Minutes of the Board of Managers

CINCINNATI, OHIO

October 8-15, 1930

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 8, 1930

THE delegates and visitors at the Jubilee Meeting of The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church made a pilgrimage to Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church of Cincinnati, the church in which our Society came into being fifty years ago.

Holy Communion was administered to over two thousand by Bishop W. P. Thirkield, assisted by Bishop A. W. Leonard and local pastors from seven o'clock until noon.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 8, 1930

The Jubilee Meeting of The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was opened in Taft Auditorium, Cincinnati, on the above afternoon, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, President, presiding.

After a beautiful violin solo, Bishop A. W. Leonard led in a Pentecostal service. He announced the hymn, "Break Thou the Bread of Life." Margaret Palmer Betterley led the singing.

After prayer, followed by the Lord's Prayer and the Apostle's Creed in unison, Bishop Leonard spoke of the importance and value of spirit-filled life. He contrasted the confusion of events at the Tower of Babel with the manifestation of the spirit of Pentecost.

At the request of the President, Bishop Leonard consecrated the Treasure Chest (a gift of one of the Board of Trustees) which will be presented at every meeting of the Board of Managers to receive the love gifts of those present. "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," was sung.

The memorial service was opened by the quartet composed of Ruth Heuback Best, Ernestine Day Thomas, Herbert N. West, and John W. Dodd, who sang, "The Souls of the Righteous Are in the Hands of God."

Mrs. J. Luther Taylor, Recording Secretary, announced that two memorial lists would be read, the usual annual memorial list and another of those whose names have been best known through the fifty years of the Society. Mrs. I. D. Jones read the list of earlier workers and Mrs. Taylor read the list for the current year, following this by John Oxenham's "Seeds." The singing of "Hark, Hark, My Soul," closed this memorial service.

The Recording Secretary then organized the convention, only ten conferences not reporting.

Mrs. S. J. Turner, Chairman of the Committee on Representation, made the following report: Forty-six conferences with apportionments for 1929-30 "met in full" entitling each conference to six representatives, 276 delegates. Conferences which have not met their apportionments in full but entitled to representation based on adult membership are as follows (see page 290, Annual Report 1928-29); two conferences with an adult membership of 5,000 and over, Class 5, entitled each to six representatives, twelve; four conferences with an adult membership of over 3,500 and under 5,000 in Class 4, each entitled to five representatives, twenty; five conferences with an adult membership of over 2,000 and under 3,500 in Class 3, each entitled to four representatives, twenty; nine conferences with an adult membership of over 500 but under 2,000, Class 2, each entitled to three representatives, twenty-seven; eighteen conferences with an adult membership of 500 and less, Class 1, each entitled to two representatives, thirty-six. Total, 391.

Mrs. A. C. Ludy, Chairman of Credentials Committee, announced that 375 are entitled to vote as follows: National Officers, 9; Trustees, 15; Publications, 6; Departments, 17; Bureau Secretaries, 21; Field Secretaries, 13; Chairmen of Standing Committees, 9; Conference Delegates, 285. Total 375.

Miss Muriel Day introduced Miss Lillian Pugh, a deaconess from New Orleans, who presented fifty golden chrysanthemums from Bishop Robert Jones and his area in gratitude for all The Woman's Home Missionary Society has done for the Negro people of the South.

The Recording Secretary read the list of assistant secretaries which were approved as follows: Mrs. H. L. Hardy, New England Conference; Mrs. Mamie P. Thomas, Washington Conference; Mrs. D. W. Merrill, North-East Ohio Conference; Mrs. L. M. Potts, St. Louis Conference; Mrs. J. H. Ake, Central Pennsylvania Conference; Mrs. E. J. Maple, Oregon Conference.

The reporters for the church Advocates were approved as follows: The Christian Advocate, Miss Sallie Evans; Western Christian Advocate, Mrs. E. E. Luce; Northwestern Christian Advocate, Miss Sallie Evans; Southwestern Christian Advocate, Mrs. Florence Gaither; Southeastern Christian Advocate, Mrs. Madison Swadener; Central Christian Advocate, Mrs. L. M. Potts; California Christian Advocate, Mrs. J. E. Piatt; Pacific Christian Advocate, Miss Olla Davis; Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, Mrs. Geo. Alexander; Michigan Christian Advocate, Mrs. Geo. A. Palmer; Zion's Herald, Mrs. H. L. Hardy; Epworth Herald, Miss Muriel Day; Wisconsin Advocate, Miss Ruth Wheaton.

Mrs. Geo. A. Palmer, Chairman of Tellers, read the list of Tellers which were approved as follows: Mrs. J. E. A. Bucke, Central Pennsylvania Conference; Mrs. Daisy B. Taylor, South Carolina; Mrs. F. T. Benson, Baltimore; Mrs. O. F. Schultz, Chicago Northwest; Mrs. A. T. Bishop, Des Moines; Mrs. M. A. Farr, Indiana; Mrs. M. B. Hawes, Michigan; Mrs. H. S. Earle, Detroit; Mrs. Bert L. Story, Nebraska; Mrs. E. F. Hilkert, North Indiana; Mrs. Julia G. Lydick, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Frank E. Bush, St. Louis; Mrs. Fannie Lynch, Southwest Kansas; Mrs. Karl Winter, New York East.

Mrs. W. R. Brown presented the Auditor's report.

Mrs. J. H. Freeman, Treasurer, read her Annual Report and the report for the Jubilee gifts. She announced that $1,026,481 had been received as Jubilee gifts up to the present.

Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff, Corresponding Secretary, read a portion of her report from the condensed report which will be found in detail elsewhere in the Annual Report.

At the close of her report Mrs. Woodruff said that after twenty-two years as a member of the Board of Trustees she wished to express her admiration and love of those associated with her on that Board. She said that sixteen years ago she was called to the present office and that there comes a time in every life when tasks must be laid aside; such a time had now come, and she asked that her name should not be used in the election for the office of Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. W. R. Brown, in a few well-chosen words, told how Mrs. Woodruff had led us all in our organization and said: "In view of the long and outstanding service of our retiring Corresponding Secretary, I move that Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff be made an officer-emeritus of the Board of Managers, with voice and vote in the Annual Meeting and expenses paid." Motion carried.

The President, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, delivered her address. (See pages 77-81.)

Mrs. M. C. Slutes moved that the program as printed become the official program of this convention. It was so voted.

Mrs. Ladru Layton, General Chairman of the Convention, was introduced and made announcements.

Bishop Leonard pronounced the benediction.

Another similar program was given in the Scottish Rite Room at the same time as the one above, with Miss E. Jean Oram, Vice-President, presiding.

At the close of the afternoon sessions, ballots for the four general officers were deposited in the new ballot boxes in the lobby.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 8, 1930

The evening session which was held in Taft Auditorium was preceded by a musical program rendered by the College of Music of Cincinnati. At 7.30, sixteen young women dressed in white, bearing in their hands palm branches led the processional in which the trustees, department secretaries, chairmen of standing committees, editors, publisher, field secretaries, bishops, board representatives, fraternal delegates and city representatives marched to the platform.

Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, the National President, presided. Dr. James Thomas, pastor of Hyde Park Methodist Episcopal Church, led the devotions.

Greetings were brought to the convention by the Hon. Russell Wilson, Mayor of Cincinnati. Having had his early religious training in old Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, where the work of The Woman's Home Missionary Society was started, he said, "I feel that I can, as no other, bring greetings and bid you welcome to your home-coming." In closing, he said, "If the advantage gained is to be maintained, The Woman's Home Missionary Society must continue to carry on the wonderful program started by Mrs. Hartzell and others in those early days."

Mrs. W. A. R. Bruehl, Jr., president of the Woman's Department Federation of Churches, brought cordial greetings from the women of the churches in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Ladru Layton, president of the Ohio Conference, welcomed the convention to Cincinnati, the birthplace of the Society, in the name of over thirty-eight thousand women belonging to the Ohio Conference. Since this was a "home-coming," she begged us not to be strangers, nor to look upon those whom she represented as strangers, but friends, sisters, and co-workers.

The response to the gracious words of welcome was given by the national President.

Mrs. Theodore Henderson, widow of the late Bishop Henderson and the official hostess, Bishop M. W. Clair, of the Covington Area; Bishop and Mrs. Thirkield, Bishop and Mrs. Anderson, and Bishop and Mrs. Leonard were introduced to the audience.

Dr. W. S. Bovard, secretary of the Board of Education, and Dr. N. E. Davis, secretary of the Board of Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work, brought greetings from the boards they represent, and each congratulated the Society for its fifty years of splendid achievements which would mean trained leadership in the religious life of the church.

Greetings were also brought by Dr. E. C. Wareing, editor of the Western Christian Advocate; Dr. J. A. Diekmann, president of Bethesda Hospital, Cincinnati; Miss Blanche Tudor, of the Woman's Committee of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church; Mrs. J. Hurd, Presbyterian Missionary Society; Mrs. G. E. Bartlett, American Baptist Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. Nellie F. Smith, fraternal delegate from Woman's Board Evangelical Church; Mrs. Renwer, National Board of Evangelical Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. Clarence Snyder, Woman's Free Methodist Church Missionary Society; Miss Alice E. Bell Missionary Society of United Brethren Church in Christ; Mrs. B. B. Craven, Woman's Missionary Society of Reformed Church in United States; Mrs. M. E. Coleman, Connectional Missionary Society of the Colored Methodists; Mrs. J. W. Thompson, Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Protestant Church; Mrs. J. C. Handy, Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Mrs. B. M. Shaw, President of the Woman's Guild of Brewster Hospital; Mrs. W. H. Alexander, Law Enforcement Committee; Mrs. Robins Gilman, of the Federated Council of Motion Pictures; Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, president of The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Following these gracious felicitations Mrs. Ann Kaufman Brown sang, "The Great Awakening."

Mrs. Goode announced that many congratulatory messages had been received from those unable to be present themselves or to send representatives. Among them was a message from Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who regretted her inability to be present inasmuch as the first President of the Society had been the wife of a President of the United States.

The principal address of the evening was given by Bishop Wm. F. Anderson, of Boston Area. He greatly deplored the decline in the spiritual life of the people in many lands and pictured our duty as a Christian people to assume the leadership of the world, praying that the Spirit of our fathers might come upon us and thus fit us for a better leadership.

After the prayer and benediction by Bishop Matthew W. Clair, the meeting adjourned.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 9, 1930

THE morning session following the customary "Morning Watch," under the leadership of Mrs. S. W. Graffin, was opened by Mrs. W. H. C. Goode.

After singing the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," Mrs. E. W. Mathews led in prayer.

The Chairman of Tellers, Mrs. Geo. A. Palmer, was recognized and brought the report of the ballot for the four General Officers of the Society, as follows: President, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, 342; Recording Secretary, Mrs. J. Luther Taylor, 337; Treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Freeman, 346. There was no election for Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. V. F. DeVinny and Mrs. D. B. Brummitt received the highest number of votes. Mrs. Brummitt, upon a question of personal privilege, withdrew her name from the voting list. Ballots were again cast for Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. J. Luther Taylor, Recording Secretary, then read greetings from Mrs. William F. McDowell. Upon the request of Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Goode read the letter of greeting to the Convention from the wife of the President of the United States as follows:

"My dear Mrs. Goode: I am very happy to send you and The Woman's Home Missionary Society my word of greeting and congratulation on this occasion of your fiftieth anniversary meeting.

"I feel it an especial privilege to carry on the long tradition of good will between your Association and this house, begun by your beloved Lucy Webb Hayes and continuing, we hope, far into the future.

"I regret that I may not be in Ohio again so soon that I may accept your cordial invitation to attend your meeting.

"Most sincerely yours,

"Lou Henry Hoover. September 26, 1930."

Mrs. Woodruff moved that the President send reply to this note. Motion carried.

Other greetings were read from the following: Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Fisher, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mrs. F. F. Lindsay, vice-president Woman's Foreign Missionary Society; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Edwards, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions; Louisa T. Davis, president Woman's Auxiliary Virginia Branch of the Protestant Episcopal Church; Miss Emma Jessie Ogg, secretary of the Women of Presbyterian Board of National Missions; Miss Florence E. Quinlan, executive secretary Council of Women for Home Missions; Mrs. Lillian Leonard Antrim; Bishop Charles F. Mead; Bishop E. G. Richardson; Bishop Charles Wesley Burns; Mrs. J. B. Sands, Women's General Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church; Baltimore Branch of The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in session at Cumberland, Maryland; Miss Florence Hooker, treasurer The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society; Dr. R. E. Diffendorfer, secretary Board of Foreign Missions; Dr. John W. Langdale, book editor.

It was moved and carried that the Recording Secretary reply to these congratulatory letters.

Mrs. Bent Wilson brought the report of the Committee on Constitution and By-laws as follows: Reference is to Annual Report 1928-29.

Constitution for Conference Societies—

Page 301. Article V—Business Committee.

Amend by inserting, "The Conference Secretary of Young People and the Conference Secretary of Junior Work" so it shall read: There shall be a Business Committee composed of the four Conference Executive Officers, the Conference Secretary of Young People, the Conference Secretary of Junior Work, and such other members as shall be elected by the Conference Executive Board, provided there shall be a minimum of seven members, who shall care for the interests of Conference work in the interim of Conference Board meetings, and who may function as Trustees unless other provision has been made.

Constitution for District Societies—

Amend to read: "On or before June 15, there shall be an Annual Meeting for the election of officers and the transaction of such other business as may be of interest to the Society. Retiring officers shall close and report to the Conference officers the work of the current year. Incoming officers, upon election, become members of the Conference Executive Board, and shall project the work for the coming year."

The above changes had been presented in 1929 and had taken the usual course. By motion, they were approved.

By-laws, National—
Page 299. Article X—Standing Committees.

Sec. 5. Education and Personnel.

Several minor changes were made and the following new article submitted: New (c) "A physical examination shall be required of any missionary who has been on leave of absence for nine or more months and wishes to return for work in The Woman's Home Missionary Society." Approved.

Mrs. A. C. Ludy, Chairman of Credentials, gave the report on the revised list of voters adding seven to the number already reported. This brought the voting body to 382. The President remarked that this was the largest voting body the Board of Managers had ever had.

Under the general topic, "The Church Woman in Civic Life," Miss Ada Townsend, Secretary of Christian Citizenship, spoke on the duty of every Christian woman to be well informed on civic matters and to use the ballot to secure worthy officials.

Mrs. W. H. Alexander, of the Law Enforcement Committee of Ohio, brought to the attention of the Convention the glaring inconsistencies of the wet propagandists, and urged constant vigilance and activity on the part of Christian womanhood.

Mrs. Robbins Gilman, president of Federal Motion Picture Council of America, urged the support of the Hudson Bill.

Mrs. Wilbur P. Thirkield, Chairman of the Committee on National Policies, in a few well-chosen words, urged the Christian women to be active in all civic reforms touching prohibition, racial understanding, and moving-picture evils. She then introduced a resolution in support of President Hoover in his splendid attitude toward these vital matters. This resolution was adopted by a rising vote and the following telegram was sent:

"Over four hundred thousand members through their representatives in Cincinnati at the Golden Anniversary of The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, send you greetings and pledges of loyalty and support in the great issues that are coming before you and the national problems of serious import."

The following visitors were then introduced to the Convention: Mrs. Joseph Berry, Dr. Arthur Staples, Bishop and Mrs. W. F. Anderson, Mrs. William B. Oliver, Mrs. Mary Fisk Park, Mrs. Bishop Camphor, Mrs. Charles Wesley Burns, Mrs. Theodore Henderson, and Mrs. Charles Fox, of The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

Mrs. Goode then introduced Dr. Rollin H. Walker, professor of Bible at Ohio Wesleyan University, who brought to the convention the message for the noontide hour.

Dr. Walker urged that the psalmist taught us that if we had a grievance against God, we were to take that grievance to him in prayer and that in so doing "Clamors would end in benediction."

Mrs. Wilbur P. Thirkield and Mrs. Geo. O. Robinson, upon a question of personal privilege, withdrew their names from active participation in the elections of the Society.

Upon the motion of Mrs. Balsinger, who said she had been present when both these splendid women had been elected President years gone by, which was seconded by Mrs. M. M. Northrup, these women were made officers-emeritus of the Board of Managers with expenses paid and voice and vote in the body.

His Scripture lesson was a reading from the Book of Job, beginning, "Where shall wisdom be found and where is the place of understanding," closing with the words, "Wisdom is better than rubies and all things that may be desired are not to be compared to her." This was followed by an earnest prayer for the work and the workers that the workers might be thoroughly consecrated to the things of the Spirit and alive to every opportunity to bring into this old sin-stained world the blessing, the joy, and the peace of the kingdom of God.

A very interesting demonstration of work among Negro children of pre-school age in Friendship Home Nursery School of Cincinnati was given. Mrs. H. R. THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 9, 1930

An impressive processional of fifty missionaries, preceded by the Court of Honor bearing symbolic emblems—trumpets, torches, candelabras, each missionary carrying an open Bible, came to the platform as the ministers and their wives of Cincinnati District sang the Stewardship Hymn, written by Dr. Ralph Cushman and dedicated to The Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, was introduced. He dwelt upon the vast amount of criticism, from various sources, coming upon the church this very hour. He paid a great tribute to the women who were working in hard places, isolated places, and even dangerous places, attempting to clean up sections of our fair land and lay strong foundations of the church. He felt the women of The Woman's Home Missionary Society were working in the midst of great difficulty, but they should ever keep before them the fact that they were working with a great God and a powerful Christ who has promised to be with them.

Dr. Kohlstedt closed the service with the benediction.

Miss E. Jean Oram, as a member of the Joint Commission of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies, read a report of the findings of that Commission.

World Service was presented by Rev. Ralph Ward, D.D., of Chicago.

He has never felt any doubt of the loyalty of the women of the two missionary societies to the cause of World Service, for we are all engaged in the one great task of saving the world, and there should be no rivalry. When Dr. Ward announced that there had been a slump in World Service this year, consternation filled all hearts, and it was voted that during the remaining days of this session and the month of October we unite with Dr. Ward and his office workers in five minutes of silent prayer, at eleven o'clock each day, for Divine help in this hour of stress.

The demonstration on the project for 1930 gave the Society the assurance that the juniors would assume gladly and willingly the appropriation given for the work for the new year in the West Indies.

Miss Ida Kahlo, Secretary of the Field Department, gave her report, which showed many difficulties under which field secretaries work.

Mrs. D. B. Brummitt introduced the court of honor and Mrs. E. W. Mathews who was the originator of the beautiful processions. Mrs. Mathews introduced Mrs. C. E. Turley and Mrs. B. Gammons who had so ably assisted her.

A demonstration by all bureau secretaries followed.

Miss Alma Mathews, for many years a missionary at Ellis Island, said she could not hear what was going on at the Convention but was very thankful that she could both see and feel.

Miss Marie Pletzer, who is working at the pier where Miss Mathews worked so long, related several experiences, telling of a Scotch woman who had found the missionary a friend and said, "God has his angels even in America."

Miss Katherine Maurer, "Angel of Angel Island," as she is called, was next introduced. She asked that we remember the "Bible Fund" by means of which over five thousand Bibles had been distributed during the year.

The Chairman of Tellers was recognized and reported that Mrs. F. C. Reynolds had received 212 votes and she was declared thirteenth Trustee by the President, Mrs. Goode.

After the announcements, Dr. C. B. Spencer, editor of the Central Christian Advocate pronounced the benediction.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 13, 1930

THE Monday afternoon session opened at two o'clock with Mrs. W. H. C. Goode presiding. After singing our Jubilee hymn, Bishop Matthew W. Clair, of the Covington Area, conducted devotions, reading the eighty-fourth Psalm. He stressed the note of implicit faith in God.

Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff requested the privilege of introducing Miss Emma Williams, of Washington Conference. She is the auxiliary delegate and represented the auxiliary having the largest per cent increase in membership.

Mrs. Anna L. Zook, of the Bureau of Negro Work in Florida and Georgia, introduced representatives of her bureau, Miss Jeanette Lehman, superintendent of Haven Home; Miss Georgia Hurd, principal of Haven School, who was a product of Haven, and Miss Lavinia Russell, assistant superintendent at Thayer Home. They spoke of the high ideals possessed by students and the fine religious atmosphere of the homes.

Mrs. J. J. Oeder then introduced from the bureau of Alaska, Miss Olive Beedle, of Jesse Lee Home, who spoke of the prayer life in the home, their love for the women of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, and said that every child in the home has made a definite decision for Christ.

Mrs. Edwin Sebring introduced her bureau representatives; Mrs. F. A. Hendricks, of Rebecca McClesky, who in turn introduced one of her girls who sang one of the songs of the Southland.

Miss Ethel Harpst, a product of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, who has given sixteen years of work to the Society, introduced her by-products, Jack Atha and Wallace Green. Both have given themselves to the ministry.

Mrs. F. L. Davis then introduced her bureau representative Miss Maude Norling, superintendent of Epworth Schools for Girls. Miss Norling gave us a glimpse of the neglected girl and plead for personal workers to go out into the homes of these girls.

Miss Muriel Day, Secretary of Education and Personnel and Life Service, introduced twenty-five of the students and each gave a brief message of their love and appreciation of The Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Mrs. H. T. Wood, of Walnut Hills Church, Cincinnati, was introduced as a life member of The Woman's Home Missionary Society since 1881.

Greetings were read from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Lexington, Ky., who are celebrating also at this time their jubilee, also greetings from Bishop and Mrs. Burt who regretted their inability to be present at our Jubilee.

Mrs. Annie H. Woodcock, Junior Department, asked that her name be not considered in the voting for Secretary for the coming year.

The story of a "Great Undertaking" was presented in five decades. Mrs. W. H. Harford represented the decade 1880-90; Mrs. Carl Beckberger, 1890-1900; Miss Cartes Swartz, 1900-1910; Miss Ruth Wheaton, 1910-1920, and Miss Ethel Harpst, 1920-1930. Each woman representing her particular decade was attired in a costume belonging to that period.

Miss Mary Alice Williams, a Queen Esther, gave the prophecy of 1930-1940, and pledged the support of the youth of our church to this great Society and the undertaking which has been carried on so magnificently by the women in the past five decades.

Dr. D. Green, of Indiana Conference, closed the meeting with the benediction.

A similar program was conducted in the Scottish Rite room, with Mrs. W. P. Thirkield, Vice-President, presiding.

At 4.30 o'clock, the women of the Convention assembled on the roof garden of the Gibson Hotel, where they enjoyed a high tea. They were dressed in 1880 costumes, the President, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, wearing an exact replica of the gown of Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 13, 1930

THE First Vice-President, Miss E. Jean Oram, called the session to order introducing the Bennett College Quartet who sang "Perhaps," "Let Us Break Bread Together," and "Lord, I'm Troubled."

The opening prayer was made by Miss Mary Bell, deaconess.

Dr. Jonathan B. Hawk, associate editor of the Adult Bible Class Monthly, leading the devotional service, used Acts 10 as a lesson to verify his thoughts that God is our Father and we are his children.

While the audience sang "America, the Beautiful" the court of honor led the procession of many races and nations to the platform.

"What I have received and what shall I give in return?" was the theme which the following representatives of the various nationalities brought in three-minute talks: Miss Anna Sipek, Czech, retired missionary; Philomena Boccardo, Italian, graduate of Lucy Webb Hayes Training School; Josephine Garcia, Mexican, graduate of Frances DePauw School; Mr. Isaac Greyearth, Indian, religious work director at Flandreau, S. D., and Pipestone, Minn.; Miss Flora Cho, Korean, graduate of Susannah Wesley Home and Kansas City National Training School; Teresa Gatson, Negro, Boylan Home; LaVere O'Mealy, Irish, teacher in Unity Mission; Ethel Vanek, Czech, graduate of McCrum; Miss Pearl Conn, mountaineer, student at Aiken Hall; Miss Rena Jung and Mildred Louie, from the Chinese Home.

The quartet from Bennett College sang "My Task."

Miss Oram then introduced Dr. H. E. Woolever, D.D., editor National Methodist Press, Washington, D. C. He spoke of this group of many races on the platform as a bouquet of "American Beauties."

Mrs. Goode made the announcements for the last day of the convention and named the following Findings Committee: Miss Ada Townsend, Mrs. W. P. Thirkield and Mrs. S. S. Beggs.

Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Woolever.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14, 1930

THE Morning Watch service was held in Wesley Chapel in charge of Mrs. Samuel Grafflin.

Mrs. W. H. C. Goode called the meeting to order in Taft Auditorium and Mrs. Margaret P. Betterly led in the singing, followed by prayer by Mrs. C. P. Colegrove.

Mrs. G. A. Palmer, Chairman of Tellers, was recognized and gave her report as follows: Mrs. C. P. Colegrove, 172, as fourteenth Trustee; Miss Hannah P. Miller, 238 as Secretary of the Young People's Department, and Mrs. J. W. Dowds 227 as Secretary of the Junior Department. These were declared elected and introduced to the Convention.

The group of Junior secretaries presented the following recommendation: Recognizing the benefit and inspiration which has come to the work of The Woman's Home Missionary Society by the fine consecration and efficiency which has always characterized the life and work of Mrs. Annie Hobbs Woodcock, we have the feeling that her wise counsel and continued presence at our Annual Meeting will insure the further success of the work to which she has given many years, the last seventeen of which were graciously given to the Junior Department, we move that Mrs. Woodcock be made Secretary-emeritus with voice and vote and expenses to our Annual Meetings of the Board of Managers.

It was explained that the "Officer-Emeritus" applied only to the four General Officers of the Society and by motion this was referred to the Committee on Constitution and By-laws.

Mrs. E. Y. King, retiring Secretary of the Supply Department, made a brief report. She stated that the value of supplies had increased from $55,000 to $291,000 during her administration.

Mrs. J. Luther Taylor, Secretary, read recommendations from the Board of Trustees as follows:

1. Inasmuch as the finances of the National and Conference Organizations must be considered by the Board of Trustees at the April meeting, following the appropriations by the Treasury Committee in March, we recommend that all requests for new or extended National or conference work be submitted to the Board of Trustees at the January meeting.

2. That field secretaries desiring to be enrolled as missionaries be included in the list of accredited missionaries provided they meet the requirement provided in the By-laws. Approved.

3. Recommended that we have a probationary training period for field secretaries, before they are enrolled as regular field secretaries. Approved.

4. Art. X. Standing Committees, Sec. 5.

(e) former (b) Insert in first line "an enrolled missionary."

(f) former (c) No change.

(g) former (d) No change.

5. The following changes in organization and procedure of the Supply Department are recommended for the following reasons (1) by the new method of budgeting of supplies the work will be greatly simplified; (2) the representatives of the Rural Department of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension and the Bureau of Negro Work of that board have consented to review ministerial appeals; and also because three conference, district, and auxiliaries have recommended in their survey questionnaires that (a) supplies be budgeted; (b) that all funds go through the regular channels of finance; (c) that requests for supplies be sent from one source to the conference, and (d) a more simple uniform method than that now followed be evolved.

Supply Department. (1) That the Department of Supplies be discontinued and the supervision and distribution of supplies be placed under the direction of a Standing Committee on Supplies; such Committee on Supplies to be a Standing Committee of the Board of Managers. Carried.

2. That the funds required for the purchase of linen, silver, and dishes for the institutions of the Society be included in the regular budgets of the institutions; be apportioned to the conferences as are salaries, current expense, and building funds; be paid through the regular channels of finance to the National Treasury, and disbursed to the bureau secretaries of institutions to meet requisitions which have been submitted by the bureau secretaries and approved by the Committee on Treasury and Appropriations. Carried.

Carried.

7. That the name of the Western Bureau, City Missions, be changed to Northwestern Bureau, City Missions. Carried.

8. That there be a rearrangement of Negro Work, eliminating West Southern States and Mississippi and adding cooperation with the Board of Education. Carried.

9. That the name for White Work be changed to "Mountaineer Work."
Carried.

Mrs. W. Bent Wilson, Chairman of the Committee on Constitution and By-laws, presented the following changes in Constitution which were referred to take the usual course and be voted on at the next Annual Meeting.

Page 288, National, Art. VI. Board of Managers. Change to read: "Assistant Editors"; and eliminate "Editor of the Annual Report."

Page 289, Article X. Membership and Dues, Sec. 3. It is recommended to combine (c) and (d) making a new (c), so it shall read: The payment of one dollar annually for a deceased friend will constitute a memorial membership. The payment of thirty dollars at one time into the General Fund shall constitute a Perpetual Memorial membership.

Page 306, Article VII. Amend to read: The Treasurer in all conferences having district organizations the district treasurer shall handle all funds. She shall send all money, except the district Contingent Fund, to the conference treasurer the last of each month. She shall disburse the district Contingent Fund upon the order of the president and corresponding secretary, reporting the amount by voucher to the conference treasurer.

A recommendation from the conference treasurer's group was presented as follows: In order to eliminate voucher credit, we recommend that all funds used for expenses of carrying on the work in the conference be sent to the National Treasurer who will return same to the conference treasurer to be expended. This refers to Contingent Fund and Administration or Extension Fund. Carried.

By motion, this recommendation was approved and each conference will vote whether this suggestion should be carried down to the auxiliary.

Mrs. W. H. Dangle, Chairman of the Committee on Minutes, reported the minutes of the sessions up to Sunday evening had been read and approved by the committee. Their report was by motion accepted.

Mrs. S. J. Turner, Chairman of the Place of Annual Meeting, introduced Northern Minnesota representatives. Mrs. Leslie Keyes, president of the conference, extended an invitation to meet in Wesley Church, Minneapolis. This invitation was gratefully accepted.

Mrs. Ruth Mougey Worrell, who wrote the pageant which is to be presented Tuesday night and dedicated it to The Woman's Home Missionary Society, was introduced.

Mrs. E. W. Mathews, Chairman of the Committee on Stewardship, announced that Mrs. J. R. Maffee, Miss Boosett, and Mrs. C. F. Hood were the winners in the May Leonard Woodruff Essay Contest. She told of some of the plans for next year and said that the two Women's Societies cooperating with Dr. Luther E. Lovejoy would present a unified program on stewardship to the entire church.

Mrs. Poundstone, of the Supply Department, presented a corsage bouquet to Mrs. E. Y. King, of the Department, and Mrs. Woodruff nominated Mrs. E. Y. King as Honorary Vice-President.

Recommendations were presented by the representatives of the various sectional conferences. These were by motion referred to the Board of Trustees to be referred to the proper committees for consideration.

The Chairman of Tellers was recognized at this time and reported no election and another ballot was taken.

Bishop McDowell was introduced at this time.

The Chairman of the Constitution and By-law Committee, Mrs. Wilson, presented the following:

Page 290, Article I, Sec. 2 (b) To amend the By-law by inserting "Officer-Emeritus" before "Board of Trustees."

Miss Oram gave a brief report for the Committee on Blanks.

Mrs. U. B. Gillette, Chairman of the Committee on Courtesies, introduced Dr. Wm. R. McCormack, of Pittsburg, Kansas; Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Fifer, superintendent of Indianapolis District, and Dr. Carroll, Washington, D. C.

Bishop McDowell led in the noontide devotions.

The Chairman of Tellers was recognized and reported Mrs. John W. Lowe received 209 votes. The President declared Mrs. Lowe elected the fifteenth Trustee. Ballots were distributed and deposited as the delegates left the room.

Bishop McDowell pronounced the benediction and the meeting was dismissed.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 14, 1930

THE session was called to order by the President, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode. As a bugler played the Jubilee song, "Rejoice, Rejoice," two court of honor girls brought in the Treasure Chest, two carried in the candles and two girls lighted the candles.

The devotions were led by Rev. Geo. C. Douglass, who gave an optimistic outlook for the church, closing with prayer.

Mr. Howard Hafford at this time delighted the audience with the solo "Come, Ye Blessed."

The bugler played "Lead On, O King Eternal" as a processional of the court of honor, carrying gold crosses, alabaster boxes, sheaves of wheat and horns of plenty; corresponding secretaries in white bearing gold shields on arms with the name of the conference and number of gold certificates; givers or representatives of donors of the thousand-dollar gifts, Mrs. Thirkield, Mrs. Freeman, and Mrs. Brummitt marched down the center aisles and onto the platform.

Mrs. Thirkield called the roll of the thousand-dollar gifts and the givers or representatives came forward and placed checks in the Treasure Chest.

It was reported that gifts placed in the chest during the meeting up to this time amounted to $2,405 in small gifts.

Mrs. Brummitt and Mrs. Freeman stood in the center of the stage and two lines of conference corresponding secretaries passed by them, and as they passed these women alternated in announcing the number of gold certificates from each conference. The total of one-hundred-dollar gold certificates was announced as $376,400.

Mrs. Brummitt at this time gave the story of the Jubilee, paying a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Geo. O. Robinson, Mrs. Mary Fisk Park, Mrs. Wilbur Thirkield, Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff, and Mrs. I. D. Jones as pioneers still living.

Mrs. J. H. Freeman was introduced and gave the "Growth of a Business Organization." She said that the wealth of a bank is not in its fine building, not its burglar protection, but in the integrity of its officials. So it is in The Woman's Home Missionary Society: not in buildings but in its womanhood. Fifty million dollars in the past fifty years is the report of the Treasurer.

Mrs. Brummitt, in closing the Jubilee, announced that a song had been written for the Jubilee by Mrs. Pennypacker, of Philadelphia, and it was sung at this time by one of the members of the quartet from Bennett College.

Mrs. Bertha May McKinney, corresponding secretary of Trinity Church, Cincinnati, read her own poem on the "Fifty Beautiful Years."

Mrs. W. H. C. Goode spoke of the inception of the Jubilee plan and how Mrs. D. B. Brummitt was chosen by the Board of Trustees as Chairman of the Jubilee Committee and presented Mrs. Brummitt with a corsage of roses and a gift in token of their appreciation of her services.

She then introduced Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff and spoke of the time Mrs. Woodruff was first elected national Corresponding Secretary and presented her also with a corsage and gift from the Trustees.

A student, representing the group of students from our homes and schools, presented Mrs. Goode, as national President, with thirty-six beautiful roses, one from each student present, as an appreciation of the privilege of attending the convention.

Mr. H. V. Bice expressed the appreciation of the missionaries and deaconesses for the privilege of being present at the Jubilee Meeting.

The Chairman of the Committee on Findings, Miss Ada Townsend, presented the following report:

Despite the fact that this is a Committee on Findings, and not on Courses, we cannot refrain from expressing the thanks and appreciation of the delegates and visitors to the chairman and members of the Ohio Conference for their perfect achievement in the difficult task set before them in caring for the needs and comforts of this mammoth gathering. We have been magnificently housed, well fed, and efficiently served. Best of all, we could both see and hear. No one who has attended even one session could fail to join in this an expression of thanks for the beautiful achievement of Ohio Conference.

We desire also to voice the congratulations of the entire body to the Program Committee for the success attendant upon their efforts to present to the Society the results of its fifty years of service. This has been marked, not only in the matter, but in the manner of presentation, especially in the beauty and impressiveness of the pageantry and demonstrations.

It is evident even to a casual observer that certain outstanding features have dominated the thinking of the convention.

1. A deeply spiritual note, voicing repeated calls to lay down one's living life for a real and personal Friend.

2. A pronounced desire to cooperate with other agencies of our own and other churches.

3. The telling exhibit of the achievements of the Society's fifty years of service in the person of the missionaries, graduates, and students of its homes and schools. Their personalities have filled us with satisfaction and thankfulness; their ability and attainments have been a continued source of pride in the present and inspiration for the future.

Your committee would call special attention to the evidence they have presented of far-sighted vision of the future; of willingness to shoulder the burdens we must soon lay down, and of consecration to the Master's service. We recognize in them and their fellows their character and achievement, the real harvest of our sowing through these fifty years.

4. The constantly recurring call to realization of civic responsibility. We desire to move adoption of the report of the Committee on National Policies, presented on Thursday morning and printed in Friday's Daily. This report includes:

(a) Study of the issues of the day, including the universal quota plan for immigration;

(b) Participation in the movement for better motion pictures;

(c) Continued effort to relieve the condition of children in industry, and to better race relations;

(d) Unequivocal endorsement of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

(e) Entry of the United States into the World Court.

Not only do we move adoption of this report, but we desire to incorporate into it the following:

We pledge ourselves and urge our membership not only to study, but actively to participate in elections and in other efforts to improve legislation along these and similar lines.

Respectfully submitted,

ADA TOWNSEND,

MARY HAVEN THIRKIELD,

ANNA O. BEGGS,

Committee.

Mrs. Goode spoke of the activity of the public press in favor of wet propaganda asking a rising vote of those making protest against a wet press. A pledge from the delegated body to go to the polls and vote for dry candidates was made at this time.

Mrs. Maize introduced some missionaries from her bureau who had not been presented to the Convention, and the President introduced workers from the Bureau for Children's Homes.

The Recording Secretary brought the following recommendation from the Board of Trustees:

That in order to simplify the work of the Deaconess Department, especially in its relation to other administrations of the church, action be taken to reorganize the Deaconess Department by eliminating the four bureaus and that the administration of the Deaconess Department be under the secretary of the Department and the secretary of Personnel with the department committee. The recommendation was approved.

The President announced at this time that Mrs. Foss Zartman, having received 156 votes, was elected the sixteenth Trustee.

Bishop McDowell spoke first as senior bishop than as a representative of the Board of Bishops, then for the whole church when he said not only "nothing against you" but "well done, good and faithful servant, Enter into the joy of thy Lord."

The Recording Secretary read the nominations of the Board of Trustees for department and bureau secretaries and Standing Committees, and by motion, each officer was voted on and elected. (See list in Annual Report.)

The Recording Secretary presented the following motion which was carried by a rising vote of the Convention: that the sincere love and deep appreciation for the splendid service they have rendered the Society through many years be expressed by a rising vote of the Board of Managers to the retiring officers: Mrs. May Leonard Woodruff, Mrs. W. P. Thirkield, Mrs. Geo. O. Robinson, Mrs. Wm. F. Anderson, Mrs. S. A. Winold, Mrs. Annie H. Woodcock, Mrs. R. R. Fairchild, Mrs. R. B. Nay, Mrs. H. S. Hollingsworth, Mrs. C. A. Carlisle, Mrs. E. Y. King, Mrs. Geo. E. Backus, Mrs. S. A. Riker, Mrs. John H. Race, Mrs. E. M. Mills, and Mrs. E. L. Knostman.

The Recording Secretary read the names of the officers, department and bureau secretaries, and chairmen of standing committees, editors, publisher, and field secretaries. They were called to the platform for the installation service conducted by Bishop McDowell.

After the benediction by Bishop McDowell the meeting adjourned.

TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 14, 1930

THE climax of the Golden Jubilee Anniversary was reached in the beautiful pageant "Fifty Years Victorious," written and directed by Mrs. Ruth Mougey Worrell. More than twelve hundred persons participated in the pageant. The prologue depicted the Day of Pentecost and the events of that day formed the background for the great missionary program of to-day.

The chorus of the pageant was assembled and directed by Miss Edna R. Kirgan and the organist was Mrs. Lillian Tyler Plogstedt.

The Project Picture was presented for the last time and "Looking Backward" we saw the group of women who had been the founders of this organization as well as groups from all walks of life who have been helped by this same organization.

After the Project Picture had been fully developed "Youth" was summoned. Mrs. Brummitt, as the Spirit of the Jubilee, gave the command which turned off the light on the Project Picture. She then handed the torch to Youth to carry forward. After the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus and a responsive benediction, Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, President, stepped from the panel of the Project Picture and declared the forty-ninth Annual Meeting of The Woman's Home Missionary Society adjourned.

Mrs. J. LUTHER TAYLOR,
Recording Secretary.

Annual Message of the President

MRS. W. H. C. GOODE

THE most enthralling piece of work which is given your President is the outlining of the program of the National Meeting, and at no time in the year is she quite so fearful of just how any proposal will appeal to the special committee and the members of the Board of Trustees as when she presents this child of hers for their approval and adoption, or their disapproval and disinheritance. Suppose the child is adopted by the committee and board, with only the addition of perhaps an arm or two or the elimination of an eye or an ear—then the work of clothing suitably the manikin—or the living child—and making it behave as you expect this child to behave is the work of the next eight months.

