margaret S. Turbyfill, Trinity College Class of 1940, of Newport News, Virginia, to provide student scholarships in memory of her father, John W. Shackford, who was a leader in religious education with the former Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The Freida Bennett Shaulis Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Elwood M. Shaulis of Whispering Pines, North Carolina, to honor his wife and her family.

The E. Clifford and Jane S. Shoaf Endowment Fund was established in 1993 by Mr. Shoaf, Divinity School Class of 1953, and his wife of Edenton, North Carolina, to provide funds for the Divinity School Library especially to enhance the research materials in Methodist studies. He served during 1972-78 as director of field education for the Divinity School.

The Gaston Elvin Small Family Fund was established in 1984 by Mr. and Mrs. Gaston E. Small, Jr., of Elizabeth City, North Carolina. As an unrestricted endowment, the fund honors the Small family and their strong ties with Duke University, the Divinity School, and the United Methodist Church.

The Dolly L. Spence Memorial Scholarship Fund was established in 1984 by Roy-all H. Spence, Sr. of Greensboro, North Carolina, in memory of his wife and to provide financial support for ministerial students.

The Hersey E. and Bessie Spence Fund was established in 1973 by a gift from the estate of Hersey E. and Bessie Spence and designated to establish a chair in Christian education.

The Hersey E. Spence Scholarship was established in 1947 by the Steele Street United Methodist Church of Sanford, North Carolina, in honor of their former pastor and late professor in the Divinity School.

The David Johnson and Mary Woodson Sprott Fund was established in 1982 by the Sprott family of Winter Park, Florida, to provide student scholarships in appreciation of Duke-educated ministers.

The Donald H. and Mary G. Stange Memorial Endowment Fund on Medicine and Christian Faith was established in 1999 by the Mary G. Stange Charitable Trust to underwrite a program on medicine and the Christian faith in the Duke Institute on Care at the End of Life that fosters dialogue and learning among religious and healthcare professionals with a particular emphasis on the Roman Catholic tradition.

The Emorie and Norman Stockton Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1988 by Bishop and Mrs. Thomas B. Stockton, Divinity School Class of 1955, of Richmond, Virginia, in memory of his parents.

The Thomas B. and Jean Stevens Stockton Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by the Stockton children and their spouses to support excellence in ministerial education and to honor Bishop Stockton, Divinity School Class of 1955, and Mrs. Stockton.

The James T. and Ellyn Pell Tanner Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1998 by Mr. and Mrs. Tanner of Rutherfordton, North Carolina. The scholarship gives priority to Divinity students whose undergraduate degree is from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and to those who are affiliated with the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church. Mr. Tanner is a former chairman of the Divinity School Board of Visitors and current chairman of the Parish Ministry Fund, which underwrites continuing education for ministry and leadership.

The Texas Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1998 by Divinity School alumni and friends from the State of Texas for students who are from Texas and who intend ministerial service there. Priority is given to United Methodists.

The Fletcher and Kathryn Thomasson Scholarship Fund was established in 1998 by Sara T. Graves, Women's College Class of 1965, and Thomas W. Graves, Trinity College Class of 1962 and Law School Class of 1965, of Raleigh, North Carolina. The scholarship is to honor the memory of Sara's parents and to support education for excellence in leadership for the church.

The Earl McCrary Thompson Scholarship was established in 1974 in honor of the late Earl McCrary Thompson, Trinity College Class of 1919, to support education for ministry.

The Marcus Q. Tuttle Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1997 by Marianne T. Sanders, Women's College Class of 1951, and her husband George, Trinity College Class of 1948, of Hilton Head Island, South Carolina. The scholarship remembers the life and ministry of her father, Mark Tuttle, Trinity College Class of 1923, who served for many years in the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church.

The Janet S. and James W. Ummer Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Janet S. Ummer, Graduate School Class of 1971, and her husband, James W. Ummer, Law School Class of 1972, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The scholarship gives priority to students from the Presbyterian tradition.

The Walter McGowan and Minnie Daniel Upchurch Fund was established in 1971 by W. M. Upchurch, Jr., an alumnus of Duke University and a member of its Board of Trustees, honoring his parents. The fund income is used for the purchase of materials in the area of sacred music and is supplementary to a collection of materials given by Mr. Upchurch to the Divinity School Library.

The T. C. Vaughan Memorial Endowment Fund was established in 1990 by Dr. Thomas J. Vaughan of Lexington, Kentucky, to honor his great-grandfather, a circuit-riding Methodist preacher, and with gratitude for the effectiveness of Duke alumni in ministry. The fund is an unrestricted income source for the Divinity School, which means it may be applied to scholarships, library acquisitions, building needs, or general programs.

The Wilson O. and Margaret L. Weldon Fund was established in 1983 by a friend to honor Dr. Weldon, Divinity School Class of 1934 and trustee-emeritus of Duke University, and Mrs. Weldon. Income from the fund is for student scholarships.

The Wesley Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Mr. and Mrs. Eric A. Law of Berkley, Michigan, to support and encourage new projects in the Divinity School, particularly in the fields of urban ministry, the arts, and global initiatives. It is named to honor the memory of an extraordinary eighteenth-century English clergy family, Susanna and Samuel Wesley and two of their sons, Charles Wesley and John Wesley, whose vision and work inaugurated the Methodist movement.

The A. Morris and Annabel Williams Fund for Parish Ministry was established in 1983 by Mr. and Mrs. A. Morris Williams, Jr., of Gladwyne, Pennsylvania, both graduates of Duke University. This fund honors A. Morris Williams, Divinity School Class of 1932, and the late Mrs. Williams. Income from the fund is designated for scholarships, continuing education, and creative program support for persons committed to Christian ministry through the local church.

The Ruth W. and A. Morris Williams, Jr. Professorship was established in 1988 by Mr. and Mrs. A. Morris Williams, Jr., of Gladwyne, Pennsylvania, both graduates of Duke University. The endowment income is restricted for use by the Divinity School for a professorship in the field of parish ministry studies.

The C. Carl Woods, Jr. Family Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1988 by Mr. Woods of Durham, North Carolina, to celebrate the many ties between three generations of his family and Duke University.

The Jane H. and Kenneth F. Wooten, Jr. Scholarship Endowment Fund was established in 1999 by Jane Herring Wooten, Medical School Class of 1943, and her husband, Kenneth F. Wooten, Jr., Law School Class of 1947, of Raleigh, North Carolina. The scholarship, to be funded through a planned gift, will especially benefit United Methodist students from the North Carolina Conference.

Additional Resources

The Duke Endowment, established in 1924, provides under the Maintenance and Operation Program field education grants for students of the Divinity School who serve in rural United Methodist churches under the Endowment and Field Education Program.

The Foundation for Evangelism, based at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, provides generous annual support for the teaching of evangelism through expendable income from the Jane and Royce Reynolds Professorship endowment.

The James A. Gray Fund was presented to the Divinity School in 1947 by James A. Gray of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, for use in expanding and maintaining its educational services.

The United Methodist Church makes a substantial contribution to the Divinity School by designating a percentage of its Ministerial Education Fund and World Service Offerings for theological education. The General Board of Higher Education and Ministry makes available annually two national United Methodist scholarships.

The Dempster Graduate Fellowships are awarded annually by the United Methodist Board of Higher Education and Ministry to graduates of United Methodist theological schools who are engaged in programs of study leading to the Ph.D. degree in religion. A number of Divinity School graduates have held these fellowships.

The Program in Theology and Medicine provides special funding with the Westbrook Scholarship and Colliflower Scholarship. The Westbrook Scholarship grants are for up to two entering Th.M. students based on academic excellence and promise of significant future contributions in the field of theology and medicine. The Colliflower Scholarship grants are for two MCM students in the health and nursing ministries track for up to two years. The scholarship is awarded based on academic excellence and promise of significant contributions in the field of health and nursing ministries.

Field Education

Pleasant Green United Methodist Church

A Program for Ministerial Formation

Field education is a vital and exciting component of the Divinity School's academic program. Ministry contexts provide abundant opportunity for action as well as reflection, enabling students to work with their personal and spiritual gifts and experiences as well as the rich conceptual material offered by the Divinity School. In these settings students are typically (1) working to clarify and test their calls to ordained or lay ministry; (2) exploring ministerial roles and identity; (3) building and strengthening the diverse skills required for ministry; and (4) learning to understand and approach ministry theologically as well as psychologically, sociologically, and organizationally.

Field Education Credit Requirements

Two units of approved field education placement are required for graduation in the Master of Divinity degree program and one for the Master in Church Ministries (M.C.M.) program. The Th.M. and M.T.S. degrees have no field requirements. A unit is defined by one term placement, either a full-time summer term of ten or twelve weeks or an academic term of thirty weeks at minimally ten hours per week. To be approved, the field setting must provide ministerial identity and role, distinct ministerial tasks, qualified on-site supervision, a service-learning covenant, regular supervision conferences, and effective evaluation.

To qualify for credit the student must apply and be approved for a credited placement, develop and complete a learning covenant with acceptable quality of work, cooperate with the supervisor, and prepare an evaluation of the experience. Evaluation will be done by the field supervisor, student, lay committee, and field education staff. The student's faculty advisor will review the evaluations and render the appropriate credit towards graduation.

Prerequisite for the initial field placement is enrollment in or completion of one of the designated Church's Ministry electives. Prerequisite for the second placement in the M.Div. program is completion of sixteen academic credits and the first field placement. The first placement must be completed within twelve months of the completion of the CM course, the second following the middler evaluation.

Guiding Ministerial Formation

Development of readiness for ministry is the responsibility of each student. If the field education staff has reservations about a student's readiness for a field placement, they will specify requirements preparatory to the assignment. If the student requests, a committee consisting of the student's faculty adviser, a member of the Field Education Committee, and a member of the field education staff will review the staff's decision. Divinity School admissions materials, faculty perceptions, evaluation by the field education staff, and, if necessary, additional professional evaluation will be used. This committee will approve the field assignment or refer the student to remedial avenues of personal and professional development, including, if necessary, a leave of absence or withdrawal from school. Such action will be referred to the Academic Standing Committee for inclusion in assessment of that student's progress toward graduation. When, for whatever reason, a student's evaluation from a field setting raises questions about his/her ministerial learning and/or growth, or his/her use of the setting for those purposes, the same committee may be convened to assess the student and the experience in order to make appropriate recommendations to the Academic Standing Committee.

Field Settings for Ministerial Formation

Students may elect to meet their field learning requirement in one of several ways. They may volunteer in ministry. The setting must meet the requirements set by the Divinity School, but students, with the direction of the Office of Field Education, have latitude in selecting their settings. They must invest a minimum of 300 hours in preparation and presence, a minimum of ten and a maximum of thirty weeks in the setting, and comply with the requirements specified by the Divinity School.

Students may use a setting where they have found employment by a congregation or church agency. Again, approval by the Office of Field Education for credit, 300 hours of preparation and presence, at least ten hours per week, plus compliance with Divinity School requirements regarding setting, supervision, and structure are required.

Field placements are often made in settings that have been developed and approved by the Divinity School. These offer opportunities for ministerial service with supervision, appropriate identity, and evaluation. All these settings meet field placement requirements.

A variety of ministry settings is available for particular student goals: parish settings (rural, suburban, and urban patterns); institutional settings (public housing, mental retardation centers, and retirement homes); campus ministry settings (positions on the campuses of a variety of schools); and urban ministries.

While the Divinity School offers this rich diversity of settings for personal and ministerial formation, the large majority of placements fall in local churches in small communities. Because of the Divinity School's ties with the United Methodist Church, most field placements occur in that tradition. However, the Divinity School will do everything possible to assist every student in finding at least one placement in his or her own denominational tradition. Each student is required to complete one credit in a local church setting, unless permitted by the Field Education Committee to do otherwise.

Student pastors may use their call or appointment for placement credit by registering with the field education office, participating in an assigned mentoring group, and submitting requisite evaluation materials.

Master of Divinity students may use a basic unit of clinical pastoral education to meet one placement requirement.

Pre-Enrollment Ministry Discernment Program

Each year, during the summer prior to enrollment, the Divinity School offers up to eight entering United Methodist Master of Divinity students an opportunity to explore the nature of the church, the role of ministry, their personal 'gifts and graces' for ministry, their persons in relation to the office of ministry and the implications of these experiences for their emerging Christian vocation.

Anticipating the first year of theological education and the first field education placement, this program provides students close-range introduction to the nature and dynamics of the practice of ministry under trained and committed pastoral supervisors and lay persons. Orientation events and theological reflection exercises conducted at three-week intervals together with in-course Divinity students provide critical support and learning opportunities which enhance the process of spiritual, vocational and personal discernment. Honest perspective from pastors and laity on the students' use of this opportunity gives students an early read on their potential for leadership in the community of faith.

These experiences fall exclusively within United Methodist congregations in the state of North Carolina, primarily in rural or semi-rural settings. They provide a $3,000 salary, a $4,250 scholarship, and room, board and travel expense for the ten-week term. Ordinarily, ten-week terms begin the Memorial Day weekend and conclude the second Sunday of August. In order to participate in this program, students must have access to personal transportation and be available to serve anywhere in North Carolina.

Since the Ministry Discernment Program occurs prior to enrollment at Duke Divinity School and, thus, participants have neither enrolled in nor completed the prerequisite Church Ministry elective, such placements will not receive field education placement credit.

Internship Program

A full-time internship embraces both a full-time salaried position and a learning commitment in a single context over a six- to twelve- month period. These opportunities provide in-depth practice of ministry skills particular to the student's field placement setting and vocational goals. Internships must encompass an advanced level of specialized field experience that is more complex and extensive in its serving and learning potential than the basic field education short-term placement. The internship may be individually designed to meet the needs and interests of the student, provided that the plan includes a student learning covenant, approved supervisory standards, and an investigation-research project acceptable to the assigned faculty adviser. When these components are satisfactorily met and the evaluation reports are filed, credit for up to two courses may be assigned to the internship. No additional academic credit may be accumulated during the intern year. Grading for the two course credits will be on a pass/ fail basis.

