A Prayer for a Happy New Year

Bless Thou, this year, O Lord!
Make rich its days
With health, and work, and prayer, and praise,
And helpful ministry
To needy folk.
Speak Thy soft word
In cloudy days;
Nor let us think ourselves forgot
When common lot
Of sorrow hems us round.
Let generous impulse shame the niggard dole
That dwarfs the soul.
May no one shirk his share of work
Through selfish thought.
Each day fulfil Thy holy will
In yielded lives;
And still the tumult
Of desires
Debased.
May faith and hope and love,
Inspired from above,
Increase.
Bless Thou, this year, O Lord!

A NEW YEAR WISH

New mercies, new blessings, new lights on the way,
New courage, new hope, and new strength for each day;
New wine in the chalice, new altars to raise;
New fruits for thy Master, new garments of praise;
New gifts from his treasures, new smiles from his face;
New streams from the fountain of infinite grace;
New stars for thy crown, and new tokens of love;
New gleams of the glory that waits thee above;
New light of his countenance, full and unpriced—
All this be the joy of thy new year in Christ!

—Frances Ridley Havergal

A PRAYER FOR THE NEW YEAR

I want the New Year's opening days
To fill with love, and prayer, and praise,
Some little things to do for Thee,
For Thou hast done great things for me.

A NOTE OF THANKS

This Christmas I received several cards and gifts from the preachers and the Ladies Auxiliaries. I have experienced great joy from these gifts and those sent to my wife.

Christ came to earth as the Great Gift of the Father, and I love His Gift. I am not able to work, as I will begin my 84 year on January 17, 1950. I wish to express my appreciations for the good gifts that I have received.

I am also glad to say that the Bridgeton Church has taken on new life since Brother Clinton Lupton became our pastor. He is helping to carry on the work of the church, and he donates to the church.

We are praying that peace and blessings will rest upon every one during the New Year.

Self-Delusion What Is It?

Elder A. J. Jenkins, D. D.
McArthur, Ohio

Self-delusion is the act of the individual deluding himself, or the group deluding themselves. To delude one's self is to impose upon the person the beguile to self, and deceive self with judgment that is harmful, and use the deceptive beliefs tending to make the mind incapable of accepting Gospel Truth, and Jesus Christ as Savior. All of this incapacitates one, or a whole congregation from being real lovers, and true servants of the Savior, and makes unbelievers in the work and leadership of the Holy Spirit. Self-delusion is a characteristic of sin that leads to darkness from whence one never recovers. (Psa. 49:19, "He (they) shall go to the generation of his Fathers; they shall never see light." Self-delusion leads to self-deification, where one becomes impregnable in their own mind and independent of godly help. This is a deplorable lament to all who are thus deluded, and grievous to those in sympathy with the horrible condition of the deluded. Self-delusion makes obstinate sinners of all who follow the lust of the flesh, because they are actively given over to it fully. Psalm 81:12, "So I (God) gave them over to their own heart's lust: and they walked in their own counsels." Self-delusion is exhibited in the thinking that the person's own way is safe. Read Proverbs 14:12. Also God says, Romans 3:16, "Destruction and misery are in their ways, And the way of peace have they not known." Self-delusion leads souls to disregard most all of what God says, when they should all beware of wicked ways, which God will not excuse, either in sinners or professors. Jeremiah 44:17 is warning. Self-delusionists think of self as being pure in the sight of their own company, but all should read and consider Prov. 30:12. All of this class think of self as being better than all others out of their class, and they should be aware, Luke 18:11, "God I thank thee that I am not as other (Christians) men." In this act we not only have hypocrisy exemplified, but self-delusion verified. Self-delusion often takes people where their money has deluded them, until they don't know their soul's standing with God. Revelation 3:17. "And knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked?"

The self-deluded persons think of self as having peace, and that within, but fail to measure their condemned soul's condition by the word of God (Deut. 29:19). This self-deluded class of millions of people think they are above criticism and adversity, but God says, Psa. 11:6, "Upon the wicked shall He (God) rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest, this shall be the portion of their end." Self-deluded people think they will get to heaven on their gifts, but hear what God says, Matt: 7:21, "Not every one who saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven."

The self-deluded people fool themselves by thinking that privileges entitles them to go to heaven, but Jesus settled this long ago in these words, Luke 13:25, "Lord, Lord, open unto us; and He shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are," and all the pleading they do won't get them in; read verses 26-28 and be convinced truth prevails. The self-delusioned think they are in favor with God, and He will not punish them, but it will pay them to read Jer. 5:12, and Rev. 20:10. "And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." This fire will convince the last delusioned person of the reality of God's Word being truth, and of the salvation being a reality, not a delusion. The delusioned people make themselves believe that Jesus will not judge them guilty, but it is part of God's plan. Rev. 20:13, "And the delusioned were judged out of those things which were written in the books according to their works."

All delusioned people in submitting to Satan and becoming sinners, have made themselves slaves to do all kinds of sin and crime Satan wants done. Rom. 6:16, "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves to obey, his slave ye are to whom ye obey." The delusioned is doomed to die with their sins, and in their sins. Jno. 8:21, "Then said Jesus again unto them, (delusioned) I go my way and ye shall not seek me, and shall die in your sins." All delusioned people have their hearts set on their father the Devil. "And the lust of your father ye will do" (Jno. 8:34). This great crowd of delusioned people, many millions of them, all self-deceived, and all determined to get rich, or in other ways ignore God, and serve the Devil, will pay with their souls, for their folly in the end. Luke 16:14-24, "The rich man also died, and was buried, (his body) and in Hell he lifted up his eyes, (soul) being in torments, verse 24, "For I am tormented in this flame." He had been used to fire to warm his body and enjoy it, but now his soul is in hell-fire, and he is tormented with the burning flame. This man was thoroughly convinced of the reality of hell, and reported back to add delusioned people to stay away from hell. Luke 16:28, "For I have five brothers, testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment." In his torments he was so sincere in his good wishes for his brothers he pleaded, Luke 16:30, "But if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent." God gave him his last instructions and all delusioned people their last warning here, "If they hear not the preachers of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead" Luke 16:31. Delusioned unbelievers will all in hell be thoroughly convinced of the reality of hell, when there thirty seconds, Mk. 16:16, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth the Gospel truth shall be damned." You choose, but God judges.

We thank you, so much

This is to express to those who have been thinking of us during the holidays, and for some time prior to these days, in which cards, letters and gifts have been coming to us. We express OUR HEARTFELT THANKS TO EVERY ONE for these kind remembrances. As it is impossible, or almost impossible, for us to greet every one with a THANK YOU CARD, we hope that this word will be sufficient. Approximately 300 people have thought of us and they made their thoughts tangible. We can never live long enough nor be able to express to every one that which is in our heart toward you. May God richly bless every one with a prosperous New Year, and may your laudable undertakings be wonderfully blessed during the year of 1950, is our prayer.

Personal blessings

For the past several months God has blessed me physically in such a way that I have been able to keep at work in the VINEYARD OF THE LORD; and, during the Christmas period, God has given to me a great spiritual blessing in having fellowship with my family and my kinsmen in Christ.

The third Sunday in December by invitation, I accompanied Rev. J. R. Bennett to Shiloh Free Will Baptist church at Pine-town, where we had great fellowship, in the Lord meeting with those, and for whom we had done revival work many years ago. Our heart was made happy by the reception that we received. Brother Bennett preached at the 11:00 o'clock hour and the evening hour was cordially given to your servant, in which we brought a message from Luke 2:7 using the latter clause, "Because there was no room for them in the inn."

At Ruth's Chapel, a little church near our home and which we are serving as pastor on second and fourth Sundays, we spoke at a sunrise service on Christmas morning, taught the adult class at 9:45 a. m., and preached at 11:00, and again at 7:30 P. M., making four services in which I spoke during the day. God blessed me with physical and spiritual strength; truly I can say, "Not I, but Christ."

At this writing, Monday, Dec. 26, we are planning to meet Rev. Ralph Osborne at his home on Wednesday of this week and anoint an afflicted child of God and pray that she may be healed. If arrangements are made we plan to preach at his church, Sidney, on the same evening.

Thursday, by invitation from the president, we, Mrs. Griffin and I, are to visit the auxiliary of the Black Jack Church, and on Saturday night and Sunday we are to preach in the Black Jack Church. After serving this church for 14 years we know it will be a pleasure to meet with people and worship the Lord at Black Jack. We have been away now for a little more than two years, and it seems much longer, from this fellowship. At a later date we will report on these services.

Christmas gone

The day that we call Christmas is passed into history. It has brought much gladness and blessing to some, and it has brought disaster and sorrow to others. The death toll has been great, and many deaths have been the result of sin and a disregard for the Christ who came and bled and died to save us from sin and death. The real joy, the lasting joy, has come as a result of accepting and appropriating the blessed gifts of God's grace to the proper use to ourselves and others. In the life of thousands there was NO ROOM FOR CHRIST. Egg-nog and spiritous liquors crowded out Christ. Santa Clause, the myth, was sung more than the Baby Jesus. Gluttonous eating of the good things for the physical man, brought pain and misery to thousands, while just around the corner or over the way hungry children cried for bread. Some children were swamped with useless toys, more than they knew what to do with, while some poor little fellow just across the street, or down the road had to do with nothing to make his or her little heart glad. But this is the world that we live in today. Don't you think that if we all would share that which the Lord blesses us with, and make others happy thereby, we would be happier ourselves?

Clippings from The Missionary Review

We hope that, as you read the news clipped from the Missionary Review, you will take courage and make gifts in a large way to help further the work in Cuba.

"The work is in the best condition that I have ever seen it. I have been going over the fields this summer, besides the other things that I have had to do, and we have had some wonderful conventions. The work is growing by leaps and bounds, which is due to the fact of the new graduates, they are going out on fire for God. The students too, have done a wonderful work, especially the girls. Some have been away back in the hills, but have had scores of souls saved. Some of the girls have had day school where they are so abandoned that the government does not send back a teacher. Such a ministry, and the most wonderful people. Too, there is a greater spirit of co-operation than before. We do praise God for our splendid laymen that He is raising up, they have a definite interest in the work." —Mrs. Mabel Willey.

LIFE'S MIRROR

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave.

There are souls that are pure and true;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.

Give love, and love to your life will flow,
And strength in your inmost needs;
Have faith, and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your work and deeds.

Give truth, and your gifts will be paid in kind,
And song a song will meet;
And the smile which is sweet will surely find
A smile that is just as sweet.

Give pity and sorrow to those who mourn;
You will gather in flowers again
The scattered seeds from your thought-borne,
Though the sowing seemed in vain.

For life is the mirror of king and slave,
'Tis just what we are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have
And the best will come back to you.

COMMENTS

By Rev. A. L. Reynolds
206 E. Washington Ave.
Kinston, N. C.

I noticed with interest some of the expressions used in the issue of the Baptist dated December 14, 1949. One of these was: "We feel the need of better literature." Surely we all agree that we need better literature; but, changing from one Standard literature to another, and trying to find literature that will suit everyone is a difficult problem. Some look at it as being modern, but we will never find literature made up by different people with which everyone will agree. We have the world before us and sins in every form; and perhaps, what is needed is Sunday School teachers who are capable of teaching and not merely reading what someone else has to say.

I noticed in an article of the same issue these words, "After all, having a form of government, you have a right to vote on all questions." This is exactly what we do not have, to my sorrow. If we had a Government, some one who could give the people a chance who are working for the betterment of Sunday Schools, Leagues and so on, there might be a great deal more accomplished. The reason for so many bodies of the Baptist is that there has never been a head to hold them together. Where there is no head there is not too much brain. Some people use the term "Free Will" to do anything they please, when the term has nothing to do with "Do as you please."

I noticed in the "Free Will Baptist Evangel" an expression as follows: "We as Free Will Baptist, remaining true to the faith sound the 'Awakening cry', for there are many gone out, or may we say (crept in, too many of us unawares) with another doctrine," and the article referred to the changes in the Treatise. May I say that the changes in the Treatise will have nothing to do with the "Faith of the Saints," or the doctrine of the Free Will Baptists, until there are provisions made whereby it can be used, and used to an advantage.

We need a discipline, and one by which all Free Will Baptist will be governed, and someone to see that it is carried out. Something that will be National, State and Local, and not "do as you please here and I'll do the same there." Something that will prohibit one little preacher from running off to another conference to be ordained because of malice of which we know God is not the author, or a church pulling out from its rightful place and going anywhere regardless.

There is much I could say and would like to say if time and space could be allowed. I have not dealt in personalities, but a condition that exist of which perhaps we are all involved. Perhaps we will never reach the standard of efficiency, but there is much progress that can be made if pursued in the right way.

Mt. Bethel and Sunday Schools

At Mt. Bethel, the youth training camp of Georgia Free Will Baptists, one of the phases of its course of study is training of Sunday School officers and teachers. Here we pass on to you some of the reasons, gathered from other sources, why this training is needed in yours or any church.

We quote from Baron Brunson. "The apostolic church made the school the connecting link between itself and the world." It was also said that, "the neglect of its schools by the church was largely responsible for the Dark Ages." The reformation was a return to teaching principles.

The Sunday School is a laymen's enterprise. Therefore training is important, as laymen are not otherwise trained (only as a "new heart" speaks to them). It relates to all people, of all conditions, and all help to promote it. It is of more rapid extension than any world movement because it is for everybody and by everybody. In such organizations it behooves us to train its "key" workers. It is important because two out of every three protestant children are out of Sunday School. Teachers and officers need training, for they take a place of authority to train others in the Christian way. Sixty out of ninety times Christ was addressed, he was called teacher or its equivalent. The Great Commission contains two charges to teach. Paul stipulates that a pastor be "apt to teach" (I Tim. 3:2). Luther thought "teacher training" so important that he went so far as to say a clergyman was not fit to be a preacher unless he had first been a teacher. Wesley also lauded teaching and with others seemed to believe that teaching of Sunday School teachers saved England from horrors, such as French Revolution. We cannot depend on pastors for enough instruction. Satan works so fast, so many ways, can we afford to depend on only one hour per week by un-trained personnel? Fifty two hours of Sunday School is reduced to seventeen by untrained officers and teachers, ungraded lessons or classes, and irregular attendance, so we are told. Seventy-five percent of church members become members as a result of Sunday Schools. The better the officers are trained the greater percent is evangelized. Eighty-five percent is said to become active in the church and ninety-five percent of ministers and missionaries come out of Sunday Schools.

Training is the greatest aid to solving Sunday School problems. It is the first step to better and bigger Sunday Schools. Christ trained those whom he sent out. Real teachers are seldom found without special training. One must first be a "learner", then a teacher. All need to study "to show thyself approved." If pupils are to drink from a living fount, then teachers must not be a stagnant reservoir. Effective Sunday Schools mean trained officers. God stir in us that Sunday School officers have equal training.

Our Saviour's Birthday

—O—
Dorothy N. Harris,
3529 Myra Street,
Jacksonville, Florida.

Will His birthday make any change in our hearts. Will it inspire us to go forth as better Christians?

I trust that all Christians may have a mountain-top experience as we again near our Lord's birthday. May our hearts be filled with glory and thanksgiving as were the shepherds on that night so long ago. Luke 2: 16-17, "And they came with haste and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the sayings which were told them concerning this child." Are we telling abroad what we know about Jesus? He has meant so much in my life, and it burdens my heart for others to have the sweet peace and joy that fills my heart to overflowing.

Luke 2:20, "And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them." Notice that the shepherds returned. They must have returned to the tending of their sheep, but they were shepherds with new hearts. They had seen the Christ and they let it be known by glorifying and praising God. We need to seek a deeper experience with him, that we may go forth glorifying and praising God as the shepherds did.

In the second chapter of Matthew we read of the wise men searching for Jesus, and when they had found Him they returned into their own country another way. When we have found Jesus precious to our souls, when we have given Him preeminence in our lives, we may have to, and generally do, go back to our same occupations, and daily contact with the same people, but we go back bigger, taller, kinder, better and wiser owing to our experience with Jesus. We know that the wise men must have gone back to their own countries better and wiser men.

Our Saviour's birthday has been commercialized until the true meaning is almost gone. Christians let us pray that the world will give Him back His birthday. Gifts at this time should be to the poor and unfortunate ones. Jesus did not give His life on the cross for a chosen few. Give in the name of Jesus.

The great experience we can have by truly visiting the Christ child's manger will take us through trials and temptations for many days to come.

Praise God that the Christ Child lives today as our Redeemer.

(P. S.—This came too late for the Christmas issue, therefore we are using it in this first issue of the new year.—Editor.)

—O— CUSTOMS AND HABITS

—O—
By N. Borders
Waverly, Ohio

When customs and habits are once formed, they are very hard to break away from. In fact, it is impossible in many instances—without divine intervention.

They tell us that a few centuries back the churches sang the Psalms of David; and, when they began to make songs that would rhyme, as our songs of today, many thought it was sacrilegious and refused to sing them. When I was a lad of forty years ago, there were but little instrumental music in the churches, and many people balked at the idea of it. But now you can find it in most of the churches.

There are some people who fight Sunday School even until this day, simply because they cannot find it mentioned in the Bible in those precise words. I am glad to say that their ranks are getting thinner and thinner every day. Yes, there are a few even unto this day that say it is a sin to give a preacher a dime for his labours in the gospel. If we had no scripture to substantiate the fact that it is right to pay the preacher for his labors, "common horse sense" would tell him that if a man would sacrifice much of his time that way that he would soon be scraping the bottom of the meat barrel, and his trousers would soon need patching.

So much for the different beliefs, and they are honest folks who hold to such opinions. Yes, I think many of them will be saved. It is the way they have been taught, and those ideas have been grounded into their hearts. It is just so with the movies and the talking pictures in the churches. For example, if we have Bible pictures portrayed in the church, they will make an impression on the mind that will stay there longer than any hearing of the message by the ear. Psychologists claim that the thoughts will linger in the mind four times longer than by hearing. When I first heard of movies of this kind, I was a little surprised and doubtful myself, but when I saw the picture of the Life of Christ, I was entirely convinced that it was another step in the right direction. Again, it will attract a great many people to church who will not go to hear preaching. So, as concerns my part, I heartily approve of the sacred pictures. Perhaps some of us still have foggy ideas in our heads that it would be well for us to get rid of.

One can remember that the time was when people used to fight the idea of divine physical healing, but I think most people have come to believe in it. Sometimes I wonder if we have fully emerged from the Dark Ages, or not. People are still discovering new truths in the Bible that were overlooked by our forefathers. When the Bible is fully understood, maybe in that day the glory of the Lord will cover the earth as the waters that cover the seas.

The Bible speaks of "a more perfect day," when the swords shall be beaten into pruning hooks, and the lion and the lamb shall lie down with the kid. The main reason that I am such a strong Free Will Baptist is that we are tolerant with other churches, and will worship with most all Protestant denominations. It is the earnest prayers that count most, after all. We Free Will Baptist simply preach the simple and plain doctrine, and I cannot afford to preach any other. I have always made it a habit that when I had a horse that just suited me, that horse was not for sale. Every article of faith suits me just fine, and I praise the good Lord for them.

MRS. L. E. BALLARD IS QUITE ILL

—ooOoo—

Mrs. L. E. Ballard of New Bern, North Carolina, has been quite ill for several days. She was taken to one of the hospitals in New Bern some days ago for treatment and rest for a nervous condition. Just recently she was returned home for recuperation, but she is still unable to be up and out of the home.

It is requested that the good church people go to the Lord in prayer for her, praying that God might restore her to her wanted health again. Pray for the family that they may be strengthened and comforted as they seek to do what they can for Mrs. Ballard during her confinement in the home.

LITERATURE SALES FOR THE FIRST QUARTER

—ooOoo—

The sales of Sunday School and League literature thus far for the first quarter of the new year have been splendid. We are at the present time more than one hundred orders ahead of the same period last year, and orders are still coming in most every mail. So, if there be some who have not placed your orders, simply mail them at once to us. Should there be others who have already ordered and found that they did not have enough copies to fill the needs of their classes, please send for the number you need. We will fill orders as long as our supplies last.

My Camp Experiences at Mount Bethel Camp, Ashburn, Georgia

—O—

I have been dietitian at camp for a number of years and I would like to tell others of the wonderful training I have witnessed.

At camp Mt. Bethel last summer, we would arise at 6:00 o'clock and start preparing breakfast. Just before the meal was served, the students and instructors would come to the dining room and study hall for the morning devotional. As we prepared the meals in the kitchen, we could hear the prayers and testimonies of these young people, which were real soul-stirring and uplifting. They had good singing, too.

It was good to see the happy smiles on each face as they came in to eat. After singing a chorus, someone would give thanks for the food and then all were ready to enjoy the breakfast. It was so nice to hear them say as they finished—"I enjoyed my breakfast," "best coffee I have ever tasted," or "the biscuits were fine." After breakfast, each one would get ready for classes. As we prepared the noon day meal, we could listen to these classes, thereby receiving a great blessing from this.

We served dinner at twelve o'clock and everyone was ready to do a child's part at the table. It did not matter what the menu might consist of—it was enjoyed by all. After dinner, a rest period was held before finishing classes for the day. As classes were over, each one was free to rest or play ball or games as they wished until time for supper.

After the evening meal, we all went to "The Rock" for vesper service which was the best service of the day. "The Rock" was a large rock on a knoll back of the camp building. We went over to this place and built an altar. "The Rock" was large enough for the whole student body and the instructors to sit on it while services were conducted. These services took place just as the sun was setting which seemed to make it so impressive.

After vesper service we would return to camp. While some of the young people would play games, others and the older people would sit and talk, until time for the evening service. Then some minister would bring a very impressive message. On Tuesday night of second session in '49 every unsaved person found the Lord precious to his soul, and confessed the Lord before the group of campers, before we retired for the night. We just can't express how happy we were. The colored cooks were very much impressed at this conversion about 20 in all. We were happy to sleep that night, but usually the lights were out at ten o'clock.

Parents, if you have children who are unsaved, they don't have to go to camp Bethel to find the Lord, for He is everywhere, but that is a good place to find Him, for all the encampments I have ever attended, from 2 or 3 to 23 or 24 were saved, except one week's session.

Here is hoping you will meet us at Mount Bethel Camp third Sunday in June, 1950.

BROTHER R. McLEOD GOES TO THE ORPHANAGE

Brother R. McLeod of Dunn, North Carolina, Route 5, has been elected as assistant superintendent and treasurer of the Middlesex Orphanage. He will assume his duties on January 2, 1950.

The tavern and the cocktail room naturally and certainly endanger the health, the life, the comfort, the safety and the morals of the people, and offend against the common law.

The Local Community, the Christian Citizen and the Liquor Traffic

By Regulus

The closer the liquor problem gets to the heart of the home, the more important it becomes to the Christian citizen. The custom of the home itself is most important of all. Next in importance is the neighborhood environment, then, the impact and influence of the local community, its social customs, its facilities and suggestion, its political organization.

All of these are determining factors affecting the very character of our homes, the training of our children.

It means much to the citizen of Hastings, Nebraska, as to whether or not liquor is sold in New York City, because his son may go there to find employment, and his daughter may go there to seek artistic training. There are, of course, an infinite number of ways in which the sale of liquor in New York City may affect his life and happiness, but primarily, what is done in Hastings is of greater importance to him.

The average man instinctively realizes this. He may not be a "Dry," but he does not want liquor sold on his street. He says, "Keep the taverns downtown; keep them out of the residential districts." He may finally reach the conclusion that it is better to keep them out of the town entirely, although he is willing for the nearby city to have saloons, night-clubs, cocktail rooms.

These things being true, the right of the citizen to protect his immediate environment is of the greatest importance to him.

The term "local option" is frequently used erroneously for "prohibition." Local option is, only the right of choice which is the very essence of democracy.

Sooner or later, the liquor question may come up for decision in your local community. If, and when that time comes, ask yourself and your neighbor these questions:

1. Will there be more liquor sold in this community if the liquor traffic is legalized?

2. Will the interest of my family (and your family) be best served by increasing the amount of liquor sold and consumed in this community?

3. Will the economic interest of the community be served by increasing liquor consumption?

4. Will the community environment be improved by licensing the sale of liquor?

5. Will social problems increase in number and seriousness if we license liquor sale, or will they be decreased by such a policy?

6. Does liquor revenue derived by the community from licensing the sale of liquor, really "pay?"

7. Will "business" be better in a dry town?

Let us discuss the last question, first. Local revenue (on the average) derived from the sale of liquor is $2.24 per capita annually. All but 35 cents per capita is by transfer of funds from other jurisdictions—the 35 cents is received directly. The total local liquor revenue is only four-and-one-half per cent of all local government revenue, again "on the average."

It is perfectly obvious on its face that $2.24 is not a major credit item. If the community, or family, or children will be safer and happier in a Dry town, certainly $2.24 per capita is not a great price to pay.

There are other considerations involved in this matter of liquor revenue. The average individual expenditure for liquors in the U. S., is somewhat more than $60.00 and everyone is taken into consideration in computing this average—men, women, children, babes-in-arms. The liquor traffic takes in $60.00 and returns to the local community, $2.24.

This fact confronts us with other questions:

Is the liquor traffic sound on the economic side; is the capital tied up in the maintenance of liquor sale serving the best interest of the community; does the money spent for liquor have a regenerative effect—that is, does it cause the creation of wealth? Is the community richer or poorer by the transaction? It is, of course, poorer; no wealth whatever has been created by the labor and the materials used in the making or distributing of liquor. No man is more efficient in his work because of drinking; he is not a better consumer because of it.

A distinguished Englishman once remarked that he had seen a drunkard in the gutter; he had a hole in his hat—the hat trade was suffering because liquor had made him incapable of buying another. His shoes were broken—the shoe trade was suffering because he had been knocked out of the market for shoes. He was dirty—the soap trade was suffering.

The community which takes in $2.24 per capita from the sale of liquors has to expend great amounts of money to care for the consequences of drinking those liquors. Derelicts troop into the police courts every Monday morning; they congest the jails; their wives and children must be relieved with public appropriations or private charity. Liquor-caused crime, juvenile delinquency, ill health, accidents, death. It breaks up homes, and every broken home is a community disaster.

The liquor question is as simple as this:

1. All of the evil consequences of drinking alcoholic beverages have a direct relationship to the amount of liquor consumed.

2. The amount consumed is determined largely by the facilities for making and distributing liquor.

The pretense that more liquor is consumed where liquor is not legal-

LIQUOR MIXED WITH GASOLINE SPELLS CRIME

Drunken drivers of automobiles and trucks on the highways cause more wrecks, hospital cases and deaths than any other class of people in this country. The use of spiritous liquors by a great many drivers is the cause of a steady increase of crime over this nation. In spite of all good that the F. B. I. agents are doing to lessen crime, and to apprehend and punish the drunken drivers on our highways, the drinking of alcoholic beverages is increasing in this country. Drunken drivers are found in the highways every day in this land. The innocent children and others are being knocked down and maimed for life on the highways by people driving under the influence of whiskey. In fact, many are being killed by such drivers of cars and trucks.

As long as alcoholic beverages are as easy to get as they are today in this nation, that long will we have drunken drivers. Law enforcement and legal punishment of the guilty will not stop others who drink from driving and committing crime on our public roads. The remedy is the removal of the whiskey business from public use. As long as the A. B. C. stores are convenient in towns and the cities of this nation, that long will we have drunken driving, wrecks, deaths and the injured for life. The person in the driver's seat of a car or truck, when under the influence of strong drink, is a menace to society, and has no right to be trusted with a moving vehicle on the highway. If there were a law in the land that those who drink whiskey were not allowed to drive on the highways, then it would be readily seen that the wrecks would become less in this land. This must be considered a part of the general inefficiency of political administration. The administration of almost any law, whether by the Federal, State or community government, is usually far short of perfection. Local prohibition will not be perfectly enforced under any circumstance, but at its best it is far better than license.

There is a great deal of violation of law in so-called Dry Territory, but country, and travelling would be much more safe for every one.

Whiskey is the cause of more homes being broken up than any other evil in our land. It is always coupled with other vice, and is at the bottom of many murders, suicides, house fires, and other disturbances. It leads in family divisions, loss of property, ruined health, and moral depravity.—The Exchange.

Two drinks of liquor and an old dilapidated car with a tank of gas, and you will be certain to get somewhere down the highway a nasty wreck. That is the history in many cases of the fellow who cares for nothing but strong drink and riding at high speed on the paved roads.—R. P. Q.

Road sentences for drunken driving do very little good to the fellow who has never been caught driving a car while he was drunk. He feels safe that the law will never get him for drunken driving. He will take chances, for he has gotten by before, and he thinks he will get by again. So, on he goes with a drink, and a tank full of gas; going some place just to be riding with his old cronies.—Samuel Tucker.

The New Year holds our a challenge to every one to do his best for himself, and for those whom he loves. It is divided into minutes, hours, days, months for proper living, wholesome exercise, and just dealings with all men.

The New Year has no time to throw away for wild spending, drunkenness, gambling, idleness, murders, thievery, or any other wrong doing. It is time given by God to all men to use wisely and well for the sake of humanity. And he who uses it for idleness, debauchery, adultery, robbery, and such harmful things is his own worst enemy, a menace to society, and a vile wretch before God.—The Herald.

According to reliable statistics, the average individual expenditure for liquor in this country for one year is more than $60. This estimate is reckoned on the basis of every man, woman, boy, girl, and children in this country. Think of it! That is ten times more than the average spent for all religious purposes by each individual in the United States for one year. Now notice the local revenue, on the average, derived from the sale of alcoholic beverages is $2.24 per capita on the annual basis. This is certainly a small return in dollars and cents to the government when the cost of maintaining the law against drunkenness and crime is far greater than the remuneration, not to speak of the damage the general use of whiskey is to the local community.

Any community is far better off without the $2.24 from the liquor revenue than it is with the revenue and the presence of drinking and the effects drunkenness has on the morals of the community.—The Cost of Strong Drink and Crime.

GOODNIGHT OR GOODBYE?

—O—

A business man, struck by an automobile was hurried to the hospital, where he was informed that he had only two hours to live. He had his family called and spoke to them:

"Wife, you have been to me the greatest woman in the world. Through sunshine and shadow we have walked together. You have been my inspiration in everything I have undertaken. Especially has this been true in my religious life. Many times I have seen the Spirit of God in your life. I love you far more than I did the day you became my bride. Good night, dear, I'll see you in the morning. Good night."

"Mary, you have been a joy to your father. How glad I am that you have looked so much like your mother. In face and spirit you have always reminded me of her. I see in you the sweet, beautiful woman who left her home to become the builder of mine. What a Christian you are! Mary, you will never forget how your father has loved you. Good night, Mary."

He then turned to his eldest son. "Will, your coming into our home has been an unmixed blessing. You were a manly boy. You have become an ideal man. You love God and the church of your father. You will continue to grow in every Christian grace and virtue. You have your father's love and blessing. Good night, Will, good night."

Charlie was the next. Having walked in evil ways, he had been a disappointment to his father and mother. The dying man skipped him and spoke to the youngest child:

"Grace, your coming was like the breaking of a new day in our home. You have been a song of gladness, a ray of light. You have filled our hearts with music. When not long ago you stood and surrendered your life to Christ and took the vows of church membership, your father's cup of happiness was full to overflowing. Good night, little girl. Good night."

He then called Charlie to his side.

"Charlie, what a fine, promising boy you were. Your father and mother believed you would develop into a great and noble man. We gave you all the opportunities that we gave to the other children. If there has been any difference, you yourself must admit that the difference has been in your favor. We have done the best we could for you, Charlie. But you have disappointed us. You have followed the broad and downward way. You have not been guided by our advice. You have not heeded the warning of God's hold Word. You have not hearkened to the call of the Saviour. But I have always loved you, Charlie, and I love you still. God only knows how much I love you. Good-bye, Charlie, good-bye!"

Charlie seized his father's hand and between sobs cried out: "Father, you have said 'Good night' to the others, but 'Good-bye' to me!"

"Charlie, I will meet the others 'in the morning,' but by all the promises that assure us of a reunion and give me hope of having them with me again, by those statements of God's Word I can have no hope of seeing you 'over there.' It's goodbye, Charlie, good-bye!"

Charlie fell on his knees by his dying father's bed and cried out in the agony of his soul, praying God to forgive his sins through Christ's shed blood and allow him the hope of heaven.

"Do you mean it, Charlie?" Are you in earnest?"

"God knows that I am," he said, heartbroken.

"Then God will hear and save you, Charlie, and it's not 'Good-bye' but 'Good night.' Good night, Charlie, Good night. Good night my boy." And he was gone.

You, too, will have the hope of heaven if you will:

1. Confess your sins. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (I John 1:9).

2. Receive Jesus as your Saviour. "As many as received Him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God" (John 1:12).

"The statistics of every state show a greater amount of crime and misery attributable to the use of ardent spirits than to any other source." Who said this? The Supreme Court of the United States—none other.

A Message

I would like to send a message
To my friends both far and near;
For time is swiftly passing, and,
Christmas Day is drawing near.

The message that I'd like to send
Is good wishes for them all,
And about the night so long ago
When our Savior was born in a stall.

There was a star, a shining star
To show just where He lay;
There asleep on His mother's arm
While she rested upon the hay.

The wise men came from afar
To bring Him gifts of gold,
The star led them to where He was
And joy did fill their soul.

Down on their knees they worshipped Him,
Then departed on their way
For in a dream they had been warned
That Herod must not know where He lay.

His life on earth was spared for awhile
And he traveled on land and sea,
Preaching the gospel to one and all
Healing the blind so they could see.

The love He did have for us
No greater was ever given
And if we'll love Him as we should We'll have a home in Heaven.

I wish I could put into this message
Just all I'd like to say
But love comes first in my thoughts
Of Christ on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Sallie Carraway,
Robersonville, N. C.

(P. S.—This poem arrived too late for our Christmas issue, therefore we are printing it in this issue.—Editor.)

(Lesson for January 8)

Lesson: Acts 2:1-41.

Golden Text: Acts 2:38.

I. Lesson High Points

Verse 1. Pentecost is also known by other names in the Old Testament. In Exodus 23:16 it is called the Feast of Harvest; in Exodus 34:22, the Feast of Weeks; in Numbers 28:26, the Day of First-fruits. It took place fifty days after the Passover, and was a popular and joyous festival. At Jesus' command the disciples were assembled in Jerusalem, awaiting the fulfillment of the Father's promise. Their hearts were united in one purpose, and they were in perfect accord in one place.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

Verses 2-4. The Holy Spirit. The Lord was present in the Person of the Holy Spirit who came as "the promise of the Father". There were several prominent evidences of His presence. First, there was the sound "of a rushing mighty wind". There was an audible sign. It was the sound to be expected in association with the Holy Spirit, for in the Greek the Word for "spirit" is the same as that for "wind". The sound was not on the outside but on the inside, in the very room where the disciples sat. Thus the whole room was filled with the presence of the Holy Spirit, and thus the disciples were all immersed in the Spirit. It was a true baptism of the Spirit.

Secondly, there was a visible sign—"tongues like as of fire, * * sat upon each of them." In the Old Testament God is often associated with fire (Exod. 3:2; 19:18). John the Baptist foretold that Jesus would baptize "with the Holy Ghost, and with fire" (Matt. 3:11). And Jesus Himself, just before His ascension, told the disciples that they should be "baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence" (Acts 1:5). He made no mention of fire. That leads us to believe two separate baptisms are meant. The Pentecostal experience was the baptism with the Holy Ghost, but the baptism of fire has not yet come. It is a baptism of judgment for the chaff.

Thirdly, there was another sign in the speaking "with other tongues, as the spirit gave them utterance" (Acts 2:4). As is shown in the following verses, they spoke in such languages as the people who were present could understand. These were Jews from all parts of the world, and they carried with them the marvelous messages they had heard.—Selected.

Ye men of Judea, verse 14.

Note, the Apostle Peter began his sermon on Christ as Lord and Saviour by first addressing his opening words to the men of Judea and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. The zeal with which he spoke, the sincerity of his words, and the spiritual influence which he had, through the Holy Spirit, upon the people were evidences that he was thoroughly restored to the divine favor with God. He spoke with authority and convincing power.—Advanced Quarterly, (F. W. B.)

15. the third hour—Nine o'clock, which was too early in the morning for people to be drunk.

16. this is that, etc.—The amazing and puzzling things the people have been seeing and hearing are the results of the outpouring of the Spirit of God in accordance with Joel's predictions. The quotation which follows is from the Septuagint version.

17. in the last days—There words are Peter's interpretation of the word "afterward" in Joel 2:28, upon all flesh—The outpouring of the Spirit of God would not be limited to prophets or individuals empowered for some special tasks, but would be available for all, even for servants and handmaidens (v. 18).

37. pricked in their heart—They were smitten with conviction. It was a terrible thing to have crucified their Messiah.

38. Repent—This involves godly sorrow for sin and a turning away from sin. The need of faith is also implied in this verse, be baptized—Thus publicly declaring their allegiance to Christ.—Practical Commentary.

II. The Lesson Illustrated

A Lesson from Types

The main feature of Pentecost was the waving of the two loaves before Jehovah—Lev. 23:20.

The loaves were made of flour, from the same crop as the sheaf of first fruits. They were of the same grain, reaped from the same field, only the wave sheaf was in all things pre-eminent.

1. The wave sheaf and the wave loaves represent Christ and His people. Christ is the "firstfruits" (I Cor. 15:20), and believers are a "kind of firstfruits" (James 1:18). Christ is the "Firstborn," positionally, and His own are "brethren" (Rom. 8:29). Christ is the Sanctifier and they who are sanctified are all of one (Heb. 2:11); they are the "Church of the Firstborn" (12:23). This is a blessed and a glorious truth. All who truly believe on Christ are one with Him and also one in Him.

2. The two loaves point to the fact that in the Church both Jews and Gentiles are embraced. The sheaf of first fruits was one sheaf made up of separate stalks loosely bound together, but the loaves were made up of many small particles baked into loaves. The union is more close and vital. And it is a union of such who once were far apart.

Before Pentecost, Jews and Gentiles were divided by a "middle wall of partition" (Eph. 2:14). The Jews were the chosen and favored people of God (Rom. 3:2; 9:4, 5).

By the Cross of Christ both are reconciled in one Body to God, and in one Spirit have access to God as Father (Eph. 2:13-18).

3. The loaves were leavened (Lev. 23:17). Leaven, as we have seen on several occasions, is everywhere and always the type of corruption and evil. There was no leaven in the meal offering (2:11), because that offering is a type of the perfect manhood and character of Christ, tested by fire. There was no leaven offered with the wave sheaf (23:9-14), since that points to Christ in resurrection. But the wave loaves were "baken with leaven", for in the Church there is still evil. Even after conversion, and with the Spirit indwelling, the believer still has with him the old nature (Rom. 6:11-13; 7:18; I John 1:8). What is true of the individual believer is true also of the Church collectively, since the Church is composed of all believers. There was evil present in the Early Church even in the days of her greatest purity and when the Holy Spirit was manifestly present and active (Acts 5:1-10;15).—Selected.

DURHAM CHURCHES REPORT

God's Watchword: Love

MRS. C. T. ADAMS, Reporter

The churches of the third union of the Western Conference are beginning a new church year. All the failures and accomplishments are in the past and we look forward with new zeal and courage. We hope that our failures will be stepping stones to success in the future.

Rev. L. S. Joyner is the new pastor at the West Hillsboro Church. This church needs your prayers.

Rev. Q. Hansley is pastor at King's Chapel. He reports that the work is growing in both Sunday School and preaching attendance. He and his family are standing by faithfully. As you know this church was closed when he took it over. Pray for its success.

Rev. E. B. Williams reports wonderful success at his church, Union Grove. There have been two revivals at this church during the year and recently they planned to conduct week-end revivals. Recently one of these meetings was conducted and four members were reclaimed. They had a full house and the attendance is growing.

Rev. Q. G. Worrel, pastor of Oak Grove Church reports progress.

The new pastors who have resumed their duties are:

Rev. R. P. Harris, Calvary Church.

Rev. B. Floyd Cherry, Edgemont Church.

Rev. Fred Rivenbark, Sherron Acres Church.

Rev. Earl Glenn, Tippet's Chapel Church.

These pastors, old and new, have begun their work, and whatever is accomplished will be up to the membership. Most churches think the pastor brings success in his suitcase and if things do not work out so well they blame the pastor. We must remember that the pastor's are God's anointed and every member should watch over him in love. There is so little love among believers today. There is a famine of love, and just at such a critical time. Saints of God are expecting Jesus to come at any moment. This hope should encourage us to watch over one another in love.

These pastors can do much if they get the cooperation of the membership. Some of our churches are failing because of so much worldliness among the leaders of the churches. God never intended that his church play with the world. I can imagine that the Lord Jesus has filed a complaint against us just as he did the Ephesians Church. The word "Ephesus" means to let go or relax.

Therefore, it is not surprising that the Lord Jesus filed the complaint, "Thou hast left thy first love," for the church had started coasting, free wheeling, if you please, and of course this means that it was going downhill.

But the very fact that they were down gives them credit for having been up, up on the very top of these credits. First, they were patient. Second, they were workers. Third, they had nothing in common with evil doers. Fourth, they had courage to denounce those making claim to apostleship. Fifth, they had been burden bearers, responsible, trustworthy. "Nevertheless," says Christ, "I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love." They had relaxed to take inventory of their accomplishments, and had become "at ease in Zion." It had become "the used to" type of church. I very often hear members say, "if our church were like it used to be." They look backward instead of forward. They have at some time or another "let go" of love. We, as regenerated believers must never become satisfied, but press on into unexplored territory, and go forth and blaze a trail in advance of the thinking and practice of the timid and fearful. All of God's children who are filled with the dynamic power of the Holy Spirit possess a holy discontent to live on a low spiritual plane of the ordinary church member. We may be called fanatical, peculiar, if not really dangerous. If we should have strong churches the leaders must be of this type. Churches fail because the leaders are not yielded believers. They are lovers of pleasure more than of God. As the faithful pastors deliver messages showing the believer's privilege of living a clean, sanctified life, may I urge you to hear his message and stay on your faces before God until he sends the power from heaven which will purge you and make you fit vessels for the master's use.

Considering our denomination with its hundreds of members, including its ordained ministers, evangelists, and laymen, the question is, what is our love rating? How many of us have first love? It must be normal or subnormal, high or low, lukewarm, or something. We must not forget that, after all, our status is by no means a secret, for we must keep in mind that there is a public thermometer over our lives and works that somehow the people read or hear about far and near.

If first love fills our hearts it is of God, for God is love, the first love. He gave to the world the first expression of love, "His only begotten Son." Jesus became first love for and to the church. "Christ loved the church and gave himself for it." We are told in Ephesians 5:27 that Christ is going to have a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing, and that it will be holy and without blemish. It will be the pure in heart, Spirit-filled Christians, that will be in this church, and it will take more than just having our names written in the church book. We must be pure and holy here.

First love is received when we actually receive Christ Jesus. We can best manifest and demonstrate that love as members of his body. By first love the local churches succeed, the union meeting, and state make progress; and as a consequence the whole church body goes forward gaining favor with God and man.

"For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ."

Who died for us, that while we wake or sleep, we live together with him, and we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labor among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you. And esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves.

Rejoice evermore."

I Thessalonians 5:9, 12—

Copies of National Minutes

This is to advise that additional copies of the National Association minutes for the last session may be secured by writing to Reverend Clarence Bowen, 518 Woodland Street, Nashville, Tennessee. Any one wanting a copy, should write Brother Bowen without delay for a copy.—Editor.

When sending for a copy of the minutes, please inclose 6 cents in stamps to cover the postage.—C. F. B.

SUPERINTENDENT - TREASURER OF THE ORPHANAGE RETURNS TO PASTORAL FIELD

Rev. James A. Evans is resigning the Field-Treasurership of the Middlesex Orphanage to become effective on January 2, 1950. He wishes to extend his sincere thanks for the co-operation and help from the ministers, church officers, and the various congregations for their hearty support of the home for the more than nine years that he was head of the institution.

His future address will be: Rev. James A. Evans, 1108 South Tarboro Street, Wilson, North Carolina.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

THE MEANING OF SAMUEL'S NAME

Samuel Marsh walked slowly toward home. He had been playing at Edwin Mark's and each boy had been asked to tell something about the person for whom he had been named.

Edwin said, "I was named for my Uncle Ed, who is a great musician."

Robert came next. He had been named for a man who had gone across the ocean to teach the people about Jesus.

James and Joe told of their uncles by these names. They had large oil wells in Texas.

When Samuel was asked to talk, he did not know what to say. He knew that he had been named for his father's uncle, but that was all, and he thought his name was not so pretty as his little playmates.

Samuel ran into the kitchen, and went from room to room until he found Mother. "Did you have a good time at Edwin's?" she asked.

He shook his head, and asked, "What does my name mean, Mother?"

"It means, 'Asked of God,' my boy."

The little fellow did not understand. "What does that mean, Mother?"

"There was a good woman named Hannah, and she was sad without children. One day she told God that if He would give her a son she would lend him to the Lord all the days of his life. At last God granted her request, and she named the boy Samuel. She kept her promise, too. When Samuel was old enough she took him to the Temple—that was the same as our church, and gave him to help the minister there.

"God blessed and loved this little boy. One night, when everyone had gone to bed, the boy heard a voice calling him, 'Samuel!' He sprang up immediately. He was not fretful at being roused out of his sleep, but ran at once to Eli, and said again, 'Here am I; for thou didst call me.' But Eli sent him back to his bed; and there again he heard the call, 'Samuel!'

"Patiently he arose once more and came to the old man; this time Eli knew that God was speaking to the child, and he bade Samuel the next time he heard the voice, to say, 'Speak, Lord; for Thy servant heareth.'

"And God talked to the little boy in the night, and gave him a message for Eli.

"After that God talked to Samuel, and the people knew that he was God's own Prophet. It was a great honor to have God talk to him. So you see Samuel did a great deal of good in the world. To be truly loved by good people is one of the very best ways of being great.

"It is nice to know what one's name means, and it would help us to try and make it true. You see, sometimes one's name proves a special treasure."

Samuel always remembered the meaning of his name after that talk with his mother. He liked to tell about the boy who lived in the Temple and grew up to be a man whom God loved.—Unknown.

NEW YEAR'S WISHES

What shall I wish thee?
 Treasures of earth?
 Songs in the springtime.
 Pleasures and mirth?
 Flowers on thy pathway,
 Skies ever clear?
 Would this insure thee
 A Happy New Year?

What shall I wish thee?
 What can be found
 Bringing thee sunshine
 All the year 'round?
 Where is the treasure,
 Lasting and dear,
 That shall ensure thee
 A Happy New Year?

Faith that increaseth,
 Walking in light;
 Hope that aboundeth,
 Happy and bright;
 Love that is perfect,
 Casting out fear;
 These shall ensure thee
 A Happy New Year.

Peace in the Saviour,
 Rest at His feet,
 Smile of His countenance
 Radiant and sweet,
 Joy in His presence!
 Christ ever near!
 This will ensure thee
 A Happy New Year!

J. C. Griffin Visits Gum Swamp Church

We desire to tell the readers of the Baptist paper that we were indeed fortunate in having Brother J. C. Griffin with us at Gum Swamp Church, Pitt County, North Carolina, on the third Sunday in November. He was the founder of our Sunday School.

Brother Griffin did really preach a good sermon that Sunday morning, and every one seemed to have enjoyed Brother Griffin's visit with us very much. We welcome him back again to preach for us. May the Lord richly bless him is our prayer.

We began beautifying Mount Bethel camp grounds December 27, 1949. However, we were not able to complete the work, and if you have any donation to make, please send it to Miss Eloise Griffin, Treasurer, Leary, Ga.

Religion and Civilization

If men ignore the claims of Christ and reject Christianity, they are undermining the defenses of civilization.

Civilization cannot endure if religion is neglected. A nation which puts God last, is sure to come upon evil times. Failure to recognize and discharge religious obligations spells general failure in the long run. When men turn their backs on God, it is tantamount to wilful assertion of independence of the Creator, and in a moral world, such rebellion cannot be unpunished.

Religion is the bulwark of civilization. The upward progress of the race depends upon the quality of current ideals. Spiritual idealism is the unique bestowment of Christianity. By Christ, men are taught that all men are brethren, that the curse of war is incompatible with the brotherhood of man, and that the interests of every nation are best served by international goodwill.

The calamities which have overtaken our modern world are due to the despite heaped upon the Christian religion and to the pre-eminence given to opposing philosophies of life. Christ has taught men to love one another, embodying His ideal in a life and death of superb self-sacrifice, but men have preferred to love self more, to covet what belonged to others and to seek what they craved with regard only to whether or not they had the power to grasp what they wanted. This accounts for the poverty and misery of large portions of humanity, this is the secret of many gigantic fortunes and this explains the possible imminence of another world-war. This rank egotism of individuals and nations will sweep our civilization on to destruction unless the idealism of the New Testament is restored. Never was the call more urgent than now for the church to put on strength and to leaven public thinking with the spirit of the world's greatest Teacher.

That the strength and permanence of civilization have been jeopardized by the godlessness and materialism of our time needs no proof. Destructive criticism of the Scriptures has been more than matched by the general neglect of the Bible. Some have assailed the Bible with intellectual weapons, but a far greater number have crippled its influence by letting it severely alone and by refusing to be guided by its teachings. The desecration of the Sabbath day is equally well known and the peril to our civilization from the secularization of the day must not be overlooked. If men become so absorbed in the material interests of life that they are never at leisure from themselves and fail to utilize the day instituted of God, for the higher purposes of worship and communion, the day of punishment and calamity is plainly in sight. And if the church, which is the one institution charged with the task of furnishing men with religion and ideals, is not given support requisite to her task, civilization will be imperilled in proportion to religious delinquency. Such indeed has been the case and the world today is paying dearly for putting self before God.

The calamities which befall men are evidence of the love of God. Many hold that calamities flatly contradict God's love and they so declare. But when we reflect that it is God's purpose to fashion men in the moral and spiritual likeness of his own person, it becomes apparent that when men forget the true goal of life and seem bent on thwarting the eternal purpose of the Creator, it is a real mercy to bring a civilization to its senses by what we may term a display of His holy, just and loving wrath. Were God content to let us live and die like animals, plenteous harvests and pleasures would suffice for a career of indulgence moving on toward destruction. But God has created us for spiritual ends, He has bound us to holiness and brotherhood and sacrifice by the wonderful love, a love unto death, incarnate in Christ, and where this object is likely to be destroyed by the wilful neglect of religion, any means, however severe, calculated to call men back to worship and devotion, is a true expression of God's redeeming grace.

We are living in a day of judgment. It is likewise still a day of grace. But the salvation of our civilization and of us men lies in restoring the worship of God. This age has had and still has many "other gods." The gods of self, of power, of pleasure, of lust and of money receive homage and worship before the only true God. This practice must cease. We cannot permanently kick against the pricks. We cannot forever trample on God's day and God's book and neglect God's house. Religious indifference has Omnipotence arrayed against it. So strong is God's passion to save, that, if Calvary's appeal is not heeded, God will speak through earthquake, fire, sword, disease, and other elemental catastrophies, until a crushed humanity acknowledges its dependence on the Creator and turns unto Him for the life which is life indeed, immortal and forever blest.—Anon.

Prayer for Strength

Father, before thy footstool kneeling,
Once more my heart goes up to thee,
For aid, for strength, to thee appealing,
Thou who alone canst succor me.

Hear ye! for heart and flesh are failing,
My spirit yielding in the strife;
And anguish wild as unavailing,
Sweeps in a flood across my life.

Help me to stem the tide of sorrow;
Help me to bear thy chastening rod;
Give me endurance; let me borrow Strength from thy promise, O my God!

Not mine the grief which words may lighten;
Not mine the tears of common woes;
The pang with which my heart-strings tighten
Only the All-seeing One may know.

And I am weak, my feeble spirit
Shrinks from life's task in wild dismay;
Yet not that thou that task wouldst spare it,
My Father, do I dare to pray.

Into my soul thy might infusing,
Strengthening my spirit by thine own;
Help me, all other aid refusing,
To cling to thee and thee alone.

And O in my exceeding weakness
Make thy strength perfect; thou art strong:
Aid me to do thy will with meekness
Thou to whom all my powers belong.

O let me feel that thou art near me;
Close to thy side, I shall not fear;
Hear me, O Strength of Israel, hear me,
Sustain and aid; in mercy hear.

Special Christmas Feature at St. Mary's

The congregation of St. Mary's Free Will Baptist Church, New Bern, North Carolina, enjoyed an unusual Christmas program on Christmas evening, when the pastor, Rev. L. E. Ballard, and his son Beverly Ballard, gave the monologue-solo production of "The Story of the Shepherd Who Stayed With the Sheep." They were assisted in the candle light features by Jane Smith, Jean Carawon, and "Jerry" Ballard, with the robed choir of the church rendering one of the songs.

The stage settings were ideal, the whole back of the stage being transformed into a scene of Bethlehem, with the shepherd's hill in the foreground. For his portrayal of the Shepherd, the Rev. Mr. Ballard had been "made up" by a very good make-up artist, and some of the congregation failed to recognize in the aged shepherd, with his white beard and mustache, their pastor. For the solo parts the son wore a black cathedral singer's robe. Some of the parts he sang in the midst of the scene; others came out of the darkness. The prologue, "Lighting of the Candles," was very impressive, with the soloist singing "O Holy Night," while the whiterobed "Spirit of Christmas" held aloft the great candles representing the Light of the world, and quaintly costumed "Candle Lighters" moved quietly about the church, lighting candles until the scene was lighted up with a soft glow. There was rapt attention as the aged shepherd came back to the scene of the long, long ago, and told his story of the angels and their song, and of the little wounded lamb he cared for while the other shepherds went to Bethlehem, which became to him as he clasped it to his bosom the Christ-Child, when a voice sang out from the darkness "In-as-much as ye do unto one of the least of these."

Recently, in connection with a special superannuation service, the Rev. Mr. Ballard rendered "The Old Preacher", dressed very impressively in character. A monologue on "The Prodigal Son has been scheduled for one of the services in February.

Be at war with your vices; at peace with your neighbors.—Benjamin Franklin.

Narcotics and the Children

One of the strange sights in this country is the New York clinic where child drug-addicts file by in a long line. But more pathetic than the children is another line. It is a group of parents looking on—a group made up of those whose children have left home and have been lost. They never have written a line home to tell where they are. Those parents are standing there looking at the faces of those young addicts, thinking that among them they may find their own lost son or daughter.

What a picture is that! It is a picture of the most cruel, the most treacherous, the most generous plague that ever afflicted the human race. Every right-thinking man and woman ought to help wipe it out.—E. P. Giboney in "The Narcotic Review."

Tithing or Tipping?

Mrs. J. E. Frazier
W. N. A. C. Finance Chairman

(This is the first of a series of articles being presented by request each month by a W. N. A. C. department chairman. Watch for each monthly article. They will contain helpful advice for auxiliary officers and definite plans to be worked by local chairmen, and we believe worthy reading for Free Will Baptists everywhere.—Mrs. H. B. Sloan, W. N. A. C. President)

Whether to tithe or to tip is the question before Free Will Baptists. The Bible recognizes no portion of one's income less than a tithe as a full recognition of Christian stewardship.

When we give less than a tithe, we have appropriated unto ourselves the right to determine the value of the Lord's service to us and the amount of our obligation to Him. In other words, we offer the great God of heaven and earth a gratuity—a tip.

Thus far the cause of Christ has been advanced by our tips rather than by our tithes. In 1948 Free Will Baptists contributed, according to their records turned in at Columbus, Georgia, July, 1948, a total of $421,315.52 to all our churches, institutions, and boards. An estimate based upon Income Tax returns, indicates that Free Will Baptists as individuals received nearly twenty-six million dollars, or that a tithe of Free Will Baptists' income in 1947 would have been $2,508,000.00. On this basis Free Will Baptists are giving, roughly, 1% of their income to the Lord's work instead of the 10% they should give.

Fifty-thousand Co-Laborers

"Fifty-thousand Co-Laborers in 1945" was the goal adopted by the W. N. A. C. meeting held in Flat River, Missouri. Each state convention was asked to and did through state delegates present at that meeting, adopt a goal toward securing these 50,000 Co-laborers. Thus both state and national convention were united in the appeal. Many have adopted the Co-Laborer Band Fund as the standard of their offerings to the promotional program launched by the Boards of the National Association.

If every member of every Woman's Auxiliary organization would become a member of this Band and bring regularly her offering to the monthly auxiliary meeting and there combine her gift—little or much as she has been prospered—with all other auxiliary members' gifts then we would truly be "laborers together" for the cause of missions, the Bible College, etc. All Co-Laborer offerings should be sent monthly through the proper local channel to the W. N. A. C. treasurer. Then each month the National Auxiliary treasurer sends to each National Association treasurer his proportionate part of all such funds that she has received during the month.

If W. N. A. C. members would all tithe instead of tip the Lord, soon we could see greater things being undertaken and accomplished by our foreign missionaries and also by our Bible College personnel as well as by all other Free Will Baptist agencies.

An easy way to be a Co-Laborer is to calculate your tithe for the month. Take one tenth of this tithe with you to your auxiliary meeting as your Co-Laborer Band offering. It all eventually goes through the channel of your church, or should. Thus the auxiliary is really "helping" the church of which she is a vital part, with the budget for missions, Bible College, etc. If the Woman's Auxiliary treasurer will explain to the pastor where by this offering they are helpers, there can be no objections. The Auxiliary Co-Laborer offering, however, must eventually reach the W. N. A. C. treasurer whose duty it is to distribute this fund to Associational treasurers. Either the auxiliary treasurer, the church treasurer, or the convention treasurer may send this offering to the W. N. A. C. treasurer. This depends upon what plan has been adopted within the respective state by the Woman's auxiliary for distribution.

What would happen if Free Will Baptists caught the vision of the increased power of the forces of Christ backed by tithing Christians? Tithing, for example, would transform the F. W. B. foreign mission effort. Instead of 12 missionaries on 2 foreign fields there would be support for 30 missionaries without changing the way in which we now divide the gifts to our boards. A similar increase would be felt by all other F. W. B. agencies.

A Suggestion for 1950

A special three months period for a tithing test by all W. N. A. C. members is being set for February, March and April of 1950, climaxing at the Pre-Easter Week of Prayer Services. Of course, the spiritual blessings and the participation in the extension of the gospel should not be limited to Woman's Auxiliary members, or even to 50,000 out of more than 400,000 Free Will Baptists.

An excellent plan would be for the Auxiliary treasurer and third vice-president to meet with the pastor and arrange to make this three months' Tithing Test a church-wide test. It can be done. It has already been tried by F. W. B. churches and wherever tried it has proved a lasting blessing and souls were converted as a result of this plan and the series of stewardship messages brought by the pastor as he cooperated with the auxiliary members of his church in the promotion of Christian stewardship.

The Co-Laborer Band plan is to challenge every F. W. B. to purpose for a minimum of three months (February, March and April) to give a tithe of all he or she makes to the Lord, and that one-tenth of the tithe will be channeled through the Woman's Auxiliary Co-Laborer Band Fund. Thus we are true to our name "Auxiliary to the church" and true to our Heavenly Father who says thru the Apostle Paul to us "let every one of you lay by . . . as God hath prospered."

Certainly every leader in every

A Pleasant Fellowship

A very pleasant and joyful fellowship we spent the First day of 1950. It was my happy privilege to be at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church and to preach Saturday night before the first Sunday, and both Sunday morning and evening. There were two, a young man and his wife, who accepted the Lord Jesus as their personal Saviour Sunday morning and asked for baptism and church membership.

It was a great pleasure to see the improvement that has been made to the church edifice and to enjoy the comfort of the new heating system and to note the growth of the Sunday School.

Rev. J. R. Davidson is the pastor, as, many people in eastern N. C., know, under whose leadership growth is evidenced.

May God continue to bless the church and may it grow as a tree planted by the water's edge is our prayer.

World Day of Prayer

On February the 24, many prayers will ascend up to an all-wise Father, from whom all blessings flow. This special day of Prayer is set apart by the National Association of Evangelicals and a special Scriptural program arranged, which is reprinted here for the benefit of those who might want to participate in this Day of Prayer and use the program. Here is the full notice as given in the United Evangelical Action, of December the 15th, which speaks for itself.

World Day of Prayer February 24, 1950

For the fourth year the National Association of Evangelicals has published a thoroughly Scriptural program for use on the World Day of Prayer.

The theme of the 1950 program is "ALL POWER," based on Matt. 28: 18. It will be treated in five sections:

- I. Secret of Power.
- II. Source of Power.
- III. Stewardship of Power.
- IV. Service through Power.
- V. Supreme Goal of Power.

Dr. Wm. H. Lee Spratt, pastor of Judson Memorial Baptist Church, Denver, Colo., editor of the program, was assisted in its preparation by Mr. Oscar J. Harris and Mrs. Leslie R. Marston.

To keep the printing cost at a minimum, a limited supply will be available, so order your supply NOW.

There is no charge for this service but a free-will offering, to defray the expenses of printing and handling, will be appreciated.

A False Conception

From writings some time and preaching all along, some have the idea and such has been reported, that "J. C. Griffin does not believe in altar services." Such accusations are false. Here is what J. C. Griffin believes: I believe that God can save a person at any time in any place. One does not have to be down at an altar to find the Lord Jesus in the forgiveness of sin. I actually find people who seem to think that you cannot be saved unless you beg God for hours to save you and that this must be done at an altar in the church.

Why beg God to save you when God so loved you that He gave His only begotten Son to save you? Why not let God do what He wants to do? God wants to save every one. Christ came to save the lost. Why not let Him do what He died to do for you? God's mind is already made up. We don't have to get Him in a notion to save us. He has been ready from eternity. What God says, is, "ALL THINGS ARE READY." Give up your sin and believe on the Lord Jesus. The jailer at Philippi said, "What must I do to be saved?" They said; "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." They didn't say "Get down to an altar and pray through and God will save you." That would have been salvation by works. And Paul says, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph. 2:8, 9). If I prayed it down, that would be works. Yes, I do believe in an ALTAR RIGHT IN THE CHURCH, but I do say any one who believes in Christ whether he is at an altar or by his bedside or on the road or in the field, at his desk or in the air receives salvation and it is not of works; but is by faith in the shed blood of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Works of God

"Then said they unto him, (Jesus) What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent" (John 6:28, 29).

So then faith in the Lord Jesus Christ is the work of God. Christ said, "He that believeth on me shall never thirst" (John 6:35).

People that believed on Franklin D. Roosevelt, endorsed Roosevelt's theories. They favor the "New Deal" as followers of the late President. So it was with President Washington and Lincoln. We patronize the lawyer, the doctor, and the merchant that we believe in. We fish where we believe the fish are, and every phase of life is made up by faith in some one or in some theory or some plan. So it is with SALVATION

WHAT I THINK ABOUT PRAYER

B. E. Coxwell
Tallahassee, Fla.
Route 4, Box 822-A

Here are a few things that I believe about prayer. I believe in prayer in any form. God's word tells us to pray without ceasing. We may pray standing, sitting down, or lying down. I was propped up on my elbows when I was praying to God, when the storm divided and spared the house I was in. Once I was walking along praying when God revealed to me a vision which I had. On another occasion, one of my nieces was sick and out of hope. She had tried three of the best doctors that she knew and without results. I knelt down at my bedside and prayed to God on her behalf, and she soon got well.

Listen, Brethren, we must not get too proud, or too exalted to bow down to God in prayer. A man told me once that there was a man from the country who was shabbily dressed, but he wanted to join a city church. The preacher thought that it would be a little embarrassing to take the old countryman into his fine church. So, he told him to put it off a while, and to talk to the Lord about it. When he came back to join the church, the preacher asked him if he had talked to the Lord about the matter. He replied, "Yes." The preacher said, "What did the Lord say?" He said, "I have already tried to get into that church but they would not have me."

Dear people, do not get too proud and exalted with yourselves, for the Scriptures say, "Whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased." I do not imagine that the rich man wanted to put his hands on poor old Lazarus, fearing that it would drag him a little further down. God's word says, "Every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess." Christ bowed over with his face to the ground when he prayed so earnestly to His heavenly Father. Malachi says, "All the proud, yea, all that do wickedly shall be stubble." Some people will tell you that God was here talking about Sodom and Gomorrah. If God does not want me to exalt myself, then he does not want you to do it either. Christ was not any more humble to the Father than he wants you to be. Dear friend, if your child was on his death bed, and you did not have any hopes of him, and the child were to tell you to hurry and pray for him, for there was something in the way of salvation, would stand up to pray for him or her? You would kneel, I know. So, consider the other mother's, boys, and girls, for they are just as precious to them as yours are to you.

I told a person one time that I did not believe in standing up to pray in church. She replied, "When they stand up, they get nearer to God." But when Christ was in such agony praying to the Father about his crucifixion, he did not stand up. He bowed down with his face to the ground. The Apostle Peter prayed one time on the house top, but the Word does not say that he stood up.

The Wife Comes to the Minister

"Yes, Mrs. G, this Bible will solve your home problems better than the doctor's bottle." The minister was instructing the wife of Mr. X in the Christian way to larger life. She had reconsecrated herself only the Sunday before, and was now finding that consolation and conviviality are not served from a cocktail glass.

"My husband and I found, as the doctor said, that we could get away from our cares with a few drinks in the evening, but I discovered that we had to come back to them, multiplied. You see, we have two children. The more we drank the less success we had with making them happy. We were cross and impatient—and found ourselves pushing them out of our way. And now, Mr. X is turning on me with growing criticism.

"And what about your neighbors?"
"Oh, we are getting chummy only with those who take their turn entertaining. Husband was saying today he had no more time for those 'blue noses' across the street. He talks about the sissy preachers, and pities the poor suckers who can't have a little fun occasionally.

"I'm concerned about my husband. I want him to find happiness. And, oh, our sweet children—they're worth more than all that the stimulants ever could mean. Since I've quit drinking, new joy has come to me in exciting adventures with them. We are happier together than I realized we could be. But how can I get their father to see?" My look of concern turned into a smile:

"Just live this new life of radiance, so that every day, and in a Christian way, your faith will demonstrate that you have found a stimulant that makes your life significant."

While she was pondering this challenge, I wrote out a new prescription. It consisted of two parts, i.e., the five rules of Professor William James relative to a change of habits, and simple Bible verses for her to take as a daily spiritual tonic. The substance of these practical helps is the sublimation of the appetite, and the re-direction of the aim. Paul points the way in Romans 12 and I Thessalonians 5:14-26.

WHERE TROUBLE BEGINS

The proper training of children begins at home. Check these points:

1. Do the children have any regular work to do outside of school hours? Are they being taught that money should be earned by labor?

2. Are they permitted to go to movies of questionable character, to withdraw books of fiction from the corner drugstore without oversight?

3. Do they attend public dances; do they attend parties on school nights; are their parties properly chaperoned by mature persons?

4. Do the magazines which come into your home suggest drinking, questionable relations between the sexes, marital infidelity?

5. Do you think your child has been made to realize just what a heavy responsibility is involved in the driving of an automobile? Do you say "no" to your child when you ought to say "no," and do you make it stick?

6. Do you always know where your children are?

7. Do you know your child's school-teacher? Has she been in your home?

8. Are you trying to build into your child's character, a sound faith and philosophy of life?

9. Are your children's friends welcomed into your home? How much of their recreation and entertainment centers about their home roof-tree and how much of it is purchased from those who make a profit by selling it?

"Be sure that you are fit to use the road. Alcohol, even in small amounts, lowers your alertness and sense of caution. A fraction of a second may make all the difference between safety and disaster. If you cannot give the necessary concentration you are risking not only your life but the lives of others."—British Highway Code.

WILLIAM CAREY— FOUNDER OF MISSIONS

The Story of a Great Baptist Missionary

In the Indian town of Serampore stands three monuments to William Carey. The first, a brick and plaster tombstone. The second, the stately Serampore College. The third, two long rows of Bible translations, 36 in all, most of them translated by Carey into as many dialects of India.

Behind these monuments is the story of a cobbler with vision that enabled him to see a world lost in sin because men had heeded not the last command of the Master: "Go ye into all the world—and preach the gospel."

William Carey, the father of modern missions, was born in England in 1761. Apprenticed to a cobbler, he came to a knowledge of Christ before he was 18, and by 21 was starting his ministry as a lay preacher.

Soon ordained into the ministry of the Baptist church, his one vision was of a world in darkness which must be given the light. To many he was but an irritating upstart, but so it has been with every flaming apostle of spiritual freedom.

In 1792, a year which will ever shine in Baptist annals, Carey published his famous tract on "An Enquiry Into the Obligations of Christians to Use Means for the Conversion of the Heathens." And in that year he preached his far-reaching sermon with its two-fold message, "Expect great things from God; attempt great things for God." As a result, the first Missionary Society of modern times was formed by a group of thirteen Baptist ministers, and the first step in the work of world-evangelization was taken.

Two problems were at once overcome. The money to found the work came from loyal hands. And two men volunteered to go as missionaries. One of course was William Carey, and the other, John Thomas, a big-hearted and unselfish navy captain.

In June, 1793, these two, along with Carey's family, sailed for Calcutta, and the new great mission enterprise was fairly started on its course.

For many years Carey, along with those associated with him, faced the fiercest opposition. The East India Company, ruler of India, was an arch-enemy. The government of England was intolerant. The state-controlled churches looked with contempt on such a venture. And the Baptist churches, with a few notable exceptions, were totally indifferent.

But Carey had gone to India to save India for Christ. And in the midst of seething hordes of people in the depths of darkness and helplessness, he was able to write that he "felt the all-sufficiency of God and the stability of his promises."

Accepting a position as manager of an Indigo plantation, he was able to keep his family from starvation, though Peter Carey, his five year old boy died of the fever, and Mrs. Carey, under the strain, became a victim of insanity.

By 1800 he was able to move to Serampore, where he remained for the 34 years left of his life. Here, in company with other missionaries, he set about on the translation and printing of the Bible, starting a boy's and girl's boarding school to make his living.

The last Sunday in 1800 was memorable. Then, for the first time in India, Christian baptism was administered. And March 5, 1801, became another day to remember, when the completed Bengali New Testament was laid upon the communion table of the Mission Chapel.

Shortly after this, the translator's gifts were recognized by the British government, and "the consecrated cobbler" was appointed Professor of Bengali in a college in Calcutta. From this day on his labors became truly stupendous. Half the time was spent in Calcutta, the other half in Serampore.

His labors embraced six distinct lines of action. First, his unremitting toil as a college professor. Second, his translation work, which seemed endless. Third, his preaching and personal work, which he never allowed to fall into abeyance. Fourth, oversight and executive control of the Mission. Fifth, his volumes of correspondence written around the world in the interests of missions. And finally, his moral reform, which brought such fruits as the ending of suttee, or widow-burning, and the establishment of Christian hospitals.

Soon the one church at Serampore became eleven, with twenty native evangelists. And within twenty years, a dozen other great missionary societies were formed, carrying the gospel around the world.

In 1834 Carey died, having opened the gates of spiritual freedom to India's countless millions. The story of his stainless and triumphant life is one of the chief marvels of the churches history.—Tune Time.

JESUS AND ALEXANDER THE GREAT

Jesus and Alexander died at thirty-three, One lived and died for self; one died for you and me,
The Greek died on a throne; the Jew died on a cross;
One's life a triumph seemed; the other but a loss.
One led vast armies forth; the other walked alone;
One shed a whole world's blood; the other gave His own,
One won the world in life and lost it all in death;
The other lost His life to win the whole world's faith.

Jesus and Alexander died at thirty-three, One died in Babylon; and one on Calvary.
One gained all for self; and one Himself He gave,
One conquered every throne; the other every grave.
The one made himself God; the God made Himself less;
The one lived but to blast; the other but to bless.
When died the Greek, forever fell his throne of swords;
But Jesus died to live forever Lord of lords.

Jesus and Alexander died at thirty-three, The Greek made all men slaves; the Jew made all men free.
One built a throne on blood; the other built on love,
The one was born of earth; the other from above;
One won all this earth, to lose all earth and heaven;
The other gave up all, that all to Him be given.
The Greek forever died; the Jew forever lives.
He loses all who gets, and wins all things who gives.

1949—A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The year 1949 for Free Will Baptists was successful in several ways. More church improvements in the way of repairs and the building of Sunday School rooms to old churches were made than ever before in any year of the denomination. More money was raised for the erection of new church buildings of the denomination than has ever been raised in one year for new church locations. More Sunday School attendants were in attendance upon the Sunday Schools of the denomination than ever before in the history of the denomination. The Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina, distributed among the Sunday Schools of the denomination more Sunday School literature than it has ever done in any single year in its history. In fact, its entire business for the year 1949 was the greatest it has ever had in every way. From all reports from the field, the combined church attendance for the regular church services on the Lord's Day surpassed for the denomination any previous year.

Through evangelistic campaigns among the churches far and wide there were more converts to the Christian faith, coming into the Free Will Baptist denomination than any single previous year. Many of the local revival meetings reported conversions, ranging from 25 to 90 conversions in a single meeting. And there were quite a number of the revival meetings that reported having received new converts into the church, ranging from 30 to 60, with a two-weeks' revival meeting. Many churches reported that they had held during the year as many as two revivals with great success in both meetings. Some of these meetings were staged only a few months apart in the same church, thus showing that more than one revival meeting per year in a church is highly essential and successful. Moreover, from such reports, it has been shown that those churches that had such splendid success in their revivals were spurred on as a church unit to greater interest, greater zeal, and greater ambition to go forward in the work of the Lord. Many of the "dead churches" were revived, and spurred on to do things for the Lord, when they realized what other churches were doing to advance the cause of Christ in the world.

Furthermore, there were a number of churches over the country moved up to full-time work, when they had been having services only twice per month. There were others that went on half-time, thus holding four church services per month instead of two. In view of these facts, those churches doubled their raising of financial support for the expenses of carrying on the services of the church. Instead of falling behind with their financial obligations they moved forward with renewed courage and zeal to do more for their church and community in the name of the Lord.

WHAT ABOUT THE YEAR 1950?

The year 1949 was a record year for Free Will Baptists in the United States in different ways for which every Free Will Baptist should be proud. But what about the year 1950? Shall it be even better in all respects than last year? What does the ministry think of it? And what will the laity say about it? What do the Sunday School, the Young People's League and the Woman's auxiliary think of it? Yes, what does the general church membership think of it?? Can 1949 be equalled or surpassed by 1950? Think of it? Now is the time to begin the start, while the year is new.

God will do his part if Free Will Baptists will resolve to do theirs in a whole-hearted way for the cause of Christ. Let all the pastors and evangelists throughout the denomination resolve to make this year the best in their life history. May they seek vision, understanding, and guidance of the Lord as never before, and go forth, as the Apostle Paul, with a burning zeal for the salvation of the lost wherever they have opportunity to serve. May their spirit of co-operation with all phases of the denominational work be wholesome, greatly helpful, and be the means of advancing the cause of the denomination in a great way. Let them seek to build for unity, for church expansion, for the increase of God's kingdom by winning great numbers of the lost to Christ.

May the Sunday Schools reach out and seek to draw within their scope of influence and religious teaching those who hitherto stayed away from the church. May the teachers and officers become more concerned than ever about drawing every one possible in their church and community to their Sunday School, and then so teach the Word of God as to win the lost to the Lord Jesus. Let the Young People of the Leagues in their churches and communities reach out and embrace other young people, and bring them into their organization, and lead them to have a part in the great work of the study of the Word of God. Let their numbers increase by leaps and bounds, and their work grow into great proportions for the good of every one living in their midst. Surely the Woman's auxiliaries in every church will make this year the banner year in the history of their organization, for they are always energetic, faithful, and ever ready to render sacrificial services unto the Lord. Let them strengthen and enlarge their own local groups with renewed endeavors, increased memberships, and the setting up new objectives for achievements during this new year. Let them see to it that they, with the help of the Lord, will make this year far better and greater in all that they do for the Kingdom than last year.

"Where there is a will, there is a way." Though that way be hard for some, yet if it is the right way, it will prove to their good in the end. Find your best way, and then stick to it.—The Times.

Dear Friends:

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. May God prosper you in every undertaking for good during the coming year. It seems rather early to be sending Christmas greetings but we have just realized that even now some of these letters may be late. There are people, many so-called Christians among them, who would be little change of greetings and gifts. It has always afforded us consolation, inspiration, renewed courage and hope to realize that in common with millions of other Christians we are paying homage to the greatest person and the most significant event that the world has known—to the birth of the Lord Jesus himself. Just to mediate on what this event has meant to me personally fills my soul with humble gratitude and praise. If it had never taken place, where and what would I be? Would my situation have been similar to thousands of those I see every week—ignorant, undernourished and sick in body, poverty-stricken and desperate because of unfulfilled needs, without trust in their fellow creatures, in their gods or even in themselves, seeing their kindred and loved ones die by the scores without hope now or here-after. If my state is in any degree more fortunate than theirs it was through no merit of mine or, possibly immediate fault of theirs.

Christmas has always been the day of days to me. But now the significance is clearer, brighter and dearer than ever before. As I review the many blessings that have been, are, can and will be mine because of the happenings on that far away eve in the Judean Hills, I am filled with longing to be more like my Saviour and to do more for him each passing day.

As I recall the missed opportunities, the bunglings and the lack of trust and faith this past year, I realize that a mere intention to be like him, to serve him, to proclaim him, to live for him or die for him and to be worthy of him, will, in itself, fall far short of the mark. Oh, how I do long to make this year different from the others so that it will not be marred by mistakes, sins, lack of faith and ignorance. It can not be done by me alone, by you alone, but by and through His Holy and Divine Spirit can it be done. Nay, it must and shall be done.

This may be my last Christmas or yours—who knows? This may be our last year to serve God, and country and one another—which one of us knows what this new year has in store for us and for the World. A world full of those living in sin, ignorance, filth, disease, poverty and without a Saviour. What am I going to do for them this year? What are you going to do? Will I be too busy with my own thoughts, ambitions, and plans to listen to His still small voice and to do his bidding? Will you?

We do wish for you a prosperous new year but above everything we covet for each of you a life hidden in Christ Jesus and a year in which your every thought, word and deed will be prompted by the Holy Spirit.

Yours for a happy Christmas,

Paul and Nelle Woolsey

MISS LLOYD TO GO TO NORTH INDIA

Greetings, dear friends and co-laborers, in the Name of our Lord.

He, it is, who doth go with us, and giveth victory every step of life's way. It has been quite a long while since I visited with you through the pages of our paper, but I trust that by His grace, my visits will be more frequent in the future.

"Now thanks be unto God, which causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the Saviour of His knowledge by us in every place." For three months I was ill in a hospital in South Travancore. But even during that time of being laid aside, the divine Presence of our God was my help and stay. He not only causes His children to be victorious over trials, but victorious in them. I praise Him this morning for the victory that is mine thru our Lord, Jesus Christ. In my heart there is peace because I know He is leading, and with my eyes upon Him, "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

While I was at the hospital, God gave me many opportunities to witness for Him and to serve Him by serving others. My life has been strengthened in Him, and eternity alone will reveal the value of the benefits I have gained from this recent experience. I want to thank each of you for your prayers and concern. It has been a great comfort to me to know that you were remembering. Our victorious God has triumphed in and over my illness. Praise be to Him!

I have been transferred from Kotagiri to our Northern field upon the recommendation of my doctor. The depth of God's purpose in bringing about this change in location is far beyond the understanding of our human hearts and minds. But He surely had led all the way. I wouldn't have chosen this change, but He, in His infinite wisdom and love, chose it for me. I wouldn't have come here of my own will, because it is a hard place. But He willed it so and made me willing. When I gave my life to our Lord, I said, "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord", and I'm still content today to follow my Master wherever He leads. His Word comes fresh to my mind this morning, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." I am His and He is mine. His Word of truth shall be my shield and buckler, and I'm not afraid to press on with Him.

So this bright, sunny morning finds me in a new part of India with new people and new language. He has also given me new strength and new courage to face the unknown future. He is the important factor in my life, and to be in His will is all that matters. I do not fear because He is with me. He goes before me and is beside me. "Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee."

In closing my letter to you, I quote the words of a poet that has been a challenge to me. In another letter soon, I will tell you about this new place to which God has brought me.

PRESS ONWARD!

Press onward still! the glory lies before thee.

The crown, the throne, the sceptre all are yours!

The bitter cross a little while shall pain thee:

The prize awaiteth who the cross endures.

Press onward still! though darkness falls around thee,

The Light of Ages gleams from yonder throne,

And He who says, "I never will forsake thee!"

Through darkest shadows watcheth o'er his own.

Press onward still! and Jesus will go with thee;

His power thy fainting spirit will sustain;
And as the battle rages fierce about thee,
Will give the victory o'er and o'er again.

by Powell

So, dear friends, with Jesus as my Guide,
I press on with Him to greater victory—unafraid.

Yours for the winning of souls,

Zalene Lloyd

The church has no place in politics as an organized unit; nevertheless, it should protest against political measures which violate the principles of Christian morality.

News from the First Free Will Baptist Church, Newport News, Virginia

By Mrs. D. W. Cherry
308 Webster Avenue
Portsmouth, Va.

We are happy that our church is making progress. We are coming to the close of our first year, and as we count our many blessings of the year, we realize as never before that God has been gracious unto us. We are greatly rejoiced because of His loving kindness toward us.

One year ago we had only three families attending our church services. Our membership was ten. But at the present time we have members of twenty families attending our services. Our membership at the present time is 38, and although we have been few in number, we have carried on a full-time program throughout the year. Each Sunday we have two church services, Sunday School, and League—Junior, Senior and Adult leagues. We have Bible study class on Tuesday night, and prayer services on Wednesday night of each week. Our Woman's auxiliary is doing a wonderful work. We hold our meetings twice each month.

We have much good talent among our little group; they are efficient leaders, teachers, and also we have a pianist. During the year we have purchased and paid for a beautiful lot for our church building and parsonage. The size of the lot is 126 by 410 feet. We have rented a nice small brick church, and we are expecting to start using this church right away. We think that this is a wonderful opportunity, as we have never been able to hold a revival, or any meetings other than cottage prayer services except on Sundays.

We express many thanks to you good people who have sent us donations, or old clothing for our rummage sales. We have about sold all the old rummage we had, and are hoping that you will continue to help us with your donations and clothing for our rummage. Our small group of people are rich in spirit, and they possess talents, but they are poor financially. Many of them are giving their all in order to carry on the work of the church.

We are glad to report that Brother George Johnson, who is in the sanatorium at this time, is much improved. He is a charter member of our church, and one of the best workers our church, or our denomination has ever had. He has been very ill, and a bed patient for five months now. Will you cheer him up a bit by sending to him a letter or card. His address is: Mr. George Johnson, Blue Ridge Sanatorium, Charlottesville, Va.

We desire the prayers of all you good Christian people always. Please pray that we might continue to prosper in our work.

CHRISTIAN HOMES

The family is the oldest institution known to man. It is of divine origin and has divine sanction. It goes back to the beginning of the race and has been closely identified with the entire course of human history. The home has been variously regarded in different parts of the earth, but in every country it holds true that no other institution has risen higher than the level of family.

The Bible has much to say about the family, its several members and what they owe one another. The doors of the homes of most of the leading characters of the Scripture stand open to us. We know where these people lived, how they lived, what they had within their homes, what they talked about when they were together, what parents thought of their children and how the children acted toward their parents.

Because the home is so very important it would seem that its importance would be universally recognized. But that is not the case. The home is in danger. It has tremendous opposition. There are subtle forces working toward its overthrow. There are multitudes who place no other value upon it than that of a stopping-place, an institution of convenience.

The home is in decline. It is fighting for its life. The servant question, the high cost of living, the rush of modern life, the innumerable fads that claim our time, promising much and cashing out nothing, the dance mania, the speed mania, the recreation mania, are all a menace to the quiet and simplicity without which true home life has not the ghost of a chance. The table used to be the social center, where all the family met at meal time, but nowadays they straggle in as the exigencies of social or other engagements may permit. The bond of the common life in the home is broken.

We need to emphasize the fact constantly that the home is more than a place, although it is a wonderful place, the home is the institute of the affections, the sacred place where the heart is cultured and in which it has opportunity for its finest and most telling expression.

The home is a college of life in which the curriculum is love, sacrifice, loyalty, obedience, devotion, confidence and reverence.

Now in order to pursue and practice this course of study in the home it must be Christian. The individual we ask to be Christian and then he proceeds to make his institution Christian. An institution is but the lengthened shadow of a man. It is the expression of a man. It can be possibly no greater than he, but it can be as big as he is.

Homes, therefore, are creations of souls. They are not the products of the builder's art. Christian homes are made by Christian people and in no other way. Beautiful homes are made by beautiful souls.

Christ is the incarnation and expression of all that is true and beautiful and good in life. When we believe in Him and try to follow Him He touches and transfigures everything that concerns us, even ourselves. When He is the dominating influence in the homes of America, and for that matter in the homes all over the world, a tremendous change will take place in all our relationships.

A Christian home is ruled by love. That gives impulse and direction to the whole flow of life. If there is not love there can be no home, for home first of all is a spiritual something, a creation of the heart, and idealization and realization of what the soul itself is and wants. Love makes real soulmates. All the inmates seek the welfare and happiness of the other and so finds his or her own happiness. It is the giving life and it becomes the getting life. Where the heart rules, the mind follows.

The Christian home is needed very much today. It is needed for the sake of the nation. We are fighting some great battles for human rights in America. We must have leaders who possess courage to stand against privilege, and citizens whose ideals are high and clean, and who place the moral welfare of society above party schemes or private gain.

A Startling Opinion

Dr. John Timothy Stone said, "If pastors did but realize it, there is a simple way to produce all the funds the churches need, for all the work they can possibly do. It is by the spread of the practice of tithing;—already tried and proven by thousands of Christian men and women."

Historical Background: Layman tithing Foundation is a non-profit corporation extending work of late Thomas Kane who as "Layman" started in 1876 to publish and distribute Tithing literature.

OLD AND NEW

Farewell Old Year!
With goodness crowned
A hand divine hath set thy bound.

Welcome, New Year,
Which shall bring
Fresh blessings from my God and king!

The old we leave without a tear,
The new we hail without a fear.
Because,
I know that o'er it all
Rules he who notes the sparrow's fall.

AUXILIARY STUDY COURSE
HELD DEC. 7--- AT SHILOH CHURCH, BEAUFORT CO.,
NORTH CAROLINA

We are happy to report a very successful session of the study course. The session was opened by congregational singing. Rev. J. C. Griffin led us in prayer. Mrs. John Forman read the Scripture lesson using the 16th Ch. of Romans, showing us that we women have been called of God for service unto mankind and for his glory.

We enjoyed spiritual singing at intervals throughout the day giving the instructor time for rests. We were also favored with a special by the Shiloh Quartet.

We had a goodly number of women present (mostly officers). We also had two ministers present: Rev. J. C. Griffin and Rev. Ralph Osborn; this we appreciate very much.

Mrs. Griffin went about the task of teaching the Manual very gracefully and humbly. We had two hours of study before lunch and two hours after lunch. The study dealt with the local organizations. Each office was studied. The vice-presidents and their committees, the duties of each and the qualification of persons to fill the office. We also learned more about our different phases of work and how they operate.

We, the women of the Albemarle district feel that we have been greatly helped by the information received through the course.

Christians! pray with us that we may ever go forward toward the goal set for us by our master. Striving always to serve him daily, humbly and ever submissive to his will.

Report of Young People's Auxiliary

The young girls auxiliary of Mabel Avenue Free Will Baptist Church met with Miss Marjorie Farmer at her home on Archie Street, December 9, at 6:30 P. M., with the opening song entitled, "Every Day with Jesus," being sung by the group. The roll was called and ten members were present. After the business period was over, Mrs. Farmer served delicious refreshments to the following persons:

Misses Marjorie Farmer, Nancy Coble, Josephine Edwards, Marie Cox, Jealean Gales, Margaret Dail, Jeanette Nance, Shirley Purser, Mrs. Mack Venson, and Mrs. L. D. Gray.

We are asking the many friends to pray for us in our auxiliary work. Pray that we may go forward in the work of the Lord.

God Send Us a Woman!

More than five years ago, we wrote an editorial entitled, "God, Send Us a Woman," and, because of the many requests we have had for copies of this editorial, it is now reproduced for our readers:

And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this?

—Esther 4:14

As this editorial is written I am sitting in my car in front of a liquor store in a town deep in the heart of Eastern North Carolina.

Sitting here on the sidelines, parked within easy view of the things taking place on the outside and on the inside, there is no hearsy involved in the facts here recorded—I am observing the picture before me with my own eyes and I am deeply troubled in body and soul.

I see people from all walks of life going in and coming out. I see men and women—white men and black men—white women and negro women—I actually see a mother leading her little son through the door—I see soldiers and sailors—all in one continuous procession, some going in and some coming out.

It is a disturbing scene. I cannot understand the picture that stands out there in front of men—I am amazed and confused!

I can catch up in my thinking when I see men drinking—I have witnessed scenes like this before—and I have seen them go in and out of liquor stores many times—and, throwing around them the mantle of charity and generosity. I can more easily excuse their frailty and weakness, for men have always been weak. But when I see a woman in a place like a bar room—well, I am just dazed—something in me goes wrong—something causes me to grow faint—I become sick—for I see something out there in front of me that is pitiable, sorrowful and tragic!

Somehow, I cannot accept this picture as a part of a woman's standard—not even the modern woman's standard—there is something wrong with the scene. My very soul rebels against it. The picture is all wrong—I know it's wrong—God Almighty who gave to woman her beauty and charm, her glory and strength, never intended that she should descend to the demoralizing and debauching atmosphere of a barroom.

No woman who has found herself—no woman who has paused long enough to find true appreciation for her own worth—no woman who takes the time to measure the power of her influence in her own field of activity—no woman who has caught a realization of her individual responsibility in presiding over her own home, and lending her influence and her example to her own children, and her own husband—no woman who sees and feels the weight of these responsibilities can find time to play with the cocktail glass.

If liquor must be used—we say if it must be used—let the men use it, but save womankind from its use at any cost!

This world has always placed woman on a pedestal high above man, and somehow we are still old fashioned enough to want to hold her there.

And isn't there somebody, somewhere, in North Carolina, who can place her back on her former pedestal? Isn't there someone who can persuade the womanhood of North Carolina, or that part of womanhood that has stepped down from her high estate, to step back and wear the crown formerly worn by her?

Is there not some outstanding woman in North Carolina who will take the lead and call on the women of the state to do this for the sake of our boys and girls, for the glory of the state, and for the glory of God himself?

May the God of Beauty and Charm and Righteousness send us just such a woman!

Give Your Paper to Someone

I wonder what you people do with your Baptist papers after you are through reading them? I give my papers to some of my friends and neighbors who, for one reason or another do not subscribe for this church paper.

Perhaps they don't realize what they are missing by failing to subscribe to their church paper. So, I figured, if I could get them to read my papers, they might become interested enough to subscribe for them selves. Thereby this plan helps two ways: it helps to interest the non-reader, and when they get interested they usually subscribe, thereby increasing the circulation, which generally pleases the Editor.

Let us follow this plan this year, each of us, and note the results.

WHAT ONE SOLITARY LIFE DID!

"Here is a man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a woman who, to her peasant neighbors, was just one of them and one with them. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty, and then, for three years, he was an itinerant preacher.

"He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never put his feet inside a big city. He never traveled two hundred miles from the place where he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

"While still a young man, the tide of private opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. One of them denied him. He was turned over to his enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. As he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat. When he was dead he was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

"Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone, and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

"I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that were ever built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned put together have not affected the life of man upon this earth as has that One Solitary Life!"
—Author unknown.

Why did we lose National Prohibition? Listen to these words of Mr. Walter Lippman, at that time one of the writers of the New York World: "We are forced to assert by disobedience, by agitation, finally by interpretation and acquiescence, the superior rights of experience over a legal text."

Do away with the use of alcohol and you will see spring up truer, deeper, simpler, more peaceful, more intellectual and more human joys.—Maurice Materlinck.

UNDERSTANDING

Eleanore Livingston Jester

I do not ask Thee Lord, to understand,
I ask instead, for strength to meet the task,
Abiding faith to trust in You alone,
Your nearness in each task, dear Lord, I ask.

I do not ask that I should understand,
Because I trust the One who died for me,
I'm sure He knows the things that I cannot,
And He will help my tear-blind eyes to see.

I do not question Lord, I trust You now,
The things that come are working for my good,
And though my heart may hold a lonely ache,
I wouldn't change it if I found I could.

Because my Saviour is so real to me,
So close when circumstances beat me round,
That I acknowledge in life's blackest days,
The realness of His love for me I've found.

He loved me well enough that He would bear,
The shame and pain so surely now I know,
He holds me tightly in His loving hand,
Come test or storm, He will not let me go.

And so I need not understand it all,
For Heaven isn't very far away,
He's waiting there to show, what He can do,
If only I have faith to trust and pray.

So on I walk the miles that lie ahead,
Serenely trusting in His guiding hand,
Content to wait and trust until, some day,
Sometime, somewhere at last, we'll understand.

SUPERINTENDENT - TREASURER OF THE ORPHANAGE RETURNS TO PASTORAL FIELD

Rev. James A. Evans is resigning the Field-Treasurership of the Middlesex Orphanage to become effective on January 2, 1950. He wishes to extend his sincere thanks for the co-operation and help from the ministers, church officers, and the various congregations for their hearty support of the home for the more than nine years that he was head of the institution.

His future address will be: Rev. James A. Evans, 1108 South Tarboro Street, Wilson, North Carolina.

Fellowship in the Early Church

(Lesson for January 15)

Lesson: Acts 2:42-47; 4:31-35.

I. Golden Text Illuminated

“And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul: neither said any of them that ought of the things which he possessed was his own; but they had all things common” (Acts 4:32).

First the people were all born again. There was no exception to that general condition—even Ananias and Sapphira, who spoiled the experiment, were backslidden believers. It was to the Holy Ghost they lied, and had been members of the Christian company and in apparently good standing until the day of their defection. But it was the love of Jesus Christ which bound this great group together in the bonds of mutual affection, and they were one family, all children of God. Secondly, there was complete unanimity of opinion in all things and about all essential matters. The text states that they were of one heart and of one soul, thus there was no occasion for quarreling, bickering, or difference of opinion on the matter of the use of their resources. Then note that they were bound together with a fervent love such as the world had never seen before. Men and women who had been complete strangers now embraced each other as brothers and sisters, and called themselves one family, the children of God. Whatever they had they gladly gave to their own spiritual kin, whatever they needed they felt free to use, if someone else did not need it more than they did! You see, this was the first time in history a group was ever gathered together whose members loved each other more than self—and whose compon-

Note also that the process of sharing was the exact opposite of modern political and economic Communism. This later system wants to take away from him who has more—the Christian community wanted to give to him who had less! No communist who has five dollars in his pocket is out searching for a comrade who has only one dollar so the more affluent one can share with the poorer associate: rather is he looking for the man who has fifteen dollars so he can take five of it away from him and thus double his own private capital!

Communism today is erected on a platform of force, hatred, fear and bloodshed. The leaders are suspicious of each other, and none of them is even out from under the dread assassination or free from the fear of betrayal and murder. On the contrary we see the Christian community bound together by love, none of them desiring office or dominion over his fellows, and all living in quiet contentment, possessed of the peace of God which is the unfailing collateral of salvation! Since no one had anything, none had more than another and envy and covetousness were unknown in their ranks. Contrast that to the greed, lust, hatred and loathing of modern Communism, and you have the perfect illustration of a world without God and a realm where He is Sovereign and Supreme!—Selected.

II. Lesson High Point

Note, “the Lord added to the Church daily such as should be saved, that is, God permitted none to be added to the church but those who were saved from their sins. Remember, the first church in Jerusalem, was made up of saints, true followers of the Lord Jesus, and sinners were not to become a part with them in the church. The Holy Spirit united only those who were daily converted under the preaching of the disciples with those who had already been converted. Those church members were recognized as true Christians for their brotherly love and deep piety one toward another by the Jews who observed their righteous way of life.

They possessed religion every day to the week, and manifested its influence and power upon them wherever they went and whatever they did. A great many church people today in this country need this kind of religion. Spiritual gifts of the Lord unto Christ’s followers should be exercised in witnessing for Jesus and for the purpose of winning the lost to Christ.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

The Lesson Illustrated

“In the summer of 1946 I was asked to serve with Dr. J. F. Gregory as evangelist for the camp meeting at Clay City, Indiana. God had been very graciously moving upon the camp and all sensed his divine presence. On Tuesday night, after the third song, suddenly, just as it was on the day of Pentecost, God swept into the tabernacle with mighty power. It was a great spiritual cloudburst which took place during the following four hours. A thousand people felt the power of God moving mightily in their midst. From that point in the service at about 7:45 until midnight, the service and congregation were under the direct leadership of the Holy Spirit. More than 150 people prayed for pardon, cleansing, and complete spiritual victory in their lives. Such praying I had never heard, such keen interest on the part of one thousand people for so long a time I had never seen. Such surrendering and giving up fully to God as characterized the great revivals of history took place on that memorable night of which I tell you. The reality of the divine conviction, blessing, and salvation which were present produced a profound effect upon hundreds of young people who were present at the camp.

“Let me tell you the secret of this great service. For days previous to that service a mighty volume of prayer had been ascending to God. The young people were so eager to pray at 6:30 each morning that they had to move to a much larger building than had been assigned to them. The laymen met in large numbers each morning to prevail with God in prayer. The ministers met in a tent to pray. People got under such a burden for souls that they went without meals. This was very noticeable among the young people. Confessions were made, ill-feelings were exposed, God melted people together into a great spiritual family.—Arnold's Commentary.

* MAMMY JOE *

—O—

Several men were walking back and forth upon the platform of a small way station in Virginia. They had been there ten minutes and were growing impatient. At last one of them drew out his watch.

"Six minutes late," he said discontentedly, "The F. F. V. will be losing its reputation if it doesn't make better time. I hate waiting."

"Perhaps your watch is wrong," suggested one of his companions. "We have been in the woods for a week, and our time may not be accurate."

"My watch is all right," was the petulant answer. "It's the railroad."

Crouching near the door of the station was a big, motherly-looking black woman. She had been there since early morning, arriving even before the station master himself. All thru the long day she had remained in the same position, watching the trains as they arrived, and scanning each face eagerly. As the man put his watch back into his pocket she looked at him wistfully.

"You don't 'spect nothin' the matter, does you, boss?"

"Oh, no; the train is only a few minutes late! Expecting someone?" as he noticed the pathetic eagerness in her face.

"Yes, suh. My boy what's been in the hospital two years, is comin' home, all cured an' fixed up. The doctor sent word he'd put him on the F. F. V. an' send him straight thru. I was feared he might mistook the train, so I've been a watchin' all day."

"Where did he go?"

"Baltimore. You see, Henry Clay got hurted when he was a teeny feller, an' he kept growin' more an' more crooked, so we feared we mightn't raise him. We try all the doctors 'round here, an' at last one told us

'bout the Johns Hopkins, one where they fixed such things. He wrote for us, an' done make all the 'rangements. But it sure cost heaps of money. Me an' my old man we sell our little place an' go out to work. But we ain't care for that, so long as Henry Clay get well. Bless the Lord!"

"I am glad they cured him," congratulated the man heartily. "But I reckon he's grown so big and strong and handsome you won't know him when you see him."

"Bress the boy; Bress the boy!" ejaculated the black woman, between her smiles and tears. "White folks must have their jokes. But I reckon the boy is sure 'nough big an' handsome by this time. Me an' my old man were just plumb 'stracted when we heard he was all well an' a-comin' home. We sure did hustle 'round an' got money for his ticket, an' sent it to him; an' now the doctor's done writ he's comin'. Bress the Lord for all His mercies!"

A shrill whistle was heard in the distance. The men gathered up their baggage and stood waiting. Tears of expectation began to stream down the old woman's face. It was a small station, and the train stopped but a few seconds. Only one passenger alighted. He was a small black boy of ten or twelve years.

The old woman sprang towards him with an inarticulate cry. But she stopped suddenly. That was not Henry Clay. True, he did not have crutches, and did not even limp; but he was tall and thin, and so weak that he staggered as he walked. And they had written that Henry Clay was strong and well.

The boy approached her timidly.

"Is you Mammy Joe?" he asked.

"I 'spect so," fiercely. "But where's Henry Clay?"

The small figure shrank back.

"I—I done left him in the hospital. He was in the bed next to me, an' he hear the doctor say I never get well 'cept I go to a country that's warm, an' live out doors, an' have good nussin'. But I have no folks to send me. I always live on the street."

"What's that got to do with Henry Clay?"

The boy began to tremble.

"He—he done give me his ticket, an' make me come. He say his mammy will be my mammy an' make me well."

"An' ain't Henry Clay a-comin'?" Her voice sounded like the cry of some wounded animal.

"He—he done got a job washin' dishes in the hospital, an' is a-savin' money. He say, tell you he sure be home next summer, when he have money 'nough. The doctors all like him an' say he is a fine feller. But is you going to be my mammy?"

The old woman caught her breath sharply. Then she held out her fat, motherly arms, and a smile of welcome lit up the face.

"Yes, honey, I'll be your mammy." —Selected.

SALVATION is of the LORD. We are saved, wholly aside and apart from our works. It is all of GRACE on God's PART and wholly by FAITH ON OUR PART. "He came unto his own and his own received him not, But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believed on his name." (John 1: 11, 12). "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (John 3:14-17). Again I say, "Why not let God do that for which Christ died to do? Why beg Him to do something that He offers to every person. God holds it out to the lost sinner. God says, "COME."

"Your Board of Temperance is America's most powerful organization for sobriety," said a recent observer from Pennsylvania. Yes, when we begin to work as a team, with the will to win, no opposition will be too great. The majority of the Nation's remaining wet areas can be made dry.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

Nancy and Jimmie As Missionaries

Ever since Nancy Moore came to Mountain Hills to Live, she and her brother Jimmie had been asking each other just what they could do for Jesus. Mr. and Mrs. Moore had been sent there to preach and to teach about Jesus. The people in Mountain Hills were quite ignorant about the Bible. Many had never heard of Jesus before.

Nancy and Jimmie had often heard their parents discussing ways of telling the people more about Jesus, and had heard them pray for the people. All this aroused Nancy and Jimmie; they, too, must do something. Hence, one day when Mrs. Moore and Nancy were alone, she confided her problem to her mother, in these words,

"Mother, I wish Jimmie and I could do something for Jesus, too, here in Mountain Hills. Father and you are doing so many things. Isn't there something we can do? Jimmie often says for me to wait till he gets as big as father; then he'll do the preaching, and I can do the singing."

Mother had to smile. She was delighted to hear of her children's desire. Even though Nancy was only twelve and Jimmie only eleven, they were old enough to do something. Never would Mrs. Moore forget the astonished look on her children's faces when she told them the Mountain Hills children knew very little about Jesus.

"Would you like to have the children come in for an afternoon, Nancy?" suggested her mother.

"That would be fine! Wait, and I'll call Jimmie; he must hear this, too."

In a short time Jimmie was listening intently to Mother's idea, and said,

"Say, Nancy, then we can sing, and—I'll preach to them."

Nancy chuckled, "I thought you'd say that!"

"Maybe you could teach them a Bible lesson, Jimmie, and Nancy, you can lead the singing of your Sunday School songs. Before they leave, we'll play a few Bible games and have some cookies."

"Oh, Mother," whistled Jimmie, "that'll be grand. Which afternoon shall we ask them to come?"

"Let's make little invitations, and give them to the children," Mother suggested.

"Fine!" cheered Nancy and Jimmie. "Let us start right now so we'll have time to show Father at dinner time."

The invitations were very crude, but Father thought they were fine, and wished them success in their new venture.

To the children who received the invitations, it was a delightful looked-for event.

At any time it was a treat to be at the Moore home, but this was to be something different. Some of the children worked harder before going to bed, and some rose earlier that morning so as to be ready.

The day was beautiful. In the back yard of the Moore home a large maple tree cast a lovely shade. As each boy and girl arrived, Nancy would say,

"I'm so glad you could come! Jimmie will tell you where to sit."

After all who had promised to come had arrived, Jimmie whispered to Nancy,

"Remember, it's me that's going to do the preaching; I'm the man!"

"All right, Jimmie. I'll do the singing," smiled Nancy, thrilled at seeing so many children sitting around her.

"First," said Nancy, "we'll have the girls select a song. What will it be?"

"What a Friend We Have in Jesus," said Jennie Layth, and how happily they sang that old familiar song, which was new to the Mountain Hills children. Mrs. Moore was happy when she saw how enthusiastically they sang about Jesus.

"Now one of the boys," reminded Nancy. Nick Truett almost shouted to get his bid in first, "Stand Up for Jesus!" Nick had learned only a few weeks ago what it meant to stand up for Jesus. Their singing drew the attention of many of the neighbors. Some of the other songs they sang were, "Nothing But the Blood of Jesus," "Joy to the World," "Jesus Loves Me," and "I Need Jesus."

By this time Jimmie thought they ought to pray, so he asked Nick to lead in prayer. Every head bowed reverently as Nick began:

"Dear God: I thank You so much for Jesus who died for me, and for every boy and girl. I thank You for sending Mr. and Mrs. Moore here to tell us about Jesus. I thank You for the children's meeting, too. Amen."

"Now I have something to tell you," said Jimmie. "Long ago when Jesus was here on earth a little man heard about Him. He couldn't see through a crowd very well because all the people were taller than he. He wanted to see Jesus, so he ran through the crowd and climbed up a tree. When Jesus came by, He looked up and said to him, 'Zacchaeus, hurry down; I'm going to visit at your house today.' That made Zacchaeus think of all the bad things he had done. He was a tax collector, and if he could get money from the people that was not his, he thought it was all right; but when Jesus said He was coming to his house, he knew he would not be happy to have Him if he didn't tell Jesus about it. So he said to Jesus, 'I'm going to give half of all I have to the poor, and if I took anything from the people that I shouldn't, I'll give back four times as much.' That made Jesus happy. Zacchaeus was true to what he said to Jesus. To have Jesus come into our hearts, we must make things right, as Zacchaeus did."

Playing Bible games was also new to the children. It thrilled them to know they could answer most of the questions. One little girl said, "I'm going to study so I'll know all about the Bible I can." Another said to Nancy and Jimmie, "What if you had never come? We would still know nothing of Jesus."

Nick, who proved to be a spokesman of the group, suggested, "Hands up for all who are glad the Moores came to live here." Every hand went up. "Don't forget to tell them so," he added.

As each child was ready to leave, a napkin was handed to each one. Such grateful little faces! Not one left without telling of his or her appreciation.

In the Moore home that evening everything was still. Only the clock was heard ticking. Jimmie broke the silence, as he ventured, "Father, do you think we'll ever go back to the city to live?"

"Jimmie, would you like to go back? Are you homesick to-night?" asked Father anxiously.

Noticing his father's alarmed expression Jimmie gave a big smile. "No, Father, I don't ever want to go back, because there people feel they know so much about Jesus they forget Him. I want to stay here where people really love Him. One little girl who was here today asked if the account of Zacchaeus is really true."

"Father, why didn't someone come here long ago to tell them?" asked Nancy.

"I don't know, Nancy, but now we are here; so it is up to us to work faithfully for Jesus every day so they may learn of Jesus now. And we shall stay here just as long as Jesus wants us here, Jimmie."

"I'm happy because we're here," commented Nancy, cheerfully.

"So am I," echoed Jimmie.

"And so are we," added Mr. and Mrs. Moore, "and with the help of our two little missionaries we shall be able to reach more children."—Words of Cheer.

NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION BOARD LAUNCHES BROAD PROGRAM

A far-reaching program of expansion was voted by National Sunday School Association's board which met December 14 in Chicago.

Approval was given to a continuing program of developing commissions of various phases of Sunday school work. Experts across the nation will be asked to serve on the first six commissions in the following fields: Children, Youth, Adult, Teacher Training, Evangelism and Missionary Education. Dr. James DeForest Murch, recently elected president of NSSA, will make the appointments.

In view of the apparent trend away from the outlines issued by the International Council of Religious Education, it was decided to encourage all evangelical groups to adopt the Uniform Bible Lesson Series prepared by the NSSA's lesson committee.

NSSA will co-operate with the American Lutheran Publicity Bureau in observing National Sunday School Week with the date tentatively set for September 17 to 24, 1950.

Evangelical denominations and fellowships will be asked to observe the third Sunday of September as NSSA Day.

A section devoted to NSSA activities will appear each month in a two-column section in United Evangelical Action.

It was also decided to set up an NSSA Sunday school standard and to grant certificates of merit for all Sunday schools meeting the standard.

Russell T Hitt was named general secretary of the Association and the Rev. William E. Kirschke will continue as executive secretary.

Nurnberg Military Post Dedicates New Chapel

"The American people from the very start have been a people who believed in God," Brigadier General David L. Ruffner told an audience of American soldiers, their families and civilian employees of the Nurnberg (Germany) Military Post attending the recent dedication ceremonies for the new post chapel.

"Out of worship have come some of the most prominent characteristics of the American people—American decency, American sense of justice, American generosity, American idealism, and American democratic freedom have been largely a part of its religious inheritance," he said.

General Ruffner, Commanding General for the Nurnberg Military Post, presented the keys to Chaplain (Col.) Paul Maddox, supervisory chaplain for the European Command.—Department of the Army.

A Boy Looking for Daddy in a Saloon

R. Stuart Nye Hutchinson of Pittsburgh tells in a recent article a story that is suggestive of the benefits to be found in young life by steadfastly adhering to its good things and rejecting the evil. He says:

"There was a thirteen-year-old boy many years ago whom someone saw one night standing in front of a saloon. He stopped and said: 'Harold, this is a queer place to find you. How does it happen that you are hanging around here?'"

"The boy replied: 'I have to look in here and it isn't the first time I have had to do it. I don't know whether it is the right place or not, but I am looking for my father. He is in one of these saloons.'"

"The man who told the story said that he did not know what to say to the lad, so he said nothing. Then the boy went on: 'When my father was a little boy, he went up and down this street looking for his father in the saloons, and then took him home. Now my mother has sent me to find my father. I don't know where he is, and I don't care if I find him or not. But there is one thing I do know. There will never be any boy looking in a saloon for me. I'll die first.'"

"Said the man who told me this story: I have followed that boy all these years since that night I saw him standing in the cold and snow outside the grog shop. I have seen him battle against heredity, against environment in a drunkard's home, against the social handicaps that follow; I have seen him trample them all under his feet. He is a man now, respected and loved in his city. There are little boys in his home, but they are not going out to seek their father among the saloons of the city."—The Wesleyan Methodist.

TO CHURCH CLERKS:

We have very recently mailed out the Minutes of the Eastern, Central and Western Conferences in North Carolina. In many instances the addresses are not given to us in completeness and, therefore, they may not be delivered to you. Please be on the look-out for them and if necessary make inquiry at your Post Office for them. And, too, when you get them be sure they are properly distributed to the members of your church.

Guilt is everywhere and always personal. We are responsible for the misdeeds of our rulers. Remember that God plagued the people because of the calf that Aaron made.

Woman's Auxiliary believes that the Bible is God's word. In Malachi 3:10 is God's promise and his appeal that we prove Him. So, every effort should be made to enlist every member in the Woman's Auxiliary and every Christian woman in the church to sign one of the Co-Laborer Membership slips, thereby indicating definite commitment to tithe for these three months. (Co-Laborer Membership slips are FREE for the asking from the W. N. A. C. Treasurer, Box 965, Nashville 2, Tennessee), January, the first month of the year, the month of beginnings, is the month of preparation and slip signing for this Tithing Test.

The test is not of God but is rather a test of Christian women and a test of the tithe as the expression of our Christian stewardship.

It yet remains to be seen what God will do to bless a denomination of people who recognizes God's ownership of all and His lordship of life by the practice of Christian stewardship—tithing not tipping.

Five Points for Young Christians

By Sallie Williams
108 Blount Street
Ayden, N. C.

Five things, if remembered, will help you each day

If obeyed they will keep you from going astray.

Though Satan may tempt you, and trials betide,

But you surely will conquer if in Christ abide.

Keep looking to Jesus, he never can fail,
And walk in His footsteps in every detail.
The world's vain allurements will vanish from sight,

By your looking to Jesus, your Saviour and Light.

Read daily your Bible, if you would be strong,

To witness for Jesus, and overcome wrong.
The Author of the Book, and the doer abide,

But they who neglect it will surely backslide.

Pray without ceasing, for this will bring you to Him,

Who cleanses and keeps you a victor over sin.

There's nothing so small that our Lord cannot do,

And nothing so small but He'll not undertake for you,

Confess Him to others, be bold for your King,

For those who are lying in darkness and sin.

What hope can you better to all recommend,

Than this blessed Jesus, the needy one's friend?

Do something for Jesus, He did all for you,
Your pay find in doing His sweet will.

To do so, seeking to please Him through life.

Day by day His presence shall gladden your way.

God's Minute

I have only just a minute
Only sixty seconds in it
Forced upon me—can't refuse it Didn't seek it, didn't choose it
But it's up to me to use it
I must suffer if I lose it
Give account if I abuse it
Just a tiny little minute
For eternity is in it.—Selected.

God never reveals himself to cowards.—

NEW YEAR'S GREETING

New Year's greetings are fleeting,
But linger remembrance of blessings and love;

While thanks for the old year past linger,
Because blessings come from the hand from above.

How quietly the old year crept out!
With a little sun-shine and rain;
As the mellow star-light banished,
A New Year's day came rushing in.

Past blessings with memory still lingering,
As we look to the future with hope;
There extends a blessing to every one
Ere the new year finds its goal.

Why should not love and peace abound
Till strife on earth cannot be found?
Let honor be a new year renown
With every body across water or ground.

We cannot count the blessings God sends,
They fall upon all nations of men;
Far across a beautiful scene in the distance
Let joys and pleasures forever blend.

The year, months, and days take their flight,
But the departed hours bring into sight,
A sweet and beautiful view of eternal glory
Which is to make the world more bright.

By every bubbling stream
Where the banks with mosses and evergreens,
There every wild flower will beam, expressive of
The blessings that the new year brings.

Every day and night comes anew,
So, let every intention be pure;
For after months and years you may find
Success is always open to you.

Why should any person repine, or
Seek great riches so very fair;
For friend you may see the time
When success comes by the hand sublime.

Let every one seek to justly possess
Riches of honor and nobleness of fame;
But never in one way or other oppress
Upon others who have reached great success.

Can you not joys upon your pathway sprinkle
For others where the love-light has grown dim?
Because the beautiful stars that twinkle
Help make earthly pleasures mingle.

As the new year's days go fleeting by,
God's praises will be ever sweet;
For all His promises are true, and Joy awaits those who will to Him be true.

When I Listen

J. Lilian Vandevere

They say God does not speak today
As in the long ago,
But sometimes, when I stop my play,
I hear His voice, I know.
For raindrops surely talk to me;
When rustling leaves are stirred
I know that something sings to me,
I know what Samuel heard.
He calls in winds that touch my cheek,
In bird notes, high and clear.
I'm very sure God speaks to us
If we take time to hear.

Christ, the Advocate

I dreamed the Saviour came to be
 My Guest awhile;
 My home was hallowed by His word,
 His gracious smile.
 At evening in the chamber there
 He went alone;
 I listened breathlessly to hear
 An undertone
 That thrilled my very soul because
 It held my name!
 Oh, was it all an empty dream?
 Nay, just the same
 As if within that little room
 I heard Him pray,
 He brings my need before the Father
 Every day.

NOT GROWING OLD

*They say that I am growing old,
I've heard them tell it times untold,
In language plain and bold—
But I'm NOT growing old.*

*This frail old shell in which I dwell
Is growing old, I know full well—
But I am not the shell.*

*What if my hair is turning gray?
Gray hairs are honorable, they say,
What if my eyesight's growing dim?
I still can see to follow Him
Who sacrificed His life for me
Upon the Cross of Calvary.*

*What should I care if Time's old plow
Has left its furrows on my brow?
Another house, not made by hand,
Awaits me in the Glory Land.*

*What though I falter in my walk?
What though my tongue refuse to talk?
I still can tread the narrow way,
I still can watch and praise and pray.*

*My hearing may not be so keen
As in the past it may have been,
Still, I can hear my Saviour say
In whispers soft, "This is the way."*

*The outward man—do what I can
To lengthen out his life's short span—
Shall perish, and return to dust,
As everything in nature must.*

*The inward man, the Scriptures say,
Is growing stronger every day.
Then how can I be growing old
When safe within my Saviour's fold?*

*Ere long my soul shall fly away
And leave this tenement of clay.
"This robe of flesh I'll drop, and rise
To seize the everlasting prize"—
I'll meet you on the streets of gold,
And PROVE that I'm not growing old.*

The tales she told inspired me
Tho some were strange indeed,
She explained the Chinese customs
And told us of their need.

But what impressed me most of all
When I return said she,
I'm going to sacrifice far more
And give more liberty.

I thought of all she'd given up
To teach in Jesus name,
While I so little at home had done
It made me feel ashamed.

"Mystery Babylon"

Sherman H. Oaks
R. F. D. 2
Bessemer City, N. C.

"And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH" (Rev. 17:5).

"Neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock" (1 Peter 5:3).

For three hundred years after Pentecost, the churches maintained their independence, according to Archard's church history, and several other historians.

The early churches were united only by the ties of faith and love. Constantine with his council of 380 elders of the Church, who assumed the awful responsibility of making a creed that was to read asunder the Church as never before, which it did, being the first creed ever made by inspired men to separate the Christians from each other on account of their belief. And the final result was, "MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH."

The great Roman Catholic Church is the mother of all men made laws, and doctrines that supercede God's New Testament law of love, and becomes the vicar of Christ.

The Pope's crown has this inscription, "Vi-arious Fei Dei," in latin, and the interpretation is substitute for the Son of God. It turns things upside down: the real truth is, Fei Dei Vicarious; that is, the Son of God substitute for men.

We see in the system of mystery, Babylon, and her daughters, men substituted for Christ, and the laws of men substituted for God's New Testament law. And men's way to Heaven substituted for God's way to Heaven. These things are anti-Christ, and anti-Christian.

The trouble with many reformers was: they reformed the doctrines of Babylon, and modified her governments. They should have thrown the whole in the waste can, and taken the New Testament as the only rule of faith and practice.

The Scriptures are plain and emphatic about Babylon, in order that we might understand what mystery Babylon is, it is up to us to discern her characteristics, or, her daughters. Doctrinally, a daughter is any sect, or church, that teaches another gospel, or foundation, or way to Heaven, other than THE FINISHED work of Christ as Sin Bearer on the Cross.

The Devil is transformed as an angel of light, and uses many subtleties to detract, or turn from salvation by grace, to salvation by works. Self-righteousness is substituted for the righteousness of God, which is by faith. And the power of man, or men's organization is substituted for the power of God. Paul said, "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believes."

If you will biblically and prayerfully check up on those who claim to be Gospel preachers, you will be surprised how many are teaching salvation by works, or, self-merit, even in evangelical churches.

It will pay us to give every preacher and teacher the acid-test, with the following word of God: "I am the door, if any man enter by me, the same shall be saved." "I am the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh unto the Father but by me." "He that climbeth up any other way, the same is a thief and robber." "There is none other name given under heaven, whereby we might be saved." "Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Christ Jesus." And to climax the Gospel read Ephesians 2:6-8, "For by grace are you saved through faith, and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not of works, least any man should boast."

Salvation is a personal matter between God and man, and the only way to appropriate it is, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31). Yes, God's plan of salvation eliminates Babylon and her daughters.

Those who have and hold to the characteristics of Babylon, are her daughters. They have a modified form of government that controls, or lord's it over God's heritage. Many of them teach, that they are "the Church," and that you cannot go to Heaven unless you come under their authority, or jurisdiction. Others do not teach that they are the way to everlasting life, but have a church government that lords it over pastors and laity.

Any ecclesiastical authority over churches has the characteristics of Babylon. Therefore, in that sense is a daughter. "Christ is HEAD of the body, the Church," and He said to the churches of Ephesus, "Thou hatest the deeds of the Nicolaitanes (subjugation of the laity), which I also hate" (Rev. 2:6).

God's New Testament churches are independent; there is no higher authority than the majority vote of the congregation of Christians.

We must remember in the Apostolic days there were many local churches. Therefore, God wills that saved people constitute a visible church and set one apart as pastor, or, bishop, under the direction of the Holy Spirit. But, God never intended that an overall authority rule the churches. A local church is to have no head other than Christ the Lord.

We have associations for cooperation and coordination, to combine our efforts to carry the Gospel of Jesus Christ to every creature. But these associations have no authority other than an advisory council.

We must guard against, "lording it over God's heritage," both locally and otherwise. We know that in unity there is strength, but that unity must not supercede Christ as Head of the church. And that unity must not supplant the New Testament as our rule of faith and practice.

We hear so much about denominational doctrines: why substitute a denominational name for Christ's doc-

"MINISTERIAL ATTITUDE"

Mrs. C. T. Adams, Reporter
Durham Churches
North Carolina

The Durham churches will meet at Union Grove, January 28, for the District Meeting. A New Year is here again, but will it be a year of success or free-coasting? Last year our churches did not show as much zeal as they should, and the meetings were not well attended. Some of the churches were careless in sending reports and offerings for missions and orphanage, but these failures should inspire the careless to strive during this new year for greater accomplishments.

Rev. R. P. Harris is the new moderator, and he, being a wide-awake leader, plans to launch new work for the Durham District. He expects the cooperation of every church. In order to accomplish anything for the cause of Christ's Kingdom here, all churches must fall in with his plans.

I have been a member in this District for sixteen years, and I have given much thought as to why our churches have not made as much progress as they should. Pastors and members need to be so consecrated that there would be a complete separation, but the ball games and other worldly amusements are luring the people away from church. Cottage prayer meetings are getting to be a thing of the past. Some preachers now preach that we must not be too religious, and that it is inspiring to go to the ball games, but this is contrary to the Bible and is the spirit of antichrist. Jesus prayed that we might be delivered from the world, for all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, lust of the eyes, and pride of life is not of the Father but is of the world. Then, there are some who slander members of other denominations before their congregation, and this is also the spirit of antichrist. A church goes no further than the pastor.

It is a pity that there is no more manifestation of God's divine revelation among Christians than there is. Instead of yielding to the Spirit of God for direction, many who profess the great call are given to bigotry rather than the true commission. Joshua, John and the chief priests and scribes were all reproved because they allowed the spirit of bigotry to rule their thoughts. John said, "We saw one casting out devils in thy name, and he followeth not us; and we forbad him, because he followeth us not." The answer of Jesus was, Mark 9:39, 40, "But Jesus said, Forbid him not; for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can speak evil of me. For he that is not against us is on our part." Joshua said to Moses, when Eldad and Medad were prophesying in the camp, "My Lord Moses, forbid them," but the answer of Moses was as of Christ, and one that Christ would appreciate in all of us today, "and Moses said unto him, Enviest thou for my sake? would that all the Lord's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his spirit upon them!" (Numbers 11:29).

It seems that a very important part of ministering is forgotten by many and that there is a lack of love to serve one another. Today there seems to be a competitive spirit among ministers, not that which tends to build up the kingdom, but the feeling that superiority of one's work makes him a better minister than another, not realizing that he which is servant among you shall be great in God's sight. We should have one thought in mind, and that is, "We are workers together with God," for the building of His great kingdom and not for the establishment of our own bigoted system.

I have seen very humble pastors come to churches with much enthusiasm preaching the cross of Christ and complete separation from the world, and I have seen them leave defeated because some other pastor who preached that it was all right to enjoy worldly pleasures, criticized and hurt their influence. So often I wonder why all our preachers do not agree. Surely they must if they are called. I should like to say that when we see these things accomplished by some of the humble followers of Christ, we should be careful as to our criticism, for it is God's work through the individual. Don't be as the chief priests and scribes in Matt. 21:15, "When the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying Hosanna to the son of David, they were sore displeased. And said unto him, Hearst thou what these say? and Jesus said unto them, Yea; have ye never read out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou has perfected praise?"

It would pay some of our ministers to become babes in adoration for the great work of Christ in crying and saying, as was said of them in this passage, "Hosanna to the Son of David."

May all of our ministers uphold each other in love. The greater the accomplishments of those of Christ who will dare to stand in the face of a sin-cured world, defying the hordes of hell, the greater joy, for you are members one of another, and the praise of one should affect the joy of the whole body, for you work not for yourselves but for Him who bought all of us with His own life's blood. Your gain is our joy; your victory is our desire.

My desire in this message is to portray to you, the great need for a pure strain of unselfishness among those who claim the divine call to the ministry. Paul the great apostle, in his writings to the Galatians said, "For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another. For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another."

Remember Cragmont in February

REMEMBER CRAGMONT IN THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY

Three Thousand Dollars Sought through Drive in North Carolina

Mrs. N. E. Harris, of Rocky Mount, who successfully led the drive last February for Cragmont Assembly, has been asked by the stockholders committee and the Board of Directors of the Assembly to direct this year's drive during the month of February. $3,000 has been set as the minimum amount to be sought in the drive. At least this much is needed to meet payment on the indebtedness against the property, to put a new roof on the building and supplement the operating fund.

Letters are going out soon from Mrs. Harris to pastors and clerks of the various churches in North Carolina asking that special offerings be taken in the church services, and through Sunday Schools, Leagues, Woman's Auxiliaries and other organizations of the church during the month toward the goal of this drive. These offerings are to be sent to Mr. Fountain Taylor, Richlands, N. C., who is treasurer of the Assembly.

Those who have been privileged to visit Cragmont and receive the benefits of its summer assemblies, youth camps, etc., recognize the importance of the institution, and what it is des-tinued to mean to the future of the Free Will Baptist denomination. A greater program than ever is being planned for the summer of 1950. Plans are being worked out to make Cragmont's blessings more accessible to more people than ever before. An investment in Cragmont is an investment in better churches for the future, and richer lives for eternity.

Individual donations in any amount, offerings from all local churches and auxiliary organizations, and appropriations from the funds of January Union Meetings, are earnestly solicited. Remember it goes to Fountain Taylor, Treasurer, Richlands, N. C., who will receipt for all donations and report them through the Free Will Baptist. Make all checks, money orders, etc., payable to Mr. Taylor. Let's keep Mr. Taylor the busiest man in North Carolina during February!

L. E. Ballard,
For the Committee

It is not what men eat but what they digest that makes them strong; not what we gain, but what we save that makes us rich; not what we read, but what we remember that makes us learn; and not what we preach, but what we practice that makes us Christians. These are great but common truths, often forgotten by many of us.

ALABAMA CHILDREN'S HOME CONTINUES TO GROW

We are glad to report that the Alabama Children's Home is still growing in financial support as well as spiritually and the increase of children.

We have been carrying on a little over two years and the interest in every way is still growing. We are planning to install the Gym and playground equipment during the early spring.

We have a fine group of boys and plan to get started in some kind of farming for the Home project.

We also plan to equip the Shop with machinery and get the boys started in wood work. We are proud of the fine interest of our people over Alabama as well as Florida, Georgia and Mississippi. We are receiving fine financial support from the joining states and appreciate it very much.

We have a fine league and S. S. in our churches here and all the children enjoy the church work.

So far we have been fortunate in raising beef and pork to supply the institution. We are proud of the increase in the milk herd as well as two litters of pigs to begin the New Year. The big bus makes it possible for us to make some trips to joining communities and churches which is very enjoyable for all of the children. We only have about ten acres in all the property here at the Home, but we are hoping that we will soon be able to secure some joining land for farming.

Your liberal contributions have made it possible for us to operate in a good way and we urge you to continue to support your Alabama Home in a good way.

W. H. Ryland, Supt.

Once a little boy walked three miles to attend a Sunday School, and when asked why he did not attend the one nearer home, replied: "They make us feel that they love us down here." There is something drawing in the love of God. When one loses the simple love of God out of his heart, he begins to fill up the vacancy with criticism.

The Biblical Meaning of Christian Stewardship

R. B. CRAWFORD, GREENVILLE, N. C.

As a member of your National Stewardship Commission I have been asked to write an article to our church papers using the above title.

THE GENERAL IDEA OF STEWARDSHIP

The Bible and history teach the church has always believed in stewardship. A consciousness of stewardship responsibility was born with the race. From the first pages of the old Testament we read: "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion." This scripture proclaims the source and scope of man's accountability. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall cleave unto his wife" tells us there is a stewardship of family relations.

Cain and Abel stand before an altar presenting fruits of material progress. Cain killed Abel not because he felt no responsibility to God, but because he was desirous of getting ahead of his brother. Cain asked "Am I my brother's keeper?" The Lord answered, "Thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground." There is that partnership we have with God and with our fellowman that the Lord has set up for our good and happiness.

DEFINITIONAL MEANING

The steward is, in fact, a "partner" with his master. He is also a "servant" and "employee," a "manager," "agent," "superintendent," "director," "trustee"; sometimes a "son," but never a "slave." A steward has an honorable station. He is absolutely trusted by his master—trusted with his property, his plans, his reputation; trusted when his master's back is turned; trusted with his interests, safety, and welfare of his fellow servants; trusted to carry on confidential and diplomatic affairs of high importance.

Not only is the steward to keep intact the things entrusted to him but he is to devise and effect the greatest possible enlargement of his master's interests. To be a steward is never a sacrifice but an honor bestowed upon those worthy to receive it. The individual subscribes his hand to stewardship. Man becomes by his acceptance God's chosen steward.

SOME OLD TESTAMENT CONCEPTIONS OF STEWARDSHIP

"And all the tithes of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or fruit of the tree is Jehovah's: it is holy unto Jehovah" (Lev. 27:30). "Which cometh forth from the field year by year" (Deut. 14:32). (Please read in full the following references: Lev. 27:30-34; Deut. 14:22-29; Numbers 18:20-32; Mal. 3:7-12.) Many other scriptures you will recall. You are well aware that "the silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts" (Hag. 2:8).

Rev. R. B. Crawford

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

The word Christian means relating to Christ, belonging to Christ, or Christlike. Christ makes stewardship Christian. His life is its chart; His teachings are its compass. His mind is final; the ideals and ideas He advanced are ultimate. We have already considered the word steward. Our conclusion then is that Christian stewardship considered the word steward. Our conclusion then is that Christian stewardship is 'the recognition and fulfillment of personal privilege and responsibility for the administration of the whole of life—personality, time, talent, influence, material substance—everything—in accordance with the spirit and ideals of Christ.'

Think carefully of some of the things Jesus had to say concerning stewardship. Matt. 23:23, "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for you tithe mint and anise and cummin, and have left undone the weightier matters of the law, justice and mercy and faith: but, these ye ought to have done and not to leave the other undone." Luke 11:42—"But woe unto you pharisees, for you tithe mint and rue and every herb and pass over justice and the love of God: but these ye ought to have done and not to leave the other un-

Matt. 5:20—"For I say unto you, that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and the pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven."

MRS. BALLARD IN DUKE HOSPITAL

For the information of the friends of Mrs. Gertrude Ballard, of New Bern, North Carolina, we state that Mrs. Ballard is now a patient in Duke Hospital, Durham, N. C., having been moved there from New Bern where she had been confined to the hospital and to her home since early in December with serious illness. She underwent an operation at Duke on the morning of the 12th and was at the time of this writing (Jan. 13) reported resting well, with prospects considered good for an early recovery. She is expected to be able to return home within a week or ten days.

Rev. L. E. Ballard and the family desire that we express thanks to the many friends who have remembered Mrs. Ballard so kindly during her illness. Cards and letters of sympathy have been received from all parts of the country. It is requested that cards or letters for Mrs. Ballard be sent to the home address, 826 Pollock St., New Bern, N. C. rather than to the hospital in Durham, because of the hope of her early return home.

ENLISTMENT

Christ taught his disciples to be active in the gospel ministry, patient in service, and to look for results from their labors in the way of souls won to the Christian way of life. They were enlisted in the great cause for directing human hearts in the true way of peace and happiness.

As time passed others joined the ranks of the apostles, and the Christian faith moved forward into distant lands. And there is no end to the work and results of the gospel way of life for all races the world over. Enlistment is ever going on in the service of the Lord, and Christianity will always have its power of effectiveness in the world.

But what about the enlistment of new workers, for the year 1950, in our Sunday Schools? Would it not be helpful if Sunday School officials in the local churches would get busy, and set up plans by which their classes each Sunday might have new pupils joining the Sunday School? Could not most every Sunday School enlist members of the classes to become responsible for inviting those in their neighborhood not in school to begin now and become regular attendants of the Sunday School? Some effective work along this line by interested class leaders will prove successful.

There have been cases in the past in which proper enlistments of extra Sunday School endeavors resulted into marvelous benefits to the Sunday School. This year is a new opportunity for Sunday School leaders to put forth new efforts to reach all the children and young people in their respective communities and bring in a goodly number of the non-Sunday School goers. Christ told his disciples to go out into the highways and bring in those who needed the gospel. It is no less true today that all of the children and the young people should be in the Sunday School.

LIGHT SHINING IN DARKNESS

No greater light ever shone in any community than the light of the gospel of Christ. No greater cause of truth and good-will ever elevated individuals to a higher plain of living than the true teachings of the Word of God to the people by consecrated men and women of the church. Plans and purposes of civic clubs, with all their uplifting influences for good in any neighborhood, together with the exercise of the common laws of the commonwealth to keep order and lessen crime, never equal the saving grace of the gospel of Christ in any particular locality, when the whole church people come together in one accord, and reach out and cause their true Christian living to be effective upon the entire church and community through their consecration, brotherly love, Christian teachings of the Scriptures, and being true friends to their fellow men. When God's Word takes firm hold on human hearts, they will help to elevate others.

week, I give tithes of all that I possess." We can easily see that Jesus was a loyal Jew, a son of a Jewish mother, trained from childhood with diligence to reverence and obey every syllable of the law, that he repeatedly commended those who observed its requirements and declared that not one jot or tittle should pass away from the law until all had been fulfilled.

We know the Bible taught the law of the tithe—and Jesus approved it. Since Jesus is the Way, the Truth and the Life, we must practice Christian Stewardship as taught in the Bible and live under grace, keeping our hearts and minds centered upon Jesus who said, "For where your treasure is there will your heart be also" (Matt. 6:21).

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE NEW YEAR

Dear Friends:

In the appeal for help on Superannuation, I wish to make these suggestions:

First, let each auxiliary, beginning the first of this new year, get a small bank for each member of the auxiliary, and each week let each member drop in the bank a nickel or a dime, or even more if they can do it. Then, in the month of October, when the reports are sent in, the money will be already on hand.

Second, Let each minister contribute a tenth of just one month's salary to Superannuation. Also, if there is an old retired minister in their community, for the pastor to visit him. This would make the retired minister feel much better for having the pastor to visit him.

May all of us think about these things, and then pray much about them.

ATTRACTIVE MISSIONARY POSTERS TO BE DISTRIBUTED AMONG THE CHURCHES

Several hundred nice mission posters have been printed which are to be posted in our churches over the several states. The posters are in two colors and have the picture of a large thermometer, the mercury of which is to be kept raised with a red crayon each month according to the liberality of your respective state toward the cause of missions.

These posters are being placed in the hands of the several state Directors for distribution. If you desire one for your church please get in contact with your State Foreign Mission Director. You will be kept informed the forepart of each month through the denominational papers as to what your state has given the preceding

AN OPEN LETTER CONCERNING THE "PREACHING MISSION IN NORFOLK, VIRGINIA"

I feel impressed to write this open letter concerning the Preaching Mission beginning in Norfolk, Virginia, on Jan 8th, running through the 15th. The literature being distributed throughout the city states that the "Norfolk United Preaching Mission" is "Sponsored by the Norfolk Minister's Association, 10 denominations, 100 Churches." There is nothing in this literature that informs the public that the Federal Council of Churches of America has any part in sponsoring this Preaching Mission, yet the Minister's Association knows that the movement is tied up with the Federal Council of Churches of America.

I am made to wonder why this fact is left out of the literature distributed to the various churches in Norfolk and other cities where the "Preaching Mission" is put on. Is it fair for the pastors to keep their people in the dark concerning the fact that this work is being sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches? It is fairly well known that there are lead-month and you are to raise the mercury on your church poster accordingly.

We hope every one will give us perfect cooperation in the reception and use of these posters. We are depending greatly upon the State Directors in getting them out into each and every local church. We trust they will not fail us.

Rev. Raymond Riggs had these posters printed in Detroit and they are being mailed out from the Missions Office in Monett, Missouri.

They will be mailed out as soon as the books and financial records are balanced for the past month of December, and the mercury on each poster will be raised as of the standing of your state on December 31.

ers in the Federal Council of Churches who do not believe the Bible to be "The Word of God," and who do not believe in the Virgin Birth of Christ. Can this be the reason for not letting the churches know that the Federal Council of Churches is helping to sponsor the Preaching Mission being put on in various cities throughout the country?

It is said by some who are supporting the Federal Council of Churches, that "the Federal Council of Churches of America is a bulwark against catholicism completely dominating the religion in America, and that all Christians should join with them in this safe-guarded freedom of religion." Does it make sense that we should join evil in combating evil? God's Word says for us "to come out from among them and touch not the unclean thing." Do we need to call on unbelievers to assist in saving from evil? God is able to take care of Himself and His work, and he scorned the testimony of Satan.

I write this as a Free Will Baptist minister and I write it as a warning to our people, that they may investigate before joining hands in every-think that is called religion. Try the Spirits and see if they be TRUE.

Yours in Christ,

NEW YEAR'S EVE WATCH SERVICE

On the night of New Year's Eve, New Hope F. W. B. Church met in one of the most glorious worship services the church had experienced in a long time.

Brother J. B. Parsons brought the message of the evening, reading a portion of the eighth chapter of Romans and selected his text from the reading: "For as many as are led by the Spirit they are the sons of God." Bro. Parsons stressed the fact of being led by the Spirit of God if we achieve anything as a Christian in power and influence the final thing above all depends on the Spirit we are led by. At the close of the message, every Christian pledged to work toward a deeper prayer life, and a closer walk with God in 1950.

After the message several special numbers in song were rendered. Everyone was greatly blessed in the praise service, when almost every Christian in the church stood praising God for his goodness to them through 1949, and expressing a desire to have a closer walk with God and do more in his service in 1950.

As the old year slipped away and the new year came in, it found the altar filled with Christian people praying for the leadership of God in the New Year in whatever the Lord had for them to do.

The people left the church feeling that indeed the Lord had been with them and that they had received a special blessing from the service.

THE COMMON CHRISTIAN

They're not in society and may have no family tree,
But the likeness and lowliness of Jesus is seen plainly by you and me.

They may have no fine furs or cars, no clothes too fit to see,
But you can see that precious heart shining right through those rags of humility.

Don't turn your nose up, Christian, when our poor come to church.

Just greet them from the heart and move over without a shirk.

And if the faded garments, neat, clean as can be, seem to sting your heart till the tears come,

Just remember there's more where yours come from.

We don't have to go to China to do a great big deed,

For right around your corner, there may be a friend in need.

Let's not be self-centered or from the Lord draw away,

For there are many even at our door who need our help today.

GEORGIA NEWS

Dear Baptist Readers:

Since this is the first time there has been anything in the Baptist from Patmos Church, Baker county, we would like to tell a few facts concerning our work by way of introduction.

Patmos Church was established in 1882. The Griffins of this community had a major part in this establishment. This family of today are serving the Lord just as faithfully as did their ancestors.

We have 175 members on our roll, but only a small number of active members, owing to the fact that so many have moved away.

Rev. Carlton Houston served us last year as pastor. He is also our pastor for this year. He does not live in our community and preached only once a month last year. However beginning last November he is preaching twice a month for this year. Bro. Houston has certainly served us well the past year, and we are looking forward to a greater service this year.

We have a very wide awake Sunday School here at Patmos, and I think one of the best Leagues in this part of Georgia. I have never seen a group of young people more earnest in their efforts to serve the Lord. I think some of this can be attributed to the State Bible encampment, since so many of our young people went to camp and found the Lord while there, and returning home ready for service. There is much I wish to say about our Bible encampment but will wait and write about that later.

On October 13 last our church made history, for on that day Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Harvey joined with us. Since the establishment of our church he was the first preacher to hold membership with it. It was indeed an honor and pleasure to welcome them in our midst, for more devoted, wholehearted Christians I have yet to see.

Bro. and Sister Harvey have worked earnestly and faithfully for our state camp. They have given of their means and service so freely, never failing to boost our encampment wherever they go. I know that they will prove a great blessing to our church.

I would like also to say we have a very active Woman's Auxiliary here at Patmos. We have accomplished much in the past year, in which we feel the Lord is well pleased.

We want all the praying people to pray for us that we might keep on keeping on in this great fight for God and right.

Mrs. C. C. Sheffield

The Great Gardener

Reg. McClelland

I know of a wonderful Gardener,
The Owner of two estates;
The one is yonder in Heaven
Beyond the pearly gates.

Its roses, daisies, and lilies
Are perfect in fragrance and bloom;
They never are blighted with sadness,
Sorrow, temptation or gloom.

They live in the sunlight of glory,
And gaze on the Gardener't sweet face.
They sing the blessed old story,
Redeemed by His wonderful grace.

The other is still in the making,
Where briars and thistles appear;
And hearts are burdened and breaking,
But the Heavenly Gardener is near.

He tenderly shelters His roses
From chill or heat too severe,
And when the testing exposes,
He's watching so precisely near.

He knoweth the frame of each flower—
How tender, weak and how frail.
He never forgets for one hour;
His watchfulness never will fail.

Those plants in the Heavenly Garden,
All had their beginning down here,
But now they are blooming in Glory—
Removed from all danger or fear.

But, oh, the pain the transplanting
Did cause the ones who remain!
But soon in the Garden of Glory,
They'll all be united again.

This moment of suffering and sorrow,
Can never, no, never, compare
With God's eternal to-morrow,
In the Heavenly Garden up there.

The Preacher's Wife!

There is one person in your Church
Who knows your preacher's life;
Who wept and smiled and prayed with him,
And that's your preacher's wife.

The crowd has seen him in his strength,
When wielding God's sharp sword,
As underneath God's banner folds
He faced the devil's horde.

But deep within her heart she knows
That scarce an hour before
She helped him pray the glory down
Behind the closet door.

She's heard him groaning in his soul,
When bitter raged the strife,
As, hand in his, she knelt with him—
For she's the preacher's wife!

You tell your tales of prophets brave
Who marched across the world
And changed the course of history
By burning words they hurled.

And I will tell how back of each
Some woman lived her life,
Who wept with him and smiled with him—
She was the preacher's wife.

TESTIMONIALS

I want to say that I do read and enjoy my copy of the Free Will Baptist paper which is printed at Ayden. I get a lot of pleasure from reading it each week. I cannot write but I do enjoy reading the articles that the other people send in from time to time.—Mary Smith.

It does seem that more of our church people would subscribe to the Baptist pa-

Editor, why don't you ask more people to send in more good leading articles for your paper? Our family wants more ori-

MY HEAVENLY HOME

BY DORIS GILLIKIN
Beaufort, N. C.

I've dreamed of a home high on a hill
Where all is perfect, quiet, and still;
There the sun never ceases to shine,
And life is all bliss, for happiness is mine.

I see dear faces who have gone on before,
I know they're waiting to open the door.
I hear the angels singing their wonderful praise

While I'm yearning His face to behold.

There'll be no pain, nor sorrow up there
No troubles or burdens I'll have to bear.
I'll my soul rest at His dear feet,
As I shall feed on His love so sweet.

So long I've dreamed of that beautiful home,
Never more shall I want to roam.
Lead me dear Lord to your home above
That I may ever live in your heavenly love.

MY TESTIMONY

The Lord has been so wonderfully good to me that I want to say that I have been in the good old way something like 56 years. The blessings have been so wonderful in spiritual and temporal things, and of late the presence of the Lord has been so real that I wish to exclaim as did the Psalmist: "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless his holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul and forget not all his benefits."

I have often wondered if the majority of the people give much thought of the question: "Where shall I be when the trumpet shall sound so loud as to wake up the dead?" That is something everyone should be thinking about very seriously.

THE FIRST CHRISTIAN MARTYR

(Lesson for January 22)

Lesson: Acts 6:1-15; 7:54-60.

I. GOLDEN TEXT ILLUMINATED

"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life" (Rev. 2:10).

Of necessity, the blessings of God in salvation are all conferred freely, and since a gift cannot be earned, the promises of grace are largely unconditional. Since by grace we are saved, and that not of ourselves, but a gift from God, the Christian occupies an enviable position as far as his eternal welfare is concerned.

But when we enter the realm of rewards we are on entirely different grounds. Prizes are offered for the successful athlete in open competition, and pay is held out to the faithful employee. In like manner God offers inducements to obedience and promises compensation for services rendered, and we find no confusion or Scriptural contradiction between these two phases of revelation if we are careful to keep the context of each verse clearly in mind and do not confuse salvation and service.

The New Testament is replete with such encouragement. Jesus told a parable of a man who hired laborers and paid them for their services. Paul wrote a graphic account of the Christian race in the arena of life and described the reward for successful competition, and Peter told of the crown the Good Shepherd would confer at His Appearing. From start to finish the Christian life offers a challenge to the courageous and a crown to the victorious, but all of this follows the fact of salvation and is limited to those who have been saved by faith alone. The work of redemption was completely consummated by Christ on the Cross—the task of making salvation known to the lost has been reserved in each generation to the people of that period of time.—

HEART OF THE LESSON

And Stephen, full of faith and power, verse 8. Stephen was "the first great Christian ecclesiastic," the chief of the Church of Jerusalem. He is called "the Archdeacon" in the eastern Church. He was the first Christian martyr. We learn from Acts 6:5b that he was "a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost."

He performed great wonders and miracles which attracted the attention of the people because he was full of power, of the Divine energy by which he was enabled to do those things. He enjoyed the unction of the Divine Spirit, and received great favor from the Lord. He was filled with great zeal and boldness to proclaim the great truths of the Word of God.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

Suborned men * * stirred up the people * * set up false witnesses (Acts 6:11-13). The enemies were at their end. They were forced to resort to unfair methods to stop this trouble maker. Their little game had been rudely upset. They had been "playing church" for many, many years and had profited by it in money and power. Stephen had got the people's minds down to vital matters, to consider eternal things in good faith and dead earnest. They, like rats in a trap, would resort to anything to save their skins. People were flocking by the thousands Godward and a great number of the priests were obedient to the faith (vs. 7). It looked like annihilation to the Jewish religionists.—Selected.

He kneeled, cried, fell asleep. How like the spirit of the Master as He died hanging upon the cross! Stephen prayed, as it were, that his enemies might be spared the condemnation brought on by the sin which they were then committing, and be given another chance to know the Christ as their own Saviour and Lord. His last prayer was not for himself, but for his enemies. What a wonderful example of Christian courage and fortitude, and fervent love for lost men.—Senior Quarterly (F.W.B.)

III. THE LESSON ILLUSTRATED

A Heroic Girl

"Me no Mohammedan, me Christian," said a little Armenian girl to approaching turks in the days of the first World War. She well knew how they would be likely to treat a Christian. Greatly angered, they threatened to starve her, then said they would throw her to the dogs, but she repeated the same words. They carried out their threat and threw her over the wall to the savage dogs. The next morning they were amazed to see the little girl lying with her head on one of the dogs. Awakened by their coming she looked up and said sleepily, "Me no Mohammedan, me Christian." The superstitious Turks sold her, and she was sent to a Christian orphanage.—D. M. Stearns.

Martyrs of Communism

We have been listening, in the conference of Youth for Christ, International, held in Winona Lake in July 1948, to two address by "Bob Pierce," who had just returned from China. In both addresses he told of terrible persecutions and murders by the communist of North China when they gained control of a city. In one place they seized some Christians who acknowledged their faith and refused to recant. Then they proceeded to execute them after the pattern of the execution of Christ their Master. However, instead of crucifying them on wooden crosses, they placed them flat on the ground with their arms outstretched, under a burning sun, and fastened them to the ground by driving sharp wooden stakes through their hands and their feet. There they were left impaled for two days until their agonies were ended by death. Truly in some parts of the world genuine heroism is required on the part of faithful Christians yet.—Arnold's Commentary for 1950.

The task of the church is to build character in the individual; the duty of the state is to provide a favorable environment for this task.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

MRS. CONNIE WILDER, SR.

On Tuesday, March 13, 1949, when the sun was sinking low, God saw fit to call the soul of our dear neighbor, Mrs. Harriet Corbett Wilder, out of this world of suffering into a home of rest. She was the daughter of Mary O'Neal and Joshua Corbett. If she had lived till March 29 she would have been 66 years old. She had been in declining health for a number of years. She was critically ill the last week she was with us.

When she was a young girl she gave her heart to God. She had been a member of Friendship F. W. B. Church in Johnston county for many years. She enjoyed being in the service of the Master. She attended church and Sunday School whenever possible. Her greatest pleasure was in rendering service unto others. She was indeed a true and devoted wife, a patient and loving mother, and a kind friend to everyone. We do miss her very much but we know that God's will is best and we feel that she has gone to her heavenly rest which she tried faithfully to attain.

The funeral services were conducted at the church on Thursday afternoon at 3:00, by Rev. Walter Williams and the Rev. M. E. Godwin a former pastor. She was laid to rest in Friendship cemetery. The large crowd of relatives and friends present and the numerous beautiful flowers that she had, attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The survivors are her husband, Connie Wilder, Sr., and seven daughters, Mrs. Elmer Godwin, Mrs. Clarence Allen, Mrs. Gerrie Fulgum of Middlesex, Route 1, Mrs. Lester Minton of Durham, Mrs. Theibert Creech of Zebulon, Route 1, Mrs. Lester Williamson of Hamlet, N. C., Mrs. Howard Franklin of Wilmington, one son, Connie Wilder, Jr., of Middlesex, Route 1. There are 25 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, one brother, Mr. Joseph Corbett, one sister, Mrs. Lucy Driver, both of Zebulon, Route 1. Three half-brothers, Mr. Balard Hocutt of Selma, Route 1, Mr. Thad Hocutt of Kinston, Mr. Add Hocutt of Zebulon, Route 1.

There is an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone.

There is a light we cannot see

Our Father claims his own.

MRS. DORCAS MEEKINS

Mrs. Dorcas Meekins fell asleep in Jesus on Sunday night, November 20, 1949. She was born in Gum Neck community in Tyrrell County, North Carolina, on January 24, 1879, making her stay on earth 70 years, 9 months, and 26 days. She had been in ill health for two years.

For many years she had been a true and loyal member of the Free Will Baptist church. The Woman's auxiliary of the church has lost one of its most worthy members, and in our hearts will live the memory of her faithfulness as a neighbor and friend. To know her was to love her.

The funeral services were conducted in the church by her pastor, Rev. J. W. Alfred, assisted by the Methodist minister of Columbia, North Carolina. Her body was laid to rest in the church yard under a most beautiful mound of flowers, expressive of the esteem in which she was held by her loved ones and friends.

The survivors include seven children, one sister, two brothers, and a host of grandchildren. Her delight was in keeping God's law, and her profession expressed her deep concern for the love of God.

How patient in her suffering,
When no hand could give her ease;
God the helper of the helpless
Saw the pain and gave her ease.

Not dead but passed beyond
The mist that binds us here;
Into a newer, larger life
Of that unclouded sphere.

A happy union was once enjoyed
How dear that memory still;
But now we only see a vacant chair
That no one else can fill.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. C. L. Parrisher
Mrs. J. J. Everton

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom saw fit to enter the home of Brother John H. Watson on June 3, 1949, and took him to his heavenly home:

The members of Kenly Free Will Baptist Church realize their loss, and beg to submit the following resolutions:

First, That though we are saddened by the passing of a faithful member, and a life-long deacon, we bow in humble submission to the will of our heavenly Father, who doeth all things well;

Second, That we extend to his wife and children our heartfelt sympathy and point them to our God for consolation, and comfort in their bereavement; and

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, a copy to the Free Will Baptist paper for publication, and a copy to be for the minutes of the church.

MISS FLORENCE ANN REBECA BOYKIN

Aunt "Flou" passed on to her eternal reward on December 21, 1949, at 6:35 A. M. She had been in ill health for the past two years, and was critically ill for the last two weeks she was with us. She was 84 years, 11 months, and 8 days old at the time of her death.

"Aunt Flou," as every one called her, came from a large family. There were several brothers and sisters who had all passed on several years ago. She was a spinster, and there were three spinster sisters who were much devoted to each other. The four sisters were buried in a row in Mt. Zion burial ground.

