Dear Dr. Carter:

Thank you for your letter of November 7. By now you should have received mine in which I attempted to outline the responsibilities of the Editorial Board and in which I also sent you the information about printing.

Ralph Thompson could probably tell you better than I how much money is available. As I review the minutes it simply states the final decision would rest with the Executive Committee of the society. I suppose that what you should do is to get estimates from various groups and submit your figure to the Executive Board for approval.

You will have an important decision in selecting the papers which are to be printed. I have on my desk a letter from Eldon Fuhrman expressing interest in the paper presented by Ralph Earle. I think we will discover that every paper would have some support somewhere for publication. You might feel easier about your decision if you were to submit your plans to the Executive Board for their endorsement.

I do appreciate your interest in my teaching career, and I certainly have respect for the fine work which is being done at Taylor University. At the present time I have no inclination that I should leave my work at Vennard. However, I do appreciate your mentioning the possibility of Taylor. It would be an honor, I am sure, to serve such a fine school.

Sincerely yours,

Merne A. Harris
Secretary Wesleyan Theological Society