Internship settings may be student-initiated or negotiated by the school. In either case an agency contract covering all agreements must be made and filed with the Office of Field Education. Types of settings occasionally available for internship placement include campus ministry and college chaplaincy positions; parish ministry positions such as associate pastor or director of education; and institutional positions.

To be eligible to register for an internship, the student must have completed at least one-half of his/her degree program and be registered as a student in good standing in the Divinity School. Application forms and processing for internships will be done through the Office of Field Education.

Students Serving As Pastors

Students frequently serve as pastors of churches, or part-time associates, during the period of their study in the Divinity School. These appointments or calls are arranged by the appropriate denominational official or body. The Divinity School recognizes this arrangement and recommends that the student consult with the Office of Field Education, as agent of the dean, before accepting an appointment as pastor or associate pastor.

The Office of Field Education cannot arrange these appointments or calls. This is within the jurisdiction of denominational authorities, and students should initiate their own arrangements. The Office of Field Education, however, requires a student application for appointment prior to accepting one. The office also provides area church officials with recommendations for students upon request.

Students who serve in these capacities ordinarily may enroll in no more than three courses per semester, thus requiring eight semesters to complete the Master of Divinity degree. Student pastors are not permitted to enroll in summer study of any kind. Relaxation of this requirement requires the permission (on the appropriate form) of the supervising church official, the pastor-parish or other personnel committee, the field education staff, and the associate dean for academic programs. Students are strongly and actively discouraged from attempting to commute more than fifty miles one-way on a daily basis. Extensive commuting will jeopardize the student's academic program, health, ministry, and family life.

In keeping with the goal of the school to develop competence in ministry, students should use their pastoral appointments as learning contexts. Student Pastor Mentoring Groups, comprised of four to six students together with a learned pastor, meet weekly for counsel, direction, and critical theological reflection. Biennial evaluation is required in the pastor's parish. If all the conditions outlined for credit are met, and all reports are completed and filed at the appropriate time, credit may be extended. If, however, the parish setting proves inadequate for the student's needs for ministerial growth and development, the field education staff will convene a review committee consisting of the student's faculty advisor, a member of the Field Education Committee, and one of the field education staff to review the student's needs and take appropriate action to assist the student in growth. Examples of such action are: requiring an alternative field experience, or a basic unit of clinical pastoral education, psychological evaluation, personal therapy, spiritual direction, leave of absence from the school, etc.

Field Education and Clinical Pastoral Education

Students may use a unit of clinical pastoral education successfully completed in an accredited CPE center to fulfill either the first or the second field education requirement. Students may not enroll simultaneously in the field education program and CPE. To receive field education placement credit, students must have the CPE center mail directly to the Office of Field Education the original or certified copy of the supervisor's final evaluation indicating the unit was successfully completed and a full unit of credit extended. The field office will then notify the Divinity School registry to this effect, and both academic and field education placement credit may be given. For the first field education placement credit, CPE must be concurrent with or within twelve months following the CM elective. For the second field education placement, CPE must be taken following the middler year evaluation. Field Education credit may be granted on the basis of the field education staff's approval of both program and experience.

International Programs

A Global Perspective for Duke Divinity School

We need to ensure that all our students will have exposure to international ideas and information during their time here. This can be accomplished in a number of ways—by encouraging them to spend time abroad, by increasing the number of students and faculty who come to Duke from other countries, by designing courses and extracurricular programs with an international dimension. Most fundamentally, however, we must cease to think of "international" experiences as exotic, separate from our basic experience each day. We should make international links and contexts an integral part of the way we think and live at Duke; we should work past special enclaves and earmarked programs towards the day when everything we do will be informed by our global consciousness.

President Nannerl O. Keohane, Inaugural Address, October 23, 1993

As an institution within the church the Divinity School seeks to contribute and learn from the life of the church in a wider world. This desire to contribute and to learn takes its shape from Christ's invitation to share in God's love for the world. Through its international engagements, the Divinity School also seeks to respond to God's call for unity in diversity among the churches and in the world. As an institution that educates and forms students for ministry, the Divinity School seeks to engage students with the life of the church in a wider world as part of their education and formation. The Divinity School also seeks to play a full part in the internationalization of Duke University. Besides giving students an ever deeper appreciation for the international context of their lives, the Divinity School encourages faculty to develop cross-cultural research programs that in turn inform course development and teaching.

The Home Country. Duke Divinity School continues to attract students from other countries who make a significant contribution to the community. Every year, we have about ten international students from several different countries. Because of financial limitations and the maturation of higher theological institutions in other parts of the world, a majority of the international students come for a shorter period of time and for advanced degrees.

Furthermore, the Lecture Program Committee brings a succession of distinguished scholars and church leaders to speak in the Divinity School. Among these in the last few years have been Lesslie Newbigin and Gustavo Gutierrez.

In addition to courses in world Christianity (including Theology in Context: The Church in Latin America, Theologies of Third World Women, and Liberation Theologies) and courses in the history of religion under the graduate program, various other departments offer courses related to international studies: War in the Christian Tradition, Ethics in World Religions, Marxist Ideology and Christian Faith, and Food and Hunger, among others. Professors Geoffrey Wainwright and Lewis Ayres from Great Britain, Peter Storey from South Africa, and Teresa Berger and Reinhard Hütter from Germany add an international and ecumenical flavor to the faculty.

Travel Seminars. For a number of years, under the supervision of the Center for Continuing Education, faculty members have led travel seminars to study the role of the Church in significant areas of social and cultural development. Each year the Divinity School takes groups of seminary students, faculty, and ministers to Mexico, generally during the spring recess.

An inter-seminary travel seminar to the Middle East, involving several Duke students, is offered to sites in Jordan and Israel.

Student pastor serving a Korean Methodist Church in Durham.

Study Abroad. At the present time the one regular, on-going program of study abroad is an exchange with the University of Bonn, Germany. Each year one German student is enrolled for a year at Duke, while an American student is selected to study in Bonn. This program, carried on for many years, has been augmented by faculty seminars. The Divinity School also has a regular exchange program with the Methodist Church in Peru. As a part of this exploration, one of our students and one of our faculty members spent the spring semester of 1989 and the fall semester of 1992 in Lima, Peru. In 1991, four of our faculty members went on a travel seminar to Peru to strengthen Duke's links with the churches there. A student-faculty study seminar to Peru took place in 1997.

Duke University is one of the supporting members of the American Schools of Oriental Research. Accordingly, students and faculty in the Divinity School have the privilege of attending the Albright Institute of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, the American Center of Oriental Research in Amman, and other similar institutions without charge for tuition. They may also compete for the four fellowships offered annually by the schools.

Individual students from time to time have made private arrangements for study abroad. This study has most often taken place in England or Scotland, with academic credit usually transferrable toward the Duke degree. Most recently, one of our students fulfilled her field education requirement through working for a semester within the Anglican Church in Mozambique, while two others spent a year in Cochabamba, Bolivia, working in a shelter for women and children on the streets of the city. Invitations have been extended from such widely-scattered institutions as Wesley College, Bristol, England; Trinity Theological College, Singapore; United Theological College, Bangalore, South India; and the School of Theology, Sao Paulo, Brazil. The International Studies Committee will assist with contacts and information for individual proposals.

International Service. The involvement of Duke Divinity School with international institutions and cultures has always gone beyond one-way educational opportunities. Over the years, faculty, alumnae and alumni, and students have lived and worked in locations abroad, under both ecclesiastical and secular auspices. The latest listings include approximately a hundred seminary graduates in ministry overseas.

Divinity students often participate in international service projects on a short-term basis. Several have taken part in evangelistic or construction work-teams, chiefly in the Caribbean. Baptist students have the opportunity to study at the Baptist Theological Seminary in Zimbabwe and to do internships in the Baptist churches of Zimbabwe. Faculty, too, are engaged in a variety of activities outside the United States. In addition to innumerable conferences and lectures in Canada and Europe, professors have taught and given papers in countries of the Two-Thirds World: for example, Professor Wainwright in Ireland, Israel, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand. Professor Hauerwas will deliver the prestigious Gifford Lecturers for the year 2001 at the University of Saint Andrews, Scotland.

Black Church Affairs

William C. Turner Jr., Associate Professor of the Practice of Homiletics

The Office of Black Church Affairs

The Office of Black Church Affairs has two principal objectives: (1) to assist black students in deriving the greatest possible value from theological education; and (2) to call the entire Divinity School community to serious and realistic dialogue with the Black Church and the black community. In keeping with these objectives, the Office of Black Church Affairs provides the following programs, activities, and services:

Academic Study. American theological education has long ignored the concerns and contributions of the black religious experience, a circumstance that the Divinity School curriculum addresses through (1) offering courses whose content and methods draw upon scholarship about and by African-Americans and (2) the inclusion of African-American scholarship in courses throughout the curriculum.

Preaching and Lecture Series. Fall and spring preaching and lecture series provide frequent opportunities to hear outstanding black preachers in Divinity School classes and worship services. The Gardner C. Taylor Preaching Series brings outstanding black preachers to the campus, and the Martin Luther King, Jr. Lecture Series brings to the Divinity School community lecturers of national stature to address the issues of justice, peace, and liberation in relation to the insights of the Gospel and the black religious experience.

Continuing Education. In cooperation with the Center for Continuing Theological Education, the Office of Black Church Affairs provides several programs for black pastors in the region, including the Gardner C. Taylor Black Preaching Series, the Martin Luther King, Jr. Lecture Series, and seminars on black concerns and issues. Occasional conferences, colloquies, symposia, and the Annual Convocation and Pastors' School supplement these offerings.

There are opportunities for academic study for all qualified black pastors and lay persons. The extensive holdings of the Divinity School Library are also available upon application to the librarian of the Divinity School.

Church Relationships. Through the Office of Black Church Affairs, the Divinity School reaches out to the black churches in the Durham-Raleigh vicinity. Such relationships not only afford excellent field settings for ministerial study and work, but they also provide a laboratory in which both blacks and whites together can gain wider knowledge of, deeper appreciation for, and increased sensitivity to the issues and urgencies of black culture.

The Office of Black Church Affairs also acts as a liaison with several clergy and community groups including the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance and the Durham Ministerial Association.

The Office of Black Church Affairs provides counsel and advice to prospective black seminarians in undergraduate schools and encourages inquiries concerning study opportunities available at Duke Divinity School. For further information, contact the Office of the Director of Black Church Affairs, The Divinity School, Duke University, Box 90971, Durham, North Carolina 27708-0971.

Continuing Education

Elias Chacour, founder of Mar Elias Technical College in Ibillin, Galilee and Nobel Peace Prize nominee, lectures at the 1999 Convocation and Pastors' School.

The Center for Continuing Education

Through the Center for Continuing Education the Divinity School offers extensive opportunities in education for the Church's ministry. Persons of all communions and traditions wishing to pursue learning opportunities are invited to participate in Center for Continuing Education programs.

A year-round program of residential seminars and conferences, retreats and lectures provides lifelong learning for clergy and laity. Outstanding Divinity School faculty and visiting lecturers lead continuing education events, lending their individual and corporate expertise to the learning process. Programs include classes that focus on the study of specific books of the Bible or contemporary theological and ethical issues, as well as workshops designed to enhance the effective practice of ministry. Programs specific to the United Methodist tradition and process of higher education are also offered. Through program diversity, the Divinity School offers opportunities to a wide range of persons engaged in the ministry of the Church.

Admission and Scholarships

Through the Divinity School, conferences, churches, and other supporting groups and institutions have made available designated funds to assist in continuing education for ministry. Inquiries, applications for admission, and requests for continuing education scholarships for residential seminars should be directed to: The Center for Continuing Education, The Divinity School, Box 90966, Durham, North Carolina 27708-0966, (919) 660-3448 or toll-free (888) 845-4216.

The Convocation and Pastors' School

The annual Divinity School Convocation and Pastors' School, a cooperative endeavor with the North Carolina and Western North Carolina Conferences of the United Methodist Church through the Board of Managers of the Pastors' School, brings together ministers, laypersons, students, and faculty for a series of lectures, sermons, and courses, along with alumni/ae reunions and social occasions. The 2000 Convocation will be held Oct. 9-11.

The James A. Gray Lectures. These annual lectures, established in 1950 as part of a bequest made in 1947 by James A. Gray of Winston-Salem, N. C., are delivered during the Divinity School Convocation and Pastors' School.

The Franklin S. Hickman Lectures. This lectureship was established in 1966 as part of a bequest by Mrs. Franklin S. Hickman in memory of her late husband, Dr. Franklin Simpson Hickman, professor of psychology of religion, Duke Divinity School, and dean of the Chapel, Duke University. This lectureship enables the Divinity School to bring practicing ministers of extraordinary qualities to lecture and preach in the Convocation and Pastors' School and to participate in Divinity School classes, worship, and informal sessions with students and faculty.

Annual Lectures

The Kenneth Willis Clark Lectures. Established in 1984, the Kenneth Willis Clark Lectureship Fund honors the life and work of Reverend Professor Kenneth Willis Clark, a Divinity School faculty member for 36 years. Each year this fund enables the Divinity School to offer a distinguished program with special emphasis on New Testament studies and textual criticism.

The Richard A. Goodling Lectures. Established in memory of Dr. Richard A. Goodling, professor of pastoral psychology at the Divinity School from 1959-1986, this fund underwrites lectures or seminars in pastoral psychology for the benefit of the Divinity School community.

The Jameson Jones Lectures. A legacy of the 11th dean of the Divinity School, the Jameson Jones Fund provides for an annual lecture in the practice of ministry.