All who knew Aunt Flou loved her, and our memories of her will live on for a long time. She was a charter member, and the eldest one in Mt. Zion F. W. B. Church in Wilson County. She was a loyal worker for the cause of Christ.

Her face was plain, her words were, too,
But in her heart her love was true.

God took her away from earthly pain,
The loved ones' loss is heaven's gain.

God bless memories she left behind,
The patience shown, and deeds so kind.

Her loved ones, we humbly pray,
Will meet Aunt Flou on Judgment Day.

JAMES HARDY WATSON

Whereas, on September 12, 1949, God saw fit to take James Hardy Watson out of this life into the life everlasting:

The members of Kenly Free Will Baptist Church will miss him, but we beg to submit the following resolutions of respect:

First, That though our loss be his gain, we bow in humble submission to our heavenly Father who doeth all things well;

Second, That we extend to his family our sympathy and point them to him who gives comfort and consolation to them in their bereavement; and

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, a copy be sent to the Baptist paper for publication, and a copy be for the minutes of our church.

STORYLAND

THE LOST WATCH

MABEL P. SMITH

Merle Evans' wrist watch which his Uncle Phil had sent him on his thirteenth birthday, had excited the envy of all his boy friends.

"It is real silver, too," he told them proudly, "and see, it has my initials."

Thad Hurley's fine Christmas pocket-knife was the next most prized of any of the boys' possessions.

Merle and Thad were chums and so they sometimes exchanged their watch and knife for a few days, causing other boys some jealous feeling.

Merle had not long before persuaded Thad to come to his Sunday School class; and he had been won to Mrs. Miller, the teacher, by her sweet, kindly manner, and her interesting talks.

So Mrs. Evans did not fear that Thad would have a bad influence over Merle, even though Thad's parents did not have a good name in the community.

Besides, Merle was a year older, and Thad really sort of looked up to him. Yet he was about as easily influenced for evil as for good.

All had gone well between them until early one evening, as they, with eight other boys, were coming home from a day of picnicking in Shane's Woods. They had to pass the Miller apple orchard, in which there was one peach tree, and it was not far from the fence.

It was bright moonlight and the boys could see some of the largest peaches hanging on the lower branches—a real temptation to most boys.

"Come on, fellows," said Hal French, "let's help ourselves; there's lots of them and they won't even be missed." But if ten boys gathered all they wanted, Merle knew they would be missed, and he spoke up: "That would be stealing, and you know it. And besides it would be mean as dirt from a woman like Mrs. Miller, who is so good to everybody."

"Oh, yes," sneered Hal, "just hear the preacher. Sissy loves his Sunday School teacher—and he's such a nice little angel boy he wouldn't do anything but sing and pray!"

At this all the other boys laughed—even Thad was afraid not to.

Merle's face burned, but he said nothing, only started on.

"Oh, come on, Merle," said Thad; "what's the use of being so strict? We'll pick only a few. I'm going to get one anyway."

Merle took hold of his arm. "If you're bound to go and be a thief with the rest of them. I can't stop you—but you know you are only doing it so the boys won't poke fun at you. You're just a coward, that's all."

Thad started to go on with Merle, then one of the boys called out, "'Fraid cats! 'fraid you'll get caught—but we're not."

Thad weakened at that. "I'm no more afraid than you fellows are. I'll show you that." He broke away from Merle and ran over the fence.

Then Hal called to Merle. "We'll wait till you get out of sight, so you can't tell anyone you saw us."

Merle went on home feeling blue because Thad had been led off so easily, and because his beloved teacher was to be robbed of her best peaches. But he made up his mind that he would not tell on the boys, especially not on Thad, his chum.

Strange to say, nothing was ever heard about the robbing of the peach tree, even though when Merle passed by the orchard next morning he saw that only a few peaches were left on the tree.

Thad kept away from him a couple of days. Then Merle went over to get back his watch which he had let Thad wear on the day of the outing, while he had the use of Thad's knife.

When he asked Thad for the watch Thad's face got very red, and he almost choked when he tried to speak. But at last he blurted out, "I guess you'll want to do something dreadful to me, but I lost it at the outing, or on the way home. I went down there yesterday and looked everywhere and all the way going and coming, but couldn't find it." Then Thad broke down and cried, and Merle felt like doing the same.

"But didn't you have it fastened on tight?" asked Merle. "I thought I did," sobbed Thad. "I'll work and pay for the watch if I ever can, Merle."

Merle went home with a heavy heart—what would Uncle Phil say if he found out that the watch was lost?

At the Sunday School class the next Sunday Merle wondered why Mrs. Miller looked at him, especially so often and looked so sad. She did not say anything about the peaches, and besides she surely could never think that he had stolen them.

At the same time Mrs. Miller wondered how Merle could look so honest and frank, and show such a real interest in the lesson, when such an unhappy secret was in her heart, which she would not tell anyone.

And Merle would have been surprised had he known how often his beloved teacher had prayed for him that week, as well as for other boys whom she did not know.

Thad was not at the class that morning, and Merle knew why; but he did not know how miserable and wretched Thad's conscience was making him feel those days. Before the next Sunday Merle had fully forgiven Thad, and obtained his promise that he would come back to the class.

"She doesn't know you had any hand in that stealing, Thad," Merle told him, "and if you keep staying away she will be thinking you did have."

So Thad was in the class that morning, feeling like just what he was—a thief. But Mrs. Miller treated him just as nicely as ever; so he felt sure she had not guessed.

When the boys left the church Merle said, "Thad, if I were you, I'd go to our teacher and tell her what you did. You needn't say who the other fellows were—just fess up your own guilt. If you don't I'll always think you are a big coward, and a hypocrite besides."

Well, Thad did not sleep that night, and the next morning he managed to get up some courage—he just would not keep on being a coward, he told himself. Merle was not, even before all the fellows.

Mrs. Miller made it so pleasant for him that she made it easier for him to tell her what he had done.

She put her arm about him and said tenderly, "Thad, my boy, I am so thankful that you were brave enough to do this. I know how hard a thing it was for you to do, but now you will be stronger to refuse to do wrong another time." And she forgave him freely.

Then she said, "I only wish another boy in my class would have the courage to do as you have done. I won't say who he is but I have proof that he also is guilty."

"Why, Teacher!" exclaimed Thad, surprised, "none of the other boys in the class were in that bunch."

Mrs. Miller looked at him wondering. "But, Thad, I have real proof of it. I can't understand."

"Honest and true, Teacher, I know there wasn't."

"Then, Thad, let me ask you a question. Has Merle lost his wrist watch? He didn't have it on his wrist last Sunday."

"Oh, no! no!" cried Thad, all excited. "Merle didn't, but I did. I was wearing it that day, and he tried so hard to keep me from going to your orchard with the boys, too."

Mrs. Miller bowed her head and put her hands over her face, for a moment. Then looking at Thad through tears, she exclaimed, "To think that I have been so misjudging dear, honest Merle, the best boy in my class! Oh, how thankful I am that I was kept from telling anyone about it! For I found the watch under my peach tree."

"And just think of Merle's being blamed for something mean that I did," added Thad, his voice trembling and tears in his eyes.

"Yes, Thad. It's pretty hard for anyone to do wrong without causing some innocent person to suffer. How careful we should be to do right! And now let us just ask God to forgive us both, and we will ask this unhappy secret to ourselves, and never let Merle know how he has been misjudged."

She then went to her desk to get the watch and handed it to Thad. "Just give it to him, but don't tell him where it was found."

As Thad went down the road, the whole world seemed brighter, and he thought he had never heard the birds sing so happily, for his heart was in tune with theirs.

Merle was overjoyed to get back his watch. "Where was it?" he asked.

"Oh, between here and the lake," said Thad with a queer smile. "And say, Merle, I've seen Teacher too, and she was so kind and nice to me. She's pretty near an angel, I say. I told her there weren't any other boys of our Sunday School class in that bunch of thieves. So you needn't think she believes you had any hand in it."

"And I tell you what, Merle, after this I'm going to do the same as you do, even if the whole town tries to get me not to, for you never get into trouble like those other boys do. You stand for the right every time."

"All right," said Merle, throwing his arm over Thad's shoulder, "I hope you will, as long as I do what mother and teacher and the Bible tell me to."—Young People's Guide.

trine? why not say, the doctrine of Christ, as believed and taught by our church? And then be sure our church teaches the doctrine of Christ.

According to Scripture, we believe in the universal Church of Christ. And that Christ's vicarious atonement as sin bearer is the only way into the body, or Church of Christ. And that every born-again person, regardless of race or denomination, is built by Christ into this Holy Temple, or household of God, for the habitation of God through the Spirit. And that Christ is the head, or, chief-corner stone, and high-priest over the household of faith.

According to Scripture, we have no authority to deny any one baptism, or, the Lord's supper, because they do not join our church. Also, that God calls and ordains his ministers, and we cannot bar them from preaching the gospel and administering its ordinances, because we have not ordained them. But, if they are preaching false doctrine, whether members of our church or not, we are commanded what to do: "If any man come unto you bringing not this doctrine (doctrine of Christ), receive him not into your house, neither bid him God-speed; for if you bid him God-speed you are partakers of his deed."

Our ordination Certificate recognizes the authority of the local church, by stating the following: This Certificate of Ordination shall be in full force and effect for life, or during the maintenance of sound doctrine and good moral character. It shall be subject to recall, or annulment, by a council of three ordained ministers, called by the church to which he belongs, and upon official demand by said church, he is hereby placed under solemn promise to deliver this certificate."

We should be careful not to overstep the independence of the church, by taking actions without the authority of the majority vote of the church.

Remember, the preacher is subject to the church of which he is a member, and there is no New Testament higher than the church. The last step Christ gave in dealing with any one is, "Tell it to the church."

A church joins the associations of their own free-will, and if any of these cooperative bodies take an overall authority, or deny the fundamental doctrines of Christ, the church cannot remain true to Christ as head of the church and remain a member.

The Devil works with all subtilty to supplant Christ as head of the churches, and as all-sufficient-Saviour. And if we are not alert and guard the truth with all diligence, we will gradually be overcome and become a daughter of Babylon. Christ said, "Except you repent, I will remove the candlestick."

When a church, preacher, or member, fails to obey Christ for fear that it will hurt their standing with an ecclesiastical authority, they grievously sin. For an example, a Gospel preacher was told by a "click" that if he did not change his preaching, that the Minister's Conference would close all doors, and expose him in the denominational paper. The preacher prayed, "Oh, Lord, you called me into the ministry, and inspired my sermons; I will obey you rather than men, and if you do not open doors for me I will go down." Did he go down? No, more doors have opened than he can enter. And God has saved more souls through his ministry than all the preachers that wanted to usurp authority over him.

"Earnestly contend for the faith, once for all delivered to the saints."

BOOK REVIEW

"The Gospel of the King"

We have just read F. B. Meyer's book, "The Gospel of the King." For ministers, Sunday School workers, young people, and women's auxiliary workers in the church, it is interesting, instructive, and contains great spiritual values. Each chapter is short and can be read in twenty minutes. The book can be read with great profit in a short time.

The price, $1.50; the publisher, Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan. Order either from the F. W. B. Press, Ayden, N. C., or direct from the publisher.

"That Men May Live"

By Walter D. Kallenback, Ph.D., Th.D.

The author of this book has portrayed in seven messages the significance of the Cross. Each message treats a definite theme of vital interest to ministers and other Christian workers. A study of these messages on the Cross, between the present and Easter, will greatly benefit, and prepare the hearts of the readers for the Easter season.

The price, $1.00; the publisher, Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan. Order direct from the publisher, or from the F. W. B. Press, Ayden, N. C.

DENIAL

I WANT SO MANY, many things,
My wishes on my prayers take wings,
And heavenward fly to sue for grace
Before the loving Father's face.

BUT HE, well knowing all my need,
Kindly rebukes my foolish greed,
And, granting not the gift I ask,
Sets me instead to do some task—

SOME LONELY TASK—for love of him,
So lowly, and in light so dim,
My sorrowing soul must cease to sing,
And only sigh, "'Tis for the King."

AND SCARCELY can my faith repeat
Her sad petition at his feet:
"These daily tasks Thou giv'st to me,
Help, Lord, to do as unto thee!"

YET while his bidding thus I do—
I know not, or why, 'tis true—
My thoughts to sweet contentment glide,
And I forget the wish denied.

AND SO MY PRAYERS he hears and heeds,
Mindful of all my daily needs;
Gracious, most gracious, too, in this—
Denying, when I ask amiss.

Men's S. S. Class Enjoys Fish Fry

The men's Sunday School class of Elwood Lane F. W. B. Church enjoyed a splendid fish fry on Saturday night at six o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooke, 400 Carolyn Avenue, Kannapolis, North Carolina. Hot fish with all accessories were served to around forty people.

The men held a business meeting following the supper, and elected new officers for the year. Those elected were as follows: Mr. C. C. Cooke, president; Mr. Ben Collier, vice-president; Mr. P. J. Dagoner, secretary and treasurer; Mr. W. M. Dean and Mr. George Pullium the Welcome Committee.

A social hour followed this business period, and informal games were enjoyed by all attending the supper.

Promoting the Free Will Baptist Cause

Damon C. Dodd
Promotional Secretary

During the few days in which I have actually engaged in the promotional activities of the Denomination, I have been pleased to note one great desire on the part of every Free Will Baptist with whom I have come in contact; the desire to "get something done." Action seems to be the watchword of us all. And that is a healthy sign for any organization. Now, it is not enough just to want to do something, we must see to it that these efforts are channeled in the proper direction, for effort that accomplishes nothing is discouraging to everyone involved. I have concluded the following, relative to our needs in the promoting of our Free Will Baptist program.

I. EVANGELISM

We Stand in Need of a Denominational-Wide Revival

Of course, the primary object of such a revival should be the salvation of the lost. This we need to emphasize. But another important need that could be realized by such a revival is the rededication of the lives of Christians who make up our ranks here and there. I do not mean to infer that we are not Christians but I believe that we need to be "re-empowered" for the task which faces us at the hour. We have the grave responsibility of preparing against the day of the Coming of the Son of God. And we must be ready to take part in the final surge against the forces of evil.

We need a revival of PRAYER. We must pray primarily for the success of the program of righteousness everywhere. Then we will be justified to pray for the welfare of our particular denomination. Our denominational prayers should be two-fold: for our program of work, and that the Lord would send more laborers into the fields. We need several full-time evangelists! We need pastors! We need writers! We need home missionaries! We need! and we must see our needs fulfilled by the power of Almighty God through a revival in our free will Baptist movement.

II. STEWARDSHIP

We Stand on the Threshold of a Great Day

Entrance can be had only as we make it possible through our faithful stewardship. WE MUST BECOME GOOD STEWARDS. "Every Free Will Baptist a Good Steward", the battle-cry of us all, should be the over-all goal for our denomination's stewardship program. This phase of the work will be emphasized, of course, by the National Commission on Stewardship. This commission plans to carry on through a series of Stewardship Study courses in the various churches throughout the summer, with a view to getting the stewardship message to all of our people everywhere. If everyone of us become honest stewards in the near future, there is no reason why we should not pour into our denominational program more than one million dollars by 1952.

III. DENOMINATIONAL LOYALTY

We gave to all causes of our denomination, locally and nationally, during the year 1948-49 nearly $900,000.00. Of this amount, less than 90,000.00 went into the promotion of our denominational programs, such as Foreign Missions, Home Missions, superannuation, etc. We gave slightly less than twenty cents per capita for our Bible College, less than fifteen cents per capita for Foreign Missions, less than one-half of one cent each for Home Missions. At the same time, we gave nearly $3.00 per capita for the local church activities. Now, it is a good thing to carry on a strong local program, but we must also learn that denominational pride calls on us to support our denominational programs at least as well as we support the home cause. If we were to support the national program with just fifty percent of our record of local support which we gave last year, we would have, on our present basis of pro-rating, $170,940.00 for education, $129,360.00 for Foreign Missions, $92,400 for Home Missions, $46,200.00 for Superannuation, $13,860 for Publications and Literature, and $9,240 would go to our Free Will Baptist League Board. This would all be possible if we were giving but $1.50 per capita to our denominational programs per year. There are so many things within our immediate grasp that we can't help but attain to some of the possibilities if we put forth even the minimum of effort. In the name of our God, let us rise up and claim the victory.

THE DORCAS CLASS HOLDS MEETING

The Dorcas Class of East Nashville Free Will Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. John Oliver, 225 Ocoola Ave., Tuesday night, January 9, with Mrs. W. E. Marshall serving as co-hostess. Mrs. Marvin Lance, class president, had charge of the devotion.

Reports were heard from the group captains for the membership drive for the quarter ending 1949. The Reds won, with Mrs. Rose Bowen, their group captain, reporting nine new members for their side. New group captains were chosen for the next quarter with Mrs. Walter Crocker representing the Blues and Mrs. Porter Smith representing the Reds.

Motion was made for the class to send flowers to Mrs. Hooper, who is ill in the hospital. Mrs. Hooper is mother of two Dorcas Class members. The class decided to sponsor a grocery shower for a family. The class was also asked to remember in prayer another class member, Mrs. Evelyn White who undergoes surgery January 18.

After the business session games were played and refreshments were served.

Notes and Quotes

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

"ANOTHER GOD"

According to an (AP) news report, dated London, Jan. 11, Albania called Joseph Stalin "a god today." We are told that these gods will come about in the "last days." But I am sure no one except communists ever thought of Joseph Stalin as a god. He could rightly be styled as the "world's bloodiest ruler." But with all his hatred for Christianity, there are people who are adoring him as a god. We quote: "The official Albanian Telegraph agency said the 'Albanian people's assembly voted to erect a statue of the deity Joseph Visarionovich Stalin!" It is said that Albanian Premier, Enver Hoxha, said, "The great Stalin is our people's glorious Savior."

Christ said: "false Christs and false prophets shall rise" (Mark 13:22). Now, since the Albanians are worshipping Stalin as their saviour, and are erecting a statue to that effect I am sure that it will not be long before all communists everywhere, even these so-called American communists will be worshipping the idol as set up by the Albanians. The communist party cannot be American, only in name, because there is not one particle of unity between a true American and a communist. Black and white is as much alike as a true Christian principles. Communist government is founded on infidelity. There is no likeness.

UNEQUALLY YOKED TOGETHER

In the early part of World War II our American Government yoked up with Stalin and his infidelity to bring "peace to all people." What a diabolical condition has been created thereby. There can be no satisfaction until the world gives over to Stalin and his henchmen; then there will not be peace but slavery. Paul says: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols?" (2 Cor. 6:14-16).

This "line-up" has only added trouble to trouble. Communism is covering the earth, and will as long as sinful man prefers infidelity to the Lord Jesus Christ. "Stop it!" is the cry of some politicians, while others in high places and some who claim to be Christians, say we can stop it when we get ready. But how can it be done? The communists will keep winning by the ballot and their propoganda as long as possible, and when this fails, then they will come by force, as they are doing in China. They work from inside as well as outside. There is already a sufficient number of communists right here in the United States to destroy, by bombs and other methods of destruction, to make it possible for the enemy to take over, and they will do it by 1965; they are running ahead of their schedule. They planned years ago to take over the government of the world by 1976. They are going ahead with their plans.

"COLD AND HOT FROM THE SAME MOUTH"

It is said that a little boy watched his father in a Carolina cotton field one cold morning as the man blew his breath on his frosty fingers. The boy said, "Papa what makes you blow your fingers?" The father answered, "To warm them son." After a few hours they were called to lunch, and the father blew his hot coffee, after pouring it into his saucer. Then the boy said, "Papa, what makes you blow your coffee?" The father answered, "To cool it son." Then the boy said, "You have a funny mouth. In the cotton field it is warm and in the dining room it is cold."

Well North Carolina sells whiskey to make drunkards and then tax the people to raise funds to treat the alcoholics. That is "hot in one place and cold in another." The wet politicians say it pays to sell liquor. It brings in revenue to help run our government. But does it pay when men and women are becoming alcoholics by the thousands and have to be cared for in institutions that are kept up by taxation? No! it is a losing game. It is a loss in finance. A loss of good citizenship. A loss of parenthood. A loss in taking care of orphans that are made by the diabolical sale of intoxicating liquors. A loss of time to the courts trying the cases caused by drunkenness. A loss of innocent lives caused by driving demons fired by alcohol. A loss of property as drunkards never accumulate much property. A loss to homes for thousands and thousands are destroyed by alcohol. But greatest of all is the loss of souls, for it is written: . . . "nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God" (1 Cor. 6:10). If they cannot inherit the kingdom of God, they must inherit the kingdom of Satan—Eternal hell fire. Yet we have people who brag about the revenue brought in by liquor sales.

"Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine. Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder" (Prov. 23:29-32).

Immediately after the biting like a serpent and stinging like an adder, the writer says: "Thine eyes shall behold strange women, and thine heart shall utter perverse things" (Prov. 23:33). Strange women go with drunkenness, as the world knows. A drunken man falls for women in most cases. If this is true about the man, what about a drunken woman?

It is a disgusting sight to be close to a liquor store and see women pressing their way into a crowd to get their liquor. I pity the child born to a woman who is the victim of strong drink. It calls for more institutions to take care of those born, often out of wedlock, as well as those who are married to some man. More institutions calls for more taxes. So you fellows that believe in taxing liquor and selling it to get revenue; Pray tell me where it pays?

THERE IS A PEACE

There is a peace that belongs to the child of God. The Kingdom of Christ means "Peace on Earth and Good Will to Man." God will not let Stalin defeat His plans. God will take care of Stalin in the long run. To find this truth just acquaint yourselves with the Word of God.

M. L. JOHNSON,

Chairman-Treasurer

:- Not Even the Smell of Smoke :-

By Fred E. Maxey
126 Woodview Avenue,
Norfolk, Virginia

Happy New Year to all the saints in the Brotherhood. I have not had the pleasure of visiting your homes through the Free Will Baptist for sometime. Pressure of work has deprived me of this privilege. We hope soon to either continue further with the subject of "Prophetic Ministry," or some other subject that God lays on my heart. We want to talk with you a few minutes through this column on a subject very close to my heart in these trying days.

Turn with me to Daniel 3:1-27 and 1st Peter 1:6-8, and you will get the setting of this message. Let us consider four things that are the out-come of the trial.

Self-Destruction of the Enemy

Note how these three men of God rose above the situation. Note the prospect of the trial with the threat over their heads, and how utterly careless they were about answering the king. Listen to them: "We have no need to answer thee in this matter." There was a settled confidence of heart, the out-come of an integrity of life and walk before God. Their only concern was that they should not in anyway be found in compromise of their relationship to the Most High God. Threatened with a fiery furnace, all right, but they are above it all. And the first effect of bringing those men into that trial justified them in their confidence, because the very means that were used of the enemy, to compel them into the fire, were consumed by the fire. If our lives are in utter position to the Lord whom we profess and confess and serve, we have no need to fear the fire. We shall certainly be wise NOT to invite the fire, but in the course of our life and our testimony, if and as the fire comes, we have no need to fear. The very means the enemy uses to bring about the fiery condition will be consumed. And my friends, that is a very solemn word to any who would be creating fiery conditions for the saints. But the saints' concern must always be first their relationship to the Lord.

The Loosing of Bonds

Yes, another out-come was the loosing of bonds. Are you in the fire? Have you got a satisfactory reason for being there? There is one, it may apply to you or me, the fire is ordained of God for the purpose of loosing us from bonds. Yes, the limitations that circumstances and conditions out-side of us put upon us, the frustrations of which we are so conscious, they are dealt with in the fire. But what about the limitations, the bonds that are peculiarly ours, within us, the bonds of our make-up, the features of our temperament. Then the same is true: God wants to release us from those bonds. Here is a loving God ordaining the fire, and allowing the enemy to stoke it to a sevenfold heat, with the purpose in the heart of God, of loosing us from bonds. Friends, is this happening to us? The fires are being heated to an intensity that we never thought possible to endure, now, but are we being liberated by them? Are we coming into the glorious liberty of the children of God? Are we being rid of those things that have so marred our life, our testimony, our ministry? Maybe you are feeling that you have not got any bonds, well some of us have, and some of us are satisfied that this is what God is doing in the fire. There is a loosing in the fire.

Close Fellowship with the Lord

Another thing that happens in the fire is that these three men are found with ONE with them in closer fellowship and company than they had ever known before. We know a little about that, do we not? In the fire, coming to a real knowledge of our Lord. We come through the place of fire and say, "I would never have known the Lord in this way, but for that; it was in the fire that I found Him in these terms. I knew all about the theory of it before, but I got hold of the reality there." In his ignorance, Nebuchadnezzar said, "One like the son of gods." But so far as we are concerned it IS THE SON OF GOD. All through the fire in sweet fellowship with our beloved Lord, and well then, the fire is justified.

The Supreme Glory, No Smell of Fire, but Joy Unspeakable

To me the crown of this whole matter is what follows after, and it is this that is the real burden of my heart. They came out of the fire, and there was not even the smell of fire upon them. I think that is wonderful indeed. Yes, a greater knowledge of the Lord. Yes, a liberation, and an emancipating. Yes, all this, BUT NOT EVEN THE SMELL OF BURNING! What is the interpretation of that? Well, I think there is no doubt that one very great effort of Satan in the fiery furnace, if he cannot stop us getting out, and cannot consume us in the fire is to leave the marks and smell upon us, that for all succeeding days people will associate with us the matter of suffering and trial. You see what that does, it draws attention to us, and the devil does not mind that, because if attention is drawn to us, the Lord is hidden. Having a smell of burning upon us means that the suffering and trial we have gone through have beclouded the glory.

To come out of the fiery trial of our faith without the smell of burning means, I think, the fulfilling of that word in Peter, "Whom not having seen ye love, on whom, though now ye see Him not, yet believing, ye rejoice greatly with joy unspeakable and full of glory" (1st Peter 1:8). This follows this word concerning the fiery trial of our faith. Here is the crown of a desperately dark time, of maybe years of suffering, of testing of our faith—JOY

A CHIP ON HIS SHOULDER

He always has something to grumble about.
Has the man with a chip on his shoulder;
The world to the dogs is going, no doubt,
To the man with a chip on his shoulder;
The clouds are too dark, the sun is too bright.

No matter what happens, it is never right;
When peace is prevailing, he is spoiling to fight.

The man with a chip on his shoulder.

OUR COUNTRY'S EMBLEM

God bless our country's emblem
That floats o'er land and sea;
God bless each waving star and stripe,
And the men who kept it free—
Men who, 'mid smoke of battle,
And murderous shot and shell,
Held high the gleaming colors
Of the flag they loved so well.

Ministers Are Becoming More Conscious

More and more Free Will Baptist ministers are becoming more conscious of their duties and responsibilities, as leaders of the church, to the denominational program. They are sensing more keenly the fact that as they think and act so will the church people think and follow their leadership. They know that church progress depends very largely upon their vision, co-operation, and willingness to go forward in the work of the Lord.

The truth is, the time has come when the alert and active church is seeking the most progressive pastor they can find. Many of the preachers have come to know this. They are urged, therefore, to move forward with renewed zeal for study, for greater service, for a more sincere co-operation in the entire work of the church, etc. No preacher with a vision and a surging ambition will be content to stand still. If he can't move his church, he will move himself. And it will not take him long to do this, when the church lags back and will not go along with him.

It is a healthful sign to see the ministry moving forward; not content what they have done, but pushing-forward toward greater goals. That is what is necessary in every other field of public service, if men desire to achieve success. This type of outlook of the ministry is doing splendid things for those churches which they are serving. They have moved forward in a good way, and have come far from what they were ten years ago.

It is gratifying to know that a goodly number of our married ministers, with limited educational qualifications, are now taking college courses either by correspondence or are actually enrolled in Bible colleges or seminaries; and at the same time doing pastoral work. They are to be commended by the denomination as a whole for their zeal and purpose in seeking to better qualify themselves for the service of the Lord. A man with a sound body and a clear mind never gets too old for study of the blessed truths of the Bible. His works will live after him.

—oooOoooo—

Why Not Support the Whole Program?

It has become generally known that quite a number of the rural churches are not supporting all of the denominational projects, or enterprises. Some of them stress foreign missions, orphanage work, and superannuation, but do very little about home missions, Christian education and the young people's assemblies. Their sister churches, on the other hand, are supporting all phases of the denominational work, namely: they are greatly concerned about Home and Foreign Missions; Superannuation and Christian education; orphanage work and Youth Camps or Assemblies, and any other phase of the work of the denomination.

We feel that every church should become interested and take an active part in the support of the entire denominational program. Certainly, each phase of the work is essential to the growth and expansion of the denomination. Furthermore, it does not look quite fair for any church to overlook any one phase of the work. Whatever they are able to give, from time to time during the year, their financial support, we believe, should be proportioned, or divided as the needs in each case deserve proper support. In other words, a well-balanced plan of giving on the part of each church is the right thing to do. Certainly, not a single phase of the denominational work should be overlooked by any church, regardless as to its financial status.

God has promised to bless those who give loyally and cheerfully to his worthy causes. If the weaker churches will seek to do what they can to each phase of the work, they will grow in interest, in usefulness, and in the habit of sharing, with the stronger churches, their financial help for every phase of the work. No church can afford to be out of line by negligence.

TWO HOUSES I VISITED

By DORIS SHEFFIELD

Two pictures I have here before me, as I travel down memories' lane: one house that is built like a castle, the other so humble and plain.

The castle sits upon a hilltop—surrounded by beautiful trees—the shack is down in the valley—just open to the Heavenly breeze.

I walked to the door of the castle, I knocked and I entered into a room filled with all the worldly riches, but as cold as a desolate tomb. I stood there alone for a moment amid all this earthly gain, then I turned and saw the faces of the parents, and what little remains. Their only son is a drunkard who long from their hearth-side has roamed, never in all his life has been able to say, "My Home." For in their life's seeking all these riches great, they've closed the door on Jesus, until now it's too late.

When I closed the door of the Castle and left this all behind, I raised my eyes to Heaven and thanked God for His blessed sunshine.

Then I slowly walked down to the shack in the valley below. I knocked and received a welcome that leaves a warm happy glow. The smile on the face of the mother, as she happily leads me in, tells the story of a life of giving, a life that is free from sin.

I looked around about me at the children so happy and bright, and I know that the love of Jesus has cast His Heavenly light. There in a chair sat the father with a Bible so worn and thin, and I knew that the Savior is welcome, an honored Guest herein.

Oh! just a word of wisdom to you who seek—in vain—to find a little pleasure in the earthly things. As you travel life's highways on this old earth below, remember that Christ gave His life for us, because He loved us so.

Now just a thought in closing I want to leave with you: Hear the voice of Jesus, please, won't you answer His call?

WHO IS IN THE FAULT?
WHO SHOULD BEAR
THE BLAME?

By Orlander Harrison
Robersonville, N. C.

Someone is in fault

May we reason together, dear readers, and see if we can find where the fault does begin. We often hear some people complaining about the way the young generation is getting so wild and sinful. We admit that the condition is becoming somewhat near that way in a great many instances.

I realize that truth very well, for a great many of the young people are becoming very careless and unconcerned about the work of the Lord. A great many of them do not take a very great interest in serving Him. But, Who is really in fault? Are we people who are older leading and directing them in the way that they should go? Or, are we joining in with them in the ways of the world? Can we truthfully say that we are setting good examples before them in the way that we are living day by day? Are we living the life in their presence that would be well for them to follow?

Let us ask ourselves the question: Are we really trying to lead them in that straight and narrow way, and desirous of their following our way of life? Often you will hear someone say something like this: "Oh there are so very many things to command the attention of the young people that it is very hard for them to follow in the right way." That is very true, but what are we doing to direct them in the right way? There are a great many things in this lovely land which God has blessed us with. But such blessings should not turn their minds away from our Master. I am afraid that, if we who are supposed to be leading and guiding them in the path of truth and honor, we are traveling in different ways, looking for amusements of various kinds ourselves. Eventually the evils of the world will overpower us, and the works of our Lord will soon be forgotten by a great many of us, I am afraid.

We often hear someone make the remarks: "You cannot tell the young people of today anything." But have we church people tried to keep them from the things of the world. Do we teach them that it is wrong to go to certain places where we know evil allurements are to be found in such places? Do not some parents make plans for some of them to visit such places? I mean such places as Sunday ball games, Sunday bathing places, theaters, public dances, and many other places which cater to the sinful things of the world. Think of it, friends!

Dear readers, if our dear Master were to come and call for us today, would we rather be at some worldly amusement, or would we rather be found at some place of worship, there reverencing and adoring our heavenly Father? Would we rather our sons and daughters were at the worldly places, if Jesus were to come, than at the house of the Lord, when He should meet them? Many times I have passed churches on Sunday at the time of service, and would see only a small number of people on the church yard. But when I traveled on down the road and by some place of amusement, I found crowds gathered all around the place. Have you been at such places, dear reader, on Sunday when you should have been at the church for services? Have you? Be honest with yourself. If you were, then whose fault was it that you were there with the other people, both young and old? Certainly your presence at such place, if you were there, cast a bad influence upon others and caused them to think that since you were there it was all right for them to be there, too.

Think of it. A great many people will drive many miles to attend a ball game, or some other amusement on Sunday. They will pay several dollars to be able to get into the grand stand. But some of them could not or would not walk one or two city blocks, or drive one mile in order to be at church on Sunday morning. I ask: Who is in fault? You did not have to go to the places of amusements on Sunday. But, if some of such worldly-minded people happen to go to church, and the collection plates are passed around, they search deep down into their pockets to get the smallest piece of money they can find. They did not do that when they went to the places of amusement. There they paid what was asked to get in.

Dear readers, I hope that the people whom I have described at the places of amusement were not you. Many of the young people today have their names on the church rolls. But who is responsible for their not attending church services on Sunday? Did their parents teach them to go to church and to worship the Lord? No, a great many parents let them do as they want to do. They go to the ball games, bathing places, shows and to other amusements, and there they find many other parents at those places. What can we expect when this condition is found all about us in this age? Many a grey headed mother can be found with the young people at such places. But, reader, were you there? If so, you

LIQUOR INTERESTS AND THE YOUTH OF AMERICA

WHAT CAMOUFLAGE

A great many of the liquor dealers pose as being irresponsible for the constantly increasing numbers of young people who are indulging in the liquor traffic. They claim that they are not to blame for the multitudes of boys and girls in this country who are indulging in strong drink.

THE RED HERRING !

What nonsense! They know that they are doing all they can through their re-advertising to encourage boys and girls to form the habit of drinking beverage alcohol. At heart, they are not concerned about the great harm they are doing, because their minds are set upon getting rich from the ever increasing sales of alcoholic beverages. They grow fat with seared conscience and gloat over the fact that they are allowed to continue on in the corrupt business unmolessted. They are tigers let loose upon society! They are criminals of the meanest sort!

USE EVERY CONCEIVABLE MEANS TO ALLURE

Every conceivable means possible is being used to make all brands of whiskey appear and taste well to everyone who will taste it. Every means possible is being used through advertising to make whiskey advertising in the magazines appear attractive to the eye. They mean to attract and to allure everyone possible to become users of their beverages. They are demons in the open to chase down, and to afflict mentally, physically, financially and spiritually all who participate with their dreaded liquids. They are as bold as a lion, cunning as a tiger, and as dangerous as a serpent! And everyone who caters to their business is trespassing on dangerous ground.

The indulger becomes intoxicated, wrecks his car, does serious damage to innocent people, and commits a heinous crime. This is not casual; it is happening every day on the highways of this country. But who is the blame? The first one is the one who allows alcoholic beverages to be sold as a legal business. The second one is the man who is trafficking in the liquor business. And the third one is the fellow who has little sense to drink it and become a criminal. Then who is affected by the whole process? The answer is: the American people.

THE LANGER BILL HEARING vs. LIQUOR ADVERTISING

Dear Editor:

This is just a word of information as to the fight the liquor interests are making against possibly favorable action by the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce with reference to the hearing, January 12-13, on the Langer Bill (S. 1847), banning liquor advertising across State lines.

It is moving rapidly to a climax.

This word, of course, reaches your desk too late for any further pre-hearing comment. But, you may expect from us details of the hearing promptly thereafter.

The rising tide of public sentiment is in evidence against paid liquor propaganda.

Points likely to be conspicuous in the thought of those who testify before the Senate Committee next week on the Langer Bill:

1. The fact will be emphasized that in recent months the liquor traffic has been going "hog-wild" as the saying is, in utterly unscrupulous invasion of every decency and home sanctity in attempts to mislead and beguile prospective beer-drinkers; especially, though the wine and whiskey interests are making similar attempts.

All this simmers down simply to this: Has the liquor traffic any right at all to continue to impose its vicious philosophy through both eye and ear channels on the minds of youth in America's 40,000,000 homes and particularly those in which there are television broadcasts?

2. It is averred that really involved is a startlingly potential danger to free speech and the right of a free press to free expression through fear of reprisals from the liquor trade unless they, the newspaper editors, keep themselves altogether out of the discussion.

A survey now just being completed reveals that more than 2000 of the nation's newspapers are rigidly refusing to accept any alcoholic beverage advertising. The particulars of this survey will soon be made public.

The line-up for the bill indicates that a large number of prominent men and women are availing themselves of the opportunity of supporting the Langer Bill. There is accumulating evidence that the wets will have an imposing array of witnesses. Details of all this will be supplied at the first possible moment.

Feel free to call upon us if we can be of service in any way in affording you information in this regard.

THE CONGRESS AND THE LANGER BILL

WILL LIQUOR ADVERTISING BE CHECKED?

Joseph T. Zottoli, associate justice of the Municipal Court, Boston, out of almost lifelong first hand experience with the liquor factor in crime, declared that well established fundamental facts now "lead to the inevitable conclusion that our government must take active measures to prevent physical and spiritual injury being inflicted on the unwary people of our country and their dependants" through liquor advertising. . . . "The sophistical, alluring and deceitful practices in advertising now indulged in by liquor interests are highly detrimental to mankind and should be stopped. Only in this way can our country hope to prevent the harm caused it by the sophisticated entrapments of the unwary.

* * * *

Norman Vincent Peale, author of "A Guide to Confident Living" and other best sellers of the hour and the distinguished minister of the Marble Collegiate Church, New York City, sent his forthright plea on behalf of the Langer measure in this direct fashion: "As a pastor I am continually being forced to deal with the influence of radio, magazine and newspaper material as it affects the thinking and the moral practices of young people. The constant reference to liquor and the sinister manner in which it is made attractive is without any question having a pronounced effect in the moral deterioration of American youth. . . . I cannot speak too forcibly in conveying to you my humble opinion that your Committee will render a great service to the young people of our country by reporting this Bill favorably."

* * * *

George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D., of Chicago, noted writer on psychology and social relations and the author of daily syndicated newspaper columns nationally disseminated, wrote: "I receive over a thousand letters per day from Americans. These letters clearly show that liquor is destroying the morals of American youth! It is breaking up marriages and contributing factor to the spread of venereal diseases. Put me on record as 100 per cent against its evil influence and for the passage of this Langer Bill."

* * * *

Roger Babson, noted economist, head of the Babson Institute, Wellesley, Massachusetts, sends an urgent plea for favorable action on the Langer Bill: "Millions of families with teen-agers in their home circles. . . resent liquor advertising in magazines to which they subscribe. These millions hate to have their children and grandchildren constantly faced with liquor advertisements. I therefore earnestly endorse the Langer Bill and urge a favorable report by the Committee."

While you give— JESUS SITS BY THE TREASURY

William Ward Ayer
Condensed from a Tract

And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two mites, which make a farthing. And He called unto Him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That this poor widow hath cast more in, than all they which have cast into the treasury: for all they did cast in of their abundance; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living.—Mark 12:41-44.

Jesus in the temple "sat over against the treasury." He is always there when His people make their offerings. It is obvious from this account that He considers "giving" a very important part of the service. There may have been some beautiful music in those temple services, but Jesus has left no word concerning His attitude toward it. I suspect the Rabbis often delivered powerful sermons, but we have no record of them. We do have Christ's important word about the offering.

The late Dr. W. B. Riley records how one memorable Sunday Dr. John A. Broadus, when his ushers were about to take the offering, left his pulpit and walked down to where one usher was beginning his collection and went along with him and looked at every penny, nickel, dime, quarter and dollar that went into the basket. You may well imagine that some of the people were angry. Some were confused. Others were filled with amazement. All were evidently surprised.

When the collection was over, Doctor Broadus went back to his pulpit to speak from his morning's text. He said to his congregation, "My people, if you take it to heart that I have seen your offerings this day and know just what sacrifices you have made and what sacrifices you have not made, remember that the Son of God, your Saviour, goes about the aisles with every usher and sees with His sleepless eye every cent put into the collection by His people."

Our use of money is often the acid test of our character. Money is not merely an objective thing. It is something vastly more than dollars and cents, bills and silver: our money is life crystallized, service transmuted into currency, talents and efforts made negotiable. Money used is life extended. Money is power—power for good or power for evil. The New Testament speaks about the use of money as being a Christian grace and a definite responsibility. Paul says: "Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace also" (2 Corinthians 8:7). He is speaking about the grace of giving.

The use of money by the American people is a revealing index to our character. We spend billions for liquor, billions for entertainment, billions for pleasure and billions for luxuries, but statisticians inform us that we are giving less and less to churches and charitable organizations. America spends more for chewing gum than she does for God. If the church could have one-tenth of the amount spent for cigarettes in America, she could put missionaries in every nook and corner of this lost world of ours to tell the glad story of the love and mercy of God. The evangelical church does not spend as much for all of its labors for the Kingdom as the liquor interests spend for advertising.

The use of our money is a revelation of heart attitudes—whether we put God first or last in our affairs. The man who tithes—who receives his salary and sets aside one-tenth for the Kingdom of God—acknowledges God's existence and sovereignty. "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase" (Proverbs 3:9). Millions of our people give "something" to the kingdom of God only when they have "anything" left after they have indulged themselves and served the flesh. Many people are saying today, "I cannot afford to set anything aside for God. My family and other obligations take it all." Unless God is given first place, there will be nothing left for Him.

Captain Levy of Philadelphia was asked how he was able to give so much and still have so much left. "Oh," said he, "as I shovel out. He shovels in, and the Lord has a bigger shovel than I have."

A certain rich man was giving his testimony, recalling the day when

UNTO ALL MEN

(Lesson for January 29)

Lesson: Acts 10:17-20, 24, 34-43.

Golden Text: Matthew 28:19-20.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. It is easily possible to be more concerned about customs and traditions than the salvation of souls.

2. It is easily possible to look with contempt upon the souls of men whom God would save.

3. We may not receive supernatural visions, but God will reveal Himself to us when we seek Him in prayer.

4. Peter's vision was in harmony with the command of Jesus to preach the Gospel to all nations. Such visions can be trusted.

5. While supernatural visions are not an impossibility today, in most cases God reveals His will to us through His Word.

6. The Church is the work of the grace of God, and grace could come only from Heaven.

7. The example of a man who is honest in his piety is bound to have an influence on his household.

8. It is perfectly safe to do the unusual thing if we are positively convinced that this is the Lord's will for us.

9. God knew both Cornelius and Peter by their human names; He knows the unsaved as well as the saved.

10. During the church age no one can be saved unless they believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. It is foolish to claim that Cornelius or Lydia (Acts 16) were saved before they had heard the gospel (Acts 11:12-15).

11. There had been a spiritual awakening among the Samaritans

(Acts 8:5-8) since the Day of Pentecost, and an Ethiopian eunuch had been led to Christ (vss. 26-40). Otherwise the Gospel message had remained in the hands of Jewish believers, centered mostly in Jerusalem and Judea. Here we see how the Lord led His people out in bringing it to the Gentiles. God dealt with Cornelius, and He also dealt with Peter, and He brought the two of them together.

That is how it began: Cornelius had a vision, and Peter also had a vision. Long before this Jesus had made choice of Peter as the man who should open the doors of the Kingdom to all three divisions of men: Jews, Samaritans, and Gentiles (Matt. 16:19). Peter had done this for the Jews on the Day of Pentecost, and also for the Samaritans upon his visit to them (Acts 2:38, 39; 8:14-17); now he was led to do it also for the Gentiles.—Selected.

12. God knew Peter's perplexity over the vision and Cornelius' desire to know the truth of the vision which he had seen at the hour of prayer, and he uses his divine power to soon reveal to Peter and Cornelius the purpose and meaning of what they had seen.

Dr. Adam Clarke says, "Cornelius prays and has a vision which prepares him to receive instruction from Peter: Peter prays, and has a vision which prepares and disposes him to give instruction to Cornelius. While he is in doubt and perplexity what the full meaning of the vision might be, the messengers, who had been dispatched under the guidance of an especial Providence, came to the door; and the Holy Spirit gives him information that his doubts should be all cleared up by accompanying the men who were now inquiring for him."—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

13. After being greeted by Cornelius, and after listening to the story of his experience with the Lord, Peter was forcefully convinced that he understood the meaning of the vision he had seen. He began his first sermon to the Gentiles in the home of Cornelius by laying down a fundamental truth concerning the righteousness and grace of God. It was a truth that God had unmistakably impressed upon him. The truth that God is no respecter of persons is as definitely fixed and unchangeable as God Himself. In His mercy and judgment no person is favored because of race or color, position or wealth, training or popularity. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved (Mark 16:16).—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

14. This message of Peter's was powerful because it was plain, it was pointed and it was Spirit-filled. Peter now understood the significance of his vision. He realized God was saying to him that He was no respecter of persons, and if a Gentile were in the position of Cornelius, God would meet him. God bore witness that these things were true, for as Peter preached the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word (v. 44). It would seem there wasn't even the waiting for a special personal invitation. These people responded as the message was given, and God gave the indication that they had, in the Spirit of God coming upon them.

15. We cannot pass by this lesson without observing that it's not enough to be good in the worldly sense of that term. To be honored in the community, to have a position that merits respect, may be very good in themselves, but something more is necessary—a vital relationship to Him who is the Lord of life, to Him who died and rose again, is necessary for salvation.—Moody Monthly.

The Way They Grow

A little rain and a little sun,
And a little pearly dew,
And a pushing up and a reaching out,
Then leaves and tendrils all about—
Ah, that's the way the flowers grow
Don't you know?

A little work and a little play,
And lots of quiet sleep;
A cheerful heart and a sunny face
And lessons learned and things in place—
Ah, that's the way the children grow
Don't you know?

—The Sunday School Friend.

BEYOND SPEECH, FULL OF GLORY. The enemy ever seeks to rob us of our joy and frustrate the desire of our Lord that we should be radiators of His glory, and by the fiery trials, he too often succeeds. I met a brother in Christ who was incarcerated in a concentration camp. Without attempting to describe his harrowing experience in detail, suffice it to say, that by reason of the stand he took, at least three times he was trussed head downward over the bough of a tree and thrashed into unconsciousness. There were marks of suffering in his face, but the outstanding mark was not suffering, but glory, he was full of joy.

The Need for Watchfulness

The enemy is making a very big effort to rob us of joy. If he cannot keep us in the furnace, he will bring us so smelling of the fire that everywhere we go people will say, "Poor so and so, he is having a terrible time. I don't know how he goes on through it all." You see what the smell of fire is doing, it is drawing attention to ourselves. I have been quite impressed with the amount there is of joy and gladness relating to the anointing. We are so familiar with the thought that the anointing brings power and the exercise of the authority of the Throne, but you know the words in Hebrews 1:9, "Thou has loved righteousness, and hated wickedness: THEREFORE, God, thy God hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows." Here is the ONE who is supremely standing true to God, committed to a way of trial, of suffering, the fiery furnace. Yes, but this ONE is outstanding, in gladness and joy. Again, the Lord takes up the prophecy concerning Himself in Isa. 61 and says, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because the Lord hath anointed me." Now look at that prophecy, and see the amount of gladness that follows the anointing. For mourning, the oil of joy—for ashes, beauty — for heaviness, praise. Let me ask you a question. Are you letting the pressure you are undergoing, the criticism you are the object of, the adversity in which you are found, rob you of joy? Are you as glad in the Lord now as when you first began the journey, or have you let the hard places in the way rob you of the joy? Has the adversity in the form of suffering, criticism, robbed you of joy, caused you to get under the juniper tree of discouragement like Elijah? If you are conscious of having lost something of your joy, you must take steps to regain it. I recently read an advertisement that had been put in a paper: "Wanted a Christian, cheerful, if possible." We may smile at that, but evidently that advertiser did not think there was much chance of finding a cheerful Christian. True godliness and glumness do not go together. Watch, or the enemy will rob us of joy and keep the smell of fire upon us. Let us pray that we can come through the fires of criticism, sickness, adversity, through dark experiences, and be those who have gotten full of what we have gained in the fire, and all that meet us after the trial find in us "joy unspeakable and full of glory." Some may read these lines and will not know what we are speaking of, this "trial of faith," but I say to such, don't worry about that, just store up the Word of God in your mind and heart, for my friend, if you are going on with the Lord, if you have any faith to purify, God will certainly purify it, and some day, some how, by some means, you will certainly find yourself in the fire. YOU ARE NOT GOING TO ESCAPE.

This is not the experience of some special saint only. God is after the purifying of the faith of ALL His people, and as sure as you live and GO ON with the Lord you will come to the fire some day. When this day comes, remember the Lord wants these things to issue from it. Do not be too concerned about the enemy. He is not on top in the matter at all. In his fury and malice and hate he is doing certain things, but God is over-ruling and turning these things to account and using them to perfect what concerns Him and concerns us to bring about the end which He desires—even the glory of God in us.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

FREELY FORGIVEN

Dear Friendly Boys and Girls,

I suppose most all our boys and girls know what bookkeeping is. Some of you are in Junior High School and probably are taking the commercial course which includes a smattering of this subject. Father or Mother keep books of the household accounts so they can accurately figure out their income tax at the end of the year.

A little girl one time heard in Sunday School that the Lord told Peter he should forgive seventy times seven, which means 490 times. One day she was on the front porch stringing beads for her dolly. She had the different colored beads for her dolly. She had the different colored beads separated in little heaps on her play table. Brother was riding around on the porch or a kiddy bar. Each trip around he came closer and closer to the table. At last he bumped it, over it went, and beads rolled every direction. You girls know how easily beads can roll out of sight. Of course, sister became angry. She jumped to her feet, scolded her little brother, and even though he said he was sorry, and helped to pick up some beads, his sister's anger was not appeased. But suddenly she saw tears trickling down the round rosy cheeks of her little brother and remembered the verse she had recently learned: "If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him. And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him" (Luke 17:3, 4).

She knew her brother was repenting of his careless act, because he was crying. She loved her little brother and promptly forgave him. But she decided to keep accounts. She got pencil and paper and marked down at the top: "List of Times I have Forgiven John." Underneath she wrote about the beads. But the Lord began speaking to her heart and she suddenly thought of the time she broke a wheel off his red wagon, and of the time she slapped him soundly (when Mother was not at home), and a few other things. She took the paper in her hands, she tore it down through the middle, put the two pieces together, and tore it through the center. Then again and again she ripped until the forgiveness account was a scrap heap. Then she felt better.

Dear boys and girls, do you know God keeps books in Heaven? In His books He writes your name at the top and then beneath it the sins you commit. When you repent of your sins and ask God's forgiveness, He, for Christ's sake, blots them out, and then God sees them no more, forever. If God is so good to us, how humble we ought to be in forgiving others who have wronged us. If we could see God's books we never would refuse to forgive others who we think have harmed us. Do you not think so?

Your loving friend,
LEOTA L. KNOPP.

The King's Cross Roads
Choir on the Air

Popularity of Old Hymns

The young people of King's Cross Roads F. W. B. Church are showing great interest in singing many of the old familiar church hymns. They are on the air in Greenville each Sunday, from 3:00 to 3:30 P. M. for an indefinite period. They are on the air by transcription, at Washington, North Carolina, on a six months agreement, from 4:00 to 4:15 P. M. each Sunday.

They are heard over the Rockingham radio station every Sunday by transcription. As soon as arrangements can be completed, they will go on another radio station. This will be made known as soon as the arrangements have been completed. The group of singers range from 30 to 40 persons who do the singing for each program. Much interest seems to be growing all the while by the public for the Old Popular Church hymns.

The church people are requested to listen to these programs on each Sunday afternoon for good singing of several of the well-known church hymns. Many have expressed their pleasure in having heard the King's Cross Roads Choir sing many of the splendid church hymns during the past months. May others join in, and rejoice to hear those young people sing for the glory of God.

Reporting

The Women of Lee's Chapel met at the home of Mrs. Edna Baggett on January 12 at 7:30 P. M. with twelve members present for the meeting. The bad weather and some sickness kept some of the members from being present. Our new president, Mrs. Harvey Williford, and the secretary, Mrs. Ludie Stone presided over the meeting. The program for this year is: "Advancing with Christ." Mrs. Eugene Jernigan gave the program which was very interesting.

Our February meeting will be held on Thursday night before the third Sunday in the home of Mrs. Nathan L. Godwin. All members are urged to be present for this meeting at 7:30 P. M. A suggestion was made that we take time out for a testimony meeting in our monthly meetings. We do need to stand up for Christ, and be bold, and confess our sins one to another. Please pray for us.

Humility

Humility is paralyzing when it leads to discouragement, but stimulating when it throws us upon Christ.—Christian Missionary Alliance.

Announcement

This is to announce that I have been licensed to preach the gospel by Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church of Pitt County. I shall be glad to conduct, or assist in any religious work wherever called upon.

The late J. H. Little, who pastored churches for a number of years in eastern North Carolina, was my father. For references anyone may contact Mr. J. H. Tucker, Greenville, North Carolina, Route 1. He is clerk of Piney Grove Church. Or you may write to Rev. R. N. Himmant, Micro, North Carolina. He is the pastor of Piney Grove Church.

Those desiring my services may contact me at the following address:

his total wealth was a single shilling. "That night," he said, "I wandered into a mission, and when the collection was taken I dropped it all in." Pompously he continued, "From that day I have prospered, for I gave everything I had to the Lord."

An old saint who had been sitting in the front seat and listening intently to the man ejaculated, "You dare not do it again!"

Money is such a practical thing that it reveals our willingness or unwillingness to trust God. Jesus said, "Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Luke 12:1). If the woman of the text gave all her living she certainly must have trusted God to supply her every need in spite of the totality of her generosity. Do you think for a moment that God let her down? I wouldn't believe in a God who would let a woman like that down. God will never allow Himself to be in debt to His children.

The use of our money reveals our yieldedness to Christ. What is the true basis of giving? Love is the only proper motivating force. If you have a family I am sure you have noticed that the love of that family is constantly calling upon your generosity. Only a love for God and for

His needy children will give you an overflowing and generous heart, and a desire to pass on to the lives of others the blessings He has showered upon you.

LET'S GO TO THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION IN CALIFORNIA IN JULY!

Perhaps it is a bit early to remind you, but here goes.—The National Association of Free Will Baptists will meet in Richmond, California, on Tuesday evening, July 11, 1950. This will be a meeting of utmost importance to every Free Will Baptist for three reasons:

First, Our Free Will Baptist work in California is comparatively new and the National Association will be a good means of encouraging the growth and expansion of the Cause in that state. On the other hand, a meager attendance could do much toward discouraging our California brethren, thus impeding the work there to a great extent. Out of respect to our California Free Will Baptists, our westernmost representatives, let's attend the National Association.

Second, There are matters of vital importance to every Free Will Baptist Church Member which will be coming up at this meeting. The National Stewardship Commission will report for the first time. Our entire Missionary program will be dealt with and it is hoped to have one or more Missionaries from the fields present with us. The National Headquarter's campaign will be renewed, the Free Will Baptist Bible College will present her reports and proposals, and our entire plan of work will be set up and approved at this meeting. In addition there will be great Gospel messages by some of our outstanding preachers, marvelous singing, and unsurpassed fellowship, plus the additional privilege of seeing new sights and being entertained royally in typical California style.

Third, Denominational Loyalty demands that we make this as big an affair as possible. Many religious bodies have chosen the west coast as the scene of their major meetings in the past and they have attracted thousands of people. Last year, one church group numerically inferior to ours reported 10,000 persons present in their annual denominational meeting in Seattle, Washington. Another denominational affair similar to our own National Association drew some 15,000 persons from all over the United States. This group reported a constituency nearly 75,000 members less than our own Free Will Baptist group.

We must be present for the National Association when it convenes in Richmond, California on Tuesday night, July 11, 1950.

Plan now to attend!

Promotional Secretary

BOOK REVIEW

"The Gospel of the King"

We have just read F. B. Meyer's book, "The Gospel of the King." For ministers, Sunday School workers, young people, and women's auxiliary workers in the church, it is interesting, instructive, and contains great spiritual values. Each chapter is short and can be read in twenty minutes. The book can be read with great profit in a short time.

"That Men May Live"

By Walter D. Kallenback, Ph.D., Th.D.

The author of this book has portrayed in seven messages the significance of the Cross. Each message treats a definite theme of vital interest to ministers and other Christian workers. A study of these messages on the Cross, between the present and Easter, will greatly benefit, and prepare the hearts of the readers for the Easter season.

are responsible for helping to support such places with your interest and your money. Is not that a shame on you? But did you say that you were not there? Let us hope so at least. But perhaps you were with some of your friends at some other place, playing a game of cards. Be honest, were you there? I mean you who have your names on the church register? Think it over, and ask God what does He think about it.

Kind reader, I truly trust that you were at some quiet place communing with the Lord, thanking him for His many blessings which He has given to you. Do you not think that we should give this matter more consideration? Some day God is going to call us and give to us our reward, or tell us what our doom shall be. That will make us think, for it will be either good or it will be bad, depending upon the life we lived while on earth. What kind of reward would you like to have when this life is over? I am quite sure that you would not want to hear that voice of the Lord saying, "Depart from me, I never knew you." Well, what examples are you setting before your sons and daughters? How are you leading them day by day? Why not get acquainted with the Lord? Get close to Him now, for He is willing to meet you any time you will turn unto Him and walk in His straight and narrow way. You are not only responsible to Him for the way you live, but you are obligated as parents to train up your children in the way they should go.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Gal. 6:7). "... every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour" (I Cor. 3:8b). Please note these words of the Apostle Paul. Have you labored for your blessed Master, or have you labored for Satan? That is the question. Who is in the fault? Who should bear the blame? Think it over.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary. Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

MR. JOHN HARDY WATSON

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to enter the home of John Hardy Watson on November 16, 1949, and take him to His heavenly home,

The members of Kenly Free Will Baptist Church realize their loss, and beg to submit the following resolutions:

First, That though we are saddened by his passing, we bow in humble submission to our Father in heaven who doeth all things well;

Second, That we extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy and point them to the heavenly Father for comfort and consolation in the passing of their loved one; and Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, one to the Baptist paper for publication, and one sent to our church minutes.

Walter H. Smith Passes

It is with a sad heart that I write the account of the death of my husband who died September 29, 1949. If he had lived until January 14, 1950, he would have been 70 years old. He was a member of Brice's Creek F. W. B. Church. He was a deacon in the church, and had been a Christian from early childhood. He attended church and Sunday School as long as he was able.

He was a kind and devoted husband, and a good father. He was confined in the home for three years, and three months during his illness. He was very good and patient. I am so lonely without him.

Reverend L. E. Ballard of Saint Mary's Church in New Bern preached his funeral to a large crowd of sorrowing friends and loved ones. His body was laid to rest under a beautiful mound of flowers. He leaves to mourn their loss a heart-broken wife, two daughters, Mrs. R. L. Moore of New Bern, N. C., Mrs. H. M. Harvey of Bridgeton, N. C., one grand son, Ronald Moore.

God took him away from early pain,
The family's loss is heaven's gain.

God bless memories he left behind,

The patience shown, and deeds so kind.

He's gone but not forgotten,
Never will his memory fade;
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
'Round the grave where he's laid.

His children and wife ever pray that they will meet him again on Judgment Day.

Written by his heart-broken wife, Mrs. Walter Smith, 808 N. Craven Street, New Bern, North Carolina.

Teddy H. Phelps Passes

Little Teddy Hermon Phelps, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Phelps of Creswell, North Carolina, died on January 12, 1950. Teddy was born last July the second, thus making his stay on earth only six months and ten days. He was a lovely baby with a smile for every one. He was just a bud on earth to bloom in heaven.

Every thing was done for him that loving parents and the doctors could do. He leaves to mourn their loss, besides his parents, four brothers, Harrison, Brooks, Manfred, and Dale.

His funeral was conducted in Mt. Taber Church on Friday afternoon by the Rev. L. E. and R. C. Ambrose. He was buried in the church cemetery.

Grieve not with hopeless sorrow,
Jesus has felt your pain;
He did thy lamb but borrow
He'll give him back again.

Dennis A. Sawyer

On May 7, 1949, the death angel visited our home and took from us our Father-in-law, Dennis A. Sawyer, to live in the great beyond. He had been in bad health for a long time, but his wisdom was a great help to all of us. We trust that our loss is his eternal gain.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Dora Mae Swain, five grandchildren, two brothers, Philip and Jerry Swain, and two sisters, Mrs. Martha Reynolds, and Mrs. Ida Reynolds.

God bless the memories he left behind,
The patience shown, and deeds so kind.

We, all together humbly pray
That we may meet him on Judgment Day.

The Hour of Prayer Durham, N. C.

My God, is any hour so sweet,
From blush of morn to evening star,
As that which calls me to thy feet:
The hour of prayer?

Blest is that tranquil hour of morn,
And blest that solemn hour of eve,
When on the wings of prayer upborne,
The world I leave.

Then is my strength by thee renewed;
Then are my sins by thee forgiven;
Then dost thou cheer my solitude
With hopes of heaven.

No words can tell what sweet relief
Here for my every want I find;
What strength for welfare; balm for grief,
What peace of mind.

Hushed is each doubt, gone every fear;
My spirit seems in heaven to stay;
And e'en the penitential tear
Is wiped away.

Lord, til I reach that blissful shore,
No privilege so dear shall be
As thus my inmost soul to pour
In prayer to thee.

MISSED—ONE OPPORTUNITY

A. B. Kendall, writing in the Sunday School Times, records this incident:

"When I was a boy of about fourteen years a minister stayed in our home overnight. In the morning as he started on foot for a neighboring village, I went with him to assist with his baggage. I have never forgotten that walk! it comes back to me with a feeling of sadness. One great desire was surging through my soul, and it was, 'I wish he would talk to me about Jesus and my soul'; but he didn't. How much of sin and sorrow I might have been saved had he spoken the word I believe God wanted him to speak."

I wonder how many of us have been as diligent in this matter as we ought to have been. Have we let opportunities get by and lost forever?

It is good to be a delightful, wholesome companion of youth. It is good also to remember that some of these are hungry for the words of life, and that those who are not, but are thoughtless, should be pointed to the Saviour.

No minister of the Gospel and no saint should fail to let the young people know that he regards as the most important thing in the world.—Selected.

ALONE WITH GOD

No great purpose has ever been achieved by any individual until his spirit has first gone out into some wilderness solitude, and there discovered its native strength, its absolute invincibility, when it relies upon no help but that of God. This is the experience of all the greatest among men. They go apart from their fellows for awhile, like Moses into the land of Midian, or like the Lord Himself into the wilderness, or like Paul, into the Arabian desert, and there in solitary communion with God they come to themselves.

From that communion with God, from that highest of all companionships, they drink in strength to fit them for the work of their lives. Alone with God they see visions which fill their souls; visions which never fade afterward, even in the light of common day, but which serve as beacon lights to guide them, through storm, and darkness, till the purpose of their lives is fulfilled.—Edwin H. Eland.

All I know of good, truth, honesty and idealism I have learned from the Bible. In school I listened each morning as a chapter was read before classes started, and it was then that I came to know and respect the Holy Bible. I never have lost my regard for the Word of God, and if I had my way about it, a chapter of the Bible would be read every single morning in every schoolroom in this country. I feel at home in the pages of the Bible, for that Book speaks my language.—Henry Ford's in Words of Cheer.

A SERMON

By H. Pipkin
Mt. Olive, N. C.

I call this a sermon because I am dictating it exactly as I would preach it were I privileged to do so in your church. My text: Hebrews 2:3, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"

This text of scripture suggests to us that it is a great thing to be saved. That is what the word salvation means. It means redemption from sin and deliverance from its final consequences. That is our salvation. It is indeed so great that I cannot comprehend the greatness of it. It is great because of what it does for those who possess it. It is so great that it cannot be purchased with money or received as a reward for good works, and it is so great because it is the gift of God and what it cost him to give it. We can neither receive it nor keep it; that is to say, we can neither be saved nor remain saved continually without him. The whole process of our regeneration and preservation is the work of God in the person of the Holy Spirit: however, that does not mean that there is nothing for us to do about it. We must know that we are lost and want to be saved. We must repent of our sins. We must exercise our faith in him to forgive us our sins by accepting him as our Saviour. This is our conversion—our regeneration—our spiritual birth—our great salvation. It is continual, and we may have it continually if we are willing to work it out—not work for it, but in it as it works in us and not neglect it. The fact that God's plan for our salvation is continual and that he will not let anyone take us from him, that he will never leave us nor forsake us assures us that we are secure continually insofar as he is concerned but does not deny us the privilege of leaving or forsaking him. He does not bind us to serve him but makes us free to serve him continually if we choose to do so.

Please let me repeat that in order to be saved we must be conscious first that we are lost and need to be saved. We must repent of our sins and exercise our faith in him to save us by accepting his gracious gift of saving grace; thus by grace we are saved through faith, not of ourselves, not by works, it is the gift of God. Even so, we are still human beings, and in this world of sin, we are subject to temptation, and only by his grace, through faith in him to help us can we overcome the world and remain in fellowship with him. To begin with, when we are saved or born of God, we are babes in Christ and we still have to contend with the weakness of the flesh. Sometimes the Devil will bring the same old sins that we gave up when we were saved and of which, Paul said we are now ashamed, and suggests that we take them back into our lives, and when we refuse to do it, he will use all kinds of pressure by suggesting one thing after another, and only by the presence and power of the house that was swept and made clean when he was driven out and we were saved.

Perhaps the most common and effective of all the weapons used to destroy those of us who are saved is the false doctrine that we are all still sinners and cannot cease from sinning. Such preaching and teaching has discouraged multiplied thousands of people, causing them to lay aside their robes of righteousness, surrender their birthrights and go the way of the world, and the only way you can tell they are members of the church is by their names being on the book. But the scriptures say it has happened unto them according to the true proverb: "The dog is turned to his vomit and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire." If we fail to bear fruit, we shall be cut off and die a spiritual death, but even this does not necessarily mean that we are eternally lost. God's hand of mercy is stretched out still, and we have an advocate with the Father. We can repent and do the first works again, and as in the parable of the prodigal son, there is always a best robe and a feast for those who will arise from the hogpen of sin and come to God if they come willing to be received as a servant. Whether this can be done seven times, seventy times seven, or more or less is not for me to say, but the scriptures tell us of a better and safer way to live. Let us present our bodies to him, a living sacrifice, yielding our members to him as instruments of righteousness, rendering unto him the things that are his and letting Caesar have the things which belong to him, praying always with thanksgiving that God will lead us away from temptation and deliver us from the power of evil. Let us lay aside every weight and the sin which does so easily beset us that we may run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, not some seminary or college professor, as the author and finisher of our faith. Thus we may abide in him; and, though we walk through the valley of the shadow of death, we need not be afraid for he is with us. This is our security, our preservation, our salvation. If we would keep it we must live it; if we would live it, we must abide in him and let his spirit abide in us, for unless we abide in him we can do nothing. We cannot abide in him if we neglect to pray. Let us be in constant communion with him in prayer and supplication for when we cease to pray we cease to have power to overcome the world, and are instead, overcome by the world; thus we may like Samson awake to find ourselves shorn of our spiritual eyes plucked out and ourselves bound by the strong cords of sin to be destroyed with those who rejoice over our failure to hold out. We should watch and pray lest we enter into temptation. If we are conscious that something is wrong in our lives or that something is about to take place in our lives that would condemn us we should repent as we become conscious of any sin in our lives, not after, but as we became conscious; thus, we may be preserved blameless, under the coming of our Lord, Jesus Christ. But how shall we escape if we neglect to pray or neglect to repent.

Now let us think of this great salvation and what it means for those

Notes and Quotes

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

At this time we are giving to you a message that we delivered over the air from the studios of W. M. B. L. in the Gaston Hotel, through remote control. This message was delivered January the 17th, 1950. May God bless it and use it for His glory.

If any reader is not in the way of blessing, may that one yield his all to the Lord Jesus Christ and "Get in the Way of Blessing."

IN THE WAY OF BLESSING

"And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of my master Abraham, who hath not left destitute my master of his mercy and his truth; I being in the way, the Lord led me to the house of my master's brethren" (Gen. 24: 27).

The 24th chapter of Genesis is full of beautiful things showing the blessings of obedience and faithful service and the blessings received by those who are in the way. It is only when we are in the Right Way that we may expect blessings. Jesus says that "I am the way and the truth and the Life." So when we are in Christ, the way that we take in every duty will be all right and the blessing will be ours. May we notice that this servant of Abraham was:

1. IN THE WAY OF DUTY. He had accepted a commission from his master Abraham and he had followed the instructions faithfully, and with a deep interest in that which had been assigned to him. After that he had done all that he could, he depended on the guidance of the Lord. There is a great blessing for us, in the acts of this faithful servant, providing we seek to benefit by the experience and blessings set forth in the Scripture as given in relating this event. Now in all this, there is much to direct us, in the way to get greater blessings by appreciating those already received, and following in the way for the greater things, which will be seen each step of the way as we get nearer to the goal.

This applies to intellectual doubt; and, too, when we are perplexed as to the truth of new doctrines, it is well to know that the way to peace lies in the performance of the duties assigned to us by the Master, who said, "I will go with you." We certainly should take an inventory of our possessions and see if we can conscientiously proclaim that we are walking daily in the way of peace and the faithful performance given by our Lord and Master. The apostle Paul said, "Lef us hold fast our profession" (Heb. 4:14), which is to say in substance, "Let us be faithful to our Commission." When we, like Moses, are brought to a place where we can see no outlet, there is the sea ahead of us, and we are walled in on the sides and the hoard of Satan's emissaries back of us pressing every disadvantage, and with every imp in hell turned loose in pursuance and continually at our heels. If we are in the pathway of duty, going on an errand for our Master, let us remember that God will open a way for us to cross over the chasm, or the river, or surmount the mountain peaks and the blessing will come, because "We are in the way of blessing."

However, the Blessing depends on our state and standing, with the Master. If we are in the way for our own selfish motives, seeking the applause of men, or striving to please man, there is no blessing for us. But if we are in a serious predicament and we are there because of the fact that we are honestly trying to carry out the command of our Master, and then "Wait upon the Lord." He will surely bring us out. He opened the Red Sea for Moses; he stopped the mouths of lions for Daniel; walked in the fiery furnace with the Hebrew children; he sent an earthquake to Philippi and promoted the liberation of Paul and Silas, through the conversion of the jailor; and he slipped the chains off from the Apostle Peter, and had an angel to lead him out of the city. All these persons were in the pathway of Duty, and God took care of the situation. We need never fear as long as we "are in the way of duty."

II. THIS SERVANT WAS IN THE WAY OF PRAYER. Let us notice one of his prayers: "And he said, O Lord God of my Master Abraham, I pray Thee send me good speed this day, and show kindness unto my master Abraham. Behold I stand here by the well of water; and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water; And let it come to pass, to the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also; let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant Isaac; and thereby shall I know that thou hast shewed kindness unto my master. And it came to pass that before he had done speaking, that, behold Rebekah came out who was born to Bethuel son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher on her shoulder."

This young woman did the very thing that Eliezer prayed should be done. Now there are people who believe that such events were just "happen-soes," but I am just "old fashioned enough" to believe that it was due to the fact that Eliezer was in "the way of prayer." He had some rating with God. In other words, he was on the credit side of God's ledger. If he had been in the red with God, there would have been different results. There is no need for us to try to walk in the way of duty, if we are not in the way of prayer. No one can go higher in efficiency than his prayer life. Jesus said, "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." If you will notice, this servant was not seeking a blessing for himself, but his prayers were for the benefit of another. That is the most successful way to pray. But we have to be very close to the Master to seek the welfare of others, forgetting self, for then it is that God pours out His blessings.

III. ELIEZER, THIS SERVANT, WAS IN THE WAY OF FAITH. Paul says, "He that cometh to him (God) must believe that he is and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." The first part of this

Is the Communion Essential to Salvation?

Dear Mr. Z:

You wrote me September 13, and I have been so busy I could not answer until now. Please forgive the delay.

You say: "I have a friend who says he is a fundamentalist, and is very sincere in his devotion to Christ. Recently we had a discussion on the subject of holy communion. As one who was brought up in the Lutheran Church, I feel that I receive the very body and blood of Christ when I receive holy communion. To my friend, communion is only a remembrance. Neither of us have been able to convince the other. He suggested that I write to someone more learned than he. We both agree that you should be able to help us.

"He bases his belief on the fact that Christ said: 'Do this in remembrance of me.' I agree that it is a remembrance; but Christ also said, 'This is my body,' and 'This is my blood.' Additional Scripture to support my belief is found in the Gospel of St. John, the 6th chapter, from verse 48 to the end of the chapter, with particular emphasis on verse 51."

To my mind you missed the point of the discussion of Jesus on the bread of life in John, chapter 6, because you begin with verse 48. If you should begin with verse 47, just before that, you will see that Jesus began the discussion by saying: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life." One who personally trusts in Christ for salvation has everlasting life. This clear statement of John 6:47, repeated again and again in the Bible, as in John 1:12, John 3:15,16; John 3:18; John 3:36; John 5:24 and John 6:40. It is repeated in Acts 10:43; Acts 13:39; Acts 16:31. Here in eleven separate verses we have the explicit statement that one who depends upon Christ for salvation has everlasting life, or is saved, or justified.

Now if we take the words of Jesus in John 6:53 as referring to the communion, you have a different plan of salvation, by the communion supper instead of salvation by personal faith in Christ. For John 6:53 and 54 say: "Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. Whoso eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day."

Now we must decide this question: is one saved by faith in Christ or by the rites and ceremonies of the church? If you say that one is saved by the communion supper, or that the communion is essential to salvation, then you could suppose that people were saved also by baptism, by saying prayers, by giving money and other good deeds.

On the other hand, if we let John 6:47 explain the rest of the passage, we will simply say that one who trusts in Christ to be his Redeemer has therefore, in a spirit that one is saved by the communion supper and blood. He has the eternal life which Christ purchased with His broken body and His shed blood.

In fact, verse 35 of the same chapter shows, I think, that believing is eating the bread of life: "And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."

Jesus often referred to Himself in figures of speech. He said, "I am the light of the world," but that is a figure. He is not physical light, but spiritual light. He said, "I am the good shepherd." But He is figuratively our spiritual Shepherd as we are His spiritual sheep. If you take this figure of speech, "I am the bread of life," in the same way, then you will understand that one in a spiritual sense partakes of the body and blood of Christ by trusting Him for salvation and so having the atonement applied for us.

Besides, if we are going to take the statement of Jesus literally when He said about the Lord's Supper, "This is my body" (Matt. 26:26), then the Catholics are right who say that the bread actually becomes the body of Christ and the wine actually becomes the blood. That I do not believe, of course.

In this connection it is important to remember that to have the body and blood of Jesus offered again as a sacrifice is wholly contrary to the doctrine taught in Hebrews 10:11-12. There we are told that Christ "offered one sacrifice for sins forever," and that "there is no more offering for sins."

One is saved by heart-faith in Christ, not by the communion, not by baptism, not by good works. The Lord Jesus does all the saving, without any merit on our part, and does it gladly and immediately when we put our trust in Him.

I trust this letter will help to settle your problem.

In the Saviour's name, yours,
John R. Rice

GEORGIA CAMP NEWS

It was my happy privilege to attend the Free Will Baptist Camp at Mount Bethel last summer. I enjoyed it very much, and I am hoping to be able to attend this summer.

The young people of today are looking for guidance and spiritual blessings. This camp makes it possible for them to have this kind of guidance. They are able to get a better understanding of God's holy word by attending the camp and studying the scriptures. They are also more capable of receiving the wonderful blessings of the Lord.

The minister who brought the message each night last year delivered some wonderful sermons. They were inspiring to everyone who heard them. I do wish the parents of those children could have seen the glowing expressions on the faces of those boys and girls while those messages were being delivered. In the morning services also they were deeply interested, for it was really wonderful to see them taking an interest in what was being said.

The business manager, instructors and helpers looked after each child with love and understanding. We certainly did thank them for their loving care. Parents, you are today to start your children on the road to righteousness. Send them to camp where they can be taught to understand God's word. Help them to prepare themselves for God's work and service for the future.

A very great many of the young people today need to be gathered round the organ, like those young folks at the camp, singing spiritual songs. They need to be taught to study their Bibles. Furthermore, the friendships and the fellowship experienced at Camp made us, everyone, seem like just one big family in the arms of Jesus. I am very thankful to the Lord that he made it possible for me to be able to spend a few days at Mount Bethel. It did so very much for me.

Mothers and fathers, take your children to the camp this summer, so they will be taught the word of God. They will become better Christians to receive a home in heaven which God is preparing for them.

A Visit to Sandy Plains Church

By H. Pipkin

It was my happy privilege to attend the annual Thanksgiving service at Sandy Plains Church in 1949, and as usual, it was a source of inspiration and encouragement to be in the service with these good people. I found the church very much alive spiritually as it was also physically.

I was very much impressed with some of the improvements they have made since I was here a year ago, especially the new heating system, which they have recently installed in the church building. This eliminates the necessity of being too hot or too cold in cool weather, as every section of the house is evenly heated from the floor. They have completely overhauled the church in the past few years, adding Sunday school rooms and comfortable house of worship. Perhaps God has preserved this great church as a memorial. Some of our best preachers and some of our most active and efficient laymen have been and are members of this church. May the Lord abundantly bless all their efforts to the furtherance of the gospel and the glory of God.

A BRIDE'S PRAYER

O Father, my heart is filled with a happiness so wonderful that I am almost afraid. This is my wedding day, and I pray that the beautiful joy of morning may never grow dim. Father, may its memories become more precious and tender with each passing anniversary. Thou has sent me one who seems altogether worthy of my deepest regards. Grant unto me the power to keep him ever true and loving as now. May I prove a true helpmate, a sweetheart, a friend, among all the temptations that beset the impulsive hearts of men. Grant me the skill to make the home the best loved place of all. Help me to make its lights shine farther than any glow that might dim its radiance. Let me, I pray thee, meet the little misunderstandings and cares of our new life bravely. Be with me as I start on my mission of womanhood, and stay thou my path from failure. All the way, walk thou with me, even unto the end of the journey. O Father, bless our wedding day. Sanctify my motherhood, if thou seest fit to grant me that privilege. And when our youth dreams are realized, let the ripening years hallow our companionship. And so, may we walk hand in hand down the highway of life, even to the "Sunset and evening Star." And this I ask in the Name of Jesus, and for His sake. Amen.—Selected.

OBITUARY OF A NOBLE DOG

Only a lonely man who has made a companion, guardian, fellow worker, and mute but sympathetic confidant of his dog, can fully appreciate the poignancy of this beautiful tribute a Canadian sheep herder wrote for his four-footed pal. Who would not be proud to be the subject of an obituary that rings with so much truth and sincerity?

"A gentleman has just passed on.

He was kind and courteous, respectful of his superiors and indulgent to his inferiors.

He had courage without bluster and pride without vaunting.

He was a loyal friend and a devoted companion.

He never picked a quarrel nor fled from a fight.

He loved the children and delighted in their enjoyment.

He was generous and never critical.

He was full of the joy of living.

His name was "Hurley" and he was a sheep dog, eleven years old.

He lived happily, died serenely, and left a volume of satisfying memories."

Reverend Walter Carter to Hold Meeting at Piney Grove Church

This is to announce that Reverend Walter Carter of Rockingham, North Carolina, will begin a revival meeting at Piney Grove Church, Duplin County, North Carolina, on February 19, 1950. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. Please pray for this revival that God may greatly bless the meeting and that souls may be saved. Pray for the success of the services, and for the evangelist.

Men are of two classes—those who do their best work today and forget it and those who promise to do their best work tomorrow and forget about it.

No religious service is really a success which fails to make the people aware of the presence of God.

THE STRONG LOCAL CHURCH PROGRAM

Speaking from a financial point of view, each local church should work toward, in a systematic way, for the attaining as rapidly as possible a strong local church program. As aggressive and wise farmers seek to build up a strong farm enterprise by careful planning and hard work, so the local church membership should study their church needs, and set forth ideas and plans by which they will be able to greatly strengthen their financial program of their church. For material expansion and growth for the good of the whole community, the community church, which is the center of spiritual light and goodwill, most necessarily needs to establish a strong financial status. Any thoughtful Christian knows that the local church must become strong in a financial way in order to be able to accomplish the desired goal for the glory of God and for the betterment of the people of the community. As a large and well equipped public school, operated by a splendid corps of teachers, is a great asset socially and educationally to the community in which it is located, in like manner a strong church in the community, and functioning to full capacity for the spiritual good of all the people, is certainly to be greatly loved and appreciated by the Christian people in that community. In fact, the church should be adequate for every spiritual need of the people, as the public school is adequate for the educational need of every child of the community. The church should be the most respected and honored spot among all the people of the community.

Yes, make the church in every way well equipped, financially strong, and the pride of every person in the neighborhood. It should be the most desirable place to go for comfort, fellowship, and sacred devotion to God that can be found anywhere. And it can be just that, if church people would pay the tithe and offerings, and quit robbing God of what the Bible says belong to him. Make the church a place where people will want to go and commune with God. God's plan for the Temple of Jerusalem was wonderful, and the people rejoiced to go there for holy worship unto the Lord.

The church that is financially strong is able to bless the cause of Christ both home and abroad. It is always able to give to missions, Christian education, to orphans, to the sick, disabled ministers, and the like. Such a church is a working church, and while it gives to others, it receives in return the manifold blessings of the Lord.

—oooOooo—
"THE MARCH OF DIMES"

The Lord Jesus had great compassion for the suffering people wherever he went with his disciples to preach the gospel to lost souls. He taught the need of sympathy and loving care for all who were in pain or suffering.

"The March of Dimes" campaign for the purpose of raising adequate funds for the study, research and treatment of the great plague Infantile Paralysis is a most worthy cause for anyone to support with financial aid. Each local church, Sunday School, Woman's auxiliary, Young People's league, and all civic organizations will do well to give liberal support to this campaign for funds to combat this dreadful disease in our land. These organizations can be the means of raising large sums of money in their own groups for this most needy cause. No one should hesitate to contribute of his or her means in a liberal and cheerful way, thus showing a willingness to have a share in this noble work. Local churches, Sunday Schools, and all other religious bodies should take special offerings at a specified time at their services for this purpose.

God has promised to bless those who lend a helping hand to relieve the sick and suffering. No true child of God would want to ignore, or fail to give to this cause some of his or her means laid away in store, when the gift will mean so much for the blessing of mankind in days to come. We urge, therefore, our church people to give liberally and cheerfully to help "The March of Dimes" to become a strong fund with which the medical authorities may be more able to combat this blighting disease.

ONLY TODAY

Only today is mine,
And that I owe to Thee;
Help me to make it Thine,
As pure as it may be;
Let me see something won,
Let me see something done,
Then at the setting sun
I'll give it back to Thee.

What if I cannot tell
The cares the day may bring?
I know that I shall dwell
Beneath the sheltering wing;
And there the load is light,

And there the dark is bright,
And weakness turns to might—
And so I trust and sing.

What shall I ask today?
Naught but Thine own sweet will;
The winding of the way
Lead to Thy holy hill;
And whether here or there,
Why should I fear or care?
Thy heavens are everywhere,
And they are o'er me still.

Give me Thyself today;
I dare not walk alone;
Speak to me by the way,
And all things are my own—

The treasures of Thy grace,
The secret hiding place,
The vision of Thy face,
The shadows of Thy throne!

THE MANUAL OF METHODS IN USE

Mrs. J. E. Frazier,
W. N. A. C. Secy.-Treas.

The Woman's National Auxiliary Convention provides an indispensable organ—"The Manual of Methods"—from which one may glean answers concerning the activities of this missionary organization, as well as keep in line with the latest plans concerning the work. It is ready information and a "very present help" to each officer, also to every member of the local auxiliary, each of whom should possess her own personal copy of The Manual and also the current copy of the Year Book of Programs.

At the 1949 session of the W. N. A. C. held in Columbus, Georgia, last July, a very important resolution was adopted. The resolution is "an officer-training day shall be held annually in each state or district."

As soon, then, as the officers are elected for the new convention year, the president or some other informed member designated by the auxiliary, should plan an officers' clinic using "The New Manual of Methods" as the textbook. Such a study will enable re-elected and new officers to become informed concerning added information or changes that have been made in the Plan of Work for the year. To assure a worthwhile study and to attain results many things should precede the actual work, chief of which is thorough preparation.

A true leader will fortify herself with much praying. She will become personally acquainted with her official body. She will not be satisfied until everyone has been enrolled and enlisted in the clinic. She will reach beyond her immediate officers, seeking to enlist other women who are good "officer material." She will plan an interesting presentation through use of posters, tracks, scrapbooks, impersonations, questions, and the like; supplementing these with her own thorough knowledge of the content of The New Manual of Methods and the Current Year Book of Programs.

A true leader will learn the needs of each officer that she may be able to reveal those needs to the individual and point out an answer to the problem through the information contained in The Manual. To emphasize the importance of the study, she will place a copy of the Manual and the Year Book of Programs in the hands of every member of the clinic. (Extra copies of these books can be had from National Auxiliary Headquarters.) Thus armed, the leader is ready to guide the members into another important item in a worthwhile study course—Active Participation.

Individual participation in the study of a book leads to inspiration and realization of needs and responsibilities. Each officer should take part in the class discussions, emphasizing those phases which have to do with her department of work. A successful study of the Manual and the Year Book enables one to Practice Constructively.

Knowledge without practice is of little value. Each officer should use as a ready tool the knowledge attained through her study of The Manual. A personal desire to do the task well, reinforced through study, will create confidence, incite effort, magnify the aims of the Woman's Auxiliary Convention and quicken service in Christ's name.

An informed body is the pride of an organization. A clinic on methods, using The New Manual as a text, is invaluable to the members as a whole. The third vice-president should plan such a study course with every member of the local auxiliary present; the district third vice-president should plan such a course with every district officer, creating interest through information.

The New Manual of Methods is ready reference. It is the "official communique" from headquarters to the local organization. Use it, thus becoming "endued with knowledge . . . ready always to give an answer to any . . . that asketh you a question."—James 3:13; I Peter 3:15.

(The last edition of The New Manual has been corrected and copies are now available from W. N. A. C. Headquarters, Box 965, Nashville (2) Tennessee. Price 30 cents per copy.)

"VITALIZING VISITATION"

Mrs. Myron Hyatt,
First Vice-President W. N. A. C.
Centerville, Missouri

"Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen" (Isa. 43:10). God expects us to be witnesses which will bring the lost sin-cursed souls into His fold and also bring that saved soul into service. Visitation is scriptural. When Jesus said, "Ye are to be my witnesses," He defined very definitely their fields of service—"Jerusalem, all Judea, Samaria and uttermost parts of the earth." In other words they were to begin right where they were to enlist souls to eternal life as well as saved lives to service, and then enlarge their service in ever-widening circles until their witness should be heard throughout the whole earth. The early disciples practiced visitation in their ministry. When Jesus called His first disciples, two things were involved in the call! the invitation to follow and the promise that they would win others as followers. They were to follow Him not just for their own sakes but that they might win others to Him. In like manner every woman who has caught a vision of the necessity of organized missionary endeavors should consider herself a member of Christ's enlistment committee, working through the Woman's Auxiliary to enlist every resident woman member of her church in active participation of giving the Gospel to the world through their personal witnessing. This can be done through visitation.

Visitation is fruitful. There is nothing that blesses lives more than the thoughtful visit of a person that is a real Christian witness. The following is a suggestive plan whereby enlistment chairmen can prove to be a real blessing in their communities. This plan is patterned after "The Welcome Wagon Service, Inc.," which operates in many cities in the U. S. and Canada. If you have this service in your community, you have an opportunity to work through them. If not, try this method—"The Free Will Baptist Welcome Service."

Far be it from any of our Woman's Auxiliary groups to ignore the newcomer to our community. But unless we're wide awake, how are we to keep account of every new family that arrives in town? Many times the new families don't get around to coming to church right away, so that you cannot discover them by this means. Sometimes they will even start attending a different church which is nearby, simply because the town is strange to them and they have no idea where their church may be.

Is there any way to remedy this? Yes. At least one solution is offered here. There is an organization (Welcome Wagon Service) that makes a business of acting as greeters to every family moving into a new locality. They have taken over a philanthropic service of early days in America and are making a thriving business of it, too. In the days when families moved westward in covered wagons, they would send a rider on ahead to announce their arrival as they approached a town. Another wagon was sent out from town to meet the weary travelers with a cheery greeting of fresh water and provisions.

Today, the Welcome Wagon Service is a personalized method of advertising which extends a warm and friendly greeting to every new resident of a community. By some means, the Welcome Wagon Hostesses always seem to get wind of every new arrival long before anyone else, and they came calling with their pretty baskets of gifts. In their baskets, they carry gifts from the merchants they represent, information about local churches, libraries, schools and organizations.

Through the F. W. B. Welcome Service, you can be the one who welcomes the newcomer into your community and church. Make them to feel they are wanted and needed in our work for the Lord. Your basket of welcome will prove to be a great blessing. This plan can readily be adapted to fit your needs and resources.

If you prefer to carry a basket of gifts along with your welcome let it contain cake or cookies, fruit, hankies, church calendar, etc., but above all carry information of our church activity for the Master. I think it would be well in every visit to leave a small Bible or New Testament. The Word of God is what we should offer more than anything. Enlistment Chairmen—inaugurate the "F. W. B. Welcome Service" in your auxiliary society.

May I also urge all first vice-presidents to cooperate fully with your second vice-president in enlisting the girls and young women in youth auxiliaries by organizing the three groups suggested in "Working with Our Youth." These organizations do not interfere but rather strengthen league work. They serve to help F. W. B. young people to realize religion is not just something for Sunday morning and evening, but a week-day essential which is just as important as "reading, writing, and arithmetic," which they learn at public school; so our Youth Auxiliaries emphasize or educate in Missions. This is the greatest, largest and most productive enlistment field today, so work it!

I would appreciate a personal report of your progress or results achieved with the above suggestive plans. If I can be of assistance to you, feel free to call upon me. We are "co-laborers together with God." May God bless each of you as your service through our Enlistment Department blesses others.

A NOTE OF THANKS

I use this means to say a heart-felt "Thank You" to all of you who remembered to pray, those who sent cards, letters and flowers to Mrs. Roach while she was so very ill in the hospital. I wish I could say an individual thank you to each of you, but through our church paper is the best means I know to use. Your kindness and thoughtfulness was much appreciated by us both.

I would like to express our appreciation to Rev. W. A. Hales and his people at the Fairmount Park Church of Norfolk, also, to Dr. Sparks W. Melton and his people at the Freemason Street Baptist Church of Norfolk for their financial assistance. It was certainly appreciated and you will never know how badly it was needed. With almost a month in the hospital the expense was a big item.

Mrs. Roach is much better now and the doctor says that she will be able to continue with me in my work in another month. Please, may we ask that you continue to pray. Mail will always reach us at our home address: Box 1201, Durham, North Carolina. With your prayers Mrs. Roach will be able to carry on as we begin two months of work in our own state of North Carolina, beginning on March fifth.

Thank you again all of you everywhere that helped so much.

Yours in His name and service,
Maurice W. Roach

Piney Grove Auxiliary Makes Report - Pitt County

PITT COUNTY

We, the Woman's Auxiliary of Piney Grove Church, met at the home of Mrs. Sallie Bett Little, at 2:30 P. M. The topic for the January meeting was "Advancing with Christ in the Home Land." The Scripture lesson was the 96th Psalm, which was read by Jaunita Worthington. After prayer which was offered by Myrtle Ruth Mills, the lesson was read by Hattie Lou Mills. Following this, a poem was read, entitled "A Christian," by Sallie Bett Little.

We then had the roll called and 15 members responded to their names. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The money taken in, including the dues, amounted to $28.85. Two dollars and fifty cents were paid in to superannuation. An offering of $3.25 was taken up for the Mission Car Fund, and eighty cents for foreign missions by Mary Beddard. We had two packages which were sold for sixty cents.

We want everyone who reads this small report to pray for our auxiliary that our aim and purpose will not be cast aside—that of soul winning. May we not neglect this too much, and may God bless us with much success. Pray that our own lives might be pure and clean, and free from any iniquity. Pray that we may live as God would have us to live day by day.

An offering was taken by Hattie Lou Mills for the Anna Phillips Loan Fund, to the amount of $5.30.

Mrs. Hattie Lou Mills,
Second Vice-President

A Generous Confessor of Christ

Jean Paul Mascarene fought a good fight. A young man of some means and considerable legal talent and very devout, he lived at Castres, a place which for fifty years had been annoyed by the restrictions put upon Protestants although they formed the majority of the population. When dragoons approached the district, Jean Mascarene therefore took his wife to his country home at Carelle, six leagues from Castres, but learning that Carelle was also to be infested with the militia, he moved to a peasant's cottage on a mountainside where in the fall of that year their little boy was born. As soon as they could part with the child, his parents sent him to his grandmother, who lived in the province from whence they had fled, while they stayed hidden in the cottage on the mountainside until the following February, when they went to Toulouse and boarded a boat to go to Bordeaux. Hardly had they reached the deck, however, before a lieutenant came and asked them if they were not of "the religion called Reformed." A lie at this point would have saved them both, but Jean Mascarene would not perjure himself, no, not even for the sake of the wife and son for whom he had so long been careful. Accordingly he was taken to prison at once, and finally brought before the criminal judge at Castres and charged with disregarding the king's command not to leave the kingdom. Modestly but firmly Jean Paul defended himself, and said that he loved his country too well to leave it unless forced to do so. When asked if it were true that he had been requested to alter his religious convictions, and had replied that he was persuaded of the truth of his belief and would remain faithful to it, Mascarene answered that he had said that, and, moreover, if the judge cared to put the same question to him, he would receive the same answer. Jean Paul Mascarene and another prisoner was then sentenced to the galleys for life; his property was appropriated (literally, stolen) by the State, and he was fined 3000 livres. He appealed to the Parliament of Toulouse, and as he left the court he said, "My God abandoned everything for my sake and expired upon the Cross. It is right that I should make for Him the small sacrifice for which I am condemned * *, He will never forsake me."

Nor did He. Jean Mascarene remained in prison nearly two years. On May 7, 1687, he was brought in chains before that Chamber of Parliament in which he had once been a councillor. His composure was remarkable to all. He defended himself with great ability and once even got permission to question one of the judges. A record had been preserved of the good confession he made before his judges. He said, "I will acknowledge only Jesus Christ as our Intercessor, and no other head of the Church but Himself. I will acknowledge no other propitiatory sacrifice than the one sole offering, once made, of the body and Blood of my Saviour; no other merits that we can set forth than the merits of Jesus Christ. I acknowledge no other satisfactions by which we can pay Divine justice save His sufferings, nor other purgatory cleansing than His precious Blood, nor other indulgences than His grace." When his trial was finished, he was asked if he persisted in the same belief. He said, Yes, and went back to prison.

But early one April day in 1688 an officer came to his cell and told him to rise at once. Expecting death, Jean Mascarene calmly asked for time to say his prayers when he would be ready to go, he said, where God might call him. Blindfolded, he was led to a sedanchair, which he did not leave till he reached the frontier. Then the bandage was removed from his eyes; he was freed, and ordered never to enter a country which was not worthy of him. Thanking the officer, Jean Paul Mascarene remarked that it was hardly worthwhile to detain him two years and then take him exactly where he had desired to go in the first place. However, he added, he took comfort under all his sufferings, counting them nothing by comparison with the glory which he firmly believed he was yet to enjoy. So at last Jean Paul Mascarene reached Geneva with nothing but what he had on his back—and the treasure he carried in heart and mind.

While in prison, Jean Paul wrote to a Christian baron, who suffered as he did for a good confession of Christ, "Sir and very honored Brother in our Lord Jesus Christ, very far from being ashamed of your chain, I regard it as a mark and a certain pledge of the crown," to which the brave baron promptly replied, "Generous confessor of Christ; He will confess you before His Father. Brave athlete, you are fighting the good fight; you will win the crown of glory. As for my chain, my friends know that, when it was being made fast to me, I said,

"Now blessed be the chain
That binds me to my God!
I have no grief nor pain,
But in His own abode
Shall be exchanged one day
For joys that never tire,
Oh, glorious destiny
That crown my best desire!"

YOU MUST MEET GOD!

"Prepare to meet thy God."—Amos 4:12. That was God's word to the people of Israel long ago.

It is His word to you today.

"God shall bring every work into judgment, whether it be good or whether it be evil."—Ecc. 12:14.

"I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, to give to every man according to his ways and according to the fruit of his doings."—Jer. 17:10.

"He hath appointed a day in the which He will judge the world in righteousness."—Acts 17:31.

"The day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ."—Romans 2:16.

"Prepare to meet thy God!"

"He is 'thy God'.

He made you,—"He hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."—Acts 17:26.

He sustains you moment by moment. He cares for you in all things every day. He has saved you from a thousand dangers. He deals with you most patiently, and has never rewarded you according to your sins.

He is "thy God."

Your breath is in His hands.

You could not live a moment without Him. But you have lived as if all were in your own hands. You have served yourself, not Him. You have forgotten Him entirely. He never forgets you. If He did, think of the awful result!

By the ways you have said as Pharaoh said, "Who is the Lord that I should obey His voice?"—Exodus 5:2.

God hates sin with an infinite hatred and "God is angry with the wicked every day" (Psa. 7:11) but He gave the Lord Jesus Christ to suffer on that shameful Cross in such a way, as that if you, or any one, no matter how great a sinner he may be, will truly believe on Him, shall not perish, that is, shall not go to that awful hell the Bible speaks of, (Rev. 20:15) but shall have everlasting life. He has had the Gospel of His grace preached to you again and again. He has spoken to you often in His providences, in His judgments abroad in the earth, and at home, and by all His daily mercies, and, may be, you have been moved more than once to yield yourself to Him in honest and earnest obedience, but you have listened to the enemy of God and man—the devil, and you are still serving him—serving the devil!

Your parents and friends are praying for you, and they have plead with you because they know the teaching of the Bible as to the awfulness of meeting God unprepared. This tract to you also is inspired of God Himself because He has no pleasure in sending men to hell. "Say unto them, as I live, saith the Lord, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way and live."—Ezekiel 33:11.

You will have to meet God as to all that He has done for you, as to all He has given you. The sermons you have heard, the prayers offered in your behalf, the entreaties made to you personally, the opportunities, the privileges you have had, all will have to be accounted for to Him.

You will have to account to Him for the health He has given you, the time you have had, all your body's powers, your mind, your eyes, your ears, your hands, your feet, and all the capabilities He has endowed you with, as to the use you have made of them.

A man born in idiocy has nothing to account to God for. But we men born with all those facilities which make a man the masterpiece of God's creation will have to face God about our use of those faculties in reference to His glory.

Men will have to meet God as to the use they have made of His silver and gold, of His earth, and world, for "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein."—Psa. 24:1.

Ah, the day comes rapidly, when men will meet God about all the trouble that comes from this universal greed for wealth, at the expense of God's holy law, and His golden rule—Love thy neighbor as thyself."

You Must Meet God.

You cannot get away from it. You can get away from others, but not from God and His judgment. His righteousness demands your judgment. His Word declares it.

Every man's conscience says it must be. You can mock men, but you cannot mock God.

You have many secrets from your nearest friend, but you must meet God about your whole life.

There is only one way to meet God in peace.

He has made a most gracious and infinite provision for sinners through the atoning death of the Lord Jesus Christ, and of those who believe on Him (John 3:18) it is blessedly true that

"God commendeth His love toward us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."—Rom. 5:8.

"Christ died for our sins."—I Cor. 15:3.

"Who His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree."—I Peter 2:24.

"He obtained eternal redemption for us."—Heb. 9:12.

"He gave Himself a Ransom for all."—I Tim. 2:6.

If a man will own himself to be just what the Bible says he is, and will accept by faith the Lord Jesus Christ as the One who settled the whole question of his guilt, with God, on the Cross, he will have God's Word assuring him of salvation, and thus, and only thus, will he be able to meet God in peace.

"Be it known unto you, therefore, men and brethren, that through this Man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins, and by Him all that believe are justified from all things from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses."—Acts 13:38, 39.

Making things right with men does not make you right with God.

No change of conduct, or character or of religion can make you right with God.

The Lord Jesus said, "I am the Door, by me, if any man enter in, he shall be saved."—John 10:9.

Oh, man, salvation is the free gift of God to you because Jesus suffered the whole penalty of the sins of His people on the Cross.

You must therefore come to Him as your whole Hope; and turning from all your works, good and bad, rest in Him alone, if you would be right with God.

"By grace are ye saved through faith and that, not of yourselves, it is the gift of God. Not of works lest any man should boast. For we are His workmanship created in Christ Jesus unto good works."—Eph. 2:8-10.

Saved first, and then good works.

Unless Christ is precious to you, you are not prepared to meet God, no matter how good your name and religion are.—Gospel Tract.

New Prospect Church to Hold Revival

The members and friends of New Prospect F. W. B. Church commemorated the Lord's Supper on Saturday night, January 15, 1950. The pastor, Rev. Arthur Williams, and fifty-two members and visitors participated in this solemn service—all enjoying the presence of the Lord together.

The church is planning to hold a revival beginning on the fifth Sunday in January with Reverend E. B. Hyman of Conway to bring the messages. We desire the prayers of all the Christian people on the behalf of this meeting.

THE GOSPEL MOVES WESTWARD

(Lesson for February 12)

Lesson: Acts 13:4-5; 14:1-3, 19-23.
Golden Text: Acts 14:27.

I. Nuggets for Students

1. Whom the Lord calls, He is also sure to direct and empower in His service (Acts 13:4).

2. Men who do not know God easily adopt all kinds of superstitious beliefs (14:11-13).

3. Where was the man who had been miraculously healed when the mob stoned Paul? (vs. 19).

4. Not even a shower of stones can halt the man whose work for the Lord is not yet done (vs. 20).

5. Preaching in the power of God prepares the heart to receive the Gospel (vs. 21).

6. Miracles magnify our Maker and His power, but it is the Gospel that brings deliverance from sin (vs. 22).

7. It is one thing to preach the Gospel and win souls to Christ; it is another, and important thing, to teach and establish the believers (vs. 22).

8. The choice and induction of church offers is a solemn matter and should never be treated lightly (vs. 23).

9. Popular adulation today may be the prelude to painful abuse tomorrow, as Paul experienced in Lystra (vss. 13, 19, 20).—Selected.

10. Paul's vision spoken of in 2 Corinthians 12:2-4 may have occurred during his stoning at Lystra. If so, Paul, some fourteen years afterwards did not know whether he was dead or not.

II. Heart of the Lesson

Acts 13:4, sent forth by the Holy Ghost—Here an act is attributed to the Holy Spirit which clearly implies his personality. Seleucia—The seaport of Antioch, sixteen miles to the west.

5. Salamis—The chief city and seaport in the eastern part of Cyprus. John—John Mark, the author of the second Gospel.

Acts 14:1. Iconium—A city of considerable importance, especially because several trade routes intersected there. "It was situated in what is practically an oasis in the great elevated waterless plain of Lycania, being surrounded by a country producing excellent crops" (Starrett).

2. the gentiles—Gentiles in general, as opposed to proselytes—a different word than is used for "Greeks" in the previous verse. Made their minds evil affected—"Poisoned their minds" RVS. However, the opposition at this time was not such as to threaten violence, and the apostles endured it and went on with their work.

3. long time therefore—The "therefore" perhaps expresses a result following from the events of the two previous verses. Because there were a multitude of believers and because there was opposition to the truth it was necessary for Paul and Barnabas to stay until the converts were fully established.

Acts 14:19. came thither—Jews came to Lystra, where Paul and Barnabas were thought to be gods after the healing of the lame man. Probably a considerable time elapsed before the coming of these Jews, during which disciples were made, one of whom was Timothy, stoned Paul—This form of punishment was evidently due to Jewish instigation. Paul refers to this stoning in 2 Corinthians 11:25.

20. he rose up—There must have been a miracle performed to enable Paul, after such a stoning, to get up and go into the city and on the morrow to make a journey of several hours to Derbe. Either He was dead and was raised from the dead, or else he was miraculously strengthened after being bruised and stunned and rendered unconscious. — Arnold's Commentary.

22. ordained them elders in every church.—The elders whom they ordained thus became officers of the church. They were young and new converts to the Christian faith. They were those who were the most suitable and qualified as officers of the church to instruct and guide the church members. Paul and Barnabas did this by prayer and fasting, and commended them to the Lord. "Even when persons are brought to believe, and that sincerely, yet ministers' care concerning them is not over; there is need of watching over them still, instructing and admonishing them still; there is still that lacking in their faith which needs to be perfected."—(Matthew Henry) (Advanced Quarterly, F. W. B.)

III. The Lesson Illustrated

Recent persecutions for Christ—Suffering persecution for Christ as they carried the gospel in Asia Minor was part of the routine in the case of Barnabas and Paul. The climax came when at Lystra Paul was stoned and left for dead. History teems with accounts of persecution because of loyalty to Christ, but we are especially interested in examples in our own day. One long account which has come out of North Korea, which has been ruled by communists since the war, was told in Motive of May, 1948, by Geraldine T. Fitch, who learned the facts from the lips of three men who escaped. We reproduce in condensed form a few of the essentials.

In February, 1946, a Christian Endeavor convention was being held in Pyeng Yang was stopped by police on the ground that it was anti-communist. Fifteen officers and speakers were arrested. On March 1, when a special union service of the churches was being held, seventy officers marched into the church and demanded that the service stop at once, and five ministers were arrested. On August 22, Kim Doo-Young, General Secretary of the Christian Endeavor Society for all North Korea, was arrested and kept in jail until October 11. (We haven't space here to tell how he was tortured for Christ's sake by Russian officials.)

Later Kim was tortured by "fatigue exams" for three periods of seventeen hours each. During these periods he was allowed no sleep at all. The name of the Russian who ordered this treatment is known. Finally Kim was released for a time. Much else happened which we have no space to record. The next spring another order went out for Kim's arrest. Three times he had been imprisoned. He had endured seventy days of intermittent torture. He knew that another arrest meant Siberia or death. So he went into hiding, and finally succeeded in crossing the 38th parallel into South Korea. Just before the final crossing he heard shooting. A local Korean farmer said "They are rounding up a group of thirty. This is the time to go. Run! Run!" And he did. This sort of treatment was from the kind of people who want the world to believe that they constitute the only true democracy!—Arnold's Commentary.

verse says "without faith it is impossible to please God." James says, "Faith without works is dead." So the faith of Eliezer had kept him in the way of duty and of prayer. No use to pray without faith. We must ask, "doubting nothing," and this means that we must believe that we received the thing asked for. "This is the confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us; and if we know that he hears us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him" (I John 5:14, 15). Jesus said, "Your heavenly Father knoweth what ye have need of before ye ask Him." It certainly is not a hard matter to get our Heavenly Father to listen to our prayer when the prayer is one of necessity, backed by Faith. So, before we can have the full blessing, we must be persistent in our march of duty. We must feel the responsibility, and endeavor to clear our skirts from any slothfulness. We must be in the way of prayer. No way to please God without prayer. There is no way to pray to God's pleasure except we pray in faith.

IV. MAY WE NOTICE THAT THIS SERVANT WAS IN THE WAY OF PRESENT NEEDS. He knew that he was not equal to the occasion. Thus he did not pray for something to be given tomorrow or the next day or perhaps a year from now. I think that, far too many of our prayers are made in vagueness of presentation. If we need the blessing now—this very moment—why not ask for an answer right now? No doubt God is as anxious to give now as tomorrow. Peter's prayer was now, "Save me Lord or I perish." Peter at the Beautiful Gate said, "Silver and Gold have I none; but such as I have give I unto thee, in the name of the Lord Jesus, rise up and walk." A present tense petition and a present tense answer came.

We are taught to strive to enter in at the straight gate, by the narrow way. God leads in this way. Just as sure as He ever led the children of Israel out of Egyptian bondage, just so sure God will lead us who get into the way of life by accepting and confessing the Lord Jesus Christ. The last Missionary message given by the Master to His disciples was "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Mat. 28:19, 20).

Notice that the promise of the Lord's presence is to those who go. Those who do not go in response to the great commission can not claim the promise. As it is with this command, it is with all others. No blessing except in the way directed by the Lord Jesus.

THREE BEES

Give this bee a small place in your heart,
It will sweeten your life with its honey;
Its name is, "Be kind,"
And I know you will find
It cannot sting—isn't that funny?

There's a bee with no hive for a home,
It lives with a girl or a boy;
Its name is, "Be true,"
And all the day through
It will bring to your heart greatest joy.

There's a bee that we all should desire,
Though often we fail to obtain;
Its name is, "Be wise,"
And it's a rare prize
That brings its possessor great gain.

A Fellow's Mother

M. E. SANGSTER

"A fellow's mother," said Fred the wise,
With his rosy cheeks and merry eyes,
"Knows what to do if a fellow gets hurt
By a thump, or a bruise, or a fall in the dirt.

"A fellow's mother has bags and strings,
Rags and buttons, and lots of things;
No matter how busy she is, she'll stop
To see how well you can spin your top.

"She does not care, not much I mean,
If a fellow's face is not always clean;
And if your trousers are torn at the knee
She can put in a patch that you'd never see.

"A fellow's mother is never mad,
But only sorry if you are bad;
And I tell you this, if you're only true,
She'll always forgive whate'er you do.

"I'm sure of this," said Fred the wise,
With a manly look in his laughing eyes,
"I'll mind my mother, quick, every day,
A fellow's a baby that don't obey."

—The Youth's Visitor.

YOUR WORDS

Keep a watch on your words, my children,
For words are wonderful things,
They are sweet, like the bees' fresh honey,
Like bees, they have terrible stings.
They can bless like the warm glad sunshine
And brighten the lonely life,
They can cut, in the strife of anger,
Like an open, two-edge dknife.

Keep them back, if they're cold and cruel,
Under bar, and lock, and seal,
The wounds they make, my children,
Are always slow to heal.
Let Christ guard your lips, and ever
From the time of your early utter,
Let the words that you daily utter,
Be the words of beautiful truth.

—Selected.

NOW YOU TELL ONE!

A boy remarked at the dinner table that his class at school was to have a clean-up contest.

"A clean-up contest!" exclaimed his mother. "And you came to the table with those hands?"

"I know, Mother, but the contest doesn't start until next week."—Selected.

MARK'S FAITH AND REWARD

Mark was faithfully going about his work day by day, doing it as the Bible says, "as unto the Lord." He was so young but so glad to do anything his employer told him to do, as far as his strength allowed. He could work only after school hours, but he was determined to do all he could in that time.

The other boys who worked in the store fooled their time away as often as they could without Mr. Hanks seeing them. But because he did not know it they got their full credit and their full pay. They tried to lead Mark into being untrue, too, but he had a Master in Heaven to serve besides Mr. Hanks. So no matter what the boys said, he would be true in his place.

The boys began to have an ill feeling toward Mark because he would not come to their terms. When he arranged the boxes, cans, etc., in the cellar in good order, after he was out of sight they went after him and strewed them around the floor again. When Mr. Hanks appeared they told him Mark did not do his duty, but left everything in bad order.

When Mr. Hanks told Mark about his slighting in his work, Mark said he arranged them all in order, but some one must have rearranged them again. But Mr. Hanks would not believe Mark. He said two against one must stand. Mark knew all the time that the boys had done the dirty work, but he would not take his own part. He knew the Lord would reward him some way, if he kept faithful.

This meanness continued for a few days. Mr. Hanks kept warning Mark if he did not do better he would lose his position. He could not stand for such work. He must have some one who would obey orders. Mark always assured Mr. Hanks he would do his best. He knew he had always done his best, but he would say no more. He would just let the boys go till they would see their own meanness and confess it, or, if not, he was satisfied to let the Lord take his part.

The next morning after Mark thought this, Mr. Hanks told him he had no more use for him in the store. Mark said, "All right, Mr. Hanks," and left with a smile of hope.

That night before going to bed Mark opened his nuggut box, and drew out this verse: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of the Lord" (Matt. 25:21). Mark wept alone in his room for joy. He knew that was a direct promise to him from the Lord. He went to bed in great peace of mind, knowing the Lord would take care of all things.

The next evening Mr. Frees, a business manager, met him on the street, who had been wanting him for a long time to work for him in a responsible place, but he would not take him away from the place where he had been working. He said to Mark, "Well, my boy, I see you are not at work this evening. Are you off for the evening?"

"No," said Mark, "I am not working for Mr. Hanks any more."

"Is that so," said Mr. Frees, "didn't you like the place?"

"Yes, I liked it fine, but I didn't seem to suit there anymore. Mr. Hanks thought I'd better leave."

"Well," said Mr. Frees, "that is too bad," and went on. Mark would not say a word about how he was treated. He wanted people to think the best of Mr. Hanks, for he had always been kind to him otherwise.

Mr. Frees found out the facts of the case from Mark's father. He wanted to know, for he knew Mark was a trustworthy boy, by what he had often heard of him before.

The next evening the Lord honored Mark's faith. Mr. Frees came to Mark's house and said, "Well, my boy, I've come to hire you for our office. Would you like to come?"

"I certainly would," said Mark. "I expected a job before evening, but I did not know who would hire me. I asked the Lord for a job, and I knew He would get me one. I take it thankfully and gladly. Mr. Frees."

Mr. Frees was not deceived about anything that was said about Mark, for he knew what he was before he hired him. Mark's Christian character spoke for him everywhere he worked. "God is faithful."

FAMOUS MEN

Jay Gould began as a book agent; Benjamin Franklin, a printer; Abraham Lincoln, a rail-splitter; Cornelius Vanderbilt ferried his own boat; John Wanamaker began work at five dollars a month, and Andrew Carnegie at ten dollars a month; John Jacob Astor sold apples in the street; Thomas Edison was a telegraph operator, and John D. Rockefeller worked in a machine shop.

who possess it in the world to come or in eternity. This great salvation is our only hope of heaven, and by heaven I mean all that the word implies. I do not have words to describe it even if I could comprehend it, and even if I had the language of angels at my command and all the wisdom of Solomon, I would not be worthy to undertake it. But I mention a few things about heaven which are clearly taught in the scriptures and which I think we have a right to assume. I am speaking of the new heaven that Jesus has now gone to prepare for us. John on the Isle of Patmos saw it and it will appear after it is prepared with its inconceivable beauty and glory. He calls it the Holy City, the new Jerusalem. In this Holy City, we shall live forever with God, the blessed trinity, the angels and all his saints, all that have been redeemed by the precious blood of Jesus. He will dwell with us and be our God, and we shall be his people. There we shall know even as we are known, behold his blessed face and see him as he is. Let us praise his precious name for great salvation. Herein we shall experience all the fullness of life, eternal life, for there will be no death in heaven, no sickness, no sorrow, no tears, no night, no fear, no sin to tempt us and no pain to hurt us. Praise his name forever. There we shall walk and talk with Jesus, our blessed Saviour, sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, sing with David and all the heavenly choir, worship God, the blessed trinity and praise his name forever with all the hosts of heaven for so great salvation. This is all I need. Herein is the fullness of so great salvation. Blessed be his great and holy name forever.

DO SOMETHING

Do something for which the world is willing to pay you money. Take nothing you do not earn. Save all your surplus to take care of yourself when you are unable to work. And be cheerful.

Elwood Lane Auxiliary Reporting

The Woman's Auxiliary of Elwood Lane F. W. B. Church held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. M. M. Overy, 902 Elm Street, on Saturday, January 14, at five o'clock. The meeting was opened by the president, Miss Earley, who had charge of the program. The scripture reading was from Second Corinthians, fifth chapter, and was followed by a chain of prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Eleven members were present, including Miss Volda Belle Earley, Mrs. George Lambert, Mrs. Paul Jenkins, Mrs. Joe Hailey, Mrs. Fred Steele, Mrs. Ray Allman, Mrs. Charles Cooke, Mrs. Ben Collier, Mrs. Gilbert Bostain, Mrs. J. W. Hoce and the hostess, Mrs. Overy.

The business session was opened with all new business under consideration, and all new members participated. We are putting forth new efforts to help raise our building fund for our new church.

Plans were made for our next meeting to be held on Saturday, February 11, at the home of Mrs. Ray Allman. The meeting was dismissed in prayer by Miss Earley. A social hour followed and refreshments were served to all attending the meeting.

WHO OWNS WHAT?

The more a man boasts about what he owns the more convinced I am that what he thinks he owns owns him. Some time ago a man said, "I began as an office boy and now the business belongs to me." His friends smiled. They knew differently. They knew that he belonged to the business. On a tombstone were written words that revealed more truth than was intended, "Born a man, died a grocer."

George Eliot was near the truth when she said that nothing she had ever written was really hers, it was only handed to her.

When Haydn finished his oratorio, The Creation, and was receiving the praise of the multitudes, he humbly cried, "Not from me but from above it all has come." One of the greatest artists of all time wrote, "I realize with intensity, that man, in all that he does that is great and noble, is only the organ of something or the instrument of someone higher than himself." Often Christ was amused by those people who boasted about what they owned. The more they boasted, the more he was convinced that what they owned really owned them. The man who talked about his barns, and more barns, and bigger barns, in the end discovered that not even his own soul belonged to him. ". . . Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee . . ." People pray, "O God from whom we come and to whom we belong and in whose service is our peace," but too often they are still thinking of their will and not his. Jesus put things straight when he said, ". . . not my will, but thine, be done (It is not thee who belongs to me, it is I who belongs to thee)."—Selected.

CHURCH DEADWOOD

Look over any church membership list, and you will find a lot of dead timber—members that joined the church and then settled down to do nothing, feeling that church membership is a passport to heaven.

They remind us of an incident told by a world traveler who was preparing to take a photograph of some Turkish warships anchored in the waters near Alexandria. The captain, noticing the young man, explained that these warships were not really dangerous,—were not really warships. "They look formidable enough," the officer continued, "but they are perfectly harmless. They were anchored there eight years ago and have not turned a wheel since."

How many times have we carried the battle into the enemy's territory since we enlisted in the Lord's army? Just why did we join the church? Have we made any sacrifices? Have we sought to help others into church fellowship? Or did we sail into the protected church harbor and anchor there some eight, ten, or twenty years ago,—and perhaps "have not turned a wheel since?"

Such church members do not worry the devil at all. He knows that they are "perfectly harmless." He also knows that church membership will not save a lazy Christian.—Selected.

SHOULD CHRISTIANS ATTEND THE SHOWS?

How dare you Christians, who claim to love the Lord, and who desire that his will be done in your lives, to bring such shame on his name by going to the picture shows? I dare you this minute to drop on your knees and tell your Father in heaven that this sort of thing is not a hindrance to your service to Him. Will you tell God that there is no harm in seeing some of the pictures, when you know deep down in your heart that the such type of pictures are shown at the same place at other times? You know that the picture companies make all kinds of pictures.

I once heard a young man, who attended a picture show, say the picture was so disgraceful to look upon that it made him sick. Remember, the things that God wants his people to look upon will not make them sick. He does say that if we are lukewarm church members, he will spew us out of his mouth. We are taught by the word not to love the world, neither the things in the world. If any man love the world, the love of God is not in him. The lust of the flesh and the pride of life are not in the Father. Such things are of the world. The world will pass away, and the lust thereof, but God's holy word will not pass away.

BEYOND TODAY

If we could see beyond today,

As God can see;
If all the clouds should roll away,
The shadows flee,
O'er present griefs we would not fret,
Each sorrow we would soon forget,
For many joys are waiting yet
For you and me.

If we could know beyond today,

As God doth know,
Why dearest treasures pass away
And tears must flow,
And why the darkness leads to light,
Why dreary paths will soon grow bright!
Some day life's wrongs will be made right;
Faith tells us so.

If we could see, if we could know,

We often say!
But God in love a veil doth throw
Across our way;

We can not see what lies before,
And so we cling to him the more;
He leads us till this life is o'er;
Trust and obey.

—Christian Work.

SPEAK THE TRUTH

Many persons, we fear, are careless about their expressions, and are open to criticism. Exaggeration is a fatal error, and when the guilty party has lied, it is sin. "Hundreds at the altar," "scores saved," "a regular torrent of salvation," "never saw anything like it," and similar statements are often wide of the mark.

Again, there is the habit of so coloring a statement that while the truth is spoken, there is a covered lie. The eyes of the world are upon us, and the ears of the critics are open to hear; and above all, God is to be taken into account.

Suppressed truth or half-truth, that is meant to mislead, is the meanest kind of lying. "Thou desirest truth in the inward parts."

Our Lord cares not for pretense, He looks to the soul. "All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do". Let us give no grounds, either by voice or pen, for the charge of untruthfulness.—God's Revivalist.

Faith is more than a passive acceptance of the will of God. It is also an aggressive co-operation with that will.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary. Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Resolutions of Respect

Brother Lee Kight passed on to his eternal reward on December 23, 1949. He had been in failing health for the past year. Brother Kight was a charter member of Marietto F. W. B. Church, and also he was a senior deacon of the church. He was a faithful member, and we the members of the church submit the following resolutions:

First, That we bow in humble submission to God's holy will;

Second, That we extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family, and point them to the One who is able to heal all sorrows; and

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be sent to the Baptist paper, and a copy be placed on the church records.

Resolutions of Respect

It was on May 29, 1949, that the death angel took the life of our youthful Brother C. P. Wiggins. He made his stay on earth only 27 short years. He was a beloved member of Marietto F. W. B. Church. He is missed by all who knew and loved him.

We the members of Marietto Church wish to submit the following resolutions:

First, That we bow in humble submission to God's holy will;

Second, That we extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family, and point them to One who is able to heal all sorrows; and

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy be sent to the Baptist paper, and a copy be placed on our church minutes.

Resolutions of Respect

On December 3, 1949, the death angel took from us our dear Brother Lester McLoIn. Since early youth he had been a faithful member of the Marietto Free Will Baptist church near Lyons, Georgia. He was choir leader of the church which he loved so well. But we know our loss is his eternal gain.

We sincerely sympathize with his wife and loved ones. We of Marietto Church do hereby resolve:

First, That we bow in humble submission to God's holy will;

Second, That in his passing the church and community have lost one of the beloved members. He will be long remembered; and Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to the Baptist paper, and a copy be placed on the church records.

ACHIEVING SERENITY

Jesus lived an untroubled life in a troubled world. He was never distracted or pushed off his balance by events or people. What would we not give to be able to achieve such serenity? Jesus' serenity was due in no small measure to the fact that He always kept His perspective.

Geography made no difference to Jesus. He probably never traveled more than a hundred miles from the place of His birth yet He did not speak for people living on certain streets or in a certain part of the country, or belonging to a certain race, but to all mankind.

How easy our minds are prejudiced by differences of social background or prestige, or by differences of race or nationality. None of these disturbed Jesus. He spoke for all people, wherever they lived. He did not modify the Sermon on the Mount for any man.

Gossip made no difference to Jesus. We are influenced as a rule by what the neighbors say or what we think the neighbors would say. There was plenty of gossip, even bitter gossip, about Jesus, but it did not influence Him one bit.

Many occasions are recorded in the Gospels when people talked and murmured about Jesus. When He went with Jairus to heal his daughter, people "laughed Him to scorn," but undeterred, Jesus went to her home and healed her. "We might have much peace," says Thomas a Kempis, in The Imitation of Christ, "if we would not busy ourselves with the sayings and doings of others, and with the things that belong not to us."

Size made no difference to Jesus. Our century is so impressed by bigness that size has almost become the standard measuring rod of our time. If one is to keep his perspective he must resist the temptation to judge primarily the size. We all too easily think in terms of the tallest building, the largest auditorium, the biggest crowd, the most expensive article.

We find ourselves thinking in terms of the largest army, the heaviest bomb, and the biggest battleship. Think how much more valuable for the war effort is the tiny brain of an Eisenhower or a Stalin or in time of peace of an Edison or an Einstein. We can't imagine Jesus being impressed by the knowledge or observing the most numerous herd of camels or attracting the greatest crowd of people. Again and again He emphasizes the importance of the small and the unseen and the simple, the tiny mustard seed, the leaven, or the lilies of the field that were greater than Solomon in all his glory.

Time meant nothing to Jesus. There was no sense of hurry in His life. Haste and Jesus did not go together. Rather we hear Him saying "Take no thought of the morrow . . . sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." He never expressed any fear that if x or y were not done, His mission would fail. Frequently He deliberately left throngs of people who desired to see Him in order that He might be alone with God.

The key to Jesus' serenity, to a seemingly untroubled life in a troubled world, was in large part due to His ability to be unperturbed by the mundane aspects of life that keeps most of us stirred up, and to live with a deep, consciousness of the presence of God. The true way of softening one's troubles is to solace those of others.

Auxiliary of Hazel Park Holds Meeting

BY REPORTER

The Woman's Auxiliary of Hazel Park F. W. B. Church convened on January 3 in its regular meeting. After the rendering of an inspiring program, the vice-presidents gave their reports from which we learned that a goodly number of needy children have been benefitted from the clothing which was distributed, along with a cash offerings. Some clothing and shoes were sent to the Indian Mission in Oklahoma. Thirty individual Christmas baskets were given to the needy in the county hospital in Pontiac.

Our auxiliary sponsors a book review once each month. Mrs. Salom Maynard, our newly elected president, entertained the auxiliary in her home, and reviewed a book entitled "Representative Women." The other officers for the year are as follows: Alice Allison, first vice-president; Mrs. Georgia Felts, second vice-president; Eileen Dalton, third vice-president; Jessie Haley, fourth vice-president; Madena Hastening, fifth vice-president; Mrs. Homer Willis was retained as secretary-treasurer.

The Secret

I met God in the morning
When my day was at its best,
And His Presence came like sunrise,
Like a glory in my breast.

All day long the Presence lingered;
All day long He stayed with me,
And we sailed in perfect calmness
O'er a very troubled sea.

Other ships were blown and battered;
Other ships were sore distressed,
But the winds that seemed to drive them
Brought to us a peace and rest.

Then I thought of other mornings,
With a keen remorse of mind,
When I too had loosed the moorings,
With the Presence left behind.

So I think I know the secret,
Learned from many a troubled way:
You must seek Him in the morning
If you want Him through the day!

ANSWERING A COMPLAINT

Some have complained about not receiving the Baptist paper each week in time for the study of the Sunday School lesson in it before that particular Sunday is passed. We do not understand the reason for this situation. The paper is mailed each Wednesday at the Ayden Post Office, and the Sunday School lesson in it is for the second Sunday following that date, or ten days after the paper has been mailed. Why the paper is not received anywhere in the United States within the eight or nine day period, in which it is in transit from Ayden, North Carolina, to the subscriber, is a matter of the U. S. Mails. We always run the Sunday School Lesson in the Baptist paper for the second Sunday following the Wednesday it is mailed, so that all of our subscribers within the bounds of the United States will be able to have their papers in time for the study of the Sunday School lesson in it.—The Editor.

Prayer is a good deal more than a matter of asking God for something.

NOTE OF THANKS

I wish to thank the many friends throughout the denomination who remembered me with cards, flowers, and other gifts during my recent illness. I hope to be able in time to write each one personally, but might overlook someone unintentionally. It will be some time at best before I can write all, and I did not want to wait to say, "Thank you."

I am at home now, and while still confined and not fully recovered, I know that God has heard and answered prayer in my behalf, and that He will continue to do so. I ask that all of you continue to pray for me.

Always Giving

Giving, giving, always giving,
Is my Lord to me;
Giving of His grace and blessing,
Sinful though I be.
And shall I withhold from giving
While He gives to me?
Cling to earth and earthly treasures,
Though the need I see?

No, I'll give to spread the Message,
Give to Him I love,
Give to herald wide the coming
Of my blessed Lord;
Give as I have been forgiven,
Give to send His Word
To poor souls who sit in darkness,
Knowing not the Lord.

THE LAYMAN'S DUTY TO HIS CHURCH AND PASTOR

By Mrs. Edith D. Shiver

Who is a layman of the church? Everyone should be made to understand who the layman is. Some think it is some officer of the church, not knowing it is the member of the church. When one wants to lay down his sins and become a child of God—He joins the church of his choice—He becomes a layman. The church is made up of laymen and it needs every one to do his or her part.

Let us for a moment compare the church with our human body. When one part of the body becomes ill or paralyzed, the other parts have more burden to bear. This is the way it is with the church. When some member fails to fill his place, forgets or neglects his duties, and lives a life which is a witness against the church and God, we see what the other members have to do—carry their brother's burden. Yes, the church needs its laymen. What we wish most is that every layman would realize that he needs the church as well. Since every layman has a part to play in the church, let's see what his duties are.

When Joshua was speaking to the children of Israel he said, "and if it seems evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land ye dwell; but as for me and my house we will serve the Lord." If we are to serve the Lord, one of our first duties is to attend the church. Be present at every assembly. We are told in the Bible not to forsake assembling ourselves in the Lord's House. We can not get anything from the church if we do not put something in it. Why not let it be our presence, then? We not only want to give our presence to the Lord's house on Sunday, but live everyday as a witness for the Lord; as a result of our being present at church. "Press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God." We know this mark will be a life of Christlike living every day.

The second duty is our service to our church. We mean doing what we are asked to do, seeing things to be done and doing them rather than talking about it, and offering to do something without waiting to be asked. God wants us to work in His house just as we work in ours. It is the duty of the men and women to give their service to the house of the Lord. Jesus said to His disciples: "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me and to finish His work." Sometimes our laymen neglect their duty in the church to eat meat from some earthly table—not realizing the service for the Lord is filling to the soul, I believe we would have more working for the Lord. We must use our talents. No matter who we are, all have one talent at least. Do not be as the foolish servant who buried the one talent that God gave him, but use it if we have just one it will increase, and we will find ourselves able to do more than we thought.

Third duty is to give your money. How much one gives depends on how much one has. We all pay debts to our fellow man, or try to, anyway. Well, everyone owes one debt—that is to God. We owe Him 10% of every dollar we have. Until we have paid Him this we can not say we are giving Him anything, when we give an offering to the church. We are just paying God some on the debt we owe Him. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." Too many people feel like they will go lacking for food or clothing if they pay God the 10% they owe Him. They don't believe the promise He has given us when He said He would supply every need. He did not say He would supply every desire, and that is what too many people is afraid of. The Lord surely does supply my every need, because I can see Him blessing me more every day since I have been giving Him a Gift.

The fourth duty of the layman is to have love for his church and his fellowman. No church can stand when its members are divided. We will show our love for our fellowman by encouraging him to come to the house of the Lord and carry out his duties. We will show him ways in which he can be of service in the work for the Lord. If we have love in our hearts, all our duties will come natural.

If we have carried out the duties above, then there is another—Be pleased. Commend your fellowman for his duty well done. Be pleased over accomplishments. Be one who is always jolly when you have completed a task. Be pleased to be a witness for the Lord, no matter where you are. Do not be afraid of what the world of sin will say about you when you talk for your master. "But none of these move me—neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry which I have received of the Lord Jesus to testify the gospel of the grace of God." When you are going about in this world, can those be your words? When God is checking up on us and your duties to our church, may we all say, "I have glorified thee on the earth. I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do."

Now, let us consider a few of the layman's duties to his pastor. We have said the people make up the church. They are the flock. Of course, our shepherd is God, but we need an undershepherd. This is our pastor. He leads his flock just as our Master leads us. He teaches those things which God has led him to teach. In fact, he is also somewhat a prophet of God. As Isaiah warned the people of what God would do, if they did not turn back to Him, the pastor warns his people what will be in store for them if they don't turn to God. He tells the flock what God expects of them today. If our pastor points out the way to everlasting life thru the help of God, then surely we owe him some duties.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

"ANOTHER WALKOUT"

The above caption is given to an article written concerning the delegate to the UN from Russia, and the walkout was caused by the presence of the representative from the National Chinese government. Russia refuses to sit with the delegate from China, because Russia wants the "red" government in China to be recognized. This shows the attitude and spirit of Russia towards everything that she cannot rule; she will destroy. The representatives had already walked out ten times during the past when they could not rule. That is "Communism." The spirit of Russia has a great hold on the lives of men today in almost every land. "If I cannot get what I want for my satisfaction, I'll see that you do not get your satisfaction. I'll destroy with bombs; I'll take lives of others; I'll set on fire, in fact, I'll resort to anything ruthless and destructive to get what I want." Communism is born in hell and its father is the "boss."

TRY THE SPIRITS

John writes: "BELOVED, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world" (I John 4:1).

In the following verses, second and third of this chapter, John tells us what he is talking about and what he calls a "false prophet." He says: "Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God; and this is that spirit of antichrist, wherof ye have heard that it should come; . . ."

So, in the light of the inspired word as given, those who deny the first chapter of the Gospel according to John, which states that "The Word was made flesh" (John 1:14), are antichrist, or have the spirit of antichrist. Thus many cults stand convicted today before the Judgment Bar of God. All modernists dismiss everything from their religion that cannot be fathomed by the finite mind. Thus they take the supernatural out of their belief. But when you get the supernatural out of salvation you have nothing eternal left.

To take the supernatural out, you do away with the creation as given in the Bible. You do away with the Virgin Birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, you discount the vicarious and substitutionary death of Jesus Christ. And going further, the rank modernists, along with what we call modernist, come several of the "cults" that call themselves "Christian," with a theology that denies the Resurrection and Ascension and the Coming Again of the Lord Jesus.

With such a faith as set forth by the modernist groups of the Spirit of Antichrist, what have you left? Nothing more than Mohammedanism, or Confucianism, or Buddhism. I could accept either of these groups as faithfully as I can modernism, but modernism, as seen from this end of the line, is only a fulfillment of prophecy as set forth for the "last days." Let me quote: "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy, having their conscience seared with a hot iron" (I Tim. 4:1, 2). And may we quote further; "For of such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works" (II Cor. 11:13-15).

CONDEMNATION OF CULTS

The modernists make much of their Liberalism. Some think that one religion is as good as another. No attention is paid to the fundamental doctrines of the Bible. They say that the Bible is full of errors and myths, and they are the only ones that know the truth. Fundamentalists to them are "narrow" and "ignorant." But to my mind every man that denies any part of the Bible as the inspired word of God throws the lie into the face of God. Here is my reason for this belief. "He that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son" (I John 5:10).

Paul saw these modernists and all the "cults" that deny the Inspired Word of God, and he has warned us against such in his instructions to Timothy, in that he said, "I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lust will they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables" (II Tim. 4:1-4).

MY APPEAL

Brethren and Sisters in Christ; known as Free Will Baptists: I am soon to close out this life's activities, although I am well and going now with good results. But when we get to and pass the "three score and ten" mark, we well know that there cannot be many more years of service here on this earth.

I want to warn you who shall come after me, and those who are now with me, against the inroads of Modernism which can be easily made by just a little slip. There are modernistic schools in the land, and often out of convenience, and what we call "economy," we send our children to the colleges where they teach against the doctrine as taught by our fathers and believed by us. So, let us be careful as to what institutions we send our children. "An ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure," it has been said. It is too late when one has been indoctrinated with modernism, namely: just "joining the church and a water baptism brings salvation." One must be born again, and have an unwavering faith in the shed blood of Christ to get to heaven.

IN THE REGION OF YOUR HEART

BENJAMIN KEECH

If you're feelin' sort o' fretful,
If you're feelin' sort o' blue,
If you're apt to be forgetful
Of the blessin's owned by you,
Then it's time you went to doct'rin'
For each pesky burn an' smart;
Give yourself a close inspection
In the region of your heart.

If you find that organ coated
With a coverin' of hate,
Then the pain can all be routed
By a means not intricate;
Take some love an' pity, mix 'em
Till compassion crowns your art;
For the blues,—one dose'll fix 'em,
An' 'twill regulate your heart.

If you're eranky, cross an' scrappy
From the break o' morn till night,
When you ought to be quite happy,
That's a sign your heart's not right.
Take some blessed oil o' kindness,
Bandage up your brother's heart,—
This will stop your slothful blindness,
An' a perfect cure impart.

There are many hearts afflicted
In a manner sad to see,—
Some of them have been neglected
To the very last degree:
Rouse yourself an' go to workin',
Weed out gloom, remove hate's dart,—
Leave no festerin' wound a-lurkin'
In the region of your heart.

—Herald of Light and Zion's Watchman.

The Signs of the Times

By J. B. LAWRENCE

The Scriptural injunction to discern the signs of the times was never more imperative than now. This involves: (1) our duty to see things as they are with objective and dispassionate accuracy; and (2) to see the present situation in its relation and perspective.

No time is isolated from its antecedent and its consequence. In one sense, to be sure, every age is separate, unique and supreme for those who live in it and in it alone. It is their one opportunity to fulfill their task, but all times are related in God's kingdom program, and those who work in any age for the coming of the kingdom must work in the light of all the past and with a view to all the future.

In each generation the basic issues have to be grasped afresh. The conditioning environment shifts its emphasis and proportion, and new demands as well as new difficulties replace the old. It is because of this shift in conditions that a new appraisal of kingdom work is necessary from time to time.

The situation today is anything but assuring. Our free, democratic way of life is threatened. We are being attacked from within and from without, but the menace of a foreign foe is not as threatening and as dangerous as the attack from within. We can and will defend our land from invasion by a foreign foe, but the insidious working of evil forces within our social order is something else altogether.

In the past history of the world great nations have been undermined by foes from within. The Roman Empire, built by the genius of the Caesars who picked up the jigsaw puzzle which Alexander the great had left, was perhaps the greatest the world has ever known. It was the first time the world had unity based upon law and not merely and only upon force. Wherever the Roman legions went they built roads and set up courts of law. Their jurisprudence is today a precious legacy of our race. But that empire fell. Why did it fall? Gibbons gives five reasons:

First, the rapid increase of divorce which is undermining the dignity and sanctity of the home, the basis of human society.

Second, higher and higher taxes, and the spending of public monies for free bread and circuses for the people.

Third, the mad craze for pleasure, sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.

Fourth, the building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy was within in the decadence of the people.

Fifth, the decay of religion—faith fading into a mere form, losing touch with life and becoming impotent to guide the people.

This looks like an untouched photograph of much of the life of our time. Some of our people are very much afraid lest the idealogies which infest the earth may infect our party politics with some germ, red or black or some other color. They have cause to be afraid, for some of the same forces of evil that destroyed the Roman Empire are, gigning at the foundations of the civilization of America, and unless they are destroyed they will destroy our civilization.

Some of these forces are:

Materialism, the destroyer of spiritual values.

Atheism, the destroyer of faith.

Racialism, the destroyer of brotherhood.

Fear, the destroyer of peace.

Liberalism, the destroyer of sacred traditions.

Lawlessness, the destroyer of civic order.

Paganism, the destroyer of Christianity.

These things are not enemies outside the gate, but potent and actual foes within the gate threatening our peace and our safety. They are doing something to us.

They have created a sense of insecurity, an orgy of crime, intense racial prejudice, economic injustice, and other evils which threaten to tear apart and destroy the unity and security of our people.

The basic trouble, the subtle force behind all these things and making them possible in our social order, is sin which is sweeping over our land like a prairie fire, scorching, singeing, seering, consuming. If our people do not see the wickedness which is corrupting our social order, it is because those who should see are palace-car passengers on the American train of life and know little of what is taking place in the country through which they pass.

Does this turmoil mark our Christian hopes as groundless and our Christian efforts as fruitless? Not at all. It is at such a time as this that a new age is born, and now if Christianity will do what it should do in shaping and directing the moulding forces of the age we are entering; if the churches of Jesus Christ will take the dominant place they should take and make Christianity an actual and factual influence in our social order, then we will realize in our homeland the rich fruits of Christianity, fruits richer by far than anything history has heretofore recorded.

This is what our churches are for. When Christ spoke of His people as salt, He was thinking of them as the spiritual ingredient that would purify and make wholesome every phase of life they touched. When He spoke of them as the light of the world, He was thinking of a light by which men's feet would find the true path of life.

Christians dare not drift through these days, hoping that the currents of life will automatically sweep them on to a holier and happier state. Our churches dare not follow where the common currents of life may lead. They must grasp the currents that flow in our social order and guide their direction. Our pastors must speak with a voice that will command the attention of those who shape the thinking of our people; and all of us must make sacrifices that will give Christianity in the homeland such an impetus as will make the world aware of the redeeming and saving mission of Christ.

This is a great age for missions in the homeland.

RAINBOW DAYS

Monday is a white day,

Fresh and pure as snow;
A new beginning for the week;
I try to keep it so.

Tuesday is a red day,

Rich as any rose,
Full of loving promises,
From sunrise to its close.

Wednesday is a blue day,

Like a summer sky;
I try to think of happy things,
And make the clouds pass by.

Thursday is a green day,

Full of hope and cheer;
Like the friendly ivy leaves,
Growing all the year.

Friday is a violet day,

When, with love unseen,
All the little fragrant seeds
Flower among the green.

Saturday is an orange day,

Like a sunset sky;
Telling us the week has gone,
With its smile or sigh.

Sunday is a golden day,

In the old time blest;
And its light of love and joy
Gives us peace and rest.

"YE MUST HAVE A ZEAL"

To have what you want, you must want that thing bad enough to work for it.

If we desire something, we don't just sit around and not work and make an effort to get it. We labor hard, and then when our pay check comes, we go down and buy it.

Christians, we wonder why we do not have more conversions, but do we have the love of the soul of man in our hearts?

Do we pray all through the week, especially for the lost? Do we work to win the lost? Do we go into their homes, and keep telling them of the love of Jesus?

No! Then how do we expect a harvest, when we haven't sown the seed first?

But, if we sow the good seed of the Word of God, we will reap a harvest of souls, for we have the scripture to back us up. "My words will not return unto me void."

"This true, we may not always see the results of our own labors, for sometimes, one sows and another reaps. But one thing we do know is, God gets the increase.

Once a couple bought a piece of land. They worked very hard, and improved this land. They put a house on it, planted an orchard, dug a well, making it a desirable place to live, thinking it to be their home. But something happened, and they had to sell the place, and move away the first year. The fruit trees were bearing luscious fruits, and the crops were green in the fertile fields.

They saw the new owners come in and gather the fruit from the trees they had planted, cultivated, and worked to get them to bear good fruit.

Even if the seed we sow can't always be a blessing to us, remember, if we love our brother we won't be envious of his reaping where we have sown. His heart will be blessed by gathering the fruits. The fruit he gathers will be a blessing wherever they go.

We do not throw the fruit away that we gather from our trees, we put them to use. So does God use the fruits of our labors to bless others, to just keep spreading the word.

As the fruit is gathered we must bear in mind the seeds are always in the fruit, and as they are planted, more fruit comes from the seeds that are in the fruit we have gathered.

Mrs. J. W. Arnold

News from the First F. W. B. Church of Raleigh

Our church is progressing fine. We have been here only four weeks, but we have found the people very courteous and friendly to each other. They have been very good to us. They are doing a great work here for the cause of Christ. We do not have a large membership, but we truly thank the Lord for all that has been done, and for the faithfulness of everyone.

Rev. Herman Wooten is the pastor of this church, and he is a very sincere worker. He preaches the great gospel truths with zeal and in all earnestness. He spends much of his time in helping the needy ones, and also visiting the sick.

We are hoping and praying that we can in the very near future be able to build a real nice church, one that we as Free Will Baptists will be proud of in the city of Raleigh. We want one that the Lord will be pleased with in every respect. Paul said, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." We can do all things through Christ who will strengthen us in doing his great work.

If any of you dear readers have any tithes or mission money that you would like to give to the Lord, I am sure He could use it in the work here in a great way. "Bring ye all the tithes in the store house that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Please do not forget that God loveth a cheerful giver. Please pray for us that He will use us to His own glory.

WHY SO MUCH SUFFERING?

The Bible speaks much about human suffering. It points out that disobedience is the cause of the most suffering which people endure. Christ had great sorrow for those who were stricken down with all manner of disease. He cured many by divine healing wherever he went with his disciples preaching the gospel of salvation. He tried to get the people to have faith and trust in him, and to live pure and clean lives, and they would not have to suffer so much in this life.

We believe a great many people bring upon themselves pain and suffering by over indulgence in a great many things which prove harmful to their bodies. For example, exposure of their bodies to extreme weather conditions, which ultimately bring on bodily impairment. Over exertion and irregular habits of rest and sleep will bring on suffering and nervousness. Some people bring upon themselves discomfort and suffering by the habit of over eating rich foods. Ambition and nervous tension for material gain, riches, prestige, personal power, etc., over a period of years impair the body and bring on pain and suffering.

When people persist in breaking the laws of the human body, they reach the breaking point and thus pain and suffering afflict their bodies as a serious consequence. The same is true with those who break the holy laws of God. They have to suffer remorse of conscience, the sting of criticism, and the dread of eternal punishment. People pay the price for the breaking of both the laws of God and the laws of human nature.

The normal life, both from the physical and the spiritual nature, is what God wants people to live. Christ went about doing good as a pattern for everyone. He set the example with respect to the way he lived his physical life. He was not an extremist in the things which he did in the flesh. He did not misuse or abuse his body. In the spiritual, he was the perfect Son of God. He was the very embodiment of all spiritual truth and holiness. While he did suffer in the flesh on the cross the agony of death, yet he did it not because of his own sin, for he had no sin. He suffered that we might live. A great many people suffer today because of the transgressions of others. This was shown on a very large scale during the recent World War. Sin is usually at the bottom of most all suffering of mankind the world over; and, if people would seek to live clean lives before God and the world, there would be much less pain and suffering everywhere.

WHY DON'T YOU LIKE TO READ?

Recently, an elderly person made this statement to the editor: "I don't like to read." We asked the person why she does not like to read, and her answer was, "I never formed the habit of reading when I was young. I wish now that I had."

We soon saw that this person had missed much in life by not having an interest in reading good literature. But today, the average person of middle life likes to read. School children are taught to read, and to read very much while they are in the public school. And when they leave school and get out in life they still read.

But what should people read most during their leisure hours in the home? We think too many spend too much time reading worthless stories and news tragedies, because over indulgence of such reading is harmful to them, causing worry, fear, dread, and wild imagination. For pleasant and most profitable reading, we believe people should form the habit of reading good magazines, church papers, Christian fiction books, the Word of God, and other such reading that will both broaden the mind and be useful to daily living. Spare moments spent at home by such reading tend toward peace of mind, happiness, and a deeper outlook on life. A good family library of the choicest books and religious magazines should really be a vital part of every American home. A well used and properly trained mind goes a long way toward personal happiness, and a peaceful home.

Walter Carter to Hold Revival Piney Grove, Duplin County

We wish to announce that Brother Walter Carter of Rockingham, N. C., will be at Piney Grove F. W. B. Church, Duplin County, on Sunday night, February 19, 1950, to begin a revival meeting.

We are asking all who will to come and be with us in this meeting. We feel certain that one and all who attend these services will derive great good from the meeting.

Brother Carter held a revival for us last fall, and we have missed him since he was here in that meeting. It seemed that every one enjoyed his soul stirring messages, and I am sure everyone will enjoy the messages that he will bring in this revival. The Bible is fulfilling very fast and we know that the world will not stand long. If you will come and hear Brother Carter's messages, I feel sure that you will be drawn closer to the Lord. If we will put our trust alone in Jesus, He will surely help us through this rough journey of life.

There is always the sunshine, only we must do our part—we must move into it. It's all a matter of position.

Give It Away

"Any man who has a religion is bound to do one of two things with it, change it or spread it," says Robert E. Speer. "If it isn't true, he must give it up. If it is true, he must give it away."

We who have found Christianity to be true, satisfying the deep spiritual hunger of our lives, must act upon the second of these alternatives: We must spread it. Each of us can do this.—Kingdom Truth.

Greatly begin! though thou have time
But for a line, be that sublime—
Not failure, but low aim is crime.

Thompson F. W. B. Church Has New Auxiliary

Our Woman's Auxiliary of Thompson Church held its first meeting on Thursday, January 26, 1950, at the church at 3:00 P. M. Mrs. Tiner read the scripture lesson for the devotions, and Mrs. J. W. Tully brought a very inspiring message on the topic, "Our Best for Christ in Right Living."

The members present for this meeting were: Mesdames J. W. Tulley, E. W. Middleton, L. E. Tiner, G. R. Grimes, Homer Josey, Ervin Williams, James Ogg, Clifton Powell, Jeanette Tiner, E. P. Tulley, F. E. Scarborough, and J. L. Wilson.

Mrs. Eugene Middleton, Reporter

Quarter Report of Woman's Auxiliary, Sylvauga, Ala.

We held our meeting with 14 members present. The meeting opened with song and prayer. Mrs. Ana Johnston was in charge of the devotions. The scripture lesson was taken from John 21:15-18. The topic of the program was: "Witnessing for Christ in our Home Land." Mrs. Lanell Logan discussed the topic, "Through Deeds of Kindness." Topic number two was discussed by Mrs. Williams. The subject was "Use of Our Time." Mrs. Mull discussed the subject, "Doing Business for God." And the fourth topic was discussed by Mrs. Pinson. Her subject was "Soul Winning."

Piney Grove Auxiliary Report

The Woman's Auxiliary of Piney Grove Church, Johnston County, held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Winston Crumpler, Friday evening, January 13, 1950, at 7:00 P. M. The program began with a song, and Mrs. Cora Spivey, the president, read the scripture lesson, and Mrs. Dora Cuddington led in prayer. The program topic was: "Advancing with Christ in the Homeland."

Following the program, the roll was called with nineteen members and one visitor present for this meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. After the business meeting closed, the hostess served delicious refreshments which were enjoyed by all present.

We are asking the many friends to pray for our auxiliary work. Pray that we may go forward in the work of the Lord.

More Than We Ask

I asked for just a crumb of bread.
Within His banquet-hall he spread
A bounteous feast on every side—
My hungry soul was satisfied.

I asked for just a ray of light
To guide me through the gloomy night,
And lo, there shone along my way
The noon-tide glory of the day.

I asked for just a little aid,
As I stood trembling and afraid.
With strength I had not known before
He made me more than conqueror.

I asked for just a bit of love,
For love is sweet. From heaven above
The words came now with meaning new,
"Upon the Cross I died for you."

REVIVALS

Naaman Borders

I will give some requisites for revivals, as I see it. The first thing for the church that wants a revival is for the salvation of the lost and for the glory of God. I feel that some people want a revival that their church might become stronger than other churches, or in order to have a good report to send to the association. Some ministers want one-third of the glory, and the church one-third, and for God to have one-third of the glory. If that is the object, you will not have more than one-third of a revival, and that will be the third that goes to God.

The next step for a church to have a good revival is for all the church to get in one accord. When there are envyings, backbitings, and sniping at each other, you will have to bury the tomyhawk, and not leave the handle sticking out. That will have to be done, or there will be no real revival. If we as church members cannot forgive each other our little faults, God declares very plainly that he will not forgive us our sins. So we just as well make up our minds first, as at last, to come God's way in the matter. There is no alternate.

Next, there will have to be much agonizing prayer. Yes, lots of prayer and more prayer. The secret of Billy Sunday's success as a minister was that he had the whole town to have a month's prayer meeting preceding the meeting. They were mostly cottage prayer meetings.

He had the town divided up into many sections, and leaders for each section. He had a band of workers visiting every place of business all over the town, and holding a service with the folks working there. He had them to urge the folks to go to church at night. When the meeting was under way, he called on all the Christians, and all that wanted a revival to form in line and to march through town with music and bannels flying. In other words, he went out after the lost and advertised.

We may not be able in the country or small towns to adhere to this method, but we must not be afraid to break away from the cut-and-dried, and worn-out customs of the past. Do something to get Old Nick stirred up and uneasy. Get the people to talk about the revival.

The next thing is to do all the organizing before the meeting starts. Every man to his place, and let him be there on time. When the evangelist calls for a song, don't begin pounding on the tenor fork, and say, "do-ra-me," but start out at once at the psychological moment. Some would go so far as to exclude sinners from the choir. I would not do that but you must have a competent Christian leader, and the more Christians in the choir the better.