It is not an easy piece of work—sometimes she fears that the thing in her hands is not a living child—that it is either manikin or cadaver.

A certain peace of mind settles down upon your President when the last possible change has been made—the last garment adjusted and the last ornament placed. When no further demands for more or less space can be granted, when well or poorly done, the last benediction has been placed, then the future of the program depends upon the audience. The breath of life is in you.

You will notice in the program in your hands various features. We have tried to place the business in the morning. These sessions are of utmost importance. Every delegate will be in her own seat at every session and be ready to speak on subjects under discussion. This is a legislative body. The plans for the next year and the next decade will be decided by your vote. There may not be many definite plans laid before you, but you have the entire field open when you choose your officers for next year. In their hands not only will lie the duty of carrying out the plans which you make at this meeting, but of directing and guiding the entire constituency of twelve months.

Changes

Sometimes circumstances force an individual or an organization to change the plans of a quarter of a century to meet the need of a day and only a dead man or a statue never changes its viewpoint. So this year the board voted to change a few time-honored customs—one of which is the manner of electing officers. You have your ballots with you. You are to place the names of those for whom you wish to vote upon the ballot when you can do it thoughtfully. This is your time to express your wishes. A few changes in organization will be presented which are the result of the changing needs of our constituency. These you will have time to discuss.

There are several major ideas which dominated the committee in preparing the program. I have mentioned the business sessions. Usually at these business sessions the reports of all of the executive officers are read. This year, because the special function of the convention is the celebration of this fiftieth anniversary—the reports of all executives, except the Corresponding Secretary and the Treasurer, have been eliminated. They will be found in the Annual Meeting Daily and in the Annual Report.

The plan of the program has been to give our audience a picture of the work which is being carried on at present in our various institutions by means of demonstrations and stories by workers and to intersperse these present-day pictures with backward glances toward our honorable past. Many excellent addresses will be given from our platform, but all of them will bear upon the business of the Society and all will be inspiring and thought-provoking. They are expected to direct the planning of our national policies. Will you listen thoughtfully to these lectures and be ready to recommend definite action by the Board of Managers upon any matters which are discussed by the speakers?

Foremost in our plan for this meeting was that of bringing to our group an opportunity to go with inspired leaders into an upper room where, we pray, the spirit of Pentecost will descend upon us all, a new baptism of power and with it a sense of the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Unless we go back to our homes and our work with the sustaining companionship of this guide, the message of this meeting will not have reached us.

Will the influence of the golden moments in Trinity Church at the Holy Communion be dissipated? As I write these words I am looking forward to that hour when together we shall feel that indescribable touch of the life of the ages which flows through a group intent upon realizing God. God will be in his Temple.

"Lord Christ, let me but hold Thy hand
And all the rest may go;
For nothing is, but only seems,
And life is full of idle dreams
Until Thyself we know.
The whole wide world is naught beside
The wonder of Thy love,
And tho' my state be mean and strait;
Give me but heart to watch and wait,
And I have Treasure Trove."

You will find in this program not only the inspiration of coming together with a group intent upon realizing more definitely, more glowingly, more joyfully that gracious Presence, which testified convincingly that God can and will dwell in human hearts, but we hope you will be deeply convinced that the work which is being carried on by our Society was born of God and is directed by him.

You will see where mistakes have been made because we are women "of like passions" as yourselves. But because you see these weaknesses, please go to those whom you elect as leaders and make suggestions for changes.

Then in this program besides the spiritual and intellectual opportunities there are good times awaiting you, pleasant, friendly, visiting times when you may get better acquainted with your neighbors in Florida and California and Maine.

To-day we are asking: What is there new for our great organization? How can Methodist women do bigger and better service "for God and home and native land"? We have been raising large sums of money to erect and maintain schools, orphanages, homes for retired workers, and for other projects until our property value is estimated over $8,000,000. The results have proven that these trust funds have been wisely expended. You will see during these days students from most of our institutions. These girls and boys are sent by their own schools, elected by the student body with approval of the faculty, and the cost of travel has been raised by each institution. As you look into their faces and listen to their stories you may decide whether the work has paid. We expect these young people to have higher ideals because of this opportunity which has come to them.

May I just tell you also that this convention has not been a great expense. Ohio Conference is my "home town" so I know the family secrets. Cincinnati people have been so fine, so generous, so gracious, that when we ask for our bills we receive them marked "paid." We had to rent this building—but so many people have given their service. Think of the beautiful gift of the editor of the history which we shall carry home with us as our souvenir; of the wonderful pageant written and dedicated to the Society; think of the gift of the textbook, "Jesus and Our Pressing Problems," which we have been studying during this year; of the lectures which the superintendent of the Medical Mission has been giving to raise money for gold certificates; of the many deaconesses and missionaries who have saved pennies and dimes until they become dollars that they might come to this meeting, and bring with them their sacrificial gift. The beautiful Treasure Chest which will for many years annually receive our special love gifts, comes to us as the gift of the originator of the beautiful plan.

After the Jubilee, what? Oh, after the Jubilee a blessed succession of years when with His hand in our hand and His courage in our hearts we shall ride into the new half century of high adventure wielding the sword of Galahad, which is the sword of the Spirit. Out of the small things of yesterday into the great things of to-morrow. Out of the strivings of the past into the certainties of the future.

But let us deal not with figures of speech, but with Arabic numerals.

We have, in general terms, said that the first year of the post-Jubilee period should be Youth Year, and already we have started in auxiliaries and circles our study of youth in his various activities and of the adult life of our Society and church in its relation to the activities of youth and its co-operation with it. The purpose of this year's program is to give the young people in our Society and church some help in the business of everyday living and to give to our adult group an appreciation of youth and its problems.

For the young folk the endeavor will be to make them glad to undertake the greatest, the most romantic, the most thrilling adventure a God could conceive, the adventure of following that great Pioneer—Jesus Christ.

The resource materials for the program are not only found in the study course, the Queen Esther Guide, the official magazine, but in church and school, in business and in rest, in work and in play.

The effort is to make God more real and explicit in every area explored, in the study of the problems of to-day; the problems of industry, race relations, peace, desirable recreation, politics, the use of money. The better attitude in the whole of life's activities, and the necessity of both assuming it and making it popular is the wonderful challenge of 1930-31.

For 1931-32 the Junior Department will have even larger place than usual in the working plans of our organization. The entire question of the missionary education of our children will be under investigation. The importance of definite projects for correlated programs with the Sunday school and Junior League, as well as child-centered programs instead of society-centered as during the past. Shall we discard or intensify the organizational work of our Society? In some way the juniors in our church must be brought into closer contact with Him who said, "Unless you become as little children." They are ready to accept the beautiful truths of world friendship. Our children have the right to say—"We are asking for bread, will you give us a stone?" If the next generation of Methodist men and women are not more missionary-minded than the present generation, will not the fault lie at the door of the two women's organizations of our church? It is woman's hand both at home and in the church which molds the plastic clay of childhood.

We notice a loss in membership in this department of organization, but if this is loss only to the organization, we can stand it. If it means that fewer children are having opportunity to learn lessons of the Christ way of living then sin lieth at our door.

The problems which confront Methodist women this October day of 1930 are no fewer nor of easier solution than those which met the outlook of the women in 1880. Then the newly emancipated race needed education. To-day some of the best scholars of our country are from this group, so young in opportunity, so courageous in tearing down or climbing over the barriers of prejudice. We have given the Negro womanhood education equal to that of our own daughters, we have given all that we have to them in our effort to create a cultured, Christian home life. Now what is the next step? The Woman's Home Missionary Society must hold to its promise of sisterhood and ask for this group and for all other races and nationalities, an equal opportunity of self-expression. The fundamental principle of taking actual situations and realities into account must not be forgotten nor overlooked, but there must be no compromise of ideals in adopting methods to meet the limitations imposed by existing conditions. There is a need of a sympathetic attitude on the part of both groups.

National Policies

As I write, the evening's papers are announcing that the Republican State Convention of New York has put a wet plank into its party platform. We stand aghast that all over our land are men and women working for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. We have not read of a single carefully thought-out plan of the wet element for the sale of intoxicants if the law were abrogated. Certainly no one can honestly say that there would be less drinking of intoxicating beverages under such a condition. The only thing before us then as Christian women is to determinedly refuse to vote for any wet candidate or even for a man personally dry or voting dry who espouses the candidacy of a wet aspirant. That sort of dry candidate should not receive our votes—"They enslave their children's children who make compromise with sin."

So important is the duty of a thoroughly dry vote this fall that if every Ohio woman did not register on October 2 we shall excuse her to go back home and perform that duty on the ninth or eleventh so she may cast her ballot on November 4.

We shall bring to you those who can speak with the authority of years of study of the evils which threaten our nation and with suggested methods which we may use to counteract those evils. I pray that much good will come from our listening in. This Jubilee meeting should be measured not by the number of people in attendance but by the enthusiasm they express and by what they do on their own initiative and in their own communities after they return home.

So much has been said since the beginning of this post-war period about opportunity being given to youth for self-expression that we wonder if self-control will not soon become an obsolete term for a forgotten experience. Those of us who still believe with St. Paul that we must fight to win, can scarcely understand the great groups of youth who seem to feel that all that makes for self-expression and self-development is a determination to secure a new freedom in sex relations. Freedom for the individual has taken the place of freedom for the masses. The Woman's Home Missionary Society is trying to think with youth. We acknowledge with shame and humility that our generation has failed in many ways—war is a sin, we have taken part in the greatest war of all ages; poverty is a crime and poverty still exists; unemployment is an unforgivable condition, and unemployment is tremendously prevalent to-day. But what can we do beside repenting in sackcloth and ashes? "The wisdom in the ancient phrase, 'the great God liveth and never groweth old,' may save the situation if the generations pool their increasing knowledge." If we continue to unite our efforts with those who were really wise in those archaic and much-ridiculed Victorian years and firmly grasp the hand of adventurous youth and then high above all place both the star of Bethlehem and the cross of Calvary, we shall inevitably grope our way toward human brotherhood.

This meeting should bring to us a fresh realization of the ever widening scope of women's lives and a view of the task which confronts us. Then next year and the next will make unprecedented demands upon us. To-day only is with us. As we sit here quietly listening, are we also putting down in the unforgetting place in our hearts the message which will come to us day by day?

As we watch the demonstration, as we see the story of our fifty years unfold to us, may there come into our lives a growing experience of God, a deeper understanding of Jesus, a thoughtful scrutiny of the methods of our Society, a higher appreciation of human personality, a more inclusive fellowship for women of all races, of all creeds, of all social strata, a deeper and more serviceable love for our own church and for its missionary enterprises, a giving of ourselves and all we have and are to the worth-while task of establishing righteousness—right-doing, right-thinking, right-speaking—to the remotest corner of our land—

"Is your place a small place?
Tend it with care—
He set you there.

"Is your place a large place?
Guard it with care—
He set you there.

"Whate'er your place, it is
Not yours alone, but His
Who set you there."

Annual Report of the Corresponding Secretary

A REVIEW OF FIFTY YEARS' WORK OF THE WOMAN'S HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

MRS. MAY LEONARD WOODRUFF

ON ONE of the most beautiful seashore beaches in our country, where during the summer season many thousands of people assemble for recreation of both soul and body, there waves a great flag on which is inscribed—"In the beginning, God!" On that particular spot, through more than fifty years, the story of God's love and power has been proclaimed to those who knew him not in saving power, and to those who, knowing him as a personal Saviour, have been led into lives of deeper consecration and service in God's kingdom on the earth.

As we have come to the Golden Jubilee Anniversary of The Woman's Home Missionary Society we would unfurl a great crimson flag upon which in letters of gold we would inscribe the words—"In the beginning, God!" This organization did not originate in finite minds but in the infinite mind of God. Those leaders to whom he revealed the need for such an organization in the Methodist Episcopal Church were "not disobedient unto the heavenly vision!"

Once before God had called the women of Methodism to do exploits for him in other lands, among the multitudes who knew not God as Father, Jesus Christ as Saviour, and the Holy Spirit as Comforter, and they had responded valiantly; hence, he knew he could depend upon the women of Methodism when called to the same kind of exploits for him in the United States of America. Their response was—"For Love of Christ and in His Name" we will set up the banners of our God wherever the flag of our nation shall wave. While prophetic in this pledge, we doubt if those who responded so eagerly and persistently realized that this pledge would carry them to "Isles which had so long waited for His law." To-day we have the fruition of the early promise as we realize that not only in every State of the Union but in Alaska (1889-1892), Hawaii (1899), Porto Rico, Culebra and Vieques (1900), and Santo Domingo (1920), The Woman's Home Missionary Society has in the name of our God set up his banners, and to-day we of the past, present, and future generations renew the vow of fifty years ago as we pledge this great society of Christian womanhood, youth, and children to renewal of this solemn vow.

In Holy Writ we read: "We spend our years as a tale that is told." May not the same be true of organizations which have come into existence at the call of God? During the five years of the Jubilee period (1925-1930) of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, we have been studying the tale which the life of this organization has unfolded. We have studied its personnel, its plans, its purposes, its achievements, and the tale has been thrilling. We have a new conception of the reasons for which it was organized, and has been perpetuated for fifty years, and for which it must be continued until its plans and purposes shall have been fully achieved.

Plans and purposes have been builded into exploits and achievements. Can we not consider The Woman's Home Missionary Society as a great Building Company (Incorporated) for Time and Eternity?

Builders of Buildings

In the early history the need for buildings in which to conduct work became apparent. The first building erected was a small house called Fisk

Cottage, on the campus of Clark University, Atlanta, Ga., in 1883. Since that time more than two hundred (200) buildings have been erected, including buildings which have been acquired and necessarily repaired extensively or entirely rebuilt. Some of the institutions of the Society have more than one building to accommodate the work being conducted.

The property value, as reported in 1929-1930, was $7,022,779.93.

The one small building in 1882 accommodated a family of sixteen resident students, with seventy-five enrolled in "cooking and sewing classes." The buildings owned by the National Society housed in 1929-1930: 748 missionaries; 2,509 resident student body; 3,836 day students.

In addition to this enrollment the Deaconess Department reports (in connection with deaconess homes, settlements, and centers): 472 resident deaconesses; kindergarten children enrolled, 3,888; in week-day schools of religious education, 5,454, and in daily vacation Bible schools, 7,954.

In addition to these national and deaconess institutions, conference institutions (entirely supported by conference Woman's Home Missionary Societies with the approval of the national organization) have had the services of 470 missionaries and other workers, and have enrolled in homes and schools, as residents, 845 children (in children's homes) and young women (in Esther Halls and Friendship Homes); in kindergartens and daily vacation Bible schools, 3,463 children. There was, therefore, last year a total force in service with The Woman's Home Missionary Society of 1,690 missionaries, deaconesses, and other workers. If to this force were added the multitude of volunteer workers who serve without remuneration in many institutions and various activities, this number would be greatly increased.

Total residents in national and conference institutions, 3,354; total enrolled in kindergartens, daily vacation Bible schools, and schools of religious education, 24,595. These brief statistics are an unfolding of the exploits and achievements of the life of the organization both for time and eternity.

In the early days buildings were smaller and not equipped as are those of this day. To-day mission buildings must compare favorably—and must often compete—with buildings erected for like purposes, both as to construction and equipment. The day has long passed when just any sort of a building is good enough for such services for God and humanity as our buildings must furnish. These buildings must be prepared to meet the needs of the threefold demand of those who are to be developed physically, mentally, and spiritually.

Building Strong Physiques

In our early history but scant emphasis was laid upon the physical development of the girls and boys in our institutions. To-day we must meet this need of those who come to us with weakened physiques and with no knowledge of the sanctity of the human body. In God's out-of-doors, on playgrounds with supervised play; within our buildings, equipped with modern scientific gymnasiums, swimming pools, and other equipment, under the care of properly trained directors of physical culture, and trained nurses in homes, schools, and other institutions, we are building into children and young people physical health which shall bless them and future generations.

Building Strong Mentality

Culture of the mental life has always characterized the service of The Woman's Home Missionary Society. In the early years great stress was laid upon industrial training of girls residing in the industrial homes and schools, most of which were erected on the campus of colleges, or other educational institutions under the Freedman's Aid Society, and later under the Board of Negro Education. This training meant increased mental activity as hands were trained to sew and cook, and our girls became home-makers and house-keepers.

In a comparatively short time there came a demand for this Society to establish not only industrial schools but general educational institutions for girls. Responding to this demand The Woman's Home Missionary Society has become one of the great educational organizations of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Beginning with nursery and kindergarten schools, through the grades, high school, junior college, normal and full college courses, our graduates rank with other graduates of church, state, county, and local educational institutions; indeed, we must conform to state, county, and local requirements as to buildings, faculties, and courses of study. Thus in distinctly Christian educational activity and environment we are contributing to the upbuilding of strong minds actuated by Christian motives for our country's welfare.

In national training schools for missionaries and deaconesses, and nurse training schools in connection with our hospitals, we are presenting to the young women of Methodism opportunities for becoming trained servitors in every phase of Christian and humanitarian service! In missionary and deaconess centers, settlements, clinics, medical missions, and hospitals, there are serving with this Society and other boards of our church, numbers of these graduates who minister to human need—physical, mental, and spiritual. Thus we contribute, through Christian education, young people, women and men to "serve the present age," as well as those who serve in professional capacity God and native land.

Building Christian Characters

Concurrent with the training of physical and mental life there has always been the direct care and nurture of spiritual life through training, class-teaching, and individual personal appeal for surrender of heart and life to Jesus Christ. This has been possible because every missionary, deaconess, and teacher must acknowledge belief in Jesus Christ by membership in an evangelical church and by Christian principle and life. While these constant appeals through precept and example are made in the everyday life of students, the Lenten season is specifically a time of preparation for Good Friday, which has been designated as Decision and Consecration Day. On Good Friday school and housework (so far as possible) is suspended and that day is consecrated to spiritual activities and services. Many have been the spiritual victories as a result of the observance of this sacred day in the years since its inauguration.

This, after all, is the foundation, as well as the capstone of the structure we are erecting which will live through eternity. Should this foundation be neglected or forgotten our entire superstructure must totter and eventually fall into death and decay. Loyalty to the spiritual significance of our exploits will bring the greatest achievements and eternal reward. Christian characters are the most enduring gift we can present to our great Republic, and to this end we strive to meet our responsibility.

Building Into the Lives of Our Constituency

Perhaps we have not regarded our constituency as part of the building program which has been progressing through the years. We undertake to assert that this has been a major part of the building of our educational as well as spiritual program. In the 1880's home missions had but scant consideration and even less of actual interest. This Woman's Home Missionary Society was not entirely welcome as a missionary enterprise. It therefore became an obvious duty—and, as it developed, a difficult task—to convince Methodism, and especially its women, that such appalling conditions and needs existed under our flag. It was only because of the great faith and almost divine patience of the founders that their perseverance was rewarded by one of the greatest achievements of Methodism—the organization of The Woman's Home Missionary Society.

From that day unto the present time we have been building into the consciousness of the women of Methodism:

1. The needs of our country, because of unchristian conditions in a so-called Christian nation.
2. The need of the types of service prosecuted by this Society to meet the conditions as they have existed through the years and exist to-day.

3. A conviction in the minds and hearts of our constituency of the individual responsibility which every member must meet, and which every Methodist woman should meet.

4. The teaching and training we have given through the years concerning evangelism, stewardship, and Christian citizenship.

We believe that every member of this Society should be so evangelized in heart experience that not only our missionaries and deaconesses, but every member (who has reached the age of accountability) should have such a vital Christian experience that each could respond to the question of one seeking Christ—"What must I do to be saved?"—by pointing him the way to our personal Saviour. Thus only can the individual member be in heart sympathy with the Department of Evangelism.

Emphasis upon the daily study of the Bible, the establishment or re-establishment of the family altar in every home, has been placed upon the conscience of every member.

5. Stewardship of the manifold mercies of God to each individual has been inculcated in courses of study and constant teaching in every department of organization. Stewardship of time, of personality, and of possessions have been woven into the warp and woof of our organization. Because of the acceptance of Christian stewardship success has been written upon our banners. We have been enabled because of organization and membership, obligation to support the work of the Society, and determination to accomplish our tasks and privileges, "to hallow our year of Jubilee."

6. Christian Citizenship.—While we have always stressed this fundamental principle and need of our nation, we have of late years given it very definite emphasis. This department was formerly the "Department of Temperance, Prohibition, and Christian Citizenship." (1) Temperance because it was necessary to teach personal temperance in the use of alcoholic beverages; (2) Prohibition, because we must have prohibitory laws to control the sale of intoxicants; (3) Christian Citizenship, because women became citizens with the right of franchise August 26, 1920. For this new responsibility this Society, with many other organizations of women, has instructed its women as to responsibility and procedure. Thus has much education in political procedure been given to its membership. While we were not permitted to vote to write into the Constitution of the United States of America the Eighteenth Amendment in 1919, we are now eligible to vote to keep it there, and, God being our helper, we shall so use our franchise.

We shall stand for American childhood until we have a federal amendment written into the Constitution which shall safeguard the child life of our nation.

We stand, through this educational training, for world peace and shall give our support to crush the "war demon" from the face of the earth.

The most outstanding educational factor, of all the years since its first publication in 1884, has been "Woman's Home Missions," called by its first editor "the Child of Providence." Time will not permit the eulogy which is in our heart to the editors and publishers, who, through the years have given talents, thought, and time to this "official organ."

In 1896 there was recognized the need of educating the children, who were fact becoming numerically the largest segment of membership in the Society, and "Children's Home Missions," later called "Junior Home Missions," became another "official organ."

The Department of Publications conducted throughout the years has had a large part in the development of the minds and hearts of our constituency.

The Home Missionary Reading Circle, inaugurated in 1887, was called "an educational by-product." This movement was no doubt the forerunner of the Home Mission Study Courses and textbooks of these later years.

Trained to Meet Emergencies

Fifty years ago an emergency was met when this Society was organized. Not a year has passed that emergencies have not been met by this same Society. Emergencies have been presented as new mission fields have been opened. At other periods the closing of mission projects have been clearly emergency measures. In either case serious consideration has been given to circumstances, and, so far as finite minds could discern, just decisions have been reached. Perhaps of the two situations the closing of missionary projects has been the more difficult.

When flood, fires, and disease have made emergency measures necessary in our country at large, as well as among our constituency, they have been met with financial aid, as well as supplies of food, clothing, and other necessities through our Department of Supplies.

Our women had become accustomed to appeals for such service, for in 1882 the Department of Supplies had become a part of the plans of our Society. "Hardly had the organization been recognized before frontier preachers, on hard circuits, especially in the West, sent pleading letters to the women in Cincinnati begging assistance." The women responded generously and many a small salary was supplemented by this agency. The day has not yet passed (though thank God it is passing) when such help is not necessary. We shall hail the day with glad acclaim when the Methodist Episcopal Church shall provide support for our ministers which will adequately and comfortably provide for them and their families.

When the World War called our women to act as camp mothers and hostesses of hostess houses in camps and cantonments, twenty-eight women responded, who, under the auspices of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, represented this organization in those days of anguish and sorrow. These camp mothers bade farewell and Godspeed as the boys (for so we called them in the early days of the war) left home and native land. They were there, when some returned in the strength of young manhood, or to receive them tenderly if they returned with broken health and shattered bodies.

Crises within the organization, whether in administrative affairs or in the institutions of all the varied missionary projects, have been met by the National officers and Board of Trustees with the same faith and courage which characterized the first women who held these responsible positions.

COOPERATION

Denominational—Interdenominational—Undenominational and Interracial

An indispensable requisite in the life of people is to learn to live and work together, so that the greatest good may result to the greatest number. This means cooperation, and is applicable to the best interests of organizations as well as to people; hence, we have been inculcating into the minds and hearts of our constituency this great principle of cooperative service, not only among our own group but in connection with other groups who are serving with the same great objectives in view.

During the earlier years of the life of this organization there was cooperation with the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational Society of our church. This was a vital and necessary relationship because our industrial homes were often on the campus with educational institutions of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational Society, and the organizations must co-operate if they would unitedly serve the Negro constituency.

Later cooperation became necessary with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, as missionary activities in various home fields could be more successfully operated by combined service.

In more recent years close cooperation with the Board of Education has been maintained in several educational enterprises, the most notable of which is Bennett College for (Negro) Girls in Greensboro, North Carolina.

The Board of Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work sustains an advisory relationship to our hospitals (national and conference, numbering 7), homes (children's, old people's, and rest homes for missionaries and deaconesses), deaconess homes and institutions.

In 1916 the General Conference approved and provided for the Inter-Board Conference as a center of advisory and cooperative influence. The corresponding secretaries of all boards and societies were members of this board. The Boards of Benevolence followed this organization. Then came the World Service Commission. Upon this commission we have had ex-officio representation. Our representatives have been the national President, national Treasurer, and national Corresponding Secretary.

The Woman's Foreign and Woman's Home Missionary Societies have a commission composed of committees from each organization, in which questions of interest to both Societies are considered. During the World War representatives of these two Societies formed the Methodist Woman's War Council, to which each society reported its war activities in Europe and America. Consultation led to concentration of effort and interest in the various service of each in the other, which was most helpful. Thus denominational cooperation strengthens our work, as well as the work of other boards and societies.

Interdenominational

As no man can live unto himself, neither can an organization of this type live unto itself. Within the past twenty five years interdenominational relationships have developed and multiplied with exceeding rapidity. Our first interdenominational affiliation was with the Council of Women for Home Missions, organized in 1908, which has grown closer and more cooperative with the passing years. Through this relationship we are engaged in helping to support religious directors in Government Indian schools and migrant work.

The Council of Women for Home Missions, in cooperation with the Missionary Education Movement, publishes the interdenominational study books. Through the interdenominational study courses we are linked with all women's boards and societies of woman's home missions affiliated with the council. This affiliation has brought into existence nineteen summer conferences, schools, and institutes of home missions.

The Council of Women for Home Missions and the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions are united in the observance of the World Day of Prayer. The first Interdenominational Day of Prayer for Home Missions was in 1896. In 1920, it and the Day of Prayer for Foreign Missions were united. In 1922, Canada united with the United States in observing the same day, and in 1927 the observance became world-wide. From thirty-five countries reports of the observance were received in 1929.

During the past year a call to the Christian women and girls of the world was issued for the observance of the nineteen hundredth anniversary of Pentecost, of the birthday of the Christian church—a call to a world fellowship of prayer, meditation, and the "practice of God's presence."

Through our membership with the Council of Women for Home Missions we have affiliated with the Home Missions Council and these two councils, under the appellation "Council of Home Missions" are related to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. This relationship has been worked out with a spirit of good will and understanding, which has made cooperative functioning without complication and with the absolute autonomy of the three bodies. The three councils are conducting a five-years' program of comity and adjustment, seeking to coordinate denominational programs and to help overlapping. December, 1930, a North American Home Missions Congress will be held in Washington, D. C., to consider the task and administration of home missions promotion and cooperation.

As in the case of separate missionary organizations, interdenominational movements may be successful or go down in seeming defeat. In some respects the Inter-Church World Movement, extending from 1919-1921, did seem to go down in defeat; nevertheless, there were advance movements which have been of inestimable value. The most outstanding values were world-wide surveys of mission fields, which included both foreign and home missionary activities. The soul of this movement can never be obliterated from the consciousness of Protestant Christianity, for it brought about a better understanding of world responsibility, in which were included missionary interests in our own country.

Udenominational Affiliations

Of these affiliations we make brief mention and first call attention to "The American Mission to Lepers," which, through world-wide responsibility administers its work in foreign countries as well as this country. A board of nine directors are responsible for the direction of the work. Not only are churches and various Christian organizations associated with this unique service, but also the governments of the foreign countries, in which this disease abounds, as well as our own Federal Government.

We are familiar with the fact that this Woman's Home Missionary Society has been honored since 1921, by being permitted to provide the salary of the Protestant chaplain at the Federal Hospital, No. 66, Carville, La., for which the first appropriation was made in 1922. Perhaps no greater service of comfort and spiritual ministry has been rendered by us to any group than to the lepers of our country.

Other udenominational affiliations have been made with the National Child Labor Committee, the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, and the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War.

Interracial Cooperation

No question before this nation is of more paramount importance than that of the relations between the various races, more or less permanently, living under our Flag. From 1880 until the present year 1930, our work has been distinctly interracial. In the earlier days we worked for the Indian, Negro, and Mormon. To-day we serve with these and other groups for their religious, mental, and physical betterment. The auxiliary of Indian women at the Ponca Indian Mission, the Marcy Center auxiliary (Chicago, Ill.), composed of Christian Jewish women, the auxiliary of Italian women at Barre, Vt., and other auxiliary groups of various nationalities; the Queen Esther Circles of Alaskan, Porto Rican, Hawaiian, Indian, Jewish girls illustrate very forcibly this fact. We venture the assertion that an analysis of those assisting financially in the Jubilee Building Program would surprise us by revealing gifts from every group to be benefitted thereby. New Marcy Center (Chicago, Ill.) and the new Brewster Hospital for Negroes (Jacksonville, Fla.) are outstanding illustrations of this fact. No longer are we building for but we are building with those for whom and with whom we are honored in serving.

Our representation and membership on various commissions and committees on race relations commit us to active participation in interracial progress and more Christlike living with all races. In the interest of improvement in racial attitudes, the bettering of conditions affecting Negroes, and the correction of interracial injustice, we have representation on the Commission on Interracial Cooperation (Incorporated), with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., and the Commission on Race Relations, and the Church Women's Committee of the Commission on Race Relations of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Through the Interracial Commission of The Woman's Home Missionary Society we declare our belief in interracial cooperation with our own constituency.

Realizing full well the incompleteness of this historic review, and with the consciousness that many things have been left unsaid which should have been said, we crave the privilege of paying tribute in recognition of those who have done exploits for God and native land. It is not our privilege to call the names of our founders and their successors in office, our missionaries and deaconesses, our conference, district, and auxiliary officers, the leaders in the Young People's and Junior Departments.

We have come to our Jubilee and are "Looking Backward" into a glorious past, while with full hearts we sing—

"Rejoice, rejoice, rejoice, Give thanks and sing."

We have also come to our Jubilee of the past fifty years, so that we may be "Thinking Forward," that we may conserve the glorious past as we joyfully enter another semi-centennial period. Let us go singing

"In the beauty of the lillies
 Christ was born across the sea,
 With a glory in His bosom
 Which transfigures you and me.
 As he died to make men holy
 Let us serve to make men free.
 While God is marching on."

OUR CREED

We believe: In The Woman's Home Missionary Society
 Of the Methodist Episcopal Church;
 In the unselfish dreams of her founders;
 In her place in our nation.

We believe: That her deeds should be heralded,
 Her purpose proclaimed,
 Her work perpetuated.

We believe: That humbly before God,
 But ardently before our people,
 We should engage in her service,
 With the devotion of our chosen leaders,
 Both the living and the dead.

O thou compassionate Christ,
 May we, for love of thee and in thy name,
 Continue our labors.
 Till womanhood and childhood of our land
 Shall be granted "the more abundant life"
 That thou, O Christ, didst come to give.

OUR PRAYER

"We thank thee for the voices that have interpreted thy will and summoned us to thy work. We praise thee for the hours of holy quiet in which we crossed the threshold of thy presence and listened to the inner Voice of the most holy place. Fix on the sensitive film of our spirit the image and splendor of Christ which shone upon us on the great moments of these past days."

BENEDICTION

"May we transmit this vision not only not less but greater, better, more beautiful, than it was transmitted to us."

WESLEYAN SERVICE GUILD

Mrs. Merle N. English, Chairman, 729 Emerson Street, Evanston, Illinois

Growth is sometimes difficult to report, but the following may indicate some of the progress made in the Wesleyan Service Guild for the year beginning June 1, 1929, and closing May 31, 1930.

The Program Outline has outgrown its name and the Central Committee recommends that it be called the Year Book of the Wesleyan Service Guild. It will contain a suggested outline for the years' activities, including worship services for each month, instructions to officers and department chairmen, a list of books for the worker's library, the standard, and other items of interest to Guild members.

The Bulletin subscriptions have increased to fifteen hundred. In order to stabilize the subscription list and for convenience in sending in subscriptions, the Central Committee has voted to offer three years' subscriptions for one dollar to individual subscribers. The club subscription rate of twenty-five cents a year for ten copies sent to one address remains the same.

Many units have expressed a desire for a Guild mite box. Upon the recommendation of the Central Committee, such a box has been printed, and the Central Committee suggests it be called the Wesleyan Service Guild Gift Box. They are now available at the branch depots of supplies and home offices, and sell at five cents each.

The Guild Standard has been revised. The primary purpose of this new standard is to stimulate each unit in carrying out the purposes of the Guild both in the group as a unit and in the individual lives of its members, rather than in using it as a means of comparing one unit with another. This revision has been approved by The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, The Woman's Home Missionary Society, and the Central Committee of the Wesleyan Service Guild.

One typewriter for the use of the treasurer of the Central Committee and two steel filing cases, an office desk and chair for the chairman, have been added to the office equipment of the Central Committee.

In October, 1931, the Wesleyan Service Guild will celebrate its tenth birthday. Recognition of this event is being planned by the Central Committee. The slogan adopted is: "Christian business women for a Christian business world," and the aims follow—

An Informed Membership:

Who read,
Who pray,
Who vote,
Who play,
Who give,
And live,
To help bring in the Kingdom.

Growth:

In the spiritual life,
In response to human need,
In civic responsibility,
In the joy of living,
In membership,
In number of tithers,
In total giving.

Increases

Units, 189, a net increase of 18 per cent. This does not include several units organized too late in the year to make contributions to this year's report. An average of a new unit a week has been maintained through the past year. We now have units in forty-four conferences and thirty states.

Members, 3,735, a new increase of 17 per cent or 543 members who have paid dues.

Total giving for the year, $25,843.40, an increase of 10 per cent.

Tithers, 833; 22 per cent of membership.

Per capita giving, $6.95.

Conference Secretaries of Wesleyan Service Guild in eleven conferences.

The following received from a recently appointed conference secretary, is significant:

"The field is simply golden. My relationship to the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs gives me a fine point of contact with the employed women. Three cities have already asked me to come to organize the Wesleyan Service Guilds. I will organize at Garber, Oklahoma, on the nineteenth. It is close by. The girls there are eager and responsive. I met them first in a drenching rainstorm, but ten waded through, and all ten say they will join on the nineteenth when I go for the formal organization. It is a fascinating work."

The past has been good. The future we may make what we will. Our task will not be completed until every business and professional woman in Methodism has been given an opportunity to help establish the kingdom of God on earth.

To all who have made possible this report—unit members, district, conference, branch, and national officers, we express our deep appreciation.

YOUNG PEOPLE

Miss Hannah Pennock Miller, Secretary

4417 Larchwood Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

The removal of the Young Woman's Auxiliaries from this department has naturally caused a slump in members and finances. Instead of being depressed by this fact, it should be a challenge to every Queen Esther and Queen Esther leader. An annual report is the thermometer of the whole department—we go up or go down together. Let us face the fact of a drop in temperature, then let us about face, and do all in our power to make a record rise. Let our slogan be, "See! Proceed! Succeed!" See conditions in your own conference. Proceed to meet the challenge. Succeed in carrying out your plans. No game was ever won by standing still, sitting down, or slowing up. To succeed every conference secretary must speed up!

Mrs. Arthur W. Taylor has had charge of thirty-three conferences totaling 1,234 organizations, 18,197 members, and $47,026.87 in money and supplies. Mrs. Arthur S. Knight has had under her supervision thirty-three conferences totaling 1,203 organizations, 18,469 members, and $59,168.48. The following is their report, and the national Secretary gratefully appreciates their heart support and cooperation.

Wyoming Conference: Mrs. J. Arthur Jones, secretary. An award was offered for the best digest of "Blind Spots," and Miss Miriam Olson, of Wyoming Conference, received five dollars. Three years ago a contest was started for high-standard circles. The conference securing the greatest number of radio complete organizations had the privilege of sending a girl to Cincinnati. Wyoming Conference won, with 165 perfect organizations for three years, and was notified to have "Miss Cincinnati" present at the Jubilee convention.

HANNAH PENNOCK MILLER, Secretary.

Bureau Secretaries

It gives me great pleasure to report that of the thirty-three Young People's secretaries who report to me, thirty-three reported. Definite missionary work has been accomplished, more in some conferences than was possible in others. Every secretary showed a desire to have her Jubilee report "the best ever."

MRS. ARTHUR W. TAYLOR.

The culmination of the Jubilee program is in its forward look. The Young People's Department rejoices that we shall all work together this year for and with our youth. We pledge ourselves to the youth of our land, to help them find their places in unselfish service for all of America.

MRS. ARTHUR S. KNIGHT.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Annie Hobbs Woodcock, Secretary
2523 Elma Street, Kansas City, Missouri

For the Jubilee year, which has just closed the now historic "Five," the Junior Department used as its symbol the world-famed "Carillon Tower"—homing place of birds and bells. With what results?

Thousands of Carillon Tower posters, the states over, have their pictured skies brilliant with flocks of the red and the blue birds whose colors and numbers have represented the new Jewel and Guard members gathered during the year into The Woman's Home Missionary Society. Homing tower for children—its Junior Department. Nor did imagination fail us in hearing the storied bells ring out the triumphant music of the Society's fifty victorious years.

A casual glance at the accompanying statistical report of the year, will suggest retrograde rather than advance. But the thinker who reads will recall that toward the latter part of the Jubilee period, and while on the upward climb toward its one hundred and fifty thousand membership goal, the age limits of the department were so changed that Home Guards from twelve to fourteen years of age were placed in the Young People's Department as Junior Queen Esthers. This reconstruction made quite a different marking on the junior thermometer with both members and finance. But our loss has been gain to another department, and the ardent hope is that this splendid and efficient body of older Home Guards with no loss to the Society will all be safely gathered into the Young People's Department.

It is to Christ, whose leadership has not failed, that this secretary of the Junior Department, who has for so many years submitted these annual reports, makes her last comparative review, and with it asks that the working brain, pen, and faith-laden vision be officially committed to another.

DEACONESS DEPARTMENT

Mrs. John W. Lowe, Secretary
4712 Roland Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland

In a recent statement of current methods world service presents as its two major tasks—first, "To let folks know the meaning of World Service in terms of the gospel and Human Need"; the other, "to bring to each a sense of his personal responsibility."

The deaconess in her manifold and multiple types of service, rejoicing in her daily task, her loving, sympathetic contact with human need—the simplicity of her faith and teaching, has created for herself an essential and important place in all the activities of the church.

The work in this department, in its scope and breadth from sea to sea, from Alaska to Porto Rico inclusive, is a very definite part of World Service.

"There is no strategy superior to spiritual effort to out-manoeuvre evil in the world to-day," states a recent church publication.

The achievement, the plans, and problems of the year just closing, have brought forcefully to our consideration the pertinent fact that "new occasions" demand "new duties"—and that "ancient good" will not satisfy the needs of to-day—this new day when the changing order of things, the modern study and thinking all serve to increase the realization and need of a living Saviour.

New methods, modern approach, larger opportunity, greater facilities—building day by day—brick by brick and stone by stone, like the greater buildings in our large cities, reaching marvelous heights by scientific and careful building—but still rising from the same sure foundation, "whose Builder and Maker is God."

"And what will be built
 As the years go by,
 With stone or steel, or the might of a theme?
 No mansion, we know, can ever be built
 Out of a cottage dream,
 But the glory is, if he builds at all
 That his soul can look over the highest wall."

Deaconess service, as a greater part of The Woman's Home Missionary Society for the year 1929-30, if taken in statistical form, will demonstrate how they have been building from kindergarten to adult classes and mothers' meetings, from boys' and girls' clubs to Epworth Leagues and mission-study classes, parish, community, and hospital visitation; from fresh-air camps and Travelers' Aid, into the heart of the church and Sunday school—among the Indians, the Eskimos, the immigrants, the Orientals, and the mountaineers—"Telling folks the meaning of World Service in terms of the gospel and human need—building for eternity."

NEW ENGLAND AND EASTERN BUREAU

Mrs. R. R. Fairchild, Secretary

321 Mt. Prospect Avenue, Newark, New Jersey

It is with great satisfaction that we are able to report an improvement over last year's record, in as much as very nearly, if not all, vacancies have been filled from our staff of deaconesses.