Duke Lay Academy of Religion

The Lay Academy of Religion offers continuing education courses for all interested persons throughout the year with sessions in selected sites. Courses are offered in the Bible, comparative religions, theology, Christian ethics, and other selected topics. Contact the Center for Continuing Education, Duke Divinity School, Box 90966, Durham, N. C. 27708-0966 or call (919) 660-3448 for more information and a current list of courses.

Duke Youth Academy for Christian Formation

The Youth Academy for Christian Formation seeks to revive interest in the theological formation and education as both profession and passion among the nation's most promising youth. A two-week summer program funded by the Lilly Endowment provides the opportunity for talented youth to pursue an intense process of theological learning and study. Through Christian practices of worship, prayer, hospitality, service, study and solitude, youth form habits and develop tools for theological reflection, ethical and moral decision making, and discernment for Christian living. The Youth Academy is open to youth of all communions who exhibit a love of learning and a desire for God.

National Institute for New Church Development

Duke Divinity School's Center for Continuing Education holds an annual institute for pastors involved in the process of beginning and sustaining new local churches. This institute is appropriate for pastors who are either starting a new church or who desire to be better equipped to start new churches. The institute combines keynote addresses and practical workshops for focused leadership development. A certificate of completion is awarded to those who complete two consecutive sessions in the institute.

Royce and Jane Reynolds Program in Church Leadership

The Reynolds Program in Church Leadership is a focused effort for renewal in the United Methodist Church through leadership development. The centerpiece of the Reynolds Program is a yearlong, intensive course of study for effective clergy resulting in a Certificate in Church Leadership. The certificate program is a collaborative effort between the Divinity School and the Center for Creative Leadership, an international, non-profit educational institution committed to enhancing the understanding and development of leadership, located in Greensboro. Twenty pastors are selected every year to participate in the certificate program. Larger groups of clergy are invited to a series of one-day seminars held throughout the region and throughout the year. These seminars feature effective church and community leaders and are designed to both motivate leadership efforts and to raise the standards for ministerial effectiveness.

Seminars and Conferences

The Center for Continuing Education offers a number of seminars and conferences throughout the year. Seminars are opportunities for small group learning and focused study, while conferences present opportunities for broader consideration. Seminars and conferences are designed for clergy, laity or both.

Ministry in the Vicinity

Ministers and churches in the vicinity of Duke University are especially welcome to avail themselves of continuing theological education programs, facilities, and other services of the Divinity School and its faculty and students. They are invited to attend public lectures, visit with distinguished lecturers, participate in in-residence seminars and conferences, audit selected courses, and use the resources of the Divinity School Library. Divinity School faculty, staff and students are generally available for preaching, teaching and other services in churches of the community and region.

Additional Study Opportunities

Duke University offers opportunities for interdisciplinary study in theology and medicine, women's studies, and other fields.

The J. M. Ormond Center for Research, Planning, and Development

This center was established in memory of the late Dr. J. M. Ormond, professor of practical theology of Duke Divinity School and director of the Rural Church Program under The Duke Endowment, 1923-48. The North Carolina Annual Conference established the J. M. Ormond Fund in 1951 as part of the special effort of the North Carolina and the Western North Carolina Conferences of the United Methodist Church to provide additional programs at the Divinity School. It is jointly supported by the Ormond Fund and the Rural Church section of The Duke Endowment.

The center has three purposes. First, it assists the Church in its ministry by providing research and planning services. Second, it provides training for ministerial students in church and community studies. Third, it contributes through basic research to the understanding of the nature and functioning of the Church. Emphasis is given to research and planning studies of rural United Methodist churches in North Carolina.

Programs in Pastoral Psychology

Programs in pastoral psychology beyond the studies incorporated in the M.Div. curriculum are provided in cooperation with Duke University Medical Center. Two such programs are available.

1. The Master of Theology degree with a major in pastoral psychology is ordinarily a calendar-year program beginning the first full week in June. However, upon the recommendation of the staff, candidates with a quarter or more of clinical pastoral education may begin their program in September. The candidate may plan one of two programs or concentrations:
 - a. concentration in pastoral theology relating psychology and theological understanding to professional ministry, especially the parish, through coursework and supervised field or clinical experience; and
 - b. concentration in pastoral care and an introduction to the field of pastoral counseling through course work and a residency year in clinical pastoral education.
 - c. concentration in pastoral supervision through course work and a supervisory clinical pastoral education program.

A quarter of clinical pastoral education is considered a prerequisite for all programs. Students who wish to complete the residency year in CPE and earn a Master of Theology degree will normally need a minimum of 18 months to complete the program.

Students in CPE may not have other field education appointments or employment. However, a CPE unit will, when satisfactorily completed, count as one field education unit if taken in relation to either Field Education Seminar I or II. Only one field education requirement may be fulfilled by CPE.

In the context of clinical pastoral education, various professional goals may be sought, including general understanding and skills in pastoral care and specialization in clinical pastoral supervision. Persons specializing in clinical pastoral supervision will advance toward certification with the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, Inc.

2. Single units of clinical pastoral education are offered each summer (beginning the first week in June and running for ten weeks) and concurrent with the fall and spring semesters in the Medical Center. Single units of parish-based clinical pastoral education may be available concurrent with the fall and spring semesters. When the unit is completed within one semester, the student may take two other courses in the regular M.Div. program. Two transfer course credits will be granted for a summer CPE quarter or two course credits will be granted for the unit taken during the academic year. Only one unit (2 course credits) may be applied to the M.Div. or M.C.M. Students are reminded that ordinarily no more than five courses out of twenty-four for the M.Div. degree should be taken in any one subdivision.

3. A one-year certificate or nondegree residency program in clinical pastoral education is available through the Duke Medical Center for persons who hold the Master of Divinity degree or the equivalent. Such training usually provides four units of certified clinical pastoral education credit. These persons may enroll in the Divinity School as special students for a course or two each semester.

Admission to either a single unit or the residency program of Clinical Pastoral Education is distinct from admission to the Divinity School. Applications for CPE enrollment are available in the Pastoral Services Office, Duke Medical Center.

For further information concerning any of these programs, write to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, Duke Divinity School. See the section on the Master of Theology degree program.

Women's Studies at Duke University

Divinity School students of all degree programs are encouraged to undertake a women's studies concentration as a part of their program. The concentration represents a body of interdisciplinary work in feminist scholarship separate from work on women in ministry. Students undertaking a women's studies certificate are assumed to have at least one undergraduate course in history, literature, sociology or psychology in order to begin concentration. Students interested in undertaking a concentration need to consult the women's studies brochure as well as the special hand-out on "Graduate Work in Women's Studies" issued annually by the program. They must also make an appointment to talk with the director. The purpose of this initial contact is to lay out a plan of study in women's studies that will coordinate with the course work in the Divinity School and to declare formally the intention to earn a certificate, ensuring a place in the core course, WST 211.

Divinity School students who have had a significant interruption in their educational program, returning to the university after gaining extensive life experience, and those who have worked professionally in women-centered services outside the university, earn the certificate by taking at least 3 courses:

- WST 211, A History of Feminist Thought, an interdisciplinary seminar focusing on materials by and about women over time;
 - CT 214, Feminist Theology, a course which presents the methodological issues of combining gender analysis with theological reflection and covers major feminist theologies by treating each of the traditional doctrines of systematic theology in terms of the pertinent feminist issues identified by these works;
 - one additional course that is listed with the program, either within the Divinity School or from another university department.
- Divinity students who have entered Duke with less than five years of noncollegiate experience and no work history in women-centered services earn the certificate by taking at least 4 courses:
- WST 211;
 - CT 214;
 - two additional courses that are listed with the program, one of which must be offered by a department outside the Divinity School. This outside course may be cross-listed with the Divinity School and another department or professional school.

These policies are effective for those earning the graduate certification in Women's Studies after October 1, 1991.

(For relation of this opportunity to requirements of the several degree programs, see section on the curriculum. Note especially the "Required Limited Elective" in Theologies in Context that is part of the M.Div. degree.)

Denominational Studies

The Divinity School offers the full array of courses required for ordained and diaconal ministry in the United Methodist Church (see below for particulars). It also offers courses in the history and polity of other denominations substantially represented in the student population. Baptist, Christian (Disciples of Christ), Episcopal, Presbyterian, and United Church of Christ courses occur on a regular, usually two-year cycle. Courses on other traditions have been arranged when needed and when staffing was available.

In 1989, the Divinity School began creating advisory committees on denominational studies. Three have been established to date, a Committee on Presbyterian Studies, a Committee on Baptist Studies (now known as the Board of Directors of the Baptist House of Studies), and a Committee on Episcopal Studies. Others may be established if needed.

The task of such committees is to take under care the persons from the respective traditions who are preparing for diverse ministries at Duke Divinity School. That care shall consist of advising students; counseling and preparing candidates for judicatory examinations or interviews; advising the Divinity School on the curricular and extra-curricular needs of those students; participating as appropriate and necessary in teaching of courses designed with students from the respective tradition in mind; creating an atmosphere at Duke University conducive to the effective preparation of that denomination's ministers; and holding events, services, and workshops instrumental toward the transmission of denominational practice, tradition, and doctrine.

Theology and Medicine Program

The Theology and Medicine Program at Duke University School reflects a commitment to the Christian practices of caring for the sick and dying. Building upon a 30-year tradition of collaboration with the Duke University Medical Center, the Divinity School offers innovative programs to develop and sustain practices among caregivers and patients that are consistent with the central Christian virtue of charity. The Theology and Medicine program seeks to revive and sustain the historical link between Christian faith and health care. For as long as the Church has existed, Christians have been caring for the sick and suffering as a fundamental expression of the compassionate love of God.

Health and Nursing Ministries Program

The Divinity School and the Duke School of Nursing have created a joint program in Health and Nursing Ministries. This program offers a strong foundation in both theology and advanced practice nursing with a specific focus on parish nursing. Both schools seek to address two important challenges of contemporary health care: (1) In the face of expanding and increasingly sophisticated technology, how can caregivers offer a caring presence to human suffering? and (2) How can health promotion and disease prevention be enhanced in light of our understanding of persons as whole human beings? Recognizing that the nursing profession and the Church share a commitment to both of these, the Health and Nursing Ministries Program was established to educate nurses for ministry in the local congregation and in partnership with health care systems. Three different joint programs of study that may be taken either full-time or part-time have been developed in addition to a Post-Masters Certificate Program.

Master in Church Ministries/HNM Track

Offered by the Divinity School, this two-year (full-time) degree program will prepare nurses to serve as health care ministers in local congregation. The curriculum provides for the integration of a substantial theological education with a solid foundation of advanced nursing education. With course work in Biblical studies, Theology and Ethics, History of Christianity and Pastoral Care, along with gaining knowledge in health promotion and disease prevention, community-based health care and diagnostic skills, nurses will be prepared to work as parish nurses and health systems parish nurse coordinators. The typical applicant for this degree will be an accomplished, experienced nurse who desires and understands the need for substantial theological education as preparation for ministry in the local church. One summer is required to fulfill the year-long 300-hour clinical field experience.

Master of Science in Nursing/ Major in Health and Nursing Ministries

Offered by the School of Nursing, this two-year (full-time) degree is designed to offer students significant advanced nursing preparation as clinicians, clinical investigators and coordinators of health and nursing ministries while equipping them with a basic theological education offered by the Divinity School. Graduates of this program will be prepared to serve as parish nurses, health systems parish nurse coordinators, health systems care managers, and community health nurses. The typical applicant for this degree will be an accomplished nurse with a desire and aptitude for advanced nursing who also understands the value of a basic core theological education. One summer is required to fulfill the year-long 300-hour clinical field experience.

Dual Degree Master in Church Ministries and Master of Science in Nursing

This three-year (full-time) dual degree program is offered jointly by the Schools of Divinity and Nursing for those students who desire both thorough preparation in advanced nursing practice and significant theological study. Graduates of this program will be prepared to develop, implement, and coordinate comprehensive parish and community based nursing programs. The typical applicant for this degree will be a nurse who sees the need for both advanced clinical education and substantial theological preparation, interested in advancing the scope of parish nursing practice at a conceptual level. The 300-hour clinical field experience begins during the summer session after the first year and continues through the spring of the second year. All requirements must be met for admission to both the Divinity School and the School of Nursing.

Post-Master's Certificate in Health and Nursing Ministries

The Post-Master Certificate in Health and Nursing is designed to educate nurses who have earned the MSN in another clinical specialty and now desire the theological and nursing education necessary to prepare them to serve as congregational health ministers. Students in this program take courses both in the Divinity School and the School of Nursing and may pursue the certificate on either a full-time or part-time basis.

Duke Institute on Care at The End of Life

The Duke Institute on Care at the End of Life is founded on the conviction that good care for the dying and the grieving includes, but goes far beyond, sophisticated medical technology, medical expertise and business efficiency. Rather, the notion of "dying well" flows from traditional virtues of charity and compassion. When death is seen as a basic part of life, care for the dying becomes a ritual focus for families, friends and community members. By contrast, too many of us today see death as a failure. If we hope to recover the practice of dying well, we must attend to the complexities of the social, cultural, moral, theological, public policy and economic issues involved in living and dying.

The Duke Institute on Care at the End of Life was created to address such complexities. Its mission is to improve the care of suffering and dying patients through interdisciplinary scholarship, teaching and outreach. The Institute, based in the Divinity School, draws together Duke scholars from the Medical Center, the college of Arts and Sciences and other schools of the university. Reaching beyond Duke, the Institute will be in partnership with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's School of Social Work, North Carolina Central University, and St. Christopher's Hospice in London, England, among others.

Core Faculty for the Institute contribute expertise in theology, medicine, nursing, social work, and the humanities. The Institute funds scholarships for students who are focused on care at the end of life in Theology and Medicine, pastoral theology and the Health and Nursing Ministries Program. The Institute also coordinates educational symposia and funds visiting scholars.

Curriculum

Students work in the Divinity Library's new Baker Methodist Research Center, which houses the Frank Baker Collection of Wesleyana and British Methodism.