Most successful evangelists do not call for seekers or mourners until they are pretty positive that they can get a response from the sinner. Every failure we have makes it a bit harder the next time. I do not think it is a good policy to announce before hand how long the revival will continue, because that gives the Devil a clue to work on in the very start of the meeting. Sometimes we have to take the Devil by surprise. I think a good way to give the meeting out is to say that we will go on with it as long as the Lord leads.

I have seen some meetings close on schedule when the meeting is just beginning in a good way. It seems to me that we do a big injury to God and his cause when we do that very thing. On the other hand, we can go to the other extreme by holding on too long.

One more thing, and that is very, very important, and please do not forget it. Have the house well ventilated and at the right temperature. That is exceedingly important. If you do not know how, go to see your doctor about it. It pertains to your health. I have been present for big revivals when the house was crowded and a hot fire was in the stove, and no ventilation, consequently all of us almost smothered. There was no spirit in the meeting. All felt so lifeless and stupid that no one could enjoy the meeting. Someone will probably cast a sneer at this, but go to see your doctor about it. He will tell the truth about it.

Another way to help your revival, or the church is to give all the Christians something to do, and do not try to do everything yourself. Make every Christian think that he has something to do, and that he is one cog in the wheel.

Then again, one more thing: Do not over persuade. When one is saved he usually knows it. Some pastors hold their own revival meetings, but as a usual thing it is better to get a new preacher because a new broom sweeps best. When you get him, let him do practically all the preaching. Changing preachers night about usually makes a flop.

When a revival is going with full headway, I think that a big long drawn-out Sunday School session hurts the meeting on Sunday. Another thing that hurts a revival is that some people will gather in the church a while before the meeting is to start, and begin to talk and to tell jokes. That hurts the spirit of the revival. As soon as the choir leader can get the sinners lined up, and to singing, the better it will be for the meeting. When the meeting is in a good way, do not preach more than half hour at most, and start your singing at once. Make your altar call and fast, and step back and praise God.

Friends, these are my suggestions. If you have any better methods, you would be doing wrong if you do not use them.

A NOTE OF THANKS

Brother W. A. Dail of Winterville, North Carolina, desires to express his thanks and appreciations for the cards, letter, and gifts which he received from his many friends during the Christmas holidays. He is very much appreciative of the tokens of love and friendship of everyone who thought of him during the Christmas season.

Brother Dail is a disabled minister with arthritis, and is confined to his home most of the time. He is always glad to have his friends to call by to see him, or to drop him a card or letter, expressing their love and friendship for him. His address is Winterville, N. C.—Ed.

The man who pays to support the Church and then spends his time finding fault with it, is undermining his own investment.

A Ministers' Institute in Georgia

A Ministers' Institute is to be sponsored by the Georgia State Association which was instituted by a move made in the Midway Association. A ministers' Institute is now in the making to be held at Mount Bethel, Ashburn, Georgia, for the first week in June, 1950.

The purpose of this institute and conference is first, educational and spiritual; second, to promote the welfare of the cause of Christ and the furtherance of the gospel by the Free Will Baptist church and its clergy. It is also aimed to create a greater love and co-operative spirit among the clergy, as well as among the laity.

The writer has been honored as the promoter of such an institute since it was through his efforts that the plan was put forward. It is hoped that the preachers of Georgia, and others are invited from other states, will take part as well.

The Camp Committee of Mount Bethel has granted the privilege of the camp and its facilities to the institute, and this institute will be conducted on the same basis, economically, as other young people's camps. At the quarterly meeting of the Midway Association, which was held recently, the ministers voted full co-operation, and the Midway Association, as a whole, is wholeheartedly behind the movement.

Rev. E. C. Morris, the Promotional Secretary of Georgia of Free Will Baptists, will also lend a helping hand in the work. Mount Bethel can be easily reached, and a picture of the camp has recently appeared in the F. W. B. Paper. This is the first of such an institution among the Free Will Baptists in Georgia. The prayers and co-operation of the good people are earnestly solicited.

Yours for the cause,

T. B. Mellette

There are those who comfort themselves with the belief that they are doing the Lord's work when they are fighting with other Christians.

First Quarterly Session of Midway Association of Georgia

The first quarterly meeting of the Midway Association of Georgia met with the Patmos Church on January 20, 1950, with fifteen of the nineteen churches representing. There were ten of its ministers present for this meeting, and three visiting ministers from sister associations.

There was received from association funds $139, which was voted to be divided between the superannuates and the State Encampment. Rev. S. T. Shutes brought the eleven o'clock message. His subject was "The Fourth Man" and following the message the congregation was dismissed for the noon hour. The benediction was offered by Rev. E. C. Williams.

In the afternoon session, Rev. J. N. Barnes led the devotions, after which the program committee announced the subject for discussion. It was: "The Duty of the Laymen to the Church and Pastor." Mrs. Edith Showers was asked to lead the discussion. From the discussions, I am sure that all of us learned some things about our duty to the church and pastor that we had never thought of before. What was said did fit every church member, old and young, officer and layman. We are hoping that some lasting good will come from this meeting.

The body adjourned to meet with Bethlehem Church on Friday before the fourth Sunday in April, 1950. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. W. T. Wiley.

Instant Decision

A teacher in a mission school in Africa had just explained the parable of the king who invited people to his feast. One of the large boys said he wanted to follow Jesus, and a little boy said the same. "Have you felt for some time that Jesus has been calling you?" asked the teacher. "Oh, no; it is only today; but I listened right off when He called." was the sincere answer.

When Jesus calls us He does not want us to wait, but to answer right off. He says in His Word, "Behold, now is the accepted time."—Unknown.

The Housewife God Can Use for His Glory

Yes, there are many housewives and devoted mothers who are consecrated to our blessed Lord that can help the cause of our Lord.

First by being a dutiful, devoted wife and mother to her household. God can't use just a gad-about. They can usually prove more harm than help. But, when Mrs. Jones, who is unsaved, has a whole houseful of little children and doesn't know which way to turn and feels like throwing up her hands, we can be of assistance. When we have just freshly sat at the feet of Jesus, and asked him to show her her need of Christ, then we can in the love and spirit of God tell her the Scripture: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. For my yoke (the word) is easy and my burden is light, take my yoke upon you and learn of me. For I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your soul."

Then, we can by close consecration be led to Mr. B. who is despondent over the future and even thinks of suicide. God can lead us to him and give him the words of life, and there is one who will always be his friend, our blessed Lord.

There is also afflicted Grand-mother M. whose eye sight is so dim she can't read the Book she has always treasured. We who have good vision could prove a blessing by reading to her even once or twice a week.

We who know Christ as our Savior can prove to be a great blessing to others, by being a blessing to others.

TO THE KENTUCKY FREE WILL BAPTISTS

I am sorry that the itinerary that was planned for your state for the month of February had to be cancelled due to the illness of Mrs. Roach. After spending nearly a month in the hospital, Mrs. Roach was not able to work on doctor's orders for another month. Sorry we couldn't come to you as planned. Hope another itinerary can be arranged later.

Despite the fact that a representative from the Foreign Mission Board will not call on you personally right now, would each of you take a special offering for the cause and send it to your treasurer. The need is great, and I feel sure that you good folk of Kentucky want to do your part. May I ask you to continue to remember my wife in prayer.

The Fight for Christian Freedom

(Lesson for February 19)

Lesson: Acts 15:1-6, 22-29; Gal. 2:16.

I. NUGGETS FOR STUDENTS

1. The Law says, "This do, and thou shalt live;" the Gospel says, "Believe and live."
2. The Law is a "yoke of bondage;" the Gospel is the yoke of Christ, which is "easy."
3. The Law could only work "wrath" against transgressors; the Gospel freely justifies all who believe.
4. The Law was a "schoolmaster" (lit., child-leader); the Gospel brings us to the Holy Spirit as our Teacher and Guide.
5. The Law could not make anything perfect; the Gospel brings perfection through the perfect work of Christ.
6. The Law was given to Israel; the Gospel is for men of all kindreds and nations.
7. The Law was the ministration of death; the Gospel is the message of eternal life.
8. The Law brought a curse upon the transgressor; the Gospel brings redemption from the curse.
9. The Law could not disannul God's promises; the Gospel repeats the promises of God.
10. The Law is "done away;" the Gospel of the Grace of God remains and is operative today.
11. The Law could not justify a sinner; the Gospel brings the message of justification by faith.
12. It is perfectly obvious from the teaching of Scripture that Grace cannot be put into the same form with Law. Men may confuse between Law and Grace, but they can never blend them. Where Law and Grace are confused, there is neither strict Law nor pure Grace. Law and Grace do not mix. They are contrasts and opposites, ruling in different spheres and exercising different ministries. Where they are mixed in teaching they are both marred, for in this case, the Law is robbed of its terror, and Grace of its freeness.

II. HEART OF THE LESSON

1. The church had been admitting Gentiles to full membership for a number of years on the simple condition of faith in Jesus Christ. However, a new generation of Jewish Christians had come into the membership in Jerusalem who were zealous for the Law of Moses, and who refused to believe that anyone was a real Christian unless he was also a Jewish proselyte. It was not the opinion of the Apostles nor of the church as a whole, but of the Pharisaic party within the church. This party sent messengers to the Gentile churches wherever they had been established and tried to compel the members to submit to circumcision and come under all the provisions of the Mosaic Covenant. This would mean absolute obedience to all the requirements of the Law. These messengers had not been authorized by the church, but they took it upon themselves to propagate this doctrine without Apostolic sanction. It is often thus with false teachers. They set aside God's established order and arrogate to themselves the authority to proclaim their version, or perversion, of the Gospel.

Such teaching brought about confusion and disorder among the Gentile believers. That is why the church in Antioch (of Syria) sent Paul and Barnabas to Jerusalem for a meeting with the Apostles to consider and iron out the whole matter.

It is important for Christians to learn to distinguish between Law and Grace. The Judaizers did not abide by the enactments of this Council, and their spirit has not died out to this day. There are still those who insist upon a mingling of the two. But the Word of God says, "If righteousness come by the Law, then Christ is dead in vain" (Gal. 2:21). —Selected.

2. Now note the opposition which was voiced by the Pharisees against Paul and his colleagues. They emphatically affirmed "that it was needful to circumcise them, and to commend them to keep the law of Moses." Thus it is seen that the same party, or faction of the Jews in Jerusalem opposed them. The Devil is ever ready to oppose the good work of the followers of Christ, regardless as to whom they are, and where they may be laboring for the kingdom. Those Pharisees were rooted and grounded in ceremonialism, sticklers to the rites and observances of the Mosaic Law, though some of them had become Christians. Old habits and practices of a great many people are hard to give up, and this is especially true with those who are reluctant to make changes in their way of living. "Those that had been Pharisees, even after they became Christians, retained some of the old leaven."—Matthew Henry. Moreover, some of them had such a jealousy for the ceremonial law, and such a dislike of the Gentiles that they did not want to admit the Gentiles into communion unless they would be circumcised. (Take time to study verses 6 through 21 to learn the further arguments on this question.)—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

3. It often is exceedingly hard to give up past traditions, or to recognize the validity of practices at variance with them. This problem is almost constantly met with on the foreign field. There are Chinese converts who will give up many things, but when it comes to the burial of the dead they think they must follow the heathen customs which have long existed. Often it is difficult for heathen who have long been accustomed to propitiate supposed spirits by charms and fetishes to believe, even after they have accepted Christianity, that they can safely drop these practices.

Once Sadhu Sundar Singh entered into conversation with a Hindu "holy men" lying on a bed of spikes. For eighteen months the Hindu had been torturing his body that he might crush the desires of self. He admitted, "I have not yet gained my object, nor is it possible to do so in so short a time. Many years, and indeed many births, will be necessary to accomplish it." Sundar Singh reasoned with him and testified as to how he had found deliverance and peace in an instant, but the other man replied, "I can never admit that salvation can be obtained as a gift, and in one short life."—Arnold's Commentary.

SOMEBODY ELSE

Paul Lawrence Dunbar

The Lord had a job for me, but I had so much to do;

I said: "You git somebody else, or wait 'till I git through."

I don't know how the Lord came out, but he seemed to git along—

But I felt kind o' sneaking like—knowed I'd done God wrong!

One day I needed the Lord myself—needed Him right away!

An, He never paid no heed at all—an'
I could hear Him say

Down in my accusin' heart: "Niggar,
I'se got too much to do;

You git somebody else," He said, "or wait 'till I git through."

Now, when the Lord has work for me, I never tries to shirk;

I drops what I'se on hand right now,
an' does the good Lord's work,

An' my own things can run along, or wait 'til I gets free—

No one else can do the job the Lord's marked out for me !

DURING A THUNDERSTORM

Do not use the telephone. The telephone wires may receive a heavy charge.

Keep away from stove, radiators and the like. They are large metallic masses, likely to become heavily charged.

Avoid screen doors or other metallic bodies connecting with the exterior of the building.

Keep away from chimneys and open screened windows.

Out-of-doors the most dangerous places are under isolated trees and near wire fences in the open fields.

Small sheds and other shelters are dangerous if isolated from larger buildings.

Thick timber is undoubtedly the safest place to seek out-of-doors, since a single tree in a forest is not so likely to receive a stroke as a single person or an object in an open space of equal area.—Country Gentleman.

RELIGION

Religion means much more to me
Than profession of some creed,
It means true Christianity
Expressed to all in need.

It means to lend a helping hand
To those of every race,
To make the world a better land,
A safer and happier place.

It means a true and faithful heart,
Pure lips that speak no guile,
In gossip never to take a part,
But help the erring child.

It means to put the best I have
In the work I find at hand
To let my light so shine that I
Will be an aid to man.

It means to give the Lord first place
In everything I do,
And when there are trials hard to face
He'll surely see me through.

The Advice of a Colored Preacher

This is a story that was told
Sometime ago to me,
And so to write it down in rhyme
I've taken the liberty.

There was a negro preacher;
I do not know his name,
Who preached one sermon only.
Each Snday 'twas the same.

Till finally in desperation
The deacons on him called.
One said, "Now brother Pastor,
We's come to tell yo all.

Dat we's gitting tired o hearing
All time de sime of tex,
We always is a knowing
Jus what yo gwin say nex.

Now we ain't allowing
Dat yo preaching ain't no good.
We blevs yo jus mix up,
Or else don understand."

"No," replied the pastor,
"I ain't mix up brother,
Jus dose lak I tells yo in dat one,
Den I preach yo nother."

—Julia Shackelford Hyers.

Some people think you have undermined the authority of the Bible just because you have raised questions concerning their opinions about the Bible.

Getting Ready for Church

Do you just come to church or do you get ready to come first? Do you ever make any definite preparation for the Sunday morning worship? Do you have the matter on your mind in advance? Do you plan for it both for yourself and for those in your home or for those whom you may influence? Do you pray for the service? Do you pray that the sermon and other parts of the worship may be helpful to you and to others? Do you pray that the pastor may be given Divine guidance in the preaching? Do you really desire a blessing for the day? Do you pray for the unconverted who may be in the congregation for that day? Do you make your Sunday School an excuse or an inspiration for the other services to follow?

We should make definite preparation for our worship. You expect the pastor to make preparation for the preaching, and while your preparation may be of a different kind, yet you are under the necessity of getting ready, if the service is to mean the most to you. And all can make this preparation. Try it and see what a difference it makes for the day. Get ready for church.—Publisher Unknown.

The Little Brown Church

"There's a church in the valley by the wildwood;

No lovelier place in the dale;

No spot is so dear to my childhood,

As the little brown church in the vale."

A good many people have sung that one-time famous song and never knew that it was a real church. Fewer still have known that it was the First Congregational church in Bradford, Chickasaw county, Iowa. The church was organized in 1855, but the building was not erected until 1862. In 1864 Dr. William S. Pitts, a physician, who had composed both words and music, sang this song in the little church, which soon after was painted brown and was ever after known as "the little brown church in the vale."

The railroad later came through two miles west of Bradford, side-tracking the town. Regular services were discontinued in the church in 1888 and the membership was transferred to the Nashua church, two miles away. The original structure is still standing and a "Brown Church Reunion" is held every year about June 15, and a ladies' organization, known as the Willing Workers, keeps the building in repair and has it in charge generally.—Publisher Unknown.

No music is good enough for a Church unless it pleases the Heavenly Father.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

THE LORD'S MONEY BOX

GRACE SIMON SWANGER

Mother was busy mending stockings, when in rushed the children. "Do I have to put a tenth of my money I earn this week in the Lord's money box?" asked Robbie. "If I do," he added, "I won't have enough to get my air-gun."

"No," said Mother, "you don't have to pay the Lord unless you wish to. You remember I have told you that we really owe Him one-tenth of all we earn, and that if we are faithful in bringing our tithes, He will bless us. So I want you to learn to give willingly to Him."

"Well, I want to give to Him, but I want my air-gun, too—awful bad. I want to shoot the woodchucks that are eating our watermelons," said Robbie.

"So do I," added Howard, "and if you'll let us take the money out of our tithe boxes, along with what we've got we'd have enough."

"Will a man rob God?" quoted Mother. "And would my lads do so, too?"

"Did He ever specially bless you for tithing, Mother?" asked the children.

"Yes, many times. Let's talk it over before you rob the Lord's money box."

A few months earlier, Grandpa had promised the older lads five per cent of the milk check for doing the milking. Howard was to receive five cents a week for gathering eggs. Mother had tithed her small earnings for several years, but this was the boys' first chance to learn both to earn and give. They had each hunted up a box for their Lord's money, and had proudly placed them by Mother's. All had gone smoothly until now. Satan was tempting the boys to spend this part of their money.

"Before you decide whether to take your tithe money or not, I will tell you a true story," said Mother. "It will prove to you how Satan tempts us, and it will also prove that God gives us greater blessings than we can think of, if we are true to Him. You all remember the thirty dollars I earned last Christmas time? You knew, too, how hard it was for Grandpa to feed and clothe all of us, with debts to meet. When that thirty dollars came, I must tell you, boys, I almost hated to put three dollars in my tithe box. You all needed shoes and underwear, and the three dollars looked pretty big. I felt the Lord wanted us to send two dollars of it to our dear Missionary Lady who gave Robbie his Bible, so I sent Harold to town with the thirty-dollar check to get a money order. When he came home I counted the change and found the postmaster had made a mistake of a dollar, and I was a dollar short. Now listen, boys. Right away a voice said to me, 'Just call that lost dollar the Lord's. He can afford to lose that better than you can. Just think of the things you need, and Christmas coming, too. What's a dollar to the Lord? It means more to you than it does to Him.'

"Who do you suppose said that to me?" said Mother.

"The old devil," solemnly answered Robbie.

"Yes," replied Mother. "And do you remember, Robbie, how I took a dollar bill and sent you with it to Mrs. Harris, who collects the money for our pastor. I wanted to pay the Lord quickly, so Satan couldn't tempt me to spend it for something else. You see he tries big folks, too, and I am telling you this so you will understand and be on the watch.

"I was so glad when the dollar was safe in the Lord's work, that I asked Him to make the rest of the money go far enough to make up what we lost at the post office. Now comes the precious story of God's love and care. Three months after, when Mother was sick and could not earn anything, one day there came a letter. It was from a stranger, but one who 'belonged to Christ,' and who had heard of us, and a check for twenty-five dollars was enclosed in His Name to be used for our needs.

"I know you remember how I cried and praised God for His thought for us, and now you understand how He rewarded my little faithfulness. Wasn't that a high rate of interest? Twenty-five dollars for one dollar! 'God is faithful' if we will be faithful. Think it over a while, boys."

They went slowly out to play. In a short time both came in again. "Mother, can't we hurry and send our money away, too, so the old devil will stop bothering us?" said Howard. They emptied the Lord's money in Mother's lap, they helped write a letter to send it to a Jewish mission. A few days later a "junk" man drove along and the boys sold their rags and old iron, and received enough for them to buy an air gun, besides tithing the money.

"You got your reward soon," smiled Mother.

"Surely God made him give us good weight," said Howard. "We never got so much before for the old iron."—The Sunday School Times.

You have to get behind your work to get ahead, and use your head to keep from getting behind.

MESSAGES FROM GEORGIA

First, we are to give the pastor encouragement by attending the services of the church. He is pleased to preach to a few, for he has the assurance that God is in the midst, but how much more pleased is he when he knows he is bringing the word of God to a large number of people.

We as laymen should make it possible for the pastor to visit every sick person in our midst. Let him know who is sick. Provide a way for him to go see them if he has no way. Since he is a shepherd he is also to go out and seek those which are lost. We may be able to help him to do this. We may have a friend or loved one who is lost. Let our pastor know him so he, too, can help us bring the lost to know the Lord.

We owe our pastor our love. He is made happy when he knows there is no discord in the church. He appreciates constructive criticism. We should love our pastor so that we will be willing to give this when we feel that it will be of help to him in bringing the word of God to the people.

It is our duty to see that the pastor doesn't suffer financially. God intends for Him to be paid through us giving to the pastor. We want to help our pastors to be able to get around in order to preach the word of God to all nations as God has commended, therefore we must pay him with our money. In this way we will be paying God some of the debt we owe Him.

We should invite our pastor to all the church's functions, if he isn't one who preaches full time at our church. Make him one of us. Do not let him just be our servant, but let him be our shepherd. Following the teaching of the pastor, and letting our light shine before men is our duty to the pastor and to God. Let your light shine the brightest when you are in the darkest corner of life.

Now, does our life represent every letter in the word Layman?

L—Do we love our church and pastor, and love the work of God?

A—Armor—Do we carry the word of God as our armor to meet life with? Are we always willing to give our arms to the service of the Lord?

Y—Yourself—Does your light shine before men so they may see Jesus in you?

M—Money—Do you pay your debt to God? You do to the county and state. Even the movie stars are paid. They aren't seen in person, but only a picture of them. Our pastors are here before us, teaching us. Why not pay him?

A—Another—Are we willing to help someone else? Tell them about God. What it takes to be saved. Let us remember when we help someone we are helping God.

N—Name—When our name is mentioned in this world do people say, "That is a worker for the Lord," or do they say, "That is a shirker in everything." Is our name written in the Book of Life?

If we have been laymen of the church who have shirked our duty in the past year, may we be able to say at the end of 1950: I am happier, I know my name is there, and my Lord can say, "Well done thou good and faithful servant," because I have done what I have done for my Lord.

Calling All Leaguers! Calling All Leaguers!

By C. J. Harvey

We aren't just calling the youth, but we are calling the adults, too. You remember reading in the December 18th issue of the Baptist of the Georgia League Rally which was held at Bethlehem Church in November. Well, hear ye, hear ye! Georgia is going to have another League Rally. When? You watch for the date in the Baptist. Where? At Camp Bethel, the State Bible Camp, which is located three miles from Ashburn, Georgia. You have never been there? Well then, you have missed very much. Where have you been so long, Georgia Leaguers? It is time for us to wake up and realize we have a Bible School for our Youth to go to and enjoy the fellowship of each other and the Lord. It is time to train the youth of our country, for tomorrow's world lies in the hands of the youth of today. Are we going to let it fall into hands working for God, or are we going to throw it into the hands of Satan? We must realize the League is a Training organization of the church, and we must support it if we want our youth to support it rather than the dens filled with evil.

It is time for all churches to work together. There are 113 Free Will Baptist Churches in Georgia. Why the Bible School and League Rally can't be a success is no excuse other than—No Co-operation—of those who call themselves Christians. Are we really Christians, or do we just hold that title? I have been to the Bible School many years, and every year there are some boys and girls who find the Lord. They all live closer to God and go away knowing they are better prepared to meet the temptations in life and turn them away. They have the inspiration to go back to their communities and put into practice what they have learned. Many Leaguers have been organized as a result of some church sending a group to the Bible School. We at Patmos have sent girls and boys since Georgia first began this—thirteen years ago. We have received blessings from it, too. It has developed our youth to leaders, and now we have some of the finest leaguers in this section of the country.

This League Rally will be a success if we make it. Let us all be when the time comes to go, then go. If you don't have a League at your church now, go anyway and I believe you will be inspired to go back home and organize one. Don't forget to tell your friends about the League Rally which is to be some time this

Baseball in the Bible

Satan was the first coach coaching Eve when she stole first. Adam stole second. Cain made a base hit when he slew his brother Abel. Moses made his first run when he saw the Egyptians, but shut them out at the Red Sea. Isaac met Rebecca walking at the well with a pitcher. Solomon served as umpire in many close decisions. Samson struck out when he beat the Philistines. Abraham made a sacrifice. The prodigal son made a home run.—Anon.

An Inspiring New Year's Program

By Mrs. Edith D. Shiver

The Intermediate class of the Patmos church, Baker County, Georgia, has presented some very interesting programs, as well as the other classes, throughout these years, but on January 8 a New Year's Candle Light program was presented which we would like for you readers to know about.

The leader gave a most interesting talk on the failures and successes of the past year. The two readers, one reading from the Bible and the other of verse or phrase read some interesting passages which were inspiring to all. As music of "Onward Christian Soldiers" was played, twelve apostles entered the church robed in white, taking their places before the leader. As the leader's light was taken from the light representing the "Light of Christ," she wished to pass it on to others by lighting the candles of the apostles. As each apostle recited a reading appropriate for the month she represented, she lighted a candle in the background of the leader. Hymns were sung by a duet during the lighting of candles.

After the leader had given a challenge to everyone, the twelve apostles marched before the audience so they might catch the radiance from the candle, letting it represent the light of Christ. Soft music was sung and the leader prayed the closing prayer.

My dear workers in Christ, these were only lights from a candle burning that made the church bright, but we can make the world bright today if we will only let our light shine—live a life that others will see Jesus shining in us. Don't let your light just shine when you are in the church, but let it be a guide for someone's life. No matter where you may be, "Shine for Jesus where you are."

Memorial Tribute of N. L. Robinson

Daddy was called to his heavenly home on Wednesday, September 21, 1949. He was born on December 12, 1867, thus making his stay on earth 81 years, 10 months and 21 days.

He joined Marlboro Church when only a young man, and was always active in church work.

Fishing and hunting were his greatest sports. On Wednesday he accompanied his only son on a fishing trip to Core Point in Beaufort County. He was taken sick on the boat. He died almost immediately after reaching land about 5 o'clock of a heart attack.

He lived at his present home at Marlboro over 50 years. He was first married to Absley Frizzelle in 1898. Surviving this union were six children: H. T. Robinson, Mrs. J. R. Beaman, Mrs. M. V. Braxton, Mrs. J. Robert Parker, Mrs. W. F. Beaman and Mrs. C. T. Fornes. Mother died on October 22, 1928. In December, 1932, he married Hula Allen. She died on November 25, 1948.

His funeral was conducted at home on Friday by his pastor, L. B. Manning of Fountain, assisted by L. B. Nobles of Winterville, after which his body was laid to rest in Hollywood Cemetery in Farmville.

It was a warm September evening
In nineteen forty-nine
Daddy left this world of sorrow
With six children and friends behind.

We don't understand all about such things
But we miss you just the same;
We're sure God said, "Come up higher"
And you were waiting to hear your name.

By doing good deeds for people here below
As long as I can remember;
You were sending material for your mansion up there,
And it was completed in late September.

You were loved by all who knew you
Your friends called you "Uncle Lace";
At home, at church, and at Sunday school
No one else can take your place.

You were always ready for S. S.
Every morning just before ten;
You set a good example, Dad
For children, women and men.

People pinned bouquets on you every day
They didn't wait until we were sad;
But said all along life's pathway
You sure do have a good Dad.

You lived your Christian life every day
Because God said, "Let your light shine
That others may see your good works"—
This sermon's for all left behind.

We know you're gone to a brighter land
This is consoling, not to be sad;
Help us live each day, and hear the Saviour say
"Come up higher and meet your Dad."

In Memoriam

This is written in loving memory of my beloved daughter, Nina Phelps who died a year ago February 9, 1949.

A year has passed since you went away,
Long and lonely it has been;
Since that dark and dreadful moment
You fell asleep to never awake again.

You've left a home so still and silent,
A heart that is aching still;
A vacant place around the fireside
That never can be filled.

Long and patiently you suffered
While you awaited the Master's call;
Summoning you to your home in heaven,
Where pain is ended, and no shadows fall.

O what a comfort! it is the promise
To a heart that is filled with pain;
That death is but the gate to heaven
Where we'll never part again.

—Written by a heart-braken Mother,
Mrs. Lillian Phelps

In Memoriam

This is written in memory of Miss Florence Boykin who passed away on December 21, 1949.

All praise to the eternal Lord,
For by her life there were souls won;
And she will be greatly missed
By all whom she was well known.

As the years come and go,
We hope to meet her in heaven above;
For in that eternal day we'll
Join the pure and the blest,
Where tears will be wiped away,
And Florence ever be at rest.

A YEAR UNTRIED

A year untried before me lies,
What shall it bring of strange surprise,
Or joy, or grief, I cannot tell;
Eut God, my Father, knoweth well.
I make it no concern of mine,
But leave it all with Love Divine.

Be sickness mine, or rugged health,
Come penury to me, or wealth;
Though lonesome I must pass along,
Or loving friends my way may throng;
Upon my Father's word I rest,
Whatever shall be will be best.

No ill can come but He can cure,
His word doth all of good insure;
He'll see me through the journey's length
For daily need, give daily strength.
'Tis thus I fortify my heart,
And thus do shed and dread depart.

The sun may shed no light by day,
No stars at night illumine my way,
My soul shall still know no afflict,
Since God is all my life and light,
Though all the earthly lamps grow dim,
He walks in light who walks with Him.

O year untried!—thou hast for me
Nought by my Father's eye can see;
Nor canst thou bring me loss or pain,
Or health, or sickness, ease or pain,
But welcome messenger shall prove
From Him whose name to me is love.

—Selected.

PASS IT ON

Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on;
'Twas not given for thee alone,
Pass it on;
Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on.

Did you hear a loving word?
Pass it on;
Like the singing of a bird?
Pass it on;
Let its music live and grow,
Let it cheer another's woe,
You have reap'd what others sow —
Pass it on.

Be not selfish in thy greed,
Pass it on;
Look upon thy brother's need,
Pass it on;
Live for self, you live in vain,
Live for Christ, you live again,
Live for Him, with Him you reign—
Pass it on.

Precious Moments of Prayer

Burdened with worries and griefs of the day?
Tired of the labors that go with decay?
'Tis vain to seek for a partner to share,
This is the time, "Precious Moments of Prayer."

Sadness and sorrow now breaking your heart?
Eyes filled with tears when a loved one departs?
Arrows keep coming? There's no one to care?
This is the time, "Precious Moments of Prayer."

Seeking for pleasure, but none's to be found?
Still listening for words that seemeth renowned?
Cross of the Master the proud can not bear.
Better kneel down, "Precious Moments of Prayer."

"Moments of Prayer" in the time of great grief
Bringeth an answer with sweetest relief.
"Moments of prayer" for needed desires,
Start the soul singing with Pentecost fires.

Kneeling in earnest, soul seeking for rest,
Daily communing; to lean on His breast.
Deeply concerned, the Bless'd Saviour is there,
Listening in love, "Precious Moments of Prayer."

ANSWERING A COMPLAINT

Some have complained about not receiving the Baptist paper each week in time for the study of the Sunday School lesson in it before that particular Sunday is passed. We do not understand the reason for this situation. The paper is mailed each Wednesday at the Ayden Post Office, and the Sunday School lesson in it is for the second Sunday following that date, or ten days after the paper has been mailed. Why the paper is not received anywhere in the United States within the eight or nine day period, in which it is in transit from Ayden, North Carolina, to the subscriber, is a matter of the U. S. Mails. We always run the Sunday School Lesson in the Baptist paper for the second Sunday following the Wednesday it is mailed, so that all of our subscribers within the bounds of the United States will be able to have their papers in time for the study of the Sunday School lesson in it.—The Editor.

Aspin Grove Leaguers Ask for Co-operation

By the League Secretary

We few faithful leaguers of Aspin Grove Church, who have attended the league so very faithfully, do think that we should have a little more co-operation from the community. The Ladies Aid suggested the organization of our league, and they gave us a donation to help us to get started in the work, but none of them have attended to help us build up our league.

We are writing this message to encourage more people to come to our league and to help us in the work. We do think that the ones who suggested it should come and help us to have a strong league work in our church.

A pessimist is one who makes difficulties of his opportunities; an optimist is one who makes opportunities of his difficulties.

The world turns aside to let any man pass who knows where he is going.—David Starr Jordan.

A friend is one who knows your faults, yet loves you in spite of your virtues.

He that would have the fruit must climb the tree.

Supporting the Free Will Baptist Cause

Damon C. Dodd, Prom. Secy.

If we are sold on a cause we will support it. This is true in both a spiritual and temporal sense. However, we are more concerned about the spiritual and that as it relates to our Free Will Baptist program.

We are not ready to expand until we learn to support what we already have. To be sure, we have carried on a good program and we have results to show for our efforts. Our Mission fields are being developed rapidly—our Bible College has grown marvelously since its inception seven years ago. We have come a long way since those hectic days of 1910. Perhaps many times we do not appreciate deeply enough these accomplishments. Be it far from me to belittle any of these truths. Rather I praise God for such advancement.

But face another truth—We have come as far as possible. "Before we go farther we must build more road." We have climbed as high as we can under present circumstances. We must support more adequately our denominational program.

JESUS KNEW THE WORKING PEOPLE

—O—

By L. E. Jones
Warren, Arkansas

I am glad that Jesus was a carpenter, for he knew the salt of sweat along life's pathway, as he preached unto the people. He knew the aches in the joints of the working people. He knew what it was to bear the burden under heavy beam, and to suffer with the suffering people. He learned the lot of every laborer, however some wish that he had been born a king with a golden crown upon his head with shining jewels. But how could such a king ever know how hard life is for the common people? How could a king ever learn the patience and the skill, and have that understanding needed for mankind?

I am so glad that Jesus came to earth as a working man, because

There are three things which we need to realize:

1. We must support our local church program with our tithes and offerings. This makes it possible to establish a "home base" on which a denominational supply line can be anchored.

2. We must see to it that the tithe is not "stored" in the "storehouse." We believe that God expects us to bring our tithes and offerings to the Church which is the storehouse, and that proper distribution be made from there. God expects that this money be invested in the spreading of the Gospel. Let us beware lest we thoughtlessly spend it all on elaborate furnishings and embellishments and forget about the greater need—"Preaching the Gospel to every creature."

3. The church must in turn support the National program by regular and generous offerings. Our Foreign and Home Mission program, Bible College, etc., are all dependent for support upon the faithful stewardship of individual members, for its sustenance, so the National program is dependent upon the faithful stewardship of the churches for its support.

Support your Denominational program. Do it either of two ways:

1. By making special offerings directly to each department of work and clearing it through your state treasurer for that specific purpose.

2. By sending an offering regularly to the Unified Program Fund, you may clear this through your state treasurer, who in turn will forward it to the National Treasurer. It will then be divided as follows:

Bible College	-----	37%
Foreign Missions	-----	28%
Home Missions	-----	20%
Superannuation	-----	10%
Publication and Literature	--	3%
F. W. B. League	-----	2%

from the first he knew the smell of sweat, and the roughness of a mangle, for only one whose labors at the bench can fully know the feelings of the laboring man. But some may not think Jesus was the Saviour. But one cannot deny that in his spirit and in his flesh Jesus was a man sent from God. He knew man's hard lot, he shared with the weary, and relieved the pain of suffering souls. Yes, I am glad that Jesus was a carpenter. I am glad that he knew how to build clay and walled houses, and that he loved the things that go on in a humble home. His hands were calloused from hard work, and his feet were rough from endless hours of toil, yet his smiles grew kindlier with each new beam that he laid in building and each stone laid.

Christ has helped me, for I am a worker as he was long ago, and I am able to stand, but when I falter at my job, he helps me to build all my walls as true and straight as can be. He helps me to be brave and kind, though I am weak at times and need his loving protection. I am asking the Christian people to pray for me that I may continue to try to do my Father's will.

Rose Hill F. W. B. League

By Bobbie Ann Smith, Reporter
The members of the league enjoyed a nice time this month. Our new officers were elected and installed. They are as follows: Faye Branch, president; Myra Stanley, vice-president; Donald Branch, secretary-treasurer; Pat Stanley, group captain; Bobbie A. Smith, reporter.

We studied our lessons all together, and everyone enjoyed discussing the things together. When we come to anything which we are in doubt about, all will take their Bibles and try to solve the doubt. In this way we learn many new things for our own good.

We desire to invite everyone, old and young, to visit our league meetings. We meet every Sunday evening at 6:30 P. M.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

A Form of Modernism—Under Cover

We have written often and warned our readers against the danger of "Modernism," but recently we came in possession of a book, entitled the "Chaos of Cults" by J. K. Van Baalen, B. D., which gives the characteristics of many of the modern "cult" religions, showing the founders and the theology of these "cults."

The writer tells us much of the "Modernist" in which he says, "Unitarianism and Modernism are one." We quote from pages 197-198: "Denying the fundamentals of the Christian religion is like putting one's feet upon a declining slope. Unitarianism in its beginning was not nearly as radical as it has since become. Gradually, however, it has drifted into a dull pantheism with no hope beyond a universal evolution. The history of the movement in the United States makes sad reading. When we learn of the manner in which Unitarians rested church buildings and property from orthodox congregations; of how little they spend for missionary work, even after a continuation of one hundred years, and not withstanding their great wealth; of the early opposition of most of the Unitarians to the anti-slavery movement; of the Harvard defense of alcoholism, we cannot help but think of the words of Jude, 'clouds without water, carried along by winds; autumn trees without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots.' One thing they do engage in: they conduct vigorous propaganda among the evangelicals by means of advertising free literature in various periodicals. Some years a million pamphlets go out from the American Unitarian Association. Local parishes send them out by the thousands."

"Of late years Unitarian tactics have changed somewhat. They now advise ministers with Unitarian convictions to stay in the orthodox churches, and work from within! This procedure is called 'strategic' by Doctor Slaten of the West Side Unitarian Church, New York; it is recommended by Dr. Palmer, the editor of the Harvard Theological Review; while Dr. J. W. Day, a leading Unitarian minister, writes, "A good many Unitarians are doing more good where they are than they could do anywhere else. They are undoubtedly capturing strongholds that we could never carry by direct contact. They are the Modernists of Protestantism who are working from within the fold . . . we want more of them and we want them where they are."

Mr. Baalen says, "Consequently we should not be lulled to sleep when we read between the years of 1916 and 1926 among the Protestant bodies the two liberal denominations, the Unitarians and Universalists suffered a decrease in membership, the former more than 22,000. Unitarians, after appropriating Universities and Divinity Schools that had been founded and endowed for the express purpose of propagating Calvinism only, now advise liberal ministers in evangelical denominations to use the property of their churches in order to undermine those churches "from within," that ultimately, "all may be one," when the unnerfed denominations shall come over in bulk."

We have quoted Mr. Van Baalen at length to show to our readers some of the things that are going on in the modernistic church and from whence these things come. I know of modernistic preachers today that are destroying the fundamental doctrines of the Protestant church as taught by our fathers and then they sing "Faith of Our Fathers," and run after every saint that they can find, trying to get them to take membership in their modernistic churches. They are a great deal more anxious to get members from other denominations than they are to get a soul saved from the depths of sin and ruin. Some of the newly made religious bodies build dance halls, called "recreation halls;" and, to be honest about the matter, they are only places of the world where fleshly desires are made to predominate. They go to what they call "worship" and then to play. They are "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." "Having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof." A religion that has to appeal to the flesh to carry on is certainly not of the Lord Jesus Christ. If it is not of Christ, then it is anti-christ.

The Federal Council of Churches in a large measure is made up of the Modernists who deny "the power," and yet we find that some Free Will Baptists are blindly accepting some of the views as put out by these modernistic teachers. Not so long ago, I heard a minister, complimenting a message delivered over the air, by a certain rank modernist, who actually denies the virgin birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, His vicarious death, and Atoning Blood. A religion that denies any Fundamental doctrine as set forth by Orthodox Evangelicals can never be accepted by a person who knows the Lord Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour. When we are born of the Spirit—made a new creature in Christ, filled with and baptized into Christ, we have a knowledge that all modernists deny.

Apostasy

"Apostasy" is a falling away from revealed truth. Dr. Scofield says, "Apostasy is the act of professed Christians who deliberately reject revealed truth (1) as to the deity of Jesus Christ, and (2) redemption through His atoning and redeeming sacrifice." Since the Federal Council of Churches is dominated largely by those who deny the deity of Jesus Christ and His redeeming Blood, according to our information on their theology, I cannot endorse the work at all.

I am proud that Brother (Rev.) J. A. Alexander, Norfolk, Va., has the grace to speak out against the Federal Council of Churches. I endorse his open letter in issue of the Baptist of January the 18th.

Further Sayings of Mr. Van Baalen

"The scope of our work does not allow a comparison between Unitarianism and European Modernism of the last century. The intimate resemblance between them is clearly borne out not merely by their theo-

Christian Education

By H. Pipkin,
Mount Olive, N. C.

Sometime ago Rev. W. A. Sellers had an article in the Baptist paper, in which he asked the question, "What is Christian Education?" While I dictate these lines, I am conscious that I am not qualified to fully answer this question; however, I humbly make the following suggestions:

The term "Christian Education" as it is generally used could mean modernism or some other ism, but true Christian education is knowledge of the Christian religion, to know what Christianity is, what it does and why it does it, to know at least in part what it has done for the individual, the church, society and the world, to know the doctrines of Christ concerning the plan of salvation, to know how to organize and deal with institutions of Christian service, including the work of the church with its various activities, such as Sunday School, prayer meetings, society work, home and foreign mission work, to know how to do personal work in helping others, to be able to think while we talk and pray while we think, to be able to distinguish between the works of the flesh and those of the spirit (Gal. 5:19-26), to be able to tell people how to be saved and how to live a Christian life, and the most important of all to know by our own experience what it means to be a Christian. After all, one cannot know the things of God without the spirit of God, and we cannot have the spirit of God without being born of God (I Cor. 2:9-16). One can have all the degrees that a religious institution can give and still be ignorant insofar as the knowledge of the true principles of Christianity are concerned.

Religious education and Christian education could mean two entirely different things. There are many religions but only one Christianity; for instance, the Jews have their religion and their religious schools, but generally speaking, they know little or nothing about Christianity.

If you would have a Christian education, it is essential that you study the Bible prayerfully as the inspired word of God with an open mind and heart for God's revelation of the truth as he may reveal it by the Holy Spirit (John 16:13).

"Search the scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life and they are they which testify of me" (John 5:39).

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim. 2:15).

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

"That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (2 Tim. 3:16-17).

This knowledge is not always necessarily obtained by attending religious institutions, however necessary they may be. Christian schools are necessary and may be essential for Christian education, generally speaking, if they really are Christian, but I doubt that any school, regardless of what name it is called, can do much toward giving one a real Christian education, and at the same time sponsor so many things for worldly entertainment as some of the so-called Christian schools do.

"No fountain can yield salt water and fresh" (James 3:12).

"Ye cannot serve God and Mammon. No servant can serve two masters" (Luke 16:13).

I hardly think it possible for any institution that advertises by sponsoring beauty parades, ball games, dances and other worldly entertainments can do much toward giving one a real Christian education. Don't be deceived by enticing words of a man's wisdom who are always learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth, who would have you believe that all you have to do to be a Christian and be equipped with a Christian education is to have a diploma from some kind of a religious institution.

"If any of you lack wisdom let him ask of God who giveth to all men liberally" (James 1:5).

Give attendance to reading I Tim. 4:13. Reading Christian literature, good books of truth, not fiction, for there is no substitute for the truth. Truth is knowledge, but there is no real knowledge in supposition and too much supposition about the Bible is dangerous and is calculated to retard or hinder one's progress in coming to the knowledge of the truth about the doctrines of Christianity. What people suppose is liable to be wrong and therefore cannot be depended upon if one is in search of the truth as the following passages of scripture would indicate: Luke 13:2-3; 24:37-38; 2:44; Acts 2:15; 7:25; 25:18; 14:19; 15:27; Matthew 20:10; John 20:15; Phil. 1:16; 1 Tim. 6:5.

Let us therefore be diligent in searching for the truth lest we be overcome by the imaginations of those who would make the Bible appear to be a mere outline and not a complete book, and we be guilty of adding to or taking from the things that are written therein. Association and conversation with Christian people would be helpful. If you would know how to lead people to Christ, let the Holy Spirit lead you as did Philip when he preached Christ to the eunuch (Acts 8:29-35). If Philip had been handing around a dirty picture show, sponsoring a ball game, a big dance or a beauty parade, the eunuch might have been still unsaved insofar as Phillip would have been concerned. Even so, there are some schools that so far have not bowed their knee to Baal nor compromised with the world in order to be recognized as a standard institution. Let us thank God for our Bible College, and do what we can to enlarge the scope of its service. Let us rejoice and be glad that God has blessed the Free Will Baptist people with this Christian institution. Let us pray that its work will always be the work of the kingdom and its purpose to send men and women, not to play ball and entertain the world, but to preach

One Hundred Years Ago

One hundred years ago the great Gold Rush to California was on! People from everywhere were heading for the west coast and certain riches. They went for one purpose—GOLD! The anticipation of success was enough to cause them to endure suffering and hardship gladly.

People from every walk of life joined the mad rush to the "gold coast." The butcher, the baker, the doctor and lawyer—all of them became obsessed with the one idea—get rich in California.

Their means of transportation were most crude. They traveled by ox-cart, mule-train, and by overland stagecoach. Some of them even went by ship from New York through the Gulf of Mexico to Central America, and thence across the narrow neck of land to the Pacific, where they were met by other boats and taken the remainder of the journey.

Many of these died enroute or became so sick that they had to abandon the trip. Fortunes slipped thru eager fingers, dreams failed to materialize, air-castles collapsed.

ALL THIS WAS HAPPENING A HUNDRED YEARS AGO!

This coming July, one hundred years later, there will be a Free Will Baptist rush to California. This won't be for gold, but for something more precious than gold. It is the National Association of Free Will Baptists, which will be held in Richmond, California, beginning on Tuesday night, July 11, 1950.

You'll be able to travel much more comfortably than your fore-fathers. Streamlined trains, swift airplanes, and fast, comfortable busses will wish you to Richmond from any part of the country. Fine highways invite the motorist to tune up the family automobile and drive on out. You will not need fear starvation, wild Indians, or buffalo stampedes. These things that plagued your ancestors who were in the gold rush will not bother you. You'll be able to stake a good claim in the city of Richmond that will entitle you to a bed and something to eat, and a generous share of that fine California hospitality and sunshine, plus the privilege of attending the National Association.

Join the Free Will Baptist "National Association Rush" to Richmond, California, in July, 1950.

TEMPERANCE FORCES UNITE

The Temperance League of America, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., and the National Temperance Movement, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago, Illinois, on January 26 and 27, in Chicago, voted to unite in one great temperance movement in America under the name National Temperance League, Inc. The unification will be completed at the Biennial Convention later this year, and united operation will be a reality not later than January 1, 1951.

Due to legal technicalities, several months of active work in integrating the two programs will be required. Major Clayton M. Wallace, General Superintendent of the Temperance League of America, and Herbert H. Parrish, Administrative Director of the National Temperance Movement, Inc., are already at work on plans for immediate united action.

Committees on Public Relations, Convention, Nominations, and Incorporation have been set up. Dr. Frank E. Lochridge of Mitchell, South Dakota, was elected Chairman of the Interim Executive Committee; Dr. Wayne W. Womer of Richmond, Virginia, Vice-Chairman; and Dr. B. L. Scott of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, Secretary.

Great enthusiasm was evident in the uniting meeting. High hopes for an intelligent, forward-looking, up-to-date program have been expressed by the leaders of both organizations. The program will include use of modern techniques of alcohol education in school, college and church groups; expansion of dry territory under local option; and promotion of legislation to reduce the consumption of alcohol. Major interest in national legislation focuses on the elimination of liquor advertising, and the passage of the Langer Bill (S. 1847) which would bar all forms of liquor advertising in interstate commerce.

The first united project will be the National Council on the New Approach to the Alcohol Problem, to be held in the University of Chicago, April 11-12-13, 1950.

EXCEPTIONAL GROWTH IN LITERATURE SALES

The increase in the sales of our Sunday School literature during the last six months of the year 1949 was exceptionally good. The increase for the ADVANCED quarterly was 2,000 copies; for the SENIOR quarterly, 1,800; for the INTERMEDIATE quarterly, 1,200; for the JUNIOR quarterly, 1,200; and for the PRIMARY quarterly, 700.

It has been very noticeable that a great number of the Sunday Schools are placing larger orders for literature all the while. It is true also that there are new Sunday Schools that are placing their orders for their literature with us each quarter. They had been getting their literature from some independent publishers, but they say that they want to fall in line and be loyal to the denominational cause, therefore they are switching to our literature.

We want to express our heart-felt thanks to all of those Sunday Schools that are using our quarterlies. We certainly appreciate their patronage, and hope that they will continue to increase their orders as time passes. We are now printing the literature for the Second Quarter of the year, and we are increasing these over last quarter in order to be able to supply every Sunday School with all the literature that they shall need for the incoming quarter. Shipments will be ready to be mailed in a few more days. It will be well for the Sunday School secretaries to begin sending in their orders very soon so that they will receive their shipments in ample time for the beginning of the second quarter lessons.

YOUTH'S BANNER AND LEAGUE LITERATURE

It is becoming more and more noticeable how the Youth's Banner is being used in the various Sunday Schools in the different states. As a consequence, the subscription list is increasing month after month. But there are hundreds of Sunday Schools that do not as yet take the Banner for distribution among their Sunday Schools pupils. They are missing something indeed worthwhile for their children and young people. We are urging them to not delay in subscribing for the Banner, and to place their orders for the number of copies sufficient to go round in their Sunday Schools. The children and young people will receive great benefit from the reading of the interesting and worthwhile stories and news items contained in the Banner each week.

The League literature is being used more and more as new leagues are being organized in our churches over the country. Our sales are on the increase for these League quarterlies, but the number of Leagues over the states are very small in comparison with the number of Free Will Baptist churches in this country. The pastors and the laymen of the churches, where there are no Leagues organized, should get busy and organize the young people and the children in the League work. Certainly, the young people of the church should have something to do in connection with the spiritual work of the church and community. More training the young people can receive from the study of religious literature of the right kind, the more will they be able to influence the community for Christ and noble living.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION AND ITS OUTLOOK

The National Association of Free Will Baptists has, by virtue of its place and position in the denomination, certain definite phases of the denomination at heart, and therefore it seeks to expand all these phases of the work. For example, it is deeply concerned about missions (home and abroad), Christian education, Superannuation, the Sunday School and the League work, Woman's Auxiliary work, the orphanages of the denomination, and the like. But for the National Association to be able to give adequate support in a financial way to any of these causes, it must first receive ample support from the local churches in all of the states where Free Will Baptists are working. The church people in the local church is the source of the financial strength for the support of the national work. Consequently, before the National Association can be of much assistance to the above named phases of the denominational work, the church people in all of the churches must begin to give more liberally for the support of the national work.

Then there is, in turn, this truth: The national organization has as its responsibility the boosting, the patronizing, and the rendering of organized efforts to strengthen and to enlarge the usefulness of the Bible College, the denominational printing presses, the Sunday School and League work from a national point of view, and all of the other phases of the work. Each unit of work should receive all the while the good will and the best of co-operation, both from the national viewpoint, and from that of the church people as a whole. All the churches constitute the whole body of Free Will Baptists, wherever they are, and therefore the overall work, from the local churches to the National Association must be in essence a unit, in purpose a central factor, and in results a common achievement.

Let the National organizations, we say, boost the state, district, and local church organizations, and seek to foster their endeavors by the higher co-operation. Let them stand by their printing presses and publications, ever seeking to lend assistance, as time passes, for their growth and improvement. Minds working together in a most efficient way always bring improvements to public causes, whether religious, or secular. It is like a large family, if the parents are thoughtful, co-operative, and industrious, ever planning for growth and achievement in their business, the sons and daughters will most likely follow them, and render worthwhile services during the years of growth and maturity.

Two Traveling Salesmen and 4,000,000 Bibles

FORREST M. HOLLIS

Condensed from "United Evangelical Action"

When John H. Nicholson stopped for the night at Central Hotel in Boscobel, Wisconsin, early in 1898, the hostelry was crowded, but there was an extra bed in a double room occupied by another traveling salesman by the name of Sam Hill.

Wanting to accommodate as many guests as possible, the landlord asked Mr. Hill if he would object if another gentleman occupied the extra bed. Hill and Nicholson became overnight roommates. Although they had frequently met in their territories, they had never become acquainted.

This chance meeting was destined to be of tremendous importance. It was to lift the moral code of salesmen to the high plane it enjoys today. It was to popularize the Bible in commercial life and stimulate its reading. This meeting started the Christian Commercial Travelers' movement, better known as Gideons.

That night when Mr. Nicholson was ready to retire he opened his Bible. "Mr. Hill, I'm a Christian and make it a practice to read a chapter from the Word before retiring."

"Good," said Mr. Hill, "I, too, am a Christian and will be glad to join you." At the conclusion of the Scripture reading, the two men knelt in prayer.

The next morning they parted, each returning to his territory. In the meantime, each turned the incident over in his mind.

Nine months later they met again in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, and began to talk about their religious experience in Boscobel.

Hill and Nicholson laid the plans for the Christian Commercial Traveler's organization. Before parting they decided to send letters to as many Christian traveling men as they knew and invited them to meet at the Janesville (Wisconsin) YMCA on July 1.

Three men were present at that meeting—Nicholson, Knights, and Hill. They organized, choosing Mr.

Hill as president, Knights as vice-president and Nicholson as secretary and treasurer.

The next step was to choose a suitable name—one that would be an inspiration, and, at the same time, fulfill the purpose of a Christian body of men.

Again they went to their knees in prayer. Arising, Mr. Hill said: "We are the Gideons." The story of Gideon was read from Judges 6 and 7. The name symbolizes the fulfillment of their hopes, for Gideon was a faithful, obedient, brave, willing and sincere servant of God.

A second meeting was held at Waukegan, Wisconsin, on Sept. 1, to perfect the new organization. Seven men were present at this meeting. Since then the organization has grown by leaps and bounds. More than 100 names were added to the roll by the end of 1899. The Gideons decided to hold yearly conventions. Realizing the need of knowing Christian traveling men when they met as strangers, a symbol of membership was proposed. A button with a white jar containing a flaming torch on a blue background was chosen. This was to be worn in the coat lapel.

The first convention, which was held at Waukegan, Illinois, July 1-2, 1900, was attended by forty Gideons. The enrollment had grown to 622, double the fondest hopes of its founders, and enrollment was increasing at the rate of 100 a month.

At the second annual convention held in Madison, Wisconsin, June 30 and July 1, more than 2,000 names were enrolled.

Like their Biblical leader, the Gideons are a faithful and sincere body earnestly striving to bring men and women to Christ. They work quietly, unobtrusively, into the hearts of men and women on trains, busses, street cars and other public places.

Since November of 1908, when twenty-five Bibles were put in the superior Hotel at Iron Mountain, Montana, very nearly 4,000,000 Bibles have been distributed in hotels, hospitals, penal institutions, public schools, YMCA and YWCA.

More than 10,000,000 New Testaments were placed with the armed forces by the Gideons. Fifteen thousand Bibles were shipped at one time for distribution in New England.

More than 4,000,000 youth Testaments have been given to the school children of America.

The Gideons furnished the staterooms of a leading steamship company with Bibles, and now the president of the company has ordered that Gideon Bibles be carried free of charge to any of the companies' ports. Thousands of Bibles in native language are now going to Japan, China, India and Palestine.

The money to pay for these Bibles is raised by voluntary contributions. Donations range from one dollar to several thousand. Funds received average about $2,000 a day. Needless to add, the Gideons are the largest individual buyers of Bibles.

During World War 11 the Bible demand of the armed forces was exceedingly heavy. At the beginning of the African campaign the army ordered 300,000 Testaments from the Gideons. The executive officers were floored. They did not have the $125,000 needed to make the purchase. What did they do but meet in executive session, and everyone present got on his knees to pray. Letters were sent out to every Gideon. The response was marvelous. The money was in the cash drawer before the end of the month, and the huge order was filled on schedule. That is the way the Gideons do business!

Of course, the Gideons do not stop with the distribution of Bibles. They are Christian laymen, giving their testimonies in all parts of the world. In industrial centers shop meetings are frequently held. Many Gideons do personal work by distributing tracts, Testaments and portions. Indeed, they are the spiritual yeasts working in the commercial world.

Regular membership is open to all commercial businessmen who are Christians. But any Christian man may become an associate member and share in the Gideon ministry.

The governing body of twelve men is called the cabinet, and consists of the four executive officers—president, vice-president, treasurer and chaplain, and eight trustees.

The society is interdenominational. Their field is the world. Their ministry is to carry the gospel to every nation. Briefly the over-all purpose of the Gideons is, in the words of the Master: "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister . . ." (Matt. 20:28).

Gideons remember the experience of Paul A Westburg, who found that living alone in a hotel room day after day was getting on his nerves. To break the spell, he picked up a Bible lying on the dresser table. It was a new experience. Though an inveterate reader, never before had he opened a Bible. As he continued to read, the words seemed to have a special meaning for him. Those old Biblical stories held him in a vice-like grip.

In later years Paul A. Westburg, past president of the Gideons, said of his experience, "A hotel room is the most lonesome place in the world, but a Bible will give you company if you'll give it a chance."

From a psychological point of view, the presence of a Bible lifts the morale of a hotel by making it more difficult for the wrongdoer. Every hotel knows of the finger loose man who takes a bath towel or bath mat with him when he leaves. But a suicide in a room is what the hotel hates worst of all, especially if it makes the daily papers.

Hundreds of dollars are found between the pages of the Bibles, placed there by men who have occupied the hotel rooms. One time a gambler who made a big winning left over five $500 bills between the pages of the Bible. Another time twenty $10 bills neatly folded together were found. The presence of a Bible has caused many a man and woman bent on doing a misdeed to pause and think twice.

The Bible is the Gideon's weapon. They tell of instances such as that of a well-known radio executive of Los Angeles, who had charge of five stations. He began to drink a few years ago and in a short time became a heavy drinker. He deserted his wife and four children and went to live in a hotel. He continued to drink and was rapidly on the downfall so that the future to him became a sea of darkness. Returning to his room one night thoroughly discouraged, he picked up a Gideon Bible on the dresser and began to read. Familiar words his mother once read to him as a child came back to him from the pages. Memories caused burning tears to fill his eyes. He fell upon his knees and poured out his soul to God, asking for forgiveness.

Suddenly, with a surge of joy, he knew that his prayer had been answered. The tangled strands of life were straightened out between his wife and himself. Today the family is happily united. The five radio stations are again in his charge, and his daily broadcast, called the Haven of Rest, is carrying the Word of Life across the nation.

South Carolina Conference Holds District League Convention

On Saturday, January 21, 1950, the leaguers of all ages met at New Town Church, Lake City, South Carolina, for a day of Christian service unto the Lord. The people of this church served a delicious dinner during the lunch and fellowship hour, from twelve to one o'clock.

The morning service included singing, devotional, and a drama given by Bethel's League, directed by Margaret Moore, all leagues representing gave their reports. Just before the lunch hour, Rev. Seldon Bullard of the Darlington Church brought the message on the subject: "Transformed in the Image of Christ."

During the afternoon session there were rendered more singing and devotions in the convention. The Junior and the Intermediate Sword Drill was conducted by Mrs. Tom Hamilton, Jr., Rev. Tom Hamilton, Jr., and Rev. Paul J. Ketterman brought messages from our missionaries. Then a beautiful reading was rendered by Inez Hyman of Mt. Elon League, which emphasized a greater need for our interest in missions.

In its business session the convention elected a committee of three people to visit churches needing help in the league work. The purpose of this committee is to promote better work among the leagues already organized, and to help churches to organize new leagues where none exist.

The district leaguers are happy to know that some of the pastors are becoming league conscious, and that the churches in other districts are taking part in this work with us. We are thankful that this work is meeting the needs of many churches where the young people need to find a place in the service of the Lord. Already the Executive Committee has begun work on the program for the next district meeting with the Darlington Church. It will be on April 22, 1950. We are praising the Lord for such Christian leadership as that of Reverend Tom Hamilton, Jr., pastor of Liberty Church, and Reverend Paul J. Ketterman, Pastor of Mt. Elon Church. In the league work these two ministers are deeply concerned. They have as one aim the training of youth for service, and they, together with the other district officers, desire that all follow Christ's leadership. They desire to point South Carolina leaguers, old and young, to the Christian way of life.

I should like to receive letters or cards from leaguers anywhere in S. C., giving information about their leagues. I would be happy to receive dozens and dozens of letters from leaguers of our state. In writing please give the name of your church, your pastor, the number of leagues and the enrollment of each in your church. Give your name and address, and any other information that you wish include in your letter. If your church has no league, please have someone from it attend the District League Convention anyway in April. You will find a welcome there, and we believe you will receive a great blessing for having attended that convention.

Yours in His service,
Mrs. Alma H. Weatherford,
Corresponding Secretary,
Pamplico, South Carolina

Report Blanks Ready

Dear Co-Worker:

The report blanks for the auxiliaries are now ready for distribution. You can obtain them by writing to the Press at Ayden. The report blanks are for the local to the District Convention, and from the local to the State Auxiliary Convention. You will remember that each local auxiliary is to report to the State Auxiliary Convention, with a delegate and contribution. The State Auxiliary Convention will convene with Shady Grove Church, in Sampson County, as usual in May. The Cape Fear District is host to the convention.

Yours in the work,

Mrs. James A. Evans, Secretary
State Auxiliary Convention,

New Woman's Auxiliary Organized at Antioch F. W. B. Church, Ga.

On Sunday, February 5th, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Harvey came to Antioch Free Will Baptist Church for the purpose of organizing a Woman's Auxiliary. After singing two songs, "I Intend to Go Through with Him," and "In the Garden," prayer was made by Mrs. Bertha Owens. Brother Harvey read some scripture from the Bible and gave a brief talk on the "Five Points of Worship." The service was then turned over to Sister Harvey, who gave a talk on the work and purpose of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Brother and Sister Harvey began this organization, which shall be known as Antioch Woman's Auxiliary of Georgia Union Association, with ten members. The members are:

Mrs. Bertha Owens, President; Freda Owens, 1st Vice-President; Mrs. J. W. Williams, 2nd Vice-President; Mrs. Pearl Johnson, 3rd Vice-President; Mrs. Mollie Owens, 4th Vice-President; Mrs. Annie Owens, 5th Vice-President; Geraldine Johnson, Secretary and Treasurer; Virginia Ruth Johnson, Berta June Butler, Melba Owens.

A collection of $3.15 was made and we bought Year Books and Manuals with $3.00, therefore, leaving in the treasury, $0.15. Our regular meeting day will be Wednesday evening at four o'clock, before second Sunday in each month. Everybody pray that this organization may be a great help to our church and community.

Respectfully yours,
Geraldine Johnson, Secy.-Treas.,

GOV. DEWEY GIVES STATE GAMBLING KNOCK-OUT BLOW

To the Legislature:

"On Wednesday of last week, when your honorable bodies were not in session, the Mayor of the City of New York had flown to Albany by New York City police plane for delivery at the offices of your leaders letters asking their support for amendment to the Constitution of the State of New York permitting legalized betting on public sports events. In so doing he said that his law-enforcement officers were unable to 'eliminate scandals involving the participants in professional and amateur sports.'

"I regard this as such a shocking, immoral and indecent proposal that I consider it my duty to lay my views before you immediately before the matter is considered. My objections to this legislation are as follows:

1. It is fundamentally immoral to encourage the belief by the people as a whole in gambling as a source of family income. It would be immoral for government to make available to all of its people a state-wide gambling apparatus with the implied assumption that the games of chance were a fair substitute for or supplement to the honorable business of producing the goods and services by which the people of the union live.

2. It would be an indecent thing for government to finance itself so largely out of the weaknesses of the people, which it had deliberately encouraged that a large share of its revenue would come from gambling. I recognize that the state and some municipalities now receive a comparatively small revenue from pari-mutuel betting at race tracks. I have always had personal doubt about the wisdom or the morality of this system, but it is confined to those who are actually able to be present at the tracks and therefore is not a lure dangled before all people in all walks of life and near every home.

DOOM OF LAW ENFORCEMENT

3. The Mayor's proposal is apparently to legalize gambling on professional and amateur sports. Obviously, if the state puts the imprimatur of approval on the morals and decency of wholesale, universal betting on sports events of every kind, then there would be no logic whatever in refusing also to legalize lotteries, betting pools, dice games, slot machines and public gambling halls with all their attendant evils with which the American people are thoroughly familiar. There is no logical place at which the line could be drawn and law enforcement would then break down completely.

4. Every proposal that I have seen for state-operated legalized gambling of any kind involves licensing by the state of betting rooms scattered conveniently and in large numbers throughout the state. These thousands of legal betting rooms would provide a continuous invitation under the sponsorship of the state to husband and wife to gamble away the money needed for the support of the family. I cannot understand how any one could relish the prospect of seeing husbands spend their time and the family's money in state-operated betting rooms. The prospect is no prettier in its inducement to wives and mothers and even children. What this proposal would do to the fabric of our society is quite difficult fully to comprehend, but it is clearly all bad.

There is an old adage that horse-players always die broke. I should not like to see that happen to the families of our state, as a result of an invitation issued by the government of the State of New York while I was Governor.

EFFECT ON SPORTS

5. Gambling on professional sports events has been the most demoralizing and destructive influence in American sports.

In the early days of baseball there were organized baseball pools which nearly wrecked the game. In the 1870s there were similar scandals and again, in 1919, the huge sums of money involved in gambling on the World Series resulted in corruption which nearly wrecked baseball permanently. Baseball was saved by the device of setting up a man of unimpeachable integrity as an absolute czar of its operations and since then baseball clubs have hired special police and exercised the most rigorous control in order to prevent gamblers from even entering their parks.

There have been scandals in horse racing for the benefit of gamblers. There have been scandals in the boxing field where the enormous sums of money involved in gambling were used for bribery and attempted bribery of boxers.

We have had these scandals even with gambling illegal. Should it become legal, with the staggering sums which might flow in, the stakes for the corruption of professional athletes by gamblers would become greatly increased.

The very idea of organized gambling, sponsored by the state, on events in which our sons and daughters in high school and college participate is entirely abhorrent. Amateur sports are even more precious to the American people than professional sports.

Millions of dollars would be involved if betting were legalized on high school and college basketball, baseball and football games, on track meets, hockey games and other events. These huge sums collected under the sponsorship of the state would provide unlimited funds to professional gamblers to seek to bribe the youth of the state.

RESULT IN PREVIOUS TRIALS

6. This proposal is not new. Many other nations have had national lotteries and legalized gambling. I do not believe it is mere coincidence that most of these nations are in bad financial condition and their people poverty stricken.

7. These proposals are not new in the United States. In the early days in most sections of this country, gambling and lotteries were open, widespread and legal. Corruption and poverty flourished to such an extent that in state after state, the people themselves revolted against gambling and established stringent constitutional provisions against it. I might add that New York state was one of the first, if not the first, to adopt this course at its constitutional convention in 1821. We were the first to take this sound position. I hope we will be the last to abandon it.

8. In recent times, we have seen the rise of powerful underworld figures built upon organized gambling in states where it was legal or winked at as a matter of state or city policy. In each instance gang wars, murder, corruption and poverty have followed in the trail of such policy.

In 1935 the State of Florida, by an act of the state Legislature, legalized slot machines. It took only two years for the crime and corruption which followed to cause the state to reverse itself, and in 1937 the action was repealed.

In 1945, the State of Idaho authorized the use of slot machines in so-called non-profit clubs. Within two years, the state-wide authorization was repealed and the matter was left for local control. Even then, the crime and corruption which followed created such a revulsion that all but one of the large cities of the state repealed their permissive local laws and last year the Governor of the state asked the Legislature to repeal the law in its entirety.

In 1947, the Montana Legislature enacted a statute permitting the maintenance of slot machines, punch boards and other gambling devices for the benefit of the private membership of religious, fraternal and charitable organizations. The attorney general of the state advises me that before long racketeers moved in and used the law to run open gambling, even displaying signs saying "Public Invited."

In 1947, the Governor of the state said: "The condition of the state is worse than it has been for many years with reference to gambling." He later added with regard to his two terms in office: "The two outstanding mistakes were when I signed the slot-machine and the punch-board law."

GOVERNOR'S OWN EXPERIENCE

9. I have had a considerable personal experience in the administration of criminal justice. At one time I prosecuted a case based upon the charge that the "Dutch" Schultz gang, with money raised from the illegal numbers racket, acquired the influence which allowed them in 1933, through a political leader in the County of New York, to name and elect the district attorney of New York county.

I also know that with proper leadership and honorable administration of criminal justice, these conditions need never exist.

The entire history of legalized gambling in this country and abroad shows that it has brought nothing but poverty, crime, and corruption, demoralization of moral and ethical standards, and ultimately a lower living standard and misery for all the people.

I am unalterably opposed to the proposal which has been made by the Mayor of the City of New York.

THOMAS E. DEWEY.

SMOKING WOMEN—HEART DISEASE

—O—

Coronary thrombosis has increased sharply among women. An article in the health magazine "Hygeia" ascribes the trend to smoking. Coronary thrombosis is a form of heart disease caused by formation of a blood clot in one of the heart arteries.

This condition blocks the blood supply to a portion of the heart. The writer in "Hygeia," published by the American Medical Association, Irene Shoehren, states that men once developed the condition from fifty to sixty times as frequently as women. Now, she states, one woman has the condition for every three men.

"Generally speaking, the reason that women have it less is that their metabolic systems take care of cholesterol better than men. Recent medical opinion is that diet has much to do with the increase in coronary heart disease."

Miss Shoehren states that tests conducted at Mayo Clinic on four groups of one thousand patients each indicate that "on the average, smokers are found to get coronary thrombosis ten years earlier than nonsmokers. Although not a cause of the disease, smoking is considered by many cardiologists to be a factor."

To the Christian conscience, smoking is one of the most offensive and inexcusable indulgences. It does a great deal of injury which is never recorded. It is habit-forming and expensive. In some cases, there is no doubt whatever but that it creates illness and hastens death. People are not healthier because they use tobacco, and all who use it would be better off if they left it alone.—Editorial in The Watchman-Examiner, N. Y. City.

"The man who says he can 'Drink or let it alone,' always drinks; and the man who just, 'takes one now and then,' takes more now than he did then."

"It will be like dynamite under the saloon if, just where he is, the minister will bring active work against it; if, just where he is, the teacher will instruct his pupils about it; if, just where he is, the voter will dedicate his ballot to this movement, and so on through the shining ranks of the great powers that make for righteousness, from father and mother to kindergarten toddler, if each will this day do what he can, just where he is!"—Francis E. Willard—The Civic Bulletin.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

Free Will Baptist Bible College
April 23-27, 1950

April 23rd through the 27th are the dates for the annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at the Free Will Baptist Bible College. These Bible Conferences have been an inspiration and great help to the many who have attended them over the past years. We have brought to the Conference as speakers some of the best preachers of our denomination. This year we have a splendid Conference program arranged which will be a blessing and an inspiration to all who attend.

Some pastors have written in already and asked for the dates of the Bible Conference this year in order that they might not schedule revivals on these dates. We think this is a splendid idea and trust that all our pastors will clear their calendar for this week and attend the Conference. We also invite the young people of our church to visit the College and attend the Bible Conference. A little later on a theme for the Conference will be announced in our church papers. Watch for this announcement and let us know if you plan to attend.

Planting a Church in a Pagan City

(Lesson for February 26)

Lesson: Acts 18:1-11; 2 Corinthians 6:14-18; 7:1

I. Heart of the Lesson

1. Corinth was a large city, perhaps half the size of Detroit. It was the center of Greek commerce. In the matter of religion it was given over principally to the worship of Aphrodite, the Greek goddess corresponding to the Roman Venus. It was a religious system that was grossly immoral. It is said that in the principal temple there were 1000 virgins dedicated to the immorality which the worship of Aphrodite required. Naturally the moral level had sunk very low, as the reading of the First Epistle to this church will show. An acquaintance with these conditions will help us to understand a little better the problems they faced later, and with which the Apostle Paul dealt so courageously and drastically. The low moral level of Corinth was responsible for the fact that whenever a man or woman lived with a loose conception of morals, it was said of him or her that they "behaved like a Corinthian." And that reminds us of the two cities of the plains in Abraham's day, whose wickedness was so great that even today we liken some of the vilest sins to Sodom and Gomorrah.

2. Among the early converts was Chispus, the very man who was the ruler of the synagogue. He and his whole family became believers. That seems to have been the beginning, and from now on many of the Corinthians also came and believed and were baptized. Let us note the order: First they came and heard the Word. That is always necessary. Then, after they had heard, they believed. And finally, as an outward testimony of their faith, they were baptized. It is evident that Paul believed in, and practiced, water baptism.—Selected.

3. In the portion of our lesson from I Corinthians Paul gives stern injunctions concerning moral conduct and against fellowship in the church with any who are fornicators or idolaters or extortioners or drunkards. He explicitly declares that the unrighteous will not inherit the kingdom of God, and he warns his readers not to be deceived about this matter (I Cor. 6:9-10). People who had recently emerged from heathenism, and who were subject to temptations on every side in a great pagan city, needed such warnings. In one place Paul speaks even of drunkenness among the believers when they met together to observe the Lord's Supper (I Cor. 11:21). Such a condition of affairs was reprehensible in the extreme.—Arnold's Commentary.

And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? verse 15. The word "belial" as used here "is generally understood as an appellative of Satan, as the personification of all that was bad" (Bible Dictionary).

It simply means a worthless, reckless, lawless being, the Devil who is always opposed to Christ and righteousness in the world. His vile wickedness, therefore, is diametrically opposed to all that Christ came to the earth to do for lost humanity. There is no concord, no argument, no unity, and no peace between the forces of the Evil One in the world. Hence, Paul stressed the fact that Christ and his followers have no likeness nor concord with Belial, and therefore infidels, atheists, agnostics, and idolatrous worshippers are detrimental to the cause of Christianity in the world. Paul emphasized the need of Christians to avoid companionships and associations with such people.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

5. Each one should memorize the Golden Text, I Corinthians 6:19, 20. Please remember: The child of God is to live in the world, but not be of it. His pure life, lived in the power of the Spirit of God, is to be so different that there will never be any occasion to question that he is himself different. The power to save is never to be found in conformity to the world, but in separation from it.—Moody Monthly.

II. THE LESSON ILLUSTRATED

Church Needs Good Separators

Perhaps the outstanding characteristic of the Christian is that he is different from the non-Christians among whom he lives. That does not mean that the Christian must be either a freak or a fright; he may be the most attractive person in the community, and his attractiveness may consist in the fact that he lives differently. We know preachers who are "good sports" with all classes of men and we know other preachers who specialize on the separated life; we hear men talk and not infrequently they say something like this, "Dr. So-and-So (referring to one of the first group) is a dandy fellow to fish with, to camp with, or to play golf with; but if I need anyone to do some praying for me, I will call Dr. — (of the second group)." The Christian who is a "good mixer" may pay too high a price for his popularity. As someone has well said, what the church needs more of is, not good mixers, but good separators. If the Christian responds to the party whip, wielded more often than otherwise by the enemies of our Lord; if the Christian participates in the dissipations of so-called high society—well, he is witnessing, but not for Christ.—The Teacher.

"I've Got Orders Not to Go"

"I've got orders, positive orders—not to go there—orders that I dare not disobey," said a youth, who was being tempted to a smoking and gambling saloon.

"Come, don't be so womanish, come along like a man," shouted the others.

"No, I can't break orders," said John.

"What special orders have you got? Come, show them to us, if you can. Show us your orders.

John took a neat wallet from his pocket, and pulled out a neatly folded paper. "It's here," he said, unfolding the paper, and showing it to the boys.

They looked, and read aloud:

"Enter not into the path of the wicked, * * Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it, and pass away."

"Now," said John, "you see my orders forbid my going with you. They are God's orders, and by His help, I don't mean to break them."—Unknown.

the gospel, do personal Christian service in trying to lead the world to Christ who told his disciples to go and teach all nations all things that he had said unto them (Matthew 28: 19-20). We should also be grateful for other institutions and pray for them wherever they are whose purpose it is to bring the world to a saving knowledge of the grace of God.

logy but also by the hateful tactics employed against those who dissent— from their views."

Of mormonism, which follows similar tactics, E. L. Mills writes (Modernistic Christian Century): "It is a parasitic religion, living off Christianity. It does not seek to convert sinners, but to make 'saints' out of church members who already have a fair degree of saintliness."

In later writings I shall have something more to say about Modern-day "Cults." In order to get this evidence, just watch the F. W. B. paper. Keep your subscription going and get others to subscribe. Tell them about what is coming. Any religion that denies the deity of Christ, adds to the Bible, or takes away from the Bible, or claims that Jesus Christ was and is not what the Bible teaches, I am against it. Any man or woman that starts any such in the Free Will Baptist Church, I shall fight to get him out and to keep him out as long as I live. And with a sound Bible College, fundamental teachers, like we have in our Bible College at Nashville, Tenn., I feel that the modernist have but little chance to get a foot hold in our ranks. I am satisfied to say that we have a bulwark against modernism in our Bible College. Let us urge all to support and patronize the Free Will Baptist Bible College and produce fundamentalism on a larger scale.

Look and Listen

February is Cragmont Month in North Carolina. I have just read a letter sent out by Mrs. N. E. Harris of Rocky Mount, who is at the head of the drive for funds during February for this great project. We are praising God for Cragmont. Let us put the place on the map in reality. Let us show to the world, that we are interested in a place where we can meet and gain instruction and fellowship for great things. Amen.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Bryan
Have a New Daughter

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Bryan of Rocky Mount, N. C., are happy to announce the birth of a daughter, Jo Ann, at Park View Hospital, in Rocky Mount. The Bryans have two other children, Howard and Edgar, ages 7 and 9. Rev. and Mrs. Bryan spent several years in Nashville, Tennessee, where he graduated from the Free Will Baptist Bible College, in the spring of 1947. Coming back to North Carolina, Rev. and Mrs. Bryan made their home in Durham. For two years Mr. Bryan was pastor of the Calvary church there. In August of 1949 Mr. Bryan accepted a unanimous call to become pastor of the church here. In November, after his arrival, the Rocky Mount church purchased an additional lot, adjoining the church's property. On January 18, 1950, in conference, the congregation voted unanimously to begin the new church auditorium, which was planned under the pastoral care of Rev. A. L. Reynolds, now of Kinstan, N. C. As early as the congregation can realize the new auditorium for worship they plan to convert the old auditorium into an educational building, which the church is in dire need of, even at the present.

The church is in complete harmony and is a lovely organization. The church puts out a special bulletin each week, edited by the pastor, which includes all special church news, announcements and the order of service for the Lord's Day. If anyone reading this article wishes to have the bulletin you may have it by the asking. Just write our pastor and request that he add your name to the mailing list. If you are in Rocky Mount during any of our services or have friends living in the city, we would be happy to have you and them visit our church. We realize we are undertaking a great responsibility, but we are striving to please the Master, in trying to supply the need in Rocky Mount for the Free Will Baptist Church. Our pastor stays busy doing all he can to reach the unchurched of our city; our church is behind him seemingly one-hundred percent to sacrifice, to see God's will done. The task is great, the laborers are few. We, as a church, are trusting God and plan to see it thru.

If any friend or friends of the church wish to send a donation on the new church building, feel free to believe it will be used for a worthy cause. We will be happy to receive it. If requested our treasurer will mail your receipt immediately upon receiving your offering. Address all mail to: First Free Will Baptist Church, Rocky Mount, N. C.

Do not forget to pray for us in our undertakings, for we are keenly conscious of the need of your earnest prayers and support.

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

It's doing your work the best you can,
And being just to your fellow-man;
It's making money, but holding your friends,
And staying true to your aims and ends.
It's figuring how and learning why,
And knowing where the pitfalls lie.
It's dreaming a little and doing much;
It's keeping always in closest touch
With what is finest in word and deed;
It's being thorough, yet making speed;
It's daring blithely the field of chance;
With making labor a brave romance;
It's going onward despite defeat
And fighting staunchly, but keeping sweet;
It's being clean and playing fair;
It's laughing lightly at Dame Despair;
It's looking up at the stars above,
And drinking deeply of live and love;
It's struggling on with a cheerful grin,
It's heeding the cry in the tempest's din;
And making better this good old earth;
It's sharing sorrow, and work and mirth;
It's serving, striving, through strain and stress;
It's doing your noblest—That's Success.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

KENNETH'S DEBT

"Mother, I want it just dreadfully; and it don't cost but a quarter."

But Kenneth's mother only replied patiently, as she had done several times before:

"I am sorry, dear; but I can't give you even a quarter."

"All the same, I'm going to have that rooster," Kenneth proclaimed to the younger children, who gathered around him. "I never can have anything. Mother could give me that quarter just as well as not." In his heart he knew this charge was not true, but it made him feel better to say so.

When the children came trooping in to supper that night, Ray ran to her mother, her blue eyes shining with excitement.

"Mother, mother," she cried, "Kenneth's got the banty rooster, and the coop is all made for it; and bimeby he's going to have a hen and lots of little chickens and sell the eggs, and buy a farm, and we're all going to live there."

Kenneth looked somewhat defiant as he took his seat; but, when his mother said gravely, "Where did you get the rooster, Kenneth?" the answer was prompt and frank. "Don't you worry about that, Mother. That's all right, honest it is."

Mrs. Miller was in the habit of trusting her children, so the subject was dropped. The rooster flourished in his new home, and all the children fed him, hung over his coop, and counted the number of times he crowed. Matters went on smoothly for a while until one day at luncheon Ethel announced, with her most elder-sisterly air:

"Kenneth Miller is going to be arrested, and I saw the policeman that's going to do it. That lady told me so, the one you borrowed the quarter from."

Mother drew the frightened boy into her room, and closed the door. Then Kenneth confessed.

"I borrowed it, Mother. The lady that lives across the street from the lady that was going to sell me the rooster, she knew I didn't have any money, so she said she would lend it to me. I mean to pay her. I do, honest."

"What are you going to pay her with?" Mother asked. "You haven't any money, and Mother told you she could not spare any."

"I thought maybe you could spare it by and by, or maybe Eddie or Nan would give it to me, or maybe I might find it on the walk, like Jimmy Lawrence did."

They talked it over a little more, and together they decided that Kenneth must make his own plans to pay his debt.

He wore a very puzzled face for several days, and once, coming close to his mother, he breathed a woebegone sigh:

"Mother, isn't it just dreadful to owe things and have bills?"

One night Eddie came in hurriedly, and called upstairs, "If any of you children will take this package to town, I'll give you five cents."

Kenneth's face lighted up, and he sprang forward eagerly. "I will, Eddie," he cried, and was out of the gate like a flash.

That nickel was the beginning. The next morning the boy shouldered a small spade which belonged to Papa, without a word to any one, started down the street. Going bravely to door after door, he asked, "Do you want your flower beds spaded up? I'll do it for ten cents."

Two people said yes; and so in the hot sun, hour after hour, sometimes struggling to keep back the tears, the boy dug away, and by the middle of the afternoon he had twenty cents. On the way home he stopped again at Mrs. Demorest's and gave her the money.

"That boy has got good stuff in him; he'll make a fine man some day," she remarked to her husband as the gate closed behind the tired little laborer.

His head ached, he was tired, he was hungry; but he had never been so happy in his life as when he climbed to his old seat on his mother's lap, and whispered in her ear:

"I am not ever going to have any bills again, Mother dear; I'm going to pay cash."—Morning Star.

A Correction

I wish to say to the readers of the Baptist paper that in my article on the subject: "So Great Salvation," the last sentence in the second paragraph should read as follows: "and only by the presence and power of God can we keep the evil spirit from coming in to possess the house that was swept and made clean when we were saved." In the third paragraph where I referred to Samson, it should read as follows: "and we like Samson may awake to find that we have been shorn of our spiritual strength with our spiritual eyes plucked out, ready to be destroyed with those who rejoice over our failure to hold out."

Western N. C. Church
Leader Visits New Bern

New Bern, N. C., February 7.—Saint Mary's Free Will Baptist church had as guests over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. David L. Ballard of Weaverville, in the mountains of western North Carolina, father and mother of Rev. L. E. Ballard, pastor of the church.

Mr. Ballard, who for over fifty years has been an active church leader and lay-preacher, participated in both the morning and evening services of the church here Sunday. He sang in the morning program, and at the evening service thrilled the congregation with a message on "Heaven", climaxed by the rendering of a duet adaptation of the popular old song, "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be," which was written by one of his friends and neighbors many years ago, and often sung by the gospel choir led by Mr. Ballard for around thirty years. His grandson, Beverly Ballard, sang the second part in the duet.

The smiling elderly couple made many friends while in New Bern. The congregation gave them a very hearty informal reception after the morning service, and many members of the church called at the parsonage Sunday afternoon and on Monday to pay their respects.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballard left early Tuesday morning to return to their home "Union Valley," near Weaverville. Mr. Ballard was extended a unanimous invitation to pay a return visit as guest speaker at any date he may find convenient.

SILENT FORCES

Silence marks the working of the greatest forces of life. No ear hears the sun draw up into the sky the countless tons of water that falls in rain. No man hears the groaning of the oak's fibers as it grows to its strength and height. Noise is usually an after effect, and does not often accompany initial power. Sounding brass and tinkling cymbals are noisy, but not powerful. So the will reaches its decision in silence, it does not need much shouting to know when a man is in earnest.

Love grows without a sound. The great Fisher of men worked quietly as fishers usually do, and, as Isaiah said, not crying nor lifting up His voice in the streets, yet He was doing His Father's work every minute. We need not become anxious when our sincerest work makes no great noise nor has no immediate effect. If we are deep in earnest, let us do what we can to keep still.—Publisher Unknown.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Mrs. Eliza Fillers

Mrs. Eliza Fillers passed away at a local hospital in Greenville, Tennessee, Wednesday, January 25, 1950, after several weeks of suffering.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Jesse Laws, a former pastor of Harris Memorial Church of Camp Creek, of which the deceased was a faithful member. She spent many years caring for a blind companion who will miss her careful attention.

She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Douglas, and a son, Oscar, of Camp Creek, one brother, Noah Green of Afton and seven grandchildren. Two small children preceded her to the grave.

To the sorrowing loved ones:

"Clouds of sorrow and of sadness
Come into the lives of all;
May you feel God's presence with you,
As these shadows o'er you fall."

Sunday School Convention Report

The Sunday School convention of the Second Union meeting district of the North Carolina Central Conference convened with Sweet Gum Grove Church on January 29, 1950. The devotions were conducted by Lloyd Johnson. He chose as his scripture lesson the 92nd Psalm. The theme was praising God and doing our part in God's work. The hymn "Sweet Bye and Bye" was sung and prayer was followed by Brother Johnson. Then another song entitled "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung.

Mr. J. W. Rawls delivered the address of welcome, and Charles Buck gave the response. Rev. M. L. Tyndall who delivered the convention message used as his theme: "Separated and Set Apart for God's Service." An offering was taken for the Anna Phillips Educational Loan Fund. It amounted to $32.53. Then the congregation sang the hymn: "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," following church the convention was adjourned for the lunch hour.

Following the lunch period, the congregation re-assembled in the church and the service began with the song, "I'm Thine O Lord." The afternoon devotions were conducted and a girls' quartet was rendered by Pleasant Hill Church singers. The choir sang "There's No Friend to Me Like Jesus." A report was given by Connie Hines concerning the progress of the Sunday School Convention since its organization several years ago.

The subject: "How to Make the S. S. Convention a Better One" was discussed. After all the reports from the various committees were made and received, a standing vote of thanks was given to the local church for the kind hospitality shown this Sunday School Convention.

THE WAY OF LIFE

ELDER T. M. CARTER
Brunswick, Ga.

With eyes downcast, and countenance sad,
The boy plodded where once he was glad,
His career all blighted, ambition in flight,
Life to him was as dark as night.

No one for him seemed to have a care,
Whether he was here or whether he was there;
And the unkind words which he had heard,
Made life seem hard and his vision blurred.

Discouraged and sad he walked wearily on,
Seemingly un-noticed by the passing throng;
He was lost in thought as to what turn to make,
And not even knowing which road to take.

The thoughts revolved many times in his mind,
Why couldn't man to others be kind?
When a kindly look or an encouraging word,
Could cause ambition again to be stirred.

At last he thinks of Him above,
His bountiful gifts of wondrous love.
He took his case to the Savior in prayer,
And peace of mind came to him there.

New ambition at once began to arise,
Because of the message from out of the skies.

His steps once more were lithe and gay,
And around his lips a smile did play.

With a happy heart he filled the air with song,
And faced again the rushing throng;
Clinging faithfully to the Lord's strong arm,
The One who could keep him from all harm.

When life is sad and fate seems unkind,
Keep constantly one thought in mind,
That the One who loves us is always near,
To banish away all sorrow and care.

And as we live in this world below,
There is One to whom we can always go,
Who will bring us comfort and good cheer,
And all of our sorrows readily bear.

Lift up your face ye down-cast soul,
Trust in God to make you whole.
He'll keep you pure and clean within,
And then at last we will live with Him.

THE AIR PLANT

A surveying party in Florida were resting at noon in a forest when one of the men exclaimed, "I would give fifty cents a swallow for all the fresh, cold water I could drink." He expressed the sentiment of the others, and there was not a spring or a stream anywhere in the vicinity.

While the men were thus talking, the surveyor saw a crow put his bill into the cluster of broad, long leaves growing on the side of a tall cypress. The leaves were those of a peculiar air plant. They were green and bulged out at the bottom, forming an inverted bell. The smaller end was held to the tree by roots grappling the bark. Feeding on the air and water that it catches and holds, the air plant becomes a sort of cistern. The surveyor quickly sprang to his feet with a laugh. "Boys," he said, "that old crow is wiser than all of us. He knows that there are a hundred thousand water tanks in this forest."

"Where?" they cried.

The surveyor cut an air plant in two and drained nearly a pint of pure, cold water from it. The men did not suffer for water after that, for every tree in the forest had at least one air plant, and almost every air plant contained a generous drink of water.—Sabbath School Visitor.

A HERO

A few years ago, a fire broke out in a charming little Swiss village. One poor man was in greater trouble than his neighbors, even. His home and cows were gone, and so was his son, a bright boy of six or seven years. He spent the night sorrowfully wandering among the ruins.

Just as daybreak came, however, he heard a well-known sound and, looking up, saw his favorite cow leading the herd, and coming directly after them was his boy.

"Oh, my son, my son!" he cried, "are you really alive?"

"Why, yes, Father. When I saw the fire, I ran to get the cows away to the pasture." "You are a hero, my boy!" the father exclaimed.

But the boy said: "Oh, no! A hero is one who does some wonderful deed. I led the cows away because they were in danger and I knew it was the right thing to do."

"Ah!" cried the father, "he who does the right thing at the right time is a hero." —Selected.

Fourth Union Meeting Report

The Fourth Union meeting of the North Carolina Central Conference convened with Daniel's Chapel in Wilson County on January 28, 1950. Rev. T. P. Ellis led the devotions and the welcome address was given by Mrs. J. E. Barlett. The response was by Rev. N. D. Beamon. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. All of the churches in the union meeting district represented with an offering. The ministers present were as follows: H. T. Sowers, L. B. Manning, R. C. Proctor, N. D. Beamon, T. P. Ellis, J. D. Vernelson. The visiting minister was A. L. Williams from the Western Conference.

Special music was rendered by Otter's Creek and Aspin Grove quartet. Following the music the union entered into a business session. Committees were appointed, and Spring Branch Church, Greene Co., invited the union to convene the next time with them in April, and the union accepted the invitation.

Since the roads were bad, a motion was made and carried for us to have the union on Sunday at the Black Creek School auditorium, and for the union to take care of any expense that might be incurred by its being held at the school. At this time special music was rendered by Harrell's Chapel quartet. The business was then called off for the Union sermon. Rev. L. B. Manning delivered a wonderful sermon. His scripture lesson was taken from St. Matthew, chapter 26. His subject was "Where Art Thou?"

The devotions for the afternoon session were conducted by J. D. Vernelson. Special music was then rendered by a duet from Water Branch, Otter's Creek, and Aspin Grove quartet. An offering of $25.28 was then taken for the orphanage at Middlesex. The committees made their reports which were accepted as a whole. A motion was made by L. B. Manning and seconded by N. D. Beamon to send $25 to Cragmont Assembly. This motion was carried. A motion was made by L. B. Manning and seconded by N. D. Beamon for J. C. Cobb to represent the Fourth Union in the Stockholders meeting in the Church Finance Association. A motion was made by L. B. Manning and seconded by R. E. Hart for N. D. Beamon to represent the Fourth Union in the Stockholders' meeting of the Free Will Baptist Press. This motion was carried. A special number was then rendered by Harrell's Chapel quartet. A motion was made by L. B. Manning and seconded by H. T. Sowers to enroll Allen G. Baker as a licensed minister. This motion was carried, and Brother Baker's name was entered on the roll of ministers as a licensed minister.

A motion to adjourn was made by L. B. Manning and seconded by R. E. Hart. This motion was carried. After a rising vote of thanks for the fine hospitality shown this union by Daniel's Chapel was extended by the union, the meeting closed to meet the next time with Spring Branch Church in Greene County on April 29, 1950.

THANK GOD FOR THE HARD THINGS

God loves His people and that is the reason He is proving them and trying them. He prepares them for the life which is to come. Sometimes the testing is hard, sometimes the battle is hot, but nevertheless God still lives to show Himself strong in behalf of those who trust in Him.

God was with Jehosaphat when he was made king because he sought after God and not after Baalim (II Chron. 17:4).

The Lord is with those who trust Him and those who seek after Him, but it seems as if there are very few to-day who are seeking after God.

God was also with Daniel, because he trusted in Jehovah and staked his life on the promises of God. God wonderfully proved Himself a great Deliverer.

Did you ever think that God is always watching and looking at your life? Do you shrink from the tasks that He gives you to do? Is your life a ray of sunshine every day or are you sometimes controlled by circumstances?

Every Christian ought to be a light and a witness for Jesus Christ. That means to keep the feelings in the background and let only Christ be seen.

How beautiful is the life of one entirely yielded to God! How interesting! One who really lives for God finds life very wonderful, and really, it is not a bit dry. The man or woman who leads a Christian life finds it far from being a humdrum sort of life, as the world says they are living. But there is always something happening to make a Christian's life interesting. If we did not have any hard trials to go through or any battles to fight we never could enjoy the sweetness that comes our way. How much more we enjoy the sunshine after a heavy storm!

Let us thank God for the hard things, as well as for the pleasant things, and praise Him for the shadows as well as for the sunshine. "Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered" (Rom. 4:7). Praise God!—E. M. Swacha.

The knot was tied; the pair were wed,
And then the smiling bridegroom said
Unto the preacher, "Shall I pay
To you the usual fee today?"

Or would you have me wait a year
And give you then a hundred clear,
If I should find the marriage state
As happy as I estimate?"
The preacher lost no time in thought,
To his reply no study brought,
There were no wrinkles on his brow:
Said he, "I'll take three dollars now."

If I Had Prayed

Perhaps the day would not have seemed so long,
The skies would not have seemed so gray,
If on my knees in humble prayer
I had begun the day.
Perhaps the fight would not have seemed so hard,
Prepared, I might have faced the fray
If I had been alone with Him,
Upon my knees, to pray.

Perhaps I might have cheered a broken heart,
Or helped a wand'rer on the way,
If I had asked to be a light
To some dark soul today.
I would remember just the pleasant things,
The harsh words that I meant to say
I would forget, if I had prayed
When I began the day.

I think I could have met life's harder trials
With hopeful heart and cheerful smile
If I had spoken with my Lord
Just for a little while.
And, if I pray, I find that all goes well,
All care at His dear feet is laid;
My heart is glad—the load is light
Because I first have prayed.

Ridge, and Stony Point Church were read and adopted.

Virgil Smith conducted the song service for our morning worship, singing "Just Over in the Glory Land," and "When the Saints Go Marching in." Prayer by Rev. D. A. Hatcher. Message brought by Rev. E. M. Grubbs, subject: "Together in the Lord's Business." Scripture read, Jonah 1:1, 2, 3. Text Luke 2:49. Morning session closed by singing, "Nothing But the Blood." An old fashioned hand shake and prayer by Rev. D. A. Hatcher.

Afternoon Session

Song service was conducted by Virgil Smith; the congregation singing, "When I See the Blood." Devotion conducted by Rev. G. L. Burroughs. Scripture reading, Exodus 40th chapter.

Next, order of business was reporting of committees. Report of treasurer pro-tem, $9.00 dues collected. Report of general business, and all items were accepted. Report of nominating committee accepted. Report of resolution committee accepted.

Motion made and carried for chairman to make arrangements for fifth Sunday Rally.

Virgil Smith led song, singing, "There Shall Be Showers of Blessings," while offering was being taken. Motion made and carried to take $10.00 out of treasure for offering.

The moderator appointed Rev. E. M. Grubbs, Rev. Syden Henry, and Rev. Giles Givens as a committee to further the cause of temperance work.

Rising vote of thanks was given Stony Point Church. We adjourned to meet with Pleasant Ridge Church, April 8, 1950. Dismissed moderator, Rev. J. L. McIntosh.

The Passing of the Picket Fence

By George W. Waggoner

I suppose that most of you know what a picket fence is. Some of the children may not. There are very few to be seen anymore. But the picket fence is a thing that is familiar to you older people. Maybe some of you helped build them. They have now passed; as many other things have, and more modern things have replaced them. There are many fond memories associated with this age of picket fences. Our purpose is, of course, to note the spiritual things of that day and compare them with today.

Spiritually speaking, many fences in life have been taken down—they have passed away along with the old picket fence. A fence is something that hedges us in. It keeps us within certain boundaries or limits. These spiritual fences are good things. They are not only good, they are godly. We are human and sinful. We don't know, many times, the dangers of sin and we couldn't cope with them if we did. The devil is too strong for us. There is always that inward struggle in every person. This is the testimony of the Apostle Paul in Romans 7. Among other things he says, "Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me. I find then a law, that, when I would do good, evil is present with me." But God has surrounded us with certain fences which are a means of His help to us. By these means We can come thru with victory. The sad thing about it all is that, as I have said, many of them passed with the old picket fence. Let us notice some of the fences that have been taken down in life:

The passing of the family altar is one. God meant for us to worship in our homes to help ourselves and to help one another. "—and thou shalt teach them (commandments) diligently unto thy children—" Deuteronomy 6:7. And again in Proverbs 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. "Our forefathers did these very things. But show me the families today that take time for family Bible study and prayer. Oh, some do once in a while; but do they do it daily? The family altar has passed away. We argue that we are too busy and I'll admit we're living too fast. Should we leave off God's work or something else? Young children demand our attention during the time that we should worship, oft-times, but I believe we could find time if we sincerely wanted to. We find time for everything else we want to do. We need this fence in our lives.

Another thing concerns Sunday observance. It is not what it used to be. One of the Ten Commandments is "Keep the Sabbath day to sanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee." Again our forefathers were strict in regard to this. But this that would fence us in and help mold our lives for God, has passed. Just notice how many business houses are open on Sunday. Listen to the factory whistle. You can't tell what day it is. Watch the traffic—people going places for pleasure or for business. I know our world is complex, but it ought not to be so complex that we rule out the God who made us.

A third thing that has largely passed out of our lives is Bible reading and study. "Study to shew thyself approved unto God—" (2 Tim. 2:15). And Psalms 119:105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." The very thing that would draw us close to God and give us strength is no longer real in our lives. Church members are reading novels and love stories and letting their Bibles mildew.

A fourth thing is one idea that has taken the day and is ruining the home. It is in regard to taking care of our children. This is the parents responsibility. Who would have thought a few years ago that we would have parents hiring baby-sitters and then going out on wild parties during all hours of the night? There is no use to go on. You know what has happened in the modern home. Children don't obey their parents like they used to. Parents don't know where they are a lot of the time. Only this week a man came to our school and wanted to know if his little boy (about three years old) was there. It's about five blocks and across two main streets and a railroad from his house. He wasn't there but had been two or three times before.

I could go on and list and discuss other things that are passing with the picket-fence, like respect for and of women, pure talk, refraining from drinking, honesty, etc., but we won't take the time. God has said, "Thou shalt" or "Thou shalt not" because He can see our future and he knows what is best for us. We are hedged in with moral, social, and physical laws. They are for our good but we continually flirt with danger and try to break them. The story of Adam and Eve is an every day occurrence to all of us. We are living in a beautiful world. We have everything we need for our good. Yet we're continually doing what God has said we should not do or we're not doing what God has said we should. We are reaching through the fences that have hedged us in. We must pay the consequences of this sooner or later. In Ecclesiastes 10:8 the writer says "... whoso breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him." This can be implied spiritually. One little thing, done in a moment can ruin our character. It takes a long time to become famous but we may become notorious overnight.

God only knows the results of the passing of these fences from our lives. We know, in part, that our lives can't tell for Him as they ought to if we let the fences down. They cannot be fruitful or happy or even spiritual. Let's do our part in keeping them from passing, or in rebuilding the ones that have passed.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

In the book "The Chaos of Cults" by J. K. Van Baalen, B. D., some startling assertions are made, depicting and showing up the fallacy of many of these cults, among whom a great many things are said about the Mormon religion. Of course those of us who know the word of God, realize that the foundation of Mormonism was started by one Joseph Smith, and followed up by one Brigham Young, men who believe in plural wives. It is said that Brigham Young had 25 wives, and this book states that Brigham Young said: "Jesus Christ was a polygamist; Mary and Martha, the sisters of Lazarus, were his plural wives and Mary Magdalene was another. Also, the bridal feast of Cana of Galilee, where Jesus turned water to wine, was on the occasion of one of his marriages."

Another of the Mormon apostles said: "We say it was Jesus Christ who was married (at Cana, to Martha and Mary) whereby he could see his own seed before he was crucified." This was said by Apostle Orson Pratt."

Mr. Van Baalen gives references to Mormon books, giving book and page. Yet with such doctrines as taught by the founders of Mormonism, they are sending out all over the country "elders two by two" who proselyte, whenever possible by their strategy, many who are not informed of the real foundation of Mormonism. They never tell the truth about the doctrine. They give a little and wait until they have seduced the person, thus saving the "strong meat" until after they have accomplished their first steps in getting their prey. I am reminded of Jude, verses 17, 18, "But beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their ungodly lusts. These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit."

I am bound to say that the man who wants plural wives is following the flesh. It is claimed that polygamy is not practiced today by the Mormons, but it is believed by them; and, as Mr. Baalen says, "true Mormons must long for the time when the practice of Polygamy shall be restored."

THE VIRGIN BIRTH

Brigham Young, successor to Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism, said, according to Mr. Van Baalen: "When the Virgin Mary conceived the child Jesus, the Father had begotten him in his own likeness. He was not begotten by the Holy Ghost. And who was the Father? He was the first of the human family . . . Jesus our elder brother, was begotten in the flesh by the same character that was in the garden of Eden, and who is our Father in Heaven." And again we must say that Brigham Young was a blasphemer when he said, "Jesus was begotten in the flesh." The Bible teaches, "Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take Mary thy wife; for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost" (Matt. 1:20) And again, "But when the fulness of the time was fully come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law. To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons (Gal. 4:4,5). Thus we cannot believe that doctrine of "Brigham Young."

To say that Jesus was begotten by the flesh is outrageous to me, and outright blasphemy against the Holy Ghost. Well, the doctrine that makes Christ no more than man is contradictory of the inspired word of God, whether it is said by a Mormon or by a Unitarian, Universalist, Modernist, or an infidel. To take the Virgin Birth out of the religion as given to us by the Lord Jesus, is to dispute the word of God.

Every Christian should have a copy of "The Chaos of Cults" in his library, and thus be prepared to meet the doctrine of any if the "Cults" that come along. The book is published by Wm. B. Eerdman's Publishing Company, Grand Rapids, Mich.

WHAT ANOTHER AUTHOR SAYS

"The Father has a body of flesh and bones as tangible as man's" (Doctrines and Covenants Sec. 130, page 3). Yes, the founder of Mormonism says the Father is a man with flesh and bones. But here is what Jesus says, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and truth" (John 4:24). But we quote more of what Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism, taught, which is false. "God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens. This is the great secret!" (so says Joseph Smith, April 7, 1848).

Now we quote Brigham Young, according to "False Doctrines," by E. E. Shelhamer. Get this and compare it with what God says, "When our father Adam came into the Garden of Eden, he came into it with a celestial body, and brought Eve, one of his wives, with him. He helped make and organize this world. He is Michael, the Archangel, the Ancient of Days, and about whom holy men have written and spoken. He is our father and our God, and the only God with whom we have to do" (Salt Lake City, April 9, 1852).

Notice that Brigham Young said, "One of his wives." That is, that God was married to more than one wife. Thus Brigham Young makes God a polygamist. But we cannot believe that God the Spirit has wives, and such lust as Brigham Young and others who are shapen in iniquity. No thinking sane mind who knows anything about the teachings of the Bible would accept such blasphemy.

But may we notice further in that saying of Brigham Young "He helped to make and organize this world." But the Bible says, "In the beginning God created heaven and the earth" (Gen. 1:1).

Read the whole chapter of Genesis (The Beginning) and see if Brigham Young's mormonism corresponds with God's word. Notice that Young says, "He is Michael, the Archangel." Do you get the contradiction of these statements? These teachers, Smith and Young say, "God has flesh and bones as tangible as man's," and then they state that God is "an Archangel."

Get your Bible and turn to Mark 12, and begin with the 18th verse and read through the 27th, and there you will find that the Mormon doctrine is false again. Hear the words of Christ, "For when they shall rise from the dead they neither marry or are given in marriage; but are as the angels which are in heaven" (Mark 12:25).

Now let us see what contradiction these Mormon teachers have heaped together "for the last days."

"God has flesh and bones." "He brought one of his wives into the Garden of Eden." Then God is the Archangel Michael, and "angel with a wife." Now Jesus says that angels do not marry. "For when they rise from the dead . . . they neither marry nor are given in marriage; but are as the angels."

This verse of Scripture contradicts other false doctrines taught by these Polygamist teachers—Joseph Smith and Brigham Young.

In the face of these facts I cannot understand why intelligent people will be led off after such false doctrines. However, Paul gives us a reason "For of this sort are they which creep into houses." (2 Timothy 3:6).

These quotations, as stated before, are taken from the writings of Mr. J. K. Van Baalen and E. E. Shelhamer.

We are taught to study the word of God, in order to be ready to meet false doctrines. Paul says; "But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed" (Gal. 1:8). I am sure, upon the authority of the inspired word of God, that the doctrine of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young is not what Paul preached. So they and their gospel are under the "Curse."

BROTHERHOOD FIRST FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH TALLADEGA, ALABAMA

The Brotherhood was organized several months ago by the men members of Talladega church. The organization is doing a great work with 14 members on roll at present. We hold our meetings every first and third Friday night in each month with God as our invited guest.

The purpose of the Brotherhood is to draw our church members closer to each other in unity and brotherly love; to maintain a deeper understanding of the Bible; to be a help to needy people; and for the upbuilding of our church and community.

The Brotherhood consists of a president and a secretary-treasurer with several committees acting.

We had a wonderful service at our last meeting. The Lord was with us. We gathered at the home of Brother C. T. Tinsley in Munford, Alabama.

Every church needs an organization for both men and women members, because when men and women of the church work together great things can be accomplished for the Lord. We hope that every man in our church will join our Brotherhood and help us to fight sin. Our next meeting will be in Brother James Barber's home in Westend Talladega, Ala. Every member is urged to attend. Come and help fight sin and the Devil. Visitors are also invited to attend our meetings.

SOCIAL NEWS

We have quite a few sick people in our community and we desire the prayers of each Christian for their speedy recovery.

The church is planning to start a sing school soon under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Hardin, Eden, Ala., for the young people of our community. Our F. W. B. L. is well on the way with three classes organized. We hope to increase in the future. Our young people need all the encouragement they can get toward Christ and His cause. Let us do all we can for them.

The Talladega Church is growing in grace and power, souls are being saved, but we need a revival, so everyone help pray for a great revival in Talladega.

We had a Quarterly meeting at our church last fifth Saturday, which followed with Communion and feet washing service that night. Sixty-four took part in the Communion and Feet washing service. We had a fellowship the following Sunday and the Lord did bless our souls. Two souls were saved. Thank God for his saving power.

LADIES AID FIRST FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH TALLADEGA, ALABAMA

The ladies of the Free Will Baptist Church Talladega, Alabama, have organized a Ladies Aid for the up-building of the church.

The group has set aside each Wednesday afternoon as their regular meeting day. Assembling in the church, the meeting is started with prayer after which the business is transacted. Thus far, 17 have joined. Mrs. Eunice Limbaugh is president and Miss Faye George is Secretary-Treasurer.

Several projects are under way at present. Thread has been purchased and some of the ladies are crocheting.

Those who cannot crochet are making aprons. As another project, the ladies are taking quilts for those who wish to have quilting done. Seven have already been quilted.

With beautifying the house of God as our aim, and with God our helper, we are zealously working toward the fulfillment of our undertaking.

LADIES AID FRIENDSHIP F. W. B. CHURCH PELL CITY, ALABAMA

We meet at the church each Tuesday night, with 14 members present and some visitors. The president takes charge of the meetings. The roll is called, dues paid and other business of the organization is taken up with the body. We appoint someone for the devotional at each meeting. We all have a testimony for the Lord and the Lord blesses us in our services. The Ladies Aid hope to do greater work for the Master. Please pray for us.

Corresponding Secy.

THAT LITTLE CHAP

A careful man I want to be,
A little fellow follows me.
I do not dare to go astray
For fear he'll go the selfsame way.

I cannot once escape his eye,
What ever he sees me do he'll try.
Like me he says he's going to be
This little chap that follows me.

He thinks that I am good and fine
Believes in every word of mine.
In me no badness must he see,
This little chap that follows me.

I must remember as I go
Thru summer's sun and winter's snow.
I'm building for the years to be
That little chap that follows me.

SOULS BEING WON TO CHRIST IN CUBA

T. H. Willey
Pinar del Rio
Havana Province, Cuba

We have begun the New Year in Cuba with a great burden for the evangelization of the thousands who have not yet been in personal contact with the Gospel. I gave up my classes with a great reluctance only in view of the fact that there is a work that is particularly mine in going constantly into the fields, as I did in the beginning. This is a work that demands physical suffering.

Just a few weeks ago I went into our field that lies along the Caribbean Gulf. This is an immense field with thousands of people isolated because of such terrible roads. I had every reason in the world to thank God for our School of Missions when one of our fine graduates was there awaiting me with horses. We began a campaign that lasted six days, consisting of personal work from home to home during the day and preaching each night.

In that part of the field the people are so poor that all they can have for breakfast is a little cup of coffee. In all my trip not a drop of milk was to be had. If you would sleep with any comfort, you do so by making a pallet on the hard dirt floor. We averaged five hours in the saddle.

What a joy to meet the people saved under the ministry of our boy, Pepe! We went into one beautiful valley, after a ride of five hours thru a dismal swamp, and came out into an immense clearing, thickly populated with our people. It is a great blessing to go into their homes and hear them express their great joy in having found the Lord.

That night we had a great service. The crowd was so large we had to meet in the open. Our light was the brilliant tropical moon, so bright that we could see the features of our congregation. The singing was wonderful and after an earnest message the invitation was given. I had finished the call for seekers when a giant of a fellow, a very pronounced sinner, came running to me. He cried, "I'm converted. Now I know. Now I believe." He grabbed me around the neck rejoicing. This was very unlike Pedro, but when a man is saved someone will soon find out. This was the break that night. There were eight definite conversions. Young men came with relatives saying, "Senor Willey, here is my brother or my father. He wants to be saved."

On another trip into the hills four were wonderfully saved. One father, who is a consecrated Christian, gave a wonderful testimony. He told of an incident that had happened to his son. The boy had gone to the highway on an errand; and, as the father sat meditating, the thought came to him that the boy should be arriving at the highway at that time. Suddenly he felt lead to go on his knees and pray for the boy. He prayed under a deep burden. When the boy returned, he told of how, just as he came onto the highway, a large truch ran him down. His horse was knocked down and he was thrown. While this happened the father prayed. God used this to convict the boy. I had the privilege of leading him to the Lord that night. On this same night a young woman found the Lord and a few days later walked from the mountains to the school offering herself as a student for missionary preparation.

So, as we labor, God is doing great things for us. New towns are being entered. The students return each week-end with reports of great victories.

The challenge of a great white harvest field is before us. What we do here will depend in a large measure on your faithfulness in prayer for your missionaries. We are counting

ALABAMA STATE NEWS

A GENEROUS CONTRIBUTION

We are happy to state in this issue of the Baptist paper we are publishing the first full page reports of the ALABAMA STATE NEWS, which is edited by Brother Edward B. Ledlow. He is planning to have a full page or more in the Baptist paper each month of the year, thus giving the readers of this church paper opportunity to see and read what Alabama has in our columns for the church people.

We are greatly appreciative of Brother Ledlow's kind offer to gather the news, and edit it for his people, and then send it on to us for our church paper. May God richly bless him in his efforts to do a great work for the cause of Christ. We urge the Free Will Baptist people of Alabama to send in their important news items, original poems, good prose articles, reports, and the like, to Brother Ledlow each month in time for him to edit it, and then mail the same on to the editor's office, Ayden, North Carolina. Let us look each month for good news from Alabama. Thanks a lot, Brother Ledlow, for your kind offer.

It is not out of order, we think, to speak of the recent generous offering of $250 by the Reverend J. C. Moye, Snow Hill, North Carolina, to the Free Will Baptist Orphanage of Eldridge, Alabama. Reference is made to this gift in the superintendent's report, published with the Alabama State News in this issue of our church paper. The superintendent, Mr. Ryland, has expressed his heartfelt thanks for this splendid gift in his report, so that the people will know how the Home is being blessed with this gift.

We feel that this is an example which other persons of means should follow, and give to that orphanage, or to the other orphanages of our denomination some substantial offering that would be a great blessing to those orphan children. Certainly, gifts made for such causes and in the right spirit, God will greatly bless both the givers and those who receive the gifts. Brother Moye has been a liberal supporter for quite a while, of the Middlesex Orphanage, Middlesex, North Carolina, and God has blessed him in the giving. God has promised to bless others who perform their duty where help is needed.

MISSION PLANS COMPLETED

Letters have been sent out recently to pastors and clerks of the various churches in North Carolina, relative to the "drive for missions" during March and April, the months that have been designated as "Mission Months" by the State Convention.

Rev. Rashie Kennedy, a member of the National Foreign Mission Board, and Director of foreign missions in our State, with Rev. James A. Evans, Chairmen of the State Mission Board, and also a member of the National Home Mission Board, have worked out a program that will, we believe, mean much toward a better understanding of our needs, both in the Home and Foreign Mission fields, as well as to increase funds with which to better support all of our missionary efforts. It will take co-operation on the part of each pastor and church, as well as sacrifice on the part of us who are really interested in the cause of missions. If our hearts yearn for the salvation of those in need of the gospel, we should not be satisfied until we have given our best in helping to put into effect the Mission Program as arranged. We often wonder what the outcome would be if each one of us could realize and accept our personal responsibility in the support of missions. In 2 Timothy 2:20, 21, we have these words, "But in a great house, there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honour and some to dishonour. If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the Master's use, and prepared unto every good work." A great Admiral once said, "Every true Christian is a real Missionary." If this be true, we need to "Examine ourselves, and see if we be in the faith." May we do this, and then apply ourselves more prayerfully and more obediently to the will of the Master, who said, "Let your light shine."

The State Mission Board is in need of more funds with which to help those in our own State who are calling for the gospel—yes, right here in our beloved State, there are isolated places where people do not hear the gospel preached, where there are no Sabbath Schools and where little children never hear the most blessed of all Names, except in a profane manner. It hurts us far more than we can express, when we have to say "No" to some of the appeals that come to us. During the past year we have rendered some really worthwhile assistance to some of those in need. We have made it possible to promulgate the gospel of Christ in new places, and where church organizations have been brought about. Our latest mission point is that of Washington, where we hope to see a strong thriving church, sometime not too far in the future.

If we are to keep on with the good work, surely we all must "put our shoulder to the wheel" so to speak, and accept the challenge before us in behalf of missions. The foreign need is great also—far greater than many of us can realize. Living in a land of plenty, with comforts and in many cases, luxuries, it is hard for us to grasp the real meaning of sacrifice and suffering in the cause of Christ by our foreign missionaries.

May we co-operate to the greatest extent possible in the mission program as arranged, and give of our means generously for the support of the cause so dear to our hearts.

The State Mission Board of N. C. is standing by the program during our Mission Months, with our prayers and co-operation. Not only for the success of the program, but for every Free Will Baptist in the State, that we may be united in our efforts to become more missionary-minded, and if we will give ourselves wholeheartedly to the cause, the Lord will pour out wonderful blessings that we little dream of. Be much in prayer for a great awakening among our people to the earnest call that is coming to us from the Mission fields.

ASST. SUPERINTENDENT-TREASURER

R. McLEOD

Assistant Superintendent— Treasurer's Message

In accepting the place of Assistant Superintendent and Treasurer of the Free Will Baptist Orphanage, Middlesex, North Carolina, I realize the responsibilities that the position carries with it. I am indeed grateful for this opportunity of service to the institution.

It shall be my purpose to devise plans for a more uniform system, in the different churches, for making contributions to our Orphanage work, in order to provide a more steady flow of funds to meet the urgent needs of the institution. I shall be looking forward to the time when I can visit all of our churches and present my plans.

I very earnestly solicit the prayers and cooperation of all our people, ministry and laity, because I am fully aware that unless I receive the wholehearted support of all, I will not succeed in the great task that lies before me.

DON'T SAY IT!

If you always have a hanker,
To speak about a friend or neighbor,
Pause—Think—before you say it.
Are you doing them a favor?
Don't say it!

If you hear some bit of gossip,
Pray—don't pass it on.
Perhaps it isn't true—and
It wouldn't right the wrong.
Don't say it!

If another—somehow—seems
A little peculiar to you,
Before you criticize—remember,
You are peculiar, too.
Don't say it!

If when you are tempted
Of others to questionably speak,
Do you know the motive
Behind their words or deed?
Don't say it!

If you do not know the motive
And surely you can-not,
You'll be doing a priceless favor
Before you start, to stop.
Don't say it!

If you were asked the question,
Could you do as well as they?
You would answer quickly—
"But—I don't know,"—you'd say.
Don't say it!

If you could wear their heavy shoes,
And walk the same rocky way,
You'd always be stumbling—and
You'd have nothing to say—so
Don't say it!

If you feel you just must "SAY"
Please, don't let it be words of shame,

You're doing an awful thing,
When you smudge another's name.
Don't say it!

FOURTH UNION AUXILIARY REPORT

The Fourth Union Auxiliary of the Central Conference of North Carolina met with Daniel's Chapel on Sunday, January 29, 1950. In the absence of Mr. Vernon Sullivan, the devotions were led by Rev. N. D. Beaman. The welcome address was given by Mrs. Carnell Lucas and Rev. Preston Ellis gave response. Special music was rendered by Otter's Creek Quartet. A collection was taken for the Orphanage which amounted to $31.25 and prayer was offered by Rev. L. B. Manning. Rev. J. D. Vernelson delivered the very impressive morning message and chose as his scripture lesson a portion of the 12th Chapter of Hebrews.

Following the appointment of the various committees by the president, the following ministers were recognized and given an opportunity for remarks: N. D. Beaman, L. B. Manning, J. D. Vernelson, T. P. Ellis, R. C. Proctor and R. H. Jackson.

The afternoon session was opened with devotions being led by Rev. T. P. Ellis. The roll was called of Sunday Schools and Ladies Auxiliaries and a petition was made by the Howell Swamp Sunday School to become a member of this body. A motion was made and seconded to this effect and the Howell Swamp Sunday School was added to the roll. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The president called for old and new business. There being none, the various committees made their reports. The banner committee decided that the Ladies Aid banner should go to Harrell's Chapel and the Sunday School banner to Otter's Creek. The Treasurer's report was given and accepted. Following the Program and Finance Committees' reports, all reports were accepted by the Union.

The program given by Daniel's Chapel was greatly enjoyed by all and we were adjourned by Rev. L. B. Manning to meet in April with Spring Branch Church.

RELATIONSHIP OF TRUTH TO LIFE

By Rev. J. Ernest Wooten
Ayden, N. C.

Truth is the light which enables men to discover the realities of life, and pursue courses which pay off in terms of success and true happiness. It is as safe and enduring when revealed through scientific research as it is when it is revealed through God's holy Word. Our concern is not with truth itself, but with the way it is sometimes presented. It may be used as a decoy to allure unsuspecting persons into traps of deceit. The truth of God, when studied and pursued, delivers men and women from the dangers of ignorance and deceit.

There has been published very recently a book, The Nature of Man, the chief aim and purpose of which according to the claim of the publishers themselves, is to discover and disclose the nature of man through science, philosophy, and religion. The authors of the different chapters are scientists, ministers, and philosophers, and they seek, through their interpretations, to convince men that the only way out of their difficulties and present global predicament is through the outlet of scientific understanding of human nature. The book contains many statements which are rich in thought and bulging with profound truth.

One chapter, Man and His Destiny, by Dr. Gardner Murphy, deals with "interrelationship." The author stresses the fact of the presence of "fellow-feeling" in the individual, and insists that inborn propensity constantly seeks an avenue of outlet in an effort to make contact with similar restless feelings of others. This line of scientific reasoning carries with it a great deal of eternal truth. It couples the fact of "fellow-feeling" with "spontaneous telepathy," and implies that a careful study of the findings of psychical research will enable men to understand more fully their true status in life.

The danger is not in any truth expressed or implied, but in the omission of the vital truth of life. The personal, living God of heaven is not recognized as the author and source of all truth. Such reasoning assumes that man's first responsibility is to apply himself to the task of fitting into the great business of the integration of the race. It sounds logical and reasonable, does it not? But let us take a look at that which is not expressed.

This reasoning admits the fact of the religious nature within the individual, but insists that the innate longing within finds its satisfaction in agreeable association with others of its kind. The individual is responsible to no Superior, but seeks only to serve those of his own level, while he attempts to find that which satisfies his own personal desires. Consequently, because of his irresponsibility, he is not accountable to God for his errors and sins. Such a course of reasoning allows men to choose the "trial and error" method of life. In such a venture, his mistakes and crimes against society can be charged to none but the impulse within him urges him to make contact with his kind. Is such teaching safe? Does it enable men to find the true way of happiness and life? According to this scientific reasoning, the group, working as a unit, designs, outlines, and presents to society a "social gospel," devised by human ingenuity, to replace the Gospel of Christ.

No group of men, however capable or intelligent they may be, will ever succeed in establishing ways of righteousness, and in persuading men to pursue them, until they first turn their hearts God-ward. Righteousness is of God, and must be so recognized. When men yield themselves to God through Christ, for preparation for the tasks of life, then individuals will make team-work through groups effective and successful. The strength and success of the group lie in the character and attitude of the individual personalities of the group. God must find His way into the activities of men through His personal servants. Disintegration of its component parts means certain collapse of the group.

It is truth that the world needs today. Jesus says in John 8:32, "The truth shall make you free." He continues, and says in verse 36, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." Divine truth, if practiced in the affairs of men, would bring light into this dark and confused world. That light must come from Him who said, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." (John 8:12). Let us seek more of God's truth day by day, as it is in Christ Jesus, that we may have light for our pathway as we pursue our course in this life.

fund completed for the Mission Car for our missionaries in India. We want to complete this fund so the car can be used to carry the blessed word of God in that land.

If you will deny yourself of something that you would like to have this spring, I am sure that we can easily raise this balance of only $325. Will you give to this cause for the glory of God. Think of it! This car is to be used for the blessed Lord here on earth to carry His gospel to the lost.

You may say that you cannot go to the foreign field. That may be true, but you can help with your prayers, and your offerings. So, will you please give just one more time a substantial offering, and I am sure that God will bless you. Please send all offerings to Rev. J. W. Alford, Columbia, North Carolina.

CAN YOU GUESS!

Why is a pig's tail like the letter K?—Because it is the end of Pork.

When is a person obliged to keep his word?—When no one will take it.

If a barrel weighed ten pounds, what can you fill it with to make it weigh seven pounds?—Holes.

Why is a crow a brave bird?—Because he never shows the white feather.

Why is an elephant like an oyster?—Because neither can climb a tree.

Why is my sweetheart like a ten-dollar hat?—Because she is very dear.

Why is a nobleman like a book?—Because he has a title and several pages.

Why is the letter Y like a young spendthrift?—Because it makes pa pay.

Where was Adam going when he was in his thirty-ninth year?—Into his fortieth.

EPHESUS, A CENTER OF CHRISTIAN INFLUENCE

(Lesson for March 5)

Lesson: Acts 19:1, 8-10; 18-19; Ephesians 4:25-32.

Golden Text: Ephesians 6:10.

I. THE HEART OF THE LESSON

1. It is necessary to be filled with a holy boldness to preach the Gospel (Acts 19:8).

2. The Lord usually takes the Gospel message away from those who deliberately harden themselves against it (vs. 9).

3. That community in which all have heard the Word of the Lord Jesus, is peculiarly blessed (vs. 10).

4. Confession of that which had been concealed is necessary for a thorough cleansing (vs. 18).

5. It is best to burn the things out of a sinful past, for then they cannot be restored again (vs. 19).

6. That which is degrading in a Christian's conduct must be destroyed at any cost (vs. 19).

7. The power of the Word of God will lead to a thorough cleansing, if it is heeded (vs. 20).

8. Our spiritual relationship to other Christians should keep us from wronging them (Eph. 4:25).

9. Filthy language is just as improper in a Christian's conduct as lying and stealing (vss. 25-29).

10. Even the more subtle transgressions are grieving to the Holy Spirit of God (vss. 30-32).

11. Paul came in contact with some of the disciples of John the Baptist (Acts 19:1-7). They had believed the preaching of John, but did not know that He whose coming John proclaimed had indeed come and finished the work of salvation, and so it was natural that they knew nothing of the gift of the Holy Spirit. In dealing with them Paul spoke to them of Christ, not the Holy Spirit, and they believed in Him and were baptized in His Name, and then they received the Holy Spirit.

12. The believers in Ephesus were real Christians. What finer illustration of loyalty to Christ could be imagined than the $10,000 bonfire. Every one of those books, and we must remember that books were much rarer in those days than they are now, was a bad book; they were bad books because they dealt with heathenish rites and practices—fortune-telling and superstitions and worse.—Selected.

13. Paul wrote this letter to the Ephesians some years after his two years of ministry there. He knew that some of the best and most keenly intelligent heathens encouraged falsehood and deception with such maxims and quotations as, "Good is better than truth," and "A lie is better than a hurtful truth." He also knew the danger of such teaching, and urged the Ephesian Christians to leave off lying and be truthful in all things to everyone.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

14. "Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands that which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth," verse 28. Stealing, like lying, is a grave sin, therefore the Apostle Paul urged the brethren to be honest one with another, as they were to speak the truth to all men. Let no one, under the pretense of helping the needy, defraud any one, but let him earn an honest living, working with his hands. Let him be industrious, saving, and a good neighbor to the poor and needy. God never intended for any one to be a thief, a liar, a spendthrift, nor a habitually lazy person.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

15. Once the Holy Spirit had forbidden Paul to preach in Asia Minor (Acts 16:6) but now the Holy Spirit leads him to great success there as recorded in Acts 19.

II. THE LESSON ILLUSTRATED

"That's What I Want!"

Dr. Chamberlain, one of the oldest missionaries in India, says that one day while he was preaching in Benares, many burdened ones came to bathe in what they called "The Sacred River." Among them was a man who had journeyed wearily, on his knees and elbows, from a great distance. His heart was pained with the burdens of his sins. He hoped by washing in the Ganges to be relieved of the great burden of sin. Poor soul! He dragged himself to the river's edge, made his prayer to Gunga, a false god, and slid into the water. A moment later he came out with the same old pain tugging at his heart. He lay there on the bank in his despair. He heard the voice of the missionary. The missionary was telling the good news about Jesus; how He came into the world and died upon the Cross for the sin of the world. He raised himself and crawled a little closer. He listened to the wonderful news! He was hungry and thirsty for it. He rose upon his knees, then upon his feet, then clapped his hands and cried, "That's what I want! That's what I want!" The message of the Cross is what our sin-sick world needs!

He Kept His "Hallelujah"

A young man once shouted "Hallelujah" in a meeting, and was asked by the preacher what the "Hallelujah" cost him. His answer was fine. He said that he had a garage and had recently had an offer for Sunday business which would bring him in a large yearly income. He felt that he could not go into any business which would violate the sanctity of the Lord's Day, and he refused. "I lost the money," he said, "But I kept my hallelujah!"—The Christian Herald.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We would like for those churches that are planning to use Chester A. Huckaby in revival meetings between now and October the first, 1950, to please notify him as soon as they decide on the evangelist, that he may complete his schedule of evangelistic meetings. His address is: Rev. Chester A. Huckaby, 1513 22nd Street, Phenix City, Alabama.—Editor

ANNOUNCEMENT

This is to announce that the Reverend O. M. Hillbourn has changed his address from East Rockingham, North Carolina, to Darlington, South Carolina, Post Box 425, telephone 767-B. Those desiring to write to him are requested to use the new address.

Total	$20.00

We are far short of the amount to purchase the playground equipment that we expect to get. Also the fund for the lobby furniture is slowing down. We are in need of $500.00 to go on the lobby furniture and $275.00 to go on the playground equipment.

We are grateful to Rev. J. C. Moye of Snow Hill, North Carolina, for the personal donation of $250.00 to the Home. We feel that this is the largest personal donation that has ever been made during our operations. Very few of our churches sent in donations during January. We are happy for the little we have on hand but we want you to remember that we need some land, small truck, farming tractor, corn, hay, cotton seed, cow feed. We are trying to use every penny to the best advantage for the improvements of the Home.

We are in need of a copy of your Association minutes. Will you see that one is mailed to me? I want it for arranging the mailing list.

Be sure to keep the financial needs of the home on your heart. Many things we need such as land, truck, tractor, corn, hay, feeds, canned foods, syrup, many other things that would take too much space to tell you all. Tell your church of our plea. Post this report where they will all see it. Urge each person to contribute to this cause. Give your young people a chance to do something in raising money for the Home. God will surely bless you.

The Superintendent with some of the children are making some visits to some of the churches where it is possible to get back home the same night. If you are interested in having them for a service in your church, write Bro. Ryland or call him. Phone No. 3, Eldridge.

If you have not received a wall poster of the Home for your church, write for one.

If you are a young minister, married, without any children, High School education, both in good health, and interested in institutional work, write or call Bro. W. H. Ryland.

It certainly will be in order for some one to donate a pickup truck or farming tractor (small) if you are in position to do so. We feel that such would be a great blessing to the Home.

We want all kinds of coupons sent in to the Home. It would be fine if each church would appoint a coupon captain to collect and send them in each month.

Be sure to send in a donation from your church, Sunday School, League, Auxiliary circles, and organizations for this month.

NEW HOPE F. W. B. CHURCH REPORT

For the five weeks of January we had an average of 161 attendants in our Sunday School. In the Monday night League service, there were in attendance 75. The newly organized "Go Tell Band for Girls" had thirteen present for their last meeting. They meet each week.

The Reverend Walter Jernigan, Father of our pastor, Reverend Wade Jernigan, is the evangelist who will conduct our revival meeting which will begin on March 19. He is from Bladenboro, North Carolina.

Mrs. Ray Warren, Member and Reporter.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

The Power of the Book

SHAG growled and leaped from his place by the fire where he had been quietly dozing, nose between his paws. The crunch of feet on the snow outside the little cabin which reached the ears of Dan Malone a moment later was proof of the vigilance of the big collie dog.

"Down, Shag," cried the boy, and the rumble in the dog's throat died, but his bright, keen eyes were fixed on the door.

"Maybe Old Pierre and his partner from Five Mile," remarked Dan, going to the door.

The two men who entered were strangers. They were great, hulking figures. Their faces were reddened by the frost and encircled by fringes of bushy hair. They looked as if they had traveled a long distance.

"Strangers, sit down and rest," said Dan, in his slow, easy voice. Dan's way of speaking was like a smile in itself. "You look tired and hungry." His mild gaze roved their unkept, bearded faces. "I guess a good feed wouldn't be out of order," and he chuckled.

"Partner," said the biggest man, whose eyes were hard and cold, "you said it—we're about starved. Lost our dogs up in the big timber district—wolves."

They ate voraciously and gulped down cupfuls of boiling hot tea. After they had eaten they stretched themselves luxuriously.

"Not many visitors, I suppose," queried he of the hard, blue eyes.

"Well, yes and no," answered the lad. "Depends on the time of the year." Then suddenly he leaned forward and his quiet gaze rested on the smaller of the two men. Without his outer clothing the man was seen to be fatter than his companion, and his brown eyes did not have that peculiar, cold light in them.

"What's the matter with your arm?" Dan asked suddenly. "Accident?"

Although Dan Malone had a mild way of looking at persons and things, still his experiences in woodcraft gave him an unconscious sharpness of vision.

The man's arm had been rudely bandaged, and just the lower end of this makeshift dressing peeped out from the sleeve of his hunting jacket. He was startled at the boy's discovery.

"Yeh," he stammered: "I"—and his voice hesitated as though he were thinking what to say before he spoke.

"Jim got shot by a crazy Indian 'bout the time we lost our dogs," said the other man in his harsh, grating voice.

"Yeh, that's how it was," answered the wounded man. "A crazy Indian."

"Pull off that shirt," commanded Dan, rising. "I'll take a look at that arm."

Jim leaned across at his partner as if seeking permission, and the big man nodded.

"That wound's not bad," said the Lad, "but it surely needs attention."

He washed the wound carefully. Then going to a shelf in the rear cabin, he ran his eye over a collection of bottles.

"Iodine," he said to Jim. It will sting like mischief, but it prevents infection."

Deftly he wound an immaculately clean bandage about the arm and tied it neatly. Jim had lapsed into silence, but his gaze followed the boy's every movement.

"Regular doctor," observed the big man. There was a hint of a sneer in his voice.

"Better let me guide you over to Five Mile in the morning," said the boy, "you can dog-team down the river to Wainwright. There's a doctor there."

"We're going the other way," said Jim. "Thanks," he smiled faintly. And then, suddenly changing the subject. "That's a nice dog you have."

"You folks camp down here. I'm going to bed," said the boy, after they had talked a while. "By the way," he added, "I always read a chapter of the Bible every night."

"Bible," the big man sneered, and then he laughed harshly. "That's pretty good. A big husky like you reading the Bible." He slapped his hamlike fists on his knees. "Can you beat that, Jim? That's great. We ran into a Bible class. Go ahead, Sonny."

"I promised Mother before she died to read a chapter every day," answered the boy with quiet dignity.

In a gentle tone he read the chapter, which happened to be Matthew 25.

"For I was hungered, and ye gave Me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave Me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took Me in." As the boy's clear tones continued with the beautiful and inspiring message the two men exchanged uneasy glances.

The fire crackled and the men listened in silence to the sacred words. Shag raised his head from his paws. He had grown accustomed to hear, his master's voice reading every night from the Bible on the table.

Jim looked down at his bandaged arm and then up at the eager face of the boy.

"Thanks, my boy," he drawled, "that reading makes me feel quietlike."

"Kind of preacher," said the big man, but his voice was not unkindly, and there was a trace of awe in it.

The men left at dawn. Dan filled their packs with food, and bade them farewell.

"I won't forget your kindness, my boy," said Jim, and his companion added, "Keep up the Bible reading." For the first time Dan noticed a genuine, wholesome smile spread over the hard features. The man's face seemed suddenly lighted up.

Several hours later, while Dan was chopping wood with his sturdy, powerful strokes, Shag barked loudly.

Dan laid aside his ax and followed the dog around to the front of the house. Far off in the distance the dazzling sunlight revealed a gleam of scarlet on the clear white expanse of snow.

"Northwest Mounted Police," ejaculated the boy. "Now I wonder if that isn't my friend, Sergeant Hourican."

Hourican had been his father's friend, and after his death had taken an almost paternal interest in the lonely boy. He was the man who had given Shag to the boy.

Sergeant Hourican slipped from the saddle. He ran forward and grasped the boy's hand. "Thank God, my boy, you are safe."

"What's the matter, Sergeant?" questioned Dan in mystification at the policeman's strange behavior.

"Matter!" he glanced at his comrade. "Didn't two men stop here last night?" he asked sharply.

"Surely," said the boy. "But don't stand out in the cold. Let me put up your horses, and we can all have a bite together."

"Extraordinary, I say," said the other policeman. He came up and shook hands with the boy. "Matthews from the Long Circle."

"Say, Sergeant, were those fellows who stayed here last night crooks?"

"Crooks?" Matthews laughed.

"The big fellow is wanted for murder and robbery, and Jim—they call him Sleepy Jim—is a notorious gunman. It's a wonder that you're alive this morning."

"Well, Dan, tell us all about your visit," said Sergeant Hourican, when they had entered the house.

The boy related his experiences, not forgetting to tell of the wounded arm.

"They didn't seem bad fellows—the big one even told me to keep up my Bible reading. You know I promised Mother to read a chapter of the Bible every day."

"And you read a chapter to those men?" asked Hourican.

"Yes, they seemed to like it."

"Most extraordinary thing I ever heard," murmured Matthews.

"My boy, the Book saved your life," said Hourican, placing his hand reverently on the Bible.—Kind Words.

INVITED GUESTS

Frances Elkin Allison

A crowd of troubles passed him by,

As he with courage waited:

He said: "Where do you troubles fly

When you are thus belated?"

"We go," they said, "to those who mope,

Who look on life dejected;

Who meekly say goodbye to hope.

We go where we're expected!"

BOOK REVIEW

"VICTORY OVER SUFFERING"

By William Goulooze

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.

Date: 1949; Price, $2.00.

The author has written this book for the consolation of the sick and suffering, the aged and infirm, and for the sorrowing and the bereaved. It contains a great many testimonials of sufferers, of dependent persons, and of troubled souls who found consolation, peace of heart and blessed assurance in trusting in God. It is a welcome gift for the home, the hospital, sanitoriums, reformatories, penal institutions, etc.

"MY SERMON NOTES ON THE LORD'S PRAYER"

By Rev. William P. Van Wyk

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.

Date: 1949; Price, $1.50.

The author has given, in simple outline, useful sermon notes on the Lord's Prayer. The importance of prayer is the central theme, interestingly treated. For ministers, mothers, Sunday School teachers, the Young People's Leagues, and the Woman's Auxiliaries of the church, it will be useful and helpful in their Christian devotions and spiritual services.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. STELLA GABRIEL

It is with a sad and broken heart that I write of the death of our kind and loving wife and mother, who went to sleep in Jesus one year ago the 25th of February, 1949. She lived to see her 70th birthday, February 24th, 1949, and left us the 25th.

She was a kind and devoted wife and mother. She was a true and faithful member of the Free Will Baptist Church at Beaufort, North Carolina.

Rev. W. E. Anderson, her pastor, conducted the funeral, assisted by the Rev. W. K. Jordan of Kinston, North Carolina. Her body was laid to rest under a beautiful mound of flowers.

She leaves to mourn a heart-broken husband, four daughters, Mrs. Joe Buttry, Mrs. Frank Buttry, Mrs. R. B. Scott, and Mrs. Millie Hodges, all of Beaufort, N. C., 13 grand children, and one great grand-child.

God took her away from earthly pain,
The family's loss is heaven's gain.

She is gone but not forgotten
Never will her memory fade;

Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the grave where she is laid.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

Free Will Baptist Bible College
April 23-27, 1950

April 23rd through the 27th are the dates for the annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at the Free Will Baptist Bible College. These Bible Conferences have been an inspiration and great help to the many who have attended them over the past years. We have brought to the Conference as speakers some of the best preachers of our denomination. This year we have a splendid Conference program arranged which will be a blessing and an inspiration to all who attend.

Some pastors have written in already and asked for the dates of the Bible Conference this year in order that they might not schedule revivals on these dates. We think this is a splendid idea and trust that all our pastors will clear their calendar for this week and attend the Conference. We also invite the young people of our church to visit the College and attend the Bible Conference. A little later on a theme for the Conference will be announced in our church papers. Watch for this announcement and let us know if you plan to attend.

A MESSAGE FOR AUXILIARY WOMEN OF N. C.

The time of our State Auxiliary Convention is fast approaching. The Cape Fear District Auxiliary Convention, with Mrs. Robie Strickland, of Goldsboro, President, will be hostess at the coming annual session, which will meet at Shady Grove Church, Sampson County, Thursday before the fourth Sunday in May, (the 25th).

The Program will appear in the Baptist paper about the first of May, so be on the look out for it.

We are looking forward with hope, and praying that we shall have a great Convention, and that each auxiliary in the State will be represented with delegates and that the contributions and reports will show a gratifying increase over that of last year.

In order to render first class reports, we must be very diligent in our local societies. Each Auxiliary should secure a Standard of Achievement Chart, which can be secured by writing Mrs. Jas. A. Evans, 1108 South Tarboro St., Wilson, N. C. Mrs. Evans is the Secretary of the State Auxiliary Convention, and will be glad to render any assistance possible. Please write her right away and get one of these Charts, with any information you may need regarding its use.

Study the Chart carefully, then put forth a special effort to bring your auxiliary up to the standard. It would be very interesting, and perhaps inspiring to have a goodly number of these charts filled out and on display at the convention. It would at least, be helpful to those who have never used them. Women, let us do our best to bring our auxiliaries up to the highest standard possible. If we are to do this, we must not delay, for the time is short in which to accomplish the many things we should do before May 25th. We are told, "Woe unto them who are at ease in Zion" (Amos 6:1). Again, in Isa. 32:9, "Rise up, ye women that are at ease; hear my voice ye careless daughters; give ear unto my speech."

Report blanks can be secured by writing the Free Will Baptist Press, at Ayden, N. C. Please do not be careless in filling them out. Notice each item and report accordingly.

The most of our district conventions will have held their annual, or semi-annual meetings before the State meeting, so I am reminding each one to make necessary preparations to be represented, by sending delegates and a generous contribution.

One other thing that we would like to emphasize, which is the 20cts. per Capita dues, 10cts. is your State dues, the other 10cts. your National dues.

We have noted very sorrowfully, that in our National Auxiliary conventions, North Carolina contributes more during the year to the Convention than any other State, yet we do not even rate honorable mention during its sessions, or in the minutes. We understand that the reason for this, is that the members of North Carolina do not pay their 10cts. per capita for National dues. Members who do not pay, are neither recognized, nor acknowledged as in good standing.

We should all have honest pride in seeing that our State does not fall behind in its duties, when we are faced with such opportunities and obligations. It seems that if we are fully dedicated to God's service and earnestly desire to take our rightful place among other States that do the things required of us, we will diligently seek to comply with, and to put forth special effort to reach forward with Christ toward a higher standard than we have yet achieved. Let us not forget that the Apostle Paul said in Phil. 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Let us take on new courage, and "Advance with Christ," who will help us to rise up in His might and march on to victory in His name.

Mrs. E. G. Holland,
Fourth Vice-President,
N. C. State Auxiliary Convention

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF LIBERTY CHURCH MAKES REPORT

The Woman's auxiliary of Liberty Church held its meeting on February 4, 1950, with nine members present and four visitors. Two of the visitors became members. We had a splendid meeting. Mrs. Brewer called the meeting to order with the singing of a song and prayer. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Hamilton. Sentence prayers were offered for the missionaries in the foreign fields. After the lesson or program was discussed, the business was taken up.

The roll was called, the dues were taken up, and reports of visits and trays were taken to the sick were given. We had made 42 visits, and 10 trays taken to the sick. We thank Mrs. Hamilton for what she had done for the auxiliary. Here are some things which we will mention concerning what we have done and are doing. First, our society has brought a Communion Set for the church. Next, we have bought some scarfs for the furniture in the church. In addition to this, we have given $25 for furniture in our new Sunday School rooms which we are about to complete. We have a quilt top made for our orphan at the orphanage, and now we want to quilt it soon.

The meeting closed with the Lord's prayer. Then refreshments were served by Mrs. Haley's daughter, who is a wonderful worker in our church. Pray for us that we may grow in grace and be of great service for our Lord.

EDGEMONT AUXILIARY MEETS

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Edgemont Free Will Baptist Church met at the church on Saturday, Feb. 11, at 7.30 P. M., for their monthly meeting.

Meeting was opened by singing "Make Me a Channel of Blessing," and was led in prayer by Mrs. Cherry.

Mrs. L. H. McDade was in charge of the Devotional, using for her topic: "Advancing with Christ through Literature."

After the business was expellee, we were dismissed by Mrs. Bullock.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and joint-hostess, Mrs. Carney and Mrs. Rex, to the following members: Mrs. H. M. Stegall, Mrs. O. H. Thompson, Mrs. J. G. Teasley, Mrs. Cornelia Poole, Mrs. L. H. McDade, Mrs. Glenn Bullock, Mrs. J. T. Peele, Mrs. C. A. Clements, Mrs. Ida Riggsbee, Mrs. J. W. Edwards, Mrs. Henry Melvin, Mrs. Coley Smith, Mrs. F. B. Cherry, Mrs. J. W. Scott, Mrs. J. E. Carney, and Mrs. Glenn Rex.

ABOUT THE RESURRECTION

Mildred Doneho

Boys and girls, Jesus is coming to take all believers Home to be with Himself. That will be a happy day for all Christians; for they shall see Jesus, whether they have already died and are buried or whether they are living. The Bible tells us that we do not know when this happy day will be, but it does tell us that Jesus will descend from Heaven and that the dead Christians will arise from their graves and be caught up to meet Jesus in the air. The living, too, will be caught up to meet Jesus in the air. We shall live forever with Jesus in Heaven.

Think about Heaven. There will be no sadness there, only joy. Christians of all colors and from all lands will be there, and they shall all sing praises to Jesus.

Tonight when you pray, think about the Christian children in other lands who are praying, too. Then remember that some day you will see them. Won't you love them now?

He Keeps the Key

Is there some problem in your life to solve,
Some passage seeming full of mystery?
God knows who brings the hidden things to light.
HE KEEPS THE KEY.

Is there some door closed by the Father's hand
Which widely opened you had hoped to see?
Trust God and wait—for when He shuts the door.
HE KEEPS THE KEY.

Is there some earnest prayer unanswered yet,
Or answered NOT as you had thought 'twould be?
God will make clear His purpose by and by.
HE KEEPS THE KEY.

Have patience with you God, your patient God,
All wise, all knowing, no long tarrier He,
And of the door of all thy future life.
HE KEEPS THE KEY.

Unfailing comfort, sweet and blessed rest,
To know of EVERY door He keeps the key.
That He at last when just He sees 'tis best,
Will give it THEE.

Something to Fear More than Hell

Rev. A. B. Bryan
606 Buena Vista Ave.
Rocky Mount, N. C.

(Note—This message was delivered from the pulpit of the First Free Will Baptist Church of Rocky Mount, N. C., of which the writer is pastor.

In St. Matthew 10:28 you find these words: "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear Him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." Taking this Scripture as God's message to his people, we want to study it with an open mind and let the Holy Spirit do His office work in our heart.

Notice that there is not but one person or thing in this Scripture we are to fear; "Fear not them which kill the body." It was nearing the time when Christians would be "brought before governors and kings for . . . a testimony against them." Christ taught them not to fear. In the text he completely did away with the idea of Christians having fear of hell. Surely hell is a terrible place and eternal separation is more than anyone can bear, but, in reality, hell is not to be feared. Literal fire is not to be feared at the hand of the Devil and his forces when we are serving God: this truth is well taught in the case of the "three Hebrew Children." Hell fire is not to be feared; it was prepared for the Devil and his angels. Rev. 20:10, Christ said, "Fear Him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." It is not the enemy to fear or even hell but it is the one to Whom power is given to destroy both soul and body in hell. Often our ways are far below the standard of fear set by God. Our way of thinking is to fear man first; that is, if man is well pleased it will please God. Man often makes the careless mistake of using Christ as a "fire escape" to shun the torment of a burning eternal hell. As long as luck and health prevail we, somehow, get the idea that we are free to do as we please. The teachings of the Word is that, we need godly fear; that is, fear what our sin and neglect will bring us. "The wages of sin is death," death to the soul, but the fear of God is "eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

All through the Scriptures the high note of fear is God. Christians are not to fear the works of God, but are to fear Him. In the first book of the Bible, Adam, the first man, was instructed to fear God, in abstaining from the "forbidden fruit." He did not fear the fruit but he did fear God, in trying to hide himself amongst the trees of the garden, after it was too late. It was God who exercised power in punishing Cain for murdering his brother; "a fugitive and a vagabond" was his curse; a punishment which was greater than he could bear. The Scripture teaches us that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge" (Prov. 1:7). How many people of today are professing to be wise while they walk around in total ignorance and darkness? "The fear of the Lord is a foundation of life" (Prov. 14:29). Be careful that the foundation we profess, to be founded upon, is not "make belief" and no real foundation, on which to depend. "By faith Noah being warned of God . . . moved with fear, prepared an ark, to the saving of his house, by which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith." "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling" (Phil. 2:12). As a person walks with God he is to fear enough to conduct his life in a way not to "grieve the Holy Spirit" and have to give an account of his disobedience and neglect after it is too late. "Let us have grace whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and fear." Each person must have grace in his heart to fear that the least sin withheld in his life will be dealt with according to God's judgments. In the Book of Jude, which was written to Christians of all ages, God spake of the false teachers . . . filthy dreamers . . . feeding themselves without fear . . . to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness forever to which "the Lord cometh with ten thousands of His saints, to execute judgment upon all and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have committed, and of their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him."

It is not the works of God, the works of man, or the trouble and hardship that Satan may cause the Christian, but it is God whom we are to fear. It is not starvation the Christian is to fear; God will supply food and raiment just as long as we serve Him and do our best to provide things honest. It is not death the Christian is to fear; death holds no power over the Christian, only the "bringing in of a better hope" and the passing from troubles and trials and a long fight for the blessed eternity that awaits all who fear him and keep his commandments. Paul said, "to live is Christ, to die gain"; that is, to live is to succeed for Christ and to die is only to receive the crown that awaits "all who live godly in Christ Jesus." No, it is not hell we are to fear. We do not have to go there, thank the Lord! If one goes to hell he does not go there as an invited guest, but as an intruder on the Devil and his angels. Notice in the case of the "rich man" (Luke 16), he did not want his five brothers to follow him into the place of torment. All men everywhere are unwanted and uninvited, if they go to hell. Satan is on his way to hell and the "lake of fire" (Rev. 20:10), but not because it is his desire; he wanted to rule and received his doom by not fearing God and keeping his commandments, (Luke 10:18, I John 3:8, Rev. 12:7-9). Illustration: Going to hell resembles going to the U. S. Army in peace-times; you go to the Army because you choose the army career—you go to hell by choosing a sinful career and not accepting Christ. Ways to hell are: carelessness, neglect, stubbornness, unbelief, apostasy, etc., but the heart of the cause is, no fear of God while there is time and opportunity.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

The Apostle Peter Not a Pope

Peter could not have been a pope, because: (1) He was a married man. "And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid sick of a fever. And he touched her hand and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them" (Matthew 8:14, 15). So, Peter could not have been a pope, for they are not allowed to marry.

Before I get away from this healing I want to say, that there was no card signing in order to get into a line and it was not an open show with loud clamor and boasting; neither was it a make-believe healing. God's word says "The fever left her."

But back to Peter: (2) Paul withstood Peter to his face; "But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed." If Peter had been pope, no doubt he would have excommunicated Paul and doomed him to hell, for arguing (withstanding) with him over the matter of circumcision. (See Gal. 2:11, 12.) It is plain that when Peter was with the Gentiles he lived as a Gentile Christian, but when the Jews came around (Jewish Christians) he had another mind. He "separated" himself from the Gentiles. Yet in the face of these facts, the Roman Catholics claim that Peter was the first pope, and further that the church was built on Peter. Peter would have been a very poor "foundation" in the face of this Scripture. I rather think that Peter and Paul were both Free Will Baptists, because they could differ on an issue—Paul "withstood" Peter and yet be friends.