While this has meant many changes, we feel assured that the work of the coming year will progress favorably and show worth-while results.

On the whole, the health of our deaconesses has been good, and while some have had to ask for leave of absence it has been due principally to long years of service and a need of a period of rest to enable them to go on to greater achievements.

Three of our girls have left us to take on added responsibilities in the blissful state of matrimony, and our best wishes go with them to their new homes and in their new fields of labor.

One of the outstanding features of the year's work is the very successful many daily vacation Bible schools that have been carried on. Through this means hundreds, yes, thousands of children have been reached, who might otherwise not have received any religious training. May this line of work increase and grow during the coming year.

It is with great regret that we record the passing on of Miss Ada Mills, one of our "deaconess twins," who, together with her sister has served in the one conference—Newark—for twenty-eight years, or until her retirement in 1929. Our sympathy goes out to the remaining sister in her sorrow and bereavement.

And thus we go on from year to year, ever trying to raise the standard higher and do more efficient work "for the love of Christ and in His name."

CENTRAL DEACONESS BUREAU

Mrs. R. B. Nay, Secretary

400 South Penn Street, Wheeling, West Virginia

In the Central Bureau of the Deaconess Department there has been quite a number of changes in the personnel of some of its homes and settlement houses. More workers have been added to the list, some new ones who have graduated this year from the training schools of The Woman's Home Missionary Society are entering with sweet enthusiasm into their first year's work. The least we can do for them is to pray that their tasks may be successful and to encourage them in a friendly way.

From year to year the work must go on in much the same way. The calls made by the deaconesses in one year number many thousand. The messages of cheer and happiness they bring to the sick and discouraged as well as to the busy and rich folk are invaluable. The happiness of the little ones in our kindergartens is only equalled by that of the girls and boys in their clubs and other organizations for them. In many instances the equipment for the work of these young people is inadequate.

Right loyally have the deaconesses responded to a call for contributions to the Deaconess Jubilee Memorial Fund. The gold certificates secured by their offerings are to be presented at the Jubilee meeting in Cincinnati in loving memory of Miss Henrietta Bancroft and Mrs. D. B. Street.

A day nursery has been established in Indianapolis in connection with the work in that city.

Many Jubilee birthday luncheons have been enjoyed and the deaconesses have helped to make them a success.

Now the work is reopening with renewed vigor, and much prayerful planning is needed to have the coming year surpass the other years in service for the Master.

The "Looking Backward—Thinking Forward" spirit must still inspire us to greater works "for Love of Christ and in His name."

PACIFIC AND NORTHWEST BUREAU

Mrs. C. A. Carlisle, Secretary

1519 Bath Street, Santa Barbara, California

The work of the Pacific and Northwest Bureau of the Deaconess Department has gone steadily forward during the past year, and all feel that this has been—

"One more year's work for Jesus, one less of life for me,
But heaven is nearer and Christ is dearer
Than yesterday to me—
His love and light fill all my soul tonight."

It has been possible for me to get in close touch with most of the work in my bureau during the past year, and I have been much impressed with the untiring efforts and deeply spiritual life of each deaconess; only the heavenly Father knows the far reaching influence of each of their lives as they give of themselves in service for him.

Three retired deaconesses from this bureau went to their reward this year—Miss Adelaide Applegate, Miss Sophia Sprague and Miss Nellie Sanborn.

The going of Miss Sanborn was especially beautiful.

On Easter Sunday morning she addressed the Sunday school, attended church and took flowers to a shut-in, and at the close of that Easter day answered the call "Come up higher."

And now we go forth "Forgetting the things that are behind we press forward to the high calling in Christ Jesus."

FIELD WORK

Miss Ida L. Kahlo, Secretary
Delaware, Ohio

Field work and publicity are synonymous terms. Field secretaries are "publicity agents" for The Woman's Home Missionary Society and we are proud of their relationship to the great Society.

Their activities in different parts of our country have been well received, and the results obtained have demonstrated the value of such a department.

Some of their experiences have been disappointing. When they have looked forward to a well arranged itinerary, they often find many days without engagements.

The results would have been greatly multiplied in conferences, had the field secretary's time been utilized more largely. She arrives in a conference ready for service, equipped with best methods, and an adequate knowledge of the work of our organization, all of which should be passed on.

Our workers are in demand at schools of missions, at Epworth League Institutes, at camp-meetings, and other Methodist assemblies. At these places they teach the textbook, Bible classes, methods, have classes in Junior Work, put on pageants, serve as leaders in music and recreation, and as directors of girls' camps.

Through their efforts a more comprehensive outlook of our work has been given to women, girls and children.

Miss Hortense Sheldon began her work in the fall of 1929 by going into some of our schools and homes teaching story-telling, dramatic art, pageantry and speech-correction. This gave Miss Sheldon an opportunity, not only to render service, but to observe much of our work. She has been the speaker at district meetings from which we have had excellent reports, and was at three schools of missions.

In this first year's work as a national field secretary Miss Helen Biber has been delightfully received. Her beautiful spirit of consecration makes her a real asset. Her vivid pictures of Marcy Center, where she served as a missionary, have strengthened and awakened an interest in work with Hebrew people. She not only knows the work among Jewish people, but is conversant with the various aspects of the work of the Society.

After five years of remarkable service as field and student secretary, Miss Margaret A. Palmer leaves the Department of Field Work for a home of her own. As Mrs. John Betterly she will continue to give of her unusual talents in voluntary service for the Society she learned to love so well, and for which she has given so generously of herself.

Each field secretary pays the fine tribute to the Society of which she is a part, that her greatest development in spiritual things has come through this wonderful contact.

Miss Maggie Eunice Simpson, a graduate of the class of 1930 of Bennett College for Women at Greensboro, North Carolina, has been elected a national field secretary. We are expecting Miss Simpson to be a great factor in building up the young people's work in Negro conferences. In addition to her knowledge of the general work of the Society, she has gained valuable experience as a worker in a migrant camp at Houston, Delaware, this summer.

We are reporting less sickness among the field secretaries this year. However, Mrs. M. M. Northrup has been ill much of the time since the national meeting at Grand Rapids as the result of two auto accidents. She has also been bereaved by the death of her husband who passed away in April after a prolonged illness. Our hearts go out to her in deep sympathy.

Miss Wheaton was at Allen Home for religious emphasis week during Holy Week, while Miss Palmer served in the same capacity at Browning Home. Students responded in large numbers in consecrating their lives to full Christian service. The bureau secretary says this: "I want you to know how very grateful I am for the services of the two field secretaries you allowed to come to Allen and Browning Homes during Holy Week. I am writing this to express my own deep gratitude and to say I feel that the Field Department renders no finer service than this."

Mrs. Stevens gave a week at Bennett College for Women in presenting a course in home missions. May I quote from President Jones' letter? "You did us a real service in sending Mrs. Stevens to us for a week. Mrs. Stevens did what I had in mind; namely, to give to our student body a sense of appreciation of the work of The Woman's Home Missionary Society and a stimulus to consider Christian service as a vocation. She, however, did more than this. By her easy adjustment to our situation, by her sisterly attitude and fine spirit, she completely won our campus. May I thank you for sending Mrs. Stevens and if I do not seem to wish too much for Bennett campus, will you not see that each year we have someone of her type visit us in order to bring a message of inspiration and of cheer to our students?"

We are happy to report an increase over last year in new organizations, and in new members secured. Perhaps one of the most important lines of work we have tried to do was in having scores of women pledge themselves to be go-doers, so the labor has been without limit.

Six conference field secretaries have reported to the Secretary of the Department of Field Work, though not all for full-time service.

We are again indebted to Mrs. E. W. Mathews and Mrs. Daisy Bulkley-Taylor for responding to a number of requests.

In addition to the correspondence incident to the arranging of the itineraries of the national field secretaries, and aiding the summer school committees in providing faculty members and missionaries, the Secretary of the Department of Field Work has given 101 days in the field in nine conferences.

We wish to redouble our efforts for the year following the great Jubilee Meeting in Cincinnati, and with the same earnest effort and determination of conference officers, we can attain loftier heights and claim mightier victories.

"I say to my Maker—
Thanks! for the day's work
That my Lord gives me!"

SCHOOLS OF MISSIONS

Schools of missions and girls' camps are real training schools. A high privilege is afforded women, girls and children for this course in missions.

An increasing demand is made for the best-equipped teachers of the textbook, for methods and Bible.

One new school for the women of Central West Conference was held at St. Louis with eighty (80) registrations. The dean writes this of their first school—"All the classes were interesting and the instructors were so helpful and enthusiastic, everything just bristled with life, spirit and enthusiasm. Everybody was satisfied with results and left eager to return another year."

Washington Conference school added a Girls' Department this year which was a great success.

There are now six established schools of missions in the Negro conferences.

Twenty schools of missions have reported an enrollment of 3,031 women. Thirteen of these schools reported work with juniors with an attendance of 340.

Ten schools reported work with girls. In addition seventeen girls' camps have reported. Total enrollment of girls—2,003.

One very important feature of this work among girls is the life-service appeal. One hundred and sixty-one girls responded, while very many others indicated at the candle-lighting services, their purpose to give part-time service.

Best Features Reported

"The fine spirit of study and devotion. The training class for Home Guards leaders."

"Had smaller group, but superior in quality. Cooperation was perfect—never had a better camp in every respect."

"Candle-light service and consecration service."

"Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet and lantern parade. Vespers."

"Hillside and evening camp-fire services most impressive."

"The life-service demonstration."

"Spiritual atmosphere—girls and junior camp."

"Early morning beach service."

"Beautiful spirit, high-grade teaching, intense interest."

"The spiritual atmosphere throughout the whole program. The deep interest of the young people. A spirit of responsibility and cooperation between the workers."

"Class in Parliamentary Law."

"Excellent prayer circles. Fine contacts with faculty. Wonderful life-service meeting."

"In all, the committee felt the school's influence had never before reached quite as high a point."

"You would have rejoiced at the spirit of the school of missions which has just ended. It was all that anyone could ask."

"We think we had the best ever this year—splendid faculty. Two of the older girls said they had no idea that missions could be so interesting. We expect to send one to Lucy Webb Hayes this fall."

"Can you imagine the joy in my heart, having found Christ? Although an active member in the Methodist Church I had never before realized my need of a Saviour. Pray for me!"

REPORT OF FIELD SECRETARIES

Miss Helen Biber

Entering upon a new field of endeavor for my Master caused a mingling of inward surgings. Joy, over the realization that wonderfully new experiences were to be mine, sorrow in knowing that the joys resulting from five years of close contact serving a people I had learned to love, were no longer to be had in the same capacity.

Now I was launching out telling others of their privileges in serving a neglected, waiting-for-the-glad-tidings people. I was thrilled with the thought of portraying his mercy toward and dealings with his kinsmen according to the flesh, the Jews. Therefore I was happy to "Go in the strength of the Lord God, making mention of His righteousness even His only."

My travels took me from Lake Superior shores to North Carolina hills; from Kentucky mountains to New York harbors.

My prayer—God make me an able and ready representative—soon changed into a petition imploring worthiness to appear before the members of the organization which had made possible rich experiences in service. Each appearance whether before few or many members of the great Woman's Home Missionary Society proved the needed stimulus.

I am rich in the possession of newly-formed friendships.

I know the joys that follow effecting and nuturing new organizations.

Being permitted to teach Bible, methods and in one instance, direct camp has been a wonderful climax to my year's experience. The letters received from some of the young women registered at the six schools of mission camps visited, reveal a heart hunger for nothing less than the reality of a vital Christian experience.

Coveting your prayers I shall go forth assured that:

"The God who helped me yesterday
To-day is with me just the same
And then to-morrow will reveal
What cause I have to praise His Name."

Mrs. Frank L. Davis

As we look on memories' picture of the year that has just closed we see a long trail. To traverse this, some days we rode in magnificent trains, the next perhaps in stage, truck, or automobile to reach our destination. Some days we addressed large meetings held in beautiful churches, on others we rode many miles to find a small group waiting to hear our message. In every gathering we found people interested in the work of The Woman's Home Missionary Society. In one small town, where during the year the parsonage had been washed away by a flood, the minister and wife drowned, and much damage done to the community, so there was no money in sight to rebuild—nine adults gave their names to be conference members and all the children wanted to be Home Guards.

In other meetings we have seen from ten to eighty fine women pledge to secure a junior member and see that the dues were paid before the end of the year.

Never have we known as much enthusiasm and joy in service among our members.

It certainly proves the truth of the saying, "that the fruit derived from Christian service is the sweetest of all pleasures."

Mrs. Florence E. Gaither

"Faith is a grasping of almighty power;
The hand of man laid on the arm of God;
The grand and blessed hour
On which the things, impossible to me,
Become the possible, O Lord, through thee."

I am so grateful that I could share in this five-year period of Jubilee; a period of joy, a period of urging, of blessings, of inspiration, of loyalty, of effectiveness, of endurance.

I submit my report for this last year of Jubilee of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, this blessed organization, that has lifted the veil of ignorance from the eyes of my people and pointed out to them the way to progress, through Christianization, education and industry.

Addresses given, 314; letters written, 279; cards written, 185; meetings attended, 352; miles traveled, 11,850; days employed, 315; churches visited, 114; conferences visited, 22; district conferences, 1; annual conferences, 1; schools of missions, 3; calls made, 63; subscriptions, 35; dailies, 5.

Miss E. Hortense Sheldon

A year ago the last of August I began my work for The Woman's Home Missionary Society. From then until the first of April my work was in the various institutions of the Southland as teacher of expression at Mitchell, Bennett Academy, Allen, Browning, Haven, Boylan, and Epworth School for Girls. Incidentally, I learned of the work done under The Woman's Home Missionary Society. When on itineraries in the conferences I have made it a point to visit every institution that I was near. In all I have been in twenty-seven institutions. As I visited these schools and taught expression, the pictures of real life seen were an education within themselves and filled me with the desire to tell others and enthuse them to do more for these people less fortunate than themselves. This I endeavored to do as I visited two conferences this spring and summer schools of missions this summer.

The work in the conferences, where I was assigned, consisted of 8 district meetings, 2 junior district meetings, 8 young people's banquets, auxiliary and Queen Esther meetings, group meetings, Sunday services, Sunday school and Epworth League sessions, and 1 Epworth League rally. In the two months 72 addresses were given.

In the summer camps my work, chiefly, was teaching the textbooks, having charge of Junior Work, and helping out wherever needed.

Experience is a great teacher. And with my experience of this year, I am looking forward to reaping greater results for the Society this coming year.

Miss Lula Krepps

As we come to the close of this, our Jubilee Year, we feel that we can truly say with the Psalmist: "O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good."

Looking backward over the past months, we are indeed grateful for the blessings that have been ours. We recall, with heartfelt appreciation, the gracious hospitality and many courtesies received; the loyalty and cooperation of our women and girls.

Our Fiftieth Anniversary has come and gone. Of these years that are past, we say: "They are mines worked out. We delved in their pits. We have saved their grains of gold." Now we turn to the future. New tasks await us. As we envisage these tasks, we ask for guidance of him, who, alone, is our sufficiency.

"The work is Thine, not ours, O Lord;
It is Thy race we run;
Give light, and then shall all we do
Be well and truly done."

Mrs. E. E. Luce

Another chapter in the serial finished! Days of joyful serving, days of waiting used for preparation and correspondence and all passed as quickly as "a tale that is told."

The numerical record, of miles traveled, in and out of six conferences, addresses given, letters and cards written, churches and people visited, organizations, members and subscriptions secured, scattered over the pages gives one a feeling akin to that of the prophet as he gazed upon the valley of dry bones.

Would we had the power to make our readers see the whole picture. The frame-work joined and laid over with the sinews of faith and loyalty, filled out with the flesh of Christian courtesy and cheer of pastors, officers, and people, and covered over with the skin of charity and cooperation.

If all the served and serving have allowed the Lord of life to bring them out of their "graves" of whatever is detrimental to their best work and have had his spirit put in us we shall "live and find our place" in the land we are claiming and helping to save for him.

Mrs. Mary Martin Northrup

All honor to the pioneers of The Woman's Home Missionary Society— they laid the deep foundation on which we have builded. All hail to the women who will carry on for the coming years! We know that very much of our future success depends on our leadership. May I suggest that the leaders in our auxiliaries, districts, conferences, national, take for their slogan Judges 7. 17—"Look on me, and do likewise—It shall be that as I do, so shall ye do."

Then you remember Miss Burroughs said to do our best work, "we need fellowship as well as leadership." Let each member of our Woman's Home Missionary Society take as their slogan Judges 7. 21, "And they stood every man (woman) in his (her) place around about the camp shouting, 'The Sword of the Lord and The Woman's Home Missionary Society.'" If we do this, our loved work will advance and America be won to Christ.

On account of sickness and death in my family I have been privileged to give only two months work in the field, working in six conferences, traveling 9,500 miles, attending 51 meetings, giving 62 addresses, securing 694 auxiliary, 15 Jewel Members, 1 Jewel Life Member, 185 subscriptions to Woman's Home Missions, 15 to Junior Home Missions, organized 1 Jewel's Band, obtained $1,316 in offerings.

In closing may I thank the many, many women over the conferences for their beautiful letters of sympathy in my great sorrow; my own illness has kept me from answering them.

May we each be baptized with power for service this coming year.

Mrs. Margaret A. Palmer Betterly

Twenty thousand miles among women in the interest of womanhood this year—and what a privilege it has been! Dull days? Yes some. Un-eventful days? Of course. Indifferent women? Yes—but we forget about them in the memory of hundreds of eager women valiantly demanding a triumphant fiftieth year.

In twenty-five colleges and universities we have met Methodist daughters this year and had personal interviews with more than two hundred concerning life vocations. A wholesome and encouraging interest was found somewhere in every student group visited. Even three high schools opened their doors to us.

The contacts with other denominational student secretaries found in the Federated Student Committee were helpful and invigorating.

The high lights this year were our visits to Browning and Bennett which brought us added encouragement from the Negro students, and the Geneva Young Women's Christian Association Student Conference where we watched six hundred college girls develop their prayer lives and learn of thrilling adventures with Christ in the world to-day. And at this conference one of our own Negro girls—from Rust Home—conducted the music.

The past fifty years have been glorious but 125 Kappa Phi girls at their national council in June pledged their support to a more glorious second fifty years, and the voice of every Methodist girl everywhere joins in the pledge.

Mrs. Cora Downs Stevens

With the end of the year's labor comes the question mark and if I did not know there is infinitely more that cannot be tabulated than can be pressed into numbers I should feel very much dissatisfied. But contacts made in 347 meetings, in 282 days of 22,925 miles of travel, in 401 addresses, and in 641 letters written, must have left influence that cannot be lost.

Ours to faithfully and prayerfully sow the seed—and God's to give the fruitage.

The women of the various conferences it has been my privilege to serve, have been so wonderful, the girls so fine that it has been a joy to be with them and I can only pray for the future.

"Use me, O Lord, and when and how and where."

Miss Cartes K. Swartz

Another year! A rich year in the contacts made, the friendships formed and the joy of service. Everywhere one finds the spirit of the Jubilee. How one thrills at the thought of living in an age like this! The high privilege of having some share in helping to build into the nation's life the things that are fundamental for the best form of government—the highest type of civilization. Such in a very real sense is the work of our Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Realizing the marvelous accomplishments of the past fifty years, and appreciating its part and place in the very life of our nation, what courage nerves the heart, what inspiration for the years to come!

My report for 1929-1930 includes 17,691 miles of travel. From the gulf to the Great Lakes, the far west to the Atlantic Seaboard, in thirteen different conferences, four of which received a return visit. In annual and district ministerial conferences, Pentecostal meetings, Jubilee celebrations, conventions and itineraries, have crowded the year. A full season of summer camps, summer and winter institutes, interspersed with study and preparation. It has been a good year, made so by the loyal cooperation of the officers and women in the ranks, whose courage failed not in this year of financial depression.

Statistics are as follows: Miles traveled, 17,691; Auxiliaries, 45; Queen Esthers, 26; Home Guards, 20; Mothers' Jewels, 37; Reading Circles, 11; new members, 2,567; new subscribers, 532; meetings, 804; addresses, 766; calls, 335; letters, 1,154; conferences with individuals, instructing officers and Life Service candidates, 363; total of all monies, $2,430.61.

Miss May L. Webster

Coming to the close of my third year in field work, I come with a heart filled with gratitude, for his many blessings; for the opportunity he has given to me for service.

The year has been one of many and varied experiences. In the six conferences in which I have been privileged to serve, I have come in contact with many fine, loyal women, who are carrying on so splendidly, many times against heavy odds. The contact with such women is truly an inspiration to the field worker.

During the summer months, I served in three camp meetings, and four schools of missions. These weeks, I count among the most worthwhile of all the year. To see groups of women and girls gathered together, eager to study about the work of our beloved Society, and then going back to their churches, with a greater vision of service, surely makes one's heart rejoice.

I look forward to another happy year of service, a year of renewed consecration to the Master's work.

Miss Ruth Esther Wheaton

It has been a good year. Showers of blessings have attended my itinerary in eleven conferences. And I recall with delightful remembrance my visits to the Lucy Webb Hayes National Training School and Sibley Memorial Hospital; the Swartzell Methodist Home for Children, Washington, D. C.; the Baltimore Deaconess Home, the Wo-Ho-Mis Lodge, Baltimore; McKelvy Deaconess Home, Columbus, Ohio; the Flower Esther Hall, Toledo; Esther Hall, Friendship Home, and Day Nursery, Cincinnati; Cunningham Children's Home, Urbana, Illinois; Chicago Friendship Home and Marcy Center. The week of religious emphasis at Allen Home, Asheville, North Carolina, brought enrichment to my own life. The work and contacts at the summer school of missions added immeasurably to the joy of living.

Yet as I think back over the year's work with its many activities and accomplishments, my most vivid memories center around the mistakes I have made. Not that I am brooding over them. Never. I just want the memory of yesterday's errors to help me make a better record for to-morrow.

Woman's Home Missions has shared in the Jubilee celebration by issuing a special Jubilee number in June. With a white and gold cover, embellished with a large picture of Trinity Church and many pictures within it was an issue of which no one need be ashamed. Its historical material was in the main written by persons long identified with the Society, the bureau secretaries bringing the record up-to-date with their stories of our homes and schools as they now exist. This effort to make one especially attractive issue did not interfere with the regular work of trying each month to make a magazine that should be helpful and interesting. We have given much space to lists of Jubilee contributors and Go-Doers in the membership campaign, but have tried to furnish up-to-date and attractive articles, stories and poems.

Junior Home Missions has been made more attractive by the use of different colored ink and by many pictures and stories.

The study course this year is a combination of the usual course, based on the interdenominational study book, and the project for the year following the Jubilee. Under the title "Seeing Youth" it has provided an extensive program of study, which it is expected will work out with practical forms of missionary work. Youth is the central thought of the program and there is material enough suggested for a mission study class for every society besides the usual program of the monthly meeting. Leaflets of unusual interest accompany this study and it is believed that the year will be a profitable one in the societies where Seeing Youth is given the right of way. The Road of the Loving Heart continues to provide interesting programs for junior leaders, with its accompanying stories of the Caribbean countries, its leaflets, and its unusually attractive study books.

The result of the year's work may not be all we desired, but considering the financial depression and the extra calls for money for Jubilee gifts, we have done well. This year brings a change in methods and supplies. A great change. This has been considered carefully for some time and while changes are not easy to make, this will in time accomplish that for which it was deemed necessary.

Because of this change, the Supply Department takes a look backward over the journey to "Jubilee Mountain." The route traveled from this vantage point is in full view. The road was narrow in the beginning, but widened year by year. Like roads in general, it was not all smooth and even, making travel easy.

We see the sunny stretches, where flowers of good will blossomed and birds caroled, because of joy in their hearts, the grass was green and springs of clear water bubbled. At least it seemed so, because those traveling over this highway were so happy in the service.

Then we see dull, difficult stretches, where traveling was not easy, and we grew weary and wondered whether it was all worth while. On we went, knowing that nothing worth while is gained without effort, that all roads have hard places. Having reached the Jubilee mountain, we pause to think forward. There mystery lies, for no one knows the future. The road is bound to turn, to dip, to rise, but the past has made us strong and we fear not, as we face the new half century which has dawned.

Yet for me,

This is end of a journey long, years of loved service are o'er,
 But life is enriched by friendships rare,
 The Master nearer and dearer than ever before,
 I say, "Au revoir" with regret, but good cheer,
 Thankful to have served 'till the Jubilee year.

LUCY WEBB HAYES NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

1140-1150 North Capitol Street, Washington, D. C.

Founded 1891

Charles S. Cole, D.D., President

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Brubaker, M.A., Dean

Capacity: 55 students.

Aim: A school of Religious Education and Social Service.

The school year (1929-30) at the Lucy Webb Hayes National Training School opened with Orientation Week for freshman students. During this time psychological tests, placement tests in English, lectures on "How to

LUCY WEBB HAYES NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL AND SIBLEY HOSPITAL

Study," on laboratory work, and on student attitudes filled the morning hours. The afternoons were given over to sight-seeing by means of which the students became better acquainted with their national capital.

Three new members were received by the faculty of the School of Religious Education: Miss Edith M. Quick, M.A. (Boston), director of Religious Education, Miss Mary Elizabeth Gordon, M.A. (Boston), instructor in Bible, and Miss Effic Marie Ross, M.A. (George Washington), instructor in case work and industrial problems. Eleven other instructors complete the corps of trainingschool teachers.

In addition to the excellent instruction in theory, the students were trained in the practical application of these principles. The kindergarten majors taught in our well-organized and properly supervised morning kindergarten. The students majoring in religious education served in nine Washington churches, in the Gospel Mission, and in the Rust Hall Week-day School of Religious Education. The social service majors assisted in the School of Americanization, did case work for the Associated Charities and conducted clubs. A senior student as district secretary of the district Queen Esthers assisted in organizing new societies and strengthening weak ones. Gospel teams held eleven meetings for Epworth Leagues and conducted seven church services for the ministers. The Diakonissae Semper Fideliae conducted the vesper services during the year, securing as speakers the leading ministers and religious workers of several denominations of the district.

At the weekly assembly students were privileged to hear university professors, physicians, government representatives, social workers, and field secretaries of The Woman's Home Missionary Society. Recitals were given by Miss Cornelia Harkness, instructor in piano and voice, by Miss Tempe Ellen, teacher of expression, both of the training school, and by Mrs. Lloyd Webster, of Philadelphia, a guest soloist.

Of great aid to the school has been the presentation of a large number of library books by the Philadelphia Conference, and by other friends of the training school. This was the result of the Jubilee project.

The summer has opened many avenues for service. Several of the graduates took advantage of the opportunity to assist in and conduct daily vacation Bible schools in and around Washington and in their own home towns. Five instructors have been engaged in teaching or as counselor or dean of women in camps, in Epworth League Institutes and in Standard Training Schools. Other members of the faculty have ministered to those remaining in Rust Hall for the summer. The close of this season finds the graduates satisfactorily appointed to positions with The Woman's Home Missionary Society and eager to enter their new fields.

The affiliation with American University has been very profitable for The Woman's Home Missionary inasmuch as the majority of the students who have received degrees there are now under appointment in our organization.

One of the deep regrets of this year is the retirement of Miss Elizabeth D. Condy, who for twenty-three years has faithfully served the training school. We hope that a larger measure of good health and happiness will be hers as she rests from her work. Miss Cynthia Crocker, of Elmira College, has been engaged to instruct in home economics.

SIBLEY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

1140 North Capitol Street, Washington, D. C.

Founded 1890

Dr. Charles S. Cole, Superintendent

Miss Pearl L. Morrison, R.N., F.B.C.N., Superintendent of Nurses

Capacity: 120 students; staff of 26 graduate nurses.

Aim: A fine hospital and a training school for nurses.

Sibley Memorial Hospital cared for 7,937 patients last year, not counting those who passed through its dispensary. In its maternity department 1,891 babies were born, and 3,190 persons passed through its operating rooms. Its Nurse Training School has 120 students and a staff of twenty-six graduate nurses.

The Woman's Guild is an important organization which renders valuable service to the hospital. It raised over six thousand dollars for hospital purposes last year, and through a membership of over two thousand, scattered throughout the city, develops a spirit of loyalty and interest which cannot be given a monetary consideration.

The building project mentioned in our last report has been completed. The sixth floor contains nineteen beautiful private rooms which have been furnished in an attractive home-like manner. The seventh floor is occupied by the operating unit and pathological laboratory. Our operating facilities are now equal in equipment and comfort to that of any in the country. The operating room, doctors' dressing room, and nurses' work room are artificially cooled and ventilated. The first and fifth floors have been remodeled to the great advantage of both the public and the patients. The X-ray equipment is now on the first floor and a spacious, beautifully furnished waiting room has been provided. The space on the fifth floor, formerly occupied by operating rooms and X-ray laboratory, has been changed over into small wards.

The commencement activities were initiated by the senior banquet, given by the faculties of the training school. Dr. J. T. Spicknall, of Chevy Chase, was the speaker. The president's reception, the junior reception, the faculty tea, and the combined class night and senior play were delightful social affairs. The baccalaureate sermon ("Life's High Calling"), was preached in Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church by the pastor, Rev. Mark Depp. The commencement was held for the last time in Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church. Here Mrs. Walter R. Fruit, bureau secretary of the Eastern Training School Bureau, presented diplomas to the forty-four graduates.

DWIGHT W. BLAKESLEE MEMORIAL TRAINING SCHOOL

576 George Street, New Haven, Connecticut

There were no graduates from Blakeslee Training School in June of 1930, but all the young women who were living at Blakeslee residence last year have returned this year, and with the opening of the college year the house is full.

Blakeslee Training School is continuing its work under local supervision, and the Society is furnishing two full scholarships for young women who are college graduates and who expect to enter the work of our Society after completing their two years of training at Yale and securing an M.A. degree from Yale.

IOWA NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

921 Pleasant Street, Des Moines, Iowa
Founded 1899

Rev. Conway Boatman, A.M., D.D., B.D., President

Capacity: Thirty-seven students: 16 faculty and workers.

Aim: A training school for deaconesses and missionaries.

The school year 1929-30 is in history, and the chronicler of the busy life of the Iowa National Training School can be allowed space here sufficient for only a small part of the story of this interesting year which clamors for expression.

1. GOOD WILL.—The largest asset of any educational institution is good will, for this is the bank account par excellence. It is gratifying to record progress in good will toward the school. There has prevailed beautiful harmony in all relationships of faculty and students. There have come many fine words of good will from the school's enlarging circle of friends in response to the school's attempted new program of improved efficiency and larger service. A growing interest in the work has been evidenced by a very marked increase in inquiries from interested young people, laymen, and ministers of our churches, anxious to learn more of the unique service features of the enlarged educational program. In the local constituency, the movement of finer loyalty and cooperation among church and civic leaders has been very heartening indeed.

2. ACCREDITED STANDING.—The raising of the scholastic quality of the work of the school has been a major objective the past year. September, 1929, a new course of study was set in operation which offers to the student during her three years of study one hundred and ten different courses, designed for professional training for the Christian service vocations. On request of the administration the university senate of the Board of Education at Chicago made a study of the school's standards. Dr. J. V. Thompson, of Northwestern University, made the study on March 13, and in May the university senate passed a resolution in recognition of the school as an "A" grade training school of the church. This recognition is certain to bring many important advantages. There are signs of growing creditability of the school's work in transfer of students to our church colleges. A member of last year's class matriculated as a candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree in a prominent university. Her full three years of work with us was accepted and she received her degree with one year additional study. This stimulus to "go on" in advanced study is an important contribution of the school. Two years ago only one of our six department head instructors possessed the Master's degree. At present writing five of these six head instructors have the Master's degree or its equivalent, and no instructor is without at least the Bachelor's degree. A very noticeable improvement in the quality of classroom instruction is the result.

3. THE RELIGIOUS LIFE.—Because of the nature of the school's objectives, it would be expected that careful attention be given to the development of the spiritual life. The fine spiritual atmosphere and vigorous religious activity among students and faculty the past year deserves special commendation. The special week for the deepening of the spiritual life was observed in February with good results. Several students were definitely converted to Christ and others led into an experience of deeper consecration. Earnestness of Christian purpose has characterized the life of the school throughout the year. It is indeed encouraging to note what wonderful changes take place in lives of the freshman class as they come into the new environment of high Christian ideals and aspirations.

4. NEW FEATURES.—There have been in operation the past year three improved features of the school. One of these is the chemical laboratory where courses in household chemistry have been offered under the excellent instruction of Dr. J. A. Baker. A second is the demonstration kindergarten school in which twenty children have been enrolled. This school in the first year of its history has been a thriving institution, and a great asset both in attracting students to major in the kindergarten department, and affording a place of valuable practice teaching. The secretarial science department under the leadership of Miss Edith Klink, has proven the demand for its services.

5. THE ENROLLMENT.—Thirty-seven students, coming from eleven different States, enrolled last year. Of these, twenty-two were new entrants which number represents a 300 per cent increase of new students over the number of new registrants the past year.

6. STUDENT LEADERSHIP.—One of the impressive features of the life of the school is the vigorous quality of student activities—literary, missionary, social, student government, dramatic, and music activities are prominent. The past year there were sixteen dramatic presentations by students in local churches. Our students tied for second place in the religious dramatic contest put on the past winter by the local county Council of Religious Education. "The Iowa National Singers," the school glee club, successfully passed the inspection of the music director of WHO in the city and their program was broadcast last May 14. The coming year the glee club will periodically broadcast music programs over WHO.

7. COMMENCEMENT.—The school and visiting friends enjoyed five days of unusually helpful commencement days May 29 to June 2 last. Sickness of a relative compelled Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, the national President of the Society, to cancel her engagement for four addresses on our commencement program to the regret of many anxious auditors, but her substitute speaker, Mrs. J. N. Rodeheaver, ably took her place. The commencement address was given by Dr. A. E. Kirk, secretary of Division of Educational Institutions of the Board of Education. An unusually fine class of nine young people were graduated. All of these save two have been appointed and are at work in good service positions, and one of the remaining two is to return this next year to work off a few remaining hours of courses, and the appointment of the other is expected soon. Prayers and cooperation of all Christian friends reading this report are solicited for continued and enlarged usefulness of the Iowa National Training School.

KANSAS CITY NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Corner East 15th Street and Denver Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri

Founded 1899

Miss Anna Neiderheiser, D.Ped., President

Capacity: 81 residents; 4 day students; 25 faculty workers.

Aim: A training school for deaconesses and missionaries.

The Kansas City National Training School has closed another fruitful year. In many respects, it does not differ greatly from the previous year, and yet there has been a steady strengthening which has been visible in the fine results of the year.

Our work has been recognized in the field of social science by the election of Dr. Neiderheiser to membership in Pi Gamma Mu, a national social science honor society.

The strength of our Department of Religious Education is bringing to us a larger group of college young women than we have ever enrolled before.

Our Training School for Daily Vacation Church School Workers is now accredited by the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Its curriculum includes a number of the standard teacher-training courses, for which full credit is given toward the standard teacher-training diploma. Fifty enrolled in this school this year from Kansas City and vicinity. From this group we furnished leadership for a large number of schools throughout the Middle West, as well as Greater Kansas City.

The week-day church school had the largest attendance it has ever had, with an ever-growing co-operation of the churches supporting it and the parents of the community.

A playground has been opened in connection with the Sheffield Neighborhood Center. Since July we have been able to supply a supervisor from our corps of workers. This, with the "clean-up" campaign, has increased our usefulness in the community manifold.

The workers in the Argentine Mexican Mission have had the joy of seeing one of their boys enter college this fall. They also have quite a group in high school.

The Early Elementary Education Department still maintains its high character of work which has brought recognition from the Board of Education of Missouri.

The kindergarten and all-day nursery school at the Argentine Mexican Mission, where the students work with a full-time director; and the nursery school in Sheffield, where they take full charge, offer a wonderful opportunity for the proving of the classroom work and the development and poise and teaching strength of the students in that department. Steady advance has been made in social science, home economics, recreation, and music.

The pageantry class has been working the past year under a committee, with a chairman responsible for the correlation of the work. It has proven satisfactory, and very high-class work has been done. Perhaps the most outstanding event of the year was "The Overcoming Power," a Bible play given as part of the deaconess conference program.

The senior class play, "The Fulfillment," took root in the realities of life and was a production worthy of the class. The graduates numbered 18—deaconesses, 14; missionaries and other Christian workers, 3; pastor's wife, 1. These have been appointed from coast to coast, largely in institutions of The Woman's Home Missionary Society. More members of the graduating class have been placed in institutions of The Woman's Home Missionary Society than ever before, taking places of leadership as superintendent and teachers. Two of our graduates have been sent to Jesse Lee Home, Seward, Alaska—Ethel Ard and Ruth Murrell.

Commencement week included the commencement activities, the meeting of the Alumnae Association, and deaconess conference. Rev. A. A. Halter, Th.D., gave the class-day address. Dr. E. J. Kulp preached the baccalaureate sermon; Rev. C. P. Mills the annual sermon. Dr. J. W. R. Sumwalt gave a strong commencement address.

We were glad to have with us two members of the Board of Trustees of The Woman's Home Missionary Society: Mrs. J. Luther Taylor, Recording Secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Freeman, Treasurer.

A number of leaders from other denominations participated in other services during the week, which, with the beautiful music furnished by the school, made it one of the most gracious commencements we have ever had.

The strength of the faculty the past year has kept our work on a very high basis. Elizabeth Hartman, '12, a graduate of Northwestern University, with her Master's degree from the Hartford School of Religious Education, has been admitted to the faculty. Minnie Pike, who is assisting in the Department of Foreign Languages, attended the Summer School of the University of Mexico last summer.

Our field workers and teachers are in constant demand as speakers and leaders in missionary conventions, schools of missions, religious education, and Epworth League institutes.

The school activities have been of a high order. William A. Quayle Day is becoming not only a freshman-class project but a day of recognition and fellowship among the Methodists of Greater Kansas City.

As always, the May Day Festival, under the auspices of the junior class, was an outstanding event. A beautiful picture of Bishop William A. Quayle was presented, which is an enrichment to the life of the school, as it hangs on the wall of our library.

The Alumnae Association still maintains its place in loyal support and cooperation.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society auxiliary has not failed in this closing Jubilee year; they have the privilege of reporting a gain in their mite-box offering, which reached $1,729.08.

The Kansas City National Training School may well be called a school of vision and of service. It maintains a high standard as a specialized school educationally, and all of its work is motivated by the spirit of service and interracial fellowship. These have ample scope in a large city.

The records of the year show activities through daily vacation church school, week-day church school, school of missions, Queen Esther Camp, Epworth League institute, Camp Fire, fresh-air camp, supervised playground, nursery school and kindergarten, organized Sunday-school and missionary activities, Americanization classes, and case work. All of these bring opportunity not only for very strong classroom work, but for supervised and directed constructive service which brings satisfaction in achievement as well as skill and poise.

An electric dish-washer and a kitchen-aid have been given to the culinary department and a mimeograph to the office, by friends of the institution during the year, and are proving great blessings.

Through the strictest economy we have again kept our expenses within our income. Work which brings such results certainly challenges us all to do our best, and we thank all who have helped or encouraged us. We look forward to another year of hearty cooperation.

SAN FRANCISCO NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

129 Haight Street, San Francisco, California

Founded 1893

Rev. E. V. DuBois, D.D., President

Capacity: 37 residents; 19 day students; 11 faculty and workers

Aim: A training school for deaconesses and missionaries.

The past year at the San Francisco National Training School has been marked by a steady and continuous progress in several ways. In the first place, the buildings have undergone a thorough renovation. An adjoining building, heretofore rented out, has been put in order for additional dormitory space to accommodate the larger number of students, and all the premises have been put in good repair in order to make the living conditions comfortable and provide a homelike atmosphere.