Degree Programs

The academic work of the Divinity School presently embraces four degree programs: the Master of Divinity degree (M.Div.), ordinarily of three academic years; a one-year program beyond the basic degree, the Master of Theology (Th.M.); and two programs of two academic years, one leading to the degree of Master in Church Ministries (M.C.M.) and the other to the degree of Master of Theological Studies (M.T.S.). The M.C.M. was created in 1996-97 to replace the Master of Religious Education (M.R.E.), and accommodates better than the M.R.E. the range of specialized ministries now exercised in Christian communities.

The first three are graduate-professional degrees; the M.T.S., inaugurated in September of 1987, is a general academic degree. Admission to candidacy for any of these degrees presupposes the completion of the A.B. or its equivalent.

Students preparing for ordination into the Christian ministry and requiring appropriate graduate-professional education will enroll for the Master of Divinity degree. Students whose acquired academic standing, under this basic degree program, entitles them to further specialized study may advance their command of selected theological disciplines by applying for an additional year of studies leading to the Master of Theology degree. Together, these two degree programs constitute a sequence. Although the Master of Divinity degree fulfills requirements for ordination by prevailing ecclesiastical standards, the Th.M. program may assist in assuring a larger measure of professional preparation. Application for admission to the Th.M. program is open to graduates of other schools who have completed the basic theological degree.

The Master in Church Ministries degree program is designed to prepare qualified persons, ordinarily not seeking ordination, for ministries in local churches or other organizations. The course of study is arranged to provide grounding in biblical, historical, and theological disciplines as essential background for instruction in and exercise of professional competence in curricular planning, teaching methods, and supervision of educational programs for various age groups. The M.T.S. provides an introduction to the theological disciplines as foundation for a graduate research degree (Ph.D); preparation for lay religious degrees other than Christian education; grounding for teaching, research, or practice in another field (e.g., history, psychology, music); enhancement of institutional roles; and personal enrichment.

The specific requirements for each of these degrees are found in the succeeding pages. Completed course work cannot be credited toward more than one degree. Reciprocal transfer of credit for course work taken under the M.Div., M.C.M., or M.T.S. programs requires the permission of the associate dean for academic programs.

Doctoral Studies Accredited by the Graduate School

The Divinity School provides a substantial body of course offerings to an advanced level in biblical, historical, systematic, and contemporary theological disciplines that are accredited by the Graduate School and the faculty of the Divinity School, and lead to the Doctor of Philosophy degree. Sharing responsibility with the university Department of Religion for staffing and curricular provisions of this course of study, the Divinity School is the principal contributor to the program of graduate studies in religion. However, the Ph.D. in religion is certified and awarded under the Graduate School, and the doctoral student's admission and matriculation are administered under that division of Duke University.

With few exceptions, most courses in the Bulletin of Duke University: The Divinity School carrying a 200 number or above and belonging to the fields noted above are applicable to doctoral programs of study. These courses are open to qualified M.Div., Th.M., M.C.M., or M.T.S. students by permission of the instructor.

Qualified persons who desire to pursue studies leading to the degree of M.A. or Ph.D. in religion, under the administration of the Graduate School, are advised to apply to the dean of that school. Inquiries concerning fellowships or specific requirements of the Program of Graduate Studies in Religion may be addressed to the director, 209 Divinity School.

Spiritual formation groups are required for first-year M.Div. and M.C.M. students.

Administration of the Curriculum

Students are required at the time of each registration period to plan their course of study with the consultation and approval of their assigned faculty advisers. Such programs are subject to the review and approval of the Committee on Academic Standing, the dean, and the associate dean for academic programs. It is the responsibility of each student to see that all requirements for graduation (and for ecclesiastical ordination) are met, and that any special permission granted to deviate from the normal program is properly recorded on the personal files in the registry.

Grading System. The Divinity School employs the grading scale with the letters, A, B, C, D, that have been defined as follows: A, excellent; B, good; C, satisfactory; D, passing; F, failure; WI, withdrew illness; W, withdrew, discretion of the dean; WF, withdrew failing; I, incomplete; P, passed; NC, noncredit; Z, year course. At the discretion of the instructor, individuals or classes may in certain instances be graded simply as pass or fail. Such P/F grades shall be limited to no more than 25 percent of a student's total curriculum at Duke and will not be figured in the grade point average. Pass/fail must be elected before the end of drop/add for any enrollment period.

The denotations are defined as follows according to quality points: A, 4; A- 3.7; B+, 3.3; B, 3.0; B-, 2.7; C+, 2.3; C, 2.0; C-, 1.7; D+, 1.3; D, 1.0.

In the core or foundational courses, the grading is as follows: A, B, C, and F. The grade of D does not exist in core or foundational courses. Students are required to obtain the grade of C- or better in order to pass a core or foundational course. Students earning a grade lower than a C- in a core or foundational course shall be obliged to retake the course for credit and pass the course with a grade of C- or better. [See the relevant pages in the Bulletin of the Divinity School for specified core or foundational courses.]

Advanced Placement. Students may, on the basis of undergraduate courses, a religion major, or other substantial preparation, be given advanced placement in one or more of the eight required subjects. Such placement normally presumes at least two college courses in a given area (e.g., Old Testament) with a satisfactory grade average and permits the student to fulfill the requirement by electing an advanced course in the same area (e.g., an advanced Old Testament course in place of Old Testament 11).

Limited Program. Students whose work after admission is not satisfactory may be placed on limited programs by the Academic Standing Committee and are required to reduce their course loads or to make other academic adjustments. Students who during the first year of Divinity School maintain less than a C (2.0) average, including failures, ordinarily will be required to withdraw from the school.

Incompletes. A student may petition the associate dean for academic programs to receive a grade of incomplete in a course. This petition must be filed in writing on the prescribed form with the registry on or before the last official day of classes of the semester in question. Such permission may be granted when a student, through some circumstances beyond control, such as illness, has been hindered from meeting the course requirements. Adjudication of the petition will rest with the associate dean and the instructor concerned. The associate dean will communicate in writing to the student regarding the joint decision and any conditions attached thereto. An incomplete becomes either an F or a permanent incomplete unless it is removed through completion of assigned work by the following dates: for incompletes incurred in fall semester courses, February 1; for incompletes incurred in spring semester courses, September 1. The grade of permanent incomplete is reserved for instances in which the student's work in the course was substantial and of passing quality.

Change of Courses or Withdrawal. Students are permitted to change their course registrations, without incurring a penalty, during the prescribed drop/add period at the beginning of each semester. Any alteration in the number of courses must be officially reported and recorded. The adding of a course requires the permission of the instructor of that course as well as the student's faculty adviser. Any refund of tuition related to withdrawals will be according to the published schedule.

No student will be permitted to withdraw from a course after one-half of the semester without incurring failure, except for causes adjudged by the associate dean for academic programs to be beyond the student's control. Conditions of genuine emergency and not considerations of convenience will be determinative in considering requests, which must be submitted in writing on academic petition forms.

Leave of Absence. A student wishing to take a leave of absence for one or two semesters, and intending to return to a degree program in the Divinity School, should so notify the associate dean for academic programs in writing in advance. No leave of absence will be granted for more than one full academic year, although an emergency extension may be requested from the associate dean for academic programs.

Withdrawals from School. Students deciding to withdraw from the Divinity School, for whatever reason, should consult with their faculty advisers and the associate dean for academic programs, and must file a written statement of withdrawal prior to departure. All students who have officially withdrawn or whose leave of absence extends beyond one academic year but who wish later to return to the Divinity School will be required to reapply for admission, and provide whatever documentation is required by the director of admissions.

Directed Study. Students may, with permission of their faculty advisers and the instructors involved, take one or two units of Directed Study, preferably not in the same semester. These independent study courses under individual faculty supervision are ordinarily in subjects at an advanced level which cover material not available in the regular curriculum. Students wishing to take more than two courses by Directed Study must have permission from the associate dean for academic programs in consultation with the student's faculty adviser and the instructor who agrees to direct that study.

Cognate Courses. Students may, in consultation with their faculty advisers, take up to two graduate level courses in other departments of Duke University or at the University of North Carolina. Permission for more than two such cognate courses must be secured from the associate dean for academic programs. Courses in Duke's Department of Religion do not count within this limit.

Graduation with Distinction. Students who achieve a grade point average of 3.85 for overall academic records in the M.Div., M.T.S., and M.C.M. programs are granted the degree summa cum laude. Students with a grade point average of 3.65 or above are awarded their degrees, magna cum laude. Such distinction is calculated on the basis of letter grades only, totaling at least three-quarters of all courses taken at Duke, and will be indicated on the student's diploma.

Part-Time Students. Students taking less than three courses in any given semester are considered part-time students and are ineligible for financial aid from the school.

Auditors. Full-time students paying for at least three courses are permitted to audit additional courses at no extra cost, if space permits, with the approval of their advisers, the associate dean for academic programs, and the instructor of the class. Special students, part-time students, or persons not candidates for degrees in the university are charged an audit fee for each such course.

The Basic Theological Degree-Master of Divinity

The faculty of the Divinity School views the curriculum as dynamic, not static; constantly endeavors to review the curriculum as a whole and to tailor individual courses to meet the needs of a rapidly changing world; and periodically commits itself to overall curricular change. Major curricular revisions were instituted in 1948, 1959, and 1967. Another such revision took effect in September of 1987.

This degree program is structured to elicit a positive response to: (1) the challenge to provide an adequate professional education for ministry; (2) the needed variability of ministries in today's complex world; (3) the norms of university education; and (4) the Christian tradition.

Aims of the Curriculum. The aims of the basic degree program focus upon four goals, four areas of personal and curricular responsibility, four lifelong tasks which should be strongly advanced during the seminary years.

1. The Christian Tradition. To acquire a basic understanding of the biblical, historical, and theological heritage.
2. Self-Understanding. To progress in personal and professional maturity, personal identity, life-style as an instrument of ministry, major drives, handling of conflict, resources, professional competency, etc. This is to be coupled with a sensitivity to the world in which we minister, its social forces, its power structures, its potential for humanization and dehumanization.
3. Thinking Theologically. To have the ability to reflect upon major theological and social issues and to define current issues in theological terms and theological issues in contemporary secular terms.
4. Ministering-in-Context. To have the ability to conceptualize and participate effectively in some form of contemporary ministry.

Goals of such scope cannot be neatly programmed in any curriculum, and the degree of achievement (in seminary and beyond) will vary with individuals and their own motives and incentives.

The Basic Curriculum General Description. Graduation requirements for the Master of Divinity degree consist of satisfactory completion of twenty-four courses, with an overall grade point average of C (2.0) or better; ten basic courses or their equivalent; three limited electives; two units of approved field education; and two evaluations.

The basic curriculum provides for foundational courses in biblical, historical, theological, and ministerial studies representative of the tradition and regarded as indispensable background for subsequent elective work and individual program information. These required courses total ten of the twenty-four courses necessary for graduation. They are Old Testament 11, New Testament 18, Church History 13 and 14, American Christianity 28, Christian Theology 32, Christian Ethics 33, and Preaching 30. At least one course must be elected from each of four designated lists of offerings (available at registration) in advanced Church's Ministry, Biblical Studies, Black Church Studies, and Theologies in Context (the latter covers such fields as Women's Studies, World Christianity, and Liberation Theology). The opportunity of advanced standing adds further variability to the academic program, depending upon the nature and quality of the student's undergraduate academic work. Fourteen courses, over half of the required total, are available for working out an individualized program of studies leading to specialized preparation in academic depth and to professional ministerial competence.

Required courses may be staffed by one or more professors and are planned to treat subject matter both in scope and depth at the graduate level.

The formulation of the student's course of studies is guided by certain broad but normative recommendations for area distribution of courses and by the advice and counsel of appointed faculty advisers or authorized directors.

Students and advisers are directed to read diligently the paragraphs on elective studies and professional aims and distribution of elective studies in the section on administration of the curriculum.

All academic programs are subject to review and emendation by the dean and the associate dean for academic programs for the fulfillment of the aims of the curriculum. The declared vocational and professional objective of the student is of central importance both to the student and to the faculty adviser in planning the student's comprehensive study program.

Six semesters of residential study are ordinarily required for the completion of the degree. With permission of the associate dean for academic programs, certified nonresidential study, not exceeding the equivalent of eight courses, may be permitted to a candidate for the basic degree.

The normal academic load is four courses per semester. A student with demonstrated competence may, with the consent of the academic adviser and the associate dean for academic programs, enroll for an additional course in the middler and senior years.

General Features of the Basic Curriculum. The following is a brief summary of the basic curriculum:

1. Twenty-four courses and six or more semesters of residency are required for graduation.
2. Each student is required to complete two approved assignments in field education (with or without remuneration) under supervision. Such assignments might include an internship, a summer of full-time work, two semesters of part-time work, or involvement in church or community service. The essential criteria for graduation credits are that the amount and quality of supervision be approved by the Office of Field Education, and that the student be required to evaluate and correlate the experience directly.
3. A normal academic load is four courses with credit.

Admission to candidacy for the Master of Divinity degree is admission to the regular program of studies. The suggested paradigm defines the normal sequence of the student's developing program. Students enrolled for less than three courses are considered part-time and are not eligible for institutional financial aid.

The curriculum intends to serve graduate-professional aims with maximum flexibility. Fourteen elective courses are available and may be programmed to satisfy vocational and professional preferences. In planning a course of study, the student, in consultation with the adviser, should choose a program that will give a broad understanding and appreciation of future professional responsibilities. Members of the faculty and staff welcome inquiries.

Professional ministries include those of the parish, preaching, teaching, and pastoral care; ministries of education in local churches and higher education; missions; campus ministry; specialized urban and rural ministries; chaplaincies, hospital, institutional, industrial, and military; teaching; religious journalism; audiovisual communications; church agencies; and ecumenical ministries at home and abroad. For many of these, further specialized training will necessarily be sought elsewhere beyond the basic degree. For all of these ministries the student's program of studies can be shaped for the particular ministry in view.