I know that Peter was not a pope, by having a wife, and having to yield to Paul's argument would disqualify Peter for a pope. And there is a 3rd reason that Peter disqualified himself in being a pope. "And as Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him. But Peter took him up, saying, stand up; I myself also am a man" (Acts 10:25, 26). If Peter had been a pope, he would not have stooped down to raise up Cornelius. Peter would have wanted his "toe kissed."

Peter never claimed to be more than an "Elder" in the service of Christ, although he was an apostle. Peter in writing to the "elders" said: "The elders which, are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed" (1 Peter 5:1).

Peter not the Foundation

Our Roman Catholic friends claim that Peter is the Foundation, but Christ did not say so, neither did Paul nor Peter. Let me see. From reading the King James' Version, Matt. 16:18, it sounds like Peter is the "foundation" but let us go further. Mr. Scofield says: "There is in the Greek a play upon the words, 'thou art Peter (Petros—literally "a little rock") and upon this rock (Petra) I will build my church." He does not promise to build His church upon Peter, but upon Himself, as Peter himself is careful to tell us (1 Peter 2:4-9).

Paul says that Jesus Christ is the Foundation. "For other foundation can no man lay that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (1 Cor. 3:11). Here we recommend the reader get a copy of "The One Foundation" which is for sale by the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, N. C. This booklet sells for 15 cents, postpaid. Why not order a copy from the writer or from the Press? I take them along with me on my trips up and down the country. This book can preach when I am gone and no man can dispute its soundness of truth.

Christ the Chief Corner

"Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God. And are built upon the Foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone" (Eph. 2:19, 20).

"Wherefore because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law, for they stumbled at that stumbling stone; As it is written, Behold, I lay in Sion a stumbling-block and rock of offence: and whosoever believeth on him" (Christ—not Peter) shall not be ashamed" (Rom. 9:32,33). Only Christ can save a sinner. The pope can save no one. For there is only one Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Peter said, "Be is known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand before you whole. This is the stone which was set at naught of you builders, which is become the head of the corner. Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:10-12).

STEWARDSHIP

Stewardship is not just giving a tenth,
Of what we have, for the cause of Christ,
But using in His service an unselfish,
Humble and submissive life.

Sometimes after the tenth is given,
There really isn't much of worth,
To further the work of His Kingdom
Among the people who inhabit the earth.

Yes, it takes more than money,
And surely more than our little bit,
To spread the good news of our Saviour
And His gift—the Holy Spirit.

What if each person who is living
Would give for His cause one tenth,
Yet, not one to the Saviour surrendered
His life, to be used in His strength?

Yes, God has a use for our money,
The tenth which is called our tithes,
But God doesn't want just our money—
Remember! Not just money—Our lives!

A Well-Balanced Stewardship Program

(A message delivered by Mrs. Queenie Clark to the Second Union meeting of North Carolina Central Conference.)

"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful."

No matter what element of stewardship considered, or to what phase of Christian activity it may be applied, there are some fundamental truths for which we must always account. These have to do with stewardship in its larger scope of application. The conditions which prevail all too generally in the churches, and the urgent need of the great world field with its myriads of open doors calling for an honest rendition on the part of every one who names Christ, make necessary emphasis on the larger stewardship. There are so many church members of the Laodicean type who are neither hot nor cold, having a name to live but are dead. One has described them as follows: "These Ladoiceans were neutrals, devoid of passion, destitute of enthusiasm, loafing in moral indifference. In times of great crisis they were any way, either way, altogether tepid regarding the issues. And in times of great laxity they maintained the same tepidity—utterly unconcerned with the degeneracy."

The larger stewardship calls for the utmost of one's self and service, hence it is not easy. It is all inclusive. There is nothing we can be or do to which this stewardship does not apply. Remember, it is harder to live than to give. Spiritual acts are more difficult than physical. It is easier to kneel than it is to pray. It is easier to send a check to the church treasury, and pay one's subscription, than it is to take oneself and family to God's house and there sincerely worship God in fellowship with His people. It takes energy for one to really worship God. It is much easier to unite with the church than it is to follow Christ as Lord. It is easier to give than to love. It is easier to profess than it is to possess and practice.

The world's needs can only be met by life. Through the gift of Christ's life the world has been, and is being blessed. The Father sent Him on the giving mission, and, He says, "As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you." What is needed as the approach to the solution of every financial problem in the church is the actual enlistment of every redeemed soul in the business of putting the kingdom of God first. The Lord is calling for souls that count rather than those who are merely counted. To realize a well balanced program of stewardship for the church its membership must be made up of well balanced lives.

TOPIC ONE

This Includes the Stewardship of Personality

The very first requisite to the realization in mind is a definite consciousness, and public acknowledgment, of God's ownership of all things associated with life. It is comparatively easy to say, "the cattle upon a thousand hills belong to God," and "all the silver and the gold are mine, saith the Lord," but how about the greater truth "I belong to God." "But now saith Jehovah that created thee, O Jacob, and He hath formed thee, O Israel: Fear not, for I have redeemed thee; I have called thee by thy name, thou art mine" (Isaiah 43:1).—"Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price—" (First Corinthians 6:19, 20).—"Whether we live—, or die, we are the Lord's" (Romans 14:8).

The principle for which the Macedonians were commended of the apostle Paul was, "first they gave their own selves to the Lord." And, in fact, their liberality in giving money was the fruit of their experience in first giving themselves. The giving of substance becomes an outstanding delight when the personality is fully surrendered to the Lord.

TOPIC TWO

The Law of "Intakes and Outflows"

Charles A. Cook has very fittingly, and effectively contributed to proper emphasis on the power of this law in his book, "The Larger Stewardship." I quote, "Our possibilities for doing good in the world, and the consequent opportunities created thereby, depend much upon the intakes of life. An empty vessel can not quench the thirst of the weary traveler. An empty mind cannot impart knowledge. And empty heart, void of the blessings of the indwelling Spirit of God cannot convey spiritual good to others. We must receive before we can give. There must be intake before there can be outflow. God intended that our lives should have both. We are not the Dead Sea Christians, all inlet and no outlet. We are rather to be Galilee Christians with both inlet and outlet. Some Christians fail to receive; there is no open channel from the eternal springs of spiritual blessings and power into their souls. They cannot give out anything because they have received nothing to give. Others fail quite as disastrously to themselves and others because they have no outlet through which they can be a blessing to others.

The happiest and most useful Christians are those whose outflow is spontaneous and commensurate with their intake, whose giving in substance and service is proportionate to their receiving. They are channels of blessings. Having received the Holy Spirit in fullness, out from within them there flow rivers of living water. Every blessing received makes a new opportunity to pass a blessing on. Increased ability calls for larger service. As riches increase the opportunity to help spread the gospel increases. As one's contacts with people multiply and become more intimate, the opportunity to influence them in right directions, to help them to better lives and above all to point them to the Lamb of God Who taketh away the sin of the world, multiply. He who socially, in the business world, or in any way, moves in a larger orbit of life, has the wider opportunity to let the light God has giv-

THIRD EASTERN UNION REPORT

The Third Eastern Union meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Conference met with Pearsall's Chapel on January 28, 1950. The devotions were conducted by Rev. Alton Hill, Jr. Then the business session was opened by the moderator, Rev. J. R. Davenport. The temporary committees were appointed. A prayer was offered for the success of the union by Rev. S. A. Smith. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The list of ministers was called with eleven being present. The union voted unanimously to receive Rev. A. L. Reynolds as a member of the Union. Then the list of churches was called with 100 per cent representing, and offerings to the amount of $258.-93. Rev. S. A. Smith was elected to represent the Union in the Printing Company at Ayden, North Carolina. After congregational singing and prayer, the union sermon was preached by Rev. Lloyd Vernon. He took for his text, John 14:12. Then we were dismissed, following the sermon, for dinner.

After having enjoyed a fine dinner, and the sweet Christian fellowship together, we re-assembled in the church for the afternoon session. The reports of the various boards were read and accepted. Then the petitions were taken up for the next union, and by majority the union will meet with Jacksonville Church on April 29, 1950. Rev. R. C. Kennedy was chosen to preach the union sermon, and Rev. S. A. Smith his alternate. It was moved that a committee of three be elected and empowered to secure a field worker for the promotion of the League work in this district. An offering was taken for Rev. H. Pipkin in the amount of $47.88. It was moved that we give to Cragmont Assembly $20.00 out of the Union treasury. Rev. S. A. Smith was elected to represent the Union in the Church Finance Association. The Union voted to receive Rev. W. R. Millard in this Union, subject to his letter. It was moved that we extend a rising vote of thanks to this church and community for their kind hospitality shown this Union. It was then moved that the Union adjourn. The meeting was closed with song and prayer.

To Arkansas Free Will Baptists

This is to remind the Free Will Baptists of the State of Arkansas concerning our Foreign Mission Quota. The mercury stands, on February the first, at $282.95. May all of us work hard and reach the goal. I am sure that we want our director and messengers to be able to hold their heads up when our report is being read. Please do not let us down.

Your director,

Elder Wayne Tucker,
Peach Orchard, Ark.

Announcement

This notice is to let our pastors and other friends know that we have assumed the pastorate of Shady Grove Church in Durham County, and have moved into the parsonage, which is located between Raleigh and Durham.

I shall continue my evangelistic work, being free for services every Sunday night and through the week. My address is still Rev. Bob Woolley, P. O. Box 85, Raleigh, N. C.

We know that the barbiturates are habit forming and that there are more alcoholic addicts than barbiturate addicts.

It is generally acknowledged that alcohol consumption increases divorces, venereal disease, illegitimate births, sexual promiscuity, vice and crime in general, poverty, the mortality from many diseases, and other forms of human misery. It is tragic to advertise and encourage the use of a beverage that is the source of so much evil and misery.

I can not believe that the Congress and the majority of the American people knowingly desire to have more and more alcoholic beverages sold, and more and more drunkards produced and more human misery engendered, all of which are the natural consequences of the plethora of seductive advertising now being released by way of the radio, movie screen, magazines, newspapers, sign boards, and every imaginable advertising medium."

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

WE'RE PASSING IT ON

Recently a request came to the editor's desk, asking that the editor give a page in the Baptist paper for the church news and reports from the other states, as was shown recently from the State of Alabama.

Obviously enough, we are in accord with such a request, and will pass it on to the readers of the Baptist paper. In fact, we urge other states to select a reporter for their state messages and news items, reports and the like, and let that person send in once each month the messages for a page in the paper. Of course, programs and announcements will be published as often as needed for the benefit of all concerned.

If several of the states will begin such a plan as this and carry it forward month by month, greater interest will be shown by the church people of those states for the church news, and other religious items of importance, and also the circulation of the Baptist paper will be greatly increased, thus making it possible for more people to benefit from the denominational paper.

We see no reason why the State Associations, or the State Woman's Auxiliary Conventions could not set up such a plan for their state by electing someone to receive the manuscripts from the local churches or districts, then edit the compositions, and mail them on to the editor at the Press, Ayden, North Carolina. This would be offering a great service to the churches and church organizations within the bounds of the state, as well as it would be a blessing to the whole denomination. Try it, and see if it will not prove a great blessing to the Free Will Baptist cause in the United States.

SHORT PASTORATES AND POOR CHURCH PROGRESS

A great many churches and pastors are making the mistake, we believe, of the general practice of short-term pastorates. In a great many instances, some churches keep their pastors from one to three years, to say the least, while there is a small group that keep their pastors for a much longer term.

In the business world, business men have learned that leaders in business do their best work by being kept in their positions for a goodly number of years. They know that it takes the first two to five years of a leader's time and efforts to get the best results from his organized plans and purposes. On the other hand, rapid changes in the personnel tend to disrupt good business procedure, hence the outcome is less gratifying.

Churches should learn that, for a minister to do his best work among their people and in the community, they should remain as pastors of those churches for a goodly number of years. Give them a chance to set up a good church program, and let them stay long enough to carry it to success. Great plans and purposes are not achieved in a day. No one wants a farm tenant who is moving every year to a new place. And a church should be careful about employing a preacher who is constantly shifting from one church to another. A wise minister, on the other hand, is most cautious about accepting the pastorate of a church that is constantly shifting pastors. Some churches will never move forward to any degree of success unless they set up a program of pastoral services, and then accept wholeheartedly a progressive program for the church, and then all work together with the pastor to bring about gratifying results for the glory of God.

GIVING TO THE MISSION CAUSE

March and April are the months designated in North Carolina, for Missions. In its State-Wide Program, the North Carolina State Association has set apart this year these two months in which all the North Carolina churches are to make free-will offerings for missions. This cause is so great that every Free Will Baptist church within the bounds of the State should see to it that a liberal offering will be made for this purpose. Giving to missions is an act of Biblical importance, and God has promised to bless those who respond cheerfully and liberally to this great cause.

Each pastor should emphasize the need of his church or churches to give splendid financial support for this great work of taking the gospel to the people in foreign lands. No church can afford to neglect this responsibility, and feel perfectly satisfied, and content with what it is doing for the cause of Christianity in the world.

NOTICE

Mrs. J. C. Griffin of New Bern, N. C., will be in Goldsboro at the First Free Will Baptist Church, Tuesday night, March 7th, at 7:30 o'clock to teach the Manual to the Woman's Auxiliary. Then on Friday night, March 10th, she will teach a study class on the book, "To Whom Much Is Given" in the home of Mrs. Jesse Hinson, 1206 East Walnut Street, Goldsboro, N. C.

We wish to extend an invitation to all who live in traveling distance of Goldsboro to attend one, or both of these meetings. We are quite sure they will be both helpful and inspirational.

Yours for better trained women,
Mrs. Pearl Wiggs, President.

ATTENTION

Mrs. J. C. Griffin, our Field Worker, will conduct a Study Course on our Manual, Wednesday, March 8, 1950, 10:00 A. M., at the Free Will Baptist Church in Kenly, N. C. All local vice-presidents and other officers are urged to be present; other members are cordially invited to attend.

There will also be an Executive Committee meeting in the afternoon. We would like to have all officers of the convention present.

Please bring your lunch with you,

AUXILIARY CONVENTIONS

District Auxiliary Conventions are scheduled for March and April in various parts of the State, while the State Auxiliary Convention will meet in May at Shady Grove Church, Sampson County.

In view of this, we naturally suppose that the most of our women are interested in the high purpose of each session, with faith in Him who is able to "Make all grace to abound" among His labourers, in their efforts to exalt and glorify His name thru prayer and Christian service. We need to pray fervently and continually that God will give us guidance through His Holy Spirit, to strive for a higher goal in the work that we have been given to do. Preparation for any task that has been assigned to us, is one of the chief things we should consider, for unless we go through the school of training and experience, we are poorly equipped for any work. May we not look forward to these conventions in an aimless way, but may we be thinking, praying and trusting, that He will lead us to greater heights in His service. We need to plan in a way that will inspire and encourage others to join our ranks and go out to serve humanity, and to promote all phases of our church activities.

As a reminder, March and April are our Mission months, when, not only our churches are supposed to fall in line and work for the cause; but we, too, have a part in this great work. Through our local auxiliaries, our Sunday Schools and Young People's Leagues, a great avenue is open to us. We should engage in Mission Study Courses, and in every possible way, stir up our minds in behalf of the missionary program that is being launched in behalf of missions, both Home and Foreign.

Certainly, we may say, "We contribute to missions through our Fifty Thousand Dollar Band"—some of us do, but there is a large number who do not. However, we have not yet reached our best in supporting missions either through this Fund, or otherwise. I would suggest that we make some real sacrifices during these two months ahead—such as perhaps we are not accustomed to doing, for many do not really understand what sacrifice for the Lord really means. We need to inform ourselves on what missions mean, and then apply the definition personally. We will learn that the Lord does not excuse any one who is enlightened and who really desires to see souls saved and our missionaries taken care of. He will hold us responsible if we fail to seek information relative to the need of the mission fields.

If any of our local auxiliaries have failed to read the book, "His Name Among All Nations," by Miss Laura Belle Barnard, I would like you to not only read it, but take it up as a Study Course. You have no idea of your loss until you have made a study of it. To those who have already used it, I am suggesting that you take up the study of "God and Man in Missions." This will be very helpful and inspiring, and will bring to our remembrance many things the Master bade us do in His name.

The Eastern Auxiliary Convention will meet with Friendship Church, Jones County, Thursday, March 23rd. Report blanks have been mailed to each auxiliary in the district, unless there are new ones not reported. We ask that presidents and secretaries study the requirements for reporting their work. This can be done easily if secretaries have kept accurate account of all work required, if not they should resign and their places filled by those who are interested enough in the service of the Lord, to take it seriously and hold it as a sacred trust that is their personal responsibility.

Let us not neglect our prayer life, for without it, we cannot hope to succeed, for in our own strength, we are powerless. Paul's courage should inspire us to say with him, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me" (Phil. 4:13).

SAVE THOSE COUPONS

It is a great joy and pleasure to save coupons for our Free Will Baptist Orphanage at Middlesex. Our Auxiliary has for the last few years had a very enjoyable time doing this.

We have been saving and sending in coupons for several years. To make us all more interested, we divided our auxiliary into two groups in 1943, and Mrs. Worth Davis was chosen as captain for one group and I was chosen as captain of the other group.

The losing side each year has to entertain the winners. We have had much fun at these entertainments and each year really look forward to the time when we can learn who the winner for the year is.

Below are the figures as to how many we have collected since we put on the contest.

JAMES H. ALFORD MAKES NOBLE GIFT TO KENLY CHURCH

The membership of the Kenly Free Will Baptist Church acknowledges with sincere gratitude and a sense of pardonable pride the very generous gift of Mr. James H. Alford of Kenly. This gift to our church consists of a set of chimes, which may be played separately or may be attached to an organ whenever such an instrument is purchased.

The gift of Mr. Alford will be in memory of his wife, Mrs. Lou Raper Alford; and his parents, Mr. Bennet Alford and Mrs. Keziah Boyette Alford.

Chimes in the Free Will Baptist Church will not only benefit our own membership, but they will also be a blessing to all people within hearing of this church. In making this generous and much-needed addition to our church, Mr. Alford not only perpetuates the memory of those who are dear to him, but he is also making it possible for all our people to serve the Master better through the very lovely medium of music.

One beautiful element in our Christian practice is the sharing with others those things with which we have been blessed, and in this gift to our church we recognize this Christ-like trait; for as James Russell Lowell once said, "It's not what we give but what we share." Of a truth, Mr. Alford is sharing with the people of Kenly a blessing which will remain with us for many years to come.

Rev. W. A. Hansley,
Pastor Kenly F. W. B. Church,

A BOY LOOKING FOR DADDY IN A SALOON

Stuart Nye Hutchinson of Pittsburgh tells in a recent article a story that is suggestive of the benefits to be found in young life by steadfastly adhering to its good things and rejecting the evil. He says:

"There was a thirteen-year-old boy many years ago whom someone saw one night standing in front of a saloon. A passer-by stopped and said: 'Harold, this is a queer place to find you. How does it happen that you are hanging around here?'

"The boy replied: 'I have to look in here, and it isn't the first time I have had to do it. I don't know whether it is the right place or not, but I am looking for my father. He is not in one of these saloons.

"The man who told the story said that he did not know what to say to the lad, so he said nothing. Then the boy went on: 'When my father was a little boy, he went up and down this street looking for his father in the saloon, and then took him home. Now my mother has sent me to find my father. I don't know where he is, and I don't care if I find him or not. But there is one thing I do know. There will never be any boy looking in a saloon for me. I'll die first.'

"Said the man who told me this story: I have followed that boy all these years since that night I saw him standing in the cold and snow outside that grog shop. I have seen him battle against heredity, against environment in a drunkard's home, against the social handicaps that follow; I have seen him trample them all under his feet. He is a man now, respected and loved in his city. There are little boys in his home, but they are not going out to seek their father among the saloons of the city."—The Wesleyan Methodist.

COMPLETE STEWARDSHIP THROUGH THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

Mildred Howard

(This message was delivered at Carteret County Union Meeting, January 28, 1950.)

Complete Stewardship means giving our best for the Master in every phase of Christian work. Let us think together about Stewardship through our Ladies Auxiliary.

To each of us God has given a talent that we might use for Him. To some he gives more talents than to others, but to each of us he has given something to do.

Women have always occupied a unique position in the work of the kingdom. They have been and still are serving in the lowly positions. Ours has been a place of ministering to those who carry the Gospel. Let us think about some of the women who are mentioned in the New Testament.

Dorcas served her Master by helping the poor, the sick, the hungry, and the discouraged. What a beautiful life of unselfishness! All that we need to be like Dorcas is to have our hearts so full of the love of Christ that we forget ourselves in our desire to help others.

Mary the mother of John Mark gives us the lesson of hospitality. It was in her home that the Christian brethren met to pray for Peter who was a prisoner. Do we make our homes a place where the Christian people can meet and pray there? Are our homes, such that our pastors will feel that they are welcome at anytime? We must share our homes with those less fortunate than we, always remembering that in entertaining strangers we might be entertaining angels unawares.

Then we read of Lydia who was a business woman. She became dissatisfied with the teachings of the Jews and longed for something finer. The Bible teaches that if we hunger and thirst for righteousness we shall be filled. And so she found Christ through the teaching of the disciples, and when she had heard she believed and was baptized, she and all her house. What a great influence she must have had on those who knew her best. They trusted her judgment completely.

What kind of influence do we have on those who are dearest to us? Can they follow us with the assurance that we are right? Or are our lives so full of hypocrisy that our influence for good is as naught?

We as women need to study that we might be able to know when we hear false teachings, and to be able to teach God's word correctly to those with whom we come in contact. Priscilla was a woman who was able to help her husband correct the false teaching of an able evangelist. She had doubtless studied the word of God very much. In this fast moving age I am afraid that we only study the Bible when we have nothing else to do.

In the lives of Eunice and Lois we have a fine example of Christian motherhood. It was through their teaching that Timothy grew up to be a great man of God and a minister of the Gospel. There has never been a time when we needed the teachings of Christian mothers more than we do to-day. Let us look at our own lives and really find out what kind of mothers we are. Do you want a picture of yourself as a mother? Then listen to your little girl as she plays with her dolls. The things that she tells her dolls are most of the time, the words you have spoken to her.

Whenever I look upon the face of a minister of the Gospel of Christ I always feel that behind that life was the prayers of a Christian mother.

We could not close without mentioning the woman who gave the most costly thing that she possessed to the Master. This was the woman who anointed the Master with the box of ointment that was very expensive. There are no sweeter words than those spoken by our Master when he said "She hath done what she could." Too often I fear we give only that for which we have little use. We must have every thing we want then if there is anything left we give that to God.

Oh, friends, Christ gave all that he had for us. Can we afford to give back to Him anything but the best we have?

The birds praise God by singing; the flowers by the sweet perfume on the breeze; the tree by its fruit; the clouds give their blessings in gentle rain; yet all with equal faithfulness fulfill their mission.

So, among Christ's redeemed servants, one serves by toil in the home, caring for a large family; another by patience and cheerfulness as a sufferer; another by writing words that inspire; help, cheer, and bless; another whose eloquence of speech, moves men and start on a higher plane of living, another by sweet song; another by sitting in quiet place at Jesus' feet, drinking in his spirit, and then shining as a gentle and silent light; yet each and all of these may be serving Christ acceptably, hearing at the close of each day, the whispered words "well done."

REPORT OF CARTERET UNION MEETING

The Carteret Union meeting of the Eastern Conference of North Carolina convened with Holly Springs Church near New Port, on Saturday, January 28, 1950. The theme for the day was "Stewardship." The text for the theme is found in First Corinthians 4:2.

The moderator called the meeting to order and after a devotional period by the local church and the pastor, Rev. J. R. Bennett, the moderator appointed the various committees. The ministers and the delegates were seated, and the list of churches was called. Ten of the twelve churches responded. A talk on the subject, "A Well-Balanced Program of Stewardship for the Local Church," was given by Mrs. Mary Belle Lewis, of the Welcome Home Church.

After a few minutes' recess, we joined in congregational singing, after which Rev. J. R. Bennett brought a message. His subject was: "Complete Stewardship through the Sunday School." Rev. J. Albert Harris, pastor of the Morehead City Church, preached the Union sermon. He used the text from Mark 12:41-44.

A spread dinner was served on the church grounds, and everyone enjoyed the delicious food, and the fine fellowship during the noon hour.

The afternoon session opened with the devotions being conducted by Rev. Willie Stilley, pastor of Russell's Creek Church. The subject, "Complete Stewardship through the Woman's Auxiliary," was discussed by Mrs. Mildred Howard of Holly Springs Church. The reports of the various committees were then heard. The Temperance report was very timely. It was as follows: "We, the Temperance Committee, would like to give our report by a motion. First, that this union meeting go on record as doing all that is in our power to discourage, and to destroy the practice of the use of strong drink. Second, That we seek to discourage the advertisement of the same in the news papers, on the bill boards, and in other places. Third, That we fully and whole-heartedly support the men handling our government affairs, who stand firmly against strong drink, and who are temperate in other things. Fourth, That we be temperate in all things, and that we seek to become better stewards for God."

Following the reading of this report, we were favored with a special number by Rev. J. Albert Harris. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the church and community for the kind hospitality shown this session of the union meeting.

It is God we must fear. (Psalms 34:9) "O fear the Lord, ye his servants" (Prov. 23:14) "Happy is the man that feareth always." To fear the Lord always brings a complete happiness that continues to rejoice under all circumstances. King Solomon did some wicked things during his span of popularity with the world, but when he began to grow old and take life serious he acknowledged his mistake and left us one of the most complete proverbs of his entire writings. (Eccl. 12:13-14) "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter, fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man; for God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing whether it be good or whether it be evil." With this the entire last chapter of Ecclesiastes is devoted to instructions in this life: It begins, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth," and continue to give instructions for the entire span of life.

Where it is recorded that God appeared to the disobedient, they did not fear their punishment, but feared Him. Adam, the first man, did not run from death but from God, he "hid himself amongst the trees of the garden" when God came "in the cool of the day" (Gen. 3:8). It was not Belshazzar's punishment that he was afraid of, for he did not know what it was when "His countenance was changed and his thoughts troubled him so that the joints of his loins were loosed and his knees smote one against the other" (Dan. 5), but it was the appearance of the Lord that caused him to fear. It was not Paul's conviction that caused him to fall to the earth on the Damascus road, but the appearance of the Lord. In all cases it has not been the punishment that was so dreadful, but the appearance of the Lord, while the persons were living without fear. If we accept the Scripture with an open mind and take our lot whatever it might be; does it seem possible that people of the present day will get by with any less fear than those of the past? "Know therefore that the Lord thy God, He is God, the faithful God which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love Him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations, and repayeth them that hate to their face, to destroy them; He will not be slack to him that hateth Him, He will repay them to his face. Thou shalt therefore keep the commandments and the statutes and the judgments which I command thee this day, to do them; wherefore, it shall come to pass if ye hearken to these judgments, and keep and do them that the Lord thy God shall keep unto thee the covenant and the mercy which He swore unto thy fathers" (Deut. 7:9-12.) "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise. . . but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (2 Peter 3:9). Since He is not willing that any should perish each of us should accept his or her opportunity. "The Day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night" (2 Pet. 3:10a). Whether we meet Him at His return or meet Him in death it will be, most generally, at a time not expected. All who are not serving the Lord with godly fear shall be forced to stand before Him to receive condemnation, "Depart from me I never knew you." "Fear not, man, torment not hell fire, but rather fear Him to whom power has been given to destroy both soul and body in hell."

ANNOUNCEMENT

This is to announce that Reverend Wade Calvert of Belmont, North Carolina, will begin a revival meeting at Rose of Sharon F. W. B. Church in Martin County on March 6, 1950. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION AND LEADERSHIP

(Lesson for March 12)

Lesson: Acts 6:1-6; 20:17, 18, 28; I Cor. 12:27, 28.

Golden Text: 2 Timothy 2:15.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. The Church of Christ is but one Body, and it should have only one heart and soul.

2. It is not difficult for the Church to witness of the Lord Jesus with power if it acts as one heart and soul.

3. The Church will not fail to look after the material needs of its members if it is filled with the love of Christ.

4. The enemy will seek to create internal dissension if he sees he cannot harm the Church by external opposition.

5. The man who has been called to the ministry should not let the ministry of good works divert him.

6. The church should see to it that the men chosen for its offices have the proper spiritual qualifications.

7. The conscientious minister of the Gospel will not neglect prayer nor the ministry of the Word.

8. If men are to be chosen for office in the church, the whole church should have a voice in the election.

9. The Lord will surely bless that church that has properly qualified men filling all of its offices.

10. The election or appointment of officers in the church is an indication of God's orderliness.

11. Just as there was order in the Temple worship and Jewish society, so the brethren were led into an orderly system in the upbuilding of the New Testament society. The Apostle expressed it: "Let everything be done decently and with organization" (I Cor. 14:40. Orig.).—Selected.

12. The church had grown into such proportions that it was hard to reach all of its members and function satisfactorily without organization.

The apostles had been entrusted with the responsibility of preaching the gospel, and they could not neglect that great work to distribute bread and material things to those who were in need.

There were many who could serve the church in other capacities, but only those who were chosen by the Lord were qualified to preach the gospel. With the deacons appointed and ordained for service, the apostles would be able to give their full time to prayer and to the preaching of the word of God.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

3. Gospel ministers, and lay-leaders of the church have today grave responsibilities and duties to perform in teaching, counseling, and guarding the membership of the church, because there are always the agents of the evil one at work, seeking to destroy the truth and righteousness dwelling in the hearts of church people. As Paul instructed the elders of the church at Ephesus to be ever watchful over the flock, so church leaders and officials today need to be on guard against any intrusion of Satan upon the work of the church. The forces of evil must be opposed at all times by God's ministers and church workers, for Christianity is a battle against all the forces of sin and Satan.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

In his younger days Moody established a mission Sunday school in Chicago. One class of utterly frivolous girls was taught by a comparatively young man, who became ill. He had tuberculosis, with hemorrhages of the lungs. He told Moody that he was going back to New York State, probably to die. But the teacher was greatly distressed because he had led none of the young women to Christ. Moody suggested that they get a carriage and go around and call on them. They did, and one by one the girls broke down and prayed and gave their hearts to Christ. After ten days every girl in the class was a Christian.

The night before the teacher left, Moody called a farewell prayer meeting of the girls. Moody said that on that night God kindled a fire in his soul that never went out. The dying teacher talked to the class and read about the heavenly mansions (John 14). Spontaneously every one of the girls prayed in turn, with tears, for the teacher. The next evening Moody went to the train to bid him good-bye. Before the train started the young women came one by one without any rearrangement. They tried to sing, but broke down because of their deep emotion. As the train pulled out the sick teacher was standing on the rear platform with his finger pointing upward, entreating them all to meet him in heaven.

D. L. Moody was accustomed to tell how this occurrence disqualified him for business. He said, "I had got a taste of another world, and cared no more for making money." In a short time he gave up his business and began to devote himself wholly to Christian work.—Arnold's Comentary.

The Cross A Cure for Dissension

A split occurred in a certain church. It left behind much bitterness and ugliness of spirit. One Sunday morning, a member of the family arose from the breakfast table and said she was going to church. "What?" exclaimed the others, "are you going back there, after the way our family has been treated! Where's your pride!" The one spoken to quietly answered: "This is Communion Sunday. I am going to sit at the Lord's Table, and remember His death for me. As for my pride, I haven't any when I survey the wondrous Cross, and any bitterness I had has all vanished when I remember He is coming again, and perhaps very soon!"—Selected.

A Well-Balanced Stewardship Program

en him shine out upon other lives to eternal good. Using life's opportunities enlarges life's orbits.

We learn to do by doing; we grow by exercise. This is true in the spiritual as well as the physical and mental realm. It was true in the dawn of Christianity; it is true today. The development of spiritual power comes through the use of those spiritual truths which have been acquired by Bible study, prayer, worship, and personal experience. If we do not use our muscles, they die; if the mind is not constantly called into play, it tends to wither. So it is with spiritual values and religious experiences. These have to be translated into service to our fellowmen or we lose them. The Christian steward must either witness to that which he has experienced or lose the experience. There is no other way. He who leaves the church, and its service of worship and its messages from God, out of his life, cuts himself off from the great helps to spiritual power and efficiency and cannot be a good steward of the opportunities God gives him. A life that is godless and Christless in its intakes must necessarily be godless and Christless in its outflows."

So, we readily see the necessity of providing for correction concerning the law of intakes in our churches before we can expect the outflows to be spontaneous and gratifying. What are our churches in a general sense doing about proper training to bring about such corrections as are necessary before we may expect the conversion of which we talk so much, and for which we have been praying—outflow materializing into adequacy in financing a biblical program for evangelizing the world?

TOPIC THREE

Systematizing for a Well Balanced Program

The Program Committee of this Union evidently expected a presentation which involves solution for some of our present problems in intakes and outflows of our church treasuries. This is no less of revolutionary nature than the foregoing. We immediately face the necessity of a conversion of attitude toward giving. Too many of our church folk give money by a similar attitude as exercised toward tax-paying. The motive in giving must undergo drastic change. How much we need to learn to give as we love, and then begin in an elementary course in love for our blessed Saviour. The church is the biblical institution recognized as the one organization to which God looks as custodian of His affairs for carrying on the greatest business in the world—the ministry of the Word. So the church should have a godly, business-like man, duly elevated as treasurer by a democratic vote of the church, preparatory to a financial program, "upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God has prospered him." From the pulpit, in the Sunday School room, in the Leagues, in the Woman's Auxiliary and from house to house this principle in giving should be taught our people, including the children. Such emphasis should be placed on its importance as to check every soul about to leave his home for Sunday School and church on Sunday mornings without his envelope prepared with contents representing fair returns for God's blessings through the week of energy burning. It should come to be recognized as such an important part of preparation for the worship of God in His house as to cause every one to feel a part of himself to be left out of his devotions on the Lord's day when his offering is not in.

The intakes having been established for every individual's coming to the altar of the Lord every Lord's Day with nothing less than a tenth of the returns from his week's activities, it behooves the church, under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, to convince its constituency of efficiency with which the Lord's money may be handled. This can be done by establishing an approximate goal which the year's income in worship offerings may expect to reach, then budgeting the fund on a percentage basis. Surely the pastor's allowance must come up for fair consideration, along with incidental expenses arising from operation, literature and local education, benevolences, upkeep and a program of improvement in local facilities. An amount should be set aside for promotion enterprises in gifts to conferences, conventions, unions and so forth, orphanage, missions, Christian Education, together with each item recommended in the State's Promotional Program.

But, what of the intakes and outflows set up on a weekly basis for our churches when most of them are in the rural district where the major income is only in the fall of the year? The answer will be simplified just as soon as we are able to lay hold of the principles set forth earlier in this message. The proper stewardship of personality, (that is, what, and all one is) with the necessary adjustments of the intakes and outflows of that life. It matters not the time involved in the income of the Christian. When the intake is experienced at that very time the Lord's money should be set aside, whether it is turned in at that time or divided as to provide equal portions for each week represented between the periods of income along with those of the harvest period.

May we remember our responsibility in handling the Lord's money as taking us into the realm of consideration for its use to bless and to develop every phase of His cause at home and abroad. This takes our thinking again into the realm of stewardship education as an obligation on the church to see to it that every member is given an opportunity to know his relationship to God through his church in stewardship. "It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful."

TOMMY PRACTICES THE "GOLDEN RULE"

VELMA B. McCONNELL

Tommy Taylor was looking for Tumbler, his pet puppy. The little dog had broken his leash and run away. Tommy did not blame the little fellow for wanting to run and play, but unfortunately, all dogs in town had to be held on a leash or kept tied in the back yard.

"I think it would be hard to be a dog and be kept tied all the time," Tommy thought to himself. "I am glad that I can be free to run about and do what I please. To do what is right, of course," he corrected himself. Tommy was a Christian, and was trying hard to do what Jesus wanted him to do.

"Here, Tumbler, here, Tumbler!" he called. Then he caught sight of a friendly little tail wagging among some rose bushes in front of a large brick house. Tommy began to hurry. Perhaps the little dog was his Tumbler.

Suddenly the boy heard a cross voice. "You old dog, go home! Don't come around here again!" Tommy looked up in surprise as he saw a boy his own age running down the walk that led from the house. He was brandishing a stick and was chasing a dog. Tommy looked again. The dog was Tumbler.

"Here, you! Don't you dare hit my dog!" shouted Tommy. He began to run toward the boy and the dog.

The other boy dropped his stick and started back toward the house. "Then keep your dog home where he belongs," he called over his shoulder.

Tommy picked up his pet and started home. "It must be a very mean boy who would hit a nice little dog," he grumbled. "Tumbler, don't you ever run away again, and don't you ever again go near that house!"

For a few days Tommy and Tumbler played at home, in the Taylor yard. Tommy was very careful to keep Tumbler tied when he was not romping with him. One day Mrs. Taylor asked her son to do an errand for her. The boy and dog started down the street. As they drew near the brick house on the corner, Tommy held tight to Tumbler's leash. "You aren't going to get away from me this time and meet up with a boy and a stick," he warned the dog.

As they began to pass the house, Tommy spied a large red and green rubber ball half hidden in the grass. The ball was near the street.

"This ball must belong to the boy who chased Tumbler," Tommy said to himself. "Well, I won't give it to him. Let him hunt his old ball if he wants it!" Tommy gave the ball a little kick and went on down the street.

Suddenly he did not feel as happy as he had when he started his errand. "Remember the Golden Rule" a little voice seemed to say to him. Tommy understood the Golden Rule very well. He knew that it meant that one should do to others what he wanted others to do to him. He had learned the Bible verse: "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them" (Matt. 7:12).

"Well," said Tommy to himself, "that other boy didn't practice the Golden Rule when he chased Tumbler!" He walked a little more slowly, kicking at the sidewalk and scuffing along, "but—maybe—if I do what is right, perhaps he will be sorry that he chased my dog. And anyway," his face brightened now, "a Christian is supposed to return good for evil!"

He turned back, a prancing Tumbler pulling on the leash. "Here, Tumbler," he said cheerfully, "we will find that ball and return it to the boy. Maybe we will be friends then. He looked as if he might be a nice boy—if he liked dogs a little more!"

When Tommy and Tumbler came to the ball, Tommy picked it up and started up the sidewalk to the brick house. He had nearly reached the front porch when he saw the other boy crossing the lawn. The boy looked surprised as he walked toward Tommy and Tumbler. Tommy held out the ball.

"Is this yours?" he asked. "I found it near the street."

"Yes, it is mine. I lost it while playing this morning. Thank you very much." The boy from the brick house looked uncomfortable.

A little silence followed, each boy eyeing the other. Finally Tommy spoke. "My name is Tommy Taylor," he offered, standing on one foot and holding tight to Tumbler.

"Mine is Jimmy Young. Won't you—won't you stay and play ball with me?"

Tommy looked pleased. "I have to do an errand for my mother. Then I will come back and play ball with you. But first, won't you tell me why you tried to hit my dog? Don't you like dogs?"

Jimmy hesitated a moment, then said, "Sure I like dogs. I like them very much. I used to live in the country, and always had a dog of my own. Sometimes I had two or three of them. But Mother and I are living here with Grandmother now, and she does not like dogs. I had to give mine away before we came. Grandmother said she would not have a dog around the house. I—I am sorry I chased your dog the other day. I was feeling so badly about not having my Towzer that I didn't want to see your dog, either."

Tommy nodded. "I understand now. If your grandmother doesn't mind, you and Tumbler and I will have a ball game. Tumbler likes to play ball, too. Perhaps when she sees how nice a dog can be, if he is well-trained, she may change her mind."

The other boy grinned. "I sure do hope so," he said fervently. "But you tell me something now, Tommy. How does it happen that you brought back my ball when I was so mean to your dog?"

It was Tommy's turn to look a little uncomfortable. Then he looked straight at Jimmy and said, "Well, at first I wasn't going to bring it to you. In fact, I kicked it toward the street. Then I remembered that God told us to do good to those that weren't kind to us, and I knew it was not the right way for a Christian to act to return an unkind deed by being unkind ourselves, so—well, so I just brought back your ball."

There was a little pause while the other boy took in Tommy's words. Then Tommy continued, "Say, Jimmy, how about going to Sunday School with me tomorrow, if you haven't found one of your own yet?"

"Sure I will!" exclaimed the other boy, "Grandmother doesn't go anywhere. I'll be glad to go with a boy who acts the way you do! Hurry up with your errand. Tommy, let's have that game of ball!"

The Georgia Summer Encampment

Do you want to be drawn closer to the Lord? Well, if you do, then come this summer to Mount Bethel Camp which is located at Asburn, Georgia. I have attended four encampments and I can truthfully say that I was drawn closer to the Lord while at each of these encampments. It may be that you think all we do at camp is to study. If so, you have the wrong impression.

We have classes on Sunday School work, the League, Church Leadership, Evangelism, and Music. Most of these classes are held in the morning, and we have all the afternoon for recreation. If you have never attended one of these camps, please do not hesitate to come to this one this summer. If you do not know any of us who attended the encampments, don't hold back, but come and get acquainted with us. In a few hours after you have arrived you will know everyone at camp. You will meet some of the finest Christian young people who are to be found anywhere.

Please note that our group of young people meets there each summer. Why don't you join us? We will be more than glad to have you as one of us in this summer encampment.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Mrs. Nannie Little

It is with a sad heart that I write the account of the death of my beloved Mother, Nannie Little, who passed away on October 18. She would have been 84 years old had she lived to the 28th of October. She was a subscriber to the Baptist paper, and had been a faithful member of Reedy Branch Church. Her life was good and beautiful. All was done for her that could be done by her children, doctors, nurses, and friends. God knew best and took her to be with him.

She said that she was ready to go to be with the Lord. We do miss her very much. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. J. C. Moyer of Snow Hill, North Carolina. Her body was laid to rest beneath a beautiful mound of flowers by the side of Papa, who died 47 years ago.

I am trusting that all of us will so live that we will be able to meet her in heaven when we are called to that great region beyond.

MRS. BESSIE T. BYRD

On Tuesday, December 27, 1949, God saw fit to call the soul of our dear mother, Mrs. Bessie T. Byrd, out of this world of suffering into a home of rest. She was the daughter of Mollie and John Humbles and was 61 years old December 14, 1949. She had been in declining health for the past three years, and was critically ill for the last four days she was with us.

For many years she had been a true and loyal member of the Sts. Delight F. W. B. Church, Greene county. She enjoyed being in the service of the master. She attended church and Sunday school and auxiliary. Her greatest pleasure was in rendering service unto others. She was indeed a true and devoted wife, a patient and loving mother, and a kind friend to everyone. We do miss her very much, but we know that God's will is best and we feel that she has gone to her heavenly rest which she tried faithfully to attain.

The funeral services were conducted at the church on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 P. M., by her pastor, Rev. R. N. Hinant, assisted by Rev. D. W. Alexander, her former pastor. She was laid to rest in the family cemetery near Maury, N. C. The large crowd of relatives and friends present and the numerous beautiful flowers that she had, attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Ray Hart, Mrs. Larry Worthington, Mrs. H. L. Gibson; two sons, Jesse L. Tripp and Lawrence Tripp. There are eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, one brother, Mr. Allen Humbles, one sister, Mrs. A. T. Grimsley, Sr.

How patient in her suffering,
When no hand could give her ease;
God the helper of the helpless
Saw the pain and gave the ease.

Not dead but passed beyond,
The mist that binds us here;
Into a newer, larger life
Of that unclouded sphere.

A happy union was once enjoyed
How dear that memory still;
But now we only see a vacant chair
That no one else can fill

IN HUMBLE SUBMISSION

We, the members of the Ladies Aid of Beulah Free Will Baptist Church, write the following on October 18, 1949.

God called from this earth sister Florence Bazen to be at home with him.

She had been in declining health for some time. Her sufferings were great, but she bore them well. She was a faithful member of her church, Sunday School, and Aid as long as her health would permit. She was loved by all who knew her.

We don't understand why you had to go, but surely God knew best. He knew you had suffered enough, so he called you home to rest.

First, We bow in humble submission to the will of him who doeth all things well;

Second, We extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family that their loss is her gain and reward.

Third; That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family that they may find comfort in the Lord whom she served so faithfully; that a copy be sent to the Baptist paper, also a copy be printed in our minutes in her honor.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. G. DEWEY JONES,
MRS. GEORGIA HARDEE

IN MEMORY OF SISTER LAURA E. COOK

Aunt Laura was born March 22, 1869, died January 10, 1950. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist church for 60 years. She filled her place as a member, and was loved by all who knew her. Her stay on earth was 80 years, 10 months, and 10 days. There is now a vacant chair at the table, a vacant place in the community, as well as in the home. She was always found loyal and faithful to her loved ones and friends. She is not dead but sleeping. Aunt Laura, to you we will say, "Good night here but good morning up there."

She is just away.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

She is gone but not forgotten,
Never will her memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the grave where she is laid.

In a land that is free from sorrow
Where the weary rest from care,
There will be no sad tomorrow,
When we gather over there.

Endless praise to her be given
While the countless ages roll;
In a mansion up in heaven
That fair homeland of the soul.

She has gone to her reward
That's prepared for her on high;
Where loved ones can be reunited
And so loved you and I.

So, brace up now, dear loved ones,
Let's say, "O Lord thy will be done";
The fight is yet before us
Our crown is yet to be won.

BOOK REVIEW

"VICTORY OVER SUFFERING"

By William Goulooz

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.
Date: 1949; Price, $2.00.

The author has written this book for the consolation of the sick and suffering, the aged and infirm, and for the sorrowing and the bereaved. It contains a great many testimonials of sufferers, of dependent persons, and of troubled souls who found consolation, peace of heart and blessed assurance in trusting in God. It is a welcome gift for the home, the hospital, sanitoriums, reformatories, penal institutions, etc.

"MY SERMON NOTES ON THE LORD'S PRAYER"

By Rev. William P. Van Wyk

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.
Date: 1949; Price, $1.50.

The author has given, in simple outline, useful sermon notes on the Lord's Prayer. The importance of prayer is the central theme, interestingly treated. For ministers, mothers, Sunday School teachers, the Young People's Leagues, and the Woman's Auxiliaries of the church, it will be useful and helpful in their Christian devotions and spiritual services.

"AS A MAN THINKETH"

ELDER T. M. CARTER

The above title is from a familiar passage of scripture, and although it is broad in its scope and easy to understand, if rightly construed, is often misused to satisfy the actions of individuals.

In talking with various individuals, I find that they somehow have arrived at the idea that if they believe a thing, in their heart to be true, that as far as that particular individual is concerned it is right. Our actions of right and wrong cannot be measured in this manner. The Bible is our yard stick, and if our conduct measures up to the dimensions set forth in it, then our thinking and actions are sound and will stand approved.

It is a pathetic situation, when we allow ourselves to drift into a type of thinking which is based upon selfishness and condolence. You may say that if I think in my heart I am a Christian, I am. My friend, if you have formed the right habits of thinking, you will not believe yourself to be a Christian unless your life measures up to the standards of a Christian, as set forth by our God.

Christ says, "You may know that you have passed from death unto life if you love the brethren." Then if you think yourself to be a Christian and still have hatred and malice in your heart for your fellow man, you are deceiving yourself and not a follower of Christ in the sense of being a Christian. You are guilty of lip service only. Then, on the other hand, when people say I know I am lost because my conscience tells me so, I say to you "No." You may be on the road to be lost; but, as long as your conscience speaks to you, be assured you are still on pleading terms with Christ. Christ died for your atonement and he tells us he takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked but rather all would turn and live. He is faithful and just and if we confess our sins He will forgive us and remember them against us no more. What a blessed promise.

Don't give up. Don't get discouraged because you have spent your life thus far for the forces of evil. Remember, Christ died for all. Just when we come to the place that we see just how helpless we are in our own strength and begin to call on Him, he reaches down with His strong arm of love, and takes us out of the valley of despondency and places our feet on the mountain of glory and happiness. Whosoever will may take of the water of life freely.

Literally, then this passage means that when we have applied reason to our thinking, and have based our judgment on the teachings of the Word, we are able to see ourselves as God sees us and then to live our lives accordingly, knowing that our thinking is backed up by God's word and has His approval.

The five Foolish Virgins thought they were as prepared as the five wise, but they were lost. Those people who will come before the Righteous Judge on that day of reckoning will think, because they had done great works in the name of Christ, should be saved, but He will say to them, "Depart from me, I never knew you."

Paul thought he was right in the persecution of God's people, but he was made to see his mistake, when he yielded to the Lord. After his conversion he said on several occasions that he knew certain things to be true, and proved the logic of his thinking by the word of God. As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he, is true only when his thinking is based upon, and measured in terms of the Bible and its truths.

THE MOVIES

They move our youth away from God,
From Christian paths our fathers trod;
From honor, honesty and right
To deeds that curse, corrupt and blight;
From beautiful, uplifting truth;
To falsehood hurtful to our youth;
From morals fine and grand and clean
To passions low and base and mean.

They move our youth to sin and crime,
From sacred things and things sublime.
They move to nudity in dress
And take much virtue girls possess;
They move from modesty in style,
And lead to evil all the while;
From traits that we delight to trust
To lewdness and destructive lust.

They move our youth to rob and steal,
To lie and cheat and falsely deal;
To think it matters little how
They stoop to wrong and yield and bow
To get a living out of life;
Or whom they court and choose for wife;
That if they want to separate
They'll find some other for a mate.

The movies move,—hear this, oh, please!
They move the church from off her knees,
And rob her of her grace to win
Lost souls from wreck and ruin and sin;
They move the money from the poor
And send the beggar to your door;
They move and move and surely get
The cash that ought to pay some debt!

They move the youth to pleasures wild,
And start to ruin many a child;
They move from children clothe sand bread
And send them hungry off to bed;
They move and sway a mighty throng,
And always lead from right to wrong;
Who named the movies named them well,
For fast they move our youth to hell.

JUDGMENT DAY

Judgment day is surely coming,
And the end is drawing near;
For the world is steeped in sin
And our God, no one seems to fear.

But we know He'll punish us,
If His will we don't obey;
It seems as tho He's been forgetting
While we go on in our sinful way.

Yet, He keeps His every promise
That was made so very long ago;
He wanted so much to help us
While we're here on earth below.

The commands that He gave us
Are not so very hard to keep;
For it was His wish to save us,
That in Hell we'd not weep.

Why don't we listen to his pleading,
As He begs us to come in;
Give up this foolish way of living,
And be free from every sin?

We could be so very happy,
If we'd let Him have His way;
Then we'd be prepared to meet him
On that great and final day.

JESUS LOVES THE CHILDREN

Jesus loves the little children,
Once He took them on His knee,
Gently put His arms around them,
Saying, "Let them come to Me!"

Oh! He loves to see them kneeling,
And, with hands together, pray;
Loves to hear them call Him Jesus,
If they mean the words they say.

Once He gave His life to buy them
Back from Satan's evil ways,
And at last to Heaven take them,
There to sing His worth and praise.

If they trust Him as their Saviour,
He will wash their sins away;
He will take their hand and lead them
All along the narrow way.

I can only believe therefore, that our people are seduced by advertising and propaganda to spend almost 9 Billion Dollars a year on alcohol to impair the brain and put it to sleep, and only 3 Billion a year to educate and awaken the brain. Moreover, we know that the consumption of alcoholic beverage is the cause of at least 20% of automobile accidents.

Serve God and Be Cheerful

Serve God and Be Cheerful. Make brighter
The brightness that falls to thy lot;
The rare, or the daily sent, blessing
Profane not with gloom or with doubt.

Serve God and Be Cheerful. Each sorrow
Is—with thy will in God's—for the best.
O'er the cloud hangs the rainbow. Tomorrow
Will see the blue sky in the west.

Serve God and Be Cheerful. Look upward!
God's countenance scatters the gloom;
And the soft summer light of his heaven
Shines over the cross and the tomb.

Serve God and Be Cheerful. The wrinkles
Of age we may take with a smile;
But the wrinkles of faithless foreboding
Are the crow's-feet of Beelzebub's guile.

Serve God and Be Cheerful. The winter
Rolls round to the beautiful spring.
And o'er the green grave of the snowdrift
The nest building robins will sing.

Serve God and Be Cheerful. Live nobly
Do right, and do good. Make the best
Of the gifts and the work put before you
And to God without fear leave the rest.

Talebearers in the Churches

By Mrs. J. C. Adams

Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer among thy people" (Lev. 19:16). This sin among church members is raging today as never before and little do they realize that it is a sin worthy of death. "Thou shalt not," is as clear, as definite, and as positive as, thou shalt not kill, or, thou shalt not steal. Whether the tale borne is true or false seems to make no difference. David, in referring to certain persons who were careless with their tongue, said, "the poison of asps is under their tongue." The asp is a form of serpent whose poison is so deadly and rapid in its operation that it kills almost instantly, and without possibility of remedy. Again David said, "My soul is among lions, their tongue is a sharp sword, they are set on fire." Like a waiting lion the backbiter attacks the unsuspecting victim, and tears to shreds all that is sacred and most valued in his life. Like an insane person he unsheathes a deadly tongue and plunges it into the very heart of victim after victim, until his way for years back is strewn with murdered reputation and character. Like a furnace he seems to burn with the accusedness of talebearing and backbiting, and with his tongue he kindles fire after fire till only misery, and distress, and blight are left where were success and laughter.

The Old Testament tells us that the Lord hates a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, or a heart that deviseth evil things, feet that be swift to running in mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren. The talebearer from the full measure of scandal, sows down whole communities with the accursed seed of infamy and suspicion, until every foot of moral soil has been covered; and when his seed takes root, what a harvest begins to mature! Reputations and ruined; the work of God is destroyed; those who were once chief friends are hopelessly estranged, and hearts are left to ache all through the weary years. The talebearer generally attacks one who is zealous of good works, yielded to God, separated from the world. Satan never attacks the talebearer because he knows he already has him in his clutches. He attacks the child of God who has built up a reputation through years of sacrifice and tears, and leaves a whole life program twisted, and broken, and dead.

Paul classifies the talebearer with haters of God, murderers, and fornicators, and closes the passage with "They that do such things are worthy of death." Paul is here trying to show us that the sin of talebearing is a more serious thing than we are in the habit of believing. He would have us understand that it is more than a trivial weakness, or a harmless habit; in God's sight it is so serious that it is not only classed with murderers, fornicators, and adultery, but is worthy of the same punishment. All in one class and all worthy of the same death. The hell that opens to receive one class opens to receive the other. So you see that you do not rate very highly in God's sight when your ears itch to hear gossip and then pass it on. I always think that it pays us to look after self and leave the other person alone. Believe nothing you hear and only half of what you see is a good policy for all of us. Just think what our pastors have to deal with where he has a church full of scandal-mongers. Let no one deceive himself here; All our prating about being blessed of God is not a final test. "Clean hands and a pure heart," are the final test. Hands from which the blood of murdered reputation does not drip, and a heart in which the fires of scandal do not burn. "If any man seem to be religious and brideth not his tongue, that man's religion is vain." While on the other hand the person who is slandered, has the promise of God to sustain and give abounding grace, through every trial. Our Saviour was gossiped about, and he promised that when we live godly in Christ, we will suffer persecution. We can look up to our Heavenly Father in perfect serenity and say, "Some day I'll lay my heavy burden down to wear a robe and shining crown."

There is a disastrous effect in the life and character of the backbiter himself. The Bible says, "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall into it." The conscience is seared, and the inner man suffers a moral breakdown. He becomes hard and cruel and without any conviction whatever, he can utterly ruin his victim whatever, he can utterly ruin his best friend. There is a tendency to become untruthful and insincere. Facts are collected until the impression the talebearer desires is left on the hearer. An insinuation is dropped, a half truth is told, and the scandal is on its way.

There is a tendency to moral cowardice. The backbiter would not dare face the person slandered and say to his face what has been said to his back or to others. When he is brought face to face with the person slandered, he will usually smile and court favor, and his words will be as smooth as butter, while war will be in his heart. How cowardly and hypocritical is such a spirit. I wonder how such a person dare profess manhood or womanhood, say nothing of religion.

Nobody ever did spread scandal in the interest of God, or for the work or protection of the work of God. Finally the backbiter will come to the Day of Judgment to take his or her place with other murderers, who stand, silent and ghostly in the blood of murdered victims. And why stand him with murders? Because he is a murderer. He did not do his dastardly work with a gun. He did it with a deadly tongue.

Is there any hope for the talebearer? Yes, repent, and this involves confession and restitution. It is a hard thing to do, but it must be done here in this world before we meet the righteous Judge.

Talebearing is raging in our churches. To make spiritual progress we must face facts and repent of it. I hope this message may help someone see just how you stand in the sight of God. Some day I must give an account of these words. When I have warned you of these things, your blood will no longer be on my hands.

2 Cor. 5:10-11. "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are made manifest unto God; and I trust also are made manifest in your consciences."

TWO WAYS

There are two ways to advance the dry cause: make sentiment, and make votes. We have to convince the people that we are right and we have to induce them to give expression to that conviction. We have to convince the politicians, both good and bad, that we consider remedial action so important that we are going to insist upon it at the polls.

The politician is a canny fellow. More than once he has taken action in advance of public sentiment and has found himself out on a limb. At this moment policies can find a majority in Congress which all congressmen know run counter to popular opinion. The explanation is simple; the majority does not feel strongly enough about them to vote against the congressman who supports them, while the militant minority will vote against him unless he goes.

Have you written a "Letter to the Editor" this year? Have you tried to win one supporter—an active supporter—to the dry cause? When good men like you can answer those two questions in the right way, we will go places.—Selected.

Not Democratic

The legislature that made it possible for a town—a "one horse town" to stick a liquor store right in the midst of a county surrounded by people who have voted down an election to make the county "wet" is not in keeping with Democratic principles at all; it is a law of the minority of a county ruling over the majority. What does a little town care for the wishes of the people of the county, when a town of three or four hundred voters can vote liquor stores in their town limits and sell to the drunks of the whole county? Then, after selling to the drunks, the town officers can arrest and try the poor dupes and collect another source of revenue, to help run the impoverished little city. In that way it helps to pay the police and other expenses. It seems that liquor and money are two of the things that this modern age wants.

Recently I saw where one of our aged ministers wrote to the Forum of the News and Observer. He styled those fellows who made it possible for a small town to place liquor stores right under the noses of those who live in the rural districts, as "Smart Boys." In reality, I do not think it "smart," but pure ignorance of law makers who rather satisfy the desires of the liquor interest than the wishes of the "sober thinking Christians" who detest the sale and use of that stuff that ruins lives and damns souls. The last legislature worked for the few—not for the masses.

I want to thank Elder H. Pipkin of Mount Olive, N. C., for his timely writings in the News and Observer. Come on, brother, to the church papers, and let us make it hot for the liquor crowd.

And now is a good time to write. Candidates are coming out for the legislature. The "wet" crowd will do everything possible to get men who will bow to the liquor interest. But no "wet" law maker will go to Raleigh by my vote. Now is a good time for the ministers of all denominations to preach some for a "moral issue." The "wets" will say, "you are in politics," but the thing that will destroy homes, make divorce courts thrive, and fill graves with drunken bodies and help to populate hell, can never get my endorsement for the sake of a little revenue to help run the government.

Could I Look My Vote in the Face?

As, I often think, how would I feel, if I should vote for the stuff in any form and have to look on the corpse of my neighbor's son or daughter, and know that I voted for him to have liquor which robbed him of his mind and soul and caused him to commit crime and fill a premature grave? Yes, what could I say? Then, to bring it a little closer home, suppose it was my own son or daughter or grandchild? How could I live without condemnation in knowing that I voted for that child to have liquor? Christians, come out and let us fight this demon that is destroying the lives of innocent people on the highways of our country. Your wife or daughter or even yourself may get in your car and start to some place on business or pleasure, and at the unexpected moment a drunk under the wheel causes a wreck, and perhaps your nearest of kin is bleeding and groaning in death? Then ask, "Is it my vote? Did I vote for that drunk to have liquor placed before him? Did I help to make it legal, that which has caused the death of my wife, or daughter?" May Almighty God help us to wake up and fight Demon Alcohol which has been pushed upon the nation by the liquor interest and the "wet" politicians. I have no compromise to make for fighting the Devils.

Our Work for the Orphanage

Recently I have been at work for the Orphanage at Middlesex. The work among the churches in the Cape Fear Conference has been very pleasant, in that the people largely are well pleased with the pictures of the Orphanage. We have sixteen hundred lineal feet of good pictures, showing a partial history of the orphanage over a period of ten years and coming up to the present official staff and the orphanage as it is today. Three hundred feet of this picture is right new. One person said, "It is the best medium to advertise the work of the orphanage." Another said, "It is taking the orphanage to those who cannot get there to see the institution." Another said, "I had no idea that we had so much, and I shall not be satisfied until I go and see the orphanage now, I've seen the picture." We could go on with many good remarks. We are having invitations to go to other places, but at present we are scheduled as far as we can reach. Later on, the Lord's will we will go where we are wanted, and invited.

We are planning to make more pictures as the Institution progresses, in order to keep a good history of the work, year by year, for the benefit of the Institution and the enjoyment of those who love and support the work.

The reception and the interest in general have been good. "By their fruits we shall know them," said the Lord Jesus. God is blessing. And again He said, "Inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these, ye did unto me."

"What Do You Think?"

A lady said to me, recently, "What do you think of this divine healing, preacher?" My reply was, "I believe in it." Then she began to tell me about certain so-called "Divine Healers" who have great crowds, even thousands of people, and that some have to go several times, sign cards, stand in line, and then go back home without getting to the altar for healing. Then I said, "This is the modern so-called healing."

One of these fellows came through eastern North Carolina a few years ago and he "knocked his patients down right and left." They fell as soon as they got to him, in some instances. When I was asked about his method, "I said, Christ and the apostles picked them up when they were down in affliction and even

CLEANLINESS

Gaston Clary

Treas., Texas Foreign Mission Board
Bryan, Texas

John 15:3-12

Cleanliness is a virtue coveted by most particular people. It has been said that cleanliness is next to godliness. Cleanliness in the physical realm has many advantages. For anyone seeking social popularity, business success or healthy, strong bodies, personal cleanliness is essential.

The heart of the housewife is made glad when someone pays her a compliment on the cleanliness and attractiveness of her home. The father or husband desires compliments on the neatness and cleanliness of his office.

Cleanliness in all phases of physical life is something of which all should be proud but inner cleanliness is far more important than this. On one occasion Christ reprimanded the Scribes and Pharisees because they were so careful concerning clean hands, cups, and pots and were equally careless of their inner cleanliness (Mark 7).

Christ is our only hope of ever having inward cleanliness. He shed his blood on the cross of Calvary that we might become the sons of God. "But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12). This inner cleansing may be experienced by believing in Christ to the extent that we are willing to give up the old way of life and repent, trust and obey Christ. This presupposes a godly sorrow for sin and a willingness to forsake sin. On the day of Pentecost, Peter exhorted the people to repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins (Acts 2:38). In John 15:3, Jesus tells his disciples that they are Alumni of the Free Will Baptist Bible College of Nashville, Tennessee, who met at the Free Will Baptist Church in Bryan, January 29, to make plans for organizing a Texas chapter. Left to right seated are the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Calvary and the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin F. Halbrosk. Standing are the Rev. and Mrs. Gaston Clary.

Texas Alumni Association Being Planned

By James E. Vance

Plans are being formulated to organize the first Texas chapter of the Alumni Association of the Free Will Baptist Bible College of Nashville, Tennessee.

A group of ex-students of the college now serving in the Central District Association of Free Will Baptists met in Bryan, January 29.

At this initial meeting the alumni planned to organize the permanent Free Will Baptist Bible College Alumni Association while attending the annual encampment to be held at Piney Woods Camp near Groveton, August 13-19.

Free Will Baptists from all over Texas are expected to attend this encampment, which is the second annual encampment, since the beginning of World War II.

Attending the initial meeting included the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin F. Halbrosk, the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Calvary and the Rev. and Mrs. Gaston Clary. Mrs. Clary, who was employed by the college while her husband was preparing for the ministry, will become an associate member.

The Rev. and Mrs. Calvary plan to become missionaries in Japan upon completion of their education, and during the summer of 1950 they will do itinerant work in Texas and Arkansas under direction of the Free Will Baptist foreign mission board.

At present they are associated with the Rev. N. B. Barrow at the Bryan Church.

The Rev. Halbrosk is pastoring the rural churches: Brightlight, Blue Lake and Evergreen, and the Rev. Clary is pastoring at Pine Prairie, Buncomb and Center Point.

Note: All Texas alumni are requested to write to Rev. A. F. Halbrosk, Bryan, Texas, R.F.D. 3.

ATTENTION

To all local treasurers of the Western District Aux. Convention of North Carolina. When you send your dues and contributions to me, will you please state the amount for dues and the amount for contributions.

Yours to serve,
Mrs. Leon Foster,
Western District Aux.
Convention Treasurer

Everette's Chapel, Clayton, N. C., Holds Revival

The revival began February 13 and lasted until the 24. The Rev. W. H. Calvert of North Belmont was the evangelist.

Rev. Calvert brought some soul-stirring messages. The church had only 38 members at the beginning of the revival. During the meeting there were 82 professions with 67 new members added to the church.

We thank God for a man like Rev. Calvert. We feel that he would be a blessing to any church.

Mrs. T. F. Davenport of Creswell in Hospital

The wife of Rev. T. F. Davenport, Creswell, North Carolina, is a patient in Taylor's Hospital, Washington, N. C. She is undergoing treatment there, and would appreciate the good prayers of the Christian people, and cards of sympathy. Simply address all communications to her at the hospital.

Announcement

This notice is to let our pastors and other friends know that we have assumed the pastorate of Shady Grove Church in Durham County, and have moved into the parsonage, which is located between Raleigh and Durham.

I shall continue my evangelistic work, being free for services every Sunday night and through the week. My address is still Rev. Bob Woolley, P. O. Box 85, Raleigh, N. C.

Abraham Lincoln in 1847 wrote: 'Whereas the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage is productive of pauperism, degradation and crime, and believing it is our duty to discourage that which produces more evil than good, we therefore pledge ourselves to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage.'

Conscience

John W. Lee

For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation (conduct) in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward (II Cor. 1: 12).

Note that the ground of Paul's rejoicing - glorying is in the testimony of his conscience. The words expressing the thoughts of his conscience declared the kind of life he was living—"in simplicity." There is no place for a stilted character in the Church militant; we are on a battle field, not a playground. Paul's was a "godly sincerity"; human sincerity is not sufficient. That poor heathen mother in the jungle who offers her child as a sacrifice to an unknown god is very sincere, but radically wrong! Sincerity, in its original meaning, implies that there was no admixture of any foreign element. Paul was not guided by "fleshly wisdom." The natural man exists in spiritual darkness, and, apart from revelation, he knows very little, if anything, of the true God. Then he adds, "but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation (conduct) in this world, and more abundantly to you-ward." This testimony is in keeping with Paul's teaching, extolling the mercies of God.

The Nature of Conscience

This word conscience comes from the Latin and means "joint knowledge," knowing with another. It implies the knowledge of two or more things at the same time. I know my thoughts and I know the quality of my thought, whether good or bad. It has been called vicegerent, another name for a deputy sheriff; it makes the sinner a prisoner to his guilt.

"It is a kind of a silent reasoning of the mind, whereby those things that are approved to be right are sanctioned with pleasure, but those things which are judged to be evil are disapproved with a sense of uneasiness." Conscience is self-knowledge; it is much more tender in some than in others. Much depends upon the early training, education, and Christian influence.

It has a threefold office work: it is a witness, testifying to what you have done, in thought, word and action; it is a judge, passing sentence upon what we have done—whether it is good or evil; it is an executioner, fulfilling the sentence by occasioning a degree of pleasure in him that does well, and a sense of uneasiness in him that doeth evil.

Cowardice asks, "Is it safe?" Experience asks, "Is it prudent?" Vanity asks, "Is it popular?" But conscience asks, "Is it right?" Its office work is not legislative, but judicial. "Conscience never acquits — never sets free from condemnation—it either accuses or excuses." Conscience, originally tender, becomes hardened by sin; it has a high price, but may be bribed; it has a voice—this faculty is yours forever—whether good or bad! It may be perverted, misinformed and defiled, or purged by faith in the blood of Christ.

Characters of Conscience

There are nine characteristics of conscience:

First, a good conscience. "Now the end of the commandment is charity cut of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned" (I Tim. 1:5). Conscience is good when it conforms to the Word of God, as a clock is good only when it keeps time with the sun.

A pure conscience: "Likewise must the deacons be grave, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre; Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience" (I Tim. 3:8-9). Here a pure conscience is a safe depository in which may be stored that God-given, sin-resisting, devil-defeating, world-overcoming substance—the mystery of faith!

Next, a working conscience: Paul said before Felix, "Herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward men" (Acts 24:16). Some souls are too lazy to live a spiritual life. They will forgive, but

NEEDED! NEEDED! $210.20 FOR THE MISSION CAR FUND

The treasurer of this Fund for North Carolina reports $2,789.80 raised for the mission car, thus leaving a balance of $210.20 to be raised very soon. He is urging that this balance be raised by the churches in the next few days.

We are making this appeal in this editorial note, hoping that no further attention will have to be given to the church people concerning this matter through the columns of the Baptist paper. We urge, therefore, that the Sunday Schools, the Woman's Auxiliaries, the churches and the Leagues take offerings, and complete this drive for the mission car. Take your offerings during March, and mail them direct to Rev. J. W. Alford, Columbia, N. C. He is the treasurer of this fund.

REPORTS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Since some have been mailing in various reports and announcements, for publication in the Baptist paper, without distinct understanding of the state from which they come, we are therefore asking the reporters to be specific in their reports, programs, and announcements by showing from whence they come, and for whom they are intended. For example, give the state, the church organization, or conference, convention, association, etc. for which they are intended so that no one will be misled. By doing this, many misunderstandings will be avoided, and time saved on the part of those who have to write or make inquiry concerning the information desired. Moreover, signatures and addresses should accompany all communications.

they decide "to wait until . . ." Because Paul loved the Lord Jesus, he had a pardon for all of his enemies. To keep a conscience void of offense, he exercised himself, he went out of his way, and traveled the extra mile that all might know and love his Master.

A purged conscience: "For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh; how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Heb. 9:13-14) To have offered a dead animal to God would have been an insult, much more for a man not justified by Christ's blood to offer "dead works."

A weak conscience: "If any of them that believe not bid you to a feast, and ye be disposed to go; whatsoever is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake. But if any man say unto you, This is offered in sacrifice unto idols, eat not for his sake that showed it, and for conscience sake; for the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof: conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the other: for why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience? For if I by grace be a partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I give thanks? Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Give none offense, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God: even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved" (I Cor. 10:27-33).

An ignorant conscience: "They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service" (John 16:2). This prophecy was literally fulfilled in the Apostle Paul's life. "I verily thought . . . that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth. Which thing I also did . . . (Acts 26:9-10). But he declared that he did them ignorantly. Who knows! The tongue that curses you today may bless you tomorrow!

A defiled conscience: "Unto the pure all things are pure; but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled" (Tit. 1:15). It is very common for a man with a filthy mind to impute what he has to others.

A seared conscience: "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron" (I Tim. 4:1-2). Seared unto insensibility. "Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness" (Eph. 4:19).

An awakened conscience: "Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, Saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see thou to that" (Matt. 27:3-4).

Every soul needs a refuge from the accusing cry of his own conscience. What a burden of fears an uneasy conscience piles on its possessor; In St. Louis a policeman used nothing more than a hard stare to stop an automobile thief. While directing traffic at a street intersection, Officer Eldred Hinch, for no particular reason, he said, glared hard at the driver of an approaching car. To his surprise the motorist puled up alongside him and said, "Yep, I stole the car." At the station he said that he came from Terre Haute. Seeing the keys in the ignition of the parked automobile there, he had suddenly decided "to take a ride," but he had a passenger with him on his ride

POWER FOR ADVANCE

Mrs. J. E. Frazier
W. N. A. C. Executive Secy.

For the calendar year of 1950, the Woman's National Auxiliary Convention has chosen for her watchword "Advancing with Christ."

Advance, then, is the supreme word in Woman's Auxiliary life. Likewise, it should be the supreme word in Free Will Baptist life for we must advance in spiritual faith, in the measure of our consecration, in evangelistic effort, in world missions, in giving our money for Kingdom causes, and in making Christ the ruling factor in all our activities.

But advance calls for power. Power belongs to God, and that power has been offered to Christians. He is able to give them more than we can ask or think. He wants to give abundantly.

We need a new conviction that abundant power is available. Christ assured his children that the Holy Ghost would be given to everyone who would witness for him. The Spirit is here today. He is all we need. In this same holy Spirit Free Will Baptists of 1950 can experience a baptism of power that will make us mighty in deed, wise in speech, and convincing in influence.

We need a new conviction as to the great need today for power. A look around in most any direction will supply convincing evidence of this need. Look at the level of average Christian living, the failure to overcome besetting temptations, the compromise about moral issues, the lack of joy and zeal, the lack of ability to convince a lost world of the reality of judgment.

The opposition Christians face today makes greater power most necessary. Mighty combines of evil forces block Christian advance today possibly more than ever in the history of the world. The organized liquor traffic with all its attendant evils, the many pagan philosophies, such as communism, etc., and organized vice and crimes are just a few examples of the forces against which Christians must fight to advance with Christ. We do need the Lord and the strength of His mighty daily.

We need possibly as never before a new conviction as to what we must do to obtain this power, for it is certainly not a matter of magic. There are certain definite laws that operate in the spiritual realm as in the natural realm. The Holy Spirit is offered to all Christians, but every follower must be willing to meet the conditions required for an endowment of zeal and wisdom for such an hour as this in which we live.

A few of these conditions which you and I and all other sincere Free Will Baptist must meet are as follows: First, there must be unconditional surrender to the will of the Holy Spirit. He cannot give power to any follower whose purpose is not in harmony with that of the Heavenly Father. This means that we all—preacher, teacher, leader, laity alike must break with sin of every sort and give ourselves without any reservation to the will of God. He is the power. Through Christians today just as through the apostles, he will go forth to save the whole world. Followers of Christ never could and never can do God's work without God's power. Their business has ever been to advance the things Jesus began to do and teach.

Second, we must seek power through earnest and persistent prayer. Prayer has always been and is yet the mightiest force in the world. Jesus said, "Ask and it shall be given you." This is the way to get the power we need for advance in the service of Christ. All who are responsible for 1950 Auxiliary programs, aimed to help Free Will Baptist women to advance thru their monthly activities with Christ, should remember that "Prayer is a force surer than a cannon; swifter than an airplane; stronger than a tank" and "The secret of all failure is our failure in secret prayer." But this fact should be noted. There is no account of power granted without a purpose to witness. A powerful Christian or a powerful church not witnessing is an anomaly. It just does not happen. Power is granted only for a task. The work of advancing with Christ is God's, and the power is His. Never were the disciples able to win by any plan or strategism of their own. In coming into the world Jesus undertook a work which his followers were (and are) to carry on. Through men Christ continued (and continues) to do and teach.

Third, we must have daring faith to Advance with Christ. This is the inseparable counterpart of surrender and prayer. Faith like a mustard seed can lay hold upon supernatural power to overcome mountains of opposition and to advance to the remotest point where a soul is still held captive in sin and death.

Much of the advance of the Christian faith came through the endeavors of ordinary laymen such as Stephen and Phillip and those Christians who were scattered abroad by persecutions. Advancing with Christ belongs to all who are called to be saints. No one who is a Christian can escape his or her own personal responsibility.

Today is no different from yesterday, for in our time the advancement of the Kingdom is the task of all believers—men, women and children. Our geographical and human world is, to be sure, a far greater than were those of the earliest disciples, but our task is no greater. It is to make actual the purpose of the Great Commission. From a study of the book of Acts we of the F. W. B. Woman's Auxiliary may glean some insight into the means by which our group can make a comparable advance with theirs. We will find they did not continue to wait in quiet once the Spirit had come with power, nor did they keep on enjoying the exalted experience of His presence; but they arose to achieve great deeds, and as they did, the power to accomplish His will came. Likewise, if today we, who have chosen Advancing with Christ as our rally cry for this new year of opportunities and responsible, are to make an advancement that will compare to theirs; then we, as all Christians, must possess their mind and spirit.

To the work, then! Advance with Christ! With a sense of the Spirit's leading let the deeds of the Kingdom become actual, real in power! Wherever you are—city, town, hamlet, or country the Kingdom of God can burst into others' lives. There is no place to stand still in God's vineyard. We are laborers together with God in this world of 1950 where men have unmeasured power but lack moral control for its use. God give us power to reach them and all the unnumbered millions throughout the earth, without hope of salvation. God grant that 1950 shall be a year of advance for the people of our denomination and for all the people of Christ around the world!

Free Will Baptists Must Advance!

Greenwood F. W. B. Church Holds Study Course

Mrs. C. J. Harvey
Camilla, Georgia

The Woman's Auxiliary of Greenwood F. W. B. Church, Mitchell County, Georgia, assembled on the first day of February to study the manual of Methods with Mrs. K. V. Shutes in charge. The meeting was opened with the singing of hymns: "More about Jesus" and "We'll Work 'Till Jesus Comes." Prayer was offered by Mrs. C. J. Harvey, following which the study of the motto and the definition was made. For the Scriptural background each member read one or more Scriptures, and Mrs. Shutes discussed them as each member read. Following this, the meeting was dismissed in a word of prayer by Mrs. G. C. Johnson for the lunch hour. The lunch was spread in the Sunday School rooms, and each one enjoyed a bountiful dinner.

After the lunch period was over, all of the members re-assembled in the church auditorium and Mrs. Shutes gave a short devotional, reading for her scripture lesson from Acts 9:36-43, following which we sang hymn, "Footsteps of Jesus." After Mrs. Shutes gave the introduction and summary of the Manual, we went into a business period. This was for the purpose of electing the officers. Mrs. Arthur Poitvient led in a word of prayer, asking that the heavenly Father lead us in the election. The officers elected are as follows:

President, Mrs. K. V. Shutes; First Vice-President, Mrs. G. C. Johnson; Second Vice-President, Mrs. J. F. Harmon; Third Vice-President, Mrs. G. W. Worshum; Fourth Vice-President, Mrs. C. J. Harvey; Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. G. T. Harvey; Secretary, Mrs. Arthur Poitvient; Treasurer, Mrs. Bobby Poitvient.

We ask the prayers of all the Christian people that we may advance with Christ in all the work. We want to thank the Lord for sending to us Mrs. Shutes, for we certainly did need a good leader, and we are praising the Lord for Rev. and Mrs. Shutes, as pastor and wife who are a great help to us.

Stewardship Study Course Held at East Nashville

A Stewardship Study course was held on Thursday night, February 23, at the East Nashville F. W. B. Church. The lesson was taught by Rev. L. C. Johnson, President of the F. W. B. Bible College. Brother Johnson brought a wonderful message which was greatly appreciated by all present. His message filled us with an inspiration to want to do more for missions.

He read Brother Dodd's manuscript, and commented on it. He then called for comments from the audience. We had the Young Men's quartet present from the Bible College, who rendered two songs. They were greatly enjoyed. Brother Henry Melvin accompanied them at the piano.

The Woman's Auxiliary served a wonderful supper under the direction of Mrs. Ed Marshall. Mrs. C. A. Bowen called a short meeting of the auxiliary. There were seventy-two present for the study class.

This report is submitted by Mrs. O. C. Briley, Cor.-Secy.

The X-ray and God

He was just a little fellow, and the X-ray machine looked big and scary to a little boy. Further, he was not sure just what that strange-looking machine would do to him. The woman who was taking him to the technician tried to put him at ease by saying that the machine would take a picture of his heart, and that perhaps he could see the picture afterward.

The lad waited patiently for the picture to be completed. Finally the nurse brought it to him. He looked at it with great interest. There were his ribs, and sure enough, back of them was his heart. What a strange picture! For some moments his eyes were glued to it. But the conversation which followed was as strange to the woman looking on as the picture itself was to the boy. "I'd like to see God, please," said the boy.

The nurse was puzzled. "God?" she asked.

"Yes," said the boy, "my Sunday School teacher said God is in my heart, and I'd like to see Him, please."

There is no record of the nurse's answer to this Sunday School boy. Perhaps he thought he had been gyped! If the X-ray machine could take a picture of a boy's heart inside his body, why could not it take a picture of what was inside the heart as well?

It was a reasonable question. Yet the boy had to learn, as all of us must, that there are some things that even a wonderful X-ray machine cannot see or do, and that there is more than one meaning to the word "heart."

There is no doubt that God was in the little boy's heart. Gradually he will learn that, for a time at least, the way one sees God is by the Godlike way in which persons who believe in Him, act. He will learn the meaning of faith, and that it is by faith that we realize the presence of God in our hearts. He will learn about Christ who said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father."

It was a good question. We hope that both the nurse who showed the picture to the boy and the woman who took him to have it made could give him the right answer.

And we hope the boy will keep looking to see God.—The Friend.

It is difficult to acknowledge the rationality of a society which would allow advertisements to increase the use of a beverage which makes physically and mentally deteriorated slaves out of one in 20 of the users of the beverage.

We know that there are now about one million alcohol addicts and three million excessive users of alcoholic beverages in our country.

Essentials to Salvation

Eld. A. J. Jenkins, D.D.,
McArthur, Ohio

Introduction

In opposition to a great number who have already backslidden from their former belief and convictions in the essentials of salvation, I say the essentials Jesus left are still the only ones to salvation, and the Christian life. The whines and whims of the worldly church members for compromises, (so they can have Bridge parties, and other worldly amusements which they love better than the essentials, and the church, and Jesus Christ Himself) do not lower the essentials of salvation, but cause the church members to sink deeper into the slimy, dirty mire of sin.

I feel sorry for all worldly church members, those who wallow in the filthy mire of sin, and all mixed up by the Devil himself. He intends to pollute their best love, faith, courage, and real Christian experience to disqualify them as worthies for Heaven and therefore makes their souls subject for hell. I do wish I could convert them to Gospel truth, and to Jesus Christ as Saviour. If they were converted to Gospel truth, all would believe God's word to the extent that they would know that if they wanted to be saved, they could have Salvation, for God provided the blessing for all believers. If they were converted to Jesus Christ as Saviour, they would know He is the Being to seek, consequently all who desire to escape hell, and gain heaven, would seek His forgiveness. They then would enjoy His salvation, while living, and heaven when through with physical life.

Remember, Christians, James 5:20 says: "Let him know that he which converteth a soul from the error of his way, shall save a soul from death"—hell. Try converting a soul. I am sure, all such as could be converted to the Gospel truth, and to Jesus Christ as Saviour, would appreciate this service, when they get to heaven, if never before. Brother preacher, I am thoroughly convinced that a revival, long or short, which converted one soul to Gospel truth and to Jesus Christ is worth more to the church than a revival which converts worldly sinners to church membership. Try this once!

After this brief introduction, let's study together a few essentials to salvation, and a few to a successful Christian life. Christianity is not a progressive science, (but many argue it is). It is a system of divine truth, to be converted, to which has been handed down from heaven, the perfect gift of its giver, Jesus Christ the Saviour.

1. Divine Revelation: The essential to be believed about Divine revelation is a supernatural communication of truth coming from God to mankind. Supernatural means, in part, "Beyond the light and nature of man's best reason." One can believe in a God of Infinite wisdom without believing in His revealed Word, His power and Goodness; and that this revelation is to convince the intelligent, and to assure the true believer, and to enlighten the illiterate.

2. Two Opinions on the Revelation:

1. That the Holy Spirit inspired the thoughts of writers, and that those writers were left to express themselves in their own language.

2. That every word was suggested to writers by the Holy Spirit, and writers did nothing but write.

In either plan, we see God the Holy Ghost was the author of all Scriptures, and the essential thing for mankind is to believe God's Word without question, and to obey all Scripture for benefits promised in the word of God. This is all God will do for mankind, without they obey his commands and demands.

3. Man's Duty to God:

1. To Repent.

In the third chapter of the Gospel of Matthew, we learn how God inspired His servant John the Baptist at hand, repent." So it is plain that dom of heaven is at hand." When Jesus took over, after John the Baptist had been killed, He began to preach: "The Kingdom of heaven is at hand, Repent." So it is plain that for mankind the first need of today is to repent. A man said not long ago, "I had rather die and go to hell than to repent as some do. And I said, "You are a loud-mouth now, but you won't be in hell ten seconds before (if you had a half chance) you would repent to get out." In Ephesians, 4:19, it says, "Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness."

Certainly, it is true that there are millions of people like the man just spoken off, who would rather go to hell than repent. Paul tells us why, "who being past feeling." This is the reason, "past feeling," having sinned their day of grace away. They are without any feeling leading to repentance. Let me leave this word to all who read this article: if you have a flash of conviction leading you to want to be saved, or if there is a flash of fear that you don't want to go to hell, don't wait to go to church, or don't wait to send for the preacher, but for your soul's sake while you have the flash, get on your knees and repent quick and fast.

2. Man's Duty to Confess:

Like the man mentioned above, there are women "who are past feeling." A woman past forty-two years of age, with tears dropping off her cheeks, said to me, while I was trying to persuade her to confess: "My God, preacher, I had rather die in my sins, than confess what I have done!" It is certain that, when women let the Devil lead them astray, it won't be long before they will be "past feeling." Paul says in Romans, 6:16, "Know ye not that to whom ye yield your selves to obey, his slave ye are to obey." Folks, you who are past feeling of wanting to be a Christian have no other alternative than to live in sin, die in your sins, and then go where all sinners go.

3. Man's Duties to Believe:

You would not marry a person without your believe in his or her sincerity to love and care for her. Would you? Well, you shouldn't expect God to forgive you, without you believing in Him. When the Philippian jailor asked, "What must I do to be saved," Paul said to him, and this is for you too: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." Do you want to be saved? Do you feel God's Spirit striving with you? Do you really and truly want to escape going to hell? Do you really want to go to heaven? Then, answer these questions by repenting, confessing and believing on Jesus Christ as Saviour, and He will save you now. Just now throw open the door of your heart and let Jesus come in. I will be praying for all who need salvation, and for you individually, if you let me know, I will pray that you act in good faith, and seek God's forgiveness now, Amen.

"TEN DOLLAR BILLS AT A QUARTER APIECE"

One day last year a man stood on a busy street corner in downtown St. Louis, Missouri, and offered for sale, to any of the passers-by a ten dollar bill for only twenty-five cents, or five for a dollar. There was a limit of five to a customer. All morning the man remained at his post. People came and went. Some of them turned and listened curiously, laughed outwardly at such nonsense, and hurried on. Others stopped and fingered the bills, smiled knowingly, and turned away. Others blatantly demanded an explanation for such an un-orthodox farce. No one bought any of the bills. When the morning had passed and the noon hour had come, the man went his way. That night the city newspapers ran a feature article about the incident, declaring that the bills were perfectly legal tender, and that the man was an honest citizen, and that his theory that men wouldn't buy a "pig in a poke" in this modern age had been proved beyond the shadow of a doubt. Many of those who had spurned the offer read the article with remorse. They had passed up the one and only opportunity of this kind that they would, in all probability, ever have. But it was too late now to take advantage of it.

Now, you need not be guilty of making a decision that you'll regret later. I'm not talking about ten dollar bills, at five for a dollar. I'm referring to the National Association of Free Will Baptists which convenes in Richmond, California, July 11-14, 1950.

You'd better decide now to go, for if you don't, when your friends and neighbors come back with their glowing and graphic reports of the good associational meeting, you're going to be like some of those people in the story. Too late! You'll regret.

Maybe you're thinking in terms of the cost of the trip. And that is well. But remember that you will be the recipient of blessings which will more than repay you for every cent that the trip costs. Who can place dollar valuation on such things as Christian fellowship, planning for the promotion and ongoing of the Kingdom of God, listening to the Gospel as it is preached, rehearsing the marvelous power of God with the missionaries from Cuba and India? You'll be in on all of this if you attend the National Association. And more than that, you'll have the thrill of knowing that you have sacrificed some time and money for the cause, and that you have been made to appreciate your church and her program more than ever before.

PLAN NOW TO BE PRESENT FOR THE OPENING SESSION OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION IN RICHMOND, CALIFORNIA, ON TUESDAY NIGHT, JULY 11, 1950.

An Appeal for Church Leaders to Take a Stand Against Nudists

I wonder if all ministers and Presidents of the Woman's Auxiliaries, who reads this article, would be interested in calling on their Church members to write letters to their State Senators, asking them if a law could be passed forbidding the making and selling of pictures of nude women? Also forbidding men and women going out in public with shorts on?

I think the ladies could demand our government to put a stop to such. It is a disgrace to any lady to have to pass a theatre in going to and from work, and see the bill boards that are placed around it with pictures of indecently dressed women and men.

Any body who wants respect for themselves and respect for other people are always dressed modest. Amen! Here, brother Minister, and Free Will Baptist Church members, would you like to have something to say on this? Well, do something about it!

I can't pass by a news stand without seeing disgraceful pictures. I think the majority of the people of this world are naked crazy.

A lady once told me that when summer came she could hardly wear cloths, it was so hot. I said to her, I wonder what people are going to do when they get to hell.

We read in the third chapter of Genesis after Eve had disobeyed God and had eaten of the fruit which God had forbidden, she gave fruit unto her husband, Adam, and he did eat. Verse seven: "And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons."

What are we going to do about it? That is proof enough that God didn't intend for people to dress immodest.

Parents of today let their children run out in the streets with barely anything on.

What are you going to do about it? Why not see if something can be done? Send petitions from your church to your State Senator.

that he had not reckoned on—his own uneasy conscience!

Death gives no relief to a guilty conscience. They will not bury your sins with your body. How can grief die out of the soul which shall forever be conscious of self-imposed damnation?

What the blood of bulls, and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer could not do for a Jew in a lifetime, the blood of Jesus Christ will do for us in a moment of time! He has eternal wealth who has a good conscience.

Here is God's way out of death into eternal life: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (I John 1:9).—Christian Digest.

The Faith That Sustained the Church

(Lesson for March 19)

Lesson: Acts 26:19-23; Romans 5:1-8; Hebrews 12:1-2.

Golden Text: 2 Timothy 1:12.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

The sinner must be washed from his sins, and receive Christ as his New Life before he can stand justified in the sight of God. That is why Paul in I Corinthians 6:11 uses the words: "Ye are washed, ye are sanctified, ye are justified." Since God has appointed Jesus Christ to be our sanctifier, as slated in I Corinthians 1:30, it follows that cleansing from sin, and receiving Christ must precede justification. Mr. John Wesley was the first man to claim that sanctification followed justification as a second, definite work of grace. This doctrine has caused much confusion and harm to the church.

1. It is possible to choose the way of disobedience even after receiving a Heavenly vision (Acts 26:19).

2. Faith in God and repentance from sin are required of all men, Jews and Gentiles alike (vs. 20).

3. It cannot be denied that Christ's work of death and resurrection are clearly foretold in the Old Testament (vs. 22).

4. The results of Christ's death and resurrection were for the Jews, but just as much for the Gentiles (vs. 23).

5. Justification is a judicial act of God by which He declares those who believe in Christ to be free from all guilt of sin (Rom. 5:1).

6. The removal of guilt from our souls also removes the voice of an accusing conscience and gives us peace with God (vs. 1).

7. Instead of saying, "Once in grace always in grace," let us say, "Once in grace wholly in grace" (vs. 2).

8. It is possible to glory in tribulation only when we know the blessed experiences into which they will lead us (vss. 3-10).

9. It is impossible to run a race successfully when encumbered by any unnecessary weights (Heb. 12:1).

10. The same Jesus who started us in the life of faith will be there at the finish of that life (vs. 2).—Selected.

11. Just as a stranger could come into the presence of a monarch only through one close to the king who would introduce him, so it is through Christ that we have access into God's presence and favor. this grace—This new spiritual condition which God has bestowed as a free gift. rejoice in hope, etc.—"We rejoice in our hope of sharing the glory of God" RSV, that is, in sharing the glory of God's heavenly kingdom.—Arnold's Commentary.

12. Hope which grows out of faith in Christ moves believers to speak and act with courage for their Lord and Saviour. They are not ashamed of Him and His cause, and can say with Paul, I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ (Romans 1:16). It is the love of God in the hearts of God's people, placed there by the Holy Spirit and sustained by Him, that moves them to toil and suffer for Him. (vs. 5).—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

13. Each person has his own race to run, his own life to live, for no one else can do that for him, therefore, he is held responsible before God for the way he runs this race before the world. For a person to run this race successfully, he must have Christ in his heart and the guidance of the Holy Spirit with him; he can not be victorious over sin and the Devil by trying to live the clean life without God because he will fail if he leaves Christ out of his life. Now note what the apostle says in the very next verse (Heb. 12:1).—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

The Christian's Ruby Ring

One of our kings once gave a ring to his favorite, and said to him, "I know that at the council tomorrow a charge of heresy will be brought against you; but, when you come in, answer them if you will, but you need be in no fear; if you find yourself brought to a strait, simply show them the ring, and they will go no further."

It is even so with us; the Lord has given us the precious blood of Christ to be like a ruby ring upon our finger, and now we know how far conscience may go, and how far accusations from Satan may go; we have only to produce that token and bar all further proceedings. "He that believeth on him is not condemned," neither can he be.

The other day, when I was inquiring about the welfare of a certain congregation, my informant told me that there had been few additions to the church, although the minister was a man of ability and industry. Furthermore, he let me see the reason for the failure, for he added, "I have attended them for several years, and during all that time I do not remember having heard a sermon on the sacrifice of Christ. The atonement is not denied, but it is left out." If this be so, what is to become of our churches? If the light of the atonement is put under a bushel, the darkness will be dense.—Spurgeon's Illustrative Anecdotes.

To Arkansas Free Will Baptists

This is to remind the Free Will Baptists of the State of Arkansas concerning our Foreign Mission Quota. The mercury stands, on February the first, at $282.95. May all of us work hard and reach the goal. I am sure that we want our director and messengers to be able to hold their heads up when our report is being read. Please do not let us down.

NEWS FROM TEXAS

now clean through the Word which He has spoken to them. Their sins have been removed and will be remembered against them no more. Old things have passed away. Behold, all things are become new. But the battle has just begun. Christ is aware of the fact that Satan will not leave them alone, so he gives instructions relative to the task of keeping clean. Those who have experienced the new birth, tasted of the heavenly gift, been made partakers of the Holy Ghost and tasted the good Word of God, and the powers of the world to come, will do well to heed these instructions.

In verse four, Christ tells his disciples to abide in Him. How necessary this is. Abiding in Christ, we are given power to overcome the temptations thrown in our path by Satan. A born again Christian should have a desire to see souls born into the Kingdom of God. Abiding in Christ is a prerequisite to fruit bearing. The branch that is broken off the vine can bear no fruit. The branches who are Christians abiding in the Vine which is Christ bringeth forth much fruit, but without Him we can do nothing. Only by abiding in Christ, can we discharge our responsibility to God, to our church, and to our fellowman.

If we abide in Christ, we may ask what we will and it will be done unto us. Of course this promise was primarily to the disciples who were present but this also applies to Christians of today. Is not that a wonderful promise? Who on earth beside Christians have this Promise? Could the Mohammedans, Confucianists, Taoists, or any other sect boast of such promise from their gods?

And then Christ said in John 15:8 that in fruit bearing, we glorified God and so we should be His disciples. Bearing fruit for Christ gives one assurance of discipleship. It also gives one confidence in the authority and power of the Word of God. It makes one say boldly, "Thus saith the Lord." A Christian has the assurance and the confidence when he becomes a Christian but he desires confirmation of this over and over. I know of no better way to receive this confirmation than by winning precious souls for Jesus Christ, our Saviour. When we are working for the Master in this capacity, we can feel His cleansing power day by day.

Again in verse nine, we are exhorted to, "continue ye in my love." How are we to do this? The answer is found in verse ten. "If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love." If we love Jesus, we will keep His commandments. Jesus kept the commandments of His Father and abides in His love. In keeping the commandments of Christ, we feel the daily inward cleansing. Christ wants to keep our lives and hearts clean but the matter is in the hand of the individual. If we let Christ keep our heart clean, we may reach the peak of Christian joy. Our joy is full as spoken by Christ in verse eleven.

"... love one another as I have loved you." This is the command given by Christ in verse twelve. Let's love each other, pray with and for each other and all serve in one great united effort that His Kingdom may come.

TEXAS YOUTH ENCAMPMENT

The State League Board of Directors, Rev. Noah Tuttle, Rev. Troy Lee McDonald, and Mrs. H. Ray Berry, met at Henderson, Texas, January 21, 1950, to lay plans for the Texas State Free Will Baptist Encampment to be held at Pineywoods Baptist Encampment, Woodlake, Texas, August 13th-19th.

The following organizations are to participate in the encampment: Ministers Institute; League; Women's Auxiliary; and Sunday School Convention. The Sunday School Convention is tentatively scheduled for Thursday of the week, and League Conference for Friday. Daily classes are to be conducted in all phases of the work, including Soul Winning (by our National Secretary, Rev. D. Dodd) Bible Doctrine, and Bible Story Telling.

The League Board is requesting that each Quarterly Meeting strive to make a Love Offering of at least fifty dollars ($50.00) to the encampment to enable more children to attend. A longer week is scheduled this year than last, but it is hoped the Camper's fee will not have to exceed the $9.00 each paid last year. (It might be added here that two Q. M. have already pledged theirs.)

Each local League in Texas is asked to conduct a poster contest advertising the encampment in the home church. The judges are to be the General Director, Assistant Director, and General Secretary. With first prize being a "free week" at the camp, paid for by the local league.

The various State Boards of Directors, as elected at the State Association in Fort Worth in November are to be responsible for their own phases of work in the encampment. For further information and planning contact Rev. N. G. Tuttle, 1710 Fifth Avenue, Ft. Worth, Chairman of the League Board; or Rev. N. Bruce Barrow, 109 S. Baylor St., Bryan, Camp Director; or Mrs. H. Ray Berry, 1031 E. 114th St., Houston, Camp Registrar.

Texas Itinerary, June-July

Dear Texas Free Will Baptists:

Our plans are to have itinerary work done in the state of Texas during June and the first part of July. We plan to have one of our own Texas boys and his wife do this work. They are very much interested in Foreign Missions and plan to become missionaries to Japan.

The itinerary will be scheduled as nearly as possible as follows:

Texas Association—June 4-17

West Fork Association—June 18-July 2

North West Brazos Ass'n—July 3-7

South East Texas Ass'n—July 8-10

Central Texas Ass'n—July 12-19

If any church has a preference of date, please advise us of your first, second and third choice of such date. Unless we hear from you to the contrary, our worker will arrange his itinerary as given above.

An offering will be taken at the close of each service and will be duly receipted and turned in to the Treasurer of the Texas Foreign Mission Board who will in turn transmit it to the National Office.

Yours in His Service,

J. M. Goode,
Gaston Clary.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

The Threshing Machine

George H. Clement

"Father, what's that noise over at that barn," asked Ross, as they drove slowly along a country road.

"Oh, they are threshing!" replied his father. "Would you like to see them?"

"Yes!" chorused Ross and his sister Jean, "we surely would!"

So Mr. Mackie drove up the lane and they all got out at the barn. The several farmers who were busily at work hardly glanced their way as they continued to feed the huge threshing machine. They were used to city folk stopping to watch them harvest the grain.

"See over in that field of oats," directed Mr. Mackie, "those large wagons are gathering up the sheaves. They'll be lining up behind these other two wagons waiting their turn to toss the sheaves into that conveyor which takes it into the threshing machine."

"What are those men doing down below with those sacks?" asked Jean.

"That is where the grain is coming down," explained her father, "it has been beaten from the sheaves; and the straw is being blown out over there;" he pointed to a long funnel out of which the straw was flying unto a huge mound.

They stood there for the longest while and watched with the greatest interest the farmers at work harvesting the precious grain. After awhile the grain conveyor was placed inside the barn and they could see men up there shoveling the oats into large bins, while the chaff was blown into the barnyard.

Mrs. Mackie spoke up: "That threshing machine reminds me of the Judgment Day," she exclaimed.

"How is that?" asked the other three, almost together.

"Well, on the last day God is going to send His reapers, the angels, into the world, and they shall sort out the chaff from the wheat. The wheat shall be stored in God's Heavenly barn, and the chaff shall be cast out to be burned," she explained.

"I guess you have been studying the parables," said Mr. Mackie, "but it strikes me that this harvest scene brings to mind many verses of Scripture. That farmer I was just chatting with said that last year he had a whole field of grain rot in the field because he couldn't get any help to harvest it. But this year he says that help is more plentiful; and it certainly looks like it too, when I count all these fellows helping here today. But when I think of so many fields across the sea where the harvest is white and ready to be gathered, I can hear the words of Jesus again saying: "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few: Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth labourers into His harvest." My! if there were only willing workers in God's great fields there would be so many less heathen, who, like that farmer's last-year-crop of grain, would perish."

"When I get home, Mother," exclaimed Jean, "I'm going to look up in my concordance the verses of Scripture that speak of the harvest."

She did, and here are a few of the verses that she found. Would you like to look them up too?

Genesis 8:22; Proverbs 6:8; 10:5; Jeremiah 8:20; Joel 1:11; 3:13; Matthew 9:37, 38; 13:30, 39; John 4:35; Revelation 14:15; Galatians 6:7-9.

BOOK REVIEW

"VICTORY OVER SUFFERING"

By William Gouloze

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.

Date: 1949; Price, $2.00.

The author has written this book for the consolation of the sick and suffering, the aged and infirm, and for the sorrowing and the bereaved. It contains a great many testimonials of sufferers, of despondent persons, and of troubled souls who found consolation, peace of heart and blessed assurance in trusting in God. It is a welcome gift for the home, the hospital, sanitoriums, reformatories, penal institutions, etc.

"MY SERMON NOTES ON

THE LORD'S PRAYER"

By Rev. William P. Van Wyk

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.

Date: 1949; Price, $1.50.

The author has given, in simple outline, useful sermon notes on the Lord's Prayer. The importance of prayer is the central theme, interestingly treated. For ministers, mothers, Sunday School teachers, the Young People's Leagues, and the Woman's Auxiliaries of the church, it will be useful and helpful in their Christian devotions and spiritual services.

Second Union of Central Conference Report

The second Union Meeting District of the Central Conference of N. C. met with Sweet Gum Grove, Pitt County, Saturday before the Fifth Sunday in January, 1950. The meeting was opened by the new moderator, Rev. C. J. Harris. Miss Emogene Nobles led in devotions. Rev. M. A. Woodard led in prayer.

The uniform theme for the day was Stewardship. Rev. Allen Bryan spoke on the Meaning and Motive of Stewardship. Business discussion followed this message concerning the serving of two dinners—one at the Union and one at the Convention. However, it was declared the Union had no authority whatsoever over the Convention, and the matter was tabled indefinitely.

Other topics of great interest on the program were, "Stewardship of Personal Influence" which was very well explained by Rev. D. W. Alexander, and "The Stewardship of Time and Talent," given by Mrs. Marvin Moore.

Rev. R. B. Crawford led the congregation in song. An offering was taken for the Orphanage amounting to $47.70. Prayer of thanks was offered by Rev. D. W. Hansley.

Our Union Sermon topic was God's "Stewardship Plan for Our Progress." Rev. Hansley preached the sermon.

Rev. J. E. Wooten dismissed us for lunch which was served very nicely in the adjoining building. At 1:00 we reassembled with Brother Johnny Humbles leading in devotions. After this Mrs. N. A. Clark delivered a message on "A Balanced Stewardship Program for the Local Church." The Union voted to submit her talk to the F. W. B. Paper for publication.

The Pleasant Hill Choir was present and entertained us by singing both quartet and choir numbers.

The following business was transacted.

Brother Clarence Little was accepted in our Union as a Licensed Minister. The Treasurer's report was accepted as follows:

Second Union Report of Western N. C. Conference

The Second Union of the Western North Carolina Conference convened with Mount Zion Church on January 28, 1950. The union opened at ten o'clock with congregational singing. The devotional service was conducted by Luther Manning, and the welcome address was by Mrs. Alvin Matthews. Response was delivered by Rev. D. Bisette. The usual temperance committees were appointed, and the minutes of the last union were read and approved. The list of ministers was then called, and three ministers were present. The union voted to cancel Rev. James A. Evans' name from this union as he is now in the first union of the Western Conference.

The union sermon was delivered by Rev. D. Bisette. An offering was taken for the orphanage to the amount of $21.49. The union was then dismissed for lunch.

After having enjoyed a fine dinner on the church grounds, the people re-assembled in the church for the afternoon business. The devotions were conducted by Rev. H. L. Howard, and the list of churches was called with 16 responding. The various committees made their reports which were adopted. The total money raised from the various churches was $53.50. The disbursements were as follows:

Incidental expenses -----	$ 6.00
To Mrs. Richardson -----	3.00
To Mrs. G. W. Ferrell -----	3.00

THE HOME LIFE OF A FISH

I had twelve bottles of whiskey in my cellar, and my wife told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink "or else." So I said I would and proceeded with the unpleasant task. I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank. I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass, which I drank. I then drew the cork from the third bottle and emptied the good old booze down the sink, except a glass which I drank. I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass, which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it and poured the rest down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle. I pulled the next cork out of my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the glass. Then I corked the sink with glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour. When I had everything emptied, I steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles and corks and glasses with the other, which were twenty-nine. To make sure, I counted again when they came by and I had seventy-four, and as the house came by I counted them again, and finally I had all the houses and bottles and corks and glasses counted except one bottle and one house, which I drank.—Unknown.

NOTES AND QUOTES

death, but this impostor knocks them down." What I said about this one is true of all of that class that I have investigated. I have actually known patients, who believe in and follow such false prophets, to say, "My child was healed," when the child's feet and legs were just as deformed as ever. I have known them to leave their crutches at the feet of the performer, later had to get them back or get more.

Christ never piled up crutches and canes and advertised "healing meetings," nor bragged on himself for his heading power. I went to see one man that the false prophet said was healed, and he advertised such as true, but when I found the fellow he was dragging his paralyzed fool and limb.

I Believe

Yes, I believe in "Divine Healing" because the Bible teaches it; and I have been healed in answer to prayer, by the servants of the Lord, and as I met the Lord's plan. I did not have to sign a card to get a chance to get through the line. There was no one ahead of me in the line but Christ who said, "If you ask any thing in my name, I will do it" (John 14:14).

Southwood League Grows

Herbert Richards
 1306 Clark Street
 Brownwood, Texas

A Free Will Baptist League was organized in the Southside F. W. B. Church, Comanche, Texas, in November, 1949, with a membership of five children and seven adults. Since the organization, the league has grown in interest and membership. We now have ten members in the Intermediate department, and twelve members in the Adult class. There were about as many visitors in both departments as there are members. The Flannelgraph is being used effectively in the intermediate class.

The league is under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Richards, as General President, and the intermediate teacher. A. B. Benson is the president of the adult class. June Bachman is the general treasurer.

The Hindered Christ

Alice J. Nichols

The Lord Christ wanted a tongue one day
To speak a message of cheer
To a heart that was weary, worn and sad,
And weighed with doubt and fear.
He asked me for mine, but 'twas busy quite
With my own affairs from morn till night.

The Lord Christ wanted a hand one day
To do a loving deed;
He wanted two feet, on an errand for Him
To run with gladsome speed.
But I had need of my own that day;
To His gentle beseeching I answered "Nay!"

So all that day I used my tongue,
My hands, and my feet as I chose.
I said some hasty, bitter words
That hurt one heart, God knows.
I busied my hands with worthless play,
And my wilful feet went a crooked way.

And the dear Lord Christ—was His work undone
For lack of a willing heart?
It is through men that He speaks to men.
His men must do their part.
He may have used another that day—
But I wish I had let Him have His way.

This means that alcoholic intoxication resulted in the injury of more people during the years of the war than were injured in all of our Armed Forces during the years of the war.

We know that the only difference between morphine on the one hand and alcohol on the other is that alcohol is less habit forming than morphine.

Happiness is a passing virtue. Joy is a Divinely-instilled characteristic.—R.

DOCTRINE

Thomas H. Dixon
Checotah, Oklahoma

When we begin to discuss doctrine, some think we mean some man made theory, but I don't mean that at all. Jesus taught doctrine. "When Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine" (Matt. 7:28). There is a way to know his doctrine. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (John 7:17). Note please, if any one that will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine. You may have heard men say, well, I don't know which church has the truth, they all claim to have it. The local church will not save any one. Jesus meant what he said, and the way for us to know his doctrine is to do his will. Yes, and the way to do his will is to accept him, form acquaintance with him, and have fellowship with him. A man must know his Master to do his will. If men want to join some organic body, I think it would be well, but don't depend on the organization to save you. "And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes" (Mark 1:22). Yes, he had the authority from his Father. He taught them, but not as scribes.

The scribes, and Pharisees had a doctrine, but the question is what kind of a doctrine did they have? Hear what the Master said to them: "Woe unto you, scribes, and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves" (Matt. 23:15). Sure, the Pharisees had a doctrine to proselyte men and make them twofold more children of hell than were they themselves. Those are the men that Jesus warned the disciples against.

The doctrine that Jesus taught would bring peace to the homes of the people. He said, "My peace I give unto you, my peace I leave with you. And they were all amazed, inasmuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? What new doctrine is this?

for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him" (Mark 1:27). The doctrine that Jesus taught was somewhat astonishing, for he went right into the synagogue without being asked. No man had ever come with such power as Jesus did. Yes, he proved his doctrine by his works. He raised the dead, opened the blinded eyes, cleansed the lepers, spake to the wind, and it obeyed him. His doctrine was so different, for of all others, even in his trial, the high priest asked of his doctrine. Not only did the high priest want to know just about Jesus himself, but also his disciples. Christ did not only do these things, but he gave power to his disciples to do them. The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine. Jesus answered him, "I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing" (John 18:19-20). "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass: Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God" (Deuteronomy 32:1-3).

Somebody will preach the doctrine. The prophet said it would drop as the rain. Tender herbs need rain to make them grow. Note, the comparison of the doctrine to the rain fall. Yes, when the grass looks as though it was almost dead, but let a few showers of rain come and in a few hours you see the grass straighten up, and begin to grow. So it is with Christians, when they get cold and in a lukewarm condition and happen to go to church, and hear a real sermon, they wake up then, for they can feel that they can do better, yes, grow in grace, and do works for the Master.

"Whom shall he teach knowledge?

and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts" (Isa. 28:9).

The apostle Peter informs us that those who need the milk are young, newborn babes. Well, I think we should not always be on milk. Hear the Apostle:

"As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious" (First Peter 2:2-3).

"Now I beseech you brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offenses contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them." (First Cor. 16:17).

The church of God had a rule, and they who knew the true doctrine was admonished by the apostle to avoid them that caused divisions contrary to the doctrine. The 18th verse of the above mentioned chapter says: "For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple."

Note, that they could speak good words, and make fair speeches. Not every one that says Lord, Lord, shall enter into the city of God. They had false prophets among them, and we have them in our midst today, and may we preach the doctrine of our Lord Jesus Christ.

"Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee" (First Tim. 4:16).

To know the doctrine men must study the Bible, and what Paul said to Timothy is good for us ministers in this age. First, he said, "take heed unto thyself." He wanted Timothy to be sure he was right himself, and then he could preach the doctrine. What it took then to

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

What Next?

As we read of the dastardly crimes and cases of high adultery, and fornication, rape, murder, gambling and so-called religious bodies sponsoring dances and moving toward ever baser living, we are made to ask the question WHAT NEXT?

The base and adulterous act of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rosselini is another outburst of sin and shame brought on humanity by the acts of sinful and degraded minds of Movie Stars. The whole story is so full of degeneracy and lustful immorality that a Christian should be ashamed to stick his head in a theater where pictures are shown by such sin-loving, filth producing, servants of Satan. Hollywood is known for its adulterous life of shame, but this case has climaxed everything that has ever been brought to light, according to my mind. Of course, there is no doubt that there are a great many other cases just as base and sinful that are still under the cover. We are not surprised at anything that comes out of Hollywood. I consider it to be fully equal to Sodom and Gomorrah in sin and shame.

Daring Adultery

According to the Bible, and I believe every word of it, the case of these movie stars is the most daring and the most public ever given, in which both seem to be happy over their illegal love affair. Paul says: "For the woman which hath a husband is bound by the law to her husband so long as he liveth; but if the husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband. So then if, while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress: but if her husband be dead, she is free from the law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man" (Romans 7:2, 3).

According to confessions and according to the birth of the child born to this couple, adultery has been openly set forth. Webster says adultery is "Sexual commerce by a married person with one who is not his or her wife or husband." So, according to language and according to the Bible, Ingrid Bergman is an adulteress and Roberto Rosselini is an adulterer. But with all this sin and shame there are people who will patronize and run wild to the theater to see the pictures produced by these agents of Satan.

Their Plans

According to the news reports, Ingrid and Rosselini had planned to cover up, as far as possible, the identity of the illegal child by the method of name, the plan being to list her boy Robert Ingman, son of Ingrid Bergman, father unknown. Notice "father unknown." Perhaps that could have been true in some cases around Hollywood. The news says that "this course decided upon to safeguard Bergman's custody of the baby, because at the time she was still Lindstrom's wife.

Rosselini's Hopes and Pride

Rosselini hopes eventually to marry Ingrid in a church ceremony—in addition to the civil ceremony. They have agreed that the boy "shall be baptized and brought up in the Catholic church." It is a question as to whether the Roman Catholic church will turn from its custom of marriage of the divorced couples to making this outstanding case legal in the church. Already one official report has come out from Rome, saying, "He that is without sin let him cast the first stone," quoting the Bible. But facts are facts and you do not have to judge in this case, for you can quote more Bible, which says, "the tree is known by the fruit it bears," and the birth of an illegal child is open adultery. Now, may we notice another quotation: "Rosselini proudly announced that he was the father of the child and that he and Miss Bergman would marry as soon as the divorce came through." Now notice and I quote: "They fell in love while working together as star and

Rosselini was a guest in the home of Dr. Lindstrom while the picture was in the making, which shows the undermining and the stealing of the love of another man's wife, and while living as the guest of the man, by whom he was sheltered.

CHRISTIANS, can you endorse Hollywood and the rotten adulterous life of the movie stars? There may be some virtuous lives, but there are so many who are steeped in sin, adultery and fornication. To stay away from evil, I stopped the patronizing of the Hollywood crowd thirty-five years ago, when the Holy Ghost whipped me to my knees for going to see a picture that was classed as "religious," but it portrayed adultery. I never saw an apology made, nor anything that would show repentance for the act of adultery. So, I stopped going because the Holy Ghost taught me that it was wrong.

Good Pictures

Yes there are good pictures. I saw a picture, on testing, by a salesman, picturing a great deal of the Bible. This man wanted to rent the picture to me for my work, so he showed it in his place of business. But when I read that it was produced by Hollywood stars, I turned it down, and my reason was that the Devil cannot produce a picture for the glory of God.

There are good religious pictures, let me repeat, but you seldom ever see one in a theater. I am not against good religious or educational (the right kind of education) pictures.

What Can We Do About It?

Some time ago I was showing the pictures of our Orphanage at Middlesex which portrays the activities of the Institution and I was informed,, of its being Saturday night and that the people had gone to a show in the local community. Here was my answer: "We have a service in which pictures are shown for the glory of God." The devil has a show where the ideals of Satan and his "imps" are shown. The church can out show the Devil if men will take ad-

A Good Sunday School Worker

Bobby E. Carraway

Bobby Eugene Carraway, of Tabernacle F. W. B. Church, Coward, South Carolina, has been present in Sunday School for fourteen months. He is a member of the Junior Class. He is an active Leaguer and a Sunbeam. Bobby is seven years old, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Carraway. Mr. Carraway is the secretary of the Sunday School, and Mrs. Carraway is teacher of the Primary Class.

Bobby has an older sister, Ella Mae, who has been present for Sunday School for fourteen months. She is secretary and treasurer of the Girls' Auxiliary, and also the program leader for the Sunday night Young Folks League.

We are indeed thankful for this Christian family who are so devoted to this church. Please join us in prayer that God will continue to bless them and that our church will grow in His grace, and be a blessing to those who attend its services.

San Bernardino Stirred for Christ

The nineteenth day "Life Begins" revival campaign of San Bernardino, California, which closed on November 27, 1949, was acclaimed the greatest the city has witnessed in over forty years. More than thirty churches united with the Christian Business Men's Committee to bring Dr. Hyman J. Appelman and Homer Britton, his singer, to the great Swing Auditorium at the National Orange Show Grounds.

The meeting was pronounced a success in every respect. The crowds were excellent, the smallest going beyond 2500. The budget was swiftly raised. Local newspapers gave wide-spread publicity to the campaign both before and during the meeting. Rev. Homer Britton's messages in music thrilled the great audiences and the combined chorus choir of over two hundred voices, under his capable direction, was a blessing and inspiration to all who attended.

The results were truly God honoring, with more than 800 professions of faith, besides scores of rededications. Christians and churches as a whole were stirred to greater evangelistic endeavors and are asking, "When can we have another campaign?" One Jew and two Jewesses (mother and daughter) were won to Christ. A prominent Greek merchant was saved. The Number One staff photographer of one of the local newspapers was gloriously converted and gave this witness to his salvation over and over again: "I'll never cease to praise God every chance I get and to witness for my Jesus whose blood made me whole."

All the churches of the city cancelled their own Thanksgiving Day programs in order to unite in one gigantic Thanksgiving Day Rally in the auditorium.

Much of the success of the campaign, county-wide in scope, which was initiated by the Christian Business Men's Committee of San Bernardino more than a year and a half in advance, can be credited to the aggressive, earnest, pre-campaign preparation which included city-wide mid-week prayer meetings in the co-operating churches, men's prayer sessions help from 7:00 to 7:30 each morning in the First Presbyterian Church, and scores of cottage prayer meetings throughout the city. Pastors and laymen alike co-operated whole-heartedly and tirelessly with the evangelist's advance representative, W. A. Green, and with the capable Chairmen, Rev. Clyde A. Rhone, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene of San Bernardino. They all had one purpose and goal to win the lost of their city and county to the Lord Jesus Christ.—Sel.

A Correction

HE IS MY STAY

"The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower."
—Psalm 18:2.

I have a stay to lean upon
That never wavers to and fro;
One I can always lean upon
That will not fail I know.

No matter how the storms may rage
Nor how the winds may blow,
It's just as firm and steady now
As a thousand years ago.

It does not even tremble
When the highest billows rol,
But gives support-unsurpassed
To my burdened, weary soul.

It's none other but Christ Jesus
The man of Galilee,
Who took my sins upon Himself
And bore them on Calvary.

I know I can trust Him
Oh, what a friend is He!
A refuge, guide and hiding place
And a stay in time of need.

He never is too busy
To hear my burdened plea,
"Lord, help me o'er this weary way"
Though so unworthy I be.

And sometimes, when it seems to me
I'm in the 'midst of darkest night,
I know not where nor when to turn
For I see no ray of light.

'Tis then again I'm made to know
There is no other stay—
Except, the Master, for no matter the night
He knows and leads the way.

Yes, He knows when I am weary,
And every heartbreak, tear and care;
But Praise His Matchless Name!
He will every burden bear.

A Great Revival

There'd be a great revival
If Christians all would pray;
Each in his heart believing
And put all doubt away.

There'd be a great revival
Like the day of Pentecost;
If Christians' hearts were burdened
As they should be for the lost.

There'd be a great revival
Such as none have known before;
If Christians really wanted
A revival I am quite sure.

The Parable . . . OF THE TOBACCO SEED

Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened to a grain of tobacco seed, which though exceedingly small, being cast into the ground grew and became a great plant, and spread its leaves rank and broad, so the huge vile worms formed a habitation thereon. And it came to pass in the course of time that the sons of men looked upon it and thought it beautiful and much desired to make lads big and manly. So they put forth their hands and took it and did chew thereof. And some it made sick and others to vomit most filthily.

And it further came to pass that those that chewed it became weak and unmanly and said: "We are enslaved and cannot cease from chewing it!" And the mouths of all those who were enslaved became foul, and they were seized with violent spitting, and they did spit, even in the ladies' parlors, and in the house of the Lord. And the saints of the Most High were greatly plagued thereby. And in the course of time it came to pass that others snuffed it and they were taken suddenly with fits, and they did sneeze with great sneezes inasmuch as their eyes were red and filled with tears, and they did look exceedingly silly. And others cunningly wrought the leaves into rolls and did set fire to the one end thereof and did look very grave and cafflike as they vehemently sucked at the other end thereof. And the smoke of their torment ascended up like a fog.

And the cultivation thereof became a great and mighty business in the earth; and the merchants waxed rich by the commerce thereof, and it came to pass that the professed saints of the Most High defiled themselves therewith. Even the poor who could not buy bread, nor books, nor shoes for their little ones, spent money for it. And the Lord was greatly displeased therewith, for the Word says: "Wherefore do you spend money for that which is not bread? I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price; therefore glorify God in your body" (Rom. 12:1; I Corinthians 6:19-20). But with one accord they exclaimed: "We cannot cease from chewing, spitting, snuffing, and puffing!"

Oh! ye professed followers of the Lord Jesus Christ, will ye be slaves of a nasty, poisonous weed? One is your Master, even Christ! Amen!

WHAT ONE CENT CAN DO

Son of one of the chiefs of Burdwan was converted by a single tract. He could not read, but he went to Rangoon, a distance of 250 miles; a missionary's wife taught him to read, and in forty-eight hours he could read the tract through. He took a basket full of tracts, and with much difficulty preached the Gospel at his own home, and was the means of converting hundreds to God. He was a man of influence; the people flocked to hear him, and in one year 1,500 natives were baptized in Arracan as members of the church. And all this through one little tract! That tract cost one cent. Oh, whose cent was it? God only knows. Perhaps it was the mite of some little girl—perhaps the well-earned offering of some little boy. Yet, what a blessing it has been!—Publisher Unknown.

WHEN WE PRAY

W. J. CARSWELL

When we pray, there is strength
For each definite task;
There is power, at length,
To each one who will ask.

When we pray, we have peace
In the hearts that were torn
By troubles and trials
That long had been borne.

When we pray, we have comfort
That none can bestow
But Him who has power
To scatter our woe.

When we pray, there's release
From the care and the fret
That our energies waste
And our ives so beset.

When we pray, the temptation
With which we were pressed
Is a foe from whose power
Our souls we can wrest.

When we pray, there is wisdom,
Discretion, and grace;
There is love for one's neighbor;
There's a light on the face.

When we pray, God's own Word
Appears in new beauty,
To tell of His truth,
Of salvation, and duty.

These blessings, so gracious,
May be ours day by day,
If indeed and in truth
We believe, when we pray.

REV. D. W. ALEXANDER TO VISIT AUXILIARIES IN INTEREST OF BAPTIST PAPER

Brother D. W. Alexander, president of the Board of Directors of the Press, was chosen in a recent Board meeting of the Press to make visits to the District Auxiliary Conventions, and also the State Auxiliary Convention of North Carolina in the interest of the Baptist paper.

He is to present before these meetings the need for a greater circulation of the Baptist in the homes of the church people, and to urge the women of the auxiliaries to start plans by which new subscribers can be enlisted in taking the paper. He is hoping to wage a campaign movement with the Woman's Auxiliary which will result in greatly increasing the circulation to the paper.

Splendid prizes will be offered to individuals, auxiliaries, churches, and other church organizations for outstanding accomplishments in securing new subscriptions to the paper. Expensive and worthwhile Bibles will be the prizes given for noteworthy results of those securing subscriptions. These prizes will go to the church, individual, auxiliary, or convention that makes an outstanding record in securing new subscriptions. This offer will apply to Free Will Baptists everywhere in the United States.

Specific plans for the winning of the prizes will be stated in the Baptist paper as soon as Brother Alexander can work them out and let us have them.

REV. P. C. WIGGS' FAMILY SUFFERS GREAT LOSS

Brother P. C. Wiggs, of Macclesfield, North Carolina, has suffered a great loss in the accidental burning of his home. By accident, his rented home was completely burned on March 5, with all of the household furnishings destroyed. One member of the family perished in the flames. Since that time, another child of the family has died. The wife is in Tarboro Hospital, suffering from serious burns.

It was one of the most serious tragedies by fire destroying a home in this section of the State that has occurred in a long time. It was caused by an explosion of kerosene while being poured on live coals in a stove. Brother Wiggs was away at his church when it happened.

The members of the family are asking the Christian people to pray for them in their hours of great sorrow and suffering. Material assistance is being offered by the Red Cross, churches, and individuals. Any one who is led by the Spirit of God, may offer financial aid, as well as prayers, since the expense will be great. Cards and letters of sympathy, and tokens of helpfulness may be sent to Rev. P. C. Wiggs, Macclesfield, N. C. The family will appreciate every expression of sympathy and thoughtfulness any one may offer.

LITERATURE READY FOR SHIPMENT

The Sunday School and League literature is ready for shipment. The secretaries are urged to mail in their orders at once for the amount they shall need for their schools and leagues. As the orders have been increasing in size for sometime now, we are anticipating still larger orders from some schools and leagues for the incoming quarter. However, we have printed larger quantities this time with the hope that we will not have to do any re-printing of any of the quarterlies to supply the needs of our patrons.

It will be advisable for the secretaries, in making out their orders, to be sure to order ample supplies, or as many copies as they feel certain that their schools will need, and thus avoid having to make out a new order a little later. This so often happens with some schools.

EASTER MATERIALS

Now is the time to order your Easter materials for your Easter program. We have a splendid supply of these materials on hand for our patrons. We suggest that you place your orders at once for the amount and kind of materials you shall need for your programs. Those living near Ayden may drop by and select for themselves the materials they shall need.

SPRING CONVENTIONS

The Woman's Auxiliary will begin holding the Spring Conventions very soon in the various states. In North Carolina these district conventions begin in March, and some of them in some districts of the State will be held in April and May. The women constituting these church bodies are willing-workers, very zealous of the doing worthwhile things for the cause of the church and the spreading of the gospel of Christ. They are making splendid progress in all phases of the denominational work. Without them and the progress that they are making, the ministry would be greatly handicapped in carrying forward the cause of Christ in the denomination. They are to be commended for every forward movement which they have made in advancing the cause of righteousness in our church.

You cannot find a Christian on the face of the earth who will not tell you that what he gave up for Christ was nothing in comparison with what he got.—Terry.

"Who was it, Grandma?" asked the twins.

"It was the Lord. He sends us all our blessings."—Our Jewels.

Auxiliary Report from Newport News, Va.

With our WATCHWORD for the Year (Advancing with Christ) in mind, we are glad to report that our ladies, though few in number, are doing a good work. We have 10 active members who meet twice each month. Each member pays 25c dues at each meeting. We also have some 'Honorary' men members, who assist us in carrying on our work.

At our first meeting each month, we study the lesson as outlined in our Year Book. At the other meeting, we take up the study of our Stewardship or Mission book. We find these lessons very interesting. We are striving to achieve the standard of an A-1 Auxiliary.

We realize that we have a duty to perform, while here on earth, so, we pray daily that the Lord will give unto us a watchful, humble, and a diligent spirit, that we may seek in all things to know His will, and that after we know it, that we may perform it perfectly and gladly.

Since the first of June, our auxiliary has turned over to our church building fund some over $500.00. It takes much work for such a few ladies to do this. We have given our donation for missions, donation on mission car, donation to orphanage in money and clothing. Though we are few in number, and do not even have us a church, we feel that the Lord will greatly bless us if we contribute to these worthy causes.

We are denying ourselves many pleasures. During our social hour at each auxiliary meeting, instead of serving refreshments, the one who is to serve, places $2.00 in a fund which is used for purchasing necessities for our church. We will not be so well dressed at Easter, but will be happy indeed, because we have given our all toward the building of our First Free Will Baptist Church in Newport News, Va. We feel it a privilege to be able to work and give for the cause of Christ.

Many thanks to all who have sent us donations, or rummage for our rummage sales, during our first year. May the Lord bless you, and may you continue to help us until we are strong enough to carry on without help. Any amount sent to us for our building fund, by any auxiliary or individual, will be greatly appreciated.

Yours in His service,
Mrs. D. W. Cherry,
308 Webster Ave.,
Portsmouth, Va.

ATTENTION, WOMEN OF THE WESTERN CONFERENCE DISTRICT

The date of the Woman's Auxiliary Convention of the Western Conference has been changed, for this year only, from Wednesday, April 5 to Thursday, April 13. It convenes with Sherron Acres Church, East Durham, N. C.

New report blanks have been issued, so please order yours from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, N. C., fill out and return to the Secretary, at least one week before the Convention.

Send your District contribution and per capita dues to the Treasurer, Mrs. Leon Foster, Selma N. C., Route 3.

You are asked to make a special offering to Cragmont for promotion of Woman's Conference week.

Mrs. R. N. Hinnant, Secy.
Micro, N. C.

ATTENTION

To all local treasurers of the Western District Aux. Convention of North Carolina. When you send your dues and contributions to me, will you please state the amount for dues and the amount for contributions.

Yours to serve,
Mrs. Leon Foster,
Western District Aux.
Convention Treasurer

California State Auxiliary Organized

We are herewith reporting the progress of the women's work in our churches in the State of California. On February 10, 1950, a group of young women from the auxiliaries over the state met with the women at the State Auxiliary Convention.

Cleo Doss of Kerman was elected as president. Goldie Priest of Richmond was elected as first vice-president; Lucile Hampton of Porterville as second vice-president; Illa Hudleston of Turlock as third vice-president; Pattie McLain of Kerman as fourth vice-president; Winnie McLain of Richmond was elected as secretary, and Zella Ramsey was elected as the field worker.

Since the state organization was set up, one more local auxiliary has been organized. This was at Arvin F. W. B. Church in Arvin, California.

Please pray for us that we might advance with Christ here on the west coast.

Respectfully yours,
Pattie McLain,
Kerman, California

WHAT THEY THINK OF THE BAPTIST PAPER

We need more people to take more time to write to the Baptist paper. I have been reading it for many years, and having it come to my house. I would not be without it for anything.—Rev. J. O. Cook

This is to let you know, editor, that I like the Baptist paper. We have it in our home as a welcome visitor. More people should take the paper and read it.—I. J. W.

Why don't more people take the Baptist paper? It is a good church paper, and every Free Will Baptist home should have it. How can the church people keep up with what the denomination is doing unless they take the paper?—Rev. G. C. C.

NOTICE TO SECOND VICE- PRESIDENTS

As the time draws near for the Auxiliary Convention of the Central Conference District to convene, I want to remind the second vice-presidents of the local auxiliaries of the work outlined at our last Auxiliary Convention. Each auxiliary was asked to contribute the price of one roll of screen wire for Cragmont, 2 single white cotton crinkle bed spreads—single bed size sheets are badly needed also.

If you haven't already done your part, won't you please send a donation as large as possible at once to our State Treas., Mrs. M. A. Woodard, Winterville, N. C.

Has your Auxiliary filled an Anna Phillips Loan Fund chart or part of one? And have you sent a donation to the college?

Let's have a good deport!

Second Vice-President

Cragmont Assembly Drive

Office of Campaign Manager
225 Nashville Road
Rocky Mount, N. C.

To All:

Pastors
Union Meetings
Sunday Schools
Auxiliaries
Leagues

Greetings and Special Attention:

You have previously been informed by a special letter and through the Baptist paper about the Special February Drive for Cragmont Assembly, Inc. All funds received for the special drive will be used for the retirement of debt and necessary repair to our property.

Your church and all of its auxiliaries, no doubt, have been properly informed about the drive, but have you received that special offering, or shared your offerings with this worthy cause? We are indeed thankful for your offerings that have arrived so far. We are still urging our people to help meet the goal which is $3,000.00. As early as all funds are in and the drive is completed, the money will be used for Cragmont.

Your Campaign manager is earnestly appealing to you to get your offerings in the mail as early as possible; our treasurer, Mr. Fountain Taylor, Route 2, Richlands, N. C., is anxious to receive your offerings that he may close out the drive and make necessary repairs.

Yours for the cause of Cragmont,

Mrs. N. E. Harris,
Campaign Manager

You can only enjoy the peace of God after you have peace with God.—R.

The Inside and Outside

Mrs. A. L. Reynolds, Kinston, N. C.
Those on the outside, looking in,
Get quite a different view
From what those who are inside,
Looking out, can do.

What those on the outside, looking in
Can see is very dim,
While those on the inside view
What the spirit shows to them.

Those on the inside know
That a Christian life is better than sin.
How do they know? you ask.
They have that witness within.

They know their sins are forgiven,
And that they have access to heaven;
They know the price for their sins has been paid;
They, their all on the altar have laid.

They have put off the old man,
And taken on the new.
They have a new outlook
And a new leader, too.

I've often wondered why those
On the outside, looking in,
Seem so reluctant to come in—
But then I remember they don't know
Him.

Until those on the outside looking in,
Open their hearts and let Jesus in,
They cannot see as a Christian sees,
And they cannot know the Christian's
peace.

It's nice to be within the fold,
And sweet communion with Him to hold;
But Jesus gave His followers a work to do—
We must bring the lost to Him, too.

But how can we do it, you say,
We can use our talents for Christ.
We can pray and talk and give,
And show others it's for His cause we live.

Ask Jesus to show you how,
And let Him guide you now.
If a soul you gain for Jesus above,
Remember that person you must love.

Yes, those on the inside looking out,
Often wonder why those on the outside looking in,

Think the price they have to pay
Too much, and go on in their sins.

Maybe it's because we on the inside
Don't always live apart from sin,
And so become a stumbling-block
To those who would let Jesus in.

We on the inside are responsible today
For much of the sin and strife;
Most persons who accept the Christ

See Him first in some Christian's life.

So, Christian, look to your life, I pray;
Please don't stand in some sinner's way.
Be sure, if the sinner looks your way,
Your life the Saviour will portray.

Don't be content with your salvation alone;
Jesus died that all might atone.
If He has saved you, You've work to do—
He wants those who are outside on the inside, too.

"MORE PEOPLE TO WRITE TO THE BAPTIST"

As I see it today, we need more people who will take more time to write messages to the Baptist paper. I have been having the good paper to come to my home for several years, and I enjoy reading it. I would not be without it for anything.

I should like for the good people of Florida to write more. Brother B. E. Coxwell of Talahassee, Florida, has written some very good articles for the paper, and I enjoyed every one that he wrote.

I know that the Lord is blessing Brother
J. C. Griffin in his work. We hear so very many people speaking of his NOTES AND QUOTES. I thank God for such a man as Brother Griffin. Wish we had more men like him.

The Lord wants more laborers in His vineyard, so you church people come on and be strong workers in the vineyard of the Lord. We need also more people who will take the Baptist paper and read it. Also there is need of more church people to go to their own church and to take more interest in our own F. W. B. churches. How can we expect the denomination to grow strong if we do not do our part?

I want my life to count for something for the Lord. I am arranging my revival meetings now for the summer, and any one wanting me to hold their meeting can reach me at the address below.

PROFESSING AND POSSESSING

Mrs. Venie M. Carney
3217 Rowena Avenue
Durham, N. C.

A child of God some claim to be,
They talk of love and charity;
But I have watched them day by day,
There's nothing yet to what they say.

I've heard them sing and testify,
I've heard them pray and shout and cry,
But time their feet get on the ground
It's an altogether different sound,

I've heard them brag of what they do,

To learn that none of it is true,
I've seen them throw away a sin
Only to grab it up again.

In church, a saint of God they sit,
At home, a plain old hypocrite.
I've watched their lives and I can see
They're just not what they claim to be.

God knows your every deed and thought,
He knows the good that you have wrought.
You can't fool Him by what you say,
How loud you shout, or long you pray.

If round your home you don't live right,
At church, you're then a sick'n'ng sight.
'Tis better that you stay at home,
There shut the door and keep alone.

It makes no difference where you are,
At church, at home, though near or far;
A Christian's name if you PROFESS,
Then let that be what you POSSESS.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BEGIN AT SMITHFIELD F. W. B. CHURCH

Revival services will begin at the Smithfield Free Will Baptist Church, Sunday evening, March 26th, at 7:00 p. m., and will continue through Saturday evening, April 1st.

Evangelist Douglass Winn from Martinsville, Virginia, will conduct the series of services.

Evangelist Winn began his preaching ministry at the age of eight years. He has held more evangelistic meetings than any man his age in the United States of America.
He conducted a campaign in Canada's largest church, Oswald Smith, pastor. Recently he led a 53 year old murderer to Christ in a sensational Virginia murder trial, and was with the man when he died in the electric chair. He had 100 conversions in an Oregon meeting. He has participated in the largest "Youth for Christ Rallyes" in America. He held a "city wide" meeting in December in Indianapolis, Indiana, and has just closed a series of revival services at the Haw River
North Baptist Church in Haw River, North Carolina.

You can hear this man of God every evening at the Smithfield Free Will Baptist Church from March 26th through April 1st.
Attend the services if you can! If you can't attend, then pray for them!

Earl H. Glenn
3009 Angier Avenue
Durham, N. C.

We speak about "kingly kindness." This kindness is manifested by those only who are kingly in heart. In other words, only those who are possessed and ruled by the Holy Spirit are able to produce kingly ways and actions.—R.

The real purpose of our existence is not to make a living, but to make a life—a worthy, well-rounded, useful life.

CHRIST CRUCIFIED

Dear Friends: I am going to preach to you again upon the cornerstone of the Gospel. As the Roman sentinel in Pompeii stood to his post even when the city was destroyed, so do I stand to the truth of the atonement though the church is being buried beneath the boiling mud-showers of modern heresy. Others may preach as they will, but as for this pulpit, it shall always resound with the substitution of Christ. Some may continually preach Christ as an example, and others may perpetually discourse upon His coming to glory: we also preach both these, but mainly we preach Christ crucified, to the Jews a stumbling-block, and the Greeks foolishness; but to them that are saved Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God.—Spurgeon.

JOHN WESLEY VERSUS
JOHN BARLEYCORN

John Wesley saw the curse of the liquor traffic in his day. If it was a blight upon humanity then, it certainly is a great plague upon the social life of our people now.

Wesley said:

"Neither may we gain by hurting our neighbor in his body. Therefore we may not sell anything which tends to impair health; such is evidently all that liquid fire.

"The curse of God is in their gardens and their gloves; a fire that burns to the nethermost hell. Their foundations, their walls, their roof is stained with blood. Like those whom thou hast destroyed, body and soul, thy memorial shall perish with thee."

"They murder His Majesty's subjects wholesale; neither do they ever pity or spare. Those who prepare and sell them for pleasure may keep their conscience clear.

"But all who sell in the common way, to any who will buy, are poisoners in general. They murder his majesty's subjects wholesale; neither do they ever pity or spare. They drive them to hell like sheep; and what is their gain? Is it not the blood of these men? Who then would envy their large estates, and sumptuous palaces? A curse is in the midst of them. The curse of God cleaves to the stones, the timber, the furniture of them.

In 1773, not in 1950, John Wesley wrote: "Why is food so dear? The grand cause is because such immense quantities of corn are continually consumed in distilling. Nearly half of the wheat produced in the kingdom each year, is consumed, not in so harmless a way as throwing it into the sea, but by converting it into deadly poison. Poison that not only destroys the strength and life, but also the morals of our countrymen."

Thus spoke John Wesley of liquor and liquor dealers.

Such are the charges made against the liquor traffic by the man who wrote 223 books, traveled 226,000 miles, most of it on horseback or in a carriage, and preached 46,000 sermons. He made $150,000 profits out of his publications, but, according to figures before me, Wesley died at 88, leaving an estate of less than fifty dollars! But, as David Lloyd George of England said, "He bequeathed to the whole English-speaking world, a heritage incomparably sublime."

Wesley was so busy preaching the gospel to a dying people that Lord Baldwin, at one-time, when Prime Minister of England, said, "I am supposed to be a busy man, but, by the side of John Wesley, I join the ranks of the unemployed!"—Herald of Holiness.

A Note of Thanks

I wish to use this means to express my thanks and appreciation to all you good people for your prayers, cards, and gifts. I do thank God for those who take time to show kindness, and thoughtfulness, to the ones who are less fortunate than they.

I have been a bed patient here in the Sanitorium for more than six months. I realize as never before, that any one who has good health is rich indeed, and should be willing to spend much time in the service of the Lord.

Have not seen my infant son since I left home, and the longing has grown very intense at times, but your courtesies of remembrance, has been uplifting to me, spiritually, and made my stay here more tolerable.

Please pray that the Lord will heal me, and that I will soon be able to return to my home. My greatest desire is to be well again, home with my family and church; and in the service of the Lord.

Your Brother in Christ,

George Johnson,
Blue Ridge Sanitorium
Charlottesville, Va.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity of sending to each and everyone my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many cards, letters, flowers and words of cheer that have been given me during my recent illness. I have been a member of Hull Road Free Will Baptist church for 55 years. I would greatly appreciate the prayers of all my Christian friends.

Mrs. Agnes Letchworth

preach the doctrine it takes in this age. They were to give themselves wholly to the work of the ministry, and that is the very thing ministers ought to do now. Studying the Bible to know what it teaches, is a great help to any one, much less a minister who must study to know how to divide the word of truth.

"And when they brought them, they set them before the council, and the high priest asked them.

Saying did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine.

Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, we ought to obey God rather than men" (Rom. 5:28-29).

Every town and city should be filled with the doctrine of the Lord Jesus Christ. When the end comes and the sun turns to darkness, and the moon to blood all that have obeyed the Gospel will be able to stand before the judgment with clean hands, and pure hearts. Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.

(Lesson for March 26)

Lesson: Romans 1:1-12; Acts 28:14, 15, 30, 31.

Golden Text: Romans 1:16.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. Although we are the children of God whom He has called "saints," let us remember that we are also His servants (Rom. 1:1).

2. Even those who have been called saints still are in need of grace and peace from God (vs. 7).

3. Do we ever thank God for the testimony of Christians whom we do not know personally? (vs. 8).

4. Do we ever pray for those Christians whom we do not know in the flesh? (vs. 9).

5. It is one of the greatest blessings of the present age to be able to have fellowship with other Christians (vs. 10).

6. It is more blessed to give than to receive even through the medium of Christian fellowship (vs. 11).

7. There is a peculiar comfort and assurance to be derived from the meeting together of Christian believers (vs. 12).

8. No doubt Paul received a blessing through the brethren from Rome, but it is altogether likely that they derived a greater blessing themselves (Acts 28:15).

9. God sometimes provides pleasant experiences in the midst of great trials and afflictions (vs. 30).

10. The Book of Acts begins with the Gospel in the midst of the Jews in Jerusalem; it ends with the Gospel in Rome with no man forbidding its preaching (vs. 31).

11. The church at Rome was founded before any of the Apostles ever visited the great city. Its existence was known, however, and Paul wrote his Epistle to its members setting forth the great truths of Christianity without ever having seen the people.

—Selected

12. Unfortunately the origin of the church in Rome is unknown. We are told in Acts 2:10 that sojourners from Rome were in Jerusalem when the Spirit was outpoured on the day of Pentecost. Did some of these people become Christians and return to Rome when the church was scattered and lay the foundations of the church in that city? This is as good a theory as any. The great city of Rome was the place where we might naturally expect the gospel to enter Europe first. That there were Christians in Rome before Paul carried the Gospel into Europe is practically certain, because he wrote his Epistle to the Romans from Corinth only six or seven years after he first entered Macedonia; and when that letter was written the church in the imperial city was widely known. See verse 8 of our printed lesson. Also in Romans 15:23 Paul says he had had a longing to come to them "these many years," indicating that the church already had years of history behind it.—Arnold's Commentary.

13. Paul had a longing desire to visit the church at Rome and preach the gospel there, and to that end he prayed and asked God to lead him safely.

By demanding trial before Caesar, Paul had arranged a trip for himself to Rome. It was not, however, a trip with freedom of action and the privilege of going at will. He was carried to that great city as a prisoner, but God could and did use him even under the circumstances in a great way in the spreading of the gospel message.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

14. Note, some of the Christians at Rome, upon learning probably through some of the brethren at Puteoli, set out to meet Paul on the way, and some went as far as Appii Forum, which was "fifty-one miles from Rome." There were other Christians who went as far as the Three Taverns, which was twenty-eight miles from Rome.

When Paul saw the brethren, and they had exchanged greetings, he rejoiced, thanked God, and took new courage. He was glad to see the brethren have so much interest in him and the gospel of Christ as to leave their work and travel many miles to meet him. Christians are to be commended for their loyalty, brotherly love, and sacrificial services which they render for the cause of Christ.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

A man once rose in one of Mr. Moody's meetings and gave his experience. "I have been for five years on the Mount of Transfiguration." "How many souls did you lead to Christ last year?" was the sharp question that came from Mr. Moody, in an instant. "Well, I don't know," was the astonished reply. "Have you led any?" persisted Mr. Moody. "I don't know that I have," answered the man. "Well," said Mr. Moody, "we don't want that kind of mountain-top experience. When a man gets so high that he can't reach down and save poor sinners, there is something wrong."

In prison, or out of prison, Paul's greatest passion was to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ to the unsaved.

Sentinels

When Pompeii was destroyed there were many persons buried in the ruins who were afterwards found in very different positions. They found some in deep vaults, as if they had gone there for security. There were some found in lofty chambers. But where did they find the Roman sentinel? They found him standing at the city gate, where he had been placed by the captain, with his hands still grasping the weapon. There, while the earth shook beneath him; there, while the floods of ashes and cinders overwhelmed him, he had stood at his post; and there, after a thousand years, he was found. So let Christians stand by their duty, in the post at which their Captain places them.—1000 Evangelistic Illustrations.

ROOTS

When you look at a plant in your garden you naturally think about that part of it which you can see above ground—the stem and branches and leaves and flowers. But there is another part, even more vital, which lies below ground, out of sight. The root, roughly speaking, means that part of a plant which descends beneath the soil. It is not always quite easy to distinguish between the stem—that is, the plant's axis which grows upward, and the root—that is, the plant's axis which grows downward. But the root is really the prolongation of the stem into the earth below.

Now we seldom realize how great a portion of every plant lies buried. Indeed, Dr. Wendell Holmes used to say that we ought to think of a tree as a creature that lives in a burrow under the earth, and puts a long green tail out of a hole and waves this tail in the sunshine. What you see is only the green tail: you take no account of the great spreading body of the tree all hidden away in its dark burrow. Yet the really important and vital thing is always the root. You know that if you cut a plant off close to the ground, it will generally sprout up again. Many plants die down regularly each winter, until you can only see a few withered stalks. But the plant is not dead; if the root be left alive in the earth, the real plant is safe and sound. It lives on in its grave under the snow, and then breaks out and grows up again in the spring, by a resurrection.

In more places than one the Bible points to these things as an allegory. We see, to begin with, how absolutely necessary it is to have a root. Our Lord spoke of the man who has no root in himself, and so endures only for a little while, for the hot sun scorches him, and he withers away.

Very little children are fond of "making a garden," as they call it. They pick sprigs of flowers and stick these into the soil, and water them, and then next day the children come and wonder why their poor flowers look all wilted and withered. In the same way, our polite words, our "company" manners, our "put on" behavior, our good deeds done for show, our shallow feelings which do not rise out of the bottom of the heart—all these things look pretty while they last. But they never last long, because they are merely stuck on outside. They have no real root in character.

Again, you must have a root in yourself, and not in other people. Many persons are no better than parasites in religion. Like mistletoe on a tree, or like orchids in a hot-house, they live by hanging on to something else. They attach themselves to a church, or a preacher; they depend on Christian friends; they even cling to pious phrases and emotions: and if they are once cut off from these, their religion droops and fades away. We dare not rest content with any second-hand experience of spiritual things. I must have personal contact with the Holy Ghost; I must meet with God alone, and face to face—before my faith has a genuine root and ground in which to rest and to grow.

Surely that is a very poor kind of religion which lives mostly in sight, above the surface. Some characters remind us of the cheap shops which display all their best goods in the window. The most profound and most precious side of religion is never that side which others can inspect and take stock of. The root of the matter must lie concealed deep down where no human creature can ever penetrate or criticise. We are told that the root of a plant always grows most freely in winter. It is at home in the dark. There it can feed and flourish, and pierce down to hidden springs when everything above the soil looks bleak and frost-bound. And so in the bitter blasts of trouble, under the snowdrifts of sorrow, the real roots of faith and hope, and love can be spreading and growing silently underground, as the soul finds its way to the secret fountains of the love of God.

Rooted and built up in Christ, says the Apostle. For the spiritual life can never support itself or nourish itself. It is derived from, and dependent on, the life of Another. Just as a root is wrapped round and embraced and nurtured and kept safe by the sustaining soil that clings about it, so our inward experience must have its root, its deepest part, wrapped round and embraced and nurtured and kept safe by Jesus Christ. To be planted in Him is to be a true disciple, a real Christian. To be uprooted and apart from Him is to become a withered, worthless thing, fit for the fire.

Finally, the root renders two chief services to the plant—fixing and feeding. The root is the plant's base which gives it stability. Mosses and lichens which have hardly any roots can grow wherever the winds carry them. But a tree only grows where it is planted and settled. There ought to be a growing sense of stability in your experience as you take deeper and deeper root in Christ. Year by year the fibres of your nature cling closer round Him Who is the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever. The mountain pines that wrap their roots about the crags rise serene against tempests. And so a spiritual permanence, as of the Rock of Ages, belongs to those who being rooted in love are strong.

The root is the plant's organ which finds its food. Those delicate branchlets which radiate underground sift out and drink in all elements from the soil which nourishes the tree. Sever its roots, and your tree will die of sheer starvation. And so the inward man must be absorbing spiritual nourishment, to feed and restore the soul. A Christian rooted in his Redeemer, Who lives in secret communion with Christ, is never cut off from fellowship with the Divine Love, but drinks in new health and strength and life continually. Our Lord says to each of His disciples, "Abide in Me"—because there is no other way to be a Christian.—T. H. D., in Gleanings.

Divine tenderness is never boisterous. All manifestations of loudness, in word or deed, are signs of self-conceit and self-importance.—R.

The more self-centered people are, the more rude and inconsiderate they are in their ways and actions.—R.

"Your Mother Still Prays for You"

Aline Sommerfield

"Your mother still prays for you, Jack; Your mother still prays for you."

These words came to Kenneth Duane from a radio through an open door. The sun was slowly setting, and across his once handsome, fine-featured face, which was now darkened and tanned by the weather and knocks he had received from the ill treatments of life, a warm summer breeze blew gently. He was tired and hungry; he must get something to eat soon. He slowly slackened his pace; this town seemed to be quieter, more friendly and peaceful than any he had visited for some time.

As the sun was looking at the little village for the last time that day, it saw Kenneth sitting on a back doorstep with two egg sandwiches, a cup of coffee, and a piece of apple pie for his supper. When this was eaten, he brushed the crumbs off his shirt front, took up his worn coat, and moved on.

About two blocks away, as Kenneth was passing a small, white house, he noticed a little girl sitting in a large rocker busily engaged in needlework. From her lips came the words, "Your mother still prays for you, Jack; your mother still prays for you." "Why must I hear that everywhere I go?" thought he. "Things are getting worse and worse; this life is nothing but trouble. Shall I—yes, I'll end it all to-night. No one will care." At these last words there arose in his throat a lump which he couldn't quite swallow, and he moved slowly toward the outskirts of the town.

In front of the last house to which he came, he saw a beautiful picture and couldn't help stopping and gazing at it. A house whose porch was covered with pink and red rambler roses nestled on a deep green carpet of grass. To the left of the path leading to the front door were red, white and yellow rose bushes. In the midst of these bushes stood a little white-haired lady clipping a bouquet of the fragrant flowers. An expression of peace and happiness rested on her face, and from her lips came softly and clearly the words which had pained Kenneth twice before. "Your mother still prays for you, Jack; your mother still prays for you." He stood motionless, stared, and thought. Why was he compelled to listen to that? Truly his name wasn't Jack, but the song meant the same to him as though his name had taken the others place. Was his mother still praying for him? He knew she used to, but had she grown tired of it and decided it did no good? Or was she even alive so she could pray for her boy? These thoughts struck him like a two-edged sword. But he must move on.