There has been a distinct advance registered in the scholastic work of the school. This has been indicated by the increased recognition for college credit. A few years ago most of the graduates who wished to obtain a college degree had to put in two extra years of work. Last year two of the graduates obtained their college degrees after a year and a half. This year two graduates who went to two different colleges qualified for the completion of their work for the college degree within one year. This has been accomplished partly by strengthening some of the courses of study and partly by careful conservation of the time of the students. Several important new courses of study have been added to the curriculum, notably in the departments of Bible and of Social Science.

The extension work of the school in activities outside of the school and the city has grown into a very prominent feature of the work. In the High Sierras Epworth League Institute and at the Queen Esther Camp in Southern California, classes in religious pageantry have been conducted during the summer months. This year, in addition, a complete course for the year's programs, with souvenirs, was worked out by the training school for all of the Queen Esther groups of Southern California. These have been eagerly seized upon by these young people's societies and by their leaders, thus giving the school a larger field of leadership in the creation of missionary interest. During the year the students from the school go out to various churches and cities within reach to put on missionary programs and religious meetings and religious pageants.

The student body has been very carefully selected. All have been well trained, with at least a full high-school course, and some have had full university work. They show a happy blending of various nationalities in one wholesome family group, including four bright Japanese girls (one of them directly from Japan from Tokyo University), two Mexican girls, one Alaskan, and one Armenian.

Situated as the school is in the delightful climate of California, in the midst of healthful conditions, surrounded by opportunities of immediate contact with many national groups with all kinds of city and foreign-missionary problems and activities immediately at hand, and with inspiring fellowships of wholesome, earnest, purposeful Christian young women, the San Francisco Training School presents an almost ideal place for a young woman to lay the foundation of a highest education with a constructive study of the Bible and religion in the critical years of her student life. It also presents a unique opportunity to the church for cultivating a very strategic field for effective missionary work.

JESSE LEE HOME

Seward, Alaska

Founded 1890. Moved to Seward 1925

Rev. Charles T. Hatten, Superintendent

Capacity: 127 children; 13 workers.

Aim: A home and industrial school for the homeless children of Alaska.

WHY?

If radio's slim fingers
Can pluck a melody
From night and toss it over
A continent or sea;

If the petaled white notes
Of a violin
Are blown across a mountain
Or a city's din;

If songs like crimson roses
Are culled from thin blue air,
Why should mortals wonder
If God hears prayer.

—EDITH ROMIG FULLER.

This Jubilee year has been one of growth and expansion. The substance of "things hoped for" has become real and substantial.

Early in the year we moved into our new hospital quarters. The entire third floor of Jewel-Guard Hall had been given over to this. It is a regular hospital. There are twelve beds, a dispensary, surgery, nurses' quarters, diet kitchen, and, in fact, everything that goes into the modern hospital to make it efficient and comfortable. It has never been entirely empty since the day we first occupied it. Besides those of our own family who were here cared for, six out-patients were taken care of in emergencies. This will no longer be necessary since the town of Seward now has its own hospital, built and equipped by the town and turned over to The Woman's Home Missionary Society, September 1, 1930. Surely these things were wrought by prayer!

The next step up was the increase of our dairy herd. Twelve good, registered Guernsey and Holstein cows are now giving enough milk to supply our wants without the purchase of canned milk. There is no finer animal in all Alaska than Sir Gerbon Mona Segis, the head of our herd. We want six or eight more cows. It will make our dairy pay but this expansion must await two things: the clearing of more land so that more feed can be raised and the building of a modern dairy barn. The Ohio Conference gave two hundred dollars for cows; individuals and societies gave smaller but much appreciated amounts: one small band of Mothers' Jewels sent one dollar. Altogether it was accomplished. Our prayers were answered.

Another improvement that means a great saving in money and gives better service is the installation of the hydro-electric power plant. The work was practically all done by the men of the staff and the older boys.

A sum of money spent for dynamite cleared eight acres of land and made it ready for the plow. We pray for dynamite. Our prayers have been answered in the past but we need more.

Gifts, for the most part from local friends, made the purchase of a new four-and-one-half-ton Ford truck possible. This was a real need, and again we are thankful.

A building in which to care for the milk and place our new cannery was built this summer. The basement will be used for the storage of root crops. A two-car garage is a part of the building. The older boys have done all the work and they are very proud of the building.

The year has passed. The material and physical blessings have been many, yet we prize more the mental growth and spiritual development of our children.

In June, Charles Nelson was graduated from the Seward High School. He has the distinction of being the first Jesse Lee boy or girl ever to graduate from a high school in Alaska. Others have graduated, but always from a school in the States. Charles also had the honor of winning first place for the territory of Alaska in a nation-wide essay contest sponsored by the high-school magazine "Current Literature." His essay was an autobiography, "A Chapter of My Life."

This year we have three seniors, five juniors, ten sophomores, and ten freshmen. The prophet's eye can see the dawning of a new day for the youth of Alaska.

This summer three of our children, all of high-school age, returned to their homes out on the islands. We knew what they were going into—worldliness, drunkenness, ignorance, and sore temptations. We were troubled about them and afraid for them. Our every thought of them was a prayer for them. We were like the builder who stood amid a storm with abated breath watching a great structure he had built, wondering if it would withstand the fury of the gale. The first of September came and everyone of them was back with us. They were more in love with the dear old home, its ideals, and the opportunities it has to give them.

Benny Benson spent the summer on Benson's Island, his father's fox farm. He came back eager for school and said very earnestly to the boys: "Just three weeks spent out to the westward and a fellow can see what the home has done for him."

The building had stood, our prayers were answered!

We look backward with gratitude. We think forward into the coming years with the song of Jubilee on our lips.

"Rejoice, rejoice, rejoice, give thanks and sing."

Nome, Alaska

Founded 1913

Rev. W. F. Baldwin, Superintendent

Capacity: Three workers.

Aim: To teach the Eskimo how to become a good citizen.

Mrs. Baldwin is assistant superintendent and Miss Mary Greene is the deaconess. The mission is for the Eskimos, where they learn about Jesus, how to care for their children, to have better homes, and become good citizens

Nome, Alaska

Founded 1913

Miss Emily Morgan, Superintendent

Capacity: Five workers.

Aim: To care for the sick in isolated sections of Alaska.

This hospital, which has served the natives and white folks in and near Nome for some years, is serving a much larger territory now that the airplane can be used to bring the sick or one who has an accident to the hospital in very short time. During the summer some much-needed repair work was done. The stoves in the nurses' home were worn out; they are comfortable this winter, because of a brand new heating plant installed during the summer; the people of Nome helped pay for it. There are two nurses helping the superintendent.

UNALASKA MISSION

Unalaska, Alaska

Founded 1904

Rev. A. J. Armstrong, Superintendent

Capacity: Two workers.

Aim: To serve the Aleutes.

In the thirteen months that the writer and his wife have been at Unalaska Mission, we have found plenty to occupy head, heart, and hands.

Constructive work must begin with the children and in the brief period we have been with them, we have been happy to note the progress made in their church-school work. Their deportment has improved and there has been mental and spiritual growth. Although the church school began a year ago under discouraging circumstances, the classes are now so large that we need more teachers as well as more room.

Many of our children need the influence of a Christian home. But it is too far away to the Jesse Lee and all our homes for children in Alaska are full with a waiting list.

Home life in most of the Aleute cabins is on a very low level. There is much neglect and very little discipline. Low moral standards and drunkenness prevail in many of the homes. The intoxicants are home-made concoctions that are most debauching and demoralizing in influence. The authorities in the Greek Catholic Church seem to encourage indulgences and the priests use large quantities of fermented wines.

All over these islands the white man has too often been a menace and a stumblingblock to the native and the contacts degrading. The white people who are here, come for commercial purposes and moral influences are ignored.

Though the adult Aleutes read but little, they do like pictures. They are privileged to attend the latest movies shown by the Coast Guard Cutters. Unfortunately the susceptible natives often gain the wrong impressions of American life from these films. We are fervently hoping that some day the mission will have an outfit so that we can show educational pictures, for much good can be thus accomplished.

Mrs. Armstrong is giving piano lessons to a number of the boys and girls but there is only one family who has an instrument upon which the children can practice.

The sailors of the Coast Guard Cutters are greatly enjoying our newly painted and attractively papered reading room. Many of them are happy to make use of our piano at the mission and their orchestra often tunes up there, too. We have continued to keep "open house," giving dinners, socials, parties to the different groups. In their turn, some of the officers and men are usually in attendance at our Sunday afternoon preaching service.

Many of the sick come to us for ministry and aid. While our equipment is limited, it is the only place on the island or within eight hundred miles where proper care can be given. We have the services of a government employed physician living here, as well as the doctors and dentists of the Coast Guards. The people, both white and native, are very friendly toward us and the work of the mission.

We appreciate letters from friends of our mission and hope they will not forget to write to us on our far western island of Unalaska.

CHILDREN'S HOMES

Mrs. E. M. Mills, Secretary
2429 Poinsettia Street, Santa Ana, California

MOTHERS' JEWELS HOME

York, Nebraska
Founded October, 1890
Rev. John Calvert, Superintendent

Capacity: 120 residents; 20 workers.

Aim: To furnish a Christian home for the underprivileged child.

Mothers' Jewels Home celebrated its fortieth anniversary last April. Mrs. Annie Hobbs Woodcock, who has so admirably represented The Woman's Home Missionary Society for many years, delivered a very inspiring speech concerning the work of the home and the general work of the Society. Father Spurlock, who is now ninety-five years of age, was present and obviously enjoyed the service which was held in the chapel in Mills Cottage.

Each year brings added evidence of the fine human fruitage which has been produced by The Woman's Home Missionary Society. Persons who have left the home are making good records out in the world. A little touch of current reward came to us this year when the high-school principal telephoned and requested that the office force at the high school might use one of our girls who is a senior this year.

Our graduates are well qualified to care for themselves and almost without exception they reflect credit upon the work of the Society. The people who know conditions at the home are very anxious to secure our children for positions of responsibility. The boys who remain with us a few years in their teens are thoroughly prepared for farm and dairy work and have established regular habits of industry and cleanliness—no smoking, no swearing, no loafing are the common standards among our children.

The health conditions of our home surprise most people. We believe this is due to the good food, the regular habits, plenty of fresh air, frequent play, and daily industry.

The religious life of the home is stressed in the daily worship in dormitories and dining room and the public service. Our material equipment is better than ever before and the products from the farm this year have been very good.

We cannot meet the full need of the unfortunate children in these central States, but we have increased in our service from caring for six to one hundred and twenty every day of the year.

Our bureau secretary, Mrs. E. M. Mills, is constant in her stress of keeping the material, educational, and spiritual standards of the home at a high level. Our joy in the work is an increasing joy, as we behold the fine results of former years of service rendered by our self-sacrificing workers.

MOTHERS' JEWELS HOME

SPURLOCK HALL

MILLS COTTAGE

PEEK HOME

Polo, Illinois

Founded 1916

Miss Grace E. Brandes, Superintendent

Capacity: 33 residents; 4 workers.

Aim: To furnish a Christian home for orphan children.

On the 16th of February, 1930, we had an informal opening of the new Girls' Home at Peek Home, and the following day the four girls who were living at the home moved into their new rooms, and that afternoon we cooked supper in the new kitchen. Both the boys and girls had been looking forward to the time when they would have their first meal in the lovely new dining room.

The farmhouse, which had been used for both the boys and girls, was moved about three hundred feet back to the end of a long double row of ever-green trees, and after it had been firmly placed on its new foundation it was papered and painted inside and is now known as the Boys' Home.

Since moving into our new home we have admitted three boys and eleven girls from Illinois, four girls from Georgia, and the Ponca twins from the Ponca Reservation, Oklahoma. Miss Kellogg, the girls' matron, came to help us the first of May. She also supervises the preparing and serving of the meals; the older girls help with the work in the kitchen, as well as the work about the home. Mrs. Slater is still with us as boys' matron, and Mr. Slater as farm manager.

The children in the first, second, and third grades attend the district school which is a short distance from the home, the others go to the schools in Polo; two of the girls are in high school. On Sundays as many as can get in our automobiles, go to Sunday school and church in Polo. After supper we have Junior League services in which the children are very interested. We have also organized a band of Home Guards.

Mr. Slater, with the help of the older boys, has as fine a garden as one could wish for, and they have kept us supplied with fresh vegetables; the over supply has been canned for winter use. The boys also help feed the ninety-nine little pigs we have.

We are a very happy family and the children who are old enough to think much about it are very grateful to The Woman's Home Missionary Society for their comfortable home.

SAGER-BROWN SCHOOL

Baldwin, Louisiana

Founded 1921

Mr. H. C. Seidel, Superintendent

Capacity: 50 residents; 70 day students; 11 workers.

Aim: A Christian home for homeless Negro children.

During the past year many of the larger children of Sager-Brown have gone out while others have come in. At present, we have twenty boys and twenty-seven girls. Our youngest is Rosa, who has large eyes, and asks for a birthday every time she thinks of it. We have decided that she was five years old on October 6.

Our family was happy to have a part in the Jubilee, and by special effort our Queen Esthers were able to have a gold certificate for a birthday gift to The Woman's Home Missionary Society, while the Home Guards and Mothers' Jewels raised twenty-five dollars toward another. This was largely due to the enthusiasm and inspiration of dear Mrs. McLaurin, who has taken work in a new field after having been here from the beginning.

Mrs. McLaurin was one who helped to establish this home. She made the preparations for the first family to enter in 1922. During these years she has served in nearly every capacity and endeared herself to both children and workers. She has ever been ready with a word of cheer and encouragement. Her latest position was matron in the Franklin Reed, Jr., Cottage. We know that she loves this home and this family, and in a sense regretted going, even to a larger field. To understand this one need only to know the darling little family of boys she was mothering.

Some minor improvements have been made in the buildings, and an effort has been made to teach our boys something of the art of building. It was Mrs. McLaurin's dream that the gallery could be built on the boys' dormitory this year, and we hope that it may be realized.

We are all delighted that our school, which accommodates children from the village, has been accredited by the state, and the graduates this year received not only a state diploma, but also a teacher's certificate, though both of them continuing their quest for knowledge have entered New Orleans University.

We are grateful indeed that The Woman's Home Missionary Society found it possible to provide a scholarship for Roberta Bryant, our first home graduate. Roberta is a dear girl, with a sweet voice, and has proven herself worthy. She will live in Peck Home this year.

Our next graduate will be Ethel Francois, who has two years with us. Ethel is a promising girl and hopes to teach. It was her privilege and honor to represent Sager-Brown School at the Jubilee meeting in Cincinnati.

We feel that we have a very splendid force, and look forward to a happy year, but are hoping for the time when we can have more rooms finished for the girls, and employ two matrons in their dormitory.

ANGEL ISLAND IMMIGRATION WORK

Miss Katherine Maurer, Deaconess

655 Stockton Street, San Francisco, California

Capacity: 2 workers.

Aim: To serve the thirty-nine nationalities who come via Angel Island.

A year ago the supervision of the work at Angel Island was added to the Chinese Bureau. This is a happy arrangement since it is with the Chinese that the work of the immigration service is most intimately related, not only because of the large number of Chinese detained there, but because of the great variety of Chinese laws involved. However, our Miss Maurer and Mrs.

IMMIGRATION STATION, ANGEL ISLAND

Scheoraff know no race, color, or creed in serving the thirty-nine nationalities that come to Angel Island. There are always upwards of three hundred people in detention at the immigration station. The fifteen thousand persons who pass yearly through this station, whether they stay here or go back home, get their first and often most lasting impression of our so-called Christian America at Angel Island. Many letters testify to the gratitude of those who have been touched by our workers. The following is part of a recent letter to Miss Maurer from a young man sent back to China: "I am so do missing you a lot. I am sincerely wish that there are millions of women like you, and the world will getting along more better. May God select us to meet again in an early date. Am always wish you in my heart that you are well, healthful with happiness."

Surely this work is worth while. The many Testaments and portions of Scripture that are given to those leaving the island will continue the good work begun by our workers.

CHINESE HOME

940 Washington Street, San Francisco, California

Miss Isabel Fleming, Superintendent

Capacity: 30 residents; 140 day students; 9 workers.

Aim: To provide a Christian home for Chinese children.

The work of the Chinese Home in San Francisco has been of unusual interest this year. The family has been larger and the opportunities more varied. Our doors have opened to a young mother and her children fleeing from the beatings of a cruel husband, as well as children coming for protection from temporary or permanent orphanage.

Our home life is beautiful with a fine spirit of understanding and co-operation. The girls who were so-called "problems" are growing into fine upstanding young womanhood. As they finish high school or reach the age limit, they go out into useful occupations or into homes of their own, always grateful for what 940 Washington Street has meant to them. One of our girls who left last summer in a letter to the local board said: ". . . I would like to thank you for my father for fulfilling his wishes concerning me. He has gone to that brighter land satisfied that we (five sisters) were properly cared for in this home. You have aided him and my brothers by supporting me when I was helpless. . . . Now I return to the home of my brothers. I go to help them in all sorts of ways. Perhaps I may only do odds and ends. However, I hope to be an asset to them and the world. The debt I owe to The Woman's Home Missionary Society is immeasurable. I cannot tell in words how grateful I am to you. But I hope all your good efforts in mission work may be successful. Prosperity be yours."

Two of our older girls, Mildred Lui and Rena Jung, were privileged to attend the National Jubilee meeting at Cincinnati. They not only had charge of our splendid exhibit, but appeared in several demonstrations and pageants, and helped in the Sunday morning service in a Covington church. It was a wonderful experience for them and will mean much in their Christian development.

The health of our children is excellent as usual. In a recent public-school medical inspection, the nurse pointed out certain children, telling the doctor that they would not need examination, because they came from the Methodist home and were so well cared for. The large quantity of milk and the 150 or 160 pounds of rice eaten each month contributes to this condition. An inspector from the Board of Health cited our home as a model institution with the atmosphere of a real home, not an institution.

They are also developing splendidly along spiritual lines. The family prayers held each evening are a blessing to all, children and staff alike. The older girls sing in the church choir, play the piano, help in Sunday school and League services, because they really want to. Through our kindergarten teachers many of the day kindergarten children are brought into the Sunday school.

Our kindergarten of 125, half in the morning and half in the afternoon, meet in two rooms with two teachers. We could have many, many more if we had room and teachers. Parents apply for places many weeks ahead. Our older girls go across the street to the Commodore Stockton Public School with fifteen hundred other Chinese children, and are doing excellent work.

CHINESE WORK IN LOS ANGELES

Mrs. Woo, Bible Woman

Our work in Los Angeles goes on quietly but effectively. Mrs. Woo, our Bible woman, and Mrs. Loy Chan, a faithful volunteer co-worker, continue to bring comfort and cheer, as together they go in and out in their daily visitation work. With the help of home missionary money, they have been able to tide families through periods of sickness or lack of work. They have been able to cooperate with the Chinese Mission and Sunday school which is supported by our church board, teaching in the Sunday school, helping at Christmas time in money and service.

Our responsibility and opportunity rest with the second generation or young people. Born in America they are citizens, real Americans, and they are proud of it. They very quickly absorb American standards and ideals. What they are, therefore, depends on the models we set. Chinese parents like white parents, want their children to have the best education and the best in everything, and are willing to sacrifice much to that end. Whether this second generation will be an asset as worth-while, high-minded Americans, or a liability, because they have had only the worst to imitate, depends largely, if not wholly, on the Christian people. Is Christian America giving them a fair chance economically? Is she really helping them religiously? Is The Woman's Home Missionary Society measuring up to its opportunity? This is our problem.

BLODGETT MEMORIAL COMMUNITY HOUSE

Hazleton, Pennsylvania
Erected 1926
Miss Glenna Ford, Superintendent

Capacity: 82 day students; 7 workers.

Aim: A neighbor to foreign-speaking people.

The work of Blodgett Memorial Community House is serving the needs of many nationalities in its neighborhood. Hazleton is in the center of the anthracite belt. The foreign people make up about 75 per cent of the population; they include Slovak, Polish, Russian, Ukranian, Lithuanian, Italian, Syrian, Czechs, and some German.

BLODGETT MEMORIAL COMMUNITY HOUSE

In previous years one great problem has been irregularity in attendance. With our new community house there has been a marked change. Children as well as adults, feel that the community house is theirs, and they have a definite responsibility in the work and appearance of the place.

During the past year the Mother's Club, through various activities, furnished a girl's clubroom, making it a very attractive room. They also made "built-in" kindergarten supply cupboards which have been the aim of that department since the building was opened.

In May, members of all classes and clubs united their efforts in putting on a bazaar. The fund realized is a nucleus for a fence to inclose the yard or grounds so that lawn may be built and shrubbery set out. The need is imperative, as is shown by the fact that twenty-three goats were counted at one time in the yard.

The work in the mining towns has developed steadily. Through the library, which has been the latest acquisition at the Harwood Community House, many children have been reached. A daily kindergarten and clubs for children of all ages are held. A meeting of the Mothers' Club and Sunday school are weekly events. Daily vacation Bible school was held through the month of July with a splendid attendance.

At Hollywood the only available place has been the schoolhouse. This was poorly lighted and not always available. Now, however, a real step forward has been made. The coal company, who own all the village houses, has sold us the most desirable house in Hollywood. It is a one-family house in good condition. It has a good-sized yard where the children may have games.

This fall the work will open there with a kindergarten, library, sewing classes for girls and women, clubs for boys and girls, and we hope a young people's club. The Boy Scouts out there have taken an interest and have offered their help.

Three years ago when the Blodgett Memorial Community House was dedicated, it seemed a wonderful achievement, and hopes of community houses in adjacent mining towns were only air castles. To-day, through prayers and persistent effort, we have our own property in both Harwood and Hollywood, and the work is already established. We are convinced that "all things work together for good to them that trust in the Lord."

ITALIAN SETTLEMENT

615 Mary Street, Utica, New York

Miss Helen Marie Edick, Superintendent

Capacity: 730 students; 6 workers.

Aim: To teach foreign people to become worthy citizens of the kingdom of God.

Years of faithful and loving service on the part of those who have given their lives to the service of Christ and mankind many years ago, have made possible the results seen this year in our Italian work. Doing little tasks day by day when the goal seems so far away as to be almost out of sight, becomes a pleasure and looks like real work in the kingdom of God when you can see the standards a little higher and ideals a little more clearly outlined. The conflict is never quite ended, but the promise of Jesus that seeds sown shall find root and grow, spurs us on, and with the daily sowing of seeds we are trying to keep the ground fertile that they may grow and increase a hundredfold.

Our attempts the past year have not been to increase the number beyond our capacity, but to care sufficiently for those we have, holding them over from year to year. However, there has been an increase of opportunity for work with new members, and approximately 175 families added to our files within the past year and the community and population of Italians in our vicinity is scarcely touched! Three blocks away, and parallel to us, are several hundred families that have had no settlement or Christian influence. In past years, our interest has been in those immediately surrounding us because we are thickly populated. But the past ten years have greatly benefited the living conditions and morale of our people, and the time is now ripe for us to push on a little farther and aid those within our vicinity who have hitherto been untouched. A survey, as we begin our new year, will bring to light those facts we need to know.

This past year we were grieved and handicapped by the illness of one of our workers, Miss Ruthe Exner, who had to return to her home for rest and recuperation. But we were fortunate in the addition of one new worker for our staff, making six in all. This has enabled us to do much more.

Two of our new organizations this year were a band of Home Guards and a Queen Esther Circle. Our Home Guards had no apportionment because they organized late, but they have become familiar with the work and developed a real desire to serve. One little girl reported that she could no longer come to Home Guards because she could not bring her dues. (We collect a small fee each meeting.) We expressed regret and said we hoped she could find a way to come. The next meeting she arrived all excited and produced her dues immediately. Asking her how she obtained them, we received this reply: "I got up early and earned them; I helped the milk man." The Queen Esther Circle organized November 15, took an apportionment of twenty dollars, and by June they had paid it in full, with dues for twelve members and sent a box for Christmas to Marcy Center. A little money still remained in the treasury, so help was obtained, and altogether seven girls were sent to Northern New York Conference Camp at Dempster. The week spent at camp is one which will be far-reaching in the lives of those girls who attended. They have asked for an apportionment this year of thirty dollars, and expect to raise it and double the attendance at camp. As a result of inspiration at camp, one of the girls has been helping us every day in daily vacation Bible school and has brought to her little children in her class some of the joy and love of Christ which is hers.

Through the kindness of our church friends, milk has been served to the nursery school children the past year. Little bodies were strengthened and weight gained by undernourished children. We found after the first serving of milk that it was necessary to provide education in drinking it as well as the product itself. They were not used to it and many did not like it. Coaxing was necessary. Thus Rosie learned to drink milk because Mary did, and Anthony because it would make him become a strong man. The children responded beautifully to the nursery school program, and could hardly wait to enter each morning. One little girl, whose mother works, had to be brought in before eight each morning. If we were not finished with breakfast and devotions, she used to come upstairs and join us. The first day she just watched. The next morning, after we had all knelt for prayer, she tried it and was not too successful on our waxed floor. After a few attempts, she went around and observed one of the teachers who seemed to do it to her satisfaction. The next attempt was rewarded by no accident.

Vocational classes have been especially interesting. There were proud mothers who viewed the dresses and aprons and other garments that their daughters had made. Two mothers sent their boys to sewing class this year and asked us to teach them to sew. They wanted them to learn to mend their own clothes! They were a little embarrassed at first to be with the girls, but that soon passed away when someone diplomatically called them "tailors."

It would be impossible to speak intimately of all the clubs and classes and the influences brought to bear upon the individual lives. Each day the building was full. Our boys won the city championship in basketball and were presented with the cup. Another Girl Scout troop was added and a troop of Boy Scouts organized. Discussions that were very beneficial and enlightening were held in vespers. The work closed with a daily vacation Bible school, and the children studied the life of Jesus with the conscious aim that they might grow as he grew. Even the smallest "new American" joined in the salutes to the American and Christian flags. Little voices were lifted in honor and love to Jesus. Thus, day by day they are learning and striving to become more nearly worthy citizens of the kingdom of God. Will you join us in prayer through the coming years that our foreign Christians may be steadfast and persevering and stand in their places as leaders of their own people that all may be won to Him?

MEDICAL MISSION DISPENSARY

36 Hull Street, Boston, Massachusetts

Founded 1892

Joelle C. Heibert, M.D., Superintendent

L. Curtis Foye, M.D., Resident Physician

Capacity: 30 residents; 15 workers.

Aim: To all who are sick and need a physician but are unable to provide one;
to all who are handicapped in earning a living because of illness and need treatment; to all who would be immunized against preventable disease; to all who are sad and disappointed and need comfort, we open wide our door and for the "love of Christ and in His name" bid you "welcome."

AND THEY CAME—

Americans	Greeks	Poles
Armenians	Hindus	Porto Ricans
Austrians	Hungarians	Portuguese
Canadians	Irish	Russians
Chinese	Italians	Ruthenians
Danish	Jews	Scotch
English	Latvians	Spanish
Esthonians	Lithuanians	Swedish
French	Negroes	Ukranians
Germans	Norwegians	West Indians

They all came, more than three thousand, who had never been to the mission before; and some could not come because they were too sick, so the doctors and the nurses called on these. Over fifteen thousand times the doctors or nurses visited patients who could not come.

Sickness, poverty, disappointment, pain had broken down the barriers created by race, nationality, and creed. The Medical Mission had become the meeting ground for all.

Affiliations

MASSACHUSETTS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.—One hundred and fifty-seven patients sent to this hospital during the year. Sixteen specialists from staff provided for clinics.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.—Forty-seven students of the class of 1930, after having received a limited license to practice medicine in Massachusetts, received instruction in:

1. Minor surgery.
2. General medicine.
3. Obstetrics.
4. Administration of ether.

Fifty-eight resident staff meetings have been held under the direction of Dr. Foye, the resident physician. Patients having typical diseases were presented and the diagnosis and treatment discussed in detail. Each student presented a paper prepared for this meeting.

Student's manual has been printed—not only acquainting the student with the ideals of the mission, but also instructing him in his several duties in the house, clinic, laboratory, and on the district.

NEW ENGLAND DEACONESS HOSPITAL.—Twenty-four nurses have received instruction in the clinics, in the homes, and in the bedside nursing.

GORDON COLLEGE.—Although not affiliated with the Medical Mission, sixty lectures in preventive medicine, hygiene, and first aid were given to a class of forty-three students who were preparing for the mission field. Some of these students will return, or go to China, India, South America, Africa, West Indies, and many will do Christian work in this land during the coming year.

Improvements Made During the Past Year

1. Rubber and linoleum floor covering on the entire second floor. This not only adds to the beauty of the rooms but makes it possible to keep the floors cleaner.
2. Kelvinator for the storage of culture media and biological products. This also makes ice available continuously for use in the sickroom.
3. X-ray table equipped with a Buckey Diaphragm, to replace the "home-made" one.
4. Automatic oil burner for boiler and hot-water heater.

5. Vacuum cleaner and floor polisher.
6. Electric dishwasher given by the Pittsburgh Conference.
7. New set of eye instruments so our visiting eye specialist, who has served for thirty-five years, would be able to work more efficiently.
8. More filing cabinets for our ever-increasing number of records.

Special Occasions

"There!" said the proprietor after having provided free chickens for our Thanksgiving baskets, "now I'll be able to enjoy my own turkey all the more."

Eight hundred and seventy-five Christmas greetings were sent to friends and patients reminding everyone of Him whose birth we celebrate.

More than two thousand individual parcels were prepared and distributed by the workers at the mission.

There were five Christmas parties; one to which children had been invited, selected from among more than eight hundred whose births were attended by the dispensary doctor since my coming to the mission. Two parties were composed of children selected from more than one thousand who have been operated on the previous year. A fourth party was composed of girls 12-14 years old. The fifth party was made up of the workers at the mission. There was more "good will" in the world because of The Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Heard in the Morning Devotion Period

"And now, Lord Jesus, I want to thank you for the fact that fifty years ago to-day Thomas Edison discovered the incandescent light bulb, and that he brought so much light into the world." The young man who thus prayed has never seen the light—he is blind. He thanked for those who had forgotten.

Heard on the District

"Only an angel would do what you have done for us, Mother Nurse."

Heard in the Clinic

Doctor: "Why did you come to the mission?"

Patient: "Our neighbors said that everyone was so kind at the mission."

Little Patient (who was treated in the Physiotherapy Department over a long period of time): "Mother, wasn't God good to make so many fine doctors and nurses?"

Publicity

Number of addresses made during the fiscal year, 63.

Total number of miles traveled, 7,947.

The emblem of the mission has appeared on the charitable page of every Saturday evening Transcript during the past year.

The paper on "Individual Health Instruction to be Given in a Hospital" was published by the American Protestant Hospital Association and distributed to all its members throughout the United States.

Feature and news articles have appeared in the following Boston papers: Boston Herald, Boston Globe, Boston Post, Boston American, Advertiser, Daily Record, and Boston Traveler.

Editorials commending the work to the public appeared in the Boston Traveler, Boston Post, Boston Herald, and New England Medical Journal.

Mrs. W. F. Anderson made a personally conducted tour with some of the wives of the bishops through the mission.

Special report was prepared and presented to Governor F. G. Allen, of Massachusetts.

A tea was given in honor of Mrs. F. G. Allen, wife of the Governor of Massachusetts. This is the first time that the institution has been visited by the First Lady of the Commonwealth.

Special reports and information about the mission appear in the Boston University School of Medicine Catalog 1929-30. Ten pages in the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital Annual Report are devoted to the work of the Medical Mission.

President Marsh, of Boston University, and Dean Begg, of the Medical School, together with Mrs. W. F. Anderson and Mrs. Flagg, visited the mission and made a general survey of the work.

In Memoriam

CURTIS WILLIAMS FOYE,

Born June 18, 1928,

Died February 19, 1930,

The only child of Dr. and Mrs. Foye.

"He is better now."

The road has been rough at times—at times rather steep. Now and then there were footprints of Him "who knoweth the way." The workers have been faithful, striving toward the ideals that are set before us. By applying the Spirit of the Great Physician to our profession, the doctors and nurses have in their own way invited the poor and the sick to come that "they might have life and have it more abundantly."

NORTH BARRE COMMUNITY HOUSE

101 Smith Street, Barre, Vermont

Miss Grace Bate, Superintendent

Capacity: 266 day students; 3 workers.

Aim: Seeks to provide spiritual, mental, and recreational training for the community.

The North Barre Community House has had another year of interesting and helpful service, and of encouraging growth along all lines of activity. Another worker, Miss Mabelle Stevens, was added to the staff in September, and as she is especially equipped as a religious leader, through her an evening church service was inaugurated. A junior and young people's choir was organized, and much interest was shown in these groups by those who were musically inclined and had had no way before of expressing it in a wholesome, helpful way.

The Mothers' Club, under the fine leadership of Miss Florence Vann, was reorganized and became an auxiliary of The Woman's Home Missionary Society with forty charter members. This is a splendid group of women and they are reaching out in the real spirit of home missions to help those more unfortunate than themselves. One of their most worth-while projects was the making of layettes for the Hull Street Medical Mission. They raised one hundred and fifty-eight dollars during the year for various projects, and their cooperation with the work here is invaluable; but most important of all, through their society, they are learning to know and love their Master, Jesus Christ, and his way of living.

All other branches of The Woman's Home Missionary Society work were represented; one club meeting each month of the various groups being given over to the Queen Esther, Home Guards, and Mothers' Jewels programs. This insures a larger attendance and more interest than if these meetings were not correlated with the regular club work.

The number enrolled in clubs and classes last year was two hundred and sixty-six, against an enrollment of one hundred and forty-six the year before. The kindergarten enrollment increased from thirty-five to forty-three, and the attendance was remarkably good.

The evening church service had an average attendance of fifty-four, most of these being young people of high-school age and over; the church school consisted of the Primary and Junior Departments only, as there were no teachers available for the older groups, and the average attendance was fifty-five.

There was a growth in the enrollment of the daily vacation Bible school also, the average attendance being eighty-three. The children did well in Bible study and handwork, and a fine program and exhibit was given at the close of the school. A most gratifying interest was shown by the people of the neighborhood in the unusually large crowd attending this program.

In the spring a fence, made possible by the gifts of the Vermont Woman's Home Missionary Societies, was built around the playground, and some very nice apparatus was given by the Community House Woman's Home Missionary Society and other adult groups affiliated with the house. Through this playground the workers were able to keep in touch with the children through the vacation period, and the aggregate attendance for supervised play during this time was 1,159.

Our work in this community is varied, and we are using every resource at our command to make it a success; but, of course, we are greatly limited, especially in the boys' work, by the lack of a gymnasium and other facilities for recreational work; also by the small quarters in the present building available for club work, and for any group work of a large scope. However, knowing the wonderful things being accomplished by The Woman's Home Missionary Society "For the love of Christ and in His Name," we look forward to a day when the work at Barre will be adequately housed and all the needed things added, and in this faith we build towards that day.

PIER AND DETENTION WORK

Immigration Station

287 Marginal Street, East Boston, Massachusetts

Miss Amy G. Sherman, Social Worker

Capacity: 1 worker.

Aim: "For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat:
I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink:
I was a stranger and ye took me in:
Naked, and ye clothed me:
I was sick, and ye visited me:
I was in prison, and ye came unto me. . . ."

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Jesus gives us this immortal challenge, and how better may we answer it than by helping those who come from other shores, expecting to find here the land of heart's desire, to find love and sympathy in the midst of all the strangeness and confusion?

Imagine yourself arriving in a strange land, with much that is new and unexplained to be gone through, and perhaps discovering that you cannot understand even the language or make yourself understood. Strange faces are all around, and although your relative or friend is to meet you, you have no idea where to find him. And your baggage! But through the chaos is stretched a friendly hand. Although you still do not understand it all, you feel somehow that all will be well. Soon you pass the inspection desk, find your baggage and have it examined, meet your friends, and before long you are cheerfully on your way.

Your train, perhaps, does not leave until the next day, or you have lost your baggage or your passport; you may have no money left, or you may need a more thorough physical examination, or for some other reason you must be detained at the Immigration Station until your case is settled. It is comfortable there, but needs something more to make it homelike. This "something" the social worker gladly supplies. It may be clothing or a book or Testament, some piece of handwork to do, some music to cheer, some pictures to look at, some letter to write, or just someone with whom to talk. You are treated as an individual and your own needs supplied.

A short while ago two Greek children—one a boy about six years of age, the other a girl about eight—traveling alone to their father and unable to speak a word of English, were brought to the station. They had no toys. Picture books and crayons were given to each child, and a doll to the girl and a ball to the boy. How their eyes shone, and they began immediately to make good use of the toys. Later that day when the interpreter talked with them and explained the situation, their first words spoken in English were "Thank you."

A great field of service is open to us among the immigrants. We accept the challenge and take up the task with joy.

UNITY MISSION

910 Warren Street, Berwick, Pennsylvania

Founded 1919

Miss Edith E. Orvis, Superintendent

Capacity: 380 day students; 3 workers.

Aim: A Christian center of many activities for children of Slavic parentage.

Reviewing the past year, we see at first glance just a wide expanse of humdrum, everyday events, stretching away like a prairie landscape, blending invisibly into other humdrum days of other years. But, as we look more closely we discern a few depressions here and there—the illness of the girls' leader, the lack of leadership for the group of older girls asking for admittance, the need of room for the large boys' club, the night some of the boys left in a "huff" because they could not draw money at will from the Scout treasury, the day a few girls left in a "tiff" after correction. "Depressions" indeed! But now almost forgotten in the thrill of beginning anew the beckoning fields of service of another year.

We see, too, a few hills of achievement—fine Sunday-school attendance, splendid Boy Scouts, two troops; a "darling" kindergarten, a primary club and Home Guards; vespers with stereopticon slides becoming such an attraction that "standing room only" resulted. And, yes, a few real peaks of triumph! The fine reports of boys and girls away at college and training school. One boy said, "Miss Orvis, when we were little, did you think we would ever go to college?" Then the new group from that section called "Across the Creek," availing themselves for the first of the good times at the mission, and one of the smaller girls taking first prize in Bible! A great height was reached when word came that we might have another worker and more room. From that vantage point, we look away into years of greater service to greater numbers and increasing unity among these children of many nations.

So among its own blue hills, small Unity Mission looks back upon a good year, and having proven the past, faces the future with courage and abiding trust in Him who walks with us the valleys dark and climbs with us the hills.

CENTRAL BUREAU

Mrs. C. Claud Travis, Secretary
5249 Kenmore Avenue, Chicago, Illinois

CAMPBELL SETTLEMENT

2244 Washington Street, Gary, Indiana
Founded 1914

Mrs. A. T. Briggs, Chairman
712 East Seminary Street, Greencastle, Indiana
Miss Frances Harms, Superintendent

Capacity: 99 day students; 7 workers.

Aim: To cultivate racial cooperation through Christian living.

The city of Gary, with a population of about 100,000, about 85 per cent foreigners, and a large number of Negroes, has all the problems of a large city and yet is small enough to be one community, so that each social institution may specialize in the type of work done. Location, equipment, experience, and need have determined the line of specialization for Campbell Settlement, majoring in racial cooperation.

The immediate neighborhood is largely Negro. The girls of white families who have moved away will not come back into the neighborhood for clubs, so experience has determined that the work with women and girls is largely Negro. Every morning a group of Negro women come seeking employment, and work has been found for five hundred and more applicants. This department is largely under the direction of Mrs. Edna Kreader, who has given splendid service in The Woman's Home Missionary Society for a number of years, having been at the Esther Home for Indian Girls before coming to Gary.

Mrs. Ellariz Sheffey has very effectively carried on the work with Negro girls which Miss Jetton began last year. She has about one hundred girls enrolled in her clubs. She has found some very hard moral problems to face; in cooperation with the schools and the Juvenile Court she has been able to counteract some very sinister influences. The older Girl Reserve group presented the operetta "Miss Cherry Blossom" to earn money for summer camp. This accomplished more than just the work with the girls, as many of Gary's leading Negro women assisted, as did also the business men.

As Campbell Settlement is the only social settlement in Gary which has a gymnasium, it is most fitting that boys' work should be stressed, and boys will come any distance if they are interested. We are most fortunate in a boys' worker, Mr. Kay Fredriksen, who gives all his time, interest, and energy to this work, who loves and understands boys, and himself a native of Denmark, understands the European point of view.