Students are encouraged to elect at least one course in each of the following areas or subdivisions of the curriculum beyond the required courses: American Christianity; history of religion; Christian education; world Christianity and ecumenics; biblical exegesis; pastoral care; Christian ethics; worship and preaching; and care of the parish (including church and community). Such advanced courses should be selected with a view to the individual's vocational and professional aims and in consultation with the student's faculty adviser. Students are also encouraged to concentrate, usually in not more than five courses in any one subdivision of the curriculum, in an area directly related to their vocational and professional intention. The program of each student is subject to review and revision by action of the faculty adviser, the Committee on Academic Standing, the associate dean for academic programs, or the dean.

Evaluation/Self-evaluation. The successful completion of the M.Div. program rests upon three components: (1) grades; (2) field education; (3) faculty evaluation. Three points of evaluation/self-evaluation occur. One, after the first field assignment. Two, after the second field assignment. Both the first and second evaluations involve a conference with the student's faculty advisor. When the field education report is delivered to the field education office, the student will make copies and deliver it to his or her advisor. When the faculty advisor receives the field education report from the student, the advisor will examine the report and set up an appointment with the student to review the field education experience and the performance of the student. In consultation with the director of field education, the professor will render the grade P/F (pass or fail) for the student's field education requirement.

The third evaluation, normally after the third semester, reviews the student's progress to date in classroom and field learning and assesses the student's readiness to complete the Master of Divinity program. Specifically examined are the student's (1) understanding of his/her Christian vocation, (2) self perception as a person in ministry, (3) command of skills of ministry, and (4) ability to integrate practice and theology of ministry.

The instruments to be used for the second include (1) a seven to ten page typewritten self-evaluation document; (2) field education reports and related data, (3) a self-evaluation of academic performance with a transcript; (4) an episode of ministry such as a verbatim, a sermon, a case study, a church program, etc., which indicates some aspect of a theology of ministry; and (5) a forty-five minute oral exam over all the materials. The evaluation is a graduation requirement which must be satisfied as any other requirement. Students who require significant additional work as judged by the evaluator will have to complete that work prior to graduation.

Information from the evaluation is protected by the statutes concerning privacy and confidentiality. It will not be shared by the Divinity School with any extra-university party except upon written release of the student and then only in summary fashion.

Required Limited Electives:

One course in the Church's Ministry (from designated list).

One course in Black Church Studies (from designated list).

One course from Theologies in Context (from designated list of courses treating Women's Studies, World Christianity, Liberation Theology).

One additional course in Scripture.

The third requirement in Scripture may be met in one of the following ways:

(1) by the course entitled "The Interpretation of Scripture" (OLDTEST/NEWTEST 150); (2) by the biblical language sequences OLDTEST 115-16 or NEWTEST 103-4 (or an advanced language course in which a formal exegetical paper is required); (3) by an English exegesis course in which a formal exegetical paper is required (the courses to be specified in registration materials); (4) by a Greek or Hebrew exegesis course.

Field Education. Two units of approved field education are required; they are represented above as winter term placements (thirty weeks); they may also be satisfied in summer placements (ten to twelve weeks).

Student Pastors and Others with Heavy Outside Employment. Students in candidacy for the Master of Divinity degree who serve as full-time pastors or work more than fifteen hours per week in addition to their academic schedule are advised that their degree programs will usually require a fourth academic year.

Modification of this schedule requires the approval of the associate dean for academic programs on recommendation of the director of field education.

1. Students with pastoral charges or comparable extracurricular responsibilities ordinarily will enroll for not more than three courses.
2. Students who accept pastoral charges in their middler or senior year are required to have the prior approval of the director of field education. Such students will be required to restrict their course work in accordance with regulation 1 above.
3. Modifications of these regulations will be scrupulously administered. Academic achievement, normally a B average, must be demonstrated before any modification of these requirements is allowed. Because adequate indication of the student's academic proficiency is not available before the completion of the first academic year, no modification of regulation 1 is possible for junior students.
4. Students who secure minor employment outside the channels of the Office of Field Education are required to inform the director of field education. Students carrying an outside employment work load of more than fifteen hours per week will be required to limit their academic load.
5. Ordinarily a student may not commute more than fifty miles (one way). Students living farther away than this will be required to stay in Durham during the academic week.
6. Student assistant pastors (not pastors-in-charge) may enroll for a full academic load if they are not on limited program, if their work is under the supervision of the director of field education, and if their field duties involve no more than fifteen hours per week.

Study Abroad. Study abroad, with transferable credit toward graduation, may be allowed for a candidate for the Master of Divinity degree by approval of the associate dean for academic programs. A strong academic record is a prerequisite. Ordinarily, permission for such study may be granted to students who have completed the work of the middle year. Both the institution abroad and a specific course of study proposed must have the prior approval of the associate dean for academic programs. Required courses and the two field education units must usually be completed at Duke.

Transfer Credits. Transfer of credit to the Divinity School of Duke University, leading to candidacy for the degree of Master of Divinity, will normally be limited to one-third of the academic credits (in proportional evaluation) required for fulfillment of degree candidacy (see the chapter, "Admissions"). Courses in which the student received a grade lower than B- will not be considered for transfer credit. Theological courses completed more than five years prior to the intended date of enrollment will not be considered for transfer credit.

Ordination Requirements. Students preparing for ordination are strongly advised to ascertain early in their seminary program the precise ordination requirements of their denomination.

United Methodist students must fulfill educational requirements in the Discipline by completing the year-long course on Methodist doctrine, history, and polity (PARISH 159 and 160). Most annual conferences also require one or more courses in preaching and worship and/or clinical pastoral education.

Students from other denominations should consult with their appropriate church bodies for specific requirements, which may include biblical languages. Polity courses for certain other denominations may be offered from time to time by faculty members or local clergy on prior request.

Continuation Requirements. The following are the continuation requirements for students enrolled in the M.Div. degree program:

1. The student must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0. If a student falls below this level he or she may be dismissed or warned and placed on limited program. This means that the student may enroll in no more than three courses.
2. At the end of the second semester the student on limited program who does not attain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 is dismissed. In exceptional cases a student who shows substantial improvement the second semester but does not quite attain a GPA of 2.0 may be given a third semester to do so.
3. The progress of all students is reviewed at the end of every semester by the Academic Standing Committee.

The M.Div. degree must be completed within six years (twelve semesters). The minimum time in which a degree can be completed is three years (six semesters).

To be classified as full time, a student must be enrolled in three or more courses in a semester.

M.Div. with a Concentration in Christian Education. Persons wishing a Master of Divinity degree with a concentration in Christian education will complete the stated requirements of the M.Div. curriculum. In addition, they would ordinarily take XTIAN-EDU 80 in the first semester of the junior year; XTIANEDU 132 in the first semester of the middle year; XTIANEDU 250, the Senior Symposium in Christian Education, in the second semester of the senior year; and two other Christian education courses. They would also complete one field education unit in a Christian education setting.

Certificate in Baptist Studies. Students in the M.Div. and M.C.M. programs interested in a certificate in Baptist Studies should declare that interest, on matriculation, to the director of Baptist Studies and/or the associate dean for academic programs. They will be assigned a Baptist faculty advisor and will be expected to participate actively in Baptist student affairs. They successfully achieve the certificate with at least one field education placement in a Baptist institution, the completion of three courses in Baptist studies (typically including the year-long sequence in history, polity, and doctrine), participation in XTIANEDU 250, and a senior evaluation by a Baptist faculty member.

Certificate in Anglican Studies. Students in the M.Div. program may, on the recommendation of the Committee on Anglican Studies, receive a certificate in Anglican studies provided that in their first year they declare their intent to qualify for the certificate to their advisor or the associate dean for academic programs; participate actively and regularly throughout their program in the community of Anglican students and especially in the community's worship life; elect the two semester sequence in Anglican studies (PARISH 155-56F), Christian Worship (LTS 78), and English Reformation (CHURHST 126)—or their equivalents; complete at least one field education placement successfully in an Episcopal setting; and satisfy their senior evaluation with a faculty member knowledgeable in the Anglican tradition.

The Master in Church Ministries Degree

The Divinity School Faculty has sought and the Board of Trustees, the Association of Theological Schools (ATS), and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) have approved a change in degree nomenclature, namely a change from the M.R.E. to a Master in Church Ministries.

The Program. The transformed degree, the Master in Church Ministries, permits students to work in specified tracks. Four have been considered as options—Christian education, church music, spirituality, and church administration—and paradigms for the first two are outlined below. The tracks are intended to prepare persons for several of the specialized ministries now exercised in Protestant life and particularly those recognized for diaconal ministry by the United Methodist Church. Each provides opportunities for enquiry and guidance for students who want serious academic study about the church and its ministries and structures for apprenticeship and supervision appropriate for the distinct practices and specializations of ministry. The degree is governed by Association of Theological School rubrics for "Programs Primarily Related to Specialized Ministries." (See ATS Bulletin 41, part 3, Procedures, Standards, and Criteria for Membership, 52-53, and Draft One of Redeveloped Accrediting Standards, 68-71.) The degree conforms to SACS criteria. All tracks in the program share a common design and set of standard requirements: Church's Ministry (CHURMIN) limited electives, a CHURMIN small group component, and a senior final evaluation; core requirements of Church History 13 and 14; Old Testament 11 and New Testament 18; Christian Theology 32 and Christian Ethics 33; additional core requirements in the track; at least one supervised and approved field placement, an apprenticeship in the area of specialization.

Admission. Applications for admission to the Master in Church Ministries program are evaluated by standards and procedures outlined in the Admissions section of this bulletin and are comparable to those employed for the Master of Divinity degree and heretofore for the Master of Religious Education.

I. The Christian education track within the Master in Church Ministries is designed to prepare persons for ministries as program directors, as directors of religious education, or as diaconal ministers. This track requires two full years of course work, sixteen courses, two colloquia, and an approved field education placement.

The two colloquia, XTIANEDU 4 A & B, are noncredit but required courses devoted to exploration of vocational issues and special topics. These two colloquia, CHURMIN Limited Elective, CHURMIN small group, and the Senior Seminar, XTIANEDU 250, provide each semester a context for relating theory and praxis, the academic program to field experience, and the formal curriculum to person and vocation. Non-United Methodists are advised by Brett Webb-Mitchell. Students undertake supervised and approved field education placements as Christian educators.

The faculty member most closely associated with the speciality of Christian education is Brett Webb-Mitchell. In addition, students may elect courses within the graduate education programs of North Carolina State University (Raleigh), the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill), and North Carolina Central University (Durham).

II. The track in spirituality will serve individuals intent upon laying a theological foundation for further work in spirituality, pastoral counseling, or pastoral care; persons already involved in lay and/or professional leadership roles intent upon deepening their understanding of such ministry; some who may, under other auspices, seek credentials as spiritual directors; and persons who wish to deepen their own spiritual life. The faculty member most closely associated with spirituality track is Michael Battle. The program features courses oriented toward the spiritual disciplines (SPIRIT 22, XTIANED 119, SPIRIT 210, LTS 78) and exploration of spirituality from theological (XTIANED 112, 222, 225 or 249), historical (CHURHST 206 or 250), and biblical (OLDTEST 163 or NEWTEST 197) perspectives:

Students in this track lacking college-level preparation in psychology and/or counseling may wish to take a basic pastoral care course. They will undertake an integrative paper or project either in the senior seminar, CHURHST 206/250, or in a directed study (SPIRIT 399) with their adviser. They will be expected to participate throughout in a spirituality group (CM Small Group CHURMIN 1/CHURMIN 2) and to be under spiritual direction. Field placements would typically be with ministers involved in the Order of St. Luke or in other forms of spirituality and in churches or agencies involved with programs in spiritual disciplines.

Among the faculty to be involved in the spirituality track are Susan Keefe (history), William Turner (theology), James Crenshaw (Bible), Brett Webb-Mitchell (education), Geoffrey Wainwright (theology), and Anne Marie Nuechterlein (pastoral care).

III. Implementation of the track in church music awaits further conversations with the music department and the chapel musicians.

Continuation Requirements. The following are the continuation requirements for the M.C.M. degree program:

1. The student must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0. A student falling below that may be given a second semester to bring up the cumulative GPA to 2.0. Failure to do so results in dismissal.
2. The progress of all students is reviewed at the end of every semester by the Academic Standing Committee.

The minimum time in which the M.C.M. can be completed is two years (four semesters). The degree must be completed in four years (eight semesters). To be classified as full time, a student must enroll in three or more courses.

The Master of Theological Studies Degree

This two-year (four semesters) general academic degree, inaugurated in September of 1987, is designed to provide an introduction to the theological disciplines as: (1) foundation for a graduate research degree (Ph.D.); (2) preparation for lay religious careers; (3) grounding for teaching, research, or practice in another field (e.g., history, psychology, music); (4) enhancement of institutional leadership roles; or (5) personal enrichment.

Requirements:

1. Sixteen courses and four or more semesters of residency (at least three semesters of which must be at Duke, i.e., transfer credit is limited to one semester);
2. a normal load of four courses per semester;
3. two courses from each of the biblical, historical, and theological divisions, specifically the Old and New Testament introductions; the two semester survey of church history; and the basic theology and ethics courses;
4. the maintenance of a cumulative grade point average of 2.5;
5. *a paper submitted within a course in the final (fourth) semester and fulfilling, in part, the requirements of that course which addresses itself to the coherence, learnings, or major emphases of the individual's program (choice of course by mutual consent of student, instructor, and adviser); and
6. completion of all requirements for the degree within a four-year (eight-semester) period.

Administration. In consultation with the M.T.S. faculty advisor, students will draft a set of program goals and project a four-semester course plan (or an appropriate alternative plan on a part-time basis). At each registration conference, students and the advisor (with their assistant) will reassess program goals and the course plan adopted by the student.