A mile west of town lay a large hill covered with green grass. Kenneth lay down, but sleep was far away. This was the night he was to end it all; but since he saw the old lady, he couldn't do it. He tried to think a way out of his deplorable situation, but the thought wouldn't come. The stars came out one by one and looked down upon him. They couldn't even smile to-night. The breeze played with his dark-brown wavy hair. His grey eyes looked unseeingly into space, and his tall form lay motionless upon the grass. Only the heaving of his chest could have told one that he was alive. For an hour he lay there; then he arose, paced backwards and forwards, and stopped suddenly. Then with his hands crossed over his breast, he lifted his boyish face to the stars, uttered with a painful moan, "My God, help me!" "His head fell forward, and he was lost in thought. "Yes, I will go to the old lady who was clipping roses," said he; "somehow I believe she would understand."

He walked slowly back to the village, found the old lady's house, rang the doorbell, and waited. Presently the door was opened, and he looked into a kind, loving, motherly face. Her understanding eyes seemed to look into his very soul. She didn't know what to say; Kenneth didn't either, but finally he managed to stammer out, "D-don't be afraid. I'm all alone and far from anyone I know, and I thought you'd understand." He hung his head, and a combination of shame, sadness, and longing stole over his face.

"Yes, my boy; come in; take a chair, and tell your story. I'll listen."

When they were comfortably seated in the living room, Kenneth began by saying, "I passed here this evening and saw you with your flowers. You were singing, "Your Mother Still Prays for You." That was the third time I'd heard that song in two hours, and it—somehow it hurt. You looked as though you would understand, so I came back. It might be foolish; you may think it absurd, but I can't endure this any longer." He covered his face with his hands, and his frame shook. The kind woman gently placed her hand on his arm and asked him to continue his story. Pitying glances were already coming from her motherly eyes. Kenneth began again.

"It was two years ago. I had a good father and mother, two brothers and one sister. They were all good to me. I had friends at home. But somehow I was different. You know; I-I-I wasn't as good as they. They pleaded and prayed with me often. My mother—oh, she was an angel—" and here his voice broke again—"I loved her more than any other living being. I wanted to do right, but somehow I—I couldn't. There was a—a—a gi—"

"Yes, I understand," were the comforting words of the other.

"I know my mother often prayed for me. Then I became dissatisfied. I thought if I could go away, I could soon forget, and make myself go against the teaching of my mother; so I left home. I had quite good clothes then, a little money and a car. I told my mother good-by, and with tears in her eyes the last words I heard her say were, "Remember, Kenny, I'll be praying for you!"

"Those words meant nothing to me then. I didn't care whether she prayed or not. In fact, such talk almost made me angry, but now—oh, I do care. I hope my mother is still praying for me. I've been away two years and never written to mother. She doesn't know anything about me, and I don't know anything about her. I've had work most of the time, but times have been hard. I soon had to sell my car; I had no more money. I did whatever I could get to do. The company I kept wasn't the best. I knew I was going at a terrific speed on the downward road, but I didn't care. I didn't think until this evening that anything could be any better for me. I smoked, gambled, drank, danced, and stole. Many nights I've gone supperless to a haystack for a bed, and my clothes have been almost rags."

He grew paler and paler as he spoke; his gray eyes grew larger and darker, and there was a far-away expression on his face. The little old lady was very sympathetic, and two teardrops fell on her hand unheeded.

"I don't know; maybe I'm too far gone to ever be good again. I wish I'd stayed home. I thought I could forget if I'd leave, but I couldn't. I learned that you can't run away from your thoughts—nor your convictions."

"Oh, I want to go home, and yet, I'm ashamed to meet them here. I wonder—is my mother still praying for me? If she's alive, I know she is; but—" and she shook again; "—what if she's dead? Then I can never see her again—my—my mother! If only I had yielded to her pleadings and prayers, I wouldn't be here now."

"Son," gently spoke the old lady, laying her hand on his arm; "it isn't too late; you aren't too bad. Go home to your mother; tell her all; she'll understand."

Both sat in silence for a while. Kenneth slowly arose, asked the lady for a drink of water, thanked her many times for listening to his story, and departed for his home a thousand miles away. He traveled all the time, stopping only for necessary food and rest.

After hitch-hiking for ten days, Kenneth Duane knocked at his mother's kitchen door on a bright, sunny afternoon. The door opened, and a startled cry came from the trembling lips of his mother, "My boy," she gasped in a whisper; "my prayer is answered."

Not knowing of Kenneth's presence, his sister was engaged in a task outside. Through the open window the sweet strains fell on his ear from her throat: "Your mother still prays for you, Jack; Your mother still prays for you."

How I Enjoy Reading the Baptist

This is to let you readers of the Baptist paper know how I do enjoy reading it. I read it from cover to cover, and it is food to my soul.

If more of the church members would take it and read it, there would be better church attendance among our churches on Sunday. After I get through reading my papers, I then send them to my son in Liberia, Africa. He says that he always enjoys reading them: After he reads them, he then gives them to the Baptist missionary. So, let all of us who take the Baptist paper, not lay them down, but give them to someone else to read. If we will do this, God will reward us for sending out his work to others.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Mrs. Mary Jones

The death angel came and took away Mary Jones to her heavenly reward, July 2, 1949, making her stay on this earth 83 years, one month, and 10 days. She was one of the oldest members of Smyrna F. W. B. Church. She was always working for the upbuilding of God's kingdom.

She was afflicted with heart dropsy, and all was done for her that loving hands could do. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. E. E. Edwards of Chocowinity, North Carolina, assisted by Rev. Duff Toler. Her remains were laid to rest in the family cemetery at her home. She leaves her husband who is 84 years old, 8 children, 19 grandchildren, and several great grandchildren, many loved ones and friends.

Sleep on Mary, and take your rest,
Lean your head on Jesus' breast,
We loved you dearly
But God loved you the best.

Written by a friend, Mrs. R. C. Bell.

Mr. Esker Lee Lamb

Our dear husband, Esker Lee Lamb, died on March 10, 1949. We think how sad those days are when we see his face no more.

He was true to his family, church and friends. And Oh we do miss him more than anyone can tell. Some day we will meet him where there will be no more parting.

He was a member and deacon of Greenwood F. W. B. Church. Dear daddy, how we do miss you. We can't understand why you had to go but surely God knows best, but our grief is hard to bear. We know that our Saviour helps all our burdens to bear.

Written by his wife, Leathie Lamb, Camilla, Ga.

THE POINT OF VIEW

A little girl, walking in New York with her father, saw some workmen on top of a building twenty stories, and she asked, "Papa, what are those boys doing up there?" He replied that they were not boys, but men, who looked like boys because they were so high. The little girl meditated for a moment, then said solemnly, "They won't amount to much when they get to heaven, will they?" The question gave the father food for thought. As we rise toward heaven, self becomes smaller, until, by and by, when we reach the height of the heavenly character, self will not amount to much.—Selected

Texas Itinerary, June-July

Dear Texas Free Will Baptists:

Our plans are to have itinerary work done in the state of Texas during June and the first part of July. We plan to have one of our own Texas boys and his wife do this work. They are very much interested in Foreign Missions and plan to become missionaries to Japan.

The itinerary will be scheduled as near as possible as follows:

Texas Association—June 4-17

West Fork Association—June 18-July 2

North West Brazos Ass'n—July 3-7

South East Texas Ass'n—July 8-10

Central Texas Ass'n—July 12-19

If any church has a preference of date, please advise us of your first, second and third choice of such date. Unless we hear from you to the contrary, our worker will arrange his itinerary as given above.

An offering will be taken at the close of each service and will be duly receipted and turned in to the Treasurer of the Texas Foreign Mission Board who will in turn transmit it to the National Office.

Yours in His Service,

J. M. Goode,
Gaston Clary.

MY CHURCH

Dedicated to the Fairmount Park F. W. B. Church, Norfolk, Va.

It's just a modest building,

As plain as a church can be;

But the little red brick structure

Is beautiful to see.

Through the eyes of love I see it,

No spot more picturesque;

When the sunbeams bathe the windows

Of the church I love the best.

And when the twilight gathers

How sweet once more to see;

When troubles are forgotten,

Lost in tranquility.

There's a solace in the worship,

In every song and prayer;

The smiling faces welcome

Both friend and stranger there.

There the light of Christ is shining

To lead the lost to Him;

May Christians keep it burning

And never let it dim.

In harmony together

We'll stand when doubt assails;

With Jesus as our Captain

And our shepherd, Reverend Hales.

By a member of the church

Retaliation is never of God, but always of the devil. Under abuse Jesus answered never a word, but put them to shame by His meek silence.—R.

Southwood to Hold Revival

The Southside F. W. B. Church of Comanche, Texas, will hold a spring revival, beginning April 9, and continuing through April 16. The Rev. C. J. Herron will be the evangelist. On Easter Sunday night, April 9, the members of the church will present a pageant entitled, "The Answer to the Cross."

Pray with us that we may have a great revival for the glory of the Lord, and that souls may be saved.

vantage of what is made possible through the medium of the "GOSPEL VISUALIZED." Many of the churches are purchasing projectors and renting real Gospel messages in sound film that have been produced by Christian institutions and are rented at a normal cost.

It is not simply the picture, but it is the kind of picture. If a sinful picture produced by the satanic regime make criminals and causes adultery and other crimes, and certainly it does, then, pictures showing Bible characters and scriptural quotations, shown before the eyes of boys and girls, will produce good results. Let me give you one concrete case. This is not a "hear-say." It came direct to me. I showed a picture entitled, "The Man Who Forgot God," and after the service, as I was packing up a man—young man—said, "Preacher, I want you to come aside, I want to make a confession." He did as I went into a classroom. He said, "I was about ready to join up with a baseball club that would have taken me away from my church and Sunday School. I would have had to be in the Sunday ball game, but the picture that you have shown tonight has changed my mind." His confession was real. This young man is testifying for Jesus today. He is conducting prayer meetings and actually preaching as a layman; and recently he told me that he was going to ask for license to preach. Don't condemn the good in order to condemn the bad. Let us "rightly divide the word of truth."

PROPHECY

For I dipt into the future,
Far as human eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world,
And all the wonder that would be;

Saw the heavens fill with commerce,
Argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight,
Dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting,
And there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies
Grappling in the central blue;

Far along the world-wide whisper
Of the south-wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples
Plunging thro' the thunder storm;

Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer,
And the battle-flags were furl'd
In Parliament of man,
The Federation of the world.

There the common sense of most
Shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber,
Lapt in universal law.

MRS. ROACH AGAIN IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Roach is again in the hospital, has had a very serious operation, and her condition is such that I cannot leave her now to visit the churches in the interest of MISSIONS as planned and as announced in the paper. I hope that I will be able to contact the churches the last two weeks of this month. If Mrs. Roach is so that I can I will notify them personally that I will be there. But right now I can't leave her.

Please, may I ask she be remembered in prayer. This is her second visit to the hospital this year. We will both be leaning on the prayers of our friends during these trying days and weeks to follow.

Ever your brother in His name and service,

Maurice W. Roach,

The Danger of Backsliding or Falling

Ralph Staten
Red Bay, Ala.

21, 27b, 32).

This condensed reading of the second chapter of Jeremiah should enable us to understand the spiritual relationship, first and last, of this people with the Lord God of hosts. The history of God's people has been one of revivals and apostasy throughout

Ralph Staten

The prophet Jeremiah uses a word that is not used in the New Testament. Backsliding of the Old Testament is 'falling' or 'falling away' of the New Testament. A further investigation will disclose this fact. There is not enough emphasis given to the discussion of this subject. Let us think of the 'Woe to them that are at ease in Zion' (Amos 6:1), and the tragedy that awaits the lukewarm Laodiceans (Rev. 3:13-16). Let us make full proof of our ministry by reproof, rebuking, and exhorting with all longsuffering and doctrine (2 Tim. 4:2). It is necessary that we do this that we shall both save ourselves, and them that hear us (1 Tim. 4:16). Let us now read the following scriptures:

"Israel was holiness unto the Lord, and the firstfruits of his increase . . . but my people have changed their glory for that which doth not profit . . . For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water . . . Hast thou not procured this unto thyself, in that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way? . . . Thine own wickedness shall correct thee, and thy backslidings shall reprove thee: know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts . . . Yet I planted thee a noble vine, wholly a right seed; how then art thou turned into the degenerate plant of a strange vine unto me . . . but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and save us . . . Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number" (Jer. 2:3, 11, 12, 13, 17, 19, the ages. One should not be alarmed at the spiritual decadence that is so prevalent now. We shall be able to learn anew from this investigation that a child of God can backslide, fall, stumble, err, sin, or apostatize.

Reader, may I ask you the question: Do you not know danger and tragedy are in the path of the backslider? Let us search the scriptures relative to this all important matter. One should know what is meant by being a backslider. "The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways: and a good man shall be satisfied from himself" (Prov. 14:14). "Backslider" in this verse comes from the Hebrew word 'cuwg' (soog) which means to flinch, to go back, retreat, apostatize, or turn away. We shall now study the verbal meaning of the word.

Backslider Defined

In the study of the Hebrew of this word one will find that there are different shades of meaning in rendering the definition of the term. Let us now note the different Hebrew root words for the word 'backsliding.'

1. Meshumbah (mesh-oo-baw): apostasy, backsliding, or turning away. This usage is found in the following passages:

" . . . and thy backsliding shall reprove thee . . ." (Jer. 2:19).

" . . . when for all the causes whereby backsliding Israel committed adultery I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce . . ." (Jer. 3:8).

" . . . The backsliding Israel hath justified herself more than treacherous Judah" (Jer. 3:11).

" . . . Return, thou backsliding Israel . . . and I will not cause mine anger to fall upon you . . ." (Jer. 3:12).

" . . . because their transgressions are many, and their backslidings are increased" (Jer. 5:6).

"Why then is this people of Jerusalem slidden back by a perpetual backsliding? they hold fast deceit, they refuse to return" (Jer. 8:5).

" . . . for our backslidings are many; we have sinned against thee" (Jer. 14:7).

"And my people are bent to backsliding from me . . ." (Hosea 11:7).

"I will heal their backsliding . . ." (Hosea 14:4).

2. Carar (sawrar): to turn away (morally), be refractory, backsliding, rebellious, stubborn, withdraw. This usage is found in Hosea 4:16:

"For Israel slideth back as a backsliding heifer . . ."

3. Showbah (sho-bawb): apostate, i. e., idolatrous, backsliding, turn away, etc. Let us now examine the usage where this is found.

"Turn, O backsliding children, saith the Lord; for I am married unto you . . ." (Jer. 3:14).

"Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings . . ." (Jer. 3:22).

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

"GOING BACKWARD"

A lady said to me recently: "Brother Griffin, our church is going backward. It has been a strong church, as you know, but our pastor lives too far away, and only comes in and preaches, and then goes home."

As she talked on, she told me about the pastors in the other denominations in the community. These ministers were living near and they were rendering pastoral service, thus the Free Will Baptist church, was "GOING BACKWARD." No church can do much without a pastor and it is an evident fact that no man can be a pastor, who only sees his congregation once or twice per month, except when some member dies, or perhaps he is sent for to pray for some very sick loved one. Due to such, many churches are losing to other denominations. There is a difference between a pastor and a preacher.

There are many churches that are suffering as the above described church. The reason is a lack of pastoral service—I mean real PASTORAL SERVICE. This includes a resident pastor, who is on the alert for every service possible to get people saved, visit the sick and shut-ins, comfort the dying and the bereft, and to encourage the weak and disturbed minds.

WORDS OF A METHODIST MINISTER

While I was talking to a Methodist minister recently, he said: "Your church" (calling the name at a certain place) "needs a whole time pastor." He went on to say, "You are losing ground there by not having a resident pastor." I know about the "losing" of this congregation before the minister made the statement. This minister said, "I was called to see a sick man belonging to that church, who had been grieved over the conditions, going on to say what these conditions were, and now that family is attending my church and Sunday School." Many such cases are taking place in the denomination. I am out on the field and many things are coming to me daily.

A lady was advised to get her pastor to teach a book on "Stewardship." The reply was: "We do not have a pastor, we only have a preacher. He lives about a hundred miles away, and he comes once a month and leaves as soon as he gets through; then he goes back home."

THE DOCTRINE

Dr. Howard William Carter of Goldsboro, in addressing or delivering the inspirational message at the Cape Fear Ministerial Association held at the Goldsboro F. W. B. Church, Monday, February 27th, said by way of introductory: "You have the Doctrine and you need not to be ashamed to present it," and then he went on to say, "But you have been lacking in evangelistic zeal."

Certainly we agree with Doctor Carter. The doctrine of our church is sound and based upon INSPIRED TRUTH AS GIVEN TO US IN THE BIBLE. But we have been content with making the ministry a "side line," that is, many of us have taken it for granted that the doctrine would go over on its virtue.

The Cape Fear Ministerial Association is planning to make every church a whole time church, as far as possible. Another plan discussed in their February meeting was to group when practicable. One of the aims is to get the preacher to be a pastor, living in the community where his church or churches are located.

SOME THINGS MUST BE DONE

As I see it, there are some things that must be done before we have pastors:

1. We must have an old-fashion Holy Ghost revival in our churches. I mean a real honest awakening in the hearts and lives of Christians who will make the laity willing and ready to make the church of Jesus Christ first in all things. It must come before lodges, clubs, business life, and material blessings.

2. Then, the members of the church must be willing to SACRIFICE in order to give an honest living to the pastor, and then expect real pastoral service.

3. Preachers must be filled with the Spirit of Christ that they will be ready to sacrifice to the limit in order to put the work of the ministry first and foremost in all things.

These MUSTS are now looming up in the minds of both ministers and consecrated Christians. Many good men and women are wanting real pastoral service and they are willing to pay for what they want. Thus, parsonages are being erected in many places, and the preacher who serves such a church will have to give up his secular job and move to those parsonages and do the work of a PASTOR. May God speed the day. If we preachers would do more, we would get more, and our churches would grow faster. If a farmer was no more alert to the needs of his farming, than many of us are alert to the needs of the church that we are called to serve, then that farmer would go down and his farm would change hands in quick order. That is what will happen in a few years to some of our churches, if we preachers fail to put the SACRIFICIAL service into the LORD'S WORK that is demanded by the great GO YE COMMAND.

I have been plain, but these are facts that we ought to be ashamed to confess. I know that some one perhaps will take issue with me on these notes, but I will

Feelings Hurt

So many of my members have been at outs with one another," said a pastor. "They have had their feelings hurt."

"Wouldn't it be fortunate," remarked I, "if they could be treated as are those who have appendicitis, and cut off their sore feelings?"

"Indeed it would," assented he. "And I'd be willing to pay the cost of operating on some of my members."

"He hurt my feelings." Tut! the idea of a full-grown man saying such a thing. It's like a child. And he ought to be treated like a child, a naughty boy, spanked and put to bed supperless. What's the sense of one's carrying his feelings around with him, when they are so easily hurt? Better leave them at home. A kid with a sore toe has sense enough to keep it out of the way.

Church-members getting their feelings hurt! Rediculous! A maiden losing her temper because the wind flips a rose petal in her face! Think of it, a professed follower of the meek Jesus getting angry with a fellow disciple! And usually over a mere trifle.

Pray, what does Christianity mean if not a little forbearance? Nine times in ten the offender meant no offense at all. You fancied ill when none was intended. You are just supersensitive. You have lots more feelings than religion.

Even if offense is intended, you ought to have enough of the Christ spirit to take no notice of it. Now, don't get your feelings hurt any more. Be ashamed of yourself and make yourself behave.—Cumberland Presbyterian.

Thought Himself Obedient

"Why, Willie Wilson!" said the Sunday School teacher, severely, "Fighting again? Didn't last Sunday's lesson teach you that when you are struck on one cheek, you ought to turn the other to the striker?" "Yep," answered Willie, "but he hit me on the nose, and I've only got one o' them."

National Association of Evangelicals

(Note: The following information is furnished for the "Free Will Baptist" by Rev. Robert B. Crawford, Greenville, North Carolina.)

WHAT IS THE NAE?

It is a voluntary association of evangelical churches, denominations, schools, mission organizations, ministerial fellowships, evangelistic organizations and individuals.

Its purpose is: 1) to provide a vehicle through which all believers in the Lord Jesus Christ may become united and articulate in matters of common interest and concern; 2) to foster fellowship and good will among all those of "like precious faith"; 3) to establish a common front and a representation of evangelical interests, and the promotion of evangelical truth against the inroads of modernism in Christian institutions and in public life; 4) to guard and promote religious freedom guaranteed us under our Constitution; 5) to provide our constituents with services which will enable them to accomplish more quickly and efficiently the speedy evangelization of the world, and fulfillment of the commission of our Lord Jesus Christ to, "go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

The NAE is not another denomination or church; it is not an organic union of denominations or churches; nor is it a means of exercising control or authority of any kind over the denominations, churches and other constituents.

The NAE acts as a servant to all evangelical organizations, enabling them to present a united front.

STATEMENT OF FAITH

1. We believe the Bible to be the inspired, the only infallible, authoritative word of God.

2. We believe that there is one God, eternally existent in three persons, Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

3. We believe in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death through His shed blood, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, and in His personal return in power and glory.

4. We believe that for the salvation of lost and sinful man regeneration by the Holy Spirit is absolutely essential.

5. We believe in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling the Christian is enabled to live a godly life.

6. We believe in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost; they that are saved unto the resurrection of life and they that are lost unto the resurrection of damnation.

7. We believe in the spiritual unity of believers in our Lord Jesus Christ.

WHAT HAS NAE DONE?

Some accomplishments of NAE:

1. Evangelical leaders from over fifty denominations have been brought together in fellowship and practical cooperation.

2. The fundamentals of the evangelical faith have been given new emphasis and greater clarification.

3. The United States Government, in the State and War Departments, has given recognition to the Evangelicals as a distinct body within the framework of Protestant Christendom, (of which 32 denominations as a whole are members of N.A.E.)

4. The Governments of other nations have recognized the evangelical forces worthy of consideration in dealing with minority groups within their own countries. Example—alleviating conditions of the persecuted Evangelicals of Italy.

5. Over thirty million dollars worth of clothing and food, in the value of those receiving them, has been sent to the suffering evangelical people of Europe.

6. An office facilitating the passage of missionaries from this country to all the known mission fields of the world has been opened and maintained in Washington. Not only passport and visa applications were expedited, but also problems in transportation and relations with government have been worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned. The cause of missions is thereby greatly strengthened.

7. A Purchasing Office has been opened in New York through which missionaries can purchase needed supplies at far greater convenience and greatly reduced prices, through the advantage of wholesale buying. Some of the services of this office are also available to full time Christian workers in this country.

8. The Sunday School movement has been greatly strengthened by the organization of the National Sunday School Association. A new series of Bible Lesson Outlines has been published and made available to the use of already over one million subscribers.

9. The radio industry is recognizing the Evangelicals and much sustaining time has been secured for evangelical preachers, and relations between the gospel broadcasters, who purchase time on the radio with the radio owners and operators, have been greatly improved through the good work of the National Religious Broadcasters' Association.

10. A truly evangelical interdenominational journal, "United Evangelical Action," has been established and has won recognition as the leading journal of its kind in the world.

11. Through the organization of the National Association of Christian Schools (Day Schools), facilities are offered local groups of parents who wish to organize Christian Day Schools at the grade or high school level.

12. Evangelical colleges and seminaries have been brought into greater effectiveness because of new cooperation in exchange of ideas among evangelical educators.

13. NAE sponsored a meeting of evangelical leaders of various nations in Switzerland, in August 1948, to encourage and facilitate the cooperation of all the Evangelicals of the world.

14. Evangelical churches and organizations in local communities have formed Evangelical Minister's Associations and Evangelical Regional Associations which have accomplished much by way of community fellowship. Evangelicals, who have never known each other before, have been able to carry out many projects and practical cooperation at the local level.

15. Regional organizations, including several states in each, are functioning with full time regional directors.

16. Evangelical Youth provides a cooperative association of Christian youth agencies to coordinate the work, to make available youth materials to all affiliated youth groups, emphasizes youth evangelism and youth counseling, and is of invaluable aid to the leadership of national and local, denominational and interdenominational youth agencies.

17. The establishment of the Women's Fellowship to enlist the support of Christian women in the promotion of united evangelical action.

18. The Laymen's Advisory Council has been organized with three principal objectives in mind:

- a. To make available to the National Association of Evangelicals the experience and counsel of the Laymen of America, who are devoted to Christ and the Church.
- b. To provide N.A.E. a contact with a multitude of other earnest Christian men, who may be sparked into active Christian service across America.
- c. To furnish a backlog financially for carrying out the major objectives of the N.A.E.

19. An entirely evangelical Program for World Day of Prayer observance has been issued for two years, and in 1950 a program for the Universal Week of Prayer will be issued in cooperation with the World Evangelical Alliance.

20. A program for the use of the local churches in encouraging Christian Family Life, especially appropriate for use from Mother's Day to Father's Day each year has been prepared.

Middlesex Orphanage

Send Us Your Coupons

We received recently a letter from the Celgate-Palmolive-Peet Company relative to the large shipments of 17,900 coupons we made during January and February of this year, expressing their appreciation for our good work in collecting these coupons. Although we are pleased with these shipments this year, we regret that we did not collect the set quota of 35,000 coupons during the last 13 months to qualify for a Bonus.

Since we have made such a good start this year collecting coupons we would like to continue this work. If your auxiliary has or has not made it a practice to collect coupons for the orphanage, why not divide your membership in two or more groups and make a contest out of collecting coupons for the Orphanage. We believe that your children would even enjoy participating in such a contest.

This year we will be paid for the first time for coupons from La Rosa Macaroni Products and Mrs. Filbert's coupons from mayonnaise, salad dressing and sandwich spreads and from margarine at $8.00 per thousand. Why not send us these coupons that are worth so little to you but so much to us. Coupons from Octagon toilet and granulated soaps and Ballard's Obelisk flour and prepared mixes also carry a Double Value of $8.00 per thousand.

If each of the more than three hundred churches in the state could send us 500 coupons the orphanage would realize between $800.00 and $1,000.00 this year from this source.

Why Not Invite Us to Visit Your Church

If there are any churches within a reasonable distance of the Home that desire it, we would be glad to arrange for a group of the children to visit your church on Sunday mornings or evenings for a short program. We feel quite sure that the children would be happy to go, and that any church would enjoy having them.

In writing us about an appointment, be sure to specify a first and second choice as to the time you would like to have them visit you.

February Receipts 1950

(Note: Receipts have been mailed to each individual auxiliary or person contributing but totals here are shown for all amounts from each church, regardless of organization through which it came for the period covered. Our books and files are open at all times for inspection or checking for any particular receipt. Receipts reaching our office later than Wednesday, March 1, will appear in the March report.

CATALOGUES

Requests keep coming for copies of the Press catalogues. This is to state that we do not have catalogs of the merchandise now of the Press. We have book lists, folders with prices of Communion sets, Collection plates, etc. The Business Manager is planning to get out a catalog in the near future, when he can get the time to have the materials prepared and some printed. For the present, we request that no one send requests for them. A great many people have been sending cards, asking for them, and much time is used answering the calls. When they are ready, we will let it be known through the columns of the Baptist paper.

MISSIONS

From the treasurer's report in this issue of the Baptist of the National Missions Board, it is shown that less than five hundred dollars was in the treasury at the end of February. This is certainly a too small balance, and must be discouraging to Brother Winford Davis, the treasurer. We are wondering how the missionaries on the foreign fields will feel about it when they see these figures.

It is no time for withholding money from the support of this most worthy cause. This is no time for interest to lag; the work must go on. God is expecting Free Will Baptists everywhere to rally to the support of our missionaries in Cuba and in India. They are looking to us here in America to not only furnish funds for their present needs, but also to be able to give funds for the expansion of their fields of work.

Many of the states have designated certain months of the year for the raising of substantial funds for this specific purpose. North Carolina, for example, has designated the months of March and April for this purpose, and it is expected that by the end of April the majority of the churches in the state will have raised and mailed to the treasurer of state missions large offerings for missions. No state can afford to neglect the responsibility of supporting missions when God's Word speaks out plainly in favor of the support of the gospel in foreign lands. No church should hide its face to seek excuses for not giving according to its ability to this noble cause. No pastor can, on the basis of the Scriptures, deny the duty and responsibility of the church to the support of Christian missions, home and abroad. Pastors, put this matter

GREAT REVIVAL IN PROGRESS
FAIRMOUNT F. W. B. CHURCH
NORFOLK, VA.

Reverend Bruce Barrow of Bryan F. W. B. Church, Texas, is now in the midst of a great revival in Fairmount Park F. W. B.

Church, Norfolk. He is bringing wonderful messages in each service. Great crowds of people are attending the meeting.

Brother Barrow is a good evangelist and the people are liking him fine. The public is cordially invited to come and hear Brother Barrow. The meeting began on March 15, and will continue through March 26. Come and enjoy the sweet fellowship in these most spiritual services.

Think and act today as if tomorrow might begin eternity with you—for indeed it may.

before your churches, and see that your congregations will give cheerfully and liberally to this most needy cause.

SPECIAL EASTER MESSAGES

The Easter issue of the Baptist paper will contain specially prepared Easter Messages by a number of writers. The Woman's Auxiliary has arranged ahead for these articles, and they are now being received. Writers among the women of the Auxiliaries of the church in the different states will add interest to those who will read their original messages on the general theme, the Resurrection.

Those wanting extra copies of the Easter issue for distributing among their church people may be able to receive them if they will write the editor in advance, stating the number of copies that they shall want. We will be glad to receive requests for additional copies, and thereby arrange to print enough extra papers for our patrons.

AN OUTPOURING OF THE SPIRIT

News has come to us that there has been an outpouring of the Holy Spirit of the Lord in a special way among the students of the F. W. B. Bible College, Nashville, Tennessee. The Spirit was so manifested in the hearts of the students that they ceased class work for a season, gave testimonies to the working of the Holy Spirit in their hearts; they sang praises, and rejoiced because of the wonderful things that the Lord is doing for them and the college.

Similar rejoicings, testimonies, and praises of students in other Bible colleges have been happening of recent date over the country. Classes have been suspended, teachers have witnessed for the Lord, and great rejoicings have come to such institutions of learning, and all because of the power and the Spirit of God getting hold of the hearts and lives of those teachers and students.

This is a good sign of the presence of the Holy Spirit at work in the hearts of students and teachers while they are pursuing their daily tasks of teaching and learning the great truths of God's Holy Word. May the Lord continue to manifest his presence and power among the faculty members and students until a great revival shall be witnessed in all the seminaries and Bible colleges of the land.

Glad Tidings Singing Convention

First Free Will Baptist Church,
Talladega, Alabama

We had a grand singing last first Sunday night. The attendance was good with all the seats filled and some standing in the church. This was the first Sunday night singing to be held at the church and it proved very successful. We were happy to have the famous Gospel Four quartet (heard over radio station WVOK each Sunday morning at 9:30) of Birmingham, Ala., to sing for us in this singing. The Spirit of God was there, too. We heard old-time Amens and shouting. We are expecting a greater singing next first Sunday night, so everyone, plan to be with us. The Dixie River Boys' Quartet of Anniston, Ala., will be with us that night along with many other special singers and directors.

Report for February

Our president, Mrs. Ben Howard, called for song and prayer, and our secretary, Mrs. Johnny Burnham, called the roll, and read minutes, and took up the dues. Mrs. Pardue gave the treasurer's reports. We have quilted 19 quilts for people. We've made different things such as pot-holders, aprons, etc., to build up our treasury. We have been busy this month, going about visiting some needy families. We have started a Birthday club, and had four this month to fix presents for. We all enjoy this. We are having lots of sickness around us, but attendance have been good so far. One Tuesday night we had nine visitors.

We desire the prayers of all the Christians to pray that we might be soul winners for Jesus.

Mrs. Paul Davis, Cor.-Secy.

"Do You"

By Mrs. Eunice Limbaugh

Do you sit at ease as the years roll on
With the blessings of God piled high?
With plenty to eat and plenty to wear?

Do you consider the source from which blessings come?

Do you know there are many who're cold outside?

It might be the person next door.

Do you ever lend him a helping hand?

Do you tell him about his soul?

Do you seek for the sheep on the mountain side,

That's wandering around in the cold?

Do you show him kindness and brotherly love?

Do you help him carry his load?

Do you share your wealth and service, too,
To help him along life's road?

Do you worry about him having no coat,
And his feet so poorly shod?

Do you wonder if he hasn't enough to eat?
Do you plead his case to God?

Do you wonder why our world's so blind
So wrecked in sin and shame?

Do we do our best that our light may Shine
To magnify his name.

Brotherhood

First F. W. B. Church, Talladega, Ala.

The brotherhood had their regular first Friday night meeting in the home of Bro. A. L. Jones, Munford, Alabama, March 3. The president, Rev. J. B. Ledlow, read the scripture lesson and gave a wonderful talk on "Spiritual Gifts." Bro. A. L. Jones led prayer after which the business was taken up in order. Several things were accomplished. The body agreed to give $25.00 on the new benches that are to go in the church. Other donations will be given in the future.

After the business session, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be in the home of Rev. J. B. Ledlow, Westend, Talladega, Ala. We desire the prayers of every Christian for a better success in our Brotherhood.

A Note from the State Editor

To the Free Will Baptist of Alabama
The news has been coming in to me very slowly. You have elected me as State Editor for a page in the Free Will Baptist paper and my hands are tied if I don't receive News from you. Please send your News, announcements, poems, sermons, etc. to me each month. Each church in the State should elect a News Correspondent to gather the News and he should mail it to me the first week and not later than the second week in the month. "COME ON ALABAMA, LET'S GET THE NEWS ROLLING IN." My address is Mr. Edward B. Ledlow, 607 Booker St., Talladega, Alabama.

Ladies Aid

First Free Will Baptist Church,
Talladega, Alabama

Our February 25th meeting was called off due to the illness of so many of our members, but we did meet at the church March 1st with 10 members present. The meeting was called to order by Pres., Mrs. Eunice Limbaugh. Minutes of previous meeting were read by Secy.-Treas. and approved by group. After the meeting was called to order, dues and the money for projects was collected. The aprons we are making have been selling splendidly, and we still have orders for many more. The crocheting is slower, but the ladies have done some beautiful work and it is selling well. Some beautiful baskets, vanity sets and dollies have been made. The quilting is still going fine. On the average, we quilt 2 quilts each Wednesday. These are the only projects we have undertaken as yet, but we are planning to sell dinners just as soon as the weather permits. We feel that we are doing a good work and desire your prayers that we may continue to do so.

Miss Faye George, Corr. Secy.

Homecoming Scheduled

There will be a Home Coming at Pleasant Grove Free Will Baptist Church, Ashville, Alabama, Route 1, the fourth Sunday in March. All former pastors are invited. Also all singers are invited to attend.

Funeral Services Held at Talladega Church

Mrs. Jennie Gunter, age 68, died February 16, 1950 in Citizens Hospital after a long illness. Funeral services were held at the First F. W. B. Church, Talladega, Ala., with the Rev. J. B. Ledlow officiating. Burial was at Bethlehem, near Munford, Ala.

Surviving are the husband, Mr. J. M. Gunter, one son, Lawson Gunter, one daughter, Mrs. Cleo Elder, Sr., seven grandchildren, five great grandchildren, six sisters and two brothers. We wish to thank everyone for their kind sympathy shown us in our sorrow. Also for the beautiful flowers. We want to especially thank Rev. J. B. Ledlow and the Glad Tiding Quartet for their help.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Elder, Sr., and Jerry. Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Elder, Jr., Mr. J. M. and Lawson Gunter, and Mrs. Roy L. Caldwell.

IF

If you can hear the whispering about you
And never yield to deal in whispers, too;
If you can bravely smile when loved ones doubt you,

And never doubt, in turn, what loved ones do;

If you can keep a sweet and gentle spirit
In spite of fame or fortune, rank or place,
And though you win your goal or only near it,

Can win with poise or lose with equal grace;

If you can meet with unbelief, believing,
And hallow in your heart a simple creed,
If you can meet deceptoin, undeceiving,

And learn to look to God for all you need;

If you can be what girls should be to mothers—

Chums in joy and comrades in distress;
And be unto others as you'd have the others;
Be unto you—no more, and yet no less;

If you can keep within your heart the power
To say that firm, unconquerable "No";

If you can brave a present shadowed hour
Rather than yield to build a future woe:

If you can love, yet not let loving master,
But keep yourself within your own self's clasp,

And not let dreaming lead you to disaster
Nor pity's fascination loose your grasp;

If you can lock your heart on confidences
Nor ever needlessly in turn confide;

If you can put behind you all pretenses
Of mock humility or foolish pride;

If you can keep the simple homely virtue
Of walking right with God—then have no fear

That anything in all the world can hurt you—

And—which is more—you'll be a woman,
dear.

Attention, All Ye Alabama Free Will Baptists

Please gather up all your coupons and send them to the Free Will Baptist Children's Home, Eldridge, Alabama. Help some child that is without a Father and Mother. Your coupons will not amount to very much to you but when they are gathered together in one lump sum, they can be a great help to our Children's Home. This is one way everyone can be a help to our orphan children. Give your coupons to your church clerk, your pastor, or mail them to Bro. W. H. Ryland, Supt. of the Home, Eldridge, Alabama.

Dedication of Unity F. W. B. Church, Sylacauga, Ala.

Sunday, February 26, 1950, will be a long remembered day for the members of Unity Free Will Baptist Church. We can say that the Lord has done great things for us. Our humble servant and pastor, Rev. L. V. Pinson, preached the dedication sermon, and gave the history of our church. It seemed that everyone could feel the very presence of God in the meeting. After the message, we went to the altar, and re-dedicated our hearts to God.

After the altar service, with only four members absent, we had an old-fashioned handshaking. We did feel the very presence of the Lord with us.

This church was organized on November 7, 1948, after much praying and working hard from time to time, and within sixteen months we were able to pay off the debt of $3,600, and burn the mortgage. God has surely proven himself to us in these sixteen months of laboring for his cause.

We have met with many difficulties, and have had a hard time getting along, but through the strong faith of our good shepherd and pastor we labored on to the end. We organized this church with twenty-one charter members, and we now have fifty-nine members. We have three ministers, a wonderful Sunday School, two mid-week prayer meetings, and a woman's auxiliary which is doing a great work. The men have a Brotherhood class. We have also a thirty-minute radio program over WMLS.

The following are our officers: Pastor, Rev. L. V. Pinson; deacons, Claude Deason, J. W. Williams, W. F. Johnson; choir director, Arthur Johnson; trustees; Arcie Brown, Stanley Mull, Alton Breedlove; ushers, Kermit Collins, Alton Breedlove.

Mrs. Pauline Gow, Recording Secy.

Announcement

This is to announce that I expect to be in a position to render some pastoral service next year. I am not discontinuing my connection with the Free Will Baptist Press, but, owing to some changes which we contemplate, I plan to have some time to devote to pastoral activities. I shall be open and happy to arrange with any church which might desire my service within reasonable driving distance of Ayden. Address Box 244, Ayden, N. C.

Hard Times

"Yes, there are hard times. We throw away ashes and buy soap. We raise dogs and buy hogs. We grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms. We catch fish with a $4 rod. We build school-houses and send our children to be educated away from home. And at last we send our boys out with a $40 gun, and a $19 dog, to hunt 10-cent game."—Nevada Picayune, Arkansas.

The Woman's Auxiliary Department

Editor

MRS. ALICE E. LUPTON

801 Pollock Street
New Bern, N. C.

Woman's Auxiliary, Olivet Church, Kentucky

The Woman's Auxiliary of Olivet Church met Monday, Feb. 13, for an all day meeting. The morning was devoted to the regular monthly meeting program, while a Mission Study Course was held at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Richard Parham opened the program with thoughts for meditation, after which Mrs. Joe Reding led the devotional. Sentence prayers were offered for all our missionaries, at home and abroad.

The subject of the program was "Advancing with Christ through Literature."

Mrs. Ed Siler discussed the topic, "What Do You Read?" after which she gave a list of the most desirable books we could have in a church or home library.

Mrs. George Head discussed "The Leader's Reading," telling how much better leaders all vice-presidents would be, if they would only acquire the reading habit.

Mrs. Hyman Welch's topic was "Dreams or Realities." Mrs. Welch told how 22 years ago the Free Will Baptist Auxiliaries did not have a single piece of literature, but last year Free Will Baptist literature approached a circulation of 5,000.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Richard Parham, the group voted to start a church library. Here they expect to keep, for the Young People of Olivet Church, good books that will fulfill the youths desire for romance, thrills and adventure. Mrs. Jess Hays, who is Literature Chairman for Olivet Auxiliary, was made chairman of the committee, composed of Mrs. Ed Siler and Mrs. George Head to work out plans to get the library started.

Mrs. Parham reported on a visit she had had with the Young People's Auxiliary. She told that they were well organized, but she encouraged each adult vice-president to lend their assistance to the youth vice-presidents in carrying out their duties.

Appreciation was expressed to the Kirkwood Community Club for the tithe money that the Community Club had given to Olivet Church from the money awarded in the Community Improvement contest. Olivet Church from the money awarded in the Community Improvement contest. Every one was asked to start thinking of a church improvement project to use this money toward.

Mrs. Parham presented the club with the new combined report form sheets to be used each month to eliminate the time wasted in getting reports each month.

Each lady present brought a covered dish and lunch was served country style. Several trays were sent to the sick.

After the lunch hour the mission study course was conducted by Mrs. George Allan, second vice-chairman, who is in charge of all study courses. The book, "Thus It Is Written", by Henry Cornell Goerner was studied.

Mrs. Allan gave the first chapter "The Universal Purpose of God." She explained that God from eternity had purposed the salvation of all mankind.

Mrs. George Head's subject was "The Role of the Chosen People." She told that the Chosen People were instruments of God for the purpose of bringing justice, law, and truth to the Gentiles.

Mrs. Smith Crockarell's topic was, "The World Mission of the Messiah." She told how Jesus repudiated the exclusiveness of the Jews and how He taught that His Kingdom was to be world wide.

Mrs. Hyman Welch discussed "The Holy Spirit and the Nation," explaining that the Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Christ, unhampered by a physical body, continuing the work begun by the incarnate Christ, carrying out his plans for a universal kingdom of righteousness and salvation.

Mrs. Parham discussed "The Christian, and the Consummation." She stated that the church was the responsible agency for carrying out God's plan and that it was every Christian's duty to be a witness and to preach the good news of the kingdom.

After a prayer of consecration the meeting was dismissed.

ATTENTION, WOMEN OF THE WESTERN CONFERENCE DISTRICT

The date of the Woman's Auxiliary Convention of the Western Conference has been changed, for this year only, from Wednesday, April 5, to Thursday, April 13. It convenes with Sherron Acres Church, East Durham, N. C.

New report blanks have been issued, so please order yours from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, N. C., fill out and return to the Secretary, at least one week before the Convention.

Send your District contribution and per capita dues to the Treasurer, Mrs. Leon Foster, Selma N. C., Route 3.

You are asked to make a special offering to Cragmont for promotion of Women's Conference week.

LITTLE BETHEL AUXILIARY JOHNSONVILLE, S. C.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Little Bethel Church held its regular monthly meeting on February 23, at the home of Mrs. Dot Altman, with 21 members present, and five of whom were new members. Due to illness five of our old members were absent. Mrs. Hermon Tanner presided over the meeting. A very interesting program was given by Mrs. Murdock Stone, and Mrs. Franklyn Eaddy. After the business session was over, the meeting closed.

Freshments were served in the living room of our hostess. Our next meeting will be held on the afternoon of March 23 at three o'clock in the afternoon in the home of Mrs. Vernie Stone.

We desire the prayers of all you readers that we may be a blessing to our community, and for the upbuilding of God's kingdom.

Mrs. J. C. Lyerly, Cor. Secy.

LEE'S CHAPEL AUXILIARY SAMPSON COUNTY, N. C.

The ladies of Lee's Chapel met in their auxiliary meeting on Thursday night, February 17, in the home of Mrs. Nathan T. Godwin, with twelve members present and four visitors. The devotional was given by Mrs. Eugene Jernigan. She brought the point in her talk, by asking, "How Can Parents Rear Their Children without the Help of God?"

Others on the program were Mrs. B. C. Godwin, Mrs. M. B. Hawley, Mrs. John Henry Elmore, and Mrs. James West. The topic studied was the theme: "Advancing with Christ through Literature." Our president stressed the importance of teaching our children the use of the right kind of literature. She also stressed the need of our being missionary-minded in our own homes, and then to others. We should be more thoughtful of others and less thoughtful of ourselves. At the close of her talk sentence prayers were given by each member, and the request that we draw closer to the Lord was the plea of all members present. The Spirit of the Lord was with us and we had a wonderful meeting together.

Our next meeting will be held with Mrs. Eugene Jernigan on Thursday night before the third Sunday and all members are urged to be present. We are glad to report that Mrs. Pauline Sills, who is in the sanatorium, is doing fine, and we are hoping that she will be able to be back and meet with us soon.

Prospect Aid Report

Mrs. Nealey Matthews was hostess to the Prospect Ladies Aid auxiliary which was held at the home of Mrs. Nealey on Friday evening. There were thirty members present and two visitors for this meeting. The president, Mrs. R. K. Cannady, called the meeting to order and the group sang the opening hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." The scripture reading was by the president. Prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Coates.

The program committee conducted the program, which was directed by Mrs. Ashley Stewart. Those taking part in the program were Mesdames Johnnie Ennis, Tommie Matthews, and G. C. Kennedy. Mrs. Hubert Dormon sang a special song. The benediction was given by Mrs. Johnnie Ennis.

The hostess served delicious refreshments consisting of fudge cake, mints and punch.

THE CHURCH SUFFERING AND TRIUMPHANT

(Lesson for April 2)

LESSON: I Peter 4:12-19; Revelation 7:9-17.

GOLDEN TEXT: 2 Timothy 2:12.

I. Heart of the Lesson

1. The trials which seem so strange to the flesh should seem natural to the spirit (I Peter 4:12).

2. If we suffer for Christ's sake, it is a proof of our union with Him (vs. 13).

3. Suffering here has the promise of glory hereafter (vs. 13).

4. Suffering for Christ is a proof of the presence of the Spirit of God in our lives (vs. 14).

5. Suffering for sins committed should never be necessary for a child of God (vs. 15).

6. Suffering as a Christian in this life will fit us for rewards at the judgment set of Christ (vs. 17).

8. It is far better to have an abundant entrance than to be scarcely saved (vs. 18).

9. Then He is the adored Christ. On earth He was "despised and rejected of men" (Is. 53:3). He was hated, condemned, beaten, mocked, and crucified. In Heaven we see Him adored, praised, and worshiped by a countless host of redeemed souls and of angels. In the first vision John heard the voices of countless angelic beings proclaiming the power and glory of the Almighty Saviour, the Lamb of God. It was fitting that the Lamb that was slain should "receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing." The whole creation raised its song of adoration "unto Him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever" (Rev. 5:11-14). In the second vision (7:9-17), those who surround the throne are the saints who down through the ages have been washed in the Blood of the Lamb, and who remained loyal to their Saviour in spite of great tribulation. They sing the song which angels cannot sing, the song of salvation (vs. 10). As the angels gaze upon the countless host of the redeemed and hear their song they are filled with awe, with the spirit of worship, and with profound adoration they "fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen" (vss. 11, 12).

10. Trials, yea, "fiery trials," are sure to come to each one of God's children. There is no escape: "In the world ye shall have tribulation" (John 16:33); "Yea, and all that will live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (II Tim. 3:12). How crushing would be these inescapable trials, but for the fact that our God comforts His children in all their tribulation! How reassuring are His words: "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you" (Is. 66:13a). Our God is "the God of all comfort" (II Cor. 1:3).

11. How comforting it is to know that in temptation God's children may "bank" upon God's faithfulness: "God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it" (I Cor. 10:13)! God's promises to the tempted are sufficient: "For in that He Himself hath suffered being tempted, He is able to succour them that are tempted" (Heb. 2:18; comp. II Peter 2:9; Rev. 3:10). We may even be joyous in the midst of trial and temptation (Jas. 1:2, 3). How comforting is God's promise of overcoming power: "More than conquerors through Him that loved us"!—Selected.

12. The closing portion of the lesson is a beautiful picture of the heavenly reward of martyrs and confessors and of all who are faithful in the midst of great tribulation. These verses are a sort of commentary upon Christ's words to the persecuted, "Great is your reward in heaven." They are in the immediate presence of God and render homage to him continually. All of their privations which they experienced in their earthly condition are forever a thing of the past. Hunger and thirst they know no more, nor the oppressive heat of the sun. Tears and all things which produce them are forever o'er. When the book of Revelation was written, persecuted saints were in need of special encouragement and were much in the author's mind, yet it is plain from Scripture elsewhere that the glories of heaven are for all who are faithful to God.—Arnold's Commentary.

Christ's Blood, the Only Answer

In 1922, during the World's Fair in Chicago, a Parliament of Religions was held, a great public gathering in which men of reputation representing the great world religions were invited to participate. There they sat in a great circle on the platform; in their various attires; from different countries; all speaking English. Each man had his chance to stand up and, as ably as he could, set forth the peculiar glories of his religion. To represent Christianity they selected Joseph Cook of Boston, a man of great intellect, and equally great loyalty to the Gospel. In the course of a masterly oration he pictured Lady MacBeth anguishing over the ineradicable stains of blood on her guilty hands. When the audience was at the highest pitch of intense interest, he turned and faced these representatives of these various world religions, and asked: "Has your religion anything that can cleanse the stains from the hands of her troubled conscience?" One by one they shook their heads! They had nothing to offer! When they had all admitted their impotence, he turned and announced, "The Blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son, cleanseth from all sin."—Prophetic News.

No Glass Between

The story is told of a little boy whose family was very poor. He received no gifts at Christmas time, but he spent what time he could looking in the windows at the pretty things other little boys were to have. One day he was run over by a car and taken to a hospital. One of the nurses brought him a gift—a troop of soldiers. As he touched them, what do you think he said? "There isn't any glass between!" So some day the glass will be removed between us and the pleasures and beauties of Heaven.—The Christian Herald.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF

Christian era has the historic Christian faith been subject to such vehement, persistent, and organized opposition, and on so many fronts, as is true today. We instinctively think of the martyrs of the early Christian church, but today's Church also has its martyrs in certain countries on the earth, and even in countries whose traditions are evangelical and Biblical, these foundations are being powerfully assailed.

Yet on every hand we see in Bible-believing Christians a degree of ignorance of these factors and consequently a lack of alertness and diligence which plays directly into the enemy's hands. We ought to be awake, and to realize what we face, that we may take prudent action by God's help.

"GOD'S WORD FOR GOD'S WORLD"

The coming Convention of the N. A. E. at the Roberts Park Methodist Church in Indianapolis, Indiana, beginning Tuesday evening, April 18 and running through Friday evening, will be dedicated to the stirring up of evangelicals to the nature of the present-day opposition to the gospel's unhampered spread, and to a highlighting of our great spiritual offensive weapon, the Word of God. The Convention's theme—"God's Word for God's World."

On Tuesday evening Dr. Harold John Ockenga, pastor of old Park Street Church and outstanding intellectual leader in evangelical circles deals with "Romanism in the Light of God's Word."

Wednesday evening Dr. Paul S. Rees of Minneapolis takes up "Communism in the Light of God's Word."

Thursday evening the focus will be on "Statism in the Light of God's Word" as Bishop Leslie Marston, brilliant scientist, educator, and churchman of the Free Methodist Church turns the light on the dangers from this direction.

At this same session Dr. Frank E. Gaeblein of the Stony Brook School will lift the veil on the newly published study of his committee on "A Christian Philosophy of Education," the reply of evangelical Christianity to the "Harvard Report."

Friday night's rally, in charge of the Radio Commission, brings us the closing address by Congressman Graham A. Barden, whose courageous fight for maintaining the American policy of separation of church and state with special reference to federal aid for education is known over our nation.

In addition to these evening rallies there will be the meetings of the various commissions in the mornings, and the reports of N.A.E.'s projects during the regular convention sessions each afternoon. You will want to get some inside light on such things as the work of our Committee on Christian Liberty leading up to Mr. Myron Taylor's resignation as special envoy to the Vatican.

EACH CONGREGATION ENTITLED TO BE REPRESENTED

This year a more careful effort will be made to restrict the voting in convention to bona fide representatives of members churches and denominations.

Each local congregation of an affiliated N.A.E. denomination is entitled to send to the convention at its own expense one official representative who will be seated within the convention bar and will be entitled to all privileges of the floor and of the vote. (The Constitution says a local church is entitled to send "one representative for each 500 members or fraction thereof.")

We believe that it would be a splendid thing for all our congregations who are able, to encourage their pastor to attend or to name some other representative to this convention. Such plans should of course be made at once. Perhaps in some cases co-operative transportation arrangements can be made with pastors or representatives from nearby congregations. God's people should be as well informed on these matters as are the people of the world.

With this announcement will be found a representative's credential blank which is self-explanatory. It may be clipped, filled out and properly signed, and sent to the N.A.E. Committee on Credentials, 542 South Dearborn Street, Chicago 5, Illinois, and will be received as official.

Printed credential blanks will be sent on request from the same address and also mimeographed information sheets concerning hotel accommodations and costs in Indianapolis.

CHILDREN'S

STORYLAND

The Bear and the Missionary

"Why don't you carry a gun?" visitors sometimes asked.

"Well," the missionary would answer, "it's such a nuisance."

"But don't you sometimes meet wild animals?"

"Once in a while, but they have their affairs and I have mine, so we don't trouble each other."

On this particular morning the missionary went to visit a little girl who was ill with the measles, for he was a doctor, as well as a preacher, a house-builder, a captain of a boat, and several other things.

It was one of the first days of the summer that lasts for so short a time up in the cold northland where the missionary lived, but which is so very pleasant while it does last, and on that day in particular he would not have dreamed of taking a gun. What was a gun for anyhow, but to kill things with? and his business was to make things more alive—the plants in his patch of garden, the dogs which in winter drew his sledge and the people whom he visited. Wherever he went people felt more alive in their bodies, in their minds, and in their souls.

The bear carried all his weapons, and he wanted to kill something but he had an excuse—he was hungry. Who wouldn't be after sleeping for four months, without a bite between naps? Then, he had been hunting for his long-delayed breakfast ever since he woke up the morning before and not finding it had made him cross.

The bear had looked in all the best places along the shore where the seals came; along the edge of the ice, where he could sometimes scoop out a fish; in the sunniest spots where grew juicy mosses and lichens; but it all was no use. There was neither seal, nor fish and, as for salads, it was too early for them.

Then he spied the missionary.

The long, snake-like head shot out and a hungry quiver ran all down his back. Not that the missionary looked specially good to eat, but anything looks good when one is hungry enough, and then he did look so easy to catch, not nearly so difficult as a seal, to say nothing of a walrus.

Slowly and cautiously the bear neared the path along which the missionary was coming, keeping himself hidden behind rocks and blocks of ice, for his nose told him that, harmless as this new food looked, it has a most dangerous smell. At length he reached an overhanging icy ledge, stretched out upon it and suddenly—the whole thing gave way and dropped him almost at the missionary's feet. Howling with rage he wriggled out and limped off as fast as he could go.

"I saw a bear to-day," said the missionary, at home that evening, telling of the day's experiences.

"Don't you think you ought to carry a gun?" asked his wife.

"Oh, no," answered the missionary. "If I had had a gun I might have shot him. As it was neither of us hurt the other."

Then he told how the ledge of ice had fallen.—The Morning Star.

The Danger of Backsliding or Falling

4. Showbeb (show-babe): apostate, backsliding. This usage is found in the following reference:

"How long wilt thou go about, O thou backsliding daughter?" (Jer. 31:32).

"... O backsliding daughter? that trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come unto me?" (Jer. 49:4).

The above investigation will give one an appreciative understanding of the meaning of the word 'backsliding,' and who is the one who performs married unto as the head of a nation. The Lord had declared Israel as His daughter. What could picture a closer relationship? Let us now turn to the New Testament for a word parallel in meaning.

II. A New Testament Synonym

Because the word 'backslide' does not appear in the New Testament, it does not mean that the Greek New Testament fails to have a word that conveys the meaning of the idea in the Hebrew Old Testament. The writer contends that the Greek for the word 'fall' or expression 'falling away' has a definition synonymous in meaning. Let us now note the Greek root words in their different shades of meaning and the references where each may be found.

1. Ekpipto (ek-pip-to): drop away, to lose, become inefficient, fail, fall away. Note the passages which use this root word:

"Ye therefore, beloved . . . beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness" (2 Peter 3:17).

"Remember (Ephesian Church) therefore from when thou art fallen and repent, and do the first works . . ." (Rev. 2:5).

"... whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace" (Gal. 5:4).

2. Apostasia (ap-os-tas-ee-ah): falling away, forsaken, divorce. This usage is found in 2 Thess. 2:3.

"Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition."

3. Aphistemi (af-is-tay-mee): to remove, instigate, to revolt, desert, depart, draw (fall) away, withdraw, refrain. Let us turn to Luke 8:13 for this employment of our word:

"They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away."

4. Parapipto (par-ap-ip'-to): to fall aside, i. e. (fig.) to apostalize: fall away. The reference for this is found in Heb. 6:4:

"For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost, and have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come, if they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance: seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame."

5. Pipto (pip'-to): to fall, fail, fall (down), light on. The quotation for this one is found in 1 Cor. 10:12:

"Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

A general summary of these different shades of meaning of the word which we have under consideration unquestionably indicates that persons to whom these apply are those who have repented, believed, and were spiritual partakers of Christ. Just as 'backslide' referred to children of God so does the word 'fall' or the phrase 'fall away' apply to children of God.

Historical Material
Wanted

As I am the chairman of a subcommittee of the National Board of Publications and Literature to gather material for the publication of a Church History for our denomination, I am taking this opportunity to solicit the cooperation of all our State Moderators in the compiling of this much needed manuscript. If any one should have any historical material relative to the history of our brotherhood, I should like to have this preparatory to the Bible Conference in April at Nashville, Tennessee. Papers, pamphlets, minutes, Treatises, or books can be of help. Any such like material received will be held in security until you request its return, or turned over to the Library of the Free Will Baptist Bible College at Nashville.

Scott Street F. W. B.
Church Holds Quarterly Conference

I wish to report that we had victory through Christ in our last quarterly conference. It was held on January 27 and 28, 1950, with the Scott Street Free Will Baptist Church in Cookesville, Tennessee.

The Lord poured out great blessings on every service. On Saturday afternoon, the young people, representing several churches, and also the F. W. B. home for children, had charge of the program. They gave some fine league programs which were enjoyed very much by everyone present. There was also a representative from the F. W. B. Bible College in Nashville, Tennessee.

We closed the conference on Sunday with Communion Service and the washing of the saints' feet. We are happy to report that a great victory was won through Christ. We know that he is the only one through whom we can have the peace that passes all understanding.

Progressing

This month our League has really made a great advance. Rev. Graham Baker came and talked to us the first of the month on the subject, "How We Can Make a Better League." He mentioned some of the outstanding things it would take for us to be a member of the League Convention.

On February 15, 1950, we met at the home of Bobby Ann Smith where Mrs. Spivey met with us. She pointed out some books that we could use for various occasions. She told us how our points for attendance and other things will be helpful to us.

For this month our lesson have been very interesting. We have taken up a new thing, letting our leaguers have turn to talk five minutes at the league meeting. We have one person every Sunday night, and that person makes a talk on any subject he likes.

We should like to encourage the old and young people to come to our league meetings. It meets every Sunday evening at 6:00 P. M. We do enjoy having visitors with us in our League.

BOOK REVIEW

"THE CITIES OF ST. PAUL"

By

Sir W. M. Ramsay, Kt., Hon. D. C. L.
Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.
Price: $4.00.

This excellent volume has received by Bible schools, seminaries, students of the Bible, and others wide approval. Pastors, missionaries, Sunday School officials, and Woman's Auxiliary leaders of the churches will profit greatly by a study of this book.

Copies may be secured either direct from the publishers, or from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina.

"HOMILETIC THESAURUS"

By

Harold F. J. Ellingsen

Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.
Date: 1949
Price: $4.50.

This new book, the first of three volume set, on the Gospels is significant for the selected texts and spot passages, and the pithy comments on different verses of scripture of the Gospel of Matthew. It is quite comprehensive, with expository excerpts, suitable illustrations, brief outlines, sermon notes, etc. The book is valuable for homiletic study of Matthew by Bible students.

Those interested, may purchase copies either from the publishers, or from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina.

A NEW STRATEGY?

Everybody knows that the tactics of the liquor crowd have been smart. But facts are on our side—it is "smarter not to drink." Anybody with clear eyes can look beyond the artificial ads of so-called "Men of Distinction" to the actual picture of the "mess of destruction" caused by alcohol. On paper the characters are colorful, but in practice, they are pitiful.

So, while the wets seemingly win with their present sales propaganda, let us remember that their "tactics" cannot stand the sustained attack of a spiritual strategy. Time is too short for Christians to remain on the defense, or to content ourselves merely with castigating the evils of traffic in alcohol. Wets must now challenge "our side."

First, to accept abstinence as our project;

Second, to promote an intelligent, positive, program of preaching and Christian practice, as good stewards of the abundant life;

Third, to employ prayer and other spiritual techniques which can far surpass the effectiveness of statutory enactments, or even of educational procedures.—Selected.

The Bible is your guidebook for the journey of life. Read it faithfully. Pay no attention to that preacher, teacher or leader who will not accept it as the Word of God.

Easter Issue

Then Came Easter Morning

The night was dark and full of dread,
 No stars the sky adorning,
 For Christ was numbered with the dead—
 And then came Easter morning!
 Easter with its joy so bright,
 Easter with its glorious light,
 Ending power of death for aye,
 Came the glorious Easter Day!

He died a sinful world to save,
 A death of shame and scorning,
 His wounded form was in the grave—
 But then came easter morning!
 Easter with its vict'ry song,
 Conquest over sin and wrong,
 Ending ever the fearsome sway—
 Came the glorious Easter day!

JAPANESE CHRISTIAN LEADER TO VISIT AMERICA

Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, the noted Christian leader of Japan, will be in America from July 15th to the end of December. He has been booked for speaking engagements at National meetings, both in the United States and Canada, and will devote two months of his visit, October and November, to the United Evangelistic Advance, under the Department of Evangelism of the Federal Council.

Dr. Kagawa will speak at the World Convention on Christian Education in Toronto, Canada, August 15th, and on September 15th he will be at the Missionary Meeting of the General Council of the United Church of Canada. On November 15th he will be at Cincinnati at the annual conference of the United Conference of Church Women.

Those wishing to inquire about speaking dates for Dr. Kagawa during September and December should correspond directly with the itinerary secretary Dr. J. Henry Carpenter, 252 Fulton Street, Brooklyn 1, New York.

Experience is what you get when you're looking for something else.

We sinners need the blood and the oil, but Jesus only the oil, the blessed Holy Spirit. May we receive both in their fullness of cleansing and filling.—Rev. D. M. L. Lacjner.

The Resurrection of Our Lord

Mrs. C. F. Bowen
Nashville, Tennessee

The risen Christ is anxiously waiting to enter our lives and dwell there with us. As sinners you need to receive him. As Christians we need to fully appropriate him by opening the door wide and inviting him to dwell with us to the fullest extent. "Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in unto him, and will sup with him, and he with me." There is no better time of the year to surrender our all to Christ than at the beautiful Easter season when our Lord arose from the tomb.

There are some definite proofs that we might mention concerning Christ's resurrection. Some people living then actually doubted that he arose from the dead, and there are some today that still doubt the story of the resurrection.

Did not all the writers of the Gospels see Christ after he arose? The disciples faced even possible death to tell the story of Christ's wonderful resurrection. Someone has said that if the story were false it would sound much different than it does in the Bible. Most writers have a tendency to play up the dramatic side of such a story, but the account of the resurrection does not necessarily lean to spectacular dramatics. It states that our Lord arose and first appeared to Mary Magdalene and then gives the simple events that followed.

Some people say that Christ was not dead, but we know he was because the spear was thrust into his side, and more important than this, the Bible tells us he was dead. The fact that the disciples adhered to their belief in the resurrection through the bitter years that followed—even to their martyrdom—speaks for the truth of it. Men do not give their lives for a falsehood or a doubt.

The courage manifested by the disciples on the day of Pentecost, the consecration of the martyrs of the early church, and the existence of the Christian church today all prove the reality of the resurrection.

One of the last proofs and one of the most important that we might mention is that all who have the touch of Christ upon their lives know he was resurrected. Those of us who have reached out and touched him remember his arm of sustaining power in times of temptation and we do not need to be told that long ago he was released from the tomb, for in being released he was become the living power in our lives.

Mrs. C. F. Bowen

Let us look briefly at something of the importance of the resurrection. "The fact of Christ's resurrection is at the base of Christianity. Our whole Christian religion must stand or fall with the coming to life again of the Man Jesus." Paul recognized the fact that the words and works of Jesus would be comparatively without value unless the same body that went into the tomb came forth again in a true resurrection. "If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, your faith also is vain." If Christ had not risen his claims to divinity would have been proved false. It took the resurrection to make the plan of salvation complete. (1 Cor. 15:17.)

If Christ had not risen, Satan and evil would have been stronger than God and good. Christ's resurrection means that he has power to fulfill all the promises he made. He can lead us to victory; as Master of our souls he can say, "Peace, be still."

Easter and the risen Christ should give all of us who bear the name of Christian a renewed courage to look upward and claim the many blessings he has in store for us. It should make us remember to thank the Lord for saving our souls because we know that because of his resurrection we will some day be resurrected to live a glorious life with him. It should make us remember other lands that need the Gospel. We should be so thrilled over the fact that he arose that we would rededicate our lives to the extent that we would say, "Here am I, Lord, send me or use me in any way possible in telling the wonderful story of the resurrected Christ to others."

"He lives, He lives, Christ Jesus lives today!

He walks with me and talks with me along life's narrow way.

He lives, He lives, salvation to impart!

You ask me how I know he lives?
He lives within my heart."

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

Why Not Others?

I have just received a letter from Mrs. Archie Mae West, of Morehead City, with compliments for the book "Personal Soul Winning," by Mrs. Eunice Edwards. This book belongs to the National Association of Free Will Baptists and should be read by every one who wants to win souls for the Lord Jesus. Quote: "We are studying the little book, 'Personal Soul Winning' in our circles (Circles of the Woman's Auxiliary) and every one is enjoying it, I believe."

I am well acquainted with the auxiliary at Morehead City, having worked with them as their pastor and I know that the group as a whole is deeply interested in winning the lost to Christ. Some of them make special efforts—sacrificial efforts—to better acquaint themselves with the Word of God, in order to win others to Christ. They study various books on Stewardship and Missions, and find it profitable. Some time ago they purchased several copies of "Personal Soul Winning," on my recommendation, and thus Mrs. West writes, "and every one is enjoying it." WHY NOT OTHER auxiliaries do the same thing?

This book sells for 40 cents prepaid from the F. W. B. Gem, Monett, Mo., or from the writer.

Pictures Going Over

A ten year history of the Free Will Baptist Orphanage at Middlesex, N. C., is being shown by the management of the Institution. At this time we are making an itinerary of the Cape Fear Conference, and the churches where we have shown the pictures have expressed themselves as being "pleased." Individual compliments are continually reaching our ears. A very well informed lady said last week, after seeing the pictures: "It is the next thing to a visit to the Orphanage," and then she said, "I had no idea that we had so much at the Orphanage." Another said, "It is better than taking the little children all over the country, tiring out their little bodies." Well, God is blessing. Words and Deeds tell the story.

April the Ninth—What?

If the Lord tarries, on April the 9th another Easter Day will roll around reminding us of the fact that THE LORD JESUS CHRIST arose from the grave and showed Himself to his disciples, and therefore established the fact that the CHRISTIAN RELIGION has a LIVING FOUNDATION AND HEAD. Not a visible earthly head.

Christ the resurrected, ascended Christ, who sits at the "right hand of God the Father," is the HEAD of the Church. And his only VICAR on earth is the HOLY SPIRIT. By the inspiration given to the writers of the New Testament, by the presence and wisdom of the Holy Spirit, we have the written word witnessing to the RESURRECTION of the LORD JESUS. Paul wrote: "MOREOVER, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I have preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures: And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve: after that he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once: of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep. After that he was seen of James; then of all the apostles. And last of all he was seen of me also, as one born out of due time" (1 Cor. 15:1-8). "As one born out of due time." Dr. Scofield has this to say about this "birth out of due time." "Paul thinks of himself here as an Israelite whose time to be born again had not come, nationally." He refers to Matt. 23:39 and goes on to say, "so that his conversion by the appearing of the Lord in glory (Acts 9:3-6) was an illustration, or instance before the time, of the future national conversion of Israel."

Our Comments on this Scripture

Paul gives the fact of the resurrection. He declares it to be "GOSPEL." These Christians had "received" it. In it, they did "stand." By it he said, "Ye are saved." No use to believe that Christ was "born and died, unless we believe that "HE ROSE AGAIN." But we are "saved," "IF WE KEEP IN MEMORY WHAT I PREACHED UNTO YOU." Let us emphasize that word, "If we keep in memory" we are "saved." But if we forget, or lose the "memory" what will happen? Well Paul says, "unless ye have believed in vain." Paul says I "delivered" . . . "which I had received." We can only deliver that which we receive. Receiving comes before delivering. Without receiving we are ignorant. God never put a premium on ignorance . . . Paul was wise unto salvation. He knew from whence it came, and as to how it came, therefore, he said to an inquiring lost jailer, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." So to believe on the Lord Jesus is to believe in his literal resurrection. A religion that does not include the RESURRECTION OF THE LORD JESUS, is of Satan and perpetrated from the day that his henchmen said "that his disciples came and stole him away, while we slept." There are many "cult" religions that deny the LITERAL RESUR-RECTION OF THE LORD JESUS. Every one of these religions belong to Satan.

It Is Very Important

Paul said: "If Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain." . . . "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept" (1 Cor. 15:12-20). Here we have it that Christ arose from the dead. Did not "swoon away," neither did he "turn to gasses," as some of the "cult" leaders proclaim. He actually, literally stepped out of the grave to live for evermore.

Listen to these words of Christ Himself: "I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of death and hell" (Rev. 1:18).

The 19th verse says (1 Cor. 15:19), "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." Now that does not mean that there is a chance for salvation beyond this life. That doctrine of Salvation after natural death comes is not Biblical. It belongs to some of the "cults" who have perverted the scriptures and are preaching the doctrine of Satan. It means that there is a life beyond the grave. We are to rise out of the earth and be transformed into a Heavenly citizen; "for we shall see him and be like him when he appears" (See 1 John 3:2).

"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming" (1 Cor. 15:22, 23).

THE PATHWAY OF WISDOM

Jo Ann Linley
Brilliant, Alabama
Route 1

There's a pathway of wisdom waiting for you,

A step down friendship's lane—beyond the blue;

Where you'll stop to encourage a disheartened friend,

A small reward now, but it'll come in the end.

This pathway of wisdom is narrow, but straight,

It's the key which unlocks Heaven's Gate;

On the sides grow untold knowledge and courage,

And love and friendship so bold.

A pathway of wisdom—one of delight,

Which we can tell by our sight;

This pathway leads not to destruction,

But to a land where there's no corruption.

"In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths" (Prov. 36).

≡≡≡ EASTER ≡≡≡

May R. Conrad
1006 Curdwood Blvd.
Nashville, Tennessee

To multitudes of Americans the word Easter spells only a new spring outfit—many have been heard to say, “Unless I get a new outfit you won’t need to look for me Easter Sunday.” To many youngsters this sacred celebration means gay, flop-eared bunnies and brightly colored eggs. They have not been taught thoroughly enough that this very beautiful and impressive season is an annual Church celebration commemorating Christ’s Resurrection. HAD THERE BEEN NO RESURRECTION THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO CHRISTIAN CHURCH! The following acrostic outline has been prepared with a prayer that each individual who reads it might see the deeper and more significant meaning of the term Easter. We hope to show what the Resurrected One can be to every individual who will come unto Him.

E-xample—John 13:15, “. . . I have given you an example . . .” The Resurrected Saviour should be our example in Christian living. During His short ministry He trudged along the long, dusty roads, carrying the glorious Gospel message to those who were sitting in darkness, waiting for someone to bring the wonderful news of Salvation. We His followers should follow His example of soul-winning not only during the Easter season but the year around. There is no joy that can come to anyone like the joy of leading a soul to Christ.

Then, too, He is our example in prayer. Many times He tarried all night in prayer and if He the Divine Son of God realized His need of communion with His Father how much more should we. He left a wonderful promise to His followers in John 14:14—“If ye shall ask anything in my name, I WILL DO IT.” May we all during this wonderful season resolve to be better prayer warriors for Him.

A-ll Sufficient One—2 Cor. 12:9, “And He said unto me, my grace is sufficient for thee . . .” Only the Resurrected one is sufficient to comfort the troubled heart. Matthew 17:7-8, “. . . He touched them, and said, Be not afraid. . . . They lifted up their eyes and saw Jesus only.” When the living word of God touches the sorrowful or terrified soul it is enough. Although all else should fail, and every comfortable feeling flee from us, if we have Jesus only, then our sky will have a gem. The touch and word of the all-sufficient one are enough to bind up every wound.

S-helter—Psalm 61:3—“For thou hast been a shelter for me . . .” Yes, He is our shelter—man needs a refuge or hiding-place from the storm of life and a resting-place from the busy, bustling, bothering cares and sorrows of this present life. Let’s all take our Resurrected Savior as our Shelter from the storms that are sure to be ours.

T-ransformer. The grace of God, which bringeth salvation, works a complete transformation in the character and relationship of all who believe. It changes our relationship—

1—To God the Father. We are no longer enemies, but Sons, instead of being under the wrath of God, now we are under His special care.

2—To Christ the Son. We were without Him, and without hope, but now grace has made us near—united to Him, cleansed by His blood and kept by His power.

3—To the Holy Spirit. Before He had no place in our darkened sin-cursed hearts. Now He abides within as our Comforter and Guide.

4—To this present world. When we were in sin we walked according to the course of this world. But now we have been chosen out of it, and sent to be witnesses for God against it. John 17—We used to love the world, but now we love not the world neither the things that are in it. Yes, the Resurrected One is our Transformer.

E-mmanuel — Matthew 1 : 23 —

“They shall call His name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.”

1—God with us in the flesh. 1 Timothy 3:16; John 1:14.

2—God with us as a Companion. 2 Corinthians 6:16. “. . . I will dwell in them and walk in them. . . .”

3—God with us always. Matthew 28:20. “. . . I will never leave thee nor forsake thee.” If we really know the Risen One as our Savior, He is always with us as a Companion and Guide.

R-edeemer, because He rescued and delivered us from the bondage of sin and the penalties of God’s violated law. Titus 2:14—“Who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from all iniquity . . .” Hebrews 9:12 “. . . By His own blood He . . . obtained eternal redemption for us.”

The One whose Resurrection we celebrate at this glorious Eastertime did give Himself for us and by His own precious blood obtained eternal redemption for us!

“What Does Easter Mean to You”

What does Easter mean to you?
Stately church with cushioned pew,
Where, Lenten season gone at last
And days of self-denial past,
Richly-clad, devoted throngs
Of worshipers unite in songs
Of praise in lily-scented air?
Is this what makes your Easter fair?
Does it mean the end of winter’s reign,
Bright skies and welcome warmth
again,
Singing of birds, budding of trees,
Sweet spring odors on the breeze
From daffodil and crocus bed
And balsam branches overhead?
Sad is the world and cold and gray,
If this is all of Easter day.

But if this blessed season brings
A firmer faith in holy things;
Assurance of a living Lord;
A strengthening of the tender chord
Of love that binds us to the life to come
Where loved ones ‘wait us in the heavenly home,
No pain or loss can e’er efface the bliss,
Dear friend, of Easter when it means all this.

TENNESSEE PERSONALITIES AND EVENTS

C. F. Bowen

A Bible play, entitled "The Cloth of Senedony," directed by Mrs. Charles Thigpen, speech instructor at the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, was well received by a large audience March 17 in the college chapel. Students from a number of states had roles in the drama. A specialty of the college is its splendid dramas.

The visitation evangelism promoted by East Nashville Church brought gratifying results. More than 125 persons were contacted, 16 of whom were won to Christ and nearly a score were led to transfer their membership to a local church in the city. East Nashville Church reaped its share of the harvest with a possible 25 new members, many of whom came for baptism. This project was a city-wide campaign embracing 15 denominations. The total results showed more than 1,500 persons making commitments.

Revival fires burn brightly at the college here in Nashville. For several weeks students have had spontaneous meetings of praise and prayer and at least one old-time conversion. Confessions are made, sins forsaken, and old faults and ills forgiven. None of this, however, has disrupted the regular procedure of college work.

Rev. Damon C. Dodd, national promotional secretary, has closed a successful revival in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where a number of souls were won to the Lord. Pastor Reford Wilson attests also that many of his congregation have become "good steward" conscious. Mr. Dodd and Rev. J. L. Welch, pastor of Cofer's Chapel, Nashville, will be on the faculty of a Christian Workers' Institute in West Virginia the week of March 19.

ATTENTION: NORTH CAROLINA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION PRESIDENTS

Please write me at once giving me your name and address and name of your convention, as we are planning our next State Sunday School Convention program for our annual convention, which is to meet with the Hugo Church, Thursday and Friday before the 4th Sunday in April. We are most interested in hearing from you, as we want your convention to be represented in this session of the convention. There is one part of our program that will be very beneficial to your work.

Many graduates of our Bible college plan to return to the scene of their greatest joys for the annual Bible Conference at the college April 23-26. This return should be a wonderful opportunity for class reunions, alumni gatherings, and the making of new friends. Further information on the Bible conference should be released soon by the college.

An approximate $3,500 building addition to Cofer's Chapel, Nashville, is in the final stages of completion. This addition includes an enlarged nursery, more classroom space, and a more spacious dining room. The spirit of progress manifested by this church's building program is typical of that found in hundreds of our churches over the country.

Incidentally, Tennessee Personalities and Events is happy to be back in the columns of the Baptist. This editor still earnestly wishes to publish Tennessee news of importance, and will be happy to do so just as long as Tennesseans will lend just a tithe of their cooperation.

Signs of Our Time

By A. P. Hill, Jr.
Kinston, N. C.

It is certain we are living in a perplexed world. There are many and various beliefs or interpretations of the teachings of our Lord. This seems to be a weakness, especially in the Protestant bodies or denominations. This weakness is revealed when a person or body of people refuse to try to understand the other person or body of people. We must at all times remember that all people are not made up alike. Christ taught different parables to different people not because He wanted to use new words or to exploit His vocabulary, but Christ realized that there was a difference in people's background, both in heredity and environment. Therefore, He resorted to the method which He knew would meet the needs of His hearers. If Christ saw it necessary to reveal the truth in various ways, we should be very careful how we criticize those who differ from us in their thinking.

There have been many born again Christians, good men, criticised, ostracized, ridiculed and talked about by those who are narrow minded, self righteous, and in many cases think, if it were not for them, God's program would be defeated. Christ said "know the truth and the truth shall make you free." I am firmly convinced there are thousands of so-called religious people who are stumbling under a load which they have called religion until they have become stale, and refuse to believe the truth when it is revealed. If a person's religion seems to be a burden to him, it is because he is not seeking a new truth in the divine son of God, who reveals the truth to all people who will accept it. Revelation is not fixed nor rigid, but progressive. This should motivate one in pursuance of the new truths that can only be obtained with open minds to the teachings of Jesus and the scriptures.

It is of greatest importance that we understand ourselves, and be sure our houses are in order before we seek to clean some other's, and class them as modernists. It is widely understood and accepted that the people in general look on the Federal Council of Churches as being unorthodox. If one understood the purpose of this organization, and is in sympathy with trying to work out better relations between different denominations, perhaps it would not look so black, after all. We can see the good that can be accomplished through an organization that is yet impure.

It should not be our purpose in life to tell the other fellow his destination, should we not see every thing in the same light. If we will remove the mote that we could see each other as brothers, or at least love each other as Jesus taught, then we would have but little time for condemning those who are trying to bring unity and friendliness and to teach the way of Jesus Christ.

But what is this strength of Christ that comes to us? It is His character, His strength, His purity, His truth, His mercifulness, in one word, His holiness that is the inner strength.—Phillips Brooks.

The human mind should be like a good hotel—open the year 'round.—William Lyell Phelps.

BIBLE CONFERENCE Free Will Baptist Bible College April 23-27, 1950

April 23rd through the 27th are the dates for the annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at the Free Will Baptist Bible College. These Bible Conferences have been an inspiration and great help to the many who have attended them over the past years. We have brought to the Conference as speakers some of the best preachers of our denomination. This year we have a splendid Conference program arranged which will be a blessing and an inspiration to all who attend.

Some pastors have written in already and asked for the dates of the Bible Conference this year in order that they might not schedule revivals on these dates. We think this is a splendid idea and trust that all our pastors will clear their calendar for this week and attend the Conference. We also invite the young people of our church to visit the College and attend the Bible Conference. A little later on a theme for the Conference will be announced in our church papers. Watch for this announcement and let us know if you plan to attend.

Truths about the Resurrection

The Scriptures are positive and indisputable on the subject of the Resurrection. Nonbelievers in the Doctrine of the Resurrection have no substantiating proof to rightly defend their argument.

Christ, the Resurrection

When Christ went to see Mary and Martha who had lost their Brother Lazarus by death, He said unto Martha, before He went to Lazarus' grave, "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (Jon. 11:25). He further said to Martha, "And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?" (Jon. 11:26). Christ went to the grave of Lazarus with Mary, Martha, and others, and offered a prayer to God, and cried with a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth" (Jon. 11:43b). Jesus brought Lazarus back to physical life again as a proof of his divine power of the resurrection over death. Lazarus had been dead four days; no one doubted that fact; but Christ brought the dead body back to life in the presence of those witnesses who could not doubt but that Lazarus was raised from the dead, for he was real in flesh and body as before.

Christ, the First Fruits

In writing on the subject of the Resurrection, the Apostle Paul, emphatically assured the Corinthian brethren the truth of the resurrection in these words: "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept" (1 Cor. 15:20). Paul purposed to teach this important truth because those Corinthians needed to be assured, without any shadow of doubt, that the resurrection is true and that Christ is the first fruits of the resurrection. Moreover, he wanted each one of them to be definitely assured of this fact, for he reasoned: "Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead?" (1 Cor. 15:12). Be it remembered, those Corinthian brethren were living in the midst of paganism, and some of their own members were doubters concerning the resurrection. Those who doubt today need to know the Scriptures concerning this eternal truth.

Christ Taught the Truth of the Resurrection

Christ taught the truth concerning the two resurrections. He said, "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation" (Jon. 5: 28, 29). He assured those who heard him that both the righteous and the wicked in the grave would be raised, and that each would be rewarded according to the way each had lived. The certainty is: Christ is the resurrection, the first fruits of the resurrection, and the Master teacher of the resurrection.

The Nature of the Resurrection

The Apostle Paul told the Philippian brethren, in his letter to them, that Christ would change the vile bodies on that great day of the Lord. He said, "Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself" (Phil. 3:21). He desired to assure those believers in Christ that the resurrection is a reality, and that Christ will bring forth everyone on that day. He wrote these words to the Corinthian Church, concerning the nature of the resurrection: "It is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body" (1 Cor. 15:43, 44). It is the spiritual body that will enter the heavenly realm.

The Dead in Christ Shall Rise First

Paul wrote to the Thessalonian brethren concerning the return of Christ and the resurrection. He said, "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven, with the voice of the arch-angel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first" (1 Thess. 4:16). He assured those Christian brethren that all of the righteous dead would be brought forth from the grave first to receive their reward. They receive first consideration, while the unrighteous dead shall come forth after them to receive their punishment for their wickedness. In verse seventeen, Paul told those brethren that the living believers in Christ would be, on that great day, caught up together with the resurrected righteous souls to meet the Lord in the air, and that they will ever be with the Lord.

The Apostle John expressed the blessedness of the believers in Christ in these most profound words: "Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years" (Rev. 20:6). He knew by divine revelation that the resurrection of the righteous and the unrighteous is an assured fact substantiated by God's holy word. His sacred writings again and again assert this truth. Happy is the person who believes this with all his heart, but cursed is the man who denies this truth, and says that there is no resurrection, no life after death, and no eternal punishment. He is of all men most miserable.

Faithful Believers in the Foothills of Vinales, Cuba

Back in the foothills of Vinales in a place called the eyebrow of the moon, "Seja de Luna," we have a fine faithful group of believers. These people have built a chapel that will seat about seventy people. A large part of the year they are isolated, without communication to the outside world, due to impassable roads. Saddle horses must labor thru mud and swollen streams to reach them during the rainy season.

Two days ago I went into visit with them. What a joy to hear them sing and pray! While I was preaching there was deep conviction among the unsaved. After the service a fine young man, the son of our principal layman, sought the Lord and also a small girl.

We have a remarkable convert in this place—an old man who is 118 years old. When he was a young man he was held as a slave under the Spaniards. Some of his boys escaped to the rebel forces and fought the Spaniards—one died on the field of battle.

I went to visit with this old man, now completely doubled with age, but still mentally alert with a keen eye. He was deeply interested in the things of the Lord. He has a large family of four generations about him. One son with snow-white hair and beard claims to be in his seventies and there is another son still older than he. While his family are very faithful Catholics, the old man has his trust in the Gospel.

In every field we have faithful laymen who are seeking the salvation of those about them. It was through the personal work of our brother, Angel Betancourt, that this old man at the age of 118 heard the Gospel for the first time. It is almost unbelievable that one would live over a century, and in this modern age, without ever hearing a Gospel message. Until our Free Will Baptist layman, himself saved from darkness and superstition, conveyed to him the message of salvation by faith he had never heard.

How our hearts glow with the desire to reach the many other fields, hills, and valleys in Cuba! These places are filled with isolated groups of people still waiting for some one to tell them of the greatest message in the world.

It is to many of our faithful laymen that we must give credit for breaking the soil. Men like the Betancourt brothers—there are three now—Angel, Pedro and Isaac. Each of them have a Free Will Baptist temple on their farms. We have about fifty of these faithful farmers who go into the villages and valleys making the first contacts. These are later followed up by our students and graduates. Others are saved and temples are built—thus our work has grown and continues to grow.

HOW WE ARE PROGRESSING

Sonapurhat, Purnea Dist.
Bihar, N. India 3-5 '50

Dear Friends:

After some time here we are again. It is beginning to get hot again although we have had unusually cold weather this past season, particularly for tent life. But as we found a nice oil heater and then made friendship with the magister who issues the permits for kerosene we have fared fine indeed. We have our land of a little more than 3 acres fenced by split bamboos and have planted 23 fruit trees: arms, lichies and nimbus (we will plant bananas and other trees later). We have purchased and have had cut and hauled 1000 bamboos for our kitchen and dwelling house. Here the kitchen is always separate from the main house. We are now having our well dug—tomorrow—today is Sunday. They should reach water. We have finally obtained 10,000 bricks for the foundation, and so after many disappointments and delays we are—at long last—actually ready to begin our actual building program.

For the most part the only modes of traveling except on the one main road are by foot, ox-cart or bicycle. We have purchased a yoke of oxen and have made a few trips by ox-cart—one 18 miles long, fording three rivers twice—two of which came up on the oxen's bodies. Last Tuesday I cycled 35 miles to the nearest town. Not long ago Bro. Cronk (Trula's husband) and I made a 64 mile trip over a faint trail taking 3 days. It is certain that white missionaries have never been in this territory before and it is doubtful if even Indian Evangelists had ever visited this area. (The area covered by trip.)

At this time we have six serious "seekers"—only one of whom is from this village. One is from a village some 14 miles away. We have services each Sunday with the small group of local Christians. The real part of our work in India has just begun.

As we have said before, this is a remote area—not only in the corner of this district and also—province but of India as well. (This district borders on two foreign countries) there are few adequate provisions for the medical care of the people—I might have well said none. For this reason we have been forced more and more to attempt medical work of the more simple kinds. This we have been reluctant to do, both because of our lack of training in this field, and necessary supplies and equipment, but also because our interest lies in the field of evangelism. However, in spite of ourselves we have been forced into it and again it affords most excellent opportunities for personal work. Yesterday we had a man, who having heard of our feeble attempts in the Name of the Master to administer to the physical needs of the people, came a distance of 18 miles to inquire concerning a sick son whom he said he was bringing this coming week. Two days ago we attempted to treat 21 patients, one of whom had come 8 miles. "To whom little is given of him little is required," therefore God has blessed our simple efforts in a wonderful way. As soon as our house is completed we will turn our tent into a "Dispensary" where we hope to have trained and qualified workers and that we ourselves can be more entirely engaged in the work whereunto we are called. So far, we have tried to carry on this work with few of the simplest medical tools and instruments. These are needed very much indeed.

We often think of you and our many other friends in the home land and are continually remembering you in our prayers. May God ever bless and keep each of you.

Your Bro. and Sister in Christ,
Paul and Mrs. Woolsey

Strength

Trials and temptations do not weaken us, but they do show us where we are weak, that we may become strong.—Rev. H. W. Westwood.

THE RESURRECTION

By Mrs. Melvin Bingham
1922 North Lewis Street
Tulsa, Oklahoma

"Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, He is risen."—Luke 24:5-6.

"In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre. And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow. And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him; lo, I have told you."

It was the beginning of a new day, a new dawn. Bitter hate had struck down its victim. Pharisee, Sadducee, and the enemies had felt satisfied that they had done away with this man called Jesus.

But, the Easter sunrise proclaimed their defeat. God's Angel had rolled away the stone from the door of the sepulchre and had sat upon it. Never again to be closed. As the Easter Lilies that come forth to beautify the earth in their season, so the bodies of His Saints that sleep in the dust shall come forth on the resurrection morning clothed in the beauty of immortality. "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." We look not at the grave, but beyond it. When we have laid away our Christian dead, we sorrow not as those who have no hope but we look on to the resurrection morning soon we believe with this promise. "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord."

Christ arose from the dead, and in his resurrection gave us assurance of our resurrection also. "I am the resurrection and the life," said Jesus, as he walked with Martha and Mary in Bethany to spoil the grave that held captive the mortal body of Lazarus, their brother; "and he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

PATMOS CHURCH MAKING PROGRESS

As we look back to the history of our church here at Patmos, it is with pride and happiness we view the progress that has been made. It goes to show that Christian determination will do things when put to the test. To show what I mean, I should like to give some truly substantial facts concerning Patmos Church, which have been furnished me by one of the older members, Mr. W. B. Griffin, or Uncle Wallace, as he is more familiarly known.

Before 1870—how long, I'm not sure—the people went from house to house, holding services. They then held services in the school house which was a typical rural building of that day. It was in 1870 that a sixteen by twenty-four foot structure was built with a stick and dirt chimney, with slabs from a nearby sawmill to furnish the seats. In this building services were held until 1905. That year a 30 foot by 40 foot church was built, which was burned in 1932. The present church building here at Patmos was built in 1933.

When viewed through the eyes of the world it is not much compared with other more worldly structures, but to us it is much better than that building of 1870, and no comparison at all can be made between that first, stick and dirt chimney, and the gas heaters we now have.

To many in this Atomic age of superfortresses and hydrogen bombs, the progress of Patmos Church, over these many years, seems slow, but you see here at Patmos, we boast of not one moneyed member. All are of very moderate means financially speaking. Practically all are small farmers. But where there is a lack of finances, it is made up in Christian faith and foresight. That can readily be seen in the noteworthy fact that in the whole history of Patmos Church, it has not been allowed to die. Why?

A few years ago, I was not able to answer that question, for how well I remember when as a child I wondered what was meant when I heard an older person, or my parents speak of a church as being dead. I did not know what was meant at that time. But today I know the answer. It is the lack of Christian leadership in a church that causes it to die. It is because the older workers in the church have failed to train the youth.

Fellow Christians, are you doing your duty toward the youth in your church? Are you training them in service for Christ, before the Devil has a chance to train them in his work? Are you passing by the opportunity to send them to the Bible conference at Mount Bethel, Georgia? Are you training them by having a Young People's League in your church? Do you have a Sunday School? Think seriously on these things for a while. Ask yourselves this question: Am I truly doing my share to assure the future progress of my church? If you are not, then send your youth to Mt. Bethel, Ashburn, Georgia, this summer to the Bible School encampment. We have in the making there one of the greatest Free Will Baptist Youth Training centers to be found anywhere.

Do not let this golden opportunity slip by, and then in later years view with sorrow the lost opportunity. We have here at Patmos set up goals to be reached in 1950, goals that will take finances to meet, whether we reach them or not is yet a question. But there is one thing sure, we'll daily be striving to set our spiritual house in order, so that when Christ shall come again unto the earth, He will be able to say of us here at Patmos, "Well done, good and faithful servants. Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord" (Matt. 25:23).

The Blood

Beloved, we need the cleansing of the blood to bring us into perfect harmony with God; and I am glad that it has lost none of its efficacy.—Dr. Guilmay.

EDITORIALS

The American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, wrote a beautiful poem in which he expressed hope in the resurrection in these striking words:

Tell me not, in mournful numbers,
Life is but an empty dream!
For the soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.

Life is real! Life is earnest!
And the grave is not its goal;
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of the soul.

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time—

A Complaint Against Movies and Dances in Gaston County Schools

We wish to send in this petition concerning moving pictures, shows and dances in our public schools here in Gaston County.

We do not believe that our children should be trained in such way, because the Bible teaches in Proverbs 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

We do believe that it is wrong to train our children to be attendants to the shows, dances, or to lie, steal, and to go half-dressed in public, as some do. Some of the Gaston County schools punish the children because they do not want to attend such things.

We are supposed to be living in a free country, and we do not like for our children to be taught things that are against the faith that our Christian mothers and fathers have set before them. We wish to request that the Bible be put in all of our public schools, and taught to all of our children, instead of all the sinful amusements that are being taught them by the dances, shows and the like.

Please note what Psalm 119:11 teaches: "Thy word have I hid in mine heart that I might not sin against thee." Read Mark 13:31, and note these words: "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away." First John 2:15, 16, 17, "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life is not of the Father, but is of the world, and the world passeth away, and the lust thereof but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

May God's will be done about this matter.

LIBERTY CHURCH NEWS

Rev. J. T. Quick filled his regular appointment at Liberty Saturday night and Sunday with a message from our dear Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Saturday night the message was on the Kingdom of Heaven and Sunday the Kingdom of God. It was a soul stirring message. We were glad to have our neighboring churches and invite them to come again.

On Saturday before the fifth Sunday in April, the Free Will Baptist Quarterly Conference will meet with Liberty Church near Lawley, Alabama. We are extending a cordial invitation to everyone to meet with us and to enjoy God's blessings and sweet fellowship together.

Delphia Langford, Church Clerk
Lawley, Alabama

Rev. Wade H. Calvert Will Hold Revival at Dilda's Grove

The spring revival meeting will begin at Dilda's Grove Church on Wednesday night, April 12. The meeting will continue for ten days. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. The Reverend Wade H. Calvert of Belmont, North Carolina, will be the evangelist.

:- The Resurrection of Jesus :-

Mrs. Luther Gibson
East Tupelo, Mississippi

"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (John 11:25). "And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust" (1 Cor. 15:22). "Knowing that He which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus and shall present us with you" (2 Cor. 4:14). "For the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first" (1 Thess. 4:16). The truth of the resurrection of our Blessed Lord is a glorious truth to the children of God. These Scripture verses thrill our hearts.

Although Jesus had told the Jews: "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up" (John 2:19), the disciples were made to sorrow in their hearts because Jesus had been crucified. The Christ of the Scriptures must die, be buried, and rise again (1 Cor. 15:3-4). After the crucifixion and before the resurrection—or while Jesus was in the grave—His followers were surrounded by an impenetrable darkness. They had lost a beloved Master, One to whom they had become greatly attached during His ministry on the earth. Buried with Him in the grave were their hopes for deliverance and for the establishment of the Kingdom. Although they did not always grasp the Spiritual significance of His words of promise, they were filled with great expectations.

There is no description of the resurrection because the reunion of the body and soul cannot be described. The truth of it is abundantly attested in the Scriptures. The King of Life on the third day broke the shackles of death. As given in Matthew 28:1-10, the circumstances attending the resurrection are described in detail. There was the earthquake and the angel descending and opening the door of the sepulchre. Next we have the women proceeding to His grave, and the angel assuring them that Christ has arisen. "And for fear of Him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men" (Matt. 28:4). At least ten appearances were made by Christ after He arose from the grave. His disciples needed this full assurance of His victory over death, for it would be their task to witness to His resurrection.

Upon the resurrection of Christ, the Spirit-taught Apostle Paul builds the whole structure of the Christian faith. Our hope is in our resurrected Lord. "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins" (1 Cor. 15:17). If He is not risen and accepted of God in our behalf, the death of Christ will avail us nothing. If Christ be not raised, there is no hope for man (Rom. 5:10). We find the Apostle Paul reasoning from two viewpoints on this great resurrection truth.

On the negative side or "If Christ be not risen," we find several points to discuss. First of all Christ's own testimony would be untrue. "Destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up" (John 2:19). His promise is, "I will rise again." If Jesus had failed to come forth from the grave victorious, He would no longer be our "Resurrection and Life." The disciples would have been deceived, for the resurrection was the keynote of their messages. "They taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead" (Acts 4:2). Because of the fact that they had seen our risen Lord, the disciples were most courageous in their witnessing for Him. "If Christ be not risen," then our Christian experience is a delusion. Our assurance of salvation, the peace and joy that only Jesus gives, the sweet fellowship we have with God through the Holy Spirit, our blessed hope of living with Jesus in the New Jerusalem—these all are acts of the imagination "If Christ be not risen." We would of all men be most miserable.

Our hearts are thrilled beyond words for "Christ is Risen." The positive side has many facts which prove untold blessings to His redeemed ones. The foundations of hell have been shaken for "Now is Christ Risen." Our preaching is not in vain. The great commission, as Jesus gave it, is still to all borned-again ones. All power is still under His control. We have the message from the Risen One to "Go Ye," and His promise is that He will never leave us nor forsake us. Our faith is not in vain because we are trusting in a living Savior—not a dead Christ. Because He died for our sins and rose again for our justification, we are no longer in our sins if we have accepted Him as our Savior. Jesus has bought us with a price, the price being His precious blood. God the Father accepted the price for the remission of our sins. But if Jesus had not risen from the grave, we would all still be in our sins. Christians should be the happiest people on earth. If we stop to count the blessings our Risen Lord gives us, we have no need to be miserable. We have the best Friend of all—"A Friend that sticketh closer than a brother." The most precious and glorious promises are to the redeemed ones. Because Jesus lives, we shall live also. As the hymn writer has written, "You ask me how I know He lives; He lives within my heart." The greatest testimony that we have of His resurrection is the fact that He does live within our hearts. May we at this Easter season really know Him and make Him known because He is our Resurrection.

Rev. T. P. Ellis to Hold Revival at Harrell's Chapel

The spring revival will begin at Harrell's Chapel, Greene County, North Carolina, on Sunday night, April 2, at 7:30 P. M. The Reverend T. P. Ellis of Fountain, N. C., will do the preaching. Special music will be rendered each evening. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. We are praying that many souls will be saved during the meeting.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John Slater,

The Power of the Resurrection

(Lesson for April 9)

LESSON: I Corinthians 15:1-8, 20, 21, 57, 58. Read I Corinthians 15 and Luke 24.

GOLDEN TEXT: I Corinthians 15: 57.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. First the Gospel is preached; then it must be received by faith; and then we need to stand in it immovably (I Cor. 15:1).

2. It is believing in vain when our faith is based on human creeds and traditions and not on the Gospel (vs. 2).

3. The message of the Gospel would be unknown except for the fact that God has given it by revelation (vs. 3).

4. No man has a right to call his message the Gospel unless he received it from the Lord (vs. 3).

5. Any message that is not "according to the Scriptures" is a spurious Gospel (vs. 3).

6. The work of salvation required not only Christ's death, but also His burial and resurrection (vss. 3, 4).

7. The proof of Christ's resurrection is established by the testimony of unimpeachable witnesses (vss. 5-8).

8. Christ's resurrection is a pledge and guarantee that all believers shall also rise from the dead (vss. 20, 21).

9. The resurrection will be the great victory of the believer over death and the grave (vs. 57).

10. There is no stronger inspiration to Christian service than the knowledge that we serve a risen, living Lord (vs. 58).

11. The death of Christ was designed by God, but made necessary and accomplished by the wickedness of men.

12. Death divides between soul and body, but God reunites them in the resurrection.

13. The carnal nature (inbred sin) is not eradicated from the believer's body until the resurrection. (Philippians 3:20-21).

14. The believer's body even after conversion still awaits redemption from sickness, physical death and inbred sin (Romans 8:23).

14. Lazarus, for an example, was raised from the dead, but he did not have a resurrection body and so had to die again (John 11:44).

16. It is not without interest to observe that the first prophecy made by the Lord, at the very beginning of His ministry (John 2:19-21) was used as "evidence" against Him at His trial (Matt. 26:61) and in mockery of Him when He was hanging on the Cross (Matt. 27:40). But when the event justified the prediction His enemies conveniently forgot in a few days (between the Cross and the Resurrection) the words they had remembered for years. The reason is not far to seek—the statement attributed to Him had a totally different application (John 2:21) and as its fulfillment seems to have strengthened the faith of His disciples (Acts 2:22) it may be taken for granted that it would be equally effective in closing the mouth of His foes.

17. After the resurrection of the Lord Jesus from the dead, "He shewed Himself alive * * * by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God" (Acts 1:3). More than a score of individuals and groups saw Him in His resurrection body. They talked to Him; they touched and handled Him; they ate with Him. Even doubting Thomas, who had said, "Except I shall see in His hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into His side, I will not believe," finally exclaimed, when the glorious fact of Christ's triumph over death and the grave became read to him, "My Lord and my God" (John 20:25-28).

18. Only the fact of Christ's bodily resurrection can explain the great transformation of the Apostle Peter. Before Christ's resurrection, he quaked with fear at the accusations of a Jewish maiden, and disowned and denied the Lord. After Christ's victory over the tomb, he was as "bold as a lion," facing even those who had plotted and accomplished Christ's death with the fearless words as given in Acts 4:10.

19. How rayless and starless would be the night of death if Christ had not risen from the dead! It is only because He lives that we have been "begotten * * again unto a lively hope." Had He not risen from the dead, our faith would be in vain; and our loved ones who have fallen in death would have perished forever. Had not He risen, we could only say, as the earth envelops their forms, "Farewell forever!" But since He lives, we can confidently sing of those who "die in the Lord";

"Sleep on, beloved, sleep and take thy rest,
Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast;
We loved thee well, but Jesus loves the best—

Good night!

"Only 'good night,' beloved, not 'farewell,'
A little while and His saints shall dwell
A hallowed union indivisible,
Good night!"—Selected

LAYMEN'S MISSION MOVEMENT

(N. B.—Printed this early by special request.—Ed.)

The 20th annual observance of Men and Missions Sunday will occur on Sunday, November 12, this year. The theme recommended by cooperating Missionary Boards, and chosen by the Laymen's Missionary Movement for this day, is "Men for the Master's Mission." The text proposed for the day is Romans 10:14, 15. It is hoped that every church will recognize this day, since it may be combined profitably with any other emphasis. Most pastors will ask a layman to speak briefly on the theme preceding the morning sermon, in which the pastors may follow up the same thought.

Ralph Staten
Red Bay, Ala.

IV. The Results of Backsliding or Falling

We cannot understand the full danger of backsliding or falling until we can see the results of such unwarranted actions. However, some people will not keep a good thing if they had it.

One can backslide to the extent that he will lose his honor and become ungodly in conduct. It is then he becomes a stumblingblock to some in his community. The Cause of Christ has lost and the devil has his possibilities for wrong made greater. How can one do so wickedly so as to betray the best friend the world has ever or will ever have!

The backslider invites the chastening of God. It is not only true of an individual, but it is also true of a nation. When one turns to the 78th chapter of Psalms, he sees the hand of God reaching out his chastening rod over his people. The prophet Amos in the fourth chapter declares what chastening God did to get his people to return and they would not. To backsliding Israel, He said, "Prepare to meet thy God." God has used droughts, famines, pestilences, and wars to get his people to return to him. The Lord may have to let a few atomic or hydrogen bombs fall on the U. S. to get many of the cold and lukewarm church people aroused to their sense of duty. Yes, some one could release her bacteriological horrors upon our native land. Whatever may happen, it may be for our good as a nation.

It unfits one for service for the Master. In Ps. 51:12-13, we learn that David recognized that he stood in the way of sinners while he was in his backsliden condition. He had lost the joy of salvation and realized that he was unfit to teach. He had lost his influence for good. Our teachers should be people who are loyal to the Lord and the church. Don't be an eagle with broken wings or a harp with broken strings.

It endangers the cause of the church. What if all members followed the same course? For such fallen condition the Lord would surely remove the candlestick. The church may become so worldly as to become a Babylon (Rev. 17:5). Babylon the great will fall (Rev. 18:2).

V. The Perpetual Backslider's Calamity

"Why then is this people of Jerusalem slidden back by a perpetual backsliding? they hold fast deceit, they refuse to return" (Jer. 8:5). "And shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts; Even so will I break this people and this city, as one breaketh a potter's vessel, that cannot be made whole again; and they shall bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury" (Jer. 19:11). "I have seen also in the prophets of Jerusalem an horrible thing; they commit adultery, and walk in lies; they strengthen also the hands of evildoers, that none doth return from his wickedness; they are all of them unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah. . . Therefore, behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the city that I gave you and your fathers, and cast you out of my presence; and I will be an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten" (Jer. 23:14, 39-40).

As this is that which concerns a nation, let us now note what Moses predicts concerning them: "And it (covenant) shall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day that ye shall surely perish. As the nations which the Lord destroyed before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord your God" (Deut. 8:19-20). They forgot God as a nation, Jer. 2:32. It was days without number. What about that nation that forgot God? Let David answer this question. "The wicked shall be turned into hell (not a millennial reign with Christ), and all the nations that forget God" (Ps. 9:17). Moses is heard again in Deut. 30:15-18: "See, I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil; In that I command thee this day to love the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments and his statutes and his judgments, that thou mayest live and multiply; and the Lord thy God shall bless thee in the land whither thou goest to possess it. But if thine heart turn away, so that thou wilt not hear, but shall be drawn away, and worship other gods, and serve them; I denounce unto you this day, that ye shall surely perish, and that ye shall not prolong your days upon the land, whither thou passest over Jordan to go to possess it."

For their transgression of the covenant of the Lord, Joshua issues the warning, after the Lord had fulfilled all good things He had promised them and not one thing had failed thereof: "Therefore it shall come to pass, that as all good things have come upon you, which the Lord God promised you; so shall the Lord bring upon you all evil things, until he has destroyed you from off this good land which the Lord your God hath given you . . . then shall the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and ye shall perish quickly from off the good land which He hath given you" (Josh. 23:15, 16).

Isaiah says of the houses of Israel and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "And many among them shall stumble, and fall, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken" (Isa. 8:14-15). Jesus speaks of the fulfillment of this prophecy in Matt. 21:42-45 when the kingdom would be taken from them as a nation and how the Jewish state would be ground to powder.

What a calamity can come to a people for their persistent backsliding! As the wall of partition has been broken down between the Jew and the Gentile (Eph. 2:14), there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek, that we henceforth now know no man after the flesh (2 Cor. 5:16), and that we perceive now that God is no respecter of persons (Acts 10:34), let us study this phase of the subject from an individual standpoint.

Do you mean by calamity to the individual backslider, that there will be some who, though after chastening, will not return? Let the scriptures answer for us. The scriptures amply so teach.

The scriptures teach that some will be gathered out of the kingdom at the last day to be cast into the fire. Will this not be a terrible tragedy for the persistent or perpetual backslider? Let us now see who is in the kingdom. Are there those in the kingdom who never have been saved, born again, or converted? Jesus taught that one must be converted to enter (Matt. 18:3), born of water and of the Spirit to enter (John 3:5), one's righteousness must exceed that of the scribes and pharisees (nominal believers) to enter into the kingdom (Matt. 5:20), that the good seed are the children of the kingdom (Matt. 13:38), one must do the will of the Father to enter (Matt. 7:21; Jno. 6:40; I Thess. 4:3), one must repent and believe to enter (Matt. 21:31-32), or one must be chosen out of the world to be in the kingdom (John 15:19; 18:36). Paul taught one must be delivered from the powers of darkness and translated to be a citizen of the kingdom (Col. 1:13). Now we can see what the Bible teaches relative to whom that it is in the kingdom. The foolish virgins (ones who let their lights go out) will be cast out at the last day (Matt. 25:1-13). Christ here was speaking of the kingdom and not of the field or the world. He was speaking of virgins and not harlots. The unprofitable servant (one who discounts obedience, Heb. 5:9) of the kingdom will be cast out at the last day (Matt. 25:14, 30). Again, Christ was not speaking of the field or world. He is speaking of those who were made citizens of the kingdom. This is further corroborated when the Lord spoke, no doubt, of some who presumed on the grace of God as it is recorded in Luke 13:24-29. These are here spoken of as ones who were thrust out of the kingdom as the foolish virgins who are spoken of as the "know not ones" and not the "never knew you ones." Observe the description of the calamity awaiting for the perpetual backslider. "The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; and shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth" (Matt. 13:42-43). "But when the righteous turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? All his righteousness that he hath done shall not be mentioned: in his trespass sin that he hath trespassed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die" (Ezek. 18:24). The Lord has no pleasure in backsliders who fail to return that they might live (Ezek. 18:31-32).

We see the picture of such calamity in John the 15 chapter. "I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned" (John 15:6-7). Let us also take the warning of Paul in this matter. "For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end" (Heb. 3:14). Christ, in John 15:6-7, was not talking about water sprouts. He is speaking of those who were in Him and not close by or near too. They failed to return to fruitfulness before it was too late. Jude, in verse 12, speaks of such as being ones, though living people on earth, as being twice dead and plucked up by the roots. They have walked after the flesh. They have become withered or spiritually dead (Rom. 8:1, 13) while here, but later they will be, physically or naturally, soul or body, cast into hell (Matt. 10:28). Do you mean to say that a child of God can be plucked out of Christ's hand (John 10:28)? The perpetual backslider is going to get out. When one gets to the place that he is neither cold nor hot, lukewarm, fails to repent (Rev. 3:19; 2 Cor. 12:21), the Lord has already declared that He will spue them out (Rev. 3:16). How could He spue out that which was not already within? He is speaking of those in Him that walk after the flesh. If they should have been walking after the Spirit there would have been no suggestion of condemnation (Rom. 8:1; Gal. 5:19-21; Eph. 5:1-5). One can walk so long after the flesh that the latter end of them is worse than the beginning (2 Pet. 2:20-22; Gal. 5:1-4). This can mean that one can backslide so far as to completely fall away and it will be impossible to renew them to repentance. "For it is impossible . . . (description of a born again person) . . . If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of man afresh, and put Him to an open shame" (Heb. 6:4-6). One might remark, "Did not these just taste and not eat?" We read in I Cor. 10:3-8 where there were some of those who did eat and drink of Christ, (23,000), fell for fornication in one day. Christ is said to have tasted of death (Heb. 2:9). Did he have just a little experience of death? Peter speaks of those who have tasted of the Lord as being new born babes (I Pet. 2:2-3; Ps. 34:8). "Taste" here is from the Greek word

Historical Material Wanted

As I am the chairman of a subcommittee of the National Board of Publications and Literature to gather material for the publication of a Church History for our denomination, I am taking this opportunity to solicit the cooperation of all our State Moderators in the compiling of this much needed manuscript. If any one should have any historical material relative to the history of our brotherhood, I should like to have this preparatory to the Bible Conference in April at Nashville, Tennessee. Papers, pamphlets, minutes, Treatises, or books can be of help. Any such like material received will be held in security until you request its return, or turned over to the Library of the Free Will Baptist Bible College at Nashville.

"geoumai" (ghyoo'-om-ah-ee) which also is translated to mean to eat or experience. Just substituting the word 'eat' or 'experience' in the place of taste in these verses and see what you have. As there are different Greek words to describe the degree of one's backslidden state, let us draw this conclusion that it may mean one thing to just merely fall and another thing to completely fall away. Let me suggest to you, too, that in the original or revised version that it is not 'If they shall fall away.' It is 'and then fell away' or 'and having fallen away.' Then those who have completely fallen away, it is impossible to renew them to repentance. Repentance is unto life (Acts 11:18). Is there one of our readers who is ready to die (Rev. 3:2)—become separated from spiritual life? Why will ye die (Ezek. 33:10-11)?

It is unmistakably clear that danger may be in the path of the backslider. If he so persists to travel the backward way; ultimately, it will mean unquestionable a great calamity. Watchmen, let us not fail to warn the backsliden of the awful tragedy that awaits the perpetual or completely fallen away backslider.

of the high esteem in which our brother, loved one, neighbor and friend was held.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. LOU JOHNSON

It is with sadness we write the death of Mrs. Lou Johnson who departed from this life on January 8th. It was on second Sunday. She went to Sunday School Sunday morning and was preparing to go to church that night when death came so sudden. She left so sudden it was a shock to everyone. Mrs. Lou as we all called her, was 76 years of age. She was the widow of the late Rev. W. T. Johnson who preceded her to the grave several years ago. She leaves to mourn her two sons and one daughter. But we feel their loss is her heavenly gain. Weep no more children, but prepare to meet mother on that bright and shining shore where parting will be no more.

She was a devoted wife and mother. She was a true and faithful member of Spring Hill Free Will Baptist Church. We all miss her so much, in our class and in the church her seat was never vacant when she was able to get there.

Her funeral was conducted by Rev. J. Walter Stanley, her pastor, and Rev. G. C. Joyner, a former pastor.

Mrs. Lou is gone but her memory will ever linger with us. She was laid to rest under a beautiful mound of flowers.

We don't understand about such things,
But we will miss you just the same;
We are sure God said come up higher,
And you were waiting to hear your name.

You were loved by all who knew you
Your friends called you Mrs. Lou
At home, at church and at Sunday School,
No one else can take your place.

Mrs. Mary Faulkner

Mrs. Mary Faulkner, or "Mammy Mary," as everyone called her, passed on to her eternal reward on May 24, 1949, at 5:00 P. M. She had been in ill health for the past two years, and was critically ill for the last two weeks she was with us. She was 85 years, 4 months, and 9 days old at the time of her death.

For many years she had been a true and loyal member of the Saint's Delight F. W. B. Church in Greene County. The church has lost one of its most worthy members. We do not understand why she had to go but surely God knew best. He knew that she had suffered enough, so he called her home to rest.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. N. Hinnant and the D. W. Alexander, her former pastor. Her body was laid to rest in the Ayden Cemetery under a most beautiful mound of flowers, expressive of the esteem in which she was held by her loved ones and friends. The survivors include five children, a host of grandchildren and great grandchildren. Her delight was in keeping God's law, and her profession expressed her deep concern for the love of God.

Her face was plain, her words were, too,
But in her heart her love was true.
God took her away from earthly pain,
The loved ones loss is heaven's gain.

God bless memories she left behind,
The patience shown and deeds so kind.
Her loved ones, we humbly pray,
Will meet Mammy Mary on Judgment Day.

ROBERT'S GROVE MAKES REPORT

The Woman's Auxiliary of Robert's Grove Church convened at the home of Mrs. J. M. Spell on March 8, 1950, with 21 members present for the meeting. It was called to order by the president and Mrs. Alton Jackson was in charge of the program, which was opened with the members singing hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." The members all said together our watchword of the year. The lesson was read and discussed. Added comments were given by Mrs. Minot Godwin. Then sentence prayers were offered on the behalf of our missionaries in Cuba. Special music was rendered by Mrs. Mary Barefoot and Mrs. Sula Spell.

We entered into the business period, and plans were made for our week of prayer which is to be held the week before Easter. Please pray with us that we may have a great week in the worship of the Lord.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

George Herbert Davis

Through the appointment known as death, our heavenly Father gave the release from sufferings to Herbert Davis, of Davis, N. C., on the nineteenth day of January, 1950. Had he lived until February 7 he would have been 67 years of age. His past two months of sufferings brought to an end a life which had been successfully lived in the community of his birth.

As a citizen he made his contribution successfully, and, no doubt, as a husband, father and grandfather no one has more completely endeared himself to his loved ones than he. Early in life he publicly confessed Christ as his personal Savior and united with the Davis Free Will Baptist Church. In the normal course of life he, as a young man, was united in marriage to Ella Willis, to which union a number of children were born. Surviving are his loving wife, Grady and Elihu Davis, Vivian Davis and Mrs. Marvin Murphy, together with several grandchildren. All of these reside in Davis.

His funeral was conducted from the Davis Church on January 21 in the presence of a host of friends, along with his relatives. The Reverend L. R. Ennis, a former pastor, directed the service, and the Reverends J. C. Griffin and D. W. Alexander, former pastors, the Rev. L. C. Chandler, pastor of the local Missionary Baptist Church and the present pastor associated in the rites. The music was ably rendered by the local choir and the church quartet.

The host of friends in attendance and the elaborate floral offering were indicative

Announcement

This is to announce that I expect to be in a position to render some pastoral service next year. I am not discontinuing my connection with the Free Will Baptist Press, but, owing to some changes which we contemplate, I plan to have some time to devote to pastoral activities. I shall be open and happy to arrange with any church which might desire my service within reasonable driving distance of Ayden. Address Pox 244, Ayden, N. C.

Faith in God

Have faith in God! for he who reigns on high Hath borne thy grief and hears the suppliant's sigh,
Still to his arms, thine only refuge, fly.
Have faith in God!

Fear not to call on him, O soul distressed!
Thy sorrows whisper woos thee to his breast;
He who is oftener there is oftener blest.
Have faith in God!

Lean not on Egypt's reeds; slack not thy thirst
At earthly cisterns. Seek the kingdom first.
Though man and Satan fight thee with their worst,
Have faith in God!

Go tell him all! the sigh thy bosom heaves
Is heard in heaven. Strength and grace he gives Who gave himself for thee. Our Jesus lives;
Have faith in God!

Not Your Work, But You

It is not so much your work as you that God wants. At least, He wants you first, and then your work. Service from hearts that are not really consecrated to God is not pleasing to Him. We are in danger of forgetting this in our busy, bustling days. It is easier to offer God a few activities than to give Him a heart.

The tendency of the religious life at present is to work, to service, rather than to loving God. So we need to remind ourselves continually that loving must come before doing and serving. The largest and most conspicuous work will find no acceptance with God if our hearts are not His.

"Tis not thy work the Master needs, but thee:

The obedient spirit, the believing heart,
The child obedient, trustful, glad to be,
Where'er He will, to stay or to depart."

"Were there no night we should not see the stars,

The heavens would turn into a blinding glare.

Freedom is clearest seen through prison bars,

And rough seas make the haven passing fair.

"We cannot measure joys but by their loss,
When blessings fade we see them then;
Our richest clusters glow around the cross,
And in the night-time angels sing to men."

—The British Evangelist

Coleridge said: "The Book of Proverbs is the best statesman's Manual ever written." Dr. Johnson said that the Book of Ruth is the most beautiful book ever written.

The newest thing in some churches would be a sermon on the old Gospel.

The Power of Choice

Rush K. Franklin
Gardendale, Alabama

What is the first promise of the plan of salvation? What does it include?

"I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shall bruise his heel." Genesis 3:15.

This promise made to Satan (the old serpent) in the presence of Adam and Eve, includes at least the following:

1—God's implanting in the heart of man a divine discontent with the slavery to Satan and the bondage of sin.

2—A conflict between the forces of good and those of evil, with the eventual triumph of the good and the complete destruction of the evil.

After he had yielded to Satan, how hopeless would have been man's condition without God's intervention to rescue him?

"Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness" (Romans 6:16).

The word here translated "servant" really means "slave." Man became the bondslave of Satan, and was without hope of rescue. God had to awaken man to his need of rescue.

On what condition only will God give a man righteousness and deliverance from sin?

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled" (Matthew 5:6).

Who implants this desire and conviction in man's heart?

"Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the comforter will not come unto you. But if I depart I will send him unto you. And when he is come, He will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment" (John 7:8).

The Holy Spirit speaks with pleading tones, saying, "This is the way, walk ye in it" (Isaiah 30:21). He urgently invites the sinner to the marriage supper of the Lamb. "The Spirit and the Bride say, come" (Revelation 22:17).

In this, what does God set before us?

"I call Heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live" (Deuteronomy 30:19).

How many are thus privileged to receive the benefits of the living gift of God in the death of His Son?

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

"God takes no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but He presses the invitation to choose the right way" (Ezekiel 18:31, 32). He urges whosoever will to come (Revelation 22:17). God wills that all should be saved, about 35 times in the New Testament. Salvation is offered to "whosoever" is open to receive it.

What faculty has God implanted in man for the purpose of helping him in his recognition and choice of righteousness?

"When the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the thing contained in the law, these, having not the law, or a law unto themselves; which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the meanwhile accusing or else excusing one another" (Romans 2:14, 15).

We need to guard the conscience carefully so that it can always be void of offense toward God and Man (Acts 24:16). Continually violated, it eventually becomes calloused and seared as with a hot iron (I Timothy 4:2).

As illustrated in Jesus' warning to Peter, what effort does Satan constantly make to get us to resist God and our conscience?

"The Lord said Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you that he may sift you as wheat" (Luke 22:31).

The ancient method of winnowing was to toss the mixture of grain and chaff into the air by means of a scoop or fan. Thus, Satan tosses up the tempted and tried soul. He will do all in his power to prevent the soul from yielding to God or remaining true to him. Study the story of Joshua (Zechariah 3:1,6).

What indicates that a man's freedom of choice will not be continued indefinitely, but will come to an end if that man persistently chooses sin?

"The Lord said, my Spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh" (Genesis 6:3).

The warning of God to the people just before the flood resounds thru the ages. When the spirit of God leaves man, to strive with him no more, man's choice of sin becomes permanent. He loses his perception of sin and his desire for righteousness. He is a complacent slave of Satan. God has to say of him, as he did of Ephraim of old, he is joined to idols, let him alone (Hosea 4:17). To many individuals will come the heartbreaking realization at the last day. The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved (Jeremiah 8:20). Like Esau of old, they could find no way to choose to serve God, for even the path itself had vanished (Hebrew 12:16, 17).

In view of the opportunities thus to break the power of sin, what does the Lord counsel us to do?

"Choose you this way whom ye will serve," (Joshua 24:15). The Hebrews at this time wisely chose to serve the Lord. Will you? Not only can man choose, but if he is ever to be delivered from the bondage, and the guilt of sin, he must choose. Then and only then will God back up his decision with the power of Heaven. God will not save a man against his will.

Because of man's inclination to dally with the invitation and try to serve both God and the Devil, what is Elijah's challenge?

"Elijah came unto all the people,

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

HEADLINES IN DAILY PAPERS

"GI Confesses Slaying WAF," "Officers Uncover no Clues in Virginia Girls Murder." Girl's Nude Body Found in River." These headlines appeared in one issue of a well-known daily. In the same issue two suicides and one theft were reported. It is a day of crime. It seems that "sex crimes" are leading in the roll with murders, thefts, hit and run drivers, and violent deaths of many continually reported in the papers. Truly we are living in the last days in which Paul wrote when he said; "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God. Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof . . ." (2 Tim. 3:1-5).

Lust of the flesh causes rape and then murder to cover up the crime. But God says, "Be sure your sins will find you out." So, these dastardly sexual crimes along with murder will be found out. The hardness of man's and woman's hearts seem, to me, to be at an all time high.

LIQUOR RESPONSIBLE FOR CRIME

In these days of sin and crime many, in fact, almost all criminal acts are the results of liquor. A man can get drunk, or claim to be drunk, anyway, and shoot an innocent man down in cold blood. Then when arrested and brought to the courts, he will swear that he "remembered nothing about the act." He was drunk. The truth of the matter is the devil is in the man and he gets a few drinks of this fine ABC liquor; that stuff that the "wet politicians" said was "good liquor," when they were rooting for the distillers and brewers, in order to destroy the eighteenth amendment. They described the non-taxed liquor as being "poison." They wanted liquor that would not be poison, but the tax-paid stuff will poison a man's mind and make him commit rape, and murder his victim, waylay and shoot men to death. Then when in courts he often gets clear, or a light penalty, because he was temporarily insane with liquor. A capital offense with the death penalty demanded by law, very often, the criminal gets off with twenty-five or thirty years, but he served about half or two thirds and is turned out to go home and get more liquor and kill some one else, or rape some woman or child. But it is "legal liquor" that is feeding the avenues of crime and sin. The liquor crowd promised that bootlegging and gangdom would be put out of business, but the officers of the law have fallen far short of doing what they promised. Blind tigers are selling "tax paid liquor" and getting by. But the more these blindtigers sell, if its "tax paid" the more "revenue" will go into the treasury of our country. And with many the revenue is more precious than souls.

Cities and towns, and countries sell liquor to make drunks and then arrest them for drunken, disorderly conduct, and some recorder or trial judge fines the drunk with a road sentence suspended on payment of $50.00 or $100.00. It is sickening to honest thinking men to see how the law handles these violaters.

Since I started these lines another news report has come out about the "GI" mentioned in the beginning, according to the news, that it was liquor that made him kill the WAF.

Yes, sell them liquor to make them drunkards and help them to kill, rape, steal, and do everything sinful, then say, "It pays to have legal liquor." Yes, it pays off with crime and damned souls in hell.

WHY NOT VOTE DRY?

If we want to get a referendum in North Carolina, why not arrange for it at the polls? If you vote for a "wet" he will be "wet" and play in the hands of the liquor forces. Why not find out if your candidate is "dry" or "wet" before you mark your ballot? If he is "wet" scratch him out. Now is the time to get a referendum on the liquor question. If you vote for the "wet" crowd, don't be found making or voting for resolutions to be made to the legislature asking for help and laws against the liquor industry.

SOME MORE ABOUT THE LAST DAYS

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the later times shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron: Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God hath created to be received with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth" (I Tim. 4: 1-3).

Do you know of any denomination that forbids its head and others filling certain positions the right to marry? Do you know of any denomination that forbids the eating of meats? If you do have the fulfillment of what Paul wrote, saying, that it would "be in the last days." He says that these are "giving heed to seducing spirits." I know of some people who have a great deal of "meat religion." They abstain from meat and break almost every other law of God. They try to mix law and grace. They strain out gnats and swallow camels.

They have meatless days, some of them, and seasons, and then wind up with a big drunk and a dance motivated by the lust of the flesh.

But may we notice the 4th and 5th verses of this chapter. "For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving. For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer."

Whenever that religionist comes around preaching his doctrine, you may know what Paul says, "bid him not God's speed." They know that it is "Last Day Fulfillment."

Carlyle said: "There is nothing in or out of the Bible that equals the Book of Job."

Cragmont Assembles for 1950 Black Mountain, N. C.

Ministers' Annual Retreat and Conference

"Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest for a while."—Mark 6:31b.

The annual Ministers' Retreat and Conference will open at Cragmont Assembly, Inc., Black Mountain, N. C., June 5, 1950. The sessions will continue morning and evening thru Friday, June 9, noon. All ministers of the state are urged to attend. The registration fee will be the same this year, two dollars ($2.00), and every minister in the state is expected to pay the registration fee whether he attends the conference or not. The room and board will be two dollars ($2.00) per day for four days which will make a total of ten dollars ($10.00) for the entire conference. The only other expenses you will have will be, of course, your transportation. This can be greatly reduced if four or five ministers will get together and drive one car. The distance is approximately 300 miles from Wilson, N. C.

It is my honest opinion that the Lord would have every one of us take time off from our duties at home, go to a place like Cragmont Assembly and rest for a while. Surely the mountain air, the quiet atmosphere, and the fellowship of the brotherhood is worth the time spent to say nothing of the inspiration, instruction, recreation you will enjoy. One outstanding minister of another denomination has well said, "Come ye apart and rest for a while lest ye fall apart and go to pieces."

A program is being arranged which will make the four days you spend there well worth your time and money. You will be a better pastor, a better evangelist, and a better counselor when you return to your various fields of service.

Center View Church to Hold Revival

NEWPORT, TENNESSEE

A word from East Tennessee to let the people know that Free Will Baptists are still alive in Newport, Tennessee. We need the prayers of all the praying people. The Lord is still blessing us in a good way here in East Tennessee.

We have 65 in attendance in our little Sunday School. We are planning to begin our revival meeting early in April. Please pray for the success of our meeting. The Reverend J. Wilkerson of Greenville, Tennessee, will hold the meeting. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

We are one of the Baptist readers and we do regret that Brother O'Dell of Belmont, North Carolina, has quit writing news to the paper. We hope that he will begin writing again to the Baptist. We hope that he will read this and take note that we want to see his news again, for his writing is food to our hungry soul.

The Empty Tomb

In the sepulchre He lay
With rock-ribbed walls in the way;
While soldiers stood nearby to guard,
Lest they steal away the Lord.

At last Christianity was dead,
Never again to lift its head;
So thought the enemies of Christ that day,
As they went rejoicing on their way.

But death the Saviour could not keep,
Or hide eternal truth in sleep;
Angels came at dawn of day,
And rolled the barrier away.

To you who feel that hope is gone,
Lift up your eyes this Easter morn;
The risen Lord will banish gloom,
He bids you see the empty tomb.

Mrs. Julia Shackleford Hyers

Announcement

This is to announce that I expect to be in a position to render some pastoral service next year. I am not discontinuing my connection with the Free Will Baptist Press, but, owing to some changes which we contemplate, I plan to have some time to devote to pastoral activities. I shall be open and happy to arrange with any church which might desire my service within reasonable driving distance of Ayden. Address Box 244, Ayden, N. C.

Sunday School Pins Awarded

Sunday School Pins Awarded at Tippet's Chapel F. W. B. Church

Sunday School pins were awarded recently at Tippet's Chapel F. W. B. church to those with a perfect attendance record in Sunday School. At the time this drive for perfect attendance was launched, there were only 30 who attended Sunday School. At the end of last year the attendance was doubled, raising the number to 60. Miss Pauline Turner was acting Superintendent at that time. Those who received pins are pictured above. They are:

1st row—Robert Lee—6 months pin.
2nd row—Raymond Lee, 1 year; Milton Oneal, 6 months; Percy Lee, 1 year; Betty Lou Allen, 1 year; Marie Allen, 1 year; and Ernest Lee, 1 year.

3rd row—Pauline Turner, 1 year; Rozelle Mimms, 1 year; and John Pullen Teley, 1 year.

4th row—Rev. Earl Glenn, pastor, Dorothy Turner, 1 year; and Cynthia Mimms, 1 year.

5th row—Calvin Allen, 3 years; Linwood Poole, 1 year; Melvin Poole, 1 year; and Russell Mimms, 1 year. John Pullen Seley is the new Superintendent of the Sunday School, and our attendance is still increasing. We reached the 100 mark only a few Sundays ago. The Lord is really blessing and we're expecting great things to happen in the future.

Peace

How sweet the blessed calm,
That o'er shadows mind and soul;
When night falls and all is peace,
Our Saviour has complete control.

I lie me down in perfect rest,
No tempter can now alarm;
I rest in quiet, and sweet repose,
He calms the surging storms.

His hovering Spirit lingers near,
My aching heart to fill;
In dreams I see His precious face,
He whispers, "Peace be Still."

Announcement

On Easter Sunday night at 8 o'clock, the young people of Pleasant Hill Church will present a pageant, "The Answer to the Cross." Everyone is cordially invited.

CENTRAL AUXILIARY HOLDS GOOD CONVENTION

The Central Auxiliary convention of the North Carolina Central conference, which was held at Hull Road Church, Greene County, last week, was in every way an excellent meeting.

The attendance of delegates, ministers, officials of the convention, and visiting friends from the various churches in the district was beyond all expectation. The local people of the church and community attended in large numbers, and entertained the convention in a splendid way. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the entire day together in fine Christian fellowship. The interest throughout the entire convention was not to be exceeded by any gathering of its kind.

The music of the day was all that one could expect. Special music was rendered by the local choirs and others, which added greatly to the effectiveness of the convention. The reports of each of the vice-presidents of the convention were splendid, showing that much progress had been made during the past six months by the women of the various local auxiliaries. Mr. Croom, superintendent of the Middlesex Orphanage, gave an interesting report of the work and the progress which the Home is making. Everyone seemed to have been pleased with his report, and it was the sentiment of the convention that each local auxiliary will strive to do more in the future for that institution.

Other reports were made, for example, concerning the work of the Bible College at Nashville, Tennessee. Much emphasis was placed on the great work the college is doing and also the need of giving it a greater support in the future than has been given in the past. Missions, home and abroad, were stressed in the reports, and the local auxiliaries were urged to do more in their home churches for missions for the coming months. On the whole, it was a very good convention, and everyone seemed to rejoice over the good work which the women of the auxiliaries are doing in the Central Conference.

LOOKING TOWARD CRAGMONT

A great many of the church people throughout the State, and also in other adjoining states, are looking forward to the time when the Summer Assemblies at Cragmont will begin.

From the reports that have come to us, the ministers will hold their Ministers' Retreat at Cragmont, as the first summer session this year, beginning on June 5 and running through June 9. They are expecting a splendid attendance this year for this Summer Retreat. The program is being arranged, prominent speakers are being engaged, and every phase of the work this summer will be interesting and greatly beneficial to each minister who shall be a part of this assembly of ministers. It will be a week of good fellowship, inspiring talks on church work and religious themes, and a time of meditation and getting acquainted with ministers in the different sections of the state.

The young people of the churches, Sunday Schools and the Leagues will hold their Summer Assembly, June 12 through 17, from ages 16 up. Those from 9 to 15 years of age will have their camp at Cragmont, June 19 through 24. These assemblies of the young people will be great events in the lives of all who will attend these assemblies. As heretofore, the young people will receive great blessings from attending these Summer Assemblies.

Moreover, there will be planned for Christian workers the Summer School, beginning on June 26 and continuing through August 4 inclusive. It is expected that splendid programs of Christian training will be arranged, and that large groups of people will attend this assembly for religious training.

From August 7 through the 12, the young people will be given opportunity to go to Cragmont for training, Christian fellowship, and recreation. August 14 through 21 is designated as the Woman's Week at Cragmont. During that week they will have a wonderful season of Bible study, wonderful Christian fellowship, spiritual devotions, and great messages from prominent speakers of the denomination. The Auxiliary women of the state will attend this assembly in great numbers, it is expected, as has been true during the past years.

Special groups will be given the opportunity to hold their assemblies at Cragmont, beginning August 21 and continuing through to September 1. It is hoped that a great many people of the denomination will use this opportunity to go to Cragmont and hold Bible Study conference, enjoy Christian fellowship, and reap great blessings from communing with God at that retreat, and get acquainted with many people of other sections of the country. May Cragmont be a blessing to many this summer.

Maury Church to Hold Revival

Maury Free Will Baptist Church, Maury, N. C., will hold its spring revival, beginning April 2, and will continue as long as the Lord directs. Rev. M. L. Tyndall will do the preaching. The public is cordially invited to come and hear the word of the Lord preached by one who has been called to lead sinners to repentance. The Pleasant Hill Church choir will render music on Sunday night.

Reverend Tyndall is pastor of Maury and Fremont Churches. He was a student of the Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville, Tennessee, and is now taking special training at Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, North Carolina. We invite you to come and worship with us. May the people take time to assemble, and help to promote the cause of Christ in our community.

North Carolina S. S. Convention Messenger

Loy Everett Ballard

Publicity Director, N. C. Free Will Baptist S. S. Convention

BACK AGAIN!

Here we are back again for a three week's visit with you to talk over matters pertaining to the 1950 session of the North Carolina Free Will Baptist Sunday School Convention, which we assume you want to attend. Your messenger will not be able to tell you much about the many things being provided for you at this great state-wide annual meeting of Sunday School superintendents, teachers, class officers, and "just people," but we do hope to tell you enough to cause you to form a determination to attend.

RAYMOND T. SASSER

President, will be busy planning for the Convention.

THE CONVENTION CHURCH

The convention will meet at Hugo Church, not too far from Snow Hill in Green County; not too far also from Greenville and Ayden in Pitt County; not too far ditto from Kinston in Lenoir County; and not too far from you in your county, wherever you may live in the Old North State, for good roads and good cars now make the state small. Later we will give you minute directions on how to reach Hugo Church.

Hugo is a great church, made up of fine, progressive people, who will be ready to give a glad welcome to all who attend the convention. The church building is well arranged for convention activities. The Hugo Sunday School is one to inspire all those who visit the community. The cooking is good—the eating will be fine!

THE CONVENTION TIME

The convention will meet on Thursday and Friday before the 4th Sunday in April. (That's April 20th and 21st, by our calendar.) The time will be divided into periods devoted to inspiration, instruction, fellowship, and convention business. Every minute will be a golden minute! Draw a red ring around these two days, and write in the margin of your calendar "Reserved for the greatest Sunday School Convention planned to be present in North Carolina."

THE PROGRAM

The program for the convention is now being prepared, carefully and prayerfully. It will include features of inspiration and helpfulness, not to be forgotten soon. It will present some of the very best talent in the state—men and women who know something about Sunday School work, and want to pass on humbly what they know for the benefit of others. Watch this column for more about the program during the next three weeks.

ATTENTION: NORTH CAROLINA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION PRESIDENTS

Please write me at once giving me your name and address and name of your convention, as we are planning our next State Sunday School Convention program for our annual convention, which is to meet with the Hugo Church, Thursday and Friday before the 4th Sunday in April. We are most interested in hearing from you, as we want your convention to be represented in this session of the convention. There is one part of our program that will be very beneficial to your work.

The modern church prefers a live wire to an inflated tire.

A CALL TO LOYALTY

EDWARD L. CRANE

This world is full of trouble sore

With strife on every hand,

It calls for Christians, every one

To take a firmer stand

For things which are more pure and true,

For righteous things and grand,

Until the message of God's love

Is known in every land.

So Christians, heed His call today,

And read His Word anew,

That you may know His matchless love;

His message pure and true.

Attend the meetings of His church,

If many there or few.

Then share with others every day

His truths both old and new.

Then go to live as Jesus lived,

To do your very best

In helping heavy-laden souls

To find the Saviour's rest.

It fills the soul with peace and joy

To do our Lord's behest,

To live for Him who died to save,

That others may be blessed.

Wherever He may lead us then;

If paths be bright and clear;

Or if the road is rough and hard,

Our Saviour will be near

To help us in our daily walk,

Some other souls to cheer;

And whisper in the trying hour,

"My children, do not fear."

His grace and power to lead us on

In every time of need,

Will give us strength for every day

To plant the living Seed;

The Word of God, the living Bread,

The hungry soul to feed.

The leading of the Spirit now,

God help us all to heed.

Subscription Campaign

We will give a good Bible to the individual, or church organization who sends in the most yearly subscriptions to the Baptist paper by June the first, 1950. This prize will be a real nice gift, and those entering the campaign must enter in the name of the individual, or the name of the organization expecting to receive the Bible.

BIBLE CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

J. L. Welch

Laura Belle Barnard

F. B. Cherry

The Spring Bible Conference begins on Sunday afternoon, April 23, with a vesper service at four o'clock. Morning, afternoon, and evening services will be conducted through noon Thursday, April 27.

At the vesper service on Sunday afternoon, Brother J. R. Davidson, of Davis, N. C., will bring a message on the theme of Consecration, which, we believe, will be a good theme with which to begin the Conference. At this service there will be special singing and other features which should give the Conference a good start.

The speakers for the remaining days will be: Reverend J. L. Welch, pastor of Cofer's Chapel Church, Nashville; Dr. F. B. Cherry, pastor of Edgemont Free Will Baptist Church, in Durham, North Carolina; Miss Laura Belle Barnard, our missionary to India, who expects to be home in time for the Bible Conference. These speakers will be bringing messages each day throughout the Conference. In addition to this, different members of the Alumni Association—students who have finished and are now in active Christian work—will conduct daily devotions beginning at 8:30 in the morning.

The spiritual life hour, which will be primarily for the young people, will be conducted each afternoon from two until three o'clock. This service will be conducted in an open forum in which problems encountered in living a consecrated life will be discussed. Other questions that will be discussed are: How may I know the will of God for my life? How may I know that I am living a fully surrendered life?

Each day from 3 p. m. until 7:30 p. m., there will be a free period during which various interesting places may be visited around the city of Nashville.

Music will be under the direction of the Music Department of the College.

For the last two years we have erected on the vacant lot beside one of the College buildings a large tent which has accommodated several hundred people. If necessary we expect to use the tent again this year.

If you plan to attend the Bible Conference, we would appreciate it if you would let us know so that we may make adequate provisions for everyone who comes. We will be glad to send information on hotel accommodations and the estimated cost to those who request.

Night-time Dilemma

By James R. Wooten
615 South Lee St.
Ayden, N. C.

The night is a stormy ocean,
Filled with the monsters of old;
The heavens are worried and restless,
And the winds are crafty and bold.

And I am a ship on that ocean,
Sailing blindly through the night;
And my thoughts jump from darkness to danger,

But my thoughts, they know no fright.

For I know that my voyage will take me
Safely o'er the waters of night;
And I'll land in the harbor of morning,
And I'll gaze at the morning light.

I know this, yes! but I tremble,
As a thought runs through my mind;
Suppose my ship were to capsize,
With no one to throw out a line.

And my covers around me come closer,
And my eyes close in fitful sleep;
But I arrive safely at harbor,
O'er the waters of night so deep.

MISSIONS TREASURY AGAIN IN CRITICAL STATE

We are sorry to have to make this announcement, but the state of the treasury compels us to do so. I am writing this the 28th day of March and so far in this month I have been unable to make any remittance to either India or Cuba. I wrote the Directors on each of the foreign fields in which we are operating, and told them the situation; explaining to them that there was no money for them this month. I was in hopes that before the month was gone I could send them something, but it is not going to be possible. I hope, however, to be able to send them something early in April if at all possible. That will depend upon the size of the checks that may come in at the close of this month.

WHY THIS SITUATION?

Naturally this is a question you will ask in your minds. You have a right to ask it, and you deserve to know. I would like you to know that it is not because of an over-much expense at the home base. There has been no unusual expense at home. In fact we have been able to operate this year, so far as the home base is concerned, pretty well within the budget as set by the Board at the beginning of the associational year. Neither is it caused by a letting up in giving on the part of our people, necessarily. I think our people, (with a few exceptions) are giving about as much as they usually give at this time of the year. Really this depleted state of the treasury is the result of an increased budget which was set by our board for this year. It was vitally necessary that our budget be stepped up for this year. Therefore we did so in good faith that our people would increase their giving accordingly; but there has been some disappointment along that line. We are doing about as much for foreign missions as of previous years, but the time has come when we MUST DO MORE.

I am authorized to send $1200.00 to India and $1700.00 to Cuba each month. So far until this month I have been able to do so. Some months it was a bit late, but any way I got it there in time. Now this month we failed completely.

We must do something. The situation must be relieved. I recently wrote letters to all our State Directors, asking them for all the help and cooperation they could lend, but I have not said anything about it thru our papers until now.

Now the matter is before you. The only thing that will save the day is for you to send in the money. It will take money to do the job. There is no substitute. True, you may pray, and that we certainly should do; but we must answer our prayers with our means. Please help us pray, and help us pay.

Yours very sincerely,
Winford Davis
Promotional Secy.-Treas.

AN APPEAL— For Help for Missions

Dear Christian friends,

There is an emergency in the Treasury of Foreign Missions. So far this Associational year, we have raised $7430.57 for the cause. Our allotment is $11,000. That leaves us $3569.43 to raise. March and April are mission months. Please let us go over the top. Please read the following letter from our Treasurer of Foreign missions:

Dear Brother Director:

We have Foreign Mission Directors appointed in seventeen different states. At this time I am writing each of them.

There is a serious situation just now in our foreign missions department because of the fact the treasury is practically exhausted. I am supposed to send $1,200 to India the tenth of each month and $1700 to Cuba the fifteenth of each month. So far during this national associational year I have been able to send it each month until this month of March. I was compelled to write our Directors on the two foreign fields a few days ago and report to them that there is no money to send them this month. I am sure it was a blow to them, but I could do nothing different. I can only send the money out as our people send it in.

I don't know that there is anything you can do, but perhaps there might be. If you can inaugurate any kind of a legitimate plan in your state for the raising of mission funds at this time, it will certainly be appreciated. Perhaps you can let your people know at least of the serious situation and urge them to do everything they can to help relieve the situation.

There has been a little over $900 sent in earmarked for the purpose of paying Miss Barnard's passage home. She is leaving for the states April 10, so I had to send that money this week by registered air mail. After sending that, there was very little left in the treasury.

Please help us pray that our people will rally to a greater support of this worthy cause. Go somewhere with the Lord and ask Him to undertake for us, and if He shows you something you can do about it then please don't delay about performing it.

We highly appreciate your faithful cooperation and your help. May the Lord continue to bless your every effort.

Thanking you, I remain
A co-worker in Christ Jesus,
Winford Davis, Promotional Secy.-Treasurer.

P. S.—After reading this letter please pray, give, and work in whatever way you can to raise the quota for your church which is 52 cents per member. It is my prayer that we will go over the top.

Yours in His service,
Rashie Kennerly, Director of Foreign Missions in North Carolina

Un evangelized Millions

Population—
China—470,000,000
Africa—105,000,000
Japan—100,000,000
Cuba—4,000,000
India—305,000,000
Alabama—3,000,000
Of Free Will Baptist in the State of Alabama—27,000

There is a critical financial situation in the Foreign Missions Department. One dollar would more than take care of our quota for the year and that would not be too much to ask for. I believe that every Free Will Baptist who hears of this would be more than glad to give that much or more. The quota for the State of Alabama is $1,550.00. Please help us raise this quota for this year. This is what we are asking—every pastor and his churches to receive a free-will offering once each month for this great work. Please mail this to:

Rev. Winford Davis, Box 377, Monett, Mo.; or, Rev. R. K. Franklin, Rt. 1, Box 40m, Gardendale, Ala.

When you receive this chart, please place it inside the church somewhere in good view so that everyone can see it and each month as I receive the report that has been sent in I will pass it on to you. Then take red crayon and paint in the Mercury the figure I give you. Please do not neglect for it means: (1) to disregard; (2) to fail to notice (3) to fail to attend to, or care for (4) to neglect one's duties.

Think of it: over 2,000,000,000 human beings on earth today, with moral accountability, intellectual activity, and immoral destiny, a mighty host marching to the grave and to a vast beyond. For their present and eternal happiness do we spare merely a passing or a passive thought? How amazingly unconcerned many of us are. Over 1,500,000,000 of the world's twentieth-century population are non-Christians. Of the approximately 500,000,000 in so-called Christendom, including the millions of Roman Catholics and those of the Greek and Eastern churches, how many are merely nominal Christians, hypocrites, heretics, reprobates, unregenerate and spiritually unenlightened?

Missionaries in Africa are said to number one to every 80,000; in Korea, one to every 120,000; in Japan, one to every 320,000; in China, one to every 470,000. It is said that, at the present rate of missionary progress, 80,000,000 Negroes are beyond all prospect of hearing the gospel in their lifetime.

Two-thirds of India's population are yet unevangelized; and over three-quarters of the peoples in South America. One hundred and sixty thousand towns and villages in China are yet denied the gospel. In Japan, the heathen population is greater today than it was when missions first started.

Look on the fields waiting to be reaped for Christ!

While the modern churches delay, unrelenting Death—that other reaper with his wild, unsparking scythe—lays millions low at a turn. Ninety thousand die out of Christ each day and sixty every minute.

It is time for Christian action in Christian missions!

Rev. L. B. Manning Holds Revival at Jacksonville

Our Pre-Easter revival began on March 13 and continued for ten days, with Brother L. B. Manning doing the preaching. He brought us some real soul-stirring messages to a large attendance most every night.

We greatly appreciate, and thank God for Brother Manning coming our way again. He was with us two years ago, so after going to the Lord in prayer about it, we felt Brother Manning was the man we needed.

We were blessed to have several visiting quartettes, also others giving special numbers from time to time, which we appreciate very much. The present harvest was not so large, but we were very glad to have seven of our young people come forward for baptism, also some rededications. The entire membership, I feel, was greatly revived, and have more grace and zeal to work than ever before.

I hope this revival will live on in our hearts and lives that our church may grow and our Lord glorified.

Our pastor, Rev. D. L. Whaley, administered baptism to the candidates Sunday afternoon, March 26, at 3:00 o'clock, and back to the church at 7:30 we received them into the church with special dedication services. We truly thank God for men who dare to preach the unadulterated gospel as Brother Manning does, and pray God will greatly bless him in his work.

We desire the prayers of all Christians for our little group here at Jacksonville, N. C., who are working so hard spiritually and physically for the promotion and building of the church. As yet our number is not so large, but with praying, working, and co-operation, I'm sure we will be able to accomplish something.

The Lord really has blessed us in a mighty way, for which we are truly thankful.

Humbly in Christ,
Mrs. J. W. Wiggins, Reporter.

Rev. L. B. Manning to Hold Revival at Juniper Chapel

The revival at Juniper Chapel will begin on April 2, the first Sunday night in April. The church is located near the town of Vanceboro, North Carolina. The Reverend L. B. Manning of Fountain, N. C., will do the preaching. The public is cordially invited to attend these services each night.

Sincerely,
Miss Velma Morris

Revival at Rose of Sharon

We had a most successful revival meeting at our church, beginning March 6 and continuing through March 15. Rev. Wade Calvert of Belmont, North Carolina, conducted this series of meetings. His messages were inspiring, and caused the people to come back the next night to hear him. None seemed to want to miss any of the services.

This revival did not only bring satisfaction to Rose of Sharon Church but also a great many other people nearby came to hear him. We were very glad to have had these visiting people and the visiting ministers with us for this meeting. A great many of the members of the church received new zeal and inspiration for the work of God's cause. All seemed to have been greatly encouraged to do more for the glory of the Lord in our church and community.

There were several of the church members who re-dedicated their lives to the Lord. There were ten persons who were baptized, and eight of whom became members of Rose of Sharon Church.

Again we would like to say that we were happy to have had brother Calvert with us for this meeting. Our prayers are that he may go on with his work for the Lord in a good way among other churches.

Respectfully,

Miss Faye Mizell

BIBLE CONFERENCE Free Will Baptist Bible College April 23-27, 1950

April 23rd through the 27th are the dates for the annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at the Free Will Baptist Bible College. These Bible Conferences have been an inspiration and great help to the many who have attended them over the past years. We have brought to the Conference as speakers some of the best preachers of our denomination. This year we have a splendid Conference program arranged which will be a blessing and an inspiration to all who attend.

Some pastors have written in already and asked for the dates of the Bible Conference this year in order that they might not schedule revivals on these dates. We think this is a splendid idea and trust that all our pastors will clear their calendar for this week and attend the Conference. We also invite the young people of our church to visit the College and attend the Bible Conference. A little later on a theme for the Conference will be announced in our church papers. Watch for this announcement and let us know if you plan to attend.

Amos the Prophet and His Program

(Lesson for April 16)

LESSON: Amos 7:7-15; 8:1-3.

GOLDEN TEXT: Amos 5:6.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

In the first of three lessons from the Book of Amos the thought of God's judgment upon a disobedient people is specially emphasized. God grieved over His sinning people and sent His judgments to bring them back to Him, but when they failed to respond, He threatened to send the full penalty. And it includes not merely Judah or Israel, but the "whole family" of Jacob.

1. God's standards are absolutely righteous and He demands absolute obedience to them (Amos 7:7).

2. Failure to meet the absolute requirements of God is certain to bring down His judgment (vs. 8).

3. God's judgments are frequently carried out by human instruments who are unaware of the fact that God is using them (vs. 9).

4. False religious teachers are bound to appear where God's true servants are, and often make false accusations (vs. 10).

5. Men never like to hear it proclaimed that God will one day judge this world (vs. 11).

6. It is a false kindness to bid us to flee for safety in order to keep us from witnessing for the Lord (vs. 12).

7. Places dedicated to the service of false gods cannot be considered sacred by the true Christian (vs. 13).

8. God sometimes goes to unusual places to pick up some of His choicest servants (vs. 14).

9. God will qualify whom He commissions, but it is folly to assume that He will always do it in the same way (vs. 15).

10. God's judgments may be slow in coming, but when they come no one will be able to withstand them (8:1-3).

11. A true prophet does not create his message. He is only God's messenger boy carrying what God gives him to deliver.—Selected.

12. Amaziah, "the priest of the golden calf at Bethel," became incensed against Amos because of his predictions of Israel's downfall, and tried to drive him back into Judah, his native kingdom.