His work centers about the Boy Scout program, and he has met many boys at the crossroad, where they were taking the way which would lead to crime and misery, and is leading them along the Christian highway. Some quotations from his reports tell the story:

"Last summer I used to wander around the neighborhood after the closing hour at Friendship House. On one of these trips I met J. L., a boy whose family has been a problem of Friendship House for years. Joe had just come home from a reform school on parole and probably had heard of me. Now was his chance to find out what kind of a 'guy' I was. He shot questions at me and had me pretty well sifted by the time he got through. During the slack of business after Christmas, Joe was laid off, and after three or four weeks of idleness, he, with some younger boys started to 'live out.' This means sleeping in empty houses or garages and getting the necessary money for food, tobacco, snuff, shows, etc., through junking and minor robberies. They were caught and brought before the court. One boy was sent to a reform school and the two younger boys were paroled to me. Joe also is under parole and reports every day. During these interviews we have quite a time managing the family affairs as well as his temperamental nature.

"The 'Spikors' or '25th Avenue Gang' has quite a reputation in the past.

CAMPBELL SETTLEMENT

This group consists mostly of Croatian boys, several of whom have been, or are, in reform school or in jail. We formed a baseball team with this group, and the pitcher boasted that he had been pitcher on the team at Michigan City prison. During this past year several of these older boys have made a definite group within the house.

"Following these boys was a group of younger boys. They were not interested in Scouting, but I approached one of the ringleaders of this 'gang' and got him interested in camping and invited him to get a group and join us in camp. He showed up with nine boys fourteen to sixteen years old. These boys have since joined our troops and have become an outstanding and dependable group, not only as Scouts but in Friendship House activities."

Mr. Fredriksen has also a troop of Greek boys, which has been the means of bringing into closer harmony two Greek churches, the members of which held differing political views. A troop of Negro boys, doing the same type of work as the white boys, has helped in creating a feeling of cooperation.

The Friendship House swimming team of fifteen boys competed with other teams in Gary and in Chicago, and came out winners in many contests.

Miss Harms and all the staff, through these two lines of work with young people of both races, try to reach the homes and help with family problems. The young people themselves, who have learned to live harmoniously at Friendship House, wield a great influence in times of crisis.

This summer there have been some changes made in the building. The workers' dining room and kitchen have been moved to the second floor, thus making room for better club facilities, so that the workers all feel that they can do more efficient work this year.

Miss Anna Heistad, Superintendent

Capacity: 275 day students: 15 workers.

Aim: To demonstrate the Christian life in a Jewish community.

This Jubilee year finds thought for Marcy Center quite revolutionized. Ever since the present bureau secretary has been in office, thought has been for work in the old building with extension work in Lawndale. Each year she has gone to the national meeting with hopes and prayers for the time to come when permission might be given to begin the long talked of new building, and it is hard to realize that when this report is published, work will be going on in the new building, with the extension work being done at the old location.

NEW MARCY CENTER AT LAWNDALE

Three "Jubilee days" stand out this year—

May 12, when the first earth was turned by Miss Heistad, in the presence of a small group of missionary men and women.

June 18, when the cornerstone was laid, with a more pretentious service at which Mrs. Goode, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Brummitt, Mrs. Stecker, Mrs. Rodeheaver, Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, Rev. Dan Brummitt, Rev. C. Claud Travis, and a group of conference women were present. One of the most impressive parts of this service was the singing by the children of Lawndale Marcy.

The date set by the contractors for the completion of the building was January 1, but work progressed so rapidly under the direction of our fine Methodist architect and Methodist contractors, that we were able to have the dedication in the chapel on October 17, that women from different parts of the country might be present. The building was not entirely complete at that time, but enough so that its beauty and splendid facilities might be seen.

Much credit and commendation should be given Miss Helen Moore and the local committee and Rock River Conference officers, who so courageously chose this site and decided upon this very important step. It is indeed a great adventure of faith to expend $200,000 of missionary money in the erection of a building for Christian service in a community of 175,000 Jews. No foreign missionary enterprise could be more daring. However, we do not go into this community entirely as strangers, as there are at least 650 men, women, and children now in Marcy organizations who will find the new location more convenient. The work for the last few years in the Lawn-dale basement has made Marcy known in the neighborhood. Last year there was an attendance of 6,246 in these clubs and classes. In the Lawndale Daily Vacation Bible School there were eighty-five enrolled, of whom seventy-three were Jewish, and from one to four each of French, German, English, and Lithuanian, showing that many nationalities will be served in the new location. With the new building almost finished, there is much enthusiasm in the little basement.

The bureau secretary and committee are now face to face with the problem which heretofore has been in the background, what about "Old Marcy?"

Miss Heistad made a very careful survey of that district this summer and conditions show that prophecies made at the time of the decision to change the location were correct. The census of 1930 shows another decrease in the population of the 20th Ward of 22,000; the schools show a decrease in children; more and more buildings are empty or are being torn down, and most that are occupied are unfit for dwellings, and the population would be much less if these buildings were not overcrowded. However, the time has not yet come when the neighborhood is entirely depopulated, and the living conditions are probably the worst in Chicago.

Two daily vacation Bible schools were conducted at "Old Marcy" this summer, with the feeling that they would be a guide in planning for the year. The one in the morning was for white children, with an enrollment of ninety-eight; of these fifty-five were Italian, twenty-nine Mexican, the balance Russian, Jewish, Polish, German, and Bohemian. In the afternoon the school was for Negro children, with an enrollment of one hundred and ten, with sixty-nine others who came occasionally.

A very fine service has been carried on through the past year by allowing the Infant Welfare Association the use of the building two afternoons a week. They have on their enrollment 678 families, only seventeen of which are white. This year they have had in their conferences an attendance, including mothers, of 13,680. These nurses say that this is the poorest district in Chicago.

This last year Mrs. Karr, in her welfare work has taken care of one hundred and thirty-seven colored families, and at Christmas time one hundred and fifty baskets were given to colored families, and three-fourths of the children who have been served in the library were of this group. With these conditions existing, the committee feel that the time has not come to close "Old Marcy," and extension work will be carried on there.

It is most fitting that the new Marcy building should be ready for use in this Jubilee year, for it is a crystallization in brick, wood, and steel of the love, prayer, and faith of the whole Woman's Home Missionary Society. Almost all the money has come through the regular channels; there have been no large gifts from individuals, and much has been given by our own Marcy people. The motive back of it all is to meet a spiritual rather than a physical need, of presenting Christ to a nation, his own people. There is the realization on the part of all who have any part in the work of the need for more faith, more prayer, more wisdom, more tact, and for a closer companionship with the Christ, that there may be the fulfillment of his promise: "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

710 Front Street, Portland, Oregon

Founded 1912

Miss Olla Grace Davis, Superintendent

Contacts: 800 adults; 200 boys; 150 girls; 160 pre-school age; 13 workers.

Aim: Christian Americanism.

How proud we were one year ago to express appreciation for all that The Woman's Home Missionary Society is doing for this City of Roses in the far northwest. And now another year has slipped away, leaving not even a tiny sound as the portals swing to, shutting it from our view.

But what stirring memories are ours! The first full year in the new building! The boys, the girls, the adults, the little children, sick people, well people, poor people, rich people, comfortably fixed people, Christian folks, doubtful folks, undecided folks, Americanized citizens, being Americanized citizens, out-and-out non-Americanized.

Fifty-three thousand contacts, as these availed themselves of the services, groups, clubs, and classes in the community center last year.

Through the day nursery, the clinic, the clubs, the gymnasium, the religious departments, the cooking, the sewing, woodworking, or community affairs, we have healed, guided, counseled, cooperated with, or carefully tended. The year is gone. The books are closed and we are looking to the future. This realization causes us to pause a moment in serious thought. We mourn the loss of our benefactor and friend.

MRS. HELEN KELLY MANLEY,
Died July 1, 1930,
Aged 71 years.

So young in thought and action, so sure that the training of the youth of to-day for the responsibility of to-morrow is the Christian's task, was she that she found joy in the doing.

For such as she—and in the ranks of The Woman's Home Missionary Society these are numbered in legions—we must carry on—

“For Love of Christ and in His Name.”

EPWORTH SCHOOL

Marshall Place and Elm Avenue, Webster Groves, Missouri

Mrs. Frank L. Davis, Secretary
6123 Westminster Place, St. Louis, Missouri
Became National Work in 1920
Miss Maude Norling, Superintendent

Capacity: 45 residents; 7 workers.

Aim: To provide Christian home and training for unadjusted and under-privileged girls of teen-age.

“The world,” we say, philosophically, “moves.” We accept most of this onward movement with cheerful interest; but there is one phase of the movement to which very few can reconcile themselves—the change in the standards of youth. This change has unquestionably become a factor of which we must take serious cognizance.

The newspapers with their flaring headlines of the sins of children, theft, dissipation, murders even, leave us no doubt on this point. One of the purposes of the Jubilee was “What can we do about it?” So for five years The Woman's Home Missionary Society has been looking with impartial honesty at these changes as it prepared to face “what they are and why have they come.”

Epworth School has shared in this preparation, and its new buildings, consisting of two cottages, are nearing completion. In order to be ready for this new cottage plan, the work at Epworth during the past year has been that of transition. New methods of discipline and training have been tried out and adopted or discarded as they were deemed suitable or unsuitable.

Since most of the girls are of slow, normal mentality, and some even sub-normal, the aim has been to focus on mental hygiene. In order to do this, a careful study had to be made of each case before admission in order to ascertain whether the girl was of the type we could benefit, and after admission to determine the treatment best suited to her personal problem. It is interesting to note that a marked improvement has been made after a few months' treatment. Psychiatric and psychometric examinations show a steady, if slow, increase in mental status.

Physically, the girls undergo a thorough examination by the physicians of the Board of Health and the Washington University doctors. Their eyes and teeth are likewise gone over and all their physical ailments are attended to and corrected as far as possible.

Academically, we follow the curriculum of the Webster Groves Schools through the second-year high school. Domestically, the girls receive training in all the social arts and sciences. They are not graduated until we feel reasonably sure that they are able to take care of themselves mentally, morally, and physically.

Many of our girls are supersexed. Therefore it is also necessary to specialize in sex education and social hygiene. We have received much of our material for instruction through the Missouri Hygiene Association. The work of the school is to gather as much material as possible, then coordinate and paraphrase it to suit our needs. It is not an easy task to educate girls of fourteen to sixteen chronological age, with a sexual age of eighteen to twenty-five, and mental age of six to twelve.

Nor are they neglected spiritually. The curriculum provides Bible study and religious philosophy. They are taught practical religion in their work and in their play, and the school endeavors to acquaint them with Jesus Christ. We are convinced that the love of Christ does restrain, refine, and perfect a life.

Foster homes are found for them when they leave us, if they have none of their own, or if their own homes are unsuitable for them to go back to. Very careful "after-care" work has been attempted in conjunction with the foster mothers of these homes, who cooperate with us in giving the girls the proper supervision until they gradually learn to adjust themselves in the community. After the care and the training of the school, there is danger of thrusting the girls out into the world unsupervised, where they are apt to feel the lack of restraint and temptation of unaccustomed liberty.

There are now forty-two girls at Epworth, who are watching with great enthusiasm, the erection of the new buildings which you are providing for them. They are realizing what it is going to mean to them and others who follow to have a room all their own; to have the homelike atmosphere and the home training which the cottage plan can give.

The Jubilee has brought to Epworth both glitter and gold and we go forward to greater things for the school. The enthusiasm and gifts have made it possible for our work this year to be "one of the outstanding developments in child-welfare work in the community."

As we start the new year rejoicing, we would ask that you wait, believe, and pray as Epworth goes marching on to meet the "girl needs" of the times!

Became National Work in 1920

Miss Lillie R. Sheffer, Superintendent

Capacity: 5 residents; 125 day students; 7 workers.

Aim: To provide physical, mental, and spiritual training for the community.

"They love who humbly serve." It is a tremendous task to obtain leaders, staff and volunteers who serve with sympathy and genuine unselfishness. But the work at East St. Louis Settlement carries all of these characteristics, as it continues a program of daily, weekly, monthly, and yearly service to a community of mixed nationalities.

Parish calling is daily relating the settlement to what is happening in the homes of the children. These calls make it possible for our workers to guide in a sympathetic way tired and discouraged parents; to provide clinical and medical care to those financially unable to get what they need; to bring material help in the form of clothing and food for those who are in need of such help.

Other daily activities are the kindergarten and nursery. The kindergarten has an average daily attendance of sixty children, nine nationalities being represented. Lack of space for play activities prevents others just as needy from coming. Cracker and milk luncheon is served each day to these, the majority of whom are underweight.

Because fewer mothers were employed during the past year, we found the demand on the nursery not so great. But as we open a new year we find it necessary to take out a boarding-house license to meet the changed need of a day-and-night nursery. Expert care, hot lunches, and rest times prove to be body builders for these children of the street, many of whom are the victims of broken homes.

There are many weekly activities; very important among these are the character-building clubs—Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Wolf Cubs, and Mayflower Girls, making cleaner and finer boys and girls who will be our citizens and workers of to-morrow. But this work is greatly handicapped by the lack of a gymnasium, or any suitable room for holding such meetings. The sewing classes also meet weekly and girls of ten years and over are receiving instruction in making their own clothes. The past year two fourteen-year-old girls received diplomas in "garment-making," and an eleven-year-old girl a diploma in elementary sewing. Twice a week the library is open, having a circulation of twelve hundred books per month, besides many free magazines. This is the only touch many of the homes have with American literature, and we try to keep it of the best. The Ladies' Aid is likewise a weekly meeting, and it has assumed the responsibility of meeting the janitor's salary for the church.

Sunday school and church combined have had an average attendance of one hundred and twenty-eight each Sunday. This means that this number remains each Sunday for both services. Fifty additions, largely from the Sunday-school membership, were made at Easter time, to the East St. Louis Settlement Church. Dr. D. S. Wahl is the efficient pastor. The adult Bible class is the only organized class, but all grades are using the new graded lessons. Sunday evening services and the mid-week vesper services are well attended.

There is a Woman's Home Missionary Society of thirteen active and eight honorary members meeting monthly. This auxiliary has twelve subscriptions to "Woman's Home Missions." There are sixteen members in the Queen Esther Circle and twelve members in the Home Guards. During the past year these societies, together with Mothers' Jewels, have raised $152. There are also four extension members of The Woman's Foreign Society. A very effective piece of work is also being done monthly through the mothers' kindergarten club.

The usual summer camp for the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire groups was well attended this year. The daily vacation Bible school had an average attendance of two hundred and twenty-four. Of this number one hundred and nine were boys and one hundred and fifteen were girls. Twelve nationalities and many denominations were represented.

Parties and pageants play an important part in this type of work, and they always have a place on the program.

By the appreciated gifts from societies, Christmas is made a happy time for the settlement, as it gives out its baskets and remembrances to its children and families. However, giving is not always advised, so there is a plan whereby families who can afford to do so, are asked to pay a small sum for their needs. In this way they are encouraged to remain in the self-supporting, self-respecting class, rather than in the pauper class.

As we close the year, we look back with sadness in the loss of our faithful and beloved board president, Mrs. Norman Moss, who served many years as president of the Southern Illinois Conference, as well as the settlement. Our loss has been heaven's gain, but her memory will ever live with this work as we go forward under the leadership of Mrs. H. C. Mitchell. Now that the Jubilee is over, we again ask you to keep in mind our greatest need—an adequate nursery and a gymnasium.

HOMES FOR SELF-SUPPORTING GIRLS AND WOMEN

Mrs. U. B. Gillette, Secretary
3584 Montcith Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio

ESTHER HALL

221 W. Ninth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

Founded 1916

Moved into Present Location 1928

Miss Ida Taylor, Superintendent

Capacity: 41 residents; 6 workers.

Aim: To furnish a Christian home to the business girls away from home.

A model home for girls coming to a large city has been the constant and central thought in the planning and development of the work of the Esther Hall in Cincinnati.

Seventy-seven girls from eleven different states have taken advantage of the benefits offered. Fourteen of the number have been able because of this help to avail themselves of educational opportunities and six have graduated in the courses chosen.

Quite a large number of transient guests have been furnished with meals and lodging. Our girls are made to feel that they are welcome to entertain their mothers and other friends in the home. Four field secretaries and other workers and members of the Society have been entertained at various times. Miss Gertrude Geyer, secretary of Young People's Work, Cincinnati District, has been a frequent guest; she knows our girls by name and her association with them and interest in their special undertakings have been most helpful. Our Queen Esther Circle of twenty-one members has been strengthened by her presence at its monthly meetings.

Each month a dinner party is given for the girls having a birthday in that month. This is a gala occasion, warm with the atmosphere of home. In December not one girl had a birthday, so the attention was all centered on the Christ's birthday, which was celebrated in a beautiful and impressive way. The fine Christmas dinner, tree, and gifts gave added pleasure to the girls. This was financed, as usual, by the Westwood Auxiliary, to which the home is indebted for so many gifts.

Nineteen friends of our work, including five pastors, have had dinner with the girls within the year, leading the vesper service on that evening.

Girls' Week, in Cincinnati, was observed by the home in having a representative from the office of the superintendent of public schools talk to the girls.

The home recognized the Jubilee by the gift of a gold certificate. Our superintendent, Miss Taylor, started the fund with the amount of her increase in salary for the year. A Washington Tea was given at the home for this purpose, candy was sold through the months, and the gradual reaching of the goal, as the girls gave of their effort was an inspiration to them.

A number of auxiliaries, the district board, and committees, have held their meetings in the home within the year. The District Queen Esther party brought seventy girls for one happy evening.

The Annual Donation Party in November was the means of attracting the attention of the various auxiliaries and other friends to our work and its needs. The women came, they saw, they gave.

Outside pleasures for the girls have not been overlooked. Ten season tickets for the Symphony Concerts was a very much-appreciated gift. Tickets for lectures and places of amusement have been given. Some of the members of the local board have entertained girls in their homes and for automobile rides. One gave a dinner party for ten girls and another gave a picnic dinner in her yard for the entire group.

All in all, it has been a busy year in work and in play. One girl remarked, "There is always something doing in Esther Hall."

Gifts in money and furnishings have enabled us to add to the comfort and attractiveness of the home, and we are grateful to all who have helped to make Esther Hall what it is in its service for girls.

ALMA MATHEWS HOUSE

273 West Eleventh Street, New York City, N. Y.

Mrs. Minnie Asbury, Superintendent

Miss Marie Pletzer, Social Worker

Capacity: 21 residents; 5 workers.

Aim: A representative of the American home to the foreign-born.

Because of the kind of work the majority of these women are doing, there is a constant changing in the personnel of the family. This is their home and they come and go and they come again so that our home has an opportunity to touch the lives of a large number during the year.

They are almost all foreign born and Alma Mathews House is representative of the American home to them. Much has been done in the past year in redecorating and new furnishings to add to its comfort and attractiveness, so that it may typify to these women a real American home in its appearance. Still more improvements will be made in the coming year.

A pleasant home life is maintained which seems greatly appreciated by these women. After dinner in the evenings, some of them always gather in the cheerful living rooms and music, games, and visiting occupy the time. Before the dinner is served, while all are gathered around the table, a short religious service is conducted by one of the workers or by a guest in the home. The respect shown toward these services is very apparent to an observer.

In all, we would say that for appreciation, respect for the house as a Christian home, and freedom from fault-finding as to its accommodations, no better group is found in any of our institutions.

Ellis Island and the piers furnish an opportunity for service that yields a rich return. Miss Pletzer, because of her ability to speak several languages, and because she has had the experience of coming from a foreign land, can enter into the problems of these people with a tender sympathy which brings real comfort and help.

Letters have been written, telegrams sent, toys and needed clothing distributed. Bewildered folks have been helped on the right way to find their friends. One concert was provided for Ellis Island. For the Christmas treat 350 bags were distributed. An Easter treat for sixty-four women and children was provided, also three pots of bright tulips were placed in the warrant rooms. Both phases of work sponsored by the Alma Mathews House are needed, and we ask your continued support.

Conference Homes

Eleven of our twelve conference homes have reported to the bureau secretary, showing that excellent work has been done in the following cities: Baltimore, Birmingham, Chicago, Detroit, Des Moines, Grand Rapids, Philadelphia, Toledo, San Diego, St. Paul, and Wichita. These, including the two National Homes, have cared for an average of more than three hundred girls a month. (See "Conference Work" for further report.)

HOSPITALS

A "Standardized" hospital is one whose buildings, equipment, methods, and personnel are developed up to or beyond a schedule of requirements fixed by a standardizing agency. In no type of public institution have improvements of greater service to humanity been made than in hospitals. A hospital that fulfills its highest function not only trains medical students, physicians, and nurses, but through its research work, it protects the lives of the entire community and adds to the general knowledge of medicine. With this broadened education, the methods of the practice have become more technical and complex highly technical, scientific apparatus is used. It can be seen that it has been necessary to establish a high standard for these institutions, just as high educational standards have been established along all other lines, in order that honest, efficient service may be given to the patients who come with such faith and hope seeking help in their extremity. The Woman's Home Missionary Society may well be proud of the three institutions in this bureau, for that is the aim of each—to do the very best possible for every patient who is admitted.

BREWSTER HOSPITAL
Jacksonville, Florida

Miss Elva L. Wade, Superintendent

Capacity: 14 students, 12 workers.

Aim: To take proper care of the Negro who needs hospital care.

At Brewster Hospital there have been some changes in personnel. Miss Mary E. Seward, who was matron for fourteen years, was obliged to give up her work in order to regain her health, and in her place we were fortunate, indeed, to secure Mrs. Martha Boyd, a trained dietitian. Mrs. Boyd served as a deaconess until her marriage, and has brought the sweet deaconess spirit into her work at Brewster and is loved by all who are associated with her.

Miss Bertha E. Dean, R.N., whose name and Brewster Hospital have been almost synonymous terms in most of our minds for many years, also found the work of managing the hospital during a building program a very arduous task, so it was necessary for her to be transferred to another field where she has found the work very congenial and less taxing. When we found that Miss Elva L. Wade, R.N., who had been on leave of absence for a year, was sufficiently recovered to take up the work at Brewster, we knew that "God's in his heaven and all's right with the world." Miss Wade who had such wide experience in hospital management, and had been through the building program at Rapid City, is now giving generously this invaluable experience to this difficult field. Brewster has had a good year in the old building, her finances were never in better shape, and our dream of a new building is really coming true. Ground was broken on May 31, with much ceremony, and quite an elaborate program, in which prominent people of both races participated, Mayor John T. Alsop being one of the speakers. The corner-stone was laid on September 20, with another interesting interracial program, and we expect the new building will be ready for occupancy by January 31. We know that you are rejoicing with us and will stand by the new Brewster as you have stood by the old hospital all these years.

We wish to thank all who have proven their interest by naming various rooms and departments. Not only our own membership, but the city of Jacksonville has been interested in this, contributing so far about $25,000, of which $18,000 was raised by the Negro citizens.

The old building has served 475 patients this year—free work amounting to $2,783.80 was given, so the final year will be a memorable one to many.

The new hospital will be able to meet the requirements of the coveted standardization, and every effort is being made to build and equip the hospital so as to make this possible. This thought is uppermost in the minds of everyone, doctors, nurses, and students, as well as the official family. The capacity will be almost doubled—sixty beds instead of thirty-three; complete medical and surgical equipment, X-Ray, Physio-therapy and Out-Patient Departments; two internships and a nurses' home which will accommodate twenty-five girls instead of fourteen. These departments are essential for a modern, efficient hospital that will reach large fields of service and be of lasting benefit not only to the Negro Race but to the entire community through the preservation of health and the prevention of diseases and the suffering and distress caused by them. The equipment is expensive and we are counting on your continued interest and help, and invite you all to the dedication of the new building, which will come at a delightful time to visit Florida.

METHODIST DEACONESS HOSPITAL

Established 1912

Miss Lydia H. Keller, Superintendent

Capacity: 25 students; 23 workers.

Aim: To take care of the suffering.

The Methodist Deaconess Hospital, at Rapid City, South Dakota, is a standardized hospital, meeting all the requirements of the American College of Surgeons. We are very proud of the excellence of the building and equipment, the high qualifications of its personnel, and the moral atmosphere maintained throughout the institution. That its work is appreciated by the entire community is evidenced by its almost crowded condition and the very general opinion that an addition should be built to accommodate more patients, and we are saying, "Perhaps" we may have permission after the Jubilee buildings are finished. Fifteen hundred and twenty-two patients were treated, and the free work amounted to $7,332.31. The training school had a good year under the leadership of Miss Dariel Adams, R.N. Nine seniors were graduated in May and a full freshman class started work this fall term.

IVES MEMORIAL NURSES' HOME
Methodist Deaconess Sanatorium

METHODIST DEACONESS SANATORIUM

Albuquerque, New Mexico

Founded 1912

Mrs. Minnie G. Gorrell, Superintendent

Capacity: 165 patients; 24 workers.

Aim: For the special care of tubercular patients.

The Methodist Deaconess Sanatorium for Tubercular Cases cared for 165 patients this past year—running to capacity most of the time, although many institutions for this disease were affected by the general business depression. Our free work here amounted to $4,548.51. Some changes in personnel were due to the ill health of two of our workers. Miss Beatrice Blewett, who had served as superintendent of nurses so faithfully and well, was obliged to resign her position August 1 because of a breakdown, and Miss Ruby Little, one of our girls trained at the Rapid City Hospital, and a member of the family here since her graduation, found that the climate of California agreed with her better, so resigned to accept a position in San Diego. We hope that both these workers will be restored to health and strength and meet with success in their new fields.

INDIAN

Mrs. S. S. Beggs, Secretary

3520 Kingman Boulevard, Des Moines, Iowa

The work of the Indian Bureau was never in such splendid condition as it is to-day. The Indians are assuming greater responsibility each year.

PONCA INDIAN MISSION

Ponca City, Oklahoma

Founded 1885

Rev. G. W. Baker, Missionary

Capacity: 3 workers.

Aim: A Christian center for Ponca Indians.

The results of the activities of the Ponca Community Center this year have fully demonstrated that good, wholesome amusements and religious training will keep the Indians from the old demoralizing dances, drink, and other evils which tend to destroy their manhood and womanhood. The program at Oram Community Hall included classes in religious education and social activities for the various age groups. Besides the regular work there were many outstanding events during the year.

First, there was the farewell party for the boys and girls who were going away to Government school.

Thanksgiving Day—when they came together for the delicious dinner prepared by the Indian women. This was followed by a beautiful pageant given by their own members, "The First Thanksgiving Day."

Christmas was a happy day. The Indians go into camp near the mission a day or two before Christmas and remain until after New Year's Day. Previous to this they had held a dance every night, but this year the younger people came to the hall to play basket ball and other games. The older ones came to look on. There was no dance; they had found something better.

ORAM COMMUNITY HALL, PONCA INDIAN MISSION

The pre-Easter meetings were well attended every night and many decided to accept Christ as their Saviour. Easter Sunday began with a sunrise prayer meeting. Indians came many miles to attend this service. Some came the night before and slept on the floor of the hall. Dr. Crawford, district superintendent, had charge of the communion service at the regular morning hour. At an afternoon meeting fifteen children were baptized. The Epworth League gave a musical program in the evening. On this Easter Day they brought their contributions for the Gold Certificate, which they now proudly own.

During nine months of the year Miss Boobar, deaconess, spent Sunday afternoons with the Methodist students at the Chilocco Government School, twenty miles away. At this time she had classes in religious education. One Sunday in March she was accompanied by Dr. Crawford, and Mrs. Crawford. During the afternoon Dr. Crawford met the Methodist students in the auditorium for communion and baptism. In the evening he preached to the whole student body. At the close of the service thirty-four boys and girls came forward in response to the call to decide for Christ.

Many times during the year have our Ponca Indian people expressed gratitude for the Jubilee gift of Oram Community Hall. By their loyalty and devotion they are proving worthy of our best efforts in their behalf.

GIRLS' RELIGIOUS WORK, HASKELL INSTITUTE

Miss Dorothy Stevenson, Director

Miss Dorothy Stevenson, who once lived in Esther Home for Indian Girls, while attending State University, took over Miss Cate's work a large part of last year. This year she has complete charge.

This year, for the first time, regular hours for religious education have been assigned on the school program. Each Friday about four hundred Protestant students meet in twenty-two classes for religious instructions. About 120 of these young people are taking a special teacher's training course which will help prepare them for Christian leadership. This course is so arranged that a student who makes satisfactory grades during four years' work may receive a teacher's training certificate. These students receive school credit. The other 280 in this group are using as their textbook, "The Bible, Story and Content," by Laufer. They receive one-half unit high-school credit, or two hours' junior college credit.

All students taking work in these religious educational classes are required to spend at least one hour each week in preparation besides the hour for recitation. These classes are open to all high-school and junior college students who desire to enroll for them.

Miss Stevenson has taught three of these classes; also she has had charge of discussion groups, which give students an opportunity to discuss with religious work directors any problem, religious or otherwise. She has taken an important part in the social interest of the girls and entertained a group of girls in her apartment each Saturday afternoon.

The girls' building has a reading room for students and this is headquarters for Miss Stevenson. Here she may be found, ready to help the girls in every way possible.

She writes of her girls: "They are thinking about religious matters and their own personal relations to them."

NAVAJO INDIAN SCHOOL

Farmington, New Mexico

Founded 1890

Mr. C. C. Brooks, Superintendent

Capacity: 100 residents; 14 workers.

Aim: A home and school for Indian boys and girls.

Our new superintendents, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, have had a successful year at the Navajo Indian School. The school has been full, with one hundred children.

Mr. Brooks writes: "While seeking to maintain all the work at its highest possible level, our efforts have been emphasized in three particular directions:

"1. Improvement and beautifying of the property. The farm received first attention in this matter. A few of the accomplishments are: the seeding of six acres of new alfalfa; the building of about a hundred rods of new fence; extensive repairs in all the fences; the removal of an old and useless orchard, the ground now bearing a crop of potatoes; the building of a new chicken house and fence; the planting of a new peach orchard of 120 trees, besides some new cherry, plum, and apple trees; the planting of three berry patches; the painting of the farm cottage; extensive pruning of all the orchards; the purchase of five good cows.

"But our whole attention has not gone to the farm. Our only building effort this year was the erection of a manual training shop. A concrete building, 32 x 24, with a cedar shingle roof, was built, and very fairly equipped with a fund of $1,003.20. This we hope will mean much to our boys this coming year, since we will have a man to teach shop work. A consistent effort to beautify the grounds has resulted in the cultivating of many beautiful flowers, the keeping up of two small lawns, the planting of thirty shade trees. The buildings have received their share of attention. Screens have been built for seventy-five windows, chiefly for the girls' dormitory, which is now completely screened. Much new equipment has greatly facilitated our work. A new truck enables us to haul our coal and produce and supplies much more satisfactorily, our five new cows will enable us to give at least our undernourished children milk as a regular diet. Our boys' matron purchased a piano for the parlor of the boys' building. A fine new Home Comfort Range seven feet long and having two large ovens, has been installed in the kitchen.

"2. An increasingly high standard in school work. Progress along this line is necessarily slow. It involves the learning, adoption, and steady application of the best methods and the acquiring and use of the best equipment. Our teachers are making every effort to meet the requirements, not only of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, but also of the state of New Mexico and the Indian Office. As rapidly as funds will permit, we are adding to our school equipment. Adequate industrial training is a prime necessity among the Indians. We are now equipped to give the boys a good start in shop and agriculture. We are able to give the girls some practical training in household duties. To make it most effective, we need a domestic science cottage and a special teacher.

"Together we worked out during the year a merit system which has aided materially in our discipline problem.

"3. A deepening of the devotional life and purpose of all, pupils and workers. For the pupils we have maintained the daily religious instruction in the classrooms, the regular Thursday night devotional meeting for older pupils, the Queen Esther Circle, Home Guards, Epworth League, and the Sunday school. The daily devotional period before breakfast in the dining hall has benefited all. The regular Tuesday night prayer meeting for workers served to remind us constantly that our one purpose here is to win souls for Christ and has helped us to live together without serious friction or discord.

"The school year closed fittingly with the baptism of twenty-eight of our boys and girls and one Navajo worker, none of the children being under ten years of age. As it was announced they should, all had come to some worker with their decision to give their lives to Christ.

"Truly, we have been blessed in this work and we seek only to be led to fuller and more perfect service during the coming year."

POTTAWATOMIE INDIAN MISSION

Mayetta, Kansas

Founded 1903

Rev. Fred J. Johnson, Missionary

Capacity: 2 workers.

Aim: Help young and old Indians to become Christian citizens.

The Pottawatomie Mission has had a good year. Progress is seen in the fact that more of the younger Indians are leaving the old tribal dances and coming to the mission for their social and religious life. They are helping with all the activities of the mission—acting on committees, as Sunday-school teachers, holding offices in the various organizations.

First Church, Topeka, invited these people to assist in a pageant given in celebration of their seventy-fifth anniversary. Twenty-two Indians in costume presented the episode, "The First Missionary," with much credit to themselves and the mission. Since then, they have been invited to many other white churches.

A loom was added to the equipment of the mission early in the year. It has been in constant use by the women who have made many rugs which have added comfort to the needy homes.

An auxiliary of The Woman's Home Missionary Society was organized by the Bureau Secretary in November. The new officers were installed at a Sunday evening service.

The second-hand clothing sent in has been a great help in meeting the needs of these people. The women meet one day each week to sew. They have made many garments and quilts from supplies sent in.

Through the various activities of this mission both old and young are finding their places in the community and are living on a higher plane—that of a Christian citizen.

YUMA INDIAN MISSION

Yuma, Arizona

Founded 1907

Rev. J. H. Schlapbach, Missionary

Capacity: 4 workers.

Aim: A Christian community center for Yuma Indians.

The Yuma Mission with its community rooms is called by the Indians their "second home." There has been marked progress during the year.

Besides the regular organizations of the church and The Woman's Home Missionary Society, they have added a new organization—The Methodist Indian Brotherhood—with a membership of thirty-six fine men, leaders of the tribes. At their regular meetings they have had outside speakers who have brought to them the leading topics of the day that were of special interest to Indians.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlapbach also care for the religious instruction of one hundred Protestant children from the nearby Government school, and group of Cocopah Indians living on the border twenty miles away.

YUMA INDIAN MISSION

Meetings of all organizations have been well attended during the year and an eager interest has been manifested. The Indians, through the various organizations, have contributed four hundred dollars during the year. While these people are very poor, yet they know "the joy of giving."

The annual camp-meeting in November was a great spiritual blessing. Many of the younger group decided to live for Christ. In April a special service was held near a lake several miles from the mission. At this Camp-fire meeting, fifteen other young people gave themselves to the Master.

Christmas Day was the big day of the year, when five hundred ate dinner together at the mission. Two hundred and fifty children, young and old, received presents, that had been sent in by auxiliaries.

Mr. Schlapbach writes, "Death has worked havoc in our ranks this year.

There was the fall of Joe Horner (Blind Joe), who had served as interpreter for twenty years, and upon whom the success of the mission depended in a large way."

The Indians come to the mission for all their social life. Here they have parties, hikes, and games. The famous Yuma Band meets here once each week to practice. All but one of them are members of the mission church.

This is truly a "second home" for the people and a better home than they have ever known before.

JAPANESE AND KOREAN

Mrs. J. H. McCallum, Secretary
123 Liberty Street, San Francisco, California

CATHARINE P. BLAINE HOME
318 Eleventh Avenue, Seattle, Washington
Founded 1912

Miss Mary Winchell, Superintendent

Capacity: 7 residents; 50 day students; 6 workers.

Aim: A Christian center for the Japanese.

Catharine Blaine Home is a small, cozy, homelike place affording a center for social and religious work among the Japanese, also a home for the workers, a few children and girls who attend high school or the university, or who work in the city. Usually the home is crowded and we could take others if we had the one.

The workers are Miss Scerace and Mrs. Snyder, teachers for our Japanese kindergarten next door; Miss Tsuruda, an American-born Japanese girl, a graduate of the San Francisco Training School, who assists with calling, interpreting, and with the social and religious services; and Miss Winchell, the superintendent.

Besides the workers in the home we have at present four Japanese girls who work in the city; an Alaskan girl attending high school; a Philippine girl of seven; and a Chinese girl of eleven. The latter was a slave child, brought in illegally from China, and rescued by the Juvenile court from a Chinese family who treated her most cruelly.

All the workers in the home, and often the girls who live here, teach in the Sunday school and assist with the evening services in the Japanese Methodist Church. They have an attendance of over three hundred in Sunday school during all but the summer months.

All children who attend kindergarten, and all outsiders who live in the home, pay a certain amount so that the home is self-respecting and partly self-supporting.

Our greatest need is a bus for the kindergarten so that the children can be taken to and from kindergarten in safety. We would then have more children and therefore more financial help. A bus would also give us a better standing in the community, for all other organizations and denominations for the Japanese have one.

In the home we need a radio to help entertain the many young people who come in evenings. We want to keep them interested and away from questionable places of amusement. Our work is very interesting and most important.

ELLEN STARK FORD HOME

2025 Pine Street, San Francisco, California

Founded 1906

Mrs. Mae Lovering Holcomb, Superintendent

Capacity: 40 residents; 5 workers.

Aim: To care for the Japanese children and women.

Our Ellen Stark Ford Home is for children and women from homes disrupted mostly through sickness and death.

ELLEN STARK FORD HOME

Twin babies were taken in this week which fills every bed in the dormitory. We could easily fill a home twice this capacity, as each week we are compelled to turn away someone who has applied for admittance. We would so appreciate a nice large home that would take care of the demands of our Japanese and Korean work.

The supplies sent in from the different auxiliaries over our United States consist of jam, jellies, and canned fruit, also bedding and clothing, which are a great help to us in filling out the needs of our household.

We have forty in our family, ranging in age from one and one-half to twenty-two years. Our girls, as they leave the home, are making satisfactory and capable women, for which our Woman's Home Missionary Society may well be proud of its product. Some are business girls in stores and offices, others work in homes or are homemakers in their own homes. Still others are in training for music and Christian work. We are proud of our girls and they always enjoy coming back into the home after leaving for a time. They pay their board and room and work outside the home.

Our business girls help us with their efforts and influence in training our children of younger age. They have their nights when they lead devotions and have charge of the League meetings in the home on Sunday evenings.

The Japanese girls are skillful in sewing. Their little, fine, even stitches are a credit to the articles on which they are sewing. All they do is done nicely and with much pride. As students they are bright and intelligent, receiving the highest marks and are never satisfied unless the grades are the best.

They appreciate a nice home and feel they are fortunate children to be so well taken care of in our missionary home. They are ambitious and proud and sensitive to the degree of perfection. We all make mistakes, but our girls are ever ready for improvement. They are kind-hearted, and, having high principles, we feel they will help make this world a better place in which to live by their being here through your efforts.

JANE COUCH HOME

1224 West Thirty-fifth Street, Los Angeles, California

Founded 1912

Mrs. Katherine P. McQuade, Superintendent

JANE COUCH HOME

Capacity: 9 residents; 2 workers.

Aim: To give a Christian home to Japanese girls.

The girls in Jane Couch Home, under home missionary training, are an inspiration, even dear little Raiko, just six years, always closes her prayer with

"And now, dear heavenly Father, keep my heart from evil and my lips from speaking guile."

As we look about us we feel sure our work is telling. We are an acquisition to the neighborhood in which we live and have the love and respect of those with whom we come in contact—the colored preacher on our left, the Buddhist family on our right, the Catholics almost at our back door, and yet we are letting our light shine and these people have nothing but praise for us. God's work will always stand and it is our greatest desire to be a shareholder in fitting these girls for the Master's work.

Although within the last three months God has seen fit to fold the hands of three outstanding workers on Jane Couch Board, we must carry on. The never-to-be forgotten love and generosity of our former president, Mrs. Carpenter, was demonstrated again last week when the home was presented with a radio, mahogany table, and a beautiful picture. The work of these women has left its imprint and will remain a blessing as long as our work shall last. Our new president, Mrs. Mix, has plenty of courage and will push us on to larger things.

Four girls have been turned away recently—"No room in the inn." Our cottage will have to be taken over very soon.