At the end of the first year of course work, the faculty advisor will assess the progress and academic performance of the student. Before graduation and after the thesis is submitted, there will be a final evaluation of the student's academic performance. Both the assessment and the final evaluation are submitted to the academic dean and placed in the student's academic record.

At the end of each semester, the Academic Standing Committee shall review the progress and cumulative grade point average of each student. The M.T.S. program as a whole will be administered by the associate dean for academic programs in consultation with the faculty adviser to the M.T.S. program. The M.T.S. faculty advisor will take responsibility for any colloquia or their special M.T.S. programs.

*Guidelines for the fourth semester paper will be available.

The Master of Theology Degree

The course of study leading to the degree of Master of Theology is designed for graduates of accredited theological schools who desire to continue or resume their theological education for enhancement of professional competence in selected areas of study. Enrollment in the Th.M. degree program is open to a limited number of students who have received the M.Div. (or the equivalent) with superior academic records.

Inquiries on admission may be addressed to the director of admissions for referral to the director of the Th.M. Program.

General Requirements. The general requirements for the degree of Master of Theology are:

1. Eight course units of advanced studies, with an average grade of B (3.0 average on a 4.0 scale).
2. Superior performance in a comprehensive examination covering the major area of study. As an alternative to the comprehensive examination, the student may elect to do a research project in one major area if approved by the supervising professor. This project shall carry one course credit, to be counted within the eight units required.
3. Residence for one academic year or the equivalent. (Equivalency to be determined by the associate dean for academic programs).

There are no general language requirements. However, classical or modern languages may be required for certain programs (for example, in biblical studies, Hebrew or Greek may be required).

The Program of Study. At least four of the required eight courses must be taken in one of the basic theological disciplines (biblical, historical, theological, or ministerial) that shall be designated as the candidate's major, and at least two courses in another discipline (i.e., an area of study distinct from the major) that shall be designated as the candidate's minor. A major and a minor may be chosen within the same area of study with the approval of the associate dean for academic programs and the chair of the division which oversees the desired area of study. Students enrolled in the Th.M. may take the elementary biblical languages; however, these courses may not count as fulfilling the major or minor requirements for biblical studies.

The comprehensive examination will be given at the close of the course of study for the degree, ordinarily in May or September. Persons electing to do a research project should obtain guidelines for its submission from the associate dean for academic programs. The research project, upon completion and approval, must be deposited in the library.

The entire program of studies and comprehensive examination or project can be completed within twelve months. In some cases, the time limit may be extended, but not usually beyond three years.

⁺ One of the electives serves as the context for the summary paper.

The candidate majoring in pastoral care may plan one of three programs or concentrations: a concentration in pastoral theology and theological understanding to professional ministry, especially the parish, through course work and supervised clinical or field experience; a concentration in pastoral care through course work and a residency in clinical pastoral education (CPE); a concentration in pastoral supervision through course work and a supervisory CPE program. In the latter two concentrations a maximum of three course credits may be granted for the residency or supervisory CPE. The Clinical Pastoral Education program is accredited by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, Inc., through which also students majoring in pastoral supervision may seek certification as a chaplain supervisor. Course PASTCARE 181A (or its equivalent) is considered a prerequisite for a major in pastoral care. It is not applicable toward the eight courses required for the degree, although it will be indicated on the student's transcript. The student majoring in this area should ordinarily make provision for a program extending for a full calendar year, with students in a pastoral care residency or pastoral supervision generally requiring eighteen months to three years to complete course and clinical work.

Financial Aid. Please note in the pertinent sections of the chapter "Financial Information" that the charges for tuition and general fee for the Th.M. degree are combined and are made on the basis of the number of courses taken.

Continuation Requirements. The following are the continuation requirements for the Th.M. degree program:

1. The student must maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.0. A student who falls below this level is terminated.
2. The progress of all students is reviewed at the end of every semester by the Academic Standing Committee.

The Th.M. degree must be completed within three years (six semesters). The minimum time in which the degree can be completed is one year (two semesters).

To be classified as full time, a student must be enrolled in three or more courses in a semester.

Th.M. students who have registered for the eight required courses and have completed all course work except the comprehensive or the project may maintain registration, obtain use of university resources (library), contract for supervision, and sustain their program by registering through a Course Continuation Fee (CCF 101 or 102) in every semester until the program is completed. The fee is $100 per course (per semester).

Duke Summer Session

The Divinity School offers a limited summer program, including intensive biblical language courses (Greek/Hebrew 1999, Greek/Hebrew 2000) individual directed study, and foundational courses for United Methodist diaconal ministry. Summer courses of graduate level may also be taken in other departments as cognate credits (maximum of two; see provisions under administration of the curriculum). Permission for such credits must be secured in advance from the instructor and from the associate dean for academic programs and may involve university rather than Divinity tuition.

Special Programs

Duke Divinity School is a participant in the National Capital Semester for Seminar-ians conducted by Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C. Students may, with the approval of the associate dean for academic programs, enroll in this one-semester program focused on political issues and social ethics and receive up to four transfer credits. Applicants must have completed at least two and not more than four semesters at Duke to be eligible.

International Study Programs

For several years the Divinity School has been developing programs of international study and exchange involving faculty and students. The main areas in which the development is centered at this time are the following:

Mexico Seminar. Brief intensive travel-study to foster appreciation of Mexico, its people, history, culture, and religion, with special attention to the faith and mission of the church in Latin America today. Direct encounter with Third World poverty. About twelve persons per seminar.

Middle East Travel Seminar. The Middle East Travel Seminar is a three-week study tour, beginning in mid-May, to which our students may apply. Each year four to six Divinity students are selected to visit and study important sites in Jordan and Israel with lay people and students from regional seminaries including Southern Baptist Seminary, Mercer Seminary, and Candler School of Theology.

Robert E. Cushman Exchange Fellowship. Each year faculty and staff nominate a student to represent the Divinity School in the Bonn/Duke Exchange Program. Through the year program at Bonn University (Germany), the student becomes thoroughly acquainted with another culture and different church life. Full participation in nine classes at Bonn required. Language preparation necessary.

Courses of Instruction

The Divinity School's Class of 2000 prepares to line up for the Baccalaureate Service, May 13, 2000.

Course Enrollment

The foundational courses typically carry two digit numbers (e.g., New Testament 18, Church History 13, American Christianity 28, Christian Theology 32). Other courses numbered through 199 are elective courses for Divinity School students only. Many courses numbered 200 and above are approved for credit by both the Divinity School and the Graduate School, and require the permission of the instructor. For other prerequisites the student should consult the roster of courses of instruction in this bulletin and should also refer to published registration advice at the time of registration for each semester.

Courses jointly approved by the Divinity School and the Graduate School of Duke University are published in the Bulletin of Duke University: The Divinity School. Courses offered in the Department of Religion of Duke University, or as cognate courses in other departments, must be of graduate level (numbered 200 or above) in order to fulfill requirements for degrees in the Divinity School.

Projected Course Offerings

The following list of proposed course offerings for the 2000-2001 academic year is tentative and subject to change. Detailed listings are available at the time of preregistration in the middle of the preceding semester, and more distant plans may be ascertained by consulting the divisional representative or the instructors concerned.

HISTORY OF RELIGIONS (HISTREL)

5. Middle East Travel Seminar. A three-week, noncredit study venture visiting Syria, Jordan, Egypt, Israel, and Greece. Scheduled typically for mid-May to mid-June, it involves teams from Union (Richmond), Southern (Louisville), and Emmanuel (Tennessee). Up to five Duke students will be selected. Persons accomplished in biblical studies, with interest in archaeology and in the Middle East, with strong grades and outstanding promise for ministry and denominational leadership make the best candidates. Instructor: Crenshaw. No credit.

131. Introduction to Judaism: Calendar as Catechism. An integrated view of Judaism through a survey of the holy days of the Jewish calendar. The holy days are the focal points of well integrated and constantly elaborated teachings, rituals, liturgies, and folkways—all uniquely attached to a timely (historical) moment (for example, Passover), or to a timeless gesture (for example, Day of Atonement). Each event is a prism through which the light of Jewish civilization is refracted to reveal its various aspects and eras. Instructor: Sager. One course.

131A. Introduction to Judaism: Investigations into the Jewish Life Cycle: A Time to be Born; A Time to Die. This course will give particular attention to the liturgical and ritual responses to life and death. The studies of rite and liturgy will lead to investigations of the underlying Jewish theological and philosophical claims, as well as the psychological attitudes that inform rejoicing and grieving. Instructor: Sager. One course.

132. An Introduction to Jewish Prayer. A project to examine the forms, vocabulary, and uses of Jewish liturgy from ancient times through the present. Instructor: Sager. One course.

135. Introduction to Midrash: The Rabbinic Art of Interpreting Scripture. How does the single voice of Scripture contain the chorus of rabbinic interpretations? What is the nature of the dialogue between text and interpreter? What is the authority of exegesis? These are some of the questions that we will explore through selected midrash texts. The texts themselves will represent a variety of literary forms, styles, and topics. Instructor: Sager. One course.

180. Introduction to Asian Religions. Preliminary consideration of problems and methods in the study of religious traditions, followed by a survey of the historical development, beliefs, practices, and contemporary significance of the Islamic religion and the religions of India, China, and Japan. See other courses offered in the Department of Religion. Instructor: Staff (Department of Religion). One course.

CHRISTIAN ETHICS (XTIANETH)

33. Christian Ethics. The course tackles theological and conceptual issues to do with the ways in which Christian moral discourse is generated in the life of the Church, in order that students may gain a sense of basic methodological alternatives in Christian traditions. It introduces students to such matters as the Church's relationship to the world, casuistry of various kinds, character formation, a moral psychology necessary for the development of Christian virtue, the place and function of scripture, and how Christians understand social responsibility. Instructors: Hall and Hauerwas. One course.

107. The Biblical Bases of Christian Ethics. Examination of major themes and moral teachings, principally in the Decalogue, the Gospels, and the Epistles, with application to some contemporary issues. Prerequisite: New Testament 18, Old Testament 11, or equivalent. Instructor: Staff. One course.

113. Themes and Readings in Christian Morals. Constructive examination of selected areas of public and private morality. Instructor: Staff. One course.

130. Dying and Death. Critical consideration of biblical, legal, medical, and ethical perspectives. Prerequisite: New Testament 18, Old Testament 11, or equivalents. Instructor: Staff. One course.

205. War in the Christian Tradition. An analysis of how Christians have understood and evaluated war. Particular attention to the question of whether war should not be regarded as a positive moral good. Works by Augustine, Aquinas, Bainton, Ramsey, Childress, Niebuhr, and Johnson will be considered. Instructor: Hauerwas. One course.

213. Christian Ethics in America. Instructor: Hauerwas. One course.

220. Ethical Topics. A seminar on contemporary ethical issues, the specific content in any given semester to be designated by the Theological Division. Instructor: Staff. One course.

228. Theological Dimensions of the Law. A legal system inevitably overlaps with systems of belief and value, usually but not always termed religious, which claim to provide an ultimate valid construction of reality and a finally determinative set of values. This course will examine Western religious and theological reflections on the nature and legitimacy of law and politics and on the appropriate relationships between law and religion. Instructor: Powell. One course.

242. Human Sexuality. Examination of biological, biblical, cultural, and other aspects of human sexuality, together with analytical and constructive interpretation. Consent of instructor required. Instructor: Staff. One course.

A seminar composed of students and faculty from the Medical, Law, and Divinity Schools for critical consideration of selected pertinent issues of mutual professional interest. Consent of instructor required. Instructor: Staff. One course.

251. Goodness and Personhood. Concepts of "the good" are inextricably linked to the way in which personhood is understood. This seminar treats texts both ancient and recent that address such issues as the relationship between the finitude of human life and its meaningfulness, the metaphors of the "inner" life and "centeredness," the differences and affinities between reason and desire, and the significance of the notions of presence and transcendence. Authors include the writers of the Song of Songs and Job, Plato, Augustine of Hippo, Iris Murdoch, and Martha Nussbaum. Prerequisite: Christian Ethics 33. Instructor: Powell. One course.

266. Ethics and Health Care. Critical examination of philosophical and theological bases of medical practice, and analysis of selected aspects of biomedical technologies, with particular attention to informing ethical assumptions. Instructor: Staff. One course.

268. Revelation and Authority in the Church. A critical and constructive examination of contemporary concepts, exploring such questions as: Is the Church's memory autonomous or constituted and directed by what it remembers? How does ecclesiology shape epistemology, and vice-versa? Does the word of the Church also become the mission of the Church? Is the word of God constitutive of human community? Instructor: Staff. One course.

290. S. Kierkegaard. Prerequisites: Christian Ethics 33 and Christian Theology 32. Instructor: Hall. One course.

291. Historical Forms of Protestant Ethics. A survey of major types of Protestant ethical theory from Luther through contemporary figures. Instructor: Staff. One course.

292. Happiness, the Life of Virtue, and Friendship. An investigation of the interrelation of these themes in selected authors. An examination of whether the loss of the interrelation of these themes accounts for some of the problems of modern philosophical and theological ethics. Instructor: Hauerwas. One course.

296. Community, Faith, and Violence. This seminar explores attempts to formulate fundamentally theological modes of social and political criticism with the focus on the role of faith and violence in secular society. Readings include works by theologians, social critics, and political theorists. Instructor: Powell. One course.

330. Love in Christian Tradition. Instructor: Hall. One course.

348. Seminar in Theological Ethics. Philosophical paradigms and the nature of the Christian life. Consent of instructor required. Instructor: Hauerwas. One course.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION (XTIANEDU)

80. Introduction to the Education of Christians. This course is guided by two questions: as Christians how do we know God? and what does it mean for Christians to be known by God? These questions will be addressed utilizing the following theoretical bases in Christian religious education: 1. human developmental theories; 2. the liberal progressive perspective; 3. liberation praxis theory; 4. communitarian approaches; 5. postmodern educational theories. Instructor: Webb-Mitchell. One course.