But God's prophet was not to be frightened away from the task which God had given him to do. He justified his presence in Israel by obeying the call which he had received of the Lord. Moreover, he repeated his threat against the house of Jeroboam. "To make his message more impressive, he added a personal woe on the chief priest and his family" (ch. 7: 17).

"It is to no purpose to contend with the judgments of God: for when God judges he will overcome. Stopping the mouths of God's ministers will not stop the progress of God's word, for it shall not return void" (Matthew Henry).—Advanced Quarterly, (F. W. B.)

13. Amos had not said that Jeroboam should die by the sword, but the Lord's message had said that He would rise against his house with the sword and that his sons and daughters should fall by the sword.

Amaziah knew that he was employed to serve as an idolatrous priest, and he felt the sting of guilt as Amos spoke God's words of denunciation against the sin of which he was guilty. He did not like to hear it. He tried to impress the prophet with the idea that it was unsafe for him to continue to prophesy at Bethel.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

14. In the other vision of a basket of ripe fruit the Lord makes plain the fact that the nation is ripe for destruction and that the end is not far away. In fact, the destruction of the nation came in two stages. First the people of Galilee and of the region east of the Jordan were carried away by the Assyrians, and then a few year later, in 722-721 B. C., the final destruction of the capital city took place. Then, indeed, the songs of the people were turned into wailings.—Arnold's Commentary.

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Beauty of Poison

In the "Life of Frank Buckland," it is told how the genial naturalist resolved to make a special study of snakes. He engaged a professional viper-catcher to collect some for him. The biggest viper in the catch was held securely by Buckland. Then he got a glass slide out of the microscope and placed it in the serpent's mouth. "In an instant both fangs struck down upon it. Upon taking the glass from its paws, I was delighted to observe two drops of perfectly clear translucent fluid resting upon it. I placed these drops under the microscope and then saw a wondrous sight. On a sudden, a crystal-like fiber shot across the field of vision, and then another and another, these slender lines crossing each other at various angles, reminding me of the general appearance of an aurora borealis, or of delicate frost crystals on a window where there has been a sharp touch of frost." What a wonderful thing it is that all the beauties of the aurora should be hidden in the venom of the viper! So sin often presents itself in delightful and attractive colors. But no matter how attractive, or repulsive sin may be the eternal fact remains that God will judge the sinner and punish him if he fails to repent.—Selected.

HOW WE FOLLOW OUR SHEPHERD

When we hear our gentle shepherd's voice,
We follow, and are baptized like Him—
by choice;
Then He baptizes us with the Holy Spirit,
So we can please our heavenly Father,
too.

Then we search the Scriptures daily,
For in them we are told;
How to lay up treasures in heaven
Worth more than a world of pure gold.

And when the day of rest is come
To church we all go (like sheep at night to their fold)
To thank Him and praise Him
And like Him to grow.

Mt. Elon Girls' Auxiliary Meeting

The Intermediate Girls' Auxiliary of Mt. Zion Free Will Baptist Church, Pamlico, S. C., met with Miss Joyce Edwards on Monday night, March 13. The program as given in the GO TELL PROGRAM BOOK, "OUR BEST FOR CHRIST IN STEWARDSHIP" was followed, and enjoyed by the group. Afterwards the group sang choruses.

The president, Miss Inez Hyman, presided during the business session. Plans for an Easter program to be given by the Auxiliary at the church and also at the Crippled Childrens' Home in Florence, S. C., were completed. Mrs. Paul Ketteman, leader, will be in charge of the program.

Members answering the roll by quoting a verse of scripture were:

Ethleen Mims, Inez Hyman, Joyce Flowers, Joyce Edwards, Willie Mae Hutchinson, Helena Hyman, Penny Stroud, Betty Jo Calcutt, Barbara Flowers, Sarah Frances Young, Catherine Hyman, Dorothy Gibbs, Shirley Flowers, Evangeline Leach, Mrs. Paul Ketteman, and one visitor, Mrs. Crawford Edwards.

Delightful refreshments were served.

Sincerely yours,
Joyce Flowers,
Secretary

LADIES AUXILIARY REPORT

The Ladies Auxiliary of Dailey's Chapel has a record for the first quarter of this year as follows: With 23 members on roll we have an average of 18 attendants. These members have read 1253 Bible chapters and have made 128 sick visits. Our aim for the year is helping needy families of the community, and we have ordered a sacred picture for our church. We also are sending greeting cards to our fellow members and friends, which help us to live closer to each other and to God.

EAST NASHVILLE AUXILIARY MEETING

The Ladies Auxiliary of the East Nashville church met with Mrs. J. E. Simpson, Thursday night, March the 23rd. We had with us Miss Bessie Yeley from the Cuban Mission field. She brought us a wonderful message, on the work which they are doing there. Miss Yeley has recovered from her illness and will soon be on her way back to Cuba to take up her work again. Mrs. C. F. Bowen presided over the meeting. She read a letter from Mrs. Trula Cronk, our missionary in India, which was greatly enjoyed. We had fifteen members and four visitors present. After the meeting Mrs. Simpson served delicious refreshments. Plans were made for observing prayer service week before Easter, Mrs. Alice White having charge of same.

Respectfully submitted by Mrs. O. C. Briley, Cor.-Secy.

DEDICATED TO REV. WALTER B. NOBLES

(For several years pastor of Rose Hill Church.)

I am thinking of our pastor,
A good shepherd kind and true.
Who has guided us through our troubles,
Our love he always would renew.
All through life's rough journey he fed us,
With the bread of life,
He held his star high up to heaven;
Pointed to us, the living Christ.

Oh! how sweet the old memories;
Still linger in our hearts.
His life is one for Jesus;
From his love we'll never part.
Such a man, dear God; did give us.
Like the Moses, of the old;
Who led the children of Israel;
In the days of long ago.

He carries a smile of sweetness,
Like dear Jesus; in His days.
His work was always cheerful;
God gave his life a ripe old age.
He reared a family of good children.
With the help of God's dear hand,
Now he has a host of grandchildren,
They give him joy in this land.

He sowed the seed of rightness.
From beginning to the end.
He will never be forgotten.
For he has so many friends.
Our hearts are filled with joy;
For the gift of such a man.
He helped us, to walk with Jesus,

When our work here is ended;
From this life, we do part,
We will not forget our pastor.
We'll still love him, in our hearts.
We want to walk, and talk with Jesus;
In that golden happy land;
With the angels, oh! so happy.
We will all then understand.

What a golden opportunity
Our pastor, gave us here on earth—
Will we follow in his footsteps?
And praise the dear Lord; for his birth.
When we gather with the angels,
With the Christians, oh! so great,
We will meet the dear Lord Jesus;
He will welcome us, at His gate.

We will say, dear Lord Jesus,"
Our good Shepherd, has brought us home,
Will you receive us, up in heaven;
Where in sin we'll never roam.
Oh! the joy we will see;
We'll meet each other face to face,
We will dance, and shout with angels.
In that golden happy place.

Written and composed by Mrs. Walter W. Buck, Gates, N. C.

TENNESSEE PERSONALITIES AND EVENTS

C. F. Bowen

More than fifty leaguers from Tennessee plan to attend the Third Nationwide League Conference at Norfolk, Virginia, June 13-15. Most of these will leave from Nashville on a chartered bus on Monday morning, arriving in the sea coast city sometime Tuesday. Over $300.00 has been placed in a special conference bank fund by East Nashville Church leaguers themselves for the trip. Each depositor will draw twenty per cent on his money.

Miss Nadine Walker of East Nashville Church will represent Tennessee in the Nationwide Intermediate sword drill at the conference. The Cumberland League Convention will pay $25.00 on her expenses.

The Eastern Quarterly Meeting will meet at Bethlehem Church, near Ashland City, Saturday, April 1. Rev. C. B. Thompson, pastor of Trinity Church, Nashville, is moderator. Rev. Adam Scott is pastor of the host church.

Miss Bessie Yeley, Ohio's Free Will Baptist missionary to Cuba, is visiting in Nashville and other points in Tennessee at this time. Miss Yeley has not been in good health for some time, but plans to return to her work in the near future. She is the guest of Mrs. Damon C. Dodd, Nashville.

Benito Rodriguez, native Cuban student in our Bible college, was the guest of Bethlehem Woman's Auxiliary recently. He spoke at the Sunday evening services there.

Rev. Henry Melvin, business manager of the Bible college, has been selected as the commencement speaker at the Cuban School of Missions. He will fly from Miami to Cuba. It is always a treat for the students there to have speakers from the states, and we feel sure they will profit by Mr. Melvin's visit and his message. The speaker goes as a guest of the Foreign Mission Board.

Young People of Open Pond Church Render Pageant

The F. W. B. Woman's Auxiliary of Open Pond Church at Jakin, Georgia, conducted a stewardship pageant entitled, "The Light of Stewardship." It was acted or performed by the girls and the boys of our League on March 12, 1950. Miss Doris Pace was the reader. The other characters were as follows: Ralph Glose, Miss Ann Wright, Gerald Wright, Lee Thornton, Misses Mary and Linda Hudson.

The music was rendered by the members of the choir. The prayer and a short talk were rendered by Rev. Chester Pelt, our pastor.

Very respectfully,
Mrs. J. R. Hudson, Secy.

RUTH'S CHAPEL MAKING PROGRESS

By Reporter

We wish to report the work that is being done at Ruth's Chapel, near Bridgeton, North Carolina. The church has grown in membership and in a spiritual way. Rev. J. C. Griffin is our pastor, and under his leadership the church is making progress.

We have Sunday School each Lord's Day at 9:45, and Lee Purifoy is our superintendent. There are 118 members on the roll, and five classes. Preaching services at 11:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. on the second and fourth Sundays are helping to boost our attendance, and to increase the interest in the services. On the first and fifth Sundays, someone is called to hold night services for us. We have fifty-one members in our church. Each Sunday night at 6:30 P. M. our F. W. B. Leaguers meet for their study. There are 58 on roll, with four classes. At 7:30 P. M. the Adult Bible class meets every first Monday night to the month. The Woman's Auxiliary of the church meets at 7:30 P. M. They have 28 members on roll. On Friday night at 7:30 P. M. we hold our prayer meeting. We have our Quarterly Conferences on Friday night before the second Sunday in January, April, July and October.

We are planning to build Sunday School rooms to our church in the near future. They are needed not only for the Sunday School work, but also in other ways for the growth of our church. Please pray for this church, for its members, and for its leaders that we may move forward for the glory of God.

For April 2, we will have Rev. Nelson Simpson at 7:30 P. M. for service. On April 30 we will have Rev. Willie E. Stillel at 7:30 P. M. to hold service. He is a member of Ruth's Chapel.

THE FAITHFUL FEW

Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers, abstain from all fleshly lusts which war against the soul. I am deeply concerned about the church members who have professed Christianity, but who have no evidence of it in their life and conduct. Some even use the name of our Lord in a profane way. They indulge in some things that are questionable, social sins, and yet they profess to be Christians, because they belong to some church. What a tragedy!

I am hoping that such will get right with God before it shall be too late. The question is: What will you do with Jesus Christ? Where will you spend eternity? You may die tonight. God says, "Now is the acceptable time to repent and to be saved from sin. No matter what your past life has been, if you are willing to forsake sin and to confess Christ with all your heart, you can be saved. Don't wait, but act now. You must be born again, of the water and of the Spirit. The Holy Spirit must enter your life and cleanse you from your sins, and this will give you a feeling of Christian love in your heart. Love will cover a multitude of faults, for it is one of the greatest forces in all the world.

God grant that we may pray and act in such a way that we may be delivered from the carnality of selfishness. May we be willing to do unto others as we should want them to do unto us. We should speak to our fellow men at the church, on the street, and elsewhere in the way that becometh Christians. We should be willing to give them a hearty hand shake, and show our love for them. Let them know that you have Christian love in your heart for them. Invite your friends to church, and tell them that you are glad to see them in the church for the services. It is a good thing to make everyone feel that you are glad for them to be at your church, and that they are always welcome in your church. Show your Christian love at your work, at your church, or wherever you might be. Give the world a smile, for people must have that Christian love dwelling in their hearts for others to see how they do rejoice in the Christian faith.

Judge not and you will not be judged; condemn not, and you shall not be condemned. Forgive others, and you will be forgiven. Why beholdest the mote that is in thy brother's eye, and not perceivest the beam that is in thine own eye? First cast out the beam that is in your eye, then you will be able to see more clearly the mote that is in your brother's eye. The sinner must get right with God first before complaining about the motes in other people's eyes. May this be the means of getting someone to see the need of turning to God before it shall be too late.—Anonymous.

WANTED! MORE NEWS FROM THE WESTERN STATES

We want to see more news in the Baptist paper from Arkansas, California, Michigan, West Virginia, Kentucky and other western states. We often wonder why no more is being sent in from those states than there is for the readers of the Free Will Baptist paper.

Some states are giving us interesting things to think about. They must be taking the paper and reading it week after week. Probably, there are not many taking the Baptist in those states that I have mentioned above. If that be true, then they should subscribe for it and then read it, and see what other churches are doing. That will stimulate interest and cause some, let us hope, to write some church news in their sections of their states. Unless it is known what those churches are doing by reporting through the columns of the Baptist paper, how can the Free Will Baptist people know what they really are doing for the cause of the denomination and for the cause of Christ. We want to hear from some of those people.—C. C. D.

Union Meeting Report

The Fifth Eastern union of the Eastern Conference of N. C. convened with St. Mary's church, New Bern, N. C., Saturday before the fifth Sunday in January.

The union opened by a song and prayer led by Lee Griffin.

The moderator welcomed the visitors, ministers, and delegates to the session of the union.

The visiting ministers were invited to seats and made welcome to this union. They were: Rev. Patrick of the 2nd Union of the Central Conference, Rev. Oliver of the Albemarle Conference, Rev. Burkette Raper of the Western Conference and Rev. L. E. Ballard.

The different committees were appointed after which the minutes were read and approved.

The list of ministers was called and seven ministers answered to their names. There were thirty-three churches represented out of the thirty-five on roll.

Rev. Clifton Rice was selected by the delegates from Palmetto Chapel Church to bring the next union sermon which convenes with Palmetto church, Craven County, Saturday before the fifth Sunday in April.

The union sermon was brought today by Rev. Clinton Lupton. This was a wonderful message and enjoyed by all present.

The Union adjourned for lunch which was spread in the Educational Department of the church by the ladies.

The afternoon devotions were conducted by Rev. J. R. Forrest.

The Sunday School lesson was discussed by Rev. Calvin Bennet and all Sunday Schools were urged to represent at the Sunday School Convention which convenes on Sunday following the Union Meetings.

An offering was taken for the Orphanage at Middlesex and $42.24 was received.

The Finance Committee gave the following report which was accepted.

Mission Car Fund Complete

To this date, March 28, 1950, I have received for the Mission car since the campaign began, the sum of $2,965.30, and it looks like we will be able to close out the account on the last day of the month. Bro. Davis, the National Treasurer, has received some small amounts which were sent to him direct, and with what he has, I am sure the amount desired will be exceeded.

It has been a long, slow pull, but I am happy over the final results, and I am sure that each organization and individual will have great satisfaction in the part they have had in this project. I am sure they will have great satisfaction in the part they have had in this project. I am sure they will have great satisfaction in the part they have had in this project.

In His service,
J. W. Alford, State Treasurer,
Columbia, North Carolina.

FAITH TO PRAY

It matters not what the day may bring,
Or if the song birds please to sing;
For God will make smooth the rugged way,
As long as I have faith to pray.

Tho' friends may fail in their love for me,
Tho' I be attacked by the enemy;
All sorrow and sadness will pass away,
If I but have the faith to pray.

Tho' I be lost in the blackest night,
Where to human sense there is no light;
Shadows and darkness will turn to day,
If only I have faith to pray.

But I must have faith—I must believe
If the Father's blessings I would receive;
For all who the Master's gifts would share,
Must pray—believing—He answers prayer.

Julia Shackleford Hyers.

Ulysses S. Grant said: "Hold fast the Bible as the sheet anchors of our liberties; write its precepts on your hearts, and practice them in your lives."

and said, how long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him. But if Baal, then follow him" (I Kings 18:21).

Jesus warned of the impossibility of serving two masters. The value of undivided allegiance is seen in no field of human relations more vividly than in one's Christian life.

Because of the danger in delay, what warning is given us?

"The Holy Ghost saith, to day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness" (Hebrews 3:7, 8). Also see verses 17-18.

God holds us responsible for our choice. We must accept the result of our decisions. The rebellious Hebrews are being held up as a tragic example of making the wrong choice.

What is the only safe time to make this vital choice?

"He saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted; and in the day of salvation have I succored thee; behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (2 Cor. 6:2).

We have no assurance of life tomorrow, much less of the continuance of the power to choose. To day only is granted us, So choose now! See John 12:35, 36.

Desire for goodness and holiness are right as far as they go; but if you stop here, they will avail nothing. Many will be lost while hoping and desiring to be Christians. They do not come to the point of yielding to the will of God. They do not now choose to be Christians.

Through the right exercise of the will, an entire change may be made in your life. By yielding up your will to Christ, you ally yourself with the power that is above all principalities and power. You will have strength from above to hold you steadfast; and thus, through constant surrender to God, you will be enabled to live the new life, even the life of faith.

Friends, will you choose right now to serve the Lord and let him work in you both to will and to do his good pleasure?

CHOIR REPORT, BLACK JACK CHURCH

In the last part of November, 1948, a number of people interested in singing for the glory of the Lord gathered at the Free Will Baptist Church at Black Jack. It was then that a church choir was organized. The first meeting was taken up by the election of officers and the seating arrangement. Immediately, the choir began practicing for its part in the Christmas pageant.

The choir set a weekly practice night and set dues which were ten cents each practice. These dues are to be used for any financial requirement the choir meets such as buying flowers for its sick members.

The choir has had invitations to sing at numerous churches and singing conventions. This group participated at three of the four singing conventions, twice at the Community Sing at the Greenville Church, at the Union Meeting at the Rose Hill church and various other churches. Great enjoyment and fellowship was experienced among the choir members upon all these occasions. A quartet, composed of four members of the choir, has aided greatly in musical programs.

In its own church, the choir has had an opportunity to serve its purpose tremendously. It has helped to carry out many programs in the church including the Easter Sunrise Service, the Christmas Pageant, the World Day of Prayer, and the Monthly Sunday Night services.

On Monday night, January 23, Rev. J. R. Davidson began his week of teaching the rudiments of music. Beneficial results were accomplished as the choir learned a great deal about musical definitions and symbols. It was then that this group voted to sing over the radio at WRRF at Washington in February.

At the present time, the choir has twenty two members and a treasury balance of over thirty dollars. Its officers are:

President, Minnie Gaskins; vice-president, Clarence Stokes; secretary, Alice Elks; treasurer, Bessie Dixon; pianist, Mary Rose Page; and director, Gladys Mills Dixon. The choir has great plans to be of service in the future.

By the secretary,
Mrs. Alice Mills Elks.

Lee's Chapel to Hold Pre-Easter Services

The Auxiliary women met with Mrs. Eugene Jernigan Thursday night, March 16, with Mrs. Anna Stone giving an interesting program on: "Advancing with Christ in Cuba." Mrs. Vada Hinson stressed the need of being missionary-minded, first, in our own home, and then abroad.

Rev. and Mrs. Coates, our pastor, were present. He gave us a report of his spiritual experiences of recent date.

We will begin observing our Pre-Easter Service on Monday night, April 3 at 7:30 P. M. It will run through Friday night of that week. Rev. W. H. Carter will be speaker for Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights, with our pastors speaking Wednesday and Thursday nights. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Respectfully,
Reporter

BOOK REVIEW

"THE CITIES OF ST. PAUL"

By

Sir W. M. Ramsay, Kt., Hon. D. C. L.
Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.
Price: $4.00.

This excellent volume has received by Bible schools, seminaries, students of the Bible, and others wide approval. Pastors, missionaries, Sunday School officials, and Woman's Auxiliary leaders of the churches will profit greatly by a study of this book.

Copies may be secured either direct from the publishers, or from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina.

"HOMILETIC THESAURUS"

By

Harold F. J. Ellingsen
Publisher: Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Mich.
Date: 1949
Price: $4.50.

This new book, the first of three volume set, on the Gospels is significant for the selected texts and spot passages, and the pithy comments on different verses of scripture of the Gospel of Matthew. It is quite comprehensive, with expository excerpts, suitable illustrations, brief outlines, sermon notes, etc. The book is valuable for homiletic study of Matthew by Bible students.

Those interested, may purchase copies either from the publishers, or from the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina.

GET INTO THE BOOSTING BUSINESS

Do you know there's lots of people
Sitting round most every town,
Growling like a broody chicken,
Knocking every good thing down?
Don't be that kind of cattle,
'Cause they ain't no use on earth,
But just be a booster rooster,
Crow and boost for all you're worth.

If your town needs boostin' boost her;
Don't hold her back and wait to see
If some other fellow's willing';
Sail right in, this country's free,
No one's got a mortgage on it,
It's just yours as much as his;
If your town is shy of boosters,
You get in the boostin' biz.

If things don't seem to suit you
An' the world seems kinder wrong,
What's the mater with a boostin'
Just to help the thing along?
'Cause if things should stop again,
We'd be in a sorry plight,
You just keep the horn a-blowing',
Boost her up with all your might.

If you see some fellow tryin'
For to make some project go.
An' you can boost it up a trifle,
That's your clew to let him know
That you're not going to knock it,
Just because it ain't your shout,
But that you're going to boost a little
'Cause he's got the best thing out.

Pleasant Hill League Holds Good Meeting

Our Leaguers met on Friday night at the home of Bessie Lee Adams with a perfect attendance. The president opened the meeting with everyone singing the theme song: "Our Best," which was followed with prayer and scripture reading.

The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A brief discussion was held concerning the social that the League will have at the Teen Age Club in Greenville, North Carolina.

Next, the lesson for the week was taken up as assigned, after which everyone enjoyed a scripture scramble from the New Testament. The Bible Quiz leader was Catherine Gaskins. As we use the Seven Point Record System, the League grade for the quarter was 96 percent.

Our members on roll are 16, and the average number attending league each week is 15. The average number of daily Bible readers each week is 15, and the average number on the program is 15. The average number who make a study of the program is 15, and the average attending church is 15. The average on time, 15; the average paying dues, 15.

We were very glad to be able to enroll two new members at this meeting. Our goal is to make each League member an honor-roll leaguer.

At the close of the meeting, we were favored with a duet, which was sung by J. B. and Alton Stox. The League Benediction was then repeated by all members present, after which everyone enjoyed a good "old-time" popcorn popping, and much group singing.

A GIFT FROM GOD

Elsie Dunn

God promised us all a great gift. If we will only believe in Jesus He will save us, and give us eternal life. In Matt. 19:28 it says "as the One whose name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father." He will regenerate them unto everlasting life. God paid a big price that we may have everlasting life. He sent His only Son into the world to die on the cross that we may have everlasting life.

Everyone needs to be saved, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God, and unless we be born again we cannot enter into the Kingdom of God. The wages of sin is death but the free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ.

Many people ask the question: "What is meant by being born again?" To be born again is not to make promises or resolutions; it is to receive Christ into our hearts and have a new life. Make sure that you have been born from above, born of God—a life distinct and separate from the natural life—a new life.

God is anxious for us to accept Jesus, His son, and Jesus is always at the door waiting to come into your hearts, but it is you who will have to open that door.

So many people today never think of God except when in trouble, and I doubt if some think of Him then. They go about the world and engage in all the worldly pleasures with never a thought of God. They may think they are enjoying themselves now but when they get to Hell there will not be any pleasure there, but if you go to Hell it will be because you chose to go there.

There are people who think there is no pleasure in being a Christian, but there is a great pleasure in doing things for God. You can hear young people say they are going to have a good time while they are young, but what is a good time for you? Is it something for God or some worldly pleasure? It is written in God's word that we can not love worldly pleasures and God at the same time. Which one do you love?

It is the duty of every Christian to try and let the sinners see what a great pleasure it is to serve God. When you accept Christ as your Saviour, follow Him. Be a follower of Christ, at home, at school, or where ever you may be.

The Winter's Icy Storm

By Naaman Borders,
Waverly, Ohio

(Written from memories of this past winter's icy storm.)

The icy-winty winds come roaring,
O'er the meadow and the plain;
The bleak and heavy clouds
Bring us snow and sleet and rain.

The thick and blackness of the night
Draws its curtain o'er the land;
Desolation seems to threaten
Our poor souls on every hand.

The winds are moaning and a groaning
Through every bush and tree;
Snowflakes are whirling and a falling
O'er the meadow, hill, and the lea.

The winds are sighing and a crying
From the icy regions of the north;
Scattering fear and desolation
O'er all the trembling earth.

Icy winds are roaring and screaming,
Thundering storm upon the trees;
Rushing onward, never ceasing,
O'er hill and vale, and troubled seas.

Every fowl and beast and bird
Have found a hiding place;
From the roaring tempest of the skies,
Waiting for the storm to pass.

When the storms of life are o'er,
And the mist has rolled away;
We shall find a hiding place
In the realms of endless day.

Too many parents are sticklers for obedience—in other people's children.

Nature gave every man two cheeks, but she never intended for any man to be all cheek.

We recommend for sainthood the man who, after buying a high powered car, never misses a church service on Sunday.—Pente, Herald.

THE BIBLE . . . The Inspired Word of God

A. B. Bryan
606 Buena Vista Ave.
Rocky Mount, N. C.

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."—Psalm 119:105.

The Bible is the supreme revelation of God. Far greater than the revelation of Himself in nature, history or providence, is found in the Sacred Scriptures. We would be ignorant of God, His nature, will, plans, purposes; of Christ, and the great doctrines of salvation, did we not possess the revelation of these as contained in the Bible. At the foundation of all our spiritual knowledge lies the word of God. The Holy Spirit usually does not operate apart from this word. Far more important, in a sense, is the study of the Scriptures than is prayer to the child of God. How would we know what to pray for, how to pray acceptably, and to whom to pray did we not have the written revelation of these things? When we pray we talk to God; when we read and study His word, He talks to us. Which is the more important, that we talk to Him, or that He talk to us?

The real Christian should know that the Bible and the Bible way will be spoken against. We should not fear opposition to the word. The Bible as Christ was, and ever will be, is "A stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense"; that on which "Many shall stumble and fall and be broken, and be snared and be taken." There is no more fiercely attacked book today than the Bible; attacked by both friends and foes. It is said today that the Bible is suffering more from its professed friends than from its enemies. The higher critics have done much to destroy faith in the supernatural revelation found in the Scriptures. They will have much to answer for in the great day of reckoning.

The faith of the Christian should not be shaken because of these attacks. God says, "Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation, a stone, a tried stone, a precious cornerstone of sure foundation, he that believeth shall not be in haste" (Isaiah 28:16). These words are true of written and incarnate words alike. Don't worry about the Bible and a "self denial" life being attacked; it is an anvil that has worn out many hammers. God has forewarned us that some builders will refuse to build upon this stone, and they will scorn it and cast it aside (at least in part). God assures us that the stone will remain unshaken. There is no use to be thrown into panic or anxiety when confronted with much opposition. The word of God will abide even though Heaven and earth pass away (Matt. 5:18). "For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." The past centuries have witnessed forms of opposition, even greater than our day. One only has to look back to the dark period at the birth of Christianity when its founder lay dead in that buried tomb in Joseph's garden. Surely the Christian enterprise is as bright today as it was when its founder seemed to be at an end. We see the cross, the tomb, and the band of men who went forth, shedding blood, to proclaim the truths contained in the Bible. They met with great victory and unlimited success. One has to look back upon these gloomy days when the apostle Paul, the champion, the leader, the foremost representative of Christianity, as he lay in the Roman prison, his head about to be severed from his body, yet, the Bible and Christianity survived this shock.

If the Bible had not been a divine book it would have been destroyed centuries ago. One critic said that, "in one hundred years from his day the Bible would be an unknown book," but hundred of years have passed and the Bible is popular in the lives, homes and hearts of the best people on earth—Christian people, God serving people, trustworthy people, heaven bound people. You better be careful how you accept the Bible. It is the sword of the Spirit and God will judge you by the Sword. We should not, therefore, fear that Christianity and the Bible are going to pieces, because there are those who are against it. There are many scholars today who are against the "Blood stained banner of King Emmanuel, but scholarship has never served the church or brought it back from its backsliding to warmth and spiritual fervor. Philosophy and science never have and never can save a soul. We are saved by faith in the atoning work of the Lord Jesus Christ on Calvary. Jesus Christ did not choose a company of university men to be his disciples and go forth and win the lost to him. We are not discouraging scholarship; we are not, because we need it, and the more consecrated scholars we have, the better for the interest of the Bible and Christianity.

No premium should be placed upon ignorance, it is a disgrace and a shame for people to be ignorant about the Bible and Christianity in a land which is overflowing with printed copies of the un-adulterated word of God.

We need not fear the increase in the knowledge of science, for it was in the Bible centuries before men found it. Gravitation was discovered only after Elijah was translated. Whose faith in Christianity is shaken because he believes the earth revolves around the sun? The Bible language accommodates the human understanding to attract our attention, that we may believe in him who inspired and directed its writings and contents.

The Bible has nothing to fear from the pick-ax of the geologist, from the telescope of the astronomer, from the instrument of the chemist, or from the pen of the scientific writer.

Every Christian should know how to approach the Bible. "Open thou mine eyes that I may behold wondrous things out of thy love" (Psalm 119:18).

Every Christian should read and study the Bible first hand, and for himself. He should be more anxious to hear what the Spirit will teach him, through the word, than what writers and commentators have to say about what it says. It is better to ask the Bible what it says, than to ask some others what it says. As you well know, we are living in an age of pre-digested food—food some-

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

MT. OLIVE VISIT

Week after the third Sunday in March I had the pleasure of staying in the home of Rev. A. C. Austin, N. C., and preaching at the Mt. Olive Church, of which Brother Austin is the pastor. The church at Mt. Olive is a small one in membership, surrounded with other denominations, who were faithful in attendance during the short time that I was permitted to be with the people there.

While the membership is small the faith of the saints at Mt. Olive is true to the teachings of the Lord Jesus. There are some everywhere who will not compromise the doctrine of our Christ with any thing that takes away from the word of God or adds thereto. I found some of the salt of the earth in the Mt. Olive section. I enjoyed their fellowship greatly, but we left with a burdened heart over these who are still outside the Light of Christ, and thereby are sitting in darkness.

A VISIT TO BLADENBORO

Recently wife and I visited the F. W. B. church in Bladenboro, where by request, I showed pictures of the Orphanage at Middelex, Cragmont, the Bible College in Nashville, Tennessee, and the F. W. B. Press in Ayden. These pictures are silent motion pictures which reveal our institutions to the eye of man and educate people as to what Free Will Baptists have and are stewards of; and also we showed two Bible pictures with sound. These pictures were received with much favorable comment. We preached on Sunday morning, April the second, to a very interested congregation which showed its appreciation by words and deeds. I also had the privilege of teaching a class of young people in the Sunday School which was a great pleasure.

Saturday, April 1, wife and I attended the Pee Dee Woman's Auxiliary, where I delivered the Convention sermon, using for my text the words of Christ: "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you" (John 20:21). This convention was held at Cyprus Creek where some very good old fashioned saints of God worship. It was a pleasure to preach to these fine folk as they received it joyfully. The auxiliaries in this small conference are few, but they are getting into the work whole-heartedly. They are anxious to carry on the work in keeping with the prescribed methods of the National and State bodies. They are greatly interested in evangelism backed with Evangelistic operations. Personal soul-winning is studied and efforts to save the lost are being motivated.

ALCOHOLISM A DISEASE

Not long ago we paid our respects to Demon Alcoholism and mentioned that institutions were being erected to take care of the drunks, etc. But as I see and hear so much of the crime being committed by this demon and then hear men, who ought to be better informed, taking sides with the liquor traffic. Liquor is the only disease that will destroy both body and soul in Hell.

I recently came across an article in the Western Voice that I wish to hand to you my readers for your consideration. Here it is:

IF ALCOHOLISM IS A DISEASE—

Then We Would Like to Compare It with Other Sicknesses in Seven Respects:

"1. It is the only disease which we advertise to the tune of almost 130 million dollars annually.

"2. It is the only disease which we propagate to the tune of 3 billion gallons of liquor consumed annually, or more than 20 gallons per man, woman, and child in the United States.

"3. It is the only disease which we legalize to the tune of 447,000 retail liquor permits in drug stores, groceries, hotels, and wherever our women and children must go for the necessities of life.

"4. It is the only disease which we commercialize, the annual drink bill being close to 9 billion dollars.

"5. It is the only disease which is voluntarily self-imposed. Not one of the four million excessive drinkers, most of them alcoholics, in America, ever became an alcoholic without wilfully taking a drink and continuing to drink. This is not true of any other sickness.

"6. It is the most deadly of all diseases for it destroys, as Jesus said in Matt. 10:28, 'both soul and body in hell.' No other sickness, however malignant, can kill a man's soul. But the disease of alcoholism will and does, as evidenced by the estimated cost of crime in the State of Massachusetts alone, resulting from liquor, of 61 million dollars in one year, to say nothing of the intangible by-products.

"7. Finally, we are glad to say this is a disease which is curable for all who wish to escape its malignancy. Thank God, there is a remedy for this disease available to all. There is no incurable case in the sight of God.

PARKER'S CHAPEL TO HAVE HOME-COMING

Home Coming day, with dinner served at the church, will be held at Parker's Chapel, May 14, near Greenville, N. C. Former Pastors and members and the public are invited, and especially those who helped us sponsor the building program.

Sincerely, Mrs. J. H. Harris

TENNESSEE PERSONALITIES AND EVENTS

C. F. Bowen

Rev. Lester Jones, student at our Bible college, is in a revival meeting at Trinity Church, Nashville. Rev. C. B. Thompson, pastor, reports splendid attendance and results.

Human Interest: Things happen in doubles to Rev. George Ludwig, pastor of Bethel and Friendship churches near Nashville. This good shepherd is soon to perform his first wedding—and it will be a double wedding. A good beginning, we say, for a young minister!

More than a hundred leaguers attended a city-wide league "stunt night" recently in Nashville. Churches represented were Cofer's Chapel, Trinity, East Nashville, and part of the college. Trinity leaguers took first place with the best stunt. East Nashville had the largest representation.

Another such party is to be given later. Miss Mary Elizabeth Griffin of Cofer's Chapel was the m. c.

A truck on the Nashville-Clarksville highway, loaded with 20,000 pounds of dynamite, exploded recently and did more than a $1,000 damage to the Goodsprings church nearby. This church, pastored by Rev. J. B. Parsons, has just recently been remodelled. Efforts are being made to collect the cost of the damages from the company responsible.

East Nashville Church has begun a monthly new paper called CONTACT which has met with favorable response. For sample copies please write to this reporter at 518 Woodland St., Nashville.

"Easter Meditations," a program of music and story given by the music and speech department of the college will be featured at the East Nashville Church on Easter Sunday night. Mrs. Elizabeth Sawyer, music instructor, will have charge.

REV. DAVID HANSLEY TO CONDUCT MEETING AT WARSAW, NORTH CAROLINA

The Reverend David Hansley of Ayden, North Carolina, will conduct a revival meeting, beginning April 10, in the town of Warsaw, North Carolina. The meeting will be held in the Old Episcopal Church building. The services will begin each evening at 7:30 P. M. We have been given the privilege of using this church building for our services.

The church is located on Pine Street. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

(While acknowledging the many cards and expressions of sympathy during my recent stay in the hospital, may I also visit in your homes with a word on evangelism.)

"Do the work of an evangelist" (2 Timothy 4:5). What is evangelism? There is a new emphasis on evangelism in practically all the Protestant Church to-day. This is indeed encouraging, but also, in a sense, it is alarming. There is entirely too much fanaticism carried on in the name of evangelism. A fanatic is one who redoubles his energies when he has forgotten his aim. To evangelize is to move heaven and earth; to evangelize is to be an ambassador for Christ. I think there is no need to state what the duties of an ambassador is and what it is not. The majority of boys and girls in the 9th grade in school can answer this question. Certainly it is to stick closely, yes, exclusively, to the business assigned him by his country and not to interfere in the business of the country where he has been assigned to represent his country.

It appears that, in some cases, we who are called "Evangelists" might consult some of the school kiddies as to our calling. The word "Evangelize," "Evangel," is peculiarly Paul's word and Paul's life. It occurs in the Gospels only four times in Luke, five times in Matthew and in Mark eight times. Paul uses the word eighty seven times. It is woven into his very life and thought. Listen how Paul uses this sacred word: "Separated unto the gospel . . . Not ashamed of the gospel . . . Fully preach the gospel . . . I have begotten you in the gospel . . . Lest we should hinder the gospel . . . Not abuse my power in the gospel . . . This I do for the gospel's sake . . . If our gospel be hid . . . They would prevent the gospel of peace . . . Your fellowship in the gospel . . . Confirmation of the gospel . . . Furtherance of the gospel . . . Defence of the gospel . . . The hope of the gospel . . . Partake of the affliction of the gospel . . . The bond of the gospel . . . Woe is me if I preach not the gospel." Note also how affectinately and repeatedly he calls it "My gospel." Moreover he thought it was the only gospel. He says, "though we or an angel from heaven preach any other gospel, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed" (anathema). When we speak of evangelism we stand on holy ground.

My, what a confusion! Six hundred twenty-two different denominations among the Protestants. Some of them claim that their denomination is the only passport to heaven, and any one, regardless of how devoted he may be to Christ, has a through ticket to hell unless he is a member of that particular denomination. My friends, our message is a "survey of the wondrous Cross on which the Prince of Glory died, and which our evangelist's message is a Christo Centric message. Our motive is love so amazing, so divine that all human love seems icy cold in comparison. Our dynamic for such an impossible task, for such an incomparable and glorious privilege, can only be the power of the Holy Spirit.

Only God's power can produce a new creation. And this is evangelism. Evangelism is resurrection. "Awake thou that sleepest, arise from the dead and Christ will give you life." This can not be done by man's power or man's program. Man's program is more often contradictory to God's plan. The message of evangelism is personal and not social.

There is no such thing as a Social Gospel. The Gospel is not a message to states, nations, groups of communities. It is a message to persons. You cannot convince a nation of sin. When Nineveh repented, it was the individuals who repented. Christ spoke to individuals, not to masses (John 3:16) "Whosoever" means an individual. It is not the world that believes and his eternal life but those who make self-conscious and deliberate choice. "Mass evangelism" is a contradiction of terms. Otherwise, we justify the absurd practice of some early Jesuits who baptized the heathen with "squirt guns." Christ died for all, but He calleth His sheep by name, "Simon, Simon" "Martha, Martha" "Saul, Saul."

A former Moslem wrote a book entitled "Lights of Asia." In this book he described five great religions. In his chapter describing Christianity, he says, "The Cross is the center of all revelation." It could be no better described. Have you ever thought what the Bible would be without the Cross? Take the Cross out of the Book and you won't be able to recognize it. If there be no promise of the Cross in the Old Testament, then its Laws distress me. It is a book of fatalism. If there is no Cross in the New Testament, then it blazes with pitiless splendor. But put the Cross back, and at once the Book becomes a Gospel. Its law becomes love, its shadows flee away, its destiny is the Father's House. Think with me a moment will you. If the Bible revealed my sins merely, it would load me with despair, to forgive my sins merely would make me afraid of tomorrow. I want my sin conquered; I want to get it beneath my feet. The Cross is the place of Victory.

Christ did it upon the Cross. I say this reverently, He could not do it but upon the Cross. It was expedient for one man to die for all the people. He hath put away sin—all sin—original sin and actual sin, by the sacrifice of Himself. There was none other good enough to pay the price of sin; He only could unlock the gate of Heaven and let us in. Education could not do it. Social reforms cannot do it. Our beautiful essays and ethical sermons cannot do it. It is Christ upon the Cross who discovers sin, who forgives sins, who conquers sin. The preaching of the Cross of Christ, merely, is not enough; it is now that we must preach not only the Cross of Christ, but Christ of the Cross.

The eternal purpose of God for a lost world was declared by a five-fold repetition in the Great Commission. Matthew's closing paragraph, "All power is given unto Me"—"Go ye therefore," emphasizes Christ's authority in this Commission. Mark its

NEWS FROM GEORGIA

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY ORGANIZED IN GA.

On March 19, 1950, Pineview F. W. B. Church in Miller County, Ga., met after church service to organize a Woman's Auxiliary. Rev. C. J. Harvey gave introduction, giving several passages of scripture, then turned the service to Mrs. C. J. Harvey, and after a few remarks, as to what the auxiliary is, we organize by electing the following officers: Miss Eunice McLendon for president and Mrs. Jesse Mae Broxton, first vice-president; Mrs. Abbie Williams, second vice-president; Mrs. Pauline Davis was elected for third vice-president; Mrs. Lou Ellen Johnson, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Edell Widner, fifth vice-president. For secretary and treasurer we elected Mrs. Jewell Bush. After reading and adopting By-Laws we declared we were organized. We agreed to send a delegate to district meetings, and we chose for our meeting day Friday before second Sunday in each month. We desire the prayers of the praying people for this auxiliary and church. The auxiliary work is new to them, but they are anxious to learn, and work for the Lord. So please pray that they may let their light shine.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY RE-ORGANIZED AT MT. ZION CHURCH, GEORGIA

The women of Rowena community met on Sunday, March 12, and re-organized their Auxiliary to make a study of Woman's Methods as to how best to carry on the Christian work for the advancement of the church. With Brother C. J. Harvey in charge, the meeting was opened with a song entitled, "Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus." Prayer was offered by Mrs. W. L. Wiley. Following this Brother C. J. Harvey gave a talk, based on John 3:16, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that, whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Mrs. C. J. Harvey told the members what the watchword, the song and the theme are for this year. Then the business matters of the auxiliary were transacted. Mrs. Harvey led in prayer, asking the heavenly Father to lead and guide us in the work which we seek to do for Jesus, and how to select our officers. They are as follows: President, Mrs. Annie Wiley; first vice-president, Mrs. W. N. Clowers; second vice-president, Mrs. George Fincher; third vice-president, Mrs. C. E. Fencher; fourth vice-president, Mrs. B. C. Craft; fifth vice-president, Mrs. C. G. Jordan; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Clowers; treasurer, Mrs. Grace Ralton.

GREEN WOOD WOMAN'S AUXILIARY MEETS

On March 16, 1950, the woman's Auxiliary of Green Wood Church in Mitchell Co., Ga., met for regular monthly meeting. On account of illness our attendance was small. After singing, "Send the Light," prayer was offered, then the president turned services to program leader. After the program leader read scripture lesson, Mrs. Bobby Poitvint offered prayer.

Our subject was "Advancing with Christ in Cuba." Mrs. C. J. Harvey gave the introduction. Others taking part on the program were: Mrs. Jewell Kearns, Mrs. J. F. Harmon gave a special reading, Mrs. G. T. Hervey gave topic two and Mrs. G. C. Johnson gave topic three. Mrs. K. V. Shutes gave a very interesting talk on missions.

After program the president took charge and called for the business. First, the roll was called and minutes read and adopted. The program chairman assigned parts for the next program. Plans were made for week of prayer for the week preceding Easter. Plans were that we meet at night, beginning Monday night, April the third through the seventh. Mrs. K. V. Shutes will conduct Monday's program; Mrs. J. F. Harman will conduct Tuesday's; Mrs. Arthur Poitvint will conduct Wednesday's program; Mrs. C. J. Harvey will conduct Thursday's program; Mrs. George W. Wishum will conduct Friday's program.

On motion we have secretary to send our sick members a card. At the suggestion of the fifth vice-president we make a Sunshine box for one who has been ailing for a number of years.

No other business, we had a chain of prayer for our sick, and for the success of the revivals going on over our nation, and for our missionaries. We dismissed by repeating our Watch Word.

TOO LATE

Some contributors of manuscripts to the Baptist paper for publication still persist in mailing to us reports and messages too late for the issue in which they want them to appear in the paper. Why this is true, we do not understand, when we have at different times stressed in the editorial column the need of mailing all communications for the Baptist paper several days before they are to be printed so that we can publish them as desired.

The type for the paper is set on Thursday and Friday of the week before the Baptist is printed on the following Monday, and mailed on Wednesday of that week to the subscribers. Therefore, communications for the paper arriving to us late are not likely to be in the issue desired. So long as some persist in mailing their letters late to us, they can be assured that their messages will not be in the paper as early as they had contemplated.

We are receiving each week letters, too late for publication in the next week's issue, containing the messages desired to go in that week's issue of the Baptist. Don't blame the editor, blame yourself for sending in the letter too late for that issue of the paper.

ers in church and a setting of little pines in back ground on the stage. The program opened with song and prayer by young people, and there was a splendid group of people present. After several songs and prayers four girls and one boy presented a little play entitled "My Contribution to Better Living," which was enjoyed by all.

Rev. C. J. Harvey then took charge and after some discussion proceeded to organize. Mr. Oswald Smith was elected as president while Miss Sarah Barker is to assist him. Miss Wynette Wade was elected as secretary and treasurer.

Three groups were elected, and for the Senior group Mrs. Jean Brown was elected as group captain with Mrs. Magnus Wade to assist her. For the Intermediate group, Mrs. N. C. Perry was elected group captain, Miss Peggy Brown to assist her. Mrs. Gertrude Jones and Mrs. Julia Smith were elected for story hour leaders. Mr. J. C. Smith is quiz leader, Mrs. Anne White to assist him. Mr. Loren Wade will be sponsor. The league work is not new at this church, for they had a grand league once a long time ago, they say they can see fruits if it till this day. We desire the prayers of every one that this work may go on and on, and never die, and that God may get much Glory to His name from it.

Home Missions on the Move

Your National Home Mission Board had a called meeting at the South Side Free Will Baptist Church; Reverend Harvey Hill—Pastor; March 1, 1950.

It was a wonderful, harmonious meeting with the presence of the Lord there in all of our deliberations. The entire board was present. We also had our Executive Secretary and Treasurer with us, Rev. Damon C. Dodd.

We decided to move out for the Lord, with a Real Home Mission Program.

You will be hearing from us thru the mail, telling you of our aims. Now of course, we can't do anything without your help, but we launched out on this campaign with faith in our people. We believe you are going to help us put it over.

We have some nice plates made to fit on your automobile license plates with the inscription, "A member of the National Association of Free Will Baptists." We would like to see one of these on every car driven by Free Will Baptists. You may have one of these plates by sending your name and address, with one dollar, to Rev. J. B. Bloss, Route 5, Columbia, Tenn. The money from these plates will go into the treasury of the Home Mission Board to carry on our program of evangelistical work.

You had better get your order in quickly as we only have a limited number of plates on hand at the present.

I think the greatest need of our denomination is a Program of Missions here at home. As it will solve many of our problems that confront us today concerning Foreign Missions, Christian Education, and Superannuation; and we might say the entire program of the National Association.

As chairman of the Home Mission Board, I am for putting it over, and I am glad the entire board is cooperating in this work. You can depend on us at least to try. I believe you will support us and give us a chance, won't you?

"Lift up your eyes and look on the fields for they are white already to harvest" (St. John 4:35). May we get the vision of a lost America and then I am sure we will do something about it.

Well, praise the Lord! By faith, I can bear the shouts of newborn souls in the cities, towns, and rural districts where there are at present no Free Will Baptist churches. There you will find hundreds of children not in Sunday School and their parents not attending church.

Let us work while it is day for night is coming and our opportunities will be forever gone.

The board covets an interest in your prayers that God will lead in all our our work.

April 20, 21, 1950

Thursday and Friday before the fourth Sunday in April, pastors, Sunday School superintendents, delegates and visitors will be assembled at the Hugo church located just off the highway from Kinston to Snow Hill, about six miles from Kinston. Rev. Clifton Rice is pastor and C. A. Eubanks is superintendent.

The convention will be presided over by president Raymond T. Sasser, who has served in this office for nine years. Rev. Burkett Raper will deliver the convention sermon Thursday morning at 11:30, his subject being the same as the theme for the convention, "Efficient Christian Leadership."

The first session of the annual Sunday School Institute will be held at 1:25 p. m. Thursday, subject "Co-ordinated District Leaders." Rev. Rashie Kennedy will discuss and point out the many reasons "Why we need district Sunday School organizations," and Rev. David Hansley will give many "Suggestions for perfecting District Organizations." This session of the institute should be very interesting and beneficial to all district convention officers and Sunday School superintendents.

Special request is made for all superintendents throughout the state to attend. They are standing delegates and the entire program is planned to help them with the many problems of their Sunday School. Efficient superintendents are "Efficient Christian Leaders" who are constantly striving to make theirs a better Sunday School, it is the belief of your convention officers and directors that superintendents will be more efficient if they plan their work together and work together to the glory of God.

The second session of the annual institute will be in the form of a panel discussion, led by the directors of the convention, subject, "Knotty Sunday School Problems." Superintendents, delegates and ministers are urged to present their problems for discussion in order that practical answers might be arrived at.

One of the highlights of the program will be the Thursday evening "Youth for Christ" service. Rev. C. L. Patrick will deliver the sermon "Youth Evangelism," while J. B. Narron will lead in the "Declaring Yourself" (testimony time). In recent months Mr. Narron has been active in "Youth for Christ" services throughout the central part of the state. Special music and testimonies by the youths who have surrendered their lives to the work of our Master will be an inspiration to all who attend this service.

Devotions for both days will be conducted by Rev. R. P. Harris, Mrs. Bagley Morris, D. B. Sasser, and Rev. A. L. Reynolds. Rev. Reynolds will also act as music director for each session.

Officers of the convention are: Raymond T. Sasser, president, Mrs. Albert Coates, secretary, Milton Wiggs, treasurer. Directors are: Rev. David Hansley, Organization; D. B. Sasser, Denominational Enterprises; Rev. L. E. Ballard, Publicity; Rev. R. B. Crawford, Records and Reports, Mrs. Bagley Morris, Literature; Rev. A. L. Reynolds, Field Secretary Program.

Each Sunday School is supposed to send one delegate. Superintendents and pastors are standing delegates and are allowed to vote in the business sessions. District Sunday School Conventions are allowed two delegates, and their presidents and directors for the Field Secretary Program are urged to attend each session, and are particularly urged to attend the convention officers' conference, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at Hugo Church, just before the convention begins at ten o'clock.

AT THE END OF THE ROAD

Many a step on life's road we have taken,
Steps o'er the road that we travel alone;
And sorrows like joys our being has shaken
But look! At the end of the road is home!

A part of the road has been smooth to travel,

Flowers along on each side has been strewn;

Suddenly, the road becomes rugged and gravel,

Keep going! At the end of the road is home!

The road will be brighter, and then perhaps hard,

The roughness may dim the joy that we've known;

The rocks on the way may our journey retard,

Still onward! At the end of the road is home!

Still forward! Keep going! The end may be near Listen! The trumpet of vict'ry is blown;

The goal is soon reached, and past are all fears,

We'll win! At the end of the road our home!

IT'S OUT!

The program for the Eleventh Annual Session of the North Carolina Free Will Baptist Sunday School Convention-Institute has been printed and will soon be in circulation among the Sunday Schools over the state. Individual superintendents, S. S. officers and teachers who may desire a copy of the program folder can secure the same by writing to the convention secretary, Mrs. Albert Coates, Smithfield, N. C. New and up-to-date report blanks have also been printed and are being mailed out. Any Sunday School not receiving report blanks, programs, etc., within a reasonable time should contact the secretary.

REV. R. B. CRAWFORD
Convention Speaker Thursday Evening

IT'S A PROMISING PROGRAM

The program as prepared and printed promises much of real worth to those who attend the convention, which meets with the Hugo church, on Route 1, Kinston, Thursday and Friday, April 20, 21, 1950.

Raymond T. Sasser, who was the first president of the convention, but went on "vacation" for two years, will be back in the chair again, having been called back to the direction of the convention-institute by a hearty vote in the 1949 session. He has a reputation for moving things along, so that there will not be dull minutes. Alonzo L. Reynolds, will help liven up the program by leading the convention in hymn singing, and by presenting special musical numbers using the talent available. Some who will be remembered for their contributions to the good of the convention since its beginning, like R. P. Harris and D. B. Sasser, are on the program again this year. Then there are others who have come on the scene of S. S. convention activities during more recent years who will "give of their best" this year. These include Rev. Burkette Raper, who will deliver the convention sermon at 11:30 Thursday morning on the subject "Efficient Christian Leadership" (which is also the convention theme); Rev. Rashie Kennedy and Rev. David Hansley, who will conduct the annual Sunday School Institute; and Rev. R. B. Crawford who will bring the Thursday evening sermon on "Youth Evangelism."

"WHAT A FELLOWSHIP—"

What a wonderful fellowship indeed is in prospect when Sunday School superintendents, class officers, teachers, and just plain Mary and John Pupil from Sunday Schools from Murphy to Manteo get together for these two great days at Hugo! Old friendships will be renewed, new friendships will be formed, ideas will be exchanged, invitations will be given and received to "come over and visit my school"—it will be glorious!

Who is going to enjoy all these good things?

YOU, if you set your house in order and come on to Hugo for the convention.

Who is going to miss all these good things?

YOU, if you are not willing to make the necessary sacrifices to attend the convention-institute.

ATTENTION: NORTH CAROLINA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION PRESIDENTS

Please write me at once giving me your name and address and name of your convention, as we are planning our next State Sunday School Convention program for our annual convention, which is to meet with the Hugo Church, Thursday and Friday before the 4th Sunday in April. We are most interested in hearing from you, as we want your convention to be represented in this session of the convention. There is one part of our program that will be very beneficial to your work.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS

J. E. Wooten

There is a particularly encouraging sign prevalent among the churches today. Multitudes of young people are surrendering to Christ and offering themselves for service in His cause. They are filled with energy, and are willing and ready to expend that energy in the interest of the church. They interpret the love of Christ as experienced in their hearts as a signal for action.

It does not take a psychologist to discover that there is a broad gap between the channel of the mind of the teen-age boy or girl and that of the mature man or woman. The God of nature, who is also the Creator of man, established the condition which makes this a well known fact. Thoughtful young people, and reasonable adults, all recognize this as God's wisely arranged plan for the proper balance and development of the human race.

Young people are filled with energy and enthusiasm, but they have not reached the age of mature reason, judgment, and wisdom. They realize this fact just as fully as we older ones realize that our best physical days are past. They are competent and efficient workers, but not wise leaders in all matters. They recognize this fact themselves, and, therefore, seek instruction and guidance. Let us not point to some rare case and conclude that the whole young part of the race has become uncontrollable, and is rushing heedlessly down the broad way to eternal destruction. Such a contention is untrue and unkind to the young people.

Young Christians want to know what the Bible teaches, and what God's will for them is. Herein lies one of our weighty responsibilities as older Christians. They turn to us for wise counsel. Are we accepting their challenge and instructing them in the vital doctrines of salvation through the Virgin-born Christ? Or are we leaving them in uncertainty, through indifference toward them and their problems and questionable conduct on our part?

Ministers and parents, young people want the Gospel truth preached from the pulpit, and practiced in our lives, but they want to see it built around the Christ. Let us not be deceived when they point out certain things to do, and ask if they are right. They do not understand everything, but they can and do discern inconsistencies.

Pastors and ministers, we must be careful in our teaching and conduct. Our first business is not to build up a large membership, but to point lost souls to the Saviour, and guide aright those who have found him. Parents and older Christians, our responsibility to the young ones is to guide them aright that they may find the Saviour, and then encourage them, through precept and example, to serve Him daily.

Let us not fall into complacency and deliver the entire church program to the young people, lest they fall into error and fail. They want to work, but they do not desire to assume full responsibility for leadership. Let us stand by them, and love and encourage them, and guide them wisely in their efforts for the Master!

Dry Bones in the Valley

Ezekiel 37:

In my feeble way I would like to give my views on this subject. We notice that when Ezekiel prophesied to the dry bones, there was a great noise, which could represent tumult of battle. Also the dry bones could represent the Jews who had never accepted Christ. The shaking would represent inward emotions among the Jews.

We read that there is a great awakening spiritually among the Jews during these days, great numbers of them are accepting Christ as their Saviour, if reading the papers are to be relied upon as proof.

Now may we go back and say that the dry bones, which were dead, very naturally represent the Jews which were spiritually dead, and as the Gospel is being preached to them they are returning to life spiritually.

I would also like to call your attention to Isaiah 31:5, where the prophet speaks of an army flying over Jerusalem like birds, defending Jerusalem. General Allenby, during 1917, sent an army of airplanes over Jerusalem and captured the city without blood shed. To be exact the date was December 11, 1917. Why there was no blood shed was because the prophet of the Turks god was named Allah Bee, and it sounded so much like Allenby they were afraid to fight against him. On August 10, 1920, the Truks gave up all their rights over Palestine, and on July 24, 1922, England granted the Jews the privilege of returning to Palestine, so they could re-establish their national home.

I may have gotten off from my text of dry bones, but these other Scriptures will link up with it, and establish the fact that the dry bones really did come to life. Read Jeremiah 32:44, and you will see that England was fulfilling prophecy so the Jews could return home. Amos 9:14 speaks of the people planting gardens, and present-day history tells us that there is an abundance of oranges, grape fruits, and lemons grown there, because they have plenty of rain now. Joel 2:32 says there will be plenty of rain on the land in the latter days. The weather reports say the rainfall is double what it was in 1860. Isaiah 18:3 speaks of the Jewish ensign or flag being lifted. It was lifted up on May 15, 1948, which proves that God will see that his words are fulfilled.

WHAT SIN IS, AND WHY IT IS SIN

We hear a lot said about what sin is. The way we see it, or the way we think about it, does not have any effect on the meaning or danger of sin. Regardless of what we do about it, it is sin right on, and the danger remains the same. In God bringing this great universe into existence, and placing man on the earth, saw that for it to be a success there had to be a law under which it should be ruled. That law contains instructions as to how to use what he has given man.

God put man in the Garden of Eden, and gave him the pleasure of using every thing in the garden as he wanted to, but the tree of knowledge of Good and Evil. God knew there was danger there, and he wanted man to know where the danger was, and proved that he did by telling him. They seemingly believed him, and were perfectly satisfied to leave it alone until Satan came in, and told them that God just did not want them to eat of that fruit, and that they would not die; also that it was not dangerous, and that it was really good for food. They could see no danger in eating of the fruit, and it surely did look good. They believed Satan and passed over the danger signal. Not seeing the danger did not move it, and into the pit of disappointment they went. So it is with thousands of people daily. They don't see any danger in the thousands of things that are placed before them daily. Satan is making them believe there is no danger, and into the pit of destruction they go. What they believe about it does not alter the conditions, and often it is seemingly unbearable, but regardless of the severity of it, they have to endure it.

Before Satan could succeed in his project he must convince them that God is not true. They are convinced and act accordingly. To their sad disappointment they find that they have been deceived, but too late then. They have already acted and no way to undo it. Could they have seen conditions as they were then, before they acted, how differently it would have been with them. No more happy days in the garden with the Lord, and indeed they were happy days, for it does not seem they had ever had any trouble, and that the Lord was a pleasant visitor. Now they had sinned. They had passed over the danger signal of life, fallen into the pit of disappointment, which meant death to them, as far as the pleasures of the garden of Eden were concerned, all because they had let Satan deceive them.

The Lord gave to the children of Israel the Ten Commandments to be governed by as a nation because he saw that for them to get along well they would have to have a law by which to be governed. In that law he told them where the safe ways of life were, and the dangerous ones were. He knew they were going to face some dangers that they could not see until they were in them and as a loving father he wanted them to know where they were, that they might miss them, and there by not have to experience the trouble that would follow if they did not get in them. We can see here why he did not want them to have any other God. Adam and Eve fared fine until Satan came in as their instructor, then trouble followed. So it was with them, as long as the Lord led them they succeeded, but when Satan was instructor, they failed, and trouble followed.

The Lord knew that those dangers were there, and if they had listened to him they would have missed them, but they listened to Satan and into the dangers they were carried.

Paul in speaking of this in Hebrews 3:19, said, "So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief." Paul's statement here is true concerning what they did that kept them from entering in was their unbelief. Certainly if they had believed that God would have given them victory over giants and possession of their land, they never would have wanted to go back to Egypt where they had been slaves four hundred years, and take the risk of having to endure the punishment that it was customary for run away slaves to have to endure.

Dear reader, please notice Heb. 1:1. "Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it." We see that they failed to enter in because of unbelief, as they failed so can we if we ignore the warnings as they did, for the dangers have not been removed, and as long as the signal is there it is foolish not to notice it. What we think about it will not amount to any thing, so far as the results are concerned. They could not enter in because of unbelief and Adam and Eve could not stay in the Garden because of unbelief. We see here that unbelief has not only kept folks out of the good places of life, but has taken them out of the good places of life, and caused them to be placed in the most horrible places with no hope of relief.

It is easily seen from these statements, and many others, that we will not take time and space here to mention that sin is unbelief in action, some way or an other. In short, sin is unbelief. Never mind what our miss-doings may be, we have failed to believe God some way or an other.

Why is it sin is because we have let some one, who is not interested in our welfare, deceive us and get our affection. My friend, if you are a parent, just think of the awfulness of your own child not having any confidence in you. Can we wonder that bad things happen to us that will treat him that way. Yes, it is sin to treat Christ that way, after He has done so much for us.

That is not the only reason that it is sin. It is sin because of unmerciful dealings with the innocent. Sin was the cause of Abel's death. Sin was the cause of Daniel being cast into the lions den, and of the male children of the Hebrews being killed. Sin is the cause of Christ being crucified and of the many other things too numerous to take time and space here to mention.

Sin was the cause of Cain having to endure what he said he couldn't bear. But he had it to bear. Sin was the cause of the old world being destroyed. Can we imagine the horribleness of that? Yes, it is sin because it will put you where you cannot get help. I don't care what your need might be. Yes, because it is sin that has had possession of you, you can get where God will not help you, as great as his love is and has been for you. We know that the people wanted help when they saw the flood coming, but they did not get it. We know the people of Sodom wanted help when they saw the fire, but they did not get it. Sin was the cause of the rich man lifting up himself in torment, and he begged for help, but he did not get it.

Sin is that which will separate us from

God and all that is good in this world, and in the world to come. Be wise, dear reader, and treat it as though it were the most dangerous thing facing you today. There is nothing in this world more dangerous. "The day thou eatest there of thou shalt surely die." It is what God told Adam. The critics may say what they please concerning the truth of the statement, but Adam died to the pleasures of that Garden that day, because the word tells us that he became fearful and tried to hide himself. Ezek. 18:4, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." This does not mean just passing out of this world; but a separation from God until there is a pardon granted.

May God help you to see the dangers of sin, dear reader, is my prayer. Any one wanting my services as a minister will write me at 1008 W. Lafayette St., Quitman, Ga. Would be glad to render any service possible.

BIBLE CONFERENCE Free Will Baptist Bible College April 23-27, 1950

April 23rd through the 27th are the dates for the annual Spring Bible Conference to be held at the Free Will Baptist Bible College. These Bible Conferences have been an inspiration and great help to the many who have attended them over the past years. We have brought to the Conference as speakers some of the best preachers of our denomination. This year we have a splendid Conference program arranged which will be a blessing and an inspiration to all who attend.

Some pastors have written in already and asked for the dates of the Bible Conference this year in order that they might not schedule revivals on these dates. We think this is a splendid idea and trust that all our pastors will clear their calendar for this week and attend the Conference. We also invite the young people of our church to visit the College and attend the Bible Conference. A little later on a theme for the Conference will be announced in our church papers. Watch for this announcement and let us know if you plan to attend.

Amos Attacks Social Injustice

(Lesson for April 23)

LESSON: Amos 4:1-2; 6:1-6; 8:4-7.

GOLDEN TEXT: Amos 5:15.

I. Heart of the Lesson

1. God may say "Hear", but that is no proof that those addressed will pay any heed (Amos 4:1).

2. God has sworn an oath of blessing upon Abraham and his posterity, but also an oath of a curse upon the disobedient; He will keep both of them (vs. 2).

3. It is a shame for Christians to be idle when they see the workings of evil all around them (6:1).

4. The evidence of God's fearful judgments in the past fail to make any impression upon some people (vs. 2).

5. The day of reckoning, which we put far into the future, may be much nearer than we think (vs. 3).

6. It is sinful to indulge ourselves in sensual pleasures, especially if thereby we oppress those who are poorer than we (vs. 4).

7. It is not sinful to sing and to make music, but it is sinful if these things are used for evil purposes (vs. 5).

8. It is sinful to become drunk, but even more so if thereby we cause hardships for others (vs. 6).

9. The indulgence prompted by greed will serve only to increase greed manifold (8:5).

10. God has a wonderful memory; He remembers all who have believed on him and forgets their sins, but He also remembers all the evil deeds of the unbelievers (vs. 7).—Selected.

11. It is possible for an unsaved labor leader to harm the members of his own union and the public in general as much as a greedy, unsaved industrialist.

12. "The wealthy ladies of Samaria are here called 'kine of Bashan' because they live a life of pure animal existence, proudly and contentedly going their own way, resenting interference, and intent solely upon their own food and enjoyment."—Driver. The country of Bashan was a fertile region lying east of the Jordan River and north of the Jarmuk. It was noted for its fine pastures. The words "their masters" ("their lords" RV), that is, their husbands are meant here. These wealthy ladies of Samaria urged their husbands to bring strong drink to them that they may indulge in senseless reveling together. Amos condemned them for their oppression of the poor and the needy, and he told them that the day would come when the Lord would visit upon them severe punishment. (4:1-2)—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

13. Here is defiant lethargy. "What do I care"; "take thine ease"; "thou hast much goods laid up for many years" (Luke 12:19)—these are the cries. Prosperity and wealth are dangerous. They are likely to make one proud and selfish (Ps. 73:6, 12). No one has a right to spend his money on luxuries as ivory beds. No one has a right to waste his time just because he must not work for a living. No one has a right to spend his money for dainties. Everyone is owned by God by right of creation (Acts 17:28), and because Jesus Christ purchased every one with His own blood (I Cor. 6:19, 20) we are not our own. Our money and our time and our very selves all belong to God. (6:1-6)—Sel.

14. They were continually looking forward to the time when they might cheat and defraud the working people. But they did observe the laws and customs of their people. The new moon was observed as a holy day by custom, not by divine law. The sabbath was strictly holy, but they were so eagerly covetous that they grudgingly gave the Lord and their couls the seventh day of the week. No doubt they spent the Sabbaths and other holy days laying plans for taking the laborers' earnings from him. (8:4-7)—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

"God Is Not Mocked"!

An irreligious farmer in one of the western states, who gloried in his irreligion, wrote a letter to a local newspaper, in these words:

"Sir: I have been trying an experiment with a field of mine. I plowed it on Sunday. I planted it on Sunday. I cultivated it on Sunday. I reaped it on Sunday. I carted the crop home to the barn on Sunday. And now, Mr. Editor, what is the result? I have more bushels to the acre from the field than any of my neighbors have this October."

He expected applause from the editor, who was not a particularly religious man himself. But when he opened the paper the next week, there, sure enough, was his letter printed just as he had sent it, but underneath it was the short but significant sentence:

"God does not always settle His account in October."—Moody Monthly.

Meeting Death

The French nurse who was present at the deathbed of Voltaire, being urged to attend an Englishman whose case was critical, said: "Is he a Christian?" "Yes," was the reply, "he is, a Christian in the highest and best form of the term—a man who lives in the fear of God; but why do you ask?" "Sir," she answered, "I was the nurse who attended Voltaire in his last illness, and for all the wealth of Europe I would never see another infidel die."—Rev. Geo. F. Pentecost, D. D.

Announcement

This is to announce that I expect to be in a position to render some pastoral service next year. I am not discontinuing my connection with the Free Will Baptist Press, but, owing to some changes which we contemplate, I plan to have some time to devote to pastoral activities. I shall be open and happy to arrange with any church which might desire my service within reasonable driving distance of Ayden. Address Box 244, Ayden, N. C.

Advancing April's Ambition

Mrs. J. E. Frazier
Nashville 2, Tenn.
Box 965

Thought: Youth—consecrated, trained, on fire!

"If someone were to give me a sum of money that he wanted to be used for real missionary work, and asked me whether it would be sent directly to the foreign fields or used in a Christian school for the training of missionaries, I would without any hesitation place the money in the school for the training of young lives that it might later be multiplied in consecrated missionary service through the years," said A. B. Simpson.

If you would like to have a part in this worthy plan of advancement with Christ through your Christian women enlisted and trained in missionary education, then volunteer your services to the second vice president of the Woman's Auxiliary in your church to organize a Young Peoples' Auxiliary. In this way you can help her and all the young women and girls in your church advance April's ambition. This is a golden opportunity for age to invest in youth with a message of life!

It is so easy for us to be competent and satisfied with past or present attainments and fail to be awake to the opportunities that are before us. If all our young people attend every service—Sunday School, morning and evening worship, and the league—they will have spent only four hours each week in religious education and possibly one-fourth of that is not missionary education. Compare that 4 hours with the time given to their mental and physical education. Is 4 hours enough time to give to the soul culture and the world vision of future Free Will Baptist leaders and workers? If no more than this is done, is it any wonder that our average church member is so unconcerned and indifferent about giving so little to the support of missions? If no more than this is done, is it any wonder, or any just cause for complaint that our young people grow up feeling that religion is just for Sunday? When will Free Will Baptists wake up to the fact that young people hold the key position in the modern strategy of missions here and everywhere? When will we wake up to the fact that young people can and will do their work with spiritual dignity and efficiency whenever they are properly enlisted, and given an opportunity to serve in their church? Can you recall the joy, the challenge, and the seriousness with which the young people accepted the various responsibilities in your church? Or are you still in that group which believes in the young ones being seen and not heard in the church?

The deep loyalty young people can have and have their sincere willingness to help carry the church burdens is only revealed when the church makes a place for her young people to receive missionary education and training. Young Peoples' Auxiliaries held on some week day can mean so much in promoting God's kingdom and in enlisting people for the work of the Lord.

May every member of the Woman's Auxiliary help gladly in Advancing April's Ambition number 1.—organizing a Y. P. A. in every church where there is now an adult auxiliary. A woman's Auxiliary that is adult minded and takes no thought of the missionary education of the young people in her church is an auxiliary with a past but no future. Certainly there can be no real appreciation of our being "Laborers together" on the Jesus Way if the young people are not traveling with the women.

The hope for a world of peace and good will among men depends upon the Christians of the world. The young people of today, as the men and women of tomorrow, will lead in the way they are being directed today. So the fulfillment of the hopes for a Christian world tomorrow lies in the hands of Christian men and women. It is not a matter of chance, but a matter of choice, a choice for each Woman's Auxiliary.

On missionary education depends the future of missions, and not on drives or campaigns for money goals. Because formation of habits begin at baby's birth and the development of attitudes towards principles and people begins in the home with the tot who reflects what he sees and hears, missionary education must begin there too. It is so important, therefore, that all the young mothers be enlisted in the Woman's Auxiliary activities in the church, for all Christian mothers must realize that the fundamentals of prayer, the study of God's Word and His world, the practice of stewardship of possessions and missionary services rendered personally in one's own community must be expressed through their daily lives, must be allowed "to glow with character" for the teaching and example in the home form the beginning of the missionary education of the child which is further promoted by the women of the church through the auxiliary which by its plan of work encourages the young people to follow the Christ whom they have accepted as Lord and Saviour, in service around His world.

To that end prayer will be faithfully observed at home and everywhere opportunity is given, missionary literature subscribes to and read in the home, missionary giving taught and practices in the home as each is taught to tithes. Missionary witnessing in all the experience of daily life, and missionary encouragement will be given by co-operating in every activity for growth provided by the Woman's Auxiliary through auxiliary organizations for young people.

"Together" is a wonderful word, and Woman's Auxiliary members working together with the second vice president whose personal responsibility it is to direct young peoples' auxiliaries, can in a truth set forward missions by enthusiastic activities that put first things first.

As the young people meet week after week, they will be listening to stories of people who have never heard of Jesus, praying earnestly for the missionaries, giving that others may know Christ, helping willingly to reach the needy in their own community, planning and training for service for Christ when they grow up. You, then, will also surely be advancing your ambition number one, dear Auxiliary members!

REPORT OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF POCAHONTAS FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH, POCAHONTAS, ARK.

There has been quite a bit of enthusiasm manifested in the newly organized Woman's Auxiliary of Pocahontas Free Will Baptist Church since its organization in January. It met in its third meeting on Monday evening, March 20, at the home of Mrs. Lafe Atkins with thirty members and one visitor present. There was an increase of 4 in membership.

An interesting program was rendered on the subject: "Advancing with Christ in Cuba." Mrs. Veral Jones was in charge of the program. The latest news was given concerning our Mission work and prayer was offered in behalf of our missionaries. We were favored with a vocal solo by Miss Helen Jones Counts.

Plans were made for the observance of the week before Easter. Mrs. Lafe Atkins, 5th vice-president, suggested that the auxiliary give a grocery shower to an elderly couple who were both sick. This was heartily endorsed by the auxiliary and it was decided that all groceries be brought to the prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

Mrs. Robert Counts, second vice-president, gave an encouraging report of the young people's auxiliary. She reported that the Intermediates were planning to present the religious drama, "The Challenge of the Cross," on Easter Sunday night.

After the business session, delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wesley Bennett, Monday evening, April 17, at 7:30.

ST. MARY'S AUXILIARY MAKES REPORT WILSON COUNTY, N. C.

The meeting was called to order by the president, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, and the roll was called. Mrs. Harvey Pittman had charge of the program. The theme was "Advancing with Christ in Cuba." The devotional scripture reading was taken from Isaiah 54:2, 3. Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Leslie Raper, Miss Sarah Adams, and Mrs. George Taylor. Following the program, the old and new business matters were transacted.

Reverend G. C. Joyner, the pastor of the church, was in charge of the installation of the officers for the coming year. Then the meeting was closed with the members singing hymn, "God Be with You 'Till We Meet Again." The auxiliary benediction was repeated in unison. The hostess, Mrs. Harvey Pittman, and joint hostess, Mrs. Hardy Pittman, served refreshments to 23 members and 5 guests.

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ANNIE SULLIVAN

On April 29, 1949, God called Aunt Annie to her heavenly home where parting is no more. When she was young she married Hardy Sullivan, and to this union eight children were born. Her husband died before she did, and to the children left behind we point them to God whom she served.

She joined Pleasant Hill church when young, and lived a faithful Christian life until death. Her seat was never vacant when she was able to attend. She was sick about a year with the dreadful disease cancer, but one day the blessed Lord said, "It's finished, come up higher."

Her funeral was preached on Sunday, May 1, 1949, at Pleasant Hill Church by her pastor, G. C. Joyner, to a large crowd of friends and relatives after which she was laid to rest beneath a beautiful mound of flowers.

We weep not as those who have no hope, but we bow in humble service to his holy will.

DON'T FORGET YOUR SOUL

By Mrs. Mat Cox

As one goes forth from day to day, either preparing for future life as a student, or as a laborer at some job, he often forgets his soul. One of the easiest things in life is to become so engrossed in the temporal things in which one is engaged until the soul is neglected.

A person should think very often of the great question of the Master, when He said, "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" (Mk. 8:36). The soul of man is the pearl of great price, yet the masses of humanity treat it as though it were worthless. If you are a student in school, and having come to the years of accountability and responsible before God, then you are responsible for your soul. Therefore, don't forget your soul. When you go about your studies, remember that knowledge can never keep your soul from destruction. No one has ever been accepted of God because of great learning. If learning could have given a person a place in God's kingdom, then Saul of Tarsus certainly would have been accepted without repentance, or a change of heart. His learning did not make him acceptable before the Lord as satisfying the need of his soul. He had to repent before the Lord, and to turn from the course in which he was following. Every sinner will have to do the same thing before he is made right before God, for God is no respecter of persons.

Regardless as to the vocation in life one may have, that person needs God. He needs to have his soul cleansed by the atoning blood of Jesus Christ. Otherwise, that person will be eternally lost. One may be poor in this world's goods, but if he neglects his soul, he will miss heaven. If a person is making much money and neglects his soul, then he will be in danger of eternal damnation. He will be shut out of heaven in that great day.

Think how awful it will be for a person to come before God after this life is over, and to be turned down because he failed to live a Christian life. It will be too bad that he will fail to receive a crown of life and a mansion in heaven. Think of it! The thing to do is to prepare to meet God. F'ternity is coming some day, and we will have to face it, either prepared or unprepared. What will you do about it?

PATMOS REVIVAL

Patmos F. W. B. Church is happy to report a successful revival which was held from March 12 through 17, with Rev. E. C. Morris bringing the messages. Although there were not any new members, yet I can say that we had the most inspiring messages anyone would wish to hear.

May I pass these subjects on to our Baptist readers. They are as follows: God's Question to Man—"Where Art Thou?"; Jesus' Question to Man—"What do you Think of Jesus?"; Man's Question—"What Shall I Do with Jesus?"; "How shall we Escape?"; Every One's Question—"What Will Jesus Do with Us?"

I believe that if everyone would study this last question, and then study their life, they can readily answer the question for themselves. If we are living in sin, there is but one we are living for, and that is Satan. We do know what he has prepared for us, everlasting fire. If we are all children of God, and living daily for him, then we have a glorious picture of eternal life which we will enjoy in heaven with the Lord.

I do wish more people could have heard these splendid sermons which Brother Morris brought to those who attended these services. We are always happy to have Brother Morris with us, and we are looking forward to his being with us again for a revival meeting.

MIDWAY F. W. B. CHURCH CALLS NEW PASTOR

The Reverend G. W. Price of Phenix City, Alabama, has been called to the Midway F. W. B. Church, Roanoke, Alabama. The Midway Church at Roanoke was organized in 1949, and it is making splendid progress. The membership of the church has purchased a large lot on which to erect a church building.

We are urging all Free Will Baptist people living near Roanoke to attend the services of this church, and to unite with the membership there. We feel that Brother Price will prove to be a fine leader, as he has during the sixteen years of his past ministry. He is widely known as pastor and evangelist. He is also the pastor of Spring Hill Church near Geneva, Georgia, where they have already built a new church building since he went there last October. Brother Price is still living in Phenix City, and anyone who desires to write to him should address their letters to Rev. G. W. Price, Route 2, Box 245-B, Phenix City, Ala.

We are asking that the Christian people pray for the success of this new church.

THE BIBLE . . .

The Inspired Word of God

one else has prepared. Such food may be all right for invalids and dyspeptics, but the sound, healthy men needs pure wholesome food. If we would get the rich, wholesome food from Heaven, we should study God's word for ourselves. The word of God can not be studied by proxy, it must be studied first hand, by precept and example. Let the Bible speak to you for itself, listen to its voice. If the Bible is the issue, then let it speak for itself. Let it give its own account of how it came to be, as in 2 Timothy 3:16. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrines, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." 2 Peter 1:19-21, "We have also a more sure word of prophecy whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place until the day dawn and the day star arise in your hearts. Knowing this first that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy come not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."

The Christian should approach the Bible as a unique Book. A man is above the animals of the earth, so is the Bible above other books. All other animals are made for a blessing to man, but man is created for a blessing to God. All other books are human; the Bible is divine. All other books are man-wrought, the Bible is God-breathed. Our books are the product of the human understanding; the Bible is the result of the movings in the hearts of holy men by the Holy Spirit of God. The Bible is not like the books of our religions; they are comparative; the Bible is not in that class. It stands alone. The Bible is not a book, it is "The Book." For this reason it is impossible to read the Bible as you read other books. One can read the Bible as he reads other books only when other books make the same claims that the Bible makes for itself. You ask me to look on the Bible as any other Book? You might as well ask me to look on every other woman as I look upon my wife. I can not do it. I will not do it. My wife is mine, your wife is yours. Other books are the product of man's understanding. The Bible is the mind of God, calling sinful man to himself. Shakespeare, Milton, Browning, Carlyle, Ruskin, and other noted writers are literary luxury; the Bible is a vital necessity; they are cake, the Bible is bread. Jesus said, "The words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." He says, "The Bible is life-giving and life-sustaining. This cannot be said of any other or all other books in the whole world. The Christian must realize that the Bible is true, it is Scripture, it is inbreathed by the Holy Spirit.

I have been speaking to the Christian, but, unsaved friend, I would be glad if you would listen. Christ said, "I come not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance." Are you a poor helpless sinner? God is speaking to you. Won't you listen to his gentle voice as he pleads with you to step out in faith and accept him as your Saviour and Lord? You have the opportunity now, you may not have it tomorrow. The heart of God is bleeding for you, trust him now. You know you have a spark in your life that is longing for that sweet peace and satisfaction that Christ gives. Why not do it now?

HE LEADS ME

He leads me safely through the night,
His eyes can always see;
I walk by faith and not by sight,
And so He cares for me.

Old Satan is always tempting me,
And if I turned around a little while;
And soon I would be on filthy ground,
For he is shrude some to beguile.

But, if I turn away from sin
And put him in his place;
With Jesus leading, I will win,
When I have run my race.

Is the Teenage Girl Safe?

King David asked long ago, in his paternal anxiety, asked again and again during a great battle: "Is the young man Absalom safe?"

Now parents, pastors and teachers are asking, "Is the young girl safe?"

The unwholesome portrayal of sex problems in the moving pictures and vaudeville; the suggestive and obscene literature and even the publication of the details of scandals in the daily press have created a state of mind in America to-day which is no less than appalling in its effect upon the adolescent.

In addition to these demoralizing influences the automobile and certain commercialized amusements make easy wreckage of many young lives, while youth is only seeking to express itself and to have a good time.

They are being told by false leaders that all normal people, single or married, have the same right to exercise their sex impulses—in fact, many young people are being led to believe they are not normal unless they do.

These same false teachers ridicule clergymen and refined women and all who hold to high American moral standards. No wonder girls and boys think their parents, teachers and pastors are too old fashioned to be taken seriously, and often remark: "Mother is an old dear, but just too good to be human."

In all this moral confusion young people really want to know the truth. They desire to live normal lives and yet to get all the joy out of life possible. They have been led by many of the influences before mentioned to consider the sex impulse as the source of most of the thrills in life, and that all such thrills are legitimate.

Probably the greatest work ever done in New York state for teen-age and High School girls was done by the Girls' Counselor of the Christian Civic League, Mrs. Alfreda J. Howell, who spoke to the girls in the High Schools all over New York State.

While Mrs. Howell was with the Christian Civic League she wrote up the story of some of her many interviews with high school girls, and we have now decided to print in The Civic Bulletin some of those remarkable interviews, the first one in this Bulletin.

Everywhere Mrs. Howell spoke, the girls of the high schools came to her in large numbers to talk over their problems and seek her counsel. Hundreds came with the most intimate and delicate personal questions. Seldom did she have time enough to talk to all the girls who were anxious to see her personally. Often she met from 100 to 250 of these teen-age girls in small group conferences and private interviews in a single day, to which work she often devoted from five to seven hours a day!

So eager are these adolescent girls to talk with a sympathetic mother who understands them and their difficulties that some even followed her to the hotel; often they followed her to the next town, and many wrote her most intimate personal letters asking her advice—letters which reveal a tragedy or a crisis in the girl's life and her urgent need of immediate wise counsel.

In the conference room often small groups of the girls met and talked with Mrs. Howell. Perhaps one girl having high ideals meets her greatest difficulty in living up to her own convictions and the moral standards of her home because of the influence of the other girls of her "bunch" or "gang." Here in these little groups interviews they were able to discuss all of their problems and often the entire group was inspired to accept the higher standard of morals.

Few parents realize the tragic need of our young people and the terrific pressure brought to bear upon them, as it was revealed to Mrs. Howell in her conference room in a single day. Youth is wholesome at heart. They need help. They want help and their response is wholesome when such help is given. Mrs. Howell did this great work nearly ten years for the Christian Civic League. She is now living in California.—The Civic Bulletin.

universality in scope and result! Luke outlines the order of procedure: "Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and to the uttermost part of the earth." John states the spiritual qualifications, and demands: "As my Father hath sent Me, even so I send you." When He showed them His hands, He showed them the greatness of His loving heart. The Christ of the Cross was not only the message of the Apostles, but it was their Motive, their Aim and Goal. How very simple and terrible John puts it, "He laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1st John 3:16). And the Apostle Peter thinks it a matter of course that the Christians scattered abroad, Jews, and Gentiles, should endure fiery trials. "If any man suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed" (1st Peter 4:16a). Those who shared the suffering of Christ would be partakers of His glory.

Since the beginning of evangelism, prayer has been the secret of power, and perseverance and victory. All the great missionaries were, first of all, great in their prayer life. Paul teaches us what intercessory prayer can be and should be. Compact sentences weighty in thought and deep emotion, comprehensive in spiritual insight, wrestling against the powers of darkness—such are the prayers of the dauntless apostle, and the result was victory. It was Paul's prayer life that produced the kind of Christians we read of in the New Testament—abounding in every good word and works. If you desire to learn the secret of communion with Christ, read Paul's Epistle. Study his prayers and confession of sins. In such case, to go back to Paul is to go back to Pentecost, and the only dynamic mission. O, how we need this lesson, and none need it more than we preachers!

Make room in your busy life for an experience with God; some day you will find that nothing else counts.

If you want a thing done, ask a busy man to do it. The others have no time.—Elbert Hubbard.

SPRING BRANCH

There are places on earth
Which all hold so dear,
Places that are never forgotten
Whether one goes far or stays near.

I shall never forget this place
In my heart it is molded to stay,
From its influence and its teachings
God help me never to stray.

With the dawn of a bright Sabbath Morning
My heart yet yearns to see,
This place that molded my childhood
And directed my life for me.

Churches are not meager buildings
Buildings of board or brick or stone,
They are tabernacles and places of worship
Where God meets with His very own.

When I first came to Spring Branch
I was only a tiny babe,
Only an innocent sleeping child
Knowing not Christ and His Ways.

In the days of my early childhood
My life was not seriously spent,
I knew not the wishes of God to man
I knew not the meaning of repent.

Many Sunday's I passed the while Listening to the pastor pray,
And deep, deep within my heart
There was a debt I knew I must pay.

So I kept returning each Sabbath Morn
To hear sermons and lessons taught,
I learned to love the dear old place
Today I would not trade it for aught.

For it has become a part of my life
Its meaning words can't reveal,
The memories I cherish of Spring Branch
Are in my heart for only God to unseal.

'Twas here I found the way of life
And learned God's plan for me,
His desire that I should ever help
That others His grace could see.

'Tis here that dwell those people on earth
Which to my heart are ever dear,
Good, God-loving, God-fearing Christian folks
Who ever reveal God's love and cheer.

The love of God is written on their face
They are friendly, understanding and pure,
They make up the band of Christ's workers
Making their paths to heaven straight and sure.

'Tis here that I hear the pastor preach
And the choir sing hymns of praise,
I feel as though I could sit forever
And listen to the everlasting phrase.

May the love of God forever shine
Upon this church so divine.

May it forever be filled with the things
That make this life of mine.

For I shall never forget it
It means more than words can say,
It represents the holy things in life
The love of Christ and His way.

When Christ comes again to this old earth
To receive the church, His Bride,
May Spring Branch be among the first
He welcomes and receives with pride.

Men's Class of Elwood Lane F. W. B. Church

The Men's Bible Class of the Elwood Lane Free Will Baptist church met in the home of Rev. R. W. Allman, on Saturday night, April 8, 1950. The meeting was opened by prayer by Brother W. M. Dean. After which officers were elected as follows:

Brother F. M. Steele was elected president.

Brother G. P. Pulliam was elected secretary.

Brother P. J. Wagner was elected treasurer.

Brother J. E. Knight and Brother C. M. Bumgarner were elected as a welcoming committee.

Brother R. W. Allman and Brother Odell Beam were elected as the program committee.

The following members were present: Rev. R. W. Allman, Brother W. M. Dean, Brother P. J. Wagner, Brother Odell Beam, Rev. Paul Jenkins, Brother George Lambert, Brother J. E. Knight, Bro. J. A. Hayes, Brother G. P. Pulliam, Brother C. M. Bumgarner, Brother F. M. Steele.

We were dismissed in prayer by Brother George Lambert, after which we enjoyed a chicken and fish supper. Our next meeting will be held on the first Saturday night in July. Please pray for our class, and the entire Sunday school.

Just Hobbling About

There are a great many church-members who are just hobbling about on crutches. They can just make out that they are saved, and imagine that is all that constitutes a Christian in this nineteenth century. As far as helping others is concerned, that never enters their heads. They think if they can get along themselves they are doing amazingly well. They have no idea what the Holy Ghost wants to do through them.—D. L. Moody.

FIRST AND SECOND COMING OF CHRIST

N. Borders
Wavevry, Ohio

The first coming of Christ was to bring peace and good will to men; but his second coming will be: "Woe to the inhabitants of the world, for the great day of His wrath is come."

At his first advent, He said, "Come unto me all ye ends of the earth and be ye saved"; but on His return He will say to the wicked, "Depart, ye workers of iniquity, for I never knew you."

At His first appearance, He said, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock"; but when He shall return, you unrepentant sinner will be the one who will knock and the door will not be opened unto you.

The kings of the earth sought to destroy Him, when He first came; but, when He comes again, they will cry for the rocks and the mountains to fall on them, and hide them from the face of Him that sits upon the Throne.

When He first came He said, "Go into my vineyard and work"; but the unprofitable servant will hear the awful words: "Bind him hand and foot, and cast him into outward darkness." At His first coming He made the sick folks well, and the vile He made pure; but when He comes again He will say, "He that is filthy and he that is unrighteous, let him be unrighteous still."

At His first advent. He offered the water of life to all who are thirsty; but if they refuse they will cry for just one drop of water to cool their parched tongue. He came to give that more abundant life, joy and peace, and happiness. The world would have it if only they would go in search of that living water. He said, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, and make His paths straight." But the reason this old world is in such a turmoil today is the fact that millions of people will not have this Christ to rule over them.

The world is trying peace talks, world courts, Brotherhood Weeks, education and armaments, appeasements, and what not; but the world is getting in worse shape all the while. You might as well give a little child a rattler to play with, when it is crying for food, as to try these things to settle the differences of the world by leaving Christ out. This world is seriously in need of Christ to settle the troubles and not some man-made theory.

Jesus said, "If you ask for bread, will you give a stone, or if you ask for a fish, will you give a serpent?" That is about what the world is doing. When the real heart-cry of mankind is for Christ, then people will be looking in the right direction for world peace. If the world would spend one tenth for missions as for war, it would need no standing armies.

After all, I think the Devil is doing his utmost now to deceive the nations for he knows his time is short. I do not think that the Lord would make a beautiful world, and then place man in it to glorify Him, and then let the Devil steal the whole works and let him have it for keeps. Jesus gave the Devil a death blow on Mount Calvary, and launched a D-day, and there has been a battle on ever since. But it will finally end when the Devil and his host will be routed, and put in the bottomless pit, and it sealed over so that they cannot deceive the nations any more.

Did Christ not say that He came to destroy the works of the Devil? Yes, this Jesus, when He was here on earth, was the greatest of all physicians the world ever knew. He not only cleansed the lepers, unstopped the deaf ears, gave sight to the blind, but he healed more broken hearts than all the doctors of the earth. Jesus told the people how to live forever, and He made no charges for His services. He stands with outstretched hands today, pleading, "O sinner, come home, for why will ye die." Yes, He made the sands of Galilee sacred by his blessed foot-prints, and made Mount Calvary the most noted of all mountains. He made the Garden of Gethsemane the most hallowed and the hearts of men most happy.

We will have to admit that man was defeated in the Garden of Eden, when the old serpent beguiled our first parents, and brought a flood of evils on this old earth. But all down the centuries, while the whole world was crushed, bruised, bleeding, mangled, and groaning under the power of Satan, I want to say that upon the Mount of Calvary Jesus gave the old Devil a death blow, and some future day God will cast him into the bottomless pit, and say, "I am alive for ever more."

Then God will call the righteous from the four corners of the globe to come up to meet the Bridegroom in the air, and they will be escorted to the Marriage Supper of the Lamb. My friends, that will be the great V-day for the church of God, when He will give to them the great long white robes, crowns of glory, and palms of victory in their hands. Praise His holy Name!

A HAPPY EASTER DAY

On Sunday morning
So bright and fair,
I'll always remember,
For I was there.

A very little girl
But happy and gay,
Going to Sunday School
On this Easter day.

When our lessons were o'er,
Out the door we slid,
For we knew the eggs
Were already hid.

We had lots of fun,
For an hour or more,
Then we were called back
To the church house door.

And the one who found most
Was to get a prize, you see,
And the big chocolate bunny
Was awarded to me.

So, Easter is a glad day,
For children, you bet,
It's something to remember,
And they'll never forget.

Now, let's strive to be Cheerful, happy and gay,
As each Easter comes near,
And goes on its way.

Just think of the days,
When we were kids,
Looking for the eggs
Which were so snugly hid.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

Beginning the 26 of June and going through August the 5th, a glorious opportunity appears right in the pathway of every young man and young woman who desires to be of special service to the church and our Lord's Christ. It will be at that grand place that many of us have learned to love and appreciate more and more, as we get better acquainted with the institution.

This golden opportunity is brought about by sacrificial efforts of some of our serious minded leaders who have caught the vision that God's work is suffering for a lack of trained workers in the field of Free Will Baptist churches. What shall we do about the trained personnel in the harvest field? is the question that should interest every Free Will Baptist. Well, here is a partial answer:

On the above dates a Christian Workers School is scheduled to begin at Cragmont Assembly, Inc. Not only should the young who desire to be better equipped for service; those who have a desire to be more efficient; those who can and will put their church first; and those who want to be real soul-winners in the harvest field, should take advantage of this school. It is destined to become great if Free Will Baptists will realize the importance of such a work, and get the need so deeply fixed in the heart and soul that we will go down in our pocket and make the financial sacrifice that is required for the support and development of a real summer school that will glorify God. For further information on this subject, you can look out for the news as it comes from Rev. Rashie Kennedy, who has been elected as Dean and teacher, along with Rev. R. H. Jackson, who is to teach in the school.

These ministers are well qualified for such a work. For fear that I might not give the exact qualifications of these young men, I just refer you to the information that is coming first handed to you through special advertising. Look and wait earnestly for the information, and get ready, if possible, to take advantage of this great blessing which is offered to us all from June the 26 to Aug. 5.

NOTICE PARTICULARLY FOR OTHER DATES

There will be something doing just about all summer at Cragmont—"In the Land of the Sky." The Ministers Conference is scheduled for June 5th to the 9th. Young ministers, old ministers, even retired ministers will do well to attend this conference.

You will love each other better, and you will be better prepared to carry on in your special field. The church that you serve will get a greater blessing. Here is another great opportunity—What? Well, it is simple. The preacher that serves a group of churches, should be encouraged by their congregations to go and the group paying for the preacher the cost of the week. Churches send your pastor. He will be a better preacher when he comes back to you. Then you will get the inspiration that comes by a real spiritual message.

We should have not less than 100 ministers at this session. It can be done, if the churches will simply send the minister who is serving them.

Preachers! I know that you cannot afford to ask your church to send you to Cragmont. At least, I believe that the most of you are just a bit too timid to ask it. So I am asking it for you. I know well that I have no way to ask for myself, as my work is too small. I am not asking for myself, but I am pleading that your church will send you.

Then here is another fact. Churches, when you offer this to your minister, don't let him put any little flimsy excuse in the way. Tell him to lay aside these things that can be put away and go. Urge him to go. We need the experience that one gets there. Our church needs the service.

Our churches are deeply interested in better preaching. Most churches are desirous of the best. We have the best doctrine on earth. Why not have the best qualified preachers to put it across in the best manner to reach the lost souls in sin, as well as to edify the believer? No one can learn too much truth. No one can sacrifice too much for the salvation of a lost world.

Preachers, come on and let us get on the altar with our all and do something worth while for our Christ who has done so much for us. God is calling. We have prayed for victory. Now the door is open for Free Will Baptist ministers. Let us walk right in. Amen.

FOOLISH TALKING

I heard a man say, "a negro has no soul." He was opposed to trying to evangelize the African and those of the black race. Well, such talk is not even sensible. Only an ignorant unbeliever could make such a statement. We certainly know that the Bible teaches different from this silly talk. Paul says, "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth" (Acts 17:26).

If the black man had no soul, what would you do with the fellow who is half black and half white. There could only be a half soul. Ignorance comes forth out of the mind of Satan and is grasped by some folks who claim good sense.

Yes, all men have souls, and Christ said, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." Notice that Jesus says "His own soul." There is another class of infidels who say, "Man does not have a soul." D. L. Moody said, "To disbelieve any part of the Bible is an act of infidelity." I know a lot of infidels—people who believe so little of the Bible that it is painful. Praise God, I believe it all.

When Nothing Drops Its Head to Sigh

Mrs. Venie M. Carney

I heard the birds again today,
They seemed to be so free and gay.
I listened, yet I wondered why
They sang, for I could only sigh.

I saw the tall green blades of grass
Wave in the air, and as I passed,
The great oak trees were whistling tunes,
The shrubbery sending forth perfumes.

The crickets jumped from place to place,
Grasshoppers seemed to hide in space.
The bees were finishing their work,
The ants are last their job to shirk.

But all was happy, yet not I,
For I could only sit and sigh.
I couldn't find a single thing
That didn't have some note to sing.

Just then I glimpsed a rose bush—bare,
Except for just one rose hung there.
I saw its petals faded red,
All drooping down to soon be dead.

I stood alone there by this rose,
It seemed together there we chose
To wait for brighter days ahead,
For now we both were facing dread.

To wait for joy to come again,
And take away the grief and pain.
"Dear God, please strengthen; give me grace
For every trial here I face.

I know that Thou alone can heal
The wounds of sorrow that I feel.
Please help me Lord, not to complain
When things go wrong and I am pained.

For like the rose I wish to be,
Just willing Lord, to trust in Thee
For brighter days ahead that lie,
When nothing drops its head to sigh."

THIS IS MICHIGAN ON THE MOVE

H. E. Willis, Th.G.

The third Quarterly Meeting of the Wolverine Association for this year met at the Highland Park Church, March 30 through the 1st of April. This was indeed a great service. All eight of our churches were represented. Dr. Clarence H. Benson, Executive Secretary of the Evangelical Teacher Training Association spoke on Thursday evening. Rev. Tom Malone, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Pontiac, spoke on Friday night. Local pastors preached at other times during the sessions. Two men were ordained as deacons at the Saturday service. Rev. H. E. Willis was moderator.

Rev. Harold A. Pitts, pastor of Brilliant, Ala., is now preaching in a revival at the First Free Will Baptist Church of Hazel Park. Interest is good and the messages very inspiring.

The Breckenridge Church, Rev. Everett D. Hellard, pastor, will sponsor a Teachers' School beginning on Monday, April 17. Rev. H. E. Willis will be in charge, assisted by Rev. Raymond Riggs. A school closed on March 27 at the Hazel Park Church with 40 certificates of credit granted and two Teachers Certificates.

Rev. Edgil Howard has resigned as pastor of the Philadelphia Church, and his successor has not yet been selected. Mr. Howard is continuing to carry on the pastoral duties until the new pastor is called. Under Rev. Howard's leadership the church has grown in every respect. A building has been purchased, a new $8,000.00 building site bought, and a fine program put into operation. May the blessings of the Lord be with Brother Howard in his new work.

Since Rev. Mark Lewis resigned as pastor of the First Church in Owensboro last January they have not been able to find a minister. This is a good opportunity for someone who is interested in the work.

The West Wayne Church is on the move! Rev. W. T. Newsome is pastor. Their Sunday school is growing by leaps and bounds. Ms. Claude Pinkston is the efficient Supt.

The Highland Park Church has completed their $33,000.00 addition and was crowded out at the Easter Services; Rev. Raymond Riggs, pastor. The Lord has raised up a fine young preacher in this church recently, Van Paschall.

Our church in River Rouge is planning to build soon. Rev. S. H. Lilly is pastor. The church in Flint is still operating with Rev. Geo. Warren, pastor. Rev. Warren has been in bad health for some time and is not able to carry on a full time program.

Our churches are over the top for Missions! We have already gone beyond the $3,500.00 quota set for us to be raised by July. Of course we hope to continue to give. Rev. H. E. Willis, pastor of Hazel Park Church, is Missions Director.

IS GAMBLING A SIN? IF SO, WHY SO?

Gambling is contrary to the Golden Rule of Christ who said, "Do unto others as you would that others should do unto you." Gambling is contrary to the Ten Commandments, one of which says, "Thou shalt not steal." Stealing is taking something from another without giving a proper equivalent therefor—unless it is a gift; but the loss in a bet is not a gift by the loser to the winner.

Gambling is a parasitic activity and a Christian cannot be a parasite. Here is a gambling test as outlined in an English booklet:

(1) Does the action you are considering issue from a good or evil state of mind? (2) Does it express a good or an evil principle? (3) Does it produce good or evil results?

From the economic standpoint we are justified in taking money from another only if we have earned it by labor, or if we give to him its equivalent, or if we accept it as a token of affection.

Business is acquisitive in motive but it produces as well, while gambling scatters abroad. Business, of course, involves some risk, but it is risk which is by every device possible reduced to a minimum. The gambler says that he is purchasing a thrill, but it is a false thrill involving reaction, and it is a thrill which, when realized, is offset by the disappointment of someone else.

Wherever gambling is tolerated good citizens find it a menace to prosperity and good order. A joint committee appointed by the Irish Free State government, which semi-officially conducts the Irish Lottery, reported: "The gambling craze has affected all persons in receipt of unemployment benefits and home assistance, and the total results are demoralizing, disorderly, uneconomic, thriftless."

The Dublin Mercantile Association stated to the Free State government: "We view with concern the amount of gambling in the Irish Free State which diverts both energy and money from Commerce and causes great disturbance to the public mind." The Cork Chamber of Commerce council declared:

"We deplore the growth of the habit of betting which has been stimulated by increased facilities, and we urge the government to check the evil."

The "Times" declared that: "The betting shops in the back streets are crowded from morning till night; the influence is an increasing course of want, dishonesty and idleness."

The American people may well congratulate themselves that they are not cursed by National or State lotteries, though some States do legalize some kinds of gambling, which is a disgrace and to their moral and economic injury.—The Civic Bulletin.

Correction

An error appeared in the March 29 issue of the Baptist paper in the article on page 5, entitled "Easter." Mrs. Damon C. Dodd's name should have been inserted in the place of Mrs. Mary R. Conrad. Mrs. Conrad's name was the only one at the end of the article where the lines of poetry were attached to it; therefore, the editor thought Mrs. Conrad was the writer of the article. We regret that this error occurred, though it was beyond our knowledge.—Ed.

Taking in the Heart

A. C. Spellman

"Say not in thine heart."

It is the unspoken word spoken in the heart that God often hears better than some things we utter. We are prone to think because we leave the words unspoken they don't count. What we think in our hearts is seen in our character. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he."

The inward man is after all the real man. We only see each other through the veil of our bodies. What a revelation there will be some day when every one will stand before the gaze of the whole universe just as he or she really is!

While you harbor fears and doubt or bitter thoughts in your heart, remember, you are talking these things in your heart, and God hears just as readily as though you spoke them with your lips—you cannot be full of joy and peace in the Holy Ghost. This issue from a different source and they cannot abide in the heart at the same time.

The reason more Christians are not filled with the Holy Ghost is because they do not guard their hearts. They need a good washing and cleansing by the precious Blood of Jesus. When all defilement is repudiated all debris is washed away by the Blood of Jesus. He the Holy One, has control.

The enemy of our souls can not keep the Holy Spirit with all His fullness out of our lives when we plead the precious shed Blood of Jesus as our cleansing from all sin, as little as you can keep the light out of a room when the windows are open, or rain from coming into the house when the roof is off. He takes full possession, He rules and reigns when we are willing to make a clean sweep and give Him full possession of our hearts. Remember, "Say not in thine heart." God looketh on the heart. He hears what the heart says, and when we repudiate sin and plead His shed Blood for our cleansing (I John 1:9), will He not take possession? See Revelation 3:20; I Corinthians 6:19.

Yes, He will come in.

God's Spirit Not Always Striving with Man

Tom West
Plymouth, N. C.
Route 1

"And the Lord said My spirit shall not always strive with man."—Gen. 6:3. And he will not let his children be tempted more than they can bear, for he has prepared the way of escape. He has his eye on his chosen ones. He knows the deep secrets of the heart. He knew that after the creation every thing fulfills its place except man. Man's heart was full of evil and lust of worldly things. We know that God loved man because he was made after the image of God.

After God saw how evil man was, he repented that he made him. God said, "I will destroy all wickedness from the earth." Yet there was one man who was in full submission to God. He was a man the scriptures said walked with God, and was faithful, Noah. God said, "My spirit shall not always strive with man." God had never failed to fulfill his promise. He promised Abraham that his seed would be in great numbers upon the earth. Abraham believed God, and was counted righteous, and Noah obeyed and his family was saved.

Moses was able to lead the children of Israel through the red sea by being submissive to God's will. He was able to feast on the manna that God sent from heaven to sustain life. He was an eye witness to see quail caught by human hands. He was able to smite the rock at the command of God and it gave water. He put the brazen serpent on a pole as an emblem of God's power. He was the one who said "All that is on the Lord's side come over," yet he was just a man, subject to a mistake. We find his mistake was fatal. God told him to speak to the rock and receive water. But Moses failed to obey God's word, using unnecessary energy. He smote the rock, and God said, "Moses, you have failed to sanctify in the eyes of these people. And you cannot go into that promised land, the land that flows with milk and honey." We can find every proof in both the Old and New Testaments where God has never been slack to his promises. We see Paul as he stands before Felix and the Spirit was striving with King Agrippa, and he said, "Thou almost persuaded me to be a Christian." We have no record of the next convenient day, so the Spirit had parted and Agrippa was doomed.

Last, but not least, we have the poor beggar who was laid at the rich man's gate, desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table. Often God's Spirit will come in many different ways. It might be in a tragedy to some friend or loved one, it might be through some hardship or even through the prayer of some good saint, but if we fail, his word will stand, and he surely said, "My spirit will not all ways strive with man."

He who does not understand your silence will probably not understand your words.—Elbert Hubbard.

YOUTH SEEKING TO KNOW THE TRUTH

The youth of the church today are seeking more adequate knowledge concerning spiritual things. A great many of the teen-age girls and boys in the search of deeper truth of the fundamental teachings of the Bible than is generally obtained through reading religious books, the study of the Sunday School lessons, or the messages that they hear from the pulpits in general. They are seeking to be informed by Bible scholars the correct meaning of a great many doctrinal teachings of the Word of God, as for example: the Doctrine of the Holy Spirit and His works; the Doctrine of Satan and his power and influence over individuals; the Doctrine of Hell and Endless Punishment; the Doctrine of Regeneration; the Doctrine of Universal Love; the Doctrine of God's Eternal Judgement, etc.

They have inquiring minds to seek for the source, meaning and ultimate end of those divine things. They are to be carefully and safely taught, therefore, by well-informed Bible scholars concerning such spiritual truths, so that they will not be misled as to the real meaning of such Bible truths, nor to become skeptical of the real and full meaning which God has intended everyone to get from those Bible truths. It behooves the pastors, the Sunday School teachers, the Bible school teachers and leading lay workers in the local churches to do their part well by imparting unto the youth religious teachings which will adequately inform them of those fundamental doctrines of the Word of God.

Moreover, in cases where the youth are being well instructed concerning these spiritual matters, they are showing a deep concern for the work of the church, and for the salvation of the young people who are not saved in their church and community. In a great many sections of the country, it is being shown now that wherever youth movements for Christ are being sponsored and supported by the older church people of the local churches, those Christian young people are really doing things for the cause of Christ in their localities.

On the other hand, it may be expected that, in those communities where the youth are neglected by the adult church people, and are not shown nor taught the truths of the Bible adequately by the well informed, when such Bible questions arise in their minds, indeed it may be expected that a great many of those young people will become cold and indifferent concerning certain fundamental teachings of the Bible, and also negligent toward their church relationships. Is it not right that they should be taught the truth of the Bible? Should their searching questions be ignored by the pastor, the Bible School teachers, the lay leaders of the church? To the minds of a great many of them, they are certain scriptural teachings that seem to be contradictory and absurd. They want to know how to study and to compare, and analyze the teachings that seem to be confusing to their minds. The way for this to be done adequately is for the qualified Bible scholars of their churches and Sunday Schools to give them lectures and teachings of clarification of these portions of scripture that seem to confuse their minds. They should not be turned away by the adult members of the church, when they are sincere in their search for the truth of God's word.

The great command is: "Search the Scriptures;" become acquainted with their purpose and meaning; appropriate their use to your own daily living, and seek to impart such truths unto others that they too may become informed and thereby receive a great blessing.

The greatest joy that can come to any young people of the church is the knowing the Word of God in a good way, and the doing things in their church and community for the religious life of that community. There are innumerable things that they can and will do for the cause of Christ in their church, Sunday School, Young People's League, and other local church organizations if they are encouraged and given opportunity by the older church people to do it. They by nature want to be doing things, and when they are full of zeal to do Christian works, they certainly should be encouraged, properly taught, and then enthusiastically supported by all the church people in the good things which they need to do for the religious advancement of their community. Happy are they who rejoice in doing things for the Master's cause.

Middlesex Orphanage

Orphanage Operational Expenses Cut in 1949

When an annual summary of our operations here at the home was prepared during the earlier part of this year for the year 1949, we noted with interest how it compared with the report for the year 1948. We were pleased to see that in 1949 it cost more than $8,750.00 less to operate the home during the past year than in 1948. This represents a reduction of approximately 15% in cost of operation, a substantial decrease when we consider that during the same period of time living cost in the United States was reduced only about 2½%. During this period we not only reduced operational cost but we also cared for an average of five more children during 1949 than in 1948. The cost per child per day's care at the Home in 1948 was $2.37 while in 1949 it was $1.90, a saving of $.47 per child per day to the institution.

We find that this reduced cost of operation during the past year was realized as a result of several factors. (1) It was realized that our orphanage is not only a home provided by Free Will Baptist throughout the State to care for orphan boys and girls but it is also a business. We did and still believe that it is and should be the business of the administration and Board of Trustees of the Home to operate it as efficiently as possible. This we have tried to do, because we owe it to our thousands of friends and supporters and to ourselves.

(2) By employing only the necessary help here at the Home and making some adjustment in salaries, there was a decrease in the amount spent for salaries in each of the divisions of administration, institutional care of children and in plant operation and maintenance. Practically all hired help was avoided on the farm and in the other phases of the work. Only that which we could not do was hired done.

(3) A saving of more than $3,000.00 on food purchases was realized during 1949 over 1948. A part of this saving resulted from the slight reduction in general food cost, however, the majority resulted from the practice of buying as much of the food as possible wholesale prices instead of at retail prices.

(4) The cost of fuel, gasoline, electricity, etc., was more than $1,000.00 less in 1949 than in 1948. This was realized as the result of a definite effort to make more efficient uses of those products.

We find that although it cost us much less to actually operate the Home during the last year than it did in 1948, it cost us more to get out and get the money with which to operate the home. Three Concert Classes were maintained on the field during the past year during the summer months. We know that our people look forward to our children visiting their churches during the summer months, and we are glad you do, but it is often both tiring and strenuous on the child to be on tour of the churches for three months in succession during the summer.

Our cost for education were slightly higher during the past year because we had more children in school to pay fees for, and too, a number of our children have had the opportunity to take music for the first time during this year. We believe that money spent to help develop the children's talents is spent wisely, because one of our purposes is to provide training for our boys and girls that will enable them to develop into useful men and women.

We were able to invest several thousand dollars in new buildings during the year, adding to the value of our plant here. We are anxiously hoping and working toward finishing our boy's cottage and the church during the year—your help is needed!

We are hoping and praying that this year—1950—will be the best year in the history of our institution. Let us all join together and work toward this end. We believe that our hearts will be made glad in our Master's Service if we will remember that "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."—Matt. 25:40.

MARCH RECEIPTS FOR 1950

Note: Receipts have been mailed to each individual auxiliary or person contributing but totals here are shown for all amounts from each church, regardless of organization through which it came for the period covered. Our books and files are open at all times for inspection or checking for any particular receipt. Receipts reaching our office later than Saturday, April 1, will appear in the April report.

FELIX CRUZ, FAITHFUL CHRISTIAN WORKER

If it were possible for you who have prayed for the Cuban mission to come personally in touch with our Cuban Christians and see their simple faith and God's answer to that faith, you would feel that your praying and giving has been well invested.

Felix Cruz, the man whom I want you to know, was born in the Canary Islands. He came to Cuba as an orphan at the age of fourteen. He is a very fine looking man of about sixty-five now with snow white hair and has been converted about two years. Nothing pleases him more than to talk about the Lord to every one he meets. I spent two days with Felix on a trip into the mountains, where he had spent a large part of his life, and was now bringing back to his people your missionaries for the first time.

Last Christmas Eve one of Felix's boys went to the highway to meet his brother who was coming home from Pinar del Rio to spend Christmas with the family. As Felix sat on the porch meditating the thought came to him that since it was Christmas Eve there would be much drunkenness and reckless driving. He felt definitely led to pray for his son at just about the time he would be arriving at the highway and did pray earnestly for him.

When the boy arrived at the highway a big truck coming at excessive speed hit the horse he was riding, but the boy was completely thrown free without a scratch. He contacted the local mounted police, but the truck had disappeared into the night. The horse died as a result of the wounds received. I had the privilege of leading the son to the Lord not long after this incident. Our people saved from Catholicism are deeply spiritual and by their simple faith put us of more mature Christian knowledge to shame.

Felix was taken very seriously ill and while he was suffering he prayed that if the Lord would raise him up from this illness he would begin to preach. His prayer was to be answered that same night. We met Felix on the road or he would have walked the eight miles to the service.

We held the second Gospel service in that same place recently. Five people had walked six miles to attend the service. The people we preached to heard the Gospel for the second time in their lives.

AMOS TEACHES ABOUT WORSHIP

(Lesson for April 30)

Lesson: Amos 4:4; 5:5-24.

Golden Text: Amos 5:24 R.V.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. The multiplication of false worship is nothing more than the multiplication of transgression (Amos 4:4).

2. It is not the transgressor who seeks the Lord and desires reconciliation, but the Lord seeks the transgressor (vs. 5:4).

3. There are definite places known as places of iniquity, and from these it is important that we should keep away (vs. 5).

4. Only those seek the Lord whom He seeks first, and those who find Him find life and salvation from eternal destruction (vs. 6).

5. It is possible to pervert justice and judgment even though one continues to carry on a nominal form of worship (vs. 7).

6. God's presence is always assured to the one who seeks that which is pleasing God (vs. 14).

7. Formal religion, however solemn or beautiful, is nauseating to God if it comes from insincere hearts (vs. 21).

8. Even costly sacrifices do not please the Lord if they are not motivated by love to Him (vs. 22).

9. A humble and sincere prayer is sweeter music to the Lord than the singing of trained choirs of unbelievers, or the music of perfectly attuned orchestras of the unsaved (vs. 23).

10. Come to Bethel * * Gilgal (Amos 4:4). These were two places sacred to every Israelite and used for worship. At Bethel God met Jacob with the vision of the ladder reaching to Heaven. At Gilgal Israel rested after crossing over into Canaan. Here Samuel went to worship God. Israel, when they were far from God at heart, unscrupulous in their business dealings, crushing widows and orphans, robbing them of their last farthing, then used their ill-gotten gain for rioting and celebrating (vs. 1). They made nothing right, corrected none of their evils, never made confession or restitution, but they went regularly to these holy places and brought sacrifices. This added to their sin. When the public observes our devotions in God's house and then sees our double lives, we become a stumbling block and a curse to God's cause. This was the same in Jesus' time. Jesus said to the religious leaders, "You make long prayers for a pretense after devouring widows' houses" (comp. Mark 12:40). They evidently had one eye open for an opportunity to devour some more widows' houses. For evil influence, the much-despised tavern keeper has nothing on such religious pretenders. They do their sin openly and display it with appropriate signs. Does God desire tithes from stolen money?—Selected.

11. "The seven stars" means Pleiades, a loose cluster of stars in the constellation Taurus, six of which are visible to the eye. Orion is a large and bright constellation of eighty stars. "The Arabs called it 'the giant,' referring to Nimrod, the mighty hunter, who was fabled to have been bound in the sky for his impiety (Job 9:9; 38:31)." — Bible Dictionary. The phrase "shadow of death" means "deep darkness," for God turns the darkness of the night into the brightness of the day, and later makes the day dark with night, as the earth rotates on its axis about the sun. Likewise, God can and will cleanse the blackest hearts into clean and shining vessels of purity, when corrupt individuals will seek his grace and pardon. As the stars are under God's control in all of their operations, so vile sinners are not beyond his judgment, nor his tender mercy.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

12. The final passage (5:21-24) of this lesson reverts again to God's attempt by censure to make these people see the light. But even in this word of censure, there is still pleading in the invitation, "Let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream." See once again the wonderful heart of God. As the world of Amos' day tottered on the precipice of disaster, so our world totters. May God give to us so to live, so to speak, so to pray, so to give that men may be reached before it is eternally too late.—Moody Monthly.

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Waken Up!

A short time ago a locomotive engine was speeding along the North-West line, whilst the two men who were in it lay fast asleep. A sharp-eyed signalman, from his lookout, was alert enough to see how matters stood, and without a moment's delay telegraphed in advance to lay a fog-signal on the line, that the detonation might rouse the sleepers. Happily, it was done in time, and started from what might have been a fatal slumber, the men shut off steam, reversed the engine, and averted a terrible calamity. It is no breach of charity to suspect that some of you are hastening on to destruction, but know it not, for your consciences are asleep; and I would lay a fog-signal on the line that, ere you pass another mile, the crashing sound may rouse you to your danger, as you hear the voice of eternal truth declaring, "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die!" —1000 Evangelistic Illustrations.

Shifting Responsibility

H. B. Gibbud once said that he knew of a man who used to sing Miss Havergal's hymn:

"Take my life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."
in this way:

"Take my wife and let her be Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."
—H. F. Sayles.

Some Parents Say

"We will not influence our children in making choices and decisions in matters of religion." WHY NOT?

The ads will! The press will!
The radio will! The movies will!
Their neighbors will! Their business will!
Their politicians will!

We use our influence over flowers, vegetables, cattle—shall we ignore our children?

The Woman's Central Auxiliary of North Carolina Holds Good Meeting

The Central District Woman's Auxiliary convention met on March 29, 1950, at Hull Road Church. The theme for the day was: "Advancing with Christ through the Woman's Auxiliary."

Mrs. C. L. Patrick had charge of the opening devotions, reading Psalm 46. Mr. George Harrison sang a solo entitled "Memories." Following the welcome address and the response, the ministers present were recognized. There were fourteen present during the day, which was a fine representation of our ministers.

The first and fifth vice-presidents' reports came next. Mrs. J. C. Moye, our fifth vice-president, asked that each auxiliary send a card, telling her what they do for the orphanage at Middlesex, North Carolina, as they do these things for the home. She also asked that each auxiliary send $25 more for the work on the New Dormitory.

Mr. Walter Mc D. Croom gave a fine report on what the orphanage has been doing. He urged us to send coupons for they are a great help. An offering for the orphanage was taken, which amounted to $70.58, and Mrs. J. C. Moye offered thanks.

After the congregation sang a hymn, Rev. C. L. Patrick brought our convention message. He used for his Scripture reference James 2:17-20, and talked to us about Faith and Works." His message inspired each one of us to resolve to go home and do more work, through faith in Christ.

Mrs. N. A. Clarke conducted the afternoon devotions, reading Second Timothy 2:15, and she used our theme for the day in her remarks. Mrs. N. E. Harris spoke for Cragmont, and urged everyone who could to attend the assembly this summer. Then Mrs. Carl Barrow gave the second vice-president's report, and urged us to send to Anna Phillips Loan Fund money for to help worthy boys and girls to go to college.

Next came the reports of the third, fourth, and sixth vice-presidents, with Mrs. Bertha Harris, the sixth vice-president, asking that each auxiliary report to the new president by card what they do for superannuation. Mrs. C. A. Eubanks, our Field Worker, gave her report, and she had visited only one church. Our field worker can't go to your church unless you ask her, so get busy and put our new Field Worker on the field.

Rev. D. W. Alexander spoke on the behalf of the Press concerning subscriptions to the Free Will Baptist paper, and the contest. May we urge that each auxiliary member do her best to enlist subscribers. Rev. D. W. Hansley spoke on the behalf of Christian education, and urged us to send our money to the Anna Phillips Loan Fund, instead of giving donations to individual students.

After Mrs. J. J. Carroll reported on our Officers Training Day, which was held in November, Mrs. Gertrude Ballard spoke for Cragmont. She urged that at least one person from each auxiliary attend. We feel sure you will never regret having been to Cragmont.

The minutes were read and adopted, and all the committee reports were read and accepted. We are to meet with Marlboro Church in September. Delegates to other conventions were appointed.

We want to say a few words about the special music during the day. It was beautiful and we feel sure everyone present greatly enjoyed it. Music is something everyone enjoys.

Mrs. R. B. Crawford conducted a very touching candle-light installation of officers. Following this installation, Mrs. Paul Thigpen, our new president, led us in the benediction.

Your new officers and their addresses are as follows:

President, Mrs. Paul Thigpen, Stantonsburg, N. C.

First ice-President, Mrs. C. L. Patrick, Grifton, N. C.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. Carl Barrow, Route 2, Snow Hill, N. C.

Third Vice-President, Mrs. R. S. Pollard, 112 Wade Street, Greenville, N. C.

Fourth Vice-President, Mrs. C. A. Eubanks, Route 1, Kinston, N. C.

Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. J. C. Moye, Snow Hill, N. C.

Sixth Vice-President, Mrs. Frank Walston, Route 2, Walstonburg, N. C.

Treasurer, Mrs. Jesse Harris, Route 1, Enfield, N. C.

Secretary, Mrs. Marvin Moore, Route 1, Scotland Neck Neck, N. C.

Field Worker, Mrs. J. C. Edmundson, Pikeville, N. C.

May I suggest that you clip these names and addresses, and place them in your Auxiliary Yearbook, so that you will know who your new officers are. I would also like to say that the reports for the last six months were the best yet—with three A-1 auxiliaries this time. We are proud of you.

Auxiliary Report of Union Grove

The Woman's Auxiliary of Union Grove church, (wayne county) has another year's work as history. All has not been done that could have been, so we are looking forward toward another year with, "fields so white for harvest."

Our president, Mrs. Raymond Sullivan, has given of her service to such an extent that we all feel the need to work more diligently. All the officers have cooperated very nicely during the year's work.

One of the highlights of the year was the Stewardship night program for the new converts of our church, arranged by Mrs. Alton Holland, 3rd vice-president. There were approximately 70 to welcome the 25 new converts, including auxiliary members and their husbands. The speaker for the evening was Rev. M. L. Tyndall, Kinston, N. C., giving helpful advice for the newcomers. The converts were presented with a Bible from the Auxiliary also dinner was served in attractively arranged rooms. Everyone enjoyed the night and we trust it will help the converts to have more zeal to work for the Master. Our 3rd vice-president also has conducted two study courses during the year. Each one causing much interest for our Master's work.

The 2nd vice-president has efficiently filled her position, especially working with the young people.

Two youth organizations have been organized, also the "Youth for Christ" rally which has helped our young people as well as those in near-by communities. Only with the help of our wonderful Master has these things been made possible. Various things have been done by the other vice-presidents and we feel that the new officers have great plans for the new year's work through the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

Thompson F. W. B. Church Holds Auxiliary Meeting

Thompson Church held its regular monthly meeting, Thursday, March 30, 1950.

The meeting was opened by the members singing the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and prayer was offered by Mrs. J. W. Tully.

The program from the year book of programs was used and the topics, "Advancing with Christ in Cuba," was very interesting, and inspiring, to all that were present.

The roll was called and the minutes were read and approved. An offering for foreign missions was taken. The members present for this meeting were Mrs. J. W. Tully, Mrs. Edgar Smith, Mrs. F. E. Scarborough, Mrs. Clifton Powell, Mrs. Eugene Middleton, Mrs. L. E. Tenir, Miss Jeanette Tenir, Mrs. Lawrence West, and Mrs. Vivian Grow. The meeting was closed with song and prayer.

We are asking all Christians to pray for us that the work may continue to move forward and that many more precious souls may be added to the church.

Alcohol a Narcotic Poison

Alcohol in beer, wine and whiskey is a narcotic, a poison, a habit-forming drug. That's why it is "no good for our children."

Dr. Emil Bogen, noted toxicologist says: "The very first thing that alcohol does is to attack the highest abilities, the parts of the brain that have to do with judgment, reason and the control of behavior. Alcohol slows down the brain." Mankind never can have "the brains to use them the way liquor should be used," because alcohol destroys the kind of brain power needed to tell a drinker when he has had enough.

CHILDREN'S STORYLAND

NELDA'S PAID DEBT

Zella Lindsey

Nelda had cut through the park to get home after children's meeting. In a path lay a little pink paper. "You May Not Think So," it said. Would she think so or would she not? Nelda picked it up to find out.

"You may not think so, but you are a sinner," she read. "God's Word says so. Let me ask you something. Do you ever complain? Or disobey your parents? Or quarrel? All these things are sins. The Bible says, 'Do all things without murmuring.' 'Obey your parents.' 'Let nothing be done through strife.'"

"Why, I never thought of little things like those as sins, thought Nelda. She read on, "If you counted up the times you have been guilty of these three sins alone, it might surprise you."

The paper was torn off just there. And for the first time in her life Nelda began to think about her sins. How many sins did God have against her?

At home Nelda went to her room. She took her pencil and began to figure. "I complain about having to help with the dishes," she thought. "I'm sure I disobey my father or my mother at least once a day—often more times than that. And Burton and I often fuss—there's three for every day in the year. Let's see. Three hundred sixty-five days in a year, times three. That makes 1095 sins for just one year—and I've been old enough to sin for at least three years. That makes 3285 sins against me!"

Nelda became miserable. When she thought of God it seemed as if 3285 sins were between her and Him. She determined not to let any more pile up—she would be good from now on. But the next morning she quarreled with Burton and even found herself complaining after dinner over having to help with the dishes.

"It's just no use," she said to herself. "I can't be good, no matter how hard I try. I'm not going to that old meeting any more!" But a little friend came by and coaxed so hard that Nelda finally went, after all.

As Nelda sat in the service she began again to long to be right with God.

"I know," she thought to herself, "I'll do some good things for people. There's crabby old Mrs. Hayes—I'll go read to her every week. That surely ought to make up for a few of my sins. I'll do the dishes for Mother every meal. I hate that job, so that ought to make up for a lot of the bad things I've done. Maybe some day I can do enough to get rid of all my sins—and now if I'm real careful not to sin any more—"

Just then everybody stood. It was time to memorize the Bible verse for the day:

"For by grace are ye saved, through faith * * * not of works, lest any man should boast," quoted the evangelist, having the children repeat it after him. "Doing good deeds won't make anyone a Christian, or get rid of a single sin," he explained. And all Nelda's hopes crashed.

After the service was over Nelda asked, "Suppose you had over three thousand sins against you, what would you do? You said doing good wouldn't get rid of any sin?"

"Nelda," said he, "if you had gone along in front of some houses in Bible days you would have seen on the door a big nail holding a piece of paper. On that paper was a list of debts the man inside the house had once owed someone. Now it was a serious thing to be in debt—if the debt were not paid the poor man would be put in prison. But a friend had paid the debt. Then he had taken the debtlist and nailed it to the poor man's door. That was a sign to everyone that the debt had been paid and there was no longer an account against him.

"You have just told me that God has a debt of sin against you. Is that right?"

"Yes, Sir," answered Nelda.

"Well, God knew that you never, never could pay your debt of sin. Only Jesus, His Son, who was without sin, could do that—and to do it would cost both the Father and Son far more than you or I can ever, ever know. But God loved you so much that He let His only Son, Jesus, pay your debt of sin, being crucified on the Cross. There He forgave you all sin, and God's Word says He blotted out the list of sins (handwriting of ordinances) that was against you, 'nailing it to His Cross'. Your debt has been paid."

"Really?"

"If you believe on Jesus. You see, Jesus paid the debt of sin for everybody. But only those get the benefit of it who give themselves wholly to Jesus, yielding to Him their wills so that they choose to live to please Him instead of to do what most pleases them. For those who do this, the debt of sin is cancelled, for they have become believers. Are you ready to give yourselves wholly to Him?"

"Oh, yes," exclaimed Nelda. "I'm sorry I've been so haughty. I don't want to ever displease him again. To think He's paid my debt of sin! I'll do dishes without complaining, and mind Mother, and give up to Burton—not to get rid of my sins, but because now I love Jesus!"

"Then suppose you tell Him so right now."

In a few minutes Nelda was fairly flying home. She could scarcely wait to tell her mother that now she was saved. And in her Bible is marked with red the part of Colossians 2:13, 14.—O. P. Boys and Girls.

South Carolina Sunday School Convention

The second session of the Sunday School convention of the Central Conference of South Carolina, convened with Oak Grove Free Will Baptist church on Saturday, April 8, 1950.

Five churches were represented, each church rendering a program. Most of the programs were very appropriately based on the resurrection, since it was Easter season.

Oak Grove showed their hospitality by their hearty welcome to the guest churches and also by the luscious dinner that was served.

The Sunday Schools taking part in this event were, Happy Home, Little Star, Little Bethel, Mt. Aerial and Oak Grove.

Please pray with us that this organization will do much for the upbuilding of His kingdom "through Christ which strengtheneth us."

The next Convention is scheduled to meet with Happy Home on Saturday, Oct. 7th, 1950. We wish to urge all Sunday Schools of the Central Conference to be present and take part in this next convention.

The Flag

Here comes the flag,
Hail it!
Who dares to drag
Or trail it?
Give it hurrahs—
Three for the stars,
Three for the bars.
Uncover your head to it!
The soldiers who tread to it
The justice and right of it,
The unsullied white of it,
The blue and the red of it,
And tyranny's dread of it!

Here comes the flag,
Cheer it!
Valley and crag
Shall hear it.
Fathers shall bless it,
Children carress it,
All shall maintain it,
No one shall stain it,
Cheers for the sailors
That fought on the wave for it,
Cheers for the soldiers
That always were brave for it,
Tears for the men who
Went down to the grave for it.
Here comes the flag!

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Marion F. Whitman

It is with the deepest of regret that we announce the passing of our friend and Brother, Marion F. Whitman, into the great beyond. He departed this life on February 19, 1950.

Brother Whitman was 59 years of age at the time of his death. He had been a member of the Free Will Baptist church for more than 49 years. He was always faithful and ready to do his part, or even more in doing anything that he could for the church.

He gave the property where the Free Will Baptist church now stands in this town. He leaves to mourn their loss his faithful wife, Mrs. Selma Whitman, two sons, Glenn and Fred, two daughters, Mrs. Rebecca Smith and Mrs. Eva Benniefield, and also eleven grandchildren, three brothers, and two sisters, besides a host of other relatives and friends. We feel that our loss is his heavenly gain.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place has been made vacant
Which never can be filled.

Dear children look to Jesus,
As you know your Father did,
Walk ever in his footsteps,
Let your life in Him be hid.

Then just inside the Portals,
When your race on earth is run,
You'll meet again in heaven,
At the setting of life's sun.

Written by a friend, Mrs. James Pugh,
Brilliant, Alabama.

Resolution of Respect

Whereas, God giveth and taketh away, and as the year 1949 was bidding us goodbye, December 31, there was a beloved member of our church, Rev. E. G. Holland, who was saying to loved ones, "Farewell."

Those who knew him feel, as his family does, "He hath done what he could." These words are the inscription for his grave marker.

The members of Holly Springs Church beg to submit these resolutions:

First, Though we miss him, we feel that he had ably filled his mission on earth. For many years he had been an ordained minister of the gospel of the Free Will Baptist denomination, and a deacon hard to replace. He loved his church, and its various organizations. He was always willing to contribute to their support;

Second, That we extend to the family our sincere sympathy. May the Lord comfort them in their sorrow; and Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to the Free Will Baptist Press for publication, and a copy be placed on the records of the church.

Just the Same Today

When Moses and his people
From Egypt's land did flee,
Their enemies behind them,
And in front of them the sea,
God raised the waters like a wall
And opened up the way,
And the God that lived in Moses' time
Is just the same to-day.

When David and Goliath met,
The wrong against the right—
The giant armed with human power
And David's with God's might;
God's power with David's sling and stone
The giant low did lay,
And the God that lived in David's time
Is just the same to-day.

When Pentecost had fully come,
And the fire from Heaven did fall,
As a mighty wind the Holy Ghost
Baptized them one and all;
Three thousand got converted,
And were workers right away
And the God that lived at Pentecost,
Is just the same to-day.

Youth Rally Coming to Bridgeton

Union Grove F. W. B. Church near Goldsboro will visit the Bridgeton Church Saturday night, April 29, at 8:00 P. M. The youth of Union Grove have won great victories for the Lord since they began their wonderful work in August, 1949.

The Church of Bridgeton is looking forward to this being the beginning of a great youth revival through "Youth for Christ" in this district.

The Bridgeton church extends a very cordial invitation to all the surrounding churches. If you miss this rally, you will miss one of the greatest soul winning meetings of the day.

Determined to Know Nothing but Christ

Scripture: I Corinthians 1:16.
Text: Verse 2.

There had come a division in the church at Corinth, because they seemed to be divided over the preachers, that is, which one of these men were right, Paul, or Apollos or Cephas who was Peter. Some said, "We will follow Christ." I Corinthians 1:11-12.

Maybe they questioned Paul's apostleship, because he was born out of season, there is no doubt some said Peter is orthodox, but we don't know about Paul. Now Apollos was a Greek by birth, and knew a lot about Greek philosophy and was very cultured, and a great spokesman, so, some said he is our man, and some believed in Paul.

Paul knowing their philosophical ideas about Christ, wrote this passage to let them know where he stood, and to show his determination to know only Christ and him crucified.

Question: What does it mean to know Christ?

Answer: For one to know Christ is first:

1. To know him personally.
2. To know who he was.
3. To know why he came into the world.
4. To know for whom he died.

In the first place, Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know the wisdom of this world. But to know the wisdom from above," (1:20-21). He was saying, "I am determined not to know purely an intellectual gospel, but the simple. What do we mean by intellectual gospel? 1. A gospel as conceived by the minds of men, apart from the Holy Spirit. What do we mean by a simple gospel? The word simple—if we are speaking of men, has a good and bad meaning. First, bad meaning, fools or block-headed. Second, good meaning, open-minded, innocent and sincere. So, Paul was saying, "I am determined to know the simple gospel, that is, as received in the heart and mind by the Holy Spirit. Yes, Paul was determined to be open minded, and sincere, so he would be innocent when he stood before God.

In the second place, Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know the passion of this world. What do we mean by passion? Passion is a force that plays on the emotions; this force if yielded to, will rob one of self-control. I believe then, that Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know the philosophical conception of Christ and his kingdom, but to know him in spirit and in truth, and to know his passion for the lost world. Phil. 3:10, "that I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death." I believe in the third place, Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know the jealousy of the human heart. In Numbers 5:14, the word jealousy is used to explain the feeling between man and wife, when one is untrue to the other. Exodus 20:5, God said, "for I am a jealous God," and national Israel claimed to be the wife of Jehovah, then by worship of idols she according to her claim was untrue. So, my friends, God is the same yesterday, today and forever. When we accept Christ as our Saviour, and Lord, we are to be true to him. Paul said in II Cor. 11:2. "For I am jealous over you with a godly jealousy: for I have espoused you to one husband that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ." So, when we are in Christ, and Christ in us by the Holy Spirit, that makes us his and He is ours—then for us to flirt with satan, and shun, or avoid him, causes him to suffer from godly jealousy; to understand this, how would you feel if your wife or husband in whom you trust, and love with all your heart—if one day, you unexpectedly found her flirting with another? Yes, how would you feel? Well, how do you think Jesus feels when you for whom he died, flirts with Satan, his and your enemy?

I believe then, that Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know the jealousy of the human heart, but to know him in true love as to his relationship to Christ, and Christ's relationship to himself, and to mankind.

I believe in the fourth place, Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know hate. But to know the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord, toward the lost and dying, and not to know the selfishness of man, but to know the compassion of God in Christ Jesus. My dear friends, selfishness is one of the worst enemies of the cross. Jesus said in Luke 14:27, "and who doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple." The word disciple means learner, so, then, we cannot even learn of Christ and have a selfish spirit.

I believe in the fifth place, Paul was saying, "I am determined not to know unbelief." But to know the true faith and trust in God through Christ Jesus. My dear friends, you can never know peace in your souls, and assurance of salvation except you believe. Heaven can never be sweet to you if you don't believe God's promises.

I believe Paul was saying, in the sixth place, I am determined not to know the madness of the indulgence of this world. But to know temperance. Paul said in I Cor. 9:27, "But I keep under my body and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway." Ah, my dear friends, we cannot indulge in the things of this world and please God, nor can we know the power of his spirit, nor enter the joy of his presence.

Conclusion: Paul then, was simply saying, "I am determined to know only Christ." He said in Phil. 3:8-10. "I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ, and to know the power of his resurrection." So, my dear friends, to know Christ is to have life, and to know him not is death.

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

WHAT WILL THE END BE?

Reader what are you headed for, or where are you going? Out there in the future? Somewhere not in the far distant we will have to meet the end of this earthly life. What we have sown we will meet face to face. God says, through His servant, " whatsoever a man soweth that will he also reap." No way to dodge the reaping! Brother, when death stares you in the face and the death rattle is heard by you and your friends, and the cold sweat breaks out on your brow, and your friends whisper in your room and your eyes begin to roll about as you look into the other world—WHAT THEN? We are giving you a poem entitled "WHAT THEN". Read it, pray about it, and be serious about your eternal welfare. WILL YOU?

WHAT THEN?

When the great plants of our cities
Have turned out their last finished work;
When our merchants have sold their last yard of silk
And dismissed the last tired clerk,
When our banks have raked in their last dollar
And paid the last dividend;
When the Judge of the earth says, "Closed for the night,"
And asks for a balance—WHAT THEN?

When the choir has sung its last anthem,
And the preacher has made his last prayer;
When the people have heard their last sermon
And the sound has died out on the air;
When the Bible lies closed on the altar
And the pews are all empty of men
And each one stands facing his record—
And the Great Book is opened—WHAT
THEN?

When the actors have played their last drama
And the mimic has made his last fun;
When the film has flashed its last picture
And the billboard displayed its last run;
When the crowds seeking pleasure have vanished
And gone out in the darkness again—
When the trumpet of ages is sounded,
And we stand before Him—WHAT
THEN?

When the bugle's call sinks into silence

And the long marching columns stand still,
When the captain repeats his last orders,
And they've captured the last fort and hill,
And the flag has been hauled from the masthead,
And the wounded afield checked in,
And a world that rejected its Saviour,
Is asked for a reason—WHAT THEN?

GOD OR EVOLUTION?

Othel T. Dixon, Pastor of Potts
Free Will Baptist Church,
Charleston, Arkansas

In Colleges and Universities across this grand nation of ours there is being gradually incorporated in every branch of study the theory of evolution, which is poisoning the minds of our American youth that are destined to become our leaders of tomorrow.

Prof. Joseph A. Leighton, Ohio State University, says, "From the scientific standpoint, God is a superfluous hypothesis which explains nothing, and only constitutes a bar to scientific inquiry."

What a tragic display of foolishness is here presented to us. Surely we are more and more impressed with the truth of Psalm 14:1, "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works; There is none that doeth good." Yet students are forced to study their works and read their articles.

The fact is, we must either believe in "God or Evolution" as we cannot believe in both. If we believe in evolution we must and are forced to abandon the Bible, God, Christ, and salvation. Accept the theory of evolution and you believe in no heaven, no hell, no future happiness, and no coming judgment. We are animals, somewhat removed from the slimy mass of primordial protoplasm from which we are asked to trace our ancestry, groping our wayward and sinful course to oblivion. What a Gospel of hopeless despair! Jesus Christ is not the Son of God but the son of an ape ancestor and we have lost the only Saviour who is able to rescue us from the abyss of sin into which the race has fallen.

I deny those eternal verities enunciated by God Himself, if I accept the theory of evolution, "In the beginning God created." "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." "But God commendeth His love toward us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." "Being now justified by His blood, we shall be saved from the wrath of God through Him." Instead of denying these eternal truths, I accept them with joy and denounce every part of the doctrine of evolutionism.

A good example of how corrupt our text books have become with the theory of evolution is shown by an article by Henry Pratt Fairchild, which appears in a popular text book now being used in several Universities.

In Mr. Henry Pratt Fairchild's article, "The Truth about Race," in trying to prove that all men that ever lived came from a common ancestral stock, he introduces the question of evolution. His absurdity of the question is clear by the fact that he, first of all, contrasts two types of evolution theories, that of man and beast, without having proved either.
He suggests that all types of domestic fowls descended from the jungle from India, and therefore, the evolution of mankind must have come from some certain stock which had its abode probably on the high central plateau of Asia.

Mr. Fairchild, it seems to me, in trying to reason this matter out, has along with many other scientific students, missed the mark by trying to prove a theory by man-made facts instead of accepting the eternal truth of the matter, which were handed down to men by inspired writers in the form of "the holy writ." In the very first part of the Bible it is explained that in the beginning God created the heaven and the earth and all that are contained therein.

Notice this scripture, "And the Lord God formed man out of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Now is it not

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

Meets with Kenly Church July 3 and 4, 1950

The annual N. C. State League Convention will convene this year with the Free Will Baptist Church in the town of Kenly, N. C., July 3 and 4, 1950. Arrangements have been completed as to location and the program is in the early stages of being prepared. Some very eminent speakers will appear on the program. Our general theme this year will be "Youth Serves through Stewardship." Watch this column every week for news of our young people and the highlights of the coming Convention.

INFORMATION NEEDED

As Corresponding Secretary of the State League Convention, I am in need of some valuable information which will enable me to fill my office more efficiently. I need the name and address of your General Secretary. If your church has one or more Leagues and is located in the State of North Carolina, or in Tidewater Virginia, send the name of your General Secretary to me at once. In addition, send the following information to me: 1. Name of each League. 2. Number enrolled in each League. 3. Name of your delegate or delegates who will attend the State Convention.

Please, please send this information to Rev. R. P. Harris, P. O. Box 1265, Durham, N. C., as early as you possibly can.

NEWS ABOUT YOUR LEAGUES

I am asking the editor of the Free Will Baptist paper to give us a League column each week from now until the Convention. I want you to send reports of your League activities directly to me. Tell about your socials, giving the names of those who are in charge and if you have a special program, give me the names of the ones taking part. Let us sponsor League rallies in all the districts of the state and report the outcome of them thru the columns of the Baptist paper. I will be happy to edit your articles and submit them to the Press for publication. It would help very much if you would appoint or elect a news reporter in your League and instruct them to send all items of interest to me. I hope to receive articles from you every day until the convening of the convention. Please do not let me down.

GOD OR EVOLUTION?

absurd to start with any other so-called fact which would be based upon prejudice, hatred, and self-determination of men in an attempt to get glory? If we are to arrive at a true conclusion about the human race, we must start with certain facts contained in the Bible, and not with some foolish idea that man sprang from apes, or some so-called anthropoid monkey. Now they can have or claim one of these monkeys for their grandfather if they want, but he isn't mine.

They may say that in taking this view that I am being prejudiced, or have formed an opinion without facts. Let me answer this question by asking a question. Would Adam and Eve have been prejudiced if they had believed God when he said, "of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil thou shall not eat, for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die?" Or was it best for them to believe the serpent and cause condemnation to be passed upon them? And now, is it being prejudiced to believe that Christ did suffer and die, and was raised from the dead the third day? Nearly everyone will answer: "Most certainly not." Then if not, are we being prejudiced to say that "Eve is the mother of all living," and that from Adam, the first man, we are all as a human race the OFFSPRING OF GOD? No indeed not, for Jesus taught us to pray, "Our Father which art in heaven," and I realize to-day that he is my Heavenly Father, and rejoice in his eternal love which has been shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Spirit which was given unto us.

A new woman's auxiliary, organized recently at Sylvan Park Church, Nashville, shows a total enrollment of seventeen members with Mrs. Walter Ray as president. The group meets monthly and its meetings are publicized by Mrs. Avis Sublette, publicity chairman.

More than $200.00 was given within the past few weeks by the students and faculty members of the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, for foreign missions. The college makes regular offerings to missions, particularly through the Missionary Prayer Band.

Abundance of news comes to your editor from the Olivet Church, near Adams, Tennessee. Mrs. Smith Crockarell, publicity director, reports the following things done there recently: The church lawn has been landscaped under the direction of the House and Garden Home Demonstration Club, of which Mrs. P. T. McGregor is president. The Sunday school has elected the following officers: superintendent, Smith Crockarell; assistant superintendent, John Murphy; secretary, Frank Murphy; assistant secretary, Alvin Moore, Jr. Jim Reding was elected teacher of the adult class, succeeding his mother who served as teacher for thirty years. Other teachers elected were: Mrs. Ed Siler, Hyman Welch, Betty Moore, Mrs. George Allen, Mrs. Smith Crockarell, and Mrs. J. B. Murphy. Church library facilities have been expanded. The week of prayer was well attended at the close of which an offering was received for foreign missions. Rev. Clyde Clearman is the pastor of Olivet Church.

Rev. Damon C. Dodd, national promotional secretary, delivered the commencement address to the graduates of the Cuban School of Missions instead of Rev. Henry Melvin as was formerly announced.

Billy Melvin, student at Taylor University in Indiana, visited with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Milvin, Nashville, during Easter.

Rev. Bert Rogers Holds Good Meeting

The Glenwood Church of Noble, Illinois, has just closed a two-weeks' revival meeting. The Reverend Bert Rogers of Francis, Oklahoma, was the evangelist. It was a wonderful meeting. There were many souls who were inspired and greatly moved by the wonderful messages which Brother Rogers brought. Quite a number of new converts were added to the church.

Testing Our Loyalty

Do not hinder His work. He may put you into the furnace of pain heated sevenfold, or allow you to be tested by the searching winds of doubt. He may probe your very soul by a thrice-plied question concerning your love to Him, as one ground of confidence after another fails you, one disappointment after another daunts and baffles you. He may let the sunshine of success and prosperity shine on you, to draw out your gifts and graces, and try the simplicity and thoroughness of your allegiance. But let that Divine grace which first called you, and which alone can fit you for this service and maintain you in it, do its own work.

Fear self and the world; fear routine and the mechanical performance of duty; fear cant and hypocrisy and unreality. Keep the skylights of the soul clear; kneel often with your window open and your face toward the Jerusalem which is above.—W. T. Davison.

DIFFUSERS OF THE GOSPEL

Rev. R. P. Harris
120 Cheek St.
Durham, N. C.

Christians are people who know the Lord Jesus Christ so intimately that their thinking, their feeling, and their acting has been changed so as to conform with the life and characteristics of Christ. Salvation is the power of God upon the person who accepts and believes on the Lord Jesus Christ as his legal substitute for sin. God has caused the mouth of every one to be stopped and the whole world to become guilty before Him. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God," and "The wages of sin is death," are the facts which God has made known to all who believe the Gospel. The Christian is a child of God and is given full access to the recourses of heaven itself. Nothing is too good for the Lord to do for those who love Him. God has agreed with His son that whatever He desires for the believer it shall become real. Christ desires nothing that He cannot share with every child of God. Because of this glorious generosity of the Son of God, the Father has removed all sin, the guilt of sin and the consequences of sin. The heart has been cleansed so completely that the thoughts, desires and intents of the heart are constantly in line with the righteousness of God. The person who continually puts his trust in the Lord Jesus Christ absolutely shall never be put to defeat. It is impossible for him to be defeated because it is impossible for Christ to be defeated.

With this process completed in the life of an individual he becomes a child of the most High God with all the privileges, glories and riches of God at his disposal. With these powers and riches at hand, the Christian becomes a loyal winner of souls. He recalls his own regeneration with such vividness that he is anxious to warn others of the coming wrath of an eternal God. With this in mind he prepares himself for the giving out of the diffusion of the Gospel. This effort carries with it a keen desire to prepare himself for the great task of getting decisions from the unsaved. In this preparation he learns the best methods of reaching the lost for Christ.

The first thing he learns is that it is not the preacher nor preaching that always gets decisions. He learns that the pastor or the preacher is an overseer, one who is charged with the duty of seeing that the work is done effectively and rightly by others. With this in mind he makes it his business to attend the sanctuary for his own spiritual growth and to prepare himself for the work which he must do for Christ. He learns that the individual members of the church can reach the lost person more effectively in many cases than can the pastor. He comes to realize that the lost person does not wish to be preached to nor does he wish to take religious advice. Sinners resent being preached to. They resent being advised to quit things which they have been doing. The sinner will not be won in an argument over religion. The good winner of souls will not resort to argumentation.

Therefore, the good winner of souls will find a better method. He will seek out a lost person and then thru visitation will win his confidence. He will seek to build up such a strong social tie between himself and the unsaved person that as friend to friend he may find an opportunity to discuss the merits of Jesus Christ and his ability to relieve the sinner of all responsibility for sin. This can best be done privately. Since this is true the wise winner of souls will seek those of his own sex and those near his own age. This puts the two of them in the same common range and makes it easy for them to agree on certain vital points. They can see life and its responsibilities from the same standards. After the sinner becomes attentive and considerate, the worker may then proceed to urge him to accept Christ. He will not fail to make Christ so real that he would feel like a heel not to put his trust in Christ.

The best method used by diffusers of the Gospel is the use of the salvation passages of Scripture, the ones which lead the worker to the decision. Among those may be included Romans 3:23, 6:23, I John 1:7, John 3:16 and Ephesians 2:8. There certainly are many others but these are key verses and will naturally lead to others.

After the sinner realizes that he is lost and condemned, under the condemnation and wrath of God, he will want to know what he must do to be saved. The worker will then know how to lead him to the place that he will seek for forgiveness. He will want to repent of his sins and confess them that Christ may take them away. "With the heart man believeth, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." This salvation is a free gift. Jesus purchased our salvation on the Cross of Calvary. God looked upon him on the cross and was satisfied with this substitution for the sinner. Christ is crucified and the sinner goes free. God has made it that way. It was His plan from the foundation of the world. We can never, never understand why God was willing to do this. The thing that thrills my soul is the fact that God has made it work. He does forgive sins, He does remove them as far as the east is from the west, because we have believed on His Son. "God for Christ's sake, hath forgiven you." It is for Christ's sake. That is the extent of His mercy and goodness towards us. Not upon our own merits, nor upon the merits of any other person. It is for the sake of His only begotten Son and nothing else. God help us to believe?

Book Houses

I always think the cover of
A book is like a door
Which opens into someone's house
Where I've not been before.
A pirate or a fairy queen
May lift the latch for me;
I always wonder when I knock
What welcome there will be;
And when I find a house that's dull
I do not often stay;
But when I find one full of friends
I'm apt to spend the day.
I never know what sort of folks
Will be within, you see;
And that's why reading always is
So interesting to me.

The Seventh Annual Convention of the F. W. B. Church of Cuba

We have just brought to a close the seventh National Convention of the Free Will Baptist Church of Cuba. We can safely say it was the greatest in our history. By a conservative estimate there were fully 1,500 people in attendance during the three-day session. The people came by bus loads, horseback and on foot. They came in spite of the fearful financial crisis. Some had only enough money for transportation. They came in a spirit of love for the church in which they found their Saviour. They were motivated by a hunger for spiritual fellowship and assembled from far and near.

Among these humble, redeemed Free Will Baptists coming from the sandy plains and the hidden, rocky valleys of Cuba there were distinguished visitors—a Senator prominent in the Cuban Assembly; the Representative in the Cuban Assembly for the Province of Pinar del Rio; the Provincial Inspector of Schools; the mayor of the city of Pinar; and one of our converts who is a candidate for City Councilman. These are men who have observed the growth of our work and sympathize with us. These men are in a position to aid and defend when such is needed. They know our church is a moral force that evil and ignorance must reckon with in the lives of the people. They know there is a decided improvement in the moral and spiritual condition of the Province due to the ministry of our Free Will Baptist missionaries.