These Japanese children need our influence; need most of all to learn how to keep the Sabbath day holy.

1143 Kaili Street, Honolulu, T. H.

Founded 1889

Mrs. Ora L. Oakes, Superintendent

Capacity: 85 residents; 6 workers.

Aim: That all might be won to Christ.

The past year has been a happy one, and whatever has been accomplished through the efforts of our six supervisors and eighty-five girls has been with one great aim in view—a greater Christian service. Most of our girls now are in grammar or high-school grades, so school fees and books, as well as clothes, are quite large items, but the girls are such fine students that all it costs reflects credit on the training and home life our girls receive.

We were fortunate in having two of our representative girls at the National Jubilee Meeting this year in Cincinnati. Lois Tanasui, Japanese, with two years of training in the San Francisco National Training School, and graduating in January, 1931, as a nurse from the San Francisco Hospital, attended and took part in the Jubilee program. Flora Cho, Korean, also from this home, is a graduate deaconess of the Kansas City National Training School, now a missionary in the Community House in Bingham Canyon, Utah.

Our dramatic classes show excellent talent, especially among the Filipino girls. Some of our girls are good musicians, either singers or piano players. Gloriana has a lovely voice and sings over the radio occasionally.

All the garments and dresses worn by our girls are made in the home by the girls themselves under the supervision of one of our workers. While all our devotional exercises are interesting and instructive, the Tuesday evening Bible class is outstanding. Other boys and girls from the outside come in to attend this Bible class. Visitors are pleased and impressed with the knowledge these girls have of the Bible, repeating verses, story, or chapter. The older girls enjoyed a fine vacation this summer at the young people's religious conference, returning home with enthusiasm and inspiration. Our work continues in Susannah Wesley Home, a blessing to our girls and a satisfaction to all of us. "God is in his heaven" and we are carrying on.

McCRUM COMMUNITY HOUSE

Mrs. H. S. Metcalf, Chairman

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to The Woman's Home Missionary Society, the local board of McCrum Community House, and the women of the Pittsburgh Conference, for their splendid support of our work. God has richly blessed us.

McCRUM COMMUNITY HOUSE

26 Nutt Avenue, Uniontown, Pennsylvania

Founded 1909

Miss Bessie K. Van Scyoc, Superintendent

Capacity: 5 residents; 2 workers.

Aim: A training school for Slavonic girls.

McCRUM COMMUNITY HOUSE

We have just passed our first milestone in community work at McCrum. Our hearts are made to rejoice when we look back over the past year but we are more rejoiced to think forward into this new year with its opportunities before us. Miss Elizabeth Wright, our worker, is planning great things for this new year and we feel assured that no error has been made in establishing settlement work in this community.

We share our home with three students who attend public schools, and two young business women.

LEISENRING No. 3

Miss Elfleda Myser, Missionary

Miss Elfleda Myser, with her assistants, Miss Mary Bidale and Miss Edna Poole, are doing splendid work in this village, carrying on about the same activities as we do at our other centers. Their newest class is an Americanization class for foreign mothers, and through this channel we hope to add a little sunshine to these lives of drudgery. Preaching services are held twice a month on Sunday evening, the alternate Sunday evenings being devoted to illustrated Bible talks.

OLIVER, No. 1

Miss Bozena Sochor, Missionary

Miss Bozena Sochor, a former graduate of McCrum School, is doing very excellent work in this village with kindergarten, clubs, classes, Sunday school, and a Young People's Society each Sunday evening. The daily vacation Bible school was well attended while it was in session last summer.

Last winter, while the mines and ovens were idle, there was intense suffering in the village, and through the help given us by local Sunday school classes we were able to do much relief work among our people.

ATLANTA MISSION

109 Chestnut Street, S. W., Atlanta Georgia
Mrs. Hattie Carmichael, Kindergartner

Capacity: 50 day students; 1 worker.

Aim: To mold characters of the little folks who come to the mission.

Our mission kindergarten has had another successful year in its endeavor to mold the lives and characters of the little people who come to us. More than fifty children have been in attendance, and it is a joy to visit them and to witness the enthusiasm which they show in everything that is connected with our work.

A destructive fire in Warren Church, next door to our kindergarten, threatened our work. But we were able in a few days to begin again. Mrs. Carmichael is doing a splendid work, not only with the children but with the sick and the shut-ins in the community.

The kindergarten children are learning to "carry on"; they made a very substantial gift to the Mother's Jewel Fund the past year.

BOYLAN SCHOOL

Jessie and Franklin Streets, Jacksonville, Florida
Founded 1886

Miss E. Mae Comfort, Superintendent

Capacity: 90 residents; 125 day students; 21 workers.

Aim: Practical education of Negro girls.

After eight years' experience as superintendent in Haven School it seemed wise when a change in superintendents became necessary at Boylan, to transfer Miss Comfort, and the wisdom of this decision has been justified. Miss Comfort has met every problem with wisdom and discretion.

The year opened with about the usual number of boarding students and the largest day school in the history of Boylan. This was kept up during the year. A class of five girls was graduated from the high school, and twenty more completed the eighth grade.

The new year has opened in a most encouraging manner and we are anticipating unusual success. Miss Constance Arnold, who for three years has been the director of religious education, has become school principal succeeding Miss Elizabeth Novak, who is on leave of absence completing work for her Master's degree. Miss Hattie C. Teachout, a graduate of the Washington Training School, with Master's degree from Yale, is the new director of religious education. There have been very few changes in the faculty.

The school work has been reclassified: we now have senior high, junior high, and six grades below. With our home economics department, under the supervision of a teacher with a college degree, we are now able to measure up to all state requirements.

We are always glad to receive visitors at Boylan School. Come! The latch-string is out.

HAVEN SCHOOL

Montgomery Crossroads, Savannah, Georgia

Founded 1885

Miss A. Jeanette Lehman, Superintendent

Capacity: 90 residents; 17 day students; 14 workers.

Aim: Education of Negro girls.

Miss Lehman, the new superintendent at Haven School, met with a hearty welcome and has had an unusually good year. While nothing spectacular has been done, we can say that good faithful work has been the order of the day.

'Hard times' in Georgia the past few years have cut down the attendance at Haven and have made it necessary for us to give more scholarship help, but we began the year without any debts and we closed with a "balance" large enough to enable us to open the work in September without incurring new debts.

Six girls completed the course in junior high and were graduated in June. Most of these girls will go elsewhere to complete their high-school courses.

We opened the new year with a few changes (changes seem to be the order of the day). Miss Alexander, who for many years has been a teacher in the lower grades, becomes assistant superintendent. Two new teachers, graduates from the Iowa Bible Training School, have joined our staff.

HAVEN SCHOOL

We have a Queen Esther Circle and a company of Home Guards, both of which have done excellent work and have sent contributions to the national Society. A period of self-denial netted thirty dollars, which was sent to the China Famine Relief Fund.

Come to Haven. You will receive a royal welcome. If you come once we know you will all come again.

THAYER HOME—WARREN HALL

Clark University Campus, South Atlanta, Georgia

Founded 1883

Miss Ethel M. Brown, Superintendent

Capacity: 70 residents; 70 day students; 8 workers.

Aim: To provide Christian homes for Negro girls while attending school.

Thayer Home again had a record enrollment: seventy college, training-school, and high-school students found a home beneath its roof. They are a splendid group of girls and are among the outstanding students on the campus. Four of the graduates of the past two years are now employed as teachers in the Bureau and another in the Bureau for North and South Carolina.

By recent action of the Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of

THAYER SCHOOL

The Woman's Home Missionary Society, Warren Hall, which has been operated by the Board of Education as a home for young women, attending the normal or college department of Clark University, has come under the supervision of our Society. Both buildings are comfortably filled at the opening of this new year and we are looking forward to real success in this cooperative plan.

Miss Brown, our new superintendent, has been at the head of the home economic department the past two years. She is well equipped for her new work.

The dressmaking department, under Miss Mattie M. Hill, has done especially good work and this year, through the help of the Wesleyan Service Guilds, we are giving special aid to the wives of the Gammon students.

Every girl in Thayer Home and Warren Hall is a Queen Esther member and excellent meetings are conducted under the leadership of our deaconess kindergartner, Miss Dorothy Gleason.

FRIENDSHIP HOMES

Mrs. H. R. Hargis, Secretary

1308 Tatnall Street, Wilmington, Delaware

FRIENDSHIP HOME AND DAY NURSERY

547-49 West Seventh Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

Established 1920

Mrs. Ray C. Tyler, Superintendent of Home

Miss Lucile Holliday, Superintendent of Day Nursery

Capacity: 24 residents; 75 day students; 10 workers.

Aim: To provide a boarding home with Christian atmosphere for Negro girls.

This year was not without its problems, yet we come rejoicing because of the success achieved. The financial reverses in the economic and industrial world cause many young women to be without employment, others were employed part time only. This situation enabled the home uniquely to meet a social demand. The home adequately cared for these unfortunate ones until they were better able to adjust themselves. Thus they were enabled to maintain their dignity as respectable Christian citizens. Seventy-two fine young women and twenty transients constituted our happy family this year.

The Mothers' Club has become a very valuable asset. It meets weekly and discusses the community problems as they relate themselves to the home and child life.

March 29 was a gala day. Bishop M. W. Clair, D.D., LL.D., in the presence of our national officers and Board of Trustees, and many friends, dedicated our building as the Friendship Home.

Rather than compete with three others, we closed our kindergarten. We concentrated our efforts upon the nursery and nursery school. This proved to be a wise decision, since this is the only nursery school for Negro children in this part of Cincinnati. We have been filled to the limit of our capacity—seventy-six. Our working mothers have been greatly relieved, and their hearts gladdened by the care and comforts bestowed upon their little ones.

MISSISSIPPI

Mrs. H. L. Haywood, Secretary
303 S. Spruce Street, Pana, Illinois

E. L. RUST HALL

Holly Springs, Mississippi

Founded 1884

Miss Ella Fluke, Superintendent

Capacity: 50 residents; 35 day students; 6 workers.

Aim: A Christian home and domestic arts classes for Negro girls.

Last year E. L. Rust Hall had an entire new staff. This was a great hardship as a whole new system had to be worked out, there being no one to carry over former plans. The long illness of the former superintendent had brought about a laxity in discipline which further complicated the situation. We were fortunate in securing Miss Ella Fluke, as superintendent at such a time, for, as an experienced high-school teacher, she understood girl psychology and was prepared to meet the situation. By the close of the year it could truly be said this is a "Model Home for Negro Girls." Miss M. Edith Sweet comes as superintendent this year. Miss Sweet was for five years a missionary in India and having met foreign missionary problems successfully, will no doubt be prepared to meet those of the home field as well.

This year we shall have in the home no college girls, our group being the high-school students, the college girls going to live in the college hall. This division is made in accordance with the rule of our committee cooperating with the Board of Education. We were quite touched to find how the college girls clung to the home and with what regret they moved from it.

Last year the superintendent of the home taught two classes in Bible in the college and the new superintendent will do so again the coming year. This has brought about a very fine understanding and sympathy between the college staff and that of the home.

The home economics department is housed in Foster Hall, a separate building provided for this work by the college. The teacher and equipment are furnished by The Woman's Home Missionary Society. The work this year will be in charge of Miss Clara Woods, who has her degree from Rust College, with post-graduate work in other schools.

Mrs. Bartle continues with us as assistant superintendent and Miss Gore as practical worker.

Ruby Elzy, one of our E. L. Rust Hall girls, graduated last July from Ohio State University, where she was given unusual honor by the musical department of that school. She returned to Holly Springs last August, where she was given a great ovation. Not all our girls have achieved such honor, some are filling places of high service, but many more, though unknown to fame, are helping in a humble way to bring a better day to their race.

NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA

Mrs. Frank Maize, Secretary

12606 Arlington Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio

ALLEN SCHOOL

Asheville, North Carolina

Founded 1887

Miss Louisa A. Bell, Superintendent

Capacity: 42 residents; 166 day students; 16 workers.

Aim: A better school for Negro girls.

Allen High School has been a standard school in North Carolina for six years. This means that there is a four-year high-school course and that our graduates may attend any college without entrance examinations, being classified as first-year students. It means also that we must meet certain requirements in the way of laboratory equipment, library, maps, and properly qualified teachers.

A course in teacher training for graduates of standard high schools is part of the curriculum at Allen School. Students who complete this work receive state certificates good for five years. The instructor of this course holds an evening extension class, also under the direction of the state department, for teachers of city and county who hold state certificates which they wish to raise or renew.

Our library of over two thousand volumes is one of the best in the state for a Negro high school, and gives all students access to the best literature as well as to all reference books required by the State Department of Education.

The home economics laboratories are well equipped and a thorough course is offered in both sewing and cooking.

Music is an attractive feature of the school. This department has organized two classes, one a beginners' class in piano music, the other a rhythm band to develop musical taste and movement.

During the past year we have improved our campus and equipped our playground with swings, merry-go-rounds, see-saws, giant stride, and basketball court.

Pre-Easter services were held during Passion Week, conducted by Miss Ruth Wheaton, field secretary, assisted by the pastor of the church. Several of the younger girls were led to confess Christ and many of the older ones renewed their consecration to him who had done so much for them.

There have been forty-two girls enrolled in the home and one hundred and sixty-six outside students, including all departments. Our aim is to send out young women "thoroughly prepared unto every good work" and "meet for the Master's use."

BROWNING SCHOOL

Camden, South Carolina

Founded 1889

Miss Marguerite L. Moore, Superintendent

Capacity: 85 residents; 300 day students; 22 workers.

Aim: A home and school for Negro girls and boys.

The second year of the work in new Browning has been one of the most successful in the history of the school. With new equipment, enlarged quarters, ample space for all activities, the work has grown in interest and scope. Two more teachers added to the faculty have made it possible to broaden the curriculum and to give greater personal attention to students. Decided advance was made in the physical education department and more time given to all student activities. Registration in the day school grew to nearly three hundred pupils, and to eighty-five girls in the home. At the close of school nineteen boys and girls graduated from Mather Academy fully prepared to enter college. It was the largest class in the history of the school.

During the year Miss Hortense Sheldon and Miss Margaret Palmer came to help with the work. Miss Sheldon spent the first three weeks in December correcting speech defects, and bringing entertainment to student and faculty alike with her inimitable readings. Miss Palmer came the week before Easter and helped to carry through one of the greatest objectives of the school program—the enlistment of every boy and girl for Christian service. She won the love and gratitude of all who heard her, and was instrumental in bringing many students to that decision.

The school has gained a recognition among the Southern people, exceeding that of previous years, and there is every indication that the coming year will find many of its plans and hopes fulfilled.

WEST SOUTHERN STATES

ADELINE SMITH HALL

Little Rock, Arkansas

Founded 1883

Mrs. Hilda M. Nasmyth, Superintendent

Capacity: 23 residents; 1 worker.

Aim: A real home for Negro girl students at Philander Smith College.

Another year has past and the effort that we have put forth for the redemption of all mankind, and particularly under the auspices of our beloved Society, is written in heaven, for no human pen or human tongue could relate the many things that have been done by superintendent and teachers to make life sweeter and happier, and to lift and raise the ideals higher among those who have been entrusted to our care. It is with just a little tinge of sadness that I make this report to you, for it must be the last report after thirty-four years of trying to make yearly reports.

When I first came to Adeline Smith Home, how little and how insignificant it all looked—little stoves, little kerosene lamps, no improvements of any kind, and weeds all over the front lawn; in fact, no lawn, no sidewalks—nothing, but God put it into the heart of the people in America and my own people which I serve, and they in their small way and our big sisters in the white group in their large way, worked and labored and helped.

Our bureau secretary, the first one, Mrs. F. A. Arter, and then Mrs. Catherine Falley and Mrs. J. H. Bayless and Mrs. Sarah French, and finally you, dear Mrs. Knostman, worked incessantly together. Never has there been a misunderstanding or cross word for the thirty-four years between superintendent and secretary, and very little misunderstanding between teachers and superintendent, and the result has been that more than fourteen hundred girls have been touched and quickened into life and energy and Christian rectitude and higher idealism through the ministry of the Adeline Smith Home.

Not only has the girlhood of a needy and belated race been quickened, but young men and settled men for that matter, by the hundreds through our various activities, the little lads through our Home Guards and Sunday-school work, the men's Bible classes, in rallies for the church, in everything all has helped to bring hundreds and hundreds of men of every denomination under the spell of the ideals of Adeline Smith Home for these thirty-four years. We feel that under God this work has greatly blessed, not only the State of Arkansas, but the length and breadth of America, and beyond the seas where our folk have gone who have followed the gleam as it twinkled, twinkled here.

I can see that in this new day, when everything is changing and educational standards are being rated so differently, that the needs for our homes as they are carried out now may not be as pertinent and paramount as they used to be; and yet on the other hand, I wonder what other influence will take their place in spirit culture, and in giving the proper tone and veneration to our life and social contact in general.

If our educational work in Christian schools is to stand the test, we must build on the one foundation Christ Jesus; for no other foundation can be laid, and if this hurry, worry, criss-cross age with materialism and commercialism and science in its quick development and extension leaves out the "weightier matters of the law," namely, "to love the Lord thy God with all thy might, with all thy mind, with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself"—if they should inadvertently neglect the weightier matters, then our homes need to stand for the old-fashioned virtues, old-fashioned religion, the old-fashioned paths even yet. But one thought comforts me, and that is that God lives and he will see that all things shall work for his glory since we make it our business to love and to serve for "the love of Christ and in his name."

Everybody has been good to me and to the work of Adeline Smith Home. We could have had new buildings had we asked for them I am quite sure, but I am so happy I asked for money to put into girls' lives to help them to get clothing, their books, their education, so they can serve in a larger and fuller sphere than they have ever done before.

May the God of peace abide upon the new plan of work for this incoming year, and may it be that our foundation through God's abundant mercy has been laid so wide and broad and strong, that it shall be easy to even do the new and the merged work because we have been here, dear Mrs. Knostman, than it would otherwise be.

ELIZA DEE HALL

1203 East Avenue, Austin, Texas

Founded 1904

Mrs. Florence Landon, Superintendent

Capacity: 47 residents; 5 workers.

Aim: A real home for girl students at Samuel Huston College.

Another year at Eliza Dee has become history. A year filled to overflowing with cares and responsibilities, joys and sorrows. Of the entire enrollment of sixty-two, forty-seven remained in the home the entire year. Because of overcrowding, we were compelled to have some of the older girls move into a nearby home where they could yet be in the Eliza Dee family.

Twenty-six girls have received financial assistance in order to remain at the Samuel Huston College with which we are affiliated. The drouth of this year will bring about the same conditions as did the floods of last year. Our burden is heavy. More applications for help are coming than we can possibly grant.

Mrs. Helen McCauley, a former high-school teacher and director of girls' activities, has been the most capable and loyal assistant superintendent. We are happy to know she will remain with us another year.

In June The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the West Texas Conference responded to an invitation to hold their annual meeting at the home. Thirty lived in the home, the ladies of the local auxiliary acting as hostesses. It was unanimously voted to meet here again next year.

Our friends were very good to us at the Christmas time. We trust they will remember us again this coming season. Our needs will be greater than ever before.

FAITH AND MT. ZION KINDERGARTENS

5323 Pitt Street, New Orleans, Louisiana

Eva M. Callaway, Superintendent

Capacity: 217 children; 8 workers.

Aim: To give supervised play to children who have no place to play.

The last year Faith Kindergarten had an enrollment of one hundred and twenty-five and is growing to be more than a kindergarten. The last half of the year saw such activities as carpentry classes, sewing classes, and mothers' clubs.

The playground was a scene of action and fun throughout the year. Numbers of little tots found a place of supervised play who otherwise had no playground except streets, tumbled back yards, and doorsteps.

Vacation church school was a new experiment and was a very gratifying success in every way.

Mt. Zion Kindergarten had an enrollment of ninety-two. In our work three hundred and forty-four lives were touched, not mentioning Sunday-school and playground contacts.

Many needy families were furnished clothing and much Christmas cheer was spread with the giving of the real Christmas message and material gifts. Our crying need is more room and equipment.

ITALIAN KINDERGARTEN

5323 Pitt Street, New Orleans, Louisiana

Miss Jennie Yoder, Superintendent

Capacity; 86 children; 1 worker.

"One more year's work for Jesus." One more year of working in partnership with the great, eternal Father in establishing his Kingdom in the hearts and lives of little children, of boys and girls and of men and women.

The work of the kindergarten, Sunday school, girls' club, and daily vacation Bible school of the Church of the Redeemer has been a real joy and the source of much satisfaction.

The kindergarten has grown, not only in numbers, but in popularity. We have had a group of eighty-six children enrolled during the year 1929-30 as compared with fifty-six during 1928-29.

Though the great majority of the children come from Roman Catholic homes, forty-five have been enrolled in our Sunday school as well as regularly attending the kindergarten. The enrollment and attendance in the beginners', primary, and junior classes have been far above that of last year.

There were fifty-five enrolled in our daily vacation Bible school, forty-five having attended three weeks or more. Twenty-four received certificates for regular attendance and sixteen finished with perfect attendance. Not only did the boys and girls attend for the good times, though there were many of them, but they showed a very vital interest in the study of the Bible which to most of them was almost entirely unknown.

Fathers and mothers were hardly less interested than their children. They appreciated the fact that their boys and girls were off the street and under the supervision of Christian teachers who were interested in each one and with something worth while to keep them interested and busy. Their appreciation was expressed through their willingness to pay a tuition fee, their visits during the four weeks of the school and their attendance at the closing program, as well as their cooperation in encouraging their children to attend regularly and many other ways in which only parents and teachers working together can accomplish lasting results. Their interest was one evidence of the influence of Protestantism in a Roman Catholic community. Many attending our program had never entered a Protestant church before. The father of two of our children, a strong Roman Catholic, drove about forty miles to attend the program.

It is encouraging, indeed, when these men and women come to us, thereby putting their approval upon our church and our work, but it is upon the boys and girls that our effort and time are concentrated. We realize that the hope of the church, the hope of the nation, the hope of the world rests upon the children of each generation. It is with such a faith that at the close of the year we catch the vision of a larger service in the coming year and consecrate ourselves anew to the task that was given to those who love Him, by the Master two thousand years ago.

PECK SCHOOL

5323 Pitt Street, New Orleans, Louisiana

Founded 1889

Miss Elinor Neal, Superintendent

Capacity: 35 residents; 72 day students; 7 workers.

Aim: A Christian home and domestic arts opportunities for girl students in New Orleans University.

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto a leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened."

These words of the Master come ringing down through the ages with their spirit of cheer and encouragement. They give us absolute faith in a divine method of the development of the kingdom of heaven on earth.

It has been a joy to watch this development in the lives of the thirty-five girls of Peck Home throughout the year 1929-30. Christian environment, mental development, social leadership, and efficiency in the home-making arts have been our aims.

The opportunities for Christian growth and leadership came through morning devotions, prayer meetings, and Queen Esther meetings. Much initiative and originality was exhibited in socials and programs planned for our own entertainment and the entertainment of friends in the city.

Our students show a high degree of scholarship which is very gratifying. One of our girls was graduated from New Orleans University with the highest scholastic honors obtainable. Two girls received A.B. degrees and one a B.S. in Home Economics. The B.S. in Home Economics is the first degree of its kind to be conferred from this school and the recipient was a Peck Home girl. Five of our girls were graduated from the Teacher's Training Department and expect to teach this coming year. Two graduated from the high school. In our own departments of Home Economics there were twenty-eight who received certificates, having completed the first two years of the course. Nine others received certificates on completion of more advanced work.

When we see these young women go out from our home into the various fields of service as trained leaders or to establish homes on a foundation of Christian ideals, we know our efforts have not been in vain, and we look forward with greater anticipation to future years of service "for love of Christ and in His Name."

REST HOMES

Mrs. Mary E. Stout, Secretary

126 Lake Avenue, Ocean Grove, New Jersey

BANCROFT-TAYLOR REST HOME

74 Cookman Avenue, Ocean Grove, New Jersey

Founded 1896.

Mrs. Ada B. Murphy, Superintendent

Capacity: 12 workers.

Aim: A peaceful eventide for our retired missionaries.

We have had a wonderful year! Twenty-six missionaries and sixty deaconesses have enjoyed the rest home for a longer or shorter period of time during the year. We have heard many expressions of appreciation and loyalty from these missionaries and deaconesses as they come to us from city and far-away centers of our work. Their words of praise for The Woman's Home Missionary Society for providing and maintaining five National Rest Homes, two open the entire year, three for the vacation time ring true. The "retired" missionaries and deaconesses have greatly enjoyed the plans for the Jubilee and have in every way aided. In the "looking backward" they have added much to the program, and their missionary experiences have thrilled the women who have had the opportunity to be present to hear them.

The annual bazaar was a great success. To Mrs. William E. Thomson, of Philadelphia, who was general chairman, we are greatly indebted. The bazaar is largely patronized by local and visiting friends. Members of the local board are not only Methodists, but Baptists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, and Episcopalians; these loyal women look upon this bazaar as the event of the season. The proceeds are used for some of the improvements and repairs not provided for in the National Budget. The local board appreciates the gifts for the bazaar from the individuals and conferences, for which credit is given through the Supply Department, and we shall be with you with the usual appeal for the 1931 bazaar.

Miss Kate J. Quarry, a member of the resident family, who has been confined to her room in "Sunset" for the past three years, left us for her heavenly home last April. Miss Quarry was the superintendent of Bancroft-Taylor Rest Home for eleven years and won hosts of friends for herself and the home she served devotedly.

BANCROFT-TAYLOR REST HOME

Chautauqua, New York

Opened 1923

Mrs. R. C. Richards, Hostess

1730 Smead Street, Logansport, Indiana

Capacity: 1 worker.

Aim: To serve as a vacation home for missionaries.

CHAUTAUQUA MISSION HOME

This home differs from other vacation homes in this way: three rooms are always in readiness for the missionaries of The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

This has been a busy year in many ways, the first year for our Mrs. Richards when there were many ways to be made plain. During the two months six foreign missionaries and twenty-two home missionaries have enjoyed this fine home by the lake. The many attractions and advantages which Chautauqua institution offers are always an incentive to the women who desire to study. In music, literature, or in missionary subjects one has great opportunities here. We are compelled to say "no" to many this year, as the rooms were occupied by our workers. Mrs. C. R. Richards, as missionary hostess, surpassed our fondest hopes; many, many words of praise have come to us. She proved to be the right woman in the right place. We ask for your continued interest in our home.

FENTON MEMORIAL HOME

Chautauqua, New York

Opened 1920

Miss Claribel Winchester, Hostess

Aim: A restful home for deaconesses during vacation period.

Fenton Memorial on the overlook at Chautauqua is substantial and beautiful, perhaps one of the finest buildings owned by the Society. Twenty-four deaconesses have enjoyed this vacation home; only deaconesses are entertained at Fenton. As the time comes for the deaconess to return to her field of endeavor, she always speaks of the lovely home, the delightful spirit of the home, a home which provides quiet and rest as perhaps no other home does. It is a small family and only breakfasts are served.

Founders' Day was celebrated as usual, and many words of commendation were listened to from the president of Chautauqua Institution. This has been one of the best years for the home. Many requests for entertainment were refused for lack of room.

1425 North Garfield Avenue, Pasadena, California

Opened 1925

Miss Ida M. Martyn, Superintendent

Capacity: 18 residents; 4 workers.

Aim: A permanent home for retired missionaries and deaconesses.

"A permanent home for retired missionaries and deaconesses" located in this wonderful land of sunshine and flowers, must be seen to be appreciated.

The resident family averaged sixteen during the year and thirty missionaries and deaconesses have enjoyed their vacation at "Robincroft." I would like to remind the friends of our retired missionaries and deaconesses that we are still thinking of the needed dormitory or hall which could be built in units and the small hospital is already needed; please think of these needs.

The Southern California Conference continues to be very helpful in every way, and we appreciate their consideration and help; in fact, gifts of money and supplies add much to the comfort of the family, we trust they will be continued.

THOMPSON REST HOME

Mountain Lake Park, Maryland

Founded 1889

Miss Octavia Hicks, Deaconess-Superintendent

72 South Washington Avenue, Columbus, Ohio

Capacity: 1 worker.

Aim: A summer vacation home for missionaries and deaconesses.

Thompson Rest Home, founded in 1889, was the first of the vacation homes. The vacation homes by-the-sea, in the mountains, and by the lakeside, truly offer a variety of scenery and climate to suit all tastes.

Seventeen deaconesses and eighteen missionaries have enjoyed their vacation in this lovely mountain resort during July and August. I wish every member of our Organization could look in upon this happy family presided over by our Miss Hicks—this is truly a home. During the Summer School of Missions the family was large, numbering sixty. Thirty of this number were young people and a happy group it was occupying the annex and enjoying the excellent food, air, and scenery that this glorious country affords. We are very thankful for the supplies sent this vacation home.

PORTO RICO AND SANTO DOMINGO

Mrs. F. C. Reynolds, Secretary

309 Woodlawn Avenue, Roland Park, Baltimore, Maryland

GEORGE O. ROBINSON HOME

San Juan, Porto Rico, T. H.

Founded 1902

Mrs. J. C. Murray, Superintendent

Capacity: 86 residents; 300 kindergarten children; 16 workers.

Aim: To give shelter and training to the native girls.

Porto Rico is becoming better known to the world at large through the efforts of the present governor, the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. His campaign of publicity has put into the columns of many of the leading newspapers and magazines the economic and social facts concerning the island. We know that there are some 35,000 people suffering from tuberculosis, some 200,000 from malaria, and some 600,000 from hookworm. Economically, we have learned that more than sixty per cent of the people are out of employment, either all or part of the year. The average income ranges between $150 and $200. And we find that of the children of school age, approximately 500,000, less than half are in school.

The answer to all this is schools, all kinds of schools, where health of mind and body will be taught and caught, and a trade learned.

In 1902, a far-seeing woman of The Woman's Home Missionary Society sensed this same condition, only worse then, and the Geo. O. Robinson Orphanage came into being. For twenty-eight years it has grown and expanded until to-day on five and a half acres of ground in the midst of vines, ferns, and palms, there is a home and school, giving eighty-six girls a chance to become intelligent, self-reliant Porto Rican women. Six of these girls received two diplomas each this June, one for work in the grade school and one for needle-work. This latter is a department that is being emphasized, since there is a field open to trained needle women. The Department of Spanish Language and Literature, too, has been strengthened under the direction of Mrs. Ana Pagan, a graduate of the University of Porto Rico. This is in keeping with the new trend in the missionary enterprise, which is trying to train the students so that they may understand and keep the best of their inheritance.

GEORGE O. ROBINSON SCHOOL

This report would not truly reflect the work of the year if it failed to mention the care and guidance of the superintendent, Mrs. J. C. Murray. That the grounds and buildings have been kept in excellent repair where there is fast deterioration by the elements, that there has been no serious illness in this large group of girls, and that they have been willing to help others in the community where service has hitherto meant servitude, is all due to the wisdom and influence of Mrs. Murray.

A representative of the Child Health Association, which at the instigation of President Hoover was making a survey of conditions this winter in the island, visited our home there. To those who are making this work possible, his words will give cheer. He said, "This is what Porto Rico needs."

Miss Helen Huffman and her assistants in the four kindergartens have been keeping busy about three hundred of the thousands of little ones of kindergarten age. These children swarm the streets of the towns and are offering a real problem in the question of health and education. The classes at Arecibo, Ponce, and San Juan, where there are three, are filled to capacity. The opportunity to extend this work is boundless.

THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Hospital Internacional

Established 1921

The year in Santo Domingo has been one of curtailment and some anxiety, because of the world-wide financial and attendant economic depression. The home for nurses has been given up and the nurses moved into some of the rooms of the hospital. The lessened income has necessitated the releasing of one doctor. At la Cumbre, too, the work has been retarded, due here, however, to the failing health of the director, Harold Huffman. At last Dr. and Mrs. Huffman deemed it wise to take their son back to the states, so this family is gone. They have left as a monument the beginning of a strong Christian work.

Still the step has been forward. In June ground was broken for a new hospital building. Foundations were laid, and then—the hurricane! While not belonging properly to this year's report, it is the immediate situation.

In the first week of September, the city of Santo Domingo is laid waste. Our church, the only Protestant church in the city, is gone. The Mission House, valued at $50,000, is so damaged that it seems inadvisable to repair it. Our workers' homes and goods are destroyed. The hospital building is wrecked, but the nurses and doctors are "carrying on" in a school building. Miss Fribley, who has been known for her baby clinic, is feeding six hundred babies daily. Dr. Barney Morgan, the successor to Dr. Huffman, is co-operating with the Red Cross in caring for the fifteen thousand injured. All of our forces are united in service to the stricken area.

The Board for Christian Work in Santo Domingo, which is composed of representatives from the mission boards of the Presbyterian, the Methodist Episcopal, and the United Brethren denominations, consider that now is the time to show the substance of the doctrine preached, "The brotherhood of man." Relief work of a permanent nature must be done, houses built, the church restored, the hospital completed. To this end they are in the midst of a campaign for $200,000.

The evangelical centers outside of the capital city have held their own this year. They are located at Barahona, La Romana, San Cristobal, Bani, and San Pedro de Macoris. Reports show a net increase in membership of sixty-one. An average of twenty Sunday school has been maintained, with an average attendance of 933. Every church ended the year without a deficit. This was done because they were faithful to their local pledges. To quote Dr. Morgan, "A youthful church is growing stronger and is beginning to take a few steps alone."

SPANISH WORK IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Miss Laura May Robinson, Secretary

126 North Elmwood Avenue, Oak Park, Illinois

FRANCES DePAUW SCHOOL

4952 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, California

Founded 1889.

Miss Jennie Mathias, Superintendent

Capacity: 125 residents; 17 workers.

Aim: A home and school for Spanish girls.

On a busy street in Hollywood, California, is our school where one hundred and twenty-five Spanish-speaking girls are each year and many more ask to come, but there is no room. Many are the heart-breaking stories of the homes broken by death or misunderstanding. A lovely family of girls needing care and love; how happy the parents are when a girl can be placed under Miss Mathias' watchful care. Two buildings house the family. The older girls and schoolrooms are in the fine new building, while the little girls live in a good building, which like many older buildings is constantly in need of repairs. Some day we will move over to Pasadena into a new, well-equipped building. In the meantime, the sixteen workers are helping girls to become Christian teachers, home-makers, and business women, who will go out and take their places in the world.

The schoolrooms are well equipped and the regular standard school course is taught with home economics, and a business course in addition. There were four in the graduating class, each one with a definite purpose, to continue her studies, thus fitting herself for a lifework. The social-service worker does a great deal to keep in touch with the families of the girls. Many problems, we know little about, come up that involve our girls and they need someone to intercede for them.

HARWOOD SCHOOL

1114 North Seventh Street, Albuquerque, New Mexico

Founded 1896

Miss Verr H. Zelif, Superintendent

Capacity: 110 residents; 60 day students; 16 workers.

Aim: To furnish a home and school for Spanish-speaking girls.

If you look at exactly the right time just before you reach Albuquerque on the Santa Fe coming from the east, you may see Harwood Girls' School. But better still is to live for a time in that fine new building, with more than a hundred lively lovely girls, some as small as six years, then on up to the dignified sophomore at the university. About twenty girls came up from Mexico last year. When asked why they came to Harwood and not some other school perhaps nearer home, their reply was, "To learn English in a Christian school." The aim of all of our schools is to give a Christian education. Other girls have come from up in the mountains fifty miles from a railroad. In dry weather one goes through dry river beds, but when the streams are running there is little passing for bridges are scarce. Here in some of these small towns there are few educational advantages and seldom the upper grades and high school. Protestant churches are so few in this section. In one town from where several of our girls have come, the Protestant church has been closed for lack of funds, so now there is no church within fifty miles. Our girls must hold steady when they return home to such conditions. How they need our help and prayers.

MARY J. PLATT SCHOOL

1200 East Seventh Street, Tucson, Arizona

Founded 1906

Miss Florence Anderson, Superintendent

Capacity: 57 residents; 8 workers.

Aim: A better school for Spanish children.

In the land of cactus, where in February the snow is on the nearby mountains and the violets and narcissus bloom in our yard at Platt, here in a lovely cement building with an inside patio, are fifty-five happy girls and eight splendid workers. It is a happy and busy family as each has her duties. The house work is done as part of their training. Girls range in ages from six up to the freshman at university. The high-school girls all go to the Tucson High School, many of them working in homes after school and on Saturdays to earn some extra money to help pay their tuition. Our university girl was elected in her freshman year to the Honorary Spanish Society. If we could see some of the homes from which our girls come we would not wonder at their apparent lack of knowledge of American life as we know it. Sometimes they live in the United States, but hardly a part of it, until they come to Platt. Some of the same conditions exist at DePauw and Harwood, broken homes or perhaps no schools where the head of the family can find work, parents gone or separated, so the county cares for the girls.

MEXICAN METHODIST MISSION

San Ysidro, California

Mrs. Kathryn S. Cramp, Superintendent

Capacity: 1 worker.

Aim: To serve the Mexican.

On the main street in San Ysidro there is a store that serves as a mission and where are held the various sessions—kindergarten (the little children coming over each morning from Mexico), Queen Esthers, daily vacation Bible school, sewing classes, Sunday school, and many happy social hours. A comfortable small bungalow across the street houses our faithful superintendent. Three nights a week are spent across the border in Mexico. As the line closes at six o'clock it is impossible for the young people who want to learn English to come across after their work, so it is necessary for Mrs. Cramp to stay over there. Such earnest, serious young people attend these classes who are eager to learn English and about the United States. Great is their appreciation for this opportunity to learn from a Christian worker who has become a friend of theirs and those at the gates.

Each place and every work in this bureau are needed, as we minister to the Spanish people in the Southwest, some coming from Mexico, others native born, but in a section of our country almost unknown as a part of the United States. These young people, children, and older folks all join hands with others to help win America for Christ.

ROSE GREGORY HOUCHEN SETTLEMENT—FREEMAN CLINIC,

1119 East Fifth Street, El Paso, Texas

Founded 1912

Miss Emma Brandeberry, Superintendent

Capacity: 415 day students; 12 workers.

Aim: Settlement and a clinic for Spanish people.

In the dusty crowded section of south El Paso stands the work we are all interested in, two buildings with a fine play yard in between that is busy all the time, but should have a play director to guide the play of children and grown-ups who hardly know how to play. Kindergarten is held every morning because the nearby public school has no room for this grade. Classes of various kinds are carried on in the late afternoon and evening.

Many calls for help and advice and friendly sympathy are given each day as the workers are never too busy to lend the helping hand. Sunday brings a fully organized Sunday school in the morning, young people's social hour, Epworth League, and church in the evening. The Spanish student-pastor helps in many ways as he gives his time while going to college. Over at Freeman Clinic there are two nurses, an assistant, and three doctors who hold four clinics a week and thus minister to the many sick ones who come. About two hundred a month have been helped in various ways. Some cases can be cared for for three or four days and soon we hope to be able to meet all needs that come. The city hospital has little room for the Mexican sick ones so they come to Freeman Clinic.

DAVIS DEACONESS HOME

347 South Fourth East Street, Salt Lake City, Utah

Miss Irene Chapman, Superintendent

Capacity: 200 day students; 6 workers.

Aim: A real home for Methodism in Salt Lake City.

Davis Deaconess Home is a real home for Methodism of this city. Four deaconesses go out from it each day and carry the joy of Christian living to the homes of the city as they assist the pastors of the four Methodist churches. Community work is carried on in the district of Grace Church and the well-equipped building is used. The younger generation of the Mormon church needs the opportunity to contrast their religion with Christianity. Our workers are told by some, "We do not find what our heart longs for in our religion."

DAVIS DEACONESS HOME

HIGHLAND BOY COMMUNITY HOUSE

Route 1, Box 30-B, Bingham Canyon, Utah

Miss Elizabeth McLaughlin, Superintendent

Capacity: 125 day students; 5 workers.

Aim: A Christian center for children.

It has been an unusual year with mines closed much of the time and cloudbursts, causing homes to be flooded and furnishings spoiled. Two deaconesses and a nurse and a Christian housekeeper make our family at the community house.