102. Christian Education and the Small Membership Church. An overview of the educational ministry of churches with small memberships including goal setting, program-format, leadership development, selection of curriculum resources, organization-design, and evaluation methodology. Instructor: Staff. One course.

109. Educational Ministries with Youth. Study of adolescence with special attention to strategies, models, and resources for working with junior and senior high school youth. Instructor: Staff. One course.

110. The Changing Family in the Changing Church. An introductory course to the educational ministry of the Church with adults and families. Guidance and resources toward the development of comprehensive programming. Attention will be given to adult ages and stages and family life cycles. Prerequisite: Christian Education 80. Instructor: Webb-Mitchell. One course.

112. Educational Ministries with Children. An introductory course to the educational ministry of the Church with children and youth. It will consider foundations, religious development theories, goal-setting, teaching-learning, curricula, and leadership education. Instructor: Staff. One course.

132. Curriculum and Pedagogy in the Church. This course will center on these two questions: first, who decides what theory of Christian religious education is used in the church? Central to this question is the theory of curriculum that dictates what and why Christian religious education is going on in the church. The second question concerns which teaching paradigm is going to be used in the church. This question focuses on pedagogical theory, otherwise known as the how, when, and where of Christian religious education. Not only will students discover whose curriculum goals and which pedagogical approach should be used in the church, the course will also broaden the students' concept of teaching and learning in the context of local congregations and parishes. Instructor: Webb-Mitchell. One course.

153. Education and Social Issues. An exploration of contemporary social issues and their relationship to education and to the church. Instructor: Staff. One course.

167. Strengthening Laity in Ministry. In this course students will examine the Biblical and theological foundations of the ministry; identify images of the ministry from the Bible, the church's history, and the Christian community today; and practice methods of interviewing and listening to lay people in order to develop models of Christian religious education which can strengthen laity in ministry and encourage creation of structures which challenge and support laity in ministry. Instructor: Staff. One course.

175. Liturgy and Education. Preparing persons for baptism, renewal, confirmation, eucharist, marriage, and death; and training lay persons for the liturgical, pastoral, and social ministries. Instructor: Staff. One course.

179. Human Development. 250. Preaching New Testament Ethics. The course examines patterns of ethical teaching in the New Testament writings and explores strategies for preaching on these texts in ways that call congregations to reshape their lives and practices. Prerequisites: New Testament 18 and Preaching 30. Instructors: Hays and Willimon. One course. C-L: New Testament 250

280. History of Preaching. A study of theological trends and significant personalities in homiletics in various periods from the Apostolic Age to the present. Prerequisite: Preaching 30. Instructor: Staff. One course.

281. Contemporary Preachers and Their Craft. A theological and rhetorical analysis of the most effective preachers of our era. In-class student preaching will intentionally reflect the sermons and preachers studied. Prerequisite: Preaching 30. Instructor: Lischer. One course.

282. Women and the Word. An examination of theological, social, historical, and communication issues pertaining to women and preaching. Sermons, video-tapes, and other resources will be used in analyzing the styles and content of preaching by women representing various traditions and historical periods. Prerequisite: Preaching 30. Instructor: Staff. One course.

283. Twentieth-Century Theology and Preaching. A study of important theological models, from liberalism to liberationism, and their effect on contemporary preaching. Seminar presentations and in-class preaching. Prerequisite: Preaching 30; Christian Theology 32. Instructor: Lischer. One course.

LITURGICAL STUDIES (LTS)

2. Music Skills for the Parish. A noncredit course designed to develop fundamental skills for reading musical notation and rhythmic patterns, using examples from the United Methodist Hymnal. Sightsinging and single-note keyboard playing not a prerequisite but will be encouraged throughout the course. Not intended for persons with prior knowledge of music skills. Instructor: Arcus. No credit.

78. Introduction to Christian Worship. An introduction to the history, theology, and practice of Christian worship from an ecumenical perspective. Surveys major aspects of worship, including: the Lord's Day, the Christian calendar, Word and sacraments, daily and occasional services, liturgical music, and liturgical space and arts. Lecture, small group discussions, and practicum. Prerequisite: Church History 13 or 14. Instructor: Tucker. One course.

141. The Church Year. An examination of the historical, theological, and pastoral dimensions of the Christian calendar and lectionary. Prerequisite: Liturgical Studies 78. Instructor: Tucker. One course.

158. Ways of Worship. Prerequisite: Liturgical Studies 78 or consent of instructor. Instructor: Berger. One course.

162. Hymnody. A survey of hymns, various hymn types and styles, and issues in hymnody designed for persons in or preparing for Christian ministry. Includes an introduction to the fundamentals of hymnology. Instructor: Arcus. One course.

180A. Church Music for Nonmusicians. A three-fold study including (1) an examination of historic and contemporary theologies of church music; (2) a survey of the musical forms used in worship by the Church; and (3) basic musicianship and song leading with an emphasis upon the selection and use of hymns and service music contained in denominational hymnals. Instructor: Tucker. One course.

180B. Church Music for Musicians. An in-depth two-fold study for students with prior musical knowledge, namely: (1) musicianship skills including song leading, basic conducting and literature, including select masterworks for the church and hymns; (2) pastor and musician teamwork, with emphasis on case studies of specific pastor-musician teams. Readings and projects will acquaint students with issues of church music and encourage a continuing development of skills, research, and resource building. Instructor: Arcus. One course.

198. Theology Set to Music. Prerequisite: Liturgical Studies 180A or 180B or consent of instructor. Instructor: Arcus. One course.

203. Directed Reading in Church Music. An advanced course offering students the opportunity to explore an area of church music of special interest to them, culminating in a major paper and/or public presentation. Includes compilation of bibliography for the study of church music. Enrollment limit: ten. Consent of instructor required. Instructor: Arcus. One course.

208. Hymns of Charles Wesley. Instructor: Berger. One course.

218. The Sacraments: Rites and Theologies. Prerequisite: Christian Theology 32, Church History 14, Liturgical Studies 78, or consent of instructor. Instructors: Tucker and Wainwright. One course. C-L: Christian Theology 218

220. Selected Topics. Instructor: Staff. One course.

248. Pastoral Offices: Christian Rituals for the Life Cycle. Prerequisite: Liturgical Studies 78 or consent of instructor. Instructor: Tucker. One course.

250. Advanced Seminar in Liturgical Studies. Reading and research in a selected area of liturgical study to be announced. Instructor: Staff. One course.

251. Studies in Spirituality. A consideration of different dimensions of the spiritual life. Instructor: Staff. One course. C-L: Spirituality 251

252. Theologies of Church Music: From the Early Church to the Present. The Church, throughout its history, has sought to clarify its relationship to culture. In particular, is the Church to accommodate its worship to culture or avoid adopting of cultural forms? The relationship of culture and worship will be explored from the angle of the historical Church's use of music. How have the Church's theologians defined the role of music in the Church? What are the most appropriate musical forms for use in the Church? These issues will be examined with an eye to discussing and evaluating contemporary Christian musical expressions. Instructor: Tucker. One course.

268. Worship in the Anglican and Wesleyan Traditions. A study of the historical, theological, liturgical, and sociological influences which have shaped the worship patterns of the Episcopal Church and the major American denominations that claim a Wesleyan heritage. Historical and contemporary liturgies will be examined, and concerns related to the leadership of contemporary liturgies will be discussed. Prerequisites: Care of the Parish 159 and 160, Liturgical Studies 78. Instructor: Tucker. One course. C-L: American Christianity 268

SPIRITUALITY (SPIRIT)

22. The Spiritual Life. An introduction to spirituality, spiritual formation, and the development of a personal spiritual discipline. Instructor: Battle. One course.

205. African Christian Spirituality. Prerequisites: Christian Ethics 33, Christian Theology 32, or Spirituality course. Instructor: Battle. One course.

210. Spiritual Direction. This course is an introduction to the process of spiritual direction; its theological foundations, its nature, its preparation, and its practice. Prerequisite: Spirituality 22 or consent of instructor. Instructor: Battle. One course.

231. Prayer. A theological and psychological exploration of Christian prayer understood as our human communication with the Triune God. Instructor: Battle. One course.

233. Pastoral Spirituality. An introduction to spiritual direction, the spirituality of healing and reconciliation, and spiritual formation. Instructor: Battle. One course.

240. Spiritual Direction Practicum. The process and skills of spiritual direction will be the focus of this course. Students will have the opportunity to develop and practice the skills with one another and will also be required to see two persons in direction during the course. Prerequisite: Spirituality 210. Instructor: Battle. One course.

251. Studies in Spirituality. Instructor: Staff. One course. C-L: Liturgical Studies

252. Discernment Spirituality. Instructor: Staff. One course.

301. The Spirituality of Nonviolence. Instructor: Battle. One course.

See the respective division listings for the following course descriptions.

OLDTEST 163. Biblical Prayer. Instructor: Crenshaw.

XTIANTHE 149. The Lord's Prayer. Instructor: Wainwright.

RELIGION AND SOCIETY (RSO)

157. The Church and Social Change. A sociological study of the relationship of the Church to the process of social change, including the role of the Church as innovator, the Church as participant in social movements, method(s) of accomplishing change, and the religious leader as an agent of social change. Instructor: Staff. One course.

158. Contemporary Religious Movements. The nature, ideology, development, clientele, and role of contemporary religious movements; the process by which such movements develop into established organizations; and their relationship to the mainline churches. Instructor: Staff. One course.

166. AMERC. A six-week summer course offered in and around Berea, Kentucky, through the ATS-accredited consortia, Appalachian Ministries Educational Resource Center (AMERC). The program offers participants training in small town and rural ministry and in relating Christian theology and ministry to the people, cultures, and political economies of Appalachia. It features field trips for direct experiences of Appalachian life, a faculty of experts on the region and its religion, use of the eighty-acre AMERC farm campus, and access to the Berea College special Appalachian collection. Instructor: Staff. One course.

177. Diversity, Liberation, and Christian Community. In view of prevailing tensions, ethnic and cultural alienation, and social fragmentation, and the growing pressures for justice and equality throughout the society, this course will be concerned with strategies and possibilities to promote community in light of the Christian gospel. The focus will be on the ministry of the local parish as well as corporate and diocesan church bodies. Prerequisites: Christian Ethics 33 and Christian Theology 32. Instructor: Staff. One course.

200. Religion, Philanthropy, and the American South: The Challenges of a Changing Economy. Prerequisite: American Christianity 28. Instructor: Carroll. One course.

221. Religious Life in Sociological Perspective. An examination of religion and religious life as social phenomena, aiming to provide perspectives and conceptual tools for understanding the ways in which various aspects of religious life are embedded in and related to society and social processes. The theoretical perspectives will then be brought to bear on current issues. Students will participate in one or more group field experiences. Instructor: Carroll or Wiggins. One course.

254. Contemporary American Religion. This seminar focuses on American religion, especially since the 1950s. Students will examine trends and issues in contemporary religious life, consider paradigms for interpreting the trends and issues, and explore topics of their choosing in research papers to be presented in the class. Instructor: Carroll or Wiggins. One course.

301. Sociology of Religion. Instructor: Carroll or Wiggins. One course.

V. Clinical Training and Internships

CLINICAL TRAINING IN PASTORAL PSYCHOLOGY

Students may earn up to two course credits for a quarter or unit of clinical pastoral education in programs accredited by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE).

Students involved in clinical training under the direct supervision of members of the pastoral psychology staff during the academic year should register for credit under Pastoral Care 182 for two course units unless a course credit has already been received for Pastoral Care 177, in which case only one rather than two credits will be granted for the CPE quarter. Students should apply for such training through the director of clinical pastoral education.

Students involved in clinical training in summer CPE quarters should register with ACPE and the associate dean for academic programs as soon as accepted for training by a chaplain supervisor. Upon receipt of a supervisor's report at the end of the training period the student will receive two course units of transfer credit.

INTERNSHIPS (INTERN)

125. Special Ministry Internship. When a student needs to develop professional competencies in a highly specialized form of ministry, the associate dean for field education will assist in designing an appropriate learning contract and in negotiating for a suitable placement setting, provided the arrangements meet the basic criteria approved by the Field Education Committee. One course.

126. Special Ministry Internship. Continuation of Internship 125. One course.

131. Ministry through Social Agency Internship. A twelve-month placement in a regular personnel position in a social service agency to meet the job description of the agency and to develop a personal mode and style of ministry in a secular setting through understanding, appreciation, involvement in, and critical theological reflection upon environment, structures, values, and decision-making processes as conveyed by the conduct of the agency. One course.

132. Ministry through Social Agency Internship. Continuation of Internship 131. One course.

137. Parish Ministry Internship. A twelve-month placement, individually designed to engage the student in specified learnings in a wide variety of ministry functions in a local parish, under qualified supervision and using the guidelines of a learning contract. One course.

138. Parish Ministry Internship. Continuation of Internship 137. One course.

143. Campus Ministry Internship. A nine- to twelve-month placement in approved locations designed to provide special learnings in delivering a ministry to college students under qualified guidance and utilizing a learning contract which specifies seminars, a personal journal, directed reading, and consultations to develop competency in these functions. One course.

144. Campus Ministry Internship. Continuation of Internship 143. One course.

175. Clinical Pastoral Education Residency. A twelve-month placement in a clinical program accredited by the Association of Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE). One course.

176. Clinical Pastoral Education Residency. Continuation of Internship 175. One course.

197. Mission Internship. A special internship to prepare for service in church missions may be arranged by enlisting in the national or overseas program of the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries for one to three years. As a requirement for agency planning, applications should be initiated in the fall of the middler year. Other denominational and/or work-study experiences abroad may be given field education credit by special arrangement with the associate dean for Field Education. One course.