Our boys and girls are known and respected for their honorable deportment upon the streets of our cities and towns. These students know they are the objects of scrutiny and would not dishonor us by any unbecoming conduct. From our Seminary there has been a steady stream of young men and women, Cuban Nationalists, speaking the language of the native sons and daughters. They have come from the homes of the humble people and do not have to adapt themselves to the meager food of the poor. They are an effective testimony to the power of the Gospel of Christ to transform. We have so prepared our students from the standpoint of the practical class work, along with actual experience in first hand contact with the people, so that as they step forth into the field they are already men and women of action.

Our church is not a loosely assembled assortment of little groups, but a solidly organized unit of activity. Our council of workers now consists of nineteen full-time native workers with five Americans. Twenty-four missionaries represent you as a people in Cuba—God has wrought this over the space of seven years.

There are hundreds of towns and villages in Cuba that have absolutely no spiritual force at work among them. There is no church of any sort. Our students have gone to some places and found there were not even public schools. Under such conditions they have taught the people, adults and children, to read the Bible. The people themselves have built chapels. These unreached villages are awaiting workers who will never reach them unless you, my Free Will Baptist brethren, are interested enough to help support them.

The dream of your representatives here in Cuba is that students passing through the portals of our School of Missions, your Cuban sons and daughters, shall also go to their Latin brothers of Mexico, San Salvador, Guatemala, and on to Panama. How much better they can do this than we Americans with our Gringo Spanish! These young people are now ready and willing to go, but we must send them.

Just a few more words concerning the Conference and graduation just closed. Those of you who have had something to do with arranging for a State or National Association can sympathize with us in having only fifty beds for three hundred visitors. How were we to house them? The only answer was an abandoned building and trailer loads of banana leaves. All the students and men visitors, giving the beds to the women, slept on the one great bed of banana leaves on the floor and shared their thin blankets.

Our services were times of great spiritual blessings. In order for them to be so, all business and committee meetings were taken care of a day before the Convention began. During the Convention the full time was given to prayer and the hearing of the Word.

Friday afternoon the Convention was opened with the messages of welcome by the directors of the Cuban field of missions, Reverend Thomas Willey and Reverend Rafael Josue, sub-director of the Seminary. From the first service the temple was filled with people. Among our visiting speakers: Reverend Damon C. Dodd was our representative of the mother church of the United States. It is customary also to have a Spanish person of importance on the Convention program. Reverend Secundino Bermudez, missionary under the West Indian Mission to Santa Domingo, brought the principal evangelistic messages under the power of the Spirit.

In the Convention there were also other American missionaries who represent different mission groups laboring in the Island. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Phenicie from the Practical Missionary Training Institute; Mrs. Olga Fast and another missionary of the World Missions; Reverend Paul Wilson of the American Jewish Mission; and Reverend Eduardo Rodriguez from a Cuban Independent Mission in Havana.

Saturday morning Reverend Dodd brought a stirring spiritual message from the Word. Our people rejoiced to see Brother Dodd again and consider him a strong tie between our body of the North and our Cuban people.

Saturday night was an occasion that thrilled all our hearts. A large number of people crowded into the temple and a great many stood outside. Amplifiers made it possible for voices to carry all over the surrounding country side. The temple was freshly painted white and glowed with fluorescent lights. The platform was beautifully decorated with tropical palms and vases of white, cut flowers. The teachers, officers and graduates seated on the platform were all dressed in white and presented a scene long to be remembered. Each of the graduates presented a message on a different aspect of the Person and Work of the Holy spirit. How our hearts longed for the great company of our Free Will Baptists who have been faithful over the years in making possible the crowning service of the school to be here. The diplomas of the graduates were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Willey and to each student a brief message of condemnation. There was a great time afterwards as our people invaded the platform to congratulate the graduates.

Sunday was the crowning day. Brother Dodd brought the morning message and had to leave immediately following it to return to the States for other important meetings. The afternoon message by Reverend Bermudez had as its final objective the consecration of our Cuban people and resulted in a revival. A number of souls were saved and young people answered the call to service.

One of the outstanding marks of advance was made by our Christian laymen from all the fields when they pledged to do everything possible to bear the financial burden of the students in their summer work.

Four new full-time workers in the person of three young men and one young woman are taking a field. Their support must be forthcoming. This naturally is an added financial responsibility. There might be some church or individual who would be interested in the support of one of these. If so, contact the treasurer of our Foreign Mission Board. Finally, we need your prayers.

Converted at Age 118

This Cuban is 118 years old, and when he was a young man he was held as a slave under the Spaniards. He was recently converted to the Christian faith, and is deeply interested in things of the Lord. He has a large family of four generations about him. He is now bent with age, but he is trusting in the Gospel of Christ.

Brother Willey sent his picture along with an article for the Baptist paper to go under the mission column, but the picture was delayed at the engravers, and the cut came several weeks later, therefore, we are using the cut with this brief write-up so that the Baptist readers can see how this old Cuban looks, and that they may rejoice in knowing that he is a true child of God.

We regret this delay in presenting him to our readers occurred, and apologize for not being able to use the picture earlier in the paper.—Ed.

Who Gets the Boy?

Will doubt get the boy,
With its soul-chiling fog
And its lost sense of God?
Will doubt get the boy?

Will drink get the boy,
With its death-dealing crew
And its brain burning brew?
Will drink get the boy?

Will war get the boy,
With its shot and its shell,
With its hate and its hell?
Will war get the boy?

Will Christ get the boy?
With his love and his joy,
It's for us to see now
That Christ gets the boy.

Mt. Olive Church Making Progress, Compton, Texas

The regular services were held at Mt. Olive F. W. B. Church at Compton near Laneville on April 9. Rev. J. M. Goode's subject for the Easter message was: "The Infallible Proof of God's Resurrection." It was very inspiring and uplifting to those who heard it. The increase in attendance of the Sunday School was shown over the preceding Sunday.

Plans have been completed for the placing of a parsonage on the church grounds. Church attendance, and all departments of the church are growing under the able leadership of Rev. J. M. Goode, pastor.

Tried and True

Religion you say is old-fashioned!
How true; so is food; so is drink;
So are mothers, and fathers, and neighbors
And all the things of value, I think.

A new-fangled creed has no power
Until it is tried by the years;
If good, it endures through misfortunes,
And abides in the valley of tears.

True faith, understanding and kindness,
Well, these are old virtues too;
Thank God for old-fashioned religion
In a world where too much is new.

NEW MODESTO CHURCH ESTABLISHED

The Modesto Free Will Baptist Church was organized one year ago in February in a rented building, with 34 charter members. The Lord has wonderfully blessed the church, and we now have about 160 members on record. We have a fine church building of our own. The building is a frame structure 70 by 30 feet in size. We have three Sunday School class rooms and a study hall which is used also for a class room.

The church is stuccoed on the outside, and the interior is well constructed and beautifully decorated. The pulpit is constructed of the same materials as are the walls, and all have been varnished. We have a nice baptistry with a beautiful painted picture on the wall over it. There are about twenty candidates waiting for baptism now. We hope to have the baptistry ready for use right away.

The church is furnished with a nice piano and splendid church pews. We lack only the sanding and varnishing the pews and floor before we will have it complete, and we are hoping to get that done within the next few days. Our dedication will be on Sunday, April 23, at 2:30 P. M. Our good pastor, Rev. F. A. McCage, will deliver the dedicatory message.

It is marvelous how the good Lord has blessed us with this work. On Easter Sunday there were six souls gloriously saved; and, at the evening service, another person was saved. Six of these people united with this church. We thank the Lord for them.

We have seven deacons in this church and we are proud of them, for they are persons who love the Lord, and they do work for him. We scarcely have a week-end service but that someone is saved.

The Woman's Auxiliary was organized about two months ago. They are doing a splendid work, for they have already raised money to buy the drapes for the church. We are especially proud of our young people and what they are doing in Christian work. We believe that we have one of the best leagues in the state of California. Our Young Leaguers brought home the League Banner last Sunday from Firebaugh, California. Brother and Sister E. L. Floyd are their sponsors, and we are proud of them, for they are doing a fine work.

We have a good Sunday School record with the attendance of 160 members. We have prayer meeting each week night. Our revival meeting will start on the fourth Sunday night in April. The Reverend Davis will do the preaching. I must not forget to say that the labor for the construction of the building, including the plumbing, wiring, and the painting of the picture for the baptistry were all donated free of charge. But we did take a public donation, and gave it to the boy who painted the picture. There is no wonder that God will bless a people who are willing to work for him.

We covet your prayers that we shall be able to continue on in the noble service of the Lord.

Do You Pray for Editors?

The amount of good or evil accomplished by the press is incalculable. There may be half-a-dozen ministers on the globe who preach regularly to four or five thousand people; but there are comparatively few papers which do not reach this number, allowing an average of five persons in each home to which the paper goes; while in numerous cases the congregation of an editor amounts to hundreds of thousands of persons.

The minister speaks, perhaps, to two or three out of a family; the aged and infirm, as a rule, having no part in his ministrations. The words of the editor go directly to the home, and reach every member of the family who reads. The minister's words are spoken hastily, and may fail to express adequately his thought; the words of an editor are likely to be more carefully considered, and his thoughts more accurately expressed. A minister's words may be forgotten, and he himself may be unable to recall them; but the words of the editor are written down, and may be considered and re-read until they are firmly fixed in the mind. How important that the words spoken be right words, even words of wisdom and truth!

How little we know of the sermons which the apostles preached; but the Epistles which they wrote have come down to us as an unfailling treasury of truth. In view of such facts, should not Christian men and women engage in earnest supplication for those on whom is laid the responsible charge of conducting the public press? Surely no Christian should hear with indifference the request of an editor when he says, "Brethren, pray for us."—Boston Christian.

PILOT ME

Jean J. Eastley

About twenty years ago, I was firing on a passenger train. My engineer was a grizzly old fellow, but a great big kind-hearted man. Speaking somewhat gruffly at times, he would say: "Keep her hot, old top"! as the train of sleeping cars moved out of the Terminal for its night's passage over the mountains.

Up, up the grades, the train climbed during the early hours of the night—then through the pass at the summit of the track, and cautiously in the early morning the big locomotive piloted the train down the other side. On the other side rose the cliffs hundreds of feet, while on this side was a chasm filled with the mists of night.

As the train came to a standstill, in the early morning after the descent had been completed, I turned to the old engineer with this query: "Do not think I am impertinent, but what were you saying to yourself as we came down the mountain, for I saw your lips move"? The old engine-driver turned to me and said: "I was not talking to myself. I have traveled over this line for many years; I know its dangers and I realize that the lives of sleeping men and women are entrusted to my keeping. So when passing over the dangerous section of the line, I have made it a nightly habit to repeat these words:

'Jesus, Saviour, pilot me,
Jesus, Saviour, pilot me.'

I am now an engineer traveling over the same route and can still see the old veteran lips quiver, murmuring in silent prayer. This left a passive impression. When pulling a train of human cargo, I feel the responsibility. One error upon my part would endanger the lives of many who are traveling on the train. As I place my hand on the throttle to proceed, I bow my head in silent reverence, and ask God for a safe journey and Jesus to pilot my train to its destination.

It did not take an overflowing barrel of meal and a full cuse of oil for three trusting ones to outlive the famine. Just a day's supply at a time carried them through.—Author Unknown.

Without Me—Nothing

"For without Me ye can do nothing" (John 15:5).

These blessed words were spoken by our Lord in His parable of the Vine and the Branches. "I am the Vine, ye are the branches; He that abideth in Me, and I in Him, the same bringeth forth much fruit, for without Me ye can do nothing." The union between the vine and the branch is the closest possible. One only needs to look at the branch and see how it is grown in and woven into the parent stem; in fact the branch is a part of the vine. The life which is in the vine, the sap which circulates there, is also in the branch and produces the fruit. If the branch is separated from the vine it withereth away and dies. And this union is used by our Lord as an illustration of the intimate union of the true believer with Himself. Our union with Him is as close and just as real. When our Lord speaks of branches which bear no fruit, which are cast forth, wither and are burned, He does not mean true believers, but such who profess to be believers, who profess thereby to be identified with Him, but who in reality have never been joined to the Lord by His Spirit. A man may appear outwardly to be a branch, may profess to be one with Christ, which he is not in reality. A true branch in the vine witnesses to its vital union with Christ by fruitbearing. Well has it been said, "Two principles we must never let go. One principle is that no one can be a branch in Christ, and a living member of His Body, who does not bear fruit. Vital union with Christ not evidenced by life is an impossibility, and a blasphemous idea. The other principle is that no living branch of the True Vine, no believer in Christ, will ever finally perish. They that perish may have looked like believers, but they were not."

But oh! how we need to be constantly reminded of His Word, "Without Me ye can do nothing." He tells us, "You need Me every moment, every step of the way." And what is the answer of our heart, the heart which knows Him? I need Thee, Lord! I crave a greater dependence on Thee, a closer walk with Thee, a more real enjoyment of that union Thy grace has brought me! Such is our desire and prayer. It is the longing of the new nature. "Without Me ye can do nothing." It means that we must realize our dependence on Him. In all our spiritual life, in fruitbearing, in conflict, in everything we need Him. Apart from Him we have no strength, no power, no joy, no peace, no happiness. And therefore He exhorts us "Abide in Me." What does it mean? Remain in Him by a living faith, which casts itself upon Him as the living Lord. It has been transcribed in the following manner: "Cling to Me! Stick fast to Me! Live the life of close and intimate communion with Me! Get nearer and nearer to Me! Roll every burden on Me! Cast your whole weight on Me! Never let go your hold on Me for a moment! Be rooted in Me! Do this and I will never fail you." May His grace help us daily and do this and we shall find more and more, that all "our springs" are indeed in Him, that without Him we can do nothing, and that with Him we can do all things.

"All that Thou hast, Thou hast for me,

All my fresh springs are hid in Thee;
In Thee I live; while I confess
I nothing am, yet all possess.

O Saviour, teach me to abide
Close sheltered at Thy wounded side,
Each hour receiving "grace on grace,"
Until I see Thee face to face."

—Our Hope.

Home-Coming at Bethel Church, Pamlico Co., N. C.

We believe that it will be of interest to the Baptist readers to read this message. The Bethel Church, Pamlico County, North Carolina, had a full program through the week-end of Easter season. On Saturday night, April 8, we had our regular quarterly meeting and communion service with many of the churches members participating in the Lord's Supper, and taking part in the feet-washing service.

On Easter Sunday, April 9, it was the time for our Annual Home-coming day. We had Sunday School at ten o'clock A. M., and at the eleven o'clock hour Rev. A. C. Austin of Aurora, N. C., delivered an inspiring message for our homecoming. Following the sermon, the service closed, and we had a bountiful lunch spread out on the church grounds. Many visitors and members who have moved away came "home" to share the joy of this Home-coming day program with us.

On Sunday afternoon, we were host to the Singing Convention, which had an estimated crowd of 500 people. It is gratifying indeed to see so many young people attending these conventions and singing praises to God. Christians, we are praying that they may continue in this good work, for they are proving a blessing to both old and young. Will you pray also for our church that we may do more for the cause of Christ, and that each member will be a fruit-bearing Christian.

Our pastor is Rev. Elmo Harper, Grantsboro, North Carolina, and we have preaching service on every second and fourth Sundays of the month, and also Sunday night service. Come and worship with us.

Hosea, the Man and His Message

(Lesson for May 2)

Lesson: Hosea 4:1-9!; 6:1-3; 10:12, 13.

Golden Text: Hosea 4:6.

I. Heart of the Lesson

1. Men may be complacent in their evil deeds, but God has a controversy against every one that sins against Him (Hos. 4:1).

2. The sins which are common to unbelievers should not be known among the people of God (vs. 2).

3. The consequences of evil deeds are felt by the individual who committed them and also have an effect on his surroundings (vs. 3).

4. It is bad to suffer on account of ignorance, but it is much worse if that ignorance is willful (vs. 6).

5. The spiritual condition of a people seems hopeless when even their leaders do not rise above the common level (vs. 9).

6. The way of repentance is the only way of return to the Lord (6:1).

7. Like a surgeon, the Lord wounds in order that He might remove the evil and then bind up the wound and heal it (vs. 1).

8. God restores backsliders that afterward they might live in His sight and not run away from Him (vs. 2).

9. If we would learn to know the Lord we must learn to follow the Lord (vs. 3).

10. God's presence will always bring refreshing to those who are obedient to Him (vs. 3).

11. The Prophet Hosea is the first of the twelve Prophets generally called the "Minor Prophets." They were not so named because they were less important or less inspired than the longer messages of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel, but rather because of their comparative brevity. Altogether these twelve prophetic Books contain but one more chapter than Isaiah, the longest of all the prophetic Books.

—Selected.

12. V. 2. By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and blood toucheth blood. This verse describes the condition which prevailed in Israel during the days of Jeroboam, and those immediately following his death. Sin prevailed on every hand, and crimes of the most vicious sort were committed. Revolt followed revolt as one king overthrew another and set himself up as a ruler (2 Kings 15). One rebellion followed so closely upon another that the prophet said, Blood toucheth blood. With such vices as are named in this verse influencing the lives of men and women, there can be no fruits of truth, mercy, or knowledge of the Lord.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

13. They eat up the sin of my people, and they set their heart on their iniquity, verse 8. "They feed on the sin of my people," (RV). That is to say, the priests increased their incomes by "pandering to a lower type of religion"—having turned their attention to the easier and more gainful business of conducting a debased worship. Dr. Benjamin L. Olmstead says, "They encourage the people in wrong-doings because thereby they made their living and maintained their positions."—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

14. In Hosea, as in some other prophetic books, there are sudden changes from dire predictions to messages of hope, indicating that a decree of destruction is not God's last word. There is always the underlying assumption that if the people truly repent God will be merciful. The last two sections of our lesson contain such hopeful messages. The first consists of a three-verse interlude, tucked in between prophecies of condemnation and gloom, in which Hosea imagines the people as encouraging each other to return to the Lord. These imaginary penitents say that if they return he will heal them and bind them up and that they will live in his sight. Yea, if they follow on to know the Lord, he will call upon them in blessing as rain comes upon the earth. Truly in this picture the prophet reveals what God would do if these conditions were met. But alas, they were not met.—Arnold's Commentary.

15. We wonder if any of you ever read Charles G. Finney's great Sermon on Hosea 10:12.

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Forgiveness Not for Sale

One day a poor girl ventured into the garden of the Queen's palace at Balmoral, and approached the gardener, telling him that her mother was lying very ill, and that she longed for a flower, such as she had seen in the Queen's gardens. It was winter time, and the flowers were rare at that season. The child had saved a few pennies and wished to buy a rose for her sick mother. The gardener had no authority to give away the Queen's flowers, and he said when she offered to pay, "The Queen has no flowers for sale," and would have sent the poor child away. It chanced that the Queen herself was in the greenhouse, and, unobserved either by the gardener or his little customer, had overheard the conversation. As the child was turning away sorrowful and disappointed the Queen stepped from behind her flowery screen and addressed the child, saying: "The gardener was quite right, my child, he has no authority to give you the flowers you want, nor does the Queen cultivate flowers for sale; but the Queen has flowers to give away;" and, suiting the action to the word, she lifted from the basket into which she had been snipping the flowers a handful of rare roses and gave them to the child, saying: "Take these to your mother with my love, and tell her that the Queen sent them. I am the Queen." So let me say to you, God has no forgiveness for sale; you cannot buy it with your poor pence of tears, prayers, or repentance; God has forgiveness to give, and you may take it by faith, but not barter for it with anything you can do.—1000 Evangelistic Illustrations.

Auxiliary of Black River Church Reporting

The Woman's Auxiliary of Black River F. W. B. Church met on Wednesday, April 12, 1950, at the home of Mrs. Daisy Ray. On account of sickness there were only twelve members present for this meeting.

We opened our program with a hymn. The Lord's Prayer was repeated by all of the members present. Then the president, Mrs. Ruth Floyd, turned the program over to the program leader, Mrs. Ray Mixon. Our subject was "Advancing with Christ through the Training of Youth." The first was the scripture reading by Mrs. Eva Benton. Next was the introduction by Mrs. Ray Mixon. Others taking part on the program were: Part one, Mrs. Essie Casselman. Part two, Mrs. Ruth Floyd. Miss Jeannette Floyd took part three, and Mrs. Effie Powell took part four. Then we had a prayer offered by Mrs. Eva Benton. After the prayer an interesting talk was given by Mrs. Eva Benton. Following the completion of the program the president took charge and called for the business matters of the auxiliary. The first was the calling of the roll and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. Then the program leader assigned parts for the next program. Then we sang a hymn and offered the benediction.

The hostess, Mrs. Daisy Ray, served delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Ray Mixon, Fourth Vice-Pres.

Auxiliary Meets to Study the Manual

The Mattie Shelly Auxiliary of Hebrew Church met on Friday night, April 14, for the study of the Manual. The study was conducted by Mrs. C. J. Harvey of Camilla, Georgia. It was found most interesting.

The meeting was opened with song and prayer, and Mrs. Edd Hill had charge of the Scripture reading. There were twenty members present for this meeting, and all seemed to have enjoyed the study of the Manual very much. After the close of the meeting, the women of the church served assorted sandwiches, cookies, soft drinks, coffee and pound cake.

The "Go Tell" Auxiliary of Fairmount Park Makes Report

The Red Circle of the "Go Tell Auxiliary" of Fairmount Park F. W. B. Church, Norfolk, Virginia, met on Saturday afternoon, April 15th, at the home of Mrs. Edward C. Hyers, the young people's director.

The meeting was opened by the members singing the auxiliary theme song, "Go Tell." Miss Barbara Parker, president, presided over the meeting. Miss Iris Armstrong led in prayer, after which the group joined in singing hymn, "Give of Your Best to the Master." Miss Phillis Futrell read the scripture lesson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Mrs. Hyers reported $4 more on the pot holders which the girls are buying and selling in order to raise money for our organ fund. It was decided that the Go Tell Band would present a playlet at the Woman's Auxiliary church night meeting in the near future. A sympathy card to be sent to a bereaved family was signed by each one present.

Miss Barbara Parker gave the introduction to the program. The topic was: "Our Best for Christ in the Use of Our Talents." Talks were made by Miss Mary Adams, Miss Phillis Futrell, Miss Betty Hales, and Miss Iris Armstrong. The meeting was closed with a chain of prayer, after which a social hour was enjoyed by every one present.

Mt. Elon Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. T. Flowers, and Mrs. Robert Hyman, the program chairman, conducted the program. The theme was: "Advancing with Christ through the Training of Youth." Several of the members took part on the program.

During the business period, plans were made for our Vacation Bible School, which is to be held during the first week in June. The auxiliary will serve refreshments each day the school will be in session.

We had fourteen members and one visitor present for this meeting. The visitor was Mrs. Ervin Evans.

THE BOY WHO STUCK

OWIE! Parley exclaimed as he ducked into the door of the tumble-down shack where he and two other newsboys lived their "bachelor" lives. "Sure am glad the papers sold fast to-night. That freezing rain cuts like a knife."

"I stood close to that big building on Broad," Jerry grinned as he stirred the fire in the monkey stove. Here comes the preacher!"

"I'll open the door for him," Parley said, jumping up. "He has had to stand right out in the open to sell papers. I'm sure he's froze to the bone. Hello, Preacher," he greeted good-naturedly as he flung open the door and let Hi Bales in out of the weather.

"Jever see a worse one?" Parley exclaimed. "Here, Preacher, take my place back of the stove. I'm warmed almost through."

"Hurry up, Parley," Jerry urged. "Put some more water on those coffee grounds an' let 'er boil. Oleo on day-old bread with bologna, washed down with make-believe coffee good an' hot's, not half bad; but let's get going."

"Thank you for giving me your warm place, Parley," Hi said. "I want to get good and warm. Standing in front of the Mission to-night handing out tracts to passers-by is going to be a chilly job. Makes my teeth chatter to think of it."

"Hi Bales," Parley said fiercely, as he paused, big coffee pot in hand ready to be placed on the red-hot stove lid, "you're not going to stand in front of the Mission to-night! If your mother could speak she's say this is a night to hole in."

"We all stuck to it until we got all our papers sold to make a few cents," Hi argued. "Maybe by being faithful to-night I can get someone to turn into the Mission out of the cold who would not stop in if it were good weather."

"Do you think God expects a fellow to freeze himself like that?" Parley asked.

"He set me the example," Hi explained. "Because He wanted to make a way for people to get saved He suffered all He went through, and He says we are to follow His steps. Do you suppose He'd hesitate about going to the Mission if He were in my place to-night?"

"I reckon not," Parley admitted, "but you'll be mighty cold."

"When He saves me, Parley, just as it was when He saved you, He did it because I asked Him to. He loved me and didn't want me to live and die in sin and be lost. But there was another and bigger reason than that."

"What?" Jerry demanded. Jerry had not given himself to Christ yet.

"When He saved me, Jerry, He saved just one boy," Hi replied, "if I let it stop there. But He hoped that I would get others saved. He calls that bearing fruit, and as I do that His saving me will result in many others getting saved. That was the bigger reason. In the course of my life I expect to get at least one hundred saved. He spoke of some who bring forth a hundred fold you know."

Standing with his back to the fierce wind driving the freezing rain, Hi held faithfully to the post of duty, handing each passer-by a tract, and asking him to go inside and hear the singing.

"Will you have a tract, Sir?" he said to a warmly-dressed man who came along, "and will you not go inside and hear the music?"

"Are you not cold, Boy?" the man asked. "It is pretty cold," Hi admitted with a cherry grin, "but I believe Jesus, if He were in my place, would stick, and I'm going to stick. Will you go inside, Sir?"

"I'm not a Christian, boy," the man said as he gazed steadily into Hi's unflinching eyes, "but I sure do like your girl. Tell you what I'll do. If you will go inside and stay ten minutes until you are a little warmed, I'll stay right here and offer one of your tracts to everyone who passes, and try to get him to go inside. Is it a trade?"

"When I come out, after ten minutes," Hi asked cautiously, "will you then go in and listen to the service? You need to get saved."

"I'll do that too, boy you're a good trader. You keep your eyes on the main point. Besides I do need to get what you have. If that means getting saved, then I need to get saved."

"All right, Sir. It's a trade. Here are the tracts. I'll watch the clock."

Surely it was the strangest thing happy-go-lucky Alfred Anderson had ever done, but he admired the boy whose lips he saw were blue with the cold. And there was a natural streak of faithfulness in him that made him do his best to stop every passer-by and draw him into the Mission.

"Now I'll take the tracts," Hi said as he came out after having been in the warm Mission for ten minutes by the wall clock. "I thank you. Now you hurry in inside so you'll not miss anything."

Half an hour later when the time that Hi was expected to stand out in front had gone by, he slipped into the Mission and sat down by Mr. Anderson.

When the invitation at last was being given Hi whispered to the man by his side, "Now is your time. It's wonderful to have Jesus for your Friend. I'll go with you if you will go forward for prayer. It's easy as anything."

"I'm too mean," the man said, and Hi saw a tear ready to roll down the man's cheek. "God wouldn't have any time for a tough guy like me."

"Aren't you a sinner?"

"Yes, I am that."

"He came to save sinners—the worst of sinners. Please Go."

"Well, Boy, you walk ahead and show me just where to go. I'll follow."

That night when Hi waked up Parley and Jerry to tell them all about the stranger's getting saved, and how happy he got, and how he said he was going to write that very night to his old, praying mother who had not heard from him for years, the boys agreed that Hi had been right, and that it pays to stick.—Int. Young People.

A Note of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the churches, church organizations, as Sunday Schools, Woman's Auxiliaries, Young People's Leagues, to individuals, and also to the different religious circles, civic organizations, business establishments: to the Red Cross, the County Welfare organization, to the Order of Red Men, and also to the doctors and nurses of the Edgecombe Hospital of Tarboro, North Carolina, for their deep sympathy and generous assistance to us in our tragic loss of two of our children, and all of our household effects in the tragic fire which swept away our home recently. We will never be able to express our deep sense of appreciation and thanks to all of those people who gave to us financial aid, and expressed their kind words of consolation to us over our great loss. God only knows what we have suffered.

Our nine year old daughter, Rachel, was burned so badly that the doctors say that she will have to remain in the hospital for treatment for 12 to 15 months before she will be well from the burns. She may have to stay longer. She has to have a special nurse to care for her much of the time. Mrs. Wiggs is at home now, but her burned arm and hand are not well yet of the burns. She can't use the fingers of the burned arm.

To those who should like to write to us at any time are asked to direct their mail to Rev. P. C. Wiggs and family, Macclesfield, N. C., Route 1.—By the Editor.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Miss Annie Harper Passes

It is with a sad heart that I attempt to write concerning the death of my Aunt, Miss Annie Harper, who died of a heart attack at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, with whom she made her home. She died on February 13th, 1950. It was hard to give her up, but we realize that God knows best and that he doeth all things well.

She was always so sweet and loving with everyone, and always wore a smile. The funeral services were conducted in the Arapahoe F. W. B. Church by J. M. Waters of Arapahoe. Her body was laid to rest in the family burial ground beneath a mound of lovely flowers.

She is survived by three sisters and one brother: Mrs. Eric Lee, Mrs. Sarah Phillips, Mrs. A. E. Scott, and Albert Harper.

You are gone but not forgotten,
Nor will you ever be;

As long as life and memory lasts
I will always think of thee.

Written by her niece, Mrs. Ernie Scott, Arapahoe, N. C.

Mrs. Maggie W. Sutton

On Sunday morning, January 15, 1950, God saw fit to call our dear mother, Mrs. Maggie W. Sutton, out of this world of suffering into a home of rest. She was the daughter of Eliza and James W. Williams, and was 76 years old on December 22, 1949. She had been in declining health for the past five years, and was critically ill for the last eight days she was with us.

For many years she had been a true and loyal member of the Juniper Chapel F. W. B. Church, Craven County. She enjoyed being in the service of the Master. She attended church and Sunday School when ever her health would permit. She was indeed a kind and loving mother and a kind friend to every one. We do miss her so much but we know that God's will is best and we feel that she has gone to her heavenly rest which she tried faithfully to attain.

The funeral services were conducted at the church on Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 P. M. by her former pastor, Rev. J. R. Forrest. She was laid to rest in the church cemetery. The large crowd of relatives and friends present and the numerous beautiful flowers that she received attested to the high esteem in which the decease was held.

She leaves to mourn five daughters: Mrs.

B. H. Morris, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. G. H. Wilson, Mrs. Dave Fillingime, Mrs. Fountain Smith. Three sons: L. R. Sutton, Willie Sutton, Romie Sutton, and twenty-three grand children and thirteen great-grand-children.

She is gone but not forgotten
Never will her memory fade;
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the grave where she is laid.

Written by her daughter, Mrs. B. H. Morris, Route 1, Vanceboro, N. C.

Mrs. Jincy Harris Aycock

It is with a sad heart that I write the account of the death of my dear mother, Jincy Harris Aycock, whom God called to be with Him on April 20, 1949. She was born October 25, 1879 and was a faithful member of Union Grove church (Wayne Co.) as long as health and her afflictions would permit.

She suffered unknown agony with that dreadful disease cancer and lived only 3 months and 26 days after falling and breaking her arm. She said on her death bed, "if my suffering will glorify my Lord, let me suffer." We are sure Mama is at rest with her Lord.

Heaven is nearer since Mother is there.

Dark are the windows,
No flickering glow,
Lights up the old home that we used to know;
But in the darkness a sweet face so fair
Smiles down from heaven for Mother is there.

O, how I miss her sweet voice and her smile,

Yet I shall see her again after a while;
With our dear Saviour I know she will wait
With a glad welcome just inside the gate.

Written by a devoted daughter, Mrs. Zeb Whaley, Route 2, Pikeville, N. C.

In Memory of Mr. Jason Thompson

It is with a sad and broken heart that I write of the death of our Brother in Christ, who went to sleep in Jesus on Jan. 21, 1950. Brother Thompson was a member of Gray Branch F. W. B. Church. He was 67 years old; He leaves to mourn a heart-broken family: two daughters, four sons, and his wife, and 29 grandchildren. His pastor, Rev. C. D. Hamilton of Fountain, conducted the funeral.

God took him away from earthly pain.
The family's loss is heaven's gain.

He is gone but not forgotten,
Never will his memory fade.

Sweetest thoughts will ever linger,
Around the grave where he is laid.

Written by Walter King, Deep Run, N. C., Route 1.

Rev. L. B. Manning Holds Spring Revival Marlboro

Our spring or Pre-Easter revival meeting began on the fourth Sunday night in March, and continued for one week. The pastor, Rev. L. B. Manning, did the preaching.

We, the members of the church, and visiting friends really enjoyed the soul-stirring sermons which Brother Manning brought to us. He has been pastor of our church for five or six years, and I believe that he preached some of the best sermons I have ever heard him preach.

As well as good sermons, we had some good singing, such as choir singing, quartets, duets, and some solos that were rendered by visiting friends from other churches. Mrs. J. R. Shearin of Farmville played the piano for the revival, and the people of the church appreciated this very much.

From the beginning we had large crowds of people to attend these services, and all seating capacity of the church was filled each night. During the meeting there were several persons converted, and there were some who moved their names from other churches to this church. The total joining this church in all was thirty-eight. Many people who were already church members rededicated their lives to Christ.

All of us, including Brother Manning, hated to see the meeting come to a close, as he was having such good results. The baptismal service was held on Easter Sunday in the Baptist Church in Fountain, North Carolina.

We want all Christians to pray for us here at Marlboro, and also to pray for Brother Manning. Pray that he might continue to preach the gospel in the future, as he has of late, and that God may greatly bless him in his work.

A Prayer Answered

For years we silently prayed and waited,
Hardly closing weary eyes;
Working to build the church upon the hill
By the lonely grave where loved one lies.

Here many souls have come to drink from thee,
Following along thy happy way;
There can be no sad tomorrow,
Just a glorious, glad today.

Oh God! Who lights the stars of velvet night,

Oh Thou, who comforts burdened hearts,
Bless Hammock Spring's Church as we
Labor and pray before we have to part.

Oh Thou, who acts as Father, guide and friend,

With a heart that understands;
Thou who so sweetly, so thoughtful to all
Mayest thou help us better understand.

Oh Father who rules the ocean, wide and deep,

And who gives to His children perfect sleep;

Wilt now wash away sorrows so heavy and great,

That thy matchless beauty to us be ever sublime.

The Legend of the Dogwood Tree

Across the street opposite me
There grows a tiny Dogwood tree.
Its trunk is knotty, and twisted too.
I wonder is the legend true.

That the Cross was made from a Dogwood tree

On which the Saviour died for me?
That in its blossoms blotched with red
Are the drops of blood for mankind shed?

They say that's why it never grew
So large again that man could hew
A cross on which to crucify.
Christ was the last thorn to die.

We do not know, nor have we proof
That the ancient story is the truth,
Whether the suffering at Calvary
Made beautiful the Dogwood tree.

What Is Prayer?

Prayer is the soul's sincere desire,
Uttered or unexpressed;
The motion of a hidden fire
That trembles in the breast.

Prayer is the burden of a sigh,
The falling of a tear,
The upward glancing of an eye,
When none but God is near.

Prayer is the simplest form of speech
That infant lips can try;
Prayer the sublimest strains that reach
The Majesty on high.

Prayer is the contrite sinner's voice,
Returning from his ways;
While angels in their songs rejoice
And cry, "Behold, He prays!"

Prayer is the Christian's vital breath,
The Christian's native air,
His watchword at the gates of death;
He enters heaven with prayer.

O Thou, by whom we come to God,
The Life, the Truth, the Way;
The path of prayer thyself hast trod:
Lord, teach us how to pray!

LOVE AND FAITH

No person can truly love God who does not believe in Jesus Christ. This statement will doubtless, by many, be regarded as inconsiderate, and by some rejected as untrue. As it is a matter of first importance, may it not be well to examine it? And, first, it is obvious that to truly love a being there must be a true knowledge of his character, though it be limited by reason of our capacity and the extent of the subject of knowledge. We are told by Him who came to give the knowledge of God and bring us to Him—"neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him." And then follow these words of inimitable tenderness, which ought to be read in their connection. "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavily laden, and I will give you rest." "Learn of Me, and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Thus, by coming to Christ, that rest to the soul is found which consists in the knowledge and love of God. It is by partaking of that meek and lowly spirit which He, who is the "brightness of His Father's glory" exhibited in all His life, that we become like Him whose love to the Father shone gloriously all along His pathway on earth. And, as He has elsewhere said, "No man cometh to the Father but by Me;" this is the only mode of gaining that knowledge which is essential to a true scriptural love of God; this coming is with a faith in Him, as the "only begotten Son of God."

There is still another truth entering vitally into this question of love to God. It is a filial love; the affectionate confidence of a child appearing in all the way of obedience, submission to a Father's will, and no one who is not a child can exercise this affection.

Nothing is more clearly revealed in the Holy Scriptures than that it is by Christ alone that we become the children of God. All persons are not, in the sense of Scripture, the children of God, though they are His creatures—His subjects. When our Saviour was revealed among men, and His own to whom He came did not receive Him—to "as many as received Him to them gave He power to become the sons of God, to them that believe on His name." This, manifestly, is the only way for sinful men to become the children of God, by accepting His Son, Jesus Christ, in the character which He is represented by the Father. This Sonship of Jesus Christ was declared in the hearing of the disciples, who were with Him on the holy mount, and who beheld His glory, of which they were His witnesses.

The beloved disciples, who well understood His subject, has given abundant testimony to this end, that "in this way was manifested the love of God toward us, because God sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him." We love Him because He first loved us. Only, then, as Jesus is beheld and received with a true faith in Him as the propitiation for our sins, can there be in the heart this filial love, which is the witness of the Spirit that we are the children of God, even that whereby we cry, "Abba, Father."

How vain, therefore, must be all attempts to obtain the knowledge which is indispensable to salvation, in any other way than by coming to Jesus, who could say in truth, "He that has seen Me hath seen My Father;" and how greatly do they err who imagine they have true love to God—this highest enjoyment of the soul—who have not been led to seek and find forgiveness of sin by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. There is indeed some emotion in the heart of man which he may consider as love to God, when His blessings are freely given, which is soon dissipated in time of adversity; it does not then draw the soul nearer to God, as to a father. The child of God that truly loves, finds often the most precious enjoyment of His presence in the night of weeping. How important that our knowledge of God be that which is obtained by coming near the Saviour as learners; and that there be cherished a holy love, which finds delight in prayer and thanksgiving, as we talk humbly with Him in communion, like that in the heavenly world.—The Herald of light.

SUMMER SCHOOL CHRISTIAN RADIO PROGRAM MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE

August 14 through 25 marks the fifth year of the Summer School of Christian Radio to be held at Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. The two weeks of intensive instruction in Christian broadcasting are under the joint sponsorship of the World Missionary Fellowship, which operates the well-known station HCJB, Quito, Ecuador, and the Institute, with stations WMBI and WMBI-FM.

Slanted toward helping pastors, missionaries, and others who use the radio as a means of spreading the gospel, the school will offer courses such as broadcasting on the mission field, ethics or broadcasting station management, announcing, and speech interpretation.

Individual coaching of students, class use of WMBI studios, and visits to Chicago network stations to view rehearsals and programs are featured in the two weeks' schedule.

Besides co-directors Dr. Clarence W. Jones, co-director of HCJB, and the Rev. Robert Parsons, program director of WMBI and WMBI-FM, instructors include Storm Whaley, manager of KUOA, John Brown University; Dr. Eugene R. Bertermann, director of radio, "The Lutheran Hour"; and WMBI personnel.

ABOUT THE BIBLE

Boys and girls, do you like to get an interesting letter? The Bible is really a very long, interesting Letter which God has written to each one of you. It is God's message to you because it tells you what He wants you to do; and, most important of all, it tells you how to be saved. No, God did not actually write the Bible Himself. Different men did though, and God gave each of them the words to say. They were as His stenographers, but God was the Author. The Bible is His Book.

In this wonderful Book, we learn how Jesus, the Saviour, suffered and died for our sins. He was without sin, and yet He did this wonderful act that we who have sinned might receive Jesus as our Saviour, be saved from sin and be ready to enter Heaven. Do you believe? God says you must believe in order to be saved.

"The same hand that shut Noah safely in the ark shut the whole world into a merciful flood."

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

INTEREST IN CRAGMONT GROWS

As I observe by what I see and hear, the interest in the Cragmont Assembly, Inc., is growing rapidly. Almost everywhere, we hear such expressions as, "I shall not be satisfied until I get to Cragmont." "I never have been to Cragmont, but I plan to attend some of these wonderful meetings that I hear about." Then those who have been, some of them are saying, "If you ever go you will want to go again." And one lady, said to me a few days ago, "I felt nearer to heaven up there than anywhere I have ever been." Another, "Everybody is happy when we are up there." Well, we are praising God for these testimonies; they show that interest is growing.

Recently I have been showing a picture of Cragmont, when Ministers Conferences were held—two of the conferences, and it was said by some; "I had no idea that Cragmont was so beautiful," and some said, "It is better than I expected."

The picture is a color film showing the beautiful foliage and flowers in the spring of the year and summer. This picture creates an interest in many who see for themselves.

Remember the "Six-Weeks Bible Institute" there this summer. Write to Rev. Rashie Kennedy, 713 Simmons Street, Goldsboro, N. C., for the particulars. He will tell you all about it, the starting, the ending, the cost and the possible benefits, as to "College hours" upon completing the course.

If you are a young man or woman, and are anxious to be of benefit to the ongoing of the church, it will pay you to make a sacrifice, in order to attend the Six-Weeks school.

"The time is at hand." Look forward to better prepared servants of the Lord.

CONFUSION, A WEAPON OF SATAN

Sometimes I find people who are confused over SALVATION. I find some who say, "I don't know what is right," then they begin to tell me, "There is a church down the road whose preacher preaches, 'Join the church and be baptized and you are saved.'" Then another who says, "You have got to do a lot of praying before you can pray through and be saved." And then after your sins have been forgiven, and you are saved, you must be sanctified and then later be baptized with the Holy Ghost.

Then there are some who try to mix "LAW AND GRACE." Well, it is a hard matter to get them to see, but when once they see, their hearts are made to rejoice because of this wonderful experience which comes as a result of acceptance of the SALVATION PURCHASED ON CALVARY.

A great preacher in a mining town spoke to a man who said "It is too good to be true," in speaking of salvation by grace through faith. The preacher said, "How did you get up out of the coal mine today?" "Oh, I just stepped on the elevator and came up." "Did it not cost you any fare?" said the preacher. "No" replied the man, "the company pays the fare." "It cost the company a great sum to build that elevator to take you up did it not?" Then the preacher said, "It cost the Lord Jesus His life to get you up out of sin, Why not step on by faith, and be lifted?" Then, the man who lived down hundreds of feet below the surface in the mine, a big part of his life, said, "I see now," and stepped on and was lifted up to fellowship with Christ and heaven.

LOVE WORTH WALKING FOR

A little boy who went to a mission Sunday school in his community was taken to another part of the city when his parents moved, but Sunday after Sunday he went back to his Sunday school which was five miles away. Every Sunday as he went back he passed about forty other Sunday schools. One day he was met by a lady who was out seeking to get members for her class in Sunday School and asked him, "Why do you go so far to a Sunday school." Like a great many recruiters for their schools she told him about "schools that were just as good near by." She wanted to get the boy into her school, but the boy said, "They may be just as good, but they are not so good for me." "Why not?" she asked. "Because they LOVE a fellow over there," he answered.

There is no way that will reach the height of LOVE to get boys and girls and keep them in the Sunday School, than to LOVE them in, and keep on loving them to hold them.

I have seen workers who were alert to the getting, and as soon as the boy or girl was placed on the class there was but little more attention paid to the youngster, and then the teacher began to look for another and while looking for another, the one already caught slipped away. There is something to the getting, but there is more to the keeping of those already gotten. TEACHERS, get on the job of getting and KEEPING the YOUTH into the Sunday School.

THE ABSENTEE

"Someone is absent" the Shepherd said, As over my CLASSBOOK he bent his head; "For several Sundays absent too, So tell me, TEACHER, what did you do?" "I didn't call, perhaps I should; I wrote some cards, but they did no good; I've never heard, and they never came, So I decided to drop their name."

He answered gravely, "A flock was mine, A hundred? no, there was ninety and nine, For one was lost in the dark and cold, So I SOUGHT the sheep who had left the fold.

"The path was stony and edged with thorn, My feet were wounded and bruised and torn,

But I kept on seeking, nor counted the cost, And, Oh the joy, when I found the lost." Thus spoke the Shepherd in tender tone; I looked, and lo, I was alone, But God a vision had sent to me, To show His WILL toward the ABSENTEE.

A Word to the Wise Is Sufficient.

WARDEN'S GROVE VISIT

Recently, I conducted a ten-days meeting at Warden's Grove church in Pamlico County, where I found some of the finest and most loyal Free Will Baptist people to be found. Rev. J. R. Forest is the pastor and is greatly loved by his congregation and is doing a fine job with the church.

The meeting was a church meeting. There was no additions to the church. A goodly number of church members renewed their vows by the way of consecrating themselves a fresh unto the Lord as workers to seek out and lead the lost to Christ. One fine lady, a church member, said, "I know that I am saved now." That is our desire to get the church members saved and all on the altar for Christ. I had rather get a church member saved than to add a member to the church, with a question mark in my way. If we can get the church members really saved, then later on there will be a revival all the year, not just a week or two to get people saved. With a church saved and spirit-filled the Lord will add to the church. Amen.

We fell in love with the folk at Warden's Grove. They were real nice to us and showed their appreciation for our services in a great way. God bless them and their pastor is our PRAYER.

BLAMING OTHERS

A missionary in Brazil once saw a monkey sitting on a log cracking nuts with a stone. The monkey's attention was attracted to the man, and this so interfered with the accuracy of his aim that a blow fell upon his tail which was curled around him. With a scream of rage the monkey hurled the stone at the man and ran off. No doubt it comforted him to hold the missionary to blame for his sufferings.

Do you ever act like that monkey and blame other people for the mistakes you make? You should not because that is not the way Jesus wants you to live.—Unknown.

Awake! Awake!

Clara M. Jones

"Wherefore He saith, Awake thou that sleepest" (Eph. 5:14).

Spiritually speaking, there are many Christians to-day who are asleep and not awake to their opportunities and privileges in Christ. This is an age when satan is trying his utmost to get people into a lethargic condition. And so the apostle tells them to awake, to arouse themselves and walk in the light. To the Christians at Thessalonica he says, "Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober" (I Thess. 5:5, 6).

As this was needful in the days of the apostle, it is even more so to-day. For we are living in the last days, the days of apostasy, when there is a falling away from the Truth. These are testing, sifting and proving days, to see whether we love the Lord supremely.

There is darkness all around us. We are living in the night-time of sin. In Romans we are told that "the night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light."

Naturally speaking, it is in the night when the majority of crimes are committed. It is then that sin, vice and wickedness are carried on to an unlimited degree.

Relative to spiritual conditions it also is night, and the night is far spent. The evil forces are present, and wickedness abounds. Many are careless and indifferent. The devil has lulled them to sleep. They think they are all right. They are at ease. They say they are rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; but they are wretched, poor, blind, and naked. Therefore we, who have received the light, are not to sleep as others do, for the morning cometh. The morning of joy! when Christ shall appear.

Beloved, if you are awake, spiritually, you will be concerned about the Master's cause. You will have an interest, a passion for the souls that are perishing in sin. How many you do not know Christ as their Saviour you come in contact with each day! Many, in distant lands, are waiting for the glad tidings of salvation. They have a soul which will either be saved or lost. God may have designed you to carry the message of life to them, but you flinched. You counted your own life dear to yourself, and those souls were lost. Oh! can it be that Christians dare be so silent upon the most vital and important theme, that will bring life, yes, eternal life, to those who are dead in trespasses and sin and are condemned to die?

"Down from the glories of heaven,
Down to a world of woe,
When there was no eye to pity
Jesus said, 'I will go.'

"Out in the dark they are dying,
For them His life He gave;
Go, tell the lost of salvation,
Give them a chance to live.

" 'Uttermost part' is His order,
Dare any answer no?
What will you do when you meet
Him,
If you refuse to go?"
—Selected.

BE RECONCILED FIRST

Suppose a man is going to the Temple with an offering to lay upon the altar. As he comes to the door, he remembers some man outside who can point the finger of scorn and contempt at him, who knows of a wrong relationship which exists between him and one of his fellows. What must such as he do? Is he to go into the Temple and pray that God will send a great wave of religious enthusiasm over him, in which all this moral uneasiness will be lost? "No," said Jesus, "leave * * thy gift * * and go thy way; first to be reconciled to thy brother." A man has no gift for God in his hand who has some dishonor in his heart.—John A. Hutton.

NO DIVISIONS

There is no reason for believing that we can do anything for the moral welfare of the people of the United States if we allow ourselves to be diverted to energy-dissipating discussions and controversies which will bring about divisions among our own people. There are not enough good people in the North to control this country in the interests of Christian morality and there are not enough good people in the South to make any headway whatever against immorality and corruption in public administration unless they are supported from other parts of the country. The North, South, East, and West, should consider anyone who attempts to divide and embroil Christian people as enemies of the nation, to humanity and to God. We need every right-thinking man and woman in line and the only way we can have their enlistment is by cultivating tolerance of thought and spirit. Oliver Cromwell once became exasperated by a deputation of narrow and fanatical people and exclaimed, "Consider, gentlemen, by the mercies of God whether you may not be mistaken!" When we find ourselves of different opinion from our brethren, we should remember that possibly those with whom we do not agree are just as intelligent, just as informed and just as charitable as we.

No one will ever enjoy heaven because of what he did, but because of what Christ did.—H.

NORFOLK CHURCH CLOSES WONDERFUL REVIVAL

Fairmount Park F. W. B. Church began its spring revival on March 15, and the meeting continued through March 26. The evangelist was the Reverend Bruce Barrow of Bryan, Texas, one of our own and beloved ministers of the gospel. Brother Barrow was surely led by the spirit of the Lord, as he entered the pulpit each night.

The first week of our revival service was hindered somewhat due to the conditions of the weather, but surely the Lord gave us a great harvest in the end. We had eight converts to come in accepting Christ as their Saviour. We had six to come in by transfer of membership, and many who rededicated their lives, and promised by the help of God that they would live and work for the kingdom.

Brother Barrow preached some of the most powerful sermons with the most convicting spirit, as we had ever had privilege to hear for the last few months. We are truly thankful to the Lord that this revival has not as yet come to a close. We see and realize more every day the results of this meeting. We have people still coming in and some of those who have come are going out witnessing for the Lord. They are bringing in others into the realization of what God is to them.

Another blessing that we have received came as a result of the revival is the fact that we found it necessary and the opportunity presented itself for us to take over every church service (Sunday from eight P. M. to nine P. M., one hour) on the air over radio station WLOW. This is 1400 on your dial. The Lord is wonderfully blessing this Sunday afternoon broadcast, and the demand is greater than we anticipated. Truly it means more work, and more prayer for the church and its pastor, who is laboring so hard to reach those who are out in the world of sin and darkness.

We cannot say at the present how long this program will continue over the air, but should the demands and free will offerings continue as they have begun, it might be possible for us to go on a larger broadcasting system, and that in the future it could go out and be known as the "Free Will Baptist Hour." Truly we solicit your prayers and co-operation that this program may continue until Jesus comes.

Fairmount Park Church has the biggest year ahead of it with the convening of the National League Association with us here in June. From this get together of the youth of the denomination, we are looking for and preparing for around twenty thousand people. Truly the readers of the Baptist paper, as well as others, do not want to miss this glorious meeting. So make your plans to see us in June. We are looking for you.

Yours in Christ Jesus,
Wilton H. Dail

N. C. SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Hugo Church of the Central Conference of North Carolina entertained recently the North Carolina State Sunday School convention. The entertainment was all that anyone could wish, and the generous hospitality was not to be excelled by any church. It was a joyous occasion for delegates, ministers, and visiting friends from the various sections of the State.

The attendance was the largest ever experienced at any previous convention. The interest was great, and the speeches were of a high order, setting forth the opportunities and responsibilities of the future conventions, and giving encouragement for a greater work to be done by all the Sunday Schools of the State. The reports were expressive of progress being made in the various phases of the work. The music for the two days of the convention was delightful, and everyone enjoyed it in a great way. The convention was one of deep spiritual influence, and sacred purpose, thus reflecting the great concern of those taking part in it for the furtherance of the cause of Christ. It is expected that the ensuing year for the convention will prove to be one of progress and expansion of the Sunday School work among Free Will Baptists in the State.

—oooO0ooo— NATIONAL LEAGUE CONVENTION

The National League Convention of the young people of the denomination will convene in June with Fairmount Park F. W. B. Church in the city of Norfolk, Virginia. This is expected to be the greatest occasion in the history of the National League work among the young people of the church.

Plans are being made in different states to charter buses to convey the young people to the convention and return. The attendance is expected to run up to several thousand people from the various churches of the denomination. Norfolk is a city that can well provide for the delegates, ministers and visiting friends of the convention.

The officials in charge of the convention program will soon run a display, through the columns of the Baptist paper, of the outstanding features of the convention. Essential information concerning the entire session will be furnished the readers of the Baptist during the month of May for the convenience and understanding of those who are anticipating attending the convention. We shall be glad to publish, for the officials in charge, all matters pertaining to this coming National convention.

THE VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The Vacation Bible School among rural churches is becoming more and more popular with Free Will Baptist ministers and the church leaders. From all indications, there will be conducted this summer a great many more of these schools in the rural churches for the benefit of the children and the youth of the church.

This is certainly a forward step for many of our smaller and weaker churches, as well as for the stronger churches. A week or ten days' Bible School of good teaching of religious truth for the children and the young people is commendable, and much good is always derived from the work of these schools. An increased knowledge of the Bible is commendable.

The F. W. B. Press at Ayden has on hand a supply of various materials suitable for use in the Vacation Bible Schools for this summer. Those who are planning to have a Bible school for their children and young people in their church will do well to place their orders for literature with the Press. It will be well to place such orders early so that when the time comes for the school to begin they will already have in hand their supplies for all of their classes. Those living not far from Ayden may visit the Press and select the materials they want by making their own choice from the supplies that we have already in stock.

—oooO0ooo— MORE CHURCHES INCREASING THEIR MONTHLY SERVICES

A great many more of the rural churches are now changing from one Sunday per month service to two Sundays, or half-time pastorates, while there are others in small towns that are planning to put on full-time service, and elect pastors to give their whole time with them in the work of the church. In some instances parsonages are being built for the pastors so that they can live among their church people, and be of the best service possible to the church and community.

For the churches to be able to do their best work, it is becoming necessary, in a great many places, that they increase their monthly services, renew their efforts to strengthen their religious work and influence in their communities, and to further train and enlighten the people concerning the Word of God. The Devil is always busy, seeking every opportunity possible to tear down the work of righteousness in any community. It behooves, therefore, all church people everywhere to be alert and active for the cause of Christ.

SCRIPTURE BURNERS

By George C. Clark

"And it came to pass in the fourth year of Jehoiakim . . . that this word came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, Take thee a roll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have spoken unto thee . . .

"The king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll: and he took it out of Elishama the scribe's chamber. And Jehudi read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which stood beside the king. Now, the king sat in the winterhouse in the ninth month: and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him. And it came to pass, that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, until all the roll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth. Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these words" (Jer. 36:1, 2, 21-24).

There are many today, like Jehoiakim of old, who are burning every scripture in the Bible that does not meet the approval of their creed. It is true, these modern Jehoiakims are not using literal fires; however, what they are using is much more destructive than the fire which was on the hearth in the winterhouse of King Jehoiakim. They are using the fire of erroneous interpretations, which is burning the true meaning from every sacred scripture that would point out the way of the cross and lead men to the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation. No, these Bible destroyers no longer use the penknife and the fireplace; they leave the knife and the fire off, and use only the "pen" and the "place." Yes, they take their pen and place their own interpretations; this is why we have so many different and conflicting creeds in the world today, "doctrines of devils," as Paul called them. Strange as it may seem, men prefer to burn (pervert) the words of our Lord rather than repent and get right. Nevertheless, the Truth of God's Word is moving forward, as never before, conquering and subduing all things, even as God has said, "My Word . . . shall not return unto me void, but it shall accompany that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it (Isa. 55:11).

We know that God has a few men of truth who are filled with His Spirit and who are "rightly dividing the Word." Too, we know, there are thousands upon thousands who are misconstruing every essential passage of scripture and leading multitudes into complete darkness and disaster. These false leaders in their selfwill are even more wicked than Jehoiakim ever dared to be. He was honest enough to burn the roll and not try to set forth a false interpretation, and thus poison the minds of others. Jeremiah could and did rewrite his book after Jehoiakim burned it; hence no one was deceived by misinterpretations.

God has had and always will have a few Jehoiakims, men of activity, who will graciously receive His Word and write it on rolls. Yes, reader, the pen is as much needed today as it ever was, for God has never ceased speaking to His people. With all due respect to the Bible, I am convinced that God has messages for us now that are not yet in print, indeed, sermons for His holy ones.

Since 1932, the year that God laid the job of writing some of these sermons upon me, I have met thousands who were waiting and ready for these communications. On the other hand, I have met a number of Jehoiakims, those who burn or utterly destroy them; yet God has provided means whereby we are printing and mailing more of these messages than ever before. Surely God has caused us to triumph gloriously in this work.

Remember, reader, if you are one of these Jehoiakims who in this great wickedness have been destroying God's revelations in our little gospel tracts, you should be greatly afraid, for the Lord God of recompenses shall surely requite. He will not leave you wholly unpunished. You may have to face these sermons in final judgment. No one can stop the hands of the mighty God of Jacob, for His commandments, statutes, and laws must go. Men might burn every Bible and every gospel tract on earth, and yet the Word of God would still exist. It existed before it was written by men, for John 1:1 says, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God. Yes, the Word of God is much older than the paper mills or the printing presses; so come, ye Jehoiakims, and save your time and souls, put up your penknives, put out your fires, and quit trying to destroy God's precious Word, wherethat it be in the Bible or on some true gospel tract. "For the Word of God is quick and powerful and sharper than any twoedged sword," and any attempt to conspire against it will surely be a snare unto you. "For whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."—Sel.

REV. WADE H. CALVERT TO HOLD MEETING AT PINEY GROVE

The Reverend Wade H. Calvert of Belmont, North Carolina, will begin a revival meeting at Piney Grove Church, Beaufort County, North Carolina, on Monday night, May 22, and the meeting will continue through the 26th of May. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. All who can render special music in song will be also cordially invited to come and help in the musical part of the revival meeting.

BAPTISM AND THE WASHING AWAY OF SINS

By Samuel E. Bush

In Acts 22:16 Ananias is recorded as having instructed the new convert, Saul, to "be baptized and wash away his sins, calling (or having called) upon the Name of the Lord." The practical significance of this injunction is so distasteful to Satan that He has ever sought to cloud its real meaning with a false interpretation. It becomes necessary therefore to carefully consider the question as to what the true purport of these words really is. Do they give foundation for the idea that baptism in water is a prescribed condition for the forgiveness of sins? False teachers say it is and thereby do dishonor to the Christ whose blood was shed for the remission of sins, and at the same time rob the verse of its practical weight. But this verse cannot possibly teach that baptism in water is necessary for the forgiveness of sins for if it did so it would be out of agreement with the rest of the Scripture, and that is impossible.

Plainly enough Paul had already "called upon the Name of the Lord," and in so doing had become a recipient of salvation for, "Whosoever calleth upon the Name of the Lord shall be saved" (Acts 2:21). It is equally plain that "calling" is synonymous with "believing," and he who calls upon the Lord for salvation at once receives the forgiveness of sins (Acts 13:28, 39) i.e., his sins are washed away. This then had already become blessedly true in Saul's experience, as it has in that of every believing soul. Forgiveness and cleansing, full, free, absolute and complete were his, and they are ours. Neither the waters of baptism nor any other rite or ceremony was required, or could make this blessed fact more certain. Yet the Lord gave His servant this instruction and it must mean something important.

Let us remember the symbolism of water baptism. It is in figure a death, a burial, and a resurrection, i.e., the believer is reckoned by God to have died on account of his sins, in the Person of his substitute and also to have died to them. His turning to Christ was a repudiation of all that was and had been done before he knew Christ as Savior and Lord. By being baptised in water the believer gives public witness to these facts.

Saul up to the moment in which he called upon the Name of the Lord, had made an open avowal of the fact that his dependence was upon his own supposed goodness and religious deeds. He expected these to cancel the guilt of sin, to wash it away, so that God no longer would see it. In his baptism he would avow that from henceforth he trusted Christ and Him alone, relying upon His shed blood to wash away his sins. Being baptized he would confess his disassociation from all the deeds of his past life and that in which he had trusted, owning it all to be sins which he utterly repudiated and owning his association with Christ in death, burial and resurrection. Henceforth we would be as one "dead unto sin and alive unto God."

So on the Godward side the washing away of his sins became an accomplished fact when he became a believer while on the manward side it was necessary that he should wash them away in the waters of baptism, in the sense that he utterly and finally disowned and rejected them.

Thus our meditation gives emphasis to twin truths, viz., that faith is the sole condition upon which God remits sins, and secondly that, all whose sins have been washed away in the blood of the Lamb are under solemn obligation to "wash themselves" being baptized and ever thereafter remember with single hearted purpose that their lives should conform to the affirmation they have made.—Light and Liberty.

THE AMERICAN PRESS AND THE LIQUOR PROBLEM

On March fifth, the Star of Washington, published the first of a series dealing with the problem of alcoholism in the United States Capital. These articles will be based upon an intensive and highly competent reportorial study intended to reveal just what this perplexing and critical problem is in the city of Washington.

During the last few years, a number of public-spirited newspapers have assumed a similar responsibility and rendered a similar service. The notable Skid Row Series in the Chicago Daily News will come at once to mind, while similar discussions in the Miami Herald, the Denver Post, the Detroit Free Press, and the articles on drunken driving in the Los Angeles Times, have greatly helped in the communities of their publication as well as nationally. Nor does this list complete the honor roll, for many papers have incidentally shown an awareness that the liquor evil has become so all-pervading and menacing in American life that it must be regarded as a major complex problem, for which a solution must be sought if the Nation is not to be seriously weakened in its political and social functioning and in its international position.

The first article in the Star calls attention to the fact that Washington is drinking three times as much liquor as the national per capita average, and that the results are shown in ever-swelling arrest totals, crime, alcoholism and death. Washington, says the Star, does not have the saloon where men stand at the bar until they fall down—in the Capital they sit down and drink, sometimes until they can't get up.

"District arrests for drunkenness have risen from 13,942 in 1930 when the population was under 500,000 to 37,463 last year.

The population of the District itself has decreased one per cent since the war: from 880,000 to 870,000. The percentage of jailed drunks has increased more than 33 per cent over the same period.

"Seventy per cent of all jail cases and 77 per cent of the district's criminal court cases are on drunkenness charges.

"More than 2,000 persons were hospitalized last year for physical and mental ailments arising from alcoholism.

"More than 100 persons died from drunken driving, homicides, poisonous alcoholic drinks and alcoholism, all stemming from drinking.

"An upswing in drinking also is reflected in Alcoholic Beverage Control Board figures. The number of all kinds of liquor licenses has soared in five years from 1,962 to 2,393."

In Washington, groceries sell beer and wine, restaurants, hotels, nightclubs and taverns dispense intoxicants, and special one-day licenses are issued for picnics and club outings; incidentally, many clubs in Washington sell liquor outside of legal hours.

The Star is supplementing its journalistic treatment with a series of radio broadcasts over WMAL each Tuesday evening for eight weeks, from 9:45 to 10:00 p.m.—Reprinted from The Voice.

ARE YOU THINKING OF MOTHER!

Do you remember the old home and the loved ones so fair?

Do you remember your mother with her silvery hair?

Do you remember the days when you were small,

Your mother was ready to answer your call?

If you were sleepy and wanted a nap,
You called for mother and climber on her lap.

If you were sick and needed a care,
It was your mother who was always there;

She looked after your medicine, saw it was right.

Your mother watched over you by day and by night.

It was a mother's love that kept her awake;
She never could murmur, though her cares were great.

Have you forgotten your mother? Are you giving her a thought?

Has a letter been written, or a present been bought?

Have you asked about her health, if there's a thing you can do?

Are you sending a message to your mother so true?

Better take up your pen and drop her a line.

Why not do it now, there is no better time?

Can you remember when your mother taught you that little prayer,
And how in the little bed you were tucked away with care?

Don't you think your mother loved you, that she never can forget?

Don't you think the days of your childhood linger with her yet?

Do you think her love was lessened when from you she had to part?

Do you think those days of parting caused an aching in her heart?

Your mother is growing feeble, the time is drawing near;

You better think of your mother while she is here.

For as the years are passing she is growing old,

There is dimness in her vision, there is silver among the gold,

But some day the time will come when you will miss her love.

Will you meet your mother in that heavenly home above?

NEWS FROM CEDAR GROVE

By Mrs. Clyde Poston
Bascom, Fla.

We seldom see anything from this section of the state in our Free Will Baptist Church paper. I wonder why more church members do not write the news about their churches and what they are doing. We do have several F. W. B. Churches in this county. Wake up church members, and let us hear from you.

The name of our church is Cedar Grove, and it is located four miles east of Bascom, Jackson County, Florida. The Reverend C. A. Huckabee of Phenix City, Alabama, is our pastor. He is a fine Christian gentleman. The church members all love him very much as a pastor. We feel that he has done a great work in our church which is young. It has been organized only a few years. We have only 29 members, but most of them, or at least some of them really believe in working for the upbuilding of our church, and the ongoing of the Lord's work.

Brother Huckabee has encouraged and insisted that we organize a woman's auxiliary. This we did with his help about seven months ago. We have two meetings each month, on Monday afternoons after the first and third Sundays. We always meet in our church, and during these seven months, we have bought Christmas gifts for two families of orphan children. We have bought a Communion Set for the church. We have bought wash basins and towels for use in the celebration of the Feet Washing service at communion time. We gave five dollars on a Christmas gift for our pastor. We have given to foreign missions $11.45, and have donated $15 to our church treasury.

Our auxiliary has sold two quilts, sponsored one chicken supper, and one fish supper. They sold plates at each supper for 50 cents each. We now have in our auxiliary treasury $75. We are planning to send three persons from our church to the Bible Training Camp this summer, and the woman's auxiliary will pay the expenses of one of these. We women do really believe in our auxiliary. No church should feel that they cannot have a working woman's auxiliary, for every church can have one if the women will try.

Our church also has a Young People's League which meets each Sunday night. We have a mid-week prayer meeting. This is on each Thursday night. Our regular preaching services are on the Third Sunday, morning and at night. We have service also on Saturday night before. Our church has a Sunday School each Sunday morning. We invite visitors to come and worship with us. We desire the prayers of the good Christian people. Please pray much for us.

LUKE-WARM CHRISTIANS

Dear Baptist Readers:

It seems that our little church is not progressing like it should. The people are so unconcerned.

We lost one good member of our church, old Brother Akins. We hated to give him up, but I feel like it was all the better for him. He was such a good man and so faithful to the little church. I know he is resting from all of his toils in the paradise of God.

Many members reach out after the pleasures of the world, but when they do, they become luke-warm Christians. I am fearful that God will spew them out of his mouth. They can not blame anyone but themselves. For he will reward us, be our helper, be mindful of us and our God, if we will just be obedient to him.

I feel like he doesn't much care what becomes of us. He plainly says, if we won't hear him and if we rebel against him with a stiff neck, when we need him and call him he won't answer.

Oh people, don't get too proud. The time will come when you will need him. Don't think that all of your life you will be happy as there will be many dark hours ahead for you. If he gets angry with you for not being obedient and won't answer when you call, Oh people, it will really seem hard.

It seems he did all he could for the children of Israel before he gave them up. They fared bad, and were scattered all over the face of the earth, but they still have one more chance to be saved — BY THE BLOOD OF JESUS CHRIST. The same chance now we have and no better, so take this for a warning, dear people, and don't think that God will just keep striving after you. He can make out without you, and don't you think he can't.

Your Brother in Christ,

B. E. Coxwell,
Route 4, Box 822-A,
Tallahassee, Florida

MINISTERS' CONFERENCE

Beginning June 5 through 9 is time for the Ministers' Conference at our own beloved Cragmont. There in a glorious setting of God's own handiwork, we who try to carry out the Great Commission, will meet in a week of wonderful fellowship and instruction that will enable us to be better servants of God. Really and truly it seems to be a place where one can get in close touch and harmony with God and come away with a greater conception of just what the Great Commission means at home and abroad.

Each church and its organizations should provide a scholarship of $25 for their pastor to go. It is a real spiritual feast and he will come back to you a far better pastor for having gone.

Rev. J. W. Alford, president of the State Convention, will lead a discussion and forum daily on the Revised State Discipline. Other denominational phases of work will be given its place during the week. A note of evangelism will run through the meetings throughout the entire week.

I would like to urge the churches to see that your pastor goes to Cragmont June 5, through 9. This is one of the greatest services you can render him. Please let us join our hearts together in prayer, help with our finances, and in every effort, help to make each Conference at Cragmont this year, a success.

Yours in Christian service,
James A. Evans, President,

WHEN THE IDOLS FAILED

Rev. J. B. Tweter

Mr. Chen was fortunate the day he went out of the city of Hokiang for a walk, for it was while he was away that the Japanese planes came over and dropped their bombs. He heard the successive explosions from afar, and when he reached a hilltop, he looked down to see the city covered with smoke.

Fear came to his heart. Had his home escaped the bombing? Was his medicine shop safe? Would he find his parents when he returned to the city? He tried to reassure himself. Had he not been faithful in offering sacrifices to his gods? Had he not that morning burned incense to the idols in his home? In return would they not protect his home and shop? Fear and anxiety gave speed to his feet, as he hurried homeward to learn the truth.

With a sick heart he stood before the still smoking ruins of his home. There was no sign of his parents. Everything, everything had gone up in smoke! Even the idols were gone. They could not even protect themselves. He had been misled, and now he was a poor man. Mr. Chen gazed about him bitterly, sore at heart, and feeling that he had nothing to hold him any longer in Hokiang. It would be better if he went away from his old haunts, and tried to forget. He had lost faith in the power of his idols.

I felt light at heart as I held forth the old-fashioned Gospel in the street chapel at Suyung, Szechwan, that evening. God was surely working in human hearts. At the close of the message an invitation was given to accept Jesus Christ as Saviour. Three or four came forward. One was a young man of about twenty years or so.

"What is your honorable name?" I asked.

"My name is Chen," was the speaker.

"Why do you want to repent of your sins, and trust in the Lord Jesus?"

"I have come to see that the idols are false!" he said in a bitter voice.

"I want to trust in a God that is alive, and that can save me and keep me. He must be the One you preached about tonight."

His conversion was real. He had to suffer persecution because of the Cross, in Suyung city, but he was true to his decision to follow Christ. Pray for him. We do not know where he went, but God knows and cares for him. He will be a target for the devil's arrows, but we must guard him with believing prayer. Will you help to do that?—Young China.

LEE'S CHAPEL AUXILIARY HOLDS GOOD MEETING

The Woman's auxiliary of Lee's Chapel met on Thursday night, April 13 in the home of Mrs. A. M. Stone with 21 members present. An interesting lesson on the subject: "Training of Youth" was given by Mrs. Crafton Tart. Plans were completed for the chicken stew supper to be given on Friday night, April 14 in the lunch room at Plain View School.

Quite a goodly number attended and enjoyed the supper. After the supper the "Melody Boys" from Four Oaks rendered special music in the school auditorium. The proceeds from the supper went to help pay on the new S. S. rooms that were being built at Lee's Chapel.

Our next meeting will be held on Thursday night before the third Sunday in May at the home of Mrs. Melia Williford. All members are urged to be present for this meeting.

Some of the men who are placed in positions of high responsibility by the operations of liquor politics are almost incredibly incompetent. Liquor government is bad government—always.

A Puzzle, Guess Who?

Adam, God made from the dust,
But thought it best to make me first.
So I was made before the man,
To answer God's most holy plan.
My body, God did make complete
With neither arms, nor legs nor feet.
My ways and acts He did control,
But to my being gave no soul.
A living being I became,
And Adam gave to me a name;
I from his presence then withdrew
And more of Adam never knew.
I did my Maker's law obey,
Nor from it ever went astray.
Thousands of miles I go in fear,
But seldom on the land appear.
For purpose wise which God did see
He put a living soul in me.
That soul from me the Lord did claim
And took from me that soul again.
For when from me the soul had fled,
I was the same as when first made;
And without hands, or feet or soul
I travel on from pole to pole.
I labor on by day and night,
To fallen men I give warmth, light;
Thousands of people, young and old
Will by my death great light behold.
No right or wrong can I conceive,
The Scriptures I cannot believe.
Although my name therein is found
They are to me a nempty sound.
No fear of death doth trouble me,
And happiness I ne'er can see.
Now, when these lines you slowly read,
Go search your Bible with great speed,
For that my name is written there
I honestly to you declare.

You will find my name in the first chapter of the first Book and in the first chapter of the thirty-second Book of the Bible.

YOU TELL ON YOURSELF

Selected

You tell on yourself by the friends you seek,
By the very manner in which you speak;
By the way you employ your leisure time,
By the use you make of dollar and dime.

You tell on ourself by the things you wear,
By the spirit in which your burdens bear,
By the kind of things at which you laugh,
By the records you play on the phonograph.

You tell what you are by the way you walk,
By the things of which you delight to talk,
By the manner in which you bear defeat,
By so simple a thing as how you eat.

By the books you choose from the well-filled shelf;
In these ways and more, you tell on yourself;
So there's really no particle of sense
In an effort to keep up false pretense.

HOSEA REVEALS GOD'S FORGIVING LOVE

(Lesson for May 14)

Lesson: Hosea 11:1-4, 8-11; 14:4-9.

Golden Text: Hosea 14:4.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. The call of God to salvation is based on His love, and not on our merit (Hos. 11:1).

2. It is sometimes possible to find some of God's children in the land of Egypt (vs. 1).

3. God is willing and able to deliver from Egypt, but even then His children sometimes become disobedient (vs. 2).

4. Are we as ready to give God credit when we have success as we are to blame Him when we fail? (vs. 3).

5. God is unlike men in practically all respects, and especially so in the matter of love (vss. 8, 9).

6. No one but God can restore the backslider, but the backslider must be willing to return to God (14:1, 4).

7. When God has finished the work of restoring the backslider, he is not to be compared to the "bird with the broken pinion" which never soared as high again afterward (vss. 4-6).

8. The saint who has been restored to fellowship and service is sure to be a blessing to others (vs. 7).

9. The backslider is restored not in order to go astray again, but to sever his connections with the old past (vs. 8).

10. Just like Amos, of whom he was a contemporary, Hosea addressed his messages to Israel rather than Judah. His own experiences with an unfaithful wife are used to serve as an object lesson of God's great love for His people. Gomer forsook Hosea and lived in wanton adultery. Eventually she seems to have been completely abandoned by her former lovers and left to face destitution. Then the Prophet redeemed her for himself. It is a picture of Israel's apostasy and God's continuing love.

—Selected.

11. Our lesson begins with a statement of God's love for Israel in the very childhood of the nation. It was with a high hand and an outstretched arm that God had delivered his people from such a condition of servitude in Egypt that, humanly speaking, there seemed to be no hope. Yet in spite of this, and notwithstanding his subsequent care and guidance and loving discipline, the people had wandered from him and refused to return. God declared, "My people are bent on backsliding from me" (11:7 RV). Israel had turned away from God's law, and had behaved like a stubborn heifer. Also Ephraim, like a silly dove, had been foolishly calling unto Egypt and to Assyria (7:11) instead of seeking after the Lord. Instead of finding true satisfaction in God and in spiritual things, Ephraim was feeding on wind and following after the east wind (12:1), as many people do to this day.—Arnold's Commentary.

12. Vs. 4, 5—Here again the prophet uses figurative language. In the Bible sin is likened to some dreadful disease. The miracles of healing on the part of Christ may be considered as typical of what his atoning grace does in healing the diseases of the human soul. This was true in Christ's healing the ten lepers of their dreadful disease (Lu. 17:11-19). Another example of divine healing is recorded in II Kings 20:4-6, when the Lord healed Hezekiah of his dreadful disease and extended his life for fifteen years. Note, the prophet tells the people that God will be to them "as the dew, refreshing and enlivening." He will be to them like "the fragrant white lily." These figures of speech were used to express spiritual blessings which God would give to his people. Dr. Benjamin L. Olmstead says, "The beauty of this olive tree with its green foliage is an apt symbol of the beauty of holiness or spiritual graces."—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Power of Love

One day, one of the gigantic eagles of Scotland carried away an infant, which was sleeping by the fireside in its mother's cottage. The whole village ran after it; but the eagle soon perched itself upon the loftiest eyrie, and every one despaired of the child being recovered. A sailor tried to climb the ascent, but his strong limbs trembled, and he was at last obliged to give up the attempt. A robust Highlander, accustomed to climb the hills, tried next, and even his limbs gave away, and he was in fact precipitated to the bottom. But at last a poor peasant woman came forward. She put her feet on one shelf of the rock, then on a second, then on a third; and in this manner, amid the trembling hearts of all who were looking on, she rose to the very top of the cliff, and at last, whilst the breasts of those below were heaving, came down step by step, until, amid the shouts of the villagers, she stood at the bottom of the rock with the child on her bosom. Why did that woman succeed when the strong sailor and the practised Highlander had failed? Why, because between her and the babe there was a tie; that woman was the mother of the babe. Let there be love to Christ and to souls in your hearts, and greater wonders will be accomplished.—1000 Illustrative Anecdotes.

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day is here again—

Twelve months have passed—some how.
Several mothers who were with us then
Are not in our presence now.

Their bodies have been laid to rest,
Beneath a mound of clay;
And it grieves our hearts to think of them
Who are no longer with us today.

But we'll try so hard to smile
And let God have His way;
For we hope to meet them o'er there
When night is turned to day.

What a wonderful thought!
It inspires us on our way;
That we can meet 'round God's throne
And never—no never go away.

CHRISTIAN HILL F. W. B. CHURCH ORGANIZES AUXILIARY

On April 16, 1950, Christian Hill F. W. B. Church, in Wilcox County, Georgia, held a meeting for the purpose of organizing a woman's auxiliary. After the opening exercises and prayer, Rev. C. J. Harvey made the introductory remarks, and read for his scripture Hebrews 2:3. The service was then turned over to Mrs. C. J. Harvey who delivered a brief talk on the woman's auxiliary work.

After Mrs. Harvey's talk, the following officers for the auxiliary were elected:

President, Mrs. Jewel Gordon; first vice-president, Mrs. G. T. Bruce; second vice-president, Mrs. Doris Rhodes; Mrs. C. F. Martin, third vice-president; Mrs. E. J. Baker, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Essie Lee, fifth vice-president; Miss Betty Lou Baker, secretary and treasurer.

Then the By-Laws were read and adopted. The auxiliary chose to have its meetings on the fourth Saturday afternoon of each month at the church.

We desire the prayers of all Christian people to pray for our auxiliary and church that we may go forward in the work of the Lord.

Miss Betty L. Baker, Secretary

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY ORGANIZED AT MT. ARARATT F. W. B. CHURCH

On April 1, 1950, after the close of the church service Mt. Araratt Church, Dodge County, Georgia, met to organize a woman's auxiliary. Brother and Sister Harvey gave us information concerning the auxiliary work. They gave to us Bible references concerning the woman's work, and following their talks, we organized an auxiliary by electing the officers as follows: President, Mrs. J. C. Barrentine; first vice-president, Mrs. Ralph Peacock; second vice-president, Mrs. Troy Harden; third vice-president, Mrs. Mabel Howell; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Spurgeon Jones; fifth vice-president, Mrs. Alton Flemings; secretary, Mrs. Acie Sheffield, treasurer, Mrs. Inez Smith.

The monthly meetings will be held on each first Saturday at 2:30 P. M. at the church.

LITTLE BETHEL ORGANIZED AUXILIARY

The Little Bethel Ladies Auxiliary Circle met and organized on Sunday afternoon, January 8th, at the church. We were happy to get underway with a total of 17 members.

Our officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Vernie Stone; First Vice-President, Mrs. Herman Tanner; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Marion Todd; Third Vice-President, Mrs. Dot Altman; Fourth Vice-President, Mrs. Allen Baxley; Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. C. V. Ward.

Being anxious to get underway, we decided to meet again in January for our first regular meeting. Thus, we gathered at the home of Mrs. C. V. Ward where upon calling the roll and calling for new members had five to say that they would like to join. This was really encouraging. Mrs. Dale Altman and Mrs. Allan Baxley were in charge of the program "Advancing with Christ in the Homeland." We then took up and completed the business of ordering literature. After deciding on the fourth Thursday of each month as our regular meeting day, our first meeting came to a close.

For February meeting we met at the home of Mrs. Dot Altman, where Mrs. Murdock Stone and Mrs. Franklin Eaddy rendered a beautiful program on "Advancing with Christ Through Literature." We decided to elect a few to help some of the officers in their offices. After very tasty refreshments were served, the meeting adjourned.

We met at the home of Mrs. Vernie Stone for our March meeting and upon checking our roll were happy to find that we had reached 30 members. Of course we're a happy group now. Mrs. Clifton Lyerly and Mrs. Thomas Brown presented the program on "Advancing with Christ in Cuba." It was most interesting, especially since Mrs. Brown had a letter from our missionary, Mrs. Willey who is now in Cuba. We thoroughly enjoyed it. After refreshments were served, Mrs. Stone, and Mrs. Marion Todd, who were co-hostesses, surprised us with an egg-hunt, which really thrilled us.

Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Austin Stone, on Thursday afternoon, April 27, 1950.

Thanks,

Mrs. Clifton Lyerly,
Corresponding Secy.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE AUXILIARY CONVENTION CONVENING WITH SHADY GROVE

North Carolina State Auxiliary Convention will convene with Shady Grove church, Sampson County, on Thursday, May 25, 1950. Registration will be at 9:30.

The Cape Fear District Auxiliary Convention will act as host this year.

Shady Grove Church is located on Highway No. 102 between Newton Grove and the intersection of Highway No. 102 and Highway No. 421. Highway No. 102 is the Goldsboro-Fayetteville highway; while No. 421 is the Dunn-Clinton highway.

The local auxiliaries do not send a written report to the State Auxiliary Convention. Local auxiliaries do represent with a delegate and a contribution. Make your contribution as generous as possible. Your District Secretary will send a report for the entire district. Remember the report will be for the entire year. If you have not sent in your per capita dues, be sure to do so right away as we are not in good standing with the National program if we do not have our entire amount of per capita dues.

Send all monies, except for the Orphanage, with information as to what the money is for, to our state treasurer, Mrs. M. A. Woodard, Winterville, N. C.

Let's pray for a grand meeting; one that will be a success in the sight of the Lord.

Yours for service,
Mrs. James A. Evans, Secretary,
State Auxiliary Convention,
1108 South Tarboro Street,
Wilson, North Carolina

KEEP ME SWEET

"Lord, keep me sweet when I grow old,
And things in life seem hard to bear,
When I feel sad and all alone, And people do not seem to care.
O, keep me sweet, and let me look beyond the frets that life must hold;
To see the glad eternal joys; Yes, keep me sweet in growing old."

STORYLAND

THE BISHOP'S PEPPERMINTS

Opal Leonore Gibbs

Annabel was very unhappy. It rather looked as if she might be wearing blue glasses—not on her little nose, of course, but on her heart. They are the most uncomfortable things, you know, for they do make the whole world look so blue and miserable.

But it was not blue glasses at all. It was—well, now, I'll tell you all about it. Annabel's father was a minister, and over and over in his sermons he said that the Lord Jesus died for our sins, and that He was asking now for the gift of our hearts. Every time Annabel heard these things she believed them, and longed with all her heart to love the Saviour and be His follower. It seemed as if the narrow way was very close to her, with the little entering gate just in front. All she had to do was to open the gate and walk through. Then her feet would be in the King's Highway, with the beautiful Heavenly city at the end—just as it said in Pilgrim's Progress. Oh, she did so want to open that gate!

But there was something else that Father had said—only last Sunday it had been in his sermon. Sometimes stones lie in front of the gate, only little stones maybe, but it is necessary to take them out of the way before the gate can be opened. (You know yourself that even so small a thing as a glass bead, if it gets under a door, can keep it from opening.) These stones, he said, were covered up sins, sins that no one knew about. But God had written in His Word—Annabel knew the text—"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy."

Now you have guessed why Annabel was unhappy. There was a stone in her way, and not a very little stone either. "But I can't—I can't confess that," she kept whispering to herself. Then came something to her mind that dear Grandma had often said, "Can't never did anything, but 'I will' is a master hand at most any task." But remembering even that did not seem to help much.

It was Saturday and that very evening he was coming, the kind old bishop who would preach at their church the next day. He would be at their house of course, for Father and Mother had known and loved him ever since they were as small as Annabel herself. He would sit down in that big chair and lift her up onto his knee, then after a little talk, he would open his leather bag and take out the sack of peppermints he always carried. Then he would ask her to hold out her hand. Annabel shivered when she thought of those peppermints. She never wanted to taste one of them again—never!

Suddenly there was a step on the veranda, and Father's happy voice in the hall. The Bishop had come! Annabel flew out into the kitchen, up the back stairs, and into her own little bedroom. Flinging herself down by the little white bed: "Dear Jesus," she prayed, "please help me. I never can confess it by myself—I never can!"

Now, you know, burdens always grow lighter when one has prayed. Annabel felt better at once, that is, a little better. The heavy feeling in her chest was not quite so hurting. For the Lord Jesus was going to give her strength to get this ugly stone out of the way, she was sure He was.

The opportunity came very soon. Mother was getting supper and Father had gone out somewhere. The good bishop sat alone in the living room, and as the little girl came slowly in, his kind face crinkled into a smile just as it always did. He held out his hand and drew her up on his knee. Now was the time—

"I have"—Annabel gulped miserably—"I have to tell you something." She stopped—it was perfectly horrid to have to cry, but she just could not help it.

"All right, let's hear what you have to tell me."

"When—when you were here last winter—I went into your room, and—" Annabel was sobbing now. How could she ever tell it? How could she have been so wicked?

"Yes, dear, and what did you do?" prompted the kind voice.

"I—I took some per'mints out of your bag." There—it was done! The big stone was taken away at last!

"Did someone say you must tell me? Did anyone else know about it?" questioned the bishop.

Annabel shook her head.

"Well, it was a brave thing to do, little girl. And now can you tell me why you felt you must confess."

"Because I wanted to come to the Lord Jesus, but the gate wouldn't open—there was a stone in front."

"I see." And the good man smiled understandingly. "A big hindering stone. But the Lord Jesus helped you to take it away, didn't He?"

Annabel nodded again.

"And now I have forgiven you and He has forgiven you, too, why, the gate is open, isn't it?"

"Yes," she whispered.

"Then what will you do now?"

"I will go in!" And the little girl looked up into his face with an April smile which showed only a little of the joy that was bubbling up inside. Annabel made a movement to go. She had a feeling that she would like to tell Mother about it—now.

"Wait," twinkled the bishop, "here's your peppermints—hold out your hand."

Annabel flushed rosily. But she held out her hand. Perhaps after all they would taste pretty good.

And they did.—The S. S. Times.

MAURY F. W. B. CHURCH HAS GOOD REVIVAL

Our revival began on April 2, and continued through April 12. The attendance was not so large, but it does not take the largest crowds to have the best revival.

Rev. Tyndall preached some very inspiring sermons which touched the hearts of sinners. The Devil tried to discourage, but we kept praying, and God heard and answered our prayers. There were only two who came to accept Christ until the last night, and then twelve more professed Christ, making in all fourteen giving their hearts to God. There was one man 87 years old who came, saying, "I want to live for the Lord the rest of my life." Only true Christians know what joy we had when we heard him make his profession.

Dear Christians, let us bear in mind, and begin praying for a real revival, and may it begin in our hearts.

Brother Tyndall will continue his school work again at Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, North Carolina, this summer. He will be glad to hold revivals and to do any evangelistic work where the churches want his services. He has two Sundays open for services, the second and the fourth each month.

We believe with all our hearts that he is a God called minister, for he preaches the word plain and simple. May we encourage him in his work, and let us pray and help him in every way possible. His address is: Rev. M. L. Tyndall, 213 South McLewen Street, Kinston, North Carolina.

When a child of God has even one thing to murmur or complain about, it is a sure sign that he is treated too good, and is too well provided for. He needs more tribulation (Rom. 5:3), and he forgets to heed the admonition of I Timothy 6:8—H.

MRS. GRIFFIN CONDUCTS STUDY-COURSE SHADY GROVE CHURCH

On Thursday, April 6, 1950, Mrs. J. C. Griffin met with the woman's auxiliary of Shady Grove Church, Sampson County, North Carolina, in the Cape Fear District for a study of the Manual of Methods. She taught from the Manual the duties of the several officers of the auxiliary work. Mrs. Griffin spoke pointedly, and her explanations were very much appreciated by everyone present.

There were meeting with us members of Robert's Grove Church, Lee's Chapel, Corinth, and Oak Grove. Also we had with us Mrs. Robie Strickland from Casey's Chapel, near Goldsboro. We also had a visitor from the western district.

Lunch was served at the noon hour, and everyone enjoyed it very much. It was spread in the young people's assembly hall of the church. Following the lunch hour, we again assembled in the church auditorium for further discussions. We deeply appreciate Mrs. Griffin's labor of love among us, and feel greatly blessed and strengthened in our auxiliary work.

HARRELL'S CHAPEL EXPERIENCES GREAT REVIVAL

Revival services were held April 2nd to 12th, 7:30 p.m., at Harrell's Chapel Church by our pastor, Rev. T. P. Ellis of Fountain. We had unusually large attendance and we feel that the messages were an inspiration to those privileged to hear them.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our fellow churches and visitors for all that attended and especially those who took part in our services. Each evening special music was rendered with help of our visiting churches. We appreciate their attendance and help in making this one of the best revivals ever held in Harrell's Chapel Church and in this community.

An addition of 18 members were added to our roll. We had 36 confessions, some being old members coming back into the church. The baptism was Sunday, April 16, with a large attendance. Two persons were baptised from other churches and 18 from this church.

Yours truly,
Mrs. John Slater

ATTENTION! ALL SOUTH CAROLINA LEAGUERS

Darlington Church was filled at the convening of the Seventh Quarterly District League Convention of South Carolina on April 22, 1950. The program for the day was presented exactly as planned, except the final contest, which was to decide South Carolina's representative to the National League Conference in June.

In this contest, Vivian White of Liberty won first place, and the privilege of being her State's representative at Norfolk, Virginia, where the National League Convention will be held in June. Shirley Jean Welch of Horse Branch, and Marjorie Young of New Town won second and third places in that order.

All South Carolina Leaguers who are interested in attending this National League

Conference by chartered bus for June 13, 14 and 15, or in going to Cragmont the week of August 6, please, PLEASE contact Mrs. Alma H. Weatherford, Pamlico, South Carolina, immediately.

TRUE BEAUTY

An elderly Quaker woman with a beautiful complexion was asked what kind of cosmetic she used. Replying, she offered this prescription: "I use truth for my lips; for my voice, prayer; for my eyes, pity; for my hands, charity; for my figure, uprightness; for my heart, love. This prescription can be filled without expense, and the supply will be increased with continued use."

Everything Will Be Looking to the Future

in the big "Nationwide Special" June edition of Youth's Banner.

The first part (to be distributed June 4) will highlight the Third Nationwide F. W. B. L. Conference, which is the big denominational event of the month of June. There will be a special story written by one of our Free Will Baptist story writers, intitled "Through the Rain to Tulsa Sunshine," which, while looking back to last year, should inspire last minute decisions to go to Norfolk. There will be "beckoning hand" items about Norfolk and Norfolk's leaguers

The June 11th part will present information about the National Association meeting, to convene in July in California. There will be some interesting bits of history about the National Association, and information about California and Richmond, where the meeting will be held. Then when the June 18th part of the Banner is "handed out" on Third Sunday, it will be found to contain facts about the National Woman's Auxiliary, and about the missionary work being promoted by the women of the church. The part dated June 25 will be alive with information and high-lights of the National Sunday School Convention, which meets in August.

For this great special edition, there will be

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

MRS. DORA COMBS PASSES

On March 26, 1950, God called one of our most loved members, Mrs. Dora Combs, out of this world of sorrow and suffering to that Home of rest.

She was 58 years old on January 2, 1950, and was the daughter of the late J. J. and Bethe Sasser. She left a devoted husband, Brother J. E. Combs, one son, J. Rodney Combs, four Brothers, one sister, and a host of distant relatives and friends.

Her health had been failing for several months, but she was able to be up until a short time before she died. She had been suffering with arthritis for some time. She also had head trouble, but everything was done for her that the doctors, nurses and loved ones could do. God knew best and took her to rest with Him.

She was converted when she was just a young girl and she joined Stony Creek F. W. B. Church. Sister Dora was a very loyal member, for she was always ready to do anything for her Master that she could. She was one of our most active Aid workers, and also in the Sunday School. Her Sunday School class loved her dearly. Everybody who knew her loved her, because she seemed to love everyone.

Sister Combs was always so very good and faithful in visiting the sick, and in doing things for those who needed her help. She could always say such comforting words, and her visits were like a ray of sunshine wherever she went.

She was so true to her church and all of its activities that if she was not there, you could always hear someone make inquiries concerning her.

The funeral services were conducted at the home on Monday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. Clifton Rice, and the Reverend C. F. Bowen, her former pastor. The large crowd of friends and the numerous and beautiful floral offerings showed the high esteem in which she was held. All of us will miss her, but we feel that she is sweetly resting in a better home not made with human hands. We trust that some day we shall be able to meet her again where parting will be no more.

There is an open gate at the end of the road

Through which each must go alone;
There is a light we cannot see,

But our heavenly Father claims His own.

A precious one from us has gone,

A voice we loved is still;
A place has been made vacant
Which can never be filled.

How patient in her suffering,
When no hand could give her ease;
God the helper of the helpless,
Saw the pain and gave her relief.

God bless memories she left behind,
The patience shown and deeds so kind;
That we may seek to follow her example
And leave a good record for mankind.

Sister Dora is gone, but she will not be forgotten. The life she lived, and good deeds she has done will live on and on.

The Bravest Battle

The bravest battle that ever was fought.
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you find it not;
'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

Nay, not with cannon or battle shot,
With sword or noble pen;
Nay not with eloquent words or thought
From mouths of wonderful men.

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart,
Of a woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently bore her part,
Lo, there is the battle field.

No marshalling troops, no bivouac song,
No banner to gleam and wave;
But oh! these battles, they last so long
From babyhood to the grave.

Yet, faithful still as a bridge of stars
She fights in her walled-up town,
Fights on and on in endless wars.
Then, silent, unseen, goes down.

Oh, ye with banners and battle shot
And soldiers to shout and praise!
I tell you the kingliest victories fought,
Were fought in those silent ways.

O spotless woman in a world of shame,
With splendid and silent scorn,
Go back to God as white as you came,
The kingliest warrior born.

NEWS FROM CENTER VIEW CHURCH, NEWPORT, TENNESSEE

Center View F. W. B. Church closed one of the greatest revival meetings that we have ever witnessed. The Lord blessed in a wonderful way and souls were saved. Men and women went to the altar and surrendered their lives to God. Their sins were burdening them when they were convicted by the old-time gospel messages.

We want to thank each one who offered prayers to the Lord for us in this meeting. We want to say that we have a good Sunday School, with fine attendance, and there are around ninety members on roll. We have as good a Sunday School teacher as I have ever listened to in the class. His name is M. L. Mantooh. Men and women are converted under his teaching.

We are planning to begin building on our new church very soon. We want every one to pray for us, for we need the prayers of God's people.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Brother O'Dell of Belmont, N. C., and Brother Ray Rickard, and let us pray for them because they are men most needed in God's army. Let us all pray for God's work among Free Will Baptists everywhere that

What Do We Believe?

Wayne Smith
Candler, N. C.

Scripture: Ephesians 4:1-7.

We are living in an age, when there is much confusion, and it seems most people do not know which way to turn. Most people believe something; but very few people believe the right thing. There are many denominations today, some believe one thing, some another, but I must inform you that, according to God's word, there is only one faith, one baptism, and one God. You may say, but, preacher, there are three Gods: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. Yes, that is true, but they are same in purpose and substance; in the unity of the Godhead there are three co-eternal and co-equal persons, so we can say with Paul there is one God.

My dear friends, what do we believe? It doesn't make any difference what angle we approach the gospel, from the philosophical, physiological, or theological view, we can put all our theology into five letters: J-E-S-U-S.

Yes, Jesus is the pardon of all our sins. Many shake the preacher's hand, and repent unto the preacher. Many people join the church, and repent toward the church, but my friends, Jesus is the one who died for us. So if we will come to God, believing that He gave his only begotten Son to die in your place, and that the Son Jesus, willingly died in your place, because He loved you, and that you might escape the penalty of death, yes, when we come to Him as sinners, believing, there is pardon for all our sins.

He is the foundation of all our structures. Paul said in 1 Cor. 3:11: "Other foundation can no man lay, than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." So, if our faith is in any thing save the crucified Lamb of God, for our sins, we are building our house on the sand. O, my friends, what do we believe?

He is the balm for all our wounds.

Many people today, are wounded spiritually. Yes, many hearts and souls are wounded because of some misfortune in life. They bemoan their loss, and it affects so deeply. Some turn to self-destruction, some go to doctors, some to friends, some to psychiatrists, but, my friends, Jesus is the balm for all our wounds.

He is the "eye salve" for all our blindness. Many people are staggering blindly through life, trudging through the valleys of darkness, spiritually blinded by selfishness, pleasure, and ungodliness, only to plunge over the precipice into eternal hell, and damnation. But listen to Jesus as He says in Rev. 3:18. "I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see." Yes, praise his name, He is a lamp unto our feet, and a light unto our path.

He is the guide through all our perplexities. Our nation today is lost in the dark cloud of confusion, and perplexities, so are many individuals. Yes, fear, dread, and bewilderment come our way in this life. Yes, and we often find our way through Him who said, "and lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Matt. 28:20). So, what do we actually believe?

Yes, He is the hope for all our discouragements. One of Satan's greatest weapons is discouragement. When disappointment and misfortune befall us, we often say, well, what is the use, I'll just stop trying. Ah, my friends, to whom shall we go? Listen to Simon Peter in John 6:68: "Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life." So, he is the hope for all our discouragements.

He is the reform for all our wrongs. O, so often we unthoughtfully do wrong, but glory to his name, He doesn't remember that we are as dust, and if we will come to Him, asking for forgiveness, He will graciously forgive our wrongs. John said, "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the father, Jesus Christ the righteous," (1 John 2:1). So, what do we believe?

I believe that there is more power in one drop of the shed blood of the Lamb of God, for the cure of this sinful world, than all the man-made organizations put together.

Yes, He is the grandest note in all our music. O, when we are singing out of the deep of our hearts, in praise to him, our singing will convict the hearts of sinners, and cause them to come to an altar of prayer, and draw their hearts closer to him. So, he is the grandest note in all our music.

He is the brightest gem in any crown. Ah, yes, He is the height overtopping all height. He is the umpire of all our disputes. If only when disputes arise in our churches, or in our homes, or on our jobs, we would go to the umpire of all umpires, in humble prayer He would settle all our disputes. Yes, its Jesus, Jesus. At his table shall all nations sit. Around his throne all worlds are to revolve, praise His name. O, my friends, what do we believe?

Do we believe in God the Father, as the Almighty, Maker of Heaven and earth? Yes, I believe He is the deliverer of all the distressed. I believe in Him is a home for all the homeless. Glory to His name! I believe he is a friend to all the friendless. I believe he will save to the uttermost. Yes, I believe He will pardon all our guilt. He said He would cast our sins in the sea of forgetfulness, to be remembered against us no more.

Yes, I believe in the Holy Ghost, as the comforter, and the strengthener, and the vitalizer, cleanser and sanctifier. Yes, I believe He, the Holy Spirit, cheers up the hearts of all God's children.

I believe in God's free grace, that salvation cannot, and does not, come by works; but praise his name, I believe that when we are saved, we will work. Why? because we want to. Paul said, "The love of Christ constraineth me."

NOTES AND QUOTES

BY J. C. GRIFFIN

Tithing God's Plan

The question has come to me from several, during the past few years, as to "How and when to Tithe?" Some want to know about deductions for expense. Recently I received a request from a person who wants to know: "Is it the income or the increase that you tithe?" Since the writer requested that, I will explain the subject through Notes and Quotes. I am hereby giving as near as I can God's plan. The church is the greatest institution on earth. It is heaven born. It came from God. It was bought with the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Certainly it came from God and belongs to God; Christ being the Foundation. As it takes money to run the visible part of the church, God would not neglect the importance of financing this the greatest of all institutions. Every institution must have a law regulating its financial support. As this is true with material, or physical institutions, it is also true with the church of Jesus Christ.

The tithe, together with offerings, is God's plan for the church, let me repeat. The Old Testament church was required to take all the tithes and offerings to God. They were worshipful offerings. The Old Testament church ended with the Cross of Jesus, but God's method of financing His work did not end.

While Christ was on earth He condemned the scribes and pharisees for placing their all on the tithe, and leaving off things that were "weightier." He told them that they ought to put "judgment, mercy, and faith" at the top and then tithe. These are not the exact words. But these scribes and pharisees were doing just what some of our people are doing today, even though they never tasted of the real love of God. They knew nothing of the New Birth, yet they gave the tithe and made offerings.

I cannot conceive of the idea that any one can worship God until they have repented of their sins and accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Saviour and have the evidence that the Holy Spirit beareth witness with their spirit, then they can worship God.

The Increase to Be Tithed

"Thou shalt truly tithe all the increase of thy seed, that the field bringeth forth" (Deut. 14:22). This does not mean to set an acre aside and give that to the Lord's cause. It means the increase on the whole field.

Thus, if the field produces a thousand dollars more than the cost of production, $100.00 belongs to the Lord.

A good man who had not long been a Christian, asked me to help him get his books straight with the Lord. He told me how much hay, corn, potatoes, pork, vegetables, etc., that he had produced. We figured it at the market price, then he added his money crop. Thus we found this small farmer with more than $300.00 belonging to the Lord. This Christian was happy to settle up his account with the Lord. But he gave more than his tithe. He made an offering unto the Lord. God is blessing him in a great way.

God's People Condemned

In the third chapter of Malachi, verses 7, 8 and 9, God brings an indictment against His people, saying: "Ye have gone away from mine ordinances"; and saying, "Return unto me and I will return unto you." God says, "Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? God answers, "In tithes and offerings." Then God says "Ye are cursed with a curse; for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation." Then God challenges these people by saying: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

They were under the curse. Do you think that you can enjoy the full blessings of God while you are robbing daily of that which rightfully belong to God? God does not make any difference between people. The reason that so many people are so unhappy is because they have been robbing God. But some one says, "Tithing does not belong to New Testament Christians."

Christ Received Tithes

"But he whose descent is not counted from them received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises. And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better. And here men that die receive tithes; but there he receiveth them, of whom it is witnessed that he liveth" (Heb. 7:6-8). Thus, Christ who liveth received tithes of Abraham. The law that God gave to Abraham was the law of faith. This law is backed by grace, God's grace; and was given "four hundred and thirty years before the law of Moses." Let us see what God says; "And this I say, that the covenant that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law which was four hundred and thirty years after cannot disannul that it should make the promise of none effect" (Gal. 3:17). Will you notice, my reader, that "the covenant was confirmed before of God in Christ." Thus the Abrahamic covenant was in Christ. Abraham who had the confirmation of God in Christ tithed. Can we afford to do less? May we study some more of Paul's writings.

"On the first day of the week (not the seventh) let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come. And when I am come, whosoever ye shall approve by your letters them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem" (I Cor. 16:2). As I understand this scripture, if I make $50.00 per week $5.00 of that belongs to God. And if I use that $5.00 or any part of that $5.00 for myself, I rob God of the amount, and I am under the "curse"

Evangelical Teacher Training Course

Back Row, Left to Right: Miss Alice Webster, Mrs. Edwin Roper, Mrs. Eric Waters, Mr. Marvin Barnett, Mrs. Ralph Osborne, Mrs. Nathaniel Webster, Mrs. Emma Mariner, Miss Nellie Webster, Mrs. Marvin Barnett.

Front Row: Mrs. Carl S. Heynen, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Miss Leona Wallace, Mrs. A. B. Cuthrell, Oscar Webster (President of Convention), Rev. Ralph Osborne (Pastor of Trinity Church), Mrs. Hilda Forman Allen, Mrs. Harold White, Mrs. Bruce Hawkins, Mr. Carl S. Heynen, and Rev. L. R. Ennis, Teacher of Class. Mrs. Linwood Harris, Miss Melva Woolard, and Mr. F. H. Woolard were not present when the picture was taken.

The above picture was made in Trinity Free Will Baptist Church, Pike Road, North Carolina, Fifth Sunday in January, 1950. The occasion was the regular quarterly session of the Albemarle Sunday School Convention.

Shown in the picture are those who have completed the Certificate Course of the Evangelical Teacher Training Association.

The eleven o'clock hour on the Convention Program was devoted to the graduating service for the class. Rev. L. R. Ennis of Goldsboro, North Carolina, who taught the 72 regular class hour course, was in charge of the service. Brother Ennis is in charge of the Evangelical Teacher Training Program in North Carolina. The Evangelical Association is a worldwide undenominational organization engaged in promoting the cause of Christ. The teacher training work is a part of its program.

Brother Ennis, in his message to his class, and to the people, stressed the need for trained Sunday School teachers. He pointed out the fact that we live in a world of specialized endeavors. He stated that in the professional world, and in skilled occupations, the best of training is needed if one would excel. He made the application that, in view of these facts, then certainly the man of God should be complete in preparation for the task which he is to perform. He explained how the Evangelical Teacher Training Program was designed to help meet the need of the teacher for needed instruction. He told of the progress of the work in our own denomination, saying that a number of classes were in progress at this time.

Brother Ennis said that this is the second class of Free Will Baptists to graduate from the Certificate Course in North Carolina, and the first to be awarded their certificates in a Sunday School Convention. The class is made up of representatives from five churches in the Albemarle District, namely: Shiloh, Free Union, (Beaufort County), Sidney, Belhaven and Trinity.

As one who has filled the place of a teacher for a number of years, I can say the course is of great value to me. It has filled a need which I have long felt. I urge all who have the opportunity to avail themselves of the training furnished by this course. If the opportunity does not exist, then help make one. You will not regret it.

In His service,

Oscar Webster, President of the Albemarle S. S. C.

A QUESTION WORTH CONSIDERING

What should your church do about it?

There comes a time with some churches when a change, from the old established church services on a certain Sunday of the month to another Sunday of the month is considered best so that the church may be able to select some certain preacher, who can serve them only on that particular Sunday, to be their pastor. In such cases, it is most often the fact that those desiring the change are more concerned about getting that particular minister as pastor than they are about the results that generally follow such changes.

This question most often brings about a problem which is not easy to handle. In the first place, a part of the church membership most often feel that such change of Sunday services will work a detriment to the effectiveness of the church and community, with respect to church interest and church attendance. They are prone to ask: "Why change? Pastors come and pastors go. But the church is an established religious organization in definite location for the good of the whole people."

As proof of the unadvisableness of such changes, in most cases, is the fact that those churches go back to the old established Sunday or Sundays of the month for their church services, when those particular pastors have served their short tenure of service, and pass on to other fields of labor in other communities. That is the general history of such cases, and the change back to the old established Sundays of worship in those churches is always a welcome event in the hearts of those congregations.

As a matter of fact, the church and its work, as an established religious institution in a community, is of first importance, because it is the spiritual light and life of that community for the old and the young. Its work is to teach righteousness, set high ideals before others, be a blessing to everyone, and live in peace and unity. Pastors, on the other hand, change in a few years from one church to another, and this seems to be a natural process for the good of the cause of the Kingdom work. The Lord's apostles changed places in their work.

The question is: What should your church do about it? Think about the matter. Put first things first. Do not sacrifice the ultimate good of your church and community for the purpose of securing any particular minister, for a brief season, to become your pastor.

WHY CHURCH MEMBERS SHOULD BECOME WELL INFORMED

It is generally understood that the majority of church members are not well informed concerning the doctrine, teachings and practices of their religious denomination. This is true with our own church people as a whole. As a matter of fact, very few homes of the church people in the average church even possess a copy of the Church Treatise, or Book of Discipline. Moreover, the Church Treatise is rarely ever taught by pastor or a well qualified layman of the church for the benefit of the church members. Consequently, a very small percent of the average church membership of the local church actually know anything concerning the Christian principles for which their denomination stands or believes.

We think more emphasis should be placed upon this matter. Surely, the doctrine, teachings, and practices of the Church Treatise are founded upon the Word of God, as the religious basis for the directing, governing, and functioning of that Body of Believers in Christ. Church members should know what they believe and why they believe as they do.

Individual church members should become through study well informed concerning their church tenets. Pastors and evangelists should insist that new church members be supplied copies of the Church Treatise, and that the church bear the expenses, in cases where it is not convenient for some of the new members to purchase their own copies.

HOUSE DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF

On one occasion, Christ said, "If a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand." And again He said, "If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand."

Christ was teaching this Christian principle: If Satan oppose himself, he be divided, therefore he cannot stand. How can the Prince of devils cast out devils? If Christ be Beelzebub, how can he cast out devils? The truth is, those who are divided against themselves are certain to fail.

The kingdom of Israel, according to history, was divided into two small kingdoms. Both of these ultimately failed, due to disobedience, internal strife and division. It was through corruption and division that the house of David came to an end.

Some homes and families become divided through disunity, disloyalty, and strife. As a result they fail, family ties are broken, and lives are seriously affected for years to come. Some churches have been practically destroyed by strife, disunity and division. The lack of harmony, as Christ pointed out, is a destroyer of strength, power and usefulness.

United leadership is essential in the home, in the church, and in the denomination if they are to stand for religious truth, for human happiness, and for the best that can be attained in the realm of the Christian faith. In either case, the hearts of the individuals must be turned toward the ultimate goal of peace, love and prosperity.

NEWS FROM GEORGIA

Georgia Free Will Baptist Ministers' Institute

As has been previously announced, a ministers' and Bible Conference will be held at Mount Bethel Young People's Camp at Ashburn, Georgia, beginning Sunday evening, June 4, 1950. It will continue through Friday noon, June 9.

The institute will be sponsored by the Georgia State Association at the recommendation of the Midway Association, which was recommended by the writer and the moderator of the association. The purpose is to promote Christian fellowship and unity among the ministers and laymen of the F. W. B. in Georgia, and everywhere.

The cost is in reach of all; $5 will pay board and lodging for the week, or better, say one dollar per day. The following official personnel will be present: Rev. J. P. Barrow of the Bible College, Rev. E. C. Morris, Promotional Secretary of Georgia State Association, and T. B. Mellette. Elder C. J. Harvey, Business Manager of the Camp, will be on hand to manage the business part of the camp, and to see that food is furnished, and make ready for the campers.

Christ said, "Come ye apart, and rest awhile," to His apostles. We wish to emphasize the teaching of Jesus that a week's rest and study will do us great good. If you have some problems to be solved, bring them along, for we will gladly help you by the help of the Lord to a better understanding and acquaintance of the Scriptures. Be sure to come to the camp.

Easter Program Presented at Mount Bethel

By Betty Lou Barker

On Easter Sunday five churches, namely: Pleasant Hill, Antioch, Bethlehem, Christian Hill, and Double Branch, met at Mount Bethel Camp to present programs commemorating the resurrection of our Lord. Each church put on a very impressive program.

The attendance was good. Those present from Pleasant Hill, 47, Antioch, 22; Bethlehem, 32; Christian Hill, 49; Double Branch, 18. These totals made 168 and with the many visitors, it was estimated that there were 200 present.

At the noon hour a beautiful lunch was spread on tables near the main building. With Rev. H. L. Catrett as master of ceremonies, the program was as follows:

Getting on With Folks

When Will Jessen finally made up his mind that he and his father could not agree in the store, he packed his suitcase, went to the city and presented himself at the door of one of the great wholesale houses. Mr. Orville, the general salesman of this house, had been helpful in a score of ways and Will felt that he might be able to secure a position through him.

Mr. Orville heard his story through (Will did not attempt to make it complete) and then he began to ask questions:

"You thing you are going to like the city better than you would the country?"

"No," Will returned. "I don't know that I will. I like the country well enough."

"Think there's more future in it than in working on with your father and some day being your own boss?"

"No," Will confessed; and then, in a burst of confidence, "I'll tell you, Mr. Orville, I can't get on with dad, that's all."

"I wondered if it might not be that," the general salesman replied, thoughtfully. "Well—things will look differently to you here when you see them from the inside. We are a good deal more exacting with our clerks than we are with our customers. All your associates won't be congenial and not one of them will start in prejudiced in your favor. Now, if you can't get on with your father, what put it into your head you could get on with us?"

Most of us feel, when we fail to "get on" with some one, that it is the other person's fault, but almost invariably it is at least half our own fault, especially when the other person is a member of our own family. Intimate association has taught us what things are most exasperating to that person, and consciously or unconsciously, when we are irritated we do those things. Resignation itself may be our weapon of offense, for "there are few things more exasperating than to give another person the impression that you are patiently enduring the unendurable."

Some people are, of course, easier to get on with than others; but fail to get on with one person who is near and dear to you, and the chances are that you will fail, more or less, to get on with all your near ones and dear ones. The girl who is sharp and short with her mother will some day be sharp and short with her children—unless she can correct the fault; the boy who is sarcastic to his brother will some day be sarcastic to his wife. He may not think so, but he will.

And so, one who fights for character should stifle every inclination to bicker and should remember that no habit is better worth cultivating than that of making himself agreeable. Simply "getting on" with folks is one of the finest of the fine arts. —Wellspring.

"Bein' Good"

Chester Shuler

"Be good," said Daddy oft' to me,

"Be good," said Mother, too;

"Be good," said Granny, "when you play, And when you've work to do."

"Be good," I told my naughty self—

How well I knew I should!

But "bein' good" seem'd like a job

A lot too hard for me.

And then one day I met the Lord—

Yes, boys can know Him, too,

And say, I was completely changed,

With e'en a heart made new!

No longer do I try alone

To do the things I should:

With Jesus helping all the while,

I want-a to be real good!

Study of Woman's Auxiliary Manual

The Woman's Auxiliary society of Mt. Zion church met on Wednesday evening, April 19, for the study of the Manual. The study was conducted by Mrs. J. C. Griffin, State Field Worker.

The meeting was opened with a song by the group. Prayer was given by Mrs. Archie Rouse, member of our Auxiliary. Mrs. Henry Scott introduced Mrs. Griffin. She gave a very inspiring talk on the work of the auxiliary and explained the duties of each officer. She brought us to a better understanding of our duties as women of the auxiliary and what the auxiliary means to us as a community of people.

We were glad to have Mrs. S. A. Smith from Beulaville and the visitor from the Bethlehem Auxiliary with us. After the benediction by Mrs. S. A. Smith, supper was spread on the church yard and enjoyed by all.

Reporter

Dear Auxiliary Women:

Now that all of our district conventions are in the past, our next big interest should be our State Auxiliary Convention which is to meet at Shady Grove Church in Sampson County, May 24. It should be the business of each local society to send a delegate, or two if there are more than twenty-five members.

Unless we acquaint ourselves with the State work, we shall fall far short of the knowledge we should have, if we would reach the standard of achievement, and become A-1 auxiliaries. If there are any auxiliaries that did not make provision for the financial obligations through their district conventions, be sure to send your ten cents per capita dues for the State and National conventions, together with a generous contribution to the State.

Let us not put off until the last minute the vital things pertaining to the success of our State Auxiliary Convention, for the Lord's work requires our best efforts, and should claim our first and best attention at all times. "The kingdom of God first," should fill our daily thoughts and lives.

I have been receiving articles, reports, etc. for sometime for our Auxiliary Department in the Baptist paper. We are always glad to hear of the good work that is being done in the auxiliaries, and we often breathe a breath of prayer of thanks to our heavenly Father for all of His benefits through the women of our church.

There are a few facts, however, that need to be kept in mind, and followed when writing, namely: First, All articles, reports, etc., should either be typed, or written with a clear hand with ink, using only one side of the paper. Second, Do not send articles to the Editor of this Department, address all communications to Rev. R. B. Spencer, Editor of the Baptist paper, Ayden, North Carolina. Third, Do not send monthly reports. There is not space enough in our Department for all, and we do not want to debar anyone. Annual or semi-annual reports are better. Fourth, Do not make your reports too long, but write that part which will be interesting and profitable to other auxiliary women.

Let us pull together, and work in unity and love in all of our efforts to advance the kingdom of our Lord and Master.

Yours in His service,

Alice E. Lupton, Editor of Aux. Dept.

Great Revival in Northport, Alabama

A ten day series of meetings came to a close April 19th, at the First Free Will Baptist Church in Northport with great results for Christ and seed sown that we feel will bring forth harvests in the future.

There were many conversions with twenty-eight additions to the church, eleven for baptism, seventeen by letter. The following Sunday two more came by letter and one for baptism.

The Rev. M. L. Hollis of Amory, Miss., was the visiting minister and he delivered two powerful and inspiring sermons daily. A young people's service preceded the evening message. This service was begun with a period of thirty minutes changed to forty-five and finally lengthened to an hour. It was conducted as an open forum and Brother Hollis made a public statement that he had never seen a more eager and enthusiastic group who wanted the truthfulness of God's word toward the solution of problems that confronted them. We know that this was an interested group because one often heard this remark, "That hour was too short."

The Rev. Leander McAdams of Ethelsville is pastor of the church, with services every Sunday, except the second.

Our membership is nearing one hundred. The first service was held in the church April, 1948. We have the League, Sunday School, Ladies Auxiliary Organizations with good leaders.

Please pray for us that we may do a greater work for the Lord.

Essie Collins, Secretary

Christian Workers' Institute Program Revived

West Virginia State Association, which is fast becoming one of the most progressive of our Free Will Baptist organizations, recently scored another first when she had the privilege and honor of entertaining the first of the revived sessions of the Christian Workers' Institute Sessions. The Free Will Baptist church at Mac Arthur, West Va., was the scene of the Institute, which enrolled more than forty students, twenty of whom completed the course and received certificates.

Courses were offered in Free Will Baptist Doctrine, Principles of preaching, the Doctrine of Christ, Personal Soul-Winning, Sunday School Administration, Stewardship, Free Will Baptist League, Woman's Auxiliary, and Missions. A deep spiritual revival spirit was felt all during the sessions and there were five conversions attributed directly to the Institute Session. Revs. D. C. Dodd, National Promotional Secretary, and J. L. Welch, Pastor of Coker's Chapel, Nashville, Tennessee, and Mrs. Harold Dunlap, of Charleston, W. Va., were the instructors.

Another session of the Institute will be held in that state in September. Any state association or local association interested in sponsoring an Institute Session may contact the National Promotional Department for further information.

Promotional Secretary Visits the Mission Field in Cuba

It was my privilege to visit the Cuban Mission Field during the Easter season for the purpose of speaking before the Cuban Association's convention and to bring the Commencement address at the third graduating exercise of the Seminary, "The Cedars of Lebanon." I was especially happy in that it was like a trip home for me, for Cuba had been our home for some two and one-half years.

THEN AND NOW

I was struck by the phenomenal growth which the work has enjoyed during the past few years. When we left Cuba in 1947 the Girls' dormitory was not yet completed. Today this building is housing a number of girls, the old dining room has been torn down and a new one built in its place. In addition, a beautiful, hurricane-proof, fire-proof, boys' dormitory has been erected, and it is a credit to anybody's work. I was overjoyed when I saw this fine structure and realized that it was our own. It still needs to be painted on the inside and stuccoed on the outside and this can be done only as you, The Free Will Baptist people, make it possible. The school with all its buildings is a city within itself and the powerful generator which furnishes power for the buildings for light, etc., makes it veritably a city on a hill that cannot be hid. This is another great improvement of the past three years. Miss Yeley's home and the Willey's home lend an air of coziness and home-likeness to the entire scene.

Small pumps in strategic places supply water for the kitchen and the missionary houses without the necessity of hauling it up the hill in the barrels pulled on sleds by oxen. In short, everything is the very essence of order and arrangement. Everyone knows his or her responsibility and there is no delay in getting things done.

The Convention

The Convention was largely attended. Chartered buses brought the people from as far away as Havana and some even came from beyond Havana. I am sure that a conservative estimate of one thousand people in attendance would be safe. They came for the inspiration of the Convention and they attended every service. I was struck by one outstanding fact. As the men stood around in groups visiting between sessions and services their usual topic or discussion was religion. And none of them lit up a cigarette or stood chewing and spitting. It looked like a church gathering and not like a cigarette festival. We would do well to take a lesson here from our Cuban brethren. The Convention theme was: "Be filled with the Spirit," and all the Convention messages had to do with this theme. The items of business were transacted with alacrity and interest and the Cuban Free Will Baptists are alert so far as their duties and responsibilities are concerned. I cannot praise the Administrative staff too highly for their arrangement and management of the convention and its affairs. Everything tanged of efficiency and planning.

The Graduating Exercises

This was the third class to be graduated from the Cuban School of Missions and consisted of Oneilio Valle, Osundo Corrales, Edelmiro Cuba, and Ofelia Sotero. The Commencement address was delivered Saturday afternoon and the actual graduation was held Saturday night at 8:30. The young men were immaculately dressed in white flannel suits, with black buttonieres and the one young lady was dressed in a white, floor-length formal. The procession was on the order of the usual graduation march, with one young man leading the way, with the young lady and another young man coming next, and the other young man bringing up the rear.

The class marched to the platform in the Temple, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The graduates themselves had charge of the program, with Senorita Ofelia reading the scripture and Senores Valle, Corrales, and Cuba giving these on the Holy Spirit, His attributes, works, being, place in the Godhead, and other pertinent facts. These were masterpieces and reflected much work on the part of both students and instructors. Following the giving of the theses, the diplomas were presented by Mr. Willey. The graduating class then presented me with the class banner, which was inscribed with the words in Spanish, "Heralds of the Trinity." This completed the service and congratulations were in order.

The Outlook

The outlook for our Cuban Mission is indeed bright. We now have several graduates from the Cuban School of Missions on the field, as well as a number of students who are on the fields during the summer. Under the faithful direction and leadership of our American staff, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Willey, Miss Bessie Yeley and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilfong, the work is growing by leaps and bounds. This work has been rightly branded as a "Miracle of Modern Missions," and we rejoice with the workers on the field in the great victories which God has given.

We must rally to the support of this work and the work in India. God has given us marvelous opportunities and we must make the most of them by consistently supporting with both our prayers and our money.

Micah's Plea for Human Rights

(Lesson for May 21)

LESSON: Micah 1:1; 2:1-2; 3:5-12; 6:6-8.

GOLDEN TEXT: Micah 6:8.

I. Heart of the Lesson

Instead of a plea for human rights these words of Micah consist largely of God's charge against His people. The man He used was Micah, who lived in the same time as Isaiah. As the opening verse indicates, he had messages for both Israel and Judah, though most of the Book is concerned with Israel (Mic. 1:1).

1. In every period of time and under all kings of human rulers, God has always had His messengers (Mic. 1:1).

2. Those who work honest works during the day and will not be inclined to plot wickedness after they go to bed (2:1).

3. Men still act on the assumption that "might is right," but God will disillusion them some day (vs. 1).

4. Covetousness is the root from which most other sins committed by men grow (vs. 2).

5. It is not strange to find the people wrong when their princes, priests, and prophets are wrong (3:5, 9).

6. "To obey is better than sacrifice" (comp. 6:6).

7. Not my firstborn for my transgression, but the Only-begotten of the Father in Heaven (vs. 7).

8. Whatever the Lord requires of any of us, is good (vs. 8).

9. It is a wise man who hears the voice of the Lord speaking to him (vs. 8).

10. No man needs to be ignorant of the Lord's requirements, for they are fully set forth in His Word (vs. 8).

11. Micah was a native of the city of Moresheth-Gath in southwest Judea. His name means "who is like God" (Jehovah). The reigns of the above kings extended as follows: Jotham, 751-736 B. C.; Ahaz, 736-721 B. C.; Hezekiah, 721-693 B. C. Micah's prophecy sets forth in definite language the great cruelty, greed, and injustice of the rich nobles of Judah. "The word of the Lord" came to Micah in vision, for he says that he is about to tell the things "which he saw." What God revealed to him were the heinous sins of the people, and what he should tell them concerning the woes that would fall upon them unless they repented and sought forgiveness of their transgressions.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

12. "Thus saith the Lord concerning the prophets that make My people err" (Mic. 3:5).

Some years ago a passenger train was flying into New York as another train was emerging. There was a head-on collision. Fifty lives were snuffed out. An engineer was pinned under his engine. The blood was pouring from his nostrils, and tears were running down his cheeks. In his dying agonies he held a piece of yellow paper crushed in his hand, and he said: "Take this. This will show you that some one gave me the wrong orders." Unregenerated men and women will stand before the great white throne and point to their modernist preachers, saying, "Some one gave me the wrong orders."—Sel.

13. Micah 6:6-8 has been a favorite with those men who deny the necessity for Blood atonement. They say God requires nothing except the good life—that sacrifice is unnecessary. But they misread the passage. "What doth the Lord require of thee"? The key is in the words "of thee." Man is utterly unable to provide his own atonement for sin. The atonement that God required was provided by God Himself. "God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself" (II Cor. 5:19). The Lamb is from God, not from man. And no man can "walk humbly" with God while rejecting the sacrifice of God's Lamb for human sin.—The King's Business.

III. The Lesson Illustrated

When a False Prophet Is Useless

In his excellent book, Stand Up and Preach, page 52, Dr. A. M. Bailey gives a striking example of a modern minister who, like the prophets of Micah's day, suited his messages to his worldly congregation. In the wealthy and aristocratic church of which this minister was pastor, tipping and conviviality were common. The ladies held a successful bridge and raffle annually which netted the church three thousand dollars. The women's missionary society adjourned at three-thirty to the smoking room, after which they reassembled for a session in "solo interpretive dancing as an esthetic expression of religion." Just as a successful traveling man receives a bonus at the end of the year, so the liquor barons of his congregation at the close of the church year sent the minister a check to cover a trip to Europe, a new care, a few choice stocks, some expensive furniture. The church had costly music. The last printed utterance of this pastor was in praise of those days of Queen Anne's reign when rectors went fox-hunting with their squires on Sunday afternoons. Then this man was elected to political office and left the ministry.

Before this occurred, however, an incident revealed the true estimate which a prominent member held of this pastor. This member's little girl died, and he asked another pastor to officiate at the funeral. This minister questioned whether he had a right to come and suggested that the bereaved father secure his own beloved pastor. In grim earnestness the father replied, "Please let us not go into that. My wife and I both feel today that we have come to the end of one road and are entering another. I must have for this experience a man who knows God." A time-serving minister today will be estimated by discerning people in much the same way as the false prophets were estimated by ancient men of God.—Arnold's Commentary.

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS

By R. P. Harris
PREFACE

The coming annual Nation Wide League Conference in the city of Norfolk, Virginia, will prepare North Carolina leaguers for a greater State Convention. It is significant that the National meeting precedes the State Convention in several ways. Many of the N. C. leaguers will attend the National Conference and will appear on our program full of spiritual vitality, giving us much needed information on League activities throughout the nation. All the speakers appearing on our program will have the opportunity to saturate their minds with all the new angles and approaches to youth problems. The added avenues of publicity to our state work will give place to state and national league responsibilities.

God's leaders will have the opportunity to prove themselves in Christian Stewardship through youth activities. Some of the best youth leaders in our state will appear on programs both at the National and State meetings.

CALVARY LEAGUERS WILL ATTEND

The Leaguers of the Calvary Church in Durham have been raising funds for two months for the purpose of attending the national meeting. Many of them plan to attend the State Convention in Kenly, N. C. News comes to us from other groups to the effect that a large delegation expects to attend. We understand that the Norfolk church has gone all out in preparing for the meeting. All available hotel space has been guaranteed by the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. More than 2,000 young people and youth leaders are expected to attend. If you have not made arrangements, it will pay you to do so at once. All this information may be had for the asking. Write either to the Norfolk church or to Rev. Clarence Bowen, 518 Woodland St., Nashville, Tenn., and either of these will supply you with needed information.

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION PROGRAM

The meeting place of the State League Convention is Kenly, North Carolina. The time is July 3 and 4. The theme of our Convention this year is Youth Serves through Stewardship. One of the highlights of the convention will be the youth rally and the State Wide Sword Drill which takes place on Monday night, July 3rd. The Rev. F. B. Cherry of Durham, N. C., will be master of ceremonies and since he is a member of the Stewardship Commission sponsored by our Bible College in Nashville, Tennessee, you may expect to receive the best of information and instruction regarding this phase of our national work.

The program on Tuesday, July 4th, will bring many outstanding speakers on various stewardship topics. Some of these will be "The Stewardship of talent; The Stewardship of Property; The Stewardship in Society; The Meaning of Christian Stewardship; The Stewardship of Personality." Either one of these topics will be well worth your time and expense to attend. One other greatly significant subject at this time will be the "Stewardship of the Gospel" discussed by Miss Laura Belle Barnard, one of our missionaries who is home on furlough from India. You will certainly want to be there for this part of the program. In just a few weeks now our full program will be worked out between now and that time.

"Zip the lip" is an army instruction to our soldiers and you and I also should learn the lesson early. "Gossipers" will give more trouble than tobacco chewers and beer drinkers in our churches—we can deal with the first groups, but there seems to be no way to deal with the gossipers. Weigh all words and deeds, reports and rumors in the light of truth and fact, then "zip the lip."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE EIGHTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE N. A. E.

A resolution urging churches of the land to engage in accelerated gospel effort was passed as one of the highlights of the eighth annual convention of the National Association of Evangelicals held late in April in Indianapolis.

Certain leaders of the N. A. E. had favored the Association itself leading a nation-wide effort, but more conservative forces halted the move on the grounds that evangelism was an activity of the churches, and should not be taken over by an inter-church organization.

Nevertheless, the revival spirit sweeping over New England and other parts of the land could be felt in every session of the convention. Leaders remarked about the spirit of unity that seemed to pervade the convention.

Opening address of the convention was given by Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, of Boston, who took enough time from his responsibilities in the Billy Graham campaign to make a stirring plea for gospel effort, prayer and revival "to avert the threat of war."

"The rising tide is sweeping before it an apostate ministry that has been substituting Freud for God, social activities for earnest prayer, and psychiatry for salvation," Okenga declared. "Revival is the only answer to the prayer of multiplied millions who seek peace in a troubled world."

Stressing the same note of evangelism, Dr. Howard W. Ferrin, president of Providence Bible Institute, pointed out the need for national revival. Dr. Paul S. Rees, of Minneapolis, spoke on "Communism in the Light of God's Word." Other speakers were Dr. Stephen W. Paine, of Houghton, New York, retiring N. A. E. president; Dr. Eugene R. Berterman, director of the Lutheran Hour; the Rev. Henry Bast, of Grand Rapids; and Dr. Harry Hager, of Chicago.

Meeting as an affiliate commissioner of N. A. E., the National Religious Broadcasters commended Wayne Coy, FCC chief, on his recent warning to the television industry concerning the moral plane of video programs.

New officers of N. A. E. are Dr. Frederick C. Fowler, president, Knoxville Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh; Dr. Paul S. Rees, First Covenant Church, Minneapolis, first vice president; Dr. Bob Jones, Jr., president of Bob Jones University, second vice president; the Rev. George R. Warner, secretary of the National Holiness Missionary Society, secretary; Robert Van Kampen, president of Hitchcock Publishing Company and Van Kampen Press, treasurer; and Miss Gertrude Clark, office manager of N. A. E., assistant treasurer.

Dr. R. L. Decker, executive secretary, tendered his resignation at the convention.

A CAKE NOT TURNED

"Ephraim is a cake not turned" (Hos. 7: 8).

The cake meant here is a sort of scone that the people in the East baked on hot stones or ashes. It had to be very carefully watched and turned at exactly the right moment, otherwise it was burned on the one side and raw and indigestible on the other. You can imagine such a cake would not be very good to eat.

Now, the Prophet says here that "Ephraim is a cake not turned." Ephraim was a name given to the kingdom of Israel, but what does he mean by saying that Israel is a cake not turned? Well, he means that the people were not thorough—some things they overdid, or other things they underdid, or neglected altogether. They were very religious in one sense, for they worshiped Jehovah and many heathen gods besides, but they did not carry their religion into their everyday life. It did not help to make them kinder, or truer, or more just. And so they were like a cake that someone had forgotten to turn. Not only did they leave one side raw and unwholesome, but they spoiled the side they did cook.

Now, I wonder if there are any unturned cakes among our boys and girls? Perhaps there are. People did not give up being one-sided in the days when Hosea lived, and they have not given it up yet, and so there are many good cakes still being spoiled. Shall I tell you some of the things that spoil them?

1. Well, first there are besetting faults. You know what a besetting fault is, don't you? It is our commonest fault—the one that is always lying in wait ready to trip us up when we are least expecting it. Perhaps there is a besetting fault that is spoiling your cake. Perhaps there is a whole side of you turned black and bitter, and a whole other side that nobody is getting the good of because of some fault.

Here is somebody who is very warm-hearted and generous, but who flies into a passion about trifles. He is an unturned cake—too much done on the temper side, and too little done on the patience.

Here is somebody else who is most kind and obliging, but who, if he meets a bad boy or girl, just follows wherever led. He is uncooked on the will side.

And here is someone who is very patient and painstaking, but ask him to give up or to give in—he won't move an inch. He is overdone on the obstinate side, and underdone on the unselfish and obliging side.

Perhaps you may not find yourself among any of these people; but if you think for a minute, you may find some other fault—is it disobedience, or untruthfulness, or laziness—that is spoiling your cake?

2. But there are other things that spoil cakes, and among these are the duties we leave undone and the powers we neglect to develop.

Now, I expect there is something that most of you can do better than you do other things. Perhaps you paint well, or you are musical, or a good English scholar, or quick at sums. Perhaps you are clever with your hands—you can make wonderful things with a bit of wood and a few nails, or, if you are a girl, with a bit of muslin and a needle and thread. Now, it is right that you should try to make the most of these gifts—God means you to do that—but do not neglect the things you are not so clever at and that you like less.

"Ephraim is a cake not turned." What is spoiling your cake, boys and girls? Are you giving over to the things you like best and leaving the other undone? Remember, what you dislike may be the essential thing to make your life successful. Let us give God a chance in our life. "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." Let us grow into a well-balanced life.—Our Junior Jewels.

What Do We Believe?

I believe in the sovereign grace of God. Yes, in the overall grace of God, that his grace is sufficient for every occasion in life.

Yes, I believe in the triumphant grace of God. That in Jesus we are victorious. Paul said, "I am able to do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me."

I believe in the eternal Grace of God, that is, that His grace is sufficient for all time, and eternity, for those that are faithful unto death.

I believe that Heaven is the eternal home for all the saved, and redeemed, yes, all that have been born of his Spirit, and washed in his blood. I believe that Hell is the eternal residence for all that reject Jesus as Saviour and Lord. So, my friends, what do you believe?

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Thomas L. Boyd

It is with deepest regret that I announce the passing of my dear Brother, Thomas L. Boyd. The Lord called him to be with Him on February 25, 1950, after three months' period of illness. His death was caused from a stroke which he had on November 28. He never spoke again.

He was 77 years old on November 11, 1949. He had been a faithful member of New Bethlehem Church for over 55 years. He served as deacon of the church for a great many years. He was faithful to his family, to his church, and to his many friends. He was a friend to everyone. He was present for Sunday School and church services when he was able to attend.

Brother Thomas leaves a faithful wife, Mrs. Bessie P. Boyd, and three daughters, Mrs. A. L. Pipkin, Grantsboro, N. C.; Mrs. E. C. Brinkley, Scotts Hill, N. C.; Mrs. H. J. Brown, Grifton, N. C., and two brothers, Mr. Fred L. of Holly Ridge, N. C., and Robert of the home. There are seven grandchildren and two half brothers, Mr. W. M. Boyd and J. A. Boyd, and one sister, Mrs. L. L. Price of Grantsboro, N. C.

Sleep on, dear brother, and take thy rest, Lean your head on Jesus' breast;

We loved you dearly,
But God loved you best.

Written by Mrs. L. L. Price.

Mrs. J. F. Fillingim

On November 12, 1949, the death angel entered the home of J. E. Fillingim and took the spirit of his mother, Mrs. J. F. Fillingim, and to this union was born 9 children. Three died in childhood, and one after she was grown.

The funeral was conducted at Lovewood F. W. B. Church, where she had been a member for 45 years, by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Huckaby. The body was laid to rest in the church cemetery beneath a beautiful mound of flowers. A host of friends and relatives attended the services.

She is survived by her husband, 4 sons, one daughter, 3 brothers, 2 sisters, 20 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren.

Rev. D. W. Alexander Holds Good Revival at Poplar Grove

We enjoyed a wonderful meeting at Poplar Chapel. Brother D. W. Alexander conducted the meeting for ten days. He certainly did bring some soul-stirring messages. The attendance was good for the services each night. Although there was but one saved who took membership with our church, yet there were a great many who were revived in spirit and renewed their vows unto the Lord. It seemed that everyone received a blessing from the meeting.

All seemed to be glad that Brother Alexander came and held the meeting for us. We were glad that his wife, and daughter and husband were with us also. There were other friends from other churches who came to the meeting, and worshiped with us.

We have not been having services at this church very long, but we do have a fine young man who has been licensed to preach. He is doing a splendid work here, and everyone is glad to have him. His name is Mr. Roland Cherry, of Williamston, North Carolina. We do feel that our church people need to encourage the young people more in religious work. We are inviting everyone to come and worship with us when possible at any time.

This little church is really a branch of Cedar Grove Church. We are asking that the Christian people pray for us, and especially for this young man in his work.

Mrs. Mattie Taylor,
Williamston, N. C.

Christian Worker's Institute Held at Bethel Church, MacArthur, W. Va.

A session of the Christian Workers' Institute, which is a work of the Promotional Department of the National Association, was completed at the Bethel Church, of Mac Arthur, W. Va., March 29, 1950. The course included instruction in the fields of Bible Doctrine, Personal Soul-Winning, Stewardship, F. W. B. Doctrine, Woman's Auxiliary, and F. W. B. League.

The instructors, who were Rev. J. L. Welch and Rev. Damon C. Dodd of Nashville, Tennessee, and Mrs. Ruby Dunlap of Charleston, W. Virginia, certainly did a fine job in their respective fields.

Attendance and interest was fine, yet when compared with the number not attending, it is tragic to think that so many of our people will let such a wonderful opportunity pass without taking advantage of it.

We have a promise from Brother Dodd, of another session of the Institute this fall. Free Will Baptists of West Virginia, let us look forward to it with enthusiasm and a determination to attend.

Friend, Be Sure and Read This!

Everything Will Be Looking to the Future

in the big "Nationwide Special" June edition of Youth's Banner.

The first part (to be distributed June 4) will highlight the Third Nationwide F. W. B. L. Conference, which is the big denominational event of the month of June. There will be a special story written by one of our Free Will Baptist story writers, intitled "Through the Rain to Tulsa Sunshine," which, while looking back to last year, should inspire last minute decisions to go to Norfolk. There will be "beckoning hand" items about Norfolk and Norfolk's leaguers

The June 11th part will present information about the National Association meeting, to convene in July in California. There will be some interesting bits of history about the National Association, and information about California and Richmond, where the meeting will be held. Then when the June 18th part of the Banner is "handed out" on Third Sunday, it will be found to contain facts about the National Woman's Auxiliary, and about the missionary work being promoted by the women of the church. The part dated June 25 will be alive with information and high-lights of the National Sunday School Convention, which meets in August.

For this great special edition, there will be

Pictures Galore

and, of course, some of the same kind of fine stories Youth's Banner presents in every number.

Order a special bundle of the Banner to distribute throughout your church. You can have copies of all four thrill-packed weekly parts for only 5c per set, if you order at least ten sets. Get your order in by May 15, so we will know how many extras to print. Address to F. W. B. Press, Ayden, N. C.

of God. I have heard people say: "I want to live in the center of God's will," and they were so stingy that they were robbing God every day.

"But this I say, he which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall also reap bountifully" (2 Cor. 9:6).

Where to Put the Lord's Tithe?

The distribution of the Lord's tithe is a great question with many. I have been asked: "How to make the distribution?" Well, if you are a member of a church that has a budget, I think the best way is to take your tithe to the Lord's house and place it in the church treasury. If every church would do that, there would be no use for collections to be taken every time we get to a Union meeting or a convention or an Association. But due to the fact that there are so few churches that have a budget, and so few members who live in the credit side of God's ledger, that every time we get together for any special meeting, we have to plead for the various causes. If every Free Will Baptist in the United States had lived square with God and had kept His ordinance instead of giving 43 cents per capita last year, we would have given $17.00 per capita. This low estimate of $17.00 puts the weekly wage of every Free Will Baptist at $10.00 per week, however, our weekly pay roll is much more than $10.00 per week.

What a nation of God robbers are we. Brother, do you keep books with God?

Because I have never served a church that brought all the tithes into the house of the Lord as a worshipful offering, I distribute mine as the Holy Spirit directs, among the various causes and institutions of our church and denomination. But every one should take it to the church and then vote it out to the Lord's cause as directed by the Spirit.

I went to a church for the orphanage. There was no offering made. At the close of the service the church treasurer handed me a check for $50.00. This check was above the average for the itinerary. They said "We take our offering Sunday morning and take no more offerings. I was informed that every member of that church tithed. Why not all the churches do that?"

We have no right to pray, "Lord open the windows of heaven and pour us out a blessing" unless we tithe.

Do you read your church papers?

And many a lovely flower,
God causes them to grow and bloom
By sending sun and shower.

The birds return to bring us cheer,
And sing their happy songs,
And we should bring our thanks to God,
For praise to Him belongs.

Vigor, vitality, vim and punch—
That's pep!
The courage to act on a sudden hunch—
That's pep!
The nerve to tackle the hardest thing,
With feet that climb, and hands that cling,
And a heart that never forgets to sing—
That's pep!

Sand and grit in a concrete base—
That's pep!
Friendly smile on an honest face—
That's pep!
The spirit that helps when another's down,
That knows how to scatter the blackest frown,
That loves its neighbor and loves its town—
That's pep!

To say "I will"—for you know you can—
That's pep!
To look for the best in every man—
That's pep!
To meet each thundering knockout blow,
And come back with a laugh, because you know
You'll get the best of the whole show—
That's pep!

HOLINESS

Mrs. Mattie E. Smith

What about holiness? Do we really believe in holiness? I mean we church members. I have heard some church members say, "I don't claim to be holy, for I am no saint."

But what is Jesus coming back to earth for, if it is not for God's holy people, the saints? Surely, he is not coming back for the sinners, for he will cast them into outer darkness. The Scriptures tell us to follow peace will all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord (Lev. 20:7). We find this command in the Bible: "Sanctify yourselves, and be ye holy: for I am the Lord your God." Holiness is a separation from sin, for God wants his people to come to the knowledge of his will. He commands us to be holy. A holy life is the only life which will bring peace to the soul.

The Apostle Paul lived a holy life (I Timothy 2:10). We know that God is holy and that heaven is a holy place for the saints to dwell. We speak of the Bible as the Holy Book, and do not expect to get to heaven unless we are holy. We are told in God's holy word that holy men shook as they were moved by the Holy Ghost (II Peter 1:21).

There are church members who, if a preacher preaches holiness, they do not want to hear him any more. That is the very thing that preachers should preach. Isaiah spoke of a highway which he said shall be called the way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it" (Isa. 35:8). Let us not try to shun any term in the Bible, for we are not to add, neither take away anything from the Scriptures. If we do this we will miss our heavenly home in the end.

We want to be with God's holy people, so let us pray that we will not be among those who will be cast out with the unholly persons. We read in Psalm 93:5, "Holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, forever." In I Cor. 3:17, we are told that the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. We are to be holy in all manner of conversation (I Peter 1:15). We should be holy and without blame before the Lord (Eph. 1:4).

I have heard some people say that they believe any one can live here and not sin, but what did Jesus say? When he healed the impotent man, he told him: "Thou art made whole; sin no more lest a worse thing come upon you" (Jon. 5:14). He also told the woman who was caught in the act of adultery to go and sin no more. Now, if we believe Jesus, we will believe that we can live here and not sin. I don't believe Jesus would have told his people to do a thing that was impossible to be done. Jesus said, "Follow me." If we really follow him do we think he will lead us in sin? Surely not, for he did not sin.

Jesus said, "Search the scriptures." But do we do that? I am afraid that some of us do not. It might be that we had rather read the papers and get the news which is very little good to us; just to keep us wondering about things, and they keep our minds off the Lord. Jesus said, "And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Lu. 6:46).

Reply to Miss Lloyd's Telegram

This message was received from Miss Lloyd during the recent annual session of the Foreign Missions Board.

After prayerful consideration of this request from Miss Lloyd the board voted to grant her request and send her the following message:

"Released by your request—letter to follow."

I'm sure that you join with us in prayer that Miss Lloyd may be used of the Lord in her new field of labor which she has chosen.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Raymond Riggs, Chm.

Dear people, we will have to meet the Lord without spot or blemish, if we are to be saved. We will have to accept the whole Bible, for if we fail in one part, we will miss our heavenly home. Remember, we are to follow Jesus.

Bootlegging Since Repeal

Propaganda of the wets would have us all believe that when we had prohibition the country was hopelessly entangled in bootlegging. The claim is that there was never the like in lawlessness before or since. Such incidents as the following give the lie to that kind of propaganda.

A Fulton County Grand Jury indicted virtually the entire Atlanta, Georgia, wholesale liquor business on December 27, 1949, on charges of selling bulk whiskey to non-licensed persons for a "valuable consideration." Most of the liquor involved in the alleged transactions presumably went into the illicit dry county trade.

Reports of dry county sales last August inspired an investigation of the Georgia liquor business. Three separate indictments were returned covering thirty-four counts. All charges for selling more than the two-quart daily limit to persons not holding retail or wholesale permits. All Fulton County wholesale liquor firms but one were indicted. It has often been said that there is no way found to make the liquor traffic obey the law.—The Watchman-Examiner.

The Ladies Auxiliary met recently with Mrs. W. M. White, and Mrs. Thigpen led the devotional. Mrs. Rose Bowen presided over the meeting. Mrs. J. B. Smith, leader of the Y. P. A., was present and gave a very encouraging report on the young people's work.

It was decided to send cards to the veterans hospital, also a handkerchief shower to one of our sick members, who has been absent for sometime. We had sixteen members and five visitors present and one new member was added to the roll.

The meeting closed with prayer, after which Mrs. White served delicious refreshments.

and recreation. The directors for this week's encampment are: Rev. R. B. Crawford, Greenville, General Director, who will also be in charge of the Seniors and young people; Mr. James Earl Raper, Goldsboro, who will direct the intermediates; and Mrs. Rashie Kennedy, who will be director for the juniors.

The leaders for these groups who work in the local churches will receive much good if you will attend also. We urge you to come and to bring your groups to this encampment.

Parents, give us your co-operation in getting your children to Cragmont. We will promise you rich rewards for your efforts. Your child needs this week of Christian training, information, inspiration, and recreation. We are depending upon you.

Reverend James A. Evans, president of Cragmont Assembly, Incorporated, has been giving you for weeks the "Cragmont News," dates and expenses of this encampment. Brother Evans is planning for chartered buses to take you to and from Cragmont. This bus will leave New Bern early June 19. You should write not later than June 1, to Brother Evans at Cragmont Assembly, Inc., Box 118, Black Mountain, North Carolina, and tell him to reserve for you a ride. Please do so.

Come on, let us all go to Cragmont, and get our God-given gifts greatly improved!

NORTH CAROLINA MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE TO CONVENE AT CRAGMONT JUNE 5-9

The North Carolina Ministerial Association will hold their annual conference at Cragmont the first week in June. We are planning an interesting program and all ministers attending will have a part on the program.

It is the duty of every minister in the state to attend and enjoy the week of fellowship as well as make your contribution to the success of the conference.

Plan now to attend and be there for the opening services Monday evening. Each preacher in the denomination, in good standing, is entitled to membership in the Association.

Be present, don't stay away. You will enjoy the week.

R. N. Hinnant, Pres. of the Association

Greenville Revival and Homecoming

The Greenville Free Will Baptist Church, Greenville, N. C., will start a series of revival services May 14, 8:00 P. M. These services will continue for one week. Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, Durham, N. C., is to be the evangelist. Brother Cherry is one of the outstanding Bible preachers of our denomination. We want you to be present for this revival, if at all possible, if you aren't present please pray for a glorious revival.

Home coming Day for all members and former pastors of the church is May 21. Come prayerfully and spend the day, enjoying great inspiration and fellowship.

Graham Speaks to Congressmen

"If I were running for any political office this year, I would speak out strongly for the Lord Jesus Christ in my campaign addresses."

This was what Dr. Billy Graham, noted evangelist, proclaimed to an assemblage of national congressmen in the Nation's Capitol on April 27, 1950. He was the speaker at a breakfast gathering in the Vandenberg room.

Citing that our past methods have intensified, rather than solved, our problems, Dr. Graham said that the American people are today hungry to know God's message for them.

"We have deified man and humanized God, and we have worshiped science. And today we find ourselves on the brink of a disaster which threatens to wipe out civilization." Dr. Graham told the thirty-five representatives and one senator that the only answer to the dilemma was to return to God. He struck a comparison between the conditions set forth in the first chapter of Isaiah and those of our current society. He called upon the leaders of the country to repent of sin and declare faith in Jesus Christ.—N. A. E.

Peace They Say

And now it's peace to be released
Upon this world of sorrow.

No wars to be
On land or sea;
No need to have this horror.

Who will believe and be deceived
That wars can now be ended?

It's not until
All lust is still
And man with Christ is blended.

No freedom can descend from man,
Though he may make the offer.

He's speaking through
His hat to you.
To me he's just a scoffer.

All peace must come through God's own Son.

And the wicked cannot possess it.
Cessation of war
Cannot restore;

It's through God's own Son we merit.

and growing irreverence. And also one of ever-increasing perplexities and perils.—Selected.

What of the Future?

"I know not what awaits me,
God kindly veils mine eyes,
And o'er each step of my onward way
He makes new scenes arise.
And every joy He sends me comes
A sweet and glad surprise.

"One step I see before me,
'Tis all I need to see,
The light of heaven more brightly shines
When earth's illusions flee,
And sweetly through the silence comes
His loving 'follow me.'"

O blissful lack of wisdom,
'Tis blessed not to know;
He holds me with His own right hand,
And will not let me go.
And lulls my troubled soul to rest
In Him who loves me so.

So on I go, not knowing,
I would not if I might;
I'd rather walk in the dark with God
Than go alone in the light;
I'd rather walk by faith with Him
Than go alone by sight.

When it seems hardest to pray, pray hardest.

"BY THE MIGHT OF MINE HAND"

Statesmen, politicians, publicists, economists, captains of business and industry, labor leaders and all kinds of other people are trying to tell us what is wrong with the United States and the world at large. Now let us consider the words of the Lord:

"For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depths that spring out of valleys and hills; A land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig trees, and pomegranates . . . A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack anything in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass. When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which He hath given thee. Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God . . . Lest when thou hast eaten and art full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein: And when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied; Then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God. And thou say in thine heart, My power and the might of mine hand, hath gotten me this wealth. But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth, that He may establish His covenant, which He sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day.

And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day, that ye shall surely perish." —Deut. 8:7-19.

Do not most of us nowadays say, "My power, and the might of mine hand, hath gotten me this wealth?" Do we not say our American genius, our matchless industrial establishments, our superior economic and political systems, are responsible for our enjoyment of greater abundance than any other people on earth? And of course, these are the means by which we have achieved our prosperity. But who gave us the means?

The people who built this nation were a reverent and God-fearing people. They did not say "by the might of mine hand," but "by the grace of God"—and meant it. And they prospered mightily.

It is no secret that this machine age, this age of astonishing scientific progress, is also an age of widespread

BALLARD RESIGNS FROM NEW BERN CHURCH

Will Devote Major Part of Time to Writing and Editorial Work

Rev. L. E. Ballard, who for the past three years has edited Free Will Baptist League quarterlies and "Youth's Banner" for the Free Will Baptist Press, has resigned from the pastorate of Saint Mary's Free Will Baptist Church of New Bern, North Carolina, effective September 30th, in order to devote more time to work on these publications and other religious writings, and because of the fact that the New Bern church has reached the stage where a full-time pastor is needed to promote the work of the church. Mrs. Ballard, who has served for over three years as Educational Director at St. Mary's, will relinquish this work also at the same time.