The bell, found after the melting of the snows which caused the slide and destruction of the little old church, has been placed on the rear of our building and calls the community to the religious services.

HIGHLAND BOY COMMUNITY HOUSE

"Highland Boy Community House" in large letters have been placed across the front of the building, so anyone going up the canyon will know our place.

A taxi driver remarked, "They sure do a lot of good work at that community house."

If the mothers from seventeen countries, who live in Highland Boy can be taught how to feed and care for their babies, they will be more likely to live. The children love to sing and the little tots call for the old hymns of our church.

We hope to grow in influence and strength in the community as the years unfold. These people need friends to introduce real American living to them and our home can help do that.

One youngster said to another, "Isn't it fine in here?" as they were in the reading room. "Yes," said the other, "but you ought to see upstairs, it's a palace." It isn't, but it looked so to him.

OGDEN ESTHER HALL

475 Twenty-fifth Street, Ogden, Utah

Founded 1903

Miss Mabel Dunn, Superintendent

Capacity: 18 residents; 4 workers.

Aim: A Christian home for teachers and business women.

This home fills a real need in a city without a Young Woman's Christian Association. The Dunn sisters are real sisters to the young woman away from home. When going through to the west call at your home.

ROCK SPRINGS DEACONESS CENTER

124 L Street, Rock Springs, Wyoming

Miss Anna Corneliussen, Superintendent

Capacity: 115 day students; 3 workers.

Aim: To serve the foreign people of this section.

We are happy to be located right in the foreign district in a house large enough for living quarters and for deaconess center, where we hold kindergarten and classes for boys and girls and mothers' club. We feel like saying, "watch us grow." We are doing foreign missionary work right in our own country, where the people from fifty different countries live.

DEBORAH McCARTY SETTLEMENT HOUSE

Cedartown, Georgia

Founded 1913

Miss Ethel Harpst, Superintendent

Capacity: 80 adults.

Aim: To aid the needy of the community, physically, mentally, and spiritually.

This house stands in the midst of a village of people who have come in from the mountains to work in the cotton mills. They have had very few opportunities and need help for both body and soul. The workers try in every way to meet the needs as they arise.

This past year eighty men and women were enrolled in night school. One man said, "Before we could read we were just like blind people. We didn't know anything except what people told us." Several of those who started in night school in former years are going on with their education. Those in college are making fine records.

The day nursery has been full and running over with little ones whose mothers are in the mills. They are very happy over their new playground equipment and new dishes.

Our dear Mrs. Wilson is still with us to mother this little flock, and Miss Ruth White is her able assistant. They not only minister to the bodies of these little children, but they plant the seeds of righteousness in their hearts as well.

Miss Vera Nicklas, our deaconess, assisted by the pastor of the settlement church and his wife, conducted a very fine daily vacation school this summer.

Each Wednesday the mothers of the community enjoy a cooking class at the "Model Home," owned and equipped by the Goodyear Company for our use in teaching their people. The girls have both sewing and cooking classes.

The missionary boxes are a great blessing to many poor people. The gifts they bring at Christmas time gladden many hearts which would otherwise be forgotten at this time. This field is indeed "white for the harvest."

ETHEL HARPST HOME

Cedartown, Georgia

Founded 1923

Miss Ethel Harpst, Superintendent

Capacity: 57 residents; 130 day students; 5 workers.

Aim: To provide a Christian home and school privileges for orphan boys and girls.

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills." Psa. 121. 1.

We have a family of fifty-seven children on one of these hills in North Georgia who have lost their mothers or fathers, often both, and who have been left to exist as best they can. Here they have a real home.

A few weeks ago a mother died and left a family of eight children. They were being given away like puppies to anyone who would take one. Our home was already crowded, but we could not bear to see these lovely children scattered in this way. After a few days one of the girls of this family said, "We didn't live before we came here. It was fighting and drinking all the time."

Every day we have to turn away needy children because of our limited resources. There are so few places for homeless children in the state that the demands upon us are so great.

Last spring we had thirty cases of measles in the home. Death took one little boy, the first time the family has been broken in this way.

Our mid-week religious services in the home are a real blessing to both workers and children. Wallace Wiggins, one of our boys, finished high school this spring and now (August) is holding services in the tabernacle built by Miss Harpst's mother. Jack Atha, a former night-school boy, is the song leader; Ruth Crocker, one of our girls, plays the organ, and the children of the home form the choir. Two of our boys are janitors. People have been converted at every service.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hallagan, of Newark, N. Y., again gave the family a picnic on the Fourth of July which was greatly appreciated.

Every child has some work to do each day and they are all brimful of happiness as they work or play. They have named the laundry "The Glad-to-Do-It Laundry" since we have the new washing machine. They all have learned to do "tufting," even the little ones are making mats and bed spreads.

Thanks to our many friends we had a most wonderful Christmas time. Our tree in the living room was loaded with gifts for everyone. The men from the Goodyear plant wired one of our large cedar trees and then the snow came, making, with the colored lights, a beautiful scene and one so unusual for Cedartown. They do not often have a snowy Christmas.

Our children make fine records in the public schools. Three girls will finish high school this year. Ruth Crocker goes back to Athens, Tenn., for her second year of college at Tennessee Wesleyan. Wallace Wiggins enters Asbury College at Wilmore, Ky.

We are most happy in the personnel of the staff here. Miss Harpst, who has served so wonderfully for several years, is ably assisted by Miss Ida Brannum, Miss Alice Bell, and by Mrs. Pitts, who comes back this year. Miss Harpst says: "It is wonderful to have such capable consecrated women as these are for helpers. They are always so patient and helpful in every way." She also says: "We very much need a new dormitory for our boys who are now living in the old house here on the hill. We hope our friends coming South will not forget to visit the 'Hill.'"

We can never estimate the far-reaching results of the work done at the Ethel Harpst Home, but we may all have a part in it. We pray that all who read these words will pray for this home and its workers and children, and will give according to their ability for its maintenance.

REBECCA McCLESKEY HALL

Boaz, Alabama

Founded 1904

Mrs. F. A. Hendricks, Superintendent

Capacity: 115 residents; 100 day students; 10 workers.

Aim: To provide a Christian home for the girls of John H. Snead Seminary.

Rebecca McCleskey Hall for Girls was established in 1904, and since that time more than eighteen hundred girls representing fourteen states have received training there. The spiritual atmosphere and Christian training in the home in the years past have resulted in the establishment of Christian homes all through this part of the Southland, and the visible results of McCleskey training are exemplified in the girls of this generation as they come to us to-day. Many girls this year are the daughters of former McCleskey girls. The wives of many ministers in Alabama Conference are our girls. Many are teachers, some nurses, leaders in various fields of Christian activity. Some have gone as missionaries to foreign fields. Others are workers under The Woman's Home Missionary Society.

The past year closed with an attendance of eighty-four girls. Others were enrolled during the year, but for various reasons were unable to complete the year.

The devotion of a consecrated and faithful faculty has done much to make the home a happy one. Love and obedience and the careful guidance of trained leaders brought results in character-building of the students. We are fortunate in that this same faculty, with one exception, is to carry on the work another year. We would like to speak of each one by name and tell what she has done but space does not permit. Miss Esther Lee Bruce is the new teacher of piano.

All scholastic work is done in John H. Sned Seminary, which is under the supervision of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church and whose campus is directly across the street from ours. Music under the direction of Miss Lydia M. Wise, and home economics, taught by Miss Virda Broadway, are both taught in McCleskey. Besides the forty-three girls in the home-economics classes, all the girls receive practical demonstrations in this work in the daily housekeeping duties that are required. There are also classes in mending.

The Music Department did splendid work also. Recitals, cantatas, choruses, and special programs brought joy and recreation to the whole school.

REBECCA MCCLESKEY HALL

The readiness with which a large number volunteered to take part in religious gatherings has been noticeable. A spiritual atmosphere prevailed at all times and in all places. Through the Epworth League, Life Service Band, Queen Esther groups, and a week of evangelistic effort, we have been able to bring many to know the Christ and others to a fuller consecration.

The faculty and older girls take an active part in the work of the local church auxiliary of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, the strongest auxiliary in the conference.

This year opens with an enrollment of one hundred and fifteen girls, few of whom can pay the full fee of the home. Fourteen of them are girls sent by welfare societies. All of these are lovely girls, some of whom were with us last year and proved their worth. Along with other parts of the country, the South has been hard hit financially this year, and we need all possible help for McCleskey this year.

We thank you for your loyal cooperation in the past and pray for your continued support of the work in the future.

KENTUCKY

3622 Hemlock Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana

AIKEN HALL

Olive Hill, Kentucky

Erected in 1914-15. Completed in 1918

Used as Dormitory and Administration Building

Miss Harriet R. Quinter, Superintendent

Capacity: 65 residents; 170 day students; 17 workers.

Aim: To educate and develop a finer citizenship.

Aiken Hall is a place of varied activities. All of the work in the home is done by the students, different duties being assigned each month, giving training to all departments. In all of these duties they are incited to do their best, and such work is recognized each month in some way. The privilege of the honor room goes to those each month making the highest grades in work and deportment.

ORGANIZATIONS.—The Epworth League of fifty-one members, has a service each Sunday in the chapel room of Aiken Hall. The students plan and conduct the service, selecting the Scripture, songs, and topics. The Queen Esther Circle, with a membership of forty-three, holds meetings each month. The Halloween party is always a happy, successful time, and a help with a budget to be raised. Sales of candy also add to this fund. This year the study book was followed with profit and interest.

The Home Guards are a small but interested group of twelve members. The Alaskan work and that of the Indians has held great interest for them. Scrapbooks were made and money raised for these interests.

GROUPS.—The student body is divided into small groups with a teacher assigned to take a special interest in them. Through these small groups closer contact is made in a personal way.

PRAYER MEETINGS.—At six-thirty each Thursday evening a short service of prayer and song is held, in which the students take part. The program is varied, thus holding the interest of the children.

HEALTH WORK.—It is customary to have all children examined, weighed, and measured at the opening of school. This was done, but being without a nurse it was impossible to do the follow-up work which is so necessary. Since the coming of our nurse at the second semester we are following up the cases and correcting as much as possible the defects noted. Dispensary hours are held each day in both school and home. Classes in hygiene, physiology, and home nursing are held. This proved a real help during a siege of illness from typhoid inoculation, and capable help was rendered by these students. The dental work has been followed up and arrangements been secured for those needing tonsils removed.

The weight and measurements disclosed many needing special care; for these certain tables were reserved for children underweight and another for those overweight with food adapted to their needs, and good results were seen. For the help of the day students a nourishing but simple hot luncheon was served and prepared by our sophomores.

Much work in visiting by the nurse is done in the homes of the day pupils, and help given when needed. Clothing is furnished where needed and instruction given to mothers for their babies, with much follow-up work. We are interesting mothers in forming groups for health talks by our nurse, and aid in sewing and cooking by our home-economics teachers. We arrange to use their homes for groups in bringing to them new ideas of sanitation, neatness, and cleanliness seen in a practical way. This and the weaving in the homes is a practical service which they need.

EXTENSION WORK.—At Henderson Branch, from which many of our day pupils come, we help in the church school. Two of the faculty with two of the students go each Sunday, helping in the teaching and the music. At Christmas a large group came to enjoy the tree and were made glad by the gifts sent by our friends in the work.

At Trough Camp, in the schoolhouse by the creek, service is held each Sunday. These young men and women of the hills, some of the older people, too, come eager to hear our workers. One teacher and two of the students carry on this work. It is a rough road and the going hard, but with a vision for service these three carry on this work in spite of wind and weather.

Many friends made it possible to give them an especially enjoyable treat at Christmas, and their delight was satisfying for all of the efforts made. We are longing for new hymn books. Our little organ is doing good service. Anything we can do in this section will do good where there is a crying need for help.

SALES.—The people in the outlying community adjoining us have little ready money and to them our weekly sales are a great boon. It is a sight to see them coming in sometimes before breakfast, in order to get in first. And at Christmas it is like the rush at a bargain sale, so eager are they to get a bargain. Some of them bring eggs or other produce to exchange for needed clothing. From the returns of these sales we help in the supplies for our table.

BUDGET.—This is strictly kept and everything noted, that we may regulate carefully the expense of the meals. From our own garden we receive fresh vegetables in season, with enough of some varieties for canning. Also we have meat and eggs from our fine grade of hens and at the killing season pork and lard and sausage, giving much to help toward our budget. Good wholesome food in abundance is served and carefully prepared.

EASTER.—This year more consecrated efforts on the part of the faculty brought forth a deeper significance to the spiritual side of our work. The meeting of the faculty immediately after breakfast for a moment of special prayer for guidance in the day's work was an uplift to the earnest group who responded.

The special efforts culminated with a visit from Miss Eunice Britt for the Passion Week services. She brought inspiration in many new thoughts and filled the children's minds with new pictures of the old well-known truths. An early out-of-door service on Easter Morning seemed fitting as a climax to the spiritual services of the year. The day closed with an impressive presentation of the "Challenge of the Cross" by the faculty, followed with many kneeling about the altar in renewed consecration.

ERIE HOME

Olive Hill, Kentucky

FIRST BUILDING IN WHICH WORK STARTED, 1913

Boys' Dormitory and Fireside Industries

This comfortable cottage is used now as a dormitory for the boys and with living quarters for several of the faculty.

The first floor is used for the Weaving Department, with sixty-six enrolled in the classes beginning with the sixth grade and continuing through the high school. This department is not for commercial purposes, but to teach the students the beauty of things once made by their grandmothers, and to keep this art alive and growing. There are ten looms from which come many lovely things—beautifully woven scarfs gay with Roman stripes, bags of different sizes and textures, towels and luncheon sets, runners; coverlets in all the old delightful patterns—"Kentucky Garden," Pinebloom, Chariot Wheel, Whig Rose.

We hope to preserve this art in the homes back in the quiet gaps of the hills, where the people have little to interest them, and to send the children back equipped with the knowledge of continuing this art, and of assisting the older women to continue the work in their homes by our encouragement and interest. Each girl has the privilege of making a rug to take home with her.

ERIE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Olive Hill, Kentucky

Erected 1926

Course: Kindergarten Through Four-year High School (Accredited)

This year our one graduate will go to the County Normal School for further study, leading to the teaching profession. She has a desire, too, to do some form of Christian work. We would like to see her have the experience of training of the Lucy Webb Hayes School in Washington, D. C.

One of our graduates of last year is there for nurse training; another is at the County Normal School for advanced work, and the third one after teaching this winter at a county school near her home, is now at Barbourville carrying eighteen hours of college work and at the same time keeping up a correspondence business course. With work at the summer school this year she will have a few hours over a year's work accomplished.

We have an accredited "A" school and offer the standard courses in the academic studies: home economics, weaving, manual training, music, physical education, and home nursing. For those who wish to enter a business career we offer typewriting and stenography.]

MUSIC.—The regular graded course is given, with rhythm recognition, music appreciation, mountain ballads, Negro spirituals, and other folk songs, and in written work, correlating English with the study of music. Good tone quality has been secured in all grades with special attention to the monotonies. The glee club is an asset to the school, being called on for all special occasions, birthday and Christmas parties in the dining room.

Besides the school classes, our director has charge of the choir in the church in town, and our students help with the singing. Then, too, there are lessons in piano and vocal work, besides the physical work in the grade and high-school, games, drill, and basketball practice. The art work correlates with all of the academic work.

MANUAL TRAINING.—Seventeen boys are in this class and comprise those from the fifth grade through high school. The boys enjoy the work, learn to handle tools, to measure accurately, and to finish products neatly. They make bookshelves and cases, magazine stands, tables, book ends, etc., also help in the outdoor work of repairs on farm buildings, fences, and such things as keep home and barns in good repair. The need is great for a trained teacher in this line, giving the boys a more complete course in this valuable line leading to home-building.

BIBLE CONTEST.—For the fourth year the high school entered the State Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. contest. This is an eight-weeks' course. Life questions bring about helpful discussions, the purpose of it to find a basis for making a decision and courageously following it.

HOME ECONOMICS—FOODS DEPARTMENT.—This is given in a practical way with the study of foods, planning of meals for particular groups of people, adults, or children, then the meal prepared and served as in the home. Emphasis is placed on the proper setting of a table and gracious manners. Each day a different group helps in preparing the dinner for our own group at Aiken Hall. They also bake the cakes for the Sunday suppers. A regular graded course is followed covering appropriate food for the meals of the day, with dishes appropriate to each meal; also for simple entertainments, and all of the breadmaking. They plan menus and work out budgets in keeping with various incomes.

These girls are working on the project of a school luncheon. Many of the day students are undernourished, and we arranged a hot luncheon, simple and within their means, but nourishing, which are proving very successful and eliminating the ubiquitous "cold-sausage-pickle-candy" combination.

SEWING.—A graded course is followed and love of the beautiful, the appropriate, and careful workmanship is being instilled into the pupils. The eighth grade and senior girls make their complete graduation outfits.

Textiles are studied, giving wisdom in buying, while the budget teaches them conservative buying. A project in thrift is the remodeling of clothing. Each girl has made a study of herself of color and line becoming to her; to draft her own patterns, thus becoming independent of the commercial pattern and competent to copy designs desired. Mending classes are held each week where darning, patching, and altering of clothing is done.

One cannot study the problems of the South without realizing its possibilities, nor is any phase of our work more appealing. As we celebrate our Jubilee, let us go forward with renewed zeal, interest, and determination, to show the youth of this section "the way out" through Christian education, thereby developing a finer citizenship.

BENNETT ACADEMY

Mathiston, Mississippi

Founded 1898, Clarkson, Mississippi. Moved to Mathiston,
Mississippi, 1890

Rev. Jasper Weber, President

Capacity: 90 residents; 75 day students; 18 workers.

Aim: A well-rounded education for boys and girls.

Bennett Academy is situated at Mathiston, Webster County, Mississippi, not in the mountains, but ministering to the same type of folk. We begin with high school and offer two years of advanced work, really junior college with a strong normal flavor. On the campus we have Dickson Home for Girls, where we care for about sixty girls and most of the faculty; Wood Home for Boys provides a home for thirty boys and the rest of the staff. Then there is the school building, Bennett Academy, and also a home for the president. We have across the road our fine barns and a farmer's cottage. Our staff consists of eighteen workers with Rev. Jasper Weber as president. The students for the most part work their way through school. All the work on the campus and the farm is done by them. Many of our "boys" are really men, having begun their education so late in life. We have an enrollment of about two hundred. The boys and workers who live in Wood Home have their meals served in the Dickson Home dining room, all coming together in this way three times a day.

The outstanding event at Bennett Academy this year was her admittance to the "All-Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges." There are but sixty-three schools in Mississippi on this list, so we feel this to be a very distinct honor. A diploma from Bennett Academy stands for high-grade work and is so recognized in Mississippi educational circles. An effort is made to fit the students for real practical work in the world. The class in education was particularly strong last year, and we feel sure Mississippi will profit by these well-qualified teachers as a result. We have a strong business course and a well-organized home economics department.

A number of our teachers took special work this summer, Rev. and Mrs. Weber among them. Miss Nell Currey took the library course at Alabama State University, that she might handle our library in an efficient way.

Bennett Academy qualifies her program of education by the word "Christian." The students attend Sunday services in the village a mile away. The preaching services are in turn conducted by the Southern Methodist minister, the Baptist minister, and our president, Rev. Jasper Weber. The presence of our fine student body furnishes inspiration for any service. Our boys and girls compose the choir and orchestra for the Sunday schools and are in demand for all public services. Mr. Weber led in a stewardship campaign which took him to nearby towns. Quite a number of members of our staff have moved their church memberships to the village church, that they may thereby become a more vital part of the community life. They teach in Sabbath school and support local enterprises in a fine way.

Prayer meeting and Epworth League services are held on the campus in our chapel. Early last fall, Miss Maye Parker, our deaconess at Oronogo, Mo., spent a week at Bennett Academy, leading in a strong evangelistic campaign. Many of our students came into a better religious experience, some accepted the Master for the first time, and others began to plan for full-time life service.

The drought prevailing so generally this summer, was particularly devastating in Mississippi. Never have we received so many calls for student aid help. We have tried to aid as many as possible, but there is a limit beyond which we dare not go. Many were disappointed, and at the last moment quite a number were obliged to cancel reservations, for even though a scholarship is provided, there are clothes, books, and incidentals to be considered.

We open with a large enrollment, there being thirty-five in our Junior College classes. We believe the high standards, lifted so many years ago at Bennett Academy, are still maintained.

DICKSON HOME FOR GIRLS

Mathiston, Mississippi

Miss Maude I. West, Superintendent

Dickson Home is a busy happy place. Each girl has her especial task assigned her which must be finished before time for chapel, which opens the school day. Fine industrial training is given in this way. This fall the worker in charge of the dining room and kitchen was delayed a week in getting to the home. The older girls who knew the system prepared meals and "carried on" in a fine systematic way until the arrival of Miss Lower. When one considers that about one hundred sit down to meals three times a day, and that these girls were at the same time keeping up their school work, proof of former fine training was demonstrated.

Miss Maude West returns as superintendent and Miss Ruth Lower a deaconess from our Kansas City National Training School, where she took her course in institutional management, comes to the home as practical worker. We also have a new nurse in charge of the Health Department, Mrs. Cora Frizzell, who comes to us with wide experience in her field.

Quite a bit of painting and renovating was done at the home through the summer. New fire escapes were placed upon the front of the building adding greatly to the safety of the family. Last winter when fire was discovered in the building in the night, the result of fire drills was demonstrated as the girls marched out of the building with orderly precision, retaining their poise while the fire was being extinguished.

Do not forget Dickson Home as you prepare your Christmas boxes this fall.

IRVING AND FLORENCE WOOD HOME FOR BOYS

Mathiston, Mississippi

Mr Curtis Bobo, Superintendent

Last year we changed our system at Wood Home completely, turning the dining room into the home economics laboratory, sending the boys to Dickson Home for meals. We made another quite drastic change, making a man superintendent of the home in place of a woman, as had been the custom. Mr. Bobo is one of our students, graduating from high school last June. He wishes to continue his studies, taking out advanced work. He is handling the discipline and other duties in the home in a fine way, while his wife sees that the boys keep the place clean and orderly.

WOOD HOME FOR BOYS

We have two married men enrolled this year beside Mr. Bobo, and one is bringing his wife with him.

The work of the boys on the farm, under the able management of our agriculturalist, Mr. Banman, is increasingly evident. Despite the terrible drought in this section, Bennett Academy farm will this year yield the largest production in its history. This fact is not unnoticed by the hill farmers about us, and they are being shown what scientific farming can do to run-down soil. The boys are clearing more land and increasing our acreage each year. Our cows, pigs, and chickens are also setting a record and proving fine investments.

We have a strong Hi-Y organization among the boys and they attend district and state meetings where their fine manly qualities are recognized and marked. Their athletic teams meet and compete with the schools around us, with increasing success. Since practically all the boys work all or part of their way through school, their athletic success is hindered by lack of time for practice. Mr. Banman is their coach, and even though handicapped this way, has led them to some fine victories.

The presence of four men on our staff has been a great help in the development of our boys and they have appreciated taking their problems to these Christian men for help and council. We have Mr. Weber as president; Mr. Banman, agriculturalist; Mr. Bobo, superintendent of Wood Home; and Mr. Thompson, teacher of science.

Remember Wood Home in your prayers and in your gifts.

NORTH CAROLINA AND TENNESSEE

Mrs. C. B. Croxall, Secretary

EBENEZER MITCHELL HOME SCHOOL

Meisenheimer, North Carolina

Founded 1903

Miss Caroline F. Youngs, Superintendent

Capacity: 128 residents; 55 day students; 20 workers.

Aim: Better school opportunities for boys and girls.

The story of Mitchell in this last year of the Jubilee is one of patient plodding and the solving of hard problems under difficulties. Every year earnest and repeated appeals for help come to the superintendent. Each year because of lack of room many are reluctantly turned away.

To make room for more students a second cottage was rented to accommodate twenty-three girls with their two counsellors. To this cottage, one-half mile away, food was transferred three times a day from the main kitchen. This was hard work, but the task was so cheerfully undertaken, and so successfully done, that we realized the truth of the old adage, "Where there's a will there's a way."

Though the past year has been a hard one, due to financial depression and considerable sickness of both teachers and students, yet the high standard of scholarship was maintained and a fine class of boys and girls was graduated on Commencement Day. An excerpt from a letter written by one of the graduates is as follows: "One doesn't often get the chance that Mitchell affords. I am proud of the opportunity it gave me and I appreciate very much your offering me the chance to come to Mitchell this fall for higher education."

It will be hard to find a more faithful corps of teachers than we have at Mitchell. Calls in the homes form a part of the teacher's program. Miss Mabel Edgerton has for some time acted as steward on the local church board. Miss Shadduck with her violin adds much to the interest in music, while all the faculty lend help to the local church. Not for school only, but for the community at large, does our Mitchell faculty live.

In the past four years there has been a growing tendency to a decrease in the attendance in the grades, and an increase in the attendance in the high school and the advanced work. This is due to the fact that each year the grade work in the public schools is increasing in efficiency. Accordingly, The Woman's Home Missionary Society must meet this changing need.

As school opens this September, twenty full-time and one part-time workers will assume the duties at Mitchell. Miss Caroline F. Youngs, who begins her ninth year at Mitchell, writes that she has had to turn thirty bright and worthy students away for the lack of room. We hope the time is not far distant when a new dormitory is made possible at Mitchell. Until that time our efficiency in this needy community will be curtailed.

Again we thank our friends for the lovely boxes and gifts of money to Mitchell. Pray for our students and teachers that the year ahead may be a profitable one.

RITTER HALL

Athens, Tennessee

Founded 1891

Mrs. Grace Keene, Superintendent

Capacity: 80 residents; 6 workers.

Aim: A home for girl students at Tennessee Wesleyan College.

Last year the girls of Tennessee Wesleyan College who wished to work for their expenses were housed in Bennett Hall and our own Ritter Hall. This September, because of changes in the personnel of the student body the college again takes over the management of Bennett Hall.

At Christmas time our efficient superintendent, Mrs. R. P. Cummings, was forced to resign because of ill health. Her place has been ably filled by Mrs. Grace Keene.

Mrs. A. B. Collins, nurse and assistant superintendent, continues her patient, persistent training of these girls in the practical work of the home. In Ritter, home-making and home-keeping is an art. A prize is given for the best and most attractively arranged room, and there is a friendly rivalry in the care of rooms.

RITTER HALL

Miss Ethel Pryor begins her second year as head of the home economics department. Excellent work in this department is being done. There is a great demand in the public schools for teachers of home economics, and we are trying to cooperate with the college in filling this need.

Besides the regular cooperative work of the home, some girls who wish to earn money are given work in the house or chaperoning for money. Many of the students are very poor, and were it not for the help our Society is privileged to give them, they would not be able to finance even the first year of college. At the opening of the school this fall the calls for help are greater than ever.

During the summer the exterior of the building was given two coats of paint and many minor repairs were made. Several rooms on the second floor were also redecorated. The large hall on the first floor has been turned into a recreation hall where music and games may be enjoyed between study periods. Everything is being done to make Ritter a real home.

Two weeks before the opening of school sixty girls were enrolled and it is expected that when school opens Ritter will have a capacity enrollment. The opportunity our Society has of serving this needy field is great. Working in cooperation with the broad-spirited men of the college we can do much good. May we have your continued help both materially and spiritually.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Miss Ada Townsend, Chairman

1719 Hinman Avenue, Evanston, Illinois

New conference secretaries, 20; new report blanks, 3; new contests, 2; new leaflets, 3; new program, new material, new meeting date, even a new name—these are the outstanding features of our year.

In consequence, we have had much readjustment, some confusion, some objection, but we believe added interest, greater efficiency, fuller reports, more enthusiasm, and many fresh workers.

Conference reporting secretaries of Christian citizenship (by name), 67; conference secretaries of citizenship reporting, 52; in full, 26; in part, 20; replies, only 6. District secretaries reported (by name), 239; reporting, 144. Auxilliary secretaries reported, 1,285; reporting, 505. Conferences not replying: Central Alabama, East Tennessee, Kentucky, Maine, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Northwest Kansas, Oklahoma, Savannah, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Wilmington. Conferences having reports from all districts: California, Delaware, Detroit, Eric, Kansas, Newark, Northern Minnesota, Northwest Indiana, Philadelphia, Rock River, Southwest Kansas, Wyoming.

Thirty-two conference secretaries of citizenship report definite effort to build up the department, three (Delaware, Ohio, and Black River District of Northern New York) having sent out over fifty letters each.

Almost all have stressed prohibition and peace, most have promoted the World Court, various forms of legislation and work at elections, many have cooperated with other welfare organizations, such as League of Women Voters, Parent-Teacher Association, etc.; others have done Americanization work and taken part in the movement for better motion pictures.

In last year's reading contest 127 groups secured 22, 435 readers to the leaflet "The Facts About Prohibition"; 118 groups, including several Wesleyan Service Guilds and Queen Esther Circles have entered this year's contest.

During the month of August 199 societies applied for dramatic program material in addition to that offered in the Study Course. The greatest need of the work at present seems to be for more and more varied program suggestions.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

Mrs. E. W. Mathews, Chairman

200 Fallis Road, Columbus, Ohio

Slogan: Stewardship Evangelizes Enthusiasm.

Scripture Text: O come let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our Maker.

Motto: Strive specifically for stewardship success and spiritual supremacy.

During the five years of the Jubilee period, Christian Stewardship has grown in a most satisfactory way. The constituency no longer hesitates to discuss stewardship in all of its phases, and the fact that it is the underlying principal of Christian character is very largely accepted everywhere among the thinking people. The stewardship of the entire life is more generally accepted than it has ever been during the Christian era.

At the beginning of the Jubilee period we had 26,791 enrolled tithers; at the close of the Jubilee period, October, 1930, we have 75,153. Gain, 48,362.

The adult membership (excluding the juniors only), at the close of the Jubilee period, October, 1930, is 313,532; thus we have one in every 4.2 of our adult membership enrolled tithers.

Our entire membership at the close of the Jubilee period is 426,992; thus we have one in every 5.7 of our entire membership enrolled tithers.

The total number of reported tithers for this year from the sixty reporting conferences is 61,449, of which auxiliary members are 53,470; honorary members, 3,058; Wesleyan Service Guild, 430; Young People, 3,183; and Juniors, 1,306. This discrepancy in reports is due to the inadequate reporting in the local churches, and yet there is much improvement in the accuracy of reports, and with further education we shall attain yet more perfect records.

The number of conferences reaching the Jubilee goal of "One-in-Every-Five" of our membership (including juniors), enrolled as tithers in the National Book of Gold, is twenty-seven.

The May Leonard Woodruff Stewardship Essay Contest was pushed in some conferences with a marked degree of efficiency, and many very excellent essays were contributed.

After the Jubilee, what? The Program of United Stewardship Cultivation. The committees from The Woman's Home and The Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies decided to ask the church to cooperate in working out this program. Accordingly, Dr. Luther E. Lovejoy, of the church; Mrs. J. N. Reed, of The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society; and Mrs. E. W. Mathews, of The Woman's Home Missionary Society, began plans for a stewardship program of education. They invited into their conferences representatives of the Epworth League, of the Sunday School, and of the Brotherhood of the church, and found ready response from these boards. Dr. Roy E. Burt and Dr. Herbert Parish joined the committee, and together they have launched "The Talebearers of Truth," true stories of stewardship experiences, to be told everywhere. A small volume of stories is being prepared and will be on the market very soon. This is the project for the year 1930-31.

Our slogan for the new year is: "Stewardship Evangelizes Enthusiasm"; our Scripture text is, "Go through, go through the gates; prepare ye the way of the people; cast up, cast up the highway; gather out the stones; lift up a standard for the people."

DEACONESS EMERGENCY AND RELIEF FUND

Mrs. Ella G. Stokes, Chairman

2912 13th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Twenty-two years ago, in 1908, the General Conference gave official sanction to the Permanent Deaconess Fund, created under the able guidance of our President, Mrs. George O. Robinson.

Two years ago it was deemed wise to change the name to Deaconess Emergency and Relief Fund as better expressing the object of the fund as now administered.

During these years one cannot estimate the inspiration and encouragement that has come to the deaconesses with the knowledge that the women of our great Society have their welfare at heart. More and more we have come to realize the importance of this fund. Through it we are providing the means to give back health and strength to those women who have carried forward the work that is such a large part of the Deaconess Department, but through illness have required our assistance.

To those who have finished their work and are resting awhile it has meant freedom from financial worry and a peaceful eventide.

During the year two of our devoted workers, Miss Nattie E. Worthington and Miss Jessie M. Newland have passed on into the Great Beyond.

The records of the year show:

Forty-one deaconesses have been assisted.

Twenty-two are now receiving aid.

Twelve are again in active service.

Five have been retired.

Financial statement:

Receipts, 1929-1930—$11,914.57.

Disbursements, 1929-1930—$10,278.28.

Balance, June 30, 1930—$1,636.29.

DEACONESS PERSONNEL

Miss Grace G. Steiner, Secretary

420 Plum Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

The personnel secretary joins the prophet Ezekiel in the heartfelt cry: "Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! Should not the shepherds feed the flocks? . . . The diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost."

The world has a right to expect the highest example of unselfish Christian living from deaconesses who have publicly consecrated their lives to service. It is their task to be employed in working out a religious program to minister to the needs of man, woman, and child. The worker who has nothing to give to comfort, strengthen, and ennoble the great throng of hungry souls, has no place in the deaconess personnel group and should withdraw. A vital Christian experience should be possessed by every deaconess that it may overflow in loving ministry to all ages in all groups.

The deaconess work opens up opportunities for real sacrificial service, but it must be kept in mind that this service calls for the most thorough and efficient preparation. This year twenty-seven of our deaconesses have secured a leave of absence to seek training in college and hospital, and are taking post-graduate work to prepare to serve more satisfactorily. The wearing of the deaconess garb is not enough. The deaconess must be able to qualify for the work required and she must meet the need.

The maintaining of high standards for entrance to deaconess work has helped decrease the turnover which is very small this year. The deaconess, because of more adequate training, is now able to meet unexpected situations, make adjustments, and seek to solve the problems at hand instead of running away from them to another field.

We face inevitable questions concerning the deaconess garb and the support, but we expect to make amicable adjustments without injury to the work or worker.

No great increase in numbers has been made, and we are not sure it is to be desired. Our training schools furnished us with twenty-two deaconesses who were recognized as probationers this year. We lost twenty-five deaconesses from our ranks by death, marriage, withdrawal or transfer.

We have filled all the calls that came to us for deaconesses with very few exceptions. These exceptions were due, not to an insufficient number of deaconesses available, but because the call was for a specifically trained worker who was not ready when the call was made. We cannot send a graduate nurse to teach a kindergarten, and the call for a home-economics teacher cannot be supplied by sending a church secretary or a director of religious education.

The secretaries of the Deaconess Department who are now withdrawn from this form of service and have made their reports for the past year, have had the interests of the deaconess at heart. The deaconesses who have known them personally have loved them.

We have cooperated with the Board of Home Missions and the Board of Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work.

The bills for the assessments of the Deaconess Emergency and Relief Fund have been collected for the past year, and the amount due the Pension Fund from the employing agency to the Board of Hospitals, Homes, and Deaconess Work has been forwarded. The amount remaining has been paid to the National Treasurer to be credited to the Deaconess Emergency and Relief Fund.

The Jubilee year brought many additional labors for which we rejoice, and we ask only the opportunity for continued service.

LIFE SERVICE

Miss Muriel Day

Miss Grace G. Steiner

420 Plum Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

Forty-five conferences have indicated that they have Life Service Secretaries, but only twenty of these have returned the blanks sent them for reports. From these we gather the following items of general interest:

- Number of names received during the years, 144.
- Number received from Schools of Missions or camps, 31.
- Number received from Epworth League Institutes, 99.
- Number wishing to enter full-time service, 64.
- Number asking for information only, 44.
- Number of missionaries from these conferences in active service, 213.
- Number entering active service for the first time, 23.
- Conferences having a Life Service Banner, 8.
- Conferences having a "Book of Remembrance," 11.
- Conferences with a "Round Robin Letter," 2.

There are under The Woman's Home Missionary Society 580 missionaries (conference and national), and 460 deaconesses. Yet only 213 of these, according to reports received, have been made to feel through Life Service Secretaries, the interest that the conference needs to manifest in their work. One of the main emphases in the work of the Life Service Secretary should be following up with helpful interest those workers who have gone out from her conference. With this as one important need, we urge the appointment of such a secretary from each conference. Methods in stressing this phase of her work would be the Life Service Banner, the Book of Remembrance, the Round Robin Letter, and others which will suggest themselves. None of these has had sufficient promotion in many conferences.

From the conference reports there is evident good cooperation with the Epworth League, and this should be continued and developed. A manifest gap is shown in the following up of those from Summer Schools of Missions.

While the securing of applicants and following them through the period of training is an important part of her work, the wise Life Service Secretary will always stress high standards of health, training, and personality rather than the number of workers secured.

EDUCATION AND PERSONNEL

Muriel Day Secretary

420 Plum Street, Cincinnati, Ohio

As we consider the year, August, 1929, to August, 1930, with reference to our group of missionaries, we think first of that small but interested group that met in a sectional conference in Grand Rapids, Michigan, before the Annual Meeting in October, 1929. While we had an agenda planned for the meeting, interest seemed to center in the supply work, and many stories of both appropriate supplies and those that were not were told.

There are approximately five hundred workers under the Society through the Missionary Department. Of these 134 are "enrolled missionaries." The requirements for these is that two or three years of satisfactory service shall be given (the number depending upon the preparation), the application papers filed with the office of Education and Personnel, a satisfactory medical examination at the close of the probationary period, and the signing of an enrollment card, which entitles one to a missionary pin. Twenty-eight received the pin in the fall of 1929.

Our training schools are more and more fitting our students to fill the particular needs of the Society, and of the eighteen missionary graduates of the training schools in June, 1930, fifteen were placed. However, there were ninety-seven openings reported to this office this year, and therefore others must be found. Some of the sources are: the student secretary, the conference secretaries of Life Service, Schools of Missions, Epworth League Institutes, and Appointment Bureaus in colleges.

Articles with needs listed, and appearing in "Woman's Home Missions," "Kappa Phi Candle Beams," "Student Volunteer Bulletin," "Missionary Review of the World," and our church papers, have brought many inquiries. A new leaflet, "Widening Horizons," has been prepared, and may be secured through the Literature Department for five cents. The vocational leaflets are still procurable, free for postage, from the office of personnel. The Life Service literature for Summer Schools of Missions was this year handled through the Literature Department.

After names have been received, a "tickler system" is used in keeping in touch with interested recruits, whereby we write to them at definite intervals, sending leaflets and helping with information or advice. When the candidate wishes to apply, the application blank and medical blank are sent with instructions as to the other papers to send. Later, these are sent to a Bureau Secretary needing such a worker, if the requirements are met.

Rating sheets, as usual, have been sent to the Bureau Secretaries asking that reports be made as to the various aspects of a missionary's work, and have been tabulated.

The conference secretaries of Life Service have been sent lists of those who have gone from their conferences into active service of the Society.

It is our hope that our schools, and, in fact, all of our institutional life, shall minister to the four-fold life of the young and old—socially, educationally, physically, and spiritually. With the Bureau Secretaries, we are eager to check up on this in regard to all of our work. Following up a discussion on the cardinal objectives of education, by the the Bureau Secretaries in 1929, the emphasis on home training through home economics was brought out at a meeting in April, 1930, through a talk by Miss Elizabeth Dyer, head of the Department of Household Administration at the University of Cincinnati. An experiment was tried last year of having a special worker visit several of our schools, making an emphasis along one line. Miss Hortense Sheldon spent from three to four weeks in different schools, teaching expression, dramatics, and public speaking, and giving individual lessons in speech correction.

Books for the minor project of the Jubilee continued to be sent in, the grand total for the two years being $7,775.21.

During the year we had the privilege of visiting fifteen of our homes, schools and settlements, and two training schools. This brought not only information about the types of positions held and to be filled, but great inspiration as well.