198. Mission Internship. Continuation of Internship 197. One course.

VII. Health and Nursing Ministries

HEALTH AND NURSING MINISTRIES (HNM)

11. Introduction to Parish Nursing. This seminar provides a basic introduction to the fundamentals of parish nursing ministry. Students are introduced to an overview of the various roles filled by the parish nurse: health educator, health counselor, referral agent, coordinator, facilitator, advocator, and supporter. Consent of instructor required. Also taught as Nursing 500. Instructors: Meador and Ouimette (Nursing). Half course.

12. Parish Nursing II. Building upon the principles of Introduction to Parish Nursing, students in Parish Nursing II begin to implement the aspects of basic parish nursing within the context of a faith community. This course provides opportunities for discussion and exploration of parish nursing as both a ministry of the church and a subspecialty of professional nursing. 50 hours field experience. Prerequisite: Health and Nursing Ministries 11. Also taught as Nursing 501. Instructors: Meador and Ouimette (Nursing). Half course.

200. Health and Nursing Ministries Field Experience. This course provides the student with opportunity to implement the nursing component of health ministry within a faith community. The student integrates the theological dimensions of faith while utilizing skills in individual and group assessment, principles of health education, and program planning and evaluation. Students have the opportunity to develop a continuity relationship within a specific faith community. The field experience includes 300 hours over three semesters with weekly seminars. Prerequisites: Health and Nursing Ministries 11 and 12. Also taught as Nursing 503. Instructors: Meador and Ouimette (Nursing). One course.

290. Seminar on Care at the End of Life: Suffering and Dying Well. In this course, students examine contemporary efforts to recover the ancient practice of ars moriendi, the "art of dying." Students examine the phenomena of chronic illness, suffering, and dying from a variety of historical, biblical, theological, medical-physiological, and psychosocial perspectives. Students also examine contemporary modalities of care for persons at the end of life, including tertiary palliative care, the hospice movement, and ancillary "death with dignity" organizations. Course goals include developing the student's ability to imagine ways of caring for individuals with chronic and terminal illness. Also taught as Nursing 504. Instructors: Meador and Ouimette (Nursing). One course.

300. Seminar in Health and Nursing Ministries. In this course, students work toward the development of a philosophy of parish-based health care grounded in the core practices and the corresponding central theological commitments of their respective religious communities. Under the leadership of faculty from both the School of Nursing and the Divinity School, students analyze contemporary theories and practices of health care; particular attention given to the complex relationship between faith and health. Prerequisites: Health and Nursing Ministries 11, 12, 200, 290, and Nursing 502. Also taught as Nursing 509. Instructors: Meador and Ouimette (Nursing). One course.

I. GUIDELINES FOR INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE

Duke Divinity School

The decadence of our language is probably curable. Those who deny this would argue, if they produced an argument at all, that language merely reflects existing social conditions, and that we cannot influence its development by any direct tinkering with words and constructions. So far as the general tone or spirit of language goes, this may be true, but it is not true in detail. Silly words and expressions have often disappeared, not through any evolutionary process but owing to the conscious action of a minority.

George Orwell

Politics of the English Language

The necessity for change is the parent of tradition. If we want a change in our language to come, we must first facilitate that change through concerted action. Our language is determined both by who we are as individuals and communities, and who we want to become.

The affirmation of the integrity of people with various opinions and interpretations on the issue of language is assumed. It is recognized, however, that exclusive language can work unwitting and unintended harm by distorting reality and excluding members from our community. Therefore, all members of this Duke Divinity School community (students, faculty, administrators, and staff) are invited to join together in using language that most adequately reflects the unity of the people of God and the reality of God.

LANGUAGE ABOUT PERSONS

A. Generic Usage

Although "man" originally carried the meaning of both "human beings" and "adult males," such can no longer be assumed. Even though technically "man" is inclusive, its actual use is often exclusive.

1. Use precise language. When in the past you would have been inclined to use the generic term "man," find creative ways to use such words as "humankind," "humans," "persons," "everyone," "men and women," "children of God," etc.
2. Use words that do not include "man" when referring to occupations and positions that can include both males and females. Alternative descriptions can often be found that are not awkward compounds:

(instead of)	(try)
Clergyperson	Clergy
Congressperson	Representative
Policeman	Police Officer
Fireman	Fire Fighter
Chairperson	Chair, Moderator, Presiding Officer, Connor

B. Pronoun Usage

Pronoun usage that avoids gender specific categories is an effective way to include all members of society or a given community in general references. Although English grammars generally maintain that the nonspecific individual be referred to as "he," such a reference is not inclusive. One should attempt to make all pronoun references inclusive.

1. When speaking in general terms or when referring to both women and men, use pronouns so as to make explicit that both men and women are included. This may be accomplished by using such methods as "he and she," "hers and his," or combinations such as "he/she," "s/he," and "his/hers."

2. Other approaches to the pronoun issue include:
 - a. Use writing that reduces unnecessary or excessive gender specific pronouns: "The average American drives his car to work" can become "The average American drives to work."
 - b. Rephrase statements into the plural: "Most Americans drive their cars to work."
 - c. When speaking in generic terms or when including women and men in the same group, some guides suggest alternating female and male pronouns: "A person should take good care of her car. He should check the oil level daily. She should also make sure that the tires are properly inflated."
 - d. The indefinite use of the second person plural pronoun, "you," to refer to people in general is a widespread conversational device. You must realize, however, that the use of the second person in writing creates an intimate relationship between the writer and the reader. For this reason, when you use the second person, be sure that the person or persons to whom the argument is directed is clearly identified.
 - e. Masculine pronouns can be replaced by the impersonal pronoun "one," and this is still preferred in formal usage. However, one should use this form sparingly.

C. Forms of Address

Traditionally there has been little need for particular ways to refer to individual women or married individuals with different titles. Women did not have titles other than "Miss" or "Mrs.," and it was assumed that their identity derived from their marital status. That assumption is no longer valid, and forms of address should recognize the identity that women have as individuals.

1. In referring to an individual woman there is no need to refer to her marital status, just as traditional references to men give no indication of their marital status. Examples:
 - a. Ms. Lorna Stafford
 - b. The Reverend Ms. Louise Lind
 - c. The Reverend Mr. Louis Lind
 - d. Dr. Jennifer Jones
2. Different titles should be recognized when addressing married couples. Examples:
 - a. Clergywoman married to a layperson: The Reverend Ms. Sally Jones and Mr. Gerald Jones
 - b. Clergy couples: The Reverends Ms. Sally Smith and Mr. Gerald Jones; The Reverends Ms. Sally Jones and Mr. Gerald Jones; The Reverends M/M Sally and Gerald Jones
 - c. Other titles: Professor Louise Lind and Dr. Jonathan Smith; Drs. Cynthia and Jackson Whittaker
3. Although the use of individual names is assumed when married people have different titles, this is desirable for others as well. Instead of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jackson, try:
 - a. Steve and Lorna Jackson
 - b. Mr. and Mrs. Steve and Lorna Jackson
 - c. M/M Steve Jackson and Lorna Stafford
4. Titles can be eliminated altogether, but in formal usage this practice is generally not preferred.

D. References to Collective and Abstract Nouns

Social institutions (e.g., Church), concepts (e.g., evil), or inanimate objects (e.g., a ship) do not have gender. Referring to them as female or male encourages stereotyping groups of people with the qualities specific to that institution, concept, or object.

1. Pronouns that refer to collective and abstract nouns should be neuter, except in direct quotations.
 - a. Direct quotation: "And I saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. ..." (Rev. 21:2).
 - b. Modern usage: The Church is described as the new Jerusalem. It is adorned for the worship of God, and its relationship with God is seen as a gift from God.
2. Direct quotations can often be made inclusive through the use of brackets: "A person must make his [or her] own way in this broken world."

LANGUAGE ABOUT GOD

Although these guidelines are designed mainly for use in terms of language about people, care and attention should be given also to language about God in writing, speaking, and worship. Language about God should articulate the variety and richness of God's manifestations to humankind. It should also respect the deeply personal nature of God as expressed through the Trinity. These suggestions are offered as a beginning point from which one can develop androgynous language about God.

- A. The exclusive use of either masculine or feminine pronouns for God should be avoided.
- B. Metaphors showing God's personal relationship with humans should be used, but need not be personalized with "he" or "she."
- C. A variety of sex-specific metaphors can be used: "God is the father who welcomes his son home, but she is also the woman who searches for the lost coin."

Imagination, patience, and diligence are required in order to use language that expands and enriches our understanding of God.

II. JUDICIAL PROCEDURES

Duke Divinity School

Adopted January 1987, The Divinity School Community:

Duke University expects and will require of all its students continuing loyal cooperation in developing and maintaining high standards of scholarship and conduct... Any student, in accepting admission, indicates willingness to subscribe to and be governed by these rules and regulations, and acknowledges the right of the university to take such disciplinary action, including suspension and/or expulsion, as may be deemed appropriate, for failure to abide by such rules and regulations or for conduct adjudged unsatisfactory or detrimental to the university.

The Bulletin of Duke University: The Divinity School: "Admissions: Conduct of Students"

The judicial system hereinafter described is constituted for the Divinity School community as required by the Judicial System of Duke University and the university's rubric on student life. It conforms to and functions within those larger structures. Reference will be made in this document to the most readily available specification of university rules, the Bulletin of Duke University: Information and Regulations, which may be consulted in the office of either associate dean or in the Divinity School Library and obtained through the Office of Student Life of Trinity College. See sections on "Student Life" and Appendix entitled "The Judicial System of Duke University."

The Divinity School Judicial Board

The Divinity School Judicial Board [hereinafter simply "the board"] is composed of the two associate deans and five students (one of whom shall be designated an alternate) and three faculty or staff members (one of whom shall be designated an alternate). They shall be chosen respectively by the Student Life Ministry and the Divinity School faculty through the normal procedures for constituting committees. The board is constituted at the opening of school in the fall; members serve until the opening of the next school year or until replaced by their respective governing bodies. At its first meeting, the board shall elect a chair from among its appointed and regular membership.

A. Hearing Alternatives.

Students accused of violating university regulations or academic expectations may elect either: (1) an informal hearing in which the accused student and the accusing student, faculty member or staff member appear before the appropriate associate dean [see below] and the student's faculty adviser; or (2) a formal hearing before the board according to procedures outlined below. (If the severity of the offense dictates or if procedural difficulties loom, the chair and associate dean may determine that a formal hearing is required or that higher university boards or civil courts must have jurisdiction.) Under either option, the person accused may be advised by a person from within the Divinity School community. The adviser may attend but may not speak during the hearing and will be excused during deliberation over verdict and sanctions.

B. Jurisdiction.

Matters concerning academic offenses—cheating, plagiarism, theft of papers, library misconduct—shall be heard, formally or informally, by the university associate dean for academic programs. Offenses concerning student life, the university community, field education, or professional ethics shall be heard, formally or informally, by the associate dean for student life and field education.

C. Offenses.

Among the academic offenses deemed unacceptable at Duke University are plagiarism—the submission of work as one's own that contains unacknowledged or improperly acknowledged words or ideas of another—submission of papers in more than one course without the explicit permission of the instructors concerned, the purchase or theft of papers, cheating, and abuse of the library. Student life offenses include abuse of university property, theft, falsification of financial aid applications, use of illegal substances and physical, mental or sexual harassment. For detailed specification and illustration of student life offenses see the aforementioned Bulletin: Information and Regulations under "Student Life" and "University Regulations and Policies."

The same volume treats academic offenses in the section entitled "Academic Honesty." Students are advised to purchase at the Duke University Bookstore the Composition Guide—Duke University by Renal R. Butters, which provides detailed guidance on correct procedure and clear illustrations of impermissible practice.

D. Duties of the Associate Deans.

The associate deans shall be responsible for hearing complaints, conducting investigations, gathering evidence, determining probable cause, establishing whether the Divinity School Board has jurisdiction, specifying the charge, informing the accused of his/her rights, indicating the hearing options, impaneling the board in the event of a formal hearing, preparing the case, setting the date for a hearing, producing witnesses, and imposing any sanctions or penalties.

E. Formal Hearings.

1. If the student elects (or the associate dean specifies) a formal hearing, the associate dean with jurisdiction shall convene the board at the earliest possible point.
2. A faculty or student member shall disqualify himself/herself if he/she is otherwise involved in the case, and the student charged may challenge the seating of a faculty or student member of the board (stating in writing the reasons for so doing). The chair (or in the event of a challenge to the chair, the associate dean) shall accept or reject the challenge. In the event of a disqualification of a member, the appropriate alternate shall be seated.
3. Hearings shall be closed. Formal hearings shall be recorded and the recording retained for a period of three years.

F. Hearing Procedures.

1. The rights of the accused and the hearing procedures outlined in sections I "Role of Accused" and J "Hearing Procedure," in the "Judicial System of Duke University," Appendix of Bulletin: Information and Regulations shall guide the associate dean and the adviser or the board in the conduct of a hearing (e.g. judgments of expulsion or suspension require concurrence of four of the five voting board members).
2. The board (or associate dean and faculty adviser) may impose the sanctions specified in the same Appendix singly or in combination (e.g. expulsion, suspension, probation, warning, fine, recommendation of counseling, etc.).

G. A person convicted may appeal his/her case to the dean by providing written notice of that intention within forty-eight hours and a written statement of the grounds within seven days of the receipt of the verdict. Grounds for appeal include new and significant evidence that might alter the case or violation of due process.

III. THE HONOR CODE

Ministerial and theological education involves developing and shaping a life of honor and integrity, virtues rooted in our faith.

Therefore, we in the Divinity School of Duke University pledge, individually and corporately, to exhibit our commitment to these virtues by abstaining from any form of cheating, lying, or plagiarism and by respecting the facilities of the Divinity School and the property of our peers and professors. We do also assume responsibility for the maintenance of these virtues by pledging, individually, and corporately, to report any violation of this code to the deans associated with the Judicial Board of the Divinity School.

I signify my understanding of this code by signature.
Revised 11/30/88 by SRA.