The St. Mary's church is in excellent condition, both financially and in membership and attendance in all branches of the work. The church has a large and progressive Sunday school, with modern facilities; the Woman's Auxiliary is operating splendidly with four circles; the F. W. B. L. has recently shown quite a bit of renewed life; and the attendance at the morning services of the church stands near a full capacity congregation, with the evening attendance gratifying. Quite a number of new members have been added to the church during the past year, not only through evangelistic services, but from Sunday to Sunday through the regular services. The church offers an excellent opportunity for some minister who is not burdened with other responsibilities, to lead on to great achievements for the cause of Christ.

Rev. and Mrs. Ballard plan to move either to Greenville or Ayden, and will be available for pastoral or denominational work which will not handicap Mr. Ballard's editorial work. Their permanent mail address is Box 86, Ayden, North Carolina.

LITTLE BETHEL CHURCH AUXILIARY NEWS

The Ladies Auxiliary of Little Bethel Church held its regular monthly meeting April 27, 1950, at the home of Mrs. Austin Stone with 17 members present, and one visitor, Mrs. Norman Stone.

We opened our meeting by singing a hymn which blended with the program. Then a prayer was offered by Mrs. Liston Miller.

The president, Mrs. Vernie Stone, turned the program over to the program leader, Mrs. Allen Baxley, who rendered a very interesting program. Our subject was Advancing with Christ through the Training of Youth.

Following the completion of the program the president took charge and called for the business of the circle.

The first was calling of the roll and reading of the minutes of the last meeting. Then we sang a hymn and offered the benediction.

The hostess, Mrs. Austin Stone, and Mrs. Merdock Stone served delicious refreshments which were enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Lindon Powell, on Thursday, May 25, 1950.

SUMMER ENCAMPMENTS

Summer Encampments, or Summer Bible Institutes, are becoming more and more assemblies of great interest and value to Free Will Baptists in the various states. For example, Cragmont Assembly, Black Mountain, N. C., is receiving much publicity at this time, and many of the church people are looking forward to attending these institutes which will be held this year during the months of June—August. The programs have been already arranged for the different groups to attend these assemblies. The ministers will hold the first institute, and the others will follow in order of arrangement by the different directors.

Other states, as Georgia, Texas, and others will hold their Bible Encampments for their different groups at specified camps or suitable places for the institutes to be conducted. Both the adult people of the church, as well as the children and the youth, will have a part in those encampments for the study of the Bible, and other allied studies which will be a great advantage to the leaders of the church and the local church organizations.

We think these summer encampments are becoming more and more useful to those who attend them, because they receive information, training, and inspiration in religious matters which will be of much good to them in filling their places back home in their local churches, Sunday Schools, the Woman's auxiliary, and also in the Young People's League. It is hoped that a great many more of the church people will this season make use of the opportunity to attend these encampments, and thereby be greatly benefitted in a spiritual way.

CONTRIBUTORS TO THE BAPTIST PAPER

We frequently receive communications from subscribers of the Baptist paper, and also from others, asking for more original messages in prose and poetry, for more church news of value to the readers, and also for more worthwhile reports of church improvements and progress among the local churches of the different states. Those interested inquirers are desirous of being able to read in the Baptist paper more worthwhile and interesting things, setting forth in clear language what the churches and the church people are accomplishing.

Alfred's Prayer

"Mamma," said Alfred one night, as he was going to bed, "I prayed that God would keep us children from quarreling, but he has not answered that as yet, for sister Daisy and I quarreled dreadfully to-day."

"Ah, my son, you will have to help the Lord to answer that."

"Help the Lord, mamma? Can't He do everything?"

"He won't make you good against your will. If you choose to be a naughty boy, God will be sorry for you, and when Satan tempts you to quarrel if you turn right to God for strength to resist him, and then fight like a good little soldier to keep down the naughty temper, then God will give you victory. But He won't do the work for you."

"Oh, I didn't understand," said the little boy.

Let this be the cue for some good writers to mail to us some good sermons, poems, religious essays, etc. Let those churches that have put on building programs, and have enlarged the entire church plant take note and write for the Baptist paper a short history of the new accomplishments. Let the church organizations make known through the columns of the Baptist the success that they have been making in their endeavor programs in their district and state bodies. This will be a good way to stimulate a greater interest in the denominational work, and also in getting more copies of the Baptist paper in the different Free Will Baptist homes of the United States.

BOOSTING YOUR CHURCH

It is said to be a natural thing for successful business men to boost their business; to be optimistic, and work toward certain definite goals for greater business.

One minister said not long ago to this editor: "I seek to boost by church people when they do some noteworthy thing for the church. I find it pays." After thinking over what that minister said, we believe he was right. The Lord's disciples rejoiced greatly whenever they met with great success in winning the lost to Christ. They told others about it, and kept on preaching the Word of the Lord. Wherever Paul went and established churches, he let others know that people were accepting the gospel plan of salvation.

Some evangelistic campaigns may be boosted too much in some cases; but, when pastors and lay-leaders of the churches move forward with gratifying success in the work of the church, we think those who had a hand in the achievements should be praised, and the work boosted in the light of joy and happiness because the Lord's work had been advanced for the glory of God.

Yes, pastors, boost the work; encourage both the old and the young in your churches; and stand by them in their efforts and sacrifices to greatly improve the church activities in their localities. Boost the young people and they will do more for the cause of Christ. Praise the older people of the church and they will give more of their time, talent and money for the advancement of the church and community.

"Yes, my dear," continued mamma, "you have something to do yourself, when you pray such a prayer, to help God to answer it, you must watch and pray, and fight against temptation; and if you do this, you will be able, by and by, to come and tell me that God has answered all your prayers."—Kind Words.

Listen to God's Word, love Him and obey Him, first, last and always.—L. L. K.

Middlesex Orphanage

May Is Orphanage Month

We would like to remind our many friends that May has been designated as Orphanage Month in our United Program. Your generous offering during this month will enable us to continue to operate our home during this crucial period without borrowing money.

During 1949, each dollar that you contributed helped care for more children in our orphanage and bought more food, clothing, and educational advantages for them than in 1948. We shall continue to provide the many needs of our children, as they develop into useful men and women, as economically as possible.

Your contribution to our orphanage during May is needed and will be greatly appreciated.

LETTER—

from the Superintendent

Dear Patrons:

We are pleased to have this opportunity to write you in regards to the progress of our work here at the Orphanage. Since May has been set aside as Orphanage Month in our State United Program, we feel that you would like to have first-hand information about what we are doing here, so that you can present this to the members of each church in which you are serving as pastor.

During 1949 it cost $8,750.00 less to operate the orphanage than it did in 1948, a reduction of approximately 15%. We not only reduced operational cost during 1949, but we also cared for an average of five more children. We believe that you and your congregation will be interested in knowing that we have cut expenses at the Home and are endeavoring to operate as economically as it is possible to do on a sound basis.

We are again operating the 140 acres of cleared land here with our boys; the girls are helping at times. It appears now that we will have a reasonable good harvest of wheat, oats, barley and crimson clover. Approximately forty acres of corn have already been planted and most of it has come up good. Our livestock are in fine shape—all are feeding on good pastures—but our milk supply is still low because we do not have enough milk cows. We are in need of six more cows quite badly to insure an ample supply of milk for the children each day.

Some of our children have had colds and a few have had measles and mumps during the winter, however, at the present time, all of our children (78) are enjoying reasonably good health. The children taking music are progressing well and we are in the process of setting up our sewing course here at the home.

Approximately one-third of the brick have been laid on the Albemarle Cottage (Boys). We are hoping to complete the building by the fall or early winter. We have recently painted the roofs of a number of the buildings and have been endeavoring to make the lawn more attractive.

January, February, March and April have been rather trying months here at the Home from a financial standpoint. We have, however, been able thus far to operate without borrowing any money. For several years prior to this year it has been necessary to borrow money with which to operate the Orphanage during the first three or five months of the year.

Our ministers and people have cooperated wonderfully with us during this trying period of financial need and we believe that you will continue to do so.

The battle of need has not been won here at the Home yet and all of us must continue to work together

if this phase of our Master's work continues to progress. We believe that you would like to give our Orphanage your full support during the month of May and endeavor to send a contribution to our Orphanage from each of your churches. We, the administration and children will appreciate your support during this month and may the Lord bless you in His Service.

Sincerely yours,
Walter McD. Croom,
Superintendent
Ralvin McLeod, Treas.

BLASPHEMY AGAINST THE HOLY GHOST

"All sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and blasphemies wherewith soever they shall blaspheme: But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation" Mark 3:28, 29).

These words of Jesus were spoken to the scribes and Pharisees who had gone down from Jerusalem to the place where he was preaching, and healing a blind and dumb man who was possessed of a devil. Christ had cast out the devil, and had given speech and sight to the man. Those scribes and pharisees declared that Christ had cast out the devil by Beelzebub, the prince of devils. They were blaspheming against the Holy Spirit when they accused Christ of casting out the devil by Satan, the chief of devils, because they attributed that divine power of the Holy Spirit of God, by which Christ cast out the devil, to have come from none other than Satan himself.

Christ told them that Satan cannot cast out Satan, lest his kingdom fall. Then, how can the Son of God perform miracles by Beelzebub, when he is free from any contamination of Satan? If Christ were possessed with the evil powers of Satan, then how could he stand as the true Son of God—pure and holy, spotless and clean?

Note: "Even personal reproaches, revilings, persecutions against Christ, were remissible; but blasphemy, or impious speaking against the Holy Spirit was to have no forgiveness: i. e. when the person obstinately attributed those works to the devil, which he had the fullest evidence could be wrought only by the Spirit of God. That this, and nothing else, is the sin against the Holy Spirit, is evident from the connection in this place, (Matt. 12:31) and more particularly from Mark 3:28,29,30."—Adam Clarke's Commentary.

"The unpardonable sin is neither less nor more than ascribing the miracles Christ wrought, by the power of God, to the spirit of the devil." But all who sincerely believe in the the holy mission of Jesus Christ can't commit this sin, for as long as they believe in God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit as the Holy Trinity, possessing the supreme power, grace, mercy and love for all mankind, they will never claim that the miracles of Christ were performed through the evil influences of Satan.

A person may speak, in the vilest terms, against Christ, against his followers, or even curse God with bitter words, and be forgiven by repentance, confession of his sins, and acceptance of Christ as his personal Saviour. But to say, deliberately, the power of the Holy Spirit originated from and rests in Satan, the prince of devils, is to blaspheme against God's Holy Spirit.

"THE BREAD OF LIFE"

Tom Johnson

Jesus said, "I am the bread of life." He spoke these words in the synagogue in Capernaum unto the congregation assembled before him. In this discourse on the bread of life, our Lord meant that he was the spiritual bread which gives spiritual life, and preserves the human soul from eternal death. This bread of life was from heaven, because he came down from heaven, as the Father had willed for the purpose of giving eternal life unto as many as would believe on him.

Christ told his audience that "Our fathers did eat manna in the desert and are dead." He said that it was not the true bread, because it was only a type of the true bread from heaven. Those Jews considered the manna as the bread from heaven which Moses gave to their forefathers. It was not the heavenly nourishment, but the bread that nourished the bodies of their fathers. God sent that bread as a special provision for his people while they were on their wilderness journey to the Promised Land.

Our Lord told them that those who would go unto him he would not cast out. All that the Father gives to him he gives them this bread of life. All who are drawn by the Father, that is, who are influenced by His Spirit, and who yield to the Spirit's call are called the children of the Father (Rom. 8:14).

Jesus is the bread of life to nourish sinsick souls, to calm broken hearts, and to bind up gaping wounds. He is the balm of Gilead, the consolation of troubled minds, and the living water of life. All who come unto him can, therefore, rejoice and be glad, for he will in no wise cast them out.

Eating of the body of Christ and drinking of his blood means that all who take him as their personal Saviour, and are washed, cleansed from their sins, by his shed blood on the cross, are spiritually being nourished and given new life in Christ. As bread and water are taken into the body for strength and nourishment to the physical man, so the accepting of Christ as that spiritual life means new strength, and new power for the soul of man. It means the dwelling of the heart of man in the blessed Son of God, and He in him. It means unity, peace and love between God's Son and the saved individual. Here is a striking quotation on this point: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, that unless you receive the body of the Son of man as the bread of life, ye have no life in you."

It was the will of the Father that His Son should come into the world, and be offered on the cross for the sins of the world. His life, therefore, was given as a ransom for everyone.

Talking about Gangsters

They say that the anti-prohibition gangsters in Chicago killed 500 citizens of similar stripe when prohibition was the law of the land. It's quite true.

What about this Master Gangster today? On the highways alone, he kills certainly no less than 8,000 men women and children every year and maims between 200,000 and 300,000 good citizens—men on their way to work; women on their way to market; little children on their way to school. He leaves their bloody and broken bodies entangled in the wreckage of their vehicle and gives it no thought. And this is only a fraction of the mortality due to alcohol.

Alcohol is the Gangster of Gangsters. He is operating throughout the land and for that matter, in every land.

A Wise Choice

A child in Burma was permitted by his parents to go to a mission school, because they wished him to learn to read. By and by they found he was losing faith in the idols. This made them feel very bad. So the father took him to one of the gayest of the temples, and showed him the idol covered with gold and silver ornaments, surrounded by flowers and candles and fragrant incense. "Here," said the father, "is a god you can see, but the Christians cannot show you their God." "Yes," said the child, "we can see your god but he cannot see us. We cannot see the Christian's God, but He sees us all the time."

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

PROMOTER OF THE N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

There are some things that you need to know concerning our youth program, the F. W. B. League Organization. The Sunday School teaches the word of God and endeavors to acquaint you with Bible knowledge through the ear, eye, and mind. Surely we cannot underestimate the value of the teaching ministry. The preaching service is designed to lead every worshiper into the presence of God with a thus saith the Lord concerning his relationship with God and eternity. It is to warn the people against sin and of the coming judgment of a righteous God for failure to yield their lives unto God. The evangelistic services are designed to preach Jesus to sinners with the necessary respect to the Word of God and the Holy Spirit which convicts of sin and brings Godly sorrow for sin. The Women's Auxiliary is designed to enlist the women into active services in the interest of missions, benevolences, social service, Christian education and to provide a substantial backing for all the activities of the general church organization.

The Free Will Baptist League organization is to train workers for all church services. It helps new converts get a hold of themselves and learn to pray in public, make talks, sing specials, teaches them how to rightly handle the Word of God, and creates a desire on the part of the worker to become a soul winner for Christ. There are many, many things which make the League one of the most attractive programs of the church for young people. Good leaders are badly needed. Our church can always depend on a good League organization to sponsor things which promote the cause of Christ through all phases of the work, take care of things others in the church forget or neglect, and it provides clean wholesome entertainment for youth activities.

Our first League (or youth) organization was begun in 1915 at St. Mary's church in New Bern, N. C. It was first known as the B. Y. P. U. (Baptist Young People's Union) and since this name belonged to the young people of the Missionary Baptist church it was necessary for us to find a new name. In 1917 the name "Mutual Endeavor Union" was introduced and this lasted for three years when in 1920 the Rev. J. L. Welch gave to us the present name "Free Will Baptist League or F. W. B. L. which has been used ever since.

A dream of a general organization for our youth throughout the nation began many years before it became a reality. It was not until the year 1922 that the General Conference in session at Marshall, N. C. voted to become responsible for the instigation of such an organization. Mrs. Alice E. Lupton, Prof. A. R. Flowers and Rev. L. E. Ballard were appointed to the task of drawing up plans for the proposed organization. It is interesting to know that all three of these persons are still alive and are still interested in the youth program of our church. In 1933 the work was revised and brought up to the needs of the people. Since that time the Leagues have grown in leaps and bounds. The years of the World War II caused an upset and the work has been lagging behind ever since in North Carolina. It is our prayer to God that He will give us new inspiration and courage to go forth again in this great cause.

How It Struck the Manager

The desirable position that every boy, who has his own way in the world to make, is early in search of goes frequently to the odd candidate in some odd way or for some odd reason. In a case in mind, not a month old, with Brooklyn as the locas, it went right over the heads of every youthful candidate for the position and was offered to an unsuspecting lad who had not the remotest idea of applying for it.

He was a small boy of 14; he had given days of his vacation to earning some money that he needed in temporary messenger work in a branch office of a large corporation; and when he received his pay he found an unwarranted deduction from his earnings, against which he had duly protested, exacting a promise of proper adjustment. He was indignant at the ensuing delay, but he was not a boy to give way to indignation in a way to imperil the collection of the amount of his claim. Neither had he any mind to go again personally to the main office with its besieging crowd of boys applying for positions.

So, with his mind bent on going straight to the mark in the fewest possible words, he penned a letter, as he had undertaken the work, without the advice of anyone. It was couched in English that would have done credit to any business man of the city, and it was written in the vertical hand that reads as easily as print. He mailed it and awaited a reply with misgivings as to its tenor. He hadn't long to wait. Promptly came the following and astounding reply from the manager himself:

"If the attached letter was written by you, and it is a sample of your usual handwriting, I have a place in this office for you as clerk, helping me in light-office work, where there is a fine chance for promotion."—New York Commercial.

Elizabeth City Has Good Revival

On Monday night April 10 the Rev. B. L. Sawyer began a revival meeting in Saint Paul's Free Will Baptist church, and continued through the 16. Brother Sawyer preached some very good messages and it did our hearts good to hear him. There were 3 confessions and one of those came to take membership with the church.

We were happy to have with us on Sunday night friends from the Mount Tabor Church near Creswell, N. C. They rendered several beautiful selections in song and we did appreciate this very much. We do believe that Brother Sawyer is a God-called minister. We wish we had more ministers who are not afraid to stand behind God's sacred desk and preach the word as he does. He is now pastor of Saint John's Free Will Baptist Church in Portsmouth, Va. Let us pray for, and encourage him in every way we can.

Miss Sudie Copeland

ON WHICH SIDE ARE YOU?

James Russell Lowell well said:
They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who dare not choose
Hatred, scoffing and abuse.

Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think.
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

"Is it the right road Home?"
"Yes, child, this very path I trod.
The clouds were dark for me,
The stony path was hard to tread,
Not sight but faith can see
That at the end the sun shines bright,
Forever where there is no night,
And glad hearts rest from earth's fierce fight.

But always the question is "Why?" Could not the Lord take us some way where there are fewer stones and thorns? and fewer hills and clouds?

No doubt He could. But He is not only making a way for us but the best way. When we are saved He could at once hurry us off to heaven. But the trouble about that is that earth, with its hardships and steep grades and all the rest we do not by nature choose, offers an atmosphere and topography for the development of certain Christian graces—fortitude, patience, faith, hope, and charity—far better than the perfect conditions of that heavenly City and Country. In fact, some things in Christian character we must get in this life or never.

And while we are taking the hard things let us remember that declaration of Paul, "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

THE GENTLENESS OF LOVE

A. B. Simpson

When things seem hard and trying, it is just another class in the school of discipline, another opportunity to put on Jesus Christ and learn the patience, the long-suffering, or the gentleness of love.

An injured bishop was once complaining to Francis de Sales how a brother had wronged him, lied about him, and tried in every way to defame him. The good saint listened and assented, saying, Yes, my brother, it's all true; it's very wrong; it's very unkind; it's very unjust; it's very cruel." Then he added, "But there is another side to it."

"But," said the bishop, "do you mean to say that there is any excuse or reason to justify this?"

"Not on his part, my brother; but there is on the other side of the question a still higher reason for it, and it is this: God has let all this happen to you and all this to be said about you, to teach you the lesson that is worth more to you than even your good name, and that is to hold your tongue when people talk about you, which is very evident you have not yet learned."

The good bishop saw the lesson and silently received it. Would to God that we might see in everything our Master's hand, our Teacher's lesson, our Father's love. Life should become to us a school of love, and so sweetly perfected in this highest grace that nothing could hurt us; but above the hand of every enemy we should see the hand of love more richly blessing us, and making even the wrath of man to praise God and minister to our perfection.

Then, perhaps, we should some day be able to say like one of the medieval saints, "It is so sweet to love my enemies that if it were a sin to do so, I fear I should be tempted to commit that sin; and if it were forbidden by the Lord, I fear it would be the greatest temptation of my life to disobey that commandment."

God give us the love of the Spirit and say to us afresh the new covenant, "Love one another as I have loved you."—Sel.

How God Answered Prayer

"Dear Jesus, make me patient!" prayed a little child once—and God sent a little cousin to stay with her. She was so tire-some. She would pull Elsie's toys about, and she would take so long to wash and to dress that sometimes Elsie would feel almost in despair. Then she would pray again, "Lord, help me to be patient!" And God did help and strengthen her to be with her little cousin, and not be vexed.

But not until a long time afterward did Elsie understand that God sent the little cousin to bring into her own heart the beautiful gift of patience, because, at the time, she could see only the dark things.

A teacher once said to me, "We were very poor when I was a child, but I have been so thankful since, that it was so. We learned to be careful with our things, and to be content with little, and to feel that our daily bread came direct from the hand of God. We were much happier at home than many a richer family around us. And we loved our mother so much, for the way she toiled for us."—Unknown.

Who Wants the Boys and Girls?

God wants the boys, the merry, merry boys,
The noisy boys, the funny boys,
The thoughtless boys;
God wants the boys with all their joys,
That He as gold may make them pure,
And teach them trials to endure;
His heroes brave,
He'd have them be,
Fighting for truth and purity,
And purity;
God wants the boys!

God wants the happy-hearted girls,
The loving girls, the best of girls,
The worst of girls;
God wants to make the girls His pearls,
And to reflect His holy face,
And bring to mind His wondrous grace,
That beautiful
The world may be,
And filled with love and purity,
And purity;
God wants the girls!

A PRAYER

Our dear Lord and Saviour I pray
For thy assistance every day,
Send me safely in paths of right,
Dear Lord, I ask and pray tonight.

Sometimes the way is dark and drear,
But sure Thou'll gently lead me home.
Near to Thy side I crave to be,
And kneeling there, be close to Thee.

Here in this world of care and strife
Sorrow and heartache touch each life,
We need so much Thy tender care,
A plea of refuge with you there.

So much thy loving heart did't beam
While on the cross suffering there
And dying in deep agony
That all mankind thru you might live.

Ere long our life on earth will end,
We'll meet you face to face, dear friend,
You'll guide us to a place on high—
A lovely mansion in the sky.

Micah's Hope of God's Salvation

(Lesson for May 28)

LESSON: 4:1-5; 5:2-4; 7:18-20.

GOLDEN TEXT: Micah 7:18.

I. The Heart of the Lesson

1. From our Scripture references we learn that God has a plan for a time of universal peace upon the earth. And many of the other writers of the Books of the Bible corroborate and expand the truths that Micah presents in his prophecy (Ps. 72; Is. 2:2, 3; 9:6, 7; 11:1-16). This is a big subject, and it can be approached from many angles.

2. Why had more progress not been made in the realm of peace? It looks as if we were going in the opposite direction. We boast about our enlightenment, knowledge, progress and wisdom, and this century has been the bloodiest in the history of the world. And sober thinking and observing people see little prospect of peace in the future. To come to the point, we believe that the world has been seeking after peace as the Jews in Paul's day sought after righteousness. "For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God" (Rom. 10:3). Read "peace" instead of "righteousness" in that text.

3. In the first place before we can have peace among men, there must be peace between men and God. God had a controversy with men (Jer. 25:11; Hos. 4:1; 12:2; Mic. 6:2). Man is a rebel at variance with God and His laws. Man is alienated from God in his mind and by wicked works (Eph. 2:12; 4:18; Col. 1:21). And while this state lasts there is no prospect of peace anywhere (Is. 57:20, 21). Man needs to be reconciled unto God and at peace with Him, and this is where the ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ comes in.

4. Next to having peace with God, we need to have peace within our own hearts. And this peace comes thru the ministry of the Holy Spirit, dwelling within, and the truth which He makes known to us. It is only after the Spirit enlightens our minds that we begin to realize the sinfulness of our fallen nature, and this knowledge will disrupt our peace. But the sacrifice of Christ has taken into account our evil nature. Judicially it is dead. It is for us to mortify the deeds of the body and to surrender ourselves to the Lord. "And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:7).—Selected.

5. The expression "latter days" has to do with the latter days of Israel and the days when the Star will come out of Jacob and the Scepter will arise out of Israel (cf. Num. 24:14, 17). To those who glibly quote, "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks," as though it had reference to this dispensation, we would say that God's Word also says, "Beat your plowshares into swords, and your pruning hooks into spears" (Joel 3:10).

Micah is talking of that day when out of Zion shall go forth the law, the word of Jehovah shall be given from Jerusalem (v. 2). He refers to that time of which Isaiah says, Jehovah "will judge between the nations, and will decide concerning many peoples" (Isa. 2:3, 4). The day is coming, thank God, when the Prince of Peace will come, and then this troubled world will know peace.—Moody Monthly.

6. Micah is here foretelling the birth of Christ who is to be the King of that kingdom about which he had been speaking to the people. The little town of Bethlehem was predicted as the birthplace of the Savior. The prophecy was fulfilled in the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ. The story is very beautifully related in both Matthew 2 and Luke 2. Bethlehem Ephrathah is used to distinguish it from Bethlehem in Zebulun. It was a very small town among the many other towns of Judah, yet it was chosen to be the birthplace of the eternal King of Glory who is from everlasting to everlasting.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

7. God will have mercy, he will forgive, for he will not retain his anger always against his people. It is he who has established his moral and spiritual laws of the universe; it is he who is ever long suffering and kind; and it is he who will pardon and reward all who turn unto him in faith and trust for divine guidance. (Read Psalms 71:19; 77:14; 86:8; 89:7; 86:4; 97:9.)

As far as the east is from the west, so God would separate their iniquities far from them. Dr. Hight C. Moore says, "He will purify from our iniquities, subduing our sins, scrubbing them off, washing them away, sinking them into the very sea bottom." No sinner, however vile or wretched, should doubt for one moment God's forgiving power, nor should he hesitate to submit his case to the Lord in full surrender.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Make Jesus King!

When Queen Victoria had just ascended her throne she went, as is the custom of Royalty, to hear "The Messiah" rendered. She had been instructed as to her conduct by those who knew, and was told that she must not rise when the others stood at the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus. When that magnificent chorus was being sung and the singers were shouting "Hallelujah! Hallelujah! Hallelujah! for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth," she sat with great difficulty. It seemed as if she would rise in spite of the custom of kings and queens, but finally when they came to that part of the chorus where with a shout they proclaim Him King of kings suddenly the young queen rose and stood with bowed head, as if she would take her own crown from off her head and cast it at His feet. Let us make Him King and every day be loyal to Him. This is the secret of peace.—J. Wilbur Chapman.

HIGHLIGHTS

Of State Sunday School Convention-Institute

The tenth annual session of the North Carolina State Sunday School Convention-Institute was a glowing success in many respects as the 1950 sessions closed recently at Hugo F. W. B. Church near Kinston. More Sunday schools than ever were represented, more enthusiasm was manifested in youth activities, six point record system, Field Representative, and Cragmont Assembly, Inc. The president, Mr. R. T. Sasser, states that more interest was manifested in the organization of district conventions. Every Union Meeting district should and must have an individual district convention if they are to make the desired progress. The Third Union Meeting of the Western Conference of which the writer is a member has already set the machinery in action to organize during the sitting of the next Union Meeting which convenes with the Calvary church in Durham the fifth Saturday in July.

The state convention-institute in annual sessions at Hugo April 23, 24, elected the following officers for the year: President, Mr. Raymond T. Sasser, 207 W. Broad St., Wilson, N. C.; Vice-President, Mr. Albert T. Coats, Smithfield, N. C.; Mrs. A. T. Coats, Smithfield, Secretary; Mr. Milton Wiggs, Smithfield, treasurer; Director, Miss Hazel Dawkins, Rockingham; Organization, Mr. D. B. Sasser, Wilson; Denominational Enterprises, Rev. R. B. Crawford, Greenville; Records and Reports; Rev. L. E. Ballard, Ayden; Literature, Rev. Rashie Kennedy, Goldsboro, Field Secretary Program; and Rev. R. P. Harris, Durham, Publicity Director.

The officers of the State Sunday School Convention-Institute are anxious to serve you in whatever capacity is needed. All local Sunday Schools should copy down the names and addresses of all the officials of the Convention-Institute and file them where you may refer to them at any time. You should urge your district to organize a district convention. You should request your local Sunday School to call in the director which you need to help you become a better Sunday School. As director of publicity, I shall welcome an opportunity to give your individual Sunday School or your district Convention all the publicity I can. You must send me all the facts concerning what you want publicized and I will give it my careful attention and have it published in the Baptist paper under the proper caption. Miss Hazel Dawkins will be glad to come to your church and assist you in getting properly organized. Any of the other directors also anxiously await the opportunity to serve you. In general, you may write to the president, Mr. Raymond T. Sasser, for any information you need and he will be most happy to help you.

It is not too early for you to begin thinking about the National Sunday School Convention and planning to attend. We will give you more information about this later. Perhaps our national work will be publicized by our national director in the Baptist paper. If not I shall attempt to get the desired information and have it reach you as early as possible by the same method.

There is a need for a state or national Sunday School bulletin. If there is enough interest shown and if enough subscribers to such and editorial is received, the publication will be forthcoming. Watch this column from week to week and keep abreast of the news.

The Fatal Temptation

Some years ago a young man entered one of our colleges to pursue a course of study. He had been thoroughly prepared, was a brilliant student, and easily took and held the head of the class. The son of wealthy parents, he had been much in society, and was affable and graceful in his manners. No man was more popular in the entire college. His class-mates idolized him, and the faculty of instruction regarded him as one of the most promising young men that had ever been enrolled.

He had one weakness; in the somewhat gay, social life to which he had been accustomed at home, he had acquired a taste for drink. He knew this weakness, however, and was doing his best to master it. For months he had not tasted a drop of intoxicating liquor, and the appetite for it was fast leaving him. It seemed to those who knew him and the gallant struggle he was making to control himself, that he was sure of success, and would, in a little while, be as safe and strong as he was brilliant and good.

Toward the close of his second or sophomore year, he was invited, in company with several other students, to an evening party. At this party there was a young lady whom he had known for some time and for whom he felt a strong attachment. During the course of the evening, he was offered wine, but refused again and again. Some of the friends of the young lady came to her and told her of their failure to induce him to drink.

"I will see whether he will dare to refuse me," she said. Filling a wine-cup and going up to him with her most winning manner, she said to him, "Mr. —, I have brought you this wine to drink my health. Surely you cannot decline to do that for me?"

One of his friends who stood near says that when the young lady presented the wine-cup, he turned and looked at him and saw what a terrible struggle was going on in his mind. His hand shook and his whole frame trembled; the perspiration started upon his forehead. Rallying all his strength he begged to be excused. But the young lady was persistent. Her pride was aroused, and she was determined to show her lady friends her power over this brilliant and popular student. She urged until at last he yielded, and, taking the cup from her jeweled hand, drained it to the last drop.

Eighteen months from that time he was carried to a drunkard's grave. The demon of appetite woke up within him and asserted its right to rule. His will to resist was powerless against this. The pleadings and sympathy of friends proved of no avail. Forced to leave college, he sank so rapidly that those who knew him and loved him best were glad when death came and ended his blighted life.

Thus the life of a gifted spirit was quenched, and a soul destroyed by the folly and madness of one who should have done her utmost for his sake as well as for her own, to save and strengthen him. As it was, she not only shortened his life, but filled her own with anguish. Let every young lady remember that it may be fatal to play the part of the tempter, and that it is written "Woe to him that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips."—Our Young People.

The Faithful Child

I can not do great things for Him
Who did so much for me,
But I would like to show my love,
Dear Jesus, unto Thee.
Faithful in every little thing,
Dear Saviour, may I be!

There are small crosses I may take,
Small burdens I may bear,
Small acts of faith and deeds of love
Small sorrows I may share.
And little bits of work for Thee
I may do everywhere.

And so I ask Thee, Give me grace
My little place to fill,
That I may ever walk with Thee,
And ever do Thy will,
And in each duty, great or small,
May I be faithful still!

—Julia Balch

Words

Keep a watch on your words, children,
For words are wonderful things,
They are sweet like the bees' fresh honey;
Like the bees, they have terrible stings.
They can bless like the warm glad sunshine
And brighten a lonely life,
They can cut in the strife of anger
Like a cruel two-edged knife.

Keep them back if they are cold and cruel,
Under bar and lock and seal
For the wounds they make, dear children,
Are always slow to heal.

May peace guard your lips forever,
From the time of your early growth,
May the words, that you daily utter
Be only the words of Truth.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

Mrs. Josie Lee Kent Passes

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Josie Lee Kent, Jacksonville, Florida, who lost her life in Fort Worth, Texas, flood, May 17, 1949.

Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of you today
Are those who loved you best.

Those days were once enjoyed
When we were all together,
But oh, how changed it all is now
Since you have gone forever.

The blow was hard, the shock severe
We little thought your death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
By daughter, Mrs. G. M. Nipper, 538 Organ Street, Jacksonville, Florida.

Mrs. Nancy Fulghum Passes

Great was the shock and grief to the family, and friends of our sister in Christ, Nancy Fulghum, when on November 28, 1949, she suddenly passed away into the great beyond. She was born on February 17, 1877. She took membership with March Swamp F. W. B. Church during the revival meeting which was held at our church in September 1919. The Reverend S. H. Styrton was pastor at that time.

She loved her Lord, and her church, and proved herself a true and loyal member as long as she lived. The funeral services were held in Nobles Chapel by her pastor, Rev. M. L. Johnson, assisted by Rev. Charles Carrol. She was laid to rest by her husband Cannon Fulghum in the church cemetery.

Although our church's loss is great, her gain is greater.

"Think of stepping on shore
And finding it heaven!
Think of taking hold of a hand,
And finding it God's hand,
Of passing from storm and tempest
To perfect calm!
Of waking and knowing
I'm Home!"

A good thing to remember,
And a better thing to do,
Is to work with the construction gang
And not with the wrecking crew.

STONES

By Herbert Lockyer

Have you ever asked yourself the question, Why did Jesus not roll the stone away from the grave of Lazarus? If He had power to raise the dead, surely with a word He could have commanded the stone to move from its socket! But no, Jesus said to His disciples, "Take ye away the stone."

Jesus allowed the disciples to take the stone away because He will never do for us what we can do for ourselves. Rolling a stone away was a human act, which the disciples could easily perform, so they were left to do it. Often when we pray for certain things, the Lord leaves us to answer our own prayers. Further, the Lord's working depends upon the accomplishment of our part of the task. Christ did not raise Lazarus until the disciples rolled the stone away. The miracle reveals a blessed co-operation. We have the privilege of coming to the help of the Lord.

The application of John 11 is not hard to make. All around us are multitudes, buried in the graves of sin and lust. Christ the Resurrection and the Life stands ready to quicken the spiritually dead, but ere He can pronounce the all-commanding "Come forth!" we have our part to play. We must take away the stone. We cannot function as channels of blessing if our lives are not in full harmony with the Master's mind and will.

Take Away the Stone of Prayerlessness

The Church was born in a prayer meeting, and its life can only be maintained in the same atmosphere. Ceasing to pray, she helps to keep many a Lazarus in the grave. Mighty triumphs came the way of the early Church because she lived on her knees. Giving herself to prayer and the ministry of the Word, she saw the world around her turned upside down.

And today, it is only as the Church travails in prayer that she can bring forth. If the impact of God is to be felt by a needy world, the Church must organize less and agonize more. But the old-time, well-attended prayer meeting has almost vanished! In many churches the Supper Room has been substituted for the Upper Room, with the accompanying result of spiritual death.

Take Away the Stone of Criticism

How can Christ raise those who are dead in sin if some groups in our churches are hotbeds of criticism, gossip and mere idle tittle-tattle? Nothing can blast the work of the Spirit and ruin a spiritual atmosphere like hostile, bitter criticism of others. Everybody is wrong except ourselves. And so often our finding fault with others springs from jealousy, and such jealousy as is cruel as the grave.

What a positive hindrance to spiritual progress jealousy is among pastors, evangelists, choirs and church members! All of us should stand in fear of jealousy, seeing that it crucified our Lord. "For envy the Jews delivered Him." Jealousy is indeed a large stone preventing many a spiritual resurrection.

Take Away the Stone of Worldliness

If we are to lift the world nearer God we must be separated from it. Worldly compromise hinders the effectiveness of any Christian or church. The deeper the separation, the more powerful and fruitful are we in our appeal to those who are dead in sin.

Is it not a tragedy that so many places of worship are only religious amusement clubs? So much is countenanced within the sacred precincts. Our spiritual bankruptcy is due to our worldly-mindedness. This stone must be removed if Lazarus is to come forth.

Other Stones

One could go on and write of other stones that must be gathered out. Stones of Dis-union, of Inconsistency, of Sin, of Unlawful Habits, of Disobedience. Each of us is conscious of his own stumbling blocks to success in soul-winning.

We read that when the disciples took away the stone from the place where the dead lay that Jesus could say, "Lazarus, come forth!" And out he came! May grace be ours to take the stone away! No matter what a complete, unreserved surrender to God may cost, let us be willing to banish all hindrances and give Him right-of-way through our lives. Around us there are countless numbers who need His life-giving touch, and if we fail Him, He had no other plan for saving the lost.

He dropped a penny in the plate,

Then meekly raised his eyes,
Glad the week's rent was duly paid
For mansions in the skies.

Everything Will Be Looking to the Future

in the big "Nationwide Special" June edition of Youth's Banner.

The first part (to be distributed June 4) will highlight the Third Nationwide F. W. B. L. Conference, which is the big denominational event of the month of June. There will be a special story written by one of our Free Will Baptist story writers, intitled "Through the Rain to Tulsa Sunshine," which, while looking back to last year, should inspire last minute decisions to go to Norfolk. There will be "beckoning hand" items about Norfolk and Norfolk's leaguers

The June 11th part will present information about the National Association meeting, to convene in July in California. There will be some interesting bits of history about the National Association, and information about California and Richmond, where the meeting will be held. Then when the June 18th part of the Banner is "handed out" on Third Sunday, it will be found to contain facts about the National Woman's Auxiliary, and about the missionary work being promoted by the women of the church. The part dated June 25 will be alive with information and high-lights of the National Sunday School Convention, which meets in August.

For this great special edition, there will be

and, of course, some of the same kind of fine stories Youth's Banner presents in every number.

Order a special bundle of the Banner to distribute throughout your church. You can have copies of all four thrill-packed weekly parts for only 5c per set, if you order at least ten sets. Get your order in by May 15, so we will know how many extras to print. Address to F. W. B. Press, Ayden, N. C.

Woolworth's Seven Rules

There is an article about Frank Woolworth, the famous five-and-ten-cent-stor-t man, in a recent issue of the "American Magazine." The writer, in talking of Woolworth, says:

"These are his deductions from forty-three years as a merchant organizer, and builder of one of the world's tallest structures:

1. Of course you will be discouraged. But keep on.

2. If you believe in an idea give it a chance. Some of my first stores failed because I hadn't studied the situation thoroughly. I placed my stores in the wrong part of the town. There's a right place. Find it.

3 Everyone likes to make a good bargain. Let him. Small profits on an article will become big profits if you sell enough of the articles.

4 I believe in doing business by and with cash. I had been in business several years before I knew how to make out a check. Large credit is temptation to careless buying.

5. Supervise details, but don't allow them to absorb you. Don't waste time of a high-priced organizer on a clerk's job.

6. I prefer the boy from the farm to the college boy. The college man won't begin at the bottom and learn the business.

7 There are plenty of opportunities for the young men of to-day. Many fail because they are not willing to sacrifice. No one ever got far who was in bondage to the body. You can't build a business on thoughts of having a "good time."—The Boys Friend.

That Boy

"Charles," said a mother in England to her son, some ten or twelve years old, "Charles, I have trained you in righteousness. Your father and I have set you right examples. We have taught you the Gospel. We have shown you the way of peace. My son, if you do not live a Godly life I will stand before God in the day of judgment and bear witness against you!" No wonder that Charles Spurgeon became the foremost preacher of the nineteenth century, or of all the centuries since the Apostles' day. A home where such things are said make safe homes for boys.—Trumpet Call.

Movies and the Crime Wave

J. Edgar Hoover shows his wisdom when he turns upon this money-mad industry:

"Today's movies, many of them dealing with crime, exert a tremendous influence upon pliable young minds. Law enforcement files are replete with stories of juvenile offenders who confess to have derived the ideas for their crimes from motion pictures. After having seen a particularly atrocious crime picture which had been skillfully exploited as the enactment of a 'public enemy's life,' four teen-age boys emulated the examples.

"Their car ran out of gas; they needed money, so one of the group snatched a purse. In another instance, two boys, nine and ten, were caught throwing lighted matches into the gas tank of a car. They said they got the idea from the movies. Still another case—the arrest of four boys, ages fifteen and sixteen, solved a wave of burglaries. Each boy had a good school record and came from a family of good repute; each boy said he got the idea from the movies."

Parents, the Lord is going to hold you responsible for allowing your children to be poisoned by the movies.—The Baptist and Reflector, Nashville, Tennessee.

Excellent D.V.B.S. Courses

The Heart's Proof

Do you ask me how I prove
That our Father, God, is love?
By this world which he hath made,
By the songs of grove and blade
By the brooks that singing run,
By the shining of the sun,
By the breeze that cools my brow,
By fresh odors from the plow,
By the daisy's golden head,
Shining in the fields I tread,
By the chorus of the bees
In the flowering willow trees,
By the gentle dews and rain,
By the farmer's springing grain,
By the light of golden eyes,
By the sheen of forest leaves,
By the sweets of woodland springs,
By the joy right-doing brings—
By a thousand, thousand things!

N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

PROMOTER OF THE N. C. STATE LEAGUE CONVENTION

Say, fellows and girls, I asked you to send me news items of interest for publication under the caption of this column. Can it be that you have not read the Baptist paper? Can it be that you do not care to publicize things of vital interest to our youth? Or, can it be that you just aren't interested? I know that other young people would be delighted to know just what you are doing by way of promoting the cause of Christ among the young people of your group. The things you do may seem feeble and of little importance to you and yet they may be the very things that will cause others to sit up and take notice.

I am urging you once again to write out all the facts concerning your programs, socials, outing, etc., and send them to me. I will be glad to re-write them and give them to our young people through the column of the Baptist paper. This will cause the young people of other districts and states to begin working and re-viving their programs for better work.

Young Christians

All young Christians need the training offered them through the League organization. It may be that you are filling a very important place in your church, but you still need the training this organization offers you. The field is white unto harvest and few there be who go and labor. Prayers need to be sent up to God daily for more and more young Christians to assume the responsibility of service through the field of Christian education and training. There is a great future for young people in the training service of the church. Many young people need to enter full time Christian service. If you do not let the Lord have His way in your life you will, no doubt, miss your calling. The Bible says "Make your calling and election sure." God is ready to give you a place in his service and will guarantee you all necessary things for your prosperity both materially and spiritually. You cannot go wrong in entering Christian service.

The League helps you to get acquainted with the Bible and teaches you to pray, both of which are essential to service for the Lord. You learn how to speak in public, understand one another, discover the needs of the lost in the world, and prepares you for efficient church offices.

These developments are met in many ways. Because your spiritual needs are met you can go on to mental and social progress which tends toward a deeper and better understanding of the doctrines, of missions, evangelism, and the development of Christian leadership.

The League teaches you to die that you might live. You will lift your eyes and see great fields of conquest. There will develop a passion for lost souls and a desire to establish them in the faith so that they will go on to victory in Christ Jesus.

TEXAS DISTRICT LEAGUE RALLY

The district League Rally of the Texas Association convened with Youngblood F. W. B. Church near Beckville, Texas, April 11, 1950. The sponsor, Rev. T. L. McDonald, led the opening prayer. The singing was led by Miss Nell Waldrop, which was followed by an inspirational devotion led by Albert Smith.

Miss Julia Mae Hill won in the Sword Drill contest which was directed by Mrs. Claude Tompkins. A committee was appointed to decide who should deliver the evening message. The Reverend J. M. Goode was chosen for this message.

Youngblood directed an enjoyable program, following which Rev. Goode brought an inspiring message on the subject: "Have You Found Grace in the Sight of the Lord?" Following the message, the new officers were elected. They are as follows: June Goode, president; Jane Perry, vice-president; Geneva McDonald, recording secretary; Mary Jane Tompkins, corresponding secretary-treasurer. Reverend J. M. Goode was appointed as the new sponsoring minister.

Our next League Rally will be held at Dirgin Church, on July 11, 1950. The rally closed with the benediction being offered by Mrs. Duran.

A BAD BUSINESS

H. Pipkin, Mt. Olive, N. C.

The liquor business is a bad business. The late General John J. Pershing is quoted as saying: "Those who make it or sell it should be punished as traitors with death, if necessary, to suppress it." Whether that be true or not, it has influenced our lawmakers to put every woman, man and child in North Carolina under a threat that if you don't have a liquor store in your county, you can't have the full protection of the law against the ravages of the bootlegger. This premeditated, diabolical arrangement is to encourage bootleggers in dry counties and scare the people into voting for its legal sale. Such government is neither by the people nor for the people, nor is it true democracy and sounds more like Russia than America. Those responsible for such government are described in the Bible as hypocritical scribes who bind heavy burdens grievous to be borne and lay them on men's shoulders and refuse to move them. Matthew 23.

There is no way to estimate its deadly work and no language to describe it. There are more than forty references in the Bible that speak against it and not one for it. Church people who pray, "Lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil," and then vote for men knowingly who would legalize beverage alcohol, and tempt the people to sin, make a mock of their profession and are a stumbling block to the world. You cannot serve two masters. Matthew 6:24.

Good people cannot afford to vote for it or indulge in it. Church people are commanded not to touch it. Second Corinthians 6:17. To withdraw from everyone that walketh disorderly. Second Thess. 3:6. And have no fellowship with the work of darkness but reprove them. Eph. 5:11.

Relative to this subject, I am quoting below two of the several articles I wrote for the "Forum" in the News and Observer. I include them here for your consideration and may our loving heavenly Father help us in choosing between good and evil, to vote like we pray and use our influence to bless the people and glorify God, for after all these things will come the judgment, and who shall be able to stand, not everyone that sayeth "Lord, Lord" shall enter in, but he that doeth the will of my father which is in heaven" (Matthew 7: 21).

"Has any reader seen a woman lying out all exposed, naked, bruised and dead, murdered by three men that were drunk on booze which they bought at a legalized liquor store in North Carolina? Or a little girl lying in a casket all dolled up with paints and powder to cover the bruises inflicted by a father because he was drunk?

"Or a little baby girl lying in a hospital all torn and bleeding, raped by a man because he was drunk? Or a kitchen and dining room spattered with blood where a man murdered his wife and children because he was drunk?

"Or an automobile turned upside down and the blood oozing out of the crack in the door and heard the prayers and screams of those who were trapped and dying on the inside and another automobile nearby with no windshield and a man's hat under the steering wheel where the man had been, with the fender all spattered with blood and brains and a stretcher standing by with part of what had been a man on it, with a deep gash where an eye had been and the end of a bone sticking out at the shoulder where an arm had been and a foot all crushed and mangled that would never move again, all because a man was drunk?

"Did you ever stand by a graveside and see a mother and father almost cry their hearts out because their boy had died drunk? Have you ever seen and heard these things?

"Somebody has and thousands of others as bad. All because somebody was drunk.

"How would you account for using your influence to make this business legal? After all, are we not to some extent our brother's keeper?"

"Since the imperfect and much abused prohibition law was repealed, beverage alcohol has been the world's champion killer and troublemaker. Under the protection of the law, it has had a hand in almost every calamity that has befallen the people of this nation and affected practically every institution in the land from the humblest home to the highest courts of justice. It respects no person or place. It has made its bloody trail around the world that cannot ever be erased. It has squirmed its way through our training camps to Pearl Harbor, where it killed our men and destroyed our ships. You can find its trail in France, where an otherwise mighty army staggered under its influence to surrender to the Germans. In India, China, Great Britain and every other nation, you can find its deadly trail. It has had a place at practically every conference table in the world where the destiny of nations and the peace of the world was at stake and contaminated everything it touched where it went. Under its influence, we have compromised with every ism and false doctrine in search for peace and have not found it.

"Today our relations with Russia is a nightmare to the whole world, and there is no place of refuge satisfactory to men except those who know God. In him alone can we find peace. Our danger is not in the fact that Russia has the atomic bomb but that America has too much liquor. A man under its influence is liable to push the wrong button, pull the wrong cord or curse the wrong man, which, in either case could start something that would leave mankind without a hiding place in this nation. So let us turn to God, since man and strong drink have failed us, for God will not fail us."

And now I quote from Psalm 1, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly nor standeth in the way of sinners nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful, but his delight is in the law of the Lord and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

NEWS FROM GEORGIA

GEORGIA NEWS

On April Second 1950 It was our happy privilege to meet with Pine Level Church in Dodge County near Chester, Ga. to organize a woman's auxiliary. Brother Harvey brought a short message, his subject being: "The Wemon of Bible Times." Then Mrs. Harvey took charge, giving a few words as to what a woman's auxiliary is. We organized as follows:

Mrs. Wylene Butler was selected as President; Mrs. Alvin Butler as First vice-President; Mrs. Florence Nobles, second vice-President; Mrs. Lucile Ammerson, third vice-President; the fourth vice-President was Mrs. Ola Ramage, and Mrs. Grace Mullis, Fifth vice-President. Mrs. Mae Long was elected as secretary. Mrs. Mable Estise is to assist her. We then read and adopted by-laws. As others join our auxiliary we are to appoint all committees.

We ask the prayers of all who read this for this auxiliary, as they are young in the work. They seem anxious to learn, so be much in prayer that they may go forward with Christ.

MINISTERS' INSTITUTE AND BIBLE CONFERENCE OF GEORGIA

Dear Fellow Minister:

We feel that it is of utmost importance that we take time and plan now to attend the Ministers' Institute and Bible Conference at Mt. Bethel, Ashburn, Ga., the week of June 4-9, 1950.

The Institute will begin on Sunday evening, June 4, 1950. The Camp will be open for receiving visitors by at least 3 or 4 p. m. that afternoon.

Refreshments will be served and services conducted in the camp chapel.

The cost is in reach of all and every minister can afford to come. $1.00 per day or $5.00 for the session is the amount needed.

You need to take with you a pillow and case, sheet, towel, soap, etc.

We hope to create a deep compassion for Missions, Christian Education, Fellowship and Unity, and good will for the cause of Christ.

"Come ye apart and rest a while," said Christ.

We feel that we need a revival of interest among our people. If you have problems, come let us reason together that God will give us understanding hearts.

The personnel consists of Dr. J. P. Barrow, of the National F. W. B. Bible College; Rev. E. C. Morris, Promotional Secretary of the Georgia State Association; Rev. T. B. Mellette, the originator of the Conference; also Rev. J. C. Harvey, who is to see after the business part of the meeting.

Deacons and laymen are also invited, and any Christian woman who wishes may attend.

Brother, we are praying that God will give us a great victory and the conference will be a great success.

Be sure to come for the whole session; if not on Sunday evening come Monday.

Yours for the cause,
T. B. Mellette

If there ever have been a time when we need trained and qualified leaders, its for the battle just ahead.

For any other information on these activities write or see C. J. Harvey, Camp Manager.

My Aim

I will follow the upward road today,
I will keep my face to the light;
I will think high thoughts as I go my way,
I will do what I think is right.
I will look for flowers by the side of the road.

I will laugh and love and be strong,
I will try to lighten another's load
This day as I fare along.

BETHANY "GO TELL" CIRCLE

The young ladies of the Bethany community have just organized a "Go Tell Circle." They started off with 18 members. The first meeting was held at the home of Miss Winnie Lou Vause, our hostess. The subject was "Prayer." The Scripture was given by Miss Annie Dell Jones. Then the group sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer." A reading on prayer was given by Mrs. Ruby Hicks. A trio "Do You Ever Think to Pray" was sung by Miss Joan Cusaac, Larna Welch and Ruby Jean Cusaac. A reading, "Your Mother Still Prays for You," was given by Annie Ruth Lee. We also sang another song and closed with sentence prayers. The hostess served ice cream and cookies as refreshments.

Missionaries to Work in Texas

Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Calvery, graduates of the Free Will Baptist Bible College, to do Foreign Mission itinerate work in Texas.

MISSIONARY ITINERATE IN TEXAS

Dear Texas Free Will Baptists:

We are indeed grateful to the Lord for His many blessings unto us and are glad that He had placed upon our hearts a burden for the foreign field of service. Our thoughts are constantly on the call that He had given us for the foreign field, but it does not prevent us from laboring in the home field, because we feel that the Lord would have us to serve Him wherever we are.

Between June 4 and July 23, we are planning to visit every Free Will Baptist church in Texas in behalf of foreign missions. Every pastor will receive a card from us which suggests a date for the service at his church. If these cards are promptly answered it will help us very much in completing the arrangements for the itinerary.

The service will consist of special music, testimony, a missionary message and an offering will be taken for foreign missions. Pray for us as we attempt to serve our Lord thru these services.

In Christ,

Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Calvery

"BE YE SEPARATE"

Hazel Beauchaine

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing: and I will receive you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (II Cor. 6:14, 17, 18).

Paul, speaking specifically to the Corinthian church, admonished them at great length what the will of the Lord was concerning their walk. This, that they might glorify Him and be vessels meet for His use. The one requisite was that they separate themselves from the corruption of the world about them.

All through the ages the Lord God has called His people "out." We have but to refer back to antiquity and find Abraham, father of the faithful. He was born and raised among idols and idol worshippers, yet when God spoke to him he obeyed. "Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee: And I will make of thee a great nation and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing" (Gen. 12:1, 2). To preserve a line down through which the Saviour would come to earth and bless a lost race in redeeming grace it was necessary that the chosen people separate themselves from other nations and peoples.

Along with the command to "come out" came the precious promises to Abraham, "I will bless thee, and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing." There is great reward in a walk with God when we live for Him alone and with an eye single to His glory.

The faithful of iniquity looked forward to the coming Messiah in faith believing. Today we look back over the avenue of the ages to Calvary where the Messiah who did come gave His life a ransom for many. We as God's children are recipients of the showers of great blessings that were promised Abraham. His lovely promise, "and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed," is literally fulfilled each day. We have a Saviour strong and true, a mighty rock, a strong tower. And today He is verily the shadow of a mighty rock in a weary land. The blind are made to see, the lamb leap like a hart, and the dumb are made to speak His praises!

Again, when Israel was in Egyptian bondage the Lord God led them out by the hand of Moses. In overruling providence, God made a way for His children to be delivered from slavery and bondage. This way Is-

WHAT SELF DID FOR THE SHEPHERD BOY

Rev. A. L. Sellers
1008 W. Lafayette St.
Quitman, Georgia

David's testimony to Saul when he was preparing to meet that great gaint, should convince us that David had been taught in early life that there was a God that would do to trust, for when Saul tried to discourage him about meeting the giant he said, "Thy servant kept his father's sheep and there came a lion and a bear, and took a lamb out of the flock; and I went after him, and smote him and delivered it out of his mouth; and when he arose against me, I caught him by his beard, and smote and slew him. Thy servant slew both the lion and the bear; and this uncircumcised Phillistine shall be as one of them (seeing he had defied the armies of the Living God. He will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine)" (I Sam. 17:34-37).

David's statement here shows that he did trust God for his success and protection in the wilderness with his father's sheep, and he did not fail him; also he gave him victory over the great giant of the Phillistines, and a wonderful victory over the armies of the Phillistines. As a soldier he was always careful to have the Lord's approval of what he undertook and he was successful. As a king, he was anxious for the Lord to lead for a while, and was a success because of his attitude toward God, and his faith in God. But one day he let self get between him and God, and Satan took the advantage of that, and showed him another man's wife over in her home bathing, and how fascinating it would be to take her for his woman. Without consideration, he yielded to the temptation, and committed adultery, then to hide the crime he had her husband killed. There he was then an adulterer, and a murderer before God, and the penalty for either one of them was death. He thought he had the crimes hid.

We don't hide things from God. That has been proven often. I imagine about the time that David began to think that he was going to get by unpunished, Nathan came to see him, and told him about two men living in one city; one rich and the other poor.

The rich man had many flocks and herds, and the poor man had only one ewe lamb and it was unto him as a daughter. There came a traveler to the rich man, and he spared to take his own flock, to dress for the way-faring man that was come unto him; but he took the poor man's lamb and dressed it for the man that had come to him. David's anger was greatly kindled, and he said the man that had done this shall surely die. To my mind here came the saddest message that ever entered David's ear. "Thou art the man." He had passed sentence on himself.

Dear reader, you want to justify yourself for not being what God said you ought to be? We are told that David was a man after God's own heart (II Sam. 12), and notice carefully what his punishment was to be. If you will read and study the rest of his life, you will find that it came as Nathan said it would come. David was a criminal who had acted unmerciful, but God being a merciful Father forgave him. But that did not undo his crime. He had sown the seed of adultery and murder, and he had to do the harvesting. Whatever a man soweth that he shall reap. This shows what Satan will do if we let self get between us and God. May God bless you, dear reader, with a greater vision of not letting self get between you and God. It is the most dangerous thing, in my estimation, that we can do.

NOTICE!

The State Mission Board of North Carolina will meet Thursday, June 1st, 1950, at the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, N. C., at 10:00 A. M. in its quarterly business session. By request of the Chairman, Rev. J. A. Evans.

Alice E. Lupton, Secretary

A WORD ABOUT ORDERING LITERATURE

The time is drawing near for the ordering of Sunday School and League literature for the third quarter of the year. We are asking that the secretaries place their orders for their needed supplies earlier than usual, so that the office force here at the Press will not be cramped for time to book and mail out the orders to the different Leagues and Sunday Schools.

During the shipping of literature bundles for the past quarter, the office received hundreds and hundreds of letters per day which rushed the force very much to keep the orders filled as fast as they arrived. If the secretaries will place their orders earlier this time, it will be greatly appreciated by those who book, wrap and mail the hundreds of orders for the literature.

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL LITERATURE

Since we do not have on hand, sometimes, all the Daily Vacation Bible School materials our patrons ask for in their orders, we have to send for them at the publishers. This requires time, therefore we are asking that those who are planning to hold Bible schools this summer, and who are planning to place their orders with us for their materials, that they place their orders several days earlier than they will need them, so that if we have to secure part of the materials from the publishers for such orders, we will have time to serve our patrons in a good way, and they would receive their materials in time for their schools.

SONG BOOKS FOR ALL OCCASIONS

During the summer and fall seasons, a great many churches throughout the country hold their revivals. In a great many instances they need additional, or new song books for their meetings. This being the case with many churches, we wish to state that the Press has on hand a goodly number of different kinds of hymn books with songs suitable for regular church services and revival meetings.

We shall be glad to serve the church people by filling all orders sent to us for any of these song books. In the event we do not have the particular hymnal you desire, we will secure them from the publisher, and then mail yours to you without extra cost.

CHURCH RECENTLY ORGANIZED WARSAW, NORTH CAROLINA

This is to inform the Free Will Baptist people of North Carolina that during the month of April we conducted a revival in the town of Warsaw, N. C., and organized a Free Will Baptist church with thirty-five members.

We held the services in the Episcopal church which is now for sale, and we have the free use of the building for three months. The building is located in a fine and public place of the town, which is on the main thoroughfare from Wilmington, N. Carolina, to Goldsboro, after the new road is completed. The lot is 60 feet by 150 feet. The building is in fine shape except it needs a little repair on the roof, and a coat of paint, but it is in a fair usable condition at the present. The size of the building is about 30 feet by 50 feet. Our people now have a Sunday School in operation in the building

This property can be bought for the sum of three thousand dollars, which would cost more than seven or eight thousand dollars if it had to be built from the beginning. Our local group of Free Will Baptist members are working and raising funds to purchase this property, if possible, when the three months are ended.

We are recommending this group of our people, and this project to our people of the state of North Carolina, and are asking all churches and Sunday Schools to try to help them in a financial way to be able to purchase this property, so that they may have a place to worship, and to conduct a Sunday School.

We thank you in advance for the help you may feel led to give to this worthy cause. You may send your donations to Mrs. W. H. Byrd, Warsaw, N. C., General Delivery.

Yours for the Kingdom,

David W. Hansley,
Ayden, N. C.

There is nothing so well known as that we should not expect something for nothing—but we all do and call it hope.

BOOK REVIEW

Barnes' Notes on the Old Testament
Job, Two Volumes

Publisher: Baker Book house, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan

Price for the two volumes: $6:00

Edition, 1950

These two volumes by Dr. Albert Barnes on the Book of Job are comprehensive, giving extensive comments and explanations of difficult passages of scripture.

These two volumes will be most helpful to ministers, Sunday School teachers, and Bible Students in their search for a greater understanding of the Book of Job.

Orders will be filled either at the F. W. B. Press, Ayden, North Carolina, or at Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.

READY FOR SERVICE

L. E. Styron, a ministerial student at the Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn., is open for evangelistic services during the summer and fall months. Those interested in securing the service of this young man can address him at 3609 Richland Ave., Nashville 5, Tenn., or after June the first, address him at 1409 N. Pastor Street, New Bern, N. C., c/o. Rev. J. C. Griffin.

THIS IS IT!

The Important News for Which You've Been Waiting Is Contained in This Special Bulletin.

READ EVERY WORD OR YOU'LL MISS THE MESSAGE!

This is important news for you and every Free Will Baptist member. The news will thrill you beyond words, because it's something for which you've been waiting.

Watch the mails closely. There's more coming.

* * *

This is another reminder that there is something in store for you. You can't afford to miss it. Be sure and keep watching, for something's about to happen.

There's no doubt about it. You will want to have a part in this.

* * *

BE READY TO ACT AS GOD DIRECTS!

* * *

THAT WONDERFUL NEWS!

The Home Mission Board of the National Association of Free Will Baptists presents to you, the Free Will Baptist people, this bulletin, with the hope that it will help to inspire each of you to do something about the Home Mission program. Perhaps you have all realized that we needed to do something and perhaps you've wondered why something hasn't been done. You won't have to spend any more time wondering—we are ready for action and by the Grace of God, we are going to work at once.

* * *

DID YOU KNOW?

. . . That our denomination has churches in only twenty-two states of the union . . . That there are twenty-six states in which we have no representatives so far as we have been able to determine?

* * *

. . . That we are not supporting an active program of gospel preaching through a Home Mission program? We have done very little as far as actual Home Missions is concerned.

* * *

. . . That the Word of God is just as emphatic in its teaching about Home Missions as it is on the Foreign Mission obligation? (Mark 5:19)

. . . That we gave less than one-half of one cent per capita for the Home Mission cause last year?

* * *

Your Home Mission Board is composed of: Rev. J. B. Bloss, Chairman; Rev. C. B. Dees, Sec.-Treas.; Rev. Harry Staires, Rev. Willard Day, Rev. James Evans.

The mailing address is: National Home Mission Board, Rev. C. B. Dees, Sec'y., 505 Low Street, Flat River, Missouri.

* * *

Here's what your Home Mission Board

proposes to do as rapidly as it becomes possible, through your support.

1st—Evangelize. We believe that this is the prime object of any missionary program.

2nd—Operate a church extension program and establish Free Will Baptist Churches in localities where there are none.

Here are some definite prospects which the Board has and with which they will work during the coming days:

MISSOURI

Farmington Steeleville

ALABAMA

Fayette Jasper Hamilton

TENNESSEE

Lewisburg Pulaski

NEW MEXICO

Hobbs

TEXAS

El Paso

We want to put a full time Home Missionary on the field, preferably to work among Spanish speaking people in our border and harbor towns. There are also grand opportunities for mission work in the remote mountain areas in our homeland, as well as among the Indians on the reservations in several states.

We are also working with the Promotional Department in an endeavor to revive and reclaim the Free Will Baptist work in Nebraska and along the eastern seaboard.

* * *

HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO.

You can pray for the success of this great venture by the Home Mission Board. Great victories have been won and can be won through prayer.

* * *

You can use your influence to urge the whole-hearted support of this Home Mission program, especially among Free Will Baptist people.

* * *

Of course, you wouldn't want to challenge some one else to do something that you weren't doing. So you can support Home Missions with your offerings.

* * *

Sit down right now—don't wait until tomorrow—and put your offering in the enclosed envelope and drop it in the mail. You don't even need to bother with affixing a stamp—we'll pay the postage. Let this offering be the first of many more—sent regularly to your Home Mission Board.

* * *

If you know of a good prospect for a new Free Will Baptist Church, notify the Home Mission Board.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF WE SUPPORT THIS CAUSE

? * * *

We will be able to reach more of the lost and win them to Christ. This is our main goal.

We will be able to organize new Free Will Baptist Churches and revive the weaker ones. Thus, we will increase our membership at home.

All the other phases of our denominational program will feel the impact, for as we increase and strengthen the home front, so we proportionately strengthen the entire program.

The Foreign Mission cause will profit. God's blessing cannot be on us as it should because we are sinning by failing in our obligation at home. If we preach in "Jerusalem" God will bless our efforts in "The Utmost Parts."

We will be overwhelmed with a denominational-wide revival.

Every Free Will Baptist will become a better steward.

BOARD OF HOME MISSIONS

National Association of F. W. B. 3609 Richland Ave. Nashville, Tenn.

Disgraceful Deficiencies

It is a disgrace: To half do things. Not to develop our possibilities. To be lazy, indolent, indifferent. To do poor, slipshod, botched work. To give a bad example to young people. To have crude, brutish, repulsive manners.

To hide a talent because you have only one.

To live a half life when a whole life is possible.

Not to be scrupulously clean in person and surroundings.

To acknowledge a fault and make no effort to overcome it.

To be ungrateful to friends and to those who have helped you.

To go through life a pygmy when nature intended you for a giant.

To kick over the ladder upon which we have climbed to our position.

To be grossly ignorant in these days, of the usages of good society.—Success.

It Pays to Advertise

There was a man in our town,

And he thought he was wise,

He swore it was his policy

To never advertise;

But then, one day, he advertised

And thereby hanks a tale—

His ad was set in six-point type

And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

TALLADEGA CHURCH

We had a wonderful convention this year at the Talladega Free Will Baptist Church. Five Sunday Schools had part in the convention. Our Theme was "The Sunday School and Missions." Theme song was "Loyalty to Christ." I feel, and I am sure that everyone who has attended our conventions feels that it was the best one held thus far. The Sunday School plays were very inspiring and were enjoyed by everyone.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the good ladies of Talladega Church for serving the fine dinner.

We hope to have a better program for our young people at our 1951 convention.

A small number of the churches of Alabama are rallying to the support of the Children's Home. We trust that each of them will get the Home on their hearts and help support it. We want to say THANKS to Georgia and Mississippi, and also the help that we get from the state of Florida. CORN? HAY? FEED? Yes, we need some and foods, such as you use, we need here. Ask your church to send us a donation.

We plan a big tent meeting to be conducted on the Home Campus, beginning on JUNE 18. Keep this meeting in mind and come over and help us. It will run ten days.

NEW SALEM CHURCH TO HAVE HOME-COMING AND MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION

This is to announce that we will hold our home-coming day celebration and memorial occasion at New Salem F. W. B. Church, Miller County, Georgia, on first Sunday in June, 1950. Every one is invited to attend these services on that day.

We will also hold a dedication service for the new church during the day. A program is being arranged for this occasion. We invite those who come to bring well filled baskets of food to be spread at the lunch hour on the church grounds.

HABAKKUK TEACHES TRUST IN GOD

(Lesson for June 4)

LESSON: Hab. 1:1-4, 12, 13; 2:1-4; 3:17-19.

GOLDEN TEXT: Hab. 3:18.

I. Heart of the Lesson

1. We know very little about the personal life of Habakkuk. In the absence of such information in the Bible, we had best omit the conjectures of men. It is not so much where a man comes from, who his parents are, or what worldly experiences he has had that matter when God lays hold of a life. If he is responsive to the Lord and obedient to the light of God, the Lord can use that man, whatever his past.

It is suggested that Habakkuk's name means "embrace" or "ardent embrace."

His first question is, "How long shall I cry, and thou wilt not hear?" (v. 2). Here we have the problem of unanswered prayer. Surrounded by strife and contention, the prophet cries to God. Meanwhile, God seems not to hear; He seems to be unwilling to save. Habakkuk looks in vain for righteousness and justice among God's people. Because they seem to go on in their iniquity, the prophet cries, "Therefore the law is slacked, and justice doth never go forth" (v. 4). What one of us has not had such thoughts in his mind? With Isaiah, we would cry out that God would bare the heavens and come down.

But God's time is not necessarily our time. Who can understand the patience of God, or who can stand before His fury when once it has been aroused? Let us not become discouraged, but hold on to God with impurity, so long as we know we are praying in His will. The day will come when God will bare His arm and overcome the oppressor.—Moody Monthly.

1. It is a great blessing to know that the God who is from everlasting is my God (Hab. 1:12).

2. Our assurance of eternal life is based on the fact that our God is the eternal God (vs. 12).

3. The only One who has a right to exercise judgment over men is the eternal and holy God (vs. 12).

4. It is impossible for the holy God to look upon sin with favor at any time (vs. 13).

5. God knows when men deal treacherously, but He does not punish at once because of His forbearance (vs. 13).

6. By watching and praying we will become able to understand much that otherwise seems mysterious (2:1).

7. What God has revealed to us regarding His plan of salvation should be read and then carried to all the world (vs. 2).

8. God has appointed definite times for the completion of all the details of His program (vs. 3).—Selected.

9. We do not know how long the prophet waited for God's answer after he set himself to watch, but when he received it he was commanded to write it plainly upon tablets. The clause, that he may run that readeth it, seems to infer that the message was to be carried hurriedly to all the people.—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

10. This is a great assertion by the prophet, because he says that he will rejoice, though pestilences should come, and near-starvation should befall beast and man. Though drought and dearth do their worst in the land yet the prophet declares he would not doubt God. Never! He would rejoice, he would have faith, he would ever trust God. Like Job, he would have faith and trust in the Lord. "Yet will I exult in the Lord; I will rejoice in my victorious God!" (Smith). The prophet teaches us a great lesson of patience, faith and trust in God's divine will toward men. When calamities come upon us, then the prophet would have us to remember his words, and for us to look to God for consolation and victory. God is man's refuge and strength in time of trouble and deep sorrows, for he will ever comfort and give strength to the broken hearts of those who call upon him.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Faith Versus Presumption

Dr. Elsie Storrs Dow, who was the writer's teacher of English back in our college days, told the following incident concerning her sister and her brother-in-law, who was a Sunday school missionary in the Black Hills. The sister received word that another sister (who was also, of course, a sister of Miss Daw) was dead, and she desired to go to the funeral. But they were without sufficient funds. Indeed, a serious financial emergency had developed. Two bills of considerable size, one unlooked for, had been received, and in addition another bill had come from the livery stable which supplies the missionary with horses and a vehicle for his work. The bills from the livery were received irregularly.

Like the prophet Isaiah, this Sunday-school missionary resorted to prayer and laid the three letters before the Lord. He prayed until he felt that he had prayed through, and was confident that the emergency would be met, though he had no idea how. Coming from his place of prayer, he told his wife to pack her trunk. There was no train until the next forenoon.

The next morning there came a letter from a man whose daughter had been seriously ill. He had asked this Sunday-school missionary to pray for her, and now upon her recovery he felt impeded to send him a thank offering. The letter contained a check just large enough to meet all the pressing needs and no larger. The wife took the forenoon train.

Said Miss Dow: "It would be presumption to prepare to take a train without money in sight merely because one had asked for it. But if the answer had been received, the act is not presumption but faith." Here was an example of the "invincible faith" of which our lesson topic speaks.—Arnold's Commentary.

rael would become a strong nation on a very high plane. Then she would be enabled to help pull other nations up to her level. But never while she was dispersed among the nations and heathen on their low level could she be a powerful nation through which the Lord God could show and manifest His power.

In Canaan Israel fought her fiercest battles, but was followed and obeyed their leader as he followed God. The heathen were forced to confess that Israel's God still lived and answered prayer.

Samuel erred when he made his sons judges over Israel, for they "walked not in his ways, but turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment" (I Sam. 8:3). The dishonesty and avarice of these men made the people disgusted and dissatisfied, opening the way for them to manifest what had really been in their hearts a long time.

The elders of Israel in coming to Samuel said, "Behold, thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: now make us a king to judge us like all the nations." God had chosen Israel out of all the nations of the earth to be His special representatives. He had made a covenant with them and placed them on a pinnacle above all other peoples. There they were to stay and try to lift other nations to their level. They were not to sink back again, lose their identity and become like all the other nations.

Samuel, being the man of God that he was, took the matter to God in prayer for his heart was grieved and well nigh broken. Samuel is reminded that it is not he that has been rejected but God Himself. The Israelites were glad to have the Lord for their Deliverer from Egyptian bondage but they did not want him to be their King ruling and controlling their lives in thought, word and action.

This great danger threatens the lives of Christians today. Living too close to the world with scarcely a line of demarcation brings its perils and is certainly not conducive to the deeper spiritual life. We lose ground when we resent and refuse to be peculiar or different from those among whom we are thrown. God does not want us to be like others, but like Christ. In adopting worldly methods and practices and customs we become worldly. There should be a very marked difference in the words and manner of the life of God's children as compared to the world. Otherwise, how could they be recognized as God's peculiar people?

In this modern Babylon in which we find ourselves today, how is our walk before God? Does the modern music of the radio tickle our ears or grate on our nerves and depress our spirits? Is there time to beautify the external when there is scarcely time to visit the sick or time to pray for a lost world? Is our strength expended for purely monetary gain when it should be given also to His service?

Are we living where God may draw on our talents for the good of others, the edifying of the saints and His glory? Is there time for reading the trashy, questionable literature of the world with its moral rot and degradation when we should be searching for the hidden treasure in His Word? Do we find ourselves intrigued by the foolish, God-forbidden fashions of the day? Do we find it easy to furnish every conceivable excuse under the sun why we did not attend the means of grace, the regular church service? Is our worldliness, (spiritual adultery and fornication) causing the contempt of the world as they cry, "Where is your God?"

"For ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God and they shall be my people" (II Cor. 6:14, 16). Let us truly be that earthen vessel that our Lord may use to water His garden. There is much parched ground that needs refreshing. There are words of comfort and encouragement to be spoken. There are deeds of kindness to be performed. Errands of mercy for consecrated feet to run. Ah, Christ needs that consecrated vessel today, His peculiar treasure to perform His many deeds of love and mercy. But it must be separated, peculiar unto Himself. He cannot share with another this earthly tabernacle. He must be sovereign King of kings and Lord of Lords.

If we are truly that vessel meet for the Master's use. He shall one day say, "Come up higher; well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord."

"Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord" (Isa. 52:11).

NEW TESTAMENT BOOKS

Matthew, Mark, Luke and John
The Holy Gospels wrote,
Describing how the Saviour died—
His life and all He taught.
Acts shows the Holy Spirit's work,
With signs in every place,
And Paul in Romans teaches us
How man was saved by grace.

The Apostle in Corinthians
Instructs, exhorts, reproves;
Galatians shows that faith in Christ
Is what the Father loves.
Ephesians and Philippians tell
What Christians ought to be,
Colossians bids us live for God,
And for eternity.

In Thessalonians we are taught
The Lord will come from Heaven;
In Timothy and Titus
A pastor's rule is given.
Philemon shows a Christian love,
Which only Christians know;
Hebrews reveals the Gospel
Prefigured by the Law.

James teaches without holiness
Faith is but vain and dead;
And Peter points the narrow way
In which the saints are led.
John, in his three Epistles,
On love delights to dwell;
And Jude gives awful warning
Of judgment, wrath, and hell.

The Revelation prophesies
Of that tremendous day
When Christ, and Christ alone, shall be
The trembling sinner's stay.

YOUR HEART

F. L. FRENCH

Wise King Solomon in Proverbs 4:23, warns us, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues (that is, the source) of life." This is true of our physical body, for "the heart is a perfect engine, working every moment to keep us alive and well." When the heart stops beating life has gone out of the body. It is the center of all life and health.

God likens our mind to a spiritual heart, by which we learn of Him and of His Way of Salvation; He speaks of it as our heart, the center of all spiritual life and health. As our body must have good food in order to make pure blood, which our natural heart may send to every part of the body to give it life and health, so we are to open our mind to the Word of God in order to know what He has to say to us. The Lord Jesus warns us, "Take heed what we hear * * take heed how ye hear." If our mind is stored with foolishness and evil, we will have a foolish and evil life. If it is stored with the Word of God, it will make us Godly in our life and ways.

Again Solomon tells us, speaking for God, "My Son, let thine heart keep My commandments. Keep them in the midst of thine heart." God says, "Ye shall lay up these My words in your heart," that is, your mind. God says, "My son, give Me thine heart" (Prov. 23:26). If He has our heart our life will be right. How may we have God's Word in our heart? We should,

HEAR IT
EXAMINE IT
ACCEPT IT
REJOICE IN IT
TRUST IT

"Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). To call on Him we must believe in Him. To believe in Him we must have heard the Word of God. This Word is nigh us. Most people in our country may secure a copy of the Word of God at a very low price, and if one cannot afford the money for a Bible, it may be supplied free. As God has given us His Divine Word where all may read it, all are responsible to know what He has said to us. You are responsible to God. Do you read His Bible?

How shall we hear the Bible, the Word of God?

"Blessed are they that hear the Word of God, and keep it." "Today if ye will hear His voice, harden not your heart." EXAMINE IT.

The Lord Jesus said, "Search the Scriptures." Study to rightly divide the Word of Truth. Meditate on these things. ACCEPT IT.

It is God's Word to you, and worthy of all acceptance. "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

REJOICE IN IT.

"The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart." "My heart trusted in Him, and I am helped, therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth." "Thy testimonies * * are the rejoicing of my heart." "Singing and making melody in your heart unto the Lord."

TRUST IT.

"Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding." He has revealed Himself to us in His word; as we trust it and believe Him we are saved.

One thing more about our heart. It has a door, a door which we may open to let the Lord Jesus come in and abide; or which some boys and girls keep closed, and shut Him outside. He pleads with all—"Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear My voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with Me" (Rev. 3:20).

May your answer be:

"Into my heart; into my heart;
Come into my heart, Lord Jesus;
Come in today, come in to stay;
Come into my heart, Lord Jesus."

Have you heard His voice and opened your heart to let Him in?—The S. S. Visitor.

"JESUS CAN" and "JESUS WILL"

E. N. ELEY

I cannot make this black heart white,
But Jesus can.

I cannot make my life a light,
But Jesus can.

I cannot beat back every foe,
Nor make my naughty temper go,
Nor wash my robes "whiter than snow,"
But Jesus can.

Not only "Jesus can," we say,
But "Jesus will."

Jesus can wash my sins away,
And Jesus will.

This heart I ask Him to renew,
And fill with all that's good and true.
More than I ask Jesus can do,
And Jesus will!

OBITUARIES

Obituaries, 150 words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this number, one cent for each additional word should be enclosed in Postage Stamps in the letter with the obituary.

Obituaries and in memoriams of persons who have been dead a year or longer are not wanted for publication in the Baptist.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Lillian Powell passed into her heavenly reward March 14, 1950. She was a most worthy and faithful member of Mosley's Creek F. W. B. Church.

She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, a small daughter, many relatives and a host of friends. Although, we feel a keen loss in our church and community, we feel that our loss is His eternal gain.

We, the members of the church, do hereby resolve:

First; That we bow in humble submission to God's holy will;

Second; That we wish to extend to the family our heartfelt sympathy and commend them to the Heavenly Father who doeth all things well; and Third; That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy sent to the F. W. B. Press for publication, and a copy be recorded in our church minutes.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Bett Ormond,
Mrs. Viola White,

BEARING WRONGS PATIENTLY

Mrs. Nat Cox

None of us are going through life without some wrong committed against us on the part of somebody. We should not count on anything else. Criticisms and reproaches, false accusations and mistreatment in different ways, and by different means, will come to us from time to time, or at least occasionally. This seems to be unavoidably true. The best of people across the centuries of time have met with such, and we are going to meet it. However, the way and manner we meet wrongs that come our way, and deal with them means much. Herein is where we win or lose. Herein is where we will rise or fall, in a very large measure. We cannot help what others may say and do against us, or the reproach they may heap upon us, but we are responsible for the way and manner we act in the meantime.

One of the mistakes that is easy to make, and which is made sometimes by even good people is by firing back when we are fired at, or by acting impatiently, or returning evil for evil. Sometimes it is done by seeking some means of defending ourselves in a carnal way. Usually the wrongs which we have to meet in life are brought against us will amount to very little if we will bear them patiently and gently. God will undertake for us even until we do need to undertake for ourselves steps of defense.

If we are lied about we may realize that a lie usually breaks its own neck. If we will let it alone, and trust God to see us through. The mistreatment that we meet usually falls fruitlessly about us, if we will go on with our Lord, and seek no revenge. Vengeance belongs to the Lord anyway. We have no right as Christians to deal out vengeance. If we do, then we are doing wrong.

We should never do wrong because the other fellow does it. But it is great to be able to bear wrongs with patience. When we do this, then we come out more than conquerors thru Him who loved us and gave himself for us.

Christians can meet wrongs with a clear conscience and a bright face, if we are not in the blame, and knowing that we shall triumph gloriously. The face of sainted Stephen shone like that of an angel, as he met the shower of stones with the spirit of a true martyr. God's grace will enable us to shine also if we bear it patiently and for His glory.

SALINE DISTRICT OF ARKANSAS

The Annual Sunday School Rally was held with North Crossett Church, April 30, 1950. We had a wonderful time. There were eight Sunday Schools present with a fine program. Dallas Jones, president, was master of ceremonies. The churches represented were North Crossett, Harmony, Pleasant Valley, Pine Hill, Macedonia, Spring Hill, York Town, and Mt. Pleasant. Lunch was served at the church picnic style. Every one enjoyed the fine occasion. There were some wonderful blessings from the young children's parts on the programs.

After the rally, one hour was spent in song service. The service was in charge of Nollen Jeffress of Crossett. Everyone enjoyed it very much.

ILLINOIS FREE WILL BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOLS HOLD SEMI-ANNUAL CONVENTION

We had another wonderful Sunday School Convention on April 22nd at the Harmon Free Will Baptist Church at Benton, Illinois.

We were happy to have as visitors from the college, Rev. and Mrs. Charles A. Thigpen, Lucy Wisheart, Maurice Edwards, Billy Morris, and Ronald Creech. Roger Reeds, Norma Burcham, and Margaret Dodd were visiting from Missouri.

The program for the convention was as follows:

- 9:30—Devotional, Miss Lucy Wisheart
- 10:00—Business Session
- 10:30—Building Report, Rev. C. J. Ketteman
- 10:45—Recess
- 11:00—Morning Message, Rev. Charles Thigpen

Noon

- 1:00—Congregational singing, Ronald Creech
- 1:30—Reading, Mrs. Charles Thigpen
- 1:45—Program, Hazel Dell Sunday School

Evening Service

- 7:30—Song, Roger Reeds
 - 7:45—Reading, Billy Morris
 - 8:30—Program, Oak Grove Sunday School
- For four years we have been thinking about building a tabernacle. Now something is being done. Rev. C. J. Ketteman, Chairman of the Building Committee, was given power to sign with a contractor and go ahead with the work. We expect to have enough done so that we may have a Youth Camp there this summer. I know this can be done if we trust the Lord. The lack of funds have held us back somewhat, but pray for us that we may say, as the Apostle Paul, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me" (Phil. 4: 13).

PLAYING POLICEMAN

The children weren't being good one snowy morning, and it made mamma's head ache so hard she wondered how she could get through the forenoon. They were noisy, and they were so careless about tracking up the floor when they came in from outdoors; and as for caps and hats and mittens, the "lower shelf," as Aunt Mattie called the floor, seemed to be the only one they had ever heard of.

It was Aunt Mattie who thought of a way to help, and at the same time make the children happy.

"Did you ever play 'policeman'?" she asked in a moment's lull of noise and confusion.

"How is it?" they all asked, lining up in front of her.

"You choose one of you to be policeman, and the rest have to look out that he doesn't catch any of you doing anything out of the way."

"Oh, that's a splendid game! And what'll he do to us?"

"March you off to jail in the back entry."

"If we do what?"

"If he sees anybody's cap on the floor, or a stray mitten round anywhere, or a bit of paper on the sidewalk—that's the floorpace on the edge of the rug, you know—or any wet or muddy tracks when you come in from errands. He's a terrible fellow, but it's a good game if you play it right."

"And supposing you make a noise?"

"He doesn't mind pleasant noise, but bickering or loud outdoor noise is against the law."

"Say!" cried the children, "let's play Aunt Mattie's game. Robbie can be policeman; he's biggest. Will you lend him your belt, Aunt Mattie?"

"Yes, and here's this long pastebord picture roll to hang on it. That will do for a 'billy.' And at five o'clock precisely all good citizens who haven't been in jail, or not more than once, can come to a banquet in my room. There will be peanuts and chocolate fudge."

"O Mattie, you are a blessing!" said mother gratefully, that evening after the "banquet." "My head did ache so dreadfully all day. If only they would 'play policeman' every day!"

Robbie was copying his lesson at the desk. The little children had gone to bed, but he was older, and had to have a study hour every night. He looked up at mother quickly, and saw how pale her face was.

"Would it help, mother?" he asked quietly. "I suppose I could make 'em behave a lot, if I tried; and they never would know they were's playing!"

"Big brothers and sisters can always help," said mother, kissing him. "Especially when they make a play of it into fun, the way you did."—Child's Hour.

Of tenderness and praise:
Of faith—that never waxeth dim—
In all His wondrous ways."

At the 'Crucified One';
There is life for this moment for thee."

A Call to Pentecost

Full nineteen centuries have passed since then,
How changed, for us the world since that blest hour;

The church was born through Pentecostal power,
When the Holy Spirit filled the hearts of men.
Disciples, once so weak, waxed bold and strong,
Christ's witnesses, with one accord, they prayed;
They shared their joy, all conquering, unafraid;
Christ's name was glorified in prayer and song.

So may we, Lord, bear witness, as of old,
Filled with His Spirit, let "dumb tongues unloose,"
Let brotherhood drive out all greed and hate;
The "fires of God" can warm and melt and mould,
The "gales of God" can bear us on in love,
Dynamic guide of all, we pray, we wait.

SECOND UNION MEETING OF CENTRAL CONFERENCE, N. C.
MET WITH PINEY GROVE
CHURCH, PITT COUNTY,
APRIL 29, 1950

The Second Union Meeting District of the Central Conference met with Piney Grove church on April 29. We were blessed with a good congregation and a good meeting. The uniform theme for the program was Christian Education.

The moderator, Rev. C. J. Harris, opened the meeting. Brother Clarence Little led in devotions.

Ministers attending the union were Revs. C. J. Harris, Clarence Little, R. B. Crawford, D. W. Alexander, W. B. Nobles, W. A. Dail, J. E. Wooten, M. A. Woodard, Allen Bryan and Roland C. Cherry. Visiting ministers were Rev. J. C. Griffin, R. N. Hinnant and Rev. H. R. Hines.

Brother C. J. Harris took part on the program speaking on the subject: "The Relations of Christian Education to the Local Church." Brother Hinnant rendered a special song, "Breathe on Me," and also he spoke on "How to Have Better Church Music." Brother Hinnant says if we can't sing a tune we must make a joyful noise to praise God.

Rev. J. C. Griffin preached the Union

Sermon. His topic was: "Educating for Christ." Brother Griffin emphatically told the attentive congregation to deny the virgin birth of Christ is to blaspheme against the Holy Ghost.

We were dismissed for lunch but reassembled at 1:15. Rev. M. A. Woodard led in devotions. Prayer by Rev. R. B. Crawford. Mrs. Alma Worthington explained the subject: "How the Home, Sunday School and League May Contribute to Christian Education."

The treasurer's report was accepted as follows:

Total received in treasury,	$217.60.
Paid out as follows:
To clerk -----	$ 10.00
To needy Ministers -----	66.00

Ruth's Chapel Building S. S. Rooms

I want to state that I truly do enjoy reading the Free Will Baptist paper. It is a Christian paper worth reading, and I do wish more of our people would subscribe to it.

I wish to make a report on the work of Ruth's Chapel, located in Woodrow, near New Bern, North Carolina. We began building Sunday School rooms to our church on Saturday before Easter. Our Primary Sunday School class used a temporary room Sunday, May 7. We do not have the rooms complete as yet, but we are working. Please pray for us that we may reach our goal very soon.

We are asking that if there are some who would like to help us by sending us a donation, it will be greatly appreciated. It will greatly bless us on this work of completing our Sunday School rooms. Please send your donations to Rev. J. C. Griffin, our pastor, 1409 North Pasteur Street, New Bern, North Carolina. Any amount of a donation will be appreciated very much.

A LIVE COUPON CAMPAIGN FOR THE ORPHANAGE

The New Sandy Hill Woman's auxiliary is now in the midst of a coupon campaign for the Middlesex Orphanage. We are finding ourselves enjoying this work very much. Our auxiliary is divided into two teams. Miss Shirley Creech is the captain of one team, and Miss Geraldine Williams is the captain of the other. We have collected nearly three thousand coupons to date. Think how much that would mean if every aid would send just three thousand to the orphanage!

We have not finished as yet with our campaign. We are planning to close the contest in June. Then the losing team will entertain the winners. We have had much fun during this contest, and we are urging others to try this plan for raising coupons for the Orphanage.

We have prepared a chart of the teams, and a star is placed beside each name as they collect one hundred coupons. Mrs. Jennie Lee Sherrod is leading the list with eleven stars to her credit.

CONCERNING DESIGNATED MONEY FOR MISSIONS

In the recent sitting of the Foreign Missions Board in its annual meeting, which was held in Nashville, Tennessee, the following resolution was adopted as relating to money sent to the treasury earmarked for certain purposes:

"On motion we ask Bro. Davis to write to our church publications reminding our people that the Board is held responsible for the allocation of all funds, therefore the funds earmarked for special purposes will be used where, in the judgment of the Board, it is most needed."

We trust you will take special notice of this resolution. The Board is supposed to know where money is most needed and is responsible for placing it accordingly.

We are happy to report that we are now caught up with our obligations on both fields, India and Cuba. However, in only a few days the regular allotment will be due again. We are hoping we can meet them. Thank you for all your support in the past, and for what we trust you will continue to do in the future.

"SO GREAT FAITH"

Tom West
Plymouth, N. C.

Christ said, "I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel."—Luke 7:9.

Here we see that Jesus is the Saviour of all who will accept and obey him. Here was a man of great responsibility and he had many servants to wait upon him. He was a man who loved and respected those who were servants of his. One of these servants was sick and he was troubled. He was not one of God's chosen people, yet he had come to live among them, because he had heard how God had taken care of his people. But he had heard that salvation was only for the Israelite people.

This man had heard of Jesus and the great things which he had been doing. He sent elders of the Jews to seek Jesus for him. When they met Jesus, they told him about this man who loved God's people. They told Jesus that the man was worthy of consideration, because he is a friend to all of us and has built for us a synagogue.

Now, we notice Christ who is always ready to go and do for those who will give him a chance to do something for them. So, when Christ was not very far off, this man went to meet him, and he called Him Lord, and said, "I am not worthy to trouble thee, but just speak, and my servant will be healed." Then note Christ's reply to this man: "I have not found so great faith no, not even in Israel."

But think how different it is with some of our people today? Instead of being humble and obedient unto the Lord, and being willing to say, "I am not worthy of God's blessings, many of them act as if God does not exist. Too many are unwilling to present their bodies as a living sacrifice, which should be completely surrendered unto the Lord. We should seek to be more humble, and therefore be able to render a greater Christian service unto our fellow men. We cannot serve God unless we are willing to serve our fellow man, for Christ said that the greatest among you shall be servant of all.

The Lord taught a great lesson at the Last Supper when he humbled himself and washed the disciples' feet. Then he told them that they should also wash one another's feet. We should be possessors of His word, and doers of His holy will. If we will heed his warning, he will do for us just what he did for the centurion's servant. He will heal our physical bodies, but most of all he will do for us what David asked. He will have mercy on us and heal our sin-sick soul.

FAITHFUL LION

M. A. Snyder

Lion was the name of a big dog that lived in the country with a family who had small children. The father was a preacher and had to be away from home a great deal. Many times the mother went along to his meetings, so the children were left in charge of the oldest boy, Billy, who felt proud to be trusted with them. He always took very good care of them. Lion also was very fond of children and was as faithful in doing his part and helping to take care of them as he could be.

You may say, How can a dog take care of children? It was like this; at night when the parents went off. Lion came into the house. The little children loved him and played with him. They crawled all over him, pulled his ears, pushed him around, and what not? Lion did not get cross at them. He did not even look displeased or give them a push, but he seemed to enjoy it all, and often he would sit near the cradle where the little baby lay sleeping and faithfully watched over it.

Billy was never afraid to stay alone at night and take care of the children when Lion was around. Lion did not only watch over the children, but just as soon as he heard a noise outside he went to the door and in dog language asked to go out. Billy understood Lion and opened the door. He bounded out as fast as he could, went all the way around the yard and after a short while came back in and again helped to take care of the children. Strangers could not get near the house at night when Lion was around. He had become such a friend to the children that he was like one of the family.

One morning Lion was missing. The children became alarmed and said to each other, Where is Lion? They went on the search and found him, but he was dead. Oh! how they cried when they found out faithful Lion could no more take care of them. It was like a funeral at their house that day; to them it seemed as if a dear friend had died. This was only a dog, but not an ordinary dog; he was faithful to his trust and never looked displeased when he was to mind the children, but showed great pleasure by looking friendly and wagging his tail.

Let us learn a lesson from Lion. Whatever we are asked to do, let us do it cheerfully and gladly. Billy is not a young boy any more, but he never forgets the dog that so faithfully played his part in their home.

REVIVAL AT SATILLA CHURCH HAZELHURST, GEORGIA

On the fifth Sunday night in April, Rev. Ralph Lightsey of 1680 Nekoma Street, N. W., Atlanta, Georgia, began a series of meetings which lasted a week at our church. These services were very profitable. The church was revived, the members being drawn closer to God and to one another. In addition to being a revival, it was an ingathering of souls. There were sixty-nine additions to the church, sixty-four of them uniting by baptism. We praise the Lord for the victory.

Brother Lightsey preaches the Gospel without compromise. His preaching includes God's greatest love as well as His most severe wrath. Along with his preaching goes the admonition to keep God, to Whom he gives all the glory, in the top of our minds and the bottom of our hearts.

Great crowds of people attended the services. Extra pews and chairs were put in all the aisles and other available space; yet, there were people who could not find seats.

I say again it was a great meeting.

ARE YOU SELLING YOUR BIRTHRIGHT?

MRS. M. J. BRIGGS

"And Jacob sod potage: and Esau came from the field, and he was faint: therefore was his name called Edom.

"And Jacob said, 'Sell me this day thy birthright.'"

"And Esau said, 'Behold, I am at the point to die, and what profit shall this birthright be to me?'"

"And Jacob said, 'Swear to me this day;' and he sware unto him, and he sold his birthright unto Jacob."

"Then Jacob gave Esau bread and potage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and rose up and went his way: thus Esau despised his birthright."

Esau being the firstborn had a Divine promise, and for all he knew the satan bruiser and the earth blessing might be embodied in himself, but he, being faint with hunger forgets the promise, forgets everything but his immediate wants.

To be sure if he dies with hunger then all these blessings will come to naught anyway, and that mess of greens looked good to him. He lacked the faith that God could and would supply all his needs.

Jacob, whose very name indicated that he was inclined to take any advantage he could get, had faith in the fulfillment of those promises, and he wanted them to be fulfilled in himself. Here was an opportunity too good to lose, and not having a very tender conscience, he proceeded to make the most of it.

Our sympathies may be with Esau, the weaker brother, but in many ways a more noble man than Jacob, but I wonder if we are not living over again this old story daily. God does not waste words, there is no long dissertation on the mean advantage that Jacob used, He simply says, "So Esau despised his birthright."

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is" (1 John 3:2).

Are we going to let such a glorious promise "get by" us because some one else does us a crooked deal?

It does not matter to us how crooked or dishonest or hypocritical some Jacob may be, if we do not watch ourselves, or if we lose faith in God's promises, and if we do not properly value our birthright some one else will surely get it from us.

The only reason why Esau lost his birthright and with it the blessing was because he could not see beyond his temporal needs. Our only business is to "look diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled; lest there be any fornicator, or profane persons, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright" (Heb. 12:15, 16).

Don't you like your pastor? Be careful he does not get your birthright. Has a brother in the church done a crooked deal? Be careful he does not get your birthright, too. If some one steps on your toes are you going to let him have your birthright also? Surely all these minor things may be overlooked, forgotten, if we are looking towards the glorious appearing when we "shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is."

SHUT THE DOOR

What we want to see is a great revolution in the praying habits of God's people. We cannot pray by proxy—that is, another doing it for us—no more than our bodies can thrive by another taking food for us. There must be individual closet work. The prayer meeting will not suffice us, blessed privilege though it be. "Thou, when thou prayest, ENTER INTO THY CLOSET, and when thou hast shut the door, pray" (Matt. 6: 6). How many there may be who have gradually left off secret prayer, until communion with God has been as effectively severed as if for them there were no God at all!

We do not speak by random. Any one who does a little in coming and going among saints will have discovered this by experience.

That God has His praying ones we believe—yea, we rejoice to know. He is never without faithful ones—remnant though they be, who cry day and night unto Him. Yet the terrible downward current of these last days is carrying the many before it; yea, the many even of God's people; and the great enemy of souls could not have hit upon a more deadly device for making merchandise of the saints than by stopping the supplies at a throne of grace. When closet prayer languisheth, "the whole head is sick and the whole heart faint."

The lack of secret prayer betrays a lack of heavenly appetite. It implies a positive absence of desire for the presence of God. Those who are strangers to the closet fall an easy prey to temptation. Satan gets an advantage of them at every turn. Nothing comes right; everything happens in an untoward way, for

"Thorny is the road

That leads my soul from God."

On speaking to one as to how it fared with him for the kingdom of God, he surprised us by saying he was a backslider. He had tasted of the heavenly joys; but had gone back to the world. His backsliding had commenced with the neglect of secret prayer. "I missed prayer by a time," he said, "and then I missed it oftener; and things went on in this way until, somehow everything SLIPPED THROUGH MY FINGERS, and I found myself in the world again." We fear this is true of many. Little by little, neglect eats in, until they waken up to find they have not even the desire to go into their closet to meet with their God. How different it is with those who watch with jealous care that the Lord has always His portion, whoever may have to want theirs. Their going out, their coming in, their whole manner of life declares that they have been where the heavenly dew has been falling. Their Father, who saw them in secret, is rewarding them openly. They carry about with them, although all unconscious of it, the serenity of the secret place, where they have been communing with God as friend with friend. But these are reckoned "peculiar;" and it is to be feared their number is few, few, compared with the many who are hurrying on, strangers to the closet and the hour alone, with God.—Author Unknown.

TOWN AND COUNTRY SCHOOL TO MEET AT A & M COLLEGE

The Town and Country School of Texas, consisting of all major denominations, will meet for its fifth annual meeting this summer from June 26-30 at A & M College Station, Texas. Pastors and laymen are cordially invited to attend this school.

The school is again fortunate in securing specialists of agricultural institutes and rural leaders from various denominations as speakers for the school. Among the topics to be discussed are: "Reaching the Unchurched in the Rural Community"; "Organizing the Community Around the Church"; "Developing a Rural Church Program"; "The Rural Church Serving the Farmer"; "A Religious Education Program"; "Developing Rural Leadership"; "A Health Program for Rural People"; and many other topics of great interest to rural pastors and laymen.

Two afternoons have been set aside for panel discussions. One panel discussion will be under the able leadership of some outstanding laymen and is entitled, "What Farm Programs can mean to the Church and what the Church can mean to the Farm Program. Another afternoon has been set aside for a panel discussion for the various denominations represented for their group discussions.

Pastors and laymen are requested to send in their registration early to Dr. Daniel Russell, Department of Rural Sociology, A & M College, College Station, Texas. A registration fee of $1.50 will be required to defray expenses of printing and mailing programs, etc. Rooms can be had in the college dormitories at one dollar per night, linen furnished by the college. Meals are to be had at a reasonable rate on the college grounds. The total expense will be about $12.50.

Congregations interested in this school will do well to consider the possibility of giving pastor and a layman scholarships to this school.

GEORGIA CAMP NEWS

MOUNT BETHEL

By J. B. Lovering

Progressive minded Christians in the Free Will Baptist Church throughout South Georgia had been waiting anxiously for the day when we would have a youth camp of our own for the training of young people for Christian service. This had been the vision of a few for a number of years. Beside the talking and planning there had been some effort put forth for the building of such a camp.

Finally, things began to look brighter for the faithful few and others became interested in the matter. Mr. G. C. King of Shingler, Georgia, gave a plot of land about four miles north of Ashburn, Georgia, on which was to be built the long dreamed of camp. Without the loss of time, a board of trustees elected by the State Association bought a few more acres adjoining this land and started building on this very beautiful location. After several months of hard work and sacrifice, things were far enough advanced for the announcement of plans for the summer. So, during the summer of 1949, three sessions of our youth training program were held at the new home, "Mount Bethel."

On Sunday, July 17, young people began gathering from every direction for their first week together, in this sacred place: Sacred because Mr. King had dedicated it to God before he was acquainted with our youth training program. Now, as boys and girls come, there seems to be a spirit of reverence in the very atmosphere. Fifty five were registered for the first session. Rev. C. J. Harvey served as general director: Rev. Floyd B. Cherry taught Bible Doctrine and Evangelism and J. B. Lovering taught Sunday School and League Administration. During the first week two very interesting factors impressed me very keenly. First, was the fine spirit of every one on Wednesday evening when we ascended to the top of a high hill to play games and enjoy a wiener roast together. Then, perhaps the most striking thing was the ability of Rev. Cherry to grasp the attention of his pupils with amusing and witty remarks and send them on toward God before the interest could drop. The hours for preaching were divided between Brother Cherry and the writer and the results were very gratifying.

It seemed ages before the beginning of the second session on July 24. The enrollment wasn't as great as before, but it seemed as if heaven just came down to us. The same instructors served in every session for

WINNED PETITIONS

Why is it that have some people are always getting their prayers answered? The reason is that they are answered in such intimate touch and fellowship with God as to know His mind. They are withheld by Divine impression from asking what is foreign to the thoughts and intentions of their Heavenly Father. Their petitions are winnowed. On the other hand, the Holy Spirit informs them beforehand of the things which are in the mind of God to bestow. The Spirit makes intercession in them and for them according to the will of God.

Take John Wesley's experience as an illustration. Nothing was considered too great or too small to lay before the Lord. Prayer was offered on one occasion when the sun was intolerably hot on his head. He says, "I found if it continued long I should not be able to continue speaking, and I lifted up my heart to God. In a minute or two it was covered with clouds, which continued till the service was over."

We could recite many such cases in which God has graciously met the personal requests of His children, which indicate His understanding, sympathy, and tenderness.—F. B. Meyer.

Special Call to N. C. Auxiliary Women!!

The North Carolina State Woman's Auxiliary Convention met last Thursday at Shady Grove Church. It was well attended and a most enjoyable convention. Every phase of the work was represented by an interested person or persons, and the work showed a great deal of improvement.

We were so sorry to have missed some of you and hope you will strive to be present next time. These conventions are a source of inspiration to us, and we need to attend them.

The convention elected a delegate to go to the National auxiliary convention which meets in California this time. It will cost around $300.00 to pay the expenses of a delegate to go. The convention appropriated $75.00 to help this delegate's expenses and voted to ask each of the auxiliaries in the State to send a contribution to the treasurer. Mrs. M. A. Woodard, Winterville, N. C., right away to help defray the expenses of such a delegate. If you are not financially able to send as much as five dollars, just ask your pastor if he will ask, or let you ask your church to help you pay this. I am sure he will help you to make it possible to send at least one delegate.

We can send as many as ten delegates, but it is too far and too expensive to ever consider sending that many. So you see if we get more than it takes to send one we can help to send two. So don't hesitate to send as much as possible.

Please get your contribution to Mrs. M. A. Woodard, Winterville, N. C., right away. The delegate will have to leave around the first of July.

TRACT SOCIETY REPRINTS BOOKLET HELPFUL TO ALL CHRISTIAN WORKERS

One of the most searching and helpful messages ever addressed to those who would be used in bringing people to Christ, Words to Winners of Souls, has just been reprinted in an attractive modern format by the American Tract Society, 21 West 46 St., New York 19, New York, as the second in a series of helpful booklets.

Written by Horatius Bonar, the noted Scottish preacher and hymn writer, this impassioned appeal to Christian workers is as timely today as it was when it first appeared. Addressed primarily to ministers, its pungent paragraphs apply with equal force to all who engage in personal work.

The booklet would make an excellent gift for a pastor, a Sunday School teacher, or a young person in Bible School. The new edition contains 48 pages, has a brightly colored paper cover, and retails for 30 cts. It contains a preface by Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, veteran missionary to the Near East, and is printed in large, clear type, with generous use of subheads for the sake of readability.

RULES FOR "DECLAMATION CONTEST" OF THE NATIONAL AUXILIARY CONVENTION

At the 1949 session of the National Woman's Auxiliary Convention, these details of the Declamation contest were placed under the supervision of the National second vice-president. Therefore, the following rules have been set forth:

Participants are to be between the ages of 12-18. Each state in our convention may represent with one speaker. The declamation must be on Stewardship. It may or may not be original. The time limit will be 10 minutes. Five points will be deducted for each minute or fraction thereof over the allotted time. The contestants will be judged on the following basis: Presence (poise and sincerity)—25 points; Composition (accuracy and effectiveness)—50 points; Oratory (powers to thrill, quicken and compel)—25 points.

Attention state second vice-president: any state that will be represented, should mail the contestant's name and the title of the declamation, to the National second vice-president not later than June 15th.

A medal will be given to the winner, also the runner up.

2nd Vice-Pres. of W. N. A. C.

"WANTING TO GO HOME"

There is a sense of sacredness in these words. A certain saint of God in a little country church in Eastern North Carolina wrote this editor these words in a letter which she had addressed to him a few years ago. She said, "I am now growing old. My husband has long since been gone to his peaceful rest. My children are all grown and living away except the least one and her children who live with me. I am growing tired, and I long for heaven. I want to go home. I want to be with Jesus."

Yes, there have been others who longed to go home. They longed for heaven and to be in the presence of God, and to be with loved ones in glory. What a joy in their hearts to long for the heavenly rest!

The Apostle Paul often thought of the sweetness of heaven, and wanted to depart and be with the Lord. But he was willing to stay a little longer, if it were God's will. That was a noble spirit in Paul. He was willing to suffer a little more, be it God's will, in the service of the kingdom. Yes, resigned to the Lord's holy will, to do a little more for lost humanity, and then go on into the paradise of God.

One of our church members a few years ago called us to his bedside for prayer. We went to console with him and to pray for him. He had become old, and had been suffering for months with a fatal disease. But he was calm as we talked with him; his mind was clear; and his soul was dwelling on spiritual things.

He said, "Brother Spencer, I want to go Home to be with my Lord. There is nothing more here for me. Will you pray to God and ask him to take me out of this life? I want to go Home." We said, "If that is your sincere desire from the heart, we will." Then we prayed, asking God to take his spirit home to heaven. That was Sunday afternoon. That Sunday night Brother W---- departed to be with the Lord. We preached his funeral the next day.

POPLAR HILL CHURCH TO HOLD REVIVAL

We wish to state that our revival meeting will begin at Poplar Hill F. W. B. Church, located at Hemingway, South Carolina, on June the eighteenth. The Reverend T. G. Hamilton of Pearson, Georgia, will be the speaker, or evangelist.

We the members of this church wish to extend a cordial welcome or invitation to the public to attend these services. We feel sure that one and all will be pleased to hear this great man of God proclaim the gospel during the revival meeting. We believe everyone will receive a blessing from the Lord by attending these services.

Those who live near the church, come, and take part in the services. Make it your meeting, and remember the date, June the eighteenth. We shall be expecting you to come and have a part in the meeting. The church is located about one and a half miles out of the town of Hemingway, and on the Georgetown Road. Come one and all.

Rev. H. W. Richbourg, Pastor

KEEP SHINING

"Twenty-eight years, on and off." It was the reply of a man to the inquiry of a preacher, "How long have you been a Christian?"

"On and off." It spoke of lukewarmness,

It is a joy to the saints of God to want to go home. But, oh, the teeming millions of earth who are not prepared for the Home-coming, and who are little concerned about the great eternity!

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE CONFERENCE

The National League Conference of Free Will Baptists of the United States will convene in its third annual session in the city of Norfolk, Virginia, at the Fairmount Park Free Will Baptist Church on June 13 through 15 inclusively. This annual meeting of the youth of the Free Will Baptist Church bids fair to be the greatest in the history of the Young People's League work of the denomination.

The program, and special features of this F. W. B. L. Conference will be given space in the columns of the Baptist paper for the issue, June 7. Conference officials have the assurance that we will reserve in the Free Will Baptist paper adequate space for the publicity of this National League Conference.

REVEREND L. E. BALLARD TO GIVE MORE TIME TO HIS EDITORIAL WORK AT THE PRESS

Brother Ballard is planning to move to Ayden in the near future, and to give more time to his editorial work at the Free Will Baptist Press, Ayden, North Carolina. He realizes that the work of the preparation of the League quarterlies, and also the editing of the Youth's Banner requires more time than he has been able to give them. He is planning to make improvements in the work during the coming months for the benefit of all concerned, and is hoping for a greater circulation and use of the same by the youth of the denomination. He will be editor of the Primary Sunday School quarterlies which Brother J. E. Wooten is giving up.

of instability, of unfaithfulness. He felt his life had been unsteady. He had been a true believer on the Son of God, but he knew that being a Christian really meant being a follower of Christ.

We are set to be constantly shining for Christ. What would be the value of a lighthouse with the light variable, sometimes shedding its warning beams and sometimes not. No one would be able to depend upon it and ships might well be lost through its uncertainty.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

LADIES AIDE WEST END FREE WILL BAPTIST CHURCH

We are still meeting at the church on Wednesday afternoon, though our attendance for the past few weeks has dropped off considerably. Now that the weather is so pretty we feel sure more ladies will be able to help us.

We are still selling crocheting, and some very beautiful work has been done by our ladies. The demand for aprons having slackened we purchased material and patterns, and have cut, stamped and are embroidering pillow cases. These are cut and stamped, given to the members and they embroider and sell them.

We are planning a dinner for this week and hope to sell one every week or two, as long as the weather permits. We were very successful with dinners last year and hope to have as much success this time. The proceeds from these dinners and our other projects are going for new benches for our church. We have contributed to the building fund and hope to be able to add more.

We desire your prayers that we may do more and better work.

FOURTH UNION AUXILIARY REPORT

Mrs. DAVID GAY, Secretary

The Fourth Union Meeting District Auxiliary of the Central Conference of North Carolina met with Spring Branch Church on Sunday, April 30, 1950. Rev. Allen Baker had charge of devotions. The welcome address was made by Mrs. Wallace Mercer and response given by Mrs. Paul Thiipgen. We were privileged to have the assistant superintendent of the Orphanage with us, who made a few remarks concerning the orphanage and several selections in song were given by a group of children accompanying him. A collection was taken for the orphanage which amounted to $66.29.

Rev. R. C. Proctor delivered the morning message, which was an inspiration to all who were privileged to hear this sermon. Following the appointment of committees by the president and special music by the Tyson Quartet and the Daniel's Chapel Quartet, we were adjourned for lunch.

Miss Janie Dildy had charge of the afternoon devotions. We were again favored with special music by the Daniel's Chapel Quartet.

The business session was entered into with minutes of the previous meeting being read and approved. A motion was made and carried that this body represent at the next meeting of the State Sunday School Convention.

The Banner Committee decided that the Ladies Aid Banner should go to Saratoga and the Sunday School Banner to Watery Branch. The Treasurer's report was given and accepted.

A program was given by Spring Branch Church which was enjoyed by all. Since we were favored with several groups of singers, the program was turned into a singing convention.

Concluding a very enjoyable day, we were adjourned to meet in July with Saratoga.

MOUNT ZION AUXILIARY HOLDS MEETING

The Woman's auxiliary of Mt. Zion F. W. B. Church met in the home of Mrs. Jessie Batten on April 26, 1950. Mrs. Ressie Johnson read the scripture lesson from the 39th Psalm, followed by prayer, and the songs sung were as follows: "Jesus Calls Us," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "In the Sweet By and By."

The program for April was: "Advancing with Christ through the Training of Youth." Those taking part on the program were Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. Argo Brewer and Mrs. James Crocker. There were eleven members present, and we had one new member. Cards sent to the sick were 2; visits to the sick, 15; Bible chapters read, 60; members attending the Week of Prayer, 14. The offering taken amounted to $3.00.

The meeting closed with all present joining in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. R. A. Brewer

Black River Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Woman's Auxiliary of Black River Free Will Baptist Church met on Wednesday night, May 10, in the home of Mrs. Margaret Powell with 11 members present. Our subject of our lesson was: "Advancing with Christ through Stewardship Study." After our lesson and business period, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. We are asking the prayers of all Christian people for our auxiliary and church.

Youth Rally, Greenville, N. C., June 7, 3:00 P. M.

Please do not forget the Youth Rally which will be held in Greenville, North Carolina, on June 7, at 3:00 P. M. It will be at the Third Street School Park. Make your plans now to attend this meeting, where old friends will meet and new friends will be made.

There will be recreation for all. Games of all types and for all ages will be available for everyone to participate in for wholesale enjoyment. There will be competent leaders to take care of all ages, from three years old and up. It is a large place in which to play, so come and bring your leaguers with you.

If your church does not have a league, bring your young people with you, and let them see the interest which young people have in their own leagues. The recreation period will last from 3:00 P. M. until 6:00 P. M. Then, at this time we will spread our supper out on the grounds and enjoy a feast. Yes, bring your own baskets of food. We will really enjoy playing and eating together.

At 7:30 P. M. everyone will assemble at the Greenville F. W. B. Church, and have special singing and reports from the different associations, and also from the second Union and Albemarle League districts. We are expecting to have with us different choirs from all over our district, and probably some from outside to bring special music.

Don't forget the date, please, June 7 at 3:00 P. M., at the Third Street School park in Greenville, North Carolina. You can ask almost anyone on the streets as to where to find Third Street School. Be sure to bring a basket of food for the picnic supper to be spread picnic style at 6:30 P. M., and we will have a grand time in the name of the Lord.

Rev. Graham Baker,
Field Worker,
Second League District.

We need to become like little children, willing to let our Heavenly Father guide us without imposing upon Him any conditions.—Tauler.

Boost National Home Mission Program

Get a Tag for Your Car! Don't Delay! Do It Now!

This is a picture of the plate which the National Home Mission Board is selling to car owners. It fits on your car license tag, and looks swell.

The National Home Mission Board is selling the tag for one dollar each for you to use on your car. We want every Free Will Baptist who drives a car to buy a tag and put it on your car. The purpose is to raise funds for the treasury of the National Home Mission Board.

The need for home mission work among Free Will Baptists is greatly needed in the towns and cities, and also in the rural districts of this country. Mission points need to be established in a great many places. New churches can be established in the cities and in the country if only we had sufficient funds to carry on the work. We are, therefore, requesting our church people to buy a tag and to urge others to do the same.

Simply enclose your dollar for the tag in your letter, and address it to Rev. J. B. Bloss, Route 5, Columbia, Tennessee. Be sure to put your correct address on your letter when you mail to us your money for your tag.

Your brother in Christ,
Rev. J. B. Bloss

A SPLENDID MOTHER'S DAY PROGRAM AT TURLOCK CHURCH

A NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED

Turlock Free Will Baptist Church has again been blessed by the mighty hand of God. We enjoyed a wonderful Mother's Day program. Brother Huddleston, our beloved pastor, presented bouquets to three mothers: one for the oldest, and one for the youngest, and one for the mother whom God has blessed with the most children. A flower service was enjoyed by all. Everyone present for the service received a great blessing from the Lord.

We convened the service early Sunday night, and the Junior Leaguers and the Junior Sunday School class, with the Intermediate Sunday School class, gave a short program. Brother Evans from Porterville brought a wonderful message. God has really been good to Turlock church.

Another new church at Hughson, California, has been organized from the Turlock church. We are earnestly praying for that little group of members. May the Lord greatly bless them. A new parsonage is now being completed, and we are thankful to God who has blessed us so wonderfully well here in California. We are praying that we shall continue in the manifold grace of God.

We are asking all Christians everywhere to pray for us here at Turlock, and for the Free Will Baptist work in the State.

Humbly in the service of Christ,
Ella Mae Foster, Church Reporter

A LITTLE CHILD

"Suffer the little children to come unto me."—Mark 10:14.

A little child came to me one day
And leaning on my knee,
Said "Tell me a story of Jesus,
What sort of man was he?"

"Was he a wee man like Zacchaeus,
The Bible does not say,
And when I had thought of it a bit,
I could not tell at all.

"I can not tell you how Jesus looked,
The Bible does not say,
But I can tell you what Jesus said,
And what he did each day."

I told her about the widow's son,
Who died one day in Nain,
And how that our Saviour pitying her,
Restored his life again.

He spoke of the lad with five small loaves,
And how the host was fed,
With only the lad's two fishes small,
And the five loaves of bread.

We talked of the children sweet and fair,
Who gathered at his knee;
Of how that we all must be like them,
If heaven we would see.

"Now what do you think of him dear child?"

She softly answered me;
"—Why he is the very dearest friend,
That any one can be."

John W. Beaman,
Walstonburg, N. C.

You cannot detain the eagle in the forest. You may gather around him a chorus of the choicest birds; you may give him a perch on the goodliest pine; you may charge winged messengers to bring him choicest dainties; but he will spurn them all. Spreading his lordly wings, and with his eye on the Alpine cliff, he will soar away to his own ancestral halls amid the munitions of rocks and the wild music of tempest and waterfall. The soul of man, in its eagle soarings, will rest with nothing short of the Rock of Ages. Its ancestral halls are the halls of heaven. Its munitions of rocks are the attributes of God. The sweep of its majestic flight is Eternity! "Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling-place in all generations!"—John R. Macduff.

Cragmont Summer School for Christian Workers

BLACK MOUNTAIN, N. C.

FIRST YEAR COURSE

BIBLE, SUNDAY SCHOOL METHODS,
CHURCH MUSIC, CHURCH ADMIN-ISTRATION, PASTORAL THEOLOGY AND EVANGELISM

PURPOSE

Cragmont, Summer School for Christian workers, is the result of a conviction that there should be functioning in our state, during the summer season, while our Bible College is closed, a denominational school where ministers, teachers, students, Sunday School workers, and others who are engaged during the regular school year, may study under the direction of an efficient faculty, chosen from among our available leaders, who are consecrated and qualified to teach the courses needed for Christian work.

OPPORTUNITIES

This is a great opportunity for young people who may want to enter college with Bible credits, for pre-ministerial students, for pastors who want refresher courses during summer vacation, and for officers and teachers who may want to better equip themselves for work in the local church.

For the benefit of pastors who are preaching each Sunday, classes will be arranged to begin at 1 p. m. Monday and close at noon Saturday, giving them an opportunity to go up on Monday and return on Saturday for week-end appointments. Special work in Bible and Homiletics will help ministers in the preparation of sermons.

The unit certificates that any of your present workers may have in Teacher Training, as awarded by the Evangelical Teacher Training Association, will be honored in this Summer School toward your teacher's certificate.

CALENDAR

Registration: June 26, 9:00 to 5:00

Instruction begins June 27

Commencement, Friday, August 4

CREDITS

A unit certificate will be awarded for each unit in Bible and Sunday School methods; and, when the six units of the course are completed, a certificate will be awarded for the entire course. Credits for this work will be honored by the Free Will Baptist Bible College. A certificate will be awarded for work completed in the other courses.

This summer school is planned on a six-weeks basis, and credits will be awarded at the end of the term for all work accomplished. However, courses will be arranged so that a student may finish in one year by staying six weeks, in two years by staying four weeks; and in three years, by staying two weeks.

INSURANCE

Each student will have liberal accident and sick benefits, including doctor's bills, hospital expenses, nurse's fees, etc., from the date he leaves home until his return, for the sum of 50 cents a week from The Brotherhood Mutual Life Insurance Company.

TUITION

Tuition will be paid on sustaining basis by sponsoring organizations, namely: Original Free Will Baptist State Convention, Sunday School Convention, League Convention, and the Woman's Auxiliary Convention. See free scholarships.

EXPENSES FOR SIX-WEEKS TERM

Registration fee, $5.00; Room and Board, $80.00; Linens, $2.00; Insurance, $3.00; Total, $90.00.

Text books and supplies will be extra and may be purchased in our Cragmont Book Store.

ADMISSION TO COURSES

Those who want to come to Cragmont during the summer school on vacation, and sit in on the classes for inspiration, are welcome.

ENROLLMENT

Students above fifteen years of age may enroll for full credit. Only those, however, may receive college credit for the work done in the summer school for Christian workers.

Students, whose educational advantages have been limited, are invited to apply for admission as special students. These students will be assigned such subjects as they may desire, special consideration being given to their abilities.

VESPER SERVICES

Vesper services, Monday through Friday night, will be conducted by members of the faculty, student body, or invited guests. Visitors are welcome.

WEEK-END SERVICES

Faculty and students will work out schedule to visit churches in the area.

FREE SCHOLARSHIP

Churches, Sunday Schools, Leagues, Auxiliaries, and individuals are being requested to furnish scholarships worth $100. These may be furnished in $25, $50, $75, and $100 units. Your very best way to help Cragmont is by investing a Scholarship in some worthy young person for special training in Christian work. Write for information.

LIBRARY

A library and reading room will be convenient to all students. Books have been donated by friends and the Free Will Baptist Press, consisting of several volumes. These books will be helpful on studies in preaching, teaching, and evangelism. The management would welcome additional copies and volumes of suitable books for study and research.

RESERVATIONS

Campus reservations will be adequate for taking care of a limited number of students without families. Parking space is available for those desiring to use a trailer. Living quarters for families are available near the campus.

taxi service are available.

GOAL 100 STUDENTS IN 1950

Our goal this summer is for 50 resident students on the campus for the full six-weeks term. Our goal is for 50 pastors and other special students who may attend weekly for special courses to fit their needs.

The churches are requested to send 50 students, namely, their pastor, or some other worthy person in the church. The Sunday Schools are requested to send 25 students, namely, the superintendent, a teacher or a young person who may prepare himself to direct all educational activities in his church.

The Auxiliaries are requested to send 15 worthy students for special training.

The Leagues are requested to send ten worthy students for special training.

Job, Two Volumes

Publisher: Baker Book house, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan
Price for the two volumes: $6.00
Edition, 1950

These two volumes by Dr. Albert Barnes on the Book of Job are comprehensive, giving extensive comments and explanations of difficult passages of scripture.

These two volumes will be most helpful to ministers, Sunday School teachers, and Bible Students in their search for a greater understanding of the Book of Job.

Orders will be filled either at the F. W.
B. Press, Ayden, North Carolina, or at Baker Book House, Grand Rapids 6, Michigan.

Time: 3:00 P. M.

Why? To prepare for the National League Conference which will convene a week later at Fairmount Park F. W. B. Church,
Norfolk, Va.

Rev. Graham Baker

"When Christ Controls" is League Conference
Theme at Norfolk, Va.

Emphasizing stewardship throughout the program, the theme for the third annual nationwide League conference will be "When Christ Controls," Rev. C. F.
Bowen, secretary of the national League board has announced.

The conference will be held June 13-15 at the Fairmount Park Free Will Baptist church, Norfolk, Va.

FAIRMOUNT PARK CHURCH

This youth meeting has drawn a larger attendance the two years it has been held than any other national meeting. Nearly 1,000 attended last year's session at Tulsa.

"From 1,000 to 1,500 are expected this year at Norfolk," Rev. Bowen said in a preview folder of the conference.

Speakers will include Rev. Damon
Dodd, national promotional secretary;
Miss Laura Belle Barnard, missionary to India; Rev. Henry Melvin, chairman of the national league board, and others.

God In the Tomorrows

The Oriental shepherd was always ahead of his sheep. He was in front. Any attempt upon them had to take him into account.
Now God is down in front. He is in the tomorrows. It is tomorrow that fills men with dread. But God is there already, and all tomorrows of our life have to pass before Him before they can get to us.—F.
B. Meyer.

I will commit my way unto the Lord.

ZEPHANIAH CALLS TO REPENTANCE

(Lesson for June 11)

Lesson: Zephaniah 1:12-18; 3:1-5, 16-20.

Golden Text: Zephaniah 2:3.

I. Heart of the Lesson

Zephaniah's name means "The Lord hath hidden." His field of public service for the Lord was the land of Judah and the city of Jerusalem. In the work of reform, his associates were Jeremiah, Nahum, Habakkuk, and the good king Josiah. The moral and spiritual condition of Judah and Jerusalem was bad. He prophesied unto the people the things that would soon come upon them because of their great transgressions. He also told them that God would later bring them together at the end of the captivity, and would greatly bless them in many ways. He encouraged the people to turn unto God, to have hope, faith and courage, and to look to the future for a brighter day to come.—Advanced Quarterly (F. W. B.)

1. When God begins to search out men, there will be no one able to hide from His light (Zeph. 1:12).

2. Callous indifference and smug complacency are just as obnoxious to God as violent opposition (vs. 12).

3. It is painful to lose valuable earthly possessions, but it will be far more painful to lose one's soul (vs. 13).

4. It is pleasant to hear God's voice of love, but terrible to hear it in wrath (vs. 14).

5. The brightness of the Lord's Coming must of necessity be preceded by the darkness of judgment in order to purify a place for Him (vs. 15).

6. Real "freedom from fear" is guaranteed by a much greater character than that of any earthly nations (3:16).

7. The Lord always chooses to appear in the midst of His people, for then He is equally near to each one of them (vs. 17).

8. It is well known to the Lord whether or not we are concerned about His service and worship (vs. 18).

9. The honor and praise which the Lord gives is far better than any acclaim or applause of men (vs. 19).

10. When God restores, He so overwhelmingly fills with blessing that all the sorrows of the past are forgotten (vs. 20).—Selected.

11. The word repentance is the translation of two Greek words in the New Testament. One of these is metamelomai. This word occurs but five times in the New Testament. The word means sorrow for something done, but sorrow after the deed, regret. The regret may be of a Godly sort leading to true repentance, or it may be a regret that leads to no moral change (II Cor. 7:9, 10; Luke 18:23; Matt. 27:3).

The other New Testament word that is translated repentance is metanoia. The word means a change of mind, a change of thinking, a change of conception. It means that a new direction is given to the moral life. Paul, in his defense before Agrippa, gives us a good illustration of what repentance is. He declared: "I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the Name of Jesus of Nazareth. Which thing I also did in Jerusalem." (Acts 26:9, 10). Paul was conscientious in his belief (22:3). But on the way to Damascus Jesus appeared to him. Paul got new light, knowledge and insight. He changed his mind about Christ, and His people. His whole life was revolutionized.

12. A further illustration of the meaning of repentance as a change of mind is found in the Book of Romans. In the eighth chapter Paul shows that there are two "minds" that can dominate the life of a person. They are the mind of the flesh and the mind of the spirit. We are subject to either one, depending on our choice. And the word mind here means a moral choice and purpose. It is the word that is used in Philippians where it says: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (2:5). We are born with the mind of the flesh. When we repent and change our minds we have the mind of the Spirit. The Apostle goes on to show the nature and the direction that these minds take. "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally (fleshly) minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God (Rom. 8:5-8). The need for repentance cannot be stated more clearly or cogently. It is a matter of spiritual life or death.

13. God allowed Israel to be invaded and the people to be punished, but He never approved mistreatment of them after they had been subjected by their enemies. He chastised them according to His own will, but He never allowed their enemies to afflict or persecute them further without bringing them to account for their deeds. (3:19)—Senior Quarterly (F. W. B.)

II. The Lesson Illustrated

Painting the Pump

Reformation is no more the whole of Christianity than cultivation constitutes the whole of successful farming. A farmer may plow and harrow his ground every day of the summer and will not permit a single weed to grow; that would be a high state of cultivation; but if he plants no seed in his field he will gather no crop in the autumn. Simply ridding your life of the weeds of undesirable habits, without planting the seeds of Christianity in your heart-garden, is as great a folly as for a farmer to cultivate his ground all summer and sow no seed. Repentance pulls up the weeds now growing and plants the seeds of righteousness. The man who attempts to improve by reforming is whitewashing his life, and there is a vast difference between the two processes. Morality can never save anybody. Painting the pump does not kill the typhoid germs and purify the water in the well.—O. A. Newlin D. D.

League and Sunday School administration. The other instructors for the second week were: Church music, Mrs. Chester Pelt; Church Leadership and Doctrine, Rev. E. C. Morris; Evangelism, Rev. J. O. Fort; Miss Betty Joe Fort was a special teacher for Children.

On Tuesday evening the Lord visited in a very real sense during the worship service. Young Christians began pleading and praying for those who were unsaved, and they worked until the entire group professed faith in Jesus as Saviour. There was no possibility of reaching a greater height. The climax had come unexpectedly. The great concern of those in place of leadership was how to hold the mountain peak. That was beyond the reach of man, but lives were now full of the Spirit and, "My strength is made perfect in weakness," said the Lord to Paul. The entire group seemed to fairly "walk the clouds," until the Thursday evening service, when the message had been delivered and the invitation was extended for surrendering for special service every boy and girl came at once. They seemed to "return," to the earth willing to be used of Him in meek and lowly service.

On another hill, some two hundred yards behind the main Camp ground, is a very beautiful bed of rock. Early in the week, Rev. J. O. Fort led the group in building an altar of stone on this hill where we met each evening at sunset for vespers. Perhaps here is where God gave the needed refreshing of grace to keep us on the mountain peak so long; and made it possible on the last day for the ringing testimony of youth to lead older people to a richer and sweeter experience with the Christ. Those who were present will never forget "The Rock." Jacob built an altar like it and "Called the name of that place Bethel"—"The House of God." The campers named that rock Bethel. And God surely lived there that week.

One accomplishment of this very busy week was to organize the "Andrew-Aids" using as a slogan—"And he brought him to Jesus." (Jno. 1: 42) The "Andrew-Aids" are young people who are organized to work together in seeking the lost for Jesus. We hope to hear more of them later.

Only one week and we gathered again for the third and last session of the summer: it is now August 7. Some changes were made in the faculty. Like the teacher for F. W. B. L. and Sunday School Administration, the same General Director served for the entire summer. Other faculty members are: Doctrine and Evangelism, Rev. E. C. Morris; Church Music, Mrs. Chester Pelt; And in the first session one young lady had done such a splendid job with the children until now she is given that place on the faculty, Miss Willie Clyde Johnson.

Most of those present were Christians making the work and atmosphere somewhat different for this last week. We returned again to "The Rock Bethel" for vespers. Every one settled down to real work on the very first day. From the standpoint of real study the accomplishments of the last week equalled and possibly excelled both the first and second sessions combined. The fellowship of the student body was the sweetest ever. One thing in particular caught and held my attention. Where the group had been dividing up in small groups at meal time now they all clutter together. No one seemed to want to separate from another. "With every rose there is a thorn," but this week had so many roses we could hardly find the thorn.

A Word for the Faithful

The faithful aren't always mentioned in bold headlines. There were those in every session of the Camp who played a great part and yet they stayed in the background. Mrs. C. J. Harvey, Mrs. Margie Hudson, Mrs. Sally Woodard and Mrs. Hay did a fine job seeing that no one went hungry. Then on Thursday evening of the last week, Rev. H. L. Knighton was responsible for a fine fish supper.

CAMPING TIME IS NEAR

Five weeks of encampment have been planned so far for the summer at Mt. Bethel. One week for the ministers and four weeks for the young people. There may be other groups to meet for a period of time during the camping season that we have not heard about.

Ministerial Institute First

This will begin Sunday evening June 4 and close Friday June 9. There will be refreshments served Sunday evening and then a worshipful and fellowship service. If you cannot get there Sunday evening come Monday morning. The cost will be $1.00 per day or $5.00 for the session. Dr. J. P. Barrow, Dean of our Bible College, Nashville, Tennessee, will be there, nothing preventing. It will be well worth your time and the cost to hear Dr. Barrow teach Church and Bible doctrine. Rev. T. B. Mellette, the originator of the Institute will teach Christian education and Rev. E. C. Morris, your Promotional Secretary, will teach Church History. All ministers are urged to attend. All interested laymen, both men and women are cordially invited. Don't forget, you are to bring along your pillows, linens, towel, soap, etc. You will have furnished at the camp three meals per day, a bunk to sleep on and running water. You need not bring a bathing suit. There will be no public bathing at the Camp.

Beginning Sunday night, June 18, the young people from all directions will be gathering at the Camp for the first session of this group for the season. This first session will be held two weeks. The second session will be held July 23-28 and the Third session will be August 13-18. Young people, you could not spend four weeks this summer at a better place than Camp Mt. Bethel in the heart of South Georgia. But, if you cannot attend all four weeks then select the sessions that you can most conveniently attend. Sunday schools, Leagues, or any other organization of your church will do well to send campers to the camp for a week or more.

Some of the directors this year will include Revs. J. O. Fort, C. R. Houston, I. J. Blackwelder, K. V. Shutes, E. C. Morris and T. B. Mellette and probably others not yet selected. Rev. C. J. Harvey will serve as Camp Manager for all sessions. For further information about the Camp, write the Manager.

We will need provisions for the Camp. Any you can give, bring or send.

E. C. Morris, Promotional Secy.

A NEW YOUNG PEOPLE'S LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Union S. S. Supper at Harper's

At a joint meeting at Harper's Grove Church on May 7, 1950, we organized a Young People's League. The officers were elected as follows: President, Edward Birdwell; vice-president, Lawrence Jarrell; secretary-treasurer, Jimmy Dan Jarrell; group captain, Jo Ann; Bible Study group, Mrs. T. T. Megason; "Go Tell" group, Mrs. Katherine Pool, teacher; chairman, Mrs. Bessie Birdwell. Reverend Troy L. McDonald, Pastor.

The Harper's Union Sunday School sponsored a community-wide chowder supper at the church on April 15, 1950. Following this outdoor supper, and the good period of sweet fellowship together, we then listened to a good message from Rev. Noah Tuttle.

THE SPELLING MATCH

Leroy C. Brown

In the playground a group of schoolboys and girls were talking about the spelling match they were going to have that afternoon.

"Stella Davis, you think because Lloyd Williams is captain of your team you will win!" declared John Herman.

"We won the other time, didn't we?" teased Stella.

"But not this time," boasted John. "We shall win today, won't we, Skeeter Boy?"

"Hope so—time will tell," grinned Skeeter Boy, whose real name was Sheldon Boyes. He got the nickname "Skeeter" when someone said he looked like a big mosquito.

At two o'clock the teams lined up on opposite sides of the rural school room for the spelling match.

Lloyd Williams was captain of one team, and John Herman was captain of the other. They were spelling "by the last letter"—that is, when a word was spelled the next speller had to spell a different word beginning with the last letter of the word that had been spelled. Lloyd started by spelling "book." Then John had to spell a word beginning with the letter "k." He spelled "kettle." Then Jane Smith spelled "ear." Each word had to be spelled correctly and no words could be repeated.

As the match continued, pupils on each side went down. Everyone who could do so was ending the words with the letter "y." Of course no one was permitted to use a word ending with x or z, but y was allowed. It was hard to think of more words beginning with that letter. Everybody except Lloyd and John went down!

Lloyd spelled y-e-i-l-d. No one noticed that he misspelled this word, which of course should have been spelled y-i-e-l-d. John continued by spelling "danger."

On and on they spelled. Then John spelled "canopy."

Y again! What could Lloyd spell? He glanced at the wall. There was a little poster which read, "Yield not to temptation." Yield—he had spelled that word. "But I spelled it wrong," flashed through his mind.

Then Lloyd thought of a word that had not been used—y-e-a-s-t.

D-a-n-d-y—would John never stay away from those Y's? Yield—Lloyd thought of that troublesome word again, but he spelled "yearning."

The match continued. It seemed that neither boy could down the other. But something was worrying Floyd. How he had wanted to win that match! John Herman was such a boaster—how he would boast if he won! No one had noticed that "yield" had been misspelled—why mention it? Lloyd glanced at that sign again. "Yield not to temptation!"—how it glared back at him. The boy knew well where that commandment was from.

After a pause, Lloyd spoke. "Nobody noticed it," he said, "but a while ago I misspelled a word. I spelled y-e-i-l-d instead of y-i-e-l-d."

"But how do you know you misspelled that word, Lloyd?" asked the teacher.

"I saw the correct spelling on that sign on the wall," said Lloyd.

John did not boast over winning that match. He was thinking of Lloyd's honesty. A few days later he said to Lloyd, "I want to be a Christian like you."

And later when the school was asked to enter someone in a spelling contest at the County seat, the pupils chose Lloyd. "It's because we know you will be a credit to the school," smiled John.

"Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men" (II Cor. 8:21).

We are asking all churches, Sunday Schools, F. W. B. L. and Auxiliaries to remember that June is Christian Education month. As you can see by the figures above, we are a long way from even coming up to the figures of last year. You raised for Christian Education last year nearly $5000.00, and you are to be commended for this sum, but as the college physical facilities are constantly being expanded and the number of students are constantly increasing in number the need for more funds are increasing. We had some twenty-two students from North Carolina this year, this being the largest number from any state in the U. S. of Free Will Baptists. So you can see the reason that North Carolina should increase its giving for Christian Education.

I have been asking that we in North Carolina try to raise ten thousand dollars this year for Christian Education. Although we are a long way from that amount I believe if all that have been giving will double that amount and all these that have not been giving any thing will begin to raise some amount for this great and worthy cause we will by the end of the Conventional Year come reasonably close to raising the amount above mentioned. Hoping in the name of Christ we go over the top for Christian Education.

My Heart Is Resting

My heart is resting, O my God;
I will give thanks and sing:
My heart is at the secret source
Of every precious thing.

Now the frail vessel Thou hast made
No hand but thine shall fill—
The waters of the earth have failed,
And I am thirsty still.

I thirst for springs of heavenly life.
And here all day they rise;
I seek the treasure of Thy love,
And close at hand it lies.

And a "new song" is in my mouth,
To long-loved music set—
Glory to Thee for all the grace
I have not tasted yet.

I have heritage of joy
That yet I must not see;
The hand that bled to make it mine
Is keeping it for me.

There is a certainty of love
That sets my heart at rest;
A calm assurance for to-day
That to be poor is best.

A prayer reposing on His truth,
Who hath made all things mine;
That draws my captive will to Him,
And makes it one with thine.

ANSWER TO A PUZZLE- "GUESS WHO?"

(A poem published in the Baptist Paper, May 3, 1950)

God made you before the man,
But did not let you stay on land.
Your dwelling place is wide and deep,
Where one a prisoner you did keep.

You gave him shelter from the storm,
And keep him safe from death and storm;
The will of God you did obey,
And relieved the captive one day.

For lamps and heat you furnish oil,
To capture you stronge men do toil;
Christ said in hell you would be found,
But there you'll only be a sound.

In Micah first we find your name,
Though it isn't meant to mean the same.
Many ships above you sail,
The first man Adam called you whale.

Once you had a living soul,
Because you swallowed Jonah whole.
And now all know the answer to,
The puzzle that was named "Guess Who."

Building of God's House

By Mrs. Edward E. Hyers

One of the most beautiful stories in the Old Testament is the building of the Tabernacle, as recorded in the Book of Exodus—a house of worship designed by God Himself. The Israelites had been protected in a marvelous way, for God had led them out of the land of Egypt, where for many years they had been in bondage to Pharaoh. Now that they were no longer slaves, driven by cruel taskmasters, but were free to serve the God of their fathers, God spoke unto Moses, their leader, saying:

"Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring me an offering: Of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart ye shall take my offering, and this is the offering ye shall take of them, gold and silver and brass, and blue and purple and scarlet and fine linen, and goat's hair, and ram skins dyed red, and badger skins, and shittim wood, oil for the lights, spices for anointing oil, and for sweet incense, Onyx stones, and stones to be set in the Ephod, and in the breast plate, and let them make me a sanctuary: That I may dwell among them."

Much material and many workmen were needed to build the tabernacle, whose architect was God, and who could have erected a magnificent temple at every mile of the Israelites' journey had He so desired, and without the slightest effort on their part the people could have gone in and worshipped the Lord.

But God wanted them to show their love, and their gratitude to Him by giving with willing hearts the things that were needed for His house, and by working with willing hands to build it. It is human nature to value most highly the things one obtains by work and sacrifice than that which one receives without pay.

Those who have no part in God's House except to go to church and listen to the sermon are missing the greatest joy of all, for God has a special blessing for those who make their tithes and offerings with willing hearts, and who labor with willing hands to build His House.

We are building God's House when we give as He would have us give to support the work of Christ's Kingdom. We are building God's House when we are engaged in active service in His church. Christians who have learned to work together in love and unity in the church are doing the best building of all.

For it is only through the united efforts of God's people that the church moves forward.

"And all the women that were wise-hearted did spin with their hands, and brought that which they had spun, both of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine linen" (Exodus 35:25).

Women have a great part in the building of the church. The woman who is wise-hearted does not spend her time in idle gossip, which tends to destroy the very foundation of the church. But she is busy weaving a pattern with threads of gold that will adorn the temple, even after she has passed on.

She is willing at all times to be of service, and is faithful to whatever task is assigned to her, whether it is teaching a Sunday School class, spinning cloth for the curtains, or sweeping the floor.

She is never envious of another who holds a higher office than herself, but is willing to step aside if one more capable is found to take her place.

The wise-hearted women are the greatest builders of all.

NOTES AND QUOTES

TO BE AT ST. MARY'S GROVE

According to promise we art to begin a series of revival meetings at St. Mary's, Johnston County, Sunday night, June the 11. Brother J. B. Ferrell is the pastor. We are asking that those of you who pray take this meeting to the Lord with an "unfeigned faith," asking Him to use us for His glory and the salvation of those who have never found the Lord Jesus and the building up of the believers into greater efficiency in the work of the Lord. We praise God for this invitation to do service for our Christ, at, and in the community of St. Mary's Grove.

COMMUNISM IS ANTI-CHRISTIAN

Whenever you hear any person say, "A man can be a Communist and a Christian at the same time," he is either unacquainted with facts about both Communism and Christianity, or he may be a Communist, or a fellow-traveler—a "red sympathizer."

Recently, I read where the Bishop of Canterbury said that he was a Christian and a Communist. But we are sure that the bishop is a tool of the Communists, and being used by the devil to make more Communists. Here are the reasons, or at least some reasons that make it impossible for a Communist to be Christian.

These organizations move in opposite directions. They are just as far from each other as the East is from the West, as far as God is from the Devil. There is no mixing. They cannot abide in the same house. Christ said, "A house divided against itself cannot stand." Here is what Dr. Paul S. Rees, pastor First Covenant Church, Minneapolis, Minn., a competent analyst of Communism, says; "Christianity and Communism are as inherently opposed to each other as light and darkness. Christianity is derived from the Word of God. Communism would destroy the Word of God. Christianity affirms God as Creator, Redeemer, and Judge; Communism attacks God as folly, folklore and falsehood. Christianity is materialistic enough to recognize the valid claims of the body and its needs, yet spiritual enough to assert the priority and God-imparted dignity of the human spirit; Communism is exclusively naturalistic, deluding man of that which makes him most distinctively human—his capacity for commerce with the eternal world of the spiritual and supernatural. Christianity envisages man as a creature, who by reason of sin, is a curious mixture of hunger motives, which are other-regarding, yet who, by reason of redeeming grace, may be organized into a new pattern in which the love motives are triumphant; Communism on the other hand, sees man, as essentially a stomach in which hunger motives are forever the sole arbiter of conduct and the single incentive to progress. And now reverse the order of contrast; Communism is a system of organized resentment and calculated hatred; Christianity is a fellowship of redemptive good will and love that never seeks less than justice, but rather more."—United Evangelical Action.

Saturday evening, May 27, in Antioch Free Will Baptist church, as speaker for a "Youth Rally for Christ," Rev. Gene Bream, evangelist from Ohio, said "Communism is a deadly enemy of Christianity. Communism is anti-Christian." He read from an official bulletin, or some periodical, many statements where it is proven that a Christian cannot be a communist.

REACHING OUT FOR SOULS IN CUBA

Thomas H. Willey

In my regular round of visits over the field I touched at Martines de Remates where Pepe Romeu is doing an excellent work. The house was packed with interested people and fully forty people stood outside. There is a great amount of interest in the Gospel, but very limited space. We must have more ample quarters.

On my way back on the train, I met one of the faithful members of Brother Hipolito Pina's congregation from Alta de Guane. I have always had a great desire to be a help and blessing to our dear friends and wished for a better or closer tie of fellowship. I have had for some time a deep sense of the leading of God to go as far as Dimas. How marvelously God does work. We can be and we need to be in all our plans directly led of the Spirit of God, then we make no mistakes.

The results were that an invitation came at once from Brother Pina to accompany him. On Saturday morning we left for Alta de Guane and went on that afternoon to Mantua and Dimas. We met a precious group of believers. The public school teacher, a very fine cultured man, invited me to have dinner with him. After dinner we had a wonderful service. I have never seen people so hungry for the Gospel.

Explaining the plan of salvation step by step, I gave the invitation to those who wished to accept Christ, repent and follow Him. One of the grown sons stepped out saying, "I want to be converted." His brother and another man came with him. What a time we had! Before the meeting was over there were eight surrendered their hearts to the Lord. This was one of the most unusual meetings.

There was an invasion of misquitoes. They were so thick that I could not preach and fight mosquitoes at the same time. One dear brother thoughtfully fought and killed the mosquitoes on my face while I preached earnestly. While I slapped the devil, the brother slapped the mosquitoes on my face.

After the service we returned to Alta de Guane over one of the worst roads I have ever seen in Cuba. We arrived at 2 a. m. That afternoon Reverend Robert Wilfong preached and then we returned to Montesuelo to visit with these families that we have known for several years now.

That night we had one of the greatest meetings since I have been in Cuba. A great and very fine crowd, mostly young people, were present. During the preaching of the Word there was wonderful attention and conviction. We were laboring under the same difficulty of an invasion of mosquitoes. When I called for seekers it seemed like they fell upon their knees to pray. There were about twenty fine young men and women who came forward. In the midst of the seeking the mosquitoes suddenly left us. This meeting has lingered with me all this week and the faces of those dear ones have come back to my memory many times.

Brother Pina very clearly expressed his desire that we have a more close cooperation with the work. The work was founded by the old missionary, W. W. Jaffer, and knowing his background I can more fully sympathize with what has been an example of great faithfulness on the part of Brother Pina and his wife. These are people of prayer. They pray till corns are formed on their knees. I have a great hope for a people who pray much. Brother Pina and his people can count on our cooperation.

These fields represent a challenge. Our hearts go out to those yet unsaved. There is one predominant heart cry, "Lord, give us souls." We exist only for this.

THE MISSION WORK GOES FORWARD IN NORTH INDIA

Talk about being "tuckered out" that is me. Just as we sat down at the table for lunch, a man came, panting for breath, unable to talk at first. He finally said that he had run three and a quarter miles for me to go with him. Just think of a three and a quarter miles for me to run in this hot season, in the plains of tropical India! Of course, I said, "Nahin ho sakhta," it is not possible.

These days my only trips by bicycle is to a village where we visit twice each week to conduct services where we plan to organize a church, God being willing, in about a month. They are Hindus, but several have already shown unmistakable signs of having met the Lord, and having had their sins washed away by his blood.

Now back to the man who came for me. A tiger had just attacked a man in his village, and had seriously wounded him. The tiger had killed two oxen the day before. I knew that I had no business out in the noonday sun, but I could not refuse the man. He had twelve wounds which I dressed in Jesus name. Unless complications set up, he should, by the grace of God, be O. K. in a few weeks.

In April we treated 800, and even more sick people at a cost of Rs200. The people contributed Rs300; the Mission Rs50 and friends Rs200, so we had some for our new brick and concrete floor for the tent which we shall use as a dispensary, as soon as we move into our new house. This we hope to do before we leave for Kotagiri in July.

The Mission will soon have property here, worth between Rs 30,000 and Rs 50,000 ($10,000), without the Board to date giving a cent toward either the purchase price, the building program, the orchard which will

History proves that Communism has fought the Church of Jesus Christ and all other religions. Churches were and are still being destroyed by communists in nations who have sold out to Satan and let Communism take over. To deny that Communists have fought every move that is Christian is only to get the accounts as given out by those who know not truth, or by "fellow-travelers" and those who are ready to sell the United States to the Communists in order to get political power. Of course, a Communist who wants to be elected to power, or one who wants to filter into responsible government positions would not come out and own that he or she is a communist. They would be defeated at present, for there are not enough Communists in the United States to come out and elect public leaders who would like to run on a Communist ticket. Therefore, the Communist, or fellow-traveler who wants to get his position certainly will deny his fellowship; but with the trend as it is going now, in a few more years when strength can be secured to that degree, you will see men running for the high elective offices of State and Nation on "THE COMMUNIST TICKET." Thus we are brought to the fact that a Communist cannot be a lover and supporter of a DEMOCRACY. Christianity is the mother of Democracy and since a Christian cannot be a Communist, a Communist cannot be a supporter of Democracy.

May we notice these facts. May we guard against the evil of Communism. It makes no difference what one says. Can you trust the word of a man who hates God and the Lord Jesus Christ? What is his oath worth? It means nothing!

They have been indicted in the United States Congress for perjury. They will swear that they are not Communists, when the evidence is against them. Christians need to rise up with a mighty strong arm, locked in the Lord Jesus, and put the brakes on Communism in the United States. This can be done by Christians loving God more than money; loving God more than politics; loving God more than carnal pleasures; and by loving God so much as to present their bodies a living sacrifice unto him. Such a person will be "known by his fruits."

To stand out against the socialistic and communistic trend of today is to place one's self in a position to be dubbed as a capitalist or an enemy of the working man. Communistic ideology is a principal that sets labor at variance with the Capital and the Capital against the laboring man, thereby making enemies one towards the other. Communism cannot solve the labor problems, neither can they build for us a Democracy, but they can and are destroying the cause for which our forefathers fought and died to give to us that Freedom which we hear so much about and know so little of during these days when communistic ideas have penetrated both church and state.

Rev. J. Elvin Wright, LL. D., in his book, "Death in the Pot," says in speaking of the Federal Council of Churches: "The Federal Council's political activities have occasionally been commendable. On the other hand, it has often espoused causes which have justified the charge that those who are politically radical, anticapitalistic, and even Communistic are high in its councils."

Thus, according to Dr. Wright, the Communists have a great pull in and with the Federal Council of Churches. Christ said that a grain of mustard seed would grow into a great tree so that fowls of the air would come and lodge in its branches (Luke 13:19). Notice that these fowls are not a part of the tree. They only lodge in it. Fowls are destructive to seed. Communistic principles are church devourers. It starts out with a socialistic gospel—a gospel of materialistic values. It finally winds up in a godless and anti-Christian gospel. Such is Communistic ideology. It rules by propaganda as far as possible, when their tongue cannot win, then they resort to

At the 1949 session of the National Woman's Auxiliary Convention, these details of the Declamation contest were placed under the supervision of the National second vice-president. Therefore, the following rules have been set forth:

Participants are to be between the ages of 12-18. Each state in our convention may represent with one speaker. The declamation must be on Stewardship. It may or may not be original. The time limit will be 10 minutes. Five points will be deducted for each minute or fraction thereof over the allotted time.

The contestants will be judged on the following basis: Presence (poise and sincerity)—25 points; Composition (accuracy and effectiveness)—50 points; Oratory (powers to thrill, quicken and compel)—25 points.

Attention state second vice-president: any state that will be represented, should mail the contestant's name and the title of the declamation, to the National second vice-president not later than June 15th.

A medal will be given to the winner, also the runner up.

2nd Vice-Pres. of W. N. A. C.