We note with satisfaction the increasing accreditation of our schools. Sager-Brown has been accredited in the High School Department; Bennett Academy has received the rating of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the Southern States; and Bennett College for Women has been rated as an accredited four-year college by the State of North Carolina, which has the highest standards of the South.

A closer co-operation is evidenced with the Negro schools of the Board of Education, as on three of the five campuses where we have industrial homes, the Society is caring for the home supervision of all the girls on the campus, and at Thayer and Eliza Dee Halls has supervision of the meals for the boys also.

In the summer we served as dean of the Schools of Missions at Bennett College for Women, Greensboro, North Carolina, and at Gulfside, Mississippi, and as one of the leaders at Camp Hiawatha, Lake Ariel, Pennsylvania.

In June we had the unusual privilege of attending the interracial meeting of women at Oberlin, Ohio, held under the auspices of the woman's committee of the Commission on Race Relations of the Federal Council. We have continued as a member of the curriculum committee of this woman's committee, though seldom able to attend the meetings which are held in New York City.

Other interdenominational contacts have been made as the chairman of the Federated Student Committee, of the Committee on Student Work of the Council of Women for Home Missions, and of the sub-committee on World Day of Prayer and Young People.

EVANGELISM

Mrs. Samuel W. Graffin, Chairman

"Rejoice, Give Thanks and Sing."

What an improvement in the reports this time! Conferences reporting for the first time. Conferences showing a marked increase in all items.

All the Pentecostal preparation, the retreats, the sunrise meetings, our united petitions for Pentecostal power in both our own experience and that of our Society, have borne rich fruit of accomplishment. This proves what the disciples discovered on the day of the triumphal entry—if you GO as Jesus said, you will FIND it as Jesus said.

The need for emphasis on a family religious life is the more important as our thought for the year is to be centered on YOUTH, looking toward a future when America shall truly be won to Christ; to prepare ourselves as the leaders and teachers of youth.

As a frame work on which to rest our Christian activity together, the items of our report are clear, comprehensive, and interesting.

Yes, we have made wonderful gains in our seeking after the gift of the Spirit. Now let us go forward under His guidance to lead our nation to Christ by evangelizing his "little ones."

PERMANENT MISSIONARY FUND

Mrs. C. B. Spencer, Chairman

15 East 52d Street, Kansas City, Missouri

The Permanent Missionary Fund thankfully participates in the rejoicings of this Jubilee year. The fund has been in existence eighteen years.
 Its receipts the first year were $410. In 1917 I received the trust from Mrs.
 H. S. Hollingsworth, the fund at that time showing a total accumulation of $8,450. The goal fixed for the first unit was $100,000. Ten years from that year, 1917, at the 1927 National Meeting in Mt. Vernon Place Church, Baltimore, amidst great rejoicings, this one hundred thousand dollars was announced.

Immediately the fund pressed for its second-unit of one hundred thousand dollars. Three years later in this Golden Jubilee, I am able to announce that one third of the second hundred thousand is in hand, and we press on with a deeper conviction and happier enthusiasm than ever. Receipts from all sources last year were $11,826.55.

Thirty-four are now on the roll, and bright is the roll of those who are in heaven. Bancroft Rest Home and Robincroft are the Westmister Abbey of our Society.

To-day I recall the help of Mrs. Henry C. Jennings, Mrs. I. D. Jones, and Mrs. J. H. Freeman. I thank all our givers, our auxiliaries, our editor, and our officers for their cooperation and encouragement.

We are very happy to announce that we have nine 100 per cent conferences—Des Moines, Detroit, Idaho, Michigan, Newark, Northwest Indiana, Wisconsin, Rock River. Ohio had several 100 per cent districts. Southern California had three. Chicago Northwest had all but two; last year they were 100 per cent. The reports came in better than ever before, and we had to send only one telegram. In June we had four reports, July 34 and August 20.

We heard from 58 conferences, 35 reporting an increase. Southern California had an increase of $873.64; Upper Iowa, $2,697; Detroit, $969; Illinois, $840; St. Louis, $900; Ohio having the largest increase, $10,365. One district in New England doubled its receipts.

We have a new Thank-offering service, 75 cents per hundred; order from 420 Plum Street, Cincinnati. We have only one new secretary which ought to mean efficient interested service from well-informed women. More and more the pastors of churches are giving the addresses which must mean better informed ministers as well as people.

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord and to sing praises unto thy name, O Most High. To show forth thy lovingkindness in the morning and thy faithfulness every night."

CONFERENCE WORK

ALABAMA

Esther Hall

2217 Seventh Avenue, North, Birmingham, Alabama

Mrs. J. A. STAPLETON, Superintendent

Notwithstanding the business depression, Birmingham Esther Hall was fairly well filled throughout the summer and crowded most of the year. Mrs. Stapleton, who mothers the young women, has been gratified to see them grow more winsome day by day and merit the respect and approval of their employers or their teachers in the business colleges. Several Rebecca McCleskey Home graduates have been glad to find home and friendship in Esther Hall while preparing for business positions.

All the residents of Esther Hall attend church and Sunday school regularly. Each Thursday evening they assemble in the parlors for a devotional meeting conducted by one of their number. Every morning they start out for the day's work, strengthened by the few minutes in which the superintendent gently and lovingly lead them to the throne of grace and commended each dear girl to the protection and help of the heavenly Father.

A generous friend sent them a radio which has been an added pleasure. Mrs. Stapleton enjoys the confidence of her girls to a wonderful degree, and is a helpful counselor in all their personal problems. There have been several weddings and more are in prospect.

The financial burden has been heavy at times while wages were so uncertain, but with the substantial help of the Community Chest, all real needs have been met.

BALTIMORE

The Swartzell Methodist Home for Children
6200 Second Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

MISS ELLA M. HAYWARD, Superintendent

Swartzell Methodist Home for Children is now thirteen years old. It occupies two well-equipped buildings on valuable land of two and one-half acres within the city limits. There are fifty children in the home ranging from a nine-month's baby to a thirteen-year-old girl. Boys do not remain in the home after ten years of age, and on leaving always have been happily placed. The children attend public school and are members of Brightwood Church and Sunday School. Miss Ella M. Hayward is giving her eleventh year of invaluable service as deaconess-superintendent.

CALIFORNIA

Beulah Rest Home
Oakland, California

Beulah Rest Home has had a year of great prosperity. Our rooms have been filled with guests and we have a large waiting list.

A four-room stucco cottage has been built, and another three-room cottage is being built on the grounds, making three cottages with the Sims Memorial Cottage.

We owe no man a cent, and an endowment fund has been started. Thus far we have five thousand dollars. A model home and glorious haven of rest for those who are facing the sunset.

CENTRAL GERMAN

Flint, Michigan

The pastor and his wife do missionary work of all kinds among Russian and German immigrants, as well as Americanization work.

Terre Haute, Indiana

Missionary and settlement work is done among Americans mostly, although there are some Syrians. One deaconess and two associate workers are engaged. There are 257 in religious educational classes and 169 in sewing classes. Our special work is the daily vacation Bible school which is a very successful undertaking.

Emmanuel Community House, Cincinnati, Ohio

Settlement and church work is done among white people from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia; nursery work for mothers employed during the day with a matron in charge; a full-time social worker, superintendent of the community house, and fourteen full-time workers are employed. There are eighteen classes with an enrollment of 361.

North Braddock, Pennsylvania

Missionary work is carried on mainly among Slavic peoples who understand more or less of the German language.

CENTRAL NEW YORK

Syracuse Italian Mission

Syracuse Italian Mission has made its usual progress. At this writing the summer camp at Big Moose is in full swing, under the care of the pastor,

Rev. Nicola de Stefano and Mrs. de Stefano. In this camp whole families are cared for, as well as children. We are very glad to say that one of our girls from the mission, Philomena Boccardo, who has been in the Lucy Webb Hayes National Training School, graduated this year, and is now working at the Italian Mission Settlement in Utica. Three girls attended the Camp Wesleyan School of Missions at Keuka Lake.

Italian Mission, Elmira, New York

The Elmira Mission Church of St. John welcomed a new pastor, Rev. P. Buono, in January. Both Mr. and Mrs. Buono have cooperated most effectively in the work and assisted Mrs. Miller, as she has planned for the children and mothers. The daily vacation Bible school reports an enrollment of fifty-five and an average attendance of forty-eight. A larger number could not be cared for with our equipment.

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA

Italian Methodist Episcopal Church

Altoona, Pennsylvania

MISS SADIE J. SHEFFER, Union Bank Building, Room 211, Twelfth Street and Eighth Avenue, Altoona, Pennsylvania

This is an institutional church, with pastor, deaconess, and twenty volunteer workers.

Our church school continues to have faithful attendance, as all of our classes, clubs, Junior and Intermediate Leagues, and kindergarten have had an unusually good year. Our cradle roll continues to grow.

The greatest need of these people is the opportunity to have religious education. God has blessed our work abundantly this year, and we are looking forward to a year of greater service on the spiritual side of the work.

Mt. Carmel, Pennsylvania

The greater part of our work is community work, which is made possible by contributions from the people of Mt. Carmel and annual donations from auxiliaries of the districts. Many poor are cared for, and neglected children placed in good homes. Sewing classes and Home Guard meetings are well attended by children of all the different nationalities.

Kulpmont Mission, Kulpmont, Pennsylvania

MISS RENA KEISER, Deaconess

The mission is a group of five rooms on the second floor of the Kulpmont Bank Building. The average weekly attendance is 410. We have twelve weekly classes, eighteen monthly, and kindergarten every day. Americanization work among seven different nationalities is carried on here.

CHICAGO NORTHWEST

Sacred Heart Mission

South Bend, Indiana

Sacred Heart Mission was started in an abandoned Catholic Church in the center of the Hungarian settlement of South Bend, Ind. Rev. Victor, pastor; Miss Adena Goetz, deaconess, and a settlement worker, are in charge. Americanization and Christianization are the main issues. Classes in Chinese are also taught. Funds are very much needed for this work.

Bethany Home for Young Women

Chicago, Illinois

MISS CATHRENE BENGEL, Superintendent

This is a Christian home for working girls at 824 Center Street, Chicago, supervised by two deaconesses. It accommodates thirty-six girls, and all single and double rooms have running water. A family altar is held every morning. With good transportation to the Loop, girls are invited to make this their home while working or visiting in the city.

DELAWARE

Philadelphia Friendship Home

1939 North 22d Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

MRS. E. P. THOMAS, Superintendent

Philadelphia Friendship Home is becoming better known to the people of Philadelphia. It is yet the only home in North Philadelphia for Negro girls, and is one of only two institutional shelters for the better type girl of our group in all Philadelphia. The securing of a third worker in the home has enabled the superintendent to form many helpful contacts with other social agencies. One of these, with the Woman's Industrial Department of the Urban League, has resulted in a Household Training Group, which meets weekly at Friendship Home. Volunteer teachers are training girls in cooking, waiting, and general household management. The Board of Education of Philadelphia Public Schools, promises a salaried teacher permanently if a class of twenty girls is maintained. The girls are working toward this end.

Our need of more room is becoming more urgent. We have lost quite a number of residents this year, because student girls and most of the applicants want separate rooms. We are all eagerly awaiting the dawning of the day of expansion, when our home can do better things, both for our family circle and for our neighborhood group.

DES MOINES

Esther Hall

514 East Thirteenth Street, Des Moines, Iowa

MISS MINNIE CALISON, Superintendent

Esther Hall, established in Des Moines about five years ago, is truly a real home for the young business girl with moderate means.

Here a motherly superintendent and her helper live with the twelve girls constituting the family. The rooms are attractive, comfortable, and cozy; all are single rooms, except two, which have twin beds.

Miss Minnie Calison, the new superintendent, assumed her duties July first.

Riverside Mission

Des Moines, Iowa

MISS SYLVIA RANKIN, Superintendent

Riverside Mission is indeed a worth-while work, directed by Miss Rankin, in a needy community. Many church activities are carried on, including Sunday school, Epworth League, and social clubs for both boys and girls. Prayer meeting, held once a week, adds to the spiritual life and helps to build Christian character. Vacation Bible school was held in June with an average attendance of fifty.

House of Friendship

Valley Junction, Iowa

MISS EDITH COMPTON, Superintendent

House of Friendship seeks to hold up before this settlement of Mexican standards of living, Americanization and Christian brotherhood. Classes in sewing, cooking, handcraft, music, recreation, a story hour, and clubs all help to build Christian citizens.

The work done with some thirty boys has showed in several instances its value. The boys and girls have gained some very worth-while knowledge as well as some real pleasure through the reading room.

DETROITDetroit Esther Hall

MRS. CARRIE FLEMING, House Mother

There has been a fine spirit of cooperation among the family at Detroit Esther Hall this past year and a deeper interest in the devotional period than ever before.

During the year we have cared for more than eighty girls, and to some it was their first experience in a real Christian home. We have had them from Armenia, Russia, and Germany. A number have been married and have established homes of their own.

Detroit Friendship Home

"The Bigger and Better Friendship Home" offers to thirty girls what is now enjoyed by only eight people. Three years ago we dedicated the present home and in that interim opportunities have been found to study the need of colored girls living away from home. A Christian home with just the atmosphere that Friendship Home provides proved the real need. The Woman's Home Missionary Society must not fail them now.

Lakeside School of Missions

Detroit Conference enjoys its cooperative work with Ohio and North-East Ohio Conferences in this splendid School of Missions. It is a privilege for any woman or girl to spend a week at Lakeside under such Christian influence.

Lectures, classes, and recreational sports conducted by outstanding leaders, give great variety for growth of mind, soul, and body. Embrace your opportunity in these various activities. Don't forget to bring the children.

City Missions

Four missionary centers are provided with deaconesses in cooperative work with the Methodist City Union—Pontiac, Flint, St. Luke's, and Scott Memorial in Detroit.

This service reaches Armenians, Mexicans, Italians, Negroes, Polish, Russian, and many other nationalities in the ploygnot sections. It provides material relief for the needy as well as religious education and recreational activities. It enters the homes with help for the mothers.

ERIERuth M. Smith Children's Home

Sheffield, Pennsylvania

MRS. EDWARD HALL, Superintendent

During the past year Ruth M. Smith Children's Home has cared for fifty needy children. Repairs on Ruth House and Miller Cottage have made the workers and children very comfortable. We are looking forward to the new building, as the laundry and storehouse is a real need. This has been a great year financially, as many friends of The Woman's Home Missionary Society have remembered that these little children were depending upon the Methodists of Erie Conference to supply their needs.

GENESEEFriendship Home

300 Jefferson Avenue, Buffalo, New York

MISS MARGARET C. SMITH, Superintendent

The year 1929-30 was in every respect the best in the history of Friendship Home in Buffalo. Two hundred and four guests were registered of which forty-one were residents.

Activities were sewing, basketball, talks, and entertainments. Basketball, the talks, and entertainments were especially well attended.

The over-night residents held up well, and the service which the home renders the residents who must room in the homes in which they work is wonderful.

New floors put in on our first floor, make quite an improvement in every way. Relief and employment work in the community continue.

Rochester Settlement

Rochester, New York

MISS EDITH M. PARK, Superintendent

Miss Edith Park reports enrollment in all the various activities of four hundred individuals. The missionary activities have been Home Guards, Good Will Circle, and missionary story hours. Sunday and week-day religious education, Sunday preaching services and religious addresses on community nights have been the main features of religious education.

Industrial classes, various societies, and recreational activities have also been features of interest.

The enrollment of four hundred different individuals has produced an aggregate attendance of 22,600. This conference settlement will not resume activities for 1930-31.

ILLINOIS

Cunningham Children's Home

Urbana, Illinois

MISS ARA M. VAUGHT, Superintendent

MISS MABEL L. KEECH, Field Secretary

This year, an average of eighty children have received loving care and all-around training. The building fund for the combined dining room and assembly hall is increasing.

New projects:

Cunningham Home secretary in each auxiliary.

Honor roll of patrons, ten and twenty-five dollars annually.

"Illinois Conference Messenger," a quarterly magazine, one-half each for conference and Cunningham Home interests.

Langleyville Settlement Work

MISS ZOE L. KING, Superintendent

Langleyville is a mining settlement, whose population consists of French, Lithuanians, and Italians. The settlement house seeks to hold up high standards of Christian living in a needy and lawless community.

Religious education is carried on every day of the week through Sunday school, club work for boys and girls, kindergarten, and daily vacation Bible school.

KANSAS

Mexican Mission, Argentine, Kansas City

This work is carried on by two deaconesses who live in the mission and make it a community center for these people. Daily vacation Bible school of four weeks was conducted there this summer with eighty-five Mexican children in regular attendance. The well-equipped playground is in constant use under the supervision of our workers.

Crawford County Mission Larger Parish

This organized work is carried on over quite a large territory and our two workers are meeting with much success in their work with this vast population of foreigners. These times of financial depression and unemployment make this work of great value to these people. Religious education is carried on during the week at a number of the different "camps."

MICHIGAN

Esther Hall

523 Lyons Street, S. E., Grand Rapids, Michigan

MRS. LILLA GAMBER, House Mother

Esther Hall is a home in its truest sense. Twenty-five to thirty girls have enjoyed the privileges of this home the past year.

Comfortable room, nourishing and appetizing food, the cheerful, homey atmosphere is conducive to healthful, happy girls. This is a most worthwhile piece of missionary work, in ministering to the young business women and working girls of the city.

Olney Rest Cottage

Ludington, Michigan

A "Rest Cottage" for the missionaries and deaconesses at Epworth Heights—one of the many beauty spots of Michigan. Here the tired workers may enjoy a quiet, restful vacation during the months of July and August.

Frontier Work, Northern Michigan

Many of our ministers are serving in the name of our Christ on salaries that are inadequate to supply themselves and their families with the comforts of life on our two northern districts.

The "Frontier" is still with us, although the name does not recall the hardships of pioneer days.

MINNESOTA

Girls' Club

181 West College Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota

MRS. J. N. RYKER, Superintendent

The Girls' Club has passed another year in its service to the young business woman. It is located within walking distance of the business section of St. Paul, and its homelike atmosphere and Christian influence have meant much to the girls whom it serves.

NEBRASKA

Omaha City Mission

1204 Pacific Street, Omaha, Nebraska

HARRIET E. LANEY, Superintendent

During this year the Omaha City Mission has given 11,844 days of care to 367 persons, 216 of whom were under eighteen years of age.

One hundred and ten adults and 265 children have attended the various community activities. In the daily vacation Bible school there were enrolled 35 Negro, 40 Italian, 17 Syrian, 4 Bohemian, 3 German, 1 Greek, and 3 Mexican.

NEW ENGLAND

Hattie B. Cooper Community Center

36 Williams Street, Roxbury, Massachusetts

MISS FRANCES BARBER, Superintendent

The Hattie B. Cooper Community Center with its day nursery, kindergarten, mother's club, sewing and religious education classes, is filling a great need in this community. Many lives have been strengthened and encouraged through contact with this work. The closing exhibition of the work done in the classes showed the earnestness of the workers as well as the children and was greatly appreciated.

NEW ENGLAND SOUTHERN

Silver Lake Social Center

267 Pocasset Avenue, Providence, Rhode Island

Miss LOTT A KETCHAM, Superintendent

Silver Lake is not a summer resort as the name seems to imply, but one of the three sections where Providence houses her fifty thousand Italian population. Though there is no lake in evidence the place is decidedly "wet."

During the winter months a service is conducted in the Italian language, and one man attending for the first time said, "I have been in this country fourteen years and that is the first message I have heard that satisfied my soul." The children see the Bible for the first time and hear its message in our Sunday school and daily vacation Bible school.

A mother's club, boys' club, girls' club, music class, and two sewing classes with the library and printing press are about all we can care for in our one-room rented quarters.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Italian Mission

Oaklands, Massachusetts

Our conference Society is now just a big sister to this work, which is gradually becoming self-supporting. Volunteer workers care for the Sunday school, boys' and girls' clubs, Queen Esthers, Home Guards, and Mothers' Jewels. The Italian pastor and his wife have charge of the parish work, mothers' clubs, church services, music, etc.

Rural Extension Work

Our special worker in this large parish has charge of the mid-week classes for children, and house visitation for work with the mothers. Many are hearing the gospel story for the first time, and results are most gratifying.

NEW YORK EAST

Jefferson Park Italian Work

Through the various activities of the industrial work carried on at Jefferson Park, hundreds of foreigners in America's "Little Italy" are being helped to better living and thinking. A strong emphasis is placed upon Christian Americanization. A day nursery is a most important part of the work, and is crowded to overflowing, especially during the months of seasonal work.

The Fresh Air Home at Long Branch, New Jersey, cares for many mothers and children each summer.

The School of Religious Education is an important item in the summer schedule.

Industrial Work

New Britain, Connecticut

This work has steadily advanced, due to the interest and work of the faithful volunteer teachers and assistants. A large enrollment, in which more than fourteen nationalities were noted, indicates the interest in the work.

At all meetings a portion of the time is devoted to a period of devotion and worship and instruction in Christian citizenship.

Attendance at the Union Bible Vacation School is emphasized as a part of the schedule of work.

NORTH-EAST OHIO

Guernsey Valley Larger Parish
Byesville, Ohio

REV. T. I. HANSON, Pastor of the Local Church
MISS DOROTHY BURNS, Deaconess Matron

The Guernsey Valley Parish, Byesville, Ohio, is organized primarily to exalt Jesus Christ in the midst of peoples in various communities where language, customs, and religious faiths were not American or distinctly Christian. The organization is comprised of the local church, The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the North-East Ohio Conference and the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, Philadelphia, Pa.

The workers are: Pastor of the local church, deaconess, who is matron of the home, and three field workers.

The equipment is three community center buildings and a community house in Byesville, Ohio. The constant need is faith, prayer, consecration, and gifts.

Pearl Street Community House
Youngstown, Ohio

MISS PHOEBE GEYER, Superintendent

The year 1929-30 finds our work much better organized and it is meeting the religious, social, and recreational needs in this challenging neighborhood. Again our daily vacation Bible school was the largest held in the city. Two of our young people have given themselves for life service. It is the aim of our community house to provide such religious, social, and moral training as shall tend to make good American citizens.

Rebecca Williams Community House
Warren, Ohio

MISS GRACE A. PACKER, Superintendent

The Rebecca Williams Community House has just closed its sixth year of service. Its growth has been steady and attendance in all activities has increased from 1,750 to 36,564, representing thirteen nationalities. Our work has been commended by the city authorities because of the decided decrease in juvenile delinquency in our section of the city.

Glencoe and Stewartville, Ohio
MISS CLARA UNRUH

Powhatan Point, Ohio

MISS HATTIE E. DAVIS

God loves all mankind, whether Jew or Gentile, Greek or barbarian. In the hills of southeast Ohio are many, many mining towns, whose people are both American and European, both Catholic and Protestant. All these are reached and many brought into the Kingdom through the pioneer work of the preacher and deaconess.

Cambridge Community Center
Cambridge, Ohio

MISS EDITH MCLELLAN, Superintendent

This year closes the work at this point. Much has been accomplished in the past and as the work lies almost in the shadow of the neighborhood churches, we are hoping the good that has been accomplished in the past will continue.

NORTH INDIANA

Kate Bilderback Neighborhood House
2004 John Street, Ft. Wayne, Indiana
MISS MARY METTS, Superintendent

Kate Bilderback Neighborhood House is a center of real community interest and has been a busy place during the past years. Many times it has tested the capacity of the new building with the large numbers who have been drawn into the Christian environment that this settlement offers through its varied program and activities.

Seven different nationalities enjoyed the friendship and guidance of its ministry. The daily vacation Bible school was the scene of happy children, with an enrollment of 135 and an average attendance of 102.

NORTHWEST INDIANA

Spelterville and North Hammond

The very fine Christian service and neighborly friendship given by Dr. and Mrs. Rice, and their helpers at Spelterville will live always in the hearts of the Spanish people to whom they minister. But this year the plant was closed, probably never to be reopened, and the Sunday school and community house are closed.

At North Hammond the Child's Welfare Clinic is the outstanding accomplishment of the church with which it is operated. It is opening doors to the homes of the Polish people of the community, and one father recently had Rev. B. E. Horn baptize the baby.

NORTHWEST IOWA

Shesler Hall

1308 Nebraska Street, Sioux City, Iowa
MRS. HATTIE LOWER, Matron

This institution is filled to capacity with fine girls who find a Christian and homelike atmosphere. The work was established six years ago and its worth is becoming known in the city and throughout the conference. Some changes have been made on the interior of the building as well as other repairs during the year.

Wall Street Mission

812 South Wall Street, Sioux City, Iowa

The industrial work at Wall Street Mission is shared with the mission. The Woman's Home Missionary Society gives the full time of two deaconesses, furnishes them equipment and supplies, and largely finances the daily vacation Bible school, which, this year, had an enrollment of 580, representing nineteen nationalities.

The Harriet Ballou Day Nursery

MRS. LEONA AUSTIN, Matron

The day nursery, which is in an annex to Hobson Hall, 812 South Wall Street, Sioux City, Iowa, is financed jointly by The Woman's Home Missionary Society and funds from the city Community Chest. The management is directly under a Board of Home Missionary women, who report both to the conference executive and to the Welfare Bureau. There is a daily attendance of thirty-two. The children are given religious instruction each day.

Helping Hand Mission

The Northwest Iowa Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society gives the service of one deaconess to this mission on lower Fourth Street, Sioux City. Miss Elizabeth Humphreys is completing thirty-two years of consecutive service in the conference. Miss Humphreys does parish work and assists the pastor in the evangelistic program each evening.

Thrift Shop

Fort Dodge, Iowa

MRS. FRYER, Matron

The Thrift Shop has rendered very effective service in this needy field. It is progressing nicely in spite of handicaps. More than one thousand garments were either sold at a nominal price or distributed free during the past year. It is aiding us to interpret the Christ Spirit, and is one of the factors being used to win America for Christ.

OHIO

Flower Esther Hall

1324 Superior Street, Toledo, Ohio

MRS. MARY WOLFEKIRK, Superintendent

Our hall is a place to be proud of. It furnishes a good home with all conveniences to girls coming from the country or neighboring towns, who are employed in the city or attending school. We can accommodate twenty-eight girls. The girls are very obedient and congenial with everyone they meet. They are required to pay 40 per cent of their weekly earnings and the girls realize this is quite reasonable, and have no desire to leave the hall to go elsewhere. They attend church services every Sabbath, and the girls are willing to lead devotions at the dinner hour when called upon. A public library furnishes a number of books which the girls delight in reading.

Friendly Center

315 Magnolia Street, Toledo, Ohio

MISS MAUDE MCKEE, Supervisor

Friendly Center with an enrollment of 888, points with pride to the interest that has been displayed during the year. The organization of a junior church ultimately led to sixteen new workers for Christ. While twenty-seven of our Girl Reserves and Friendly Indians were at Lakeside, Ohio, seventeen of our boys were taking honors at Camp Storer. To culminate the work of the year, thirty-three responded to the decision call climaxing the vacation Bible school.

Polish Work

MISS MARGARET McDONALD, Deaconess

The Polish work of Toledo, Ohio, has this year indeed proven itself a whitened field ready for harvest. All activities have doubled themselves until our room and equipment have been inadequate to meet the growing needs of a much interested and needy people. Over four hundred children and young people have been enrolled.

We consider our daily vacation Bible school a wonderful climax of the year's work, in which we had an enrollment of one hundred and sixty with a daily average of eighty-three. Great interest and enthusiasm were manifested from the first to the last day.

South Side Settlement

Columbus, Ohio

At the South Side Settlement there were taught classes in manual training, sewing, cooking, and craft work, among eleven nationalities by five salaried workers, three deaconesses, three missionaries, two men workers, two part-time workers, and thirty-two volunteers. Baby and dental clinics were held, a good library and gymnasium were maintained, and clubs for boys, girls, and women. Daily vacation Bible school was held in the summer.

OREGON

Methodist Old People's Home
Salem, Oregon

The Methodist Old People's Home and institution of the Oregon Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society has enjoyed a prosperous year. The rooms are all occupied and there are several waiting for admission. Like most institutions, we need more room and more money.

Japanese Kindergarten

Portland, Oregon

Opened in September with twenty pupils, and closed in June with thirty-seven, we report an average daily attendance of twenty-seven. Twelve will enter public school this fall. Clinic examination were given whenever necessary. Most of the pupils attend the Japanese Methodist Sunday School. Pastor and parents express themselves as pleased with results. A mother's meeting for social and educational benefit is held every other month during the school year.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Japanese Mission, Spokane, Washington
MRS. A. H. LYONS, Kindergarten Supervisor

In summing up our year's work we are left with a credit balance in activities and achievement. Our Sunday school, of one hundred pupils, has an average attendance of 95 per cent—with the name of every Japanese boy and girl in Spokane on our roll.

In our kindergarten, Sunday school, and Mothers' Association, we have two salaried workers who supervise the work in general. They are assisted by twenty trained American women.

Tacoma Community House

Tacoma, Washington

The community house is doing good work, with three full-time workers, one part-time worker, and forty volunteer workers. Twenty-three nationalities are represented at the community house.

Wilkeson Community House

Wilkeson, Washington

Wilkeson, not the place that God forgot, but the place that almost forgot God. Thanks to those of missionary vision, Christian workers, laboring in this field the last few years have wrought a change. People know there is a place where God is worshiped, exalted, and his teachings given. Children are learning to know the Way of Life. Teaching the children has had paramount interest by the present worker.

There are eleven registered Boy Scouts, the gym has been much in use, the Ladies' Aid is in a thriving condition, the Pathfinder Club has interested the junior boys, a junior and a primary Bible class have been conducted each week; the Home Guards have paid $3 dues and $5 pledge; the Queen Esthers paid $5.40 dues and $10 pledge. The Sunday school has maintained a very good attendance. A successful father-and-son banquet was held, although some said "Men won't come." Also a mother-and-daughter banquet and several programs were given.

A three-weeks' daily vacation Bible school closed June 13, enrollment fifty, average attendance daily forty. The children asked, "Why don't we have it longer?"

Continue to keep Wilkeson in your hearts, in your prayers, and in your giving.

PHILADELPHIA

Esther Hall

2021 Mt. Vernon Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Our Esther Hall has just completed its fifth year of service, and, as it should be, it has been the best year of all. The house has been full all year and financially we are in splendid condition.

With comfortable and attractive rooms, nourishing and appetizing meals, and with a spiritual atmosphere pervading the home, which is an inspiration to right thinking and right living, and then "friends"—surely such a home is worth while.

Skeer Rest Home

Newtown, Pennsylvania

Skeer Rest Home, away from the busy, congested section of Philadelphia, is a place where our deaconesses and missionaries can go at any time during the year for rest and relaxation.

PITTSBURGH

Neighborhood Center

MISS ELSIE HARTLINE, Superintendent

Our workers at the Neighborhood Center, on Progress Street, report that this year they have been in touch with 275 families, a larger number than ever before, and not only with the children who come to the kindergarten, sewing classes, and manual training, but in most cases with the mother, and an increasing number this last year, with the father also. Through the effort of all the denominations, an exhibit of work done through home-missionary effort was held in the spring, when the work done by Miss Hartline's manual-training class won special mention. They had at the exhibit a number of articles of real furniture, substantial and beautiful, which would have found a ready sale. These boys were running the streets before Miss Hartline gathered them into the Saturday manual-training class.

Travelers' Aid

We have a part in this interdenominational work. We pay the salary of one worker, and have many opportunities for prevention effort among the foreign woman and friendless girls coming into the stations. This year we have also placed workers at the bus terminals, as we find there is often as great a need and as great opportunity for helpfulness there as at the stations.

Morals Court

The social service in Morals Court is also an interdenominational effort to care for specific missionary problems. This year we have a new magistrate, who is much interested in the churches' work, and for the first time a woman physician who looks after the physical welfare of the girls who come into court. Our Methodist worker, Mrs. Eleanor Srodes, advises and guides all Methodist girls whose cases come into the court, and a great many others as well. She has a great many difficult family situations, some of which require a patient and careful following for two or three years. But one or two such cases brought to a happy conclusion make this work seem worth while.

Louise Home for Babies

In one of the beautiful residence sections of Pittsburgh, the Young Woman's Guild of Christ Church provides a home for homeless little children, for whom they have made many friends.

The Elizabeth A. Bradley Children's Home

Hulton, Pennsylvania

MISS OLIVE MORGAN, Superintendent

We have had a very happy year at Bradley Home, under the direction of two deaconesses, Miss Morgan and Miss Brown, and with the help of Mrs.

Martin, our nurse, twenty-eight homeless boys and girls are learning a great many worth-while things. We have a splendid vegetable garden, with which the boys help. Every girl and every boy has his own task to do; they all go to church and the church school, and when their turn comes entertain their classes and friends at the home, just as the other boys and girls do. No serious sickness, and very little illness of any kind, healthy appetites, interest in school work, in the garden and chickens, and a wholesome progress in many ways have marked another year.

ROCK RIVER

Esther Hall

537 Melrose Street, Chicago, Illinois

MISS MARIETA ECKERMAN, Superintendent

For the lonely girl in our large city what is more needed than a Christian home? Esther Hall is a real home where loving care, encouragement, and friendship are found. Through the past year seventy girls have felt the influence of the home and rejoiced in finding so pleasant a haven.

Friendship Home

3015 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Illinois

MRS. GEORGIA M. FAULKNER, Superintendent

Friendship Home has been a home for many girls during the past year. To some it has proved a refuge and a shelter in the time of storm; to others it has been a place where instruction has been given along different lines; still others, who have found that "the way of the transgressor is hard," have learned to walk in the way of the Master as they have been ministered to at Friendship Home.

So through the year, we have helped the lost to the Saviour, sheltered the homeless, comforted the sorrowing, found employment for the unemployed, and pointed all to the "Lamb of God who taketh away the sin of the world."

Joliet Italian Mission

Joliet, Illinois

The Joliet Italian Mission interprets the foreigners and the Americans to each other, and through associations there both nationalities are made better. They find friends who give needed help asking for no recompense.

Benefits derived are often not seen until later. Young mothers proudly display baby clothes made by themselves, saying, "I learned how at the mission."

Miss Johnson was calling on a lovely young woman sick with tuberculosis. They asked her to play the piano, and as she seated herself on the stool the mother put her arms lovingly around her and said, "Sing a Jesus song, it will make my daughter better." What a joy to take Him into these sad, dark homes.

Lincoln Street Day Nursery

(Bread and Butter Fund)

Chicago, Illinois

Average daily attendance at Lincoln Street Day Nursery was thirty. Children range in age from two to ten and over, and are cared for from 7.30 A. M. to 5.30 P. M. Mrs. Blomberg, wife of the pastor, has been giving valuable aid in the nursery, and the hearts of pastor and workers were gladdened by an additional one hundred dollars per year from Rock River Conference Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Bohemian Work, First Bohemian Church
Chicago, Illinois

Miss Anna Sterba is our efficient, attractive part-time language worker; her home is in the church neighborhood.

Visiting, sewing classes, Sunday school, Junior League, girls' groups, fill her afternoon hours. A vital need is for Miss Sterba as a full-time worker.

The work under Rev. Joseph Sefl is increasing; twenty-one adult members have been received since conference; ten on Easter Sunday. Twenty-five different meetings are held during each week. There was a daily vacation Bible school.

Daily Vacation Bible School, Halsted Street Institutional Church
19th and Halsted Streets, Chicago, Illinois

The influence of the Daily Vacation Bible School at the Halsted Street Church cannot be measured in words. The bright, eager, enthusiastic boys and girls, from squalid, impoverished homes, surrounded with so many temptations toward vice and impurity, yet entering so joyously into the spirit of the Bible school, bear striking witness to the effectiveness of definite Christian training. Number enrolled, 215; average attendance, 155.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

David and Margaret Home for Children
La Verne, California

MR. W. D. MICHENER, Superintendent

On May 24 the David and Margaret Home celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the home. The past twenty years have shown a steady growth. Over nine hundred children have been cared for, receiving not only physical care but spiritual guidance. For the past year the average grade of our eighty-two school children was 84.7 per cent. Our home cares for one hundred and ten children.

Esther Hall

2580 "C" Street, San Diego, California

MRS. CLARA B. BUTLER, Superintendent

The Esther Hall has meant more than usual to the girls of San Diego during the past year. Some of the girls are in the city and with us but a few months, others call ours their permanent home, having no other.

With many out of work and money we have carried them, helping to reestablish them as self-supporting young women. The sunshine and good food have brought others back to health, while the Christian home life, we believe, has brought all a little closer to the Master.

Methodist Hospital

2826 South Hope Street, Los Angeles, California

The following statistical report will explain fully the wonderful work that has been carried on in our hospital the past year.

Number of patients admitted, 6,224; number of babies born, 915; number of surgical operations, 3,364; number of patients' day service, 64,716; number of clinic cases treated, 6,125; average number of general duty nurses, 32 and 78 student nurses; number of students graduated past year, 31.

Other Conference Work

The Church of All Nations, 818 East Sixth Street, Los Angeles, Cal., is filling a very needy field. Two of our deaconesses give their entire time to this particular work. Here the mother can leave her babe while she goes out to make the livelihood.

SOUTHWEST KANSAS

Harriett Campbell Esther Hall
Wichita, Kansas

MISS FLORENCE GARWOOD, Superintendent

Esther Hall has been filled to its capacity throughout the year. Twenty-two girls have been in our home during the past year, an average of ten girls at a time. Most of our girls are interested in church activities. Seven of the present number are church members. One of these belongs to the Wesleyan Service Guild, and two are members of the Young Woman's Auxiliary. The girls are happy with their home life.

Mexican Missions

Lyons, Kansas; Wichita, Kansas; Winfield, Kansas

Our Mexican work is established in three places in our conference where Mexicans are employed. One-eighth of the Mexican people live under the Stars and Stripes. Approximately twelve hundred Mexican men, women, and children are reached through the Sunday schools, churches, and vocational classes. Night classes are held for the adults, also sewing classes for the women. We also have classes in music, Red Cross, and health lessons. Some of the results of our work show that at one place where a mission is maintained, there was no drunkenness reported for eight months, no trouble in dance halls, one-third own their own home, thus proving the missions are a good investment for the community.

UPPER IOWA

Interest in the work of John Huss Church, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is growing. The Scout troop recently won the coveted trophy, and holds the achievement banner. The dramatic club made a fine showing last season. The music clubs have been in demand locally. The attendance at the vacation Bible school doubled over last year. The combined attendance averages at the Junior and Senior League devotional meetings over seventy. All the Sunday-school workers are now local talent. The church has been renovated and reroofed.

WEST VIRGINIA

Minnie Nay Settlement
Benwood, West Virginia

MISS ESTHER YOUNG, Superintendent

Under the ministry of the three deaconesses, every department and activity of the institution was carefully planned and thoroughly executed. The splendid interest and cooperation of both children and parents in the community, comprising thirteen nationalities, made the year's work count for the highest good to all. A group of new workers will enter this fall, and with their wise leadership and new zeal, a year of fullest achievement is assured.

Engle Settlement

Fairmont, West Virginia

MISS NELLIE STEVENS, Superintendent

Not content to confine the work to the regular institutional channels, two Sunday schools, two church services, and two prayer meetings are held regularly with a good attendance at each. In this manner the spiritual as well as the social lives of over seven hundred families are touched and manifestly enriched. The Americanization class work furnishes a much-needed contact with the adults of several nationalities who reside in and near the immediate community.

Scott's Run Settlement

Morgantown, West Virginia

MISS ARABELLA CROTHERS, Superintendent

There is probably no more needy field in the conference than that which is ministered unto by this institution. People from fifteen nationalities, with no social or spiritual outlet, find a real friend in the settlement house. Its chapel, gymnasium, library, kitchen, shower baths, and club privileges furnish for them a clean and wholesome atmosphere, of which they are immensely appreciative.

A church class composed of over fifty members, now holding regular services, will develop, we trust, into a well-organized Methodist Episcopal Church.

WILMINGTON

Mary Todd Gambill Neighborhood House

Wilmington, Delaware

Two hundred and twenty-three different children last year enjoyed the teachings for better living and helping others in the community.

Ten hundred and forty-four was the attendance at Sunday school, so you see this house is helping to meet some of the needs in South Wilmington, which is reaching children and homes of eight nationalities, as well as the colored folks who live nearby.
